United Fund Halfway To Goal

The Aransas County United Fund has raised $9,500 to date, or approximately one-half of its goal for 1979, it was announced Monday by Mrs. Lois Gurley, secretary for this year's campaign which hopes to raise $18,500.

Both local banks have led the way in contributions by having 100 percent employee participation at both institutions, along with the local Texas Highway Department who also had total participation.

Upholding a tradition of many years, the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) was the first social organization to report all its members contributing to the United Fund.

Don Meek and Don Wren, co-chairmen of the drive, announced that letters are now being sent to business and individuals who have given their support in the past. The local Girl Scouts, one of the thirteen agencies who receive support from the United Fund, are assisting in the mailing of the letters.

Meek and Wren are asking everyone to dig a little deeper into their pockets this year so that the Fund goal can be met quickly and the money disbursed to the agencies who benefit from it.

Also this year, donations can be designated to go to a particular agency of the donor's choice.

The thirteen civic and charitable organizations who get support from the United Fund are: The ABC Learning Center, The American Red Cross, The Aransas County Emergency Corps., The Aransas County Youth Council, The Boy Scouts, The Coastal Bend Association on Mental Health, The Council on Aging, Family Counseling Service, The Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Gonzales Warm Springs Rehabilitation Center, The U.S.O., and the Aransas County Medical Service.

Deadline Announced For Disaster Loans

Victims of the September floods in Aransas County have only until the close of business on November 26 to submit applications for an SBA physical disaster loan.

The announcement comes from Bob Rife, disaster branch manager for the Small Business Administration (SBA), who added that farmers who suffered crop loss "should not wait for ASCS Crop Loss Verification to submit their applications."

"The crop Verification

Form can be submitted after the deadline," he emphasized.

He also added, "Late filers should be sure to include copies of the deed or mortgage for their damaged property." They should also submit previous years' Federal Income Tax records or other proof of income, such as a W-2 Form, he said.

To date, April, July and September flood victims have submitted 7,634 applications for loan assistance, Rife said. "Of these," he said, "5,759 have been approved for a total loan commitment of $57.5 million."

"Our workload has been exceptionally large," he continued, "and we have been on a six-day workweek since July in an attempt to process the loans as soon as possible."

"An application filled out properly and accompanied with proper documentation can certainly expedite the processing procedure," he emphasized.

"With this cooperation from the applicants, hopefully everyone will hear good news from us before Christmas."

Affected counties in addition to Aransas include Bee, Brazoria, Chambers, Fort Bend, Galveston, Harris, Jackson and Jim Wells.

Also Kleberg, Liberty, Live Oak, Matagorda, Montgomery, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio, Waller, Wharton and Calhoun.

Area residents who want more information or an application may write to P.O. Box 9253, Corpus Christi, Texas 78408, or call (512) 888-3331.

City, County, State Try To Help With Rodent Problems

Eddie Bradley, Rats, mice and other rodents can be real problems for people in this area, and various local and state organizations are trying to aid in the fight.

Rhonda Liles, of the Texas Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service, presented programs at the Aransas County Courthouse and at the junior high school last week.

Ms. Liles, who is based in Corpus Christi, said her organization is designed to help with mammals which do damage to people's food, water or shelter; this can include your house, yard, crops, etc.

The roof rat and house mouse are the main rodents that affect man in this area, according to Ms. Liles. The Norway rat is here also, but not to the extent of the other two.

All three are foreign imports, she said, and have found it much better to compete with man for food, water and shelter than with field mice and other home-grown varieties. Consequently, these rodents tend to gravitate to places where man lives or works.

Roof rats like attics, the tops of trees, thick ivy on the sides of buildings and other places like that. Just because they have moved into your attic, though, doesn't mean that they are stealing from your cookie jar.

Roof rats have a broad territorial range and will often forage outside the home or dwelling they are occupying.

Well then, what damage do they do, you may ask. Many times, you can detect the presence of roof rats by hearing a gnawing sound in the walls or attic. They are not feeding, they are simply chewing to wear down their always-growing teeth. Some consolation huh?

This tendency to gnaw causes many problems. Ms.

Liles said that, according to some insurance companies, rats cause 20-25 percent of the fires that come about by "undetermined origin;" they do this by biting through electrical wiring.

The house mouse has a much smaller territorial range than do rats. It lives closer to the food supply, so if it is getting food from your kitchen, the chances are good that the mouse stays in a wall or hiding place not far away.

The two main ways of sented with gifts from various merchants including the Shell Shoppe and the Moonshell. The itinerary for them will include a "shrimp peel and beer bust" at the Village Inn Motel followed by dinner at Charlotte Plummer's.

Shrimp are being provided by Jackson Seafood and the Seafood Producers' Association, and Lettie's Package Stores, Rockport Discount Liquor and Shep's Package Store are providing liquid refreshments.

You Can Fight Fatigue

By REV. W. LEE
TRUMAN
Copley News Service

This is to be certain that you are in top shape, and knowing this in itself can give you a boost.

