LARGE CROWD HEARS M'WHORTER

CANDIDATE FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY TALKS, WESTER MAKES ADDRESS

A crowd which packed the streets before the city hall last night heard County Attorney Owen McWhorter, candidate for the office of district attorney, speak on behalf of his candidacy. Very little of his talk was taken up with discussion of alleged demerits of his opponents, most of his time being devoted to telling what the qualifications of a man for this office should be, in defending his past record from attacks, and in pledging himself to uphold the law in the future if he should be elected to the higher office.

Mr. McWhorter was preceded on the stand by J. K. Wester, candidate for representative, who spoke in his own behalf and then introduced Mr. McWhorter.

SANTA FE BLAMES CAR SHORTAGE ON SHIPS; SAYS CAN'T UNLOAD FAST ENOUGH AT GALVESTON

Railroad traffic at this time is about twice what was one year ago, said R. F. Bayless, local agent, for the Santa Fe Railroad Company, during an interview Saturday morning. Some twenty trains are being operated out of Lubbock every day at the present, and once the cotton crop begins to move, additional trains will be needed.

Three oil trains from the Panhandle field pass through Lubbock each day, and the trains carry from 55 to 60 cars each. The average car has a capacity of 10,000 gallons or about 70,000 pounds. In other words 11,900,000 pounds of oil pass through Lubbock every 24 hours. The wheat crop is also moving at a very rapid rate. Something like 200 cars pass through Lubbock daily and were it possible to get cars this number would be greatly increased. Wheat cars carry about 90,000 pounds each and when it is figured that more than 180 cars pass through this city each day it will be seen that the South Plains wheat crop is one of considerable size.

Early in the season the Santa Fe stations more than 7,000 grain cars on the southern branch (South Plains) to care for the grain shipments, but this supply has long been exhausted and farmers are piling their wheat in fields. Most of the grain is being shipped to Galveston, and were it possible to unload the grain immediately upon its arrival there would be no car shortage. However, it is often necessary to wait for boats and thus the cars are tied up for days.

Traffic Heavy
Not only are grain and oil shipments heavy, but other commodities as well. Just at this time there are six local trains operating out of this city every day on branch lines; one train to Amarillo, one to Clovis and two go South.

HO'T, WHO WILL GRADE AND DRAIN ROAD, ARRIVES

READY TO WORK

WAITS ONLY COMPLETION OF RIGHT OF WAY GRANTS

Work on the Lubbock-Slaton highway will start just as soon as members of the right-of-way committee complete their work, said Engineer B. K. Garrett, Saturday. Mr. Holt, contractor is here and is ready to begin work any time.

The route has been slightly changed and it was necessary to get property owners to give land for the construction of the new road. Instead of sending people through "Little Africa" and the packing house district of Lubbock they will be routed out on the city on Ave. H. The new route leaving the court house on H, follows: Go two miles south on Ave. H, turn east and go to railroad. Here the old road is intersected. There will be a few minor changes in the road between this point and Slaton, and at points where the right-of-way is not 30 feet wide it will be widened. This is done in order to make it possible for Lubbock county to get state and federal aid. No road less than 80 feet wide is considered a first class highway.

In Lubbock a chamber of commerce committee has been working for several days, and the committee has about completed its work. In Slaton Commissioner Talley is working with a number of citizens and it is highly probable they will complete their work at an early date. Once this is done actual construction will begin, and work will be rushed until the job is completed.

BRADLEY SPEAKS NEXT SATURDAY

Dorwood H. Bradley, candidate for district attorney will speak in Lubbock Saturday evening, July 17th at 8:30 at a location to be announced later.

NEW JERSEY ARSENAL EXPLODES; FIFTY THOUGHT DEAD, HUNDREDS INJURED; TEXANS ARE MISSING

SHELLS SHRIEK OVER COUNTRY AS LIGHTNING FIRES MAGAZINES; TOWNS SHAKE FOR 25 TO 50 MILES AROUND

By J. F. Beaman
United Press Staff Correspondent

DOVER, N. J., July 11, (1 a. m.)—Forty seven marines who were at the Lake Denmark arsenal when it exploded tonight, still were unaccounted for at 1 a. m.

Libby Kirke J. of McGregor, Texas, Samuel Boggs, Hugo, Oklahoma, and Otto G. Siler, of Tulsa, were among the marines stationed at the arsenal.

DOVER, N. J., July 10.—Cracking out of the midst of heavy storm just after five o'clock today, lightning touched off the thousands of pounds of high explosives in the United States naval arsenal at Lake Denmark, seven miles from here. Estimates of the dead were placed at from 25 to fifty but there was no hope that even the highest figure might not be exceeded.

There was a clap of thunder and then a shock and a deafening roar. Magazine number 38 rolled up in flames and black smoke.

Another shock, another roar and more flame and smoke marked the destruction of a second magazine.

Men knocked to the ground by the first blast picked themselves up only to be knocked down again.

Shrapnel flies
Windows were broken miles away and towns in a 25-mile radius were shaken. Men, women and children, fled for their lives. Shrapnel and other shells hurtled through the air as magazine after magazine "let go" all through the evening.

How high the death toll will run cannot be estimated. The navy department at Washington listed 69 officers, enlisted men and marines at the station. With their wives and families, it was estimated that the population of the naval reservation was approximately 150.

Adjoining the naval station is the army arsenal, where probably a like number of men, with their families resided.

Thirty Escape
Approximately thirty escaped by crawling through the flying shrapnel and burning embers and the curtain of fire, to the shores of the lake or into the woods.

Twenty five fled in a motor truck to Newfoundland, N. J.

About 25 were treated in a Norristown, N. J., hospital, but they were largely from the army arsenal. Sixteen others were admitted to the Dover, N. J. general hospital. Fifty more were cared for at the American Legion headquarters at Dover.

Scores of others were treated at emergency stations nearer the scene of the explosion.

Hope Only 50 Dead
Considering those who scattered to the four points of the compass, and the scores who reported to have injuries, treated, at mid-night there was reason to believe that the death list would not exceed the estimate of from 25 to 50.

Four hours after the first explosion, the detonations continued, finally fading into the explosion of shrapnel which spat slugs in all directions at each burst.

A woman three miles away from the arsenal, was blown against a tree and severely injured.

So intense was the heat that late in the night no one had been able to approach nearer than half a mile from the arsenal.

Captain O. P. Dowling, commandant of the arsenal was found wandering around near the reservation four hours after the first explosion. His face and arms were badly burned. He was taken to a hospital.

Previously he had sent out the first call for assistance, had received emergency treatment for minor burns and had returned to direct the attempts to rescue.

LARGEST DEPOT

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, seven miles from Dover, N. J. which blew up tonight, was the largest storage depot of the United States navy.

The depot which covered 480 acres, was used as a storage place only. No assembling, breaking down or issuance of ammunition was done from there.

COOLIDGE TELLS A FISH STORY

PRESIDENT SWELLS UP WHEN REPORTERS DOUBT HIS WORD

SUMMER WHITE HOUSE, WHITE PINE CAMP, N. Y., July 10.—President Coolidge assumed a bored air when questioned today about the famous fish he caught in the waters of Lake Osgood Wednesday.

"I fail to see the importance of such an incident," his spokesman said bluntly.

But when he was pressed further, the president exhibited a trace of amused contempt for his critics who claimed that no 16 inch pickerel could possibly weigh three pounds, the weight announced by Secretary Sanders.

"I always thought it was considered good taste," the spokesman declared, "to believe the other man's fish story."

And there the matter dropped as far as the president was concerned. But not for other members of the party and guests of nearby resorts who have nothing to do all day but discuss the president's actions.

"He will never live that down," one old timer said. "He will never get any one to believe his fish stories hereafter. A man has just got to be modest when he starts out the season. Later on it doesn't make much difference."

The president fished again Friday. This time he neglected the troll line, with which the much debated fish was caught Wednesday for the fly rod. Standing on a bridge that overhangs and inlet into the lake, he cast for about an hour. Rumors were rife that he had landed another fish, but attaches made a complete denial.

"He never even got a bite," they said.

But Colonel William Starling, one of the secret service operatives, was either more adept or more lucky, for in a four hour fishing gig he netted 54 bass and pickerel. Some were served for luncheon for President and Mrs. Coolidge.

Will Raise Roman Galleys From Sea

ROME—Two galleys in which the orgies of the Caesars occurred, lying at the bottom of Lake Nemi, near here, are to be raised according to the plans of Mussolini.

The galleys are full of art treasure and were the scene of feasts with music and scantily clad dancing girls in the old days.

The Duce has ordered the Minister for Education, Pietro Fedele, to proceed with the scheme for the recovery of the vessels devised by Engineer Malfatti of the Civil Engineering service.

Minister Fedele has called together a commission consisting of Senator Corrado Ricci, Professor duino Colasanti, and Professor Roberto Farinone to represent the archeological side of the question, while Engineer Saladini of the Civil Engineers and Engineer Pugliese, director of the naval shipyard at Castellammare di Stabia, will direct the technical work of raising.

The bottom of the Lake of Nemi, which is an ancient crater, reaches a depth of 300 feet in parts. The two galleys which lie embedded in the mud in more than 100 feet of water are known to contain treasure in the way of ornamental bronzes, statuary, and utensils. Two handsome bronzes formerly taken from one of the ships are now in the Rome National Museum.

The project which has been decided upon consists in temporarily lowering the level of the water of the lake by the building of a conduit, which will carry it down into the plain and on to the sea.

This is possible, as Lake Nemi lies in the Alban hills at an elevation of several hundred feet.

The project, which when completed will make Nemi famous as a tourist and archeological center, will require at least two years for its execution, and will entail an expense of several million lire, not all of which has yet been provided for.

She also hurled the javelin 107 feet 6 inches to lead the qualifiers.

The girls of the Toronto Ladies Athletic Club equaled the world's records were broken and two equalling the distance in 51 seconds. Helen Filkey of Chicago broke the sixty yard hurdle record. Her time was 8-2-5 seconds. Ethel Brogh of Patterson, N. J., won a heat in the 220 yard dash in 27-4-5 seconds, equalling the American time made by Elizabeth Nelson of Los Angeles, May 15, 1925.

MY OPPONENT SAID W. C. Witcher

"Best Qualified Lawyer in District"

Firm of Levens & Bradley wrote Governor urging my appointment as District Attorney, and eulogized my ability, character, and patriotism. "Always leading in the fight for justice and common sense."

The Letter in Part Reads:

May 24th, 1925

Hon. James E. Ferguson, Austin, Texas

Dear Governor: A vacancy has been created in the office of District Attorney in this district by reason of the recent death of the Hon. Park N. Dalton, and of course appointment will have to be made by the Governor to fill the unexpired term, and presuming that the Governor relies largely upon your advice and council in such matters, we with scores of others in this district desire to submit the name of the Honorable W. C. Witcher of Lubbock, Texas, for your consideration for this appointment.

We feel quite sure that if the appointment was left to vote of the people of this district that Mr. Witcher would be chosen overwhelmingly, and we consider that there is not a lawyer in the district so well qualified for the position as Mr. Witcher, and we do that due to his splendid work in combating the Ku-Klux-Klan menace, and in your behalf, when the fighting was hard and success was doubtful, that he is entitled to this office

Mr. Witcher is a born fighter for the right and for the institution of our state, and when the fight is begun you will always see him leading and on the side of PLAIN JUSTICE and common sense, and we of this district need him in this official position, for the simple reason that we know and everyone else knows that we must fight the Klan again and not in the far distant future. We are already confronted with the proposition of so-called friends of your administration who begin by telling that you and the Governor are their personal friends and that they wished well but in the next breath reviling you for your pardoning policy, and distorting the facts surrounding each and every pardon granted by you, inflaming, or attempting to so inflame the minds of their listeners as to make them go out and spread the false reports among others, all of which is by orders of some Cyclops.

We earnestly request that you give Mr. Witcher due consideration in making this appointment and if you do see fit to give him the appointment, we assure you that the whole of the membership of the constitutional clubs throughout this district will consider it a personal favor.

Thanking you, we are,

Yours very truly, LEVENS & BRADLEY

When Bradley wanted me to have the office, I was abundantly qualified. "The best lawyer in the district" "Leading in the fight for common justice" "When the fight was hard and success doubtful" Now when he wants the office, I am not a lawyer, not patriotic. "Not leading the fight for common justice and common sense."

Bradley's tactics are sinister, small and repulsive to the enlightened and cultured. Unable to meet me on the platform, and wholly without experience in the criminal courts, he has chosen to do what all men do who are incapable of meeting issues with logic and reason.

The battering rams of hate have been turned against me only to rebound with disaster to those who sought to injure.

"Crucify him! Crucify him!" said the rabble to the Sage of Gallilee, but the cool and dispassionate men of that day and age, asked, "What evil hath he done?" His great sin was that he had "visited the sick and those who were in prison", had even condescended to "eat and drink with sinners". While in no manner comparing, or attempting to compare my own weak and frail life to that of the Great Exemplar of humanitarianism, I will confess that I have visited those who were in prison, and diligently sought to accord them that treatment prescribed by the sacred traditions of the fathers of this nation: I found them beaten and administered to them; sick and summoned physicians to relieve their sufferings, and for this I am damned, ostricised and slandered.

The cool and dispassionate men and women of this county are no longer deceived. They have heard me talk; they have heard the proof of all I said, and the only denial is the dying echo of the distressed and disappointed.

My official record has stood out amidst the flying shrapnel of political misrepresentation unscathed, untarnished, and unstained. On July 22nd, at 8:30, I shall again speak in Lubbock, and this is mainly due to the fact that hundreds of people who did not hear the first speech have urged this second meeting, in order that every citizen can have an opportunity of hearing the facts.

Walter C. Witcher

MODERN QUARTER FOR WORKING CLASSES TO BE CONSTRUCTED IN CROWDED NAPLES

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NAPLES, July 10.—What will be probably one of the biggest suburban developments in history will be undertaken in Naples, providing for the construction of 100,000 rooms, housing between 190,000 and 200,000 persons, a regular city in itself.

The contract for the construction of the new quarter or suburb which is on the Western side of Naples in the direction of Piedigrotta has been signed by Commendatore Castellani, High Commissioner for Naples and the building company.

Naples has long suffered from an acute overcrowding problem and the density of the population in the slum quarters is higher than in almost any other city in Europe.

The vast new quarter will be served by the recently opened Neapolitan subway line. Naples is at present the only city in Italy which possesses an underground rail road.

The workmen of Naples, at present crowded into unhealthy villas, will thus have easy and cheap access to the new suburb which is to be laid out with parks, gardens, playing grounds, public baths and all the accessories of an up-to-date city.

In addition to the large apartment houses for the accommodation of working men, provision will be made for the building of numerous villas and houses for well-to-do people. The broad streets, and avenues planted with trees will run through the new quarter, which possesses a magnificent view over the famous Bay of Naples.

The building company has pledged itself to complete the entire work of construction within four years, and

Manager Claims Davidson Victory

By United News
DALLAS, July 10.—That Lynch Davidson will lead the ticket in the July 24 primary by at least 50,000 votes, was the forecast made last night by Joe Hale, campaign manager for Davidson. Hale said Moody would be second with Mrs. Ferguson a poor third.

"We have just completed a tabulation based on recent reports from practically every county in the state and from these reports it is certain that the run-off will be between Davidson and Moody," Mr. Hale said. "The quiet thinking element is for Davidson, and these voters are the class that elects governors in this state."

Out of a total vote of 700,000 it is claimed by Hale that Lynch Davidson will receive 290,700 votes, Dan Moody, 239,200 votes, and Mrs. Ferguson 142,300 votes, and the other candidates will receive the remaining 25,000 votes.

LIFE OF RUSSIAN GIRLS IN CHINESE CAFES BECOMING STEADILY MORE DISCOURAGING

By United Press
SHANGHAI, China, July 10.—The plight of the Russian cabaret girl in the night palaces of pleasure in Shanghai is becoming nightly more discouraging.

That the girls desire such a life cannot be said for a moment. They are "up against it" in the strongest sense of the word. They must eat. They must sleep. They must have clothes. But what they really want is a husband, some one who will care for them, marry them and take them to America or Europe.

If he will not marry, well, "Nietzsche," the Russian, for nothing (technically speaking) or Kismet. They will follow him to the end of the world as long as he is good to them, and is willing to take them. Sometimes they follow on the next boat, if he has deserted them.

Their life is an existence of pleasureless pain. They must dance for the commission they obtain. The gentleman in the resort, spends 50 cents for a dance ticket, double prices for drinks, and some times when too exuberant a handsome price for cheap champagne. The girl gets 20 or 25 cents for each dance ticket, 10 cents for a small drink, $1 and $2 commission on small and large bottles of "vin."

Such as she detests the cheap booze she must drink it to coax another bottle from her victim. If she drinks too much, she retires to revive herself with a drop of drug or anti-drink medicine.

Girls of five years experience, now faded and worn, are no longer looked upon by owners as the best attraction for the place. There must be new blood and new faces. The older girl now finds herself on out of the way streets, sometimes in public parks, one of which is only too close to the quiet-looking river. Tombstones mark the graves of some. Some are never found.

U. S. To Aid Fight On Forest Fires

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Thirty-three States will receive Federal funds to be spent in preventing forest fires on State and privately-owned land, according to an announcement made today by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

The amount to be distributed totals $607,670 and becomes available on July 12. Minnesota, Michigan, North Carolina, Maine, Alabama, Washington, Oregon, California, Pennsylvania, New York, Texas, Virginia, Louisiana, Idaho and Wisconsin are among the States receiving more than $20,000 each.

Other States included in the apportionments are Tennessee, Mississippi, Montana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Kentucky, Georgia, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, New Jersey, Missouri, Vermont, Maryland, Connecticut, Ohio, New Mexico, Rhode Island and South Dakota.

