They Helped Spearhead Reunion

Among those taking a leading role in plans for the reunion of the Class of '18 were Wilbur Matthews, San Antonio, Mrs. Ralph Baker (Reba Orenbaum), Conway Craig, San Antonio, Mrs. E. W. Lomax (Lillie Mae Hayden) and Elmer Boatler. The get-together, first since school days, drew over three score guests.

Class Of '18 Finds Reunion Heady Stuff—Sets '68 Repeat

The Class of '18, Big Spring High, got together Saturday evening at the Ramada Inn with more than a sprinkling of other classes from the embattled walls of the Parnassus of learning. The more than three score exes, with a lot of gray showing but plenty of sparkle left, were so delighted they set October of 1968 for the Golden Anniversary of their class.

"We'll all meet here," said Conway Craig, San Antonio Express-News publisher, "and then go in a body to the HemisFair." The reunion was primarily for the classes of 1918-21, but this accounted for about a third of the turnout. The class of '18 had six present, '19 had seven, '20 nine, and '21 five. Adrian DeGraffenreid and Wesley Huddleston, a couple of "elder citizens" from the Class of '16, remembered how they were the last class to be graduated from the old school where the postoffice now stands. When the high school moved to its 10th and Rummels location in a new building the next year, Ruth McNatt (Mrs. M. G. Riggan, Lamesa) was in the first freshman class there. Miss Carrie

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Our four banks reported a total of $40,473,702 in deposits on last week's call, up $5,874,000 from the comparable date a year ago. This sharp 17 per cent gain is tempered somewhat by school construction bond funds on time deposit, but without them the banks were up about five per cent, which isn't to be sneezed at. Loans of $23,549,000 set an all-time record.

Last weekend was a terrible one for us. John L. Stone Jr. was killed instantly in a collision at Fourth and Birdwell, an event that cast a pall over the entire community. Another youth, Airman Earnest A. Preston Jr., whose parents are stationed in Guam by the Air Force, was killed when his car went out of control just east of Midland. In a twinkling of the eye, two young lives gone. During the week a popular young businessman and Big Spring native, Billy Casey, died suddenly of heart attack.

Violent weather struck our area last Sunday evening, and much of the county got an inch or more. Otischalk, in the south-east corner, received 3.46 and the north third of the county an inch and a half to two inches. Some small hail fell, but not enough to do damage. On the whole, benefits much outweigh the harm, especially since weather turned off bright and warmer. The big question now is when will it frost? The later the better.

This must be show time, what with the annual coin show, the Big Spring Art Association show (both continuing through this afternoon), the Big Spring Little Theatre's opening production, and the district federated Music Club concert. Just around the corner is the Big Spring Concert series opening Wednesday evening with the Boston Pops orchestra with Ozan Marsh as guest piano soloist. You can still get your season membership—which is the only way you can feast on this and three other great programs.

David Steeves' ill star finally came to a dead stop over him. Steeves, who got his jet training at Webb, had parachuted from a plane in the high Sierras in the late winter of 1959 and wandered 54 days before stumbling to safety. He got some fame, and some dispute, too, from a Sateve Post article. Then he dropped out of headlines until Saturday a week ago. He made one last one when his light cargo plane crashed near Boise, Idaho.

About 375 Sweetwater and area people gathered in Sweetwater last week to honor State Rep. Temple Dickson. He all but announced for re-election and said he hoped for his share of Howard County votes, since Howard is being put in the district with Sweetwater. Of course Big Spring's Rep. Roger Brown is hopeful that Dickson's share whatever it is, will be a small one.

It came almost as a footnote (See THE WEEK P. 4-A, C. 2).

Man Dances On 108th Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "A man should dance a little on his birthday," says Fred Ferne, a patient at Laguna Honda Hospital in San Francisco.

So the retired watchmaker did just that with nurse P. M. Tambascia at his birthday celebration. Ferne is 108 years old.

Congress End Meets Blasts And Praise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress wound up its 1965 work Saturday with Democrats acclaiming its massive legislative record and Republicans contending it had rubber-stamped faulty bills at presidential command.

The debris of an early morning adjournment hardly had been cleared away from the House and Senate chambers before leaders on both sides began talking about what lies ahead in the second session of the 89th beginning Jan. 10.

"ECHOED LBJ"

GOP leaders of the two houses called a news conference to criticize what they characterized as a grist mill grinding out quantity, rather than quality in a session they said was so much under President Johnson's thumb that it recorded "an echo, not a choice."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan made it clear they believe their party will benefit in the 1966 elections from mistakes they forecast in administering untried new programs.

They disputed Johnson's estimate that it was "the greatest session of Congress in the history of the nation."

Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said he was not surprised by the Republican leaders' comments.

"PROGRESSIVE BILLS"

"This session of Congress has enacted progressive legislation that will strengthen our nation for generations to come," McCormack said, "and it was enacted with the great majority of Republicans opposing it. We expect that because they have not favored any progressive legislation. They haven't changed a bit since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

A compromise sugar quota bill finally was enacted 41-10 in the Senate — with just the bare necessary quorum of senators present — as the last piece of major legislation. There was some delay in rounding up the 51.

With members complaining about its drastically reduced terms, the House had passed by voice vote and sent to Johnson a 3.6 per cent pay raise for federal employees.

Elmo Wasson welcomed the out-of-town exes and paid a tribute to teachers who had contributed "a full measure of service to this community and to the betterment of our lives."

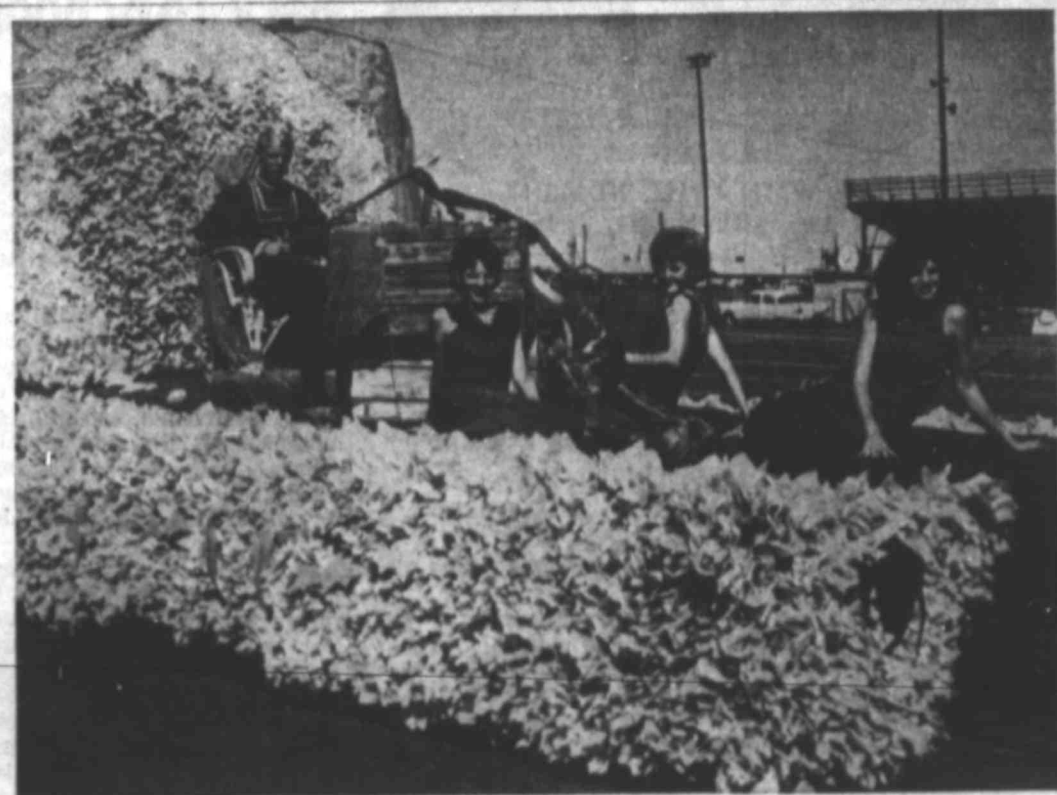

There were many tales of the days when the girls "we thought were precious (as they still are), and when the boys played Midland College in football. James Little told how the late R. D. Matthews, San Antonio attorney, thought his nickname of "Peachy" was because he was a peach of a boy, never suspecting he got it from chewing Peachy Flap tobacco; everybody called J. O. Hoard, Houston, Neb., and Wolfard Hardy introduced himself as Wart.

PLANS MADE

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, presided, and Reba Crenbaum handled local arrangements. Matthews and Craig spearheaded the gathering. Two class members came here for the gathering but couldn't get to the meeting Saturday evening. Mable Moss from Cincinnati and H. J. Rudloff, Fort Worth, who was busy operating a booth at the coin show. He had yearbooks from 1918 and 1919.

Boatler told how Hubert Barton, Sweetwater, had gone on to Johns Hopkins with J. I. (Buck) Bonner and saw a game of lacrosse, became interested and eventually an all-American at it. And so it went with little knots of exes here and there until the reunion at the Ramada Inn finally melted away until 1968. Boatler, Mrs. Orenbaum and Matthews will have the job of rallying the forces then.

Link-Up Of Craft In Space Is Goal

Difficult Try On Schedule For Monday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Tuned to the split-second art of space maneuvers, crack Pilot Walter Schirra aims his Gemini 6 spacecraft Monday at a puny 26-foot target, flashing through a 28,000-mile circle in the sky.

Aided by pilot Thomas Stafford, Schirra's chore is to track the target down, approach and lock onto it — the first rendezvous and docking with another orbiting body in space.

The flight — to last one or two days — is slated for blast-off at 10:41 a.m. (Big Spring time) Monday, an hour and 41 minutes after an Atlas rocket has sent the target Agena satellite into the sky.

State Teacher Group Elects Sam Anderson

Big Spring's school superintendent, Sam Anderson, was elected vice president of the 100,000 member Texas State Teachers Association Saturday.

This means that he is due next year to ascend to the presidency.

His election was announced Saturday at Corpus Christi when he polled 46,486 mail ballots to 14,429 for his opponent, Jake K. Wilhelm, sixth grade teacher in the Clear Creek school district.

Supt. and Mrs. Anderson, attending the convention, will arrive home tonight after he presides at a breakfast meeting in San Antonio this morning.

SINCE 1961

Anderson has been superintendent of Big Spring schools since 1961, when he succeeded Floyd Parsons who went to Little Rock, Ark., as superintendent. He came here from the Jim Hogg County Independent School district in Hebbronville, where he was superintendent.

He served as assistant superintendent here until he was named to the top post in Big Spring. During his three dozen years as a school man, Anderson has been an elementary teacher and principal, high school principal, assistant superintendent, and superintendent. During the war years of 1942-45 he worked in Confidential Engineering with North American Aviation in Inglewood, Calif.

He is a native of Clifton, and was graduated from high school there. He took his bachelor of science degree in secondary education from North Texas State, his master's degree in educational administration and supervision from Texas College of Arts and Industries, and has done graduate work at Baylor University and the University of California at Los Angeles. He has been accepted in the doctoral program at Texas Tech.

Anderson has been widely recognized for his knowledge of school laws and organization. He is frequently called upon for counsel by school administrators.

Delegates Act For Pay Boost

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Delegates to the Texas State Teachers Association convention approved Saturday a resolution urging the next legislature to bring basic salaries in line with the national average.

L. P. Sturgeon, a TSTA spokesman, said Texas is 29th in the national pay scale for teachers and that a difference of $534 separates the Texas average of $5,950 from the national average of $6,484.

SAM ANDERSON

tors in all parts of Texas, and is well known nationally.

LEADERSHIP ROLES

He has been actively involved in participation and leadership roles in numerous conferences, workshops, and other endeavors to further educational opportunities for all children in the state of Texas.

Since Big Spring patrons voted a $5½ million master plan school bond program in 1964 for new buildings, enlargements and remodeling, Anderson has, with approval of the board of trustees, complied with requirements for at least a half dozen new vocational programs for

Big Spring High School, and one for the junior-high level. Five are in operation now, with two using the old Center Point school facilities for shops. The first portion of the enlarged high school to be completed will include facilities for eight vocational courses, with 50 per cent participation in federal funds. The coordination of applications for the area vocational center, and the architectural plans and specifications, will see full utilization when the vocational section is completed by June 1, 1966. Funds were approved for building, site development, engineering, proportionate share of utilities, and conventional furniture and equipment with a 50 per cent participation.

RECENT ACTIVITIES

Some of Anderson's recent activities, outside his administrative duties with Big Spring schools, are: Immediate past president, Texas Association of School Administrators; president, Texas Council for Exceptional Children, this year; Past (See ELECTED, P. 6-A, C. 7)

LBJ Comes Home; To Walk And Nap

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson came home to Texas Saturday night to recuperate further from major surgery, saying that "I feel good but weak" and that he intends to get as much rest as possible.

The President and Mrs. Johnson flew down from Washington by jet.

Talking with reporters en route, Johnson discussed his health and remarked "I hurt good."

The President also said: "I'm going to force myself to take exercise to strengthen myself."

By that, he said, he meant walking and swimming.

CITES WEIGHT

The chief executive said he weighs between 195 and 200 pounds now, which is a little below the 202 pounds he scaled just before he entered the hospital.

Johnson said he wants to get down to 187 pounds because that would allow about three pounds leeway in case he wanted to have a cocktail or two with friends before dinner.

"I haven't had a drink since the last of August — not even wine," the President said.

He said he has complained to Mrs. Johnson about the way he felt and his curtailed activities. He added with a smile: "She said you can't run the country if you can't run yourself."

WALKS

The President said he intends to get up early in the morning, and spend his time with his dogs, walking, seeing the sheep and cattle, looking at the deer, boating on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson, signing some bills, and getting in naps in between times.

DIFFICULT FEAT

It is a precise and complex business, calling for at least half a dozen shifts in course — the most difficult space flight to date.

First, the Agena will be launched into a circular 185-mile-high orbit around the earth.

Then the Gemini 6, riding a 90-foot Titan 2 rocket, will flash into an egg-shaped orbit, below and behind the target Agena — some 1,200 miles away.

On successive orbits, Schirra will make major changes in the Gemini 6 pathway in space, gradually raising the orbit and finally shaping it into a circle to nearly duplicate the circular path of the Agena.

COME CLOSER

At the same time, its lower orbit and faster speed will have brought the Gemini much closer to the Agena target. As the fourth orbit begins, the Gemini will be flying 17 miles below and 39 miles behind the Agena.

Schirra then will begin nudging his speed upward — perhaps as little as 23 miles an hour — all it will need to begin its slow climb toward the Agena.

Schirra — using his thrusters delicately — then may begin a long turning loop, coming out ahead and in the path of the oncoming Agena target.

But by carefully monitoring the speed of his spacecraft, Schirra will cue in on the target. He'll follow the blinking beacon lights on the Agena. When the Agena is ready for docking, a green light on the collar of the Agena flashes on. Gently, Schirra will coax his spacecraft's nose toward that green light.

PRACTICE DOCKING

Both men will practice docking twice with the Agena — then, remaining linked up, they will take about seven hours sleep simultaneously.

It's possible — but not likely — that things will go so smoothly that Gemini 6's job will be finished in one day. But space officials say the odds are it will take two.

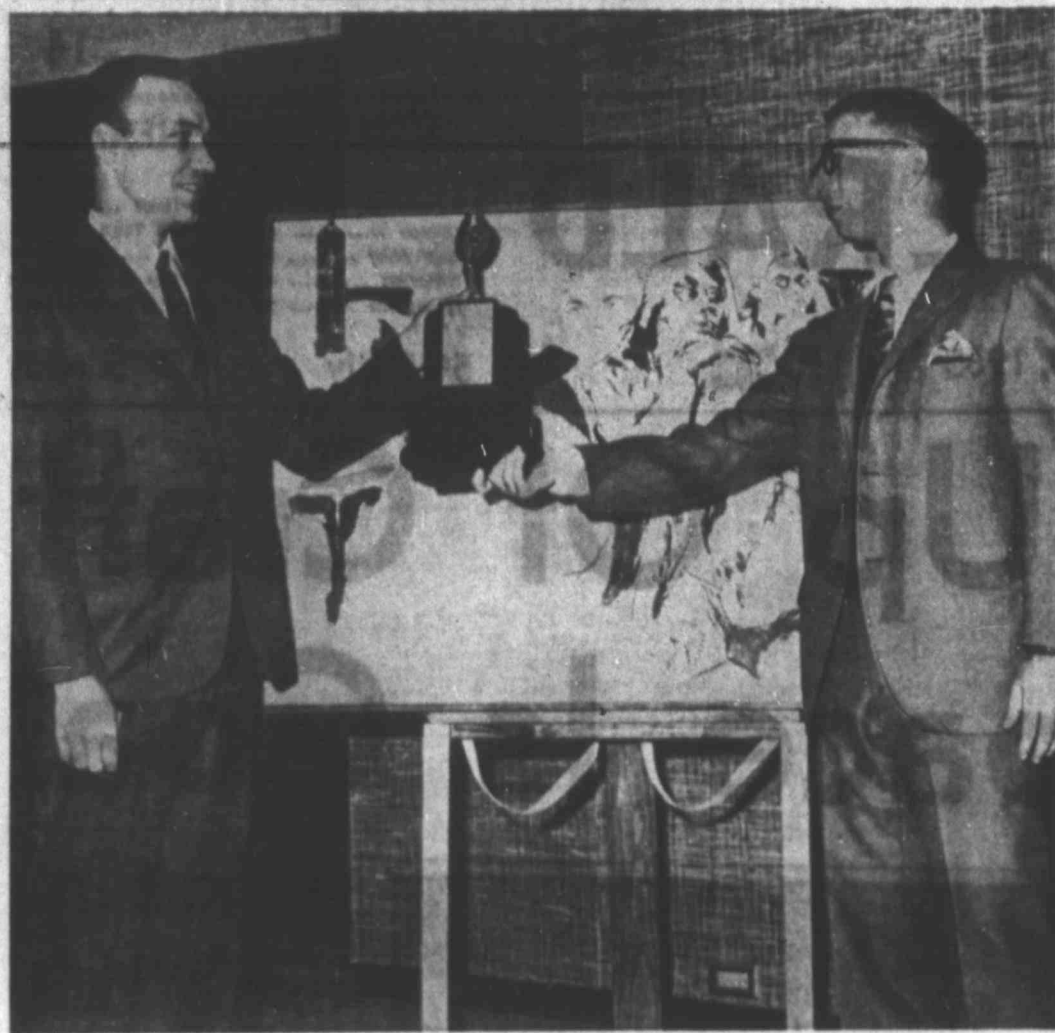

The flight has unusual significance. If it succeeds, it means that man will have established the feasibility of maneuvering in space, a talent he must have to reach the moon.

RIDE TO MOON

The Apollo flight plans currently call for two men to ride to the lunar surface in a space cab, and then return to a mother ship orbiting around the moon. They will have to be able to rendezvous and dock with the mother ship with a minimum of error. If anything goes wrong, they are a long way from home and help.

They could never return to earth in the space cab. The only vehicle capable of bringing them back will be the circling mother ship.

Besides that, space planners dream of orbiting space stations high over the earth where men can live and work, where space-ships for other destinations can stop for refueling, where weekly cargoes are brought by space buses. It all required rendezvous and docking.

Art Show Continues Today, Sandidge Gets Top Award

Harlan Sandidge, Big Spring, won "best of show" honors Saturday with his collage, "The Women," in judging of the Big Spring Art Association fall show.

He had placed his collage first in the "best in membership" classification.

This and scores of other paintings and items of sculpture will be on display at the First Federal Savings & Loan Association building today from 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., and the public is invited to view them.

Stephani Amster, Midland, won first in the professional division with her oil, "Warm Landscape."

Top honors in the non-professional division was won by Mildred (Mrs. Sam) Anderson with her oil, "Open Country." Barbie Hine, Big Spring, won first place in the student division, with her water color, "The Hanna Place."

James D. Howze, Lubbock, member of the department of architecture and allied arts at Texas Tech, judged the show. It was, he said, a difficult task because of the number of entries possessing unusual merit. Sandidge's creation won him the trophy and the $50 top prize. Stephani Amster's landscape was picked for the Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. $25 award.

Best of show — Harlan Sandidge, Big Spring, "The Women."

Best in membership — Same painter and picture.

Professional division — 1. Stephani Amster, Midland, "Warm Landscape"; 2. and 3. Dollye Ballinger, Midland; honorable mention to Harlan Sandidge, Big Spring, Edward E. Poindexter, Midland, Stephanie Amster, Midland, Mrs. Bill Unger, Big Spring, Betty Holt Crenshaw, Big Spring.

Non-professional — 1. Mildred Anderson, Big Spring, "Open Country"; 2. Glen R. Greer, Pecos; 3. Kathryn Hartley, Big Spring; honorable mention, Floy Sue Brothers, Sweetwater, Leilu Violette, Big Spring, Ann Kimbrough, Snyder, and Martha McBride, Sweetwater.

Student — 1. Barbie Hine, Big Spring, "The Hanna Place"; 2. Elizabeth Alsbury, Big Spring; 3. David Carter, Midland; honorable mention, Charley Swift and Gina Swift, Mary Margaret Murdock, Billy Smart and Barbara Crenshaw, all of Big Spring.

Sculpture — 1. Stephani Amster, Midland, "Seated Figure"; 2. Perry B. Holley, Midland; 3. Barbara Crenshaw, Big Spring; honorable mention, Royce Feaster and Lynn Patton of Big Spring; and Perry B. Holley, Midland.

Air Force ROTC officials from Texas Tech will administer the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test (AFOQT) on the Howard County Junior College campus, Nov. 9 at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. in room 5 of the Science Building.

The test is in conjunction with the Air Force's new two year ROTC commissioning program, now being offered at some 136 colleges and universities across the nation.

This new program affords young men who transfer from junior colleges to four year institutions the opportunity to compete for Air Force commissions on an equal footing with other students who have taken the first two years of the traditional four year program.

U.S. Personnel In Viet At 148,300

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The number of U.S. military personnel in South Viet Nam has reached 148,300, U.S. military authorities reported today. They gave this breakdown by services: Army 89,000; Navy 8,000; Marine Corps 37,000; Air Force 14,000 and Coast Guard 300.

Police reports showed that the dispatcher received a call from a man at 1610 Young Street, stating that the young man had called him to the door and then collapsed on the front porch. Robert Mesker was taken to the hospital by Big Spring Ambulance Service.

Detectives questioned two boys, reported to have been witnesses to the trouble, who said trouble had been "brewing" between the brothers for some time, and that the fight followed.

Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter, before whom Big Spring Police Detective John Wolf took Mesker, set bond at $2,000 which Mesker posted, and he was released.

Surviving are the husband of Lamesa; seven daughters, five sons, two half-sisters, two brothers, 50 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren.

The remains will lie in state until service time at 3 p.m. today at the East Side Baptist Mission. The Rev. L. M. Garcia, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of Branon-Philips Funeral Home.

Kidnap Figure Held On Bond

DALLAS (AP)—Delbert Garmon Jr., accused of abducting 19 persons during 17-day flight from officers in Texas and Oklahoma, remained in the Dallas County jail Saturday, unable to post $100,000 bond.

The Wichita Falls ex-convict was arrested yesterday in a Dallas bar, ending a massive manhunt that started with a gunfight with officers at Wichita Falls Oct. 5.

He offered no resistance when four officers surrounded his booth at the bar. A .357 magnum pistol slipped from his belt and fell on the floor as he obeyed their order to stand up.

Garmon, 27, was spotted by a barmaid from widely circulated photographs. While Garmon leisurely drank beer, she called officers.

HOME GUARDED

Police placed a guard around her home and the bar when the waitress, Mary Baker, 28, received a threat seven hours after Garmon's arrest.

She told police that a man about 50 came into the bar last night and ordered a beer. When she brought it, he asked her if she was the one who turned in Garmon.

The barmaid said she was. The man pushed back the beer, saying he didn't want it, and as he walked out of the door called back at her "You'll never get home alive tonight."

NOT HARMED

Garmon is accused of abducting or holding hostage five men, seven women and five children, all of who were released unharmed.

He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner W. M. Hill Friday on charges of abducting wealthy retired oilman L. J. Prince and his wife on the night of Oct. 5 at Wichita Falls and taking them to Oklahoma in the couple's car. Another complaint was filed yesterday charging him with forcing Oklahoma farmer Elbert Dugan to drive him to Dallas earlier this week.

Reserves Go Back To School

Big Spring's 22 reserve police officers will receive basic training beginning Monday, according to Jay Banks, police chief.

"All need at least refresher training," Banks said, "and some of the reserves have had no training at all."

Monday's schedule will last from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Banks said, and cover police procedure, rules, conduct, laws of arrest, search and seizure, and miscellaneous Big Spring ordinances. Banks and Leo Hull, assistant police chief, will conduct the classes at the police department.

There will be 10 additional training sessions, ranging in coverage from firearms instruction to booking and handling property of prisoners. Banks said. Each of these sessions will be set for times and dates convenient to most reserve officers. Strict attention to attendance by the reserves is important, however, Banks said.

E. C. RYAN

Ryan Elected Police Chief At Coleman

E. C. Ryan, who served two stints with the Big Spring police department, and who served later as chief of police of Coleman, was the newly-elected chief there Friday. A special election, called under terms of a city charter amendment making the police chief's office elective, gave Ryan 716 votes to 541 for his opponent, Raymond Greaves.

Ryan was chief at Coleman from August of 1961 until May of this year, when he resigned. Until Friday, the election of the office was appointive.

He joined the Big Spring police force as a patrolman March 22, 1957, and served until 1959. He returned Feb. 5, 1960, and served until 1961 when he returned to Coleman.

Ryan, 45, is a native of Coleman County and has been in police work about 10 years. When he resigned in May his opponent was appointed to the chief's position.

He is a veteran of World War II, serving four years in the South Pacific. He is a member of the First Christian Church and is a director of the Coleman County 4-H Horse Club. He and his wife, Hazel, have two children, Kay, 12, and Russel, 5.

Win Clutter Of Ribbons

The Howard County 4-H Club members, who competed in the commercial steer show at the Dallas Texas State Fair, brought home a clutter of blue ribbons and a number of nice fat checks.

The blue ribbons signified the entries had rated top billing by the judges. The checks were from the sale of the animals at the auction which was a feature of the Dallas show.

Other Big Spring and Howard County area entrants also fared well at the show, particularly the heavy entry list from the Dawson County 4-H organization.

