With two more days left for filing, races have developed for three posts on the Aransas County Navigation District.

Filing deadline is noon Tuesday, July 7, for the August 8 elections that will fill all five seats on the Navigation District.

A three-way race has developed in Pct. 4, with Kirk Holman, John Dzerk and Danny Carrol Cox all vying for the post. Incumbent Jimmy Anders has already announced he is not seeking re-election.

Two candidates have filed for the at-large position, Hal B. McKnight of 403 Nassau and Dr. James M. Shellenberger, 916 Cedar. Incumbent Ken Candidates will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, after the close of filing, to draw for the positions in which their names will appear on the election ballots.

The drawing will be in the Navigation District

Building on Rockport Beach.

Absentee balloting for the upcoming elections will begin Monday, July 20, and continue through August 4.

1981 Art Festival Offers Food, Fun

By Pat Blair

Food, fun, lots to see and plenty to buy are promised when the 1981 edition of the Rockport Art Festival kicks off at noon Saturday, July 4.

Twenty tents will house the exhibits of almost 130 artists from 40 cities and towns throughout Texas. Oil and watercolor paintings head the list of exhibits in terms of numbers, but Festival goers will find just about every art form possible represented during the two-day event.

Other art forms during the show will include prints, etchings, acrylics, egg tempera and pastels, batik and silk screen, stained glass, photography and calligraphy.

Sculpture and pottery will be available as well as jewelry and sea shells, and at least one artist will be offering creations in weaving while another will be exhibiting — and selling — post office boxes.

Exhibits will be open until 9 p.m. Saturday and from noon until 6 p.m. Sunday. Food and drinks will be available on the grounds for those who want to spend the day — or both days.

Crowds of 15,000 are expected at this year's Festival. "About 15,000 attended last year's Festival," according to Cam Leonard, chairman of the Rockport Art Association that sponsors the event. "We expect at least that many this year."

This will be the 12th year for the Festival which started in 1969 as a means of raising money for the Art Association's building fund.

Money raised for the fund will help finance the proposed new Rockport Art Center. Ground is expected to be broken for the Center before the end of this year.

Students To Work For Song

The Rockport - Fulton High School Choir members sang well enough last year to get invited to the prestigious Vienna International Youth Music Festival, but can they work hard enough this year to earn the $1600 per student needed to get there?

They certainly think so and quite a few of them are ready, willing and able to start right away.

Darlene Mills, Job Chairman of the Choir Boosters, a parent's organization formed to help the choir students achieve their goal, has made a list of the students who are looking for work. If you have some job that needs doing and you haven't gotten around to doing it, why not call a choir student? Any of the students listed below can be reached through the Rockport Chamber of Commerce at 729-6445.

More names are being added to the list all the time.

Those students who "will do any kind of job, no matter what" are Stephanie Allen, Samantha Anderson, Donald Beard, Laura Billings, Jennifer Cisneros, Donna Gibson, Robin Huffman, Chris Iles, Loretta Kelly, Anna Lopez, Dolly Lopez, Virginia Lopez and Tracy Mills.

Also Darlene Register, Jack Rollins, Shelley Schott, Ronnie Sifuentes, Rudy Solis, Nancy Vasek, Bill Weaver, Tammy Wendland, Lucretia Wright, Jennifer Crawford and Andra Luigi.

Those students who are interested in babysitting, yard work or housework only are Elsa Galvan, Tony Goodwin, Paul Hill, Patricia Hunter, Alma Johnson, Debra Schnexnider, Letitia Trevino, Pam Willett and Rosie Zamudio.

Mosquito Control Is Big Job In County

By Becky Werhan

Summer brings many things to the Coastal Bend — lots of sun, fun...and mosquitos.

Some area residents have complained recently that this summer seems to have brought more of the pests than ever and that the county mosquito control program does not seem to be working.

This year's mosquito crop does appear to be the largest in years. However the county fogging program is indeed working, says County Sanitarian Harold Scheer, who, with foreman Ralph Chapa, is in charge of the program.

Scheer received many complaints recently when the program began using a slow kill pesticide, Dursban, to control the mosquitos. Dursban did kill the insects, but it took approximately 15 to 17 hours, a long enough time for the poison-angered mosquitos to do plenty of biting.

That problem has now been alleviated, says Scheer. Pennick, a fast-kill poison has been added to the Dursban and the new mixture has been used for one week with excellent results.

Program foreman Chapa agrees, "It's really working well, a lot better. You can hardly blame people for getting upset before."

Chapa and Scheer have added mineral oil to the Dursban-Pennick mixture. The oil makes a more molecular fog which clouds

Nesting Terns Creating Hazard — For Themselves

By Pat Blair

"If people go out there and stay over 15 or 20 minutes, they have killed all the eggs and chicks in the area."

That, says Texas Parks & Wildlife biologist John Smith, is why signs have been placed at the end of Rockport Beach to warn visitors that the site is the nesting ground of a colony of least terns.

The TP&W Department didn't put up the signs — that was done on the initiative of Navigation District Commissioner Bobby Landrum after a group of area birdwatchers — including Charles Kaigler — expressed concern over the terns nesting on the beach.

Rockport may be the only place in Texas where a colony of the least terns are nesting inside city limits. And that makes the city "very fortunate," Smith said.

It's less fortunate for the birds who, because they don't like tall grass, will lay their eggs in short grass and sand where eggs and the hatched chicks are in danger of being run over by the cars of beach visitors.

A bigger danger, Smith said, is the fact that people in the area tend to drive the parents away from the nests.

"The parents keep the eggs and young chicks at a constant temperature of around 103 degrees," Smith said. When well-intentioned but curious visitors come too close to the nests, the parents leave and eggs and chicks are exposed to the effects of sunlight reflecting off sand.

