First, One. . . Then Another

-- Til 5 Are Killed In Vietnam

First it was 22-year-old Private First Class Manuel C. Martinez, who left a welding torch and a wife and children behind to shoulder a rifle.

The date: Thursday, Oct. 23.

Then another: Private First Class Ralph M. Smith, 21-year-old college student who quit his college class to put his nation's military obligation behind him.

Killed Monday, Oct. 27.

Official notification has come by tersley worded telegram and from the polite officer in uniform whose duty it is to deliver, in person, the word of death.

For the Martinez home -- wife, Lupe, and Lisa, 2, and Junior, 4 months, and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Martinez, 1614 Peach -- the word came last Saturday.

It was Thursday for the Smiths at 2151 Locust -- Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith and Donna and George Leann.

Now, those families wait -- the wait known only to those who have waited before for a buddy to bring home the body of their loved one.

That's a politeness of the savage Vietnam War. A friend, if possible, to accompany home for funeral.

When?

Major Jim Frinkley of Abilene said additional information probably would be forwarded by the Army within a few days.

Their paths to war and death were different for these two young men, fourth and fifth from Mitchell County to die in Vietnam fighting.

Yet, they faced their military assignment with a sameness -- each shielding their families of their hardship or danger. Writing not a word of war from the battle area. . . ever careful in their attempt to minimize worry at home.

Smith - A Farming Dream Lost

Ralph Smith stepped on a booby trap, fired American grenade, 33 days after being assigned to the American Division in Vietnam.

He was buried in the mountains between Da Nang and Chu Lai. His father spoke Friday. He wrote us [illegible] the night of Da Nang at night.

That's about all the Smiths have learned in the brief notification from the military.

We supply [illegible] booby traps, not in the Vietnam.

Ralph was the typical child in his particular unit. He trained as a rifleman and left Fort Lewis, Wash., Sept. 12, arriving Cam Ranh Bay 14 hours later after stopping an hour in Hawaii and Guam. His assignment to the American Division came Sept. 16.

He trained as a rifleman," his father said. "But was afraid a radio on this level was forbidden."

Because he was the only typist around, he got the radio. "Extra work. If nobody else wanted it, I did."

We have no idea if the radio battle he was in."

Ralph's letters arrived in a rather hit and miss fashion. His letters just told us everything was going to be all right.

Young Smith loved the agriculture lands his father farmed in Mitchell County, and his family. That's why we wrote often.

Three letters this week. One letter written Oct. 24, to the home came after the major brought word of his death. Another to his sister, Donna, student at Howard County Junior College was written Oct. 25, the day before the rehade exploded.

PFC Ralph M. Smith

It was his usual [illegible] continued the father, an assistant [illegible] campaigns with the Battle flag 1st Cavalry Division in the Pacific and [illegible] to come back here and farm.

But all that came to [illegible] to year if not sooner. Then [illegible] to help [illegible] the son he left his father just before going overseas.

Martinez - A Son Never Seen

They knew Manuel Martinez had been in battle with the scarred 101st Airborne Division. His letters didn't say it. They just knew.

His letters stopped without warning several weeks last month. That wasn't like the young father who was born here in Mitchell County of parents who came north from Mexico in the earliest depression days to become Americans.

An inquiry through Red Cross told his wife her husband was all right but was unable to write.

Then, the letters came again. . .and, the last Oct. 23.

"I am writing you these few lines just to say that I am fine and at the same time hoping that you'll are in the very best of health."

"Thanks to our Lord," he added.

He was anxious for news about his wife, Lupe, little Liza and Manuel C. Martinez Jr., his junior son he never saw except in a photograph.

Hawaii and R&R, rest and recreation from the battle area, were just ahead on the calendar.

The soldier wasn't worried about death, not in his letters. Just concerned that his wife made it okay to Hawaii for the wonderful, but brief reunion.

He wrote his favorite brother, City Patrolman Nick Martinez, to be sure Lulu (his nickname for Lupe) made the right arrangements. . .received the right instructions. . . so her trip to Hawaii would be safe for her.

PFC Manuel Martinez

Oct. 12. That's why he was sure of R&R in about a month.

"Six months in Vietnam and I've got 182 more days to go before I'll be home with you and my family forever," he wrote Lulu.

"Don't worry about me. I'm fine. Just take care of our children for me."

Manuel C. Martinez, like most of those called to war, wasn't cut out to be a soldier. But he went with the draft without complaining, leaving his family and his job on a pipe line near Sweetwater as an apprentice welder.

