Form Law Partnership

Max Boyer and J. W. Payne Form Law Partnership; Offices In Rogers-Stump

Attorneys Max Boyer and J. W. Payne recently formed a law partnership with a suite of offices on the second floor of the Rogers-Stump building. Both of these men are very capable and efficient lawyers.

Mr. Boyer has been a resident of Perryton for just a few months but during that short period he has made many friends. He came to Perryton from Perry, Oklahoma and is a graduate of the law school of the Oklahoma University at Norman.

J. W. Payne is one of Ochiltree County's pioneer attorneys as well as citizen. He has been engaged in the practise of law for many years and has a large following of clients. During the early days of Perryton he served the county as County Judge.

This new firm should enjoy a good business. Boyer is young, energetic and fresh from a law school while Judge Payne has years of hard, actual experience behind him.

FORT WORTH AND DENVER ANNOUNCE THAT THEY WILL NOT FIGHT PROPOSED SANTA FE ROAD

F. E. Clarity, vice-president and general manager of the Fort Worth & Denver has officially announced that his road will not fight the application of the Santa Fe to build from Amarillo to Dumas and on to Spearman and from Dumas to Las Animas, Colorado. Formal protest has been filed by the Rock Island that it will contest the case before the Interstate Commerce Commission, but an effort is being made to have them withdraw their objection, thus clearing the way for starting actual construction work by the Santa Fe at once.

Resolutions from both the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club of Perryton have been forwarded to the Santa Fe Railway Co. stating that these organizations were one hundred per cent behind the Santa Fe in the building of the new lines. Every citizen of the Perryton territory is very anxious for the granting of a permit for this construction and wish to see it completed in the shortest possible time. With the connecion to Amarillo and to the northwest, will come a lowering of freight rates on many commodities.

FIKE TO FILL M. E. PULPIT

COMES HERE FROM WHITE DEER WAS AT CANADIAN FOUR YEARS; RANEY TO WHITE DEER

Rev. C. E. Fike, pastor of the Methodist church at White Deer for the past year and for four years previous to going to White Deer, pastor of the Canadian M. E. Church, has been assigned to the pastorate of the Perryton Methodist church by the conference which just closed at Pampa. Rev. E. C. Raney, who has been in charge of the church here for the past two years exchanges charges with Rev. Fike.

Rev. Fike will preach his first serman here next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. Fike comes to Perryton with a very flattering record behind him. We understand that he is a graduate of Vanderbilt University. At Canadian, he was very popular and many are the good words that have emanated from that city concerning him. He has the name of being a minister who takes an active part in civic affairs and puts his shoulder to the wheel and works hand in hand with the business men of the city of his charge. The Herald welcomes him to Perryton.

PLANS CALL FOR NEW JUNIOR HI BUILDING NORTH OF SCHOOLHOUSE

ELECTION WILL BE HELD ON MONDAY, DEC. 9TH; PRESENT SCHOOL BADLY OVER-CROWDED; MANN & CO. TO PREPARE THE PLANS

The school board of the Perryton Independent School District, acting on a petition presented to them by more than the necessary number of voters, at their last regular meeting, called a school bond election for Monday, December 9, to decide whether the district shall issue bonds in the amount of $60,000 for the erection of an addition to the present school building in Perryton for the housing of the Junior High School.

The proposed new building will be strictly fire-proof of concrete, steel and brick construction. It will be built immediately north of the present school house, with a frontage of one hundred and thirty feet and fifty-four feet deep, and connected with the main school structure with a twenty-five foot drive-way of the same type as the connection between the main building and the high school annex. The plans call for two floors with a full basement, the plan of architecture and design to harmonize with the high school building on the south. Mann & Co., Hutchinson, Kansas, architects for the present high school building and the courthouse, have been retained to prepare and draw plans and specifications for the proposed new structure.

The building is to be used as Junior High School quarters and has been planned accordingly. Regular departments are to be found in the plans for the proposed new structure. Nine regular class rooms, science department, study hall, library, large art room, band room, practice room and cafeteria in basement is included in the plans. Crowded conditions in the school has necessitated the calling of this election. The grade building is very congested, and much too small to meet the demands being made this year. It is now necessary to use one room in the high school for the grades at the present time.

If the election carries, the bonds to be issued will be serial and will bear five per cent interest. The district will buy $20,000 worth of these bonds, on which, of course there would be no interest collected. The $20,000 issue of bonds mature annually for twenty-five years. This would require $800 each year to retire the $20,000 purchased by the district. The other $40,000 would be paid serially for twenty years, each bond being for the amount of $2,000. One bond is paid off each year with interest at the rate of five per cent, payable semi-annually. The greatest amount to be paid in any one year would be $4,800 with an annual decrease of $100 per year.

RANGERS GO TO DALHART FRI.

TO PLAY SECTIONAL LOSERS THERE FOR CONSOLATION CHAMPIONSHIP; DOPE IS EVEN

The Perryton High school Rangers will go to Dalhart, Friday, November 22, to play the Dalhart team a sort of consolation game. Dalhart losing to Hereford in the bisectional championship meet by a score of 27 to 7 and Perryton losing to Pampa in the sectional fling, 15 to 0.

There is doubt that the game will be bitterly fought, both teams fighting to uphold the standards in their section and no little consolation should be experienced by the winner.

Dope is about even on the two teams. Dalhart defeated the Amarillo Yannigans by a 19 to 0 score while the Rangers could get only a 13 to 0 verdict against them. Playing at home will also be a big advantage as the trip necessarily will be made the day of the game.

The Rangers came through the Pampa game without any serious injuries and unless some show up during this week's practise, all will be in good shape for Dalhart.

TO PLAY HERE THANKSGIVING

PANHANDLE WILL COME HERE FOR TURKEY DAY GO ON LOCAL FIELD; TO BE LAST

The Rangers will meet Panhandle for the last game of the season on Thanksgiving day, here next Thursday, should the weather remain favorable, and should be an interesting one. Several of the Rangers will play their last game for Perryton High school on this occasion.

Judging from the Borger game, the teams are evenly matched, Borger winning from Panhandle by a 13 to 7 count and from the Rangers by a 6 to 0 score.

DOES MARKET CRASH MEAN A DEPRESSION?

What is the meaning of the unprecedented collapse in security markets, which carried many issues down 35 to 75 percent from prices they were selling for a few weeks or a few months ago? Does it forecast a severe depression in general business which will adversely affect agriculture? The November 15 Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman asks these questions and then goes on to analyze the market situation as follows:

The shrinkage in quoted values was as pronounced as in farm land land prices in the post-war deflation. That it will be followed by a prolonged aftermath of painful consequences to thousands of individuals appears inescapable. But, just as the prosperity of the urban population in recent yers did not increase the demand for food and clothing materials sufficiently to make agriculture prosperous, so the bursting of the stock market boom is unlikely to reduce the demand for these essentials of living enough to bring an agricultural depression. It may reduce the contrast between urban and rural levels of well-being.