"When the sun hits the

No Cause Found For Fish Kill

By Becky Werhan

No explanation has yet been found for the death last week of some 2500 large redfish along a 150-mile stretch of Gulf beach, said Tom Heffernan, director of the coastal fisheries division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Heffernan explained that the kill was selective to large redfish, 36-45 inches long, in an area between Port Aransas and Port Isabel.

He explained that samples would be autopsied by researchers at the University of Texas Marine Institute at Port Aransas and by teams from Texas A&M University.

"We have sent them on to the experts," said Heffernan on Thursday, July 2. "The cause of the kill is at this point undetermined."

He found it unusual that the kill was so evenly distributed, and selective to the large fish only.

That evidence suggests a single organism responsible for the kill, as a toxic substance would more than likely have killed several species of all sizes.

Some other dead fish have been found, said Heffernan. "A few jackfish and mullet and one trout, but I feel we can safely say that

by Robert E. Lewis

SOLAR GREENHOUSES

Last week's column discussed direct-gain heating, the simplest of all passive heating concepts. This week's column reviews one of the simplest applications of direct-gain heating: solar greenhouse.

Most people who have visited a florist's greenhouse are familiar with its warm and pleasant atmosphere, even on cold or overcast days. While the traditional greenhouse gains most of its warmth from the sun's radiation, there is also a considerable loss of heat through the large glass areas. To prevent such heat loss, elaborate heating systems are part and parcel of the traditional greenhouse.

Solar greenhouses, on the other hand, combine basic principles of passive heating with traditional greenhouse concepts to provide continual heat naturally. As a result, few if any additional heating devices are required.

Generally speaking, there are two types of solar greenhouses — free-standing and those attached to buildings. Free-standing greenhouses are used for the production of food or cultivation of plants or flowers. Attached greenhouses (sometimes called sunspaces) are more aptly described as solar rooms, which can be used as an additional living space for a home.

With free-standing solar greenhouses, the south-facing wall and roof are made of glass. The north side, however, is constructed with heat-absorbing materials and protected from the elements by insulation. Usually the north wall is painted a dark color to enhance its heat-absorbing capacity. The floors of the greenhouse are also made of heat-storing materials to provide a greater thermal mass.

As with any passive system, the use of thermal mass areas allows the daytime heat to be stored for release at night or when temperatures drop. To avoid overheating during the day, vents are placed near the peak and base of the greenhouse. Auxiliary heating systems are recommended for periods of extremely cold or sustained cloudy weather. At other times, the natural absorption, storage and distribution of the sun's energy by the thermal mass will maintain the necessary round-the-clock heat.

The attached greenhouse or "sunspace" is a glass room attached to the south side of a building. This transforms the building's former exterior south wall into the interior's heat-absorbing wall. As the sun's rays are transmitted through the glass, the south wall captures and stores the heat for release when needed.

As with other direct-gain heating designs, the more heat-absorbing materials used for the walls and floors of the sunspace, the greater the amount of heat storage possible. And too, the use of solar screens, awnings and/or insulated draperies is recommended to avoid overheating during the day and loss of heat at night.

Many homeowners installing attached greenhouses include vents at the top and the bottom of the heat-absorbing wall. This circulates warm air into the adjacent interior living area. In addition, the heat-storing wall is often designed to radiate its heat into the adjacent interior living area as well as the sunspace. When such designs are employed, the interior adjacent space is said to be heated by indirect-gain passive heating methods, while the sunspace is heated by direct-gain.

The basic concepts of indirect-gain passive heating will be discussed in next week's column. In the meantime, to learn more about solar greenhouses (both attached and free-standing), send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Robert E. Lewis, (#8-A), P.O. Box 3680, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Austin at Wharf

THOSE THINGS IN this world which I dislike are legion. My loves are few, but generally enough to keep me merry. My loves can be counted on the fingers of a single hand.

Like any male with a respectable splotch of hair on his chest, I love beautiful women, a trim sailing craft. And then I cherish books, especially history and Eastern philosophy — and newspapers.

Next, and finally I should add, live theater. Of them all it is the one I know least about, other than women. I'm glad I remembered to add that last word.

Here let me write about the theater upon whose boards I'd never dare tread, even if drawn by a 10-mule team.

Several weeks ago I gave brief mention to what appeared to me to be a rather daring venture, the Black Swan Restaurant Theatre. Make it more formal and call it the South Texas Musical Theatre Association. I was one in a party of four to attend the final performance of "Fantasticks", New York's longest running off-Broadway show.

I don't know what the New Yorker magazine's erudite critic Brendan Gill might have said of the production, but I have read his copy for enough years to suspect he'd have had a good time — even gone so far as to call it a most unusual evening.

Certainly a Gothamite would have been charmed, even moved, by an evening under bright stars, a gentle breeze moving through the leaning oaks whose limbs sheltered trained peacocks who were both audience and performers.

Perhaps I'd better back up on the "trained" peacocks and at the same time confess to where all this transpired. First it is the peacock's natural bent to strut and show their plumage, but when the shadows fall they take to the trees from where they raise their harsh voices along with the humans below in applause and demands for more.

So help me, their timing was next to perfect.

All this is to be found a few miles south of Rockport and one-half mile west of Highway 35 at a spot prosaically called for years, Jim's Smokehouse — one among the hundreds of "best barbecue in Texas" spots.

Last winter a pair of Las Vegas entertainers with (I thought) the daring of Vikings, conceived the idea of a dinner theater. I wished them well, in my heart, but sanity demanded — "What? In little Rockport?"