Since you use your vision and hearing more than any other senses, be sure that you have no hidden defect.

Check your posture and appearance.

Voice is also an index to fatigue. Firm, clear speech keeps you ready for action.

You concentrate better with greater savings in energy if you plan what you have to do and when. But make your plans flexible and varied — boredom tires
you, too.

Then learn to set your goals. A sense of achievement erases tiredness, so mark your aims clearly.

Find immediate goals and finish the tasks at hand. An intermediate goal of gaining skill and experience to achieve, and an ultimate goal of success in your field that transcends personal reward, gives meaning to your life and living.

The truth of the matter is that the most effective weapon known against fatigue is the simplest — your sense of humor.

What is now known about fatigue is this: When you get tired, it is your brain and not your body that says, "I have had enough." There are two definite, but different, signals which can flash
the tired sign in your brain:

One is the chemicals in your bloodstream, which are the waste products of exertion. This causes the healthy tiredness you feel when you have been involved in hard physical work.

The other signal is emotional. This is the cause of the nervous fatigue that overcomes you even when you have done little or no
work.

Both kinds of fatigue were designed by nature to serve a very useful purpose.
Sometimes the signals are not accurate and have to be reset and this, as it turns out, is not all that difficult to do.

First, check your health.

Theme of the tree is "Silent Night". The Concern Center and the Council on Aging will work together on this project.

George McCague announced that there will be a second Defensive Driving Course offered in the early part of February. A definite date, time, and location will be given later. Mr. McCague recommended early registration as the class is limited to 35 persons.

The slate of officers for 1980 was presented to members by Frank Skrobarcek, membership chairman, at the November 14 business meeting, and new officers were officially elected for 1980.

Mrs. Pat Works, Assistant State Director for District 7 South, has just returned from an Area Leadership Meeting of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons at the Emerald Beach Holiday Inn, Corpus Christi.

Sessions featured discussions on Community Participation/Service, Crime Prevention, Defensive Driving, Tax-Aide, Widowed Persons Service, Joint Legislative Committee Work, Publications, and the "How To's" of Unit and Chapter organization.

Some 180 NRTA and AARP Volunteer Leaders from the five-state Area VII of Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas attended the meeting. These State and Area Leaders attended joint sessions to discuss issues as the Health Care for All Americans Act in addition to their own NRTA and AARP sessions.

J. Leonard Johnson, President of the National AARP congratulated AARP Rockport Chapter 1536 on the renewal of its Charter for three years after passing a Triennial Review with flying colors. He mentioned in particular the spirit and the purpose of our organization.

A Thanksgiving luncheon will be held Wednesday, November 28, at 11 at the Paws and Taws Building. Turkey, dressing, and gravy will be furnished by the chapter. Members are asked to bring a salad, vegetable or a dessert.

Wednesday, December 12, is the date of the AARP Chapter 1536 Annual Christmas party at 10:30.

The 10:30 time is for this affair only. All meetings on the second Wednesday of each month will be at 10 preceded by coffee, punch, and cookies at 9:30.

This Christmas Party is the only meeting that the American Association of Retired Persons Rockport Chapter 1536 will have in December.

The new officers for 1980 will be formally installed at the Annual Christmas Party. Gifts will be exchanged and a buffet luncheon will be served at noon.

The Rockport-Fulton High School Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Martha Luigi, will entertain members and guests during the luncheon.

Collins Says 'Oil Decision Correct'

WASHINGTON — Calling President Carter's move to cut off oil imports from Iran the "right decision," Congressman Jim Collins of Texas said that America must act quickly toward a policy of energy self-sufficiency.

"There will be a lead time of about seven weeks before the cut off of Iranian crude is felt by the consumers here. We should have an alternative energy policy decided upon before Congress adjourns December 14," Collins said.

Collins, a member of the Energy and Power Subcommittee, noted that America should explore the possibilities of secondary and tertiary recovery methods to increase domestic production and reduce U.S. dependence on foreign oil.

"We have only recovered about 30 percent of the oil from our fields. With secondary and tertiary recovery methods we could remove about 30-35 percent more from our existing fields.

"However, enhanced recovery methods, such as water-flooding, steam and chemical injections, are expensive techniques. If we paid $20 to $22 a barrel, secondary and tertiary recovery would be feasible; but the average price paid to domestic producers today is $11 a barrel. We are paying OPEC $24 a barrel," Collins noted.

According to the Texas congressman, only by increasing domestic production and reducing the unfavorable balance of trade will America be able to slow down the 14 percent inflation rate, shore up the value of the dollar and stop the tremendous flow of American dollars going overseas.

"What people do not seem to realize is that only six years ago we were importing $3 billion of oil. This year it will be $60 billion and next year $70 billion. You simply cannot have a stable economy when you are sending so much of your money out of the country.

"Americans will have to sacrifice and conserve when it comes to energy. We must also become self-sufficient so we will not be susceptible to oil blackmail," Collins said.

Methodist Bazaar Successful

The November 14 "Christmas Treasures" Bazaar at Rockport's First United Methodist Church was very successful, say the ladies of the church who sponsored it.

