SENATOR THOMAS B. LOVE ANNOUNCES FOR GOVERNOR

TAMMANY TO BECOME ISSUE IN NEXT RACE

Candidate Says Many Have Urged Him
to Run

BARRY MILLER
ONE OPPONENT

Prohibition Also Is
One of Strong
Planks

AUSTIN, July 3. (P)—Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas formally announced his candidacy for governor, subject to the 1930 Democratic primaries today.

"With malice toward none, and charity for all, I shall be a candidate for governor as an anti-Tammany Democrat," he said in a statement. "I have a message to carry to the people, and I know of no other way to do it."

"During the past few months, literally thousands of men and women in all sections of Texas, have expressed their desire that I become a candidate, and I feel the time has now come when my friends and my enemies as well, are entitled to know that I choose to run."

Senator Love was one of the Democrats who campaigned Texas for Herbert Hoover for president last fall. He condemned Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee, for his Tammany connections and anti-prohibition views.

Love is a former national Democratic committeeman from Texas and resigned his place to "scratch" the party ticket in Texas when Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was the nominee for governor.

He was a candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor in the Democratic primaries last summer and got into the run off with Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, also of Dallas. His name had been barred from the ballots in some counties because of his announced intention to scratch the Democratic presidential electors.

The state executive committee was considering removing his name from the run off ballots when Lieutenant Governor Miller requested it be placed there. Later, Love withdrew from the race.

Lieutenant Governor Miller likely will be one of Love's opponents in the 1930 race. He is generally considered a candidate for the governorship.

Courtesy Cards Given by Police Define City Laws

Motorists who are "tagged" by the police should not jump to conclusions—the cardboard may be of the courtesy variety.

The card used in connection with the new parking limitations is a polite warning for visitors. On one side it reads as follows: "This block is within the territory covered by the 2-hour parking limit ordinance and you have violated the law by leaving your car beyond this limit. . . . We assume you are not familiar with this ordinance and take this means of calling your attention to its requirements. . . . Please be careful in the future to observe this law and thus avoid an unpleasant duty to us and an inconvenience to yourself. . . . Thank you."

On the other side: "Please do not park your car in the center of any street, except after 1 a. m.; do not park your car behind other cars parked at curb; do not park on any sidewalk; do not attempt to pass any car at street intersections; do not make a left hand turn until after you have passed the center of the street; do not drive over any 'stop' sign without first bringing car to a complete stop; do not make a 'U' turn where 'no U' turn signs are placed; do not drive faster than 20 miles an hour."

DEATH TOLL OF FIRECRACKERS IS ALREADY BEGUN

CHICAGO, July 3. (P)—Premature celebration of American independence caused two Illinois deaths yesterday.

An exploding firecracker ignited the dress of Rose Tinich, 8, in Chicago, and she was burned to death. Lambert Skidmore, 74, died at Decatur from a brain concussion which doctors attributed to the explosion of a cannon cracker.

NEW YORK, July 3. (P)—Despite plans for a safe and sane celebration in the metropolitan area, one child was dead and four seriously injured by fireworks on the eve of Independence day.

Anna Voight, 10, died of a wound inflicted by a piece of metal fired from a blank cartridge pistol by a boy.

Two boys and two girls were severely burned by premature explosion of fireworks.

TELEPHONES IN GREAT DEMAND IN PAMPA AREA

With nearly every day setting a new peak in demands upon the equipment, the Pampa telephone exchange is resorting to emergency tactics in an effort to stem the flood of business.

A temporary, portable switchboard of four positions is being installed for long-distance work, and will be used until the main board can be enlarged. It is likely that experienced operators will be brought from some large Texas city, since the demands upon the toll lines are especially great.

It is expected that direct service to Shamrock and Canadian will be provided soon over new lines. Business from the Shamrock oil field is growing steadily.

Seventy-five requests for new telephones are on file in the local office. Most of them appear to be for permanent service. The telephone company is among the first business institutions to feel the rapid growth of this community, and its figures of service have almost doubled on the toll lines in the last two months. The new exchange, which was thought to be adequate for several years, is already being taxed to capacity.

