American-Soviet Consular Treaty Near Approval

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's consular treaty with Russia, safely past the Senate's minefield of Vietnam restrictions, was expected to be ratified without change late today.

The final ratification vote was scheduled for 2 p.m. CST.

In all, four reservations and an "understanding," which would have conditioned or related the pact to the war in Vietnam, were turned down by the Senate.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders were determined not to permit any change in the treaty so the Russians would not have an excuse to shelve it.

The closest test for the treaty forces came Wednesday on the mildest proposal, the "understanding" offered by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. It merely voiced "hope" that no Soviet consulate would be opened in the United States until there had been an "honorable conclusion" to the Vietnam war. It was rejected on a 51-38 vote.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., a key leader in the GOP ranks pushing the treaty, said after the vote there was "no doubt" now that the pact would win the required two-thirds majority vote in the Senate today.

A restrictive reservation proposed by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., which would have delayed provisions of the pact until the Vietnam war ended, was beaten back 67 to 25.

Another by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., which would have blocked the treaty until the President notified Congress that the Soviets had halted all aid to Communist North Vietnam, went down to defeat 71 to 20.

The treaty is assigned to give protection to Americans traveling in Russia and also provides ground rules for opening of consulates which later may be established in two countries.

G.O.P. Pits Grandmother In Effort to Defeat Powell

NEW YORK (UPI)—An attractive Harlem grandmother who says she wants to "demonstrate to the people of America that not all Negroes endorse the antics" of Adam Clayton Powell has been named by Republicans to run against the deposed Democratic congressman next month.

Mrs. Lucille Pickett Williams, a 50-year-old GOP district co-leader, won the unanimous endorsement Wednesday night of Republicans of the 18th Congressional District, the Harlem seat Powell has held for 22 years.

An unsuccessful Republican candidate for legislative office on two occasions, Mrs. Williams, a Negro, was chosen to replace James Meredith, the civil rights hero who abruptly dropped out of the race on Monday. The special election is April 11.

"I'm a realist and I'm not foolish enough to think I could beat Adam Clayton Powell," Mrs. Williams said. "But I'm a good Republican and we must have a candidate. I think we must preserve the two-party system."

She also told newsmen she was running "to demonstrate to the people of America that not all Negroes endorse the antics of Mr. Powell."

But the former beauty queen also said she intends to campaign, not on Powell's private life, but on whether he has adequately served the people of Harlem as their congressman since 1945.

Johnson Picks Troubleshooter To Replace Lodge in Vietnam

LBJ Spells Out Policy As One of Toughness

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson is sending the veteran troubleshooter who helped resolve the Dominican crisis to head a new U.S. diplomatic team in Vietnam.

Elsworth Bunker, who has made a specialty of bringing off delicate negotiations, is to replace Henry Cabot Lodge as America's envoy in Saigon, the Chief Executive disclosed Wednesday during a nationally televised and broadcast speech before a joint session of the Tennessee legislature.

Johnson also took the occasion to answer his critics and to spell out in unmistakable terms an administration policy of toughness and determination in the Vietnam struggle.

Though he did not mention Sen. Robert Kennedy by name, he clearly had in mind the New York Democrat's suggestion that the United States halt the bombing of North Vietnam to test Hanoi's desire for peace when he declared:

Demands Reciprocal Action. "Reciprocity must be the fundamental principle of any reduction of hostilities. The United States cannot and will not reduce its activities unless and until there is some reduction on the other side."

"To followed any other rule would be to violate the sacred trust we undertake when we ask a man to risk his life for his country."

Johnson also accused his critics of "moral double book-keeping" in that they dwell on the civilian deaths resulting from U.S. bombing of the North but ignore the terrorist activities of the Viet Cong in the South—the killing, torturing and kidnaping of "tens of thousands of innocent Vietnamese civilians."

Witness to Undergo Further Examination

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—La. insurance salesman, is thought to be the "confidential informant" referred to by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in his probe of the assassination.

Garrison claims that businessman Clay L. Shaw conspired to kill Kennedy. Russo was on the witness stand for nearly eight hours on the first two days of a hearing to determine if Garrison has enough evidence to hold Shaw for trial.

Russo said Shaw, whom he said he knew as Clem Bertrand; David Ferrie, a former airline pilot who died in the middle of Garrison's probe; and assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, known to Russo as "Leon Oswald, conspired to kill Kennedy. The plot was discussed at a meeting in Ferrie's New Orleans apartment in the fall of 1963, Russo alleged.

Garrison Wednesday subpoenaed James LeVallen, a former roommate of Ferrie's, to appear today. LeVallen reportedly worked with Ferrie for Eastern Air Lines.

The Warren Commission concluded that Oswald, acting alone, killed Kennedy in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963. Oswald was himself shot to death two days later by night club owner Jack Ruby.

In his talks yesterday, Anderson commented on a variety of subjects, including foreign aid, the United Nations, Vietnam conflict, the national debt, taxes, morality in government and patriotism.

"The total debt of America is more than the government tells its people," he said. "If you include all the debt, from the local level to international debts, it totals $1 trillion, 750 billion."

"We're bankrupt. We can't support the world. We could have the national government cancel our local debts," Anderson said. "We'd still have all the buildings, parks and other municipal facilities. It'd just be a question of who owns them. That which the government subsidizes it should control. There's no indication the trend to control the people will reverse in Washington. It's up to the people to reverse it," he said.

America has 48 million people receiving a government check and that makes one government check for every other household, he said.

"People controlled is the goal of the great society. You farmers remember the first farm program about 1948, which we were told was only to help the poor farmer. That was $60 billion ago. Now, our secretary

Swede Scientists Design 'Clean' Nuclear Weapon

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Swedish scientists have designed and built a model of the world's first "practically clean" nuclear weapon, the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today.

The weapon if built to full scale and exploded would produce a great deal less deadly radio-active fallout than current nuclear arms, the newspaper said.

Official sources declined to comment on the report.

Neutral Sweden does not have nuclear weapons. The government has indicated it will not produce them under present conditions. However Swedish industry and science is regarded as fully able to produce the nuclear arms within a few years if the government so ordered.

The model "clean" weapon emerged from studies at the Swedish Defense Research Institute (FOA), the newspaper said. The research is designed to find ways to soften the impact of a nuclear attack.

Scientists Sten Anderson and Bo Holmberg developed the "clean" model in this work, Dagens Nyheter said. It said the pair "proved it is a practical possibility to reduce the condensation around the fireball in a nuclear explosion by chemical means."

The reduction would send the explosion's radio-active particles flowing upwards because of their light weight and not send them directly down to earth, the newspaper said.

"At a high altitude the particles will begin to sink again but before they have reached the ground they have lost a considerable amount of radio-activity," the newspaper said.

"The particles thus are not as dangerous as they would have been if they sunk directly to the ground after the explosion," it said.

Soldiers Wage Ten-Hour Battle

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese army troops swarmed out of neutral Cambodia today and attacked a U.S. Army infantry company in a fight that mushroomed into a day-long battle, American spokesmen said. They said the combat still raged 10 hours after it began.

The elite Communist troops, reported to be elements of an entire North Vietnamese division operating out of Cambodian sanctuary, jumped on the Americans as the U.S. Army 4th Infantry Division company was making a helicopter landing a mile from the border.

First reports said the Communists shot one U.S. helicopter out of the sky as American troops scrambled out of the landing clearing, dug into position in the jungle and engaged the attackers in battle. Late reports said several more U.S. companies whirled in by helicopter.

In Saigon, military spokesmen said 1,975 Americans were killed or wounded or missing in combat last week, a drop from a record 1,617 the previous week. The casualties included 175 killed, 892 wounded and eight men listed as missing. Spokesmen said the Communists suffered 1,407 men slain the same week, during which 262 South Vietnamese soldiers and 103 civilians perished. They said that last week U.S. servicemen in Vietnam reached a new high of 423,000, an increase of 5,000 over the previous week.

The spokesmen also reported a record 1,918 guerrillas turned themselves into government forces.

Elsewhere, Viet Cong mortar and countless rifle attacks against two U.S. Army headquarters bases wounded 38 Americans.

In the air, U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses struck four times Wednesday night and today against units of a reported four-division invasion force.

Tentative Okay Given Tax Bill By State Senate

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate fought off an all night filibuster an hour after dawn today and gave tentative approval to a bill to let cities impose a local option 1 per cent city sales tax.

