

See McNamara Is Gradually Losing Appeal in Congress

By FRED S. ROFFMAN
WASHINGTON AP—To Congress, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is looking less like a giant these days.

And to McNamara, Congress is becoming more of a hairshirt.

The congressional disenchantment, which started setting in a year ago, is growing deeper in the dispute between McNamara and Congress over defense spending and award of a multimillion-dollar price contract.

So far McNamara has won every major clash—and probably not many smart betting men would wager against the powerful defense secretary in the current row over the TXF fighter plane.

But in the future, the estimate of Ford motor company executive may have to work harder to get his proposals through Congress.

McNamara is being called a "know-nothing" who is trying to become a single chief of staff by overriding professional military advice. Congressmen who do describe him are giving vent to the anger held by many informed officers.

In return, McNamara is accusing congressional critics — there are Republicans and Democrats among them — of disservice to the country by challenging the effectiveness of U.S. intelligence and irresponsibility in urging budget cuts while voting to increase defense spending.

Informed sources indicate McNamara has become increasingly annoyed by a combination of events.

One is the Senate investigation of award of a potential $8.5 billion TXF fighter contract to General Dynamics Corp. over the Boeing Co. McNamara has strongly implied the investigation is distorted and said it has "needlessly undermined public confidence in the integrity and judgment" of top Pentagon officials.

A second reported factor is the recent statement by House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that the defense budget could be cut about $3 billion — some $1 billion per service — and conflicting action by another GOP leader, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

On Wednesday, Arends accused McNamara of acting like a dictator and called the defense chief "I got all the answers McNamara."

McNamara teed off on Arends before the advertising council Wednesday, accusing him of supporting "irresponsible action in adding over $1 billion to the budget that is not needed" and of criticizing "the responsible official McNamara who took out the billion."

McNamara acknowledged that in a sense he acted as a dictator in chopping $14 billion from the defense budget before the final $3 billion in defense money requests went to Capitol Hill.

Arends read about this and rushed to the House floor. He declared the House Armed Services Committee, where he sits as senior Republican, would choose the "considered judgment" of the Joint Chiefs of Staff over what he called "the arbitrary decisions" of McNamara.

McNamara apparently has been frustrated by an inability to get out-of-pocket questioning by Congress members as to whether U.S. military intelligence is good enough to guard against new missile threats from Cuba.

During his first year in office, the aggressive, articulate defense secretary could do no wrong with Congress. His grasp of defense complexities and his fluent recitation of figures impressed senators and House members — and it still does.

But just a year ago he took a strong stand against developing the 2,000-mile-an-hour B570 reconnaissance strike plane, which was favored by many powerful members of both houses.

When the House voted an increase of $101 million for the B570 program, McNamara called it "a gross act of defiance" and told the House Armed Services Committee, "I believe our message will get through to those in the Department of Defense that we want the B570 canceled."

But the message did not get through. McNamara stuck to his position and the B570 program was not canceled.

His grasp of defense complexities and his fluent recitation of figures impressed senators and House members — and it still does.

But just a year ago he took a strong stand against developing the 2,000-mile-an-hour B570 reconnaissance strike plane, which was favored by many powerful members of both houses.

Broadened Probe Urged By Press

By JOHN BECKER
WASHINGTON AP—A spokesman for the newspaper industry today urged a House subcommittee to broaden its study of competition among news media to include the power and practices of labor unions.

Stanford Smith, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, representing 90 per cent of the nation's daily newspaper circulation, said the current newspaper strikes in New York and Cleveland, Ohio, make such a study necessary.

Smith told the subcommittee that in view of the two long strikes it had a duty to determine whether the continued existence of labor unions under antitrust laws was in the national interest.

Testifying on the second day of what is shaping up as the most searching look Congress has ever taken at the press, Smith challenged a major premise of the hearings, as announced by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

In opening remarks Wednesday, Celler said the steady erosion in the number of metropolitan newspapers is threatening the quality of news coverage.

Smith said the fact some metropolitan newspapers have failed in recent years reflects changing patterns in business and social activity, with both people and retail businesses moving to the suburbs.

In addition, he said, rising wages and other operating costs and competition for advertising from other media have hurt newspapers.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and my brother is 18 and our problem is our mother. She is the sweetest, best-natured, most adorable 18-year-old mother but she has such poor taste in clothes that sometimes we are embarrassed for her. She's a little plump but refuses to wear a girdle because it's uncomfortable. Every dress she owns has a full skirt or lots of pleats. When she goes to church, women's club meetings or an afternoon tea she always wears rhinestone earrings and a rhinestone necklace. I've told her that rhinestones are for after five, and not for older women, but she says she LIKES rhinestones! I even show her pictures of smartly dressed matrons in fashion magazines, but she's not impressed. We hate to hurt her feelings, but want her to look nice. How?

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think this is too silly to answer because I have been trying to find the answer to this question for a long time and you are my only hope. Does the groom carry the bride through the door of the motel on their honeymoon? Or is it the door of the apartment or house where they are going to live that she gets carried through?

DEAR CURIOUS: Traditionally, the groom carries the bride over the threshold of their home. But let's face it — once a bride, who cares?

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETTY: You're offering him sex service. He's interested in lips. There's no time in it for either of you.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 326, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 326, Beverly Hills, Calif. For Abby's new book, let "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

DEAR ABBY: Recently a man signed FLORIDA wrote to you saying he was 67 years old and wanted a wife about 48 to 50. What makes him think he is entitled to a woman that young? If that's the way he figures, a man 25 years old wouldn't accept her 17 or 18 years old — accept her for what she is a pain. Why can't a 67-year-old man be satisfied with a 65-year-old woman?