Well, the Vikings have won! The eight performances of "Fantasticks" have played to full or almost full houses. Four other productions are scheduled between now and the end of August, all on stage for eight nights, except "Give Me Gershwin" starring MGM's Lynn Newcomb, which will hold 12 performances.

MEANWHILE LET NO one in Rockport become egotistically exuberant over the success of the Black Swan. Citizens of the town support the theater, but along with those from surrounding towns and, of course, Corpus Christi.

The aforementioned Vikings are Aaron Schave and Ed Humphrey. The former is a graduate of Michigan State University. He has danced with the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre, Harkness and American Ballet theatres, played in "My Fair Lady" and "Fiddler on the Roof" on Broadway, and that names only a few of his credits.

Humphrey holds a degree from Brigham Young University and has had a successful opera career with the Santa Fe Opera before coming to South Texas. In addition he has appeared in New York operas, appeared in several movies and played on stage in "Sound of Music," "Guys and Dolls," again listing only a few credits.

The two principals are supported by other successful actors and actresses as well as young men and women who train under them and dream of the bright lights on Broadway.

ONE OF THESE FINE weeks I'm going to play H.G. Wells and write a scenario for World War III.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

It won't be very difficult.

The concept naturally ignores all those who are determined, refuse to believe, there will ever be such a war, especially people in the United States — specifically those who are determined that they won't fight, no matter the circumstances.

No need to say that those people know little and care not at all for the lessons of history. Perish the word.

The inevitability of war was assured in 1948 with the establishment of Israel in the Arab world, and let no one mistake this for an anti-Semitic statement. Emphatically it is not.

Instead it is a recognition of reality, a recognition that is acknowledged in a very real sense by the departure of some 24,000 Jews from Israel each year. True, more arrive although in lesser numbers.

In the past couple of years I have been more often than not angered by Prime Minister Begin's hard line tactics. Yet attempting to place my thinking in line with his I become obliged to realize that course is the only one he can take if his country is to survive.

Altogether it adds up to a very simple case of Arabs and Israelites never being willing to live with each other. Should I add that is as it ever has been — and ever shall be. —ahab

Prune hedges and other plants likely to get rangy by the time you return. Cutting back annual flowers and applying additional fertilizer will have them well on their way to another flowering cycle by the time you return.

Mulch to help conserve valuable moisture needed for plant growth whether you are home or away. Choose a clean mulch, free of weed seed, and one which will remain loose and well aerated.

Consider dried grass clippings, pine bark, compost or a variety of other organic materials. Mulching will also reduce or eliminate the weeding problem.

Check carefully and spray for insects and disease problems if present to prevent a build-up of pests during your absence.

Summer insects and diseases do not take a vacation, and will work overtime on your healthy plants. This goes particularly for chinch bugs.

Make sure you have applied chinch bug control to your St. Augustine lawn, or you just might find it severely damaged by this little critter when you return.

Be sure that walks and flowerbeds are neatly edged before your departure. A build-up of growth while you are away will be difficult to manage on your return.

Take lawn and garden equipment to the repair shop for any needed repairs. They'll have it ready when you return.

Harvest all ripe or nearly ripe fruit and vegetables. If you'll be gone over a week arrange for a friend to pull and use the produce.

You may want to ask them to save a few for you just before you return.

Robert, Rosemary Kay Buy Aransas Butane Company

A couple of Holiday Beach residents, Robert and Rosemary Kay, have taken over ownership of the Aransas Butane Gas Company.

Mrs. Kay said the purchase became effective June 1 when she and her husband bought the stock in the company from Noah and W.H. Taylor. There are no other stockholders in the company.

"We hope to grow," Mrs. Kay said when asked of future plans for the company, but she added,

"We plan no major changes at the moment."

Aransas Butane Gas, based in Rockport, sells wholesale and retail to customers in an area from around Sinton, Ingleside and Taft "as far as Port O'Connor," Mrs. Kay said. The company serves "probably 75 percent of the market in this area."

The company sells both propane and butane gas. "Propane is the predominant fuel now," Mrs. Kay said. "Butane is being phased out, but we still handle it." Originally from San Antonio, the Kays lived in Kansas for about nine years "then we decided it was time to come home," Mrs. Kay said.

They were looking for a business to buy and discovered that Aransas Butane was for sale. Mrs. Kay added they were in the "fuels business" in Kansas although there they were handling regular motor fuel.

Explaining his reason for selling, W.H. Taylor commented, "I'm 68 and (Noah) is 65. We're retiring from that."

Mrs. Kay said the company presently employs two people in the office and she and Shirlene Taylor who agreed to remain on an indefinite advisory basis and keeps four trucks on the road.

The Kays' son, John, works with them in the business. The Kays also have a daughter, Mayley, who is finishing her term at the University of Kansas.

Rockport realtor Bettye Thomas says she is having a grand time in her role as Queen Elizabeth I in the Black Swan Restaurant Theatre's production of King Arthur's Court (A Medieval Feast) and she hopes everyone comes to see the entertainment.

Thomas is a realtor at Security Real Estate in Rockport and says "I love Rockport, and anything that is going to do something for the community I want to be part of it."

A native of Rockport, Thomas has been dabbling in the theatre for many years. She tells of one time when she and 35 men were putting on a play in Philadelphia and it was closed down because they were "pirating" the songs for the play.

The 39-year-old grandmother loves to be involved in community projects and will participate in almost anything that will benefit Rockport.

She is a charter member of the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Thomas loves to play the organ and make stained glass windows.

When asked about her part in the play, Thomas said, "All I do is shake my head and feed Henry VIII turkey legs."

"I'm just a natural born ham and my voice will project to the back row," she said.

Thomas said she loves the theatre and gets a big kick out of it.