Opponents of the sales tax proposal, who had filibustered about 20 hours, lost the floor just before 8 a.m. on a ruling by Lt. Gov. Preston Smith. The sales tax bill was then approved to third reading by a vote of 19-8.

Dodd Contends Untrustworthy Aides Only Error

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, contending his only error was in trusting untrustworthy aides, was prepared today to unveil his defense against misconduct charges.

The Connecticut lawmaker has sat impassively puffing on his pipe the past three days while former members of his staff accused him of misusing campaign funds and double-billing for air fares.

Dodd's attorneys get a chance to begin presenting his side of the story today after ghost-writer Edward Lockett concludes his testimony before the Senate Ethics Committee.

Dodd told reporters he planned to testify in his own behalf, but it appeared unlikely that he would get a chance to address the committee before Friday. Only a half-session was scheduled for today.

Before opening the presentation of Dodd's case, defense attorney John F. Sonnett said he has "even more confidence now that the senator has performed absolutely no wrongdoing."

"His only mistake here was in his complete trust and confidence of disloyal people," Sonnett said.

During testimony Wednesday, Michael V. O'Hare, Dodd's former bookkeeper, testified that Dodd ordered purchase of money orders to hide use of testimonial funds to pay personal food and liquor bills and for a limousine trip to a race track.

O'Hare said he joined other disenchanted Dodd staffers in removing some 4,000 documents from the senator's office files because of "my sincere belief that he was unfit to serve in the U.S. Senate."

The talkathon had been going for some 13 hours early today when Patman raised a point of order that a quorum (21) was not present. A roll call showed only 20 senators on the floor.

A call was placed on the Senate, the first time such a move was used in the upper chamber since 1961. The sergeant at arms solicited the aid of state and local police to help him try and find some of the absent 11 (See BILL, Page 2)

COLUMNIST'S SPEECH

Anderson Blisters U.N., Vietnam

By WANDA HUFF
News Staff Writer

Tom Anderson, syndicated newspaper columnist, advocated a congressional housecleaning with a swift broom and suggested that the "American people wake up and save their Republic with grass roots morality and patriotism," in a speech here last night.

Anderson, sponsored by a group of independent conservatives here, spoke to about 400 Pampanas at the high school and also spoke yesterday at a luncheon at the Coronado Inn.

Proceeds from the two talks are to go to the Frank Phillips Junior College scholarship fund. About $425 was collected in the two addresses.

In his talks yesterday, Anderson commented on a variety of subjects, including foreign aid, the United Nations, Vietnam conflict, the national debt, taxes, morality in government and patriotism.

"The total debt of America is more than the government tells its people," he said. "If you include all the debt, from the local level to international debts, it totals $1 trillion, 750 billion."

"We're bankrupt. We can't support the world. We could have the national government cancel our local debts," Anderson said. "We'd still have all the buildings, parks and other municipal facilities. It'd just be a question of who owns them. That which the government subsidizes it should control. There's no indication the trend to control the people will reverse in Washington. It's up to the people to reverse it," he said.

America has 48 million people receiving a government check and that makes one government check for every other household, he said.

"People controlled is the goal of the great society. You farmers remember the first farm program about 1948, which we were told was only to help the poor farmer. That was $60 billion ago. Now, our secretary of agriculture has suggested we might have to try land reform. That's what Cuba has. The solution as I see it is to set the farmer free. Let him produce as he can," Anderson said.

According to Anderson, history is made by dedicated minorities, people who are willing to get involved in their government, willing to try to do something about the power trend to Washington, willing to be informed, to know the truth and be held responsible.

In comments on Vietnam, Anderson said "the reason we're not trying to win this war is because we're fighting the wrong enemy. Our enemy is Russia. It has been for 30 years, and we don't want to destroy those 'bridges of friendship.' I say it is criminal and immoral to send American men to fight a war we have no intention of winning."

Anderson's formula to let communists control America is to permit them to "infiltrate the (See ANDERSON, Page 2)

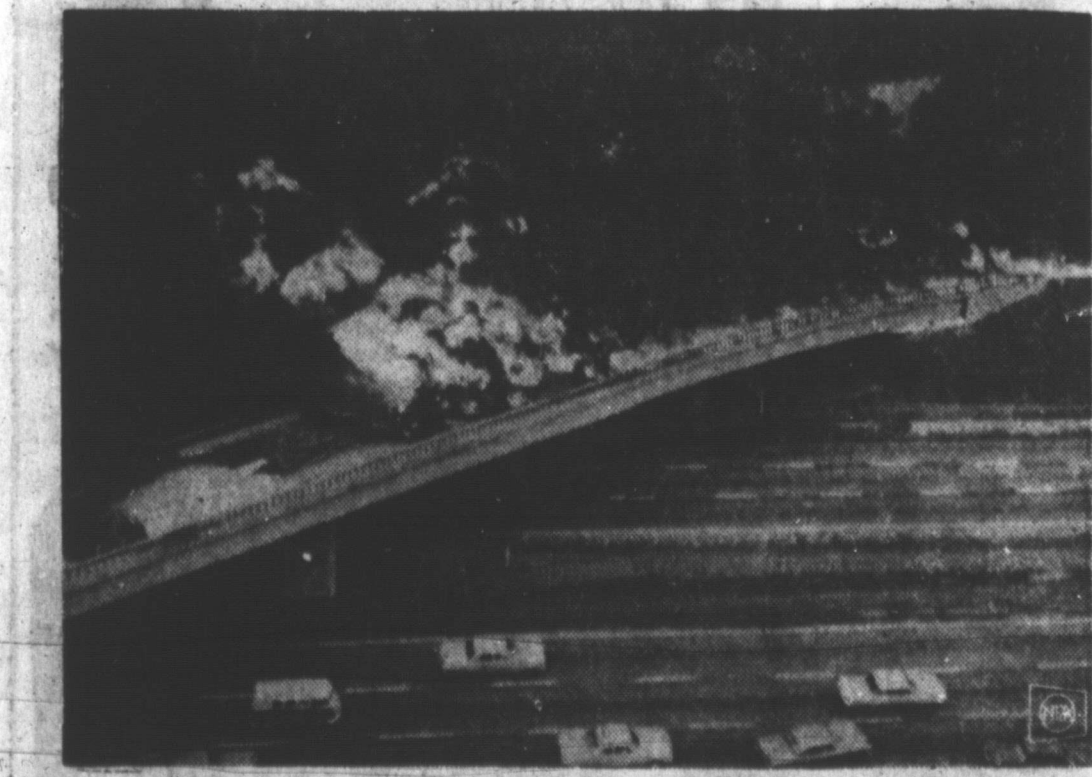

Concert Member Drive Is Success

Another successful membership campaign was concluded at noon today by the Pampa Community Concert Association.

All available memberships for the 1967-68 concert series had been taken up at that hour, according to Mrs. Lillian Kiger, representative of Community Concerts of New York City.

Four concert attractions will be presented in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium next fall and spring. Three already have been contracted. They are the Lee Evans Trio, pop-jazz artists; the Washington-National Symphony Orchestra and the Roger Wagner Choral with orchestra.

The fourth concert number will be selected at a meeting of the concert association executive board at 7:30 p.m. today in the First National Bank conference room.

A MILE-LONG INFERNO engulfed a section of San Francisco's Bay Shore freeway when a gasoline tanker overturned and burned the city. Firemen had to battle nearly 8,000 gallons of burning gasoline, but were able to keep one lane of vehicle traffic open.

churches, the schools, the key government jobs, and industry; to teach our children everything is relative, that sin is old fashioned, and that situation's ethics is the best method of living."
"It would be stupid for the Communists to bomb Washington. They would kill too many of their own folks. And why should they, when it's easier and more effective for them to do it the slower, infiltrating way?" Anderson asked.

The first goal of those dedicated minorities who are going to get involved, Anderson said, is to "destroy the United Nations" because it is not made of free nations dedicated to the preservation of the individual. It is controlled by Soviet Russia.
Anderson denied he was a isolationist, but charged Americans can only save their Republic by becoming more patriotic and preserving the value of their own nation.

Price to Address Republican Group

Five members of Pampa's Young Republican Club will attend the annual state convention of the Texas Young Republicans in Lubbock tomorrow and Saturday.
Rep. Bob Price of Pampa and Sen. John Tower will speak during the programs, which start with a banquet tomorrow night.
Pampa delegates are Calvin Hill, Mr. and Mrs. George Darby and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Riggs.