This distribution of Federal funds is made under authority of the Clarke-McNary Forestry Act to those States which maintain forest protection agencies. Total expenditures by these States, including money contributed by landowners, amount to about $3,500,000 a year. However, adequately to protect the 350,000,000 acres of forest land, exclusive of the National Forests, located in these 33 States would require about $9,000,000 per annum, or less than three cents an acre, say forestry officials. Thus the funds, both State and Federal, available for adequate protection of State and privately-owned forest land equal about one-third of the estimated cost.

The Department of Agriculture also announces that $35,000 will be spent during the fiscal year beginning July 1 for conducting forest taxation studies. This sum is likewise authorized by the Clarke-McNary Act.

HISTORIC LANDMARKS

America is such a new country, comparatively, that we have not yet given the serious thought to the preservation of historic landmarks as have other countries of the world. We are living so much in the present that we give no thought whatever to the past and but little to the future. And yet how precious are these historic shrines that we so carelessly destroy and mutilate and ignore, day by day! They typify the great deeds of our own country, they crystallize a reverence for these deeds, for the circumstances that combined to make this a free nation, endowed with a liberty that has carried it to the forefront of nations. Thus it is a peculiar satisfaction that we see plans actually coming to fruition in the establishing of a great historic landmark in New York state, commemorating the defeat of the British General Burgoyne, in the Revolutionary war one of the few really decisive battles ever fought in the Western Hemisphere. In New York state, if the present plans are followed out, the whole route of Burgoyne's invasion through Saratoga, Bennington and Oriskany will be laid out and properly marked and preserved for future generations. At present this shrine, one of the most glorious in American history, suffers the same fate as the majority of the historic spots, it is practically unmarked and the rehabilitation of the area will be made possible chiefly through the efforts and patriotism of the residents of Schuylerville and vicinity, who have carefully collected and preserved priceless relics of the American Revolution which were left on these fields. Congress will be asked to appropriate $100,000, to supplement an appropriation of $140,000 made by the state of New York and with which much preliminary work is being done. This is a worthy cause for the appropriation of public money for in the preservation and identification of scenes of historic value we stress the heroic chapters of the history of our country and intensify the patriotic pride of every citizen.

BOOKS AND PARKS

The children's department of the public library in a certain city has adopted a new method of interesting young people in books. It has inaugurated a "caravan of characters," a truck decorated with posters about books and laden with books of special charm to children. A story-teller accompanies truck and books to park or playground, conducts a story hour wherever the caravan stops and a crowd of children assemble, and then dispenses books just as the library ordinarily does. All the old, familiar friends such as "Robinson Crusoe", "Alice in Wonderland" and "The Three Musketeers", will be among those present in the literary car. It seems a pleasing plan. Quiet hour in a public park is quite fitting after other hours of romping. To introduce children to the enchanted world of books is a worthy work, and to do so in a park in the summer time when there are no school tasks seems particularly happy. It should be productive of much delving into library treasures when the outdoors is a little less alluring.

BANK SAVINGS-INSURANCE

A number of banks now offer savings-insurance opportunities which are as simple as the Christmas Savings clubs in operation. Under the insurance plan the patron deposits a certain weekly amount in the savings department of the bank. For example, $2.10 a week, or $8.40 a month, would build up and protect a 10-year $1,000 savings account with an insurance policy of the same amount for any depositor between the ages of 15 and 20 years. The plan is extended to depositors up to 37 years of age for an additional 10 cents a week. This means that a savings account in the bank is at the same time an insurance policy. At the end of the specified period the patron has a savings accumulation of a definite amount and an insurance policy of that sum, plus the dividends on his policy. If he dies before the expiration of the period, his beneficiaries get the full amount of the insurance, plus the savings accumulated up to that time. The permanent disability and double indemnity features of many insurance policies may be had in connection with this savings-insurance arrangement. Of course, the usual health requirements must be met as in any life insurance. The adoption of this plan by banks indicates that a lesson has been learned from the Christian Thrift Club. The banks have learned the profitableness of regular, small depositors. And the wage-earning public has learned the value of regular, weekly savings with a definite purpose, and of life insurance.

THE VILLAGE IDIOT

Inhabitants of a small town in France used cider to save burning buildings after the water supply gave out. This is interesting as a happening a bit out of the way. Just as interesting, and more important, is the fact that "the conflagration was started by a village idiot who set alight several buildings." The "village idiot" seems to be taken for granted, every village having one, and some villages having more than their share. Over here a great and powerful state has dallied with the problem of housing its feeble-minded until they are increasing at a rate far greater than that of the tax-payers who must support them. The detention home in one of the cities, intended merely as a place where delinquent girls might be held while their cases were being investigated, in order to keep them from the horrors of the county jail, has been housing six girls for months, awaiting a place for them. Four are of such low mentality they are not fit for private homes. According to a probation officer, they are turning away imbeciles every week for lack of a place to house them. Whether states have a moral right to sterilize the unfit is a question not easily decided. But that a community has a right to segregate its unfit seems unquestionable. Where the unfit are segregated, however, it must be under circumstances of proper cleanliness, decency and human treatment. That much is due every human being, no matter what his status. Unless segregated, the "village idiot," is always a menace. When he is not setting costly fires, he is doing something else as unfortunate for the community.

SELF-SUPPORTING STUDENTS

A survey of the self-supporting student situation at Yale University has provided some interesting material. Students working their way through Yale number 35 percent of the student body, but they took 45 percent of the honors and prizes and in some courses 80 percent of the honors. Seven of the 13 senior honors were taken by self-supporting students. Three out of five working students were graduated with highest honors from the Sheffield Scientific School. These facts would seem to indicate either that it is an advantage, rather than a disadvantage, to work one's way through college, or that those who lack means have a compensating share of brains, that they really indicate is that the student desiring education enough to work for it takes his college work more seriously, puts more into it and gets more out of it, and is, therefore, from an educational standpoint, a greater credit to his college and to himself.

MOTOR DEATHS

The total fatalities caused by motor accidents in 78 of the largest cities of the United States reached 549 in the four week period from May 19 to June 17. Last year the number was 493, so there was a good-sized gain. In some cities, however, where very strong efforts have been made to reduce accidents, the totals have dropped. In Cleveland, for instance, there were 15 automobile deaths in the period as compared with 18 a year ago. Such percentages must be considered also, in relation to the growth in number of automobiles on the streets. A great many accidents come from the inexperienced driver and his over-packed car. The driver who has been at it a good while and understands the hazards of traffic never fills his car to the brim with chattering joy-riders. He allows plenty of room for manipulating his own gears, and he demands silence on the part of his passengers at points where there are special difficulties.

Humans, according to prominent scientists, face a death struggle with insects in which the chances for survival are with the insects. Man has inhabited the earth only 300,000 years while insects have existed upon it for 30,000,000 years and are therefore infinitely better equipped. The rapid rate of increase of insects above that of the human race brings the day ever more imminent when life may develop into a struggle for the mastery of the earth. Insects in this country already continually nullify the labor of 1,000,000 men. Man, however, is in general unaware of this pending catastrophe or treats it as a joke. There is no excuse, however, for paving the way for such a result by neglecting the war against insects and failing to prosecute it with full vigor.

HOSPITAL ROBBERS

One of the attempted robberies most difficult to understand was that of the Metropolitan Art Museum. The thieves got away with a $75,000 rug, and were scared off in time to prevent their taking a famous bust and some other valuables. Granted the value of these unique possessions, when they got them what could they do with them? It would seem to the average on-looker much harder to extract any reasonable amount of money from such marked loot without amount in any legalized gainful occupation, street sweeping, for example. But the meanest robbery on record was performed by the bandits who robbed the Theodore Roosevelt hospital payroll. They got some $11,000, but the plucky telephone girls, who managed to plug in her switch board after the bandits had unplugged it, and who called the police in a whisper just before they unplugged it again, saved an even larger amount. Such criminals may be sane, but they certainly do lack imagination. Have they no conception of what it means to be suffering and in need of care? They may say with bravado that they are not interested in what becomes of their victims. Yet run down by automobiles they would doubtless be first to demand every attention the hospital could give. There may seem to some youths an adventurous glamour about a life of crime. But there is no romance about robbing the sick. A little less sympathy with criminals and a little more with victims of crime would seem to be called for.

Events in the Lives of Little Men

So Think We

We think it wonderfully nice of people to remember the editor's desk with nice fresh flowers so often. We cherish the friendship of people who hand us flowers while we can enjoy their beauty and fragrance. When the cover is clamped down, and the clods bounce on top of the box is too late, and we hope if any are offered at our funeral that they will be speedily transferred to the bedside of some one convalescent, in a hospital or a home.

We think there is one good thing about money. It does all of its talking as it leaves and not as it arrives.

We think that the scientists are all up in the air. They predicted no summer weather at all this year, and then the hottest weather in the history of the country, reveals the fact that they just did not know anything about it.

We think that while some folks have no sense of humor at all, quite a number seem to have a sense of very dry humor.

We think that the fellows with the spring suits often regret opening milk bottles with their thumb.

We think one of the surest ways of being happy and always having something to look forward to is to live off last month's income instead of next month's.

We think that the most of pleasure comes from the things that we do not plan too far ahead.

We think if the political ring over in the court house lawn was broken up there might be more harmony in politics. A few fellows spend three fourths of their time over there and the balance of the time aching about hard times and denying his debts.

We think if another craze does not start pretty soon this is going to become a very dull place to live in. Cross word puzzles wore out and so did Mah Jongg. Some freak should start something. Even Charleston is getting stale and short skirts are wearing out, and bobbed hair is getting common.

We think when there is a difference of opinion, either side might be wrong.

We think there is one difference in the mothers of fifty years ago and the mothers of today. They knew more about raising their children than they did about raising their partner's bid.

Whatever troubles Adam had, And he must have had a lot, Collars didn't choke his neck, When the weather was as hot.

We think that Joseph Weldon Bailey doesn't care a rap who is governor just so it does not get out of his class of folks. He would like to see Barry Miller governor some day, and if the Fergusons are put out he doesn't think Barry will have a chance at the throne for many years to come.

We think it is not hard to become a chronic knocker, but don't do it.

We think that prohibition has not failed. It is the people that have hold of it that have failed.

It Is Reported

That a large number of Lubbock people are away on their summer vacation, and that is possibly the reason that the weeds in some of the front and back yards of Lubbock homes are so tall.

That pedestrians in California can stop traffic by merely raising a hand, but a poker player once told us that it was understood that by raising a hand in a game some times stopped a game and some times it resulted disastrously.

That all of the candidates are urged to meet at Idalou Saturday, July 17th, and talk it over with the voters. Idalou will no doubt be the center of political activity at that time, and many will be the promises, put out on that date.

That married men live longer than single men. One fellow who possibly is not altogether satisfied with his lot, says in all probability it just seems longer.

That several newspapers and magazines have recently been barred from the mails on account of indecent and obscene language. Why not censor some of the flivvers while we are at it.

That the candidates will be pretty busy for the next few days telling the voters why their opponent should not be elected, even though they can possibly give no valid reason why they should be elected.

That several caddies of battle were "chawed" and spit out on the side walks yesterday as many of the problems of the farm and the city administration and the general political situation was attempted to be clarified.

That Lubbock people who pay insurance premiums could save several thousands dollars monthly if the city dads would only put another fire station in the west part of the city to better serve the people of that part of town. We think this might well be considered as one of the important things of the city.

That the Mexican folks are in need of better school facilities, and we hope the board will be in position to give them a better school building at an early date.

WORLD TOPICS

THE OTHER SIDE

Perhaps the greatest bar to the acquirement of real knowledge is the refusal of the average person to look upon "the other side" of a question, particularly one which involves a new idea. We form certain notions regarding people and things, and having done so we seek for arguments to back up these notions. We have more concern that we shall vindicate our own ideas than that we shall arrive at the truth about them. Thus we build a Chinese wall about our own intellects and thereby offend not only the real truth, or at least an important part of it. For this reason every new idea, however beneficial, that arises in the world literally has to fight for its life. It was hard to convince people that the earth is a sphere, that the blood circulates, that vaccination prevents smallpox, that yellow fever is only communicated by mosquitoes. These and innumerable other facts now accepted by all civilized people were bitterly combated by the ignorant, superstitious and narrow-minded majority. It would seem that in the light of the world's advancement in knowledge men would be willing to study both sides or all sides, of every important question, yet few of them do. Hence millions live and die in appalling ignorance, through their own deliberate choice.

There may be such a thing, but we have never encountered an umbrella large enough for two people.

Texas State Board of Health

Swimming Pool Regulations
AUSTIN, July 10.—Following the general recommendations made by the committee on bathing places, appointed by State Sanitary Engineers and the American Public Health Association, the State Board of Health has formulated advisory regulations governing the construction and maintenance of swimming pools as follows:

The pool should be well lighted, and interior surface should be perfectly smooth and without crevices to shelter disease germs.
Pool should be surrounded by overhead trough and walks around pool should be drained so that water will not flow from them into pool.
Unless there is a constantly flowing stream of safe, clear, fresh water, this condition should be approximated by filtration, refiltration and disinfection.
Where treatment of water is needed, filtration alone should not be relied upon to maintain the purity of the pool. There should also be disinfection by hypochlorite of lime, chlorine gas, ultra violet rays, ozone, or other suitable methods.

There should be strict supervision of bathers, and periodical medical examination where practicable.
It is preferable that bathing suits be made of white lintless material, and should be sterilized by the establishment.
There should be one or more attendants proficient in swimming and life saving always on duty while the pool is in use, and at other times, access to the pool should be prevented.
The water in any swimming pool should not be artificially heated to a temperature above 72 degrees F., and the temperature of the air should not become more than 8 degrees F. warmer nor more than 2 degrees F. colder than water in pool.

Standards for Bathing
Standards prescribed by the State Board of Health for bathers using public swimming pools are:

No person suffering from fever, cold, cough, inflamed eyes, sores, or skin disease, shall be permitted to use pool.
No person suffering from any communicable disease shall be permitted to use pool.
Before entering the pool, all persons shall use shower baths, including the use of soap.
All bathing suits, caps and towels must be properly sterilized before use in the pool.
Spitting in the pool, runways, aisles, or dressing rooms is expressly forbidden.
The use of public combs, brushes, or drinking cups, shall not be permitted.
Bathers who go outside bath-houses or enclosures, shall use foot bath and shower before re-entering the pool.
Persons not dressed for bathing shall not be allowed on walks surrounding the pool and bathers should not be allowed in space reserved for spectators.
Throwing into the pool any object or substance that may endanger the safety of the bathers, or contaminate the pool in any way, is prohibited.
Eating or smoking within the plunging enclosure shall be prohibited.

DICK.
Dick played ball in th early days, And Dick played ball to the end, Cheering another's brilliant plays, Always a loyal friend.
Dick used to fumble them now and then, Ball players often do; And when fumbles came to his fellow men The hurt of it all he knew.
But Dick played ball, and he dug right in, Never serving a selfish plan;

Dick wanted the team he loved it win, And that is the proof of a man.
Never a selfish fight he fought, Till he answered the final call; Dick gave his strength and he gave his thought, To the greater good of us all.
Now his life is closed, and we speak his praise, And mourn for a loyal friend, Dick played ball in the early days, And Dick played ball to the end.

HUBBERS DEFEAT POST NINE SATURDAY BY SCORE OF 3 TO 1

HUBSPETH AND McCORKLE HOLD OPPONENTS TO FIVE SCATTERED HITS: PLAY AGAIN THIS AFTERNOON

In a neat pitcher's duel between "Stingy" Hubspeth and McCorkle, of the Post aggregation, both let their opposin clubs down for 5 hits; however the hits secured by the Hubbers covered a bit more ground than did the catchers were gotten by the visitors off of Hubspeth. One home run was registered by Hamilton on the Hubbers in the third session when he pulled a long and hard fly to right field which bounced over the right field fence; this was the first count made by the Hubbers.

The visitors scored their first score in the fourth by a single from the stick of "Hog Eye" Sloan to centerfield, this was followed by a double at the hands of Cherry, the flashy center gardener, which scored Sloan.

"Stingy" was no doubt the ruler of the day at the mound by striking eight wiff outs on the visitors to McCorkle, the visiting hurler's two.

Both clubs will engage themselves in a battle this afternoon at the Merril Park starting at 3:30 o'clock. Many of the Post fans are expected to attend this afternoon's contest.

First Inning
Post—Foster struck out; Sloan singled to centerfield; Cherry advanced Sloan to second base on a fielder's choice, but was out Hubspeth to Quatt; Gibson flew out to Jackson. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Lubbock—Jackson grounded out Stevens to Gibson; Sheppard flew out to Foster. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Post—Floyd flew out to Connolly; Stevens grounded out Lassiter to Quatt; Myers grounded out to Quatt. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Post—R. Hubspeth grounded out Hubspeth to Quatt; McCorkle was called out on strikes; Foster popped out to Gibson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Lubbock—Hamilton hit a hard and high fly which bounced over right field fence for home run; Lassiter was called out on a strike; Hubspeth flew out to Cherry; Jackson flew out to Foster. One run, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Post—Sloan singled to center field; Cherry doubled to right center field scoring Sloan; Gibson flew out to Anderson; Floyd advanced Cherry to third and was out to Hubspeth to Quatt; Stevens popped out to Quatt. One run, two hits, no errors.