In describing her role as the queen in the play, Thomas concluded by saying, "I'm a queen all the time."

It was just before the opening of trout season in April here in Pennsylvania that the state fish commission announced and began a drawdown of its eight-year-old Rose Valley lake, a body of water created by the commission out of its own funds for the enjoyment of fishermen and non-gasoline boaters.

The lake has been a great success; it was stocked with a variety of sport and fun fishes and, almost any nice day, sailboats flit over its surface. Ice-fishing clinics have been run there during the winter and anglers of all ages and persuasions have found it a great addition to their sport schedules.

However, over the years a problem has been developing and recognized. The yellow perch that had been planted had gotten out of control.

The decision was made that to assist the more desirable species the explosion of yellow perch must be halted and the best way to do that is to do a drawdown in the spring when their spawning in the shallows was in full swing. The drain valves were opened to allow a drop of about five feet to expose the shallow areas where the eggs were laid.

This exposure would kill the eggs, thus reducing the crop this year. Plans are to repeat the drawdown in the next two years to reach a more compatible population ratio.

Unfortunately, of course, this drawdown was necessary following a year of water shortage that found the groundwater table at an historic low and an uncomfortable number of wells in this part of the state having to be replaced or deepened.

I am sure that the fellows who physically turned those valves did it with their fingers crossed; there was no indication that this year the rainfall (which is the primary way of refilling the lake) would be much better than in 1980.

The drawdown was completed in time to close the valve before trout opening so that the level of West Mill Creek, the lake outlet and a stocked trout stream, would be satisfactory for fishing that day.

Unhappily, well into June the commission personnel have been getting floods of complaints rather than water. The lake has recovered somewhat (it had replaced about 2.5 feet of water out of the drawdown which turned out to be a seven-foot one), but still stumps and clay are exposed and the water has not reached within several feet of the boat launch ramp.

It is certainly an eyesore, but a necessary one.

Myrtle Bell Named Department Head

BEAUMONT — Dr. Myrtle Bell, formerly of Rockport, has recently been named dean of the College of Health and Behavioral Sciences at Lamar University.

Dr. Bell is the daughter of Mrs. Annie McMillan of Star Route 1, Rockport. She is a 1944 graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School.

Presently head of the department of psychology at the university, she will assume her new position before July 10.

The College of Health and Behavioral Sciences is newly organized and represents a merger of the psychology department, formerly in Lamar's College of Sciences, with the departments of nursing and allied health, both formerly in the College of Health Sciences.

Lamar President Dr. Robert Kemble explained the organizational change as a pilot step toward further adjustments involving either the additional expansion of the college to include other human services, or the eventual establishment of a College of Natural and Health Sciences. Both these options will be studied this year by the Lamar faculty and administration.

A 1974 Regents' Merit Award honoree, Dr. Bell joined the Lamar faculty in 1963 and has been head of the psychology department for the past seven years. She earned bachelor's and master's degrees at Texas A&I University in Kingsville and the doctorate of education from the University of Texas at Austin.

"Dr. Bell is one of Lamar's most respected leaders," said Kemble. "She is a past president of the Council of Instructional Departments, chaired the President's Committee on faculty promotion policy and review procedures, and served on two tenure committees among many other areas of service."

Active in mental health programs, Dr. Bell has served on the board of directors of the Beaumont Association for Mental Health and assisted in developing a mental health library for the organization.

She has conducted research projects directly related to the medical field including studies on sickle cell anemia involving the comparison of selected hemoglobin types in hemoglobin level, mean corpuscular hemoglobin concentration and classification of anemia, in addition to applying the relationship of hemoglobin "S" and "C" to academic measures.

She also performed a comparative study of personality traits of Lamar pre-medical and pre-dental students in 1978.

Teleservice Saves Time, Money, Gas

Aransas County residents can save time, money and gasoline by using "teleservice" when they have business with Social Security, according to Social Security officials.

Teleservice is a special telephone service which can be used whenever a person has any questions or problems concerning Social Security. The local teleservice number is 1-800-392-1603. The call is toll-free.

The best time to use teleservice — unless the call is urgent — is the middle of the month, officials said. Calls are lightest at this time and the caller is more likely to get through.

Teleservice can be used for most business with the Social Security Administration, including application for Social Security or supplemental security income payments. The application process can be started by telephone and completed by mail.

It can also be used to apply for Medicare, report changes in name or address in Social Security records, change in marital status, change in work or earnings or other event that could affect Social Security payments.

Through teleservice, the applicant can report a lost or stolen check or delayed payment, replace a lost or missing Social Security or Medicare card, get help in completing Medicare claims forms, get a benefit estimate, request a statement of earnings or find out if a health care facility takes part in Medicare.

Help in requesting a review of the decision made on a claim and answers to any question about Social Security are also available through teleservice.

Teleservice cannot be used if a person wished to file a claim, officials said. Those needing to file claims should call 992-1182.

Not long ago I was driving home along the parkway, depressed and worried by many problems. The day was bleak and gloomy. Huge clouds boiled and churned above dark, forbidding mountains. Even the foliage hung limp and still.

Suddenly the clouds parted and a ray of sun streaked through. In that fleeting moment the landscape became beautiful... grayness transformed into mauves, deep blues and lively greens. It was like watching Creation. For the first time in a long time, I thought of God. And I prayed as I had been taught long ago.

That was a turning point. Since then God and worship have once more become a part of my life and my problems have disappeared in a way I never dreamed possible.

God's goodness is always present. Go to your place of worship and learn the truths that can transform your life.

COME TO ME!

Stress is a fact of life — everybody's got it. A car that does not run right, a leaky faucet, an unbalanced checkbook are part of the stress points in our lives. That's life.

