Bottle Feeds Carp

CULLMAN, Ala. (AP)—Joe Welber, operator of a marina on Smith Lake, has trained a school of carp to surface beside the dock and suck food from a baby bottle.

She feeds the fish, ranging in size from 3 to 12 pounds, several times a day, depending on the number of visitors to the marina, located in remote north-central Alabama.

The baby bottle is filled with a mixture of chicken mash and stale bread, and the end of the nipple is cut off. Mrs. Welber squirts a little of the mixture on the water to lure the carp, then holds a bottle out for them to take more.

The carp—a scavenger sucker fish—can empty a bottle with two or three quick sucks on the nipple in a few seconds.

"I've lost several bottles and I don't know how many nipples," Mrs. Welber said in an interview. "They jerked them right out of my hand, they sucked so hard."

It all began, she said, when her husband Charles put some captured fish in a wire cage to see how long they would live.

"I noticed when feeding them stale bread that other fish would come up close to the cage to try getting some," she said. "So I decided to try feeding some alongside the marina dock."

Some bream came first and now they swarm in by the hundreds to eat stale bread from her hand. The carp soon followed, and 16 different carp have surfaced to feed from the bottle.

Mrs. Welber said she decided to try a baby bottle because of the shape of the carps' mouths and the way they sucked the bread from her hand.

"I thought I'd never stop laughing when the first one took the bottle. It was the funniest thing I'd ever seen. They took it as naturally as a new born baby," she said.

Today In History

By HE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 10, the 253rd day of 1973. There are 112 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1813, an American naval force under Capt. Oliver Perry defeated the British at the Battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.

On this date—

In 1608, John Smith was elected governor of the Jamestown colony in Virginia.

In 1755, five thousand Acadians were banished from Nova Scotia.

In 1846, Elias Howe received a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1898, Empress Elizabeth of Austria-Hungary was assassinated in Geneva.

In 1907, the British colony of New Zealand became a dominion.

In 1939, Canada declared war against Germany.

Ten years ago: Negroes entered white public schools in the Alabama cities of Birmingham, Tuskegee and Mobile after the state's National Guard was put under federal control.

Five years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson said the United States would not stop bombing North Vietnam until Hanoi offered reciprocal military restraint.

One year ago: The United States vetoed a U.N. Security Council resolution that called for an immediate cessation of military operations in the Middle East.

URGES ACTION ON PRIORITY LEGISLATION

Nixon Set To Compromise

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major new effort to put Watergate behind him, President Nixon told the Democratic-controlled Congress today that he is ready to compromise "on solutions to our national problems."

Submitting a special 15,000-word State of the Union message, Nixon urged action this year on his priority legislation and stated anew actions he opposes: a tax increase, red-ink spending, hefty defense cuts and the busing of school children to achieve racial balance.

Mingling compliments with criticism, Nixon said he welcomes "a congressional renaissance" and is "ready to find workable compromises wherever possible on solutions to our national problems."

While making repeated pledges of cooperation, the President emphasized that if Congress votes more money than he wants, he will not hesitate to veto spending bills and impound appropriations.

He also said he "will continue to oppose all efforts to strip the presidency of powers it must have to be effective"—an apparent threat to veto any legislation that would limit his war powers.

Nixon displayed the olive branch more prominently than the willow switch, however.

Asserting a belief in a strong Congress as well as a strong presidency, he said, "There can be no monopoly of wisdom on either end of Pennsylvania Avenue and there should be no monopoly of power."

"... If we proceed in a spirit of constructive partnership, our varying perspectives can be a source of great creativity rather than a cause of deadlock," Nixon said.

While saying Congress has yet to act on more than 50 of his proposals, Nixon focused attention on selected bills he said would meet "many pressing problems which must be solved with dispatch."

The priority items include trade, tax and pension reform, energy proposals, special revenue sharing for public schools, local control of community development funds, anti-crime bills and creation of a campaign reform commission.

Nixon did not directly mention the Watergate scandal, but in discussing election reform he said "no subject over the last few months has so stirred public comment and reflection."

In light of this, he said, "I am at a loss to understand why only the Senate has acted," on setting up a reform-study commission.

Nixon said the public "might well ask whether the interest in reform is restricted to calling for changes rather than making changes."

Acknowledging he does not expect action this year on all his proposals, the President said cooperation could produce "genuine progress this fall" on priority measures.

"I am fully prepared to work closely with members of the Congress in hammering out modifications of these bills," he said.

Nixon added:

"There are, of course, certain principles of vital national concern which cannot be compromised—the need for budgetary discipline, for a strong national security posture, and for the preservation of the requisite powers of the executive branch. But within these limits I stand ready to find workable compromises ..."

The President rankled some congressional Democrats last week when he said at a news conference that Congress had compiled "a very disappointing record" in dealing with his legislative initiatives.

ON WATERGATE TAPES

President's Lawyers Urge Court To Nullify Ruling

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers urged an appeals court today to nullify federal Judge John J. Sirica's Watergate tapes ruling. Ultimately, the ruling implies "far too high a price to pay for atonement of Watergate," the lawyers said.

The President's lawyers maintained that the judge had no authority to issue his Aug. 29 order that Nixon turn over for Sirica's private inspection tape recordings of White House conversations on Watergate.

Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox contended in a separate filing that the order was not broad enough, that his staff—not Sirica—should determine what the Watergate grand jury should hear from the tapes.

Sirica, named as a respondent in the appeals court action as the White House lawyers pressed the historic legal battle, they contended that Sirica reached his decision "by casting the Constitution in the mold of Watergate rather than by applying constitutional practices and restraints to the facts of Watergate."

"As recently as a year ago such a ruling would have been unthinkable," the White House lawyers contended, because the universal view of the legal community was that the courts lacked power to compel the President to produce such confidential material. But the lawyers said Watergate had brought a change in the climate of legal and popular opinion, and added:

"The hydraulic force arising out of that sordid and unhappy episode has led men of great distinction to suppose that the Constitution means something different today than it meant throughout all of our history and to contend that the need to exhaust every avenue of factual inquiry concerning Watergate ranks so high in our national priorities that it must be served, even if the cost is to impair markedly the ability of every President of the United States from this time forward to perform the constitutional duties vested in him."