He wasn't worried when he put on a uniform, when he trained at Fort Bliss,

Mrs. Boyd Leads Exes Association

Mrs. Boyd, the former Minnie Lee Strain, succeeds Jimmy Henderson in the leadership post.

Two other officers were named also for the association to serve with Mrs. Boyd, a member of the 1950 Class.

City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr. is the new vice president and Mrs. Ann Randle Davis, Class of 1951, is the new secretary - treasurer, completing the all-local slate of officers.

Approximately 200 persons attended the affair in the home-making department of the school.

Their post-game gathering was the final event for homecoming 1969 which opened with a downtown parade Friday afternoon and ending with a Colorado High Student Council sponsored dance.

Freshman Class entry -- Tranquility Base, a lunar module with a live astronaut and the American flag -- won top prize of $50 cash in the homecoming parade sponsored by student council.

Second place award went to Senior Class with its giant white Bible opened to the Old Testament scripture of Genesis Chapter 1, Verse 1, which was read back to earth by the first mission landing on the moon.

Junior Class with another contemporary theme was third place winner. Its float graphically depicted war, poverty, death and a replica of the moon with the banner, "Will The Moon Become the Earth's Twin."

Chairman of the Freshman Class's float committee was Ricky DeLaney. Serving with him were Billy Dockrey, Cindy Parker and Mary Margaret Sparks, class officers; Lona May, Darla Brown, Rosemary Chinn, Bruce Hill, Robert Cox, Bonnie Cruse.

Colorful halftime ceremonies crowned Mona McCarley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McCarley Jr., as homecoming queen. She received her crown from Supt. James McMath.

Presented to the crowd also was Mrs. Charles Baldwin, the former Jackie Smith, 1958 homecoming queen and now a resident of Cedar Hill, the coming home queen for the exes.

Colorado High's Black Knights of Precision band provided music for the coronation and while parade floats circled the playing field. Their marching performance was accompanied with the release of a hundred doves from the stadium and hundred of helium filled balloons floating skyward.

Coronation

Burglars Hit City, County

Two burglaries and an attempted break-in are being investigated by police and sheriff's department.

Four electric blankets and a combination .22 caliber rifle and shotgun were taken from a house on property of Dave Stubblefield south of Colorado City.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Forrest Smith said the stolen property belonged to Vernon Calhoun of Palestine, East Texas meat packer who has leases in this area and used the house when hunting.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the house. It is believed the burglary occurred between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

The person who took cash from the home of Mrs. Helen Clay, 1103 College, injured himself in the break-in.

Blood was in the house, apparently resulting when the burglar was cut breaking glass in the door.

Four dollars was taken from a purse, but more money was left behind.

Lucas Campos reported a burglary at the store on 14th Street, but police do not believe the building was entered.

However, the hasp was broken on a door Wednesday night, but money in a cash register was not disturbed.

State Award To County Committee

Mrs. A. L. Geer of Colorado City, chairman, guided the group to a third-place prize in the Millard C. Cope competition for the best program of work. This award recognizes the county survey committee which has presented a well-rounded and consistently good slate of activities throughout the past year.

Winners of the various county committee competitions were announced at the awards luncheon of the State Historical Survey Committee and its private affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation.

The new recognition is another in a long series of outstanding awards for Mitchell County Historical Survey Committee for its program of work.

Messy Witches Brew

Egg-Throwing Mars Halloween

Police are sighing with relief that Halloween is past.

The date for goblins and witches extended for two nights this October and, at times, it became difficult to determine if Halloween pranks were more than just mischief.

For instance, firemen answered calls to a half dozen fires in vacant buildings -- mostly shacks. The evidence definite more than once the blaze had been set.

Friday night the abandoned old pool hall structure in the northwest section of town flamed for the second consecutive night. This time there was oodles of gasoline still there when firemen arrived.

Thursday -- first night of Halloween celebration -- had fires in vacant structures on Concho, on Plum and as well as the old pool hall.

The shack on Concho burned to the ground. A fire also Friday afternoon burned wood crossties near State 208 (to Snyder) north of the city limits.

Eggs and balloons filled with water were choice Halloween weapons both nights. Police had scores of reports on this kind of stuff.

It was getting out of hand, at least many citizens reported, with unsuspecting autos being splattered and especially when spectators were "bombed" at the Colorado High-Stanton homecoming football game.

Somebody lobbed the eggs over the stadium -- mortar attack style -- onto more than one unlucky football fan. Driving was difficult for numerous game spectators after the game until they could get to a water hose and wash coats of smashed eggs from windshields and windows.