But some stress causes real problems for us: we get sick, feel depressed, take out our frustrations on the family. Sometimes we try to escape it by overeating, alcohol, drugs and other ways, but unfortunately the side effects of the escape outweigh the benefits.

Dr. Donald A. Tubesing gives these hints on how to handle stress in a little booklet entitled "Managing Your Stress." The points are these: organize yourself, change your environment, change your attitude, build up your strength, find a way to laugh each day, exercise regularly, develop a network of supportive people around you and nurture your faith.

He states about faith: "A strong religious faith can be your most powerful and dependable resource, both at times of joyful celebration and at times of pain and tragedy. But a faith you can rely on in a crisis must first be a central part of your daily life. Pay attention to your faith. Give it space and time to mature, so that in times of crisis it will connect you to God as your source of strength. Your creator will support you and help you cope."

Dr. Tubesing is talking about the Christian faith and Jesus himself gave support to this thinking. Matthew in chapter 11, verse 28, records these words of Jesus: "Come to me, all of you who are tired from carrying loads, and I will give you rest."

Jesus says we don't have to do it alone. God reminds us that in Christ Jesus he harnesses His love so that we can live in relationship to Him. Jesus gave His life and arose again so that we could have the newness of life with God.

Stuart Alsop, a news commentator, a writer for Newsweek, who died of cancer wrote in one of his columns this: "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb. Life often strips us of our covering and protection. Meanwhile, in strange and surprising ways God tempers the wind and provides for our needs. When it seems that you've lost your grip, remember the One who holds you in His hands."

A nurtured faith takes the offer of Jesus: Come To Me! A faith that reminds us that when we lose our grip He has us in our hands.

Captain's Table

broccoli and shrimp

Broccoli And Shrimp

Everyone agrees that shrimp is great when time and good eating is important. It provides high-quality protein, is an excellent source of essential minerals, and is low in fat and calories.

This recipe was provided to the Pilot by Annette Hagen from the Port Aransas Marine Advisory Service with Texas A&M University. It flavor-accents the shrimp in an Italian dressing and other savory ingredients. The shrimp is heaped on top of buttered broccoli and baked in a covered casserole for only 20 minutes. Top with cheese and put it back in the oven until the cheese melts. This is a first-rate entree that you'll want to serve again and again.

- 1½ pounds raw, peeled and deveined shrimp (31/35 count)
- ¼ cup commercial Italian dressing
- ¼ cup catsup
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 packages (10 oz ea.) frozen broccoli spears, cooked, drained
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ cup finely shredded process American cheese

Place shrimp in salted boiling water, return to a boil and reduce heat. Simmer for 3-5 minutes until shrimp is done. Combine and mix dressing, catsup, onion and parsley. Pour over shrimp and mix carefully. Cut broccoli stems into small pieces. Arrange in bottom of shallow baking dish. Arrange broccoli flowerettes at either end of casserole. Melt margarine and stir in lemon juice. Drizzle over broccoli. Spoon mixture between broccoli pieces. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake at 400 for 20 minutes or until hot. Sprinkle with cheese if desired. Return to oven for 3 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

The Pilot is looking for all those recipes that have made Rockport cooks famous up and down the coast. We will be running a regular column, "The Captain's Table", featuring your recipes and those of other area residents and guests, as well as any interesting stories behind them. So share your favorite recipes for seafood, meat, poultry, bread, vegetables, desserts or any other dish with other Pilot readers.

Mail in or bring by your recipes and please include your name and address. See you at "The Captain's Table"!

Two Hawaiian transplants, Barbara and David Buck, have recently moved to Rockport.

Barbara, a native of San Antonio, will be teaching a third grade class in Fulton this fall.

David will soon open an office in Behavioral Management for counseling, education and consulting. With seven years college teaching experience and eight years in Mental Health programs, David was staff psychologist for the Society for Crippled Children and Adults in Maui, Hawaii.

Nursing Home News

By Maxine Mayer

Activities at the Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center were very plentiful and entertaining as well last week. We are always glad to have our relatives and friends out to visit our residents.

Tuesday morning, Delma Rodgers, a very devoted volunteer, was out to visit, read the Bible and do shopping for our people, which they enjoy very much.

Tuesday afternoon, Gary Bennett, minister of the Aransas Pass Church of Christ was out to lead our weekly "Bible Study".

Along with Gary were his wife, Brenda, and Mrs. Mayfield, who came out to visit our people and help get them out for the study.

Wednesday morning, Mrs. Fred Bracht of Rockport was over to bring clothing for our ladies and men. Mrs. Bracht, we really appreciate your thoughtfulness very much.

Wednesday afternoon, the WMU ladies of First Baptist Church of Aransas Pass were out to have their monthly Birthday and Bingo party.

They served refreshments to all, and then presented each honoree with a gift.

After singing "Happy Birthday" to all, they played bingo with all who wished to play.

Wednesday evening, our residents were entertained by the Aransas Pass Chapter 636 of LULACS with a nice game of bingo.

Thursday afternoon, Annie Teale was given a big birthday party by members of her family. They served a delicious cake, punch, mints and coffee to residents, family and friends.

Annie was overjoyed at having so many of her family with her.

Friday morning paint class was led by Frankie Edwards, Lea Edwards and Kathy Hale.

Friday afternoon, Father James Hamilton was out to have Mass with all our Catholic residents.

Sunday morning worship services were led by Rev. Al Bankert. Sunday afternoon, the pastor and friends of First Christian Church of Ingleside were over to have their monthly "Sing In" with our people.

Each morning, we had reality orientation and exercise classes and each morning and afternoon, we had our coffee time, which gives our residents the opportunity to get together and visit.

