American Aid To Soviets Is Being Studied

Welles Declares Defense Efforts To Be Bolstered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 23. — The United States condemned Germany's "treacherous attack" on Russia today and declared that "any rallying of the forces opposing Hitlerism" would redound to the benefit of American defense and security.

The statement made by Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, after he had conferred with President Roosevelt left open the question of whether lease-lend aid would be given to Soviet Russia.

Question Not Decided

Welles said no communication had been received from the Soviet government as yet and consequently the question had not been decided by the American government.

He said, however, that President Roosevelt had authority under the lease-lend act to furnish aid to any country resisting aggression.

The formal declaration of policy read by Welles at a large press conference declared the immediate issue before the American people was whether Hitler's plan for universal conquest was to be successfully halted and defeated.

To Hasten Downfall

"In the opinion of this government," Welles said, "consequently any defense against Hitlerism, any rallying of the forces opposing Hitlerism, from whatever source these forces may spring, will hasten the eventual downfall of the present German leaders and will therefore redound to the benefit of our own defense and security.

"Hitler's armies are today the chief dangers of the Americas."

Welles gave no indication when President Roosevelt would issue a neutrality proclamation in the new conflict as required by the neutrality act. At the moment, he said, the government is seeking all information possible on developments.

Under the clear wording of the lease-lend act, Welles said, it is possible for the president to take steps to provide aid to countries resisting aggression.

But he said the question whether

Workers Camp Proposed Here

Proposal for an emergency workers camp, to be built by the Farm Security Administration to house workers who will construct the new army air base near Hurlwood, 10 miles west of Lubbock was made at a meeting of the county commissioners' court this morning by Marvin C. Wilson, rural rehabilitation district supervisor.

Wilson told the commissioners that the camp could be either a temporary one or a permanent one and that it would house from 100 to 400 families. He said that the camp would be built, if the county would furnish the site.

To Await Details

The matter was taken under consideration for a future meeting, when more details of the air base construction are known. The court also was advised informally that the federal government wanted a lake on the extension of West fourth street filled, so that the road could be used to the airport

Death Claims Sen. Harrison

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 23 — The body of the late Sen. Pat Harrison, D., Miss., president pro tempore of the Senate and chairman of the finance committee, will lie in state today in the chamber where he served his nation for 23 years.

The 59-year-old statesman died early yesterday of exhaustion following a major intestinal operation performed a week ago. He had been ill most of the current session and recently had undergone a long series of treatments in an Arkansas hospital.

In Congress 30 Years

Harrison had been in Congress 30 years. He had been a member of the House of representatives for seven years when he won election to the Senate in 1918.

The senator's office said today's ceremonies would be simple, as requested by members of the family. Friends had urged that Harrison be given a state funeral. His body will lie in state from 2 until 6 p. m. (EST) for a final tribute from his host of friends on Capitol Hill.

The Senate, meeting at noon, adjourned out of respect for Harrison after eulogies by various members.

His body will be sent to Gulfport, Miss., early Tuesday for burial Wednesday following services at the Methodist church. Gov. Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi, however, has asked that, before interment, the body be given state honors at the new capitol building in Jackson.

Messages of sympathy include the condolences of President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and other national leaders. Mr. Roosevelt paid tribute to Harrison's legislative talents and said the senator would be "badly missed in this hour of grave emergency."

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLain of 2206 Avenue P on the birth of a son weighing 7 pounds and 8 ounces at 1:05 p. m. Sunday. The birth was reported by Stewart and Benson clinic. The father is an employe of Lowrimore Oil company.

Hale County Pioneer Claimed By Death

HALE CENTER, June 23 (Special) — Last rites were to be held here this afternoon for M. P. Routzahn, 86-year-old bachelor farmer and rancher, who died Sunday.

Burrell Liles Is Killed; Six Others Injured

Car Is Overturned Several Times Early Sunday

An automobile accident claimed the life of Burrell B. (Bobe) Liles, 14, only son of a widow, and injured six other young persons about 2:45 o'clock Sunday morning nine miles west of Lubbock on Levelland highway.

The fatally injured boy was the son of Mrs. Birdie ee Liles of 1007 Avenue S. He was driving the car which was a 1939 model heavy sedan belinging to his mother.

Ran Off Highway

Other occupants of the machine told T. C. Laws and Billy Johnson, highway patrolmen, the car went off the highway on the right side, striking a soft shoulder on which dirt had been dumped recently. The youth had difficulty pulling the machine out of the soft dirt, and when he did so, the car went across to the soft shoulder on the opposite side of the highway and overturned about six or seven times.

None of the seven were left in the machine when it came to a halt between 50 and 75 yards from where it first overturned.

Others Suffer Injuries

The following suffered cuts and bruises:

Edmond Austin, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Austin of 2012 Fifteenth street, who remained in Lubbock sanitarium this morning.

J. B. Gilliland, 14, and Etta Jo Gilliland, 19, children of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gilliland of 1920 Main street, both of whom remained in the sanitarium.

Joyce Hill, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hill of 1007 Avenue S, dismissed after treatment.

Max Myatt, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Voris Myatt, of 2210 Seventh street, dismissed after treatment.

Pauline Pennington, 15, of 1909-A Tenth street, dismissed after treatment.

Funeral Set Today

Funeral services for the Liles boy were scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon at Rix chapel, with Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Park

Tax Remission Bill To Help Counties Is Killed By Veto

AUSTIN, June 23—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today vetoed a bill remitting to counties one-half of state ad valorem taxes for a period of five years.

The bill, passed by both houses after some opposition, would have donated to counties approximately $4,500,000 a year of state revenues.

Outlines Own Desires

A similar measure, approved by the legislature two years ago, subsequently was ruled unconstitutional by the state supreme court. Attorney General Gerald C. Mann held that law and the bill vetoed by the governor invalid.

In vetoing the bill, O'Daniel asserted he preferred granting additional taxing authority to counties and abolition of the state property taxes.

He added he did not believe it wise, due to large legislative appropriations, to reduce state revenues.

Branded Unsound Policy

In a message addressed only to the Senate, in which house the bill originated, the governor said:

"I believe it is unsound governmental policy to remit these ad valorem taxes to the counties to spend. If we believe that the counties need more money to spend, and if we do not want to place

With Russia's Entry In Conflict—

U. S. Reds Said Likely To Halt Subversive Acts In Aid Effort

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 25—Administration officials today wondered whether American Communists who have fomented defense labor disputes would now do an about-face as result of the German declaration of war on Russia.

Spokesmen for both the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, however, said the role of Communists in recent strikes has been greatly exaggerated and that no sudden cessation of disputes could be expected.

Probably Support Britain

Administration and congressional leaders have charged Communists in this country with fomenting strikes on the direct orders of Russian leaders in a move to impede American aid to Britain.

"One of the principal contentions of Communists who have sought to sabotage defense has been that Great Britain is fighting

City's "Phantom Burglar" Is Active Again Over Week End

A phantom burglar put new wrinkles in police brows this morning.

His latest reported exploit was to force open a window screen and to ransack a room within a few feet of occupants of the house.

Police believe it was the same burglar who, last Thursday night, removed a window screen and took a paper sack containing about $100 from beneath the pillow on which a man was sleeping.

The W. H. Perry home, 2006 Avenue S, was the last place reported to have been visited by the phantom. The burglary there presumably occurred some time Saturday night, possibly while Mr. and Mrs. Perry were entertaining company, but the intrusion was not discovered until nearly noon Sunday. The loss involved only about $1 in cash and some personal papers.

Investigations disclosed, according to police, that the burglar apparently attempted to unlatch several windows in the back of the four-room residence before unhooking the

Finns Lodge Protest After Russian Raids

(By The United Press)

HELSINKI, June 23 — Finland today lodged a formal protest with Soviet Russia against the bombing of Finnish objectives by the Russian air fleet.

The protest was submitted to the Russian Minister M. Orlov who promised to transmit the Finnish note to the Soviet government.

The Finns demanded that the Soviet explain why Russian planes had carried out bombing attacks in Finland.

Orlov said earlier that Russian Finnish relations remain friendly but warned that if Finland attacked Russia or allowed her territory to be used as a base of aggression, Russia would strike back.

Orlov said in a half hour talk that he was convinced that the Finnish people did not want war with Russia and he said that Russia did not want to fight Finland.

He said that no preparations had been made for the departure of the Russian diplomatic delegation here and he ridiculed reports that Russia was evacuating its naval base on the Finnish coast at Hanko.

Orlov later visited Foreign Minister Rolf Witting.

(This dispatch was passed by the Finnish censorship, one of the most severe in all Europe, and was telephoned to the

Baltic States Are Rising Up Against Reds

Revolts In Three Countries Noted; Finland Neutral

(By The Associated Press)

The Baltic bulwark which Soviet Russia erected by threats and persuasion against the possibility of just such an attack by Germany as is now raging along her great western frontier appeared today to be crumbling.

Combined military and political blows within and without the three little states — Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia — which the U. S. S. R. took into camp and started fortifying a year ago, threatened to line them up with Adolf Hitler.

Lithuanians In Revolt

According to Berlin advices, based in turn on broadcasts from the Kaunas radio, Lithuanians have risen up, forming a new government pledged to help Germany fight Russia.

An effort to cut Latvia also out of the Russian camp was indicated when the German radio broadcast a declaration by a Latvian "government-in-exile" that Latvia, too, would fight alongside Germany presumably when and if Russian rule could be cast off.

Helsinki reports said Estonia, farthest removed of the three from the German-Russian battle line, was expected to follow suit. Baltic political refugees, themselves anti-Russian, said Russia had expected revolts in the three states.

Finland Is Neutral

Finland, who lost territory to Russia by war, declared, at the same time, that she would maintain neutrality as long as possible — this despite Adolf Hitler's classification of her as his ally.