Watermelon became the weapon around in the vicinity of Colorado High for a period Thursday night. The water balloons were used both nights all over town, if the complaints phoned into police are accurate.

Twice police answered calls to stop kids from blocking streets.

Costly damage resulted Thursday night for some attending the Halloween Carnival at Kelley Elementary School. Two persons reported their car windows broken. Later, the same night a beer bottle was thrown through a car window parked at a cafe.

Among those souls most patient while under attack by Halloween pranksters was the water department crew working overtime on a line at 10:30 Thursday night.

"Ask 'em if they'll please throw their water balloons somewhere else instead of on us," they politely asked police.

Columnist Visits Federation

Reporter-News Columnist Is County Federation Speaker

Katharyn Duff, columnist for Abilene Reporter-News was guest speaker for a monthly meeting of Mitchell County Federation of Women's Club Tuesday afternoon in Mitchell County Public Library.

Miss Duff spoke to the group about communication and understanding.

She emphasized that persons need to pay attention to personal communications. Negligence of this will bring on unrest, unhappiness, split between generations and between races, the Page I columnist explained.

Of all the revolutions, technological or sociological, now have had the impact that comminications revolution has had.

"We have instant information," Miss Duff explained, "but not instant understanding."

"I believe in TV. . .but camera has tunnel vision. It explains what but not why.

Proper communications must include the written word."

Communications, private or mass, consists of three parts, Miss Duff continued, "you, me and media."

Private communications implies listening as well as talking; mass communication, participation of read, listener.

"You can talk back to printed word with a letter to editor," she advised. "You and I as readers must want to understand. Read both sides, think."

Communications is as air we breathe, part of every waking moment unless we be hermits in a cave, the writer said in concluding her remarks.

It is key to all civilization. Our troubles between peoples melt with proper communications.

"We need information. . . and to it add understanding."

Miss Duff was introduced by Mrs. Hubert Bassinger, Federation president, who presided in the business session.

Club reports were by Mrs. C. R. Green of Loraine's Atheneum Club; Miss Gladys Miller of Hesperians; Mrs. W. H. Boney of Hesperian Daughters; Mrs. E. L. Tiller of Self Culture; Mrs. Preston Morris, Hospital Auxiliary; Mrs. Gwan Strange, 1949 Study Club and Mrs. Eddie Piland of Zeta Delta.

Hospital Board Praises Work Of "Pink Ladies" Volunteers

Colorado City Hospital District Board of Directors recently issued a resolution praising work of Root Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The official proclamation read, "WHEREAS, the Root Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, in fulfilling the high purposes of its organization has rendered, with interest, devotion, compassion and understanding, City Hospital District Board valuable assistance to the patients, staff and management of Root Memorial Hospital and Root Valley Fair Lodge, and

"WHEREAS, the Root Memorial Hospital Auxiliary celebrates the month of September 1969 as the first anniversary of its activities,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Colorado of Directors on this 22nd Day of September 1969 that the Board expresses its deep appreciation for the unselfish service of each member of the Root Memorial Hospital Auxiliary."

The resolution - signed by Murrell Blassingame, board president, and Bob Reily, secretary - was presented to Auxiliary members this week.

The "pink ladies" 1969 project is the refurnishing of a hospital room which will be financed through work of the Auxiliary. A garage sale last weekend netted the group approximately $300 to be used in the project, according to Mrs. Weldon McMillan, sale chairman.

Mrs. Gary Baker, chairman of membership committee, Friday issued an open invitation to every woman in the community to join the organization. Interested women are to contact Mrs. Baker at 728-3963.

Mrs. McMillan and other Auxiliary officers also expressed appreciation to each person who made donations to the sale, and to the Record and KVMC for their assistance in publicity of the event.

CONVERSATION CORNER

NEWSPAPER people are usually a peculiar breed. Most of them take the same sort of pride in their profession that medical men have in theirs—though doctors would be the last to agree with that diagnosis.

It is widely believed in some less informed circles that newspaper reporters devote most of their time to thinking up mistakes to put in print. . .to leaving out names. . .and to hurting people's tender feelings.

That simply is not so.

HAVE the impression that it must have been more fun several generations ago to be in the newspaper business.

Back then, no editor worth his salt ever went to press without righteously roasting somebody or something. And if the editor had to "lick the guy what says that it ain't so," after every issue, that was part of his calling.

According to the late John Baze, longtime Record employee, some early-day West Texas editors kept a six-shooter handy just in case some irate citizen came in to resent publication of an arrest for cattle rustling. . .