Thanks, again, to all of you fine people who make our home a nice one.

Q. I've heard that zinc is good for acne? Is it? What else is it good for? What are the food sources?

A. Researchers say that zinc may help control acne. One study showed a significant decrease in the number of blackheads, whiteheads and pimples after four weeks of treatment. Acne was reduced in 85 per cent of those treated.

Zinc has also been shown to help speed the healing of wounds, prevent lethargy, improve taste acuity, appetite and growth. Zinc helps eliminate cholesterol deposits and has been successfully used in the treatment of atherosclerosis.

It is beneficial in the prevention and treatment of infertility and may benefit people suffering from Hodgkin's disease, leukemia, cirrhosis of the liver, alcoholism, diabetes and sickle cell anemia.

A lack of zinc during pregnancy may result in congenital malformation of the embryo. A lack of zinc has also been associated with delayed sexual maturation, rough skin, stretch marks in the skin, white spots on the fingernails and sub-optimal growth.

Among the chief sources of zinc for humans are oyster, whole grain products, brew-er's yeast, wheat bran, wheat germ, pumpkin seeds, liver, peanuts and lima beans.

It is pointed out, however, that processing food robs it of its natural zinc content and that the amount of zinc in a food depends on whether or not it is grown in organically enriched soil.

Q. Isn't it true that parents who smoke can cause their children to have problems? Can you answer this quickly? I have a hot argument going on with somebody!

A. Lengthy studies indicate that lung disease is more common in children with parents who smoke than in children with non-smoking parents.

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

up and does not blow away as quickly.

Four jeeps with 16-gallon tanks are used in the control program. One jeep begins at Holiday Beach and fogs in toward town. Another route begins in Fulton and fogs toward Copano. A route begins in Bayside, fogging in toward town and one jeep travels from Aransas Pass back into town.

Each jeep uses approximately three gallons of the poison mixture per night. Fogging is done for three nights in a row, and is initiated upon receipt of calls from county residents, Scheer explained. After calls from residents, a mosquito count is taken and spraying commences.

The spray takes effect for four to five days under optimum conditions. The effectiveness is hampered by high wind and rain. "Sometimes around here it's like fighting a losing battle," said Scheer.

Part of the reason for the unusually high amount of mosquitos this season, says Scheer, is the occurrence of the two "freak Norther's" earlier in the spring. "A lot of people don't realize that mosquitos can be carried by the wind for as far as 30 miles," he said. Mosquitos bred in the miles of low-lying land between here and Tivoli were blown in by the two norther's.

Despite the effectiveness of the new spray mixture, Scheer and Chapa are awaiting the arrival of those fish are not directly related to this kill."

The fish were first sighted washing up Monday and when found had been dead for approximately 48 hours. Heffernan said that the kill peaked Tuesday and seemed, on Wednesday and Thursday, to be slowing down.

"We don't feel it happened to all the fish at once," said Heffernan. "If must have been something occurring in one area."

Questioned about the range of the kill, Heffernan said that no dead fish had been found south of Port Aransas in Rockport-area bays. An aerial check was made Wednesday and surveyed areas north to Cedar Bayou and over to San Jose Island and Pass Cavalla.

Surveys of the Mexican beach south were being conducted at Pilot press time Thursday.

As for the damage dealt the total redfish population, Heffernan said it would be hard to determine the extent until after next September when an accurate count could be made of the existing juvenile reds.

He speculated, "I don't see it as totally devastating to the red situation, but it doesn't help it any."

"We've had kills before," he said, "but I've never seen anything like this one in my experience. It's unusual that it killed only one species."

Some time ago, he explained, a kill affecting mullet occurred, but it is unlikely that the organism responsible — micro sporidia — is at fault in the present redfish kill.

another pesticide which works better. Malathion, an effective, quick-kill pesticide, was used by the county previously. Because of low supply, the county was unable to obtain the poison and thus switched to the slow kill.

Malathion can only be obtained in large amounts from New Jersey and an order has been made.

However until it arrives, said Scheer, the Pennick-Dursban-mineral oil mixture should remain effective.

MOSQUITO CONTROL MAN

Julio Hernandez drives one of the county mosquito control jeeps. Four of these jeeps, each equipped with 16-gallon sprayer tanks spray when needed, for three evenings in a row. Each jeep has a route originating at the edge of the county, working back in toward town. (Pilot Photo by Becky Werhan) sand, the temperature goes up to 140-150 degrees," Smith said. "The eggs can't take that. If the chick is too small to scurry under brush, he can't take it either."

Landrum said he became aware of the problem after Kaigler talked to members of the Navigation District. "I talked to Kaigler," he said, "then I cut a stencil and got the harbor master (Bernie DeForest) and a crew to put up boards out there."

The signs ask visitors to the beach area to "Please Keep Out. Nesting Birds," and are located at the end of Rockport Beach in the area of the saltwater pool. They'll stay up til the end of the nesting season, around the end of July or early August.

Officials hope the signs will help solve the threat to the terns at least temporarily. And under a proposed beach improvement program underway now, the Navigation District plans to put up some type of fencing to guard the nesting area.

But officials with the Navigation District and TP&W alike are more hopeful that, when the Ski Basin is draglined — a project that may get underway later this year — the terns will be drawn to nest on the bird islands in the Basin. That's where the spoil from the draglining operation will be cast.

"We had a colony of great blue herons, black skimmers and gull-billed terns on those islands at one time," Smith said, "until some nut turned a skunk loose on the islands and it destroyed the eggs."

That drove all the birds from the islands and the big birds, now nesting in an area between Rockport and Fulton, "probably won't come back," Smith said.

