Dance to kick off Fulton's Oysterfest III

FULTON — Three days of fun, feasting and frolic will literally kick off at 8 p.m. Friday, March 5, when Fulton's third annual Oysterfest is launched by a country-western dance at the Paws & Taws Building.

Clay Blaker and the Texas Honky Tonk Band will provide music for the dance which will continue until midnight, and a mechanical bull will be available for those who want to experience the thrills and spills.

At 9 a.m. Saturday, Oysterfest III will get into full swing with a boat parade and blessing of the fleet at the Paws & Taws Building. The more than 40 arts and crafts booths will open at that time as will the special rides and games provided for the youngsters.

Among those participating in the Oysterfest will be Rockport-Fulton High School Choir students who will have a "kiddy booth" and operate the soft drink concession to raise funds for the choir trip to Vienna next summer.

Choir students will also handle parking for the Oysterfest, says Chairman Leslie Cole. Parking is free for those attending the "fest, but the Fulton Volunteer Fire Department — sponsored of the annual event — will pay the choir students for each car they park.

The mechanical bull ride will re-open at 9 a.m. Saturday and food booths will open at 10 a.m.

The goodies available at the food booths will vary, but oysters will be prominent at a couple of them, at least, including the Fulton VFD booth. The Rockport Volunteer Fire Department also will be serving oysters, according to reports.

Music and dancing will continue throughout the day Saturday, with square dancing at 10 a.m., entertainment by the Country Harvest Band at 11 a.m. and the return of Clay Blaker and his group at 1 p.m.

At 2 p.m., members of the Fulton VFD will demonstrate the jaws of life equipment purchased by the department with proceeds from the first Oysterfest in 1980.

Preliminaries in the new oyster shucking contest will begin at 3 p.m. and the highlight of Saturday's activities — the oyster eating contest — will begin at 5 p.m. The man and woman who can consume the most baggies of raw oysters in the time period in this competition will be declared king and queen of Oysterfest III.

Trophies will be presented to the oyster eating winners at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday's activities will wind down with another country-western dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Sunday in the Paws & Taws Building. This affair will feature the music of "Bush".

On Sunday, all booths, games and exhibits will open at 10 a.m. Highlight of the day is the oyster stew cookoff with registration beginning at noon and the judging and presentation of trophies at 5 p.m.

The finals of the oyster shucking contest will be at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Musical entertainment Sunday will be provided by "Bush," with a performance scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

The Fulton fire department sponsors the Oysterfest each year as a means of raising money for additional equipment and supplies. Profits from this year's event will go into a fund to help pay for the department's new 1,000-gallon pumper truck.

School candidates seek better communications

Better communications between parents and the school board was cited as a need by all four candidates for the Aransas County Independent School District board of trustees during a meeting of the Rockport Elementary School PTA Monday night.

Introduced in alphabetical order, candidates Mitch Ammons, J.W. Hardin, James Jennings and Nelda Lee were given the opportunity to introduce themselves and explain their qualifications and platforms during the meeting that began at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium.

"We haven't seen enough involvement of citizenry, parents and teachers," Ammons, candidate for Place 6 on the board, told the group as he led the evening's program.

J.W. Hardin, seeking re-election to Place 3, later told the audience, "We have to have better communication with parents" regarding what is offered to students in the schools.

The theme was continued by Place 6 candidate James Jennings who said, "We need better parent-teacher relationships and better parent relationships with the school board," and by Nelda Lee, also running for Place 6, who said, "We believe parents belong in the schools. The heart of the problem is to get parents involved."

Speaking on other matters during his talk, Ammons told those at Monday's meeting, "I have the time and I think I have the expertise" to serve on the school board. "I have been a teacher, an administrator in community colleges and a parent involved with PTAs," he added.

Ammons emphasized the need for long-range planning by the school board, with an eye toward the needs of the county school system 10 or 15 years into the future. "Short-range planning is fine for this year," he said, "but we need long-range planning."

He also cited a need for increased emphasis on occupational programs at the high school level, programs for gifted students and use of the Aransas County campuses for adult education programs.

Hardin told parents and supporters at the PTA meeting that the school board needs to "keep a closer check on the budget." He said the school district "will have to pay a bit more attention" to areas of the school's athletic program other than football and baseball and reminded those at the meeting that "each school board member is just one-seventh of the board," emphasizing the need for cooperation among the board members.

Jennings told the audience, "I've been involved with kids in the school district 14 or 15 years — involved as a parent. I feel like the students aren't prepared to go into the outside world when they graduate. They aren't ready for college, aren't ready for a job."

"Why aren't they?" he asked. "Where are we failing them?" Jennings said he believes in "a real strong athletic program. I have yet to see a school that's got a good athletic program that isn't a good school, period."

Jennings was asked the only question of the evening following the candidates' speeches, when a parent asked him what he would do if he is elected to the board.

He said his plans include working to upgrade the standards in the athletic program, getting parents involved and

Elgin Dietz, Mitch Ammons file for city, school board

Two more candidates have filed for Fulton's city council and the Aransas County Independent School District board of trustees.

Elgin Dietz, alderman in Place 3 on Fulton's city council, has filed for re-election.

He is being opposed in his bid for re-election by Jack Bohn.

Elgin Dietz

A resident of Fulton for 17 years, Dietz is a science teacher this year at Rockport-Fulton High School and has taught math at high school and junior high levels in past years.

He is a retired employee of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, having served as regional director and administrative assistant of the department in Austin.

Dietz feels his years of experience working with state and federal agencies give him qualifications for serving on Fulton's council.

"I did a lot of impact statements for the Corp of Engineers," he says, "and I've had experience preparing budgets. For 10 years I prepared the statewide fisheries budget. And I used to hold statewide public hearings."