Cool, Cloudy Days Predicted Here

Pampa residents may get the idea summer will never come because of the daily trend here toward cooler weather.
Forecasters are predicting cloudy skies through Saturday, with cooler days.
After a high temperature in the 60s today, it is expected to drop to the upper 30s tonight and go back up to the 60s tomorrow.

senators.
A check of those absent showed 10 of the 11 are opponents of the tax bill. Three hours after officers started searching, not a single missing senator had been found.
Christie and other supporters of the city sales tax were determined to hold opponents in continuous session until they got a vote on the bill. It was obvious from the start that there was enough support to pass it.

Two Policemen Attend Academy

Two Pampa policemen were in Amarillo today to begin an eight-week course at the Amarillo Police Academy.
Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner said officers Fred Brown, who has been with the Pampa department for one year, and Dorman C. Lewis, who joined here March 1, were attending the academy.
The two officers will study courses in all categories of police work and return to Pampa department.
The City of Pampa is paying the fees for officers to attend the academy.

Fire Kills 18 Valuable Fillies

PARIS, Ky. (UPI)—Eighteen valuable thoroughbred yearling fillies were burned to death in their stalls Tuesday night when lightning touched off a fire on a barn at famed Claiborne Farm near here.

The farm is owned by A. B. (Bull) Hancock, Jr. who was in Del Ray, Fla., at the time.

Some of the fillies were by such internationally known sires as Nashua, Titan, Bold Ruler, Pogo Pogo and Bahdad.

Many of those destroyed were owned by some of the best-known stables in racing, and were at Claiborne for training when they became old enough to race.

A financial estimate of the loss was not immediately available but was expected to range from $750,000 to $1 million.

Farm manager William Taylor said, "it all happened so fast that by the time the right man got there the whole barn was ablaze."

As to a loss estimate, he said, "we have to talk to our insurance companies and their owners—a lot of these horses weren't ours."

The horses destroyed included two by Bold Ruler, two by Double Jay, three by Titan and one each by Sashua, Pogo Pogo and Bahdad. The other eight fillies were by less well known sires.

The barn normally housed 19 thoroughbreds, but one stall was empty.

Claiborne farm is one of the best-known breeding, training and thoroughbred-boarding farms in the blue grass country.

The first ship passed through the Suez Canal on Feb. 17, 1867.

Choirs Compete In Regional UIL Choral Contests

Three choral groups from Pampa High School were competing today in the regional 4-AAAA University Interscholastic League choral contests in Canyon. Junior High groups will compete tomorrow.

Hugh Sanders, choir director, and four other sponsors, Miss Pat Beuselink, Miss Beatrice Beuselink, Mrs. Nancy Kastor, Clinton Forbes and Weldon Trice were with the group.

Thirteen other choirs were entered from Amarillo, Borger and Lubbock.

Choral groups competing in concert and sightreading from here are the male chorus, girls' choir and the cappella choir.

Choirs from Pampa Junior High and Robert E. Lee Junior High will compete tomorrow in Canyon with about 22 choirs from the north zone of the Texas Panhandle.

All contests are held on the West Texas State University campus.

Mrs. Louise Richardson and Mrs. Mary Cross are junior high choir directors.

Council Approves Paving Ordinance

An ordinance setting up assessments for property owners' share of Pampa's overall $718,000 street paving program was approved late yesterday by the city commission at a called meeting in City Hall.

The ordinance, passed on first reading, also sets up the procedure for obtaining signatures of property owners wishing to have their streets paved. Final reading of the ordinance is scheduled March 28.

City Manager Jim White stated the Texas Securities Corp. of San Antonio will have an office in City Hall to take signatures and mechanics liens.

office is next Wednesday, March 22. The city manager said property owners who sign first will be first to have their streets paved.

It is hoped, White stated, to get the actual paving program under way between April 15 and May 1.

City commissioners at yesterday's meeting also ironed out several construction problems in connection with the widening of N. Duncan St.

The windmill was invented in the 12th century.

FHA Group Will Attend Area I Meet

Twenty six members of the Pampa High School Future Homemakers of America will participate in the area I FHA meeting in Lubbock Friday and Saturday.

Sponsors for the group are Mrs. Sandra McDonald and Mrs. Glen Baker, high school homemaking teachers.

During the meeting, delegates will elect and install officers and celebrate the 21st birthday of the national FHA.

About 3,500 FHA representatives from 150 chapters in 38 Panhandle-South Plains counties will attend the annual meeting.

Lewis Timberlake of Austin, state Junior Chamber of Commerce president, will address the delegates during the association's birthday banquet.

Another speaker will be Clark Elzey, professor of home and family life of Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Cabot Delegates At Credit Union Meeting

Thirteen Pampa delegates from the Cabot Credit Union are attending the Texas Credit Union League meeting in Austin today through Saturday.

Local representatives are O. B. Worley, George Clark, Dale Follwell, Joe Pafford, H. M. Coday, Jean Douglass, Dick Hendrick, J. M. Brown, Norman Bubrow, Weldon Carter, Virgil Frasier, T. C. Carter and Dudley Steele.

ACCUSES HIERARCHY

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—A noted gynecologist and researcher accused the American Catholic hierarchy Wednesday of fighting a "rearguard action" on such social issues as birth control, abortion and sterilization.

"They've already lost on birth control—and are about to lose on abortion and sterilization as well," said Dr. John Rock of Boston.

Rock said American Catholics already have settled the question of birth control for themselves and the longer Pope Paul "delays his decision, the less significant" it will be.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 11
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when you need to be scrupulously careful that you carry through with any promises you have made for all sorts of conditions can arise hindering you the urge to go off on some tangent or to change arrangements you have made either of a business or a personal nature. Avoid any arguments at home.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)—Associations and comrades do not understand your ideas just now, so await a better time before discussing them or you get into arguments. You feel that is no position. However, do not show your feelings.

TAUROS (Apr. 20 to May 20)—You feel that what you want to do just does not seem to pan out right now, so keep busy assisting others. This release brings in your direction. Don't jump into that monetary promise that is just too much for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—You have made promises to the outside world that you must keep before you can get ready for real progress. Civic work especially could be rather tedious, but show that you are an A-1 citizen. Be graceful.

SCORPIO CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Forget all that worry and fuss over small matters and get into some big, exciting interest that pleases all those you have brochures, figures, etc. Get busy and look around for them, study them well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Making sure that you carry through with some obligation, conscientiously is important, but clear up the emotional part of same. Get out socially tonight. This will help you to forget any worry that you may have.

LIBRA (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21)—Be wise and agree with both associates and superiors, for their ideas may differ as well as their mode of operation. Get on doctor handled properly. Then you meet with no objection on any side.

VIRGO (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21)—First be sure to get details completed and then you can analyze what you still have to do in the days ahead, make arrangements for such. Cooperate with co-workers. Let romance await the p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21)—Enjoy your year is uppermost in your mind now and you should do just that and get rid of tensions that could cause you trouble later on. Then figure out how to get skills on a better paying basis. Study more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Plan business appointments early and get right results as the home situation improves as well as a result. Get right down to fundamentals. Remember that whatever is purchased has a logical answer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Out shopping, visiting, etc. so that you get away from confined quarters for awhile and lift your spirits. Buy those small items that will make your wardrobe more charming. Get gadgets for the house that are practical, efficient.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You feel that by spending some money at this time for something you really need is not waste, but this will open up a new door of opportunity for you. Avoid one who depresses you. Get all perked up by doing what you want to do.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Try not to be so fearful at home in getting your way otherwise it could lead to big argument and nothing would be accomplished. Use the more diplomatic manner. Forget personal resentment.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY—he, or she, will be a youngster with a very restless mind, restless, active and will want to get into anything and everything, but learn early not to criticize others so much and to get on the international plane with them. Ideal chart for the public speaker, or worker, the publicity man.

WEATHER FORECAST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Below-normal temperatures and heavier than usual rainfall is forecast for the West Coast and the northern tier of states in the next 30 days.

Above-average temperatures and generally low rainfall were forecast for the southern half of the nation, according to the 30-day forecast issued Wednesday by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Wall Street In Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Newton D. Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. says the most negative factor in the current market is the poor performance of the utilities, and he notes that the Dow Jones utility average reached a new low recently. The analyst feels since this softness is appearing at a time when interest rates appear to be easing, it does strike a discordant note.

Bache & Co. believes the market has done a considerable amount of building in a confined area and if economic signs start to become favorable, the market would be in good technical position to make a significant assault on the 800 resistance level on the Dow Jones industrial average.