Winners of blue and red ribbons in the show (with no distinction between the placing earned):

Howard County 4-H — Lawrence Long, Dero Shaw, Larry Don Shaw, Nan Whittington, and Tim Whittington.

FFA members: Sands-Ricky Graham, Douglas Blagrove, Larry Newcomer, Coahoma — Eddie Read and Troy Fraser, Big Spring — Bill Boyett, Lamesa — Ricky Cude and Danny Jackson.

Glasscock County 4-H — Baylor Pruett Jr.

Dawson County 4-H — Margaret Vogler, Nolan Vogler, Sandy Woodward, Judy McBride, Jack Estes, Perry Gillespie, Tony Gillespie, Jayne Billingsley, Donnie Vogler, Dianne Billingsley, Charles Vogler, Terry Colley, Kenneth Gillespie, Donny Gillespie and Eddie Newcomer.

Electric Co-Op Due Viet Nam

A proposed rural electric cooperative for South Viet Nam this week moved closer to reality with the arrival in Washington, D.C. of a Texas rural electrification expert.

Johnnie M. Ammons, manager of Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc. in Roby will serve as an advisor to the management and board of directors of the Tuyen Duc Electric Cooperative that will have its headquarters in Da Lat.

Ammons, who will be working in South Viet Nam for six months, will oversee all operations of the fledgling rural electric cooperative.

The distribution co-op is expected to serve 8,000 rural homes and 45,000 Vietnamese in the Tuyen Duc area when construction is completed. Power will come from a government hydroelectric facility.

Va Hospital Wraps Up Job

Robert W. Bouldin, personnel director for the VA Hospital, presents Andy Glenn, United Fund office manager, with the hospital's packet while Donald Van Meter, hospital director, looks on. The VA completed contact of all its employees, helping push the UF total so far to $55,601. Some other funds came in after the report. Howard County Junior College reported 100 per cent giving by all its faculty staff and workers but had not turned in the gifts. Webb AFB was nearing its goal. The City of Big Spring workers said they were getting good results.

Appropriations Still Lacking For Canal

DALLAS (AP) — The Trinity Canal project, whose passage by Congress was hailed joyously last week, must wait another year or so before even a new round of paper work can begin, Army Engineers report.

This is because Congress has not appropriated money to start work.

It authorized $83 million to start the $911 million canal-reservoir plan but that doesn't write any checks. An appropriation bill must wind its way through Congress before the engineers can start work.

Big Job

The Trinity backers really didn't expect to get any money this session. They say it was a big enough job to persuade Congress to approve the theory without pressing it for money.

Once Congress authorizes a project it usually follows through with funds eventually. Many of the 2.3 million people in the 100 towns along its banks are counting on the Trinity becoming a large canal 150 wide and 12 deep from the Dallas-Fort Worth area to the Gulf.

The canal would connect with 25,000 miles of barge waterways — and bring new prosperity.

Awaits Money

The Army Engineers' supervisor of the project, Brig. Gen. Richard Free, says his agency cannot proceed with the considerable bulk of preconstruction planning until Congress gives it the money.

"We're going to do a lot of thinking, of course," Free said of the lapse between authorization and appropriation.

He estimates that if everything goes well—including getting the money — the canal could be operating by the early 1960s. It will be what Congress believes the Engineers needs to start intensive planning of the only a fraction of the $83 million project.

AMENDMENTS-5

Investment Authority For Retirement Funds

(This is the fifth in a series of 10 articles on the proposed amendments to the State Constitution, on which voters will decide in an election Nov. 2-6.)

AMENDMENT NO. 5

In 1936 the voters approved an amendment to the constitution which authorized the establishment of a retirement fund for teachers. This provision, as amended, permits the Legislature to establish a fund to provide retirement, disability and death benefits for persons employed in the public schools, colleges and universities of the State. Membership in the teacher retirement system is compulsory for all the teaching and auxiliary employees in public education in Texas.

As authorized by the constitution and required by law, each member contributes as a salary deduction six per cent of his annual salary with a maximum contribution in any one year of $504. The State of Texas matches these contributions. Local school districts do not make any contribution toward teacher retirement.

GROWING

The teacher retirement fund is growing at the annual rate of more than $50,000,000 and the assets of the fund now approximate $550,000,000. Under the provisions of the constitution, moneys coming into the fund may be invested in bonds or indebtedness of the United States, State of Texas bonds or other political subdivisions of the State of Texas or in investments permitted by law for the permanent university fund or for the permanent school fund of Texas. In other words, investments fund are tied to decisions made by the board of regents of the University of Texas.

The proposed amendment is designed to give constitutional status to the State Board of Trustees of the teacher retirement system and to grant to that board the power to invest the moneys accumulated in accordance with their own determinations and restrictions set forth in the proposed amendment. In effect, then, the purpose of the amendment is to separate the retirement fund from dependence upon the decisions made for the permanent university fund or for the permanent school fund of Texas.

Within the present constitutional and statutory limitations, the board of trustees of the teacher retirement system has power to invest and reinvest the funds of the teacher retirement system. The board also has the assistance of a nine-member investment advisory committee and professional investment counsel. The principal effect of the proposed amendment will be to establish the State Board of Trustees of the teacher retirement system as a constitutional entity.

INDEPENDENCE

The case for the amendment is based upon a desire to have independent constitutional status for the State Board of Trustees of the state teachers retirement fund, and the desire to clothe that body with investment authority which is independent from the authority which controls the investment practices of other funds.

On the other side is the argument that the board already has broad investment authority, evidenced by the fact that over 46 per cent of its investments are in corporate stocks and bonds. If changes in investment authority are to be made, it is felt, those changes also should be made available to other State investment programs. Or, to state the point another way, any restrictions on the investment of state moneys should apply to all similar funds.

Edmond Clare Dies On Top Of Signal Peak

Edmond Thomas Clare, 25, of 1219 Harding, died suddenly about 3 p.m. Saturday on top of Signal Peak, widely known Howard County landmark in the Moss Creek Lake area.

Death is believed to have been due to a heart attack.

Clare, accompanied by two companions, Jack Cunningham, 1301 Harding, and Eldon Myers, Ellis Homes, had climbed to the top of the towering mesa on a Saturday afternoon outing.

While at the top, Clare complained of a cramping in his left hand and of pains in his left chest. He also experienced difficulty in breathing. Suddenly, he collapsed.

FOR HELP

His friends applied artificial respiration in a futile effort to save him. Cunningham, leaving Myers with the victim, walked nearly four miles to the Moss Creek Lake headquarters to telephone for help.

Sheriff A. N. Standard called Webb AFB and asked that a helicopter be dispatched to remove Clare from the mountain top. At that time, the sheriff said, it was believed Clare was still alive.

The sheriff, joined by Deputies Bill Whitton and Ed Cherry, and by Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, set out by car for the scene.

The helicopter had reached the spot and the pilot had learned that Clare was dead. He radioed he would be unable to remove the body until civil processes had been carried out — an inquest by a justice of the peace.

TO HILL TOP

An ambulance from the Big Spring Ambulance Service had joined the sheriff and his party. A stretcher was carried to the hill top. Ike Rupard, patrolman at Moss Creek Lake, drivers of the ambulance and two or three other persons who had volunteered to help were in the party.

Clare's body was strapped to the stretcher and the descent began down the precipitous south side of the mountain.

It was nearly 7 p.m. by the time the ambulance reached the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Slaughter had ruled death due to heart attack.

WAS STUDENT

Clare had been in Big Spring for only two months. He was a student in the mechanics training program at Howard County Junior College. He came here from Odessa.

He had married Maxine Richardson, in Odessa, July 23, 1965. She survives him.

He was born in Washington, D.C., April 13, 1940.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by his father, John T. Clare, Cottage City Md.; five sisters and one brother whose names were not available.

TO ODESSA

The body was transferred from Big Spring to Hubbard-Kelley Funeral Home in Odessa Saturday night.

Sheriff Standard said that his department is appreciative of the cooperation accorded by Webb AFB and by the several volunteers who assisted in the difficult task of removing the body from its precarious position.

Dawson County Farm Bureau Elects Officers

LAMESA (SC) — New officers and directors were named at a meeting of the Dawson County Farm Bureau Thursday night.

W. T. (Bill) Snellgrove of O'Donnell was named president; Truett Hodnett of O'Donnell was re-elected vice president; Robert Riker of Lamesa was elected second vice president, and Dale Merrick, Lamesa, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Directors named were Ronnie Raney and Sanford Boardman of Precinct 3, and Bill Love and Bill Reid of Precinct 1.

Graveside Rites Held For Infant

Martin Garcia, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Garcia of 811 NW 6th Street, died Friday in a local hospital. Graveside services were held at 11 a.m. Saturday with burial in the Big Spring City Cemetery. The Rev. James Delaney, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, officiated. Arrangements were under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors, beside the parents, are a brother, Juan Garcia, and two sisters, Grace and Lurdes Garcia, all of the home.

Comet Now Dazzles 'Em

HONOLULU (AP) — Elusive comet Ikeya-Seki redeemed itself with scientists by staging a dazzling performance over the mid-Pacific early Saturday.

Scientists aboard a research jet plane were so elated with the exhibition that they radioed a report from the plane. They said the comet gave no indication of breaking up.

Later, Bob M. Cameron of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center, reported that the comet "finally has developed a spectacular tail about 10 degrees in length."

TAIL STRUCTURE Cameron added "some structure can be seen in the tail and there are intensity changes within the tail itself."

Saturday's pre-dawn flight was to have been the last. But because of the success of the mission, the 37-member team of scientists and technicians scheduled another one Sunday.

"We also saw a very bright head on the comet," Cameron reported.

He said the comet rose 10 degrees above the horizon before sunrise and, at sunrise, the tail extended almost straight up.

EMISSIONS Cameron said the observations indicated again that Ikeya-Seki has very strong emissions of sodium D.

He said other data would not be analyzed until later.

The comet was spotted about 400 miles south of Honolulu.

Gonzales Rites Set For Today

LAMESA (SC) — Antonio Gonzales, 25, died Friday in a Lamesa hospital following a sudden illness. He was born Nov. 22, 1929, in Kyle.

Services will be held at 4 p.m. today in Margaret Mary Catholic Church. Burial will be in Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of Branon-Phillips Funeral Home.

Survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gonzales, Lamesa; five sisters, Mrs. Nettie Cortez, Lamesa, Mrs. Mary Pelina, Arizona, Stella, Janie, and Mariann Gonzales, all of Lamesa; three brothers, Pete, Joe and Jessie Gonzales, all of Lamesa.

Death, Like Actress' Kidnaping, Is Mystery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Police all over Southern California were looking for Marie McDon Frye — the girl Hollywood called "The Body."

Her death early Thursday, of causes yet to be determined, left unanswered the questions detectives had raised in 1957 after the abduction incident.

When she died Thursday it was at the suburban home she shared with film producer Don Taylor, her sixth husband.

Boys' Hearing In Theft Slated

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin said Saturday that a hearing on Thursday's theft of $5,638 in checks and cash by four Colorado City youngsters would be held early this week.

The loot consisted of about $88 in cash and the balance in checks, according to Police Chief Leon Yeager. He added that all of the money and checks with the exception of 80 cents has been recovered.

The 80 cents, he said, was spent by the four for soda water. One of the boys is 14 years old and his three companions are 13 years old. One, Judge Martin said, is on probation from the juvenile court of adjacent county. He said it was possible the fate of this boy would be decided by that county.

The money, Police Chief Yeager said, was a bank deposit which had been prepared by Don Guitart, who is employed by Continental Oil-Colorado Co. He had placed the deposit in his car which he had parked in the driveway of his residence 529 E. 13th street.

When he returned to the car the money and checks had disappeared.

Yeager, Patrolman James Latham and Sheriff Lewis Claxton began an investigation.

Yeager recalled he had seen the four boys near Lone Wolf Creek and had picked them up and sent them to school earlier in the day. When the robbery was reported, he questioned the quartet. All four are students in the Colorado City Junior High School.

The boys admitted the theft, Yeager said. He said the money was found in the boy's possession. The checks, however, had been scattered in the shrubbery in the neighborhood.

A search of the countryside resulted in all of the checks being recovered.

Henry Draws 5-Yr. Term

Elmo Henry, 38, found guilty Friday night of assault with intent to murder and his punishment fixed at five years in the state penitentiary, has filed a motion for a new trial. He is at liberty pending ruling on his motion on his old bond of $10,000.

Henry, tried for shooting his former wife, Patsy, two times in the head, had asked, in the event that he were found guilty, that the jury recommend probation. Jurors merely found him guilty of assault with intent to murder. They added the phrase "with malice." This blocked any hope the defendant had for a probationed sentence.

The jury pondered the case for three hours. At one time, after the 12 had been in deliberation for an hour and a half, they reported to Judge Ralph W. Caton, presiding in the 118th District Court, they were not agreed. The judge told the panel to deliberate longer.

The verdict was reported at 7 p.m. three hours after the jury had begun work on the case.

MOVES FAST

Henry's trial was pushed through in a single day. A jury was selected Friday morning and the state began presentation of its case. Its star witness was the victim of the March shooting, Mrs. Patsy Henry, now divorced from Henry, was brought into the courtroom in a wheelchair. She is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of the wounds she received.

She told of the Sunday afternoon when she and Dalton White stepped out on the porch of her residence to see Henry approaching the house. He had a pistol, she said. She called a warning to White, who turned and ran.

She said Henry shot her in the throat. She fell. Then she said Henry fired several shots at the fleeing White. Henry then returned to where she lay on the porch, she testified. He pointed the pistol at her and she pleaded "don't kill me—think of the children." He fired two or three more shots at her, she said, pointing to scars on her face and head where the bullets struck.

STORY SAME

White said that the restaurant operator where Mrs. Henry worked had called him and asked that he go get Mrs. Henry and bring her to work. White said he had just reached the place when Henry showed up. Henry was the only witness of fered by the defense. He told basically the same story of the shooting as had the state witness. However, he said that he had heard White and his wife were going together and had been for several weeks. When he came to the house, he said, and saw the pair together, he grabbed the pistol which was in his car, and the shooting followed.

Norman Spencer Jr., court-appointed attorney for Henry, said it has not been decided whether an appeal could not be offered until after formal sentence, probably later this week.

ASK NEW TRIAL

He said he had scribbled out a simple motion for a new trial which he had filed when the verdict was reported. This, he explained, was primarily to permit his client to remain at liberty on bond pending formal sentence.

The jury which sat in Henry's case was made up of 11 men and one woman. The jurors were Bennie L. Porter, Clifford Balzer, S. C. Rhoton Jr., Mary Cochran, Malcolm Green, Victor L. Jackson, Lee B. Herndon, Ray F. Philley, Willie McDaniel, B. F. Rainey, William E. Shaffer and Robert J. Alexander.

Road Project Bids Totaled

AUSTIN (AP)—The Highway Department tabulated low bids totaling $18,428,456 for projects Friday. That brought the two day total to $34,887,771.

Projects included, by counties:

Hopkins and Franklin: Interstate 10, 19.3 miles signing and delineation, Rock Creek to FM 899; Aztec Manufacturing Co. Fort Worth, $54,488.

Williamson: Interstate 35, 9.7 miles signing, north of Georgetown to north of Round Rock; Aztec Manufacturing Co. Hopkins and Hunt: Interstate 30, 10.4 miles base and paving, east of Greenville to Cumby underpass; R. W. McKinney, Nacogdoches, $2,121,179.

Kerr: Texas 39, one mile base and paving, Texas 27 to Ingram west; Keller Paving Co. Fredericksburg, $152,966.

Anderson: FM 315, 1.9 miles base and surfacing, sections between Palestine and Brushy Creek; Moore Bros. Construction Co., Lufkin, $51,996.

Jury Selection Prejudice Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department is turning the spotlight on what Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach calls bias and prejudice in the selection of jurors in the Deep South.

The department is expected to intervene in several suits seeking to overturn Alabama convictions on the ground that Negroes were systematically excluded from juries.

TOKYO (AP)—A minor earthquake jolted Tokyo just before midnight Saturday. No damage or casualties were reported.

THE ARTS

Boston Pops Due On Wednesday

Wednesday evening brings the opener for what promises to be a gala season for the Big Spring Concert Association. It all begins with a block-buster—the Boston Pops touring orchestra under Arthur Fiedler, plus the keyboard wizardry of Ozan Marsh, one of the country's foremost pianists, as guest soloist. The program is billed for 8 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. Some season memberships are still available on the eve of the concert, and calls to Mrs. Don Newsom, Mrs. E. H. Bouillon Jr. or Mrs. James Duncan can fill you in. Remember, there are no single admissions for these programs.

Susan Cupp will have an opportunity to present her Goliad Junior High choir for the first time Monday evening when they will perform at the parents night affair. The eighth and ninth grade choirs, numbering 54 voices, will sing three numbers, then be joined by all other members (154 voices in all) for one selection accompanied by a brass choir from Russell McKiski's band.

This may come as much under the head of churches as arts, but the film, "The Restless Ones," drew enthusiastic praise from about 200 adults who saw the pre-view at the Ritz on Friday. The committee for a Better Howard County is sponsoring the showing here Nov. 22-23 for three showings daily (4 p.m., 6:15 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.) at the Ritz. Tickets will be furnished to all young people who wish to view this film, which ties the problems of the young people into the ministry of Billy Graham. The film has a tremendous dramatic impact.

Take time today to view the displays of the Big Spring Art Association show at the First Federal Savings & Loan Association Community Room. You can look to your heart's content—and even make a purchase if you like.

Susan Ivie, percussionist freshman from Big Spring and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Ivie, is one of two who have been awarded a $200 annual John F. Kennedy Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship was established for the Midland-Odessa Symphony Orchestra by Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Traubman of Atherton, Calif. The other award went to Peggy Cogar, El Paso freshman violinist. Four of the holders of these scholarships include two other Big Spring musicians, James Beckham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckham, and James Burleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burleson who now live in Corpus Christi. They will rehearse and perform with the 80-member orchestra.

Among those with parts in the first major production of the Sul Ross State College is Rodney Davis, Lamesa. Rodney will play the part of the captain in "No Time for Sergeants," a hilarious comedy.

"Visit to a Small Planet" kicked off the Community Little Theatre season Friday and Saturday evenings with sparkling performances. The cast, from all accounts, did a fine job, rewarding the efforts of boosters who have enlisted best support yet for the little theatre. The season promises great things.

'Voice Of Theology' Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Paul Johannes Tillich, one of the most renowned voices of contemporary theology, died in Billings Hospital Friday near the University of Chicago.

News of the 79-year-old theologian's death quickly reached those who knew that voice well. "The feeling is one of grief and of great loss to the church," said Dr. Howard Schomer, president of the Chicago Theological Seminary where Tillich had been teaching.

Tillich's three-volume "Systematic Theology," completed just two years ago, has been described as a major work of the 20th century. In all, Tillich wrote 15 books in English—a language he learned at 47.

Bob Wakefield Named New Juvenile Officer

County Judge Lee Porter Saturday announced that the Howard County Juvenile Board has employed Bob G. Wakefield as county juvenile officer. He will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation recently of Bob Darland, who had held the post for five years.

Judge Porter said the board had agreed on the employment of Wakefield after considering the applications of 30 to 40 applicants. He said the new official will assume duties here Nov. 15.

Wakefield comes to Big Spring from Corpus Christi. He is presently in the Nueces County Juvenile Department in the post of assistant probation officer.

He has held that post 17 months, going to Corpus Christi from 18 months service with the Dallas County Juvenile Department Detention Unit.

Wakefield is 28 years old. He is married and has one child. Wakefield is a graduate of Abilene High School and served two years in the military service.

He received a BA degree from the North Texas State University in 1960, where he majored in social science. He has completed 12 semester hours toward a master's degree in guidance and counseling.

Wakefield is a member of the National Council on Crime and

BOB G. WAKEFIELD

Delinquency, and also a member of the Texas State Juvenile Association.

Porter said that Wakefield, on being advised of his selection to the post here, said he was gratified and that he welcomed an opportunity to live in West Texas. He added he looks forward to assuming his full duties here as Howard County Juvenile Officer.

Darland, who was named as the first full-time juvenile officer after the county-school-city system was adopted, has enrolled as a counselor for a Youth Corps camp to be established in New Mexico. He is currently taking special training in California to ready him for his new duties.

Since his resignation, the post of juvenile officer has been vacant. The board accepted applications until Oct. 10. On that date they considered the 30 to 40 applications which had been received. This total was reduced by sifting to four or five, and Wakefield was chosen from this group.

No announcement was made as to the salary. Darland was being paid $6,500 a year, plus a car allowance. However, it was pointed out that Darland received two pay increases in the five years he had the post. The county, city and school all contribute in the operating expenses of the juvenile department under the program followed here. A board, with representatives from the three agencies, governs the policies of the department. The county judge is chairman of the board.

Twenty years ago most prescriptions cost less than they do now. But, they did less. We had none of the costlier antibiotics, new hormones, and other "miracle" drugs which can be depended upon to produce a positive benefit and very often a certain cure.
Present prescriptions are "cheap" indeed, for they usually limit sickness-time to days instead of weeks and save more lives. Some cost more, but you benefit more.

New Tumult In Indonesia

SINGAPORE (AP) — President Sukarno warned the Indonesian people Saturday to stop anti-Communist demonstrations or be shot. The warning, broadcast by army-controlled Radio Jakarta, heard here, appeared to move Sukarno nearer a showdown with the army.

In an angry voice, Sukarno said he would order the army to the demonstrations, to "shoot and kill" demonstrators.

Maj. Gen. Suharto, newly-appointed army chief, supported the president's appeal for calm but the broadcast did not carry any comment by him on the warning to anti-Communist demonstrators.

APPEALS IGNORED

Army leaders have ignored earlier appeals by the 64-year-old Indonesian president since he seized control of the country after an abortive Oct. 1 coup. The army charges Indonesia's Chinese-oriented Communist party — PKI — had a hand in the coup.

Speaking at a meeting he held with top provincial leaders and military commanders at his Jakarta palace, Sukarno repeated earlier instructions to end what he described as "racism, slander and vengeance."

This was an obvious reference not only to the anti-Communist campaign directed by the army but to mob activities against Chinese.

BLAMES PRESS

Sukarno blamed Jakarta newspapers for not giving his instructions sufficient space. The papers, all non-Communist, operate only with army permission. He said that once his instructions against demonstrations were carried fully in the Jakarta press, he would order the army to "shoot to kill" violators.

Sukarno said he wanted the demonstrations halted to avoid "all actions which can ruin our struggle."

"Our struggle is against neocolonialism, colonialism and imperialism — it is our efforts to build a society that is fair and just," he declared. "It is our struggle to crush Malaysia."

Continuing to play down the coup attempt, Sukarno charged that "some people" accused of involvement in the coup movement were victims of "false slander" and that various factions had taken the opportunity presented by the abortive uprising to attack each other. He did not elaborate.

AGAINST REDS

The main feature of the crisis, however, has been the army's drive against the Communists and its repeated accusations that Reds took part in the murder of army generals by the rebels.

Other reports from Jakarta, however, said one purpose of Saturday's three-hour meeting was to prepare checks against threatened Communist communications strikes. A statement by Brig. Gen. Sutjipto of Koti, the supreme operations command, said the Communists appear to be planning strikes in Java where they are the strongest and where rail traffic was disrupted Thursday.

It was the first indication the Communists were striking back openly against the army crackdown.

THE WEEK

following previous announcements of agreements between the parties, but Mitchell County interests last week formally dismissed the suit contesting the Colorado River Municipal Water district lake permit at Robert Lee. This makes it official.

Dolores Lankford's steer, Tramp, didn't place as high (eighth) as hoped in the State Fair show, but Dolores made up for it. She took the coveted junior livestock showmanship award.

Connolly Oil No. 5-B Jim Tom, three miles southeast of Stanton, became a Martin County producer in the booming Gordon Street (upper Wolfcamp) field, flowing 210 barrels of 41 gravity oil from 8,665-86. A. E. Walker Jr. No. 1 Hunt became a discovery in the York and Harper level of the Permian series three miles southwest of Sterling City, shaping new possibilities for the shallow Durham pool. Incidentally, there is a rash of wildcatting going on now, and with a bit of good fortune, it could stimulate things.

This was reunion week. Coahoma put on a big show with its school homecoming, celebrating the Golden Anniversary of the first high school graduating class. Then Big Spring High Class of '18 got together, with a lot of other exes, and had a great time.

Trinity Lutheran is having its first service today in its new $76,000 plant, an imposing record for a congregation organized just two years ago. Coahoma's Church of Christ is having homecoming for opening of a new educational building today. Around the first of December, First Baptist may be getting into its huge new plant on Marcy Drive.

Peppy Blount, the redoubtable former Big Springer who achieved fame as a University of Texas footballer and was a colorful state representative, is putting out feelers for a possible race for attorney general. Peppy, now Gregg County judge, was in Houston and told the Post he had checked the political climate and "I find it warm and most favorable."

Our United Fund effort hit a plateau the fore part of the week, but Friday produced nearly $8,000 to bring the total to nearly $56,000, or about 57 percent of the goal. Enough is in sight to add about a thousand dollars to that Monday, but this tempo will have to step up if we are to hit our goal just under $100,000.

Disaster struck again for the second week when the Big Spring Steers were upended by Abilene 9-6. One of these days, fans hope, the Steers will play a full game up to their potential — they did for a half Friday, then sprung a flat tire.

SERVICES PENDING FOR MRS. AYRES

LAMESA (SC) — Services are pending in Silvertown, with Branon-Phillips Funeral Home in charge of arrangements, for Mrs. Irene Whitely Ayres, 68, who died Saturday afternoon at Medical Arts Hospital. She had been ill for 10 months.

Mrs. Ayres was born in Belton, May 22, 1897. She moved to Plainview in 1930 where she and her husband operated a men's clothing store until 1935, when they moved to Lamesa. They operated a retail dry goods store here until they retired in 1963.

Survivors are: the husband, George Madison Ayres; Lamesa; four sisters, Mrs. Jennie Penn, West Burlington, Iowa, Mrs. Madeline Stark, Quitaque, and Mrs. Clarice Douglas, Silvertown.

ANOTHER TROPHY FOR NEW MEXICO OIL MAN'S COIN DISPLAY

Hobbs Man Wins Coin Show Honor

Jim Dean, a Hobbs, N. M., oil man who collects U.S. coins as a hobby and shows them in the competition at coin shows all over the Southwest, won "best of the show" honors here Saturday at the Fourth Annual Big Spring Coin Club Show.