Consumers Find Little Change In Beef Prices

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers shopping for beef found little change in prices today, despite the lifting of the ceiling imposed more than five months ago. No one knew for sure just what would happen later in the week.

John Shepherd, a spokesman for Safeway stores in the Washington, D.C., area, said: "As of right now nothing has changed. We are still studying the regulations. We also need to know what the wholesale market is going to do."

The story was the same in Miami. Ron Pitts, the manager of a Public supermarket, said he was waiting to see what would happen when suppliers issue new price lists, reflecting not only the end of the beef ceiling, but also the beginning of new regulations on other foods.

For now, Pitts said, "all our prices stayed the same—not one cent change."

Many industry spokesmen said consumer buying patterns would be a major factor in determining the price trend.

"If the housewives decide the price is too high and don't buy, then the price is going to have to come back down," said Ed Spear, a spokesman for Armour & Co. "On the other hand, if they continue buying, it may go up some."

A spokesman for the Pathmark chain, which operates about 100 stores along the Eastern Seaboard, said meat prices won't change before Wednesday—the day the beef ceiling originally was scheduled to end. The government announced Friday that the freeze would be lifted two days early, partly to prevent shortages.

"The general feeling at this time is that there could be lower prices on the more important beef cuts," the Pathmark spokesman said.

Most supermarket officials contacted in an early morning check today said it was too early to tell where prices were going.

Panel Seeks Clear glass

Do you have any surplus glass?

If so, the decorations committee for the Billionth Barrel of Oil Celebration wants it—that is if it is the right kind.

They need clear glass bottles and jars for their project and a special trailer will be stationed on the parking lot behind the Texas Electric Service Co. office to collect contributions. If you have some clear glass bottles and jars to contribute, just take them by and drop them in the trailer. Tinted or colored glass, plate glass and auto glass will not do—it must be plain clear glass.

The committee hopes to obtain a quantity of the glass promptly so that work may proceed on their project for the Billionth Barrel event.

Condemnation Ends Summit

ALGIERS (AP) — The fourth summit conference of nonaligned nations has ended with condemnation of Israel and U.S. Indochina policy, endorsement of Soviet restrictions on Jewish emigration and a pledge to fight "neocolonialist exploitation."

The Arabs were heartened by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's announcement at the closing session Sunday that Cuba was breaking diplomatic relations with Israel.

Castro's action brought prolonged applause from the delegates. But in Jerusalem the Israeli government expressed regret, saying relations between Cuba and Israel had always been normal.

Contact between Israel and Cuba has been chiefly commercial. Six African nations attending the Algiers conference have broken relations with the Jewish state in the past 18 months because of Arab pressure and economic aid.

Despite squabbles and animosities during their five-day meeting, the leaders from 76 countries made clear that they expected to exert greater influence on the major powers' conduct of international affairs.

"We are certain that no important decisions can be taken henceforth, whether in the field of disarmament, the organization of world trade or the renewal of the world monetary system, without the effective participation of the Third World," the conference chairman, President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria, said in his closing speech.

The underlying theme of the meeting was a desire by the nonaligned countries to use the raw materials they produce as a means of influencing the industrialized nations. But the inability of 10 Arab members of the conference to agree on how to use their oil to put pressure on the United States underlined the impossibility of getting 76 nations to agree on unified action.

Instead they adopted resolutions that were not binding on the participating nations, and they failed to agree on a permanent organization to try to get the resolutions carried out.

The political declaration accused Israel of a policy of aggression, expansion and annexation and urged all governments to prevent emigration to the Jewish state.

London Stations Bombed

LONDON (AP) — Bombs exploded at two London railway stations today, injuring 11 persons, authorities reported.

Police originally said one man was killed in the blasts, but Scotland Yard announced later that he was still alive "but in a very bad way."

Bomb scares also were reported at two other rail terminals. The blasts and warnings all came around noon.

Police said the largest explosion was at Euston Station, a main terminal for trains from the north of England and Scotland. Boat trains from Ireland go via Liverpool to Euston.

A three-minutes warning was given there.

A man with an Irish accent called the Press Association, a British domestic news agency, and said: "There's a bomb in the Euston station snack bar due to go off any minute."

Denson Rites Set Tuesday

Lee Denson, 71, who lived at 2408 Thirty-second, died at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Mr. Denson was born Nov. 12, 1901, in Hill County and had been a resident of Scurry County since 1949. He was a Baptist.

Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Tuesday in Bell-Seale Chapel. Rev. Jack Riley, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under the direction of Bell Seale Funeral Home.

He married Ora Ford Dec. 1, 1929, in Roscoe. She survives.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Betty Lyons of Pasedena; a sister, Mrs. Ersa Hopkins of Sweetwater; three brothers, Oscar Denson of Snyder, Lloyd Denson of Colorado City and H.C. Denson, of Anchorage, Alaska, 3 grandchildren and 1 great grandchild.

Decision On Taps Report Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson today offered the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a glimpse at the summary of an FBI report on national security wiretaps.

The committee put off until later today a decision on whether to pursue the material, requested in its consideration of the nomination of Henry A. Kissinger to be Secretary of State.

Richardson, in a 90-minute closed session, offered the committee a memorandum drawn from a summary of wiretaps reportedly undertaken of 13 government officials and four newsmen.

Those who were tapped included individuals on Kissinger's National Security staff in the White House. The wiretaps were undertaken to detect the source of security information leaks to the press early in 1969.

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright said the committee would meet again privately at 4 p.m. today to decide what further course to pursue.

Richardson told newsmen that the complete FBI summary was determined by the Justice Department to be irrelevant to the qualifications of Kissinger to join the Cabinet.

He said the memorandum drawn from the summary which he gave to the committee did not name any of the individuals whose telephone conversations were recorded by the FBI.

Richardson said he assured the committee that no member of the committee staff was subjected to electronic surveillance while employed by the committee.

One of those reportedly subjected to wiretapping while a member of the national security staff was Richard Moose, now a foreign relations committee staff investigator.

Fulbright's only comment to newsmen on emerging from the closed-door meeting was that the wiretap procedure itself is relevant to the inquiry as to Kissinger's qualifications.

Richardson said one of the questions still unresolved in his long meeting with the committee was what information the committee needs to carry out its responsibilities of judging the qualifications of the nominee.