The decline in stock prices probably represents a revision of views both as to the ratio that should exist between price and earnings and as to the prospects for earnings in the near future. Business activity has shown less than the usual seasonal expansion this fall which means, in effect, that it has begun to recede. The pace may continue to slacken until in the fore part of 1930, but a moderate recession rather than a severe depression appears to be in prospect.

Demand for luxury goods as well as some staple industrial products wil be reduced by the shrunken inprices were run through the wringer. But, the absence of excessive inventories of goods in most branches of industry means that consumer demand will overtake supplies and stimulate manufacturing operations again without a prolinged delay.

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.

He treated constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a combination of senna and other mild herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. Elderly people find it ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Heart to Heart Talk

By John Joseph Baines M.D.

AN INVENTORY

What have I done, and what am I doing to make people love and respect me? Am I doing anything, consciously or unconsciously to make them dislike or hate me? I am in daily contact with folks—droves of them; they are going to think of me one way or the other. Even if they regard me with indifference, that is of no benefit to me. I'd rather their opinions of me were good, and, ft is wholly with me whether they are.

Nobody love a human hog—the sort that lives solely for himself. I've seen them, so have you.

The human hog roots strictly for himself; he knows no Sunday. Seven full days per week he moils—ever looking down at his sordid peel he never looks toward the blue heavens. He serves one god—the golden calf—and never for a moment takes his eyes off it; for him, there is no security or safety in any other sort of God.

Let misfortune touch him on the pocket-book, and he crumples like a leaf. When his god shatters, as all earthly things must shatter, he is wrecked morally, physically, and, spiritually—if a hog has a spirit. He hasn't the true and splendid manhood to rise abouve the ruin of his broken idol.

Am I a human hog? Are you? The answer is—No! Need I ask why? For one thing, good people don't cast pearls before swine, lest the beast turn upon them and rend them. Just why any sane being can adopt the tactics of the hog and live only for his own greedy self, has always been a mystery to me.

The human hog never sees the error of his way. And, he wonders why people don't feel sorry for him when his boat capsizes. He is willing to accept the best people have, but he has nothing to give in exchange. His superb selfishness blinds him as it leads him slowly to destruction.

If he could find fault with himself, he would not be a human hog.

MARKED POULTRY IS FEARED BY THIEVES

The biggest thievery problem in Oklahoma and Texas today is the thievery of poultry. Farmers make it is just as easy as possible for thieves by refusing or neglect to mark their poultry. Very few instances of theft of marked birds are reported.

Acording to the November 15 Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman, its records show that not one farmer in 200 can identify either his chickens or turkeys. Thieves know this to be true. Officers know it. There is probably not an officer in the southwest who has not faced the necessity of having to release chicken thieves because an owner could not positively identify his own property.

One big advantage to the farmer in marking poultry is that if the marked birds are stolen, and if they are located, the owner can immediately repossess them. A peace officer may take possession of property alleged to be stolen. On satisfactory proof of title by the owner of the property, the magistrate before whom the information is presented may order the property to be delivered to the owner. The

..."Too late" is a cry, yet one made by hundreds who have fooled away good time and wonderful opportunity.

Let us draw this short sermon to a close. In writing it we have been thinking of the many people around and in Perryton who have been making, at least seems they have, the same mistake this man made. Are you, kind reader, ready this day or night to give an account of your soul? Should the judgment of God suddenly call you would you be ready to stand the test? Only those who are Christians can possibly be ready and I fear a great many of them have made but little preparation. The churches and preachers of this town are your friends and stand ready and willing to help you. You grumble and growl about them and what they do, yet, the truth is they have done far more than you have. Don't find fault or stay away because of some distressing condition but be a man and get in and help change things 'till all is right.

It's a man's task. As pastor of one of our churches I challenge you to this proposition, "Would you live in Perryton without churches?" If not, then what honorable answer can you give for your unreasonable conduct of staying away from the church and not helping do your part. I present this parable of the Great Master Teacher to help in leading us all a little nearer home. May God richly bless you all.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES

Last Sunday was a very good day with us. At the morning service three fine young folks made the Good Confession and we baptised them in the evening. They were Miss Inez Packard, George Nies and Billy Monahan. This makes ten added to the church in the past few weeks. A splendid crowd attended both preaching services and the Sunday School was as good as one could ask for.

In looking forward and planning for services next Sunday we are hoping for even better services than we have had so far. It looks like the weather might be some better and that it would be easier to get around. At least we hope so.

Sunday School at 10:00 a. m. Bro. E. A. Records, our superintendent, is planning some fine and enjoyable programs for Sunday School and I know that you will enjoy an hour with us.

Morning service immediately follows the Sunday School beginning at 10:45 and closing by 11:45. Mrs. Carl Ellis will sing at the morning service. The sermon will be, "Leaky Cisterns". This will be interesting as well as instructive. Plan to be with us.

Young peoples meeting at 6:45 p. m. There were 44 young people here in both sections last Sunday evening. They certainly had a splendid time. Come and enjoy these meetings with them.

Evening preaching service at 7:30 p. m. The subject of the evening sermon will be, "A Great Service Station." If you drive a car or ride in one come and hear this sermon. Good old fashioned singing and plenty of it. Everyone invited and all are welcome.

You are always welcome at the homelike church.

L. O. Byerly, pastor.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for November 24

Jonah 1: 1-3; 3: 1-5; 4: 5-11

The entire book of Jonah is the general subject matter for study this week. Many seem to find only the problem of the whale in this very interesting book of four chapters. The fact is that "whale" does not appear therein. Certain sea monsters, however, have the capacity to take in a man. Read the book through again and look for the missionary import that runs through its 48 verses. Then try to write as much in 1,328 words on the great missionary enterprise. It is a wonderful book and contains profound teachings. Study the prayer of Jonah as recorded in chapter 2 and you will find many helpful truths as you, penitent, approach the throne of Jehovah.

It is easy to acquire the attitude of self-satisfaction in the midst of many blessings and at the same time forget that there is a great world at large that needs your attention. Privilege brings serious responsibilities which must be discharged rightfully in the sight of the Great Judge. It is commendable to be a loyal patriot, but we must also be continuously prepared to discharge our responsibilities as a world citizen.

While Jonah was one of the earliest prophets he was decidedly provincial in his thinking. Further he wanted to deliver his messages to Jewry only, forgetful that all the children of the earth are beloved by the Father. When told to go to Ninevah and preach against that city because of its wickedness the landsman hastened to Joppa and took shipping for the region of present Spain. There were stormy times, in more ways than one, until God's servant confessed his sin of running away from duty and was ready to hear another commission That second call was to do the very thing he had sought to avoid.