Among projects Dietz would like to see carried forward in Fulton are plans for a bicycle and hiking path and improvements or replacement of the city's boat ramp.

"The main thing I think we need to work on," he said, "is to keep our taxes down. There are a lot of things we can do if we raise our taxes — I think we can keep our taxes down and still do the things that need to be done. It takes more time to get them done, but if you do it a systematic way, a lot can be accomplished."

Directors' elections postponed for 5 years

Editor's note: The following is part of a series on the past, present and future of Goose Island Lake Estates development and the municipal utilities district that serves it. The series will continue in the Pilot Weekender.

By Pat Blair

"No annual election of directors having been held on April 5, 1975..."

"No annual election of directors having been held April 3, 1976..."

"It was the consensus of the board at the meeting not to hold the annual directors election..."

The first board of directors of the Aransas County Municipal Utilities District (ACMUD) No. 1 was appointed — in August, 1973 — by the Texas Water Rights Commission.

The second permanent board was elected on Nov. 4, 1974, in the election that confirmed the district. Although directors were scheduled to be elected every two years, according to minutes on file in the MUD office, directors were not elected again until 1980.

"I don't know why there were no elections," says current board President Richard Hughes. "At that time, I wasn't aware there was a district."

Hughes didn't take office until 1980 — when he was voted onto the board in the first directors' election since 1974. Also coming onto the board as a result of that election were Byron Murry and Troy W. Butler, neither of whom are on the present board.

Hughes speculated that one reason there may have been no directors' elections for the five-year period between 1974 and 1980 was that "There was nobody living out here at the time. You have to be a resident to vote." Under the laws that established the district, a candidate for the board must be a property owner and/or resident in the district. A voter need not own property in the district but must reside there.

All of the first board members — those appointed in 1973 — were property owners, according to Hughes and to Verne Shurman who helped set up the district and development. None of the five — J.E. Sommerhauser, Robert M. Rogers, Bernard J. Niehouse, Harold N. Smith and Don Gammon — resided there.

That first board met on Oct. 28, 1973, met again in Oct. 5, 1974 to call the election confirming the district and determining permanent directors and met a third time on Nov. 9, 1974, to canvass election returns.

Six votes were cast in the election. The district was confirmed by a 6-0 vote and Rogers, Gammon and Charles S. McCleskey were elected to the permanent board with six votes each. These three, having received the largest number of votes, were declared to have two-year terms, coming up for election in 1976. Charles Warren, receiving five votes and Smith, four, were to serve one year, until 1975 at which time directors would be elected for two-year terms.

From Nov. 9, 1974, until March 21, 1976, there is a gap in the minutes. It is the March, 1976, minutes in which the statement occurs, "No annual election of Local businesses assist choir

Several local business people are championing the cause of the Rockport-Fulton High School Choir this week and next by pledging a percentage of their profits to the choir for its trip to Vienna next summer.

At Kitty's Fashions, 20 percent of sales on all spring dresses this weekend will be donated to the choir fund. The offer holds good for Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5.

Taquito's Unlimited will donate 10 percent of all sales made this week - March 1-6 - to the choir fund.

And on Saturday, March 13, seven Aransas County hairstylists will donate 100 percent of all profits made that day to the Vienna Choir Fund.

Participating hairstylists are Pat Smith, Fisher's; Bobbie Brown, Magic Mirror; Alene Mundine, Petite Chateau; Butch Stephens, Stephens Hair Co.; Dianna Chavez and Carolyn Stallworth, One Hair Place; and Alice Wright, Captain's Razor.

Anyone who is in the market for a haircut - and who wants to boost the choir students' fund - is asked to call for an appointment for March 13. The participating stylists will also accept donations for the choir.

Gear up for spring gardening

Mike Rothrock
County Extension Agent-AG
Aransas-San Patricio
Counties

It's time to gear up for that spring vegetable garden. And two major steps are getting the right varieties and planting at the right time.

Proper planting time is important of maximum quality and production are expected. Since such warm-season crops as tomatoes, peppers, corn, eggplants, beans, squash, cucumbers, okra, watermelon, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, and cantaloupes are sensitive to cold temperatures and can be killed by even the lightest frost, gardeners must be aware of the average date of the last frost for their particular areas.

According to the National Weather Service, the average date of last frosts for this region is February 17. Remember, these dates are average which only means there is a 50 percent chance a frost may occur at a later date. It's also wise to wait until the soil has warmed before planting seeds of warm-season crops. Soil temperature at planting depth should be in the upper 60's or into the 70's to increase seed germination and insure a good stand. The temperatures have not reached this level to date.

Some vegetable crops are cold-hardy and can tolerate light frosts or freezes. These include beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, peas, lettuce, onions, parsley, radishes, spinach, cauliflower, collards, mustard, kale and turnips. These can be planted in late winter or early spring.

I suggest planting some warm-season crops in late spring as they will produce more-high-quality produce. During the hot summer such heat-tolerant crops as southern peas, okra, eggplant, sweet potatoes, squash, and small-fruited tomatoes do best.

I advise planting the best adapted varieties that are available as this can mean the difference between gardening success and failure. Some of the current vegetable variety recommendations by the Extension Service are as follows:

-Bean, Bush - Contender, Topcrop, Tendercrop.

-Bean, Pole - Stringless Blue Lake, Kentucky Wonder, Dade, Romano.

-Bean, Lima Bush - Jackson Wonder, Henderson Bush, Fordhook 242.

-Beets - Detroit Dark Red, Green Top bunching, Asgrow Wonder.

-Broccoli - Green Comet, Bravo.

-Cantaloupe - Perlita, TAM Uvalde, Golden Perfection, Magnum 45.

-Carrots - Imperator, Danvers 126, Nantes, Red Core Chantenay.

-Corn, Sweet - Calmet, Bonanza, Merit (white) Silver Queen Florida Stay-sweet.