Vi Street, general chairman of the event, said profits will be used for various projects of the women's organization of the church.

M. Corbett Jr. of 57 Curlew, Rockport, was chosen by Las Donas da la Corte, the organization that sponsors the annual Pageant in Corpus Christi.

The event is scheduled for May 1, 1980, in the Memorial Coliseum. Theme of the event is "Court of the Living Seas." The Buccaneer Days celebration will climax in an illuminated parade on Saturday, May 3.

A former student in the Raymondville and Aransas County school systems, Miss Corbett is presently attending Texas Tech University. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority.

The Buccaneer Days celebration has been an annual event in Corpus Christi since 1954.

Key Allegro Club Members Plan Holiday Decorations

Christmas decorating ideas, the December 14 Christmas Party and the Key Allegro Mailbox Decorating Contest were discussed at the Monday, November 19, meeting of the Key Allegro Garden Club.

Five new members joined the organization during the meeting that began at 10 a.m., bringing the club's membership to 73.

Joan Alley presented the program on mail box decorating, giving pointers to members who might wish to enter the mailbox decorating contest being sponsored by the club.

The contest is open to all Key Allegro residents, with the only requirement being that they must register to enter.

Registration must be made by December 14. Judging will be December 19 with prizes awarded in two categories: Whimsical and Traditional.

Baby Bundles

Bill and Bobbie Mills of Fulton proudly announce the birth of their daughter, Brandi Ann Mills. Brandi was born in Spohn Hospital on Tuesday, November 13 at 2:02 a.m.

The maternal grandparent is Annie Cox of Fulton and the paternal grandparent is Ruth Mills of San Antonio.

Loreane Collins of Fulton is the maternal great grandparent and the paternal great grandparents are Frances Horn of Lubbock and Nina Moyer of Plainview.

Anyone wishing to enter may do so by calling Mary Louise Smith or Gen Bailey.

Several club members, including Geneva Travis, Donita Lilly and Pat Evers, shared their Christmas decorating ideas with members.

These included a nautical-looking wreath made with rope and fish net and a "candy-cane" countdown to help children get through the days until Christmas.

Mrs. Travis showed the group Christmas trees, one cut from plywood and decorated with cutouts from Christmas cards that are shellaced onto the plywood surface.

The other tree was cut from cardboard and covered with foil. Pie tins -- such as those pot pies come in -- are then glued or stapled to the foil and cranberries are glued inside the tins. The spaces between the pie tins are then filled in with real or artificial "greenery" (Mrs. Travis used juniper).

Addie Schumacher explained how living trees, either potted or planted in the yard, can be used as Christmas trees instead of the cut variety. She also gave club members tips on what evergreens can be expected to thrive in this area.

Mrs. Travis volunteered to chair the committee in charge of decorating the Key Allegro club's tree in the "Christmas Tree Forest" sponsored by Rockport's Chamber of Commerce.

Jackie Vetsch will do lettering for the club's sign, and Betty Walters has volunteered to furnish the tree.

Club members were told tickets are on sale for the club's "Old-Fashioned Christmas Party" on December 14 from 7 to 10:30 p.m. The party will be at Allegro House and all Islanders are invited, along with their guests.

T.E.L. Class Sponsors Luncheon

Evelyn Champion won the prize, an autumn corsage, in a traveling gift game played during a meeting of the T. E. L. Class, ladies of Rockport's First Baptist Church Tuesday, November 13.

The meeting, a covered dish luncheon, was in the church's Fellowship Hall and was attended by 17 members and four guests.

Social Chairman Polly Rogers carried out the Thanksgiving theme in table decorations, with cornucopias and yellow placemats and napkins. Autumn arrangements were used throughout the dining area.

President Mary Godde presided over the business meeting which opened with the theme song, "Jesus Never Fails." Arla Stephens gave the closing devotional, a reading of the 67th chapter of Psalms.

Other members attending were Evelyn Townsend, Ruby Clinkscales, Flora J. Davis, Marie Kuykendall, Viola Ferguson, Sheila Roach, Lucy Scales, Ann Johnson, Helen Peterson, Elva McKenzie, Tiney Gayle, Gladise Thompson, Winnie Keith and Evelyn Champion.

Guests were Roy Kuykendall, Helen Ohmes, Nell Reid and Sandy Von Huevel. The organization will have its Christmas luncheon at noon, December 11. Members' husbands are invited.

Lamar Women's Club Members View Stained Glass Demonstration

The Lamar Women's Club members held their business meeting November 14, highlighted by a presentation by Cathy McInturff and Mary Alice Taylor who demonstrated stained glass creations.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Jewel Greeson, Mrs. Gladys Krenek, and Mrs. Agnes Roberts.

The tables were decorated with a cornucopia of fresh fruit at the head table, and miniature turkeys at the individual place settings.

President Donna Nugent led the business meeting, which was followed by the demonstration by Mrs. McInturff and Mrs. Taylor.