A guilty conscience makes one fearful. When Jonah told the Ninevites about their sins and the punishments due from the only God penitence was expressed and the threatened punishment was revoked. Then petulant Jonah again revealed the narrowness of his brotherhood horizon. In sulks he sat down near Ninevah to pity himself because his threats had not been carried out. Rather, he should have rejoiced that God had warned through him and had then forgiven in His overflowing love. It took the active parable of the gourd to make Jonah see how love could be effective. Note in particular how God calls attention to the more than 120,000 innocent children within the city They surely were not responsible for the sins of their parents though they were about to suffer therefrom.

Mankind is learning this higher patriotism and the love for little children helps in acquiring the lesson. One recent expression has been the millions given in relief for the children of the Near East.

Announcing

a revolutionizing Motor Oil,
a new principle and a Challenge

the Challenge

Several years ago, the exclusive North American patent rights on the Germ Process were acquired by this Company. It was evolved and patented by two British scientists after exhaustive chemical and physical laboratory tests.

Germ Process oils were revolutionary in that they met every requirement, through special characteristics, for each type of internal combustion motor. These scientists, by the Germ Process, eradicated the prevalent weaknesses existent in motor oils regardless of their base.

This Company has made innumerable laboratory and road tests, under every conceivable condition, over the past seven years, and we are now prepared to state definitely that your motor oil problem is solved by the Germ-Processed Motor Oils.

By comparison, our tests prove that the "Germ Essence" creates the only safe motor oil under all conditions and at all times operates at the highest obtainable efficiency.

We are now prepared to meet any challenge of competitors. I confidently believe that Conoco Germ-Processed Paraffin Base Motor Oils are superior to any other motor oils made from any crude by any process.

More than twenty thousand outlets are now prepared to offer to the public such a motor oil for the discriminating buyer, and for a technical problem which has always been recognized but not solved until now.

J. M. Moran President,
CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY

Here are our Claims for Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil—
Check against the oil you are now using

1 Under the Germ patents . . . . exclusive to CONOCO for North America . . . . there is imparted to CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil an "oiliness" which is responsible for its greater lubricating value, greater film strength, greater penetrativeness, greater adhesiveness, greater tenacity, greater permanence, greater stability, greater stamina and a more nearly perfect compression seal than any other oil on the American market. Because of this affinity for metal—this actually combining with the metal itself, CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil never leaves the bearings. Where other oils drain out and leave the surface dry, Germ-Processed oil penetrates the metal surfaces, forming a film that adheres for months. This "carry-over" film—this always present film gives ample lubrication to all parts needing it when a cold motor is started, until such time as oil from the crank case can reach them.

2 This remarkable and exclusive feature of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil is reinforced by the fact that these oils are refined from only carefully selected paraffin base crudes by the most modern and scientific methods known to the petroleum technologist. Patented processes are used to remove all objectionable elements, leaving a perfectly balanced, stable product that is 100% lubricating oil. Thousands of tests demonstrate its remarkable resistance to corrosion.

The majority of motor oils never receive this degree of refining. None ever exceed it.

3 Increased gasoline mileage and improved motor performance are realized through the use of this new oil. The exclusive CONOCO Germ Process so adds to the "oiliness" of this lubricant that metal-against-metal friction is eliminated, even in motor starting after all oil ordinarily would have drained from the motor into the crankcase. The perfect sealing qualities of the CONOCO fracture-proof film insures a high compression efficiency that results in greatly increased motor performance. Marked improvements in power, speed, acceleration and flexibility are noticeable.

4 Due to the Germ Process and the select, premium, paraffin base crude stocks used, CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil positively does not break down under the most intense cylinder wall heat. A climb, high speed, heavy load, temperature extremes—none of these strains cause this oil to heat sufficiently to actually burn, break down or evaporate to any appreciable degree. By comparison with many oils on the market, you may confidently expect a saving in oil consumption up to 50%.

5 Automotive engineers agree that 40% to 60% of all motor wear occurs during the starting period. This destructive wear is definitely reduced by the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Ordinary oil, thinned by heat and dilution, drains down past the piston rings when the motor is stopped, leaving little or no protective film. On starting the motor, a considerable time is required for the oil to reach all bearings and working surfaces. Under adverse conditions, such as winter temperatures, this time may be from 15 to 20 minutes or even longer.

Since CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil never leaves the bearings and working surfaces, it is always there under any and all conditions to provide needed lubrication until the normal supply of oil arrives.

6 Unlike other oils, dilution does not impair the "oiliness" value of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

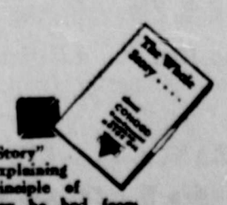

7 CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil retains its fluidity at sub-zero temperatures. No practical operating conditions in winter will affect its immediate lubricating value at the first touch of the electric starter.

Harvesters Pile Up 18 Points; Win Championsh

RANGERS LOST MUD BATTLE

PAMPA'S BEEF AND SPEED TOO MUCH FOR RANGERS ON MUDDY FIELD; LOSE 18-0

The Perryton Rangers took their first conference defeat of the season last Thursday afternoon from the Pampa Harvesters, losing by an 18 to 0 score, but going down fighting gallantly against the overwhelming odds of the Harvesters weight and speed, playing in a sea of mud.

From the outset the Rangers' hopes of winning seemed doubtful. The Harvesters with their powerful, experienced team, twenty pounds to the man heavier, and playing on a sloppy field had every advantage. In the first quarter they literally swept the light Ranger team off their feet but in the following three periods of play were met by fighting bunch of youngsters.

The line-up for the start of the game follows:

Rangers	Position	Harvesters
Christopher	l. e.	H. Ayres
Bruner	l. t.	English
Williams	l. g.	McFarland
Carter	c.	Mullen
Skeen	r. g.	Pafford
Brewer	r. t.	Barnard
Coffee	r. e.	Monroe
Shearer	q. b.	Saulsbury
M. Tucker	l. h.	Lard
L. Tucker	r. h.	Chastain
Witt	f. b.	Buckingham

Saulsbury won the toss and chose to defend the north goal, M. Tucker deciding to kick. Bruner kicked off for the Rangers, Saulsbury taking the oval on the 38 yard mark and returning to the 43. Saulsbury raced around right end for 6 yards and followed through left tackle for 4 more and a first down. Lard, flashy Harvester halfback, got away around right end for a 34 yard run, being downed on the 13 yard tape. Pampa called time out.

Score Early in Game.

Saulsbury hit left tackle for 6 yards. On the next down he went through right guard for nearly 4 more, lacking a first down by only a few inches with the ball on the Rangers 3 yard stripe. Chastain went over right guard for a touchdown, Lard failing to lift the mud-soaked oval over the bar in the try for point.