But the mud from the Ski

Basin probably will bring the smaller birds back to the islands — the skimmers, the gull-billed terns — and the least terns.

Smith said the present colony in Rockport is "in the neighborhood" of 100 pairs of adult birds, "producing about 150 young."

The birds are not an endangered species. A recent county put the number of least terns on the Texas Coast to around 10,000 birds, which doesn't put them on the endangered list "but they aren't the most numerous bird species either," Smith said.

Dairy Queen Wins Division Title In 9-2 Playoff

By Ted Norman
Dairy Queen is the 1981 champion of the Rockport Senior League after beating George Miller 9-2.

In a game that was delayed two hours and six minutes while water and wet dirt was removed from the field, the Dairy Queen team took the lead early in the game with two runs in the top of the first inning and they never looked back.

Second baseman Steve Arkell led the game off for the visiting D.Q. team with a walk to first when he watched a 3-2 pitch go by for a ball.

Then on an 0-1 pitch to Jeffery Dickerson, Arkell stole second and with no outs, Dairy Queen had a man in scoring position.

Dickerson hit an unintentional bunt down the third base line for a single and Arkell advanced to third. D.Q. had runners on first and third.

George Miller starting pitcher Rudy Solis got Bobby Dingenary out with a pop fly to shortstop John Solis for the first out.

Arkell made it home on a pass ball that got away from catcher George Nava and the Dairy Queen team had the first run on the board and took a one-run lead in the game and Dickerson advanced to third.

Scott Russ sent a 2-0 offering into right field for a single and Dickerson came across the plate to make it 2-0 Dairy Queen.

Chuck Ponton recorded the second out for George Miller with a pop fly to the shortstop. Then Solis settled down and posted his first strikeout with a 2-2 pitch that caught Adam Pina looking and Dairy Queen was retired and the game was 2-0.

Bobby Dingenary started his work on the mound by striking out Rodney Simmons. Then turned around and walked Solis.

Michael Herrera watched a 1-2 pitch go by for the second out, but not before Solis made his way to second to set up a George Miller runner in scoring position.

Dingenary walked George Nava to put runners on first and third and Harvey Olivarez popped a fly ball to Adam Pina on first. George Miller was retired and the first inning of the championship game ended with Dairy Queen leading 2-0.

Ross Huff led off the second inning for D.Q. with a single on the first pitch.

Carl Sleiger laid a line drive down the third base line and Rene Cordova scooped it up. The throw to first was on time and on target and D.Q. had one out with a runner on.

Mark Dennis drew a walk from pitcher Solis and Huff advanced to second.

Back at the top of the batting order, Arkell, who scored the first, drew another walk in his second appearance at the plate and Solis was staring at a bases-loaded situation with Dickerson at bat.

Dickerson watched a 1-2 pitch go by and D.Q. had two outs and three men on base with a two-run lead.

Bobby Dingenary, who singled in the first, hit a line drive to left center field to bring in Huff from third. Dairy Queen took a 3-0 lead over struggling George Miller.

Solis and his team got out of the situation when Russ hit a pop fly caught by Nava to retire Dairy Queen.

George Miller went three up, three down in the bottom of the second with Solis striking out, Cordova striking out and Benny Arispe swinging at a 2-2 pitch.

John Solis came in to do relief work for Solis in the top of the third. The first man he faced, Chuck Ponton drew a free pass to first.

Then Pina watched as a 3-1 pitch went by high and outside and D.Q. had runners on first and second. Huff hit a line drive to second baseman Olivarez who tossed to first for the out and Ponton advanced to third on a sacrifice.

Sleiger hit a hard drive to short and couldn't beat the throw to first. Dairy Queen had two outs, but Ponton scored from third giving D.Q. a 4-0 lead.

Arkell swung at a 2-2 pitch and D.Q. stranded their runners and the top of the third was over.

George Miller left fielder, Joe Valdez, led off in the bottom of the third with a single and advanced to second when Simmons drew a walk. Solis was caught looking at a 1-2 pitch for the first out with runners on first and second.

Herrera made his second appearance at the plate and slammed a hard-hit ball to right field, Simmons was tagged trying for second, but Valdez moved to third and then scored to make it a 4-1 game. Nava was struck out looking.

In the top of the fourth with D.Q. leading by two, Solis was reassigned and George Nava came to the mound for George Miller. Dickerson sent his first pitch down the third base line with a well-executed bunt and arrived safely at first on an error by Herrera.

Dingenary slammed a hit to shortstop, the ball was bobbled and Dickerson was on third with Dingenary on second and no outs. Then Russ hit a blooper to third and was thrown out at first. But Dickerson had to hold and D.Q. had one away.

Ponton hit to third and Dickerson was tagged for the second out. Pina swung at an 0-2 pitch and D.Q. ended their half of the fourth inning.

In the bottom of the fourth Bobby Dingenary had a one-hitter going and he kept his record by retiring George Miller with a pop back to the mound and two strikeouts, with both coming on full counts.

In the top of the fifth Huff hit a grounder to second and got tagged at first to give George Miller one away. Then David White came in to sub for Sleiger and got to first on an error by Herrera.

White advanced to second when Mark Dennis drew a walk. Arkell loaded the bases as he watched a 3-2 pitch go by high and outside.

Dickerson slammed a hit to second, Olivarez fired the ball in to the plate and White was tagged for the second out.

Afternoon Delight won the white marlin division, Misty brought in a blue marlin. Wave Dancer landed a 74½ pound sailfish. My Diane brought in a sailfish as did the Double H. A sailfish and a white marlin were landed by the Virginia B.