Members present at the meeting included Mesdames W.E. Blackshare, W.A. Brownlee, Weldon Cabaniss, C.G. Cook, S.D. Deason, George Driffel, J.B. Greeson, W.D. Held-enfelds, Paul Jackson, George James, and Edmund Krenek.

Cross Country 5th In Regional

The RFHS Pirate cross country team travelled to San Marcos last Saturday and came away with fifth place in the Regional Meet. Since the event covered all schools in Class 3-A on down, in an area from Brownsville to Del Rio and around to Austin, that was a fine accomplishment.

There were 250 runners in the contest, and the Pirates finished 18-David Ramirez, 20-Miguel Contreras, 24-Raul Castro, 34-

Peter Booth, 81-David Corpus, 89-Damaso Galvan and 106-Clyde Barre.

The winning time for the two-mile run was nine minutes, 53 seconds. David Ramirez ran his best race of the year in leading the team against their regional rivals. Even though the Pirates did not make it to the state competition, they certainly represented the school well on what turned out to be a bleak, rainy day in San Marcos.

Lady Pirates Win Thriller

The R-FHS Lady Pirates journeyed to Ingleside for their first basketball game of the season Monday night and came away with an exciting 36-35 overtime victory.

At the end of regulation play, the game was dead even, 28-28. But in the overtime, the Lady Pirates came out on top.

Alma Mendiola was high point person for the locals with 15 points. Others who helped the cause were Genny Mundine, 8 points; Belinda Cross, 7 points; Kelli Ondrej, 3 points; and Jean Flanagan, 3 points.

The JV also came home winners, by the score of 28-21. Kim Foltik, who plays wing, led the way with 17 points.

The Freshman team lost a tough one, 27-18. High point person for the Lady Pirates was Cindy Hutchinson with 9.

The next outing for the girls is Tuesday night, November 27, at Taft.

Pirates Bounce Warriors, 38-22

By Bob Crawford

For years there has been a saying about football being a game of inches, but Friday night at Tuloso-Midway the game was a game of bounces as the Pirates used the inside kick to sprint out ahead of the Tuloso-Midway Warriors on their way to a 38-22 victory.

From the opening kickoff, the Pirates seemed to have their minds made up to try to keep the ball out of the grasp of the powerful Warrior offense by trying a gamble of an inside kick. As the Warrior blockers fell back to block for a supposed deep kickoff, the ball was tricked by David Williams just across mid-field. Even at that, the Pirates failed to jump on the ball before it went out of bounds, and Tuloso-Midway took possession on their own 48 yard line.

Another thing became evident -- the Pirates were going to play tough defense. As the Warriors tried their power game, Pirate tacklers led by linebackers Larry Sammons and Gary Ondrej strung out the attempts until enough team members came in to secure the ball carrier. The Warriors had to punt, and the Pirates were on the good end of a short punt to the Pirates 28 yard line.

After trying a long pass on first down, the Pirates got a 43-yard gallop out of Michael Simmons down to the Warrior 29 yard line. Once he rounded the corner, Simmons was off to the races, and only a deep safety was able to flag him down.

The Pirates nipped at the yardage on the remainder of the drive until Ernest Gonzales, returning to varsity play this week, scored from one yard out to put the Pirates on the board first. Quarterback Jim Eaton threw a pass into the end zone, and Dennis Hull caught the ball for two points.

Williams continued the good luck for the Pirates with a perfect inside kick again, only this time the Pirates Larry Sammons recovered the ball, and the Pirates retained possession.

Four plays were all that were needed for them to get on the board again. On the first play, Eaton hit Mark McDonald for 26 yards. Simmons on two runs moved the ball down to the five. Then Eaton hit McDonald for the six points.

Eaton surprised the Warrior defense by tucking the ball under his arm and going in for the two points. Suddenly, the Pirates had taken a 16-0 lead over the same Warriors which a week before had massacred Sinton 47-0.

Williams again controlled the bounces, and the misplayed kick resulted in another Pirate recovery on an inside kick. Dennis Hull got this one.

On one of the few times that the line blocking broke down all evening, that drive following the recovery was stalled when Eaton was buried on a pass attempt.

The Pirates ended that drive with yet another gamble, as punter Mark McDonald faked a punt and threw a pass to Scott Meyer, but the play was a few yards short of a first down, so the Pirates gave it up.

Then the Pirate defense took over once again, completely choking off any solid Tuloso threat. A big play came three plays later when Phil Hobbs, the Warriors' leading ball carrier for three years, was stripped from the ball, and Alvin Miller recovered at the Warrior 10 yard line.

The Pirates may have gotten a little greedy as they went for the score on the next play by way of the air, but disaster struck, and the Warriors intercepted the Eaton pass.

Throughout the night, a combination of things plagued the Warriors. The inside kicks were bad enough, and then there was the near-perfect execution of the Pirate offense, plus the outstanding play of the defense, but time after time, the Warriors hurt themselves with crucial penalties. Three times long gains were called back because of a costly penalty.