Senior citizens tell their biggest problems

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You asked senior citizens what their biggest problems were. Money? Health? Loneliness? Boredom?

I can't speak for the men, but I can tell you that the biggest problems most women have are as follows:

When husbands retire they follow the wife around all day remarking on how she does the housework, cooking, etc. and none of it is complimentary.

Also, he never lets his wife go anywhere alone. He has to tag along because his own interest in sex is waning, and he starts accusing her of seeing other men. In other words, they get jealous because they can't perform as well themselves.

Men retire, but we middle-class wives continue to do our regular housework because of our limited income, which has been worsened by inflation.

Doctors who see senior citizens will confirm the above, for which there is no solution at the present time. But with women's liberation, maybe the future will be better for coming generations.

I can't sign my name because all phone calls and mail are monitored here, and I'll have to carry this around in my purse until I can sneak it into a mailbox.

TRAPPED IN FORT MEYERS

DEAR ABBY: Yes, I have a problem. How does a senior citizen find a place to live? Had my name in for one project for two years, and the building started to sink. Applied to get into another and was told they were filled, and had a waiting list of 500. Something should be done about housing for us. I'm not ready for a nursing home yet.

EASTERNER

DEAR ABBY: I'm 75, and a widower. I made my first trip to a foreign country at age 70. At 71, I started making my own sourdough bread, and now I can't stand bakery bread. At 73, I started making my own jellies and jams. I enjoy life because I keep active.

I've sent for a copy of the LIVING WILL, thanks to you. I wish to live, but I am not interested in existing.

F. E. W., KENT, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow in my sixties, nice figure, and I'm told I'm attractive. My problem is finding a GOOD man. They either drink too much and want sex, or they're too old. One older man wanted to marry me. He said: "You buy the house, Honey, and I'll cut the grass." He could hardly walk two blocks, so I'm wondering how he could cut the grass.

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: We are both 77 years old, and have been married 53 years. First we liked each other, then we loved each other, and now we adore each other. Our problem? We would like to die together.

HARTWIG AND HELEN IN BERKELEY

DEAR ABBY: Well, you asked for it. My biggest problem is making ends meet. Medicare and Blue Cross will not pay even a part of my medical bills. All I have is my Social Security and it's not enough.

SHORT IN ST. LOUIS

DEAR ABBY: I try not to think about it, but my children are too busy to come to see me, and if I waited for them to call me on the phone, I'd never hear from them. My grandchildren are no better. They send presents once in a while, but the best present would be for them to visit me more often.

NEGLECTED IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: I just had my 75th birthday, and my only complaint is all the talk I hear about "poor old Grandma!"

I love to read, watch TV, listen to the radio, and crochet. I don't drive, but I often take the bus to have dinner out somewhere alone. I find most company (especially relatives) very tiring. I just love to be alone.

GRANDMA IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR ABBY: I'm 74, wear eyeglasses, false teeth, a hearing aid, and I walk with a cane. But I'm happy because I'm a born-again Christian.

I can smell the fragrance of my flowers, and feel the softness of my cat, and I can eat anything I can afford to buy.

I'm on old age pension and can't afford a radio or TV, but I have lots of good books. I can't afford a phone or even a newspaper but I can avail myself of my neighbor's in both cases.

I've always been poor, so it's no hardship. Besides, I'll have a mansion by and by.

GLADYS IN CHILLICOTHE, OHIO

DEAR READERS: If you didn't like this column, you won't like tomorrow's either. It's more from our wonderful senior citizens who wrote in by the thousands!

Officers Probe Shooting Here

City Police are investigating a shooting incident between two carloads of local youths that reportedly occurred early about 2:15 a.m. Sunday in the 3400 block of Avenue M.

Police said several shots apparently were fired from two moving motor vehicles. No arrests were made, but officers confiscated a pistol from a local youth early this morning. They said a charge of carrying a prohibited weapon would be filed against him.

Connally Preaches Party

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — In his inaugural speech from the Republican political pulpit, John Connally preached his newly embraced GOP message with the fervor of an evangelist.

The silver-haired Connally jabbed the air with a finger and told 1,700 California Republicans:

"I left the Democratic party of my father to join the Republican party of my children's future."

The enthusiastic banquet crowd, full of avid Ronald Reagan supporters, burst into applause. It was the first of more than a dozen times Connally was interrupted during his appearance Saturday night.

After his speech to the 1973 fall Republican state convention, crowd pressed around the former Texas governor and lifelong Democrat who became a Republican last May 2.

Standing aside, smiling proudly, was his wife Nellie, dressed in a black floor-length gown.

An enthusiastic well-wisher walked up to Mrs. Connally and said, "He should have been in the ministry."

Mrs. Connally seemed to think a second and then, is a quiet voice, replied, "Maybe he is."

For now, Connally's mission is to roam the country talking about its problems and its needs and demonstrate that the Republican party is the best instrument to solve them.

But there were few people in the banquet hall Saturday who doubted that the mission might lead to a bid for the Republican presidential nomination in 1976.

A convention delegate asked Connally as he was leaving the hall: "When can we open your Los Angeles headquarters?"

"No. We're not running for anything," Connally said.

He had told reporters earlier in the day that the idea of being President is a challenging one, but he's not certain he would want the job.

"I also feel terrified at the thought of it," said the man who was with John F. Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963 and himself was critically wounded by the assassin who killed Kennedy that day.

"It's a task you have to dedicate the rest of your life to, to the exclusion of everything else...it's the most difficult task, I suppose, in the world."

"I'm not ruling it out and I'm not ruling it in," he said.

From San Diego, Connally flew to Washington, where he will be the star of a reception tonight in conjunction with a meeting of the Republican National Committee.

Spiro Agnew Joins Counter-Offensive

By RICHARD H. PYLE
Associated Press Writer

ST. CHARLES, Ill. (AP) — Whether on direct orders from the White House or not, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has joined what appears to be a broadening counter-offensive by the Nixon administration against its critics and accusers.

Addressing a Republican fund-raising party here Saturday night, Agnew delivered an appeal to public opinion that in its forcefulness was reminiscent of his hammerings against the press two and three years ago.

The speech echoed some of President Nixon's own comments on Watergate, but aides of the vice president insisted the speech was developed by the Agnew staff without orders from the White House, with no White House input, and without White House approval.