-Cucumbers (Pickling) - National Pickling, Liberty, Crispy, Salty.

-Cucumbers (slicers) - Ashley, Poinsett, Straight 8, Cherokee.

-Eggplant - Florida Market, Black Beauty, High-bush.

-Lettuce (Head) - Great Lakes strain, Valverde.

-Bean, Bush - Contender, Tendercrop, Tendercrop.

-Lettuce (Leaf) - Black Seeded Simpson, Salad Bowl, Ruby, Oakleaf.

-Lettuce (Butterhead) - Summer Bibb, Tendercrisp.

-Okra - Clemson, Spineless, Louisiana Green Velvet, Emerald.

-Peas, Southern - Blackeye No. 5, Burgandy, Cream 40, Knuckle Purple Hull.

-Pepper, Sweet - Yolo Wonder, Keystone Giant, Valley Giant.

-Squash - Early Prolific Straightneck, Goldneck, Dixie, Hylife, Bush Scallop, Zucco, Zucchini, Goldrush.

-Tomato - Spring Giant, Floramerica, (nematode resistant), Terrific, Better Boy, Big Set, Jack Pot, Early Girl.

-Turnip - Purple Top White Globe, Royal Globe.

Hair's to the choir

Butch Stephens looks a little dubious about the haircut he's going to get - but it's all in a good cause. Stephens and his four "fellow" stylists are going to work one day for the choir, donating 100 percent of the profits they make on Saturday, March 13, to the Rockport-

Fulton High School Choir for the choir's trip to Vienna. From left are Dianna Chavez, Bobbie Brown, Alene Mundine and Pat Smith. Also participating in the event but not shown are Carolyn Stallworth and Alice Wright.

Cam Leonard's moved. His Trust Department at Allied Live Oak just had to have more room, so we got it for him. Now he's settled into his new quarters, and he's got all the space he needs to handle your trust business right. Of course, Cam always had the knowledge and the ability to take care of you, which is why he's in charge of the only full-service trust department in Aransas County.

Right now, while Federal Income Taxes are on your mind, might be a pretty good time to come down and see Cam. Recent changes in the tax laws may have opened up some opportunities for you. If they have, Cam will know about them, and he'll be more than glad to help you.

If your dog rings don't answer the phone

Pet Talks

Dr. Lutz is a former instructor of diseases of dogs and cats in the college of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

If your telephone rings, you answer it, there is no one on the line, but the phone still rings, don't call the telephone company and report your phone out of order until you first check your dog. The ring may be coming from the head of your dog, or even your husband. Husband's are bad about bringing disease home to their dog.

The condition is known as tinnitus. Tinnitus is a ringing or buzzing sound in the ears caused by a malfunction of the auditory nerve, vascular abnormality or tumor of the middle ear.

Recently there have been reported instances of tinnitus in dogs. The ringing or buzzing can be heard by human in the same room with the dog. It assumes a pulsing characteristic.

There are two forms of this condition. Subjective and objective. The subjective tinnitus is a head noise heard only by the patient. Objective tinnitus is loud enough to be heard by human sitting across the room from the subject.

Dogs are not the only species affected. It also occurs in humans. Human medical history reports this same phenomenon.

The national Center of Health, Washington, D.C. reports that 36 million people in the United States are affected with this condition.

Statewide pool tournament set

President Joann Matranga of the non-profit Amusement and Music Operators Association of Texas has announced details of her organization's plans for a second Statewide Eight Ball Pool Tournament. The amateur championship will feature over $5,000 in trophies and prizes if as many as 100 tables participate. Based on last year's participation, and the increased interest of several national pool table manufacturers, the prize amount is almost certain.

The tournament, which is open to both men and women, will be played in Austin on March 21 at the Quality Inn Hotel. It will be referred and supervised by AMOT members and all participants will be required to sign a statement that they have read the official rules and will abide by them.

Local players may qualify for the tournament by signing up at a local sanctioned participating AMOT member location and winning its double elimination tournament. After the local winners have been determined, they will be allowed to come to Austin and play for the prizes and trophies statewide. Local participation fees will be less than $2 for entry plus the coin-operated table fee.

More information on the event may be obtained at your local participating AMOT member or by writing the Association at 4302 Airport Blvd., Austin, Texas 78722.

Next year promises to be different

Flour Bluff has now won the right to advance to Bi-district play representing District 15-4A, and all that remains for the Rockport-Fulton Pirates is to wait til next year.

Next year promises to be a little different with both West Oso and Gregory-Portland moving out of the district. Oso will go down, while the Wildcats, a team coming in basketball, will go up. One thing which will please many fans next year, and perhaps disturb others, is that the teams will go back to split schedules, with the boys playing one site and the girls at another. For the past few years the schedule has been anything but settled, with the Varsity boys playing at 6:30 one game, and then playing at 8 the next. This way, next year will have constant time for play, with both varsity teams playing the last game at their respective sites.

The Lady Pirates survived a tough season, including a coaching change at mid-term. They won few games, but then again, there was but one senior on the squad with varsity experience, and only after the coaching change did Maggie Kiker get opportunity to shoot the ball. The JV and Freshmen girls had their troubles as well with low-win records in a district with some of the most powerful girls' programs in Texas.

On the boys' side of the picture, Coach Bobby Flanagan's Pirates were a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde team that won two major tournaments, went 5-3 through the first round of district play and then lost seven of eight before ending the season with a win over Robstown, finishing their season at 17-14.

Flanagan's five starters combined to average in excess of 50 points per game, a figure most coaches would be delighted to have from five starters. The only problem is that the team could not hold the score down on the defensive end, losing games 66-63, 60-57, and 52-51 as well as 99-70 or 80-65. Micheal Simmons led all Pirates in scoring with 425 points, followed by Tim Redden and James Walls with over 300 points, and then Rory Morgan and Dennis Hull had in excess of 230 points. Only Redden returns next year.

