Riding Assn. Request For Building Denied

Application by the Aransas County Riding Association for a building at the riding arena was denied Mar. 31 by the Commissioners Court.

Commissioners Raymond Owens and Albert Wofford voted to deny the application. Commissioners W. B. Allen and Jack Sparks to accept it. County Judge John D. Wendell broke the tie by voting to deny the application.

Owens said he voted against the application because part of the proposed building would have been made of concrete "which would have made it difficult to remove if the county ever decided it needed the county property on which the arena is located."

Other actions at the meeting included:

1) Miss Lola L. Bonner, attorney, filed application to close an unnamed road in Manning Addition. The commissioners voted to table the matter until the next meeting for further study.

2) Judge Wendell presented specifications to the court for a truck-tractor, trailer and 6 to 8 yard dump truck.

3) County surveyor T. E. Griffith reported on progress made in establishing a survey line between Nueces and Aransas counties.

4) The commissioners voted to include air conditioning and electrical repairs in remodeling and painting plans for the courthouse.

The tentative plan would be to start this course about April 17. The class will probably meet from 3:45 p.m. to 5:15 p.m. each afternoon until a minimum of 30 hours of classroom instruction in driving have been given.

Classes will not meet on Saturdays and Sundays. The day by day schedule for these classes will be issued later. At the present time there are six vacancies in this second class.

The tentative plan is to start the observation and behind-the-wheel driving during the last part of June. A pupil cannot complete the behind-the-wheel driving in less than 12 calendar days. A driving schedule will have to be worked out for each individual pupil who takes the course.

There will be a charge of $25 at the time of registration for this course.

School rules on conduct and dress will be observed.

Deorama Held At Sacred Heart

Expressing the need for a "Sharing of the Essentials Among the Faiths," Father Eugene Erdelt of Sacred Heart Parish along with Father Harold Edmondson of St. Peter's Episcopal Church spoke at the ninth meeting of the Deorama.

The Sunday afternoon session was hosted by the teenagers of this area, the second time since the inception of operation Deorama in mid-September, '66.

The towns represented at the meeting were Port Aransas, Aransas Pass, Ingleside, Portland, Sinton and Rockport.

One of the newly-formed and highly successful religious youth projects, the monthly Deoramas attract a wide variety of subject matter and excellent speakers to lend authority and information as questions arise.

Thus far, the program material has featured such current issues at the dangers of LSD and similar drugs, moral hazards and parent-versus teen relationships.

The most recent meeting based its theme on Ecumenism, and featured a film presentation on the unity of thought and purpose of all faiths.

Further intruding the topic was Rocky Rouquette who led off the usual discussion period in which spokesmen are elected from each group to report the ideas of the particular group.

Following a brief intermission, Father Edmondson talked to the teenagers and emphasized the need for dialogue rather than monologue in a better understanding among the Faiths.

Following the Mass which is always the last of the program highlights, the nearly 150 young people and their adult sponsors and Priests were served refreshments of ice cream, sandwiches and Coke. Thereafter, a dance was held in the VFW Hall with music provided by the Rebels of Ingleside.

Throughout the program, it was repeated that non-Catholic and Catholic teenagers alike are invited to participate in the monthly Deoramas, and enjoy the benefits of group discussion as well as the recreation that always follows.

of a field of 24 typists. Gay Lee Mayfield and Darlene Rouquette received a second and third place out of 14 contestants in shorthand competition.

Five students from the Aransas County High School became alternates to the Regional Meet by placing second or third in competition. William Allgood and Jeffrey Teague placed second in boys Debate. Susan Ballard placed second in Girls' Extemporaneous Speaking. Johnny Kuehn placed second in Boys' Persuasive Speaking. Beth Bohmfalk placed third in the Science competition.

Gay Lee Mayfield and Barbara Davis places third as a team in the Spelling and Plain Writing contest.

Aransas County High School placed fourth in total points in the eight-school Spring Meet.

Girl Scout Little House Is Repainted

The Girl Scout Little House was the object of a general clean-up last Saturday. The yard, a storage shed, and the building were all cleaned, repaired, and painted.

Adults, parents and leaders of Girl Scouts descended on the premises armed with hammers, saws, paint brushes and strong arms. The building was painted a pale yellow on the inside and the wood trim on the outside was painted green.

One parent spent the day hauling away trash and junk. Another adult has offered to cover the worn furniture in the building. Workmen replaced the screen doors on Friday.