FUNNIEST little item read lately had to do with the first Henry Ford, "The Flivver King," and a feud with an editor.

Mr. Ford didn't live in West Texas, of course, but he did live in the age when all good newspapers indulged in name-calling.

Seems a big paper editor in Chicago called Mr. Ford an ignoramus. In print. Right in front of the whole world.

Henry Ford the first sued the paper for one million dollars. After a bitterly fought court contest, Mr. Ford won his suit, though lawyers for the newspaper did their best to prove to the jury that the plaintiff WAS an ignoramus—when it came to knowledge of history, geography, and any number of subjects.

So Henry Ford the first was awarded judgement of exactly six cents!

ANYHOW, back to the subject of the fierce pride reporters and editors almost always have concerning their "fourth estate," this member of the press is beginning to turn soft, to waver a little.

It's all "on account of because" of current headlines. Pick up any daily paper and what do you see?

DEPRESSING, that's what. As a reader, sometimes feel like protesting. Nobody should try to get along in this age without protesting something or other.

As a news writer, learned longer ago that it's wise to remember that bank robbers rate bigger headlines than Nobel Prize winners. That's the way the presses roll.

What the world needs now, among other things, is happier headlines, thinks this reader. But then, no newspaper makes the headlines. They only 'write 'em.' People make 'em.

And there are days when the only bright spots in the press are in Paul Crume's Big D, Katharyn Duff's Page One, and Peanuts. . .wherein even Snoopy is just back from a hearing before the Head Beagle.

ALL AROUND the town people are gloating over the return of the sunshine—even us veteran rain lovers.

Saw Mrs. O. L. Simpson on the downtown scene. She and her friend Mrs. Jasper Wood are just back from a visit in Houston, rain capital of Texas.

With her welcome little letter came a request for a new subscription for the Ellwood son, Perry Ellwood, who lives now in Grapevine.

FAMILIAR FACES various places belonged to County Judge Elmer Martin and his little wife Billie. . .to Johnnie (Mrs. B. W.) Tartt. . .Aveline Hallmark Rothwell (Mrs. Ed). . . Lena Strange, wife of Gwan. . .Clydine Stickney. . .Eleanor (Mrs. W. K.) Cowan.

Saw Mrs. Douglas Burns of the LTNS (long time no see) department. . .Winnie Maddin, wife of Lucien. . .Mary and Dell Barber. . .pretty Esther Guelker, wife of Jay. . .Bea Richards, wife of "Pint."

Spied Betty (Mrs. John M. Sr.) Worrell. . .Gillian McEntire, who changes the least of nearly anybody you ever knew. . . Gwen and Dick Wistrand. . .Weldon Kirk, district attorney, and his wife Mary, here from Sweetwater.

COFFEE CREWS having fun were made up of Willie Landau, Ross Daniels, and Tex Keel at one table. . .Ed Strain and J. B. Marshall at another. . .Marcus Vest and R. B. Baker in a booth together.

Afternoon coffee-takers included Jeff Taylor, Jay Craddock, and Joe Bell.

Saw Bill Erwin and his cute wife Gloria. . .Buddy and Lu Hertenberger. . .Our new sheriff's deputy Delmer Lowe. . . Virginia (Mrs. Toby) Dearen. . .Jack Parse, nice young Presbyterian pastor. . .Curtis and Alice Baker, FM (favorite musicians).

TELEPHONE talks which brightened dark, dreary, and rainy days, came from Mrs. J. A. Sadler, Sr. . .Frances (Mrs. Gus) Chesney. . .Nell (Mrs. Bennett) Scott, strong believer in "flowers for the living," Shana (Mrs. Hubert) Bassinger. . . and next-door neighbor Bill Doss who reports his wife Nettie is improving.

Did you know that the Roots, Charles and Maxie Lee, left Monday night for a two-week vacation? They visited Charles' sister Julia Mae and her husband Jimmy Cook, then the two couples planned to fly from San Francisco to Hawaii.

Craddock Speaks To Lunchroom Workers

J. S. Craddock Jr., tax assessor and collector for Colorado Independent School District, was guest speaker Tuesday in a meeting of Mitchell County Chapter of Texas School Food Service Association.

Craddock reviewed statistics of lunchroom expenditure.

He emphasized that lunchrooms are a part of the school program and very essential "since a child can learn better when he has a full stomach."

"Our breakfast programs are helping in this way."