The Pirate JV gathered their forces at the end of the season to pull out a decent year for themselves, although the win-loss record was not that good. For a team to go 1-11, to finish up 9-3 over the final 12 games is outstanding and indicates some promise for next year.

The Freshmen had people talking this season as Coach Ronnie Ormand had his team run-and-gun, but also play pressure defense. That philosophy brought the team a 19-4 record for their efforts. The Pirates lost early to Flour Bluff, a team they beat twice later, then to Beeville, GP, and Beeville again, as the Trojans went through the season undefeated.

So, eight months from now, we'll do it all again as round-ball starts over for the 1982-83 season.

Some may strike it rich, but we'd accept it on authority that if at first you don't succeed, you're with the vast majority.

Studying the history of the camellia, you will find the natural camellia belt along the coast of China and the offshore islands including Japan and Formosa.

In 1948, twenty varieties of camellia reticulata were introduced to the United States from the vicinity of Kunning in the province of Yunan, China. The camellia belt extends from cold areas of Korea in the North to the semi-tropical area of Indochina in the South.

One story about the camellia introduction to the western world involves the tea plant which is a close relation to the camellia. Around 1700 a British Trading Company commissioned one of its sea captains who was leaving for China to bring back specimens of China's tea plant. The British were planning on growing tea in Europe this eliminating the expensive time-consuming and hazardous trips to the Orient for tea.

China, however, was aware of what would happen if they let their tea plants get to Europe. They gave the sea captain ornamental camellias as tea plants. This is reported to be the introduction of Japonicas to England.

The botanical classification of which the camellia belongs is called Theaceae. The camellia is one of sixteen genera of this family. The camellia is the only genus of this family of major ornamental importance, measured by their popularity, the japonicas, the sasanquas and the reticulas.

Japonicas, being the most popular, are therefore considered to be the most important by many growers. There are several thousand named varieties of the Japonicas. The Japonica has a uniform growing habit and superior foliage and flower. You will find the simple five petal single to the most complete double camellia.

In Japonica species you will also find the widest range of colors pink, rose, red, chalk white and blushes. The Japonica has the longest blooming season due to the large number of varieties. You can have a continuous bloom up to six months from late fall to late spring with Japonicas. This is good for landscaping giving the yard and garden color when they are bare in the winter.

The foliage of the Japonica looks as if it has been waxed, making its appearance far superior to the other varieties. The Japonica bloom is noted for its diversity, formality and lasting qualities. The bloom size varies from miniature or boutonniere (under two inches in diameter) to semi-double ranging up to seven inches across.

The Japonica can attain a height up to 30 feet with a compatible spread under favorable conditions. An old estate in California has Japonicas that are 85 years old, 31 feet tall and have a 38 foot spread with a trunk diameter of 12½ inches.

Sasanquas have several hundred varieties and colors available. The Sasanqua has small blooms that

Just tell them it's just junk food-they'll love it

By Jean Glowka

Q. Recently you wrote about the use of vitamin C during pregnancy. You also recommended a book for pregnant women who are interested in nutrition, but, until I can find and read the book, would you give a brief rundown of the basic supplements needed during pregnancy?

A. Okay! For superior health it is felt that a pregnant woman should take the following supplements daily as a routine maintenance program (special problems would mean higher amounts of some supplements): vitamin A- 25,000 units, vitamin D- 2,500 units, B-complex tablets high in cholin and inositol, extra B-6- 10 to 25 mgs., vitamin C- 250 mgs. or more, 2 or 3 tablets supplying both calcium and magnesium, 15 kelp tablets (5 with each meal) or other source of iodine, iron- 12 mgs., and zinc- 10 to 15 mgs.

These supplements are, of course, to be taken in addition to an excellent diet devoid of "junk foods" and containing an ample supply of such health-building foods as fresh fruit, milk, eggs, liver, wheat germ, yogurt, lean meat, fowl, fish, whole grain cereal, cottage cheese, natural peanut butter, vegetables, brewer's yeast and vegetable oil (one tablespoon daily).

Q. My family loves sweets. Is there a simple, easy (I hate cooking) candy

I could make for them that would satisfy their sweet tooth and still be good for them?

A. You'd have to look a long way to find something easier than this. Mix equal parts of natural peanut butter and honey. Add enough wheat germ and/or non-instant powdered milk (you can get it at a health food store) to give the right consistency. Shape into little balls. — Tell them it's "junk food" — they'll love it!

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

Please send questions to: Jean Glowka, Rt. 1, Box 437, Rockport, Tx. 78382.

The above material should not be construed as making claims, endorsements or criticisms. This is merely a relating of facts taken from research done by a number of nutritionists, doctors and scientists.

Motorecyclist injured

Aransas County paramedics treat Marvin Lee Smith after he was injured in a two car-motorcycle accident on Fulton Beach Road Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 24. Rockport Police, who investigated the accident, said Smith, the motorcyclist, was attempting to pass cars driven by Bess Grace Matteson of New Jersey and Kenneth J. Depuma of Rockport by going between them as Depuma was attempting to pass Matteson's car. The front tire of the motorcycle caught on Depuma's car and Smith struck Matteson's car then Depumas before going off the road and being thrown from the cycle. Following preliminary treatment by the paramedics, he was taken to Coastal Bend Hospital, suffering multiple cuts and abrasions. Police have filed on Smith for passing without sufficient clearance, no drivers license and possession of a controlled substance [peyote].

Bond set against aggravated assault charge

Jose Luis Perez Garza was placed under $2,500 bond after being charged with aggravated assault following an incident Feb. 17 in a local bar.

Garza was charged with threatening Philip Hernandez with a firearm during the incident.