The girls plan to complete the clean-up by planting flowers around the Little House, making new curtains and try to fix the floor.

The funds are limited for this so they have proposed to have a bake sale to offset the cost. They need to repair the floor, replace cooking utensils in the kitchen, put in five window panes, and solicit the work of an electrician. One whole circuit of lights does not function.

Any donations of work or materials will be welcomed. Contact Mrs. J. C. Gurley, neighborhood chairman.

The Girl Scout neighborhood of Rockport-Fulton has 128 registered Girl Scouts and 22 adults registered. This is the largest number of Girl Scouts in several years. There are two Brownie troops, two Junior Girl Scout troops, one Cadette troop and two Senior Scouts.

State Draft Quota Is Set at 885 Men

Austin. — The state's 155 draft boards will be called upon to furnish 885 men for the armed forces in May, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state selective Service director, said Thursday.

This compares with quotas of 675 for April, 761 for March, 674 for February, and 1,100 for January.

There will be no quotas for the physical and mental pre-induction examination of men in April, Colonel Schwartz said.

This continues a ban on examinations since early January because of the budgetary limitation of travel funds.

The state Selective Service director said no decision had been made as to whether or not examinations would be held in May.

He said Texas currently had sufficient examined and acceptable men to fill current quotas.

Induction quotas for the Army by Texas draft boards in the fall of 1966 reached as high as 2,700 monthly.

Masonic Night Is Observed

Rockport Chapter No. 479, Order of the Eastern Star met for a stated meeting Monday night, April 3 at the Masonic Hall. During the business sessions, A. G. Gardner, W.P., assisted by Mrs. I. E. Alle-mang, marshall, installed Miss Evelyn Townsend as treasurer to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Mary Juergens who moved away from the city. The Pink Ladies reported 15 gowns completed for the purpose of sending them to the Masonic Home in Arlington.

The Master Masons were honored by the local O.E.S. Chapter. Guests present for the program were 19 Masons and their wives. The program, under the direction of Mrs. A. L. Bachman assisted by the Worthy Matron and other officers, was interesting and entertaining.

William R. Harris of Corpus Christi, member of the Masonic Education Committee, Grand Chapter of Texas, gave an address on Masonic work. Mrs. Clara Bell Herron of Taft Chapter, who is a member of the Fraternal Visitation Committee, Grand Chapter of Texas, gave a resume of the aims and accomplishments of this particular committee.

Mrs. I. E. Alle-mang, chairman of Pink Ladies and Pink Ties committee, reported the receipt of three merit awards presented for many hours given to altruistic work such as aid with sick, bereaved, hospital visits and the much rewarding efforts of some in "patterning" a young man in the area who has shown much improvement.

The Worthy Matron was presented one of the awards and the other two will be presented at the next meeting, due to absenteeism at this time.

Sandwiches, pies, tid-bit morsels, coffee and hot chocolate were served to 51 present. Each Mason was presented with an appropriate book mark.

NOTICE

The Rockport Duplicate Bridge Club will not meet Thursday night, April 6.

WITH A FLAIR for the humorous, an unknown Brazilian used a broom to make the statue of composer Carlos Gomes an elegant sweeper.

Special Square Dance Friday

The Paws and Taws Square Dance Club will have a special dance Saturday night, April 8. Harper Smith from Dallas, will be the guest caller.

Square dancers from all over South Texas are expected to attend this dance. Smith calling the night the square dance building was officially opened. He called again April, 1966, so this is his third time for the Rockport club.

An after-party with food is planned to complete the evening's entertainment. Supper will be served immediately following the dance and then a program will be presented by the men of the Paws and Taws Square Dance Club.

The Paws and Taws will present an evening of entertainment at the High School auditorium April 14 and 15. It is called "Around the World in 90 Minutes."

The children of square dancers, a teen-age group from the club, will be on the program. The men of the club will be the stars for the evening. Over 30 couples are working to make this public program a success.

Donations for this entertainment are $1.00 for adults and 35c for students and children. Tickets are available from any square dancer, child or adult.

The curtain will rise at 8 p.m. both Friday and Saturday nights, April 14 and 15 and the Paws and Taws extend a welcome to everyone.

The club dance for the square dance club April 14 will be cancelled because of the program.

Rockport PTA Holds Meeting

The Rockport Elementary School PTA met March 30 in a called meeting at the school auditorium.