In Washington Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import bank, said transfers already had been stopped on the bank's $35,000,000 credits to Finland, but he declined to tie this in with the war.

Lithuania's declaration of independence came as German land forces, now at least 10 miles in-

Vast Masses Of Men And Guns Heading For New Battlefields

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, June 23 — The Red army, giving way slowly to the first Nazi onrush, moved vast masses of men and guns up into the fight today and called tens of thousands more to arms against Soviet Russia's erstwhile pact-partner.

The army high command declared in its first communique since the Sunday dawn attack on a front from the Baltic to the Balkans that the Germans were fought to a standstill up to Sunday noon, but by nightfall they had made some penetrations of six to 10 miles — principally into Lithuania and the section of Poland, now a part of the U. S. S. R.

Elsewhere, the communique said, the Nazis were repulsed.

The Soviet press published a detailed account of Prime Minister Churchill's speech promising all possible aid against the common enemy to the Russian people defending their native soil.

Reds Vow Axis And Hitlerism To Be Crushed

Reich Feels Fury Of RAF, Soviets In Heavy Raids

(By The United Press)

Germany today hurled the full fury of her massive war machine against Russia on a 1,700-mile front, smashing ahead with tanks, storm troops and flame-throwers, paced by deadly bombing attacks of the luftwaffe.

Moscow proclaimed determination to smash Hitlerism and the Soviet high command reported that Russian lines held fast at most points but indications were that the Nazi attack was developing terrific striking power against

SPAIN MAY FIGHT

Soviet defenses in the Baltic states, at the fortress of Brest-Litovsk on the central front and along the Bessarabian gateway to the riches of the Ukraine and Caucasus.

RAF Loosing Fury

Dispatches from Bucharest reported that Nazi and Rumanian forces were driving toward Chisinau, capital of Bessarabia, about 60 miles inside Russia, but the extent of the advance was not indicated.

Russia and Britain replied to the Nazi offensive by sending their air fleets into action. The British slashed savagely at the Nazi-held coast of France, the heavy industries of the Ruhr and the ship facilities of the north German coast. The Russians pounded East Prussia.

Vital Fort Under Assault

The first detailed accounts of the fighting by Germany's soldier-reporters told of a terrific assault upon Brest-Litovsk, just across the river Bug from the new Russo-German frontier.

Brest-Litovsk is a key Soviet defense position. It controls a road system which leads around the vast Pripet marshes which form a natural barrier between Germany and Russia. One road leads northeast to Minsk and another southeast to Kiev, already heavily bombed by the luftwaffe.

Russian Planes Said Hit

The propaganda reporters did not claim the capture of Brest-Litovsk but reported a Nazi attack which caught the Russian defenders by surprise. Some 70 bunkers, concrete fortified works, were said to have been stormed by Nazi shock troops, using flame-throwers and advancing across a cleared de-

Market Prices Shoot Upward

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 23 — A brisk wave of buying swept through securities and sensitive raw staple markets today, as Wall Street interpreted the Russo-German conflict as diverting Nazi pressure from Britain.

Save for continued bidding for a few commodities, however, the buying excitement was short lived, and dealings slackened after the first hour, although a good part of the price rise was retained.

Cotton Futures Up

The early bulge was one of the sharpest in speculative markets since the outbreak of the European war nearly two years ago. In the New York stock exchange, many issues jumped $1 to $4 a share, but the widest gainers slid back $1 or more from the best.

Cotton for futures delivery jumped around $1 to $1.50 a bale, some deliveries touching the 15-cent-a-pound level for the first time since 1930. Cottonseed oil,

Brisk Shower Brings Relief For Lubbock

A brisk shower started in Lubbock shortly before noon today, bringing relief from the high temperatures of the previous several days, but adding to uneasiness over crops.

Early this afternoon, precipitation in measurable quantities had not fallen. Skies were overcast, however, and light rain continued to fall at intervals. The noon temperature of 72.5 degrees compared with 83 degrees Sunday afternoon and a maximum reading of 87.9 degrees Saturday.

Uneasiness among farmers was due to the fact that many have been unable to complete the replanting, especially of cotton, that has been made necessary by record-breaking rains during May and earlier this month.

City Cracks Down In Drunkenness Cases

Drunkenness cases occupied most of the attention of City Court Judge Boyd Millsap and Assistant City Attorney Gene Blair this morning, and some of the penalties were severe.

One driver who had figured in a minor automobile collision was assessed a fine of $50, which he paid. Complaining witnesses declined to file on him under drunk driving laws.

The judge and prosecutor lost patience with two other men whom they described as police court "regulars," and directed that complaints be filed against them in county court charging them with being habitual drunkards.

Under that law, technically known as the "enhanced penalty act," it was explained, the penalty upon conviction is doubled automatically for each prior conviction up to three. Thus, if a fine of $100 should be levied against a defendant and if three prior convictions should be proved, the fine automatically would jump to $800.

Police reported that one of the two alleged "habituals" was arrested twice during the week end, the second arrest having occurred within 12 hours after his release under bond to answer the first charge. Arresting officers said the man was sleeping in a puddle of mud on Sixteenth street when he was taken into custody the second time.

Representatives Work Hard Says House Member Files Of Governor's Charge

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP)—The spunk of a woman member today set tongues wagging in the House of Representatives.

The overwhelmingly male membership discussed and awaited reaction from an open letter by Colleague Rae Files of Waxahachie defending new house members against claimed duplicity of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

A school marm on leave of absence to serve her initial house term, Miss Files was the first house member to carry a protest against the governor to the public via the open letter method.

Said Members Tried

She did it, she said, because in the interest of fair play people should know that sincere members tried to cooperate with the governor but found they couldn't work with him.

The letter asserted among other things the executive sought to force support for bad legislation, including a deficit financing pension bill, on threat of telling the people members were "against the old folks."

Whether or not they considered her their spokesmen, Miss Files had the respect of her fellows.

From the outset of the general session she has worked shoulder to shoulder with new and old members.

On Five Committees

The Files wit, her sense of humor, an ability to tangle in debate with men members and a realization of her responsibility have featured her work.

Assigned to five committees and vice chairmanship of one, the woman who had no idea she would become a house member only a year ago, thinks the legislature is a swell institution worthy of public understanding.

"After all, it is a cross-section of the people of Texas," she explained.

Between school teaching (history is her subject) and serving in the legislature she thinks the latter more fascinating but harder work.

Friends Endorsed Candidacy

She got into the new field because friends thought she would make a good member. They reached this conclusion after she addressed a home town luncheon-service club on the European situation.

A few more speeches in the napkin circuit and she was in a race which she won by a 60-vote majority.

Miss Files took leave from teaching duties rather than resign because she earns her own living. Meanwhile she communicates with the folks back home through a column "Miss Files Goes to Austin" in several newspapers.

Says Legislators Work Hard

In her writings she tries to make clear that the legislature is not all play and no work.

"These men work hard," she insists, "and people should realize it regardless of what the governor says about lobbyists and new suits and shoes."

MISS RAE FILES

But a little fun mixed with official chores is all right too, she believes.

She once addressed Speaker Homer Leonard in verse and a buggy whip in her hand to the amusement of the entire house; the address was complimentary to Leonard.

A serious student of government, she avidly reads newspapers and books when not tied down by legislative duties.

For recreation she prefers dancing and picture shows.

"I'm not the athletic type," Miss Files says.

Two Convicts Make Escape

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, June 23.—Two convicts crashed an ice truck through the locked gate at central prison farm near Sugarland and escaped today, later following up the break with two quick robberies in Houston.

The men were Willie Frank Smith, 21, Dallas, serving a five-year sentence for armed robbery, and William Barbee, 28, under a seven-year term for burglary and forgery. They had escaped in a prison automobile last March but were recaptured.

Kidnaped Negro Driver

Smith and Barbee commandeered the ice truck which was from the Clemens state farm in Brazoria county, and kidnapped the negro driver, Willie Sullivan.

Breaking down the wooden gate, they drove the 23 miles to Houston where one of them changed clothes with Sullivan and left him on a street.

A few minutes later, the convicts forced Miss Maureen Farris to stop her automobile. Miss Farris was accompanied by her sister, Miss Inez Farris, who said one of the men wore prison stripes and the other ordinary clothes.

Did Not Have Gun

"'Get out, you girls,' was all they said," Miss Inez Farris told police. "I don't think either of them had a gun. They drove away with our car."

The police radio sent out a general alarm to all patrol cars in this area to watch for the fleeing men.

Burney Test In Oil Spotlight

(Special To The Journal)

SNYDER, June 23.—Operators' attention in the Sharon Ridge oil field centered this weekend on D & R Oil company's No. 4 W. F. Burney test, located in the southwest one-fourth of the northeast quarter, section 143-97-H & TC survey, which topped the pay horizon at 2,200 feet and had drilled to 2,380 feet.

D & R's No. 4 Burney will be shot in the presence of company officials, who will arrive from Miami, Oklahoma, Sunday. Hole was full of oil in the test Saturday night.

Another In Making

Another good producer for "Grandpa" Burney is in the making and will be the seventh well on the lease for him. Mr. Burney also has a good producer in the northeast quarter of section 144, the old "home place," which was recently drilled by Coffield & Guthrie, Inc., and is now cleaning out.

R-Y Oil company's No. 1 Bishop test, a north offset to Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1 Burney, was drilling at 1,710 feet, with indications pointing to another producer within the next three weeks.

Pearson-Sibert Oil company's No. 4 Wetzel et al test in the southeast part of the northwest quarter of the southwest one-fourth, section 146, was drilling at 1,245 feet.