Whatever its origins, the speech was certain to be well received by Nixon for what it said about Watergate and what it said about the Republican party and the public in general.

The 2,300 Republicans who paid $10 a ticket to hear Agnew were reassured that the party was not responsible for the Watergate affair and had not suffered as badly from it as might be assumed.

In fact, the vice president said, the GOP recently has won important elections in Georgia, Mississippi, Michigan, California and Maryland, and is in line for additional victories in Virginia and New Jersey. He said this was because "the American people are looking for outstanding candidates who intend to get on with the business of government and stop playing politics every single day of the week."

On the other hand, Agnew said, Watergate has become a "morbid preoccupation" in Washington. He said that not only do the administration's opponents seek to destroy Nixon with it, but that they are breeding a "persecutorial atmosphere" and impeding government efforts to get on with more important affairs of state, thereby obstructing the will of the people.

Closely paralleling as they did the President's own criticism of the Senate Watergate committee, these comments drew strong response from the GOP faithful who cheered Agnew and interrupted his 26-minute speech 23 times with applause.

As expected, Agnew made only an indirect illusion to his own problems stemming from a federal grand jury kickback probe in Maryland.

Hoyle Service Held Sunday

Funeral service was held at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel for Mrs. R.C. (Alice Margaret) Hoyle, who died Saturday morning in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. S.V. Clanton and the Rev. Ken Andress officiated at the funeral service. Burial was in Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Man Treated For Gunshot

Donnie Mac Franks, 22, 2706 Avenue Z, was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service about 11:35 p.m. Sunday for treatment of a gunshot wound.

His condition remains critical. Police said Franks was shot in the stomach with a .22 caliber revolver. Officers said they recovered the weapon from in front of his home.

Two Vehicles In Collision

Minor damage resulted from a two-car collision on the parking lot at the Medical Arts Clinic at 9:43 a.m. today.

Involved were the parked 1973 Model Ford of Stuart Pharmaceuticals, Midland, and a 1970 Model Ford driven by Lola Rhodes Walton, Route 1, Snyder.

Miss America Voices Opinions

By CHRIS CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Rebecca Ann King started her 12 months in the spotlight as Miss America 1974 by noting that she's learned to be careful when talking with newsmen.

"Maybe they're not on the same wavelength as you," said the 23-year-old Sterling, Colo., blonde at the traditional breakfast news-conference Sunday morning.

Then she offered such opinions as marijuana should be legalized because "it should be the individual's own choice."

The 36-24-36 beauty — who was crowned shortly before midnight Saturday by her predecessor, Terry Anne Meeuwsen of Wisconsin — was raised on a farm in Iowa and spent the last year helping arrange press conferences while working in public relations in Denver.

A registered Republican who wants to become a juvenile court judge and enter politics, Miss King told reporters that working within the system is "the only way you're going to get anything done."

And she gave opinions on:

—The Watergate investigation — "I think it's going to be helpful for us."

—President Nixon — "He's not beyond being criticized."

—Barry Goldwater — She'd like him as the next president but "he's too old now."

Miss King shed no tears when she was crowned and remained unruffled backstage.

"She's a calm, cool, collected kid," said her father, Wylie King, a Hancock, Iowa, farmer.

The pageant went off without a hitch despite picketing Thursday and Saturday by firemen in a contract dispute with the city. The contestants, musicians and other unionized pageant workers spent most of Saturday in Convention Hall to avoid any conflict with pickets.

Miss King, who was second runner-up for the Miss Colorado title last year, is the third Miss America from her state. The others were Sharon Ritchie (1956) and Marilyn Van Derbur (1958).

She can expect to earn upwards of $100,000 from personal appearances during the coming year.

Rural Water Session Set

Rural water corporation leaders from area of the Rolling Plains will meet in Abilene Sept. 19 to discuss special items of interest related to the operation of their systems.

The session will start at 7 p.m. in the Starlite Motor Hotel in Abilene and will include water system leaders from Taylor, Runnels, Coke, Nolan, Jones, Fisher, Callahan, Shackelford, Mitchell, Scurry, Haskell, and Stonewall Counties. The meeting is sponsored by the Texas Association of Rural Water Corporations, Austin.

Featured during the meeting will be Association director M.D. Bagley, Hawley. Don Newhouse, Farmers Home Administration, will discuss current activities of the F.H.A. related to loans and requirements of borrowers.

Another agenda item will be a discussion of legislation passed during the last session of the Texas Legislature related to non-profit rural water corporations. Special attention will be called to a bill that passed giving rural water corporations the option to elect board of directors on staggered terms if they have less than nine directors.

Also a discussion will be centered on Amandment Nine that will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot. State office representative Neal Johnson will cover the amandment that will give the Texas Legislature authority to write legislation exempting non-profit water supply corporations from ad valorem taxation.

Sports Blackout Lifts OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Communications subcommittee approved legislation Monday that would lift the local television blackouts of sold-out home pro football games.

Chairman Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., took less than 15 minutes to gain the approval of the measure that would ban blackouts on any national televised game that is sold out 72 hours prior to the contest.

Last Thursday, the Senate passed similar legislation by a vote of 76-6.

Pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle testified last week that if Congress passed definitive legislation banning the local blackouts, the National Football League would not wait for President Nixon to sign it into law but would begin televising the games locally.

Shoulder Pads Back In Style

COLLEGE STATION—Give your fashion wardrobe a real lift with an easy-to-use designer's touch—shoulder pads.

"These shape inserts return to the fall and winter scenes—appearing in everything from blouses to dresses to jackets," Mrs. Vivian Simmons, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.

"Shoulder pads help clothes hand better and provide a soft shape.

"They also conceal minor figure faults," the specialist continued.

"For example, shoulders that slope too much—or differ in slopes—can be concealed through proper placement of pads."

These shape inserts come in styles for set-in sleeves, raglan sleeves and menswear, she said.

When shopping for shoulder pads, select lightweight ones for a soft, fluid line rather than arigid, raised shoulder.

"If too thick, pads distort a garment's natural shape," Mrs. Simmons explained.

"Also, select pads that require the same care as the outer fabric."

To apply, first try on the garment for exact placement, the specialist instructed.