Mrs. Charles Smith, president, opened the meeting. The main business of the evening was the election of a nominating committee to present officers for the coming year.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Donald Oliver, chairman; Mrs. Pete Ramirez, Mrs. Edward Satterbo, and Mrs. Johnny Edler.

Mrs. Benny Bloomer reported the program of the Record Book sale and stated that a limited number of these books may still be purchased at the cost of $1.00 each.

The announcement was made that Mrs. Cecil Lang's children, Mark, Lynn, and David had all done well in the Science Fair at El Campo and that Mark had won Grand Championship.

It was also announced that Debbie Haigood, daughter of Mrs. Elvin Haigood, had won the county spelling bee contest.

Room count was taken with Mrs. Tom Moore winning, after which the meeting was dismissed. A social time followed with refreshments of punch and cookies being served.

The next meeting will be held April 18 in the Rockport Elementary School auditorium. A special program is planned with guest speaker being Lt. Col. Robert Stroet who will speak on Russia.

All members and interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

Social Security Medicare Kit Available

Medicare beneficiaries who signed up for medical insurance protection can now obtain an information kit to help them keep a record of their doctor bills so they will know when they reach their yearly $50 deductible, H. M. Cleveland, Corpus Christi Social Security district manager, said today.

The kit includes a record-keeping folder and two leaflets which explain the two methods of payment for medical insurance claims, and what medical expenses count toward the $50 deductible.

The folder has pockets on the inside for holding doctor bills and space to write in the date and amount of each bill so that the beneficiary will know immediately when he reaches the $50 each year. After that, the medical insurance plan pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges for covered expenses for the remainder of the year.

Cleveland said that all new medicare beneficiaries will receive the kit when they sign up for medical insurance. Those who already have medical insurance coverage should write, telephone, or visit the social security office to obtain this free kit. The office is located at 1802 South Staples in Corpus Christi, telephone TU 3-5511.

Also, people who need help in completing a medical insurance claim are urged to get in touch with the social security office. Cleveland said his staff will be glad to help in every way possible.

CHURCH WOMEN UNITED TO MEET

All members of the Church Women United of the Aransas county area are invited to hear Mrs. Manfred Gerhardt, a past state president of CWU, speak on the local, state and national work of the organization.

The meeting will be held at the YWCA in Corpus Christi Friday, April 7 at 9:45 a.m.

County Youth Sponsors Meet

The Aransas County Youth sponsors met April 3 at the youth center. President Floyd Rouquette called the meeting to order. Rose Crickenberger presided over the election of the new officers of the student body for this year.

Students elected were president, Kenneth LeBlanc; vice president, Danny Oliver; secretary-treasurer, Donita Setterbo. The entertainment committee consists of Brenda Clark, Sue Clark and Rose Crickenberger.

Dates for dances to be held in April will be Saturday night, April 8 with the "Zu-bachs" playing and on April 22 with the "Fourth Reign" playing. Dates for dances in the month of May will be May 6 and May 27.

Mrs. Jay Roden reported a donation to the youth sponsors of 50 new records for the juke box. These were donated by Bob Eschberger, owner of Johnson's Drug Store.

The youth sponsors were informed by letter from the Aransas County School board of the school's need for the present building now being used at the youth center. The youth sponsors have the use of the building until Aug. 1.

Therefore a great need has arisen for a new site and building to be used as a youth center. The youth sponsors hope to bring this problem to the attention of the public as they need to have a recreation building for the young people.

Any help, advice, or assistance on this problem by any resident of Aransas county will be greatly appreciated by the youth sponsors.

Editorial

DIRECTORY ADVERTISING IS ABUSED

Advertising, like everything else good, is abused by sharp operators out for a quick buck.

One of the oldest rackets of all is the selling of space in "directories" and the Better Business Bureau again warns businessmen to investigate carefully before buying or paying for space in these "directories." Make sure, the Bureau says, the directories are legitimate. The Bureau adds there are many legitimate directories. That's true. But there are plenty of phonies.

The promoters have a fairly new gimmick which catches office workers unawares. One day there comes into the office a statement for space in a directory. The bill looks okeh and is worded so that it appears to be a renewal of the listing. Truth is, however, no space was bought or ordered. No one had even made a solicitation. An unsuspecting paying worker in an office may go right ahead and issue the check. That's what the promoters are hoping will happen.

When in doubt check with the Better Business Bureau, or your local newspaper advertising manager.

But first, make sure the purchase was made according to the rules and regulations of the firm before issuing any check.