Completing Pipeline

Coffield & Guthrie are completing a four-inch pipeline to the firm's tanks in the northeast part of section 144 to care for the increasing production in sections 143, 144, 145 and 146, where a total of 50 wells will be drilled during the second half of 1941.

Humble Oil & Refining company, with two offsets to its leases now drilling, will soon be in the same position that Magnolia Petroleum company was in last year.

USO Will Get Wheat From Texas Farmers

PERRYTON, June 23. (AP)—Until recent years, Ochiltree county's Panhandle farmers starved in the dust bowl. But the rains came, grass and crops returned, and June 28 they plan to celebrate.

They are going to give 4,312 bushels of wheat to the United Service Organization—one bushel for each resident of the county.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say— The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

ON BRO. McKEE

Dear Plainsman: I hate to tell you, but you've made a mistake, although I'm sure it is your first.

I am one of these women who "go off at the deep end" over Blanchard McKee and was interested in what you wrote of him recently, that he was on a vacation until fall, and that he was not commercially sponsored. Imagine my surprise this morning when the announcer said: "And here is your neighbor, Blanchard McKee, brought to you by Yah-Yah, that wonderful new stuff that gets rid of dandruff" or something to that effect. I was so stunned to hear Mr. McKee, and to know he had a sponsor, I did not get the exact wording. My station was KFDA, Amarillo.

A Reader,
Hart, Texas.

(Dear Reader: My information regarding Blanchard McKee came from the brass collars at KFYO and was based on their information at the time of writing. What the situation is now, I don't know, because all the radio chain gymnastics are done in New York. KFYO says their best guess is that the program you heard was a different one from the other McKee program and perhaps was done via the "electrical transcription route"—which means records to us ordinary folks! You're wrong about my never having made a mistake before. I distinctly recall having made another at 11:17 a. m. on August 12, 1913! Thanks for your letter. The Plainsman).

AGAINST O'DANIEL

Dear Plainsman: Before long the people of Texas are going to elect a United States senator. Due to the gravity of present world conditions, it behooves all who are to be responsible for the sending of such a senator to Washington, to render to Texas and the nation the best service possible and conformance with our duties as real patriotic Americans.

Before any of us can cast an intelligent vote in this senatorial race we must be sure that the candidate receiving our vote is in possession of the following four points: (1) One whose loyalty and honesty are beyond question; (2) Who has ever stood ready to give of his very best in service to his country; (3) Who is in position to render service if elected; (4) And who must possess all other qualifications that would enable him to handle the position he is asking for.

Of the four topnotch contenders for the present senate post only one has all the above mentioned qualifications. Two have all but one, and one has none.

Johnson has only one qualification not possessed by Dies or Mann in that by reason of present contacts, he would be in better position to serve his people. That leaves the governor who within the past six months has proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that he possesses none of the aforementioned virtues so essential to the next senator from Texas.

He proved his loyalty the day he left his people and his country without all the senators and policymakers guaranteed them by the constitution, at a time when his country faced its greatest crisis since Patrick Henry uttered, "give me liberty or give me death."

The governor proved his honesty by stealing from the people of the state of Texas their equal representation in the national assembly, a right paid for and very dearly, in human misery and suffering and blood at San Jacinto and at the Alamo. While the people of the State of Texas were yet in mourning over the death of their hero, Senator Sheppard, the governor proved his ability as an executive by insulting the intelligence of many able Texans by saying to them by his appointment of the aging Houston, "There are none in Texas with the ability to be senator so I will honor the memory of another Texan long since gone."

Yes, the governor was willing to serve his country to the best of his ability—after his own personal and selfish desires had been satisfied.

I wonder where his honesty, integrity and ability were the day he made his famous appointment?

Thank you very much,
L. W. Bell,
Lubbock.

American Soldiers Are Now Carrying Peanuts And Candy

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — American soldiers are now carrying peanuts and candy bars on maneuvers as well as to the ball game.

While admitting that no trooper would care for such rations as a steady diet, government nutrition experts declared that the specially treated nuts and candy include almost everything a man needs in the way of food except bulk.

The peanuts are in the form of peanut butter and the candy is in the ordinary convenient chocolate bar package. Both are fortified with an extract made from brewer's yeast which provides a variety of the vitamins in the vitamin B-complex.

Dr. Russell M. Wilder, chairman of the food and nutrition committee of the National Research council, declared that peanut butter is an "excellent all-around food" containing a great deal of protein and some carbohydrate and fat. When brewer's yeast is mixed with it necessary vitamins are added and when the chocolate candy is added it provides the necessary energy-producing sugars.

Hubbers Falter Again To Drop 6 To 2 Decision To Big Spring Here Sunday

Gotham Goofy As Yanks, Dodgers And Giants Win

Lubbock Squad Invades Pampa For Two Tilts

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Journal Sports Editor

The Hubbers went into another tailspin Sunday afternoon, after playing heads-up and .500 baseball for almost a week, to kick away a game to the Big Spring Bombers, 6-2.

Maybe the sunshine got 'em, although Manager Charlie Engle has been working out his crowd every day from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. when the team was in town, or maybe the pressure of a hot Sunday and a good Sunday attendance—or maybe it was Bob Kohout, the young and big righthanded pitcher for Big Spring.

Opinions Differ

At any rate, the Hubs looked lazy and lethargic, just as the lazy fly balls that practically always landed in the gloves of outfielders and infielders, and even catchers.

In all, it was a lazy ball game, except for the time that Catcher Zigelman of the Big Springers got tough with Umpire Wesley Thompson and was promptly chased out of the park. Zigelman was almost daft with the idea that he had tagged out Lubbock's shortstop, Elvin Mahan, as the latter dashed for the plate after Bob Rivera had dropped a long, high fly into the glove of J. L. Haney in left field. Zigelman was burned up, although he missed Mahan by a good two feet. He turned pale as a ghost as he all but put the slug on Umpire Thompson, who, it so happened, didn't miss that particular play.

Hubbers' Wildness Costly

Young Bob Kohout pitched a creditable game against the Hubbers, considering the fact that said Hubbers obstinately refused to have a swing at his apparently easy and down-the-groove pitches except in a few instances, and he deserves credit for a well-pitched game.

The wildness of Lubbock's starting pitcher, Steve Sakas, and the wild throwing of big Don Haley, the first baseman, proved most costly to the Hubbers, who lost the two-game series. Sakas pitched fine ball for three innings, giving up but two hits, one of them very scratchy. In the fourth, big Eddie Stevens, who won the Saturday night game with a three-run homer in the ninth inning, led with a double to left center. It might have been taken by either Gene Schlereth or Stan Bartkowski, but they were thinking of other things, no doubt. Then Larry Drake walked, Jack Lindsey popped out to Sakas on an attempted bunt, and Zmitrovich walked, filling the bases. Hank Poitras, Bomber third baseman, skied to Bartkowski in center, who threw to first base trying to catch Zmitrovich off base, while Stevens was scoring. Haley messed up the play and Drake scored.

Vrablik Halts Spree

In the fifth, Sakas, unable to regain his control after the fourth inning uproar, walked Kohout and Haney. The latter went down on a wild pitch but Kohout was nabbed at third by Castino-to-Haley-to-Lorenz. Then Greer singled to left, scoring Haney. Stevens was safe on Haley's error that failed to catch Greer at third. Drake singled to left, and Lindsey walked to stuff the sacks. Up came Zmitrovich to slam a double to left and clean the hassocks. For some reason, Sakas struck out Poitras, ending the spree.

In the sixth, Sakas walked Kohout and Haney and pitched two balls to Greer when Manager Engle finally decided to take Sakas off the hill. Steve Vrablik went in, gave up two more balls to walk Greer, but thereafter pitched fine ball to permit no more scores. A snappy double play, Mahan to Bengston to Haley, nabbed an eighth-inning threat after Kohout and Haney had singled in succession.

Late Rally Fails

The Hubbers, who left 18 men stranded on the bases Saturday night for what may have been a league record, were retired in order by Kohout and Co. for the first six innings, except for a walk in the fifth.

In the seventh, after one out, Lorenz and Schlereth singled in succession, and Bartkowski walked to fill the bases. Haley dumped a fly to Haney in left, and Lorenz scored after the catch. Castino skied to center.

First up in the eighth, Elvin Mahan, who had fanned twice with his gun on his shoulder, doubled to left. Vrablik was safe on Poitras' error at third, and Bengston hit a hump-backed liner to left to fill the sacks. Bob Rivera hit hard, but Haney caught it, flung to the home plate. Mahan slid in under the play and Catcher Zigelman had a hissy as Umpire Thompson called Mahan safe, which he was. That was all for Zigelman, but it also was all for the Hubbers. Lorenz also popped to left, and Schlereth popped to center and the Big Spring Bombers go to Clovis and the Hubbers go to Pampa to continue the West Texas-New Mexico league schedule.

After two games in Pampa, the Lubbocks invade Borger.

GOTHAM HEROES—Two heroes in New York baseball fans' eyes today are Red Rolfe and Kirby Higbe. Rolfe aided the Yankees' cause with a four-bagger which paired with Joe DiMaggio's fence smashing homer gave the Bronx Bombers a 5 to 4 triumph over Detroit's Tigers and set a new major league home run record. Higbe tossed himself and his Dodger mates a three-hitter as Brooklyn edged out Cincinnati, 3 to 2, in the nightcap of a doubleheader, after the daffiness boys had captured the opener, 2 to 1, in 16 innings. Lou Nova's 'Cosmic Punch' Has Leatherfist Lane Groggy Over Just What This Weapon Is!

BY HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 23.—The burning issue today in leatherfist lane, where the fight mob is discussing the forthcoming combat between Joe Louis and Lou Nova, is the precise meaning of the word "cosmic."