Rockport got serious again on their next possession, taking over on their own 37 after a punt. Simmons shook loose and went 43 yards to the Warrior 20 before being wrestled down. Three plays later, the Pirates had hit paydirt with Gonzales going in from nine yards out. Eaton threw to Hull for another two points, and in the middle of the second period, they led 24-0.

Tuloso-Midway did put together a scoring drive late in the second period, using a long pass of 35 yards to set it up. With first and ten at the 11, the Warriors hammered the ball in. Failure to get in for two left the score at the half 24-6.

Rockport didn't waste time in putting another six on the boards, taking the second half kickoff and moving 85 yards for the score. The big play was a 55-yard bomb from Eaton to McDonald who caught the ball in full stride, made a few nifty cuts, and the result was the longest pass reception of the year and a TD. The try for two failed, and the score was 30-6, a comfortable margin, but the Warriors weren't through.

The inside kick attempt was played correctly by the Warriors, and they had the ball at midfield. Five plays later, spurred by a 23-yard run by Hobbs, the Warriors scored their second touchdown on a 19-yard pass. They went for two, and got it on a Hobbs run. The gap narrowed to 30-14.

The Tuloso defense seemed to wake up, and they forced the Pirates to punt. Again, they took the ball and marched the ball 33 yards for the score. Another two points made the Pirates and their fans squirm, as the score was 30-22.

As the tide of momentum seemed to be turning at the end of the third period to the Warriors, Rockport-Fulton mounted a courageous drive which put the game on ice. Timely running from Simmons and Gonzales, and a 26-yard pass to Hull set the ball up at the 11 yard line. Simmons took the handoff from Eaton, moved to his left around the end, picked up a key block from Eaton and Mark Goodin on the only man who could have made the stop, and moved on in for the easy TD.

Hull caught his third two-point conversion, and the Pirates were on top 38-22.

The heroics were not over for the Pirates. Tuloso - Midway moved twice more into scoring position, but a penalty and a stout Pirate defense shut the door on any more points for the Warriors.

The game was one of those "made for TV" games where the underdog (The Caller picked the Pirates to lose by three touchdowns) miraculously pulled off the impossible. A lot of credit should go to the coaching staff for preparing the Pirates.

The line of Jeb Beall, Ronald and Donald Allen, Bubba Scott, Larry Sammons, and Dennis Hull deserve a lot of credit for making the offense go. Simmons carried the ball to an all-time high for him with 173 yards gained. Jim Eaton completed 11 of 16 passes, not counting the three two-point conversions.

Then, there was the defense. Alvin Miller controlled the middle of the field along with Bubba Scott and Michael Arthur, while Kyle Dietze, Donald Allen, Mark McDonald, Gene McElveen, Scott Meyer, and Jeb Beall supported the linebackers.

The secondary of Ernest

Gonzales, Jim Eaton, and Adam Harden (just called up from the JV and making his first start) kept the passing game of the Warriors in check.

It was a good way to end a long season.

Congress Proposes John H. Wood Courthouse

The federal courthouse in San Antonio will be named for the late U. S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. if a bill passed in Congress is approved by President Carter.

The U. S. House of Representatives approved the bill earlier this month to name the courthouse for the Federal Judge, a native of Rockport, who was assassinated in San Antonio earlier this year.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Lloyd Bentsen and has been sent to the White House for the President's signature.

Wood, age 63 at the time of his death, was sworn in as a U. S. District Judge in January 1971. He was shot in the back by a sniper on May 29, 1979, as he was getting into his car to go to work.

His killer remains at large.

Wood had lived in San Antonio 56 years. In proposing the judge's name for the courthouse, Bentsen commented that it was "fitting, because of his deep and abiding respect for the law."

Bentsen added, after passage of the bill, "I am gratified that my colleagues in the Congress have approved this tribute to Judge Wood, and I am hopeful that the President will sign it quickly into law."

The official name of the building, under the Bentsen bill, will be the "John H. Wood Jr. Federal Courthouse."

MAJOR COLLISION

A major collision Sunday morning caused an engine to separate from one of the cars, and consequently land in a nearby ditch. The collision occurred at about 9:35 a.m. November 18, on Hwy. 35, north of Holiday Beach. Two people in the car were injured. The driver of the 18-wheeler that was also involved in the collision was not injured.

RODENT

dealing with rodents are mechanical (traps) and chemical (poisons). One of the best things about a trap is that you can literally throw the rat or mouse away. If chemicals are used, there is always the possibility that it will die and decompose inside one of your walls.

Traps can be purchased at many local stores. If you suspect a rat problem, Rhonda Liles said not to use the smaller mouse traps, as they will not do the job in most instances. Go ahead and use the larger rat trap.

County Judge John Wendell has said that the county will give rodent poison away to county residents at the Aransas County Courthouse until December 5, at which time, they will begin selling it at cost-60 cents per pound.

Rockport residents can get the poison at City Hall. There is no charge for now, and at press time, I was unable to find out if one would be added later on.