Local Man Enjoys Trip by Airplane

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Blair arrived home by airplane yesterday evening from Salina, Kan., where Mrs. Blair has been visiting with relatives. Mr. Blair flew to Salina yesterday morning in the West Texas Air company's new Spartan biplane piloted by Bill Morris, and brought Mrs. Blair back to Pampa. Stops were made at Waynoka, Okla., and Wichita, Kan., on the return trip. It was Mrs. Blair's first trip by airplane, and she says that from now on she is an air fan.

"It was a wonderful trip, in a wonderful plane and piloted by the best pilot in the country," Mr. Blair told a News reporter this morning.

American Flag Is Older Than Many

(Written especially for NEA Service and Pampa Daily News.)

The American flag, which waves from every flagpole in the land on Independence day, is a very old flag, as such things go—older than the tricolor of France, for instance, or the flag of Germany.

But the stripes are older than the stars.

Delving into the early history of Old Glory is a fascinating task. Congress adopted the present flag—

GRAIN DUMPED UPON GROUND AT KINGSMILL

Car Shortage Reported

Many Grain Dealers

Wheat shipments from elevators at Pampa, Kingsmill, Hoover, Laketon, and Heaton passed the 150-car mark today, with an estimated movement of 283,000 bushels. With harvest just well started in this area, the figures appeared to bear out predictions of a record crop.

Wheat quotations here opened at 92 cents a bushel, but went to 94 cents just before the higher market in Chicago closed.

A shortage of grain cars was reported at Kingsmill and Hoover. At Kingsmill the Bela Grain company reported 38 carloads of wheat shipped and 20,000 bushels piled upon the ground. The elevator was filled to capacity.

The two Barnett elevators at Hoover today had shipped 45 carloads, the storage was full, and cars were awaited.

In Pampa, the Great West elevator had shipped ten carloads and was receiving an increased amount. Its Laketon elevator, recently completed, had shipped 30,000 bushels. No car shortage was reported.

Pampa Grain company had shipped 33 cars of wheat and 13 cars of barley. The elevator was full but cars were plentiful. Some delay was experienced in waiting for the switch engine.

The Martin-Lane Grain company had shipped 7 cars, and was facing necessity of unloading on the ground unless cars arrived.

The Stark & McMillen elevator had shipped 12 carloads up to today, and had plenty of cars.