Kiwanis Hears Rev. Stowell

The Rev. Bill Stowell, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church in Shreveport, La., and visiting evangelist at a revival last week at Colonial Hill Baptist Church, was the speaker Wednesday at the Kiwanis Club's luncheon meeting.

The subject of his talk was "Try to Be a Man."

Prior to Rev. Stowell's address, John McCallan sang, accompanied by Ralph Watson at the piano. Musical numbers included "I'm Jimmie Nelson," Colonial Hill Baptist pastor, Verne Chapman, and Mark Nichols, Sweetwater Kiwanis.

Rev. Stowell was introduced by Hubert Cargile, program chairman.

Plans were made for Kiwanis members and their families to attend church services in a group Sunday at First Christian Church as an activity of the committee on the support of churches and their spiritual aims.

Club President Jim Mathis congratulated the club for having 100 per cent attendance at Wednesday's luncheon. Dinner music was provided by the club sweetheart, Nancy Meador.

Day In The Life Of A Surgeon

THE SURGEON. By W. C. Heinz.

There is a graphic quality about this story, giving it the effect of intense reporting.

It is a narrative constructed by the clock, telling in almost minute-by-minute sequence the myriad details of the life led by an experienced, chief surgeon named Matthew Carter.

It begins at 6:45 a.m. when he rises for the day, and it ends at 2:35 p.m., when he has completed one of the most critical operations of his career.

But of course the narrative has to be given depth through the use of flashbacks, in order to depict the qualities that have gone into the making of this human being and professionally skilled man.

The climactic scene is an operation which advances the borders of science. It is a medical challenge which Dr. Carter had not quite been able to meet in the past.

Even before the climax the reader has been given a thorough insight into many of Dr. Carter's professional dilemmas. There are insights on the question of medical fees, the growing psychological problems of handling patients who are beyond hope, the sometimes exasperating problems caused by patients' relatives.

There also are passages which throw a glancing light on the operation of a large hospital; a vignette of a fussy surgeon who has no talent for major cases; another vignette of a promising young surgeon who is learning from Dr. Carter; and further references to some of the minor figures on the hospital staff, who make these contributions to the art of healing.

Heinz has presented a portrait that is rather idealized, but his heightens the basic effect. As a writer he has done a remarkably vivid job in the documentary field.

Men Capture Kitchens

BY VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

When married men go to cooking school and they do, they want to learn how to make good salads, buffet meals, meat dishes, says Ruth Norman, who conducts cooking classes with long-time gourmet cook book author and lecturer, Jim Beard.

"Men are not interested in learning to bake, nor in making desserts," she says. Good advice for the bride-to-be is to learn these things well. "But they all want to learn how to make good main dishes, and hurry-up meals that are tasty."

Interest is so keen men often outnumber women in the cooking classes, she says. Lawyers, doctors, architects along with advertising women, secretaries, writers are likely to comprise a typical class of 12.

"If there is just enough money for one course, it's the man of the family who goes," says Miss Norman, "and then he can't wait to get in his own kitchen and show off."

One man, the merchandise manager of a large store, rubbed his hands gleefully together and said, "I can't wait to throw my wife out of the kitchen when I get home," which may have been why his wife budgeted those cooking school funds in the first place.

The school removes what they consider the psychological barrier to cooking at the first lesson.

"Fear of failure is what keeps people from over and over. People who can't cook are afraid to cook," Miss Norman says.

"We start them right out making Crepes (French pancakes) with all the fillings and sauces. It's just about the last thing an inexperienced cook attempts. When they're over that hurdle, the rest is easy."

Even people who collect cook books and read them like novels can fall into that category. But one success will erase frustration.

An entire evening is devoted to snuffles, another culinary achievement for an amateur chef.

"When they learn how to whip egg whites so they can turn the pan over their heads, there is no turning back."

B&PW Club Has Program By Mrs. Odom

The feelings and impressions of one who walks and worships where Jesus Christ lived and prayed were described for the B & P W Club members Tuesday.

Mrs. Dewey Odom presented a program on the Holy Land. Mrs. Odom was a member of a party led by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale which visited Palestine and Bethlehem.

Mrs. Odom described a cave on the outskirts of Bethlehem where its blackened ceilings bore witness to its use by shepherds over many centuries. Mrs. Odom said that perhaps it was from that very cave that the shepherds went to see "this great thing which has come to pass."

The program was well received by the club members.

Jaycee-ettes Elect New Officers

New officers were elected by the Snyder Jaycee-ettes at their monthly meeting Tuesday.

The new officers are: Mrs. Gene Williams, president; Mrs. Bill Dryden, vice president; Mrs. Dave Harlin, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Baker, historian; Mrs. Gene Thompson and Mrs. Billy J. Brown, directors. Hold over directors are Mrs. Jerry Edwards and Mrs. Joe Gilbert.

Mrs. Baker expressed her thanks for the cooperation of the Jaycee-ettes who helped with the "Heart Sunday" drive.

Mrs. Johnny Greenfield gave a report on the progress of the preparation of the scrapbook which will be entered at the state convention. The convention will be held in San Antonio in May.

Mrs. Baker introduced Mrs. Bill Williams who presented a program on trends in jewelry, and demonstrated methods of wearing different types of jewelry.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and guests by Mrs. Doug McGowan.

Floods Leave Mud, Misery

Mud trucks and misery greeted thousands of families returning to their homes today in portions of five southern states hit hardest by rampaging rivers and streams.