Instructions for use of the poison are on the sacks. According to a Texas A and M brochure on this kind of poison (anti-coagulants), "rats and mice must eat some of the bait every day for about five or six days, or every other day for 12 or more days," before it works properly.

Rhonda Liles said that this was the least toxic type of bait that could be used, but she stressed that every precaution should still be taken to keep children and pets away from it.

Sheriff's Report

A hunting accident November 17 at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge left one man dead, according to deputies for the Aransas County Sheriff's Department.

Robert Louis Vasquez and Roel Pena were hunting in Willow Creek, next to the Aransas Wildlife Refuge, when Pena slipped and his rifle discharged. Vasquez was struck in the small of his back and the bullet exited through the front of his chest. Vasquez's body was taken to Port Lavaca by the Richardson Funeral Home.

TOURS

and Mrs. J.C. Harlan will join the group as interpreters.

Beattie is hoping the group will be able to meet the Schoenstatt Sister of Mary of Lamar.

He is also hopeful that the group will be able to visit Key Allegro and some of the area art studios.

The "oil spill" writers should arrive in Rockport about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Beattie said. The Sea Gun Resort Motel and Aransas Wildlife Refuge will be included in their itinerary.

In other reports, Mary Martin reported a burglary of her habitat on November 17. She stated that her ex-son-in-law had moved into the house without her permission. Missing were two saws, a sander, paint, a drill, a CB base station, a wood stove and bedding supplies.

Hazel Trent also reported a theft at a residence, which occurred on November 15. She stated that a diamond dinner ring, valued at 1750, was taken from the home when it was left open for service work.

Cooking Corner

By MARJORIE RICE
Copley News Service

There's something about chili that stokes the competitive fires.

One side bellows that chili with beans is fit only for sickly women and toothless old men.

Others say you may as well not have chili if it's not going to have beans.

A compromise is to serve chili without beans, but have a bowl of tender pintos on the side, with a big bowl of chopped onions.

Chili is a good, cheap dish if you pick the right meat. It just doesn't make sense to use prime or choice beef, since the long, slow cooking can turn these well-marbled cuts to mush.

Instead, cajole your butcher into supplying you some USDA good grade beef (even commercial if you can lay hands on it). The good and commercial grades are quite lean, and the commercial especially has a good, mature beef flavor.

TORNADO CHILI

4 lbs. lean boneless beef
Oil
1 can (12 ozs.) beer
2 tbsps. salt
2 tbsps. red pepper

2 tbsps. cumin
5 tbsps. chili powder
1 clove garlic
¾ cup chopped onion
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. paprika
1 can (16 ozs.) tomato sauce
6 cups water
1 jar (8 ozs.) jalapeno peppers, sliced and drained
3 tbsps. masa harina

or flour

Cut the meat into cubes. Blend the dry spices and sprinkle a little of the blend onto the cubes, along with the garlic and onion.

Firm the bottom of a heavy cast-iron pot with oil, and brown the seasoned beef, garlic and onions. Add the remaining ingredients, except the masa harina, and simmer the mixture at a very slow bubble for one-and-one-half hours. If it starts to dry out, add a little more water.

When the meat is tender, skim the grease from the chili.

Add enough water to the masa harina (sold in supermarkets for making tortillas) or flour to make a thick paste. Stir it into the chili until it is completely blended. Cook a few more minutes to cook the flour and thicken the chili. Serves six to eight.

TEXAS CHILI

¼ lb. beef suet, finely chopped
6 lbs. lean beef, cut into coarse cubes
1 cup chili powder (about 4.5 ozs.)
2 tbsps. ground cumin

2 tbsps. ground oregano
2 tbsps. salt
1 to 2 tbsps. cayenne, or to taste
4 cloves garlic, minced
2 qts. beef stock
½ cup masa harina or cornmeal
½ cup cold water

TP&W Winds Up Year For Shrimp Tagging

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has completed its fourth and final shrimp tagging operation for 1979.

Rites Held For James Howe

James Edwin Howe, 44 died November 18 in a local hospital.

Howe was born and raised in Lake Charles, Louisiana, and was a salesman for the Imco Service Division of the Haliburton Oil Company. He was also a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Helen Howe; one daughter, Elizabeth Howe; one son, Jim Ed Howe Jr., all of Portland; his mother Rachel Howe, Lake Charles, Louisiana; three stepdaughters Wanda Smith, Phyllis Smith, Faye Krebs, all of Portland; two stepsons, Kenneth Dalton, Rockport, and Mike Whaley, Portland; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at the Maxwell P. Dunne Chapel. Interment was at the San Patricio Memorial Gardens.

Return of any tagged shrimp to a department or National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) office makes the fisherman eligible to compete in a computer selection for cash rewards of $50 to $500.

Department and NMFS crews, working from the department vessel Western Gulf, recently tagged 3,143 brown, white and pink shrimp off Port Aransas.

The shrimp were tagged through the tail with blue polyethylene plastic strips imprinted with the letters "NMFS" and a six-digit number.