"From the outside, pin pad securely on one side of the seam.

"Open out any facings at the shoulders to avoid unnecessary bulk. Then sew pads to seam allowances."

SATURDAY NIGHT REFRESHER
Edith Brenner's Pastries
Coffee or Tea
EDITH BRENNER'S PASTRIES

From a Richmond, Va., hostess.

- 1 cup butter
- 2 cups unsifted flour
- 1 egg yolk
- ½ cup commercial sour cream
- ½ cup dried apricots, cut small
- ½ cup flaked coconut
- ¼ cup finely chopped pecans
- ¼ cup sugar

In a medium mixing bowl with a pastry blender cut butter into flour until particles are fine. In a small bowl beat the egg yolk; add sour cream and beat to combine; with a fork gradually stir into flour mixture until blended. Wrap dough in plastic wrap and chill 6 hours or overnight. Divide dough into 4 parts. On a floured pastry cloth with a floured stockinet-covered rolling pin roll out 1 part of dough to a 10-inch round. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons each of the apricots and coconut and 1 tablespoon each of the pecans and sugar. Cut the round into 12 wedges and beginning at the wide end, roll up each wedge. Treat each of the remaining 3 parts of dough the same way. Place on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 20 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

Ira PTA Hosts Ice Cream Supper

The Ira P.T.A. hosted a Get-Acquainted supper for the Ira Community, Thursday, August 30, 1973 at 7 p.m. in the school lunchroom. Approximately 225 people enjoyed the delicious cake and ice cream provided by the members of the unit.

The entertainment for the evening was music by a local band on the school lawn. The band members are Clarence Payne, Max Preston, Ross Preston, Pat Sadler, Lynn Palmer, Jimmy Mason and R.V. Corbell.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie McDonald of Roscoe announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Charles Michael Ratliff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ratliff of Roscoe. A December 23 wedding is planned at the First Christian Church in Sweetwater. The bride is a 1971 graduate of Roscoe High School and is presently attending Southwest Texas State University as an advertising major. The future groom is a 1970 graduate of Roscoe High School and is a senior at the University of Texas at Austin.

Thriller Succeeds At Thrilling

THE BERLIN ENDING. BY E. Howard Hunt. Putnam. 310 Pages. $6.95.

Advertising on a book's dust jacket that it is "a novel of intrigue by one of the Watergate Seven" probably won't hurt its sales any, but it may cause a little apprehension as to just how good a book it is.

No problem here. This really is a dandy novel of intrigue, and former-CIA agent E. Howard Hunt has done well by the genre. Hunt, who has turned out some 40 novels over the past 30 years, centers his attention here on "Agents of Influence." These are men who rank high in government, high enough to be capable of altering the attitudes of an entire country. If these men happen to be under Communist domination but hold their positions of power in non-Communist countries then the damage they can do the Free World is immense.

Hunt's Communist-leaning Agent of Influence here happens to be the West German foreign minister. The story deals with the efforts of anti-Communists — two Americans, a Finn, an Israeli — to bring him down. Their efforts to do so make for a fast-moving, suspenseful narrative that's a cliff-hanger to the very last word.

Love's Better Second Time

LONDON (AP) — Albert and Violet Pamment, 73 and 72 respectively, have wed again after being divorced for 32 years.

A chance meeting between Albert and daughter Patricia brought them together, and their younger son Clifford, 44, was best man at the wedding.

"We are wiser and more sensible now," said Violet.

Church In Real Estate Market

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Boston is in the real estate market. It wants to sell a 56-room medieval-style castle overlooking the Atlantic.

Gloucester City Manager Paul E. Talbot says the church has asked the city whether it's interested in buying the Hammond Museum and Castle, probably for less than $1 million. The property is listed on tax records as being worth about $5 million.

The castle was built in 1925 by John Hays Hammond, an inventor. The archdiocese has owned the building since the death of Hammond in 1965. It is registered as a national historic landmark.

CONSUMER ALERT

BY JOHN HILL
TEXAS ATT'Y. GEN.

AUSTIN — Although the federal mail fraud statute—one of our oldest consumer protection laws—has been on the books for 99 years, the fertile minds of confidence men keep producing schemes that lead to consumer disappointments and law enforcement actions.

One of the most famous of mail frauds undoubtedly was the simplest. The promoter advertised in newspapers and magazines: "Last Chance. Send $1." His postoffice box number followed.

By the time government officials put a halt to that, the fellow had gathered in $200,000 worth of dollars which had been rushed by mail by people who didn't want to miss out on that "last chance." No charges were filed, however, since the advertiser had not misrepresented anything and hadn't promised anything he did not deliver.

Most of the frauds which are perpetrated cost the victims much more—not only in money, but in terms of time and effort.

Among the most vicious, I believe, are the fake job promises.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division has been the recipient of complaints from persons who followed through on advertisements about employment guidance, only to have their hopes dashed. Typically, the advertiser offers information about "job opportunities" to the person who will send $3 or $4 to learn more.

In some cases, the mailing of the money is the last episode, but the average consumer just chalks the loss off to experience.

Other schemes are more complicated, and more lucrative. They may involve a notice that the sender of the original fee has been "accepted," and for a couple of dollars more, he or she is urged to return an "application" to rush along the referral process.

If the consumer doesn't hear any more after that, real disappointment sets in. By then [illegible] has been invested that the person really feels cheated, and turns to an agency such as our Consumer Protection Division, or a county or district attorney, or the U.S. Postal Inspector.

While enforcement of the federal mail fraud statute is a function of the postal service, deceptive advertising is illegal under the Texas Deceptive Practices-Consumer Protection Act as well, and our state and county prosecutors can take action. The new act even provides for a court order to refund the consumer's money.

Another advertised practice to beware of is the "learn-at-home" or "work-at-home" plan which promises you fabulous financial rewards if you will send in some money to learn how to sell salve, raise minks, write advertising copy--there are many twists to this.

Usually, you are required to buy some "materials" for the study or manufacture described.

Remember that there is no easy way to learn at home or to earn at home. The money and time you spend will be your own, and there is no guarantee that your efforts will sell.

We know that some reputable schools and "cottage" [illegible] manufacturing industries do provide real educational services and parttime employment on a mail-order basis. The fraudulent operator is banking on your confidence in the honest operations when he advertises his.