Lubbock—Sheppard flew out to Cherry; Anderson grounded out to Sloan to Gibson; Connolly grounded out to McCorkle to Gibson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Post—Myers called out on strike; R. Hubspeth grounded to F. Hubspeth who threw the ball wild to Quatt and R. Hubspeth took second base; McCorkle called out on strike; Foster called out on strike. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Lubbock—Quatt flew out to Cherry; Gathier tripled to center field; Hamilton grounded to Sloan who threw the ball wild to Gibson; Lassiter struck out; Hamilton went to second; Hubspeth hit a liner to center field which apparently was far too bases but with the brilliant fielding of Cherry the ball was caught. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Inning
Post—Sloan popped out to Hamilton; Cherry struck out Gibson grounded out to Sheppard to Quatt. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Lubbock—Jackson doubled to left; Sheppard doubled to center scoring Jackson and Sheppard went to third base when the play was made at home for Jackson; Anderson scored Sheppard on a sacrifice hit to Gibson; Connolly flew out to Sloan; Quatt hit a hot liner to Floyd which was too hot to handle; Gathier grounded out to McCorkle to Gibson. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Post—Floyd struck out; Stevens grounded out to Hubspeth to Quatt; Myers drew a walk; R. Hubspeth singled to left field advancing Myers to second; McCorkle struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Lubbock—Hamilton grounded to Floyd who fumbled the catch; Lassiter was hit by pitched ball and Hamilton took second; Hubspeth advanced both Hamilton and Lassiter on a sacrifice hit, and was out to McCorkle to Gibson; Jackson forced Hamilton out at the plate; McCorkle to R. Hubspeth; Jackson was out; R. Hubspeth to Floyd on an attempted stolen base. No runs, no hits, one error.

Eighth Inning
Post—Foster singled to center; Sloan flew out to Anderson who

By United Press
CINCINNATI, July 10.—Cincinnati suffered its fourth straight defeat today despite a three run rally in the 8th which allowed the Reds to escape with only an 8 to 4 beating from the Giants. New York scored six in the sixth, mainly because grounders that should have been outs went through the infield for hits. Cincinnati's lead over Pittsburgh now is only two games.

AMARILLO MAY NOT PLAY THE HUBBERS

What's the matter with Amarillo, anyway?
S'pose it's possible the boys of that great oil metropolis are trying to crawl-fish? No one seems to know for sure, but just at this time there is a rumor out that Amarillo will not meet Lubbock Hubbers for the scheduled three game series. Fact is they have just about said so themselves, and they should know. Of course there is an excuse—there always is, and it may be a good one. They claim the players are not financially able to make the trip—lose three days and three days' pay from their regular work. Well, maybe so.
However, generally speaking, Amarillo boys are just about as well off financially as Lubbock boys—they admit it themselves, and Lubbock players lost time and went to Amarillo. One game they won, another they lost, while a third game ended in a draw.
Do you suppose Amarillo players fear a worse ending? If they do all is well and good. If not they should come on down and prove themselves.
Lubbock has been looking forward to these games with fond anticipation. They think they can whop the Amarillo nine. And maybe Amarillo feels the same way. If they do their excuse for remaining at home is a perfectly good one—only they should not dodge the real issue. That's too much like politics.
Lubbock is ready to play; Lubbock wants to play. Amario what are you going to do about it?

CARDS SWAMP BRAVES.

SPORTSMAN PARK, ST. LOUIS, July 10.—The Cardinals walked over the Boston Braves to the tune of 18 to 6 today in the second game of the series, after piling up a four run lead in the first inning. Hornsby knocked his 8th homer of the season in the third.

YANKS WIN FROM CLEVELAND INDIANS

NEW YORK, July 10.—The Yankees held their lead over the Philadelphia Athletics here today by defeating Cleveland in 12 innings, 4 to 3. Tris Speaker was responsible for all of his team's runs, driving in one and scoring two. Lazzeri hit his twelfth home run of the season in the seventh. A two run rally by Cleveland in the eighth was matched by the Yankees in their half of the same inning. Gehrig's single with the bases full in the twelfth was the deciding blow. The score:

TIGERS, RED SOX, SPLIT
BOSTON, Mass., July 10.—The Tigers and Red Sox split even in today's double header, the Sox grabbing a 10 inning verdict in the first, 6 to 5, and then dropping a 4 to 2 decision to the Tigers in the night-cap. BY HARRY W. SHARPE
United News Staff Correspondent
SCIOTO COUNTRY CLUB, COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 10.—Bobby Jones, the amateur and British open champion, bit for America's premier golfing honors today and won—not only the 196 national open championship, but the rousing acclaim of the multitudes.

The young Atlantan's feat has never been equaled in the annals of goldom and it was a wildly cheering gallery that followed him to the stone terrace of Scioto where he received the national open trophy, a huge, highly flided loving cup. The Atlanta youngster had demonstrated without fear of contradiction that he is the greatest son of the fairways for all times. There never has been a more spectacular, nerve tving and intensely thrilling battle for golfing supremacy, and even after Jones turned in his card of 298 for the 72 holes play, it appeared as though he might be nosed out.

Spurred, rather than hampered by the tricky and difficult course—virtually waterlogged by drenching rains of the night before—Jones exhibited a brand of golf that won deep and vociferous admiration from his thrilled spectators. Few times in the history of the 36 years old Scioto open, has there been a title so closely contested.

It was far from a preordained triumph, for the Atlantan was tagging the leaders, Wild Bill Mehlhorn and Joe Turnesa almost from the start.

It was by a margin of one stroke that this cool, but determined Bobby swept home to victory—one stroke ahead of Joe Turnesa, the young and brilliant Italo-American pro from the Bronx, who cracked under the fierce strain and finished with a 294. Turnesa could have won, but like other embrognic champions of the past, failed in the crisis. Pushing steadily along behind Jones ad Turnesa, came Wild Bill Mehlhorn, the Texan of the Old Colony club, Chicago. Mehlhorn started the paly Thursday with a sensational 66 for the first 18. He performed also as well yesterday, but today the crack, which many golfing experts believed inevitable, came and Mehlhorn was relegated to the ranks of the defeated.

Bobby Jones' battle was an uphill affair almost from the beginning. Mishap after mishap seemed destined to vanquish him, but his was an unquenchable spirit.

Two times during the play, his fly in sphere hit onlookers. Other incidents, equally trying, nerve wracking weather—first a blistering sun, next blustery wind and torrential rain—contributed to his uphill battle, on one occasion Bobby penalized himself when the wind moved his ball. But it took more than hard luck to down America's greatest golfer. His recoveries were remarkable and time and again he shot birds and once an eagle, to lay dead to the pin for his coup d'etat.

M System Sales

Jump by $1,000

In the formal opening of M System No. 2 in Lubbock yesterday, in which $300 in merchandise was given away free to their customers, the sales of these stores amounted to $1000 more than expected according to Marvin McLarty, advertising manager of the M System stores.

The combined sales of both stores were more than double the amount of an ordinary Saturday's business at this time of the year.

M System Store Number 2, exceeded the M System store No. 1 in total volume of sales more than $350. This is very unusual for a second store to exceed the sales of the first on the opening day, according to Mr. McLarty. And this fact alone proves the desire of the people of Lubbock for a first class grocery and meat market located on west main street.

Both stores carry the same line of nationally advertised merchandise and prices are the same at both stores at all times.

Mr. McLarty is enthused over the possibilities of Lubbock as a great commercial and educational center and the opening of M System No. 2 only commences the wide plan of expansion of M System stores in Lubbock and on the plains.

ONLY 79 DAYS BEFORE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR, BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER, OPENS ITS GATES

Members of the board of directors of the Panhandle South Plains Fair association, all employees, as well as exhibitors of the fair now hard at work making preparations for the fair, September 29, 30, October 1 and 2. The fair is only 79 days away and while that is a good period much is yet to be done and these parties are working hard to get everything ready for the visitors when the opening date arrives.

The fair, known over this section as the "Show Window of the Plains" is expected to be the biggest success this year in its history. County and community exhibits from all parts of the section are expected to be in place September 29, this year to make the show window complete. With the crops in the best of condition these agricultural exhibits are expected to rank with those of any regional fair in Texas.

In order to show the interest being taken in poultry raising on the South Plains, fair officials will make a special effort to have the poultry exhibit the best it has ever been. Many of the best fowls over the section will be here to be viewed by thousands of South Plains farmers and housewives who are interested in poultry raising and who have large flocks of the fowls at home.

The livestock department is expected to take a big jump over that of any other year. Additional classes in livestock are being added and many fine herds of beef and dairy cattle are to be here. The swine department will be on the increase also with the addition of several classifications and with a number of breeders anxious to show their swine here to the farmers who are in the market for hogs.

The entertaining features of the fair will be the best ever had at the fair here or any other west Texas fair. Only the best attractions have been contracted for. W. H. Hames will again be here with his carnival company with several attractions and rides added to good company which was here last fall. The Thearle-Duffield fireworks division of the world shows will handle the fireworks and additional money is being invested in this feature this year to insure fair visitors the best.

The athletic card will especially strong this year with eight of the best high school teams fighting for honors before the spectators in addition to a college game, according to Jas. H. Goodman in charge of athletics.

South Plains people will gather here from every corner of the section together with many prospectors who will be here to see the products of the various parts of the South Plains before investigating further.

RAY GRIFFITH THINKS "CLOTHES MAKE A MAN"

Harold Lloyd and Charlie Chaplin have to adorn their faces before starting into work. Harold isn't himself without goggles and the same goes for Chaplin's mustache. Raymond Griffith, Paramount's comedy star, leaves his features alone and concentrates on the clothes he wears. Evidently having heard once upon a time that "clothes make the man," Ray has adopted a lark hat as standard equipment. In addition to this, he usually wears a natty cravat, cutaway coat, patent leather shoes and spats.

This, it is believed, is the world's hardest costume to wear and still be funny. Why? The minute it loses its freshness and spotlessness a new outfit has to be bought and put on. But while wearing it, Raymond Griffith has developed to such an extent that he is now a full fledged star with a producing unit of his own.

SCREENS "MISS NOBODY" ON SITE CALLED FOR BY STORY

Studio sets often represent places which are really thousands of miles away. It is very seldom that a director finds it possible to shoot his scenes in the exact location of the story. This was done, however, by Lambert Hillier with his First National picture, "Miss Nobody," which is now showing at the Lindsey Theatre here. Anna Q. Nelson is featured.

The story calls for a location just 340 miles south of San Francisco, and that is just where these scenes were made. The spot is just north of Chatsworth, on the Southern Pacific railroad. The sequence is played entirely by a group of "hoboes." A curious fact about Miss Nilsson's role in "Miss Nobody" is that she appears throughout most of the picture in male garb. Her part is that of a hobo. She lives the hobo life, riding the rods, sleeping in box-cars, scrapping with brakemen and bewailing of bull-dogs and constables. Walter Pidgeon plays opposite Nilsson. Others in the cast of the adaptation of Tiffany Wells' "Sheho" and Clyde Cooke, Mitchell Lewin and Arthur Stone. Wid Gunning is editorial director.

Fiery Cascades For Lubbock Fair

Cascades of fire, linking heaven and earth together with trembling trails of silver rain stretching in a glorious train from the zenith to the earth and back again—this will be one of the many unforgettable pictures of beauty framed by the night as a background, that will be produced by the fireworks exhibitions at the Panhandle South Plains fair, September 29, 30, October 1 and 2. The directors of the fair have contracted with the Thearle-Duffield fireworks division of the World Amusement Service association, to furnish the exhibition. The fact that this company has done similar work for some of the largest exhibitions in the world shows that the fair association is out only for the best attractions. It also assures patrons at the Panhandle South Plains fair of seeing the most gorgeous and up-to-date creations by the world's leading experts in the fire maker's art.

Candidates Talk At S. W. School

Candidates for both county and district offices were present at a "political entertainment" held at S. W. Ward school house Thursday evening, and each had an opportunity to present his claims. The meeting was well attended by both candidates and voters, and the house was filled to capacity.

A pie supper held in connection proved quite a success and quite a tidy sum of money was raised by Col. W. E. Johnson, who auctioned them off for the ladies. The receipts go to the community club. The cold drink stand under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Caraway, proved quite popular. Soda water was donated by D. R. Phillips. Prof. McMath acted as chairman

BIG SPRINGS C-C BOOSTS MEETING

One of the best letters sent out by the South Plains Chamber of Commerce secretaries inviting other Texas secretaries to attend the Texas Commercial Executives association here July 22, 23, 24 was received by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce yesterday from C. City Preparing Stop Ordinance

A blanket ordinance is now being prepared covering the new boulevard system of stops, City Manager Perkinson said yesterday, and will probably be adopted at the next meeting of the commission. The ordinance will not designate particular intersections as stopping points, but will direct that traffic stop whenever the turtle backed signs are placed.

ered to each chairman before the primary. But on and after the 17th the County Chairman will appreciate each Precinct Chairman calling or sending for the ballot boxes and election supplies. Such will save a little expense.

"The Executive Committee has arranged to pay every individual helping hold the election the sum of Three ($3.00) Dollars per day. Such individuals will be expected to hold the Second Primary Election on the 4th Saturday in August, and they will also be paid for such services. We urge that each voting Precinct begin the court of the ballots as soon after opening the poles as is practicable, so that the ballot can be counted and the result known a short time after the poles are closed. This is the Democratic Primary Election and only Democrats are privileged to vote therein. A statutory pledge is on each ballot, and those voting in the Democratic Primary pledge themselves to support the nominees of the Primary. Those who cannot take this pledge will not and should not participate in the Primary, but should go to the Primary of their choice and participate in their elections."

"Respectfully, W. W. CAMPBELL, Chairman, Dem. Executive Com. Lubbock County, Texas" The list carried in the Avalanche yesterday was for the general election, and showed the numbers of voters qualified for the general election. TELLS OF BLEDSOE BIRTHDAY PARTY

WILL MCCOY, FIRST CITIZEN OF NEW TOWN, IS IN LUBBOCK

Bledsoe, the new city on the Santa Fe branch line running west of Lubbock, is all set for her first birthday party, according to Will McCoy, pioneer settler of Bledsoe, the first one to make his home there, who was here Friday on business in connection with the celebration there July 12 and 13.

McCoy, with his wife and two children, Ernestine and Carlton, moved to Bledsoe, July 12, 1925, the first people to establish their home there. The new city will celebrate the first anniversary of the city July 12 and 13.

July 12, 1925, Bledsoe had a population of four people, while today the population is conservatively estimated at 350. The estimate is based upon the scholastic enrollment of the school at Bledsoe. December 1, 1925, the school opened with an enrollment of seven pupils which was increased to 70 before the middle of February. The service was opened on the branch line December 1 and people began flocking into Bledsoe to establish businesses, to settle on farms and to follow other occupations.

Bledsoe has recently acquired an ice plant and a power plant which will furnish light for the city. The lights will be ready for the celebration and the ice factory will be in operation about the first of August, according to McCoy. W. D. McNear of Waco is installing the two plants. The celebration will commemorate the passing of the South Plains last frontier with old timers gathering from far and near to participate in an old time rodeo when bronc riding, calf and goat roping, wild cow milking, potato races, and other sports will be entered into. July 12 will be marked by an old fashion basket dinner while July 13 will be marked by a free barbecue when the South Plains will gather to devour sixteen beavers.

"We're expecting at least 5,000 people," McCoy stated when here, "and we'll have food for them."

Bledsoe has an abundance of water and all visitors will be urged to inspect the city well and reservoir, McCoy stated. The new city well has a six horsepower engine which is producing nine gallons of water per minute. The ice plant has its own well which is producing seven gallons per minute and the Santa Fe well has a good production.

Crops in the Bledsoe trade territory are in fine shape at this time, McCoy stated. Cotton and corn are the principal crops while a good bit of feed, sudan, broom corn, and other crops are raised. The Bledsoe Chamber of Commerce, one of the youngest commercial organizations in Texas which has shown plenty of life since its organization recently gave the farmers of the Bledsoe trade territory 500 pounds of broom corn seed to be planted over the section. About 400 farmers are included in the Bledsoe trade territory with about 15,000 acres of virgin land in cultivation.

This territory stretches out into Roosevelt and Lee counties in New Mexico in addition to Cochran county, Texas. Bledsoe is developing a new trade territory for Lubbock and every time a farm is established in their trade territory, it means that the wholesale concerns and other businesses at Lubbock will have added another consumer for local busi-

JAP SCHOOL SYSTEM SOON TO BE EXPANDED

TOKYO — The present term of compulsory education in Japan of six years is to be extended to eight years if the proposal just advanced by the Minister of Education is approved in the next session of the diet.

The Minister announces that the recent increase in the national contribution to the public schools, from forty million to seventy million a year, makes this possible. If the plan goes through, new school buildings costing fifty million yen will be built within the next three years.

The men at Bledsoe who have charge of the celebration are: A. M. Duval, P. L. Thacker, J. L. Westerman, R. G. Farmer, Will McCoy and Charles A. Newton.

Will McCoy who was here Friday and who is the first settler of Bledsoe is handling the Santa Fe townsite there, working under the supervision of R. J. Murray, of Lubbock, who has charge of the Santa Fe townsites and other lands in this entire section.

TO AID LUBBOCK WITH CONVENTION

SOUTH PLAINS SECRETARIES WILL RALLY ROUND ON JULY 22, 23 and 24

South Plains secretaries will gather here July 22, 23 and 24 to assist in entertaining other Texas secretaries who will be in attendance at the Texas Commercial Executives Association, according to letters coming in from all corners of the section.

The South Plains secretaries have been sending out letters of invitations urging Texas secretaries to attend the convention and see this section while here. They will be here to sell the visiting secretaries on the South Plains section.

A letter from Maury Hopkins, secretary of the board of city development at Plainview is one of the most recent that has gone out inviting the secretaries to attend the convention. This letter was mailed from Plainview July 9. The letter reads in part:

"Of course you are going to attend the annual convention-school of Texas Commercial Executives association on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th. You have possibly had four or five letters from our president, Walter Long, about the school, and a few from A. B. Davis and others of the attendance committee, so there is no need for us to dwell on that longer. You are coming.