Other thousands were homeless still, but the torrential rains were over and the flood waters were receding in most sections.

Property damage amounted to many millions of dollars, and massive cleanup operations added to the cost. Thick mud coated homes, businesses and roads in some areas. Occasional mudslides blocked streets.

Parts of southeastern Kentucky and southwestern West Virginia were declared disaster areas by President Kennedy.

Fifteen deaths were attributed to the floods and five persons were missing. Six died in West Virginia, four in Tennessee, two in Kentucky, two in Virginia and one in Alabama.

Volunteers built an emergency wall of dirt to augment a flood wall at Prestonburg, Ky., and the barrier, turned back the Big Sandy River with just four inches to spare.

At Paintsville, down river from Prestonburg, water was reported over the parking meters on the main street. About 1,000 of the 1,400 persons in the town were evacuated, but a Civil Defense spokesman described the situation as well in hand.

Ten passengers and a driver were rescued from a Greyhound bus trapped for more than eight hours in flood waters on a highway 35 miles west of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Amphibious vehicles were used to remove the passengers and bus driver Forrest F. Darroch of Memphis, Tenn. He said he was forced to stop the vehicle in shallow water sweeping across highway 64 when a car stalled in front of him shortly after midnight Wednesday.

The water rose quickly to about four feet and poured two feet deep into the bus, he said.

"The water was so swift it picked up the front of the bus and set it on the shoulder of the road," he said. "The bus rocked all night."

Elsewhere, the Tennessee River approached flood level but was expected to be held in control by Tennessee Valley Authority dams and spillways. Other rivers were receding.

Lowering water revealed extensive road damage with at least 26 small bridges washed away in sparsely populated Cocke County in East Tennessee.

In West Virginia the Guyandotte and Tag rivers were back within their banks in the southern portion of the state after Tuesday's flooding left property damage estimated at $70 million by U.S. Army Engineers.

Flood waters also were going down in southwestern Virginia where the Red Cross was feeding and sheltering about 1,000 families.

Search resumed for Roger A. Stafford, 25, and his wife, Mary Ann, 21, missing on a canoe trip on the flooded Jackson River. The body of a third canoeist, A. K. Sisk Jr., 31, was found near Covington, Va., Wednesday.

Also missing was Theodore Thompson Jr., 18, of Pennsylvania, who slipped from an overboard in the middle of the flooded Mays River about 12 miles north of Lexington, Va.

Thompson, a Washington and Lee University sophomore, was seen clinging to a bush but was gone when two companions reached the spot.

FLOOD WINDS THROUGH KENTUCKY HILLS—The snake-like path of the raging North Fork of Kentucky River is shown sweeping through the towns of Hazard, top, and Lothair, bottom. The flood, one of the worst in eastern Kentucky history, forced more than 25,000 persons to flee their homes with property damage running in the millions of dollars. (AP Wirephoto)

Experts Doubt Mao, Krush Can Reach Real Agreement

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung may yet succeed in silencing their public quarrel behind a facade of Communist unity, but U.S. experts are skeptical that any real agreement can be achieved.

It was announced Wednesday that Mao has invited Khrushchev to a meeting in Peking to discuss the bitter dispute. Alternatively, the Chinese leader suggested that lower level talks could be held in either Peking or Moscow.

Authorities here who have followed the conflict through hundreds of thousands of words since it came into the open about three years ago find it hard to believe that Khrushchev can accept Mao's invitation to the Red Chinese capital any time in the near future without risking a serious loss of face.

The issues involved in the dispute arise out of the contradictory national interests of the Soviet Union and Red China. They are so basic, no expert in the U.S. government sees any prospect that the differences can be resolved.

If the Red Chinese had given any indication that the way was open for a settlement and that they were prepared to accept Soviet leadership of the whole Communist bloc, Khrushchev could go to Peking expecting to score a triumph. If he goes on Mao's terms, experts here agree, his action will be construed in other Communist countries and in Communist par-

Total Desegregation Of School Is Sought

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A suit asking total desegregation of the High Point, N.C., school system has been filed in U.S. Middle District Court here by the parents of eight Negro students.

The suit, filed Wednesday, asked that all students, teachers and other school personnel be assigned without regard to race. It names the High Point Board of Education as defendant.

The plaintiffs claim the high point board has used the State Pupil Assignment Act to maintain discriminatory practices.

U.S. production of paper and paperboard in 1962 climbed to about 37.3 million tons, a 2-million ton increase over 1961. Consumption in the U.S. also increased 2 million tons to 42 million.

ties over the world as a sign of weakness on his part, and evidence that the Soviet Union needs the Chinese—to return to the fold—more than the Chinese need the Soviet Union.

If that were indeed the impression created, Communist leaders sensitive to shifts in the power balance inside the Red camp might be inclined to pay more attention in the future to Peking's line and less to the Kremlin's.

One of the forces working in favor of some restoration is that the Sino-Soviet split has created confusion in the parties of Western Europe and the Western Hemisphere. For example, it is believed here that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro is ideologically lined up with the Red Chinese though he is dependent for military and economic support on the Soviet Union.

Experts here believe that the recent intensification of the Sino-Soviet argument is further confirmation of their view that while both Khrushchev and Mao would like to have unity neither one is willing to yield any important point in order to get it.

The reasoning behind this belief is that the issues involved cannot easily be compromised without sacrificing national interests.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — The other night while browsing through A History of the Aztecs and conducting experiments with gun and several other chemicals, a hideous thought occurred to me: Mexico is rapidly falling behind in the art of listening to noise.

Dr. Emory Cadwallier has given a clear-cut indication in his best selling political treatise that Mexicans may be as much as six years behind the United States in this vital field.