Kleines Rattlesnake Point Fishing Camp — Mr. and Mrs. Dabbs and the Jackson family had real good luck, mostly wade fishing. B.B. Overstreet of Austin and B.H. Stokes of San Antonio caught their limits of sheephead and reds. Ronnie Barrow of San Antonio caught some nice 1½- to 3-pound trout and some nice 5-6 pound reds. Fishing has been very good, the salinity of the water is improving and the tides are high.

Copano Causeway — Very good fishing under the lights Wednesday night. Lots of speckled trout and a few gafftop being landed. Most of the action is on live shrimp and worm puzzlers. The weather is fine, the water is beautiful and everything looks good for the weekend.

St. Charles Bay — No one has been out in the last few days. The water is perfect, the bay is very nice and the folks here have plenty of bait and are ready for the fishermen. The conditions are just right for the weekend to catch fish.

Palm Harbor — Fishing has been fairly good with lots of trout and reds being caught at the cut and around the wells. Plenty of live bait will be available for the weekend.

Sea Gun — Lots of action with everyone catching plenty of trout and some reds. Most anglers are using live bait for the trout but both live and dead bait is plentiful.

Fulton Harbor Bait — Fishing is great with everyone landing plenty of trout, lots of reds and even some flounder. All the action is on live bait, but both live and fresh dead bait is plentiful.

Sandollar — Fishing is good with some anglers getting some good catches.

Accident Report

Youth Injured In Spill

Scott Raymond Tanner, 17, of Rockport was reportedly treated and released from Coastal Bend Hospital Tuesday, June 30, after his motorcycle fell on him as he was attempting a turn on Rockport Beach.

Police said the accident occurred about 8:40 p.m. as the youth was eastbound on Seabreeze Drive (formerly Rockport Beach Road) about three-fourths of a mile east of Laurel.

Witnesses said the youth attempted a turn and the bike fell on him. Witnesses allege Tanner was exceeding the 20 mile per hour speed limit on the road.

Paramedics of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service (EMS) were called to take the youth to the hospital in Aransas Pass.

Parks & Wildlife To Look At Red Catch

Sports catches of redfish and spotted trout will be reduced by about half in Aransas County if the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department carries through with proposed changes in fishing regulations.

A public hearing on the proposals has been called for 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 7, in Rockport's VFW Hall.

The TP&W proposal calls for reduction in the catch limit to five redfish (red drum) and 10 spotted sea trout per day and possession limit to 10 redfish and 20 sea trout.

A spokesman for the TP&W said this is half the present catch and possession limits for these fish.

Also proposed is a new minimum-maximum size limit on redfish. According to the TP&W spokesman, the minimum size limit on the fish under this proposal will be 16 inches and the maximum limit will be 30 inches.

The meeting Tuesday will be open to all interested persons.

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission is responsible, under state law, for setting of seasons, bag limits and methods of hunting and fishing in the state.

Savings Bond Sales Halfway To Goal

Sale of savings bonds in Aransas County for the first four months of 1981 amounted to $30,569 — a little more than half the year's goal of $60,000, according to County Bond Chairman Fred Bracht.

Sales are of Series EE and HH bonds and totalled $10,891 for the month of April.

April figures were released this month by area Savings Bond Sales Manager George Masot.

Masot reported total savings bonds sales in Texas for the first four months of the year came to $3,876,458, approximately 38 per cent of the year's goal of $10,190,000.

More Paramedics Recertified

Bruce McMahan of Rockport and Betty Whitliff of Mathis were among the paramedics recently completing a two-month recertification program in Rockport.

McMahan was recertified for his second term and Miss Whitliff for her third term following completion of the State Health Department Examination June 24.

Their names were inadvertently omitted from an earlier Pilot article naming other paramedics who recently completed the program.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dear Dr. Lutz,

I have a Siamese kitten that I think has the mange. My dog had mange, and a veterinarian in Houston prescribed medicine for him. Now, my dog is well. I still have some of this medicine left. Can I use it on my cat? — Mrs. Collins

Dear Mrs. Collins, Many mange medications used to treat dogs are toxic to cats. I would not advise applying any medication to your cat until a veterinarian has diagnosed the skin condition.

If it is mange, he will demonstrate the mite to you under the microscope after making a skin scraping. He will then suggest the proper therapy.

If you have any questions concerning your pet's health, send your letter to Dr. Hap Lutz at the Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf, Rockport, TX 78382. They will be answered in the Weekender.

Outdoors & Travel

by E. L. "Buck" Rogers

When is the best time to go fishing?

This question has been asked by anglers ever since Dame Juliana Berners authored the first book on angling in 1496. And, because fish are more fickle than golf balls, wives with headaches, or even faro dealers, this is a matter to be taken seriously.

I know a feller who insists that the best time to go fishing is when the leaves on a willow tree are the size of a squirrel's ears. This theory, although perhaps valid, is difficult to prove. Squirrels are frisky at that time of the year, and capturing one to examine its ears can pose a problem.

Other people claim that the fishing is always better on an incoming tide, but when you consider the tidal tables for states like Kansas and Illinois they aren't much help.

When a hound dog wakes up and starts scratching is good sign, but you gotta own a hound to put this program into effect. A poodle won't do and neither will one of the German breeds.

Moon phases work for some folks, and so does finding a horseshoe or a four leaf clover. My Braniff pilot friend insists that a sky filled with jet trails is a good omen. Another buddy of mine goes fishing when his golf game is off. Some say the fish bite best when the wind is from the west. Crappie fishing is usually good when the dogwood is in bloom. They cry of a rain crow is always a good sign. My neighbor has a kid who figures the best time to go fishing is when the grass needs to be mowed.

So there you have it. If you put things in the proper perspective, almost anytime is a good time to go fishing.