Bruner kicked off again for the Rangers, this time to the 20 yard mark, Lard receiving and getting a 10 yard return. Buckingham fumbled on the first down but recovered for a 3 yard loss. Lard twists around right end for 23 yards and a first down.

Buckingham took the ball on a reverse and whipped around left end for 34 yards. With the Pampans on their 16 yard tape, the Rangers defense tightened. Saulsbury made but 2 yards on a play through right guard. He tried left tackle but failed to gain. Lard added 3 yards through right tackle. Saulsbury made 3 more through the same position and the Harvesters were held for downs on the Ranger 8 yard mark.

Rangers Get Ball.

The Rangers had the ball in their possession for the first time. Witt smashed through right tackle for 3 yards. M. Tucker added another yard through the same hole. Shearer got away through left tackle for 7 yards and a first down. Witt fumbled on the next down, losing 11 yards. M. Tucker raced around right end on the next down and regained the loss. Shearer advanced the ball a yard around left end. Shearer punted but the heavy pigskin dropped on the 32 yard mark.

Lard dashed around right end for 5 yards. Buckingham plunged through right tackle for a little over 4 more. Saulsbury fumbled, recovered and hit the line for a yard and a first down. Chastain hit right tackle for 5 yards. Lard's big gain was called back and Pampa penalized 5 yards for off side. Saulsbury hit the line for 4 yards. Lard raced around right end for 12 yards and a first down with the oval on the Ranger 5 yard line. On the next down Saulsbury trotted over the line for the second Harvester touchdown. The Rangers substituted Schollenbarger for Brewer. Again Lard failed to kick goal.

Harvesters Kick Off.

Buckingham kicked off for the Harvesters, Bruner receiving the oval on the 31 yard mark, making a yard return. L. Tucker hit left tackle for 3 yards just as the quarter closed.

Play was resumed in the second period and M. Tucker's 5 yard gain was called back and the Rangers penalized 5 yards for taking excessive time out. After considerable argument the penalty was suspended and the ball was again put in play on the 35 yard mark. Witt pounded through right tackle for 6 yards. L. Tucker hit left guard but the play was called back and the Rangers penalized 5 yards, backfield in motion. Shearer punted but the play was called back and Pampa penalized 10 yards for being offside, giving the Rangers a first down.

Get Many Penalties.

L. Tucker hit the line for 2 yards. M. Tucker made 6 yards but the play was called back when both lines were off side. Witt hit right tackle for 2 yards. M. Tucker gains a yard around right end on a reverse. Shearer's punt was downed on the 19 yard stripe.

Lard dashed around right end for 11 yards and a first down. Buckingham's run around left end was called back and the Harvesters penalized 5 yards for backfield in motion. Chastain drove through right tackle for 6 yards. Lard lost a yard on a double reverse.

Block Two Punts.

Saulsbury attempted to punt on the third down but kick was blocked, however he recovered the ball. On the final down he attempted to kick again but it was again blocked by Christopher, Saulsbury again recovering on the 26 yard mark but losing the ball on downs.

M. Tucker raced around right end for a 3 yard gain advancing the oval to the 23 yard tape, the only real threat the Rangers made to the Pampa goal line. Shearer lost 2 yards around left end. Witt lost 5 more around right end. M. Tucker was downed for a yard loss on a double reverse and the Rangers lost the ball on downs.

Neither Team Gains.

Saulsbury failed to gain through left tackle. Chastain fumbled on the next down but was not counted and the Harvesters took a 5 yard penalty when their backfield was in motion. Pass, Lard to Saulsbury was incomplete. Saulsbury punts to Shearer on his 44 yard tape, the oval being returned 2 yards. L. Tucker failed to gain through left down as the half ended. Score, Rangers 0, Pampa 12.

Rangers Show Offensive.

Buckingham kicked off to start the second half, M. Tucker receiving on his 8 yard tape, making an 11 yard return. Shearer hit left tackle for a 10 yard gain and a first down. M. Tucker gained 6 yards around right end and pounded the line on the next play for 7 more, making a first down.

L. Tucker smashed through right tackle for 5 yards and through center on the next play for 3 more. Witt failed to gain around left end. M. Tucker hit the line but the play was called back and Pampa penalized 5 yards for being off side.

Lose Ball on Fumble.

Shearer hit right tackle for 2 yards. M. Tucker added a yard around left end. With the ball on the Pampa 42 yard mark, Shearer fumbles, Pampa recovering on the 39 yard stripe.

Saulbury went around right end for 5 yards. Lard made 2 more through right guard. Chastain got loose around right end for an 11 yard gain and a first down. Chastain's plunge through right tackle was called back when both lines were off side. Buckingham hit left tackle for a yard gain. Saulsbury added 2 more through the same position. Lard tore around right end for 7 yards and a first down.

Threaten To Score.

Saulsbury hits the center of the line for 4 yards. He shows a small gain through left tackle but the play was called back and the Rangers penalized 5 yards for being offside, giving Pampa a first down. Chastain hit left tackle for 5 yards. Saulsbury gained 3 more through center. He hit center again but the oval was returned and the Rangers given another 5 yard penalty for being off side, Pampa getting a first down with the ball on the 9 yard stripe. Pampa called time out.

Buckingham failed to gain around left end. Lard made a small gain around right end but the play was called back and the Harvesters given a 5 yard penalty, backfield in motion. Lard fumbled but recovered and gained a yard. Chastain hit right tackle for 2 yards. Buckingham raced around left end for 4 yards advancing to the 6 yard tape but the oval went to the Rangers as the Harvesters were again held for downs.

Witt plunged through center for 3 yards. M. Tucker raced around right end for 4 more. Shearer added a yard through left tackle and the quarter closed with the ball on the 15 yard stripe.

Intercept Ranger Pass.

Play was resumed in the final period and Shearer punted to the center tape where the pigskin was received and returned 5 yards. Saulsbury gained 2 yards around right end. Pampa called time out, McFarland injured. Chastain gained 3 yards around right end. Saulsbury fumbled but recovered with no gain. Saulsbury made but a yard around right end and the Harvesters were again held for downs, the oval going to the Rangers on the 38 yard mark.

Witt smashed through the line for a 3 yard advance. A pass, Shearer to Coffee was completed for 8 yards and a first down, the only completed pass of the game. Another pass is attempted but Chastain intercepted it on his 46 yard line running to the 28 yard tape where he was downed.

Lard Gets Touchdown.

Chastain hit right tackle for 3 yards. Buckingham went around right end for 2 more. Lard twisted his way through right tackle for one of his brilliant runs from 23 yard stripe for a touchdown. He failed in his third attempt to boot the water-soaked pigskin between the uprights.