Note — See Cadwallier's THIRTY WAYS TO HIDE A BICYCLE, 1968 ed., p. 728, second sentence of eighth paragraph beginning with "No..." etc.

It becomes evident even to the casual observer that unless this fearful situation is remedied in the near future, even the Alliance For Progress may find itself in a mainstream of negative emotional responses.

Where does the weakness lie? Cadwallier says in Chapter II "Pedal Adjustment and Proper Alignment of Handlebars" that listening skill has declined sharply due to the profusion of sounds.

Certainly, we can give him no less than whole-hearted support for this sensible observation.

How many times do we find ourselves breaking off a telephone conversation to imitate the siren of a fire engine racing past in the street? Even then, the siren might be overridden by the shouting of secretaries in the next office. Possible you lost track of everything and began making a noise like a mimeograph machine.

A close friend of ours in Chicago became so confused by the chaotic sounds of everyday living that he found himself unable to concentrate on any single noise. It drove him to desperation, as you can well imagine, and finally he began lying on the kitchen floor all night listening to the refrigerator with a stethoscope.

After several months he developed a singular talent for imitating the refrigerator motor and, unfortunately had it to such a degree of perfection that he froze to death on a bus one afternoon in August. A number of passengers near him contracted pneumonia.

Mexico like an adequate supply of noise and in many parts of the country, it is even quiet.

All of which demonstrates the urgent need for a federal program of Noise Listening Techniques, as Dr. Cadwallier factually suggests in Chapter VII "Tandem revisited," p. 1067, fifth paragraph beginning with "I..." etc.

A few daily exercises in focusing attention on one sound should go a long way toward helping Mexicans develop status as a World Listening Power.

Peggy Ann Garner Granted Divorce

S. NTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—She wanted to live in Hollywood, her husband preferred New York, actress Peggy Ann Garner testified.

A judge granted her a divorce Wednesday from actor Albert Salmi, 35, after Miss Garner, 31, testified the disagreement made her nervous and caused her physical distress.

The couple was married in 1956 in New York. They have no children.

DEMONSTRATION IS SCHEDULED

Cooking demonstrations featuring new and different uses for surplus commodities will be given Friday at the County Extension office at 1913 Twenty-seventh Street.

Miss Ruby Butts, County Home Demonstration Agent, will present the demonstrations at 9:30 in the morning and at 2:30 in the afternoon. The public is, of course, invited. However the demonstrations are especially planned to help those people to whom the Welfare Office is authorized to issue the surplus commodities.

It is hoped that through these demonstrations, more effective use of the foods can be had, and also that the foods prepared with the surplus commodities can be made more appetizing.

First Phase Of Crusade Is Successful

A successful advance gifts campaign has reportedly been completed by the Scurry County unit of the Cancer Crusade. Mr. and Mrs. Brid Boren were chairmen of the advance gifts division.

The Crusade is continuing, and solicitation of business firms is now underway. Cecil Boren is chairman of the business house collection effort.

The house-to-house drive when everyone will be given an opportunity to donate to the organization which has pledged itself to fight cancer until the battle is won, will begin on April 1. Mrs. Fred Kizer is chairman of this house-to-house division.

Woman Gets 10-Year Term

ABILENE (AP)—A jury recommended 10 years Wednesday after convicting Mrs. Dorothy Bone, 36, and mother of 7, of shooting her former boy friend to death at an abandoned air strip near Abilene.

Mrs. Bone's lawyer said he did not know whether the verdict would be appealed.

The jury deliberated for three hours about circumstances in the death of Isaac Duke Hogg, Abilene truck driver, whose bullet-riddled body was found at the air strip Aug. 18, 1962.

Mrs. Bone, of Dallas, who had wept during most of the trial, received the verdict calmly. But later she wept with her husband and three of her older children who sobbed around her in the courtroom.

The trial was interrupted Wednesday when Harris' widow, seated in the courtroom with her four small children, became hysterical. As she was being led out, she screamed "Take me out of here so they can lie all they want."

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

Mark another one up for Charlie Marler. Abilene Christian's amazingly through publicist - statistician. He more than lives up to his title of Sports Information Director of the school, and a recently published "Track Facts" brochure again emphasizes that fact.

The book has everything to make glad the hearts of track fans, featuring facts and figures ranging from the Olympic level to Texas high school track and field events. It contains a wealth of knowledge that embraces a large span of years, and is the perfect item to have on hand when the inevitable argument arises as to how fast such - and such ran so - and so in that year.

My only personal association with Marler was back in 1956 - 57 when we were both in two - three - fouring for our rich but eccentrically indebted uncle at Fort Carson, Colorado, and again in 1958. He impressed me then as being a person gifted with a quiet but highly effective brand of efficiency, and the aforementioned publication points up the fact.

Whatever you desire in the way of track and field records can probably be found in the edition. One current Snyder Tiger and some ex - Tigers are mentioned in the book. Senior Gail Reed is the present Bengal included in the listings. His 19.9 in the low hurdles was the seventh best mark in the event among schoolboys from over the state there.

The state here were the listings of the all - state high school teams, a new innovation instituted only in 1960 by the Texas Sports Writers Association. The teams which in each event are chosen without regard to school classification, with emphasis being on the most consistent leaders throughout the season rather than merely going along with those copying state championships.

Chris Crawford made the list in 1961 in both the 100 - yard dash and low hurdles, while a year earlier found Stanley Woolaver chosen in both the high and low hurdles.