GRANDMA GREW VIOLETS

The man at the nursery was trying awfully hard to sell the young wife some violets to set out along her walkway from her front door to the sidewalk.

"They'll make you a beautiful border," he said. "They'll bloom early in the spring and the plants will stay green all summer."

The young lady listened to the sales pitch but she wasn't sold. She walked away muttering that she'd have to think it over.

"I don't know why people have turned against purple violets as a border," the nurseryman said. And he added there was a time in days gone by when nearly every home had a border of them around the yard and they were harbingers of spring because they bloomed along with the jonquils and the hyacinths. They let you know spring was finally arrived.

For some reason violets have lost some of their popularity. Especially the purple ones the nurseryman was trying to sell. Grandma always fertilized hers early and she'd cut the blooms that first appeared and she made a corsage from them and wore it to church on Sunday.

On many lawns violets are still around, growing wild, when they get a chance. The power mower is usually rushed across them before they have had much of a chance to blossom forth, but even at that a few blooms manage to come forth between mowings.

The nurseryman was correct. Violets do make a beautiful border. They require little cultivation and little care, and we're sort of glad at least a few nurserymen are selling them again. Maybe the time will soon come around when the purple violets will again be in the good graces of homeowners.

Temptation is that intangible something that makes a man in the summer look at a woman with a full dress on.

Summer is that time of the year if people sit on the front porch it means they don't have air conditioning.

says nobody is going to snatch it from our grasp.

The county not only plans to bid for the airport but also to take over the big Navy landing field in one of Uncle Sam's bargain packages and work out plans for its preservation and use.

BUILDING COST DEFERS LAB STRUCTURE

Construction of the long-awaited marine laboratory of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission is being held up by building costs. Bids ranged from $77,000 to $101,000, but only $50,000 has been appropriated for this project. The Commission will be asked for more funds.

Bonnie Cron and Joan Collins presented a piano recital planned by Miss Ann Pitman. The recital was held in Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Floyd Smith left Rockport to be with her husband, a discharged veteran, who underwent an operation at Brooke General Hospital.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

FAST SPENDING RACE

It took a half century, from 1902 to 1952 for total government spending—federal, state and local—to rise from $1 billion to almost $100 billion. But the next $100 billion government spending, to $206 billion to be exact, was accomplished in 13 fiscal years, from 1952 to 1965.

That is the most astounding conclusion to draw from the figures just released by the Census Bureau in studies of total government receipts and expenditures. They show that in these last super-spending 13 years, total government spending per American rose from $643 to $1,068, making government support the single main expenditure for the bulk of American taxpayers.—Asbury Park (N.J.) Press.

ECONOMISTS CONFOUNDED

Japan is proving that economic experts are not always correct or have all the answers. Two years ago when Japan spent millions preparing for the Olympic Games, economic and trade officials predicted a recession would follow.

According to the experts at that time the country had reached a peak and had spent money to improve highways, rail systems, and cities to impress the rest of the world. They said the people would have a general let-down after the games.

Today, Japan's economy is still booming, with trade rapidly moving up on the world market.—Wind-sor (Ont.) Star.

THE MIRAGE OF MUSIC

A U. S. manufacturer, not content with leaving bad enough along, is reported to be marketing a sound amplifier for transistor radios. It's a horn-shaped object, looking somewhat like a miniature ship's ventilation funnel, made of foam plastic, which is stuck in the sand with the radio placed in the opening. It's designed to "enhance reception" and protect the radio from sand and moisture.

Surely this ought to spur another manufacturer to design a device to protect the involuntary listener from being blasted off the beach. A sledgehammer, perhaps?—St. Catharines (Ont.) Standard.

"AIR HOOLIGANS"

After dusting crops from their plane, the pilot, co-pilot and mechanic of a Soviet craft polished off a bottle of vodka, crash-landed their plane at a nearby village and crashed a dance. The village people's court convicted the three as "air hooligans" and fined them a fourth of their pay for one year. The people's court does not seem to believe that boys will be boys.—Anderson (S.C.) Independent.

KEEPER OF THE TREASURY

We nominate as the first winner of an industrial medal of honor the president of an eastern electronics company. Warmly praised by his stockholders for the firm's spectacular successes, he modestly gave part of the credit to his mother-in-law, who "works at the company and watches every dollar."—Minneapolis Star.

"INSCRUTABLE"

The ways of the East are indeed inscrutable, Frank Tuohy, a British author, reports on a recent visit to China.