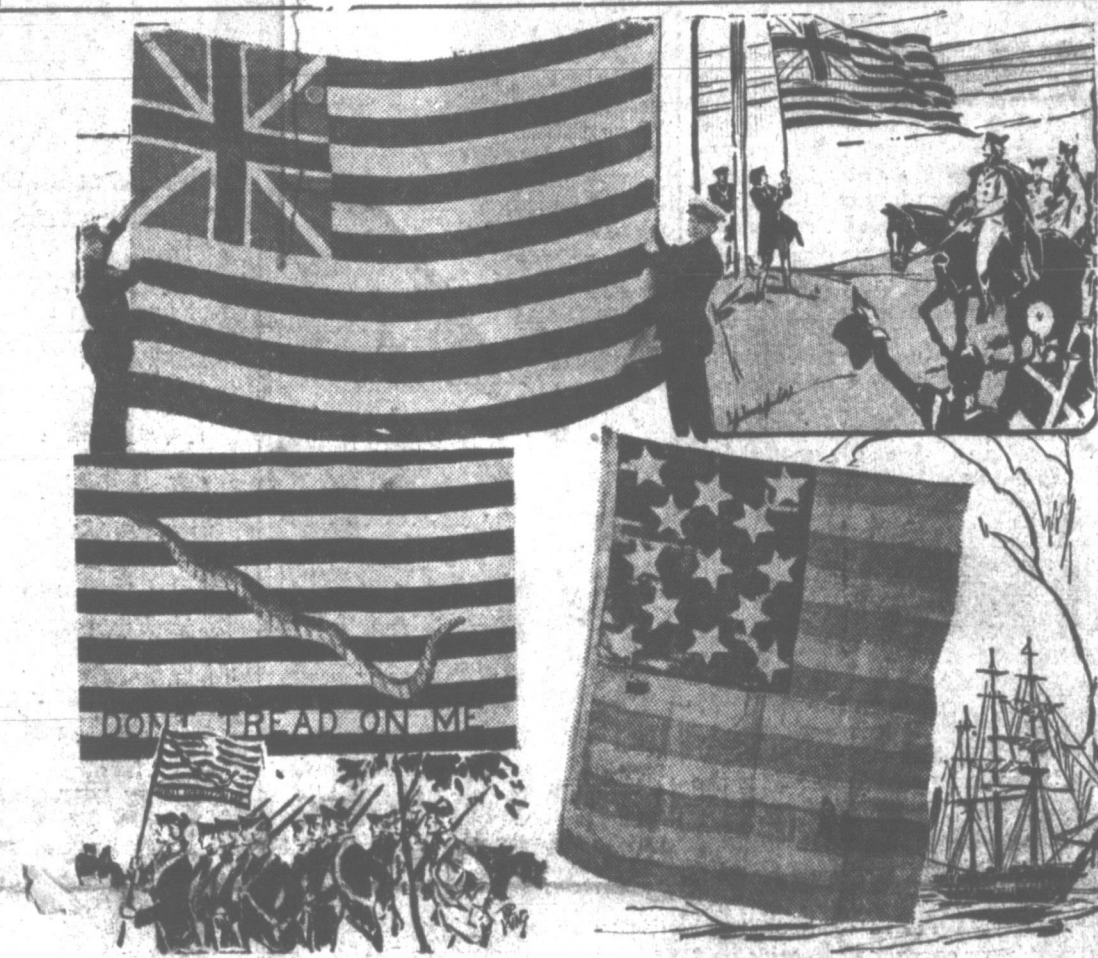

The McMurty Grain company, with elevators at Hoover, Heaton, Kingsmill, and Pampa, reported shipments of 27 carloads of wheat and 8 cars of barley. There were 35,000 bushels of wheat on hand. The only difficulty in obtaining cars was at Kingsmill. The Heaton elevator was full.

Case Will Build Wheeler School

WHEELER, July 3. (Special)—Work on a $20,000 Junior high school of brick and tile construction will begin at once, according to the contract recently awarded by the school board to H. L. Case, Pampa contractor.

The building, which is to be erected on the west end of the high school campus, will be 84 feet long by 70 feet wide. It will provide four classrooms, a large study hall, and a spacious entrance hall, in addition to ample corridors and modernly equipped locker rooms. It is expected that the building will be furnished before the beginning of the fall school term.

Two Firemen Are Killed in Houston; Several Injured

HOUSTON, July 3. (P)—Two firemen were killed and six others were injured, some seriously, late last night when two trucks, speeding to a fire in Kensington addition, were struck at different grade crossings by the same railroad train.

H. L. Oxford, 34, and E. H. Grant, 27, died shortly after the collisions.

Both smashups occurred at crossings of the Houston Belt and Terminal railroad.

E. Grant, 28, was injured fatally, and H. L. "Red" Oxford, 30; Captain Johnnie S. Little, 46; and R. T. Prewitt, 32, struck seriously when the tanker was struck by a Gulf Coast oil pump train. Little hope was held for the recovery of Oxford and Little. Both of Oxford's legs were severed at the knees, and Little suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

VENUE CHANGE MEANS TRIAL NEXT AUGUST

Opening Is Set for August 12 in Randall City

HUNG JURY IN OTHER ATTEMPT

Publicity Blamed for Failure of Jury to Agree

AMARILLO, July 3. (P)—The trial of Mrs. Levi P. Stallworth, charged with slaying Mrs. Grace Morrison of Plainview, today was ordered transferred to Canyon, Randall county. The Canyon court is to convene August 5, and the Stallworth case was set for August 12. A special venire of 200 will be called.

Judge Henry S. Bishop granted the venue change on grounds a fair trial could not be held here because of publicity given to a former trial in which the jury failed to agree.

At her first trial, Mrs. Stallworth testified her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. M. Stallworth of Fort Worth, had started down the street to take Mrs. Morrison to the police station when the shooting occurred. She said her home and her husband's affections were involved and she believed her life was in danger.

Youth Slain and Companion Hurt

HOUSTON, July 3. (P)—Buster Gauge, 22, was killed and his girl companion was critically wounded in a mysterious shooting at Morgan's Point late last night.

Miss Lillian Bissitt, 18, is at a hospital.

According to her statement to officers, a man approached their parked car and attempted to drag her from the car. Gauge registered the man's efforts and both he and the girl were shot.