"The Lubbock convention is going to be a great affair. If you haven't made arrangements about coming, make them now. You can't afford to miss it. A. B. Davis is making great

Chitwood Will Address Retailers

Association is expected to attend the regular July meeting which will be held at the Busy Bee Cafe, at 6:30 Tuesday evening when R. M. Chitwood, business manager of the Texas Technological college, will tell the retailers what the Tech has meant to Lubbock in actual dollars and cents, according to Paul L. Sherrod, president of the retailers association.

The luncheon Tuesday evening will be followed by Chitwood's address and a short business session when routine matters will be transacted.

One subject which will receive a consideration is that of fake advertising and solicitation schemes by outside promoters. The association takes a stand against such schemes and through the advertising committee are halting a large number. The object of the discussion Tuesday evening will be to gain a greater co-operation from the membership in halting such schemes, according to Mr. Sherrod.

The retailers will begin their luncheon promptly at 6:30 Tuesday evening, and will adjourn at 7:45 in order that the members may fill any other engagement for the evening, Sherrod said.

plans for your entertainment down here. Join with all other South Plains secretaries in sending you a most cordial invitation to attend the convention where the citizenship of the entire section is ready and anxious to welcome you."

ENGINEERS SUE CITY OF SLATON

WANT $7,197.70 AS FEE FOR SPECIFICATIONS ON PAVING

Alleging non-payment of $7,197.70 fee for work as consulting engineers for the $143,000 Slaton paving job, under contract let last September, Gantt and Baker Co., engineers, yesterday brought suit in the 72nd district court against the city of Slaton for the amount of the fee.

They claim to have fulfilled a contract for preparing specifications for the paving.

W. C. Witche and Vickers, Campbell and Schenek filed the suit for the engineers.

The regular July session of county court will convene in Lubbock on Monday, July 19. Only non-jury cases will be tried on Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday a number of jury cases will come up, and at this time it can not be said just how long it will take to dispose of them.

A second jury has been summoned to appear on August 23, when a number of cases will be tried.

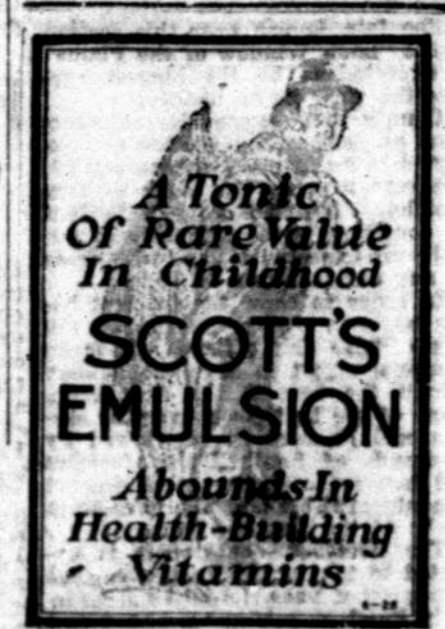

A very light docket is reported.

Bicycles Must Not Be Ridden On City Walks, Says Chief

Sidewalks are made for pedestrians—not for bicycles, skates and automobiles. During the past few weeks a number of boys have been using sidewalks for racing and pedestrians often have to step aside to let them pass.

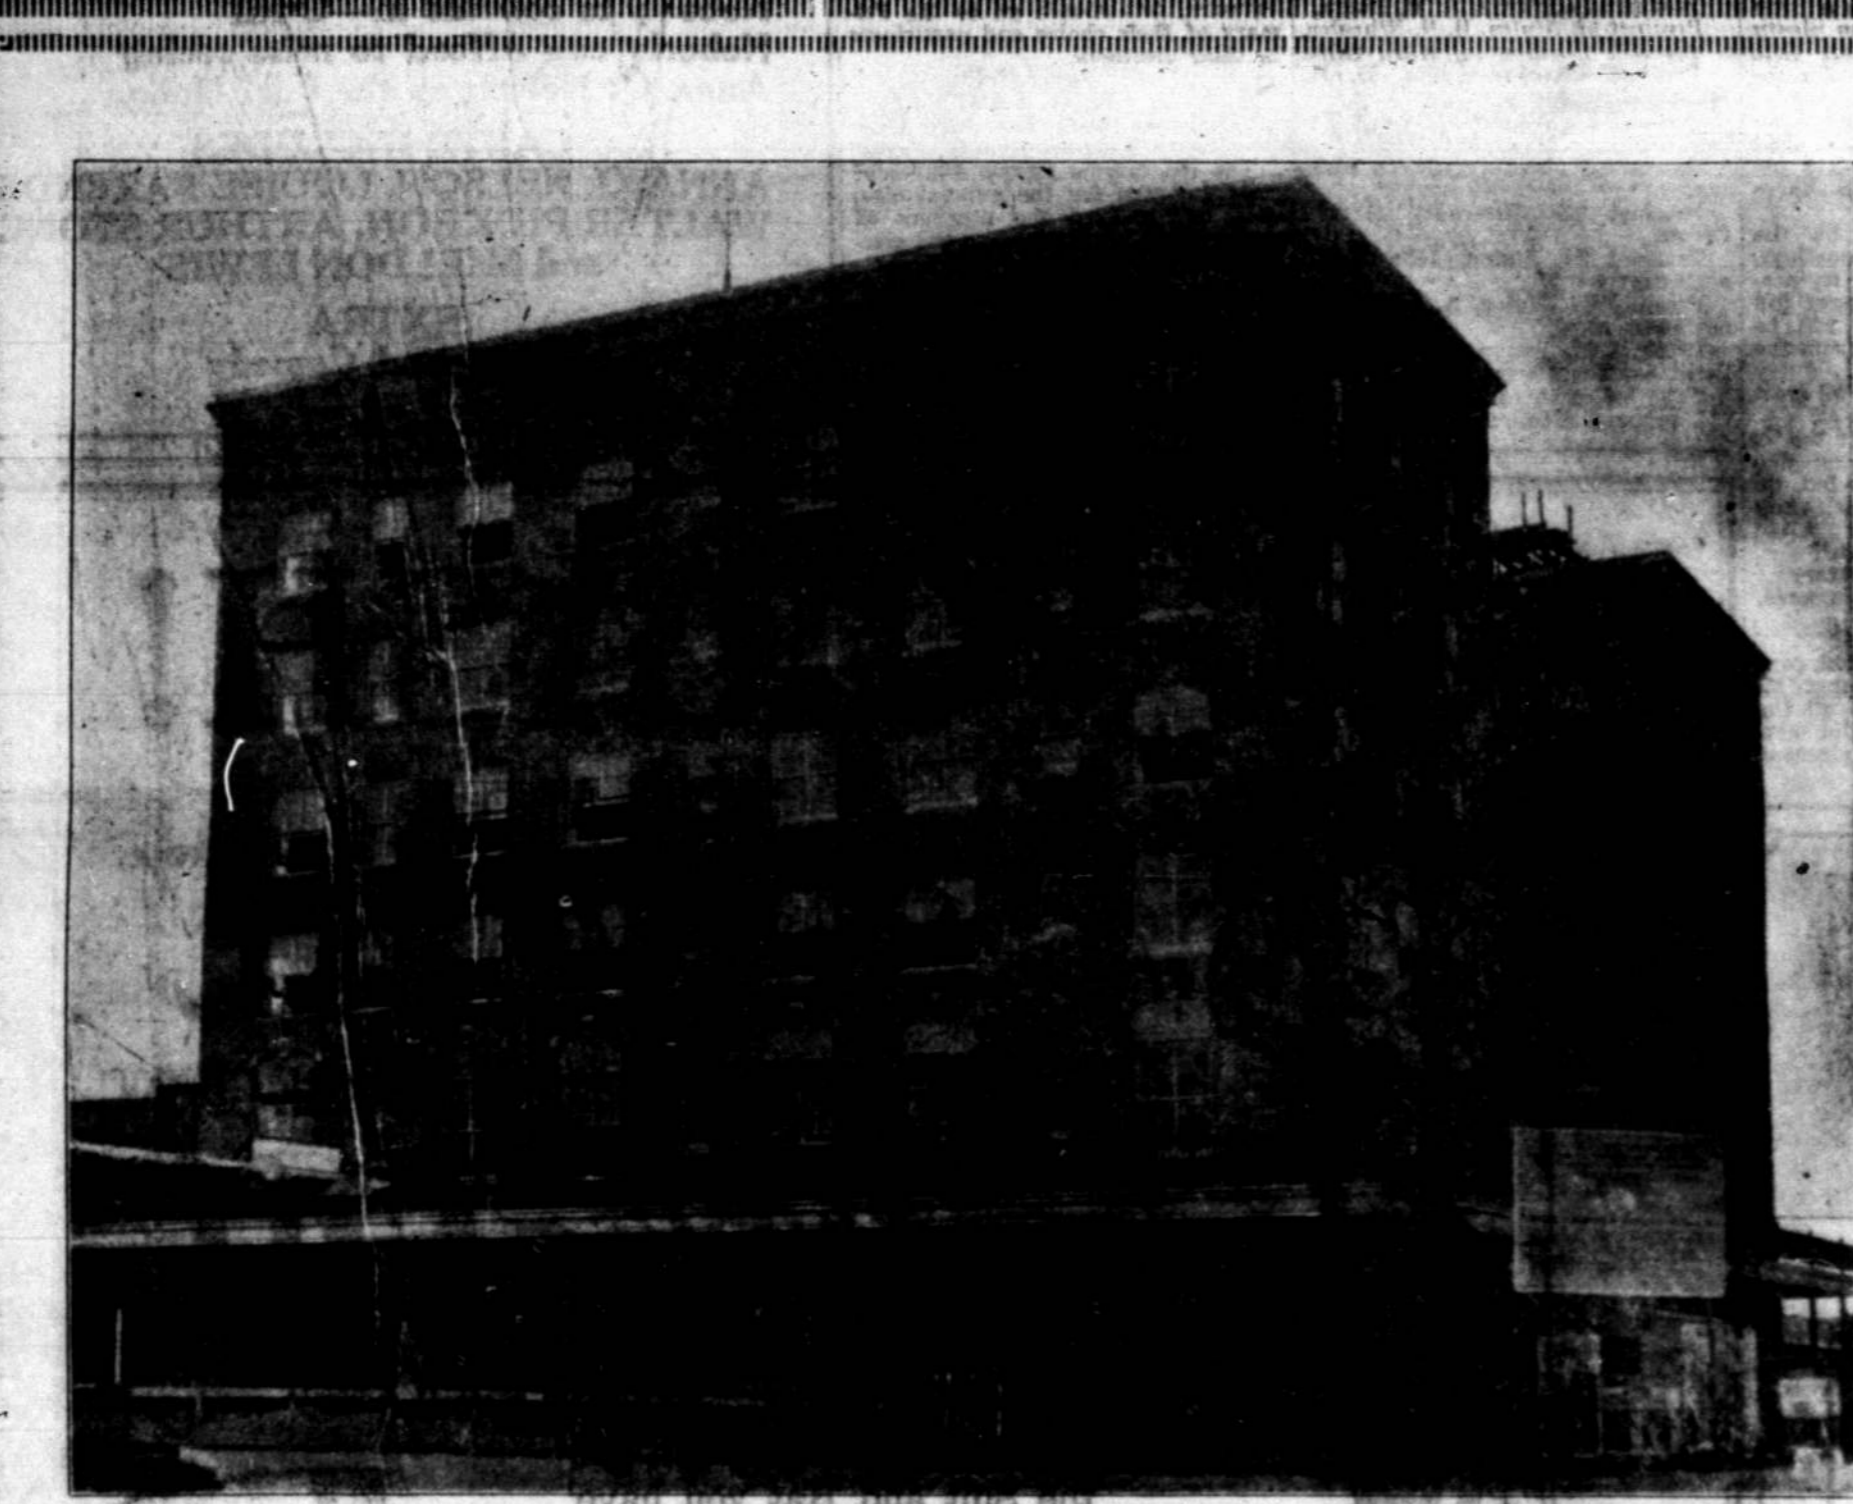

This is a violation of the law, and officers insist the practice must stop. A number of complaints have also reached the police station that people in watering lawns often allow water to be thrown across the walks.

What The Farmers Tell Us

W. R. Robertson, who lives near the Southwest Ward school, was in Tuesday. His crops are the best they have been since he has lived in the county, which is three years. He has 75 acres in cotton and 5 acres in corn. His cotton is extra good for this time of the year, and his corn is very fine as he prepared his land for corn early and plowed it deep. He thinks good preparation is the only safe way to secure good crops of the various kinds. He said the more work put in on the land before planting the less was required after planting. When farmers learn to quit trying to cultivate so much land and give what they do cultivate much better cultivation, then it will be that much higher yields will be had and there will be less doubt about making good crops every year.

H. W. Walker was in from the Southwest Ward community and gave us his idea of this county. This is his first year in the county. He is from Lamar county. He has 160 acres in cotton and 150 acres in feed; 200 acres of this land is sod and has been broken since the first of January, this year. He has this all planted and the crops are looking well on the entire lot. He has 10 acres in corn which is looking very fine, and he thinks will make a good crop. Mr. Walker is well pleased with this county so far, and thinks he will like it as well as his old home county of Lamar. He all tell about the same story. Mr. Walker thinks this a great country and men will find that they can make a living here on ten acres of land when they learn how to farm for the best results.

We had occasion to pass by the splendid dairy farm of our friend, Mr. Lem Scroggins, Tuesday. We were attracted by the appearance of his nice garden and stopped off and looked it over. We knew he was a very progressive dairyman, but had not expected that he was an expert gardener. He has only about a quarter of an acre and was using the water that washed out his dairy barn twice a day to run onto his garden so that none would go to waste. He had English peas, or rather had been having them for a long time; had lots of beans and peas right now ready for use, besides cucumbers, beets, lettuce and in fact, about everything we could think of he had some of it growing. Mr. Scroggins has 31 fine pointers which will readily be marketed about August 1st. They weigh about 250 pounds now. Their main feed is skimmed milk with some grain. They are a nice lot. This kind of economy might be practiced by many farmers to their financial advantage.

J. E. Griffin, who lives in this city is just back from a trip down in Coleman and adjoining counties. It is getting pretty dry in places down that way, the crops are needing rain. The grain crops were fine especially the oat crop and most of it had been harvested and the yields were very satisfactory. The oat crop is the first to bring in money to the farmers, and at this time is helping out the farmers very much financially. That county has not grown much wheat in long time, the farmers claim that they make more on the oat crop, and it comes in as early and some time earlier than the wheat crop. He said the cotton was not much better or earlier than the cotton in this county, but the feed crops are more advanced than the feed crops of this county, and they are now at a stage that they are needing rain.

AN APPRECIATED CALL BY THE SECRETARY OF THE SLATON C. OF C.

J. J. Ross, secretary of the chamber of commerce of Slaton, and also justice of the peace of that city, and in fact a general progressive booster for Slaton, and the South Plains, was in the city and called on us Wednesday. He gave us a very interesting and highly appreciated report from that part of the county. Mr. Ross is very optimistic about conditions; in fact, he has had occasion to visit several other sections of the South Plains recently and gives a good general report. Among other things he says the poultry business in that part of the county had been increased 50 percent. He said there were now 50,000 laying chickens in that territory ready for market, that are bringing from 43 to 55 cents per pound, or about 75 cents per head and this is bringing lots of ready cash into the country. Here are more and better gardens in that part of the county, than has ever been there before.

The farmers are realizing more than ever before that to grow every thing they need right at home on their farms, is the true idea of life for them. Mr. Ross has been a first considerer for such a course for the farmers for some time, and now truly enjoys seeing these splendid results coming to the farmers and is proud of the earnest part he has played in encouraging and helping to bring about such splendid results. He took a big interest in encouraging the securing and planting of only the best known and sweet producing varieties of corn, and also of all other seeds for planting. He thinks the right kind of seed is one of the most important things for farmers to consider. Poor seed will never produce large yields.

Mr. Ross stated the great truth when talking about the farmers' problems, when he said all should be interested in the farmers' problems, and successes when he said all other lines of business depended on the success and prosperity of the farmers; he said every right minded man was anxious for the farmers to succeed, and the world had come to the place that they wanted to see the farmers get in good shape financially and have better homes and better living conditions in their homes. Mr. Ross said the farmers are joining readily with the chamber of commerce to make their fair this fall the best ever. They expected to have a fair there this fall that will surprise all who attend. They are all working hard in hand to have a great show. Mr. Ross said the farmers are taking much interest in better dairy cows, more and better poultry; in fact, there has been a general awakening among the farmers for better things and better living in homes of the country.

NOW AND THEN

The most important thing we had the privilege of seeing on our recent trip was the operation of the combine where they were harvesting the wheat crops. As we watched the operation of these wonderful machines our mind ran back to former days, and how, 40 or 50 years ago, the harvesting was done and thought of the great progress that had been made along this line of harvesting crops and especially the grain crops. These machines are operated by two men; one to run the engine the other to look after the thresher or separator. One of the machines was cutting and threshing a strip 15 feet wide at a through. The grain is cut, carried through the separator and out through a chute into a wagon that is fastened long side the machine and pulled by the same engine that is doing the cutting and threshing. This outfit cuts from 5 to 6 acres per hour and with a good run cuts and threshes 50 acres per day. These new machines do all this work with only two men and if anything gets wrong the two are all that are stopped. It is wonderful to note all these splendid improvements in the interest of the farmers and still the farmers are not in much better condition that they were formerly. In giving the description of the combine machines and their work we overlooked one very important thing. With one of the machines they had what they call the latest improvement—instead of having the wagon attached to the outfit it had a galvanized iron box or bin attached to the machine. After the grain is measured and weighed, it is conveyed into this bin, which holds just 30 bushels; when this is filled the truck or wagon is driven up by the side of the machine and under this bin, a lever is pulled by the operator and the 30 bushels of wheat is dumped right into the truck or wagon as the case may be. The outfit is stopped not more than two or three minutes for this dumping and the whole transaction is so simple and the whole transaction is that there is no handling at all of the grain by hand.