His spectacular collection of U.S. type coins, dating back to the earliest stages of U.S. history and complete with two exceptions, caught the eye of the lay visitors at the show in the Settles Hotel. It also won the nod of the skilled judges whose task it was to select the best display of the show.

Dean has competed in the Big Spring show in other years.

NOT GIVING UP

"I'll get those two coins I still need," he promised. "They're hard to find but they are not as costly as some of the ones I already have."

He has been collecting since 1958, he said. His collection is mounted in two huge identical gold frames.

His display won him first place in U.S. coin competition at the show for adults and by virtue of his high score clinched his claim to the best of the show trophy. He and the other winners will receive their trophies at a breakfast at 7:30 a.m. today in the Settles Hotel.

The most trophies won were taken by W. E. Wozencraft, Big Spring coin enthusiast. He will receive three first place awards and a third place trophy at the breakfast today.

SECOND PLACE

In the U.S. Coins division, won by Dean, Dallas Mahoney of Big Spring took second place and Wozencraft third.

In the foreign coins competition, Wozencraft was first and Charles Miller, Waco, second. There was no third.

Charles Travis, Pecos, had a runaway with his gold coin exhibit. He had no rivals and the judges had no difficulty in giving him the nod.

In the All Paper Money division, Wozencraft took first, and Jerry Marier, Big Spring, second.

Wozencraft's specialized display of Biblical coins won him first place in that division. He had no competition in this event.

Guy Teague won first place in the junior collection of All U.S. Coins. Lynn Kirby was second and Kathy Kirby, third.

In the All Foreign division, Tina Teague was first, Lynn Kirby, second and Darlene Barlow, third. All of the youngsters are from Big Spring.

In addition to the competitive exhibits, the show features a number of remarkable collections. One is the almost complete collection of early Texas paper money — issued in the years of the Republic. This is owned by Bob Medlin, Lubbock, and won first place recently in the American Numismatic Association show in Houston.

Also attracting attention is the spectacular "Crowns of the World" display owned by C. M. Travis of Pecos. This vast array of silver coins spans centuries, and is most effectively shown in a series of huge frames centered by maps of the areas from which the coins came.

ANCIENT MONEY

Visitors also found interesting the collection of ancient money dating far back into the times of Christ shown by Louis Goodwin of Odessa. Raymond Tollett, Big Spring, is showing his famous collection of flying and eagle and Indian head pennies — complete — and his equally amazing complete assortment of liberty head quarters.

Other special displays, not in competition, are being shown by M. K. Britton and Roy Bell. All of the special exhibits will be presented with plaques at the awards breakfast.

In the main ballroom, dealers are operating. Tables spread with a fantastic display of paper, silver and gold money await the coin shopper.

The show was well attended Saturday alike by collectors and by lay visitors. It is open to the public. The doors open at 9 a.m. today and visitors are welcome to attend. The show ends at 5 p.m.

Civil Case Set For Monday Trial

A jury panel will report to Judge Ralph W. Caton in 118th District Court at 1:30 p.m. Monday to serve in the trial of a civil case docket the judge has set for this week.

Judge Caton will sound the docket at 10 a.m. Matters announced ready will be scheduled and the court hopes to have a case ready to start trial at 1:30 p.m.

Conspiracy, Says Mom Of Acquitted Klansman

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, Ku Klux Klansman acquitted in a civil rights slaying, rested at a suburban Fairfield home Saturday, shielded by parents who are convinced he was framed.

"I'm just glad it's over," said his mother, Mrs. Leroy Wilkins, who accompanied her son to his trial in Hayneville, Ala., where he faced first-degree murder charges in the highway slaying last March 23 of a white civil rights volunteer, Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit.

SPECTATORS CHEER

Wilkins was pointed out by Gary Thomas Rowe, an FBI informer, as the trigger man in the Liuzzo slaying. Wilkins was freed by a white, male jury Friday. The verdict brought cheers from courtroom spectators.

"I hadn't raised my boy to go out on a lonely highway to do something like that," Mrs. Wilkins, mother of four children, said. "I always felt like that. I felt like my boy was framed in this. I always felt it was conspiracy."

TWO OTHERS

In Alabama, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers said he would press the prosecution of two other Klansmen accused in the Liuzzo slaying, Eugene Thomas and William O. Eaton.

A civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who was leading a civil rights voter registration demonstration in Montgomery hours before Mrs. Liuzzo was shot to death on U.S. Highway 80, said in Paris he was cutting short a European trip to return and lead protest demonstrations against the acquittal and southern justice.

Weather Forecast

Sunday's outlook is for generally fair skies except for a few showers and snow flurries over the Lower Great Lakes and the Appalachian Mountains. Cooler temperatures are predicted for the Ohio Valley and Atlantic Coastal States while it will be warmer in the Upper Mississippi Valley and the North and Central Plains States. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Coahoma Homecoming Sees 3,500 Persons Attending

COAHOMA (SC) — Around 3,500 Coahomans, former Coahomans and friends attended Homecoming activities here Saturday. Climaxing the day's activities was the Coahoma - Merkel football game, won by Coahoma 57 to 12.

Registration and a coffee started at 9 a.m. and ran to 11:30 a.m. This was followed by balloting for "Coming Home King and Queen," in which eight candidates were entered.

FLOATS, COSTUMES

A parade, with floats, costumes, decorated vehicles, and marchers, led by the Coahoma High School band, marched from the high school west to First Street, south to North Broadway, east to College, and back north to the junior high school.

The Mary Jane Club hosted a tea at 2:30 p.m. in the activity room of the high school, and this was followed by a business meeting at 4:40 p.m.

A large turnout was noted at the barbecue held at 5:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria.

WINNERS LISTED

Winners announced for the first, second and third place prizes for floats entered in the homecoming parade, were: First Junior Class, featuring "Nep-tune"; second, Senior Class, with the class of 1915 and the class of 1965 represented—Jur Rine, Leroy Echols and Vernon Guthrie (1915), and Larry Newman and Martha Love (1965); Third place was the float of the Young Homemakers on which old-time and present day conveniences were shown — an old sewing machine, an old churn and old-time clock; contrasted by a person in a reclining chair watching television, and other modern items.

The first three places in the costume parade were: First, Johnny Achard, as a pilgrim; Second, Keliga Achard, as a pixie, and Pattie Lee and Ronald Phinney tied for third place.

VEHICLE PRIZES

Vehicle prizes were taken by Gayla Roberts, first; Gaylon Harding, second, and Lisa Bruton, third.

Homecoming Queen appearing at the football game between the Coahoma Bulldogs and Merkel High Saturday night was Nadine Honeycutt, a senior, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Honeycutt.

The "Coming Home" Queen named for the day was Mrs. Doris Wolf Hale, Class of 1923, of Coahoma. The "Coming Home" King was Sam Buchanan, a rancher of Route 1, Coahoma, Classes of '21 and and of '22.

ELECTED

president, District IV, TSTA; member of District IV TSTA executive committee; chairman, Region 2, Texas Southern Association of Schools and Colleges Accreditation Program for Elementary Schools; Texas member of the Board of Governors, Council for Exceptional Children.

Anderson presided this morning, at a special education breakfast, as president of the Texas Council for Exceptional Children in San Antonio. He also presided at a special session of the council in Corpus Christi where Tony C. Milazzo, director of education, Mentally Retarded and Emotionally Disturbed Branch, Division of Handicapped Children and Youth, U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C., spoke.

Anderson has also been active in civic work. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce; past president of the Robstown Rotary Club, and member of Big Spring Rotary; Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults (past president); Big Spring Personnel and Management Association; member of the Juvenile Board of Howard County; Boy Scout work, in most district and council activities; member of First Methodist Church, and on Board of Stewards, Big Spring.

One Graduated Twice From Same School

Coahoma High School can boast one man who was graduated from the school twice. On top of that he has five children, all of whom are Coahoma High graduates. He is Sam Buchanan, Rt. 1.

To add to his contact with the schools, two of his daughters are now teachers there, and both their husbands are on the faculty. "Mr. Sam" was named "Coming Home King" Saturday.

Back in 1921, when he received his first diploma, the school taught only 10 grades. The eleventh grade was added the next year, so he went back to Coahoma High and was graduated again in 1922.

His four teachers are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tindol and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Wynn.

Rail Run May Halt

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission is studying a request to discontinue the Burlington Zephyr, the last direct passenger rail connection between Houston and Dallas.

Burlington officials testified the Zephyr leaves Houston daily with an average of only 63 passengers aboard.

Johnson Follows Pattern Of FDR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President of the United States sat down to sign some of the sweeping, even amazing, bills Congress had sent him after a whirlwind session.

"More history is being made today," Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "than in any one day of our national life."

It was June 17, 1933, one day after the famous "hundred days" of the Congress which had been elected with him the November before.

Now, in 1965, Congress again has poured out so many and such far-reaching laws that President Johnson, who asked for them, was moved to declare:

"MOST REWARDING"

"This 89th Congress will leap into history as the most effective and the most rewarding Congress in the history of our nation."

"Fabulous" was Johnson's word for the first session of the 89th Congress, and fabulous was the word, too, for the first session of the 73rd, which built the foundations of Roosevelt's New Deal.

Johnson was a young disciple of the New Deal, an eager, stringbean-thin secretary at the Capitol when he watched the coming to power of Roosevelt.

HIS HERO

Roosevelt was Johnson's hero then and in later years when he began to go places as a young congressman who had caught the eye of FDR.

"He was like a daddy to me," Johnson has often said.

So, like a man who patterned his life after his father, Johnson may take an extra measure of pleasure in having his congressional victories compared to Roosevelt's.

Queen Nadine Honeycutt, senior, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Honeycutt, was crowned Coahoma's Homecoming Queen at the half time at Saturday night's football game.

Baylor Sorry About Defacing

WACO (AP) — Baylor University officials and student leaders expressed regret Saturday over the defacing of Texas A&M property by Baylor pupils Friday.

President Abner McCall said the incident is under investigation at Baylor. He said the pupils involved in painting a number of buildings and other property at A&M will be brought before the university disciplinary committee early this week. The proper disciplinary measures will be taken, he said.

Ivanelle Marr Attends Meet

Mrs. Ivanelle Marr, assistant cashier at Security State Bank of Big Spring, and chairman of the West Texas - Panhandle District of the National Association of Bank Women, has just returned from the 43rd annual convention. The convention was held in Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 17-21.

Mrs. Marr was the only member from Big Spring attending, but was among 25 delegates of the West Texas - Panhandle District which has a membership of 123.

500 ATTEND

More than 500 women bank officers, representing all 50 states, attended the five-day convocation, at Tulsa's Mayo Hotel. The convention theme, "An Adventure in Successful Banking," stressed new and profitable ways to market bank services.

Mrs. Evelyn L. Worley, NABW president, and vice president of Citizens and Southern National Bank of Atlanta, Ga., presided.

The National Association of Bank-Women, Inc. is a professional organization for women who are officers of banks, savings banks, and trust companies, with more than 4,800 members throughout the United States and several foreign countries.

TOP SPEAKERS

Some featured speakers were former U.S. Congressman Walter H. Judd from Minnesota; the Rev. Trafford P. Maher, director of the Department of Education and Human Relations Center, St. Louis University; Dr. Ralph G. Nichols, head of the University of Minnesota; and Harold R. Colbert, executive vice president, Commerce Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Coal Industry Has Little To Fear From Nuclear Energy

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—The oil industry was told last week there is little reason for it to fear nuclear energy as a serious competitor.

James Ramey, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission, said competition from nuclear energy will be of much more significance to the coal industry than to oil.

He said competition between nuclear energy and fossil fuels for some time to come is likely to be limited to supplying fuel for the electric power industry's 20 to 30 per cent share of the total energy market.

The chief executive officer of the nation's largest coal company quickly replied that his industry is ready to accept nuclear energy's challenge to coal as the dominant fuel in electric power plants.

"From now on our chief competitor in the electric energy field is nuclear power," said George Love, chairman of the Consolidation Coal Co. and the Chrysler Corp.

EVEN GROUND
"All I want to say in regard to this new competitor is the coal industry is ready to meet this newcomer on even ground but we are strenuously opposed to its being helped by government subsidy in any form,"

Love said.
Ramey and Love spoke at the annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. Only a week earlier Consolidation and the Continental Oil Co. announced plans for Continental to acquire the mining properties of the Pittsburgh, Pa., coal company.

Ramey said demand for oil, gas and coal should double by 1980 but each can expect to lose ground to nuclear energy while competing to supply fuel for electric power plants.

Nuclear energy's share of the electric power fuel market is expected to increase from 0.1 per cent to 19 per cent by 1980. During the same period, coal's share is expected to decline from 54 to 47 per cent, gas from 21 to 19 per cent, hydro from 19 to 13 per cent, and oil from 6 to 4 per cent.

GREAT POTENTIAL
Ramey said nuclear energy's potential as a competitor with all fossil fuels is tremendous but, for the long term, is expected to assist, not supplant, the other fuels in meeting the expanded energy market.

"The amount of energy in nuclear fuel resources is many hundreds of times that of the most optimistic estimates of fossil fuel reserves," he said. "Assuming we learn to use it efficiently, nuclear fuel can supply as much energy as this country can use for many centuries to come."

Love said the coal industry accepts the loss of large tonnage displaced by gas in the space heating market because gas is the fuel the consumer prefers.

He said his industry will compete vigorously, however, to retain its share of the electric power plant fuel market.

"There are electric plants under construction today that will require five million tons of coal annually—15,000 tons a day," he said.

SHARP COMPETITION
He also promised sharp competition in other areas.

"One of these days because coal is in abundance near the centers of population we will convert coal into gaseous and liquid products," he said.

Love also indicated coal some day may be in a better position than gas to battle seasonal fluctuations in demand in areas where underground storage of gas is not feasible.

"Perhaps a solution for the off-peak curve may lie in the development of plants that convert coal into both gasoline or gas, varying the output according to seasonal demand," he said.

"Such plants, with a high gasoline yield in summer and a high gas yield in winter, may not be too far around the corner."

Locations Staked In 3 Counties

Field locations have been staked in Howard, Martin and Sterling counties, and a water injection well completed in Howard County, during the weekend.

D. W. Varel No. 3-A Gular Trust Estate, in the Varel (San Andres) field has been spotted 330 feet from the south and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 22-A, Bauer & Cockrell survey, nine miles northwest of Big Spring. The contract depth is to 3,500 feet.

The Martin County location is the Connolly Oil Co., Inc. No. 6-D Jim Tom, 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 32-35-1s, T&U survey, five miles southeast of Stanton. Operator has contracted to drill to 9,900 feet in the Gordon Street (9300) field.

Sunset International Petroleum Corporation will drill the No. 4-63 Sellers, in the Triple M (Upper Wolfcamp) field, to 7,200 feet in Sterling County. It is spotted 1,992 feet from the north and 595 feet from the west lines of section 63-17, SPRR survey, 20 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Barranca Oil, Ltd. has completed the No. 24-W. D. H. Snyder as a water injection well at 2,890 feet in the Snyder field. Location was spotted 1,370 feet from the south and 2,590 feet from the east line of section 28-30-1s, T&P survey, eight miles southeast of Coahoma.

'65 Distinguished Service Awards Go To Two Texans

DALLAS — Two native Texans, a nationally prominent authority on oil and gas law, and one of the country's most successful oil finders, have received the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Award for 1965.

Selected for the honor were Michel T. Halbouty, Houston geologist, engineer and independent oil producer; and Clayton L. Orn, Findlay, Ohio, director and general counsel for Marathon Oil Company.

The presentations were made Oct. 20 during the association's 48th annual meeting at the Hotel Texas, Fort Worth. A committee of former award winners each year select an independent oil man and a major company executive to honor for distinguished service to the Texas petroleum industry during their careers.

A leading authority on Gulf

Coast geology and engineering problems, Halbouty has discovered 40 oil and gas fields and extensions since 1945. He has published more than 80 technical papers, a technical book and is co-author of "Spindletop." He also operates in Alaska where he made the first gas discovery by an independent. Halbouty has extensive banking interests in Houston, San Angelo, Paris, and Dallas. He is active in community affairs, including service as civil defense director of Houston, and has been an outspoken champion for modernizing Texas oil and gas conservation laws in the spacing of wells.

His award was presented by F. Randolph Yost, Tulsa, president of Pan American Petroleum Corp., a friend from Beaumont high school days, who also began his oil career with Yost.

Orn, a native of Weatherford, began his oil and gas law practice in West Central Texas after getting his law degree in 1925. He studied at Baylor University and George Washington University. As a member of a Fort Worth law firm, which he joined in 1931, he devoted much of his time to trial of cases in the East Texas oil fields. He joined Ohio Oil Company (later Marathon) in 1942 at Houston and moved to Findlay in 1954.

Orn helped pioneer Texas oil and gas conservation laws, was an active participant in securing legislation to restore to the states offshore tracts within their traditional boundaries. He also helped draft leasing laws for federal offshore areas. He is a veteran member of industry legal groups which have sought legislation to free independent gas producers from Federal Power Commission regulation. He serves on the American Petroleum Institute's Committee on Public Affairs.

To Meet In Odessa
The Permian Basin Section, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, will meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 26 in the Community Room on the fourth floor of the First State Bank Building in Odessa.

The speaker for the evening will be L. J. Sullivan, chief engineer for Sivals Tanks, Inc. His subject will be "ASME Code for Unfired Pressure Vessels — What It Means."

The program will be of interest to the mechanical and civil engineers who are now organizing a local section of ASME, and members are urged to invite them as guests. Robert Boadle, secretary-treasurer,

Rotary Rig Count Drops

Rotary rigs operating in the Permian Basin, when the Friday survey was made by Reed Roller Bit Co., numbered six fewer than last week's total, and 15 below last year's comparable week.

Petrofina Names Asphalt Section Head In Dallas

DALLAS — James E. Kelly will head the new Asphalt Engineering Section of American Petrofina Company of Texas, according to an announcement here. Kelly was formerly of the Texas State Highway Department in Waco.

The new asphalt engineering section will be primarily responsible for engineering design as it relates to the construction of asphalt pavement.

A graduate of Texas A&M, Kelly has served with the Texas State Highway Department for 16 years, most recently as District 9 Construction Engineer. He is a member of the Highway Research Board, having served as chairman of the Lime and Lime-Fly Ash Stabilization Division, and on the Research Needs and Compaction committees.

With headquarters in Dallas, Kelly will be responsible for asphalt engineering problems throughout Fin's Southwest and Midwest asphalt sales territory.

West Texan Elected To Lead Mid-Continent

FORT WORTH — W. A. Landreth, 49, Fort Worth independent oil producer and civic leader, has been elected president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. Landreth succeeds James L. Sewell, Dallas, president of Delhi - Tylor Oil Corporation, as head of the association.

W. A. LANDRETH

Landreth is a former vice president of the association. He was literally reared in West Texas oil fields where he got his first job as assistant tool dresser on a cable tool rig. He is the son of the late E. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, who pioneered the development of oil in several West Texas fields. Young Landreth's boyhood was spent in Breckenridge, then one of West Central Texas' oil boom towns. The Landreth family moved to Fort Worth in 1927. He worked for the Landreth Production Corporation in the Midland-Odessa area as scout, assistant drilling superintendent and in other jobs with an independent producing firm.

He is a director of the Continental National Bank and the Western Ammonia Corporation.

Mrs. Boland Is Training With New Eyes—'Susie'

Hattie Belle Boland has a brand new seeing eye dog—a beautiful Golden Retriever named Susie.

Charles Boland, 1509 Sycamore, received a happy phone call from Mrs. Boland Thursday afternoon. She is in San Rafael, Calif., where she went to seek a replacement for her beloved Topsy, a Labrador Retriever she lost her sight like her mistress and became incurably ill, recently had to be put to sleep. Mrs. Boland, distraught at her loss, went to the famous San Rafael Guide Dogs for the Blind with only a half-way hope she would find a replacement for Topsy.

TRAINING

"She has begun training with Susie," said Boland. "They have made trips downtown in San Rafael. She has fallen in love with her new friend and is confident that she has a worthy successor to the faithful Topsy."

Mrs. Boland, as in the custom at the Guide Dog School, spent the first few days with her new dog just getting acquainted. When they had become friends, the initial walking exercises began.

The first walking exercises were on the streets of San Rafael. An attendant was along, but he stayed in the background and would have intervened only in the event of a crisis.

On the third week, she and the other members of the present class at the school, with their dogs, will go on a "sight-seeing" tour of San Francisco. There they will go in all parts of town, including famous Chinatown. They will be called upon to cross eight lane thoroughfares. It is the thorough test of the dog and her friend. Training continues into November. If all goes well Mrs. Boland will be back in Big Spring with Susie around Nov. 13.

THIRD DOG

Susie will be the third seeing eye dog Mrs. Boland has owned. During World War I, she was in Houston working in a defense plant. She had a German Shepherd dog at the time.

About dusk one afternoon as her dog was leading her across a street, a car ran into her. "Really," says Boland, "it was no one's fault—not hers, not her dog, nor the driver. It was just one of those things."

Mrs. Boland was gravely injured. Her dog ran away, but later was found. Doctors told Mrs. Boland she would not be able to walk for a long time, if ever, so the dog was returned to the school for training and re-assignment.

Five years in and out of hospitals followed. A famous bone specialist tried a bone graft on Mrs. Boland's badly maimed leg—warning her that there was a grave probability the graft would fail. It did not fail. After she had regained her ability to walk, she obtained Topsy. Topsy had been her eyes for nine years—faithfully guiding her mistress everywhere. Then fate intervened and the loyal dog lost her eyesight.

NO GIFTS

Boland said that the Guiding Eye Institute breeds its own dogs. It never accepts a gift dog. Labrador Retrievers, Golden Retrievers and German Shepherds are used. "Not all of the dogs produced qualify as seeing eye dogs," said Boland. "In fact, one of Susie's sisters was a dropout." W. F. Johns, who trained the famous "killer dogs" used in World War II, heads up the San Rafael school.

DEAR ABBY

The First— And Second

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something to second wives who need to be educated to the role they play in a widower's life. A man who truly loved his first wife cannot erase the memories of many years. It is only natural for him to talk about his first wife and carry her pictures. And if he is accustomed to seeing her face smiling out at him from her picture on his bedroom dresser, it is up to the second wife to adjust to it for his sake. I have seen second wives go into a home and call it hers, when everything in it, including the bed she sleeps in, was paid for by the combined efforts of her husband and his first wife. Still Wife Number Two insists that all the pictures of Wife Number One be put away. Why? If I go first, I want my husband to remarry. But I want him to carry precious memories of me always.

FIRST WIFE: I am all for "carrying precious memories." But the place to carry them is in one's heart, not on one's sleeve. A second wife who sleeps in the same bed occupied by Wife Number One is well aware of it, and doesn't need a picture in her bedroom as a constant reminder. It's the husband who should "adjust." He is no longer a "widower," but a husband to a woman who has stepped up to home plate with two strikes against her.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't give me a long lecture on how much children owe their parents because I already know. My problem is whenever I get any money from relatives, (mostly my grandparents) my mother takes charge of it and that's the last I see of it. I have gotten lots of money for birthdays, holidays, and things like that, but I have never even seen my bank book and I don't know how much I have. When I ask my mother to show me my bank book she says, "Never."

er mind, Shylock, I'm busy now."

Don't you think I have a right to know how much I have saved for me? How can I get her to tell me? I am 12. "SHYLOCK" DEAR "SHYLOCK": Your request is not unreasonable, but your timing could be poor. When your mother is in a good mood and is not busy, ask her to schedule a meeting of the finance committee. Don't press for an examination of the books. Just ask for a treasurer's report. Yes, you have a right to know.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a girl I'll call Lorraine. She is 20 and I am 22. Lorraine is a wonderful girl, and I want to marry her, but here's the problem: She lives with her parents and two little nieces who are four and six. Their mother (Lorraine's sister) took off and can't be located. Lorraine says that when she marries, she will take the little girls with her because her parents are too old and sick to care for them. I admire Lorraine's interest in these kids, but I think I'm too young to take on the job of raising two half-grown children. What is your advice? BEING PUSHED

DEAR PUSHED: I, too, admire Lorraine. But she needs a mate who is willing to buy the package deal she insists on. Making a marriage work is difficult enough under normal circumstances, so if you feel that you are "too young" to assume the responsibility of the children, and that you are "being pushed"—back off.

Airman Faux Wins Base Honor

A flight simulator specialist edged a win in a high-scoring field of seven to be selected Wing Airman of the Quarter at Webb AFB.

The distinction went to Airman 2.C. Robert L. Faux, 23 of the 3560th Student Squadron, with a score of 33.5, one-half point higher than runner-up Airman 2.C. Ralph H. Miller, of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

Airman Faux is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Faux Jr., Atlanta, Ga. He has attended Citrus Junior College in Glendora, Calif., and Michigan State University in East Lansing. He entered the Air Force in April, 1964. His wife is the former Patricia Booker, Buffalo, N.Y.

Bus Service Is Launched

The Webb AFB Transportation Division launched a new service for base personnel Saturday. A bus is to be run on a scheduled route from Webb to Big Spring.

The government bus departs the John H. Lees Service Club on a regular basis with departures on Saturday at 1, 4, 6 and 10:30 p.m. Stops on the route are at the main gate "share-a-ride-stand," the corner of Main and 3rd streets downtown, Big Spring, and the "share-a-ride-stand" in the 500 block of Third Street. During the week, the bus will also be scheduled to visit the Howard County Junior College campus to enable servicemen - students easier access to night classes.

The bus service is the result of cooperation between officials of the Webb transportation division, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and the Big Spring police department and the Webb Air Police. T. Sgt. R. L. Bell is the coordinating official for the transportation division.

Bus service is free for servicemen, and personnel in civilian attire may be required to show ID cards.

He was treated for a small break in the retina of his right eye at the Eye Institute at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, which he entered Tuesday.

Russia Said Against PKI Of Jakarta

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Soviet Union reportedly has passed the word to the Indonesian military that it would be glad to see Indonesia's Chinese-orientated Communist party — PKI — suppressed.

Reliable informants said Friday that Soviet Embassy officials in Jakarta are visiting the offices of high ranking army officers and telling them the Soviet Union had no objection to the current army crackdown on the PKI.

The informants said they were present at one of the meetings and quoted the Soviet diplomats as saying they agreed with the military that Peking, through the PKI, had a hand in the abortive Sept. 30 coup against President Sukarno.