A posse of county officers are looking for the slayer.

Whole Detroit Family Is Slain

DETROIT, July 3. (P)—Benjamin Evangelista, 43, his wife, Santina, 40, and their four children, were found slain in their home in St. Aubin avenue here shortly before noon today. All apparently were victims of an axe slayer. Evangelista's head was severed, and the heads of each of the others had been beaten in.

The children were Angeline, 8; Margaret, 6; Jean, 4, and Marrow, 18 months.

The body of Evangelista, known in the Italian neighborhood as a religious healer and a mystic, was found seated behind his desk on the first floor. His arms were folded across his chest. The others were found in the second-floor bedrooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith and two children of Winfield, Kans., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Pond. Mrs. Smith is Mrs. Pond's sister.

"It's Like This—"

HARVEST TIME is not what it used to be a "few good old days". It's improvement in method is comparable to other mechanical advances.

Not so many years ago the "header" was standard in this territory. It was pulled by horses, or pushed in a sense. The wheat-laden straw was carried up to barges which were drawn alongside the headers. Loaders in the barges kept the wheat tramped down and placed so as to obtain the largest load possible.

Wheat usually was stacked until it could be threshed. The men in the barges wielded pitch forks on hot July days, throwing the wheat on the stacks. Hot work that. The expert stackers had an art of their own. They had to place the wheat so that it would not fall or blow over. Topping the stack was important. Often wires were weighted on the ends and thrown over the tops to keep the straw in place.

The old time threshing machine was an institution. Ten to thirty men were required to operate it and the big steam engines which furnished motive power. Coal had to be hauled, and the water tank had to be refilled frequently. Threshing outfits were too expensive for the individual farmer, hence the wheat was stacked to wait the coming of the threshing crews.

Wheat harvest meant more to the women folk in the old days. Feeding the big crews was their problem. When hungry men made biscuits disappear by the score, cooking began in early morning and continued throughout the day. There was work for every member of the family big enough to walk. The boys drove wagons or carried water to the men. At noon, perhaps some of them would perch tree limbs at the tables to shoo off the flies.

The "combine", threshing the wheat as it cuts, has altered this picture. Now harvest is over in less than half the time, nearly every farmer has one of the machines, and the grain is marketed or stored by the time the last acre is cut.

Fast trucks have replaced the mule drawn grain wagons. The oldtime freighter, with his long whip, loud mouth, and thirst for something stronger than water to wash the dust from his parched throat, is a memory. Wheat farming now requires only rain and a little effort in planting and harvesting to complete its annual cycle. It is the "one crop" marvel of the fertile North Plains, and its chief drawback is that it will support so few persons to the acre.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON—Anyone who keeps an eye on the news out of Washington must be realizing that we are living in an age of propaganda and that there is worse and more of it from week to week.

President Herbert Hoover, however, seems to be one who doesn't altogether approve of it—at least as far as the federal government is concerned.

Within the last few days he has knocked out two very extensive propaganda plans. One of them he killed completely; upon the other he simply frowned sternly, but a presidential frown can be a withering blight, and this second plan is weak and pallid right now.

The government, of course, has been propagandizing for some time in one way or another, with the War and Navy Departments laying down the heaviest barrages; but the recent announcement that the Prohibition Bureau was going to spread propaganda in favor of prohibition in the public schools goes beyond them all.

A Widespread Program

Mr. Hoover lost very little time in coming down on this scheme with both feet. He put the clamps on it so effectively that even the pamphlets that were drawn up to aid in the good work are not to see the light of day. But, even though dead, the plan is worth examining, just as an instance of the extent of the propaganda machinery that could, under certain conditions, be put to work by Uncle Sam.

The Prohibition Bureau's educational campaign in the schools was by no means to have been limited to preaching the virtue of law observance and law enforcement. The bureau went so far as to outline methods by which to inject the propaganda into classes in arithmetic, English, history, drawing, current events and various other subjects, and all of this propaganda was designed to prove that prohibition was correct in theory and successful in operation.

Good or bad, this was certainly a drastic step for the government. Nothing like it had ever been proposed before. The navy and war departments have persistently tried to convince the public what fine things armies, navies and preparedness are, but attempting to prove to school children the wisdom of one specific law is, for the federal government, something new.