One group of scholars in the mob contends it means a man who tells funny stories on stage or screen. Another circle of pedagogues, headed by Mr. Mushky Jackson of the Twentieth Century Sporting club—a gentleman who scores a technical knockout over the king's English every time he opens his mouth—insists it means the stuff the ladies put on their faces to make them look pretty.

The matter is important because Nova has announced he will retire to the Maine woods to perfect his "cosmic punch"—a blow that he expects will bring the world heavyweight championship to him.

Nova has made no attempt to be secretive about the cosmic punch. In fact, not long ago he invited your agent to a public demonstration of it, an invitation that was accepted eagerly. But the sad fact is that the cosmic punch is just like the Einstein theory—after you see it you still don't know what it is. It has something to do with the law of gravity and the spin of the sphere on its Axis, but to me it looked like a short, straight right to the jaw.

Nova stood up with his knees slightly bowed and his body bent in the form of a semi-circle. Then he snapped his right against thin air and informed us we had seen the cosmic punch. We said "uh-huh" and departed.

The odd part about Nova is that he takes that sort of thing seriously and that is why the fight mob is scurrying around trying to find out what it's all about. How can you fix the odds and get a bet on the line if you don't know what "cosmic" means? Thousands of words are going to be as clear as the Mississippi river just after spring rains have stirred up the mud.

This is Lou's second expedition into the realm of mysticism. For a while he subscribed to the theory of Yogi and spent hours standing on his head and going through complicated breathing exercises. In June, 1939, he defeated Max Baer and all sorts of boxers decided to look into the Yogi practices. They abandoned their plans the following September, however, when Nova fought Tony Galento.

Before he entered the ring against Two-Ton, Nova spent some time in his dressing room standing on his head. Along about the 14th round he was ready to stand on his head again but this time it was from a series of left hooks thrown by Galento. As soon as Tony won the fight, all boxers announced they had known that this Yogi stuff was the bunk.

Among other theories held by Nova is that he is indestructible—that he can take countless punches on the paw and never feel them. Don't ask me to explain that one, either. Roughly, it's some kind of mystical anesthetic.

Anyway, it looks like a long and merry summer as Nova gets his theories in order.

Louis has a theory, too. It is that you can get along pretty good in the fight racket with a fast left jab and a rock-crusher right to the jaw. Billy Conn probably agrees.

Bronx Bombers And Brooklyn Push Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

There was a happy hangover today among the baseball-batty boys and girls of Pa Knickerbocker's village—like nothing that has been seen in the neighborhood since the Indians sold Manhattan for 24 bucks worth of fire-water and went to work on it.

From the shores of the Harlem all the way to the banks of the gorgeous Gowanus in Brooklyn, the folks who go in for the sport of hit-and run were giving out with hoopla and hurrah over the jobs their heroes did Sunday.

Yanks Smash Record

The fans were singing the praises of Joe DiMaggio and company of Yankee stadium for smashing a major league home-run-record; they were even thinking of naming a street after not-so-sweet William Terry for the way his Giants knocked off the St. Louis Cardinals in both ends of a doubleheader, and, as for Brooklyn, well Larry MacPhail could be elected mayor by a landslide and have Leo the Lip Durocher for his police chief as a reward for the double job the daffiness boys did on Cincinnati.

The Yanks were two games away from the Cleveland Indians in the American loop as a result of the 5-4 beating they handed Detroit's Tigers. But the big thing was that Joe DiMaggio and Red Rolfe homered, and this made it 18 straight tilts in which the Bronx Bombers have exploded one or more of their subtle socks, thereby wiping out the record of 17 in a row which the Tigers chalked up as an all-time high only a year ago. What's more DiMaggio's poke maked the 35th straight contest in which he hit safely, leaving him only six away from George Sisler's record.

Higbe, Hubbell Star

The Dodgers took two one-run margin victories in Cincinnati, and, since the Cards blew a pair, it left Brooklyn only one game away from the senior loop's top spot.

With a record Cincinnati crowd of 35,792 fans on hand, the first game against the Rhinelanders went 16 innings before Brooklyn grabbed it, 2-1. Kirby Higbe found holes in the Reds bats in the nightcap, served up a three-hitter and waltzed in, 3-2.

Meanwhile, King Carl Hubbell oiled up his left, or business, arm and knocked off the Cards for the Giants, 4-3, in the first encounter in St. Louis, on the strength of a three-run ninth-inning rally, and young Johnny Wittig threw in a five-hitter to take the nightcap, 3-2.

Feller Wins—As Usual

The Cleveland ball club, otherwise known as Bobby Feller, posted his fifth shutout of the season in whipping the Washington Senators, 6-0.

The White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics traded shutouts. Chicago won the first, 14-0, behind Ted Lyons, and the Quaker City set captured the second, 3-0, back of Phil Marchildon.

Jimmy Foxx' 11th homer led the way to a 7-5 Red Sox victory in the Boston opener, while the St. Louis Browns banged out 13 hits for 12-3 edge in the afterpiece.

Boston's Braves whipped the Chicago Cubs, 6-5 on a two-run ninth inning rally, and 3-2 on Alva Javery's six-hit hurling.

Pittsburgh downed the Phillies, 4-1, in their opener behind Truett Sewell's steady tossing, and the Phils took the nightcap, 7-4.

Borger Jumps Clovis For 7 To 1 Decision

CLOVIS, June 23. (Special)—The Borger Gassers earned a split in the two-game series with Clovis Sunday and shoved the Pioneers back into the cellar by taking a 7 to 1 decision.

Clem Hausman pitched nine-hit ball while the Gassers were jumping Bill Hewitt for 11. Manager Gordon Nell homered for the Gassers in the third with Larry Gilchrist on the basepaths.

Jim Rollins shut out the Gassers in Saturday night's opening game, 3 to 0, besting Bill Garland in a hurling duel.

Briggs Again Tops Bradley In Money Spending Spree; Draft Has Arnovich Up For New Test

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.
(Pinch-Hitting For Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, June 23.—Detroit baseball writers apparently knew what was going to happen to Dick Wakefield, the U. of Michigan mauler, even before he accepted that $45,000 bonus to sign with the Tigers . . . When he heard of the Indians' offer to top any other bid by $5,000, one of them grunted, "Briggs will probably call Bradley's bluff again" . . . Morrie Arnovich has left the Giants to go nome for another draft examination but expects to be back in a few days . . . Even if the docs okay his crockery molars this time, Mike doesn't expect to be called up for several weeks . . . Second Place Goes To Combination Of Nelson, Thomson

(By The Associated Press)

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 23.—Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan were headed home today after enjoying a profitable week end of golf in the Inverness invitational four-ball matches.

The two Texans ripped 42 strokes off par in their seven rounds against as many pairs of the nation's top-flight professionals, finished three points ahead of their nearest rivals, and pocketed $1,000 each in cash—a matter of $250 a day plus expenses which included board and room.

In second place were P. G. A. Champion Byron Nelson, the host pro, and his partner, long-hitting Jimmy Thomson, who divided $1,300. Lloyd Mangrum, sporting the only moustache in the tourney, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, were third, garnering $600 each.

Others, in order of the finish: Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, $700; Horton Smith and Lawson Little, $600; Sam Byrd and Johnny Bulla, $500; Dick Metz and Clayton Heafner, $400, and Ralph Guldahl and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, $300.

Spudders Take Windup, 9-2, Over Lamesa

(Special To The Journal)

WICHITA FALLS, June 23.—The Wichita Falls Spudders jumped on Cecil Hart for 11 hits and nine runs Sunday to take a 9-2 victory over Lamesa, evening the series at one game each.

Lefty Raymond Lucas pitched his 12th victory of the season for the Spudders by holding the Loboes to six hits and runs only in the second and fifth innings. Buck Tinsley, pitcher-utility man recently acquired from Borger, singled in Eddie Guynes with the first run for Lamesa, and Marshall Brown knocked Don Lang across with the second.

A two-run Wichita Falls rally in the sixth broke a two-all tie, and the Spudders made it safe with four runs in the seventh. Stanley Bolton, veteran outfielder, led the Spudder batting barrage with three singles scoring three runs and stealing four bases.

Experts Concede Russian Army Only Slim Chance Against Germans

Britain, U. S. To Gain Time

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Red army was conceded only the slimmest chances by military experts today in its stand against the armed might of Nazi Germany, but considerable doubt prevailed as to the immediate advantages Hitler could reap from his grandiose Russian adventure.

The initial reaction of well-informed specialists was that the invasion of Russia constituted the first open acknowledgement of the blitzkrieg's failure—Germany, despairing of the total "lightning" victory she sought, was striking to assure the supply of food and raw materials she needs for a long war.

Still Unequal To Task

The sudden thrust into Russia also was regarded as tantamount to an admission that Germany still felt herself unequal to the supreme test with her avowed No. 1 enemy—the invasion and conquest of the British Isles.

The fog of war surrounding the opening phases of the Nazi drive to the east made it difficult for experts to appraise the initial progress of the campaign, but they saw at least three temporary results in the general war picture:

1—An easing of German pressure in the North African theatre, for it appeared unlikely that the Reich would be sending additional armored reinforcements to General Rommel in Libya;

2—A relaxation of the invasion threat against the British Isles;

3—More time for Britain and for the productive facilities of the United States.

There was no unanimity as to how long the Red army, for years a military enigma, might be expected to stand against the Germans.

Russia, it was believed, was ready to devastate the great food-producing region of the Ukraine and to destroy mines and oil wells before permitting them to fall into German hands. Such a "scorched earth" program, even if not 100 per cent thorough, would make the invader's loot negligible this year, one expert said, and the prospects for a good part of 1942 would be uncertain.

The boy is survived by his mother and a grandfather, John M. Burkhalter.