The tagging program, which is designed to trace shrimp movements in the Western Gulf of Mexico, is a cooperative effort of the department, NMFS, the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Department and Mexico's Instituto Nacional de Pesca.

We've Lost Our Lease

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

If you're one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on.

The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11pm and 8am.

Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it.

You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end.

Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That's almost worth making a new friend in Atlanta for.

Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can't wait for the weekend. Or you don't want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.

Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day.

Reach out and touch someone.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend
Council of Governments
Adoption of a report by the Coastal Bend Council of Governments moves a step nearer the goal of giving local elected officials increased say-so about the spending of tax money on services that fill human needs. The report is in the form of 49 recommendations. The recommendations were developed through a series of public hearings and surveys throughout the 12 counties of the region asking the public what is and is not wanted; through community conferences conducted by coordinating associations of agencies which deliver services; and a regional conference, with organization and wording of the findings by subcommittees and the full Human Resource Coordination Council.

An ad hoc COG committee made final changes before the recommendations were adopted by city and county officials and their representatives sitting as the full Council of Governments.

In the past, most human service programs have been developed in Washington, and the guidelines imposed upon the state which administered them. A long-term priority goal in the adopted report calls for any future social service programs to be developed at the local level in cooperation with local governments and their regional council.

The program should be in response to desires expressed by people living in the community, planned and coordinated in such a way that both public officials and community leaders can see to it that it is designed in such a way as to meet those expressed local needs.

Agencies which provide human services are called on to participate in coordinating associations in their communities and elected officials are encouraged to be active in these associations as well as on the boards of non-profit organizations.

It is recommended that any application for federal or state funds should be reviewed by local officials, community leaders and human service agencies as they are now at the regional level.

A policy is that applications from agencies not headquartered or operating in the Coastal Bend would be supported only if the agencies meet certain requirements.

These requirements include subcontracting or working in conjunction with existing agencies to provide the services that would be financed by the money obtained; interagency coordination is established; and the agencies participate in local and regional coordination councils.

From now on, when applications are reviewed by the COG, a determination will be made of whether or not services proposed would meet locally adopted community priorities, in addition to the present criteria of being consistent with regional plans.

When a state agency sends an application for federal funds to the COG to be reviewed, a new policy will go into effect. The state agencies will be asked to identify what local governments or organizations in the Coastal Bend are to receive a share of the funds or would be qualified to apply for a share of the funds, so that a follow-up can be made on distribution of the funds.

One recommendation made it the responsibility of interagency committees of the COG's Human Resources Coordination Council to identify and try to remove barriers to coordination of planning and management.

It would be their responsibility to establish common intake and referral systems to try to reduce paperwork and establish common eligibility standards; and, working with local governments, try to eliminate the restrictive federal and state guidelines which make it impossible to share staffs, equipment, transportation, and facilities among categorical programs. Such sharing could reduce costs and make the services more effective.

The Human Resources Coordination Council is composed of 143 members and alternates: representatives of 68 agencies and organizations, 14 regional advisory councils, five community level coordination councils, and private citizens interested because the programs serve them or because their taxes pay for the programs.

Austin at Wharf

I HAVE ANSWERED THE FIRST OF TWO questions. I shall be lazy today. Remaining, how lazy? Well, before dawn we silently sipped our coffee. Then the dinghy was hauled alongside and I rowed the Skipper ashore. Stars filled the sky, there was a gentle easterly breeze, enough to ruffle the water.

He found a foothold on a hawser laid around a piling and swung upward onto the bulkhead and disappeared into the darkness. Back aboard, I secured the dinghy and sat in the hatchway, the morning breeze slightly chilling my back. I watched the stars. Ashore the lights of a few cars blinked. I saw the first faint pink of dawn outline the yards on the masts of the Bounty a stone's throw away. She is a replica of the original, built now almost 30 years ago for the film "Mutiny on the Bounty."

For some reason not known to me, the city of St. Petersburg secured her and she was made into a tourist attraction. In the slowly growing light I can see the International Code flags that make for "dressed ship." They are spread between the three masts and then downward to the stern and bowsprit. Too early to hoist the Red Ensign at the gaff, the Stars and Stripes at the fore truck.

I flip on the light over my berth, turn on the radio. Temperature 73 degrees, 85 to 90 predicted, winds easterly at 10 to 15 knots. Soft music, something like KIOU. I open my book, Herman Wouk's "The Winds of War," page 709. Almost 400 to go. It covers those years, 1939-1941. They seem like yesterday. Often I think of them as the most significant of my life.

I read about the invasion of Poland, the fall of France, the Battle of Britain...and to each I attach the names of ships...Steel Seafarer, Mobile City, James Ives... beautiful woman, marriage and shortly afterwards, literally sneaking around the coast of India to the Hooghly River, and Calcutta after the famous Easter Week Raid, defended by less than a score of British fighter planes. But that's ahead of my place in the book.

The sun, a few degrees above the horizon, strikes the almost solid glass facade of a tall building. I turn my eyes away; too bright. Sometime during the night another boat has arrived in our anchorage. A couple of tenders are moving toward shore. I look about the cabin, snug and cozy; the teak paneling on the bulkheads (a winter's work by the Skipper) reflects warmth.