Had No Authority

There is, of course, no federal law under which the federal government could have made courses in prohibition compulsory. School children in most places are taught the desirability of law observance, and some states provide for teaching them the evils of alcohol; but no state law to date has provided that the young idea shall be impressed with the goodness or the badness of any given statute.

However, the scheme is thoroughly dead—killed by half a dozen words from the White House.

The other proposition was less formal and direct. It consisted of an appeal from the National Republic magazine or funds to combat "radicalism" and support the policies of President Hoover. This seemed to be something new, too, and it would be considerably funnier if some of the Republican leaders such as Chairman Work and Senator Watson of Indiana and Burton of Ohio hadn't been pictured as giving the movement their endorsement. The pretension was made that President Hoover himself was behind it but the White House promptly announced that he wasn't in sympathy with the drive.

The National Republic is a monthly magazine devoted to publishing patriotic, pro-administration propaganda and material apparently designed to prove that the country is in some danger of a communist revolution.

Panther Shift Is Sensation of Texas League

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Recovering from an exciting 24 hours in which they saw their winning, or losing, percentages shot out from under them, and the departure from their midst of one of the circuit's most popular figures, Texas league clubs buckled down today to grind out the second half of their 164-game schedule.

Of the two events which caused pandemonium to buzz, the dismissal of John Joseph Atz as pilot of the Fort Worth Cats and the appointment of Frank Snyder as his successor created by far the greater sensation. There had been a feeling all along there would be a split between club presidents to the contrary notwithstanding.

Atz, in his thirteenth season as the Panther boss, was considered a fixture in that time he had finished first six times, second twice, third three times and fourth once. Owners of the club gave him particular reason for the shift, except they thought a change would do the club good. Atz was given his salary until the close of the present season.

Opinion among baseball men was divided on the efficacy of the move. All agreed that Snyder's presence behind the bat and his prowess with the stick would strengthen the Cats. On the other hand, there are those who believe Atz is the most astute manager in the game.

The new Cat foreman lost no time in getting the feel of things. He donned the mask in his team's first game of the season, half against Dallas and got to see three of his pitchers toil as the Mavericks pounded out a 12 to 6 victory. It must have been far from reassuring to Frisco.

Shreveport, San Antonio, and Waco joined the Steers at the top of the column by virtue of victories yesterday. The Sports captured their thirteenth in a row at the expense of Wichita Falls, 3 to 1; San Antonio edged out Houston with a two-run rally in the ninth, 5 to 3; and Waco subdued Beaumont, 7 to 5, with a barrage of home runs.

Cards' Position More Critical—Lose to Pirates

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The situation of the Cardinals is becoming more alarming every day but at the current writing it appears there is not even a situation in the American league, the Athletics wlaying the Senators at will to maintain their already propitious lead.

The champions of John Heydler's circuit dropped their sixth straight yesterday when the ambitious Pirates won 5 to 3 at Forbes field. The Cubs held the pace by shading the Reds in Chicago, 5 to 4, in 11 innings. By way of focusing a bit of attention on the American league, the Athletics slammed the Senators 7 to 4 and 4 to 1, gaining half a game on the Yankees, who nosed out the Red Sox, 4 to 3, in 10 innings.

The defeat of the Cardinals ran Billy Southworth's losing streak to twelve games in the last 14. The Cubs, the Pirates and the Giants are slowly but surely leaving the league champions behind and even the second-division yawns if the Cardinals cannot check their descent.

The Cubs remained half a game ahead of the Pirates, and increased their margin over the Giants to four full contests. The New Yorkers took the first game of a doubleheader at Boston by 6 to 3 as Melvin Ott hit his twenty-third homer, but the Braves claimed the second, 3 to 2. The Phillies and the Robins got the afternoon off.

By overpowering the Senators in the first game and outpointing them with more finesse on Jimmy Fox's fifteenth homer in the second, the Athletics extended their mastery of the Washingtonians to 15 games in 17 starts this season. The Macks incidentally stretched their lead over the Yankees and the Browns to nine and one-half games.

The Tigers slugged the Browns, 10 to 4. The Yankees thus climbed back into second place by a percentage margin, although virtually tied with the Browns. The Indians won two extra-inning games from the White Sox in Cleveland, 4 to 3, in 10 innings and 5 to 4 in 11 innings.