Highway patrolmen were told the youths had intended to attend a preview but had decided in favor of a drive to Brownfield. They later had gone to Levelland and were en route home when the accident happened.

Warren Tucker of Lubbock, driving behind the Liles car, reached the scene immediately after the accident and brought all of the injured to the sanitarium except the boy who apparently was dead at that time. On reaching the city he telephoned Rix Funeral home, which sent an ambulance to bring the body to the sanitarium. The boy was pronounced dead. His head was crushed.

to save capitalism," an administration labor official said.

"Germany's declaration of war on Russia doesn't leave them much of a leg to stand on. It wouldn't surprise a lot of people if the Communists now become the most vociferous exponents of aid to Britain, and possibly American entry into the war."

Philip Murray, CIO president, was out of town, but the new turn of the European war was expected by his aides to simplify his drive to curb subversive elements in that organization.

Murray had denied that he plans a "Red purge" but he had warned the unions' officers that he will use "constitutional methods" to compel compliance with CIO principles and obedience to elected officers.

Administration defense officials and labor leaders have not agreed as to the influence of Communists in strikes. Labor leaders have minimized their participation but defense officials have contended that it was considerable.

Cause Of Disaster To Sub Is Sought

(By The United Press)

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 23—Navy officials arranged today for a court of inquiry to seek the cause of the foundering of the submarine O-9 and loss of her entire crew of 33.

A naval spokesman disclosed that principal witnesses would include inspectors at the O-9's New London, Conn., base who reportedly certified to her fitness recently.

Explosion Possible

Naval observers believed an explosion might have occurred in engine or battery rooms to send the ship plunging to the mud bottom 440 feet down where water pressure crumpled her plate-steel hull.

It was believed the two officers and 31 men died almost immediately when the O-9, relic of World war days, recommissioned because of the present emergency, was subjected to the 440-foot pressure. The O-9's hull was built to stand pressure at only 200 feet.

At noon Sunday the O-9 crew was given up for dead and salvage operations were abandoned.

Last Tribute Paid

Three and a half hours later 1,000 blue clad sailors lined the rails of the flotilla of 12 rescue ships including the submarines, tugs and a destroyer that were grouped around the spot where grapnels had hooked the O-9.

His head bared and clad in a white summer suit on which was a black crepe armband, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox stood on the aft deck of the submarine Triton to conduct ceremonies.

The Portsmouth navy yard chaplain, Lieut.-Comdr. Homer G. Glunt read scriptures and said a brief prayer. No relatives of the lost crew were present to hear the tributes or the 21-gun salute that reechoed to the hazy obscured shores. The skies were darkening with thunderhead clouds as Knox cast a rose-festooned wreath on the rippled sea and said in an emotion-choked voice:

"I want the people of the United States to remember that these men went to their fate willingly as volunteers because every officer and man in the submarine service must be a volunteer.

"The first duty in such a country as ours is defense in time of danger. Defense means necessary risk. These men incurred such risk.

"With all the convictions that I am capable of uttering, I say that our country will last only as long as there are men left to make sacrifices as these men did.

"Every stride of civilization has been paid for in sacrifices—to you and your shipmates we say goodbye and God bless you."

Stock Market

MARKET HURTLES UPWARD

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The Germans Russian war outbreak today received the principal credit for brisk rallies in financial markets that, for a moment, led some to think another "boom" was in the making.

In the morning burst of speed overnight buying orders swamped specialists on the floor of the exchange and a number of leaders such as U. S. Steel appeared late on the ticker tape in blocks of 1,000 to 7,000 shares. The first hour's volume was 350,000 shares, the second 100,000, the third 90,000 and the fourth 70,000, with the day's total approximately 750,000.

Among stocks touching new highs for 1941 were Standard Oil (NJ), Western Union, Texas Corp. and Savage Arms.

Prominent on the move were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, J. I. Case, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Anaconda, American Telephone, Dupont, Allied Chemical and American Can.

At Chicago wheat finished up 2½ to 2⅞ cents a bushel, corn was ⅜ to ⅞ advanced and hogs made new highs since 1937. Cotton, in late trades, was up $1.10 to $1.48 a bale.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP) — The Russian-German war sent grain prices into a sharp upward spiral today that carried values of some commodities to highs since 1937.

Grain men said they saw the possibility of food shipments to Russia under the lease-lend bill. This might include wheat which frequently has been shipped to Soviet Pacific coast ports in past years to meet military requirements in Eastern Russia. Ottawa reports indicated Canada may permit shipment of wheat to Russia.

Wheat rose as much as 3 to 4 cents, corn 3 cents, soybeans more than 5 cents. Wheat was the highest in more than a year. Traders said the effect of warfare in the rich wheat producing area of the Ukraine, which destruction of crops and impairment of harvest operations were possible, had a bullish effect. Large scale flour business was reported in some localities.

Despite profit taking on the advance, wheat closed 2½-2⅞ cents higher than Saturday. July $1.04-1.03⅞. September $1.05¾-6¾; corn ⅝-⅞ up. July 74⅛-¼. September 76⅞-77; oats ⅜-½.

Agreement Is Believed Near

(By The Associated Press)

Navy officials in the San Francisco bay area hoped conferences today would pave the way for settlement of an 11-shipyard strike of CIO and AFL machinists which has hampered production on $500,000,000 of defense work.

Expressing confidence that the government would not have to use force to break the deadlock, Admiral J. W. Greenslade said yesterday he hoped the meeting would produce a decision on "what course and action is to be followed."

All To Take Part

"All parties concerned" would take part in the discussion, the admiral said, "so that each side may know precisely where the other side stands."

The strike, now in its seventh week, was called by the machinists to support demands for $1.15 an hour and double overtime pay. They rejected an offer of $1.12 an hour and pay and a half for overtime, which compared with their previous contract of $1 and double time.

CIO unionists voted 260 to 174 yesterday against accepting a company proposal for ending a strike at the American Potash and Chemical company, Trona, Calif. They walked out March 14, demanding that the wage scale of 67½ cents to $1.05 an hour be raised to $1 to $1.50, with a closed shop and improved housing conditions.

1,200 Workers Idle

The strike made 1,200 workers idle.

A two week strike at the Douglas & Lomason company, which makes automobile parts in Detroit, was ended when a CIO union accepted an offer under which the national labor relations board will conduct a bargaining election Wednesday to settle an AFL-CIO jurisdictional dispute.

Members of CIO's Steel Workers Organizing Committee at the same time turned down at Detroit a proposed contract with the Great Lakes Steel corporation despite a recommendation by a federal conciliator and some SWOC officials that it be accepted.

The company offered to match the highest wage paid anywhere in the steel industry, a five-day week with pay and a half for overtime, vacation bonuses, two to three holidays per year and other concessions. But workers at the mass meeting instructed their negotiating committee to insist on a blanket wage raise, sole bargaining rights, an 80 cent an hour wage minimum compared with the present 73, and additional holiday and vacation pay.

Also at Detroit, the rank and file of CIO's United Automobile Workers union ratified a contract under which they will have a union shop in the Ford Motor company.

Damage Feared From Lamb County Rains

A five-inch rain that did a large amount of damage to crops and crop land in Lamb county near Olton, county seat, fell Sunday afternoon, it was reported this morning by J. P. Nystel, of Abernathy, who said several residents of that town who attended a Baptist church dedication at Olton reported the heavy fall.

The rain extended eastward to within five or six miles of Plainview. Westward, it reached into Bailey county, near Muleshoe.

"I was told by those who were in the rain that they had never seen as much water cross the highway as they saw Sunday afternoon," Nystel added. "The water came out of the fields in waves. A lot of damage must have been done."

England Cheers Churchill's Promise Of Aid To Russia

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 23 — Britain steadfastly cheered today her prime minister's determination to help Soviet Russia fight Germany, but shied at placing too much reliance on the Soviet as a potent brother in arms.

Reports of Russia's resistance along the lengthy eastern front were watched closely for a hint of the Red army's strength or weakness by the press and public, grown wary because of one continental debacle after another.

Press Praises Stand

Prime Minister Churchill's ringing declaration yesterday that "we shall give whatever help we can to Russia and the Russian people" and "any man or state who fights Nazism will have our aid" were seconded warmly by London newspapers.

They advocated a burial of ideological differences between Britain and Communist Russia for the common purpose of crushing Adolf Hitler.

"Prussia need have no fear that we shall weaken in our resolve here in Britain because Hitler is now spitting his venom at the east," the News Chronicle declared. "Fate has given ourselves and the Russians a common aim—to smash the Nazis."

Directed At U. S.

In his 20-minute radio message to the world Churchill urged that "all our friends and allies" take the same course as Britain in helping the Soviet union fight—an urging taken without question by British as directed, among others, at the United States.

"Russia's danger is our danger," he declared, "and the danger of the United States."

He offered "any technical and economic assistance" within Britain's power and added:

Promises More RAF Raids

"We shall bomb Germany by day as well as by night in ever-increasing measure, casting upon them month by month a heavier discharge of bombs and making the German people taste and gulp each month a sharper dose of the miseries they have showered upon mankind."

The prime minister said the Nazi attack to the east was "only a stepping stone to the attempt to plunge the 400 to 500 millions who live in China and the 350 millions who live in India into that bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolical emblem of the swastika flaunts itself."

screen admitting him to a room adjoining that in which Mr. and Mrs. Perry entertained company until late at night, and in which Mrs. Perry read until about 1 a. m.

The burglar took a billfold from Perry's trousers, which were hanging in a closet, and searched a small purse containing no money which Mrs. Perry had left suspended on the closet door.

The billfold and purse were found outside the window about noon Sunday, providing the first intimation that the burglary had occurred.

Another burglary and an attempted burglary were reported over the week end. Dr. G. C. Turnef, 2505 Twenty-second street, reported that a .22 calibre pistol was stolen from his residence, presumably while members of the family were away.