The army has kept up its crackdown in the PKI despite objections from Sukarno. The meetings with Soviet officials reportedly were arranged after Indonesian officers expressed uncertainty whether the Soviet Union would maintain friendly relations and continue military aid to Indonesia if the PKI were suppressed.

Sukarno recently was reported considering planning to set up a new Indonesian Communist party that would not lean toward any foreign power.

Rice Hangs Surprise On Longhorns 20-17

AUSTIN (AP)—Richard Parker kicked a 33-yard field goal with 48 seconds left in the game to give the Rice Owls a stunning 20-17 victory Saturday night over Texas, the No. 5 team in the nation.

The Owls, winners of only one game this season, rallied for 17 points in the second half to overcome a 14-3 halftime lead by the Longhorns, who dropped their first game to Rice in Austin since 1953.

It pushed Rice's season record to 2-3 and South Conference mark to 1-1. For the Longhorns, it was an amazing victory for Rice, who had defeated only Louisiana Tech this year, and allowed Duke and Louisiana State to score more than 40 points each in losses to those two teams.

Punishing Texas quarterback Martin Kristynik with vicious tackles, the Owls scored first on a 34-yard field goal by Parker in the first quarter but then fell behind when Texas pushed across two second quarter touchdowns.

Rice came back for a third quarter touchdown on quarterback David Ferguson's eight-yard run, tied the game on Chuck Latourette's seven-yard scamper in the final period and won it on Parker's soaring boot.

INTERCEPTION
The winning field goal was set up when Robert Hally leaped high to intercept Kristynik's pass and ran it back to the Texas 19 with just a few minutes remaining.

Until Parker's second field goal, it looked as if the game would be a repeat of 1962 when an underdog Rice team tied then top-ranked Texas, 14-14, spoiling an otherwise perfect season.

Texas was outplayed on the ground and in the air as Rice ran up a 273 to 236 total offensive margin. The Owls, who have shown little running the ball, cracked the rugged Longhorn defense for 145 yards, 73 of those by Ferguson who was injured in the fourth quarter and left the game.

Texas' first touchdown came on a one-yard run by Robert Leach, pulling away from Ronnie Cervinka to finish a 31-yard drive set up by Phil Harris' 64-yard kickoff return. Texas scored again when Kristynik passed 6 yards to Ragan Genuza, who also tore loose from Cervinka's grasp at the goal line.

75-YARD RUN
LaTourette put the Owls back in the game, hustling 76 yards with the next kickoff to the Texas 20, where Bill Sullivan pulled him down.

Ferguson swirled through five Longhorns four plays later for the score.

Irish Plaster Southern Cal

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Battering Larry Conjar's four touchdowns swept Notre Dame to a crushing 28-7 football victory Saturday over unbeaten Southern California, whose heralded Mike Garrett was almost completely shackled.

Conjar's feat tied a modern Irish single game scoring record.

The Trojans and national rushing leader Garrett never had a chance against a devastating Irish attack in the nationally televised game.

Conjar spearheaded the relentless Notre Dame ground game, piling up 116 yards on 25 tries, including his four scoring dashes of two yards or less.

Razorbacks Keep Rolling On 55-20 Win

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Swift, powerful Arkansas, playing for the first time ever as the nation's No. 1 team, made out-muscled North Texas State the 18th straight Razorback victim, 55-20, Saturday night.

Tailback Bob Burnett scored three times on runs of 1, 11 and 2 yards and wingback Jim Lindsey bulled 10 and 15 yards for touchdowns as Arkansas continued its winning streak, longest in the land by a major college team.

Wingback Harry Jones, a 195-pounder speedster, galloped 83 yards for another Arkansas score, but later was injured and taken to a hospital for x-rays. His injuries were not determined.

The Razorbacks rolled up 533 yards in total offense, and Eagle quarterback Vidal Carlin hit on 32 of 54 passes for 306 yards, with four interceptions. North Texas flanker John Love, third in the nation in pass receiving, caught 14, setting a school record, for 167 yards.

After Jones' long scoring run, and a one-yard scoring dive by quarterback Jon Brittenum, the Eagles, trailing 14-0, made a come back bid. Carlin hit James Bower on a 7-yard touchdown strike, and Love raced 67 yards for a touchdown on a punt return.

A missed extra point left the Razorbacks in front, 14-13, and they piled up a 55-13 advantage before the Eagles scored again.

Forsan Wins Exhibition

Forsan defeated Hawley, 44-38, in a basketball exhibition that climaxed the Region VI Basketball clinic sponsored by HCCJC here Saturday.

Jody Dodd led the Buffalo Queens to their second straight win, scoring 29 points. Cathy Womack paced Hawley with 16. Forsan led all the way and limited Hawley to a mere ten points in the first half.

In a volleyball exhibition played earlier, Big Spring High School rallied to defeat Abilene, 1-15, 16-14, 15-4.

Shelia Powell was outstanding for Big Spring and Carolina Conner for Abilene.

The clinic attracted a registration of 500, about double what it was a year ago, and was declared an outstanding success by Anna Smith of the college staff.

Coahoma Winner In B Contest

ROSCOE — Phil Cochran scored 20 points in the Coahoma B team's 36-14 rout of Roscoe's reserves here Saturday morning.

Phil Bartlett counted a touchdown and Royce Reid a TD and two extra points for the Bulldogs, who now are 4-1 for the year.

Bill Casper Cops First Money In Las Vegas Play

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Bill Casper Jr. completed a four-round sub-par sweep of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday as he shot a final round 69 for a 72-hole score of 289 and pocketed the $20,000 top money.

The 34-year-old Californian from San Diego went into the final 18 holes with a three-stroke lead and made it hold up despite a damaging two-stroke penalty on the ninth hole.

Apparently aroused by the penalty, Casper promptly birdied the next three holes and won without too much of a challenge.

Tech Edges Ponies In 26-24 Thriller

DALLAS (AP)—Kenneth Gill's toe and Tom Wilson's arm carried Texas Tech to a 26-24 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday night to leave Arkansas the only undefeated team in the Southwest Conference football race.

In a wild and raucous game that had 40,000 spectators standing most of the time, and punctuated by near fights and numerous personal fouls, Texas Tech hung grimly in the title race, moving into second place with a 3-1 record.

Arkansas leads the race with a 3-0 record.

Wilson passed for two touchdowns and set up a touchdown, and field goal. Gill kicked field goals of 36 and 34 yards and two extra points to furnish the actual margin of victory. He missed on another field goal try.

LEAD CHANGES
The lead changed hands four times in an all-out offensive game in which SMU threatened until late in the fourth period when Tech got an SMU fumble on the 17-yard line. In five plays the Red Raiders had the touchdown on a pass by Wilson that put them out of SMU's reach.

SMU got another touchdown in the last two minutes but it left the Methodists still two points short.

Mac White had Southern Methodist threatening at almost every turn. He ran for two touchdowns, which he set up with his running and passing and passed for one.

White, however, had been an early goat of the game. He fumbled on the first SMU offensive play and Joe Hurley recovered for Tech on the SMU 20. Gill kicked a field goal from the SMU 28.

ANDERSON FUMBLES
Donny Anderson, the All-American halfback shown as a big man in Tech's triumph, fumbled to SMU shortly after kickoff and the Methodists drove 73 yards to a touchdown with White passing for 45 yards and running for 29. He made the score with a 29-yard run.

Tech took the kickoff on its 40 and paraded to a touchdown on White's passing with Anderson running the last seven.

But SMU soon had another touchdown, going 90 yards with sophomore Mike Livingston's 44-yard run the big punch. White passed for 22 and ran for 3 and made the touchdown with a one-yard smash.

Doug January recovered a Wilson fumble on the Tech 22 to set up a field goal by Dennis Pardee and SMU was 17-10.

But Tech came back for another on a swing pass from Wilson to Anderson for 17 in a 63-yard march. Anderson failed to run across the conversion, however, and SMU still led 17-16.

HALF-TIME LEAD
Then Gill kicked a field goal from the SMU 24 just before the half ended and Tech took a 19-17 lead to the dressing room. The field goal came after an SMU roughing penalty put the ball on the Tech 24, and Wilson passed the Raiders down to the 14.

There were no scores in the third period but Tech got out of sight in the fourth period as Wilson passed to Jeff White for three yards and the deciding touchdown.

White still had SMU fighting at the end, however, and his passes of 34 and 19 yards to Larry Jernigan and John Rodrick brought the final SMU touchdown. The score came on the 19-yard throw to Rodrick.

Who says there's nothing new in suit styles? Here's our 1966 look from Michaels-Stern

Come see what this Precedo style can do for you—see how well it is tailored

THE Precedo is for trend-setters—men who are tired of the stodgy "uniform" look in suits. Note its lean, slimming shape—the rakish slant to the pockets—the new notch treatment at the collar.

There's news in the way the Precedo is tailored, too. Michaels-Stern puts 500 tiny padding stitches inside each lapel to give it permanent contour. 3-ply nylon thread keeps the buttons from popping. Pure Irish linen gives the collar its smooth shape.

Soph Leader In Bear Win

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Kenny Stockdale, passing with deadly accuracy, hurled Baylor's injury-riddled Bears to a 31-0 Southwest Conference victory over Texas A&M Saturday.

The slender Oklahoma passed for two touchdowns, set up another through the air and pitched the Golden Bruins into field goal position on still another occasion.

Making his first varsity start, Stockdale moved the Bears 68 yards in 11 plays in the first period and hit Tommy Smith with a five-yard shot for the touchdown.

DEADLY AERIALIST
He completed passes of 5, 11, 12 and 5 in the drive and got a 20-yard boost on an interference ruling.

Baylor, dismayed after its great passing star Terry Southall broke an ankle three weeks ago, added 10 points in the second period behind their latest sensation and notched 14 more points in the final quarter.

The hapless Aggies never posed a threat to the Baylor goal until the final minutes, but a 15-yard penalty prevented an A&M touchdown.

The amazing Stockdale hit 20 of 27 passes for 286 yards as the Bears squared their conference record at 1-1 and dealt the Cadets their third straight conference setback.

Stockdale, hitting 15 of 22 for 227 in the first half alone, moved the Bears from the nine to the Aggie 17 to set up a 33-yard field goal by Bob Purvis.

COAHOMA — Coach Spike Dykes cocked the hammer and Coahoma slaughtered Merkel, 21-12, in a District 6-A encounter played before a Homecoming throng of 3,000 here Saturday night.

Bobby Pherigo got the undefeated and untied Bulldogs off to a great start by taking a hand-off and roaring 80 yards to a score and there was never a doubt as to the outcome after that.

Mike Mosley booted the PAT, the first of six he made during the evening.

The Bulldogs scored the first five times they had the ball and boasted a 43-6 advantage at the half time intermission. Dykes flooded the game with substitutes in the second half and even they kept the momentum going.

Eddie Torres went 32 yards on a tricky reverse from 32 yards out with 9:10 showing on the first quarter clock, the run climaxing a 45-yard drive that required five plays. Quarterback Marshall Williams ran for the two points after momentarily bobbling the snapback on what started out as a kick.

KLONDIKE — Sands 'hung tough' in the District 3-B eight-man football race by belting Klondike, 13-0, here Saturday night.

Ricky Kemp scored the first touchdown of the game on the second play of the second quarter when he blitzed 40 yards on a punt return. Joe Grigg's kick for the extra point was blocked.

With 56 seconds left in the first half, Glenn Harrell passed nine yards to John Calvio for the next Sands score. The drive carried 68 yards and was highlighted by a 51-yard end sweep by Alfonso Calvio. Grigg then kicked the PAT.

Klondike got as far as Sands' eight in the first period but lost the ball on a fumble.

Each team threatened several times in the last half but couldn't muster the necessary power to score.

Ed McMurphy, and Dick Grigg proudly pose with a prize cat which didn't get away. It was a 58-pound yellow cat landed on a trotline at Lake Colorado City Friday night. They were baiting with perch, but the only other fish on the line was a one-pound channel cat. Their prize, however, made up for it. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Irons Now Freshman Coach

By TOMMY HART

Jack Irons of Big Spring, deprived of the chance to finish out his playing career at Texas Western College because of a physical infirmity, is coaching the freshman team at the El Paso school.

SAM BELL

... Texas Western, which has averaged 23,899 paying customers at its three home games this season, performed before only 16,742 at the University of Wyoming last weekend.

... Pete Cook, who stays busy as a football official on a wide front every fall, took a busman's holiday last week to watch Big Spring and saw Midland rap the locals, 21-6.

... It was the first time Cook had seen the Steers in action since the final game of the 1962 season, when San Angelo mauled the locals, 48-6.

... Dickie Spier, one of the Steers' better backs several years ago, is now married and working in an aircraft plant at Arlington.

... Sam Bell, one-time coaching aide here, is expecting one of his better basketball teams at Robert E. Lee High School in Tyler.

... He has seven lettermen, including three regulars, returning from last year's squad.

... His junior varsity club last year won 18 of 19 starts.

... One of Bell's returnees is Gaylon Daughtry, who won all-district laurels last season.

... One of Sam's players will be his own son, Sam Jr.

... Big Spring is one of three 2-AAAA teams entered in the Dec. 2-4 Plainview basketball tournament, where meet director Bob Clindaniel says he still needs an entry to fill out a field of 16.

... Midland Lee and Abilene Cooper are other 2-AAAA schools in the field.

... Some baseball observers are inclined to think that ex-Big Springer Camilo Pascual has lost the magic on his breaking pitches and may be through as a big winner for the Minnesota Twins.

... Pascual had a 9-3 won-lost record and an earned run average of 3.35 the past season. If San Antonio lands the National PGA in 1968, as it hopes to do, it will not attempt to stage the Texas Open.

Site of the PGA will be decided about Nov. 8.

Harold Mobley, new varsity basketball coach at Odessa Permian, has reason to be cheerful.

In addition to six returning lettermen, Mobley will benefit from graduates of a junior varsity squad that won 23 games without a loss last season.

Permian's returning vets are Larry Hart, 6-2, a fine left-handed shooter; Ricky Fesmire, 6-1; Marvin Mayfield, 5-8; Kenneth Balthrop, 5-9; Tommy Frymire, 6-0; and Tony Conley, 6-3.

The latter is now out for football.

Missing from the Permian team this season will be Alan Moravcik, Jimmy Johnston, Chuck Mercer, Jimmy Ormand, Gene Sterling and Tim Haines.

Civic and fraternal groups can order a 28-minute color film on the Houston Astros and the Astrodome.

The film, "Space Age Baseball," is available without charge on loan through Texas Educational Aids, 4621 Fannin St., Houston.

This has been a dreary year at Houston, by the way, with the Rice Owls, Houston Oilers, University of Houston and the Astros all winning fewer games than they lost.

Eight of the 14 regular quarterbacks in the NFL are 30 years of age or older.

Coahoma's Bulldogs were hit harder by injuries prior to their game this weekend with Merkel than at any time this season.

Of the 11 boys Merkel coach Bob Byerly started against Coahoma, only three were seniors.

Two of the Badger regulars, halfback Felix Castillo and quarterback Ray Davis, are only sophomores.

Bear Bryant's coaching record against the Tennessee Vols is now a lackluster 5-8-4, in the wake of the Vols' recent tie with the Crimson Tide but Alabama has done even worse against Texas—1-5-1.

Mack White, the SMU quarterback, carried the ball more times in the Ponies' first four games this fall than any SMU back did in last year—76 against Danny Thomas' 73.

When Jim (Mudcat) Grant was a reserve football back at Florida A&M, the fellow playing in front of him was the late Willie Galtimore, a star with the Chicago Bears in more recent years.

Field Goal Sinks
TCU Frogs, 3-0

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — A 26-yard second quarter field goal by Frank Pearce stood up for a 3-0 Clemson victory over Texas Christian Saturday in a defensive football game studded with 23 punts, 12 by TCU.

The Texans managed only two first downs and ran and passed for only 72 yards. Clemson had 18 first downs and gained 302 yards.

ONLY TWO DRIVES — Clemson mounted the only two sustained drives of the day, one of 64 yards climaxed by Pearce's three-pointer with eight seconds left in the first half. The other covered 70 yards but ended in the third period with a fumble on the goal line of the Southwest Conference visitors.

Bruce Alford tried a 42-yard field goal for TCU in the last period but the kick was wide. The play was set up by a deep punt to the Clemson three by Donnie Gibbs and Clemson's short return punt to the Clemson 38.

Don Barfield several times punted 45 and 50 yards for Clemson to drive TCU back inside its 20. Gibbs put the Tigers on its nine and three on two occasions with his kicks.

Reserve quarterback Jim Addison started Clemson on its scoring drive with two successive 14 yard passes to end Charles Meadowcroft. Charles Hook and Hugh Mauldin each picked up eight yards for the Atlantic Coast Conference leaders. Quarterback Tom Ray found Phil Rogers open for a nine-yard pass, and an offside penalty against the Texans and Ray's five-yard run brought the ball to the 10.

Pearce kicked his field goal from there on second down to beat the clock.

TCU IS 2-4 — The victory left Clemson 4-2 for the season and TCU dropped to 2-4.

Mauldin started Clemson's other march with an 11-yard run. Ray found Wayne Bell open for a 17-yard pass and shot one for nine yards to Ed McGee. Mauldin and Hook worked the ball to the TCU two and there a fumble by Hook was recovered by TCU tackle Ronnie Nixon on the goal line.

When TCU punted out of danger Clemson fumbled the reception and Texas Christian tackle Bobby Barker recovered the ball on the TCU 42. But the Texans were unable to generate a drive.

Nixon cut off a Clemson threat early in the third period when he trapped Ray behind the Tiger line with a jarring tackle that shook the ball loose. Nixon then fell on the ball near midfield.

Juarez Racing Season Is Cut

JUAREZ — In a move which not only dispelled a flurry of rumors but also drew enthusiastic support from racing interests throughout New Mexico, the Juarez Race Track Saturday announced plans for its 1966 thoroughbred meeting providing for a compact three-week season during which $200,000 in purse money will be distributed to horsemen.

The program eliminates the possibility of an overlap in racing between Juarez and any of the tracks in New Mexico, calls for the offering of one $7,500 added stake, four of $5,000 added and another of $2,500 and also will mark the introduction of quarter horse competition south of the border.

There had been considerable conjecture over the prospect that Juarez intended to expand its thoroughbred racing and even might hold Sunday programs on a year-round basis.

STARTS APRIL 22 — In revealing the turf schedule at the multi-million dollar Mexican sports palace, Demetrio Sotomayor, general manager, said the season will start Friday, April 22, and conclude Sunday, May 8. There will be 13-race cards Friday, Saturday and Sunday the first two weeks and on the final weekend there also will be racing on Thursday.

Sotomayor outlined the proposal with representatives of Sunland Park, Ruidoso and the New Mexico State Racing Commission, and all expressed the opinion that it would work to the benefit of horse racing throughout the area. They were particularly pleased with the fact that any conflict over racing dates among the various tracks will be eliminated, including that with the New Mexico State Fair at Albuquerque which traditionally starts after the Labor Day weekend.

During its inaugural season this year, Juarez commenced racing April 24 and continued through Sept. 26 in accordance with an agreement it had with neighboring Sunland Park where by the latter would run from late September until approximately mid-April.

As matters now stand Sunland Park plans to close April 19. La Mesa Park normally commences about mid-May and soon thereafter Ruidoso gets underway, so Juarez will fill the gap between those meets and, of course, avoid operating simultaneously with the State Fair.

Terrapins Lose
To Wolfpack

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — A hungry North Carolina State Wolfpack feasted early on fumbles and pass interceptions to run of a 29-0 half-time lead and nursed it Saturday for a 29-7 football victory over Maryland.

The Wolfpack had scored only 40 points while losing four of its first five games but struck sudden wealth against what had been one of the preseason favorites in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

For a moment it appeared that the Hawkeyes would put on another successful goal line stand as they did in the first quarter when they stopped a Wildcat drive on the one.

McKelvey, who carried 35 times for 100 yards, however, went over for what proved to be the winning score.

Early in the fourth quarter, Northwestern pounded its way to the Iowa 20, and Dean Dickie bolstered the shaky lead with a clinching 38-yard field goal.

Wildcats Win Over Iowans

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Dennis Bothe, the sophomore quarterback with a reputation for passing, kept Northwestern on the ground Saturday and guided the Wildcats to a 9-0 Big Ten football victory over Iowa.

A homecoming crowd of 45,129 saw Bothe attempt only two passes, of which he completed one for nine yards. However, the 20-year-old from Mundelein, Ill., engineered a powerful ground attack led by workhorse Bob McKelvey to Northwestern's second Big Ten triumph in three games.

Northwestern was in complete command from the opening kickoff but left the field at half-time with nothing better than a scoreless tie.

The Wildcats took the second half kickoff and finally moved to a touchdown with a 69-yard drive, aided by 35 yards in penalties. With a first and goal situation on the Iowa three, the Wildcats needed four plays before McKelvey plunged over from the one.

For a moment it appeared that the Hawkeyes would put on another successful goal line stand as they did in the first quarter when they stopped a Wildcat drive on the one.

McKelvey, who carried 35 times for 100 yards, however, went over for what proved to be the winning score.

Early in the fourth quarter, Northwestern pounded its way to the Iowa 20, and Dean Dickie bolstered the shaky lead with a clinching 38-yard field goal.

Middies Lose
To Engineers

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sophomore sensation Kim King fired three touchdown passes to shatter Navy's defenses Saturday, and Georgia Tech added two long punt returns to win its fourth straight football game 37-16.

King's pinpoint passing and devastating speed boosted the Yellow Jackets to a 23-0 half-time lead. He pitched scoring strikes of 17, 17 and 10 yards and set up a 31-yard field goal by Tommy Carmichael.

Tech put the game out of the Midshipmen's reach in the first five minutes of the second half. Halfback Bill Eastman gathered in a Navy punt on his own 14 and dashed through a host of Middies on the 35. The fleet junior outran the pack to the end zone for an 86-yard scoring run to give Tech a 30-0 lead with 11:49 left in the third quarter.

One minute later, safety Samy Burke fielded another Navy punt and raced 77 yards for a touchdown to put Tech out front 37-0.

Navy finally broke into the scoring column near the end of the third quarter when quarterback Bruce Bickel passed 24 yards to halfback Calvin Huey and then fired a 13-yard scoring strike to halfback Steve Shrader to cap a 78-yard scoring drive in 10 plays. Bickel ran for two points.

Auburn Shocked
By SMC, 3-0

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — George Sumrall's 26-yard field goal gave Southern Mississippi a 3-0 upset victory over Auburn Saturday, but it was Tommy Brennan's three pass interceptions that really made the difference.

Brennan, a 5-10 junior fullback from Savannah, Ga., stopped one Auburn drive within scoring distance early in the game and another near the close of the first half.

Before that, he put the Southemners within touchdown range by plucking a ball from the hands of an intended Tiger receiver. But a stout Auburn defense stopped the drive and forced Sumrall to go for a 47-yard field goal attempt. It went wide.

Odessa got back in the scoring act in the fourth on an 80-yard drive climaxed by a pass from Lynn to Hester, good for 42 yards. A Big Spring defender was back to defend but the pitch sailed between his outstretched arms. Again the visitors failed to convert.

Neither team seriously threatened after that, although Mike Gartman blunted one Odessa drive with an interception around his 35.

The Big Spring line carried the fight to the opposition and clearly had the best of the milling.

The Dogies are now 2-4 and have scored 54 points in their last two games.

Odessa had previously tied San Angelo, 6-6; lost to Permian, 7-0; and Monahans, 9-6; beaten Midland, 36-8; and lost to Abilene, 26-8.

DOGIES' PAUL BIFFLE (23) RIPS FOR PRECIOUS YARDAGE

Shorthorns Win 2nd
At Colts' Expense

A helping of victory evidently tastes good to the Big Spring B team.

Winners for the first time this season two Saturdays ago against Midland, the Shorthorns came back Saturday at Memorial Stadium here to lead Odessa's Colts all the way and post a 22-12 victory.

It could have been worse. The Dogies blew three other chances for scores. One time, they yielded the ball on the Odessa one. On another occasion they fumbled into the visitors' end zone.

Richard Cauley kept the Big Springers on the move, however, and the Shorthorns earned three touchdowns they got.

The locals drove 31 yards for their initial score in the opening period after a poor Broncho punt. Cauley, Doug Robinson and Lonnie Clanton kept the drive going down to the one, from which point Clanton bruised over for the tally. Cauley added the extra points on an end sweep.

Odessa got back in the game early in the second when Jimmy Lynn passed to LeRoy Hester, who got behind the Dogie pass defense. The play covered 42 yards. Odessa failed to convert, however.

A short time later, Big Spring chugged 56 yards for its second score. Robinson doing the honors from the two. This time, Cauley failed to convert on a run at the line.

That's the way it stood until midway through the third, when Big Spring added to its margin on a desperation fourth down pass from Cauley to Paul Biffle. Biffle was tackled at the two but fell in for the score.

That particular drive was for 60 yards and Biffle kept it alive with a fine run of about 30 yards down to the enemy seven.

Clanton had scored previously on a pass but Big Spring was called for having an illegal receiver down field and the Shorthorns were penalized 15 yards. Just when it appeared the drive would perish, Cauley's pass found Biffle at the goal line.

Leonard Evans converted on a run and Big Spring led, 22-6.

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Charley Gogolak kicked three field goals, breaking a national collegiate season record, and Ron Landeck passed for three touchdowns and ran for another as unbeaten Princeton annihilated Penn 51-0 Saturday in an Ivy League football game.

The victory was the fifth for the Tigers this season and their 14th in a row over-all. Only Arkansas has a longer winning streak

ABILENE—In other autumn, perhaps, the Steers would have savored a table setting such as this Abilene High club for winter fodder but this is Anno Domini 1965 and each opponent now poses a complex, special problem for Big Spring. Abilene, so perfectly contained in the first half that it wound up with minus yards in its total offense, employed a third-quarter touchdown and a fourth-quarter field goal to defeat a game but unimaginative Big Spring team, 9-6, here Friday night.

The Eagles, pale copies of Abilene powerhouses in the past, used fullback Tim Thurman as a truncheon in the third period to drive 78 yards in four plays for the tying touchdown and copped the duke with 6:30 to go in the fourth when Philip Robinson bisected the uprights from 25 yards removed with a field goal.

FIELD GOALS HELP
It was the second week in a row that the Eagles, clever but unconvincing, had reaped a victory with the help of a three-point.

A team that can't move the football can't play ball control and a team that can't play ball control gives the opposition too many opportunities to make good. That is the special problem Big Spring is now having to live with.