Mrs. Clyde Cooley, president of the food service chapter, presided in the business session in which committee reports from National School Lunch Week were heard and yearbooks were discussed.

Hosting the regular meeting were Colorado Junior High lunchroom personnel - Mrs. Mardell Feaster, Mrs. A. W. Phillips, Mrs. John Stansel and Mrs. Roy Howell.

Refreshments of cocoa, coffee and cookies were served to the guest speaker and chapter members - Mrs. Arlie Moore, Mrs. Walter Ramsey, Mrs. Archie Feaster, Mrs. E. O. Bassinger, Mrs. Johnnie Mitchell, Mrs. Lloyd Harris.

Mrs. Merl Currie, Mrs. Stan Hamner, Mrs. H. C. Blassingame, Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Wendell Thomas.

Also, Mrs. A. C. Pruitt, Mrs. Oscar Higginbotham, Mrs. E. E. Cooper, Mrs. Jack Bowen, Mrs. Feaster, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Stansel.

Hesperians Daughters Hear History Of Woman Suffrage

"The status and rights of women have been discussed, argued and fixed by councils and legislative bodies composed only of men over a period of many centuries," Mrs. John M. Worrell told members of Hesperian Daughters Study Club recently in the home of Mrs. E. V. Grantland.

"And all such matters have not been settled to this modern day."

Mrs. Worrell was speaking of "Woman Suffrage-Privileges Gained and Lost" when she defined suffrage as meaning, among other things, vote, and "of course, woman suffrage means woman vote."

She traced the history of woman and her limited rights prior to the 19th amendment to the constitution, beginning in 1869 when Territorial Legislature of Wyoming encated the right of Woman Suffrage.

"All of the many objections to equal rights and suffrage for woman have now been disapated from the minds of most thinking people. With the right to manage her own property women has gained equality and lost some protection. It is now recognized that the liberation of womanhood and the recognization of her equality with men has enriched our society and is one of the main factors in the progress of our nation." Mrs. Worrell explained in conclusion of her report.

The afternoon meeting was opened with the reading of "A Collect for Club Women."

Attending were Mrs. J. E. White, Mrs. B. R. Whitson, Mrs. Weems Dykes, Mrs. B. W. Tartt, Mrs. W. H. Boney, Mrs. Worrell and Mrs. Grantland.

Next meeting of the club will be Nov. 6 in the Worrell home.

"He was making his grades, but he wanted to get it off -- the military service -- so it wouldn't be hanging over him."

"With it out of the way, he could do what he wanted to do."

"So, he quit college and waited for the draft."

While he was waiting for Uncle Sam's call last April 10, Ralph worked with another man to build a fence.

"He was a working boy, all right," his father spoke proudly.

The Army has notified the Smiths that Russ Emerson, a schoolmate of Ralph's in San Angelo State, will escort the body to Colorado City from California. Emerson is stationed at Fort Riley, Kan.

His burial will be in the country soil he loved. . .in a family plot beside his mother's grave in Teeville Cemetery near the old Rogers School building in northwest area of the county.

In the meantime the family at home, his grandparents -- Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker of Colorado City and Mrs. M. J. Whirley of Westbrook -- wait.

El Paso, and moved on to California and Vietnam.

"His dad was proud," his brother, Nick, said. "He said his son served like a man. . .without complaining."

"He was just thinking lately about going to Hawaii, being with his family," Nick continued. "Then finishing his time and coming home to go to work for his family."

Manuel was a worker. He dropped out of school after the seventh grade. His first full-time job was with Morris Laundry. . .then with Dennis Walding Service Station.

His family doesn't know where or exactly how death came to the 21-year-old private first class.

It was a military mission and the airborne soldier had just disembarked from a military helicopter. The copter overturned, striking Manuel.

"It must have been as he was going into combat," Nick surmized, "just landing on a mission. . .when it happened."

Of course, the family back here didn't know he was going back into action. He never told them before.

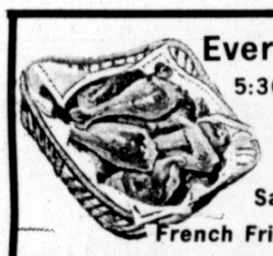

Only Nick had been told about the earlier fighting. And he had kept it a secret.

"He wrote once. . .that it was hell."

"But he asked me not to tell his wife or his folks. So, I never did."

Manuel's body will be escorted home by his nephew, Reuben Martinez, who also is in Vietnam with an infantry unit and who finished Colorado High with Ralph Smith.

When? The Army isn't sure, but the major said possibly about Nov. 7.