Crawford holds the Class AAA meet record in the 100 - yard dash and a 2.6 effort established in 1961. Prior to that, Snyder's Rex Wilson - now a star on the Texas University track team - set existing 2.4 marks in the high hurdles with his 1.11 clocking in 1958.

Please tell us, Marcellus, just what went wrong. That Doug was still up at the fourth round going. You say "No predictions" in future fighting. But if you don't mind, could we have it in writing?

Boyer Leaves Impressive Marks Behind

DAYTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Tommy Boyer has finished his basketball career at Arkansas, leaving some records that may stand for a long time. The All-Southwest Conference star is the greatest free throw shooter ever to play college basketball. He had the best record over three years - 815 out of 933 for .873.

He had the highest free throw record of a college player in a single season - 125 of 134 for .933. He had the most consecutive free throws made by a major college player - 44 in the season just closed.

Boyer finished in a tie with Ron Bonham of Cincinnati at the free throw line this year, 147 of 161 for .913. If Bonham falls below that mark in NCAA tournament play, Boyer will be the first college player ever to lead that department nationally two years in a row.

All of these are Southwest Conference records plus his 1962 free throw average of .832 on 82 of 98.44 teams.

The Bengals will be getting back into the 4A swing of things Tuesday when they play host to Lubbock High in a single game. Two Tiger regulars are currently pounding away at better than a 300 clip. Sophomore catcher Kenny Gray is the batting leader with a .346 average and senior first baseman Kenny Wellborn is close behind with .324.

As a team, Snyder is hitting .265 after the nine games with 83 safeties in 268 platter appearances.

Rubin Roberts of the Baltimore Orioles has pitched a lifetime total of 35 shutouts, more than any other pitcher in the American League. But all of them were chalked up in the National League while he was with the Philadelphia Phils.

FOLLOWING UNPOPULAR DECISION OVER JONES

'No More Predictions' - C. Clay

By MURRAY ROSE Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Even in victory the Cassius Clay balloon was not punctured. The self-proclaimed "greatest heavyweight" is just human after all.

There were no knockouts, no knockdowns, no "total annihilation" and brass Cassius was lucky to get a thin, hastily booted decision in 10 rounds over hard-working Doug Jones of New York at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

At times Clay looked like a novice both at long range and inside. His bombs didn't explode. And he had to rally furiously in the final two rounds to capture the unanimous verdict.

As for Liston, Clay is no more ready for him this year than Floyd Patterson was in the second minute of his title debate last year. Yet the undaunted Clay said he wanted that "big, ugly bear" Liston within six months.

Clay showed me that. I'll get

Texas, Cincy Poised For Friday Clash

CINCINNATI (AP) - For the sixth straight year, Cincinnati's basketball team heads for Kansas and the NCAA Midwest regional where it will play tall and fast Texas in the opening round. It will be the first time for the two schools to ever meet on the basketball court.

Cincinnati, the Missouri Valley Conference champion, and Texas, kingpin of the Southwest Conference, clash at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Lawrence, Kan.

Big eight co-champion Colorado and independent Oklahoma City clash in the other first round game at 9 p.m.

While making it to the regionals may seem odd hat for the Bearcats, this particular journey looms as the most momentous for the nation's top-ranked team. Reason: it could be the beginning of a history-making third consecutive NCAA championship season.

Cincinnati leads the nation in defense with 51.9 points per game average.

Thirteen different trotters were timed in two minutes or better for the mile in America in 1962. Those over 3-year-olds were Su Mac Lad, an 8-year-old gelding, and Ordeal, an 11-year-old New Zealand mare.

To Play Or Not To Play The Question

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP) - Die-hard segregationists fighting to the last ditch got a court order Wednesday banning Mississippi State's basketball team from playing in the NCAA Tournament.

A source close to the State College Board indicated another court order—from another judge—may be forthcoming, dissolving the order banning Mississippi State's participation in the tournament.

The team was scheduled to fly today to East Lansing, Mich., and the Maroons' Friday night date with Loyola of Chicago.

Four of Loyola's starting five are Negroes. Chancery Court Judge L. B. Porter of Union granted the temporary injunction at the request of State Sen. Billy Mitta, an outspoken foe of Mississippi State's hopes of repealing the "unwritten law" prohibiting athletic competition with Negroes.

The fight produced the first boxing sellout—$104,942 gross gate—in the Garden in six years, and purses of about $80,000 for Clay and $75,000 for Jones including the closed circuit television.

"They came to see me whipped," Clay said. "They hated to see me keep winning. I hit Jones twice as much as he hit me. That's why they were upset."

Jones, almost a forgotten man in Clay's prelight buildup, said "I thought I won it no worse than 6-5-1. I don't think much of him. He never hurt me, and I know I hurt him at least a couple of times."

The 5-foot, 185-pound New Yorker came close to ending Clay's all-time winning record early in the first round, Clay holding his hands low as usual, leaned his head back as Jones came in and was nailed by a right to the jaw. Cassius wob-

DALLAS (AP) - Closed television showings of the fight over Doug Jones heavyweight fight in three Texas cities last night drew around 9,000 fans.

Most of them booed the decision that gave Clay the fight over Jones at New York's Madison Garden.

At Dallas one fighter got suspended and had his purse held up for his showing in a companion bout to the televised fight.

Sammy Carter, 136 of Wichita Falls, signaled that he was suspended - going down four times in the third round in a scheduled 6-round fight with Bedon Patton, 128, of Dallas.

In the other companion fight, Ronald Mackey, 143, of Dallas, knocked out Little Samson, 142, of Wichita Falls, in 1:25 of the third round.

A crowd of better than 3,000 turned out here.