The defeat was the second in six starts for the Longhorns, who a bare two weeks ago were regarded as one of the ten best Class AAAA teams in the state.

Big Spring receipted for its lone touchdown with 4:18 to go in the first half when quarterback Van Tom Whatley hit Berry King around the Eagle two with an eight-yard aerial and King wheeled to move on in for the score. Whatley started out as if he were going to fake a pass and probe for yardage but all avenues were blocked by Abilene sentinels and Van Tom took to the air just before he was inundated by the foe. James Carver tried for the PAT with a kick but missed.

On that series of maneuvers, Big Spring forced Abilene into a constant retreat by aiming Ray Navarette up the middle, sending King and Joe Jaure to the outside and mixing in an occasional aerial bomb.

NAVARETTE RUNS HARD
Best run of the drive was executed by Navarette, who boomed 20 yards down to the Flock's 15. Ray chugged through 5 MPH speed zones a couple of times but kept his running gear operative and refused to go down.

So fierce was the Steers' defensive play in the first two quarters that Abilene was on the attack for only 20 plays and failed by two yards to break even in the offensive department.

In the last half, the Eagles raced for ground gains aggregating 157 yards. The Steers gained 68 yards on the ground the first half and a mere 20 after the intermission.

NOTHING NEW
The Eagles tried nothing new when they came out for the third quarter, resorting instead to their bread-and-butter maneuvers by aiming Thurman for chinks in the Steer armor.

Thurman found them, all right. He carried the ball every time on Abilene's touchdown march and got the tally on a 47-yard run up the right side. It looked astonishingly easy.

The Longhorns quickly repaired the rent and practically put Thurman in leg irons after that but the damage had been done.

Unable to sustain any kind of drive at a time the issue was still in doubt, the Steers yielded the ball for 16 plays to Abilene in the dying moments of the third period and halfway through the final canto and the winning field goal resulted.

The Eagles drove from their own 35 to Big Spring's seven. On fourth down and needing four yards for a down renewal, quarterback Forest Lane of the War Birds elected to go for the field goal. His faith in Robinson's kicking toe paid off.

Big Spring twice had the ball after that but couldn't come untracked and Abilene was pretty well dictating the script toward the end.

The Steer defense was truly magnificent, save for the one drive hyped by Thurman. The manner in which their offense has been moving of late, however, the best their supporters can hope for is a scoreless tie. Score by quarters:
Abilene 0 0 6 2-9

Trull Opens Af Controls

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Don Trull will be the starting quarterback for the Houston Oilers Sunday when they attempt to break a three-game losing streak in an American Football League game against the Kansas City Chiefs.

It will be Trull's first league start, and on the bench will be veteran George Blanda, the AFL's only 15,000-yard passer who has been the Oilers starter for the last 57 games.

Oiler coach Hugh (Bones) Taylor announced that he was benching Blanda after Houston's loss to Denver. Blanda had five passes intercepted, one for a touchdown.

Taylor also was unhappy with the performances of three other Oilers, punter Jim Norton, linebacker Johnny Baker and fullback Bobby Jackson, and fined them a total $375.

The entire Oiler squad apparently was unhappy with its performance and the 38 members took up a collection to pay the fines.

Trull, NCAA passing champ while at Baylor, will get his chance to move the Oilers against a team that has been the roughest on Houston since the AFL began operating.

Houston is 4-7 against the Chiefs and this represents its poorest record against any club in the league. Kansas City has won four of the last five meetings with the Oilers.

Roberson Revs Up Buffaloes Attack

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The trade that brought flanker Bo Roberson to Buffalo not only completes the Bills' new receiver corps, it also gives the defending American Football League champions the fastest man in pro football, up to the line of scrimmage.

Roberson, who hustles out of the huddle like baseball's Pete Rose runs to first base on a walk, is expected to help revitalize the Bills' offense when they take on Denver in one of three games on Sunday's program.

The other two games send Kansas City against Houston and Boston against Oakland. Western Division-leading San Diego met New York Saturday night.

WAS IN OLYMPICS

Roberson, who won a silver medal in the broad jump at the 1960 Olympic Games, came to Buffalo earlier in the week when the Bills completed a last-minute trade with the Oakland Raiders.

He was considered quite a catch for the Bills, who needed a receiver with speed. Roberson, one of the fastest men in pro football, hopefully will give the Bills the long ball threat they lost when Elbert Dubenion was injured.

Roberson completes the juggling act performed by Coach Lou Saban, who has shuffled receivers around in an effort to get the Bills attack going since injuries claimed Dubenion and Glenn Bass for the season.

HE'S AT FLANKER

Roberson will be at the flanker post; Charley Ferguson, acquired from Oakland two years ago, will be at split end and Paul Costa, a 6-foot-5, 250-pound rookie out of Notre Dame, will take over for veteran Ernie Warlick at tight end.

While Roberson chases Jack Kemp's passes, the Broncos will have the league's No. 1 receiver, Lionel Taylor, ready to harass the Bills. Taylor, the favorite target of quarterbacks Mickey Slaughter and John McCormick, has caught 35 passes for 436 yards.

The Roberson trade, meanwhile, commits the Raiders to the use of rookie Fred Biletnikoff. Biletnikoff, an All-American out of Florida State, has all the credentials, but he has not played even one minute professionally. The Raiders are tied with Kansas City for second place in the West with 3-2 records. The Patriots, 0-5-1 with last week's tie with San Diego on the credit side of the ledger, still have not been able to put together a sustained offense.

The Chiefs led Buffalo 7-3 last week, but the Bills pushed across 20 points in the final period. Houston, 2-3-0 in the East, should present less of a problem. Len Dawson is expected to start ahead of Pete Beathard at quarterback for Kansas City and sophomore Don Trull should get the call over George Blanda for the Oilers.

Packers Host Dallas In NFL Headliner

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Dallas Cowboys, only team to beat Green Bay this year, will try to repeat Sunday at Milwaukee when it really counts. The first time it was only another exhibition game.

Since that Aug. 28 defeat in Dallas, the Packers have rolled through the National Football League like a team that expects to clinch the championship by Thanksgiving Day. The Packers are 5-0 in the Western Conference, the Cowboys 2-3 in the East.

CARDS AT HOME
In other games, all of which will be played Sunday afternoon, winless Washington (0-5) will be at St. Louis (4-1), Los Angeles (1-4) will be Baltimore (4-1), Cleveland (4-1) at New York (3-2), Minnesota (2-3) at San Francisco (3-2), Detroit (3-2) at Chicago (2-3) and Pittsburgh (0-5) at Philadelphia (2-3).

Green Bay, Baltimore and St. Louis are big favorites. Philadelphia, Chicago and Cleveland are one-touchdown choices and San Francisco and Minnesota are about even.

The Packers have been winning on the pinpoint passing of Bart Starr and the kicking of Don Chandler despite a sluggish running game.

Dallas has been experimenting with quarterbacks but Don Meredith regained the job in the Cleveland game. Bob Hayes has a slight ankle sprain but is expected to play. The Packers get Ray Nitschke and Forrest Gregg back in action.

JOHNSON HURT
St. Louis hopes to get past Washington by Buddy Humphrey at quarterback, giving Charley Johnson's bruised left shoulder time to heal. Sonny Jurgensen has been reinstated as Washington's quarterback but the team has been shaken by dissension and the fans are yelling for the scalp of Coach Bill McPeak. Charley Taylor's foot, injured in the first exhibition game, still bothers him.

Baltimore plans to use Lenny Moore sparingly, if at all, against Los Angeles, a team that has not won at Baltimore since 1954. John Unitas is hitting his targets with precision and is closing in on Y.A. Tittle as the all time TD passer. The Rams are experimenting with rookie linebacksers.

Cleveland's defending champions put a three-game winning streak on the line at Yankee Stadium. The Browns still are without their ace receiver, Paul Warfield, who was hurt in the

Webb Cage Loop Opens Season

The Webb AFB Intramural Basketball League began its 1965-66 season last week. Games are played on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings at 7 p.m. and 8:15 p.m.

The games will be played in 16 minute halves, and each team will be allowed four timeouts. Game time will be forfeit time. Postponed ball games will be made up by the second Saturday following the postponement.

Tuesday night AFSC and the 61st PTS, and the 60th PTS and the hospital teams will meet for the first time. AB group clashes with the 61st in the first game Thursday and Supply Squadron and Field Maintenance play the nightcap.

All-Star game but are winning on Jim Brown's running and Frank Ryan's clutch passing to Gary Collins.

MORRILL SHINES
The Giants upset the Eagles last Sunday on Earl Morrill's four touchdown passes but a green defensive unit faces a severe test in the Browns.

The scrambling Vikings from Minnesota invade San Francisco where their leaky pass defense will get another test from John Brodie. With Tommy Mason and Bill Brown of the Vikings and Ken Willard and John David Crow of the 49ers there should be some running.

Gale Sayers, the finest rookie the Bears have come up with in years, gets a chance to show the Wrigley Field customers his stuff against the stiff Detroit defense. Rudy Bukich appears to have won the Bears' No. 1 quarterback job from Bill Wade with nine touchdowns and only one interception but the Lions have nabbed 13 enemy passes.

The Eagles go with King Hill again because Norm Snead still is out due to injuries and kicker Sam Baker is questionable. However, the winless Steelers have yet to score a touchdown on passes and have lost their ace receiver, Gary Ballman.

Snyder Grabs Initial Win

LEVELLAND—Snyder won his first game of the season by defeating Levelland, 13-12, in a District 3-AAA game here Friday night.

A bad snap from center that went over the Levelland quarterback's head gave Snyder's first TD in the fourth period. Ray Kizer covering the ball for the Tigers. David Holt kicked the PAT and that actually was the margin of victory.

LAMESA—Lamesa ran rough shod over Brownfield, 28-0, here Friday night to tie for the first place in 3-AAA standings.

Joe Demerson, Louis Jenkins, W. G. Drone and Gary Mayfield scored touchdowns for the Golden Tornadoes, who dominated play after being held scoreless in the first quarter.

SWEETWATER — Sweetwater returned to championship contention in 3-AAA by turning back Littlefield, 14-8, here Friday night.

Randy Reed sparked the win, scoring both touchdowns for the Mustangs. Terry Owen kicked two extra points for the Ponies. Littlefield failed to score until the final period.

Golf Purse In Houston Meet Now Is $100,000

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Golf Classic was replaced Saturday by a new tournament, the $100,000 Houston Champions International.

The new invitation meet will be played four weeks after the Masters at the 36-hole Champions Course owned by Houston pros Jimmy Demeret and Jackie Burke.

The first International will be next May 5-8.

The Houston Golf Association, sponsor of the 15-year-old Classic that had $75,000 in prize money this year, signed a four-year contract with Burke and Demeret. The contract also authorizes the association to manage the 1967 Ryder Cup matches at the course.

with clean-sculpted all-new body by Fisher.

by Chevrolet

Two new Super Sport beauties for '66—a hardtop and convertible—propelled by nothing less than the new Turbo-Jet 396 V8.

Their SS black grille sets them apart right off as a special breed of car. And their new Turbo-Jet 396 V8 is right behind it ready to second the motion.

This remarkably efficient power plant, with aircraft-type valves, deep-breathing ports and other design advances, develops 325 hp in the standard version. And you're welcome to order more—in a 360-hp version—if you're so inclined.

Both Chevelle SS 396 models ride on a special chassis —with flat-cornering suspension and large-size (7.75x14) red stripe tires. A fully synchronized 3-speed transmission with floor-mounted stick shift is standard. Or you can order a 4-speed or Powerglide—also Strato-bucket front seats, center console and full SS instrumentation.

Impressive credentials, sure. But to really appreciate what Chevrolet's performance specialists have come up with here you've got to get into one of these Chevelle Super Sports and see for yourself.

And the place to do that, naturally—or to see and drive any of the ten other new Chevelles for '66—is your Chevrolet dealer's. He's a great believer in letting the customers handle the merchandise.

Lamesa Air Show Set For Today

The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring that city's first annual free air show today, at the municipal airport. The show will feature Ernest Tyson in aerobatic flying; Wren Stoll in a flying demonstration, experimental planes; barbecue dinner at 12:30 p.m., and penny-a-pound rides. The field will be closed from 2 to 3:30 p.m. for the show. Contact Unicom 122.8 on arrival.

Howard Loyd, manager of Howard County Airport, has been "flying" a hospital bed at Howard County Hospital Foundation this week. He is in possession of a kidney stone which his physicians are trying to eliminate without surgery.

Not much has been going on around the airport this week except a couple of club member cross countries and local flying. No charter flights have been made. During the week before Loyd and his helpers flew a charter every day, and two on one day.

Howard County Flying Club members had the Colt and Cherokee up for a few flights — the latter on one 9-day cross country. Flying were: Colt — Dawes, Eaton (2), Ellis (2), Massingill (2), Russell (3), Hatch, Dotson (cross country); Cherokee — Swin (3-day cross country), Heartsill (left on 9-day cross country).

Big Spring Flying Club members up: Colt — Sanders (5), Granberry (3), Hatch, Porter, Merrick, Johnson, Bartlett; Skyhawk — Allen (5), Johnson, Porter (2), Warren (2-day cross country), Stewart.

A two-year time limit has been placed on flight instructor certificates, beginning Sept. 26. Before renewal the instructors must demonstrate to FAA their proficiency and knowledge in both teaching techniques and piloting skills and abilities. However, little or no retesting will normally be required in the case of an instructor whose students' performance provides evidence of satisfactory training.

Under the new rule, pre-solo flight instruction, or pilot certificate or rating instruction, will not be accepted unless given by the holder of a current FAA flight instructor certificate. Student pilots will be required to obtain periodic flight checks from a certificated instructor, and they must have instructor's authorization before each solo cross country.

Pilots should mark their calendars for a fun-filled weekend at Sharp Field at Leakey Oct. 29-31. Those wanting to share in festivities are invited to fly in, walk in, or drive in. Activities will include a barbecue, airplane show with para-

ROGER GAMMONS

Young Airman Is Promoted

Roger D. Gammons, 18, serving as a medic with the U. S. Army along the 38th Parallel in Korea, was promoted this month to specialist fifth class.

Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie B. Gammons of 2100 Runnels, Big Spring. His father is employed at Sweetwater Oil Company, his mother in the central accounting office at Webb AFB.

While a student at Big Spring High School, Roger enlisted in the Army here on Jan. 17, 1964. Following basic training at Fort Polk, La., he took 10 weeks of medical training at Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio. He served briefly as an ambulance driver at Fort Ord. He arrived in Korea, on his father's birthday, June 18, 1965.

SS.C. Gammon's outfit, headquarters section, Second Engineering Battalion, is engaged presently in mine laying along the parallel which separates South from North Korea.

Specialist fifth class in the Army is equivalent to staff sergeant. Roger, at 18, is said to be young to have reached that rank.

Apportionment Ruling Asked

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to decide by Jan. 1 a Houston Negro's attack on state legislative apportionment.

The court received last week the appeal of Robert Hainsworth, who unsuccessfully asked state courts to declare unconstitutional the legislature's reapportionment law. Hainsworth's suit is aimed solely at the provisions for at-large legislative races in counties with more than one legislator. He contends the system excludes Negroes from the statehouse.

Meritorious Service And Others Awards Presented

A Meritorious Service Award for distinguished performance, 10 cash awards, and two certificates for adopted suggestions were presented to civilian employees in separate ceremonies this week.

Edward C. Dulock, inventory control unit of the property accounting section, base supply, received the highly respected MSA at a ceremony presided over by Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander. Dulock, recently transferred from James Connally AFB, was recognized for his invaluable service at that base. At the same ceremony, Elsie K. Merrell, material facilities, base supply, received $300 for her suggestion to demilitarize "spares" and removed parts condemned by technical orders. This suggestion was approved by headquarters, AFPC and is being incorporated into technical orders.

Receiving awards from Col. Joseph H. Sherwood, base commander, in a ceremony attended by suggestors and their supervisors were Harvey P. Newsum, vehicle maintenance, transportation division, who received $215 for his suggestion to make, from scrap material, a balancer for rotary lawn mower blades to eliminate vibrations that damage the chassis and cause a safety hazard; Betty J. Roney, commercial services, accounting and finance, comptroller division, who received $35 for her suggestion to use an alternate program device for use on card punch machine. Her idea will save an estimated 348 man-hours and $57.16 in a year's time; Edna E. Ames, administrative services, who received $25 for her suggestion to publish a listing of current base operations and program planning plans; Joy Dugan, CE division, who received $15 for her suggestion to make and use outside racks for storing and weathering sensitive supplies; Jerome A. Langston, consolidated mail room, mail and records section, administrative services, who received a certificate for his suggestion to change a branch post office; Vivian A. Crutcher, base procurement, who received a certificate for her suggestion to change a filing cabinet system in base procurement from four-drawer filing cabinet to commercial letter box filing.

Maintenance Division awards, presented by Col. George E. Franks, DCA, went to: James G. Crenshaw, propulsion section, field maintenance squadron, who received an additional $475 for his suggestion to modify the anti-torsion tube in the J-45 engine. The additional award is based on ATC-wide adoption and a reported savings of $9,158.89 from the base; Donald W. Keros, machine shop, fabrication section, FMS, who received an additional award of $190 for his suggestion to make and use a J-45 bullet hose removal and installation tool. This is based on ATC adoption of the suggestion and savings of $5,487.03. To Woodward W. Rogers, fabrication section, FMS, went $15 for his idea of using scrap reflective material to make warning or caution decals for use on power machinery. These warnings are much more eye-catching than the usual manufacturer's decal.

In other organizations, Robert R. Bland, training material section, DCO, received $25 for his suggestion to establish a defense documentation center account so that research reports prepared by all government agencies may be obtained for base use. James O. Fletcher, medical supply hospital, received $25 for his suggestion to issue repurchased AF Forms 117 on which to order supplies from Medical Supply. This method saves time on medical processing and eliminates manual recording.

Sextuplet Heifer Birth A Rarity

O'NEILL, Neb. (AP) — A 5-year-old Holstein cow on the James Cokle dairy farm has given birth to sextuplet heifer calves, an occurrence extremely rare in livestock, says Dr. G. R. Cook, O'Neill veterinarian.

Awards Given Posthumously

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Johnny Blakeley of Brodie, Tex., received posthumous awards of the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Purple Heart for her husband Thursday.

Her husband, Maj. Roy Blakeley of Wink, Tex., was killed in Viet Nam July 22 when he rode his crippled F104 jet fighter to the ground in an effort to save the valuable craft. The plane crashed near the Chu Lai air field while he was flying a mission. The presentation ceremony was at Dyess Air Force Base here.

MRS. GEORGE W. McKENNA
2701 Lynn
Her 'Grandma's Velvet Lunch Cake' awarded the grand prize

The Best Of 'Home Town Cookin''

A special supplement of today's Herald, called "Home Town Cookin'", contains some 620 recipes contributed by women throughout this area.

Chances are you'll find every one of them mighty tasty, but food experts have put their approval on a selected few.

The Herald offered a $100 cash award for the grand prize recipe submitted, and $15 to the first place winner in each of seven categories.

Judging was done by the department of food and nutrition at Texas Tech. All the recipes were judged by home-making students, under guidance of their instructors, and the more likely ones were actually tested by 63 girls in three laboratory classes at Tech.

Wrote Mrs. Gladys K. Holden, associate professor:

"We felt that a recipe must be: (1) nutritious, (2) the food handled in such a way as not to lose the nutritional value, (3) unusual or out of the ordinary, (4) the product should be worth the time, money and energy expended, and (5) attractive in appearance."

The department awarded its grand prize to "Grandma's Velvet Lunch Cake," submitted by Mrs. George W. McKenna, 2701 Lynn. Said the judges:

"The cake has an appealing aroma, fine flavor and texture, can be made at comparatively low cost, is high in nutrition — has a remarkably fine texture for a one-egg cake."

This recipe won the cake category prize, also. Other divisions:

SALADS — First place to "Crystal Salad," from Mrs. Dan Brasher, Route 1, Ackerly. "It was unusual, flavorful and comparatively inexpensive."

ROLLS AND BREADS — First place to "Peanut Butter Bread," from Mrs. James N. Wood, 1906 Main. Comment: "It was excellent in all respects."

MAIN DISH — "Pineapple Stuffed Chicken," from Mrs. Fred Carson, 3703 Caroline.

VEGETABLE — "Broccoli," from Mrs. W. F. Taylor, 609 W. 15th. ("Two other recipes lost out because they called for draining juice off canned vegetables and made no provision for retaining the nutritional value of juice.")

GENERAL DESSERT — "Pumpkin Cookies," from Mrs. Roy Moran, 911 W. 3rd. "For their delicious flavor and aroma, high nutrition, and ease of preparation."

ONE-DISH MEAL — "Mexican Casserole," from Mrs. Olton Jamison, 608 Highland Drive.

These recipes appear in this section, and may be clipped and made a special part of the "Home Town Cookin'" supplement for housewives to save.

Seven Women Given Awards For Recipes

People who pursue today's Home Cookin' supplement will realize there are hundreds of good cooks in Big Spring—home-makers who get a great deal of satisfaction out of serving their families attractive, nourishing home cooking.

Chosen for special recognition, however, are the following seven women who were named category winners.

FAMILY RECIPE

Mrs. George W. McKenna, 2701 Lynn, feels that she has had "no real background" in cooking. Nevertheless, her entry called "Grandma's Velvet Lunch Cake," was scrumptious enough to be judged grand prize winner in The Herald's Home Town Cookin' contest.

Lt. McKenna is a flight instructor at Webb AFB. The couple live in a new home in Kentwood with their son, Michael Frank, 19 months, and an 18 pound Siamese cat named "P.T." Regardless of her modesty, Mrs. McKenna was a home economics major and collects recipes as a hobby. She remembers that the winning cake recipe is one that her mother baked often, and she believes that it came originally from her father's mother.

THIRD TIME

Mrs. Dan Brasher, Rt. 1, Ackerly, whose husband operates the Paymaster Gin, is a third-time winner in The Herald recipe contests which would indicate it was not a matter of luck when she was named to a top spot this year.

Mrs. Brasher said she learned to cook after she was married, and her husband prefers highly-spiced foods. They have two children, Suzie, 5, and Cindy, nine months.

"My husband is a better cook than I," said Mrs. James N. Wood, 1906 Main. He is a salesman for Prudential Insurance Company, and the couple have a son, Jeffrey Scott, 15 months. They have lived here only about a year, and Mrs. Wood has just taken a job selling kitchenware. She said they have learned to love Mexican cookery, especially tacos, which she prepares often.

Mrs. Olton Jamison's husband is a Cosdenite, and the couple live at 608 Highland in a split-level home on the side of a hill. They have a daughter, Mrs. Billy Ray Seals, and two grandchildren, Lisa and Stephanie. This is the first time Mrs. Jamison has been a contest winner and said she obtained her recipe at a Business and Professional Women's meeting. She was well-acquainted with cooking prior to her marriage, and trying new recipes is a hobby. She usually sticks to "plain" cooking, and her husband testifies that her pies are the best in the world.

Mrs. W. F. Taylor's recipe for broccoli is one she said is original, although she gets many of her recipes from friends and the newspaper. The Taylors live at 609 W. 15th, and have four children and 10 grandchildren—all with "a sweet tooth." She has just mailed three generous boxes of cookies and candy to some of the college-age family members, and will be preparing more for the gift-giving season.

MODERN HOME

Mrs. Roy Moran and her husband are enjoying compact living in a spacious trailer which she says contains everything they need for a comfortable home life. There are no wasted steps in the kitchen when she starts to prepare one of her delicious meals. If there are tasty morsels left over, they go to the family's dog, an eight-year-old cocker named "Bingo." The Morans have been married 18 years and have lived here for 13.

Mrs. Fred Carson's husband is a civil service employee at Webb AFB, and they have three children. Mrs. Tommy Hester of Snyder, Mrs. James R. Brown of Big Spring and Paul, 17, who lives with the couple at 3703 Caroline. Mrs. Carson said that her husband and daughters are marvelous cooks, and she is a great believer in one-dish meals. Paul, however, cooks steaks better than any of them according to his mother.

Here are the prize-winning recipes that won the stamp of approval from the judges at Texas Tech.

GRANDMA'S VELVET LUNCH CAKE

(Mrs. G. W. McKenna)

1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cloves
2 cups flour
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sour milk
2 tbsps. molasses
1 cup raisins or dates
1/2 cup nuts, if desired
Cream sugar, unbeaten egg and shortening. Add sifted flour, soda, sugar and spices, with sour milk alternately. Add molasses, raisins or dates and nuts and stir. Pour in tube cake pan. Bake for 1 hour to 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake springs back to touch, at 325 degrees.

PEANUT BUTTER BREAD

(Mrs. J. N. Wood)

2 cups sifted flour
1/3 cup sugar
2 tps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
3/4 cup peanut butter
1 egg
1 cup milk
Sift together flour, sugar, bak-

MEXICAN CASSEROLE

(Mrs. Olton Jamison)

1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
Salt
1 onion, chopped
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 can green chilies
1/2 can Enchilasa Sauce
1 pkg. tortillas
1 lb. cheese, grated
Mix the ground beef and onion in a skillet and brown. Add salt to taste. Mix all the other ingredients in the skillet and warm, except the cheese. Break each tortilla into four pieces. Alternate the tortillas and meat mixture in a baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese and bake at 300 degrees for 30 minutes.

BROCCOLI

(Mrs. W. F. Taylor)

1 pkg. frozen broccoli
1 1/3 cups white sauce
1/2 cup small canned onions
Grated cheese
Cook broccoli according to directions on the package and drain, but not too dry. Place in casserole dish and add the thin white sauce and onions. Cover with grated cheese and bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

CRYSTAL SALAD

(Mrs. Dan Brasher)

Juice of 2 lemons
2 tbsps. vinegar
2 tps. sugar
2 egg whites, unbeaten
1 tsp. flour
1 cup cream, whipped
1 qt. cabbage, shredded
1 cup almonds, chopped
1 large can pineapple chunks
1 cup miniature marshmallows
Cook the lemon juice, vinegar, sugar, egg whites and flour until thick. When cool add whipped cream and refrigerate while preparing the other ingredients. Toss together the cabbage, almonds, pineapple chunks and marshmallows and add the dressing.