John and Jane Saurbier of Maynardville, Tenn., told police their CB radio was stolen after they were unable to get it back from a repair shop in which they left it early last month.

The Saurbiers told police they took the radio to the repair shop on Feb. 16 and when they went back to get it on Feb. 22, the shop was closed. The shop was still closed Feb. 25 when the theft was reported.

Arrests

Rockport police made two arrests on warrants — one on indictment issued by the grand jury for a Feb. 10 offense — three arrests on charges of driving while under the influence and one arrest for public intoxication during a busy weekend.

Forgery

A case of forgery was reported by officials at Rockport's First National Bank Wednesday, Feb. 24, after it was learned that a check cashed last November bore an unauthorized signature.

Officials told police that on Nov. 3, 1981, a teller cashed a check endorsed by a woman who signed the name "Kathy Layne" to the instrument. The check was a retirement check from Sun Oil to John R. Layne.

The bank has since received an affidavit from Layne that no one was authorized to sign his name or cash a check payable to him.

Burglary

Patty and Art Kretschmer reported a fishing rod and reel and two skate-boards were missing after someone burglarized their storage room in Rockport. The incident occurred between Feb. 12 and Monday, Feb. 22.

DWI

Rader H. Pippin of Victoria was charged with driving while under the influence (DWI) after his car was in collision with a truck on Church Street Wednesday evening, Feb. 24.

Pippin was taken to Coastal Bend Hospital suffering minor injuries after the accident which occurred about 9:50 p.m.

Police said Pippin was northbound on Church when he lost control of his car and struck the back of a parked refrigerator-truck belonging to Charley's Seafood of Arlington.

UTSA Day set for March 10

Students interested in attending the University of Texas at San Antonio can learn all about the university on UTSA Day, Wednesday, March 10.

High school seniors, students transferring from other colleges, students returning to UTSA and other persons interested in the university are invited to visit campus for an informative afternoon. Faculty members and representatives from the Office of Admissions and Registrar, Student Financial Aid and Student Services will be available from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the KIVA, room 2.02.18 of the Multidisciplinary Studies Building, to answer questions.

'Way Down South'

These third graders at Live Oak Elementary get ready for a "style show" in which teachers and students will see the costumes the third graders wore last Monday night when they presented a program, "Way Down South" for the school's Parent-Teacher Organization. The costumes — and the show — proved such a hit at the PTO meeting that the students were asked to go through the school Wednesday afternoon and let everyone see how they were dressed.

Bill Sagstetter retires in Fulton

After more than 30 years of service, Wm. J. (Bill) Sagstetter will retire from Gulf Publishing Company on March 1. Thus ends a distinguished communications career that spans almost half a century.

An honor student, Bill first entered journalism as editor of his (Silsbee, Tx.) high school paper. Later he worked his way through Loyola University, University of Texas and the University of Houston. In 1938, he earned a Bachelor of Journalism degree from Texas and in 1951 completed two years of night school graduate work at Houston.

From 1936-38 Sagstetter was a campus reporter for the Beaumont Enterprise. After graduation, he edited the Coastal Cattleman in Beaumont for three years. During World War II, he spent four years as a Flying Fortress pilot, during which time he edited two military publications. He was separated from service with the rank of captain in 1945.

After the war, Bill edited Corrosion magazine in Houston for a year and was managing editor of the Stockman in Memphis, Tenn., for two years. He returned to Houston as an account executive at Ritchie Advertising Agency and two years later opened his own agency, Sagstetter & Associates.

In 1951, the veteran came to Gulf Publishing Company as Sales Promotion Manager, where he handled space advertising, direct mail, public relations and related functions. In 1975 he became Corporate Advertising Director. When Sagstetter started at Gulf, it had only four publications. In the 30 years, the company has grown to include 10 energy-related publications, a Book Publishing Division, Direct Mail Division, General Property & Services (real estate), and International Training Company (audiovisual training).

In those three decades, Bill Sagstetter won frequent honors. He was recipient of three Gold Chevron Awards from SRDS. Listed in Who's Who in Advertising, he had articles published in numerous advertising and other trade publications. Under his supervision, various GPC industry Market Data Books won recognition as outstanding sales tools and marketing aids. At Gulf Publishing Company, Bill also was on the General Staff and was editor of the company publication, Roundup.

Sagstetter served on the National Promotion Committee of the American Business Press and on the Public Relations Staff of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. He was on the boards of directors and held offices in the Association of Industrial Advertisers, Houston Advertising Club and the Sales Promotion Executives Association — where he was Houston chapter president and "Man of the Year" in 1967. He qualified as a Certified Business Communicator in 1979.

Bill and wife Margaret have bought a house overlooking the bay at Fulton, Tx., near Rockport. Plans are to do a lot of fishing, tennis playing, traveling — and possibly a return to his first love — writing.

IRS says you should report new name

To avoid federal tax refund delays persons who changed their names last year, such as newlyweds, should report the new name to their local social security administration office to ensure that the correct name and number match, the Internal Revenue says, because the records of the IRS must match those of the SSA.

Incorrect Social Security numbers and inaccurate addresses slow up processing and this can delay federal tax refunds.

Another good way to guard against unnecessary refund delays is to use the peel-off identification label provided with the tax package. If the name, address or Social Security number is incorrect, necessary changes can be made directly on the label.

$11 million in taxes released

AUSTIN, Tex. — State Controller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that the U. S. Supreme Court's refusal to hear a Dallas energy firm's appeal involving state franchise tax releases $11 million in tax receipts to the state's General Fund.

These taxes had been paid under protest pending final resolution of the case brought by Enserch Corporation of Dallas.

"The wheels of justice have been chewing of this case for nearly seven years," Bullock said, "and now the court has agreed with us."

Bullock said the state had maintained that sales by gas production companies made inside Texas should be included in calculations of the companies' Texas franchise taxes.