At Houston there were 3,500 in city auditorium to watch the televised fight and also see four local bouts.

At San Antonio a crowd of 2,500 watched the televised fight and also saw unteamed fighters keep their records clear.

Notre Dame Coach Quits

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Joe Kubarchik's resignation as Notre Dame head football coach kicks off one of college football's all-time gussing games.

Kubarchik's resignation was announced by the university Wednesday and at the same time freshman coach Hugh Devore was named "interim coach for 1963."

As to Kubarchik's ultimate successor, that will be tossed around until possibly after the 1963 season and no name probably will be more prominent than that of Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State.

Kubarchik quit to take a job with the National Football League as supervisor of NFL officials, which is retiring at 66.

The 46-year-old Kubarchik, with four years to run on his present contract, had a 17-23 record at Notre Dame after succeeding Terry Brennan in 1958.

Devore, 52, has bounced around from Notre Dame to other colleges back to Notre Dame to professional coaching and again back to Notre Dame for 30 years. He also served as interim coach in 1945 and came up with a 7-1 record.

"Interim coach," that's exactly what it means," said Devore. "I have no designs on the main job. After all, I've been coaching for 30 years. I'm here to help out and Kubarchik suggested I take over. My job as freshman coach will not change."

Under Kubarchik, who formerly coached the Chicago Cardinals and Washington Redskins in the NFL, Notre Dame had a 5-5 record last year which was not too bad considering the Irish played one of the toughest schedules in the country.

Rice Names New Coach

HOUSTON (AP)—George Carlsie, an assistant since last August, was named head basketball coach today at Rice University.

Carlsie's succeeds Johnnie Frankie, who died early Tuesday.

Grandslammer Helps Aggies To 6-1 Win

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Bill Puckett's grand slam homer lacked the 7-hit pitching of Chuck McGuire and Richard Beller Wednesday and Texas A&M beat University of Dallas 6-1.

McGuire, who pitched five scoreless innings, got the decision.

Absent-Minded Professor Finds Himself in Demand

Probably ensnared somewhere in Joe Miller's Joke Book is a genre of jests that once was more common than those about the old Model T. But who, since World War II, has heard any jokes about the absent-minded professor?

Once the business and economic communities sat up rights, many factoring jokes about the absent-minded professor, a sort of bumping, white-collar stumbler, who would the clock and put out the clock who kissed the dog and patted his child on the head and who walked all the way to work with one foot in the gutter and was waddled what had happened to him so lame.

The jokes, like those about the Model T, weren't very good. But like those about Henry's baby, there was a new one every day. But the times have changed all that. Today the business and economic communities spend endless time and galleys reading the universities and colleges to snatch Ph.D.s who can tell them what moves the modern world go round. Both snatching is not just confined to graduates of engineering and science courses, but is equally vigorous in the groves of Academe.

The fact that there are no more stories about absent-minded professors came forcefully to mind the other day when an old friend, head of the Physics Department of a large and distinguished Midwestern college, came to town to attend board meetings of two of the largest corporations in the country.

"Here I'm a member of the board," he said and pulled two brand-new $100 bills from his pocket. "The fee for attending the meetings. When I leave here, I'll be on my way to a similar board meeting in St. Louis."

"I'm not any better or smarter than my father, who headed the Physics Department at this College in his day," my friend, the Ph.D. continued. And he was tempted to quit it."

My friend reminded me that the chancellor of his university, a renowned chemist, has his own private plane in which he flies to board meetings all over the country. He — the chancellor — is director of several large corporations and consultant for a half-dozen others. And there just aren't any absent-minded jokes to be wrung out of a professor who sits on the board of directors of vast industries and advises others.

"We all have button-down collars and ears to match," my friend said. "We look Brooks Brothers or better. And we don't go to class, or to board meetings wearing one black and one brown shoe in the classic tradition of the absent-minded professor. Our Oxfords are not only polished to a high gloss but may have been custom-made in the bargain."

Once the "practical" world of business may have scorned the head — a cloud collage print, but today the latter is the backbone of many an industry involved in the awesome techniques of missile production, radar and supersonic plane manufacture, space capsules, satellites and electronic brains.

Not only scientists, but economists, historians and specialists in government and history are in great demand by big business. As is well known, Harvard has taken a long-term lease on the Federal government, or vice versa.

"I hadn't thought about it before, but you're right — I haven't heard a joke about an absent-minded professor in years. My friend said, as he tucked his hundred-dollar bills back in his wallet, "They have gone the way of jokes about the Chic Sale and dialect stories. And besides that, you're too expensive now to be funny."

Junior Editors Quiz on PATRIOTS

QUESTION: Who were the Sons of Liberty?

ANSWER: Before the American Revolution, England tried to tax her prosperous colonies in order to support her armies. The colonists were forced to pay duties on needed imports such as sugar, coffee, cloth, and this made them angry. They felt if they were to be taxed, the money should go to their own governing bodies, instead of to England where they had no representatives in Parliament. The cry went up, "Taxation without representation is tyranny!" The crowning insult came with the Stamp Act of 1765. Stamps had to be purchased (1) and placed on all newspapers and legal documents (2), even on playing cards. Now the colonists were furious (3). In Virginia, Patrick Henry made a fiery address (4). Groups of citizens called the "Sons of Liberty" were organized in different colonies to keep the flame of protest alive. When British soldiers cut down a "Liberty Pole" set up by American patriots, they were attacked by a Sons of Liberty group. Later, another such group tossed a shipment of tea, on which the British had put a heavy duty, into the sea. Acts such as these emboldened the colonists to break treaty with England.