A swimming party and picnic supper at Clarendon Country club, last evening, was enjoyed by a local party which included the following: Mrs. Kate Miller, Mrs. Clifford Braly, Miss VeLora Reed, Miss Willette Cole, Miss Fannie Florence Sims, Clifford Braly, Jr., Tom Braly, and Harry Walker.

R. G. Allen will leave tomorrow on a business trip to Austin.

Schmeling Is Not Likely to Battle Sharkey at Once

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—Heimend about by a plethora of managers, Max Schmeling appears destined to starve in the midst of plenty.

Just when the German heavyweight's stock has gone sky-high because of his victory over Paulino Uzcudun, Schmeling's feud with his one-time manager, Arthur Buelow, has reared its head again to threaten not only Herr Max's peace of mind but his ring earnings as well.

With the Paulino-Schmeling fight out of the way and charity the richer therefor, the New York state athletic commission has decreed that Schmeling now must fulfill a contract signed by Buelow with Humbert Fugazy to fight Phil Scott of England at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, August 7.

Schmeling has said time and again he never would go through with any match arranged by Buelow. Rather he said, he would return to Germany and await for his contract with Buelow to expire in October of 1930. The German may reconsider that statement when it is pointed out to him he now is riding the crest of the wave. A fickle fight public probably would have another heavyweight hero to worship by that time.

Whatever the German decides to do, it seems Madison Square Garden's plans for a bout between Schmeling and Jack Sharkey were in September must be abandoned. Sharkey is bound to the Garden until July 15 when an opponent for the September bout must be named.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Pond returned last night from Wellington, Kans. Mrs. Pond had spent two weeks there and in Winfield. Mr. Pond joined her in Wellington Sunday for a brief visit with his parents.

CHEVROLET STOLEN

A 1928 Chevrolet coupe owned by J. T. Havis was stolen from in front of the Little hotel sometime last night. The loss was reported to the sheriff's department this morning and notices sent out. The license number was 125-432.

Holiday Note Is Featured in Entre Nous Club Party

Appointments featuring the patriotic color theme and suggestions of July 4 celebrations combined to create a gay holiday setting for bridge games at a party given last evening by Mrs. C. E. Hutchins and Mrs. S. A. Burns, at the former's home on Francis street, for members of Entre Nous club and their husbands.

Festoons of red, white, and blue crepe paper draped the walls of the entertaining suite. Clusters of Roman candles tied with tri-colored streamers standing on the colonades, and firecrackers scattered around the room gave stress to the decorative theme. An ice course served at the conclusion of the games also was red, white, and blue.

The following members and guests were players: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. West, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Hollenbeck, the hostesses and their husbands.

Mrs. Hickman, playing high for Entre Nous members, received a candy bowl. High score favor for men was a tobacco jar, which went to Mr. Berry. Low club score was made by Mrs. Hollenbeck, who received a jar of bath crystals. Mrs. West and Mr. Burns received the other consolations, a vase and an ash tray, respectively.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH

And still they come to the altar in the evangelistic meeting being conducted at the Assembly of God Church. Last night's message on "If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again?" delivered by Mrs. Maude Malcom, caused many to realize that though they "lie on this earth, still they shall be resurrected and live again, either in Heaven or hell.

No one wanted to live in hell, but some could not pay the price for a home in Heaven by coming to the altar. Others came willingly, giving up all that they might spend eternally with God.

Tonight W. V. Malcom will bring a message on "Come Out From Under Your Bondage." There will be no service tomorrow night, but we will meet again on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights, with the meeting closing Sunday night.—Contributed.

How to Place Mental Patients Legion Problem

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3. (Special)—A more serious situation confronts the mentally ill veterans of the World war than was realized last winter when congress failed to pass a bill authorizing additional hospital construction, according to reports received by the American Legion, working in conjunction with state authorities and the veterans' bureau to determine the acute need of more beds. The situation in Texas is taken at random from the many reports received.

Statements received from R. B. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control having jurisdiction of state hospitals in Texas; J. C. Anderson, M. D., state health officer of Texas, and Ross R. Cole, Texas department adjutant of the Legion, tell of badly over-crowded conditions in the Texas state institutions which are attempting to care for mentally ill veterans who are unable to obtain government treatment because of a lack of beds in government hospitals.