PUMPKIN COOKIES

(Mrs. Roy Moran)

1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 cup pumpkin
1 cup all bran
1 cup nuts, chopped
1/2 cup raisins
Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and blend well. Sift together dry ingredients. Add dry mixture alternately with pumpkin to creamed mixture. Mix well. Add remaining ingredients. Stir thoroughly to blend. Drop by teaspoon onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes. Makes 6 dozen 1-inch cookies.

PINEAPPLE STUFFED CHICKEN

(Mrs. Fred Carson)

6 slices bacon, diced
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup minced onion
1 cup cooked rice
1 1/4 cups drained crushed pineapple
6 to 8 whole chicken breasts, boned
1 egg, beaten
Bread crumbs
Thyme
Pepper
Cook bacon until crisp. Add celery and onion; saute until soft. Stir in rice and pineapple. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Flatten chicken breasts skin side down. Put about 1-3 of the stuffing in center of each. Roll up and secure with wooden picks. Dip in beaten egg and roll in bread crumbs. Sprinkle top with thyme. Place in shallow baking dish. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 1 hour. Serve with Wine Sauce.

WINE SAUCE

2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 tbsps. white wine or dry sherry
Melt butter in saucepan. Remove from heat and stir in flour and salt. Gradually add milk, stirring. Return to heat and bring to a boil, stirring. Simmer 2 minutes. Stir in cheese. Remove from heat and add wine. Serve over chicken breasts.

P-TA Will Meet

Bride Buys Brand Her Husband Prefers

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Who wins out when young newlyweds disagree on what to buy in the supermarket? The bride usually gives in and buys the brand her husband prefers, a survey shows.

The Total Look

Why not give yourself this fall's "total look" by making this costume, where a very simple dress takes shelter in a double-breasted jacket. No. 3381 comes in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 14 takes 4 1/2 yards of 44-inch fabric or 3 1/2 yards of 54-inch.

Send 40 cents plus 5 cents postage for this pattern to IRIS LANE, Big Spring Herald, Dept. X, Box 1490, New York 1, N. Y. Add 15 cents for first class mail and special handling.

A report on the survey which came up with this man-warming finding was presented today to the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains.

The study delved into the shopping habits of the nation's 57 million housewives and included a hard look at the buying practices of newlyweds who have an average weekly food budget of $20.43.

The new bride as a shopper, said the report, is "serious, studious, value-minded, uncertain, responsive, appreciative and proud."

"About two-thirds of brands purchased are the same as mother bought," the study said, but "when bride and groom disagree — the bride usually surrenders and buys the brand her husband prefers."

Other findings:

— Upper income families buy more than three times as much frozen food and six times as much frozen baked goods as lower income families. They also are less likely to try new products, less interested in food stamps and buy more than four times as much colored toilet tissue as other families.

— Trade stamps are most important to blue collar families, who spend a greater portion of their incomes on food than any other group. This group is also most loyal to its supermarkets.

— Small town families are very stamp conscious, switch markets regularly and spend much less than city groups on meat and produce.

The market study, which will take another 15 months to complete, is sponsored by the Kroger Co., the Progressive Grocer magazine and the Reuben H. Donnelley Corp.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB
Mrs. Nelson Ball, 1319 Tucson, was hostess to the College Park Home Demonstration Club as Mrs. J. F. Skalicky gave a program on gift wrapping.

Mrs. Skalicky showed how to make bows and roses from ribbon and several items from felt to adorn Christmas packages. She explained the easiest ways to wrap packages including those that are round or odd-shaped. A gift-wrapping workshop is planned for November.

Refreshments were served to six members and four guests, Mrs. Harry Roach, Mrs. Robert Boadle, Miss Pat Ball and Mrs. Skalicky.

Mrs. Roach, 4111 Dixon, will be hostess to the club members Nov. 2 when they will dress dolls for the Salvation Army.

Club Told Herb, Spice Folklore

The history and folklore of herbs and spices was told at the Friday afternoon meeting of the City Home Demonstration Club.

The members met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Elrod, 1800 Main, and Mrs. D. H. Havens was welcomed as a guest.

Mrs. Marvin Sewell conducted the program on cooking seasonings. She illustrated her talk with a display of available spices and herbs and compared cooking with spices to high fashion ornaments. "Both," she said, "should be used with caution and knowledge."

Mrs. Sewell also distributed a collection of recipes using different herbs.

Homecoming Set For Saturday

KLONDIKE (SC) — The annual homecoming honoring former students of Union, Klondike and Sparenberg schools will begin Saturday at 5 p.m. in the Klondike High School. An evening meal will be served preceding the football game between Sands High School and Klondike High School. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

A homecoming queen will be crowned at halftime. Candidates, all former students of the three schools, include Mrs. Sylvia Young O'Brien, representing Union; Mrs. Clara Dee Lynch Davis, Klondike; and Mrs. Mary Jo Davis Stafford, Sparenberg.

Rip Sprayberry, former student from Klondike; Glenn Scott, Sparenberg, and Jack Warren, Union, will be representing their alma maters as candidates vying for the title of "ugliest man."

Officers for the annual event are W. D. Franklin, president; Ewell Scott, vice president; Hazel Rhinewalt, secretary; J. R. Neill, treasurer and Mrs. Bob Mitchell, reporter.

COUNCIL WILL GIVE AWARDS

The awards council meeting of the volunteers at the Big Spring State Hospital will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the auditorium of the Alford Building on the hospital grounds. A capping ceremony will climax the evening, and a special certificate will be presented. Charles Butts, council president, will preside.

HD Clubs Dress Dolls For Salvation Army

The weekly activities of the area home demonstration clubs covered a variety of topics ranging from a discussion of the history of Howard County to "white elephant" sales.

Several clubs continued projects of making doll dresses to be included in the Salvation Army holiday packages.

AIRPORT CLUB

The annual bazaar and "white elephant" sale was held at the Tuesday meeting of the Airport Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the home of Mrs. Henry Tubb, 601 State. Proceeds from the sale will go into the club treasury.

Twelve members answered the roll call, and Mrs. B. F. Tubb was welcomed as a guest.

The next meeting will be Nov. 2 at the home of Mrs. Marshall E. Brown.

FAIRVIEW CLUB

Mrs. D. F. Bigony was hostess to the Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday where 10 members answered the roll call. "Where I Spent My Honeymoon."

During the afternoon, the women made doll clothing and dressed the dolls to be distributed by the Salvation Army. Refreshments were served, and Mrs. Janie Cofer and Mrs. S. L. Thurman were introduced as guests. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Nov. 2 in the home of Mrs. C. A. Smauley, 1000 Howell.

ELBOW CLUB

"History of Howard County" was the program topic during the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the home of Mrs. Ross Hill. Mrs. L. L. Phemister gave the devotion.

Ed Fisher, of the Howard County Historical Society, was guest speaker. He told of interesting incidents in the development of the county and stressed that historical markers should designate the unusual areas of the county.

The next meeting will be Nov.

G. B. McMallens Have Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. McMallen, 1700 Purdue, have as their weekend guests, their sons, James B. McMallen, New York, N.Y., and David McMallen, Dallas.

MRS. JERRY DEAN KILGORE

Miss Darla Moore Weds J. D. Kilgore

The wedding of Miss Darla Moore and Jerry Dean Kilgore was solemnized at 7 o'clock Friday evening in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Moore, 1500 Nolan. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Kilgore, Bonham.

The Rev. Paris Barton, minister of the Westside Baptist Church officiated as vows were exchanged before a fireplace decorated with crescent candles holding crystal votive candles and flanked by emerald fern trees. Prior to the ceremony, traditional wedding selections were played.

WEARS SILK

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length dress of white raw silk designed with a sweetheart neckline to the molded bodice and front panel accented the A-line skirt. Her bouffant circle of white illusion was centered with a white satin Dior bow sprinkled with teardrop pearls. The bride's baby ring was attached to a blue garter, and she used birthdate pennies in her shoes.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Nancy Moore who wore a sleeveless street-length dress of gold wool styled in the Empire line with jewel neckline. Her colonial nosegay was of bronze pompon chrysanthemums.

The bridal bouquet was a cluster of white gardenias and Frenched carnations interspersed with stephanotis and showered with white picot. The flowers were carried atop a white Bible.

Ronny C. Moser was best man, and ushers were Louie and Marc Kilgore, brothers of the bridegroom.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the home, following the ceremony, with guests being welcomed by the couple, parents and attendants.

Miss Katy Johnson of Abilene and Miss Brenda Cowper presided at the refreshment table which was covered with a gold cloth overlaid with a white skirt of ruffled flocked organza. The covering was caught at the corners with white wedding bells tied with gold satin ribbon. Centering the table was a swirled candelabrum arranged with white Fuji chrysanthemums, and the four-tiered wedding cake was topped with white bells.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Jerry Foust. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Herb Johnson, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Beazley, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Warren, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pierce, Monahans; Mr. and Mrs. Carey King, Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Everett, Denton.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and has attended West Texas State University at Canyon and Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene. She is employed as a secretary at the First National Bank. She was a Howard County Maid of Cotton and named "Miss KBYG."

The bridegroom, a graduate of Lingleville High School, Stephenville, attended Howard County Junior College and is co-owner of Jerry's Barber Shops.

WEDDING TRIP

For a trip to the Dallas and Fort Worth area, the bride chose to wear a three-piece white mohair suit with silk shantung shell. She used gold lizard accessories and the corsage taken from her bouquet.

Bridal Coffee Fetes
Mrs. W. H. Wells

Mrs. W. H. Wells of Dallas, was feted Saturday morning at a bridal coffee and shower in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club. Guests called between the hours of 10 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon to honor Mrs. Wells, the former Molly Hefner.

Hostesses were Mrs. G. K. Chadd, Mrs. G. W. Broughton, Mrs. Leon Kinney, Mrs. George Thorburn, Mrs. Rex Baggett, Mrs. Bob Satterwhite, Mrs. Bill Emerson, Mrs. J. D. Cauble, Miss Marguerite Cooper and Mrs. Ralph Stark of Midland. Their gifts to the honoree were a waffle iron and grille and a bride's book.

Miss Marsha Stark of Midland presided at the registry table which was accented with a bud vase holding yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The refreshment table was centered with a yellow and white pompon chrysanthemum arrangement, and crystal and silver appointments were used with the silver coffee service. Yellow napkins were inscribed with names of the newlyweds. The honoree's mother, Mrs. Doryne Hefner; her grandmother, Mrs. Ora Conn; and Mrs. Marguerite Smith were in the receiving line and wore corsages of white baby chrysanthemums. Mrs. Wells' corsage was of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Allen Thornton and Mrs. C. Dean Taylor, both of Dallas. Approximately 100 were included on the guest list.

Shopping For Mink?
Learn The Language

Whether or not you have ever shopped for a fur garment before, you will probably run into many technical terms that are unfamiliar to you. To make your fur-buying a softer touch, here is a brief glossary.

BLENDING OR TIP - DYEING. The process of applying dye to the tips of guard hairs to produce a more uniform color.

GLAZING. A method of giving or restoring luster to furs. Many experts recommend professional cleaning and glazing of furs at least once a year.

GUARD HAIRS. The long, lustrous top hairs which protect the softer, more perishable hairs underneath.

LETTING-OUT. An elaborate process used on mink and some other furs. It involves cutting of pelts into long, diagonal strips and resetting these strips in staggered formation to make them longer and narrower. The narrow strips emphasize the shade. Twelve mink color phases are marketed by the Emba Mink Breeders Association.

LETTING-IN. The pelt is cut in half and each piece is cut into strips and sewn to make the fur shorter and, in mink, to create two dark lines in the single skin.

SPLIT - SKIN. A process whereby the skin is cut in half and each half is joined to the half of another skin; the halves may be used on different sides of the garment to produce even color. This process produces fewer stripes and a less graceful sweep than the letting-out process, and is sometimes used on less expensive minks.

BLOCKING. Another process used in place of letting-out for cheaper mink coats. In blocking, whole skins are sewn together in a horizontal band and produces a "brick" effect.

MUTATION. Some animals, primarily minks and foxes, are specially bred on ranches to pro-

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Is there a better way of getting that feeling of complete nonchalance than the one experienced when a person opens his mail box and finds nothing... not even a piece of mail addressed simply to Occupant? In this day of what has been described as "junk mail" it's just a sad day when not even the book or record-of-the-month club has run your name through the mailing list or some insurance company doesn't try its hand at luring you into their fold to say nothing of all the automobile companies who are showing the latest in their lines.

MARY FRANCES MALONE, Texas Tech sophomore at Lubbock, is spending the weekend with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone.

Those football game-going couples, the BOB BRADBURYs and the BOB DEANS are in Dallas this weekend and saw the SMU-Tech game Saturday. The women planned to see "Funny Girl" with Marilyn Michaels at the State Fair Musical Saturday night.

I've never thought too much about persimmons growing in Big Spring but a friend tells me that for several years MRS. AUSTIN M. HARRIS at 908 E. 12th has been providing her with the pretty orange fruit for use in her floral arrangements... and when they ripen she likes them to eat.

When the J. C. PICKLES and his mother, MRS. ARTHUR PICKLE, visited the Miller Harries recently in Durango, Colo., he had planned to fish along with his visiting. But before he got a hook in the water the snow started falling. Perhaps no self-respecting fish would be out in such weather even if the snow did make a beautiful scene. The three spent one night in Albuquerque with the Don Pickle family and returned here Wednesday.

DR. and MRS. CAL GUILLIAMS have returned after a visit to Fort Worth and Dallas where they took in the State Fair.

MRS. RICHARD HURN is here from Bartlesville, Okla., to be with her mother, MRS. JOHN C. SMITH, who is ill.

Here for the day Saturday was MRS. JONATHAN LANCASTER of Kermit who visited her father, J. B. PICKLE.

The RAY SWEENEYS of Borger were here during the week visiting his brother and his family, the CHARLES SWEENEYS. The couple was en route to their home after a visit in Midland with her daughter, MRS. PAUL NELSON.

The local Mrs. Sweeney, who is a ceramics enthusiast, has completed the most attractive wall piece for her fireplace wall. The picture is made from a kit and has been perfectly colored and fired by Mrs. Sweeney. She has also arranged a collection of unusual shells for another wall piece for the den of their home.

When MRS. WILLIAM DEHLINGER accompanied her husband to the doctor last week, she had a severe heart attack while he was waiting. By the end of the week, however, she was resting much better. Their son, BILL DEHLINGER of Abilene had a similar experience several years ago. One afternoon he passed his physical with flying colors, and that night he had a heart attack, which he managed to weather.

WMU Sees Color Film Of Brazil

Color slides of missionary work in Brazil were shown at the Friday evening meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union associational meeting at the Baptist Temple.

The opening prayer was given by the Rev. James Puckett, and Max Legg led the group in song.

Mrs. A. W. Page introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Glenn Bridges, missionary to Brazil. Mrs. Bridges explained the divisions of missionary work in that country, and narrated her collection of slides.

Refreshments were served to approximately 35 members, and Clyde Bryan gave the closing prayer. Mrs. Shirley Fryar was welcomed as a guest.

Study Paint Label First

Before starting to paint, carefully read the label on the paint can. Stir thoroughly. If you plan to paint an entire room, do the ceiling first, then in order, the walls, the woodwork and closet doors and the entrance door.

When you paint the ceiling, start at the window or substitute source of light and work away from it, facing the light. This helps locate missed spots. Paint the ceiling across the width so you can get to the next strip before the last one dries, lessening the chance of a lap mark showing.

If you must stop before finishing a room, end at a corner, never in the middle of the wall.

Westbrook Couple Marry Monday

Baby Set

An ideal gift for the new baby is this crocheted set done in an unusual stitch. Pattern No. 935 gives instructions for making size one.

Send 50 cents for Needlework Book. Contains free stole pattern and embroidery and a coupon for free pattern of your choice.

Sail On Schooner

Lt. and Mrs. John D. Arnold, 111-B Gunter, have returned from a unique, island-hopping winter vacation through the more remote islands of the British Bahamas. With a party of adventurous shipmates, they helped sail the schooner, "Polynesia" one of the largest sailing yachts in the world, on a 18-day voyage originating from Miami, Fla. The schooner dropped anchor at out-of-the-way islands such as Bimini, Gun Cay and Abaco for fishing and skindiving, and had a two-day stopover at Nassau.

COSDEN CHATTER

Cosdenites Travel To Football Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Moss, Springs Friday evening for the Joe David are in Austin for the weekend. They went to the game and homecoming festivities at the University of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Smith were in Abilene Friday evening for the Big Spring-Abilene game. They drove on to Arlington to visit with their daughter and family, the James Medfords, and were in Dallas on Saturday for the SMU-Texas Tech tilt. They also visited with their son, Chappie, who is an SMU student.

W. W. Moeser, Cosden retiree, is visiting in Washington, D.C., with his daughter and son-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. George W. Boddy.

Mrs. Harold Coleman is a patient in St. John's Hospital in San Angelo.

Harold Moss underwent an appendectomy at Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

A PERSONAL TOUCH — The buffalo to an Indian is almost as important as his right arm. Witness the careful scrubbing of his animals by a native worker in the Bay of Bengal at Madras during a current water shortage. And what bliss for the animal!

SHARP SETUP — Not a trick shot, just a model demonstrating a special display pocket knife at the Industrial Fair in Frankfurt, Germany. It weighs 60 pounds.

ON THE GRAND SCALE — Thousands of persons arrange themselves in industrial patterns suggesting moving gears and an open hearth furnace in huge stadium at Peking. The massed callisthenics were part of opening of Red China's second national games.

AIRY ART — A 2,500-pound mobile, work of sculptor George W. Rickey, is assembled on base in front of an Oakland, Calif., bank. It's pivoted to rotate with the wind.

PRESIDES — Amintore Fanfani, 57, foreign minister of Italy, is the president of the 20th General Assembly of the United Nations. He has been premier of Italy four times.

STARTLING SIGHT — In the realm of science fiction this could be some invader from another planet moving on Earth with its weapons. However, it's just young Bobby Dunn with his futuristic toys and an imaginative photographer at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

ALL HER OWN — Ann Hemmings, 23, plans to be England's youngest private zoo owner on a 10-acre farm. Collection's started with a monkey, griffin dog and tortoise.

CAT'S MEOW — It must be pleasant for Colonel Thai Su Ching, a Sealpoint Siamese, to view its 16th birthday cake at Morehead, Ky. It has minnows instead of candles.

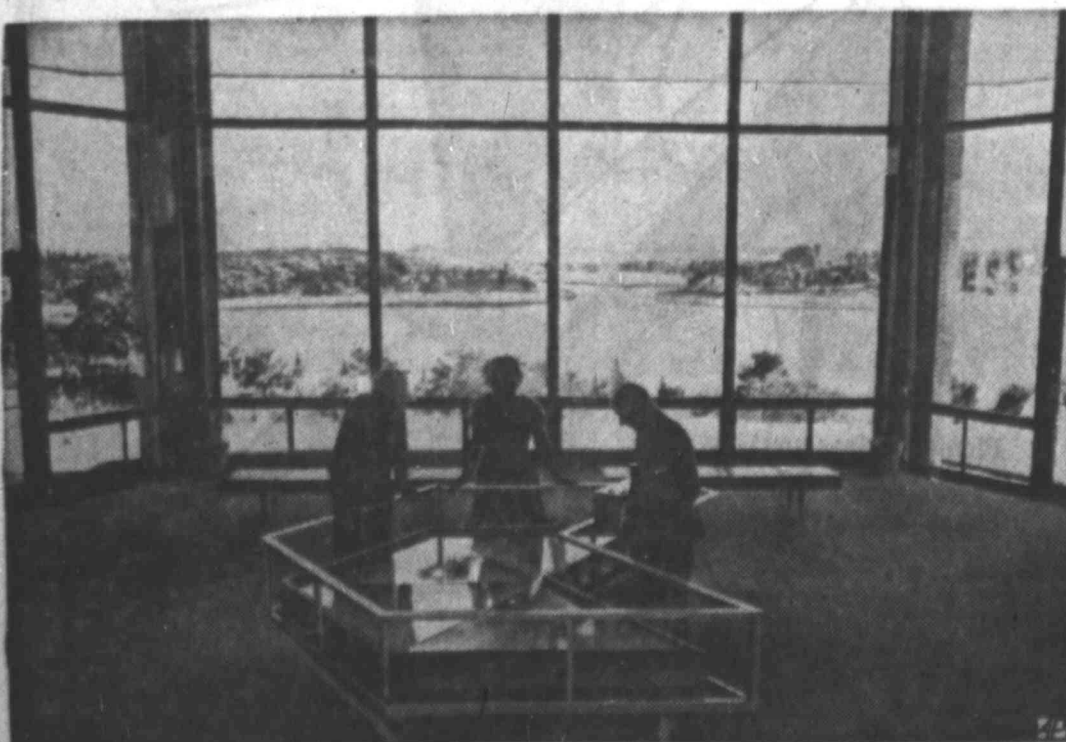

WHAT'S SOME WATER? — Young John Gardener planned to ride a go-kart during his visit to the amusement area at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville. When the heavens opened, John was determined and despite the drenching, got in several laps.

CHAIRMAN — Karoly Csatorday was elected by the U.N. General Assembly to head the group's main political committee. He is chief Hungarian delegate to the United Nations.

OUT TO THE SOUND — This is the view looking out toward Nantucket Sound from the headquarters at Eastham, Mass., for The Cape Cod National Seashore. The new national park will include 46 miles-of-shore line extending from Chatham to Provincetown.

FRESH LOOK — Deborah Bryant, Miss America 1966, wears a grey felt helmet with visor set off by white leather trim. Side chin strap closing adds a perky touch.

EARLY FAMILIARITY — Many go through life without learning to swim. Robert John Ross is not going to be one of them. Here, the 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel K. Ross of Honolulu maneuvers his way underwater during a swimming lesson.

Tea Honors Pledges

Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will hold its preferential tea this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock in the Blue Room at Cadden Country Club. Five of the pledges being honored are, from left, Mrs. Dan Johnson, Mrs. Jack Lewis, Mrs. Ronnie Clanton, Mrs. Gene Adams and Mrs. Ronnie McCusick. Unable to be present for the picture were Mrs. Jim Noble and Mrs. Billy D. McDonald.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By KAREN SKANCHY

"Witch's Brew" is the theme for the Hi and Bye Coffee to be Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Officers Open Mess. Hostesses will be wives in Class 67-B.

Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Yarrington were honored at a progressive dinner party last weekend. Cocktails were served at the home of Capt. and Mrs. W. E. Wood, followed by salad and wine at the home of Capt. and Mrs. R. J. Barbaree. Capt. and Mrs. John Albach served Japanese chicken. The group then went to the home of Capt. and Mrs. Joe Murphy where they enjoyed dessert and brandy.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Wolcott of Scottsbluff, Neb., recently visited with their daughter and family, Lt. and Mrs. Lyle Burry.

Wives in the medical group enjoyed their monthly coffee at the home of Mrs. L. R. Kline. Stiver last week. Farewells were extended to Mrs. Alan Swearingen, and she was given a bracelet from the wives.

The 3560th PTS monthly coffee was held last week with E. Flight wives as hostesses. A cornucopia was used as the centerpiece on the serving table and was won by Mrs. R. L. Hurst. Newcomers welcomed into the squadron were Mrs. R. L. Flechsig, Mrs. L. L. Ledbetter, Mrs. R. M. Travis, Mrs. T. C. Isaacson and Mrs. H. A. Hornbarger.

SEE STATE FAIR

Lt. and Mrs. Jay Green spent the weekend in Dallas where they attended the state fair and the Ice Capades.

Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Kasher also attended the state fair last weekend and saw a football game while in Dallas.

B Flight in the 331st FIS gathered at the home of Capt. and Mrs. James Middleton for a potluck dinner and bid their farewells to Capt. and Mrs. Richard Sullivan.

Furniture refinishing classes start Monday at 7:30 p.m. These will be held at McAdams Paint Store and your husbands are welcome to participate in these classes.

Col. and Mrs. M. E. Frantz recently attended an Aerospace Medical Conference at Brooks AFB in San Antonio.

A houseguest in the home of Capt. and Mrs. T. L. Thomas is her mother, Mrs. H. A. Bathurst of Blackwell, Okla. Mrs. Bathurst is here awaiting the arrival of another grandchild.

Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth Bruce have enjoyed a two week visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bruce of Carrollton, Ky. Mrs. Bruce's grandmother, Mrs. Susie Pohl of Georgetown, Ohio, has also been their houseguest.

Lt. and Mrs. J. D. Arnold just returned from a delightful ten-day cruise to the Bahama Islands. They flew from Dallas to Miami and from there they went to the Island of Bimini. They spent one weekend in Nassau where they did some shopping, and they rented a motorcycle and spent one day exploring the island. They made stops at a number of remote keys and visited a native village on Abaco Island. The Arnolds report that on their way back to Miami their boat had trouble and they had to anchor a mile off the coast. They were stranded here for 24 hours because the weather was bad and the Coast Guard could not get to them to tow them in. They arrived home last weekend, a little sunburned and tired.

Dr. and Mrs. Ken Cox and Dr. and Mrs. Robert DiSimone witnessed a game between Texas Tech and TCU at Lubbock last weekend.

Crocheted Fabrics Need More Sewing

Among the most exciting new fabrics this year are those with the lacy open look of hand crochet. Most are of wool though you will see some in synthetic blends and other fibers.

Some have permanently bonded linings, usually of acetate tricot. These pre-lined fabrics are easy to handle since no separate lining is needed, and the lining prevents raveling, fraying of seams and stretching.

The unlined "crochet-knits" require a little more care in sewing. An underlining is necessary to support the fabric. Use either a matching color or a contrast, depending on the effect you wish to achieve. A light weight silk or one of the new silk-like underlining materials, available in a wide range of colors, is suitable for wool crochets.

Wool crochet-knits should be dry cleaned only. Do not steam press or sponge. Press with a warm, dry iron.

Make sure fabric is well supported and lying flat on the table as it is easily stretched or pulled out of line. Lay all pattern pieces in one direction as for napped fabrics. Cut each garment section of both dress fabric and underlining, but mark construction details on the lining only. Pin securely, being careful not to stretch the crochet, and stitch around the outside of each section.

With this type of fabric you might prefer to use the method recommended by many custom dressmakers. The underlining is first cut and marked. Lay the dress fabric flat with the wrong side up. Lay lining pieces on dress fabric, pin and baste around each section, then cut.

A jacket or coat should have a separate lining in addition to the underlining. The underlining alone will suffice for a dress or skirt.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Rub Vegetable Oil On Stubborn Spots

Dear Heloise:

I am the mother of four little boys.

I know you will understand when I say we have spots on our asphalt tile in the bathroom.