The best equipped machine which we have just described, was smaller, it cut only 10 feet, and was easier handled in getting from farm to farm. We rather liked the smaller machine, but it requires the same two men to run it that it takes to operate the larger one. The cost of the smaller one was about $1350 and the larger one cost $2150. With this wonderful improvement it will only be a short time until all difficulties will be removed and the grain growing business will be a marvel. We want to mention that we see the farmers in Floyd county sold, this week a little more than 43,000 bushels of wheat at a price above one dollar per bushel, a nice sum for the farmers of that county to receive at this critical period of the season?

WE HAD A SHORT TRIP IN THE COUNTRY

We passed the farm of Mr. Chas. S. Inman one evening last week, and stopped to look over his nice herd of young Jersey cows. We also found a fine flock of English White Leghorn chickens. These were the largest White Leghorns we had seen. Mrs. Inman sells about thirty-five dozen eggs per week. They do not sell any milk in the city, but sell cream to the creameries.

R. C. Richardson, who lives a mile and a half southwest of the city was in Saturday with a nice stalk of cotton which had several squares and blooms on it. It was the best we have seen. The cotton is about knee high. He has 125 acres of this kind of cotton on his farm. His feed crops are needing rain. He said one of his neighbors had his corn in wide rows and that corn was standing the dry weather much better than was his corn planted the usual way, and he is convinced the wide row plan is the proper plan for growing corn here to make it a sure crop. This man also had a row of peas growing in his corn that would make a fine crop of peas and does not seem to be any disadvantage to the corn.

H. L. McRay was in the city Monday. He said this is the best crop he has had since he has been in the county, which is six years. He has 50 acres in cotton which is looking very fine. His feed crops are good also. He only had a small patch of corn but it is looking good at present. Mr. McRay said he thinks they have the best community in the county.

AN INTERESTING AND APPRECIATED VISIT

We have been invited several times this spring to visit the irrigated truck farm of Mr. Wiley Puckett. He sold his holdings in the corporate limits and bought 10 acres just across the canyon southeast of the city. This was not a very attractive place at first sight, but this progressive citizen saw in it, just what he wanted to make an ideal home. So he bought the land, and many wondered what he had in mind, but he soon began his improvements and now has about two acres in an irrigated garden. All this work has been done since the first of the year. We went over this garden carefully and tried to get a true report so that others might see what can be done by determination and perseverance. Mr. Puckett had his land where the garden now is broken good and deep. Mr. Puckett has 14 rows of watermelons now in bloom; these rows are 150 yards long and it would be difficult to estimate the amount of tomatoes this patch will make. He has four rows of sweet peppers the same length that look fine at present. He has six rows of cantaloupes that are fine, and eight rows of watermelons the same length. They will soon be producing fine melons. He has six rows of corn that is now in silk and tassel which is the largest we have seen during the season. He has a nice lot of popcorn and late peas and beans also some fine peanuts. In fact, he has a fine outfit and one that will pay well for the effort growing such crops. We think this crop will likely pay more real cash than many farmers will make on an 80-acre farm of cotton. Mr. Puckett has two rows of grapes on two sides of his little farm just planted this spring that will be bearing next year. He also transplanted a big lot of large locust trees that are living and will make a good growth this year. He has some very fine pecans planted. He planted the nuts but is took one up to show us which, is about the largest pecan nut we ever saw. He is trying growing them from the nuts but said he would get some grafted trees this fall and plant lots more of them. He has a well of the coldest water we have drunk about the city, has oceans of it for all his irrigation purposes; has a large pump with 4-inch pipe. He has a large concrete tank above the ground into which the mill pumps the water where he keeps a good supply on hand so that he has it for use in case the wind should stop blowing when he needs water for irrigation.

Locust Borers Are Found On Trees At Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Tex., July 10—Locust borers are at work on trees in Plainview! Plainview has fortunately escaped the inroads of this pest until now; but it may soon become a real problem for home owners in Plainview. Yesterday when called to "doctor" trees at the B. H. Towery residence on Eleventh street, between Broadway and Austin, Bob Hulén discovered that Mr. Towery's locusts were being killed by the locust borers. Trees more than nine inches in diameter have been ridden by the insects. Mr. Hulén is treating them with poison that works up the trunk of the tree with the sap, but thinks there is little chance of saving them. A piece of one of the limbs is on display at The Herald office. At this season of the year the borers are larvae. The locust beetle which lays the eggs, hatches out in the early fall. It is about the size of the ordinary honey bee and a golden color with bright yellow stripes. It is flatter than the bee and has a broad head. The eggs are laid under the bark in the fall and hatch out in the spring and the larvae start their work. No satisfactory means of controlling the borers has even been worked out. The State Entomologist of Texas A. & M. College worked for some time on the trees upon the campus of West Texas State College, but the borers had progressed too far to be eradicated. In a single season they will destroy the largest, healthy locust tree. They have not been known to attack other trees. Several years ago in Kansas they have been working in a general southwesterly direction. In Amarillo they destroyed many trees and have been found at Canyon and Tulia. For several years those who have kept in touch with the ravages of the borers have predicted that sooner or later the locusts in this section would suffer from the pests.

RADIO NEWS

By WILLIAM J. FAGAN (United Press Radio News Editor) NEW YORK, July 10—The new time-worn device of converting the phonograph sound chamber into a radio loud speaker by means of an invention of E. O. Thompson, who uses the radio set to give electrical reproduction of recorded music. By means of Thompson's device the new electrically cut phonograph records may be played on an old type machine, being amplified thru two stages of audio-frequency in practically any radio set. Thompson, who is chief engineer of David Grimes, Inc., of Jersey City, developed his invention as a "stunt" for a private entertainment given by his fiancée. His method consists of an electrical sound-box unit, replacing the mica sound reproducer on the old-type phonograph, with a cord connected with another unit which is plugged into the detector socket. The loud speaker is attached to the set in the ordinary way, but only the audio-frequency stages are used in the Thompson circuit. A special feature is a volume control which enables the output to tone from the record to be amplified to the full strength of an orchestra or diminished to a barely audible pianissimo. Thompson demonstrated his invention privately before a group of New York radio editors in comparison with talking machines of the old and new types.

PLAN FORCE OFFICERS TO BUY FROM TAILORS

WASHINGTON, July 10—A step in the campaign to take the government out of business may cause navy, marine corps and coast guard officers to purchase their uniforms from tailors, instead of being allowed to purchase them from the government at cost. Rep. Purnell, Republican, Indiana, has introduced in the house a bill to repeal authorization for these officers to get uniforms at cost, which will be carried over to the winter session of congress. Purnell thinks private enterprise should carry on such business whenever possible. Lima, Peru, will hold its first automobile show this summer in the municipal building. A banking house to be erected in Santiago, Chile, will cost nearly $4,000,000. London has a craze for the ballet.

Paris has large link neck bracelets. While fewer people in France are buying automobiles than in last year French auto plants are turning out just as many cars. Since the signing of the commercial treaty between Germany and Spain, German traveling salesmen are storming the last named country.

Mr. Wilson, of California, is here visiting his sister, Mrs. Jessie Brooks and family. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hefley of Crosbyton spent Sunday evening in the P. L. Wimberly home. Mrs. J. H. Brown's sister and grandson, of Oklahoma, are here to spend the summer with her. Mrs. E. C. Wilson's aunt of Dallas is here visiting her. Everyone come to the singing next Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cain are the happy parents of a new-born boy, born June 28th. Dr. McBride attended. The mother and child are doing nicely. Mrs. John Whitson is taking treatments from Lubbock doctors. Mrs. Omer Amyx is staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Muggleton, while Mr. Amyx is working in the wheat harvest for Mr. Albers. The farmers of Eagle Springs report that they are very badly in need of rain, not having had in four or five weeks. Most everyone will be up with their work in a few days if it does not rain. Dry weather is good for wheat harvesting but not for cotton and feed. Mr. Ernest Muggleton, who is now working in Lubbock at the Tech power house, spent the week-end with home folks. Among those seen in town Saturday from Eagle Springs were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morehead and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morehead. Mr. R. A. Chaney's three youngest sons have gone to Oklahoma to work in the wheat harvest. They write that there is plenty of work. The young folks near Eagle Springs and County Line have plenty of entertainments as they have had three or four parties this week. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baughman and daughters spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Muggleton. Cream and other refreshments were served in the afternoon. In honor of his fifteenth birthday, Mahlon Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Rice, was entertained Saturday night with a birthday party. Those present were: the four Edwards boys, the Misses Harper, Miss Thelma Baughman, Mr. Jerry Morehead, the Misses Ladd and some others besides the home folks. Every one seemed to have enjoyed themselves immensely. Mrs. J. J. Barton and son, of Plainview, visited Mrs. Barton's son, Jack, and his wife, Saturday. Mr. Sam Barton is attending school in Plainview. He is fitting himself to teach school and is going to teach the Bartonite school this coming term. Mr. Charlie Rice's three oldest sons have gone to Muleshoe to work in the wheat harvest. They expect to be gone about six weeks.

Dr. Horn Favors School
Survey As Study
For Clubs

In the class of high school administration taught by President Horn at the Tech some very interesting work has been done this summer. The last of this week Dr. Horn had each member to read a paper on whether the school survey was worth $50,000. He being a member of the survey was especially interested in their answers.

All of the class presented a favorable report and gave some interesting information regarding the schools of Texas. Several of the members suggested that the study clubs for women could be doing a good thing by making a special study of the survey report. In talking with several members of the clubs it is thought that this idea will be taken up by the clubs.

Model Designed for Several Uses

According to the materials used and purpose served, this model may be either a smock or a tunic blouse. As the latter, it is effective in printed silk worn with a plain costume slip.

Between the blouse and costume slip of this model, honors are pretty well divided, for both feature delightful tones of the soft new blues. The blouse is slashed at the sides, then faced with the skirt material, the trimming note being repeated also in the collar, the revers and the cuffs.

Green and self-color are the principal shades used in the pattern of

Fig. 1 shows how the sides are faced in order to be properly and pleasingly finished when shown. Turn under the outer edge of the slash at the sides, then baste. Take a straight strip of plain material and turn under the edges. Baste over the turned edge of the blouse as shown, then finish along both edges with fine stitches.

Fig. 2 illustrates the method of sewing in the hem. Use a gauge to turn the hem and after it is turned, baste carefully. Overcasting or fine hemming stitches may be used to sew the hem permanently into both the tunic blouse and the costume slip.

Crotons and plain gingham or chambray combine well in a model like this, and there are novelty col-

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS AT BROWNFIELD

Miss McDonald and Mr. Sams, of Waco,
Are Married at Baptist Church Amid
Beautiful Bower of Ferns and Flowers

At the First Baptist Church, Brownfield, Texas, on Wednesday evening July 7th at 8 o'clock, the wedding of Miss Olga McDonald and Mr. Ross Sams of Waco, was solemnized amid beautiful surroundings. The bride is a most lovable and charming only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. McDonald; having been residents of Brownfield but a short while. The entire family have won the confidence and esteem of our best citizens. The bride is an unusual and wonderful young lady having attainments and accomplishments rarely found.

The church auditorium was a beautiful vision. The pillars and stage were a mass of flowers perfectly arranged and most artistic in effect. Small tables and tabourettes, tall palms, ferns, potted plants, cut flowers, all were made to form a lovely background for the bridal party. The charming setting was in perfect accord with the entire ceremonies of this sacred occasion. At 8:00 o'clock the guests assembled, had the pleasure of a musical prelude, of several numbers of violin and songs. Mr. John S. Powell of our little city, a musician of exceedingly rare ability, played a selection from the opera, "Il Trovatore," by Verdi. The violin was wonderfully handled in the hands of this skillful artist. Following Mr. Powell's violin number, came a singer, of true tone and expression, a sympathetic voice full of sweetness, in the person of Mrs. Paul Wright, of Gordon, Texas. Mrs. Wright sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." These artists were well supported by Mrs. W. H. Dallas, piano accompanist, who played Lobengrin's Wedding March as the bridal party entered. Mr. Powell with the violin, and the pianist played very softly "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn, during the service.

Mrs. Marshbanks, Lamesa, Texas, matron of honor; Miss Fern Cayler, Hugo, Oklahoma, maid of honor, and little Jane Brownfield, flower girl, preceded the bride, on the arm of her father, Mr. S. L. McDonald, entered from the left aisle.

The bridegroom, Mr. Ross Martin Sams, with attending groomsmen, Mr. Rowe Sams and Mr. J. W. McDonald, came down the right aisle.

The part was met by Reverend Mr. L. Sams, father of the groom, who said the words joining this distinguished couple. Immediately following the impressive and sacred words spoken by the father the Reverend Mr. C. E. Ball said the benedictory prayer. The ceremony was the ring, very significant and beautiful. The Mendelssohn Wedding March was used as the recessional.

A reception was given friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The receiving line was made up of the bridal party, with out-of-town guests and a few home friends, all of which were delighted to be of service in adding pleasure on the supreme occasion of this radiant and happy bride.

Mrs. E. G. Alexander had charge of registration of names in the "Bride's Book," which was a work of art. Mrs. J. H. McKinney presided over the punch bowl, which was placed over a huge mirror. The bowl was a magnificent cut glass of exquisite design, from which most delicious lime iced punch, in pretty color of green, was served, by ladies assisting gracefully in the dispensing of punch and wafers. Ladies assisting in the dining room were Mrs. W. R. McDuffie, Mrs. Ike Bailey, Mrs. Roy Wingard.

Bride gave warning regarding her immense shower bouquet, which she threw high in the air. Luck to the young lady who caught it; Miss Walker being the lucky one.

Miss McDonald, the bewitching and radiant bride, was a dream in her dainty costume of white georgette embroidered in pink and white. This beautiful creation made so by the skillful fingers of the bride's mother, has no peer in this truly feminine art. Her veil built of daintest meline and flowers embroidered in seed pearls from Paris, was also the master work of her mother. The bride was further adorned by a bracelet worn by her grandmother on her wedding day.

An exquisite and handsome string of pearls was a gift of the matron of honor.

The groom's gift was a diamond

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST
THE BUSY WOMAN
OF 1926.

Fashion Notes

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, July 10.—Many high schools and colleges throughout the country are striving to reduce the expenses of the girl graduate by setting a budget system on clothes. Some schools have gone so far as to insist upon a graduation uniform so that the poor man's daughter may be as well dressed on graduation day as the rich man's daughter.

Pupils themselves are submitting budgets which include not only the graduation dress but clothes for the entire summer. The most economical and practical budgets are placed around $150. Others run into hundreds of dollars. After a careful scrutiny of several budgets we have selected the best offerings of each one and have included them in the following list:

Graduation dress (white silk) $18.00
Taffeta party frock 25.00
Wash silk jumper dress 10.00
Jersey jumper dress 10.00
Tweed knicker sports outfit 12.00
Cloth coat 3.00
Shoes—3 pairs (white pumps, patent leather, tan oxfords) 22.00
5 pairs of stockings (2 silk chiffon, 2 durable chiffon, 1 sports type) 7.00
Raincoat, cap and parasol set 14.00
Cable-knit sweater 2.00
Suede gloves 2.00

Tailored suit, sports jacket, riding habit and bathing suit, are offered as optional suggestions. The average young Miss could get almost very nicely throughout the summer with the above list of apparel. Of course, there are girls whose activities call for chiffon afternoon gowns and numerous dancing frocks but the average young girl during the summer vacation requires simple sports clothing above all else.

BROWNFIELD SOCIETY

Miss Fern Caylor, maid of honor, was charming in pink georgette lavishly embroidered, worn over pink; pink hose and pink satin pumps; pink maline rosettes. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay made up of pink roses. Miss Caylor wore pink maline band in her hair.

Mrs. Donnie Marshbanks' costume, matron of honor, was an exact reproduction of the maid of honor, with perhaps a change in adornment of the pumps. Mrs. Marshbanks wore brilliant cut steel buckles. She also carried the beautiful nosegay, and was extremely graceful in her role.

The maids and matrons costumes were the tight bodices, and bouffant skirts, which made them very picturesque and charming.

Mrs. Paul Wright, soprano, was beautiful in a costume of blue georgette, embroidered in silver and flesh beads, this was worn over flesh, with silver hose and pumps. Mrs. Wright's nosegay was like that of Miss Caylor and Mrs. Marshbanks.

Little Jane Brownfield, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brownfield, was more charming and sweet because of her unconscious state of mind. She was solely unaware of her important place in the wedding party, and performed her duty as flower girl to perfection.

The church decorations bore evidence of exquisite taste and were done by friends of the bride. In all the appointments a touch of the master hand was seen. A master interpretation was felt in the musical program, in the art of the "Bride's Book." In the beautiful dining service and the church setting.

Donnie Marshbanks, Lamesa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stokes, Slaton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McDonald, Abilene, Texas; Miss Fern Caylor, Hugo, Oklahoma.

It will be interesting to many to know that the bride and groom are both Baylor University graduates, the bride completing her literary work in 1921 and the groom in 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose Sams, after a period of five or six weeks in the mountains of Colorado, will be at home, 905 5th street, Waco, Texas. The home has been furnished by the groom and is in readiness for his bride on their return honeymoon trip.

The groom is a furniture dealer in Waco, a man of much business ability and has won a most charming and lovable partner for life. She is both practical and highly educated, which means much, in fact, hers is a personality the world will admire.