Wright investors service says the 1967 economy will get weaker before it gets stronger but the administration's "intensive care program" should insure one of the fastest recoveries on record. The company says the market, which had its worst moments in 1966 before any signs of softening in the economy, "is likely to play nursemaid to an economy which will be struggling—painfully, but successfully—to get back on its feet."

STUDY WATER
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Public Health Service is trying to find out why drinking water tastes good in one city and bad in another.

The PHS announced Wednesday two grants totaling $44,474 to the University of California at Davis and at Berkeley for studies of taste and odor in water.

The birth frequency in the world is about 35 for every 1,000 persons, the death rate 18.

Flamingo tongues were considered a delicacy in ancient Rome.

Shamrock Turning Green Despite Long Dry Spell

By FRANK STANLEY
SHAMROCK (Sp1) — Regardless of Mother Nature's "long dry spell," Shamrock is greening up rapidly...with business men stepping high, wearing green top hats, jeweled ties and producing a set of chin whiskers that would be the joy to any Irish Mick in the Ould Country.

(Daily News Staff Photo)

Tourists are stopping to see what the "green" is all about.
 St. Patrick's Day will be here quick as a wink in a colleen's eye and come March 17, the 21st Annual St. Patrick's Day Celebration will draw thousands to the little town of some 3,000 souls in the eastern part of the Golden Spread. Hundreds of good Irishmen will be rolling out the green carpet to the visitors for the day of merry-making in honor of Ireland's Patron Saint.

Long before the colors of dawn are visible above the eastern horizon, thousands of persons will head toward the greenest city in Texas where fun will reign supreme until the wee small hours of another dawn.

This year, Carl Williams, Sr., production manager of United Carbon Co., only man offered the "Big Job" for the third time, will be the general chairman. He is assisted by John Hrcnar Jr., owner of Hrcnar-Livestock Transport Co., who is serving as assistant chairman.

The huge extravaganza will open on the evening of March 16, with a Pre-St. Patrick's banquet to be held in the National Guard Armory, which drew some 900 persons last year with

IRISH BEARD SHENANIGANS — "Every male in Shamrock must grow a beard or have a shaving permit," according to Harry Frey, center, whose job as "Chief Fuzzer" is to enforce this rule. Assisting Frey in this task during the St. Patrick's Day celebration will be Lester Sitter, left, and Jack Deger.

the Gov. John Connally as guest speaker. This year Dr. John H.
 Furbay, internationally known lecturer-author of New York City, a world air commuter, will be the speaker. Dr. Furbay heads the TWA Air World Education Program on four continents. St. Patrick's day with all its pageantry, will bring Ould Erin to the high plains of Texas, as the huge, hour-long parade
 glides down Main Street in Shamrock. Decorated floats that will be a credit to the Ould Country, will be bedecked with lovely colleens, in gay, green and white costumes, as they vie with each other for the top honor of the day, the title of "Miss Irish Rose."

Miss Patti Meador, daughter of Mrs. Betty Meador, 1916 Grape, Pampa is a candidate for the honor.

Shamrock's Irish Band in elaborate green and white regalia, will make the town ring with music as the strains of "My Wild Irish Rose". Other bands from over the area will join in with Irish melodies.

Mrs. Bedford Harrison is chairman of the Irish Colleen who will be honored with a coffee and luncheon with Miss Vicki Deck, who is "Miss Shamrock of 1967" as official hostesses.

The Old Settlers Reunion
 draws many of the "old-timers" to the festival where they spend the day recalling the years gone by.

"Chief Fuzzer" Harry Frey, is one of the business men in the town. . . he stops every male on the street who is not wearing a "ginnygow" unless he is waving a shaving permit.

A huge band festival will be held in connection with the celebration with Michael Barry, Shamrock High School bandmaster, as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill King will be co-chairmen of the big "Fiddler's Contest," which will be presented on the sound stage on Main Street.

Shamrock's Chamber of Commerce works with the steering committee, made up of more Micks than the general chairman can "shake a shillelagh at."

Pierre Duvoison, Shamrock's foreign exchange student from Switzerland, will be host to the 12 foreign students of the area who will be presented at the armory on the afternoon program.

The count-down is near. . .
 everything is ready for the teeming thousands and it is not by the "Luck o' the Irish",
 but by a whole lot of downright hard work by the entire citizenship. Irish hearts are filled with a warm welcome for every visitor who comes this way. Be here! The green carpets will be rolled out early in Shamrock.

Secret voting in national elections became federal law in 1875.

Two PHS Grads To Help Conduct Indiana Revival

Two Pampa High School graduates will be part of 50 students from Hardin - Simmons University in Abilene who will travel to Indiana March 17-28 to help conduct student-led revivals in sixteen Southern Baptist related churches.

Doug Altom and Charles Price will participate as preachers and song leaders in the revivals.

Altom, son of Mr. and Mrs.
 Darnar H. Altom, Box 70, Race-land, La. will double as a song leader and preacher with a Wichita Falls team member at Hartsville Baptist Church,
 Hartsville, Ind.

A freshman at H-SU, Altom is a Bible major and history minor. In high school he was vice president of the student body, sophomore class favorite, junior class president, Carnival
 King and all-school favorite.

Price will conduct services as preacher at Calvary Baptist Church, Madison, Ind. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H.
 Price, 1024 South Banks.

Price, a junior Bible major and history minor, is a member of Tau Alpha Phi Men's Social Club. He also attended
 Howard County Junior College where he played basketball.

Beef Wellington Offer Change Of Pace In Eastern Dinner Fare

Easter time heralds a new season — the balmy weather after winter's chill — everyone in new Easter finery — and in food, too. It's the season for renewal. Why not rejuvenate appetites with an elegant Beef Wellington instead of the traditional ham this Easter Sunday? A welcome change of pace for the family, this beef classic is a marvelous choice for guests. A fillet of Beef Wellington combines a choice cut of beef, liver pate and a golden crust of puff pastry. Make the crust the new and easy way with frozen puff pastry patty shells.

BEEF WELLINGTON

1 package frozen patty shells 2½ to 3 pounds - 1 fillet of beef 2 tablespoons brandy
Salt
Pepper, freshly ground

For Teen Appetites

Open faced hot meat buns appeal to hungry teenagers. Combine 1 tablespoon each of instant minced onion and water. Let stand 5 minutes to soften. In a skillet, cook 1 pound of ground chuck with the onion until meat is no longer pink. Add 1½ teaspoon of salt, ½ teaspoon of oregano, ¼ teaspoon of ground black pepper, 1 tablespoon of catsup, 1 beaten egg and ¼ cup of grated parmesan cheese. Mix well. Spread on cut sides of 5 split hamburger buns. Bake 15 minutes, or until at serving temperatures, in preheated 375 degree oven. Makes 3 to 6 servings.

This Recipe Is As Easy As Apple Pie

Apple pie was so popular in New England in the early days that it was often eaten for breakfast. However, nowadays it is usually served as dessert for dinner or supper.

If apple pie is a typical American dessert, so is the cheese. In fact, there's an old saying that apple pie without the cheese is like a kiss without the squeeze.

APPLE PIE

Yield: 9 inch pie
Pastry for 2 crust, 9 inch pie (See Swift's Pastry recipe page)
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
4 cups sliced, tart apples
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 wedge-shaped slices Cheddar cheese
Mix together sugar, flour, salt, and cinnamon. Coat apple slices with sugar mixture. Fit a row of apple slices around edge of pastry-lined pan. Fill pie with remaining slices. Pat slices into place. Sprinkle with lemon juice and dot with butter. Cover with top crust slit in several places. Fold the top crust over the bottom crust and tuck down next to the pan. Seal and flute the edges. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) about 45 minutes or until the juice bubbles up through the slits in the crust. Be sure apples are tender when pricked with a fork. To serve, place wedge-shaped slices of Cheddar cheese on top of pie and slice between wedges.

Honey Glazed Carrots Perk Up Winter Weary Appetites

Honey-glazed carrots seem just right to perk up winter weary palates.

HONEY-GLAZED CARROTS
(Yield: 4 to 5 servings)
8 carrots, pared, cut into thirds, cooked
1 cup honey
¼ cup butter or margarine
teaspoon lemon juice.

In a skillet combine honey, butter, and lemon juice. Heat to melt butter. Add hot cooked carrots and carefully stir until carrots are glazed.