FOR YOU TO DO: In a later speech, delivered at Old St. John's Church in Richmond, Va., in 1775, Patrick Henry made a famous remark which resounded throughout America. Can you find out what it was?

Double-Talk Exercises Still Needed

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—There are people who always mean exactly what they say—and others who rarely say what they mean.

The first group usually are stay-at-homes. The second group can always be seen at the best parties.

If your social life is dragging, perhaps it is because you speak your mind too frankly. That usually frightens people away.

What you probably need is a little exercise in double-talk to pep up your conversational charm. Double-talk is the art of saying one thing about while silently thinking something usually just the opposite.

Here are some common examples:

"Rodney, I just love riding on the buddy seat of your motorcycle." When is this jerk going to grow up and buy himself an automobile?

"We'll be in a 15-minute delay in the start of flight 3047." We'll be lucky if we get it off the ground by tomorrow.

"Oh, Jennifer, how nice I haven't seen you in ages and ages." And if I had seen you first, I wouldn't be standing here now.

"No, I haven't been active in the stock market lately." It takes all my strength trying to raise money for the rent.

Just for the experience, Marge, why don't you let me take you to the new vegetarian restaurant everyone's talking about? Then I won't have to sit and watch you stuff yourself with steak at my expense.

"I want to be the first to congratulate you on your promotion, George. It certainly was well-deserved." Maybe now you'll get off my back and find somebody else in your work.

"I never feel this giddy on two martinis." Usually it takes me four or five.

"Won't you have some more roast beef, Oswald dear?" That means I want you to pass me a slice, you big oaf!

"Grace, that's the first passport photo I've ever seen that looked anything normal." Like a normal female chimpanzee, that is.

"Gee, Harold, when I'm out with you, the evening just seems to fly." On wings of lead, bubblehead.

"Now, sit right down on the sofa here and tell me all about your life. If there's anything I need, it's a good long nap."

Expert Would Modify Rule

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A law professor told the National District Attorney's Association that the "McNaghten Rule," now used to determine criminal insanity, should be modified.

Prof. Arthur M. Sherry of the University of California law school spoke at the group's convention Wednesday.

"If a defendant is so mentally disordered that he is unable to control his conduct, he is not responsible for his actions—regardless whether he knows right or wrong."

The McNaghten Rule provides that a person is sane if he knows his act is considered to be wrong.

"Too many offenders who are judged sane, tried, convicted and imprisoned are later unleashed on society to commit some other, perhaps more serious crime," Sherry said.

Defendants acquitted because of mental disorders should be committed to the department of corrections for custody, instead of being released, Sherry said.

Syria Regime Steps Up Its Red Manhunt
By ALEX EFTY
DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's new revolutionary regime is reported stepping up its Communist manhunt throughout the nation. Troops and military police are said to have rounded up nearly 100 Reds.
Informed sources said at least two members of the central committee of the Syrian Communist party were arrested along with Communist writers and other party activists.
Mustafa Amin, acting secretary-general of the central committee, was arrested soon after Friday's coup by pro-Nasser army officers. Also sought are Socialist party followers of the former U.A.R. vice president from Syria, Akram Hourani. Police arrested two of his aides, former Finance Minister Khalil Kallas and former Agrarian Minister Mustafa Hamdoun. Hourani was rumored to be in either under house arrest at Hama, in central Syria, or hospitalized at a reported 80 miles from Damascus, after being mangled by a mob.
The revolutionary council has strengthened heavily armed military guards at key points in Damascus and coupled an appeal for public cooperation with a promise to crush "any attempt to create dissension." It charged that "Communist and separatist" are trying to undermine Syria's new quest for Arab unity.
Damascus was quiet. Students whose pro-Nasser demonstrations were tolerated during the first days of the new government chanted their Arab union slogans Sunday.
About 50 soldiers with submachine guns and fixed bayonets patrolled outside the Turkish Embassy, where deposed Premier Khalid El Azem took refuge Friday. The embassy has been the target of several hostile demonstrations.
Taleb Hussein Shabib, Iraqi foreign minister, flew home from Cairo with Nasser's agreement for talks with Iraq and Syrian leaders. Informants said these are planned for mid-April.
The sources said the Nasser-Shabib talks concentrated on political and economic matters and no decision was made on Iraq's proposal for Syria, the U.A.R., Iraq and Yemen to form a joint military command.

Pershing Missile In Third Success
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A neoperational model of the Pershing artillery missile has logged its third straight test flight success.
The group 4 series missile was fired Wednesday night on a 150-mile flight. The mobile field weapon, which has a range of 400 miles, is scheduled for assignment with North Atlantic Treaty Organization troops in Western Europe within a few months. It will replace the more cumbersome Redstone.
Nearly 70 per cent of Italy is covered by mountains—the Alps and Dolomites in the north and the Apennines which run like a spine down to the south.

LOUISE BLANCHARD... outing with two-fold purpose.

CREATIVE COOKS

Jelly Made From Ordinary Cactus

By LUCY DYBART
Mrs. Art Blanchard is a busy mother of four active children who must combine the business of running a home and the pursuit of personal interests. This combination is carried out even on a routine family outing. Several years ago, on just such an excursion, the family became inquisitive about the usefulness of the prickly pears on the ordinary cactus.

Since they had just liquidated...
Louise attempted to construct a recipe for cactus jelly. Her recipe presented today is the one she perfected after several sessions of trial and error.

CACTUS JELLY

Pick two baskets of red prickly pears. Rinse and clean in water, but do not soak any longer than necessary. For the prickly pears use their color quickly. Use two cups prickly pear juice.