Brewer is substituted for Christopher in the Ranger line-up. M. Tucker takes the Harvesters kick-off on the 24 yard tape returning to the 30. Shearer races around left end for 17 yards and a first down. L. Tucker hits left tackle for a yard. M. Tucker goes through the line for 2 more. The Rangers call time out.

Run In Substitutes.

M. Tucker picked up a fumble on a reverse, losing 2 yards. Shearer punted to the 29 yard line where the ball was downed. Buckingham failed to gain in a line play Saulsbury made 10 yards around right end. Chastain made it a first down with a 2 yard plunge ter.

At this point, with or utes to play, Coach ran in substitutes in line-up. They were Ayres, Schmidt, Le Reno, D. Benton ret Saulsbury and Chastai field and one linesm Ayres gained 2 yard

PRESIDENT FIRM PRAISES SARGON

"At the age of 79 I'm still active in business, and I attribute my splendid energy and vitality to Sargon. I believe it added years to my life.

DAVID S. BEEKMAN

"Before I took Sargon my health had been failing steadily for five years. What I ate soured almost as soon as it reached my stomach. My nerves were all to pieces and I hardly ever got a good night's sleep. I was continually bothered with constipation and biliousness. I tried many medicines but kept losing weight and getting weaker every day. I thought I would have to give up my business, which would have cost me thousands of dollars.

"Six bottles of Sargon made me like a different man. If I have an ailment left I don't know it. My appetite is keen, all trace of stomach trouble is gone, and I sleep like a top. I've gained seven pounds and feel as well and strong as I did 25 years ago. I go to my office every morning ready for a real day's work. It's a pleasure to endorse this remarkable treatment."

"I Never Knew a Gas Range Could Perform Like This!"

This exclamation from a very modern lady who, like many people, had taken gas ranges as a matter of course.

In the ROUND OAK for the first time she saw something distinctly desirable and different—a beauty in which she could take pride—a convenience that would simplify household tasks and give a certainty of perfect cooking results that assured successful dinners.

So impressed was she that she did not hesitate a moment in discarding the range she was using for the

by ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE

ILLUSTRATED BY DONALD RILEY

The Minerva was making, she guessed, an easy seven knots; unless some one on deck had seen her or heard the slight splash of her dive she would not be observed, for though the Gluf Stream gleamed, it was the pale radiance of stars that was reflected; the moon, being new, cast no beam upon the sea. It would be several moments before Stevens would give the alarm, before the course of the Minerva could be altered, its searchlight made to play upon the waters. Only accident could aid them in finding her; that accident could hardly be avoided by a thirty-foot swim beneath the water. Tome enough to exhaust herself thus when discovery was imminent.

Her feet sagged until they hung straight down; the tired arms relaxed; that black hair, shiny in the first rays of the sun, dipped below the water. And then her toes touched hard sand. She kicked violently, and her head came above the surface. There, straight before her, green and lovely in the morning, was land. She had been tired, too hopeless to see it; swimming on her side, she'd not looked ahead for, oh, hours, it seemed. And here it was, white sand, fragrant jungle. . . . She mustard all her waning strength. It was only a few yards, it couldn't be more than that, to where the shelving beach would rise to meet the jungle, and let her walk.

A path! That meant people. If she could only reach a house, get inside . . . If she even had a blanket, to keep off the sun, the flies, the ants. There was a house. A shack, but it looked like the Cosden house to Lucy Harkness. A veritable palace of unpainted boards. She staggered toward it. Even a makeshift veranda, with a roof above it, chairs, a table, and there must be a bed inside. A bed!

She leaned for a moment against a cocoanut palm. A nut fell, crashing. Upon the veranda a land crab, startled by the sound, looked up, saw a great white figure that stretched toward the sky.

o xz...hersatarabov

He scuttled across the cracked boards, as the great white figure advanced, stumbled across the veranda, and into the hut.

How could that crab know that it was the most harmless human in the world, just now; merely a half-drowned, semiconscious girl, naked as no one had ever seen her since she was a baby, as nothing had ever seen her save the sun, the sea, the jungle and the crab?

* * * *

Lucy Harkness stirred, and an instant ache rushed through her body. But it was the delicious ache that follows complete exhaustion and subsequent rest.

"Oo!" said Lucy Harkness.

"I could eat," she said slowly, judicially, "at least six eggs, four lamb chops, a dozen slices of hot butteredtoast—"

"And six pepsin tablets," said a husky voice.

Instinctively she drew tight the baggy pajamas. The voice might have come from the room in which she stood yet there was no one here. She stepped to the door, noticing for the first time that it stood ajar, and peeped through it.

Smiling gaily at her, the while he stirred a yellowish mess in a fryingpan that sizzled above an open fire, stood a tall, slim man. He wore khaki knickers and his white shirt had short sleeves and no collar. His hair was quite gray; green sunglasses hid the color of his eyes; his nose was twisted slightly, as though once broken, and his wide thin lips curved in a grin that showed white teeth. For the rest, he was clean-shaven, and his hands seemed extraordinarily muscular.

"God gave me more than I deserve," she responded, "including a good digestion. Why didn't you build your fire on the windward side, and then I'd have smelled the coffee and gladdened your eyes with my presence so much the sooner."

"Always a purchase price," he sighed. "Some women are bought with jewels, some with rank, and you, it seems, with coffee."

Unaware that she did so, she nodded. This was a man who could instantly catch your mood, drop into file, and march along with you.

"I'm not sure that a suit of pajamas is sufficient clothing to justify my presence at your breakfast table," she said.

"You had less on when I found you," he said dryly.

"Prudery," she retorted, slightly angered at her blush, "should begin and end at home. Behold, friend landlord, somewhere in these silken swathes, Lucy Harkness, at your service, knight of the jungle and the sea, feeder of the forlorn, rescuer of leaguered maidens. No, you're looking at the wrong sleeve. This is I, in the left sleeve."

He waved a gay hand at her.

"Nymph of the rosy dawn, Fergus Faunce, M. D., greets you. If you will put both feet in a slipper you'll find under the bed, and jump out here, you will concede that I'm as good at a recipe as I hope you'll grant I am at a prescription."

This was nice. A gentleman, and one of easy, fluent speech, of lazy gaiety, and friendly camaraderie. She stepped back, rescued the slippers, laughed as she put her own small feet into them, and then, seeing a flannel dresing gown, reached for it. Her hand dropped back. Something in the dry quality of his voice, as he reminded her of this morning's nudity lingered in her memory. The pajamas were sufficient clothing. She shuffled out upon the veranda.

"Where do you live?" he asked, breaking a long silence.

"North. On the Lake trail. We go along the County Road; I'll show you."

CHAPTER II

"Perhaps, Tim," she said, "you don't understand women as well as you thought."

He reached out a shaking hand, but she easily avoided his grasp.

"Oh, not that, Tim yet!"

She sank easily into wicker chair; her gray eyes met his wondering stare calmly.