Wondering how the regime's proclaimed religious tolerance was faring, he asked to go to church in Peking.

"I am sorry," his guide immediately replied. "Tomorrow is Sunday and all the churches will be closed."—Montreal Star.

In democratic countries voters can kick out governments which increase taxes beyond reasonable amount. Political economists should know that.—Brooks (Alta.) Bulletin.

This and That
JOHN KINSEY

Took a trip down to Harlingen last weekend. First time in the Valley. Nice enough country but from the standpoint of natural beauty, I don't think it's in the same league with the Rockport area.

Our Labrador retriever, Pancho, was so glad to see us when we got home that he ran into my wife and bruised her right leg.

My brother-in-law, Merve Sours, and his wife, from Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., are visiting us. Merve and I have played golf twice. He is a south-paw and doesn't have a chance to play as much as I do because of the weather in his part of the country. Therefore, I intended to beat him "just a little bit." Unfortunately for me, my plan went awry and Merve won one game by a single stroke and beat me the second time by two. I'll show the champ the next time we play—if I can just remember to keep looking at the ball until I hit it.

Anybody got a "super 8" movie projector I could borrow? Our son sent us a roll of film he shot of Chicago friends, and I think he said only a "super 8" could be used for this particular film.

Writing this column on Tuesday afternoon (hours before the city election was over), it was gratifying to learn that voting this morning and during the lunch hour was quite heavy. Regardless of who wins the aldermanic races, it is good to see many of our residents take the time to vote.

How about this weather? Except that we need rain, it sure is ideal for being outdoors in the daytime and enjoying a wonderful sleep at night.

Personal nomination for the wearer of the best looking shirts in town: Emory M. Spencer.

Largest Catch: The largest fish ever caught by rod was the officially ratified 2,664-pound, 16-foot 10-inch long man-eating white shark (Carcharodon carcharias) by Alf Dean at Denial Bay, near Ceduna, South Australia, on April 21, 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartoo, who were in a car wreck are improving and home from the hospital.

The club voted to sponsor donations to buy an organ for the Bayview Rest Home. There is an organ in the home now which belongs to a church. Everyone in the home enjoys it very much.

INDUSTRY STANDS TALL in the TEXAS TRIANGLE

New and better jobs—greater prosperity for the entire area—these are some of the benefits of industry in South Texas. During this Texas Industrial Week, CPL joins in a salute to the many industries that have located and expanded in the area it provides with electric service. Since the end of World War II, South Texas has become one of the nation's important industrial areas. Back in 1948, CPL was supplying electric power for 961 industrial customers. By the end of 1966, 3,443 industries were using CPL electric service. In the last year alone, 28 new industries came to South Texas, and 28 existing plants had expansion programs under way, creating 1,100 more new jobs. Industry does stand tall in the Texas Triangle.

Tigers Slip Past Tynan Mustangs

The Rockport Tigers won the first game of the season by the score of 2-0.

The winning pitcher was (Old-Pro) Lefty John Chupe. Chupe pitched a two-hitter, struck out 11, and walked one.

The Tigers' first run came in the second inning when John "Ace" Garcia lead off with a walk, stole second, went to third on a wild throw by the catcher and came in home when the third baseman missed the ball.

In the seventh inning Gilbert Arispe on first base on a fielder's choice came in home when Paulo (Sluggo) Garza hit a towering double to left field.

Some great defensive plays were made by J. Martinez, J. Mendez, P. Morales and B. Arispe, Jr.

John "Ace" Garcia was perfect at the plate with two singles and a walk.

The Rockport Tigers will play Woodsboro next Sunday at 2:30 at the Merchants Field.

Manager Juan Aleman would like to thank all of the team's sponsors, the team members and Alex Conchola, Alex Lerma, Benny Arispe, Sr. and Coach Polo Flores.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Moore of Rockport. The groom is the son of Mrs. Mary Adams of Garrison and the late Will Adams.

The bride wore a formal length sheath of white satin. Her jeweled lace train fell from a long sleeved bolero length lace jacket. Her veil of illusion was held by a Dior bow. She carried a white Bible presented to her in a Y.W.A. service and a bouquet of calla lilies.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece cowl collared dress of pale blue crepe. Her large white orchid was a gift of the wedding couple.

Precautions to Thwart Burglars Spelled Out by Insurance Group

Many burglaries of homes and apartments in Texas can be prevented if simple precautions are taken, states the Insurance Information Institute.