Kennedy Sets 3 Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will give three public speeches during his three-day visit to Costa Rica next week.

His first address—outside of remarks on arriving on Costa Rica Monday—will come later in the day at the opening session of his conference at San Jose with presidents of the six Central American republics.

The White House said the president intends to spend this week-end in San Jose, Costa Rica, before he flies from there Monday morning.

Herter Says France's Veto Has Complicated His Task

EDITORS NOTE—Christian A. Herter, U.S. trade negotiator, discusses in this exclusive interview the prospect for battering down foreign tariffs.

By STANLEY MEISLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Christian A. Herter, special U.S. trade negotiator, said today he does not feel that the significance of his new job was shifted by the recent French veto of Britain's entry into the Common Market.

"In some respects the veto enhanced the importance of the trade expansion program," Herter said in an interview. "It certainly complicated the matter."

Just how much the matter has been complicated may become clear in the next two months when international trade experts meet in Geneva. The Geneva talks may determine whether Herter, armed with the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, can help batter down foreign U.S. trade in the 1960s.

Some congressmen have introduced bills that would amend the Trade Expansion Act to get around the French veto. Herter said he would oppose such amendments.

Herter said he would negotiate to negotiate for the complete elimination of tariffs when the United States, the Common Market, and Britain together account for 80 per cent of the world's trade. "I've had some reservations about those amendments," Herter said. "If you open the whole trade expansion act up to amendments, God knows what will happen."

And, despite the French veto, Herter said, the program still gives him the power to negotiate with the Common Market and other countries to cut tariffs in half.

"But we don't know what the French attitude will be on these specific negotiations," he continued.

The Geneva meeting, he said, as he prepared to negotiate, Herter also faces pressures within the United States from groups seeking higher tariffs to protect American industries.

Herter said protectionist pressures have been growing greater as the Common Market has been increasing its own tariffs against American farm products.

As an example, he cited the case of frozen poultry. Common Market tariffs have almost eliminated the importation of U.S. frozen poultry. So American poultry farmers have demanded retaliatory action.

Under the Trade Expansion Act, the United States can combat what it considers an unreasonable foreign tariff by boosting an American tariff on goods coming from the offending country.

"Unless the tariff on frozen poultry is modified, we may have to take retaliatory action," Herter said.

"But it really doesn't help the poultry industry to take retaliatory action against some other product coming in to the United States."

Herter, who will be 60 in two weeks, can display a lifetime of laurels, as congressman, as governor of Massachusetts, as Secretary of state.

Now, as trade negotiator, he faces one of his most complicated and delicate tasks: Planning and negotiating tariff reductions amid uncertainty on whether Europe really wants them.

For this reason, Herter described the talks ahead as critical. A working party, including some Americans, goes to Geneva next week to set the agenda for a May 16-21 meeting of ministers from the 44 nations that have signed the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Herter will represent the United States at the ministers meeting where the U.S. plan to begin tariff negotiations in 1964 will be discussed.

he will have to attend the forthcoming meeting in Geneva on crutches.

Herter was examined by a team of physicians from Johns Hopkins University before President Eisenhower appointed him secretary of state in 1953. They decided then that the arthritis would not get worse.

"I feel the same now as I did then," Herter said.

Herter has served as a Republican through his long political career, but he says "I couldn't very well refuse" serving in a Democratic administration when President Kennedy asked him to take the job of trade negotiator.

"For one thing, I had been advocating such a trade program for some time. I testified in favor of it," he said.

"The President has been very generous and has allowed me to sit in on policy consultations. But since my job really is a technical one, I don't feel odd in a Democratic administration, although I know some of my Republican colleagues look at me with a jaundiced eye, particularly in Congress."

"But," he concluded, "they usually are the ones who never favored the Trade Expansion Act in the first place."

Panel Okays Proposal To Join Boards

By JACK KEEVER
AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally's proposal to combine the Game Commission with the Parks Board won approval Wednesday of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

It is now ready for debate on the Senate floor. The bill, by Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford, has passed the House 91-48.

Senate committee approval by voice vote followed three hours of testimony. Nine witnesses told the committee the merger would not work. Joseph Walsh of San Antonio Anglers said he favored it.

Two motions to postpone a hearing of the bill were defeated, both by 11-4 votes. Another by Sen. Criss Cole of Houston to send it to a subcommittee also lost.

Sen. Andrew Rogers of Childress called the measure a "grab for power."

"I have never seen such a grab for power," Rogers said. "and that's what this bill is. I don't like the idea of a king—I want a governor."

Ben Vaughn, Game Commission chairman from Corpus Christi, said "The commission has been in operation for 44 years. Let's be careful of making drastic changes."

M. P. Waddell of Baytown said the Bayshore-Rod, Reel and Gun Club unanimously opposes "the measure." "All we're doing is giving the Parks Board a new title," he said.

No problems are going to be solved and a lot created by this bill," said Raymond Heinrich, also of Baytown. "This bill accomplishes one thing: It gets rid of 15 men who are doing a good job."

The measure would install a three-man Parks and Wildlife Commission, named by the governor, in place of the nine-man Game Commission and the six-man Parks Board.

Giraffe Tangles Telephone Lines

CHESTER, England (AP)—A telephone pole in Chester Zoo is to be raised 4 feet because a giraffe named George kept getting on the line. For months the area had been plagued by a rash of wrong numbers. Wednesday George, who has an altitude of 18 feet, was spotted grabbing the telephone wires with his tongue and playfully letting them twang back. The wires tangled up. Telephone started ringing all over the place. They stopped when the wires unwound.