A row of books lines one bulkhead, below a row of drawers alongside a berth. On the other side another berth with lockers above it. The main cabin. Aft is the galley, compact and handy. Forward a narrow short passage with the head on one side, and forward the wide V-berth, captain's country. Does one need, want more?

The long, wide cockpit on deck sheltered by a Bimini top is the veranda with a view to every point of the compass, to the wide, wide world.

MY MIND TURNS TO MORE PEDESTRIAN things. For the first time since leaving home I think of eggs on toast, but too much bother and mess. I settle for the customary, mid-morning jam and peanut butter, earlier than usual. Afterwards, I drop to my knees and with a whisk broom sweep the lint from the cabin sole, beautiful holly and teak made bright again after having been covered with slimy bilge water only a week ago. I sit in the cockpit and contemplate -- nothing.

But the cockpit needs a bit of spit and polish. It wouldn't hurt to swab the decks. Must have things shipshape before the Skipper returns in the morning from a visit with a sister a hundred or so miles inland.

Yes, and a larger task, if the chop settles. There are two big plastic containers lashed on deck. Each holds ten gallons of water. I must pour one, I hope only one, into the regular 35 gallon water tank, then row ashore and walk a couple of hundred yards to a water tap and refill, lug it back to the dinghy and then hoist it aboard.

Ten gallons of water are h-e-a-v-y! For the moment I've decided to wait for the thermometer to reach that promised 85 degrees. But now, if I'm to keep my promise—to be lazy—I must turn my mind to other directions because the list of chores comes too fast.

"KEEP IT SIMPLE," A BASIC TENANT OF THE wise and experienced cruising sailor. But modernity creeps aboard our ships, often for our safety, the VHF radio, radio direction finder, the depth finder. Sensible necessities, really it makes sense, it is wise to attempt to emulate the Vikings, Columbus, Frohisher and Drake?

But there are creature comforts we deny ourselves, hot and cold running water. We bathe over the side in water temperatures set by the gods. Our luxury is a simple (to the Skipper) refrigeration system. To maintain it, he often spends a cramped hour under a cockpit hatch.

He emerges soaked with perspiration, greasy from head to toe, but his face reflecting satisfaction. He has the heavens wisdom not to let me tinker. To make the system work, the engine must be run half an hour twice a day. His last words this morning, almost all he spoke in the pre-dawn hour: "Switch the battery, 800 rpm's, oil pressure 40 psi, be sure the ampmeter shows charge. Turn frig on..."

I've done it dozens of times. But I think it reassured him to see me write it all down in my faithful notebook.

"KEEP IT SIMPLE." NOT LONG AGO, I READ A rather whimsical piece which suggested, in consideration of the energy crisis, that electric toothbrushes abandoned. With that the inspired writer began to think on a dozen or so other things which have become part of our daily lives...things which might be given up with little or no discomfort.

I suspect that ere long that bit of whimsy may be regarded seriously. Meanwhile I must wonder: When the Skipper and I at last come ashore, will we still be bent on "keeping it simple?" I doubt it. We are creatures of habit, more influenced than we care to admit, by our fellows.--ahah

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Representative Bruce F. Vento (Minn.) "... I want to call to the attention of my colleagues in the House an excellent article by Melvyn B. Krauss which appeared in the "Wall Street Journal," zeroing in on the arguments for and against a national sales tax and the VAT (Value-Added-Tax) system proposed by our respected colleague from Oregon, Mr. Ullman." (Condensed article follows):

The first point to recognize about VAT is that it is a method of taxation rather than a tax per se. As applied in Europe, VAT is a complicated way of collecting a retail sales tax on consumption goods.

Instead of taking the tax in one fell swoop at the retail level, VAT collects it piecemeal at every stage in the production-distribution process. But only the value added at each step is taxed, so that no part of the total value of the goods sold to the final consumer is taxed more than once.

France, the country in which VAT was first introduced, is well suited to the French environments where the large number of tax-recalcitrant retailers makes collection of a retail sales tax impractical.

The value-added-tax cleverly avoids this problem by taxing a relatively small number of large producers rather than a large number of small sellers. French retailers are willing to collect VAT because it's the only way a refund can be obtained on the tax they themselves must pay on their purchases.

The real question, however, is whether we want a federal retail sales tax. If we do, there must be political guarantees that the new tax will not increase the overall federal tax burden.

The retail sales tax and VAT have been labeled unfair by many "experts" on the grounds it is regressive. Because poor people are alleged to consume a larger part of their incomes than richer ones, the ration of tax to income falls as income rises with both types of consumption taxes.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

No VAT system without an amendment to the Constitution limiting Federal government spending.

ITEM: In Michigan, the voters were asked to approve an increase in the income tax to avoid a sales tax increase. Shortly after voters approved the income tax increase the sales tax was increased. The increase in the sales tax did not need voter approval. Once burned...