The Institute's Southwest Regional office in Dallas lists these burglary-preventive steps:

1. If you are away from home, don't advertise it. Tightly drawn shades, notes to newspapers are a dead giveaway even to the inexperienced housebreaker.
2. Whenever you leave home—even if only for a few minutes—lock doors and windows.
3. When you are out at night, keep a few lights lit.
4. Never leave a house key under a doormat or over a door. These are the first places a burglar will look.
5. Keep your garage door closed and locked at all times, whether you are home or not.
6. Door hinges should be on the inside, to prevent a burglar from forcing them with a crowbar.
7. Heavy screening on windows and sturdy double locks on door make forced entries more difficult.
8. Careful attention should be paid to securing basement doors.
9. Large amounts of cash, jewelry and stamp and coin collections should be kept in a safety deposit box or adequate safe.

10. Locks should be changed when moving into a new apartment or when a key has been lost.

11. Don't leave ladders lying around where they can be used by a would-be housebreaker.

12. Be cautious when strangers come to the door. Women at home alone should be particularly careful. Use a "night" door chain.

13. Before leaving on a trip, notify neighbors and police so they can keep an eye on your house. Discontinue deliveries of newspapers and milk. If you will be on a long trip, arrange to have the lawn mowed.

14. Keep a record of the serial numbers of such property as typewriters, firearms, photographic equipment, bicycles, etc. to aid police in the event you are burglarized.

15. Always report burglaries and attempted break-ins to the police and cooperate with officers investigating crimes in your neighborhood.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Shotgunners who come up with sore shoulders after every trip afield may find some consolation in the knowledge that science is continually trying to reduce recoil.

This mule-like kick of the lightweight shotgun, plus magnum loads has become a very unpleasant thing for all shooters. It affects some more than others. This usually is a matter of inexperience, or having a gun that doesn't fit.

Any man who knows how to shoot and has a gun that fits him will have fewer bruises than the occasional shooter, or the man who rents or borrows a shotgun for a day or two of fast and furious shooting.

Some hunters can stand up under the pounding of a 12-gauge with full load better than with a 20-gauge. All guns have recoil. Extent of the impact depends as much or more on the shooter than on the gun and its load.

Some shooters have reduced this kick by using good quality recoil pads. Others use compensators on the muzzle end of their scatter guns. Both are slightly effective. But neither is a total solution.

Naturally this has been a great concern both to the gun and the ammunition manufacturers. They have been producing lighter guns and heavier loads, neither of which tends to reduce recoil.

Winchester has a stock which may prove to be the greatest step forward in reducing recoil bruises on the shoulder. It is designed to take the "kick" out of shotgun shooting.

This new recoil reduction system utilizes the principle of hydraulics and a powerful spring. On a 12-gauge gun it reduces the recoil approximately 78 percent. This gives an effective kick of less than half the 20-gauge load, when shooting the heavier 12.

This stock is available on two Winchester guns, the Model 1200 and the Model 1400.

"Inside story" of the new method of recoil reduction includes a new Cycloc stock. It duplicates the warmth of walnut, but provides greater strength than wood. It resists scratches, corrosion, salt solutions, oil alkalies and mild acids. It won't warp or crack under extreme temperatures.

Inside this stock is a set of strong springs that flank a hydraulic cylinder. When the shotshell explodes, the springs and the hydraulics cushion the impact. The two-piece stock depresses under the kick, and then returns to its original form.

Measuring the impact of recoil is not a new practice. Technically the kick is known as kinetic energy. It is created by the backthrust of the shotload as it travels along the barrel length. It is referred to in foot-pound measurements, and the results are generally known as "free recoil."

A comparison taken from available tables, shows that a 7 pound, 12-gauge shotgun, loaded with 3 dr. of powder and 1 1/4 oz. shot will give a kick of 22.4 foot pounds. In a heavier load, 3 3/4 dr. of powder and 1 1/4 oz. shot, the recoil amounts to 44 pounds.

A 6 1/2 pound 20-gauge, with a light load of 2 1/4 drs. and 3/4 oz. shot will produce 16.9 pounds of back thrust. The 2 1/4 x 1, will produce 28.4 foot pounds.

This indicates that if the new Winchester device reduces free recoil of the 12-gauge to approximately one-half of the 20-gauge load, the light charge would deliver under 10 pounds of kick and the heavy load would be less than 15 pounds.