Deceptive consumer practices always have seemed to me to be the worst sort of fraud.

But at a time when inflation, economic distress, and unemployment are major problems, cruel misrepresentations of learning and earning plans are especially outrageous.

If you have any doubts, or complaints do notify the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division office in Austin, Houston, El Paso, Lubbock, San Antonio or Dallas or your better business bureau, or county or district attorney.

IN LOUISIANA
Gator Hunt Underway

CAMERON, La. (AP) — The alligator hunt is under way in Louisiana despite protests that animal is an endangered species.

[illegible] experimental alligator hunting season opened today, restricted to Southwest Louisiana coastal parishes.

Wildlife experts estimate that the alligator population has increased 30 per cent over last year in the area. Biologists figure that 120,000 gators live on state and private lands in the two parishes, and claim that controlled hunting is needed to block possible overpopulation.

Last year's hunt brought protests from ecology groups. They criticized the wild life commission for permitting killing of the reptiles—which are considered an endangered species in nearly all states except Louisiana.

The Audubon Society disputed the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission's claim that the state had an excessive number of alligators, and said harvesting them would stimulate the hide market and perhaps increase illegal offseason hunting.

[illegible] fewer protests after announcing this year's season. It donated about 2,000 gators to the society following last year's hunt.

The hunt area is limited to parts of Cameron and Vermilion parishes, which only last week were battered by the fringes of Tropical Storm Delia.

Commission Director J. Burton Angelle said the storm did not adversely affect the gators. He said the heavy rains stopped salt water incursions that might have driven the alligators from their normal locations.

The gator season will continue through Sept. 28 in Cameron Parish south of the Intracoastal Canal and Vermilion Parish south of the Old Intracoastal Canal and Schooner Bayou eastward to the western shore of Vermillion Bay.

Only designated hunters can participate in the hunts, which is restricted to daylight hours and to privately owned lands.

During the hunt, a tagging and quota system will regulate the harvest to about 8 per cent of the total population. Hunting can be done only by landowners or their designated representatives.

The practice of hunting in nests will be banned, as it was last year, in an effort to protect breeding females.

Violent Death Toll Drops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texans found their highways and byways somewhat safer than usual during the weekend.

Traffic accidents claimed 10 lives and the over-all toll from violence between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday was 19—also including three homicides, three drownings and one death each from carbon monoxide and an oil field accident.

These were among the victims:

Benito Rangel, 20, of Seguin died in the fiery wreckage of his car Sunday night after it struck a vehicle halted beside Interstate 35 just north of San Marcos, state police reported.

Security officers said a .22-caliber pistol discharged by accident Sunday and the bullet fatally wounded John Hall, 24, in his apartment at the Gary Job Corps Center outside San Marcos, where he was a staff member. He died several hours later at an Austin hospital.

A two-car crash two miles south of Waco on Interstate 35 Sunday night killed Billy Ray Harper, 40, and Iva Lucille Burns, 52, both of Waco, state police said. Two persons in the other auto suffered injuries.

Joe Davis, 15, of Galena Park drowned Sunday in a Baytown canal. Police said the youth was crabbing when he slipped off the bank into the water.

Clyde Rose, 21, of Fort Stockton suffered fatal chest injuries Sunday in an oil field accident near that West Texas city. He died before reaching a hospital.

Robert Vega, 20, of Houston drowned Sunday while swimming in White Oak Bayou near Houston. A railroad switchman found Vega's floating body.

Jose Garcia, 27, of Galveston drowned Sunday when he was swept under water by a large wave at Galveston's Stewart's Beach.

Lowenstern's Son Gravely Wounded

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Three young intruders forced their way into an apartment and gravely wounded David H. Lowenstern, 20, son of a wealthy Amarillo investor, about midnight Sunday, officers said.

He was reported in grave condition several hours later at Northwest Texas Hospital from wounds inflicted by two blasts from a double-barreled shotgun which struck him in the abdomen.

Investigators said they had been unable to determine any motive for the attack. They gave these details:

Kevin Lowenstern, 18, who lived at the luxury Lantern Square Apartments in Southwest Amarillo with his brother, answered a kock at the door and the assailants shoved inside, knocking him against a wall.

David Lowenstern, hearing the commotion, entered a hallway from his bedroom and was shot almost as soon as he came into view.

His brother told sheriff's deputies, "David said, 'Leave him (Kevin) alone,' and then they shot him."

Others living in the apartments told authorities they saw two youths flee on foot and the other sped away in a black car.

Watch Queues

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — Turks have become used to queuing for a number of purposes, but a new sort of queue has hit Izmir.

With an average of 28 deaths a day and only eight hearses, the dead have to line up for their last trip.

Weiskopf Beats Jack

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "This was very much a personal goal for me," Tom Weiskopf said after pulling away from Jack Nicklaus for a victory in the prestige-laden World Series of Golf.

"I've had such a tremendous year and it meant so much to me to beat Jack, who is the greatest player in the game.

"We've never really played head to head, and this is more a match play type thing. I really wanted to beat him.

"I think that's why I won."

But Tom Terrific, who was making his first appearance in this elite event that brings together the winners of pro golf's four major championships—the American and British Opens, the Masters and PGA—wasn't trying to compare himself with Nicklaus.

"People have done that as long as I've been playing," Weiskopf said after his triumph Sunday.

"I don't think you can do that. He's won 14 major championships. I've won one. He's won how many tournaments all together?"

Then he paused and flashed a big grin.

"But I'm working on it. Maybe they can compare us when we're both retired."

Weiskopf broke out of a tie with Nicklaus just as national television cameras began to focus on the final round of this two-day, 36 hole match Sunday and won the $50,000 first prize with a final round 66 and a 137 total, three under par on the 7,180 yard Firestone Country Club course.

Nicklaus, who shared the first day lead with Weiskopf at 71, took a final 69 for 140 and tied at that figure with U.S. Open champ Johnny Miller. Miller fashioned a fine 67 in the last round. Each picked up $11,250.

Masters title-holder Tommy Aaron was never in it. He finished with a 73-149 and won $5,000.

Booster Club Meeting Set

The Tiger Booster Club will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the West Elementary cafeteria, according to an announcement by Dr. W.N. Jones, president.