Enserch and 16 other companies had argued that pipeline sales with gas ultimately destined for customers outside the state should be considered sales in interstate commerce and not be used on figuring the Texas tax due.

Bullock sought an Attorney General's opinion on the issue shortly after taking office in January 1975. On July 14, 1975, the Attorney General ruled that the companies' franchise taxes should be figured including the pipeline sales as Texas business. Bullock collected the taxes accordingly.

The Supreme Court's refusal to hear the Enserch case Monday effectively settled the issue in the state's favor.

Texans face higher prices for less gas, warns Nugent

WASHINGTON, D.C., — Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Nugent told a Washington audience that drilling for natural gas has stagnated, production is declining, and Texans face less gas and higher prices unless changes are made to the Natural Gas Policy Act.

Nugent's remarks were made at the Texas Energy Forum, organized by the Texas Office of State-Federal Relations to provide information to people in Washington interested in the impact of federal policy and legislation on Texas energy issues.

Charting the rates of natural gas drilling and production in Texas over the past 20 years reveals a few surprises, according to Nugent.

While gas well completions surged from a pre-Arab oil embargo low of less than 2,000 a year ago to more than 5,000 in 1978 through 1981, gas production declined from a peak of 9.6 Tcf (trillion cubic feet) in 1972 to less than 7 Tcf in 1981, Nugent said. "Well life and productivity have declined faster than new supplies have been added, producing an overall decline in production," he said.

Another surprise noted by Nugent is that more than 60 percent to today's gas production comes from wells completed since January 1, 1974. In other words, recent drilling is the backbone of current production and any slacking in the rate of drilling would cause rapid declines in overall production, he said.

Nugent said Railroad Commission figures indicate the search for Texas gas has stagnated since the passage of the NGPA in 1978 as energy and money have been diverted to exploration for more profitable oil.

The NGPA is working against Texas in another way, he added, because it systematically imbalances natural gas prices and the ability to acquire new supplies in favor of interstate purchasers.

Nugent said a recent Department of Energy study on natural gas shows that interstate pipelines are already out-distancing intrastates in gas reserves and that in 1985, interstates will have over twice the amount of natural gas under controls at a lower price than do intrastate purchasers. Interstate pipelines can use this "cushion" of older, low-cost gas to bid up the price of new gas supplies even higher than the market average, leaving Texans with less gas and higher prices.

Shortages have already occurred in Texas this month, Nugent said, while interstate pipelines were reporting February surpluses of 90 billion cubic feet to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. He added, "if that is the situation today, and the balance continues to shift, I don't have to tell you where we might well find ourselves in future years."

Nugent said that while he supported FERC administrative proceedings to address some of the problems, he doesn't think the FERC has enough latitude under the law to make a major difference. He said the NGPA itself must be changed to give Texas and other intrastate customers a fighting chance. "If the NGPA is to remain in place,"

Nugent warned, "the producing states may find themselves forced to look at their own laws and regulations to protect their energy supplies. We cannot sit idly by if we see the future developing as I fear it will."

directors having been held on April 5, 1975....Directors Harold N. Smith and Charles W. Warren were declared to be holdover directors until the canvassing of the returns of the 1977 directors election, or until their respective successors are duly elected or appointed and qualified."

Approximately one month later, the minutes of the April 25, 1976, board meeting declared, "No annual election of directors having been held April 3, 1976, it was moved, seconded and unanimously carried that Directors Donald E. Gammon, Robert M. Rogers and Charles S. McCleskey be declared to be holdover directors until the canvassing of the returns of the 1978 annual election of directors..."

On Nov. 21, 1976, Smith resigned and in January, 1977, his resignation was formally accepted by the board and August Olson was appointed to fill out his term — which expired in April of that year. At the same meeting, Jan. 9, the minutes show "It was the consensus of the board at the meeting not to hold the annual directors election on April 2, 1977."

Four months later, on May 8, 1977, the minutes state, "No annual election of directors having been held" Warren and Olson were declared holdover directors until 1979.

On July 3, 1977, Olson resigned from the board and Totis J. Onisforou was appointed his successor. In 1978, according to the minutes, there was again no directors' election: Gammon, Rogers and McCleskey were declared holdovers until 1980.

At the same meeting — on May 7, 1978 — Onisforou and Gammon resigned. Walt Addis and Daughtry Roberts — a current director — were named successors. Gammon was at that meeting appointed tax assessor-collector for the district.

In 1979, once again, the minutes show no directors election held in April. Warren and Addis were declared hold-over electors until April, 1981. Addis later resigned.

Addis and Shurman both disagreed with the minutes of the meetings, saying that the district did hold elections. "We did elect directors," Addis said. "I don't know what the minutes show but we held elections."

After excerpts from the minutes had been read to him, Addis said, "That can't be right. I don't know who wrote those minutes. I don't remember not holding elections when I was on the board."

"We've had elections down there," was Shurman's comment. "When it came time for elections to be held, we had elections." He did add, however, that there was a period when the district had no funds "and sat here stagnant. It sat here for over a year when Joe Conlin couldn't come up with his share of the money (to pay for the district facilities)."

Francis Cook, a property owner and resident of the district, has her own ideas of why the board of directors didn't hold elections for five years: "They didn't want to get off the board," she said, adding, "That's my opinion."

Celia Blankert, another property owner, offered a similar thought: "They wanted to keep the same ones in control. They dispensed with all the rules," she added.

Celia's husband, Ranous, had a slightly different idea as to the reason no elections were held: "Nobody wanted to be on the board," he said.

As Hughes commented when offering possible reasons for the five-year absence of elections, "If nobody signs the paper (to file), you can't hold an election."

achieving better communications with the school board.

Lee told those at Monday night's meeting she is a representative of the Committee for Better Schools and said, "My being here right now is the latest development of this group's activities."