"For God's sake, Lucy, tell me—"

"What?" She smiled.

He, too, sat down, carefully, cautiously, as though he were uncertain of each movement that his big body made.

"I went to Mrs. Clary. She said . . . she'd talked to you, and . . . Lucy, what did you do? God! can't you understand how I felt? Nearly insane—"

"Fear does that," she said.

"Fear? You don't know me. It was . . . what I'd done to you . . .

"Lucy, before God, I was insane, crazy! Modane and the Japs had to hold me . . . from jumping overboard. The thing I wanted most on earth . . . was gone. Oh, Lucy! Lucy! can you ever, ever—"

"Listen, Tim: I think I like you better brutal than appealing. After all, I owe you something. We live for experience, don't we? Without experience we're dead, eh? Well, then, last night I lived. Of course the price one pays for experience isn't always too pleasant . . . I landed, naked, on a beach I found a hut, entered, and fainted. A man found me there; he clothed me in his own pajamas, put me to bed. He happened to be a gentleman, but even so. . ."

"Lucky for him that you can say he was a gentleman," said Stevens.

She laughed.

"My chivalrous friend! You who would have dishonored me, who drove me into the sea, can glower at the mention of another man, can knot your fists. The only thing that makes the human race tolerable is its ridiculous quality."

"Who was he?" demanded Stevens.

"The very question he asked!" she laughed. "I didn't tell him, but I will tell you. Dr. Fergus Faunce, Tim. And I think, if I asked him to, he'd operate on you without a diagnosis."

"You told him what . . . what had happened?" he asked.

"My dear man! Lucy Harkness doesn't advertise the fact that she's a fool. And to tell what had happened would be to admit that I knew so little of character that I trusted myself with a wild beast. Which would make me out a fool.

"Go on," he muttered. "I deserve it all."

"Humility is so engaging a trait," she said. "I suppose you do really believe that perhaps you deserve a scolding. I wonder if you realize that it's only by the grace of Fate you aren't facing a murder charge."

"It's by the grace of Fate that you aren't dead," he rejoined. "It was that, Lucy, that drove me mad. Not fear for me but horror for you.

"It doesn't occur to you, Lucy, that I never dreamed you'd . . . mind? I . . . thought you loved me. The rest. . . Lucy, how could you have thought that I intended . . . I wanted to talk to you, as I said. And you—I heard you open the port-hole, knew what you feared, and . . . I know . . . I had no right, no possible excuse for running away with you, but I meant to stop at Miami—"

"And produce the ring and minister, eh?" she jeered. "Of course you didn't intend to break down my door—"

"Before God, Lucy, I had no thought! I was mad. You don't understand what it is to be so obsessed with some one that . . . Wait till you love. But to hurt you . . . I was bluffing, making you think I'd go to the extreme length of keeping you on board the Minerva for weeks, but . . . And then I thought you were drowned."

He put his hands over his face, as though to shut out the dreadful picture.

"If I had wanted some one as crazily as all that, and believed that some one drowned, swishing around in the tide, I'd have joined that one I loved so much," she said coldly.

"And you think," Lucy, that I intended to live?" he demanded.

"You're not a ghost, Tim," she jeered. "You're here, in the flesh, safe and sound, pleading for me to overlook a slight error caused by boyish enthusiasm."

"Because I can't find words—no one could—to palliate what I did! How can I say, I'm sorry I did something that made you almost kill yourself?" But you ask why I'm alive. In another hour, had I not heard that you were alive, I'd have been dead. I was going to tell Mrs. Clary what had happened. Then, at my house, I was going to settle some affairs. An hour at most. Then . . I'd have been as dead as I thought you were. As for Modane and the crew, I gave them nothing. I told them to keep their mouths shut for an hour. I explained you'd had a terrible headache gone mad from pain—"

"And Lucy Harkness was to be remembered as a suicide?" she sneered.

"Better that than to have known what really occurred. Oh, not to save my name! To save your memory."

"Most noble man!" she murmured mockingly. "In another moment you'll have forgotten all about it, and be asking me to marry you."

"Why not?" he blazed. "At least, you know how much I want you, and—"

"And that, of course, must overcome my resistance. I'm, it must be strange to meet a woman who isn't madly in love with you."

"All right, sneer!" he cried. "A moment ago you were . . . . kind, Lucy. But now . . . Is it all ended? Because if it is, I'm going straight from this patio to my house and do what I'd intended to do."

She stared at him. The film had left his blue eyes and there was a gleam almost mad determination in them. Somehow, the weakness that his too-great good looks sometimes gave his features, was entirely gone.

"Quitters drop out before the race is ended," she said softly.

"Don't talk in puzzles. straight talk," he cried.

"How do I know?" she "You commit the unforgi preferred death to what you had in store for me. . . . I receive you; I liste excuses. Let's start fr Tim Stevens."

His too-full lower lip s lose its sensual appearance ten with purpose.

Early Mailing

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass af mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards, and letters by Christmas Day the public should SHOP AND MAIL EARLY. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends, and loved ones at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received on or before Christmas Day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend Christmas Day with their families.

Christmas Cards.

Patrons sending a quantity of Christmas cards, say 10 or more, should prepare and mail them two or three weeks in advance, as millions are mailed and they can not possibly be handled and delivered if mailed only two or three or four days before Christmas. To avoid this, patrons may mail their cards two or three weeks before Christmas, if delivered to the post office or postal station in person or tide together in a bundle labled to show that they are Christmas cards and deposited in a street letter or package box. They will then be segregated, stamped with the date on which to be delivered, and delivery effected one or two days before Christmas.

Christmas cards and gifts addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed in no event later than December 20; within two days' travel, not later than December 18; within three days' travel, not later than December 16; for more distant points, not later than December 14. Parcels and cards for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 21. PARCELS AND ENVELOPES MAY BE INDORSED, "PLEASE DO NOT OPEN UNTIL CHRISTMAS."

Special-Delivery.

The use of a SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamp will assure delivery on Christmas Day, if mailed at the proper time. SPECIAL-DELIVERY SERVICE means the handling and transportation of parcels with the same expedition as first-class letter mail, as well as the immediate delivery at office of address. It is obtained by affixing a SPECIAL-DELIERY stamp of the proper denomination, or its equivalent in ordinary stamps, in addtion to the regular postage. When ordinary stamps are used, the words, "SPECIAL DELIVERY" must be written or printed directly below, BUT NOT ON THE STAMPS. It is urged that all mailers desiring immediate delivery of any matter mailed by them affix SPECIAL-DELIVERY stamps thereto. SPECIAL-DELIVERY is for speed and not for safety. Valuable mail should be registered or insured.

Matter Not Mailable.

Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence can not be inclosed in parcels.

Communications attached to parcels: A letter placed in an envelope, addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel and fully prepaid at the first-class rate, may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel in such manner as to prevent separation therefrom and not obscure the address on the parcel.