THE MCKINNEY HOME SCENE OF CHARMING RECEPTION

Mrs. J. H. McKinney and Mrs. W. H. Dallas as joint hostesses entertained at the McKinney home Tuesday afternoon from four to six, complimenting Miss McDonald and her bridal party. Miss McDonald has been the recipient of many love-ly courtesies since her return from Waco, and her approaching marriage made known to her friends and those who were invited to the dining room at once. Where a most beautiful array of Shasta daisies caught the eye, promiscuously arranged over the exquisite table, an elaborate designed punch bowl graced the center of the table, which was filled with a refreshing and beautifully colored concoction. Misses Mary Walker and Mary Shelton served, while lovely blue tapers were burning in cut glass holders. Making a perfect picture, which Mrs. McKinney is well known, having a true artistic vision, her home is always one of harmonious attractiveness. Miss Margaret Bell assisted by having beautiful and entrancing pipe organ records heard during the service. A specially decorated chair was reserved for the bride. Her happiness was quite evident among her crowd of admirers. The young ladies lending charm and grace to this pretty courtesy, assisted the hostesses in serving refreshments. Ice cream molds in pink hearts, bearing cupid his bow and arrow, with blue bird favors and a daisy were served. Decorations were blue bird blue and pink. These colors were predominant in the reception room as well as dining room. The library table had for a center accessory, a huge cut glass lamp, surrounded by daisies, used promiscuously. This careless arrangement was indeed a delightful change from a vase. Mints in various flavors were placed in cut glass nappies on the table among the Shasta daisies. The charming bride-to-be was beautiful in gray georgette, lace and slippers to match. She gracefully made known to each guest just what duty had been asked of those present. This was a pleasing form of entertainment. Those in attendance of this social function were limited to guests of the bridal party and those assisting in the reception. Guests were: Miss McDonald, Miss Mary Walker, Miss Margaret Bell, Miss Mary Shelton, Miss Fern Caylor, Hugo Oklahoma; Mrs. Donnie Marshbanks, Lamesa; Mrs. Paul Wright, Gordon; Mrs. A. M. Brownfield, Mrs. Morgan Copeland, Mrs. McNeil, Spurgin, F. E. Standifer, Lamesa; Mrs. E. G. Alexander, Mrs. Roy Wingred, Mrs. Ike Bailey, Mrs. W. H. McDuffie, Mrs. S. L. McDonald, Mrs. A. Mrs. Hudgins has for her house guest this week, her sister-in-law Mrs. Graves of Sweetwater, Texas, entertained with a lovely party of progressive forty-two, on Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. The usual exciting game was enjoyed greatly throughout the entertaining hours. At the conclusion of this party, Mrs. Eunice Jones was president with a set of ice-cream castles for high cut. Mrs. Ditto received a beautiful broad tray and knife for low cut prize. A guest prize went to the honoree, Mrs. Graves, so we beautiful lingerie. Miss Mildred Hudgins, and Miss Mary Kathryn Anthony assisted the charming hostesses in the refreshment service of brick cream in red, white and blue individual square of cake. Tiny flags adorned each plate, used as favors. The ladies playing and enjoying the thrill of this pretty social event, were: Mrs. Bob Bowers, Mrs. Eunice Jones, Mrs. John L. Randall, Mrs. C. R. Vona Lee Ditto, Miss Irene Ditto.

MRS. ENDERSON ENTERTAINS

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson was a scene of a happy assembly on Friday morning July 2nd, when sixteen ladies responded to Mrs. Anderson's invitations to enjoy the morning hours with "forty-two." Seldom do we see a more adaptable and charming hostess than Mrs. Anderson. This party was in every respect a lovely affair. Mrs. Anderson was ably assisted by Miss Bell in the courtesies of the morning. Guests enjoyed every minute and excitement reigned when players progressed, as usual. Mrs. Fred Scudday, visitor in the Randall home, was found to hold high score, and received a beautifully decorated cake box. For low score Mrs. Ruffal was presented with an ample square tray, in painting of pretty colorings. Guests were served cream and cake, the delicious kind, product of the hostess' art. MYSTERIOUS TATTOOING ON MAN'S FACE MAY BE REMOVED BY SURGEON'S KNIFE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 10.—The science of plastic surgery has come to the relief of Albert Blichmann, 37-year old millwright of Dubuque, La., whose countenance is a compact mosaic of tattoo, applied by an unknown hand. Blichmann, after months of unique vicissitudes, has prevailed on authorities at Detroit to send him here to the University of Michigan Hospital, for such aid as Dr. Frederick A. Collier, plastic surgeon, can give. The weird story by which Blichmann gained admittance to the hospital began with the assertion that on May 5, 1925, he left Dubuque for Chicago—clear of countenance. "I met some friends," he said, "and I guess I must have been dooped because the next conscious thought I had was on May 8, three days later, in Detroit." Although admitting that as a former army cook he had submitted to diverse and sundry tattooing of no meager proportions, Blichmann vigorously denied that he "had this done." By this he referred to butterflies, stars, arrow-heads, and other gaudy tattoo designs which had converted his countenance into the envy of any South African chieftan. "I was so ashamed of myself I could not muster up courage enough to return to Dubuque," he said. "And the pain of the fresh tattoo drove me at first to so several home remedies which only confirmed my fear that the affliction was permanent." For a livelihood, Blichmann said, he was driven to odd jobs, mostly at night. "I couldn't stand the way people looked at me," he explained. Without promising a complete restoration of Blichmann's face, Dr. Collier and his staff are making a careful study of the case, in the hope that by grafting and plastic surgery, their patient may be returned to a semblance of the condition he originally enjoyed from Providence.

DUGGAN WILL TOUR WEST TEXAS

President Arthur P. Duggan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will make his first tour of the territory served by the organization during the month of August. His itinerary will take him through the mountain sections of west Texas and eastern New Mexico. He will go into the Davis mountain section where he will attend the Davis Mountain Big Bend district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held in Marfa on August 11. He will then visit Alpine and inspect the Sul Ross state teachers college and will swing through the irrigated sections at Fort Stockton, Fort Davis and Balmothea and will go to El Paso which place he will visit on August 13. He will then enter New Mexico speaking at Almagordo and Cloudcroft and will attend the eastern New Mexico district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce on August 16. He will attend the two day meeting of the southern New Mexico association at Carlsbad opening August 17. His itinerary is not completed, but he will make a number of addresses while on the tour. It is expected that he will open his campaign for equalization of taxes on this campaign. Mr. Duggan will be accompanied by Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and E. H. Whitehead, publicity manager. Mrs. Duggan and Mrs. Wade will probably accompany their husbands on the trip through the recreational sections of Texas and New Mexico.

Randall Crop Moves Rapidly

CANYON, Tex., July 9.—Wheat harvest is in full swing throughout Randall county, and the golden fields are bringing a much appreciated prosperity to the farmers of the county. The yield in this and surrounding counties is heavier than ever known before, many fields making as much as fifty bushels of high grade wheat to the acre; the average yield will be well over thirty bushels to the acre. Gist Farm has Great Crop One of the largest farms of wheat is that of R. D. Gist, located about twelve miles southeast of Canyon, the wheat farm comprises more than 1000 acres and the yield will be more than forty bushels per acre to the entire farm if fair weather continues until the harvest is complete. Much of this is summer fallowed land, on which the wheat is more than four feet high with unusually long well-filled heads; however this year there has been so much rain that the wheat on the land which was not summer-fallowed will make a better yield, the taller wheat being difficult to harvest, and some being lost. A part of the Gist farm has made above fifty bushels to the acre. Four combines are being used on the great farm, and the wheat is being marketed by truck as rapidly as the combines finish the threshing. Wheat Fine West of Canyon A. N. Burgan, a farmer living about five miles west of Canyon, has just completed the harvest of one field of wheat which has yielded forty-seven bushels to the acre. With another week of fair weather the wheat harvest in Randall county will be completed. All Panhandle counties are making enormous wheat crops, and for the moment wheat is more talked about than oil.

2000 FOR TEA AND TEA FOR TWO THE USA AND

NEWPORT, H. I., July 10.—Probably the biggest tea in society's history was held at the Breakers Saturday when General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt was host to 2,000 persons, including 1,200 midshipmen from the naval base here and many members of the summer colony. Ostrich feather "chokers" are being worn by women in Paris this summer.

Town 35 Years Old, Never Had Killing

OLNEY, Tex., July 9.—Thirty-five years has elapsed since the founding of Olney and yet there has never been a killing in the history of the city, despite the fact that it has been in the midst of oil development for the past three years. There has been only one suicide in Olney's history—and that was years ago. The finest farm land around here could have been purchased for 95 cents an acre, 35 years ago. A few days ago, 560 acres, two miles north of Olney, was sold for $75,000 in cash. The land has been tested for oil without success and the sale price was based on the soil's agricultural value. Although rains and holidays slowed up activities, there were four completions during the week in the Olney district. The Robert Oil Corporation's No. 6 Rogers is making 200 barrels at 860 feet and the Pandem Oil Corporation's No. 2 Whitehead in the same pool is estimated at 125 barrels. The Sun's No. 7 Kunkel is producing 225 barrels at 1,100 feet and Reed & Wooten, in the Markley pool, have a 125-barrel well the No. 1 Watson, at 557.

BROWNFIELD MAKES COMMUNITY TRIPS

BUSINESS MEN PROFIT BY GETTING IN TOUCH WITH FARMERS BROWNFIELD, July 10.—The weekly trips that are being staged by the chamber of commerce are proving very effective in that they are bringing the farmer and business man together in a social way and making for a better understanding between the two which will prove to be of great value in future development of this section. Short talks are indulged in stressing the value of the trade at home policy and diversification, but entertainment plays a large part as the band is always taken along for concert work with additional string music and quartets and the farmers are proving their appreciation by attending in large numbers and providing luncheons for which up to date they have refused to accept any remuneration.

JOE CANNON IS ILL

DANVILLE, Ill., July 10.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon is confined to his bed with a severe bronchial cold. His condition, considered serious for the last 24 hours by his physicians, is now improving, according to latest reports. The veteran congressman's fever has subsided and his pulse is rapidly returning to normal.

Jumping costs of living in France are expected to be followed by further demands for wage increases.

Why Girls Go Back Home

CATHARINE BRODY

"Why Girls Go Back Home" with Patry Ruth Miller in a Warner production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Marie Downey, of Winesville, as famous as Paris, thinks that because Clifford Dudley, a matinee idol, kisses her, she has become engaged, and naively follows him to New York. Clifford wants to get rid of her without harmful publicity, but Marie, defending his reputation, reforms, shows states she is his fiancée. This leads to the papers. Clifford ruthlessly "frames" Marie in a compromising situation. Marie is heartbroken when this counter story breaks, but Sally, her chaperone, will "make" her. Winesville reads the scandal.

Such an extra edition was so unusual a circumstance for Winesville. Indeed, it never happened except on days when war or peace was declared, or when the results of gubernatorial or presidential elections were known. That the town could not but be appalled that something of great importance had occurred.

Business suffered that day in Winesville. So did Marie's reputation, which was gone over with a fine tooth comb from the days when she had winked at other babies from her carriage.

It was decided that, item, Marie Downey had never been much good; that item, Joseph Downey had spoiled her; that item, John Ross was well rid of her and in addition that Marie wouldn't dare come back. But if she did—she dared—well—just let her!

The town chuckled and read a blue-inked editorial about the corruption of the name of Winesville's fair.

He took out a green letter from his pocket. "I've read it by heart now, but he looked at it anyway to refresh his memory of the Marie who could write as simply and sincerely, if to him, as coldly, as that: "Dear John:

"Please don't be angry because I left without saying goodbye. I am sure you were mad at me and sorry I was mean to you. I cannot help it if I love Clifford Dudley, and I only hope some day you will find someone to love as much. I wanted to see you and tell you about it, but I couldn't manage. Write me that you forgive me.

"As ever, your friend," "MARIE."

"I have to see her," cried John aloud. "I won't believe anything until I see her."

Not for nothing did John have a determined jaw and bright blue eyes. But he brought himself to see her, and he would have to be told if he went to New York. He walked slowly uptown.

His father and mother meanwhile were horrified examining the paper which Mr. Ross had brought home for his wife's perusal. Mrs. Ross knew of the details, anyhow, because a dozen women friends had already informed her over the telephone.

But she went over them herself. They were all right, she thought, to each other, though they had both been heartily in favor of Marie.

"And to think," added Mrs. Ross, "that I had her in my house at my table. She cast a glance of horror at the table, expecting somehow to see it covered with gore."

"Is that John downstairs? Here, Grace, sit on the paper," said Mr. Ross quickly.

Mrs. Ross did so. When John came up, they were calmly dipping spoons into soup. Noticing John's pallor, however, his mother could not restrain a "Tech Tech" of pity and anger for the anguish of her child.

Mr. Ross gave her a restraining glance. The Ross family ate in silence. John was seated at the head of the table, but he was not to be seen until the dessert that, clearing his throat, he launched a thunderbolt on his family.

"Dad, I want to go to New York." Both the Rosses started. Mrs. Ross's eyes filled with preparatory tears.

Why, he had walked with Marie to Sunday School only ten years ago. He had carried her books to high school—only two years ago. And it was only two months ago that he had bounded into the hotel, as by right and with the smiling approval of Mr. Downey, who-hooded up the back stairs, to tell Marie that they would be late for the show if she didn't hurry. She had hurried, all right, carrying on a conversation of sweet nothings with him down the back stairs.

He knew her so well. He could remember, and he proceeded to remember with pain, just exactly the way she parted her hair in the middle and brushed it brown waves away from her forehead.

Just exactly the way her dimple unexpectedly pierced one plump cheek. They had a standing joke about that dimple. John had stolen it, for he had had one in the opposite cheek. It rarely showed now. Nothing to show it for.

He knew her so well. She had told him everything, she thought—about the standing joke about that dimple. John had stolen it, for he had had one in the opposite cheek. It rarely showed now. Nothing to show it for.

REED BOOSTED FOR PRESIDENT

MISSOURI TALKS ABOUT WET FAVORITE SON IN WHITE HOUSE

KANSAS CITY, July 10.—The most popular topic of conversation in Missouri these days, with the possible exception of the weather, is why Senator James A. Reed should not become an active candidate for the democratic presidential nomination in 1928.

All started with a timid whisper Thursday night just after the senator had delivered an address at the most enthusiastic homecoming with which he has been honored in long and varied career. The whisper kept getting louder and louder until today it had become several octaves above a yell.

Politicians and business men are finding it a topic for fascinating speculation and the newspapers are writing editorials about it. Senator Reed himself, dropping for the moment his mask of inscrutability, is wearing a smile as mystic as that of the Mona Lisa.

When the question was put to him and after the smile had trickled into the corners of his mocking mouth, Senator Reed answered definitely that he would not seek re-election to the seat. To a great many politicians he couldn't have made a better answer if he had replied that he certainly would jump at an opportunity to seek the nomination astride the prohibition and the world court issues. It was like applying a torch to the conversational grass which already had become crisp, dry and inflammable.

One editor came out with the declaration that "Al Smith isn't in it with Jim Reed, nor is any other candidate talked of on the democratic side. He is the best bet. He has the ability to be president and could provide this country what it needs—another Jackson or Roosevelt. With Jim as the nominee it will be the people of the country, who raise the wheat, the corn, the cattle, the hogs, the cotton and wool against the New Englanders and the manufacturers in the East who are rolling in wealth at the expense of the food producer. It will be the Missouri valley with the Northwest and the Southwest against the corrupt and contented East."

George Kingsley, president of the National Independence Union, which sponsored the non-partisan homecoming dinner, said that the presidential candidacy of Senator Reed, "is one of the brightest things in prospect for the future of America."

"He is one of our outstanding democrats," Kingsley said, "and his popularity is growing daily. His work in the senatorial investigation of prohibition enforcement and primary expenditures in Pennsylvania has strengthened his position as a national figure."

Ardent admirers of Senator Reed are pointing out that the old antagonism of former years to Reed is "wearing away and that the 5 being regarded as the strongest leader of the party."

NEW FREEDOM BRINGS UGLINESS INTO LIVES OF TURKISH WOMEN ADMITS TURKISH WOMEN LEADER

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, July 10.—"Styleless, cheap, ugly, loud Westernism" is already hampering the spirits of the emancipated Turkish women, according to Halide Edie, wife of Adnan Bey, one of the first Turkish women to take the B. A. degree at the American College in Constantinople.

In their new freedom, she says, the Turkish women have lost much of the charm associated with their old life.

"If the women world of old lacked both passion and vehemence, it lacked also vulgarity and the realities of life, which those women would have dismissed as 'empty fidget and ugly fuss' she said.

Halide Edie is an accomplished woman of personal and intellectual charm. Her husband was the representative of the Angora Government at Constantinople, or Istanbul, as she calls it, during the Allied occupation. She is a woman of strong character, who divorced her first husband, a distinguished mathematician, because he took a second wife.

In a delightful picture of the life of the unemancipated Turkish women she quoted the old Moslem saying and tradition, "Speak of the dead always with benevolence." She said she wished to emphasize the best in them, "for they are all dead and their greatest sin—which I believe to have been a certain lack of life—is buried with them." Yet with almost a tone of regret she spoke of the charm of that old life.

"Their background was beyond criticism," she said. "There was a unity of line and feeling of space in those days in all Turkish dwellings—furnishings, mosquitos or gardens. Whether it was covered with brilliant silks or humble white cloth, each room had the same long, low divan stretching from wall to wall. The windows in each room would cover all that was not wall, and the lattices in the lower panes relieved the eye and shaded the sun-gorgeous light.

"The women were most industrious more so than the emancipated are. Their sewing was a thing of art, their dress—always the same—was a triumph of perfection, and their scent was the perfume of fresh clover fields. They were certainly very pleasant to look at and fascinating to listen to, not for what they said but for the tone and the way they said it.