The attempted burglary occurred at the J. Boles home, 2001 Avenue R. Police were advised that a negro ran from the house when members of the family returned. Nothing was missing. A suspect was questioned, but released.

side Russian territory, and the air force pounded Russian bases and communications in a tide of destruction which the German high command announced was proceeding "on schedule and successfully."

From Kaunas, Lithuania, capital of a little republic fronting on Germany which Russia absorbed last June, this announcement was broadcast:

"The Lithuanian people, with all the means at their disposal, will fight for freedom and independence."

Radio Appeals For Help

The Kaunas radio apparently already was in the hands of a coup government.

Rear guard attacks on Russian troops emplacements and communications in Lithuania were presaged by an appeal of the new regime to the people to take up arms "in order to assist the German army in liberating Lithuania from the Bolshevik occupants" and to receive the Germans with open arms.

Reports from Kaunas, via Helsinki, said that Lithuania, which the Soviet union had incorporated along with Estonia and Latvia as a buffer against East Prussia, declared her independence from Russia at noon today — the second day of the war between the reich and the U. S. S. R.

Over 2,000-Mile Front

The conflict ranged from continued maneuvers for position in the far north where, in Finland, the 2,000-mile front touches the Arctic sea, to the fierce encounter of men and machines, aloft and aground, in the central and southern sectors.

The German high command, customarily chary of detailed claims in the first stages of its blitzkriegs, announced favorable progress, according to plan, by the German land and air forces while in the eastern Baltic German torpedoboats penetrated Russian coastal waters, sinking a patrol boat and four small merchant ships.

A mixed German-Rumanian force of light naval units in the Black sea was reported to have weathered bombardment by Russian coast artillery while on a "scouting thrust."

New Problems Arise

The clash of the military titans who now have cast aside their pretense of friendship and non-aggression brought in its train a series of hurried conferences in world capitals, for policies had to be confirmed or rectified in the light of the great engagement.

It promised to intensify United States production of armament for internal defense as well as for Britain, but whether Russia would come directly under the lend-lease act was an undetermined question. It was possible any aid she gets from the United States would be doled out by Britain as Britain sees fit.

Russian ambassadors to London and Vichy conferred with the United States Envoys John G. Winant and Admiral William D. Leahy, U. S. envoys in those capitals. Following Winant's talk with Ivan Maisky, the Russian ambassador called on Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary.

Japan Still Quiet

In Tokyo, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye conferred with Emperor Hirohito and, without explanation, a special liaison conference of Japanese cabinet and military leaders was postponed, for a second time, until late today or tomorrow.

Japan is bound by the three-power Axis pact to go to the assistance of either Germany or Italy in event of "attack" by a new belligerent in the world's wars. Whether Russia attacked Germany—as Adolf Hitler charged and Vyacheslav Molotoff denied—was up for decision in Tokyo.

Japan also is bound to remain neutral in a fight involving Russia. This is in a Moscow-Tokyo pact, signed while Hitler still was trying to work Russia into the Axis-planned new world order.

British Ships Said Sunk

Nevertheless far eastern observers keenly watched Japan for signs that she might try to seize eastern Siberia while Russia battles for her life in the west.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi of Tokyo said under a Stockholm date that the United States, Britain and Russia intended to form a military alliance shortly. There was nothing to bear this out from other quarters.

War claims and reports apart from the unprecedented struggle in progress from the Arctic to the Black sea included:

1. Sinking of nine British merchantmen — a total of 37,500 tons—in recent German air and submarine operations on the Atlantic.

2. A night attack by strong formations of German bombers on Britain's big Mediterranean fleet base at Alexandria.

3. Fiery RAF raids for a 12th successive night on Germany, this time centering on the port of Bremen and the naval base of Wilhelmshaven, but also hitting Emden, Bremerhaven and Duesseldorf and overnight German raids on northern Scottish ports and English airfields.

4. Resumption of daylight raids on German-occupied France. Fighters on Sunday claimed a bag of 30 German planes in a sweep of the channel and occupied France.

5. A British interception of the 4,422-ton German supply ship Babitonga; an admiralty communique said that the old time passenger-cargo vessel, disguised as a Dutch merchant ship, was heading for Brest, France, when she was overtaken. Presumably she was taken as a prize of war.

British Advance In Syria

6. Axis air attacks in North Africa on British supplies, positions and encampments, accompanied by air fighting over Malta and the central Mediterranean and a British raid on Bengasi, Libya.

7. Penetration of central Syria by two desert-going British armored columns. They were near Palmyra, 130 miles north of Damascus, the Syrian capital which now is in British and Free French hands.

8. Japanese bombardment of vast areas of west and northwest China over the week end.

Movement Of Grain Starts

First car of 1941 wheat to be received in Lubbock arrived Saturday afternoon from Ralls where it was one of two cars shipped, the other going to Plainview to the Harvest Queen mills.

The wheat, destined for Burrus Elevator Co. here, tested No. 2 dark hard, tough, and weighed 58.7 pounds to the bushel, said P. C. Blazi, of Lubbock Grain exchange, who inspected it. Moisture content was 14.3 per cent.

O. C. Thomas, Santa Fe agent at Ralls, who was here Sunday afternoon to talk to local officials, said up to the time he had left Ralls, seven cars had been loaded Sunday and that he expected to get at least three more cars during the day. Two loaded Saturday made a total of 12 cars for the season in two days.

Thomas said that farmers were busy all day Sunday cutting and hauling wheat. They reported, the agent added, that they were getting a better yield than they had expected.

Blazi said the first car of wheat for the 1940 crop arrived June 19. Average date for the first car in Lubbock is June 14 and 15. This year's crop would have been harvested early in June had not the late May rains delayed it. June rains still further delayed harvesting.

Crosbyton was a busy place Sunday afternoon, said Blazi, who drove to Crosbyton, Ralls and other points, to observe harvesting operations. One Crosbyton elevator man told him, he said, that he had 25 truck loads of wheat that day. Wheat is reported as yielding slightly above what had been expected.

Recent tests of wheat samples, Blazi added, showed that the moisture content was not as heavy as it had been. First truck samples showed up to 17 per cent, and above. Wheat is fast drying out. Penalties are imposed by the government on wheat testing above 14 per cent, it was explained.

That Girl on Broadway says if love is really blind, perhaps it lost its eyesight overlooking things!

THROUGH co-operation of numerous citizens and by nothing less than a proclamation by hizzoner, Mayor Carl Slaton, this is "Get Acquainted Week" in Lubbock.

Now it is entirely possible that many of our people will pay little or no attention to "Get Acquainted Week."

It is entirely within the realm of the average man's imagination that few, if any more acquaintances will be made here this week than during any other week in the year.

But neither of these possibilities can detract from the basic worth of human acquaintanceship, which is one of the most worthwhile and most comforting possessions of man.

Few people realize the full value of wide acquaintance, or even acquaintance only with persons of like interests, desires, beliefs, ambitions and viewpoints.

If the highly, or even moderately successful man or woman will analyze his or her acquaintanceship, in that acquaintanceship will be found most of the reasons for the degree of success attained.

Furthermore, in that acquaintanceship will be found all, or almost all, the segments of a pleasant, satisfactory existence here on earth.

IN ALMOST any business, for instance, acquaintanceship means a very great deal.

The storekeeper's acquaintanceship is reflected in the jingle of his cash-register. The lawyer's acquaintanceship results in clients, the doctor's in patients, the life insurance man's in purchased policies. And almost invariably, the storekeeper, the lawyer, the doctor and the life insurance man with the broadest acquaintance is the one prospering the most.

Without a doubt, acquaintanceship has a decided commercial value.

But the chief value to acquaintanceship is not commercial.

The principal profit to be derived from acquaintanceship is not measured in gold, but in heartwarming satisfaction of human companionship—in sharing with others little knowledges, little understandings, bits of cheer and good feeling, or the troubles that come to us all.

And because its benefits cannot be measured in dollars and cents, acquaintanceship is one of life's most highly valuable things.

WHAT makes the average citizen of Lubbock, of Slaton, of Lamesa, of New York, or Milledgeville, Ga., prefer Lubbock, or Slaton, or Lamesa, or New York, or Milledgeville to all the other towns and cities in the world?

His acquaintance with the people in his home town, that's what.

Physically speaking, any one city, village or town is pretty much like all the other cities, villages or towns in its population class. The only difference, aside from geographical and/or climatic, between them is in being acquainted with individuals residing in one community and not in the other. If you are a stranger in both Dubuque and Rock Island, for instance, it matters little to you which of the two you happen to be in. But if you have friends and acquaintances in Dubuque, and none in Rock Island, there's all the difference in the world in your feeling toward them.

The Plainsman, for example, confidently expects—and earnestly hopes—to spend the rest of his days as a citizen of Lubbock and, to the fullest extent possible, of the South Plains region.

He cannot imagine being confronted with a situation which would bring about his removal from this city and area.

But if some such situation should arise, he knows it would be a near heartbreak to leave—no matter how financially rosy the future might seem somewhere else. And that near heartbreak would come not from leaving a collection of buildings here in Lubbock, or a collection of towns here on the South Plains, because there are buildings and towns in every area.

The near heartbreak would come from having to tear away from friends and acquaintances of nearly two decades spent in this locality.

* * *

OSCAR ALLEN, of El Paso, has a favorite verse which he delights in quoting to small groups of friends whenever he is called upon to speak to a group of people. It is titled: "Give Me A Friend," and we think it is appropriate to pass it on here and now:

"Give me a friend and I'll worry along;
My vision may vanish, my dream may go wrong;
My wealth I may lose, or my money may spend;
But I'll worry along, if you give me a friend.