Any shooter should be able to stand up under this all day at skeet, trap or in the field.

Naturally the reduced recoil shotgun will get its first real tryout on the shooting range. Skeet and trap shooters as a rule, have more time and money to spend. And they are constantly seeking ways to reduce recoil in sustained firing.

Miss Sue Johnson's Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson of Rockport have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sue Ann, to Lester Tedder, III, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. P. L. Tedder, Jr. of Rockport.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Aransas County High School and Southwest Texas State College.

Miss Johnson is a member of Chi Omega, Pi Omega Pi, Alpha Chi and Kappa Delta Pi. At present she is teaching at Lee High School in Midland.

Mr. Tedder is a graduate of Aransas County High School, served four years in the United States Air Force and is now attending Del Mar College and employed by the United States Post Office.

The wedding will be in July at the First Methodist Church in Rockport.

These men also know the science of getting their gun butts to the right position against their shoulders.

No doubt similar studies are being made on big bore rifles. Here the casual hunter pays little attention to the recoil in the fever of excitement. The target shooter does. Also, it may be able to do a lot for the shooters of fully automatic weapons on the battlefield.

Two water connections and two sewer hookups were made during the month of March, according to records at the city hall.

TIME PAYMENT MERRY-GO-ROUND CAN BE AVOIDED

"It is almost impossible to live in our present day society without being lured into spending beyond our means," says Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension specialist in home management, Texas A&M University.

Yesterday's luxuries become today's necessities. Everywhere people are on the move. And with each move there is usually an attempt to live just a little bit better than before. "Buy Now and Pay Later" has become a national slogan.

No matter how much you earn it is quite likely that your family cannot have everything it wants. In order to get the greatest satisfaction from the money you do have, it is necessary to spend wisely and curtail impulse buying.

Many families refuse to budget their incomes. They feel budgets are too strict, and are not realistic. "Budgets just won't work." They go along from day to day letting commercial companies manage their money by collecting installments on everything in the house and "forcing" them to pay for items they would not otherwise have. This is the only way they can "save" they say. When emergencies come along, they borrow more and are constantly on a financial merry-go-round that results in the perplexing situation of the man who said, "I've never had it so good, why am I so broke?"

If you would like to get off the merry-go-round, if you would like to be master of your own pocketbook if you would like to show some financial progress and develop a reasonable amount of financial security, sit down with your family and do some real thinking about your situation.

1. What do you want your money to do? Both on a short time basis and several years hence.

2. Figure out where you stand right now.

3. Make a plan to accomplish your goals. If this is to get out of debt you must do some real planning and stick to it until you accomplish your goal. You have to make your own plan as nobody is in this same boat with your family. They have their own problems.

4. Try out your plan and keep a record of your spending.

5. Periodically check up to see how the plan is working. This is the critical point where most people give up. Instead of tossing it out the window, get your pencil and eraser and start making adjustments... be flexible rather than foolish.

Knowing what you own and what you owe can be a big help in making decisions about the plan and the use of credit. With many families the decision to stop credit buying for a while is the wisest one; for others credit can be a wise decision.

RED'S TOUR SETS COAST TRAVEL MARK

A young redfish was caught, tagged, and released in Texas waters, March 16, 1966. Just 264 days later, it was on a fisherman's stringer in Florida.

Ray Childress, coastal fisheries biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, tagged the fish in San Antonio Bay last March. At that time, the fish was 16 inches long and weighed 1.7 pounds.

On Dec. 19, 1966, Wallace Lindeman of Tampa, Fla., caught the fish at Jolm's Pass, the northernmost inlet of St. Petersburg. He estimated weight at 3 to 4 pounds.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department got tag certification from the Florida Board of Conservation. Now biologists believe it to be a new record for long-distance tag returns from redfish.

The record time for a fish to be free carrying a tag was established by a redfish captured in 1963. It had been tagged as a baby in 1950.

DOCTOR BILLS FOR MEDICARE EXPLAINED

Filing a claim for payment of doctor bills under medicare is a new experience for many over 65 citizens. Yet most beneficiaries have handled it very well, according to George A. Miles, field representative of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi.

"In any new program, some problems are expected to arise and some delays in payment will result," Miles said. "There are some things which each applicant can do to make sure that his claim for payment is handled promptly."

"Sometimes the doctor will ask the patient to pay his bill. In that case, the patient claims reimbursement under medicare after he pays the doctor. The patient then needs to complete a Request for Payment form which is designed to obtain enough information for the insurance company to identify the person and the amount claimed as shown by itemized receipted bills.