Heave you ever found anything that will remove these spots? I have tried everything. Appreciative.

Dear Mother-of-Four:

I think I have the answer. This has worked every time I've tried it, or advised others who have written to me (as you did), to do so, and they have told me that it also worked for them: Go to your kitchen cabinet and get some liquid (NOT SOLID) vegetable oil (brand makes no difference), and put a dab of it on a piece of tissue. Rub that white spot on your asphalt tile briskly for a minute or so.

Go on with your regular work, and forget about the spot for a few hours.

Come back do the same thing over again. Remember to rub it hard and fast, as the friction from rubbing will lend heat to the white mark.

Bet you a cup of coffee that the marks will be gone—if they haven't been there too long. If they are old stains, it may take several applications.

Now, you will find your asphalt floor will have all the color brought back to it, and you will want to do the whole floor with the vegetable oil.

DON'T!

This procedure is to be applied ONLY where there are white stains on asphalt.

Stains are often caused on asphalt tile in the kitchen when we spill vinegar and certain foods on it.

The oil does NOT take the place of waxes, etc. Besides—it's not good for the tile, but is the ONLY thing I know of that will help restore the color to the spots on your floor.

So, just use it on those stains. Heloise

Seal Cracks Around Tub

In many older homes, the bathtub tends to "pull away" from the wall. If you have this problem, and if you have shower lovers in your family, it's a good idea to fill the crack with grouting material, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau says. Otherwise, water splashed into the crack may tend to accumulate and eventually seep through the ceiling below.

and is always hard to find in our kitchen drawer.

I tied a short, red ribbon on it. Now, when I open the drawer, I can spot it quickly by the red ribbon.

The ribbon can be washed along with the opener. . . . Ver-na Julian

Dear Heloise:

Instead of baking cakes in the usual fashion, by greasing and flouring the bake pans, I just lightly grease them, tear off a piece of foil, and use my fingers to line and shape the foil to the pan.

Works wonderfully because, when the cake is removed from the oven, it drops right out! Never sticks.

I remove the foil while the cake is still slightly warm and it comes off easily. . . . M.D.S. It Works! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Dear Heloise:

We lost the sprinkler attachment on our watering can. In its place, I wrapped a double-thickness piece of plastic over the open neck of the can (where the sprinkler fastens to the can), and secured it with a rubber band.

I then punctured the plastic with an ice pick to make holes for the water to come through. It works just fine. . . . Mrs. Carol Connelly

I tried it, and it works just great! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For those who make jack-o-lanterns from real pumpkins for their children, but who have trouble with the tops burning and falling in—try lining the covers with aluminum foil. It works perfectly.

Be sure to cut two or three holes for the heat to escape! . . . Linda (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Travel Film Shown To Study Club

A travel film was shown at the Thursday evening meeting of the Forsan Study Club. The 27 members and guests met at the school cafeteria.

Mrs. C. P. Sherman, introduced Miss Laurel Grandstaff, guest speaker.

Miss Grandstaff narrated the film, "Broad Horizons," taken during her tour with the American Embassy in Pakistan. She wore a native "camise" and, assisted by Mrs. Hamlin Elrod, demonstrated the wearing of a "sari."

Hostesses were Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, Mrs. L. B. McElrath, Mrs. D. M. Bardwell and Mrs. C. V. Ward.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cloth trimmed with Halloween decorations. The centerpiece was the traditional Jack o' Lantern.

The next meeting will be Nov. 4 at the Spanish Main.

Time Traits Watched

ZURICH — Edith Arnleider, who is making a study of time habits in Europe, has discovered that the two-watch woman is more predominant than the two-watch man.

"Women need separate watches for housework, business and dress," she said. "Since ladies' watches are frequently tiny, they should not be worn constantly, so a lady needs at least one change-off."

Men tend to take pride in wearing the same timepiece all their lives. "Women do not because they lose their watches within ten years of receiving them."

Smart Hostess Gives Successful Parties

The most successful parties are those at which the hostess has as good a time as the guests. How do you do this?

You, as the hostess, are the important ingredient; the others are your choice of people, and what and how you serve them. Don't be too concerned about entertaining your guests, because conversation should be all the entertainment you need.

Too obvious almost to repeat is the rule to invite people who you think will interest each other. They needn't all be the same age, needn't all have the same interests, but most should be interested in a good many things. And, again obviously, don't try to ask everyone to whom you are obligated to the same party.

After you have planned the invitations, do the seating, to make certain that there is at least one congenial partner for each dinner guest. You could spend hours at the hairdresser, too much on a new dress, untold dollars for food, flowers, and wine, yet miss the real point of a party—which is to have congenial people next to each other.

The best hostesses are not necessarily the cleverest, richest, or most beautiful—but they are the most thoughtful. They plan ahead so that they can relax when the party hour has arrived. They also often have one or two menus that they repeat over and over.

It is not likely that many of your guests will dine with you so often that you need to change your menus for every dinner party. In fact, it is a good idea to be known for "specialties of the house" and to serve them again and again.

Whether you have a butler or a part-time maid, your party can go smoothly if you tailor your plans to what you can accomplish well and easily. Better a well organized buffet than a more ambitious dinner with long gaps in service.

Very popular today is the semi-buffet where guests find the first course on the table, are served the dessert, but help themselves to what comes in between.

In serving wine, more and more often hostesses are placing wine bottles or decanters on the dinner table. It gives an attractive look to the small table and can eliminate the need for flower vases when used with a pair of low votive candles.

For a long table, two decanters, one placed at each end are decorative, but flowers, a ceramic, or silver centerpiece would be needed for the center of the table. Be sure that guests can see over the central decoration. A charming Spanish idea is to have a low vase with only a few flowers, intertwined with green leaves.

Brillat Savarin, the great 18th century French gastronome, considered six to be the perfect number for dinner. So, if you have a dinner large enough to require several separate tables, you might want to put six guests at each table.

People seem to enjoy "eating all over the house"—in the hall, in the living room, on the terrace, as well as in the dining room.

And don't hurry your guests from the table. If they feel like dawdling and lingering, let them.

Historic Hand-Sewn Boots Available For A Museum

By SAM BLACKBURN

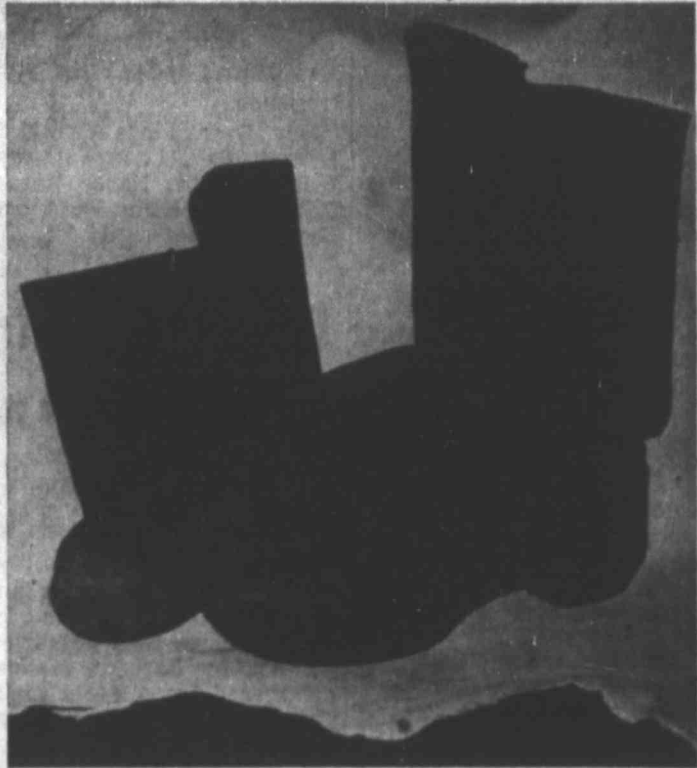

A weathered pair of boots, at least 90-years-old, believed worn by a member of a luckless band of Fort Concho soldiers who were ambushed by a war party of Comanches, is available for display in a museum—provided the museum is one on a well-established basis and the boots will be cared for.

The footwear, according to its present owner, J. L. Christensen, was found near "Mushaway Creek" in what is now either Borden or Garza counties soon after the Fort Concho troopers had met their disaster. The story told is that all of the cavalymen with one exception died in the ambush. One, identified in the legend as Capt. Jack Ware, is said to have escaped. He hid his saddle and blankets in a tree and made his way by foot back to Fort Concho.

RAWHIDE BOOTS
Apparently, the pair of boots which Christensen has were removed from the feet of one of Ware's fellow soldiers. They are made of rawhide, cut in the simplest possible form, hand-sewn and with the soles and heels fastened with wooden pegs.

Christensen said that an old time rancher in Borden County gave the boots to the late H. H. Haynes, who died here a few years ago. Haynes was the grandfather of Mrs. Christensen. He kept the relics for years, but gave them finally to a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Cain.

Mrs. Cain, in turn, gave them to Christensen. Christensen is a bootmaker—his family has 100 years of bootmaking back of it.

OLD BOOTS COULD TELL A STORY

—and he has a deep interest in novel design, as well as for the story of how they happened to be preserved. He said no one seems to have determined the exact spot where the massacre is supposed to have occurred. The only description is "Near Mushaway Creek." The only name which still remains in the legend is that of "Capt. Jack Ware." The Fort Concho site is at the

HISTORIC INTEREST

Christensen said he thinks the boots are of historic interest—alike for their age and their edge of San Angelo. It was established in 1887 and was known in its day as "The Pride of the Army of the West." It was deactivated in 1889.

Fort Concho troopers were required to do more patrol and scouting work than were soldiers at the other West Texas forts. It is probable they scouted over what is now Borden County. That area, prior to 1870, was a rugged unsettled area which had long been a favorite hunting ground of the Comanches. There is a good possibility any patrol out of Fort Concho might have fallen foul of a Comanche war party in that section.

MUSHAWAY PEAK

It is difficult to establish exactly the site of the legendary Indian fight. There is no "Mushaway Creek" on the maps. There is a Mushaway Peak, however. This is a common name for a for signal fires. If there was a battle in this area between the Indians and a Fort Concho patrol in the early '70's, it could well have occurred near this peak.

SOUND ALIKE

"Peak" and "creek" sound much alike and the word could have been misunderstood in the verbal passing along of the story of Christensen's weathered old cavalry boots.

"For their age," remarked the owner, "they are in exceptionally good shape. A little repair work and a pair of half-soles and they would be ready for another 90 years."

Boys and girls enjoy county library's newest special feature

Even Larger Crowd Expected For Library's Story Hour

Howard County Free Library's newest enterprise—the Children's Story Hour—is expected to muster even more eager-eyed boys and girls next Tuesday morning than it did at its initial presentation last week.

The story hour, for children under school age, is conducted in the building at the rear of the library. Carpets have been placed on the floor and the youngsters sprawl at their ease while they listen to the reading of their favorite fairy stories.

The program, according to Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, will be varied as time passes. Films will be used. Slide shows may be screened.

At present, however, she or Mrs. Dean Forrest will serve as story tellers for the youngsters at each Tuesday session. Mrs.

Forrest was in that role at the opening day when 18 boys and girls were on hand and appeared to enjoy the experience highly.

Mothers of children under school age, but old enough to enjoy stories, are invited to bring them to the library at 10 a.m. Tuesday. The story hour lasts until 11 a.m.

Mrs. McDaniel stressed that the mothers must be back at 11 a.m. to pick up their youngsters, as supervision after that hour is not possible.

Grand Jury To Hear Cases Against Scaggs

Two charges of murder and one of assault with intent to murder pending against Charlie Scaggs Jr., will be included in the cases to be laid before the grand jury Tuesday in 118th District Court.

There are 11 complaints in all to be heard by the grand jury, which Judge Ralph Caton will empanel at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Scaggs is accused of shooting Curtis L. Saddler and Norris Saddler to death in a fight at the Jazz Lounge on Northwest Fourth street Oct. 1.

He also is accused of shooting and wounding Willie Roy English. This shooting affray occurred Sept. 30—the night before the fatal clash at the north-side cafe.

Two other assault with intent to murder complaints are to be heard by the grand jurors.

One is against Arthur Lee Parker, who is alleged to have shot Clerca Ezell with a pistol on Sept. 4. A second pends against Thomas B. Mundell, who is charged with stabbing Billy Stover on the night of Sept. 10.

Other cases which Wayne Burns, district attorney, has said he will lay before the grand jurors are:

Nan Cotham Is Yell Leader

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Nan Elizabeth Cotham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Cotham, 2303 Goliad, is a cheerleader of intramural tackle football at David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn.

She was chosen with four other students to represent the Beta Club, which includes about 300 students in its membership. Lipscomb's adoption of year-round operation in 1962 made obsolete its four class organizations. To replace them, it has six Greek-letter activity clubs among which the 1,827 students are divided.

Miss Cotham was graduated from Grand Prairie High School. At Lipscomb, she has been on the honor roll and the dean's list and is a member of the Home Economics Club.

Welcome

To Big Spring Webb's New Pilot Training Class 67-C

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

All Big Spring joins in a hearty West Texas welcome to the new class at Webb Air Force Base. While they are citizens of our city for the next year, it is our hope that they will find a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere. We hope the new students can become acquainted with our town, and find a "home" here. They are asked to drop in and see us at any time and let us extend, in person, the hand of welcome.

A Devotional For The Day

O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our maker. (Psalm 95:6)
PRAYER: Almighty God, reveal Thyself to us. Give us the spirit of humble devotion that we may adore Thee as we ought. May we thus give Thee the honor we owe Thee. In the spirit of the Master. Amen.

(From the "Upper Room")

Support Four-Year Term

In a short space of time voters will be called upon to decide the fate of 10 Texas constitutional amendments. This is a formidable task, for even a cursory knowledge of so many amendments is not easy for most voters.

Hence, we single out some for special comment from time to time (in addition to a daily series of articles explaining the various amendments with arguments pro and con).

One of the most important proposals, we believe, is that of four-year terms for the governor and other elective state officials. We believe that the great weight of logic and prudence favors the adoption of this amendment.

Not until the reactions of the Reconstruction area did Texas reduce its offices from four to two-year terms. Prior to that time it was recognized that four-year terms were advisable for effectiveness.

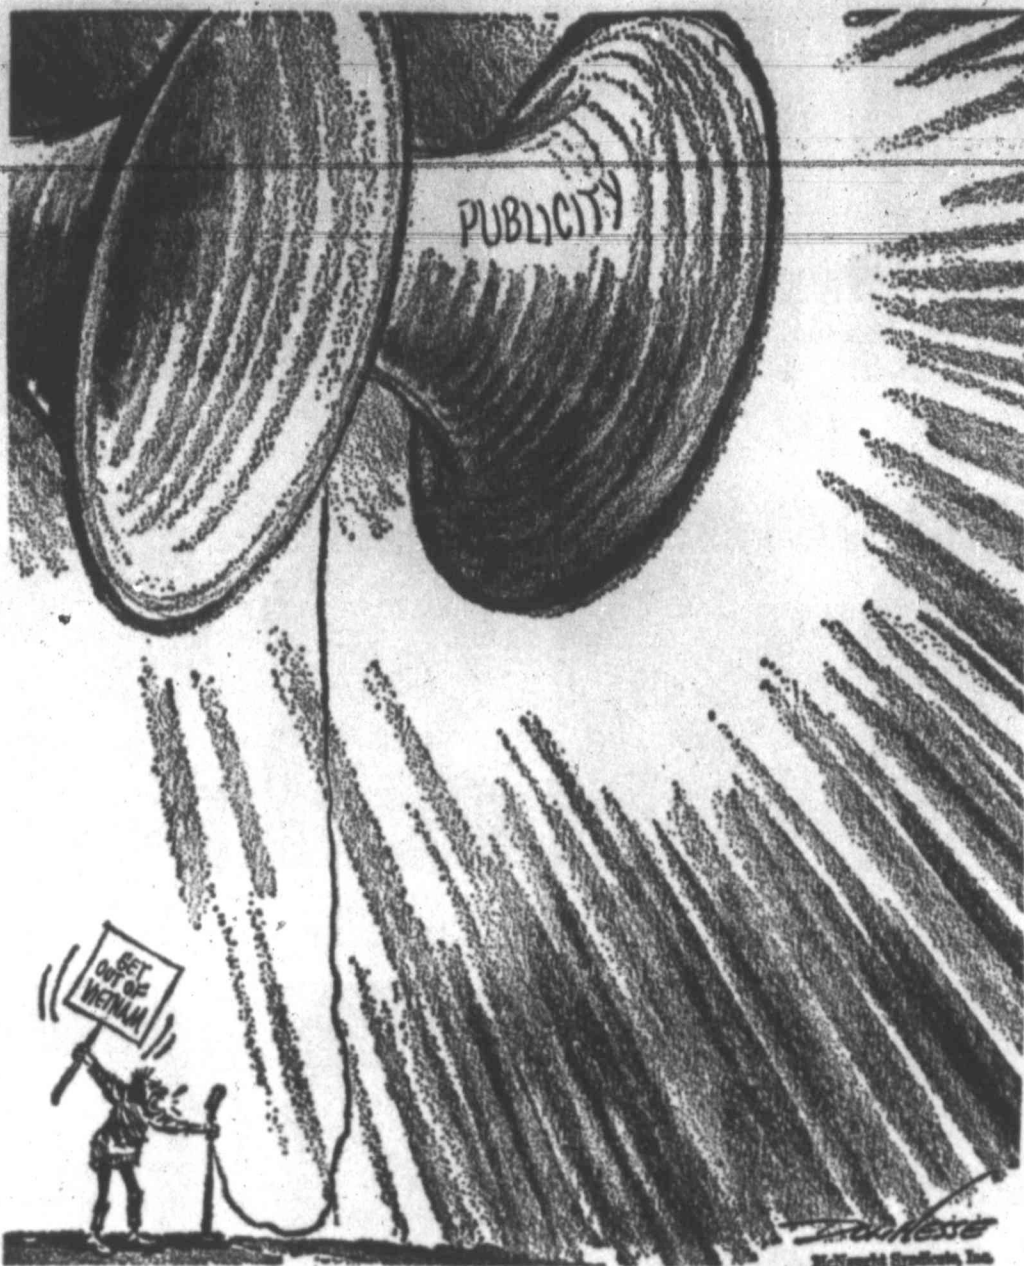

Certainly, the complexities of Texas government have grown completely away from the relative simplicities of nearly a century ago. Today's jobs of administration can hardly be mastered within the space of a year or less before a state official must begin to consider his plans for re-election. Moreover, the State of Texas can ill afford the threat of disrupted continuity of administration every two years.

In this connection, it has been aptly pointed out that the present setup means that an official must, as a practical matter, spend every alternate year in an effort to get elected. This is a waste of time which might be employed far better in constructive and creative planning on a long range basis. It also could reduce the expense of running for office, something that is becoming so mountaintous that only the affluent or the supple could afford to offer for office.

Longer terms also would enable administrators to appeal to best talent in staffing, for under a short space of tenure it is sometimes difficult to attract top people with the possibility of being out of a job within two short years.

Another argument, we feel, is that having a four-year term come up on years between presidential elections will give impetus to an otherwise lull in vital political exercise. Perhaps some limitation on the number of consecutive terms should have been included in the amendment, but even without it we feel that the overwhelming weight of evidence is in favor of its adoption.

AMPLIFIED MIDGET

At Least The First Mile

We don't print anonymous letters, although there may be understandable reasons why people will not sign their name to their opinions.

Sometimes these do contain food for comment. Last week brought one signed "Blackmailed," though we suspect he meant "blackjacked." His complaint was that he was "ordered" rather than "asked" for a contribution to the United Fund. To refuse, he said, might court loss of status if not loss of favor.

It is difficult for us to imagine such stringent solicitation, and we would be more inclined to consider that it is a matter of personal interpretation. We could sympathize, however, if it were not a matter of the larger issue of every man or woman having the intestinal fortitude to do what conscience tells them is right.

It was suggested that "asking" would beget more liberal response than "ordering." Maybe the answer is in the Scriptural admonition to go the second mile. Too many people, however, do not honestly want to go the first mile. That's the difficulty which the United Fund faces every year. This is an obligation every resident ought to feel for the town in which he resides, whether for a year or for a lifetime.

The Friendship Problem

TORONTO, Canada—A short visit to Canada, exactly two days, makes you realize that U.S.-Canadian relations are at low ebb. Everywhere I went, Canadians complained to me that the United States had been ignoring Canada and, although the country is now in the midst of a hot election campaign, no one south of the border really cared.

"We cared about your elections," a friend said. "Why don't you care about ours? It seems nothing we do up here makes any impact on the United States."

I had to agree, but I told my friends it was their own fault.

"YOU HAVEN'T given us any trouble in a long while," I reminded them. "The difficulty is that relations between the two countries are so good they're starting to deteriorate. In order for us to pay any attention to anybody, the United States must be provoked."

"How can we provoke you?"

"It isn't easy," I admitted. "It would help if you had a serious Communist problem. We're always ready to step in and help a country that's being threatened by Communists. If you had a real Red threat coming up in the elections, you would not only get our attention but military and economic aid as well."

"BUT WE DON'T have a Communist threat," the friend protested.

"Then why don't you pull a De Gaulle on us?"

"How's that?"

"Why don't you threaten to pull out of the Western hemisphere defense alliance? Tell the U.S. you want to set up your own DEW line and start working on your own atomic bomb."

"That would be expensive."

"Well, then, why don't you have your students demand that the United States give you back the St. Lawrence Seaway? They could stone the U.S. Embassy and burn the American flag at Niagara Falls."

"OUR STUDENTS are too interested in getting an education. The only ones who want to demonstrate are the French students in Quebec and all they're interested in is burning the flag of the Canadian government in Ottawa."

"I hate to suggest this," I said, "but have you ever thought of building a wall all along the Canadian border with checkpoints where you could have diplomatic incidents such as they're having in Berlin?"

"IT'S BEEN DISCUSSED. But we don't have the labor. We were even thinking of setting up an air corridor for American planes flying to Alaska and if the planes strayed out of the corridor we would have our fighters go up and force them down."

"That would get you some attention," I said excitedly.

"The Canadian Air Force said they weren't interested."

"Why not a humdrum of a spy trial? Arrest a few American businessmen as spies and hold a public hearing. You could frame them easily."

"IT WOULD HURT Canadian business."

"It's obvious that what Canada needs is a Nasser, a Sukarno, or a Chou En-lai—someone to tell us to go jump in the ocean."

"Diefenbaker has been hinting at it, but nobody seems to be paying any attention."

"Well, I can't help you then. We're willing to help you in any way we can, but only if you're willing to make life difficult for us. We have too many enemies we're trying to win over to spend much time on wooing our friends."

Look For Higher Prices On Many Items

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Chocolate bars may be bigger and cheaper this winter.

Many other things, however, may be more expensive.

But Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the federal government had both the weapons and the will to contain inflation.

While cocoa bean prices have been falling, some manufacturers have been raising the prices of overcoats and shoes, automobiles and tin cans, color television, aluminum siding and certain steel products.

Some increases have been announced publicly, and some are being tacked on by cutting cash discounts and charging for extras that used to be included free.

MANUFACTURERS blame increased costs of labor, material and payroll taxes. Cloth prices are up 5 to 10 per cent, and a suit that retailed for $80 last fall may cost $85 now.

Shoe prices are scheduled to go up this spring; a $12 pair of shoes may cost about $13 and the $20 models about $22, reflecting higher prices for hides and leathers.

American Can Co. and Continental Can Co. announced during the week increases in the price of tin cans, reflecting the selective price increases made last week by major steel manufacturers.

Magnavox Co. increased prices on about one-fourth of its color television sets 5 to 8 per cent.

ALSCO, INC. raised residential aluminum siding prices to distributors $1 per hundred square feet, to $22.

The price increases, coupled with higher personal income, a rising volume of credit and increased federal spending, have led to fears of inflation in some areas.

Administration spokesmen said spending for the war in Viet Nam didn't appear to be climbing fast enough to cause inflation, but that it almost certainly ruled out another tax cut. The United States currently is spending about $51 billion a year on defense. Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said that if there were an increase of $10 billion, he would think about a tax increase. He said he was not. Even $5 billion, he indicated, would wipe out administration hopes of proposing a tax cut in January for those with low incomes.

"I SEE NO reason to believe that our economy will be overburdened," said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Behind him he had a report from the Council of Economic Advisers that personal income after taxes rose $12.4 billion this summer, the largest three-month increase since 1950.

The council said Americans had $31 billion more to spend on goods and services, with income at a seasonally adjusted rate of $47.3 billion, up from $44.3 billion last year.

NEW ORDERS for durable goods, an important economic indicator, rose in September, but at $21.8 billion, seasonally adjusted, still were below the July record of $22.2 billion.

Auto production for the week was estimated at 213,647 cars.

Tax Service

NEW DELHI (AP) — Income tax officials have announced a new service for women in purah — those who wear veils and cloaks completely covering their bodies.

Because of the women's reluctance to be seen in public, tax officials will go to their homes to accept tax returns or consider appeals.

Enlargement Of Lymph Gland Not Unusual

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When our oldest boy, now four, was nine months old, we discovered a lump in his neck. A doctor said it was an enlarged lymph gland. Since then I have had him in for checkups and three different doctors have said the same thing.

The last doctor was the only one who came close to recommending that it be removed, and he said it was up to us to decide, on the basis of whether it would improve his appearance.

Now we have discovered a similar enlarged gland on our eight-month-old boy. If not removed, will these glands harm the boys or turn into cancer? Will the glands get larger? Do you recommend their removal?

—MRS. J. B.

Are you sure you aren't making a mountain out of a lump? Enlargement of a lymph gland is not unusual in children, and in ordinary circumstances is not alarming. (That is to say, there are ominous diseases which involve the lymph glands, but they are not very frequent, and they are readily diagnosed.)

An enlarged gland is commonly the result of some infection. The gland's purpose is to filter out wastes resulting from the infection, and the gland can swell. It may or may not return gradually toward its original size, but it still is serviceable. It does not "turn into cancer," and aside from being lumpy, is not likely to do any harm.

A succession of doctors have given you the same answer. I wonder whether you have been searching for someone who will give you a different answer and provide an excuse for surgery. I certainly do not recommend removal of an enlarged lymph gland just because it exists.

If the gland continues to enlarge, if other glands show enlargement, if the child has a fever, or there are other signs of focal infection such symptoms as these would call for further investigation, possibly even removal of one node for biopsy, but only if there are significant symptoms.