"They were not indeed as beautiful as the books described them; they were either hothouse creatures or bulky matrons. But their supreme beauties were fair voices and the language they spoke. Their Turkish was the most beautiful in the Turkish world. The lullabies, the stories and the songs they sang may be found again, but they will never be rendered in the old way.

"The young women were always to be pitied. They neither spoke, smoked, drank nor laughed before their elders. But, on the other hand, they could flirt, although even that was a tame sort of thing, its wildest limit being the exchange of letters written by the public letter-writers.

"Other interests the unemancipated had none. One might say that although none of them talked of Nationalism, they were the stronghold of all that was most national in Turkish life and art.

"The settings of all the emancipated women (I am one) are ugly. Our homes have neither the light nor the space and sweep of line of the old. We do not take our homes so seriously now. A great many of us have the amusements, the education, and the other chances of our men.

"We are not dull, we associate with our fellow-men. Dullness is not allowed any more.

"We have spoiled the beauty of our language as we have spoiled our furniture. The low tones are gone, and the pure Turkish of 1900 is twisted and nervous, too much alive to be harmonious. It has altogether a foreign touch. Our dresses, perfumes, and language have no longer the simple charm and purity which generations of native artists had evolved.

"If we confess to all the shortcomings, we may as well mention a few things which the unemancipated

Olney Leads Texas As to Oil Wells

OLNEY, Tex. July 10.—One out of every five producers drilled in Texas is put down in the Olney district, according to figures for June just announced by the State oil and gas department. Out of 1,333 drilling permits and 538 producing wells in Texas last month, 233 permits and 102 producers were registered for Archer, Young and Jack counties. These three counties comprise the district of G. W. Tilley, oil and gas supervisor, with headquarters in Olney.

Archer led all counties in the number of producers but was third in the number of drilling permits, being exceeded by Hutchinson with 184 and Brown with 122. Young county showed a heavy gain, with 97 permits, as compared to 55 for May and Jack county, heretofore negligible in oil circles, applied for 212 drilling permits last month.

Nearly half the counties in Texas are witnessing oil activity, the official report showing operations in 114 counties. For the first six months of the year, there were 2,480 oil wells, 163 gassers and 2,116 dry holes completed in the State.

could not lay claim to. Most of us are working to win a livelihood, and as bread-winners in the community we have a new, but nevertheless a real, conception of human dignity and freedom. And the most glaring contrast with the unemancipated is this; although we are such strong Nationalists we are allied to a larger world. In our appearance, morals, virtues and sins we are no longer so individual or even national; we are international.

LYNCH BROADCASTS FT. WORTH TALK

CLAIMS HE IS LEADING NOW BY FIFTY THOUSAND VOTES OVER STATE

FORT WORTH, July 10.—Delegations from Wise, Parker, Ellis, Johnson and Hood counties as well as from the towns of Arlington, Mansfield, Crowley, Benbrook, Grapevine and other points in Tarrant county, came to Fort Worth tonight and attended the big rally held in the interest of Lynch Davidson's candidacy for governor. The delegations, in some instances, were composed of more than a hundred persons and fully one-third of the audience was women voters. Fort Worth people turned out en masse. Davidson talked for an hour and one-half. His audience was very attentive and applause was frequent.

Karl Crowley, chairman for the rally, announced that the Houston man's speech would be broadcast from radio station KFQB and after Mr. Davidson commenced to speak, a flood of telegrams came in from all over the state. Chairman Crowley said that more than a thousand radio parties were "listening-in" and that many advance requests had been made for Davidson to explain his plans in reconstructing state government along business lines.

Davidson prefaced his remarks with the statement that he is high man in the governor's race by 50,000 votes as it stands today, and added that if every enfranchised citizen will vote his convictions there will be no need for a run-off, because he will be elected in the first primary.

"The politicians and the oil and liquor crowd are fighting hard to defeat me, because they know when I am elected governor there will be no more gravey served free with state orders and the monopolies will have to abide by our anti-trust laws," Davidson said. "Whenever a voter casts his ballot for one person just to defeat another he is playing directly into the hands of this crowd."

Davidson declared "it is a pity that the young attorney general has decided to abandon his job to satisfy his political ambitions." Moody uncovered the rottenest spot of graft ever brought to light in the history

Brownfield Sets Avalanche Right

Brownfield, Texas, July 6, 1926

Editor, Avalanche, Lubbock, Texas, Dear Sir:—

Reading in the "It is reported" column of the Avalanche of even date I notice that the statement that one of the most important needs of your city is a highway directly west to the New Mexico line in order that tourists reaching Lubbock over the Texas Transcontinental Trail will have a route open to them for reaching points of interest in New Mexico and in view of the fact that the article is misleading and is calculated to create a doubt in the minds of strangers traveling toward Roswell from the north as to the existence of any highway after they reach Lubbock pointing in the direction of Roswell, I am calling your attention to the fact that there is a state highway between Lubbock and Brownfield and from Brownfield to the state line which connects with the state highway leading directly to Roswell and "other points of interest" in New Mexico and that this highway is maintained and is as good as any in Lubbock county.

I further desire to call your attention to the fact that the present highway from Lubbock to Roswell by way of Brownfield is shorter than would be any route leading west from Lubbock to a connecting point with the New Mexico highway at Bronco for the very obvious reason that any route passing through Cochran county would of necessity be routed northwest from the west line of Hockley county to Morton and would then bear southwest to Bledsoe, thence directly south along the state line a distance of several miles to the New Mexico connection.

It is easy for the citizens of Brownfield and Terry county to understand and appreciate the progressive spirit of the citizens of Hockley and Cochran counties and their desire to create a highway east and west to the state line but they can not understand the viewpoint of the business men of Lubbock provided that their attitude is reflected in the article referred to as Brownfield and Terry county have always responded to requests for assistance in matters of direct benefit to your city and only indirectly to our county and town and this too at a time when every man was needed and prior to the creation of the counties of Hockley and Cochran and before there was a town contained within their borders, and we are loath to believe that the writer of the article contained in the "It is reported" column, reflects the sentiments and desires of the majority of his townsmen.

Lubbock has been designated or designated herself as the "Hub" of the South Plains and it must be admitted that she is entitled to the name if population and development are to be considered, but a hub is useless without spokes and a full set is needed to make a perfect wheel which fact seems to have been lost sight of within the present year.

The right of the business men of Lubbock to promote and establish highways within the borders of their home county can not be questioned but if she expects to retain the loyalty of surrounding counties she should be very careful in taking an active part in the establishment of special highways outside of her own confines as in attempting to place greater strength in one of her spokes she may weaken others.

Yours very truly,
J. E. SHELTON,
Sec'y Brownfield Chamber of Commerce

NO MONEY, NO CAMP, FOR SCOUTS

HARKEY SAYS UNLESS FUNDS FORTHCOMING, BOYS CAN'T GO OUT

No money, no camp. That's the situation faced by the Boy Scouts of the South Plains, according to L. S. Harkey, Scout Commissioner.

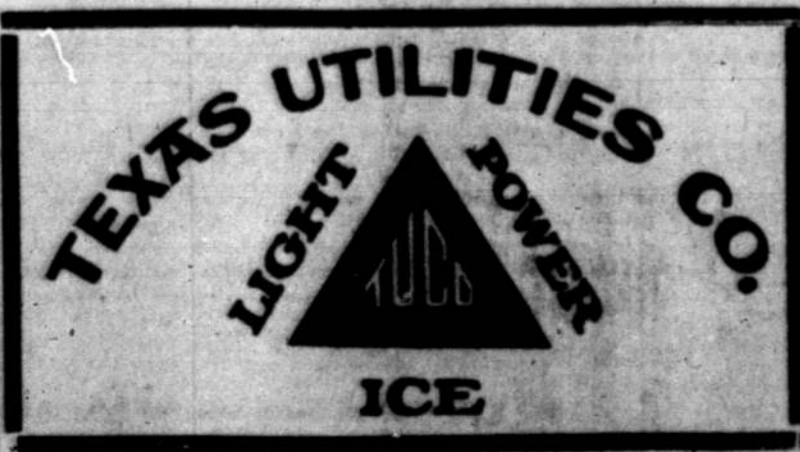

Four hundred of the youngsters had been looking forward to a real summer camp this summer, probably in August, on the great expanse of the Post Memorial Park, but Harkey said yesterday that unless as much as $2000 additional was forthcoming soon to complete the camp facilities, the camp could not be held.

INDIA'S WEALTHY NATIVE RULERS WEAKENING UNDER STRAIN MODERN CONDITIONS; NINE THRONES CRUMBLE

By United Press.
CALCUTTA, July 10.—India's age-old dynasties, many of which have built mighty thrones, are rapidly tottering and falling before the steady, relentless pressure of Western civilization.

Nine great rulers have either vacated their thrones voluntarily, have been involved in internal difficulties or have had their names connected with scandal since 1924 and there are many rumors of others who are to follow to the oblivion of private life through abdication or exile. Princes and rulers, who have inherited their power from ancient dynasties, are falling into disrepute under the strain of scandal and intrigue which is undermining the ruling caste.

Rulers who have fallen or voluntarily vacated their thrones or who are faced with serious difficulties are the Gaekwar of Baroda, who was involved in internal troubles and who is at present living in France; the Begum of Bhopal, who abdicated in favor of her son, Mr. A. J. the Maharajah of Kashmir, who became involved in the notorious "Robinson case"; the Maharajah of Alwar, who became involved in internal troubles; the Mir of Kohat, who became involved in trouble over his alleged extravagance; the Nizam of Hyderabad, who became involved with the Government of India in the case of Jodhpur, who is faced with a serious crisis in his State; and the Maharajah of Nabha, who was removed from his throne by the British Government.

A mysterious man, known only as the Rasnudin of Indore—a religious fanatic who has played a part in more than one intrigue—is believed to have some connection with recent sensational disclosures. This man is known to have been at work sowing the seeds of dissension in the State of the Maharajah of Nabha before the latter's fall and he is alleged to have played a large part in the abdication of the Maharajah of Indore.

Behind the glitter of their vast wealth in private fortunes and revenues, the rulers of India are constantly writhing in a web of political jealousies, intrigue and plots of revenge, which are undermining the entire system. Many of them spend little of their time in their states and London every summer sees five or six of the mightiest princes who "come for the season," but remain long after the season has closed.

Despite their hoards of gold, the power of the mighty princes is undoubtedly on the wane and even those with the greatest power are viewing the situation with alarm.

Many of the Indian rulers are estimated to be worth sums from $1,000,000 to $50,000,000 and some possess jewels alone worth $15,000,000. Golden chairs and jeweled canopies were taken to England by the Maharajahs of Jodhpur and Bikaner when they last visited there. Before he abdicated the Maharajah of Indore led a life recalling the golden-prime of Haroun-Al-Raschid.

The Palace of Indore alone cost $30,000,000.

Today this monarch, who gave his dancing girls gifts worth $250,000, spends his time in a lonely gun-slow in Switzerland with only a small staff of servants and a few personal friends for company.

June Weather Found Benefit to Farmers

WASHINGTON, July 10.—All outdoor activities made unusually good progress in nearly every State during June, the Weather Bureau announced in a statement on the effects of weather on trade and transportation issued at the Department of Agriculture July 1.

The full text of the Department's statement follows:

June continued the leading weather features of April and May, being less rainy than usual in nearly all sections, and cool in the north-central and northeastern portions of the country, though decidedly hot over the western half.

There were no great changes in the temperature situation from week to week, save that just before the middle of the month warm weather prevailed for several days from the Ohio Valley and central Pennsylvania southward, also in the central valleys, whereas, just afterward most of the Rocky Mountain and Plateau districts experienced a cool week.

The rainfall was scanty in most States, though severe drought did not affect many large sections. Some very timely rains occurred in several widely scattered areas, as the need of moisture was becoming serious. In but very few districts were notable floods experienced, and then usually over but small areas. The northern part of Illinois and portions of adjoining States suffered from heavy downpours about the 13th, with moderate damage to roads and bridges, and delay to traffic.

The weather has favored harvesting and moving small grain to market in nearly all districts where the crop has matured, and all outdoor activities have made unusually good progress in nearly every State.

The trade in warm weather clothing and activities in lines that are especially busy in hottest weather have been very dull so far this year in the populous northeastern and north-central portions.

RELEASE FROM JAIL CAUSES MAN'S DEATH

ARTISTS ARRAYED AGAINST 'ARTY' INVASION OF PSEUDO ARTISTS PEEVES PROVINCETOWN REGULARS

By United Press.
PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 10.—The battle cry of "Art for Art's Sake" is marshalling aesthetic tenants of this town's summer colony for a major offensive against the invasion of unesthetic tourists.

Paint and palette have been brushed aside while peeved artists lay lines for a finish fight to erase commercialism, which, they maintain, is fast modernizing this quaint little hamlet by the sea—the only village in the nation whose main street still boasts a town crier.

Just now there's a great hullabaloo about this matter, for the so-called "regular residents," who each year turn this town into America's Greenwich village have noted this season a marked change of locale.

They have observed the startling influx of unartistic persons, far in excess of the "emigration quota" established by the "regulars" and this augmented host, they have detected a real menace to true art.

Sprouting up on all sides are tea rooms, hatik shops and gift stores, where wares are brazenly advertising at top prices; and what once were distinctively New England cottages have been transformed almost over night into fat-rated lodgings whose gaudy signs hold out the hand of welcome to tourists.

Their festivities, in which only accepted members of the colony may participate are held apart from the tourist center. Their bathing, done mostly after dark is mostly on the other side of the point. Their studios are segregated as much as possible in the more remote sections of the village.

No more will the artists garb themselves in the eccentric and picturesque scantiness which has entertained tourists in former years. Instead, in conventional garb, they will be the audience this season, amused by the balloon knickers and futuristic stockings and sweaters which appear on dozens of pseudo-sportsmen.

Santa Barbara Is Better Homes Winner

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—Santa Barbara, California, has been given first place in competition with three thousand other communities in the National Better Homes campaign which has just closed. This announcement was made by James Ford, Executive Director of Better Homes in America, in a letter to Mrs. J. C. Knighten, chairman of the Santa Barbara Better Homes Committee.

This campaign is sponsored each year by Better Homes in America, the national educational organization of which Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is president. The headquarters of the organization are in Washington, D. C. Each year the rivalry is keen among communities, ranging in size from the smallest rural village or group of families to the largest metropolis, in carrying out the purpose of the organization to encourage the improvement of housing conditions. These campaigns vary according to the size and conditions of the community, and include instruction and demonstrations in the various steps necessary to bring about higher standards of beauty, comfort, and convenience in housing and of wholesomeness in home life.

Starting in 1922 with but a few hundred communities participating, the Better Homes movement has grown until in the 1926 campaign over 3,000 communities took part. The judging of the campaign is based upon the quality of the local programs, their comprehensiveness, and the community interest which is aroused.

GOVERNOR OF HAWAII GETS SEVEN-CENTS WAGES

By United Press.
HONOLULU.—A certified check for seven cents was presented to Hon. Wallace R. Farrington, Governor of Hawaii, by the AstMon Navigation Co. here recently, in payment for labor done by the executive in Philadelphia shipyards.

While on an official trip to the mainland Governor Farrington inspected the building of the SS Malolo new passenger liner which will be put on the Honolulu-San Francisco run next year. At the request of the builders, he drove a rivet into the hull of the boat. The company reciprocated with a check.

Of 19,187 industrial workers leaving Germany for settlement in other countries last year, nearly half were mining, metal and machine workers.

Whether the number of cars is increasing in Lubbock is not known, but L. E. Grimes, manager of the Hicks Rubber Company here, says tire sales are increasing. As a matter of fact Mr. Grimes has been in Lubbock only a short time, and he says the daily sales at this time are twice what they were when he first came. The Hicks Rubber Company handles three brands of tires—Dayton, Diamond and Southern. At times it is impossible to fill their orders. Prospects for the future are bright. Mr. Grimes says, and he predicts heavy sales during the fall and winter.

When arrested for using profane language Chris Mager of Chicago said he was only having a few words with himself.

While sitting at the bedside of a patient, Dr. John Williams of Richmond, Eng., was badly shocked by a lightning stroke.

Radio Religious Programs Fill Churches

Radio religious programs are filling the churches rather than emptying them. This is the trend indicated by a survey of sacred broadcasting just made by Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

Returns show that the church which broadcasts is on its mettle when it knows the world is listening in and puts an added zest into the music and service that brings people into the church instead of encouraging them to take their religion in comfortable doses at home.

One church in New Jersey states that since its services have begun to be sent out on the air, the gallery pews have been opened up and dusted off for the first time in twenty years.

The church that does not broadcast on the other hand, feels the competition and makes every effort to bring its services and sermons up to the standards of the radio churches and this, too, is filling up the empty pews.

One hundred and seventy-eight radio stations from every part of the United States and in Canada from Saskatchewan to Montreal, participated in the survey. One hundred and three of these stations, or sixty per cent, are giving some sort of religious service or sacred music as a part of their regular programs. Four per cent are considering adding this feature and six per cent have religious observance only on such occasions as Christmas, Easter and Holy Week.

Forty-four of these 193 stations are owned or operated by some church or religious body. The rest simply include these features along with secular programs, because they feel their audiences want and appreciate them.

Sunday is the day that 86 of these stations send out their sacred programs while 22 are on week-days. The week-day programs consist of sacred music or instructional address. A number have a brief service every morning somewhere between 7 and 8 o'clock. Actual church services are broadcast in 86 instances, while in 22 cases the religious program is prepared especially for the radio and is sent out direct from the studio.

Forty stations report definite cooperation from the ministers, none report antagonism, while the rest did not mention this angle of the situation. One or two replies, told of resentment and jealousy on the part of local clergymen who were not broadcasting because their congregations were apt to stay at home to tune in on the big city churches, but these were notable exceptions.