"Give me a friend, and my youth may depart,
But still I'll be young in the house of my heart.
Yes, I'll go laughing right on to the end
Whatever the year, if you give me a friend."

May we point out that every friend any man or woman ever had first was an acquaintance?

Unquestionably, the great value of an acquaintanceship is that it very possibly may lead to firm and lasting friendship, the dearest possession of the human life.

So this is "Get Acquainted Week" in Lubbock.

It can mean either very much, or very little to our individual citizens and to the community as a whole.

If we, the people, enter into the spirit of "Get Acquainted Week," this week can be the best and most profitable week in the history of Lubbock. And it's up to us, individually and collectively, what we shall do about it.

Life is, after all, pretty much like a penny bank. We get out of it what we put into it.

If we put into "Get Acquainted Week" only enough effort to add one more person to our list of acquaintances each day, we'll be that much ahead in the days, the weeks and the years which are to come.

Why not try it?

EVERY time the doctors hold a convention, you can bet your boots somebody makes a ringing speech on the great, forward strides in medicine in the past decade, or two. And the medicos have a right to pat themselves on the back, for the researchers in their profession have done a great deal to lower infant mortality rates, extend the probable life span, etc., etc., and etc.

Fact is, The Plainsman doesn't know what we'd do without the American medical profession and especially here in Lubbock our unusual number of outstanding doctors, and the unusually fine institutions they have built, are important commercially, as well as from the standpoint of medical care. Perhaps you've never stopped to realize it, but each year many times more people from out-of-town come in here for medical and hospital attention than are brought in by all the football games we stage.

But the American and world medical profession has fallen down hard on one thing—namely, on conquering the common cold.

This unromantic, and usually regarded trivial disease is the most prevalent ailment of all and each year causes the loss of more work hours than all the other sicknesses combined.

For instance:

In 1940, our rash of strikes and labor stoppages caused the loss of 6,500,000 man-hours, while the common cold kept men from work a total of 59,000,000 man-hours over the same period!

If and when medical science learns to conquer the common cold, it really will have something to crow over.

And the researchers who finally solve the problem should be handsomely rewarded by a grateful humanity.

CHAPTER 1
ALONE ON THE DESERT

The somber grey haze of a slow-rising storm was sifting over the desert at the lonely place of the tomb, Jus Masar. Anne Willard threw her gloves and beret on the fine white gravel that looked like the splintered bones of prehistoric monsters and ran slim fingers through her chestnut hair. Her head was aching after the long bus ride, and the fact that she had not been met frightened her.

She had followed the directions in her father's telegram explicitly. Here she stood, bag and baggage, dropped from the Russian concession bus that crosses the Kalmar desert to the border of Shani Lun. With sinking heart she watched it disappear, running beside the telegraph line that circled a high, permanent dune which was anchored by tamarisk shrubs in grotesque shapes that looked like devil dancers.

This mission she was on was dangerous, she knew. But archaeologists do not expect a life of ease and safety. This was the thing she had lived for, longed for all her young life — to share her parents' profession. It had seemed gay and romantic in anticipation. Yet now that the time had come it took on a somewhat terrifying aspect.

She looked over at the round-domed tomb in a hollow between the hillocks.

"The resting place of an Arabian missionary, descendent of the Prophet, blessed of Allah," the Sart bus driver had told her in his broken English. He thought there might be a half-crazed hermit living somewhere in the cliffs above, but he did not question her desire to be left in such a place. She was from America where people have strange customs, and from which they make still stranger pilgrimages.

Anne noticed a single poplar tree that grew beside the tomb, a young thing perhaps half her own age and more than twice as tall. It proclaimed the season by a show of new green leaves. As she walked towards it she saw evidence of the anguished life it had led in the twisted trunk and broken limb stubs. Anne had a special feeling for trees. Sometimes she could talk to them and fancy they responded.

A sudden guest of wind sprang up from nowhere and struck her like a slap in the face. She backed away and returned to her luggage beside the telegraph pole whose wires were humming a dismal wail. Drawing the telegram from her coat pocket, she verified once more the place of meeting, the tomb Jus Masar. But for the first time she began to wonder if the message had really come from her father somewhere beyond in the Bekkan Bula Mountains.

An enemy could have signed his name, and there were enemies, she knew. Shy-a Nago was rumored to be the greatest archaeological treasure of the centuries — could it be found and and claimed.

Anne fastened the collar of her red camelhair coat against the chill spring air and stood there trembling a little. What if nobody came to meet her? It was then she heard the rustling in the sand, and turning, saw a tall, dark figure pause by the tomb as she spied him, and then continue across the space between them.

He was a young man, smooth-shaven, brownfaced, with the bold hawk-like features of an Arab. He wore black boots, a snug, military-cut overcoat and a high, lambskin cap set at a jaunty angle. And there was a very strange look in his sharp grey eyes as he kept them fastened upon her. She stood rooted to the spot.

Viper

"But he can't be a half-crazed hermit — dressed like that," she thought. "He must be a Russian." She thought he was lifting a hand to his cap in salute when suddenly he sprang at her, caught her about the waist, lifted her to one of the steamer trunks. Then he was grinding something in the sand with the heel of his boot.

"Desert viper," he said in English. "You shouldn't be wearing low shoes in a place like this." He spoke without an accent.

"I—I supposed there would be a village," she heard herself replying in a faint voice.

He gave her a sharp look. "What are you doing here alone?" She had hoped for a moment that he had been sent to meet her.

"I'm not alone," she replied guardedly. "I have native friends about. Nagara tribesmen." She couldn't tell if he believed her or not.

"Nagara tribesmen here? Then they've come a long way from their native hills." He picked up the little snake by the tail and tossed it away. "Do you mind if I stay till they appear?"

"Who — who are you?" she asked.

"I'm a fellow — wanderer. Have you a pair of walking boots in your luggage?" She pointed mutely to a black case. He lifted another box and placed it on the trunk for her to sit on and then drew the designated case to him. "Give me the key."

Anne sat down quickly and fumbled in her purse. "I—I guess you saved my life," she stammered.

"More or less." He inserted the key in the lock and then looked up at her, a smile about his eyes and mouth. The mouth was sensitive but a firm chin balanced it. "I hope you appreciate deeply what I have done for you."

"I—I do, naturally."

"And feel properly grateful and indebted to me."

"Of — of course," she said. "Thank you very much. I am grateful." She felt dazed. The whole thing was unreal. It was an illusion this creepy place, had laid upon her and would snatch away again.

"I'm glad to hear you say it," he declared. "That's not always the way people here in the Orient feel about having their lives saved." He lifted the case for her to open and make her selection. His actions and hers seemed real enough. He laid the case aside waiting for her to remove her oxfords and pack them. He watched critically while she laced the boots snugly about her ankles.

"Give those bows an extra knot," he advised. He must be expecting her to travel somewhere. Maybe he had been sent to meet her. He acted dictatorial enough. She inquired about it. He sat down on the shoe case facing her.

"I wasn't sent to meet you in the way you mean. But," his grey eyes smiled at her, "there is a way in which I was sent."

Anne had begun to get hold of herself. She asked bluntly. "What does that mean?"

"You wouldn't believe me if I told you." He looked around. "Why don't your native friends appear?"

"Perhaps they're waiting for

NEW YORK'S PAROLE BOARD ACTS

Realization eventually may penetrate the thick skulls of the fifth column gentry typified by Fritz Kuhn, one-time "fuehrer" of the German-American bund, that Americans no longer are of a mind to coddle enemies like them.

As will be recalled, Kuhn is now serving a sentence of from 2½ to 5 years in a New York prison for theft of funds from the bund. He applied the other day for a parole. Just why he did it is difficult to understand. The fact that he had the gall to do it indicates that his judgment of the American people still is that they both are soft-hearted and soft-headed. It was incredibly brazen that he could ask, hope for, or expect leniency at the hands of a people whom he plotted and aspired to enslave under his personal domination as a two-bit Hitler.

Happily, the New York State Parole board lost no time in puncturing any dreams of freedom that Kuhn may have had. The members not only rejected the application promptly and unanimously. They appended to the rejection the observation that Kuhn is a "hazard to the public peace and safety." The comment suggests that the New York board intends to see to it that Kuhn serves every last day of his sentence—which is exactly the attitude that the board members should take.

Texas' Senior Senator Attracts Attention Of Edson, Who Says:

"By Golly, Tom Connally's A Real Statesman!"

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 23.—They call Tom Connally of Marlin, Texas, the last of the long-haired senators. All the others let the barbers cut around their ears and run the clippers up their necks, or are so baldish they don't even make it interesting for a tonsorial artist who really loves his work.

EDSON

Tom doesn't reveal his age in the Congressional Directory, but he was a soldier in the Spanish-American war and from other sources comes the word that he will soon be 65. And if you, gentle male reader of 50 or over, could grow hair like the senior senator from Texas, you'd make the barbers be discreet too. Get even a distant look at big Tom on the capitol grounds under his broad-brimmed, black three-gallon hat and you know that there, by golly, goes a statesman, even if he doesn't wear a frock coat.

Maybe, like Samson, his strength is in that hair. At any rate, he has the strength of a longhorn steer and its courage too, and when he starts pawin' the ground, a stampede can start anytime and it's just as well to get for the top rails of the corral fence.

NO YAWNS FOR TOM

THE Senate of the United States can be the dullest of deliberate assemblies when some of the demagogs start droning, but when the senator from Texas takes the floor it can be livelier than a barn dance. Likewise, a Senate committee can bore you to insensibility, but when the gentleman from Texas starts asking questions of a witness who doesn't want to be too specific or doesn't know exactly what he's talking about, you wake up quick.