He said Boosters will see films of last week's triumph over Lubbock Dunbar and hear a scouting report on Midland Lee, this week's opponent.

Dunbar JV Falls To Snyder, 40-0

The Snyder High School junior varsity flailed Lubbock Dunbar's JV 40-0 here Saturday afternoon, scoring in every period.

In the first quarter, fullback Lloyd Bachus plunged over from the four to cap a 70 yard drive. Quarterback Win Bunch rolled left for the two extra points.

Still in the first period, tailback Robert Ramirez scored on a 12 yard end sweep. The run for bonus points failed.

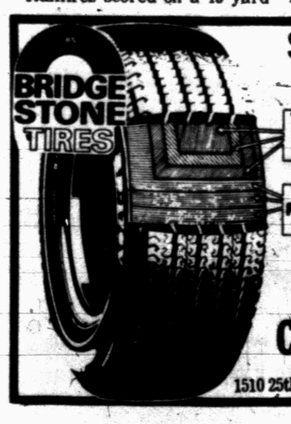

In the second quarter, quarterback Greg Gafford completed a 30-yard touchdown pass to Eric Schrader. Gafford ran for the two extra points.

Ramirez scored on a 15 yard pitchout play in the third quarter to climax a 65 yard drive. A pass for extra points was dropped.

In the fourth quarter, Gafford tallied on an 8-yard keeper play to cap a 45 yard march. The run for bonus points was stopped short. Halfback Danny Brumley plowed across from the two for Snyder's last touchdown to cap a 55 yard drive. Again, the run for bonus points failed to produce.

All of the Snyder defenders looked good, but nose guard David Marlar, linebacker Froilan Reyes and cornerback Bernie Weems were particularly outstanding.

The Snyder JV hosts Abilene High at 2 p.m. next Saturday.

Memphis, San Antonio Battle

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Memphis and San Antonio battle for a commanding position in the Texas League championship playoff tonight after the Tennessee entry evened the best-of-five series at 1-1 Sunday night.

San Antonio will take over the home team role for tonight's game after two nights as the visitor on its home field. That situation arose when the first two games of the series, scheduled for Memphis, were rained out and could not be made up because of a contract agreement.

Ali-Norton Bout Tonight

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Muhammad Ali's era of predominance in the world of heavyweight boxing faces its most critical test tonight when jaw-breaker Ken Norton could end it all for the former champion.

"I'm in condition, but I don't feel too playful," declared a scowling Ali at the Sunday weigh-in when he scaled 212 compared to 205 for the San Diego fighter who beat him last March 31.

Ali proved he had been training diligently by weighing three pounds less than on March 8, 1971, when he lost in 15 rounds to Joe Frazier in their title battle.

Rangers Chief Hates To Lose

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Tex., (AP) — Someone suggested to Billy Martin that he had nothing to lose by taking over the reins of major league baseball's worst team.

He puffed on a long cigar, his moustache twitched and he shout back. "Yeh. I could lose games. You're looking at the hardest loser you ever saw."

The former New York Yankee second baseman has played for and managed very few losers.

The staggering Texas Rangers gave Martin a 4-3 victory in his debut Saturday night against the defending world champion Oakland A's.

"I really wanted to lay out a year and go fishing, but now that I'm here I'm looking forward to this job," Martin said.

Martin was persuaded by a contract which has been estimated as high as five years—with incentives—at an estimated $65,000 a season.

Martin had another year to go on his contract when he was fired in Detroit because of his run-ins with the American League heirarchy. AL President Joe Cronin suspended him for three days.

Under Martin, the aging Tigers won the AL Eastern Division last year.

Martin was also fired at Minnesota after a brush with owner Calvin Griffith. This was after Martin had led the Twins to the Western Division title in 1969. Irate fans swamped the Twins' office with telephone calls, supporting Martin.

Martin said "My problems at Minnesota will be kept between me and the people there. So will the ones in Detroit. I'm a two-time loser in the majors, but one thing will be different here—I'm going to be working for a man (owner Bob Short) I know and a man who knows me well."

Martin said he was studying a lot of "little" things about the Rangers ballclub.

"I'm familiar with this team to some extent," Martin said. "I'll want to observe as well as manage."

Martin said "I like to build a team around pitching and defense. I know there are some fine arms on the pitching staff. There is some hitting punch and speed in the lineup."

Coach Returning

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Carnesecca is returning this fall as basketball coach at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y. Carnesecca coached the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association the past three years. Before that he coached St. John's following the retirement of the late Joe Lapchick.

Big Spring Nips Sophomores 20-16

BIG SPRING—The Snyder sophomore varsity dropped a 20-16 decision to Big Spring here Saturday afternoon.

Snyder made a goal line stand, holding Big Spring four times inside the five yard line, in the first quarter. Late in the period, the hosts drove 50 yards to pay dirt with the score coming on an 8-yard run. A run for bonus points failed.

Snyder took the lead in the second quarter, driving 60 yards for a touchdown. Facing fourth and 10 at the 20, quarterback Kelly Ragland passed to Billy Albritton for a first to keep the drive alive. Fullback Larry Gee got the touchdown on a three yard run. Ragland ran across for the two bonus points.

Snyder boosted the count to 16-6 in the third quarter, driving 95 yards with Kelly Ragland going five yards for the touchdown. Big play in the march was a 30 yard run by tailback Tim Flynn. Halfback Dane Witherspoon ran across for the two bonus points, putting Snyder ahead 16-6.

Late in the third quarter, Big Spring cut the margin to 16-12 on a 55 yard touchdown run. The try for bonus points failed.

In the fourth quarter, the hosts drove 40 yards after recovering a fumble. A 20-yard run accounted for the six points. Big Spring ran over for two extra points and the final 20-16 margin.

The entire Snyder team looked good on defense early in the game.

The Snyder Sophs host Midland Lee Saturday, Sept. 22, in their next outing.

Lake View Bests Lamar

Lake View bested Lamar 8th grade 20-6 here Saturday afternoon in the first football contest of the season for both teams.

The visitors took a 6-0 lead on a 60 yard run in the second quarter just before halftime. They boosted the count to 12-0 with a 70 yard TD run in the third quarter. Neither run for extra points succeeded.