"Many delays in receiving payment are due to the fact that the receipts are not complete enough to enable the office which makes the payments to determine how much to pay," Miles added. "The itemized bills must show the date treatment was received, the place of treatment (home, office, or hospital) the nature of treatment received, the charges for each service, and the amount paid."

Personal assistance in completing the first claim under medicare may be obtained from the Social Security Administration, 1802 S. Staples St., Corpus Christi, Texas 78404.

TEXAS HOMES OF 19th CENTURY VALUABLE PHOTOGRAPHIC HISTORY

Although many examples of 19th Century architecture are rapidly falling before the bulldozer, a valuable pictorial record of the state's architectural past has been preserved.

That record became available to the public last week when The University of Texas Press published a handsome photographic volume, "Texas Home of the 19th Century."

The book is the first publication to result from the state-wide Texas Architectural Survey, a joint undertaking of the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art in Fort Worth on the UT School of Architecture. A second volume will be concerned with Texas' public buildings.

Purpose of the Texas Architectural Survey is to preserve the fast-disappearing record of the state's visual history."

Drury Blakeley Alexander, UT associate professor of architecture, provided the text and a description for each illustration. The 200 black-and-white photographs were made by Todd Webb of Santa Fe, N. M., prominent free-lance photographer. The field work for the survey was done by John C. Garner, Jr., of Victoria, a former UT graduate student in architecture.

In a foreword to the book, UT Chancellor Harry Ransom writes:

"The Texas Architecture Survey will never be completed in the literal sense of that term. Many more structures will be located and photographed, data recorded, publications issued. For this reason The University of Texas, through the School of Architecture at Austin, will maintain permanent files for historians and students. As a continuing study of the past, the Survey will enrich understanding of frontier society and bring an earlier Texas alive."

"Texas Homes of the 19th Century" records a wide range of architectural styles—from the simple log and frame houses (usually with a porch across the front) built by early Anglo-American settlers to the elaborate "gingerbread" houses of the Victorian era.

PINK LADY OF RACING is Donna Mae Mims, a comely speedster who is the only woman ever to win a national automobile racing championship.

Alexander has grouped the examples into three major styles (frontier - settlement, ante-bellum, South and American Victorian) which, he says, "correspond generally to the historic periods in the settlement and growth of the state."

In addition to the Anglo-American, the photographs reflect a rich diversity of national cultures from which other early Texans came. There are the medieval half-timber or "Fachwerk" houses of German colonists, the Alsatian types found in Castroville, the Spanish and Mexican homes in San Antonio and the border towns of the Rio Grande, and the raised-cottage style of French architecture that was imported from Louisiana, blending French, Spanish and West Indian elements.

Among notable examples of frontier - settlement architecture are the Eggleston Log House at Gonzales, the Sam Houston House (The Wigwam) at Huntsville, the Jo-haan Peter Tatsch House at Fredericksburg and the State Coach Inn at Winedale.

What some citizens erroneously refer to as "Southern Colonial" architecture is labeled by Alexander as "ante-bellum South." It represented "the more consciously classic forms of the Greek Revival" and was popular from the 1870's.

Characteristics of ante-bellum South homes were "the symmetrical alignment of windows on either side of the entrance, the columnar porch or gallery, and the symmetrical arrangement of rooms on either side of a central hall."

Fine examples of the anti-bellum style are found in the Governor's Mansion in Austin, the Matthew Cartwright House in Sam Houston Park, Houston.

The final style of architecture considered in the new book is the Victoria, which adopted "a symmetry as its basic principle of composition." The typical Victorian home had a roof line broken up with turrets, dormers, gables and elaborate chimneys. Irregularity of form and elaboration of ornament were its hallmarks.

"By far the most fascinating architecture in Texas is that of the last two decades of the 19th Century," Alexander declares. "It was during this period that architecture was the primary means of expressing wealth, pride, ambition and self-satisfaction."

He points out that in Texas

"our colorful past is best portrayed in such Victorian houses as the Greshman House (The Bishop's Palace) in Galveston, the Littlefield and Bremond Houses in Austin, the Cameron House in Waco, the Waggoner House in Decatur and many others."

The author notes that without the "concerted effort" of many people such architectural riches of the past may be lost.

The future generations of Texas, as a result, will have no visual contact with the past, and our cities will have lost the individuality that only unique architectural monuments provide."