Food Buying Guide
The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The weekend food shopping scene is highlighted by beef, pork and chicken along with seasonal choices in fruits and vegetables. Vegetable bins offer plenty of fresh cabbage, carrots, celery and potatoes.

The fruit counters feature generous selections of apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges.

For main dish fare, be on the lookout for good supplies of beef roasts and steaks, pork roasts and broiler fryer chickens.

In choosing meat and poultry, look for the USDA grade shield. To be sure you're getting the quality you expect, the round mark of U.S. inspection assures you the product is wholesome and safe to eat. These two symbols are your guarantee that the meat and poultry you buy have been checked by experts of the consumer and marketing service.

All St. Patrick Saints Are Waiting For Corned Beef Sandwich Spread

Sure and begorra but it will be a tasty treat when corned beef sandwiches are served at your St. Patrick's Day party. The Saint's feast day wouldn't be complete without the aroma of corned beef wafting from the oven. Yes, the oven!

Corned beef for oven roasting is now available with all its tangy flavor. With this new corned beef for oven roasting it is possible to place the brisket on a rack in an open roasting pan and then slip it into the oven. Just roast until it is fork tender, about 2 or 3 hours. Serve it with a simple fruit glaze such as melted currant jelly spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg, or slice it thin for sandwiches.

For parties a special spread enhances a corned beef on rye sandwich. A blend of shredded Muenster cheese, sour cream, chopped cashew nuts, and pimiento sparked with a dash of tabasco can be whipped up before you can say Erin Go Braugh!

CORNED BEEF SANDWICH SPREAD

Yield: 1½ cups
3 to 4 pound corned beef for oven roasting
1 cup shredded Muenster cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup finely chopped cashew nuts
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of tabasco
Rye bread
Cook corned beef according to package directions. Blend together remaining ingredients. Serve as a spread over thin slices of corned beef in rye bread sandwiches.

Doesn't Take Luck O' Irish To Prepare Erin Patty Shells

Be it family fare or party fare, St. Patrick's Day calls for a dinner with a touch of Irish flavor. Start with an attractive centerpiece and build your menu around it. For the entree, feature tender, flaky patty shells filled with a savory creamed fish in Erin sauce, a salad of lime gelatin, and brown and serve rolls. Top the meal off with pistachio ice cream and cookies.

ERIN PATTY SHELLS

1 package frozen patty shells
2 pounds fillet of sole
2 cups white vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons pickling spice
1 cinnamon stick
1 bay leaf
Dash cayenne
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1 package 10 oz. frozen chopped spinach, thawed undrained
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons milk

Prepare patty shells according to package directions. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Wipe fish well with damp paper towels.

Place in large, shallow baking pan. Pour vinegar over fish and add salt and spices. Cover with foil, bake about 40 minutes, or until fish flakes easily with fork. Reserve ¼ cup cooking liquid.

Meanwhile, melt butter in saucepan; remove from heat. Stir in flour to make a smooth mixture. Gradually stir in evaporated milk. Bring to boiling, stirring. Reduce heat; simmer 7 minutes, or until quite thick. Add spinach and liquid; cook 5 minutes longer. Beat egg yolk slightly with fork; beat in milk and stir a small amount of hot sauce into yolk mixture, com-binning well. Pour back into saucepan; remove from heat. Stir in flour to make a smooth mixture. Gradually stir in evaporated milk. Bring to boiling, stirring. Reduce heat; simmer 7 minutes, or until quite thick. Add spinach and liquid; cook 5 minutes longer. Beat egg yolk slightly with fork; beat in milk and stir a small amount of hot sauce into yolk mixture, com-

binning well. Pour back into saucepan; remove from heat. Stir in flour to make a smooth mixture. Gradually stir in evaporated milk. Bring to boiling, stirring. Reduce heat; simmer 7 minutes, or until quite thick. Add spinach and liquid; cook 5 minutes longer. Beat egg yolk slightly with fork; beat in milk and stir a small amount of hot sauce into yolk mixture, com-

binning well. Pour back into saucepan; remove from heat. Stir in flour to make a smooth mixture. Gradually stir in evaporated milk. Bring to boiling, stirring. Reduce heat; simmer 7 minutes, or until quite thick. Add spinach and liquid; cook 5 minutes longer. Beat egg yolk slightly with fork; beat in milk and stir a small amount of hot sauce into yolk mixture, com-

Dear Abby... Future Husband Is... Acting Very Childish!

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a girl who will graduate from college in June. I am a professional man. When she went home for Christmas vacation she had herself fitted for contact lenses. Abby, I LIKED her in glasses (I wear them, too) and I have never told her that I would like her better in contact lenses. I didn't even know that she was interested in them.

For whom is she preening? Whome else, besides me does she have to please? Why this sudden vanity? To top it off, her lenses have a violet hue, as the Elizabeth Taylor, and the girl I love has hazel eyes. Should I put her to the test and ask her to choose between me and the contacts?

ONLY HER FIANCE DEAR ONLY: Perhaps she's pleasing only herself, which is her privilege. You should be familiar enough with the r's you are about to marry to tell her you like her better in spectacles than in contacts. Having said it, drop it. If you insist on making this a matter of "choice" the lady needs neither glasses nor contacts to see the handwriting on the wall.

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago my boyfriend asked me to marry him. I turned him down for reasons I won't go into here.

Well, lots has happened since then, and now I would like very much to marry him, but he has not asked me lately. Is it ever all right for a girl to do the asking? What I mean is, how can I get him to ask to marry me again without coming right out and asking him? READER: You might have to come right and ask him. And if you want to marry him, and he hasn't asked you a "lately" that might not be such a bad idea.

DEAR ABBY: We are eight retired housewives (rather our husbands are retired - wives never do) and we have a common problem. We live in Clearwater, Florida, and have all re-

Lonely World of "Mistress" To Be Explored on Television

By RICHARD SUDHALTER
By United Press International LONDON — Every year thousands of women become involved in affairs with married men. The results, for both parties, often are catastrophic. Why does it happen? What is there about contemporary marriage to account for the large number of husbands — a number on the increase, from all indications — who are driven to seek heaven in the arms of another woman? A British television documentary to be shown in mid-March will attempt to find some answers by interviewing a number of "mistresses" on a nationwide network. "Everybody has a certain image of the other woman," says Desmond Wilcox, co-editor of the British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) Wednesday evening series "Man Alive" on which the study will appear. "People think she's loaded with diamonds, dripping with mink, and installed in a luxurious apartment by a paramour who drives a Rolls-Royce," he said. "The reality is different. She is lonely, insecure, claustrophobic, not well-off financially, and meets her lover in conditions of nervous secrecy. They will discuss, frankly and without inhibition, the circumstances which led them into their liaisons—and those which motivated the men involved to look outside the bounds of their marriages. But Wilcox stresses that the testimonies are in no case to be construed as confessions or admissions of guilt. "Confessing is hardly what they're doing; they are explaining their position, justifying their action," he said. "We aren't making a case, or knocking the institution of marriage. "But we think it's our right and proper job on television to examine in this program the stress in which marriage goes wrong," he added.

Leather 'N Lace Plan Entry In Shamrock Parade
The Leather 'N Lace Riding Club plan to have an entry in the Shamrock Day Parade tomorrow. Approximately 22 members are planning to don her parade regalia. Susie Craig, nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. Betty Craig, will head the parade riding in a saddle on her mother's car. Home care authorities say that innerspring mattresses should be turned once a month. But latex foam mattresses need no turning. They have only one sleeping surface, no padding or springs, so there is nothing to mat down or shift.

Petroleum Society Wives Hear AFS Student In Borger

Per Meidal of Norway, American Field Service student, was guest speaker at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Petroleum Engineers' Wives Society meeting in Hotel Borger.

Following an introduction by Terry Bob Moore of Borger, the Norwegian student related interesting facts concerning his homeland. He is making his home, during his American stay, with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Crawford in Borger.

During a brief business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Harry L. Allen, president, it was announced the April 11 meeting will be a luncheon in the Coronado Inn with Mrs. R. R. Jordan and Mrs. Jack Byrd as hostesses.

Attending the meeting were Misses Jean Jipp, Harry Allen, Orville Pereboom, Robert Scarth, Paul Davis, Don DeDeer, S. A. Evans, Norman Ross, Jack Byrd, Eldon Hudson and Miss Dolores Perkins, a guest.