In addition to more involvement, Lee said her platform includes an expanded curriculum to suit each child's needs, an upgraded student conduct code, a strong plan for future growth of the school system and increased opportunities for teachers to grow professionally.

Lee also came out in favor of adult education classes. On the subject of expanded curriculum for students she said, "The standards should be high and the work tough. We want to be sure school is a challenge."

Lee said, "I encourage every parent here to get involved in school elections."

Seven injured in collision

Seven area residents, all employees of Marine Drilling Co., were injured in a two-car collision near Palm Harbor shortly before 1 a.m. Tuesday, March 2.

Most seriously injured, according to Aransas County Chief Paramedic Bill Aston, was a man identified as Jack Murphy who was taken to Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi suffering an apparently critical head injury.

Also taken to Memorial Medical Center were brothers Joseph and Tom Roy Berry of Palm Harbor, James Harvey Myers and Tom White, both of Aransas Pass, and Walter Hunter. Alvin Foret of Ingleside was taken to Coastal Bend Hospital.

Aston said all were suffering from injuries ranging from cuts and bruises to head and chest injuries and possible fractures. The victims were stabilized at the scene by paramedics and volunteers of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service who were called about 12:53 a.m., Aston said.

The accident was investigated by Texas Highway Patrolman Steve Miller.

By Lucille E. Skrobareck
The covered dish luncheon on Wednesday, Feb. 24, was attended by approximately 60 persons. In addition to the delicious food, it was delightful to check out the various Western outfits, some of which were very fancy.

There were two very interesting persons featured on the program before the Wednesday luncheon. Mrs. Gwen Gonyea, Director of the Counsel on Aging, invited the members of the AARP Chapter 1536 to take part in the various programs sponsored by the Counsel on Aging. Meals are served to persons who are no longer able to prepare food for themselves. There are groups that meet and crochet and knit; also there are quilting classes, etc.

The second person on the program was Mrs. Myrna

Young who is 83 years young. She gave us thirty minutes of excellent piano playing, and I am sure there was not a person present who did not have a twing of nostalgia to hear all the good old tunes.

The winners of game afternoon on Thursday, Feb. 25, were Francis Weisensel and a lady named Mavis in bridge. The finale was won by Mrs. Helen Howard. Refreshments were served to 44 persons by the hostesses, Mrs. Gladise Thomson and Mrs. Frances Cook. The next game afternoon is Thursday, March 4, at 1:00 p.m., at Paws and Taws.

There is an AARP dance on Thursday, March 4, at 7 p.m., Paws and Taws. Gene Rickles music is featured and the public is invited.

The "Pancake Brunch" on Sunday, Feb. 28, was a success. Approximately 300 persons were served and the food was delicious. Continuous entertainment was furnished during the brunch, and our thanks to the musicians who performed the good, ole tunes to perfection.

Income Tax Assistance is available to Senior Citizens at the Aransas County Public Library in Rockport. The free service is offered from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Thursday, until April 15. If there is a complicated return, please feel free to call 729-0388 and make a special appointment for Saturday.

Nice day for fishing...
...or for just sitting around. Rowe, a Winter Texan from IV is doing. Rowe was among a folks, winter visitors and local alike, taking advantage of sunny skies and warmer weather refreshing hint of spring weekend's cold spell.

Chamber Notes

CHINESE AUCTION & RAFFLE: The Rockport Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring their Second Annual Chinese Auction and Raffle Saturday, March 13, 1982 at 7:30 p.m. In the Paws & Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road. Donation of $5.00 per person will include 3 free auction/drink tickets, free hors d'oeuvres and an evening of fun.

The Chinese Auction will consist of numerous donated items by local merchants for both verbal and raffle auctions. Everyone is invited to come and try their chance on super prizes, dinners, exotic gifts, various services rendered by local businesses, gift certificates and many other valuable items.

Tickets may be obtained at the Chamber office at 404 Broadway or at the door the evening of the event.

This is the main fund raising project of the Chamber and hope everyone will attend the evening's festivities.

ROCKPORT PROMOTED: The March 1982 issue of Southern Living Magazine has an article entitled "On the Face of the Sea - Reflections of the Fisherman" by Mark Childress. The article lists Rockport as "the picture post card come to life, with boats, birds, and peace."

Anyone who begins the day's work with reluctance and ends it with joy will never be a howling success at anything.

Governor's Task Force schedules meetings

AUSTIN — Times and places for 13 public meetings to be held in March and early April, to obtain public participation on issues relating to the amendment of the Texas Water Plan, were announced by the Governor's Water Task Force and the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Among the issues to be discussed are: water resources management for population and economic growth; water laws; water quality management; flood protection; water conservation; bays, estuaries, in-stream flows and fish and wildlife habitat; regionalization of water and sewerage systems; reservoir operations procedures; water importation; project priorities; research and development of new technology; and the state's role in financing water development and wastewater treatment projects.

Names of moderators and the format for the meetings will be announced soon.

Individual citizens, water resource professional, public officials and special interest organizations are urged to attend one or more of the public meetings to participate in the development of an amended Water Plan.

Task Force Chairman Louis A. Beecherl Jr. of

Dallas said it is vital at this time for citizens and groups to take part in the amendment process. "We must revise the Water Plan to meet the long-range needs of increasing population and economic growth in our state," he said.

"Failure to provide adequate water resources and wastewater treatment facilities is to virtually guarantee putting the state's well-being, growth and economic vitality in jeopardy," Beecherl added.

Meetings for this area will be held March 11 in Corpus Christi at the Bayfront Plaza Convention Center, 1901 Shoreline in room 224 at 7 p.m.

Rothschild to show film at CCSU

Amalie R. Rothschild, renowned film photographer will present her most recent film, "Conversations with Willard Van Dyke" at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 9, in Center for the Arts Warren Theatre at Corpus Christi State University. Admission is free.