"Most physicians will agree that we have fully 20 per cent too many patients, considering the facilities for treatment," Chairman Walthall says. "The state institutions are fearfully over-crowded, but we have made a practice of admitting all ex-service men where they could not be gotten into a federal hospital. A new survey is now being made but I am sure there are several hundred ex-service men in the state hospitals. We feel that these men should be in a federal hospital, but as long as we cannot get them admitted we are taking care of them."

Adjutant Cole says that the state institution at Austin was built to handle from 1,600 to 1,800 patients and there are now 2,300 being taken care of therein the best way they can under the circumstances.

"The same applies to the other four institutions of the same nature in Texas," he says. "At Austin there are only four physicians to take care of the 2,300 patients and 300 employees. I am reliably informed it is impossible to care for the physical condition of these patients except in a half-way manner, without any hope to do much toward curing the mental condition. Texas must have a government neuropsychiatric hospital of not less than 300 beds in the next appropriation bill to care for our mentally disabled vet-and bounds. The situation in Texas is similar to that in other states. The World War Veterans' act, 1924, as amended, in section 2021, Par. 10, provides for the treatment in government hospitals of all mentally ill veterans regardless of whether the illness can be traced to some phase of his war service, but no beds are available in the government hospitals.

Kellerman died in a local hospital a few hours after receiving fatal head injuries.

RAMSEY CASE REVERSED

TULSA, Okla., July 3. (AP)—John Tillman, Pawhuska attorney, announced today the conviction of John Ramsey, cowboy-farmer, for the murder of Henry Roan, one of a series of mysterious slayings of Osage Indians, had been reversed by the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Paul.

AMERICAN FLAG

necessity for ships at sea than for troops on land, who could usually easily recognize the nationality of any forces they encountered. So, in 1775 and 1776, we find American warships and privateers hoisting the famous rattlesnake flag—a flag of 13 alternate red and white stripes with a rattlesnake across them, bearing the words, "Don't tread on me."

Probably the first use of stars in the American flag was also at sea. Late in 1775 the armored American schooner, Lee, hoisted a white flag which had an anchor and the word "Hope" in the middle with 13 stars in the union, in the upper left corner. Flying this flag, the Lee captured the British transport brig, Nancy, thus carrying the starred flag into action for the first time. Later this flag was carried by colonial detachments at Brandywine, Trenton and Yorktown.

This grand union flag was a direct descendant of the British ensign; and it shows, incidentally, that at that time the colonists still desired to remain in the British empire, if they could get parliamentary representation.

In the upper left corner it bore the British union—the crosses that symbolize the union of Scotland and England, but the remainder of the flag was composed of 13 horizontal red and white stripes, representing the 13 colonies.

There remained, however, a large number of kinds of flags in service; and since these often caused confusion at sea, congress was earnestly asked to adopt one uniform flag. Accordingly, on June 14, 1777, congress passed this resolution:

"Resolved, that the flag of the 13 United States shall be 13 stripes alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

This flag, it is to be noted, was an easy transition from the grand union flag. All that had to be done was substitute the field of stars for the British cross in the upper left corner of the ensign.

The position of the stars in the field often varied with the taste of each individual. Betsy Ross, it is said, arranged the stars in each flag she made in accordance of the wishes of the persons for whom she was making the flags.

One of the most interesting American flags in existence is one flown by the famous old frigate, Constitution. It has its 13 stars arranged in a circle, with one star in the center and four stars outside the circle in the corners of the union.

In 1795 Kentucky and Vermont were admitted to the Union, and the flag was then revised to contain 15 stars and 15 stripes; and it was this flag that flew over Fort McHenry during the British attack on Baltimore and inspired the writing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

In 1812, however, it was seen that a new stripe could not possibly be added for every new state, so Capt. Samuel Reid of the navy, a hero of the war of 1812, was asked to design a flag. He designed the flag now in use—13 stripes, representing the original 13 colonies, and a star in the union for every state.

The last stars were added by President Taft when Arizona and New Mexico were admitted to the union. The 6 stars in the present flag, incidentally, were arranged in the order in which we see them by Admiral Dewey, hero of Manila bay.