A BIT OF AFRICA moves into the summer collections of the designers of Texas. The lure of the complete costume is brought back alive when Justin McCarty tames a pseudo zebra print. A-line coat (left) with back inverted kick pleat slips over a silver of jungle color that's belted low on the hip. The elegant casual shift by Donovan-Galvani (center) solves the seasonal problem. In Dacron double knit, the surface is bisected with vertical and horizontal bars. For a member of the wedding or a guest at a gala party, Clifton Whillie of Dallas created the soutache-embroidered lace dress (right). Controlled formal flare is achieved by panel folds on the front and back of this elbow-sleeved skimmer.

Fashion Honors Come Home To Texas

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DALLAS (NEA)—Texas ranchers may still think the animal kingdom begins and ends with horses and cattle. But the Texas fashion creators are less insular. In the summer collections of Texas designers being shown here this week, the animals of tropical Africa are well-represented.

Printed fabrics for sportswear, daytime dresses, travel clothes and evening wear take their patterns right off the backs of the jungle creatures.

One designer puts a black-and-white zebra-stripped sleeveless coat over a vivid green dress. Another uses a broad irregular zebra print design in white or brown with black for a semidressy daytime dress. And there are tiger stripes for evening in a two-piece dress as slinky as a jungle cat. The hunter's garb turns up, too, in the bush jacket as a companion for shorts, pants and swimsuits.

Mexico has also influenced Texas fashions this season. There are hand-loomed cottons from south of the border and American cottons with a hand-loomed look. Hand and machine embroidery are used in edgings and bandings on vestidos, ruanas, ponchos and poncho shirts.

And the pinks, oranges, greens, yellows and reds are vivid and sizzling.

Red, white and blue is another team well-represented here. There are polka-dot shorts in this combination, topped with white middies.

Red braid edges blue and white denim rancher pants suits and blue and white seersucker play clothes are embroidered and appliqued with red designs.

There is a polka-dot explosion in everything from beach wear to party dresses. And polka dots as attractive costume accents take the form of scarves, mod neckties, blouse trim and ruffled flouncies.

The Texas fashions for summer '67 are bright, gay, pretty and a cool treat for the eye.

Pasta Salad

Macaroni cheese buffet salad is a meatless main dish. Blend 3/4 cup each of mayonnaise and wine vinegar with 1-3 cup of salad oil, 1 1/2 teaspoons each of salt and green onion flakes or chopped chives, 3/4 teaspoon of celery seed and a dash of pepper.

Add 6 cups (1 1/2 pounds) of elbow macaroni, cooked as package label directs, then drained, rinsed with cold water and drained again; 1 1/2 pounds of cheddar or edam cheese diced; 1 1/2 cups of diced apple and 1 cup of sliced sweet gherkins. Toss lightly and chill. Garnish with apple slices and chicory. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sometimes I think we are confusing education and evolution.

We delude ourselves when we believe that sinking billions of dollars into school buildings, textbooks, educational hardware, research projects, advanced teacher training, methodology and special programs will produce a superrace of school children. It isn't that easy.

In certain respects, kids are like rubber bands. Some can be stretched almost indefinitely. Others snap after only a slight pull, and there's little that any teacher or method can do to extend the breaking point. Regardless of how well-trained or dedicated they are, teachers can work only within the limitations of individual students.

Unfortunately, children cannot choose their parents, much less their honorable ancestors dating back to Adam. And yet it's these people living or dead, who have made them what they are.

Considering the odds against changing in 12 or 16 years what has been evolving for thousands of centuries, it's amazing that education makes any difference in kids at all. The fact that it does is a modern-day miracle. But let's not expect more than even a miracle can produce.

News of modern technology and methodology gives the impression that education is changing rapidly and taking some giant steps forward. If so, it's outstripping the kids. They haven't changed much since Caesar conquered Rome.

Changing education reminds me somewhat of modern warfare. Despite the planes, tanks and bombs we have today, our infantrymen are still in the rice paddies of Vietnam, slugging it out in hand-to-hand combat. Likewise, teachers are still fighting the real battles of education in the classroom in person-to-person contacts with their pupils. Nothing mechanical can quite take their place.

Their progress is slow though steady. And all the money and training and equipment in the world can't speed it up beyond a certain point.

We can try to make "silk purses out of sow's ears." Teachers are the original optimists and rightly so. But please, let's not expect all our children, our grandchildren, or even our great-grandchildren to be Ph.D.s. Where will they get the brains?

SHORT SHORTS TAKE OVER
What takes over when the midskirt can go no higher? Short shorts take over. The new-again shorter than short shorts are being seen all over the sun circuit in tough fabrics like denim and duck. Look their best with skinny sweaters and wide, wide belts—if your figure is right.

Pad Sticking Areas

It's not your arms but your feet that make ironing seem like such a weary chore. Try standing on a throw rug padded with an underlayer of foam rubber. You'll whip through a basket of laundry like a breeze.

And who REALLY wants a world of eggheads, anyway?

FREE COLLEGIANS picked as the top three choices in the combined pro football draft of the National and American leagues are, left to right, defensive end Charles (Bubba) Smith of Michigan State, halfback Clint Jones, also of MSU, and quarterback Steve Spurrier. The Heisman Trophy winner from Florida, Smith was selected by Baltimore. Jones by Minnesota and Spurrier by San Francisco—all of the NFL.

GRAPEFRUIT LEAGUE RESULTS

Marichal Still Unsigned

By United Press International
The San Francisco Giants are haggling with Juan Marichal over a $100,000 price tag while right in their own locker room is a record book name that would gladly sign on for two bits.

Don Larsen, who pitched the only perfect World Series game, is trying to hook on with a big league team again and immediately made his point for a job on the Giants roster. He entered Wednesday's game against Cleveland in the ninth inning and was a 3-2 winner in 10.

Larsen is remembered for his baseball brilliance on Oct. 3, 1956, when he retired 27 men in a row as the New York Yankees defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers in the fifth game of the World Series.

He beat about the majors with various clubs, including San Francisco, before dropping out of the big leagues. The Giants invited him for another look-see and with ever increasing pension payments for veteran major leaguers, Larsen would like to find a niche with the club and more security for the future.

Houston Edges Detroit
In other exhibition games, Houston edged Detroit 4-3, Minnesota walloped Philadelphia 14-1, Washington nipped Atlanta 2-1, Cincinnati beat the New York Mets 11-6, Baltimore belted Kansas City 11-4, St. Louis downed Los Angeles 5-2, the Chicago White Sox defeated Pittsburgh 4-1, the New York Yankees topped Boston 6-3, and the Chicago Cubs squeaked past California 7-6.

San Francisco scored its winning run on three walks and an error. Willie Mays cracked out two singles to raise his exhibition batting average to .562 for six games. Leon Wagner homered for Cleveland.

Bo Bellinsky pitched four shutout innings for Houston in his comeback effort as the Astros pushed across two runs in the ninth inning to beat Detroit. Jose Herrera's pinch-hit single drove in the deciding tally.

Minnesota used three Philadelphia pitchers for batting practice, rapping out 1 hits, including homers by rookies Rod Carew and Dick Reese. Jim Kaat, Dave Boswell, Jerry Fosnow and Al Worthington limited the Phils to four hits and an unearned run.

A Dick Billings triple and Jim French's sacrifice fly pushed across the winning run in the 11th inning for Washington. Dick Lines retired six straight Atlanta batters to get credit for the victory.

Rose Homers Twice
Pete Rose had his hitting clothes on against the Mets as he blasted two homers and a single good for five runs. Seven Cincinnati runs were unearned as the Mets made five errors. Ken Boyer homered for New York.

Kansas City took it on the chin for the sixth straight game when Baltimore bombed the A's with 11 hits. Curt Blefary hit a three-run homer for the Orioles and now is hitting a torrid .563 for the Grapefruit League season.

The Cardinals fell on Los Angeles like an avalanche with 16 hits, 15 of them singles. Ted Savage had four hits for St. Louis. Al Jackson allowed two hits in four innings and was credited with the win.

Chance Glad For Chance to Pitch With Minnesota

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—With friends like Jimmie Piersall, Dean Chance says he doesn't need any enemies.

"I'm not gonna punch him in the nose," said Chance. "I thought he was my friend, and I always respected him because he overcame a big handicap. You have to know Jimmie, though. Next time he sees me he's liable to come running up to me and say, 'Look at all that publicity we got.'"

Chance, trying to make it big again now with the Minnesota Twins, needed all that publicity the same way Sen Dodd does.