Insure or Register.

All valuable domestic third and fourth class mail should be insured.

Insurance fees: Value not exceeding $5, 5 cents; not exceeding $25, 8 cent; not exceeding $50, 10 cents; not exceeding $100, 25 cents.

Coin, currency, jewelry, and articles of similar value should be sent as SEALED FIRST-CLASS REGISTERED MAIL.

Collect-On-Delivery.

Domestic third and fourth class matter may be sent C. O. D. from one money-order post office to another. Sealed domestic mail of any class prepaid at first-class rate of postage may also be sent C. O. D. either as registered or unregistered mail.

Fees for all unregistered C. O. D. mail (in addition to regular postage: 12 cents, when amount to be collected does not exceed $10; 15 cents, when the amount does not exceed $50, and 25 cents, when the amount does not exceed $100. The C. O. D. fee also covers insurance for actual value against loss or damage up to $10 for a 12-cent fee; up to $50 for a 15 cent fee; and $100 for a 25-cent fee. Consult postmaster as to fees for registered C. O. D. mail.

For Foreign Countries

Parcels of [illegible] merchandise may be sent (subject to certain limtations and conditions) by international parcel post to all foreign countries except Tristan Da Cunha. Foreign parcel-post packages should be mailed at the main office or large classified stations.

Owing to the long sea travel involved as a rule and to customs inspection abroad, foreign parcels should be very carefully packed and should be mailed in November.

Information.

For further information on any of the above subjects or concerning any other postal matter, inquire at the proper window—stamp, parcel post, money order, registry, etc.—or see the postmaster or one of his assistants.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gunnells, Dallas, came in last Thursday to visit with his mother, Mrs. H. D. Gunnells, and his sister, Mrs. F. A. Edwards, for a few weeks. Mrs. Gunnells will remain until after the holiday season and assist at Edwards Toggery.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

Veal chops have less fat in proportion to lean meat than other chops. They are likely to dry out considerably in cooking unless protected by a coating of egg and bread crumbs.

See that the foods your child eats include each day all of these different kinds of foods: milk, eggs, meat, or fish; vegetables; fruit; wholegrain cereals; and butter or cream.

Don't wait for Thanksgiving or Christmas to make cranberry jelly or cranberry sauce. Either one is excellent with any meat where a sweet-tart accessory is liked. Cranberries are on the market now.

Farmers' Bulletin 1497-F contains much useful information about laundering clothes and some suggestions about ironing them. How to fold a man's shirt, tablecloths, and other flat pieces, and how to wash sweaters, curtains, blankets, pillows and infant's woolens are among the practical directions found therein.

A cream colored collar is often more becoming on a wool dress than a white one, unless the background of the dress material requires white. Cream and ecru are often used because they blend well with other colors. Plain colors are better for collars on figured material, because they emphasize the face which is the natural center of interest.

Try this: Place an unopened can of salmon in a saucepan surrounded by boiling water to heat for 10 or fifteen minutes. While this is cooking prepare a boiled salad dressing. When opening the fish, place a cloth over most of the can, make a small hole in the top to allow the steam to escape, and cut around the entire edge so that the fish can slide out without breaking, onto a hot platter. Pour the hot dressing over the salmon, sprinkle with finely chopped parsley, and serve at once. Fresh salmon may also be simmered and served in the same way.

LARGE CASH AWARDS AT AMARILLO EXHIBIT

Through co-operation on the part of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, the forthcoming Tri-State Poultry show sponsored by the Panhandle Poultry association is in a position to give definite assurance of large cash awards for winners of the many classes of birds which will be judged. The judges are nationally known, being E. C. Branch and Walter Burton.

Robert Ricks, president of the Panhandle Poultry association, states that ever since the very successful poultry exhibit staged by his organization at the Tri-State fair, the officers of the association have been bending every effort to provide Tri-State poultry fanciers with a show superior to anything heretofore held in the entire Southwest. Advance entries and indications, according to Mr. Ricks, already make it practically certain that this will be the banner show to date of the bird fanciers of this region.

The show, which will be held Thursday, December 12th to Monday, December 16th, will take place in Amarillo's big, scientifically heated municipal auditorium. Trained poultry men will handle the exhibition birds, and exhibitors are assured of painstaking care of their entries.

The successful free gate policy of the Tri-State fair will be utilized at the Tri-State Poultry Show, and a very large attendance by the public is anticipated, as well as by poultry fanciers from all over the Southwest.

Prospective poultry exhibitors are urged to write immediately to the Panhandle Poultry Association, Box 1475, Amarillo, Texas for entry blanks and information.

A 13-HOUR DAY FOR HENS

Increasing egg production by use of artificial lights in the late fall and winter should not be overdone. Then hen's working day should not be longer than 12 or 13 hours for best results. While the use of lights keeps the laying stock in beter condition and increases egg production, excessive use of them is harmful. Some poultrymen use lights only in the morning and some in both morning and evening. When lights are used in the evening, a dimming device should be provided so that when the bright lights are turned off the hens can see to go to roost. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, a 40-watt lamp is a desirable unit. Lights should be about 10 feet apart, 6 feet above the floor, and should be fitted with a reflector about 16 inches in diameter.

SOUTH TO SPEND QUARTER BILLION ON MOTORWAYS

E. E. Duffy

One quarter billion dollars is the amount that thirteen southern states will expend in 1930 in highway construction and maintenance, according to a compilation recently made by the Industrial Index.

Of the total, $172,000,000 will be devoted to construction and $50,250,000 will be spent on upkeep.

South Carolina expects to build $21,000,000 worth of new roads and to spend $2,500,000 for maintenance. This large expenditure will be permitted by South Carolina's new bond issue for $65,000,000.

The addtional gas tax recently passed by the Georgia State Legislature will enable that state to spend something like $16,000,000 of which $13,000,000 will go into new road building.

In Oklahoma $12,000,000 will probably be spent by the State Highway Commission while an additional $12,000,000 wil be spent by county and township boards. Through its new bonding power Louisiana will be enabled to devote some $20,000,000 to roads in 1930 of which $16,000,000 will be for new construction.

Texas, the most populous of the southern states, will have her state roads bettered by some $41,000,000 of which $30,000,000 will be for new roads.

It is estimated that Alabama will spend $4,700,000; Arkansas, $21,000,000; Florida, $10,800,000; Kentucky $11,000,000; Mississippi, $9,750,000; North Carolina, $10,500,000; Tennessee, $15,000,000; and Virginia, $15,000,000.

Highway authorities point out that this increased highway activity in the South will have a direct bearing on future prosperity, in that better roads reduce the amount of money that must go into upkeep and also reduce the cost of operating the car from as much as one to three cents a mile. Many sections of the South have really suffered from lack of transportation facilities for perishable produce. Further, farmers in many instances have been forced to truck their produce into market while the roads were good and the prices bad. Many are of the opinion that the enlivened 1930 highway program will lead to even more extensive highway construction in years following.