If the children are healthy, disregard the enlarged glands.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a thickening of the pleura at the bases of both lungs. Will this eventually affect the entire lungs? At times it is painful.—L.M.

This thickening is due to some infection in the past—tuberculosis, pneumonia, pleurisy or whatever. If the infection no longer is active, there will be no further involvement of the lungs.

"Vitamin starvation" is possible even if you eat a lot. In order to check your diet to make sure you are getting necessary nourishment, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the pamphlet, "Vitamins—The Alphabet of Health." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

—There's Always Gravy

Around The Herald office, we have been up to our tummies in recipes lately, as you might guess from glancing at the special supplement in today's paper.

There's an intriguing interest in this business of putting food together to make a dish—plain or fancy—we have found. Cookbooks are about the most prolific type of publication on the market these days, and some homes have full libraries of them. Add these millions of food suggestions to those that pour into homes via magazines and newspapers, and that homemakers lament of "I don't know what to fix today!" couldn't hold much water.

WITHAL, some of us still stick to the standards of meat and potatoes, fried chicken and rice, some canned vegetables; and, if real lucky, corn bread and black-eyed peas.

And some of us are not strangers to frozen food dinners either. Well, women have a hard enough time of it (somebody said), and why not settle for hot dogs or a can of soup if that's what the tribe wants?

DOUBTLESS Mama had cookbooks in her old high-ceilinged kitchen, but since I had no interest, I didn't notice them.

Our family fare was pretty simple, largely for reasons of economy, because there were seven hungry mouths to feed, and not a lot of money in the Saturday pay envelope.

WE COULD get cutlets and cream gravy, or rice and gravy, or bread and gravy, or chicken and gravy, or whatever else can be served with gravy. And if there wasn't enough of anything else to fill up on, there was always enough gravy.

I don't know how the nutritional experts would rate gravy, but it darned sure has filled a lot of stomach voids over the years.

I AM A gravy man to this day (the food connoisseurs say that's because I don't know the difference), but there's that dadburned weight problem.

There must have been a woodstove in our kitchen at one time, but by about the period my memory registers, Papa got reckless and bought a fancy kerosene stove. One of those that had the jug of fuel you turn bot tom up at one end of the stove, so that the kerosene (we called it coal oil) ran down to four or five burners, two of them under the oven that was waist high at one side of the stove.

THE FLAME was uneven, the wicks forever needed trimming, and there seemed to persist the danger of an explosion.

But that's what Mama cooked on for many a year, turning out her bacon and eggs, her cakes and pies, her meats and vegetables—and her gravy.

I HONESTLY don't know if she could have won any culinary prizes, but what was put on the table was good enough for us. The skeptics say that if we ate like "Mother used to make" we'd all have indigestion today. Phooey to the skeptics. They just don't know gravy.

Tribute To A Working Man

WASHINGTON — Congress was busy on Wednesday getting ready for adjournment, but part of the day the leaders of the Republican party in both houses were bowing their heads in prayer in a memorial service to Robert Humphreys. He died a few days ago of cancer, at the age of 60, after many years of service for the Republican National Committee and the Joint Senate-House Republican Leadership Conference.

THE NAME OF Bob Humphreys was not known throughout the country. He was no television celebrity. He was rarely mentioned in the newspapers. But he made a deep impression here in the national capital as an honest and conscientious worker in the field of politics who never misled a reporter. Though he wrote many a speech and public declaration that made headlines, he was one of those anonymous workers whose services over the years have been invaluable to the Republican party.

WHEN SUCH A man departs from life, the story of his career gets no such attention as marks the passing of someone elected to high office. But this time, leaders of the Republican party and members of Congress from both parties, as well as a large number of newspapermen and other friends, assembled at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, where a remarkable eulogy was delivered by Senator Everett Dirksen, Republican leader of the Senate. He said that Bob Humphreys had a "devotion to his country unsurpassed by that of any patriot whose name glows from the pages of history." The Illinois senator added:

"WHAT MORTAL being, standing on the threshold of infinity, has not pondered what lies beyond the veil which separates the seen from the unseen?"

"What mortal being, responding to that mystical instinct that earthly dissolution is at hand, has not contemplated what lies beyond the grave?"

"What mortal being upon whom has descended that strange and serene resignation that life's journey is about at an end has not thought about that eternal destination and what might be there?"

"CENTURIES AGO, the man Job, so long blessed with every material blessing, only to find himself sorely afflicted by all that can befall a human being, sat with his companions and uttered the timeless, ageless question, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' In the Easter season, when all Christendom observes the Resurrection and seeks answers to many questions, there in the forefront is the question raised by Job, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' ...

"Who would persuasively contend that this work of the Great Designer could only end in oblivion, in destruction without a trace? Who will contend that this — the noblest work of the Great Designer — man, with dominion over all living things, man, with a brain and a will, with a mind and a soul, man with intelligence and divinity should come to an end when the spirit forsakes its earthly temple? ...

"THE FALLING LEAVES are a reminder that winter will soon be here to embrace the earth in wintry sleep. Comes the inevitable caress of spring, also from the hand of the Great Designer, to bring life and color, fragrance and beauty to the eager earth. It is the resurrection of spring. It is an answer to the ageless question of Job, 'If a man die, shall he live again?' Surely he shall, as surely as day follows night, as surely as the stars follow their courses, as surely as the crest of every wave brings its trough."

Those of us who heard the eulogy felt it was an appropriate tribute to Bob Humphreys. His career was a useful one.

The Weary Administration

WASHINGTON — Not only is President Johnson tired after his operation but his is a tired administration suffering from prolonged battle fatigue. As one of his field commanders put it: "I think the whole high command should be replaced."

THE PRESIDENT will recuperate at his ranch, spending virtually the rest of the year there, which is well and good. And there is nothing wrong with his principal ministers that a three- or four-week vacation from all official duties would not remedy. But under the pressure of a perpetual crisis-psychology, they feel they are chained to their desks and imprisoned in endless squirrel cage conferences.

For State, Defense and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, the unsolved riddle of Germany and the authority over nuclear weapons within the Atlantic alliance hangs in the air like a Halloween spook that will not go away.

COMPOUNDING the division in Washington is the crack in the facade in West Germany. With the political pressures growing in Germany for big power status in nuclear weaponry, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard had been unable, despite his election victory, to form a government. The long delay was partly due to increasing suspicion that Washington intends to "sell Germany out" for a deal with Moscow.

EQUALLY OBVIOUS is the disarray in the alliance over the German nuclear issue. With one or two exceptions in degree rather than in actual contradiction—the Atlantic Allies give a treaty with the Soviet Union to try to check the spread of nuclear weapons priority over a German say-so in the use of nuclear weapons. This reflects the feeling of a last chance to head off a nuclear arms race that will see eight or nine or ten nations with nuclear weapons in a few years. Outwardly loyal to the official line, this is the conviction deeply shared by America's disarmers.

A FURTHER complication is President Charles de Gaulle's more and more outspoken antagonism toward Germany.

These are hard, tough, irreparable issues and small wonder that the men wrestling with them for so long are weary. But this raises the question whether tired minds under the pressure of a deadline can come up with a new response. And a corollary question is whether a waiting period may not be essential to determine just how far the Germans mean to push their nuclear demand.

THE POLICY VACUUM is almost as conspicuous in Asia in the wake of the India-Pakistan war. The pre-war strategy — positioning India against China and Pakistan against the Soviet Union—is no longer valid.

Bone weary men struggling with the hydra of world turmoil, seven days a week eleven or twelve hours a day, must be pitied. With the President at the ranch for a long stay, including the time when the new budget must be hammered together, their tasks will be complicated, since they will commute from Washington and work in improvised offices. Rest and relaxation are important for the President but they are just as important for the hard pressed men around him.

YOUR NEWSPAPER IS 'TOPS' FOR INFORMATION

A newspaper is many things to many people...

To some, it is a reality — a living textbook that records each passing day of world history; to others, it is escape — a refuge of entertainment and relaxation after the day's chores.

To the housewife, it is ideas for new recipes and new clothes.

To the mother, suggestions for raising the youngsters.

To the teacher, a homework assignment on current events; to schoolchildren, a notebook item.

To the lonely diner, a companion; around the family supper table, a topic of conversation.

To sports and theater lovers, who and what is playing, when and where.

To athletes and actors, scrapbook material.

To an unknown, it brings fame; for a well known, it furthers his name.

To a publicity seeker, it is a haven; to the publicity shy, a source of annoyance.

To the seller, it means quick response; to the buyer, many selections.

To some, it brings good news; to others, sad tidings.

To friends and neighbors, it tells about job promotions, school graduations and who got married, who was born, who died.

To the voter, it is guidance; to a politician, friend or foe.

To opinion searchers, it stimulates thought.

To front stoop sitters, it describes life beyond the horizon.

To the immigrant, it is a schoolbook that helps him learn English; to hunters of truth, it translates the customs from which the immigrant fled.

To the living, it is a source of freedom and hope; for the dead, a tribute to their virtues.

What else costs so little, is so useful, and adds so much to our lives?

Rounding Up 45 Girls Turns Into A Big Job

Hollywood's dress procurement job of the year—to clothe 45 exquisite young lovelies for a total of 10 minutes' playing time—was accomplished in less than a week.

Needed were flashy party gowns, each more eye-catching than the other, for the 45 beauties to wear in a three-scene single sequence of the Sandra Dee-Bobby Darin-Donald O'Connor romantic comedy in Technicolor, "That Funny Feeling," coming Sunday to the Ritz Theatre.

It is the point in the story where Sandra has found bachelor Bobby's little black book of girls—photographic model types in New York City—and invites them all to a surprise party for Bobby and to come dressed as their idea of girls of the Paris boulevards.

To accomplish this, there had to be (among other things) the beautiful girls, and the costumes. Both were found to be in short supply.

Director Richard Thorpe interviewed more than 100 young ladies, before he found the 45 of requisite talent, beauty and provocative sexiness. They included 14 capable of reading lines or ad libbing, and 31 atmosphere beauties.

Meanwhile Grady Hunt, costume designer for all the ladies in the picture with the exception of Sandra Dee, whose wardrobe was done for her by Jean Louis, bought 15 colorful dresses at a shop in Los Angeles which supplies originals for Nevada showgirls. The other 30 had to be made by the studio wardrobe shop.

The dresses are widely varied in color and design. They run to above-the-knee hemlines, to deep skirt slits, to low, low décolletés, to beads, feathers, rhinestones, sequins, flowers, fringes, furs and tassels; to such vivid colors as pinks, reds, purples, blues, oranges, yellows and, for contrast, blacks and whites. But no greens; Sandra plays the sequence in a chiffon sheath of Kelly green, and, after all, she is the leading lady and entitled to an exclusive.

To get the 10 minutes on the screen, the 45 girls worked one eight-hour day indoors, and one eight-hour night outdoors. Which is about par for the course.

Meg's Former Beau Marries

LONDON (AP) — Billy Wallace, 37, sometime boy friend of Princess Margaret — was married Friday to Elizabeth Hoyer Millar.

The dark-haired and dark-eyed bride, 32, is the daughter of Lord and Lady Inchyra.

Wallace's mother is Mrs. Herbert Agar, wife of American historian Herbert Agar, a Pulitzer Prize winner and former editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. His father, her first husband, was the late Capt. Evan Wallace, a former minister of transport.

Billy's marriage, which took place in St. Peter's Parish Church near the Agars' country home, Beechwood, removed the last bachelor from what was once known as the Princess Margaret set.

Rock, Folk Music Have Common Tie

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newfeatures Writer

The popularity of rock 'n' roll and the popularity of folk music have at least one common reason for being, in the opinion of cosmopolitan folk singer Theodore Bikel.

"People hanker after a do-it-yourself medium to get away from the electronic age we're living in," he says. "A nation can't exist that way, just listening to radios and phonographs and watching TV. The more mechanically minded we get the more there will be this counter-balance — do it yourself, sing it yourself, play it yourself."

In folk music, Bikel says, a lot of people bought guitars and others learned the folk songs and sang them around the house.

"The next step is inevitable. For argument's sake, say 15 million kids want to go along with the do-it-yourself thing but only one million of the 15 is equipped to play an instrument.

"The next thing is that you let a group of four or five kids blast away at the sound threshold of endurance. The rest of the kids participate but they do it physically, with the body. It is not strictly speaking a dance. The music is not music to dance by and the dance is not a dance; they are kind of welded together, with everybody taking part."

Just recently, the streams of rock and folk have converged — at least to the extent that some of today's popular songs with a rock beat have the kind of "message" or protest lyrics of folk songs written about the Depression and, lately, about civil rights and the horrors of war.

"The heroes of folk-rock have something to say, not just empty love talk. Bob Dylan has a great deal to say.

"With the previous rock 'n' roll stars, it was immaterial what the words were. The only thing that counted was the beat. For once the words count — while I grant you, you can't understand a word Bob Dylan says."

"It was at the 1964 Newport Folk Festival when I first heard 'Mr. Tambourine Man.' Somebody came up to me and said, 'Isn't that a great song?' I said, 'What does it mean?' 'I don't know, but it is a great song.' The man was right. It conjures up images — different images for your mind than it does for mine. The listener makes up his own mind and the compulsion is in the words and word pictures. 'It's a radical departure from what rock 'n' roll had meant; it's a great overlapping thing with folk music.'"

Bikel cites a reason for America's young people, who like the rock sound, at the same time accepting "message" lyrics: "Dylan and his followers strike another responsive chord. It is a kind of forlornness that youth finds itself in all over the Western World — a feeling that there is an unbreachable gulf between them and the older generation. It is always that way, but truer now than it ever was before.

"They firmly believe, and perhaps with justification, that we handed them a world that presents them with an almost immediate constant threat of annihilation. We have not given them any guidelines of how to live with such a rotten world or how to cope with it or how to function other than ostrich-wise — let's have a big orgy before we all go down."

"This is the prevailing feeling and Bobby Dylan is their spokesman. His is that agony and that cry in the night that says, 'What have they done to the rain?' — which is a song that he wrote." Bikel was born in Vienna 41 years ago, educated in Israel and fluent in seven languages. He came to the U. S. in 1954 and has been a citizen since 1961.

Just now he is making a comedy movie, "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," in which he plays a Russian. After it is finished, he will start a tour of folk-song concerts. In the spring, he will either do a Broadway play or go on a round-the-world concert tour.

Bikel has appeared in some 20 movies, starting with "The African Queen" and including "My Fair Lady" and five Broadway shows, the last opposite Mary Martin in "The Sound of Music."

Abe Lincoln Depicted On New Stamp Issue

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newfeatures Writer

Abraham Lincoln, whose face has been depicted on many U.S. stamps, will replace himself on a new issue. The first in the new "Prominent American" series of regular stamps will bear a portrait of the former President and will replace the familiar 4-cent lavender Lincoln stamp which has been in use since 1954. The new 4-cent stamp is black and white.

It is postal policy to redesign regular stamps (noncommemoratives) about every 10 years. In the next several years the series of 18 new regular stamps will be issued in denominations ranging from 1 cent to 45.

The design of the new Lincoln stamp is by Bill Hyde of San Francisco. He based the portrait on a Mathew Brady photograph of a Lincoln profile. In the background is the side of a log cabin and on the top log is a crude carving of the word "Lincoln."

The stamp will be issued with first day ceremonies Nov. 19 in New York during the American Stamp Dealers Association show.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations should send envelopes addressed "First Day Covers Lincoln Stamp," Postmaster, New York 10001. It must be postmarked no later than Nov. 19.

Since first-day covers are considered first class mail, collectors must allow for the 5-cent rate in submitting their orders. A one-cent stamp will be affixed by the New York Post Office; or collectors may affix their own additional postage to the envelopes, leaving the necessary space in the upper right hand corner for the new 4-cent Lincoln stamp.

Australia has just issued its annual Christmas postage stamp. The 5 pence stamp in blue, brown, black and gold depicts a nativity scene. Norfolk Island at the same time announced its issuance of the same Christmas stamp in the same colors. It is not an overprint but the same stamp with the words "Norfolk Island" at the bottom instead of "Australia."

Youth Is Target Of New Musical, 'Beach Ball'

The latest entry into the musical motion picture shake-ups is "Beach Ball," which opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre. This flick captures the pulse of a singing and dancing generation, and fills the screen with some of the most popular vocal and music-making groups in the country—the Supremes, the Righteous Brothers, the Four Seasons, the Hondells and the Walker Brothers.

Starring Edd Byrnes, Chris Noel and Robert Logan, "Beach Ball" is filled with girls. Filmed in Technicolor, producer Bart Patton and director Lennie Weinrib have made the screen alive with song and dance that mirrors the active teen set. The Supremes, a talented set of female vocalists, are the queens of the bestselling record charts. In addition to their appearance in the film, they introduce and sing the title song, "Beach Ball."

Edd Byrnes, the handsome, young actor who has made a successful impact on television and the movie world with his creation of "Kookie" of "77 Sunset Strip" fame. Now he adds his talents to a film that is as wild as anything he's ever done.

Multiple talents and an active outlook guides the film as well as its sharply-shaped female lead. Chris Noel, like many of her youthful contemporaries, is a serious student of dance. Chris, who has a few twist trophies and a frugue or two to illustrate her point, attends regular weekly classes in modern jazz dancing and is a serious devotee of the ballet.

The third youthful star of "Beach Ball" is Robert Logan. A native of Brooklyn, Logan has the natural looks and talent that's a winning screen combination. With professional acting quality and enthusiasm, he adds merriment to the film.

The character and accent of "Beach Ball" is obviously on youth, music and song. There are skin diving scenes, drag racing competitions and sky-diving shots.

Horror Films Still Box Office Winner

Box office results, the truest popularity index of any motion picture, prove over the years from the first days of the silent movies that horror and suspense films are America's favorite entertainment.

Among the very first "moving pictures" were the popular serials which specialized in terrifying trials of beautiful maidens and the horrors of the clutching hand to make youngsters shiver and shudder and grownups quiver and quake.

It's a far cry from those contrived serial terror thrillers to modern thrillers as "Poe's Tales of Terror," starring Vincent Price, Peter Lorre, and Basil Rathbone. It is the late show Saturday at the Ritz.

This color and Panavision trilogy of Edgar Allan Poe terror stories features Hollywood's finest dramatic actors and newest techniques; but the appeal is the same—the lure of the ghost story, the fairy and the goblin tales to provide shivery imagination without the after-shock of real fear.

While their appeal is the same, "Poe's Tales of Terror" and other modern fright films have come a long way in technique and production from the early serial hair-raisers. Sound added the first new dimension of terror, then photographic innovations, realistic sets, and other modern developments have added further dimensions to entertainment thrills.

Another important contribution to heightening the effect of such thrillers was the many new makeup techniques developed through the long and successful history of horror films. Lon Chaney, known as the master of grotesque makeup, achieved historical gruesomeness effects in "Murders of the Rue Morgue," one of the first of Poe's stories to be filmed, and in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." An important milestone in horror films, and a new spur to their popularity, came when Boris Karloff captured movie fans' imagination with his Frankenstein monster and started a whole sequence of gruesome creature films.

Then Bela Lugosi revealed his nightmarish creation of Count Dracula to add the blood-sucking vampire to Hollywood's thrill and chill roster.

In the more modern vein was Peter Lorre's unforgettable madman in "M" and a long list of his subsequent terror portrayals, plus the many memorable menace roles so ably enacted by Basil Rathbone through the years.

Current king of horror films is the suave and sophisticated Vincent Price, who first became a box office name with his performances in "The House of Wax" and "The Fly." Price now is riding on the crest of his terror career with starring roles in filmizations of Edgar Allan Poe's "House of Usher" and "The Pit and the Pendulum" and now stars in "Poe's Tales of Terror," along with Lorre and Rathbone.

One thing is sure about horror thrillers: they came with the very beginning of motion pictures; they have maintained their popularity undiminished through the years; they still are tops at the box office; and they will be with us as favorite entertainment of the American public for many years to come.

MEN IN SERVICE

Seaman James J. Rickabaugh, U.S.N., son of Homer M. Rickabaugh, Big Spring graduated Sept. 24 from the Data System Technician Class "A" School at U.S. Naval Schools Command, Mare Island, Vallejo, Calif. The ten-week course of instruction covered the principles of automatic date processing and included the operation of digital computers. Preceding this course, he spent 28 weeks studying the principles of electronics.

T. Sgt. Jackson L. Buckle, son of Mrs. Jane Buckle of 3703 Connally, Big Spring, has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Lindsey Air Station, Germany. Sgt. Buckle received the medal for meritorious service as a radio equipment technician at Tan Son Nhut Airfield, Viet Nam.

The sergeant is now assigned to Lindsey as a member of the Air Force Communications Service which maintains and operates a global system of air traffic control, navigation aids and communication for USAF.

Marine Pvt. Thomas R. Sweden, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Sweden, 2806 Apache, Big Spring, completed four weeks of individual combat training Oct. 15 with the 2nd Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. The 20-day course included over 200 hours of rigorous instruction in small unit tactics night combat, firing weapons under simulated combat conditions and other subjects related to the Marine infantrymen.

THOMAS SWEDEN

Admire Trophy

Capt. R. T. Dixon Jr. and his wife, the former Janet F. Thorburn, Big Spring, admire the prized Mackay Trophy at Pope AFB, N.C. The captain participated in the mission which earned his Tactical Air Command wing the award for the most meritorious flight by the U.S. Air Force in 1964.

Capt. Cleveland L. Puckette II has been reassigned to England AFB, La. following his recent graduation from the University of Michigan.

Capt. Puckette received his masters degree in mechanical engineering at the university under the Air Force Institute of Technology program which provides Air Force members with resident training in scientific, engineering and other fields at civilian institutions and industrial organizations.

The captain, a pilot, is a member of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat reconnaissance, aerial firepower and assault airlift for U.S. Army forces.

A graduate of Adamson High School, he received his B.S. degree at the U.S. Naval Academy, where he was commissioned in 1958.

Capt. Puckette's wife, Nancy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith, 712 Dallas, Big Spring.

Aviation Ordnanceman Airman Apprentice Robert N. Sartain, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar T. Tate, 1203 Stanford, Big Spring, participated in First Fleet Training exercise "Ragweed," while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk. The seven-day exercise, conducted off the coast of Southern California, involved 34 ships of the First Fleet and several naval air and amphibious units, comprising "friendly forces" in aerial reconnaissance, surface anti-submarine, anti-air and amphibious warfare operations against "enemy" air, ground, surface and sub-surface forces, portrayed by other Navy units, to increase the combat readiness of the First Fleet.

Midshipman I.C. Don S. Puckett, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Puckett, 2604 Apache, Big Spring, has been selected by the superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy as a Midshipman Lieutenant Junior Grade to serve as the Platoon Leader of the 23rd Company for the Fall Set of 1965. He will serve in this capacity until the Winter Set is selected in late November.

He is one of the Midshipmen First Class selected for a top position in the Brigade of Midshipmen. He was selected on the basis of his academic standing and conduct.

A Miami, Okla., pilot has helped his Tactical Air Command (TAC) wing at Pope AFB, N.C., win one of the aviation's top awards, the coveted Mackay Trophy.

Capt. R. T. Dixon Jr. was a member of the C-130 Hercules aircrews from the 464th Troop Carrier Wing which airlifted Belgian paratroopers into the Republic of Congo last fall. The humanitarian mission, which started the dramatic rescue of more than 1,500 hostages and refugees, was selected by Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John P. McConnell as the most meritorious flight by the Air Force last year.

Capt. Dixon is a member of the TAC force which supports U.S. Army troops with air strikes, aerial delivery of personnel and equipment, and other combat airpower.

His wife, Janet, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thorburn, Big Spring.

William R. Gordon has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force. He is a freight traffic specialist at Irkutsk Air Station, Crete.

The sergeant attended Cathedral High School. His wife, Kay, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Myrick, 309 NW 10th, Big Spring.

Juan Campos, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Campos, Colorado City, was promoted to sergeant first class Oct. 11 in Germany where he is serving with the 85th Maintenance Battalion.

Sgt. Campos, an ordnance equipment repair advisor in the battalion's Headquarters and Company A near Hanau, entered the Army in 1945 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in January 1961. His wife, Inge, is with him in Germany.

Walter P. Hearin, son of Mrs. Virginia R. Neff, Colorado City, has been promoted to airman second class in the U.S. Air Force. Airman Hearin is a preventive medicine specialist at Sheppard AFB, Tex. He is a member of the Air Training Command which provides the flying, technical, and specialized education programs for the Air Force.

GARY C. CROWLEY

The airman, a graduate of Midland Senior High School, attended Texas A&M University. He also attended Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, during his off-duty hours.

Army Specialist Four Ronald D. Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Mitchell, Stanton, received the Good Conduct Medal Oct. 1 while assigned to the 36th Artillery in Germany.

Specialist Mitchell received the award for exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity as a soldier in active military service.

Mitchell, a member of Headquarters Battery, 1st Battalion, entered the Army in January 1961. He was last stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in December, 1964. The 21-year-old soldier attended Stanton High School.

Fireman Apprentice Dennis A. Heffington, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Heffington, 1412 W. 3rd, and Engineman Fireman Apprentice Terry L. Grisham, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Grisham, 1615 Harding, both of Big Spring, are participating in a U.S. First Fleet Training Exercise "Ragweed," while serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Yorktown. The seven-day exercise, being conducted off the coast of Southern California, involves 34 ships of the First Fleet and several naval air and amphibious units, comprising friendly forces, in aerial reconnaissance, surface, anti-submarine, anti-air and amphibious warfare operations against "enemy" air, ground, surface and sub-surface forces, portrayed by other Navy units, to increase the combat readiness of the First Fleet.

Lonnie W. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Lamesa, received an early promotion to Army pay grade private E-2 following successful completion of basic combat training at Fort Polk, La., Oct. 9.

Wilson was awarded the promotion two months earlier than is customary because of his proficiency in firing the M-14 rifle, his high score on the physical combat proficiency test and his military bearing and leadership capabilities. The early promotion program is the result of a new Department of the Army policy to recognize and provide incentive to outstanding trainees. The 20-year-old soldier attended Lamesa High School.

Bobby J. Holliman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Holliman, 210 Carey, has been promoted to petty officer, first class, and has received a letter of commendation from his Navy commanding officer.

manded Holliman Aug. 4 for his work in designing and building equipment for overhauling and servicing hydraulic brakes and brake systems in the station's hydraulic shop. The promotion followed shortly. Yeagle said Holliman is a standout worker, adept at getting ideas for improving his section.