Piersall and Chance both were with the Angels last year and after Chance was dealt to the Twins Piersall stood up and explained what a great trade it was for the Angels.

He said they were much better off without Chance, who won only 12 games last year.

The Angels got Jimmie Hall, Don Mincher and Pete Cimino for Chance, so all Jim McGlothlin and Jorge Rubio had to do now was win six games apiece, Piersall pointed out, and anyone could see which club got stung in the deal.

"If Piersall wants to knock people, let him," said the 25-year-old Chance, winner of the Cy Young Award as the majors' outstanding pitcher years ago.

"As a ball player, I think he has gotten 100 per cent out of his ability and has done very well for himself. Now that he may be fighting for a job, he probably finds he has to do something else."

"I really feel sorry for him. And one other thing, I know he wasn't misquoted. I did a little checking on that and he said exactly what was in the paper. But I've got a lot of good friends with the Angels. Fellows like Gene Autry, Rick Reichardt and Billy Rigney and I wouldn't ever let a statement by Jimmie Piersall change my opinion of them."

Chance Likes Twins
Commenting on last December's deal, Chance says he was surprised Fred Hany traded him to the Twins.

"I didn't think he'd trade me to a ball club like this one," said Chance. "Of course, he got three good players. But I think this club has the best 25 players in baseball. I'm really enthused about being here."

There are those who feel Chance could come back and win 20 games again as he did in 1964 when he lost only nine times and checked in with a superlative 1.65 ERA.

Pro Grid Career Awaiting Matson

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—The Atlanta Falcons will have to wait until after the 1968 Olympics for shotputter Randy Matson to play for them.

Matson, world record holder in the shotput, was picked in the fifth round of the NFL-AFL draft Tuesday.

But Wednesday the Texas A&M giant said he plans to compete in the shotput at the 1968 Olympics.

"After that, I'll just have to wait and see," he said. "I'll do nothing between now and then to jeopardize my amateur standing." Matson said. If I win the shotput in the Olympics, it might put me in pretty good bargaining position for pro football."

The draft came as no surprise to him, he said, because the Atlanta team had already contacted him.

Matson, who re-trained his hand at the Border Olympics at Laredo, Tex. Saturday, will not throw the shot for the next two weekends to give his hand some rest.

Pampa Athletes Face Busy Weekend

Pampa High School's baseball, track, golf and tennis teams will all be in action this weekend.

The Harvester baseballers journey to Canyon Friday for a return match and will put their spotless, 5-0 record on the line. Saturday the Harvesters play Liberal, Kan. there in a double-header.

Also Friday the Pampa netters journey to Spearman for a two day tournament, that will end Saturday evening.

Saturday the golf team will compete in the second round of district action at Plainview. Monterey is the district leader with a first round score of 301 while Pampa is tied for fourth with a 327 team total.

Also on tap Saturday is the Kimball Relays in Dallas with the Pampa triathlons due to journey to Big D on Friday.

Pampa Netters Lose to Borger

Borger edged Pampa High School netters Wednesday on the Borger courts in abbreviated matches.

Mike Edminister lost his match, 6-4, 4-6, 4-6. The doubles team of Mike Sublett and Danny Winters were beaten, 3-6, 4-6 while George McCarrel split with his opponent, 6-8, 6-8.

In a girls singles match Jami Lou Schafer lost, 4-6, 4-6 and the girls doubles team of Brenda Schafer and Carolyn Walker lost, 6-3, 100-1020.0 050-07.0 0

In another singles match Danny Winters won, 6-3, 6-2 and Bill Mayo and Sam Virden split with two Borger youths, 6-4, 6-8.

Cage Banquet Date April 6

A final date for the Pampa Harvester basketball banquet has been set, according to Harvester coach Terry Culley.

Culley said the banquet would be held April 6, beginning at 7:30 p.m. with Gene Gibson, head cage coach at Texas Tech as guest speaker.

The banquet will be held in the Pampa High School Cafeteria.

Pampa High School graduate and former Tsch star Elmer Wilson, will be master of ceremonies for the affair.

Also on the agenda is the crowning of the Harvester basketball queen and presentation of the Hustling Harvester award.

Queen candidates are Jeanne Bell, Jeanne Prock, Ann Jamison.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Unfettered Freedom

There's a lot going on in this country today that we don't hear much about. It has nothing to do with the threat of war—the nuclear bomb—or the fact that the big bad wolf inflation is no longer a dead duck. It has to do with this steady, insidious chipping away at what we know as freedom.

We're talking about just about the biggest single asset we have in our nation. Only you, in the end, will decide how much you want to give up for the substitutes that have brought chaos, plunk, and wreckage to the countries we seem to be following.

This is not easy to define. It is present on every farm, in every store, every factory, every office building in this great country. It's the mainspring of every man at every lathe, every drill press, every production line—here—wherever freemen ever worked and lived.

It's been in every boy who gets up a lemonade stand on Main Street U.S.A.

It was the driving force that built the great Ford business from nothing but poor mechanic's dream.

It rides with every tractor, every mower, ever reaper on the nation's farms.

It is back of every good and great thing, this nation and its people enjoy. It is the motive power, the lifeblood, the backbone to his country cannot and will not get along without.

Whether our critics here and abroad like it or not—it's a blood brother of profit. For profit is the reward. And, progress, U.S.A. style, is the goal of profit. All the fancy economic theories ever dreamed up cannot alter that one simple fact.

We are what we are, and where we are because men have been more free here to work where they pleased, risk savings, invest hard earned dollars, plow earnings back, grow, stop.

Who then is to criticize? Who is to elect barriers against the hope of free men?—Who is to control and regulate the profits of business—the profits, through which the growing, expanding needs of this country must be met.

Think it over. By what right, from what source, do some men gain the right to place restrictions on the lives, freedom and rights of others?

Who then is to criticize? Who is to elect barriers against the hope of free men?—Who is to control and regulate the profits of business—the profits, through which the growing, expanding needs of this country must be met.

Control Vital For Local Draft Boards

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson has put off a decision on whether Selective Service local boards should be continued or replaced with a centralized system.

This is a matter which should be debated carefully. For there is danger that in abolishing local boards the baby would be thrown out with the bath water.

Certainly there are inequities when decisions are made by more than 4000 local boards, each with the final say within very broad limits (except for appeal) on who is ready to go and who is to be deferred.

But the question is not whether there are inequities. It's whether the benefits balanced against the inequities of this system are greater or less than in a centralized setup.

Many people feel these days that they are becoming numbers or entries on a computer memory bank. Some variation is desirable.

Human beings require human judgment. In a court of law, considerable latitude is given juries and judges. In courts of law, also, a man is entitled to be judged in a local area by a jury of his peers.

In those countries this reporter has lived in where men are taken off to courts considerable distances away, justice is more legal, less human and more subject to inequities.

In South Vietnam, one reason there have been so many draft dodgers is that the communities are not part of any selective service system. It's the central government coming in and taking their young men without local say-so that they resent bitterly.

It has built up in many communities a resistance to the Saigon government. Villager after villager talked to said he wants some local saying in what happens to the young men of his village.

In the United States, local boards came into existence as a result of the strong resentment aroused in the Civil War days when "outsiders" came into the local communities and gathered up young men of draft age.

Local boards can take local conditions into account. Centralized rules are dangerous without the leavening of a local human element. Otherwise it becomes, not rule by law but rule by bureaucratic regulation.

Inequities within the local board system can be corrected without abolishing the system.

1. The present system requires that a young man's original local board shall be his local board all his life. Sometimes this becomes ridiculous. A man may move away from the area and never return. If the principle is that each man's case is to be judged by his neighbors, some provision should be made for a man's record to be transferred to his new neighborhood if he moves there.

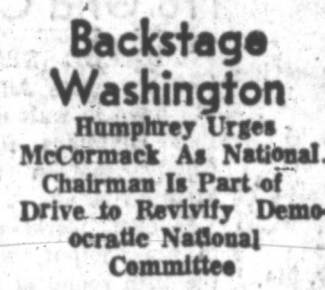

2. When each local board moves in its own direction, unaware of how other boards are deciding cases, serious inequities are bound to arise.

This problem can be solved in part by regular interstate regional workshops for local board members, clerks, government appeal agents and appeal board members. At these seminars, individuals from each community could share their experiences, their methods, interpretations and decisions. Each man would see how others did things.