TURKEY FEATHERS

Turkey feathers when properly prepared command good prices as potential feather dusters, feather beds, pillows, etc. The turkey should be dry picked and the feathers spread out to air and dry. While they should be turned frequently. The quill feathers should be separated from the others, sometimes it pays to separate the white feathers from the colored ones.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

What's better in the cold weather than corn-meal? It has such very valuable heat-supplying properties.

Corn meal may be served in many delightful ways, and is very popular in so-called "Johnny Cake." To make this delicious repast scald one cupful (more if wished) of Indian meal with about one cupful of absolutely boiling water until not quite thin enough to spread, add one teaspoonful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter cupful of milk; spread with a knife in a well-greased dripping pan, mark in squares, and brown in a hot oven of 450 degrees F. Serve hot and split and butter, as eaten. Or cover with a thin white sauce and serve with a little crisp bacon.

Woolen Stockings

If woolen stockings are dried on stocking stretchers, there is no need to worry about their shrinking. But suppose you have no stocking stretchers? Why, then, put shoe trees in the feet before drying the stockings and this will not only keep them from shrinking but will make them more comfortable next time you wear them.

Maple Frosting

BEST TIME TO PLOW GARDEN IS IN FALL

The most important step home gardeners may take this fall toward making a good garden for next year is to manure and plow the ground.

Where it is convenient, it is suggested that the garden be manured, and the manure disked into the soil prior to breaking the garden. In this way the manure will be more evenly mixed with the soil.

There are a number of advantages of fall or winter manuring and winter plowing of the garden. In the first place the manure will add the three most important elements of plant food that are most likely to be absent from the soil; namely nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. The fertility of the soil may thus be increased at practically no expense. Again, the manure will add organic matter to the soil which will make the ground more easily worked during the regular garden season and at the same time increase the soil's capacity for catching and retaining moisture.

The decomposition of the manure will also make other food material available in the soil that might stay locked up during the growing season were it not for the effect produced by the decomposition of the manure.

No doubt farmers have noted in walking across ground that has been plowed during the fall or winter and left rough until spring that the plowed ground is much softer and more springy than spring-plowed ground. The physical condition of the soil is considerably improved by fall plowing.

The question of destroying insects, especially the cut worms, in the garden is important, and plowing the ground in the fall or winter and leaving it exposed will destroy many insects.

Paint Farm Homes

Sherwin-Williams Dealer Says Ten Per Cent Lost Yearly By Neglect of Homes

The United States Government, Mr. Chas W. Callaway reports, realizing that buildings unprotected by paint are blistered by the summer sun and are rotted and warped by winter cold and dampness, is sending to farmers countless instructive bookets on this subject.

Eighty of the one hundred and twenty million people in the United States, according to Mr. Callaway live in rural districts and small towns, and because of the radio, telephone, automobile, and improved news facilities, are in close contact with markets and are familiar with the best farming methods. But as yet, they have not learned the value of properly preserving buildings. These Government booklets point out the necessity of safeguarding the farmer's investment by painting his houses. Buildings, when lacking paint protection, deteriorate approximately 10 percent of their original cost.

"Suppose, while driving through a community you have never seen before," says Mr. Callaway, "you come to a farm house painted a clean Colonial Yellow with trim and shutters of Ivory White and roof a dark green. The silo, the barns, then hen houses—all the buildings and implements—are painted and fresh looking. Beyond this lovely is another house, quite forlorn, quite dilapidated, its unpainted body braving relentless weather like a wretched man without an overcoat. Which farm is the more valuable? The farm home and outhouses that are pained, of course, bespeak prosperity.

"As the majority of people judge by appearance, Mr. Callaway concludes, "then a stranger passing through a community is apt to estimate the possibilities of property by the condition of its buildings. Surely a nicely painted little house, its outhouses and fences repaired and painted, indicates that particular farm pays its owner generously. As a matter fact, it merely means that farmer is thrifty. Taking this into consideraion, if the farmer wants to attract favorable people to this part of the state or if he wants to sell land at a profit, in addition to preventing deterioration from needless exposure, he should keep his buildings well-painted."

Farm Home Burns

H. W. Ragan Suffers Big Loss In Burning Of Fine Farm Home Last Thursday Night

The commodious farm home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ragan was totally destroyed by fire about eight o'clock on last Thursday evening. The house and most of the contents was a total loss. It is thought that the blaze started from a defective flue. Mr. Ragan states that the house cost between six and seven thousand when it was built several years ago.

The Perryton fire department was called with the aid of the new engine and pump had the fire almost out when the water supply gave out. Two large tanks were emptied and Fire Chief Lilly says that if they had only had a few hundred gallons of water, he is confident the house could have been saved.

Mr. Ragan carried $3,000 insurance on the house and $500 on the contents. He is undecided as to when he will rebuild but thinks that he will wait until spring. The Ragan home was located about a mile south of town on the state highway and was one of the best farm homes in the country. Fortunately the wind was blowing from the northwest away from the barns, corralls and other buildings.

Caley's, The Ladies Store is positively closing out for this season. Ladies ready-to-wear and millinery at one-half price. 43-1t-c

Nine Tablets Made Me A New Man, Says Smelter Worker

"I've Suffered for 10 Years But Orgatone Has Relieved Me," Says Amarillo Man

"One day, my sister-in-law, left me nine Orgatone tablets, and insisted that I take them, because I had been feeling so badly, but I thought that all patent medicines were alike and refused to take them. Finally I decided to give them a trial, and they have given me wonderful results," said Richard Ray Clotts, of 21400 N. W. 5th Amarillo, Texas, a well known smelter worker.

"I had my wife stop at the City Drug Store, and get me a full bottle of Orgatone and I'm going to get more," he continued. "I was always bothered with stomach trouble, and when I ate would be in misery for several hours afterward, gas always formed on my stomach. I had heartburn, and was nervous and worn-out all the time. I was in a very general rundown condition. I was constipated, and took strong laxatives most all the time.

"Since taking these few tablets, they have given me more direct relief than all the medicine put together, I have taken in my ten years of suffering. Orgatone has helped me so much, I feel like shouting it from the house tops. I am a new man entirely. Food does not sour on my stomach anymore, I sleep and rest fine every night. In fact, I am just in fine condition in spite of all my troubles. Orgatone has certainly my endorsement. Yes, sir, when nine tablets can make a man feel as good as I do, after so many suffering, I could not say enough for what it has done for me. It is indeed, a very meritious preparation."

eGnuine Orgatone is manufactured by one of the world's largest laboratories and is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Perryton, by the Shindler Drug Co. 43-1t-c