Rothschild is best known for her film, "It Happens To Us," a film plea for legalized abortion. Other films include: "Woo Who? May Wilson;" "Nana, Mon and Me" and "It's All Right To Be Woman."

"Conversations With Willard Van Dyke" portrays the outspoken Van Dyke's career from film, to his directorship of the Department of Film at the Museum of Modern Art, to his recent return to photography. The hour-long film was produced, directed and co-written by Rothschild.

In 1936, with the belief that films could "change the world," photographer Van Dyke became a filmmaker. In the years that followed, his name became synonymous with the social documentary film in the United States. The films he made — "The City," "Valleytown," "The Photographer" and other — are considered to have become timeless examples of cinematic art, as well as documents of an era.

The film has won the Bronze Award and Best in the Fine Arts category of the 1981 San Francisco International Film Festival; Special Merit Award, 1981

Athens International Film Festival; New American Filmmakers Series, The Whitney Museum, 1981 and others.

For more information contact Dr. Bill Huie, associate professor of communications and TV film at 991-6810, ext. 360.

Rothschild's visit is being sponsored by the College of Arts and Humanities, CCSU Media Club and Student Art Association.

Area rabies warning issued

Owners of dogs and cats that have not been vaccinated for rabies or whose vaccinations were a year or more ago should have their pets vaccinated as soon as possible, says Rockport Animal Control Officer Dick MacMurchy.

This is especially true of cats, MacMurchy said. "I have been told that rabies in cats is way up," he added.

"It's going to be a hot summer," MacMurchy said, "and although we haven't had an incident of rabies since I've been here (in Rockport), the danger is there."

He emphasized that in Rockport — and elsewhere in Aransas County — there is a large population of animals such as squirrels and skunks — all carriers of the rabies virus, he said. And, he added, these are exactly the animals that cats like to stalk, which makes cats especially susceptible to bites from a rabid animal.

"Everybody should check their cat's — and dog's — rabies tags," he stressed, "and not let that vaccination go more than one year."

Residents of Rockport also must have city tags on their animals. These tags are available now at City Hall and cost $2. Residents have until April 30 to purchase city tags.

MacMurchy also reminds residents that Rockport does have a leash law which requires that any dog — whether it has city tags or not — be kept "under the owner's control at all times."

This means, the animal control officer said, the dog must be either in a fenced yard or on a leash at all times.

Accidents are a major cause of children deaths

COLLEGE STATION — Accidents — they're a major cause of death among school-age children.

Car-pedestrian accidents, drownings, fire-related mishaps and firearm accidents are four major death-causing misfortunes among young children, says Diane Welch a family life education specialist.

Even though the death rate from injurious accidents has declined in recent years, among children ages 5-14, accidents are responsible for more than half the deaths of boys and two-fifths of girls' deaths.

Consequently, children as well as adults should be aware of safety precautions and learn to follow them as a matter of habit, she adds.

Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

CAR-PEDESTRIAN ACCIDENTS

Motor-vehicle accidents rank highest in terms of cause of death for boys and girls, the specialist reports. Pedestrian fatalities account for one in every two deaths in car accidents involving children ages five to nine and one out of four at ages 10-14, she adds.

Most pedestrian fatalities occur when children are playing in or crossing the street, Welch notes.

Some precautions to help prevent car-pedestrian accidents are:

*help children watch for cars when crossing streets,

* teach children to ride bikes safely,

* find areas away from streets for children to play and

* urge children to wear belts when riding in cars.

DROWNINGS

The threat of drowning has always haunted parents when children are swimming, the specialist says.

Drowning ranked second among boys and third among girls in accident causing death, Welch reports.

To reduce the chances of children drowning, Welch urges parents to:

* have children take swimming lessons both for pleasure and protection,

* have an adult swimmer or lifeguard watch children when swimming and * make sure safety float lines or rescue rings are readily handy.

FIRES

Fire and fire-related accidents ranked second among causing death in girls and third in boys, the specialist points out.

Careless smoking and children playing with matches and lighters are the major causes of one out of every five fires, she says.

To prevent fires from occurring, Welch says children should:

* know that matches and lighters are not toys,

* learn what should be done in case a fire occurs and

* never be left alone in a house if they are very young.

In addition, adults need to make sure fire-hazardous article are out of sight and reach of children, the specialist says.

FIREARMS

Accidents involving firearms are another major cause of death in school-age children, Welch says.

Firearm accidents appear more frequently among boys than girls, she reports.

In addition, a large percentage of firearm deaths occur in the home instead of outside, the specialist adds.

Consequently, to prevent accidents with guns from occurring in the home, Welch suggests that:

* if firearms must be kept in the house, keep them unloaded at all times.

* ammunition should be locked in a different place from guns and

* children should not be allowed to handle a gun until they receive proper training.

In addition to a large number of fatalities, accidents can cause permanent impairment, disability and time away from school to young children, Welch says.

In order to prevent possible accidents from occurring, parents should take the precautions listed seriously and teach their children to become aware of making safety a habit, the specialist urges.

Low income recipients drops by 50 percent

The number of low income and elderly taxpayers in the southern part of Texas seeking free tax return help has dropped by 50 percent, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

"By January last year, over 4,000 people had visited our volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) sites," says the IRS' Sally Sassen, "but so far this year we've only got records of about 2,000."

The IRS trains community volunteers throughout the state in filling out 1040A and simple 1040 returns. And the volunteers set up sites to help low income and elderly fill out returns, a service the IRS no longer provides.

According to Sassen, who coordinates the VITA Program from the IRS' Austin office, attendance figures through January have dropped from last year in the Austin area from 477 to 390, Corpus Christi area from 229 to 106.

Sassen could give no reason why fewer people were seeking help.

Local VITA site number in Corpus Christi is 888-9431.