Talkin' Texas, droppin' g's all over the carpet and flattenin' his a's all over the table, he is again the prosecutin' attorney from Falls county with a barbed-wire flail at the tip of his tongue. He can make a bureaucrat squirm through his testimony like a coyote in the sagebrush, its tail between its legs, headin' for the hills.

Old Tom—you call him "old" affectionately, for he is a lovable cuss with a magnificent sense of sarcastic humor—has been in unusually fine form this last week or so backing his amendment to the selective service law to permit the President to take over strike-bound plants, and ripping into the Aluminum Company of America as its officials came before the Truman committee investigating ntional defense, lashing at everything which savored of bunk or didn't make sense to his Texas mind.

"The senator from Ohio is a statesman," Connally cracked at Taft in debate. "He does not think this bill is any good but he is for it."

A moment later, Taft tried to make the point that Connally's amendment would not prevent men from striking against the United States government, that a strike simply meant the men ceased to work.

"Oh, they can quit if they want to," agreed Connally, "and they can go plumb to Ohio."

When Senator Maloney offered an amendment, Connally accepted it but when Maloney came back with another, Connally ducked it with a gagline: "I have accepted one amendment from the senator from Connecticut," he said, "and the quota today is only one amendment per senator."

IRKED BY DELAYS

THE debate was on for three days, and Connally, fighting every minute, kept peppering his argument with a salty humor that kept his colleagues and the gallery grinning.

"I am not in favor of putting into the bill a great number of 'ifs,' 'ands,' 'buts,' and 'wait-a-minute' clauses," he stormed. "I want the government to step in whenever necessary, without having to wait around until three or four walking delegates decide when and if the government may act."

Connally is, as mentioned, fearless. And in threatening to take over the Aluminum Company of America, "if it did not behave," he was merely breathing more of the fire that has marked his 24 years in Washington. That long service, however, has never made him less a Texan than he ever was. He is king of the big Texas delegation in Congress, of course. Sam Rayburn may be speaker of the House, but Tom is the senator. Even if Governor "Biscuits" O'Daniel should be elected to the Senate, he will have a tough time getting ahead of Tom.

Excerpts from Roosevelt speeches have been translated into Spanish and published in a pocket volume, "Por Que Nos Armamos,"—"Why We Arm Ourselves"—for circulation to 60,000 leading South American politicos and business men. The Rockefeller office is paying the bill . . . Advertising for tourists in South American newspapers is being discontinued . . . Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles can deliver more verbal dynamite with less emotion than any speaker in Washington. . . . General Staff of U. S. Sacred Dagger you to leave."

"Oh, no. If they were approaching I would have been warned." It gave her a feeling of unseen eyes upon them. He relaxed with an elbow on the other steamer trunk, but he kept his voice pitched low. "You shouldn't be left here alone. It'll soon be dark." She knew it all too well. "This place has an evil reputation," he went on, "the local shepherds say it's haunted."

She held herself with an effort. "Are you trying to frighten me?"

"Could it be done?" he asked, regarding her; brown eyes, red lips, wine bronze hair in short dishevelled ringlets. And he had already felt the slenderness of her body. "You didn't scream when I tossed you up a little while ago."

Small Talk

She might have told him that one can be too scared to scream. Instead she sai... "What frightens the shepherds?"

"When dark comes, flames are supposed to dance above the tomb." He took a pipe out of his pocket and put it back again. "Have you eyes to see such things?"

"No," she admitted. And she realized what it would be like here if he had not appeared. Though he might be an enemy or a spy or just a coincidence, he was still a gift from the gods. She made a deliberate decision.

"Look at that tree by the tomb," she said. The haze was thickening in such a way that the tree appeared to come and go in a most disconcerting fashion though there was no direct evidence of a breeze. She decided sensibly it must be something about the air currents around the monument and between the hillocks.

"The little warped poplar?" he asked.

She nodded. "Do you think it is possible for a tree to be mentally deranged?" He didn't start and stare at her as she had half expected. Instead he replied after a thoughtful moment. "To think that I should meet a girl like you in a place like this."

"You believe I'm goofy too." The dust in the air was moving now and the sands whispered along the ground, but he seemed undisturbed.

"If you're a goof, then so am I, and we are goofs together," he declared. The wail in the wires above had changed to a deep-toned roar. "Are you a hermit?" she asked.

"Well, hardly," he chuckled. "There seem to be gaps in your education.

"Your friends, the Nagras, say," he went on after a moment, "that life is the prick of a sacred dagger which lets us imagine we're born and we died, when in truth we remain immortal beings."

Her eyes were growing larger and. "I wish they'd come," she half moaned.

"I'm glad I came," he declared, his voice bland as cream. "Here you sit like a queen on a throne and I'm first to pay you homage. Do you get the picture?"

She got it but she couldn't quite believe it. That she, Anne Willard should be crouching here at dusk on a steamer trunk in the Kalmar desert, while a bold-eyed stranger in a lambskin cap talked poetry to her in the language of home.

Suddenly, a little chirping, like that of a startled bird, began down by the monument. Anne knew very well there were no birds about the place, and involuntarily reached out a frightened hand. He clasped it and rose abruptly.

"Au revoir," he said in a low voice. "Here come your native friends," and he disappeared in the murky atmosphere.

Anne sat there like a little roe dear, frozen at the approach of a hunter. It seemed a long time before two grey forms loomed up in the direction of the monument. They carried some kind of desert hurricane lantern made from horn, and squatted down in front of her without speaking.

HEN WILL NOT PRODUCE COUNTERFEIT EGG

By ROBERT PENQUITE
Associate Professor, Poultry Department Oklahoma A. & M. College

The hen that does not receive a laying mash during the summer months is laboring under a serious handicap because she is requested to produce a counterfeit article. This is something that nature will not allow her to perform. Consequently, she ceases to lay.

An analysis of the egg shows clearly that all eggs contain definite amounts of protein, fats, minerals and vitamins. Experiments in nutrition prove that these materials must be supplied to the hen in the raw state in the proper amounts.

When the hen does not receive a laying mash during the summer months the raw materials usually lacking are proteins and vitamins. Many flock owners think that laying mash is too expensive to feed in the summer months. On the contrary, no flock owner can afford not to feed a laying mash where a flock of hens is kept for egg production. The hen has demonstrated time after time that, although one of the smallest animals on the farm, she is one of the best summer revenue producers.

FEED YOUR FLOCK THIS SUMMER FOR SUSTAINED PRODUCTION AND MORE PROFITS THIS FALL.

STANTON'S LAYING MASH

Two Candidates Quit Race; New Charges Hurled

Campaign In Final Stretch

(By The Associated Press)

Texas' senatorial campaign heated up considerably over the weekend with a maze of charges and two withdrawals and there was no indication it would cool off during the five days of speech-making left before the voters go to the polls Saturday to cast their decision.

The candidates withdrawing from the race were John C. Williams of Rockport, in favor of Rep. Martin Dies; and C. L. Somerville of Dallas, in favor of Rep. Lyndon Johnson. This left 25 in the race.

Seeks To Block O'Daniel

Somerville told a city park audience in Dallas Sunday he was quitting the contest in an attempt to help block further political advance of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson.

Miss Rae Files of Waxahachie, member of the state House of Representatives, came to the defense of House members against what she said were inconsistencies of Gov. O'Daniel.

Miss Files charged in an open letter Saturday that O'Daniel had tried to coerce state legislators into supporting bad measures by threatening to broadcast that they were "against the old folks." She outlined examples she said supported her charges and said O'Daniel had let down his new friends in the legislature by claiming credit for the House tax bill which he did nothing to help through while abusing via radio those who were devoting yoeman efforts to passage.

Slap At Legislature

O'Daniel, who plans to campaign today at Plainview, Amarillo and Vernon, took another poke at the legislature Saturday at Odessa, saying the legislators passed legislation he wanted so they would get rid of him.

Lyndon Johnson said in a radio address last night at El Paso that democracy was in greater peril today than at any time since the declaration of independence and that Americans would have to stay behind their elected leaders to preserve it.

Johnson will speak at Amarillo tonight and conclude a swing through the state with a rally at Houston Friday.

Mann, who told a Midland audience Saturday that in three years he had delivered 45 opinions for guidance of the governor, conferred with campaign workers in Dallas Sunday en route to his scheduled appearances today at Angleton and Houston.

Rep. Dies, who plans two radio speeches today before returning to Orange for a home-town rally Tuesday night, asked El Paso voters Saturday night to "help promote me" to the U. S. Senate to carry on a broadened investigation of fifth column activities.

Meadowbrook Women To Play On Thursday

Meadowbrook women golfers will continue play in the ladder tournament Thursday, and all competitors are urged to be present when play begins at 9 o'clock that morning.

Luncheon will be served at Hotel Lubbock at noon, or as soon as the players have completed the round. Mrs. Aubrey Arnett and Mrs. T. H. Anderson are to be hostesses for the day.

Mrs. Fay Kinnard is currently leading in the ladder tournament.

Australia is three and one-half times the size of Greenland.

Fort Worth On Spree In Texas Loop Race

(By The Associated Press)

The Fort Worth Cats, in the Texas league cellar this time last week, don't look like a cellar club today—and they're not.

In seven days the Panthers have won six games and lost only one to jump from the bottom of the standings to a tie at fifth with Oklahoma City. And their winning streak doesn't appear to be wavering.

The Cats won their fifth straight game yesterday defeating the San Antonio Missions 2 to 1. Fort Worth won in the 10th inning when Baron raced home from second after the ball sailed over the first baseman's head in an attempted double play.

In yesterday's other games the Shreveport Sports took two from Oklahoma City, 8 to 5 and 8 to 0; Houston downed the Dallas Rebels, 3 to 1; and Ray Davis scored his eighth victory of the season as the Tulsa Oilers shut out the Beaumont Exporters 6 to 0.