All major companies have an auditing group and quality control groups. The military services have inspectors general or the equivalent. The federal government has a General Accounting Office. These look into errors, inferior practices and inequities. The Selective Service System should have some body within the system which would regularly receive reports on alleged inequities and widely differing practices between one board and another. This body would determine what recommendations to make to prevent unwise variations if found.

Humphrey Urges McCormack As National Chairman Is Part of Drive to Revivify Democratic National Committee

WASHINGTON — Vice President Humphrey is pressing President Johnson to make sweeping changes at the Democratic National headquarters.

Deeply concerned over the breakdown in communications between the National Committee and state organizations, Humphrey has proposed that Chairman John Bailey be replaced with former Massachusetts Attorney General Edward McCormack, 42-year-old nephew of Speaker McCormack.

Humphrey also wants the committee restaffed with younger people to give the party a more vigorous image to attract the millions of voters who will be casting their first ballots in 1968.

In urging the changes during a frank discussion at the White House, the Vice President told the President that the appointment of a new chairman was vital to bolster his popularity and tighten control over the party.

While indicating that he had no personal grievances against Bailey, Humphrey argued that McCormack's youth and political experience were political assets that could help the President in his rebuilding.

McCormack's attributes, Humphrey stressed, could be used effectively to counter the appeal that Senator Robert Kennedy, D-N. Y., has for Irish-Catholic politicians within the party.

Although expressing doubts that Kennedy would attempt to challenge the President in 1968, possibility could not be ruled out completely because of Kennedy's growing political activities.

A survey of airline passengers, who flew an average of 20 times last year, revealed they care more about a safe landing and a stewardess's smile than they do about in-flight entertainment. In fact more than half said they didn't care about movies stereophonic music, or the other niceties provided. They were mainly interested in the efficiency of the crew and stewardesses, comfort and decor of the cabins, liquor and meal service. However, nearly 20 per cent agreed that movies and music do help them to relax.

What a world we live in! Just to keep the youngsters happy one firm supplies Batman peanut butter while another makes Superman bread. . . . Do you know that today's electronic gadgets enable the average European to get quotes on the New York Stock Exchange in London or Rome much faster than he can learn what's happening on the local market. It takes one-half second to relay the prices 3,500 miles from New York to London, Paris, Rome and Antwerp.

Thoughts while shaving: Remember the old song about Daisy and the bicycle built for two? Well, it's unlikely that the song will be in the top 10 on today's hit parades, but the bicycle built for two has made a remarkable comeback. In fact, Uncle Sam is so excited about the renewed interest in cycling that he is planning to spend millions of your tax dollars building bicycle paths all over the country. And the bicycle manufacturers are turning out thousands of tandem cycles for the teenagers and oldsters, too. . . . Just in case your favorite radio station has switched to rock an roll, maybe this is the reason. A Texas retailer said recently the junior and senior high school students in his area had an estimated $250,000 a week to spend and he planned to get a part of it. And we can recall when our allowance was 25 cents a week and we were really affluent if we were given a nickel for running an errand for a generous neighbor. . . . Stereo tape music in automobiles has proven so popular that truck manufacturers are planning to install music machines in the heavy trucks that barrel along the nation's

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT
Disease Similar to Polio Attacks Mexican Children
A new paralytic disease that closely resembles poliomyelitis has been observed in children in Mexico. It is caused by an unidentified virus but careful tests have shown that it is not a poliovirus. The mode of transmission is not known but the cases seen have been from widely separated points. It cannot, therefore, be considered an epidemic disease.

The young victims may be paralyzed in one or all their limbs and, when the respiratory muscles are affected, the children must be placed in an iron lung. No specific treatment is known. Although the death rate from this disease is higher than that of poliomyelitis, if the victim survives the acute phase he slowly but surely makes a complete recovery. This is not true of polio.

Although as yet no cases of this disease have been reported in this country, some cases reported as polio in children who have had the full series of polio vaccinations may be due to the new disease. In any event, cases may be expected in areas bordering on Mexico.

Q — My 6-year-old son is 48 inches tall and weighs 50 pounds. He has a good appetite and eats well. Do you think he is underweight? If so what should I do to correct this?

A — Since your son is of average weight for his age but above average height, his build would be described as slender. This may be a hereditary trait. In any case, it is preferable to being overweight. If your son is otherwise healthy, I would see that he is offered plenty of nourishing food but would not try to force-feed him. He will probably fill out when he reaches adolescence but, if he becomes more underweight for his age than he is now, you might try to get him to take a snack at bedtime.

Q — My son is 18 months old. He drags a pet blanket wherever he goes. My mother insists that I burn it but I'm afraid that if I do he will be very upset. What do you think?

A — It is normal for a child to form a deep attachment for a rag doll, blanket or similar object. It gives him a sense of security and it does him no harm. Most children outgrow this habit before they start to school. Some mothers try hiding the blanket every three or four months, then, if the child makes too great a fuss,

Will This Satire Backfire?

It seems that the Yale University Drama Department has awarded a grant of $5,000 to a female playwright for a "satirical" drama titled "MacBird," which, according to Alice Wildener, "violates the standards of acceptable American community behavior by open insinuation that the present president of the United States set the stage for the murder of his predecessor in highest office."

Miss Wildener is endeavoring to form an "American Family Association," for the purpose of combating all the moral ills that plague us. She is a highly ethical person and a persuasive writer, and we wish her luck. But massive organization of human beings tend to be ruled from the top down. "Leaders" are elected to run things and they take pleasure in doing it. But, as they gain power they start losing their original enthusiasm for their original objectives (or those of the organization) and begin adopting ideas formerly foreign to the organization's purpose. The trouble with large, or even small, organizations is that they get out of hand.

The proper way, the only way, we can improve the moral climate of America is for each individual to start improving himself.

We have for far too long permitted the political government to set the pattern of our morals, and there is nothing on earth more immoral than politics.

When morals were taught at the family fireside and in the Sunday Schools, our over-all moral climate was very salubrious. It was when we departed from the long accustomed ways and turned our children over to the politicians that the climate began to worsen—and now it stinks.

Whether or not the President is amused or aroused by the play "MacBird" is neither here nor there. If it displeases him, he most assuredly has the power to squelch it. Perhaps it was not in the best of taste for Yale to award the young author $5,000 for a "slandering" play.

We shouldn't be killing civilians, or anyone else, in Viet Nam. We are not there to win a war, but to prolong it. The government daily sentences an unnumbered (until after the battle) group of our boys to death for no reasonable purpose. It is extremely doubtful if there ever has been a valid excuse for any war, let alone one we have no intention of winning.

Our leaders cannot in good conscience excuse themselves for "accidentally" causing the deaths of many civilians in their bombings of North Viet Nam just because the Viet Cong are doing the same thing in South Viet Nam.

It does not ameliorate our own crime to stand before a judge, point a finger at another transgressor and say, "He did it first."

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT
FOREIGN AID MERRY-GO-ROUND

Administration officials in Washington would have us believe that we are spending no more than $3 billion a year in tax money for foreign aid. The true figure is close to three times that, or $9 billion a year. The additional money is camouflaged by being spent under the names of other agencies whose called "foreign aid," though activities are not specifically called "foreign aid," though they amount to the same thing. Outstanding examples are the "Food for Peace" handout program, costing almost $2 billion a year, and the $455 million spent in a year by the Inter-American Bank and International Development Association.

There is a grand total of about 45 agencies involved in foreign aid handouts, though most of their expenditures are not listed as such. These agencies not only duplicate one another's work but support an enormous number of bureaucrats. Each agency's foreign staff is added to the fullest possible extent in the familiar bureaucratic game of empire building. After all, who would not like to see the world at the American taxpayer's expense?

This program benefits nobody but the government officials who hand out the money and the government officials of foreign countries receiving it. It depletes our gold reserve. It puts foreign peoples more firmly under the control of socialist governments. It discourages personal enterprise. It has actually financed communist revolutions.

At long last, this almost incredible, constant waste should be stopped. Foreign aid has had twenty years to prove itself. It has failed every critical test. Public opinion should demand its abolition. The people still rule in this country if they make their voice heard.

Wit and Whimsy

In my grandmother's family, all five children married persons whose names begin with "H." Ethel, Edith, and Eloise married Harland, Harold, and Hode. And Clayton and Clyde married Helen and Hattie. —Debra Kelsey, Odessa, Tex.

An English bishop had no sense of music. One day in an East-end church, when he was standing unrecognized at the back, he joined in the hearty singing.

At last a man at his side could stand it no longer, and giving him a dig in the ribs, whispered.