Only two replies said that a decrease in church attendance could be traced to broadcasting, while 27 stated positively an increase. One clergyman wrote, "Since we have been broadcasting our service our church attendance has grown so rapidly that it is a problem to know how to take care of the crowds." Another pastor wrote that forty persons had recently joined his church, a direct result, he believes, from radio broadcasting.

A Catholic station writes that it has no effect on attendance in Catholic churches as its members are obliged to attend every Sunday but that the radio furnished a means of instruction to their people that could not be given in any better way.

Stations from Texas and Colorado mentioned that the large number of health seekers in these states made radio religious services a great boon as hundreds of them could get them in no other way. Listeners in are in general composed of the ill, the crippled, the very old and those isolated in rural districts. Besides these are a few whom no amount of persuasion would get into a church-going habit but who will listen to at least part of a religious broadcast.

For the rest there are a large number who both listen in and go to church for worship and for social contact. No one felt that the radio supplants church attendance; but is an addition to it, or a substitute where actual attendance is impossible.

A large number of the stations not owned or operated by religious bodies have the Sunday service in charge of various local churches in rotation, a plan which seems satisfactory to all of them. Well known hymns are the most popular parts of the program and many letters are received asking for this or that particular old favorite. Prayers are avoided by some ministers as not being suitable for this purpose. Most of them try to keep away from specific doctrines and to avoid anything that might be offensive to a listener of another faith.

In fact, it is the fostering of this spirit of broadmindedness and tolerance that several writers gave as being the great contribution of radio to religion. Stations giving violent and radical religious expression are most apt to be tuned out while the service run on the strictly humanitarian and undenominational lines, like the Little Brown Church of WLS, offends no one, whatever his belief.

The size of radio church audiences can not be computed. Most of the stations in the survey admit frankly they do not know, while some make qualified estimates of 1,000 up to 200,000 but no satisfactory means of counting radio audiences has been determined.

One feature of growing importance in church radio is the collection. This is particularly significant as it must be purely voluntary and straight from the heart. One church writes that in three years their radio gifts have reached $8,000 without any appeal for funds. The Y. M. C. A. of one town received four hundred dollars in one season, also without any solicitation. One writer comments that the man who is not ashamed to slip a dime in the collection box in church does not hesitate to slip a dollar bill into an envelope in gratitude for some radio service which he finds particularly inspiring.

DICTATOR OF TURKEY LOSING POPULARITY AS KEMAL BREAKS WITH FORMER FRIENDS

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, July 10.—Overthrow of the dictatorship of Kemal Pasha in Turkey is being threatened by the more liberal elements in the Ottoman Republic who are complaining that the rule of Kemal is little better than the kind of government the "Un-speakable" Abdul Hamid gave to his country. Kemal has failed to bring about prosperity in Turkey and though he has absolute sway over the government reform measures no longer get beyond a paper outline.

Many of the leading Turkish figures in the promised renaissance which was expected to follow the removal of the capital from Constantinople to Angora have incurred Kemal's anger and are under arrest or have been forced out of their positions. Kemal has become a megalomaniac, believing himself to be the voice of God and superior to all argument or contradiction.

People in Turkey are pointing to the divorce of his wife as marking the turning point in his career which is now leading to plots against him. The Turkish populace does not side with the wife against the husband, but the same temperament which made domestic peace impossible is said to make impossible peace between Kemal and his former friends. Highly placed personages are being sent to trial by Kemal without legal reason and there is no evidence that the judges are adopting an independent attitude toward Kemal's whims. His power is still so great that the courts are ready to condemn whenever he wishes it thus expressed.

But enemies are increasing daily and Kemal no longer dares go about unaccompanied. He has organized an enormous personal secret service of his own and his bodyguard of detectives is larger than any recent Sultan of Turkey ever thought necessary. Whispers of assassination are frequent in Angora and the discovery of plots is as constant as when the Young Turks, before the world war were conducting their reign of terror to exact reforms from the government at Constantinople. Kemal has recently received the congratulations of members of the diplomatic corps on his escape from an attempt to murder him. This formal acknowledgement by the diplomats of their belief in the danger threatening Kemal has caused added apprehension to the dictator while at the same time it permits him to order troublesome critics into exile or into the hands of subversive justice.

Kemal's early efforts to regenerate his country after the world war are thus coming to naught but not solely through his own fault. The success of the Turks in getting lenient terms from the allies, their triumphant war against the Greeks who sought to annex part of Asia Minor the crushing of the Armenians and other lesser victories that have come to the Angora government during the past eight years, have quite turned the heads of the Turks. Instead of getting down to hard work and pressing forward for the economic reconstruction of their country they have developed an arrogance and self-laudatory attitude which has hit them. They are turning back to war and secret diplomacy, the weapons for centuries of the Turks against the west. In the belief that the genius lies in this direction instead of in scientific progress.

Kemal has been carried away by such false reasoning as this, and so has developed the characteristics of Sultanism. But, the young Turk movement developed under the same principle in the last century and it is being fed afresh by Kemal's efforts to restore the ancient regime. Kemal has not evolved a Fascist movement in Turkey but rather an autocracy. He attempted at first to stimulate Fascism but has withdrawn it within himself as to antagonize his lieutenants. He has himself overthrown incipient Fascism in Turkey so that now there is now absolutism instead. If Turkey continues to tolerate the new Kemal method of administration there can be no hope for the nation. It will be pushed further and further back into Asia Minor, eventually to be crushed by Russian pressure from the east and European pressure from the west.

Vaudeville Trust Is Hart's Charge

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The "two-a-day" is up before the United States Supreme Court.

A suit to enjoin the B. F. Keith Exchange, the Orpheum Circuit, Inc. and other agencies which place vaudeville artists on the "big time" has been brought before the highest court by Max Hart, independent booking agent, who alleges his business has been destroyed by an unlawful combination in restraint of trade.

Hart, who has offices in New York, unsuccessfully asked lower courts for an injunction to prevent the theatre booking agencies from excluding all acts not booked by themselves. He has just filed petitions asking for a review of the case, and the high court will rule upon them shortly after it meets again next October.

The lower courts dismissed his petitions on the grounds that booking of theatrical performances was not interstate commerce, and hence not subject to the operations of the Sherman or Clayton anti-trust acts, even if a monopoly were proved.

Hart combination, designated by him as a "trust" appointed themselves representatives of all the "big time" vaudeville theatres in the United States and Canada, and that their representatives executed all booking contracts. Representatives of all producers were required to carry on their business on the floor of this exchange.

Hart, who said he had been "very successful" as personal representative of some 70 "big time" vaudeville acts, charged he was arbitrarily excluded from further participation in negotiating contracts for this class of acts. He was excluded from the exchange and has lost all his clients, he said.

The cause of his final exclusion was "an alleged act of disloyalty which consisted in his attempting to obtain for one of his clients a better engagement than was offered to such client by the booking offices," Hart's petition said.

GASOLINE ORDERED USED IN DENATURING ALCOHOL

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The Treasury Department announced on July 2 that it has resorted to the use of gasoline as one of the materials necessary to wholly denature alcohol and make it unfit for human consumption. Charles R. Nash, acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue, declared that hereafter the denatured alcohol formula No. 2 in the Treasury's regulations would include gasoline at the ratio of one-half gallon of approved gasoline to each 100 gallons of denatured alcohol.

After seventy-one years' service in the same composing room, J. R. Seipior, foreman compositor of Huddersfield, England, retired recently.

Prohibition Forces to Hold Conference

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Brigadier General Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced on July 2 that he would call a general conference of prohibition administrators about the middle of August for the purpose of thrashing prohibition enforcement problems. This conference, General Andrews said, should aid in clarifying the liquor situation and make for a uniformity of procedure.

General Andrews will leave for London, July 10, as head of the American mission to discuss with British authorities a method of drawing up working agreements which will tend to prevent illegal shipping operations connected with liquor smuggling into the United States.

The resignation of John A. Foster, chief of the alcohol squad of the Treasury Department's prohibition unit, was announced July 2, by General Andrews. Mr. Foster resigned because of the illness of his wife, General Andrews stated.

Frank Hale, who has been Mr. Foster's assistant, will assume temporary charge of the alcohol squad.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO CREATE AIRCRAFT PURCHASING BOARD

WASHINGTON, July 10.—A federal aircraft procurement board would be authorized by House Bill No. 11284, passed on July 2 by the House.

The board would coordinate the aircraft purchase plans of all Federal Departments. It would consist of the Assistant Secretaries of the War, Navy, and Commerce Departments an Assistant Postmaster General, the Chief of the Air Service of the Army, and the Chief of the Aviation Bureau of the Navy.

LOCAL SHOWERS BENEFIT LYNN COUNTY CROP

TAHOKA, Tex., July 9.—Local showers have been falling here for the past two days. Several communities of the county have received good rains, while hail damaged a number of crops by breaking off the cotton plants, but no cotton crops were entirely destroyed.

WOMEN LARGE PER CENT OF OVERLAND SIX BUYERS

That the modern woman is responsible for the development and refinement of the present day automobile was revealed recently when the retail sales force of the Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, conducted an investigation into the buying trend.

It was found that the woman of today plays an important role in the selecting of the family car as does the husband. Her taste is keener and her natural leaning toward smartness and economy has done much in the automotive progress.

Hundreds of women, according to the sales records of the Willys-Overland Company, are purchasing Overland Six models because of the modern air and distinctiveness which is incorporated in these models.

The day of the big lumbering motor car is past and women demand the smart, fast, easy to handle car. Overland was one of the first companies in the automobile world to realize this change in the buying trend. As a result the Overland Six was introduced on the market.

Only a few years ago the average woman was completely satisfied with the slow awkward electric car which attained an astonishing speed of 15 miles an hour. Not so today. Speed is an essential, beauty a necessity and economy an important feature.

The Overland Six is especially designed to travel between 40 and 55 miles an hour in perfect comfort. Its low swung motor and sweeping lines add to the power and beauty

Great Interest In Junior Colleges

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10.—Great interest is being aroused in education circles of Texas in the junior college movement. This fact is not only indicated by reports that have come to the authorities of the University of Texas from time to time during the last several months, but in what has been actually accomplished along this line.

At a meeting of educators at the University of Texas who are interested in the establishment of these institutions various matters connected with their establishment and operation were discussed. The meeting was held at the suggestion of Dr. Frederick Eby, director of the summer session of the University of Texas. The feasibility and desirability of holding an annual conference of all persons interested in the junior college movement were considered and definite action to this end probably will be taken in another meeting to be held later in the summer.

Lee Clark, president of the Junior College at Gainesville, was elected chairman of the new organization, and Miss Norma Egg, member of the English department of the new Junior College at El Paso, was elected secretary. N. K. Dupree of the Junior College in San Antonio was elected vice president. There is a probability that this temporary organization will be made permanent at a later date.

making it an ideal car for the exacting woman.

In addressing the meeting, Dr. Eby pointed out that the establishment and standardization of junior colleges are making fine progress in Texas. He said that by this fall six new institutions of this character will be in operation, and he hoped for their solution by means of study and co-operation.

Pawn shops and restaurants are to make heavy contribution, players of mah jong must "ante up", sellers of salted and preserved articles and flour are now listed, and anyone having use for noodles, fresh fish, parcel post packages or a door plate will also pay.

Motorcycles are to be provided for visiting nurses of Cambridge county, England.

"THE BIGGEST AND BEST IN THE WEST"

Good and Bad Advertising

Which is good? Which is bad? Here are two questions that confront the business world throughout the universe, and a guaranteed formula which would point out all the good also all the bad, would be worth a fortune.

If we could produce advertising schemes for the merchants and guarantee them to get certain results, we would be swamped with inquiries throughout the nation, but it can not be done. Advertising is, in a sense, a gamble; the merchant or advertiser must take a chance on the results obtained from advertising of all descriptions.

Advertising has a close relation to the production department of the oil business, that is to say, each investment made in either, is more or less a chance, but without taking that chance, we can gain nothing, so chance is what moves the world. The oil operator in years past, would obtain a lease on a certain tract of land, he would then make a location for the drilling of a well, and in most cases, the main thing to do would be to locate as near to water for drilling purposes as possible, then he would start after the fluid gold below, and history shows that in some cases, this well was in the right spot in some others, the drill missed the pay sand on a few hundred feet to the north, south, east or west, or possibly less than one hundred feet in depth, and in many cases the location was made many miles from production; then came the geologist who makes surveys trying to locate structures hundreds of feet below the earth, where in many cases, the oil has been trapped & remain the balance of all time, unless some operator hits the spot. The geologist has been the means of saving the oil man many dollars, but, ask one of them if they can locate oil in paying quantities and see if he doesn't tell you he can trace out a structure, and should oil exist in that certain locality, it will no doubt be found in the structure which underlies a certain scope of territory. The geologist is a valuable asset in the oil business, but he has spent many years of study and research in order to accomplish the things he can do, but first and last, he will never attempt to tell us that he can locate oil.

Now comes the chance in advertising; the advertiser decides to do a certain kind of advertising in order to attract the attention of the purchasing public, and tell them in his message, why they should buy his product, (yes he is trying to eventually obtain the same thing as the oil man, THE MONEY) but hundreds of thousands of dollars have been sunk, and in many, many cases, the investment has been a total loss, but it was one of those chances we have to take.

The man who ran the first page ad in a newspaper was considered foolish by the entire neighborhood in which he lived, but history shows that he made a great success in business; but he took a chance, he followed his own ideas, and the man who has the nerve to take some business chance, is usually the man who succeeds.

But now come the advertising game in later years very much improved, and with less chance to take, as we now have experts who do nothing but study advertising, and when we say study advertising, we mean from every standpoint; he must know the article in which he is going to advertise, he must know and study the conditions in the locality in which the advertising will be done, he must get the very best results obtainable for the amount of the publicity cost, this is what he is paid for and if he can not make money for his firm, he is an added liability, but, the advertising manager I shere to stay, he has become a permanent fixture, but will not expose. Now, we have in mind, one class of advertising they do endorse, that is, they do not advise their members against it, and from our viewpoint, it is very clever advertising, in fact, it will bring as good results as billboard advertising in a tunnel. The nature of this advertising, is composed of a well worded advertisement which appears in a city directory.

Charlie's New Role

This is Charles Chaplin, dressed as Napoleon, a part which he will play in his new picture based on the life of Bonaparte. Raquel Meller, famous Spanish songster, will play the lead opposite him.

Now, a city directory is a very fine book and contains some good information, but it costs like sixty to publish one so here is where the merchant comes in handy. For a liberal amount of cash, he can get his ad printed on a colored leaf of the directory, the leaf are assorted colors, price is the same as to color leaf of which his ad appears but nevertheless, the cost is a plenty. But now comes the question, who reads the ads in a city directory? Did you ever read them? We didn't think you did; but since you say you didn't read them, how is the merchant going to realize on the cost of his ad? Did you ever hear of any person entering a place of business, and say, Mr. Merchant, I wish to see some washable silk like you have advertised in the city directory? No, we didn't think you did. But this is only one advertising feature among several, of which the high gifted, natural born advertising expert, would have the merchants believe is worth the money.

When we are sick we see a doctor. If we have a house to build, we seek men who are in the building business. If we are in trouble we see a lawyer; but if we wish to do some extensive advertising and do not feel capable of tackling the job, why not consult some one who makes advertising a profession?

ENGLISH COURT DENIES SILENCE GIVES CONSENT

LONDON—The old maxim that "silence gives consent" is not accepted by English law, under a recent ruling of the court of Criminal Appeal.

A prisoner, accused of receiving stolen goods, had remained silent when asked whether guilty or not guilty and his silence was taken as a plea of guilty. He was sentenced by the lower courts to five years of penal servitude. But the court of appeals ruled that the silence was not adequate evidence of a plea of guilty by the prisoner and discharged the convicted man.

ESTIMATES BRITAIN HAS UNMINED COAL TO LAST MORE THAN THOUSAND YEARS

LONDON, July 10—There is sufficient unmined coal in the British Isles at the present normal rate of extraction for more than 1,000 years, according to F. C. Starling, research expert of the Department of Mines of the British Government.

"The United Kingdom is now mining approximately 250,000,000 tons of coal annually. Of this amount about 175,000,000 tons are exported, while the remaining 75,000,000 tons are diverted to home consumption with little indication of substantial increases in the future," Starling declared.

"A Royal Commission appointed in 1866 to investigate the probable quantity of coal contained in the coal fields of the United Kingdom, and the quantity of such coal which may reasonably be expected to be available for use, reported, after five years of research, that coal reserves of the British Isles, in seams of one foot thickness or more, down to a depth of 4,000 feet, totalled 146,480,000,000 tons. Of this quantity 90,207,000,000 was defined as the probable quantity in ascertained coal fields and 56,273,000,000 was estimated to be the quantity concealed under the newer formations.

"Basing its calculations on the then production of 115,000,000 tons, the Commission estimated the coal supply would last 1,273 years. These estimates, however, were revised in 1905 by another Royal Commission appointed to make an extensive study of coal supplies which placed its estimate of the total reserves at only 140,398,000,000 tons, being more conservative in estimating unproved supplies.

"Later estimates swelled the total until in 1915, Professor H. S. Jevons estimated the reserves at 187,000,000,000 tons, while the Royal Commission on the Coal Industry last year reported sufficient coal to last for seven centuries if account was taken of probable and possible reserves and this Commission pointed out that its estimate would be correspondingly extended if methods of extracting coal from below the 4,000 foot level were found.

"On both the economical uses of coal and the development of low temperature carbonization, depends largely the extent to which coal will last in all countries.

Starling pointed out that the present high temperature carbonization employed by gas works and coke ovens, utilizing vast quantities of coal, is wasteful, in that it destroys the values of oils in the product, leaving only the coke that has not proven practical for domestic grate use.