Lamar cut the margin to 12-6 in the third quarter as Tracey Witherspoon blasted over from the two to cap a 60 yard drive. The run for extra points failed.

Lake View got its last touchdown in the 4th quarter on a 75 yard kickoff return. A run netted them two bonus points.

Lamar 8th hosts Big Spring Runnels at 6p.m. Thursday on the Travis Field.

Odessa Loses Grid Status

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Odessa was the only ranked Class 4A team to fall from grace in The Associated Press' top ten in the first week of action.

Amarillo shaved eighth-ranked Odessa 13-12 while the other ranked clubs rolled. Top-ranked Baytown Sterling in 4A thumped Houston Westchester 20-0 while second-ranked Galveston Ball had all it could handle in defeating Houston St. Thomas 21-12. Third-ranked Seguin blanked Killeen 9-0.

Ponies Beat Travis 8th

SWEETWATER—The host Ponies defeated Travis 8th grade 14-8 here Saturday afternoon.

Sweetwater had the ball for 59 plays compared with only 31 for Travis.

The Ponies turned in a 16-play, 75-yard march in the first quarter, scoring on a 12-yard pass. The run for extra points failed.

There was no scoring in the second quarter, but Sweetwater recoverd a fumble at the Snyder 40 and dove in from there. The touchdown resulted from a 2-yard plunge by the fullback off tackle. A pass netted two more points as the hosts went ahead 14-0.

With less than three minutes remaining in the game, Travis faced a second and 20 situation on their own 20. Quarterback Charles Cobb passed to tight end Tommy Smith who scored the touchdown with the play covering 80 yards. Cobb rolled left for the two bonus points.

Outstanding on defense for Travis were Johnny Velasquez with 29 tackles, Joe Don Williamson with 11, and Richard Willis with 10. Charles Cobb intercepted a pass to halt one Pony drive. Alvin Ollison averaged 26 yards on five punts.

Travis 8th will meet Big Spring Goliad at 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

One drop a second, 700 gallons a year.

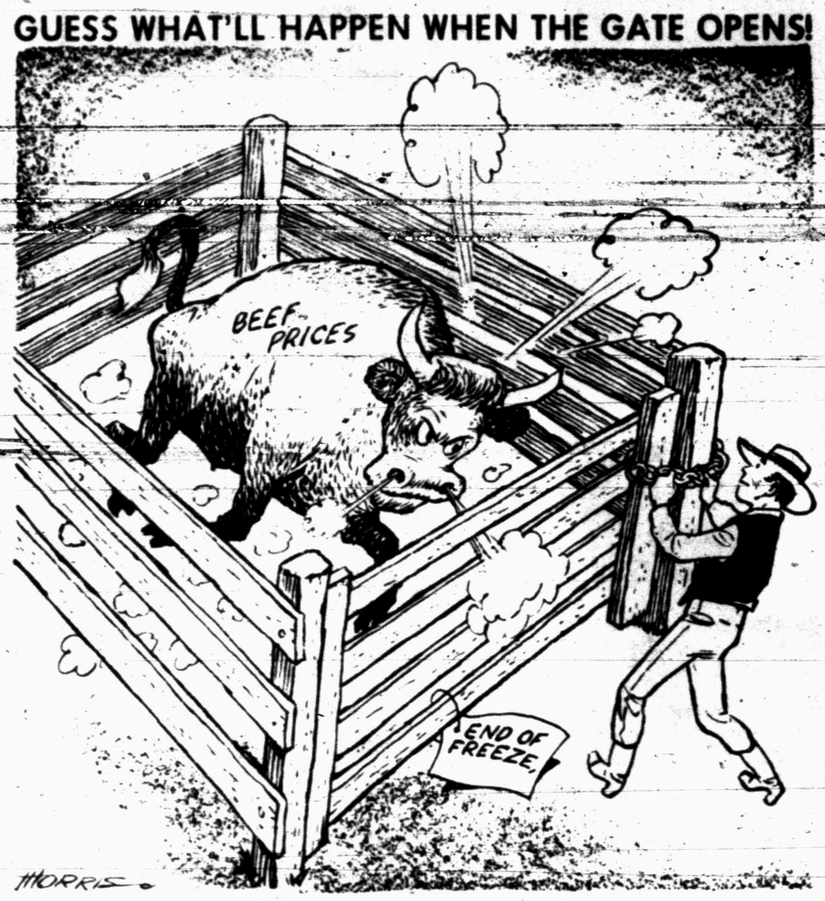

Never let a faucet drip. One drop a second can waste 700 gallons a year. If it's hot water, you're wasting fuel energy as well as money.

Today, 77% of our energy comes from oil and natural gas. Domestic supplies of both are falling far behind demand. America can't afford to waste energy—and every American can help save it. Write today for a free copy of "A Consumer's Guide to Efficient Energy Use in the Home." It's packed with ideas that can save the nation's energy and your money.

Americans Living In A World Of Future

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans live in a world of the future when they can, planning, anticipating, dreaming — of the vacation to come, of the pay raise due, the new car, the new house, the better life.

This has long been the way of people who had reason to expect that over the long run they would make real material progress.

The approach can help make current existence bearable and permit one to forget the past. And that is what many Americans of all levels are doing. They are writing off 1973, and not just because the summer vacation season is over.

The economic big leap forward that so many people had planned was tripped up. The financial plans of ordinary citizens and of George P. Shultz, the Treasury secretary, were clobbered.

High interest rates put an end to the housing dream. Rising prices absorbed pay raises. Shortages destroyed the American belief of plenty of everything for everyone.

Most glaringly, the optimistic forecasts that had consistently been right were shown to be wrong.

Now, after the "terrible dramа" of August, as Shultz described the 5.8 per cent rise in wholesale prices, most Americans realize that their instinctive and negative suspicions were more believable than governmental positive thinking.

The belief that the future holds more promise than the present is not as firmly held as before, and consumer surveys show conclusively that this is so.

A pay raise, for example, does not necessarily mean that a working man can put more food on his table. He may be able to afford it, but might not find it. He might find a house, but he also might find it priced $10,000 more than it was a year earlier.

Americans who could afford to travel abroad were shocked at how little their dollar would buy. Those who stayed home were amazed at the throngs of big-spending foreign tourists from Europe and Japan. Americans no longer were unique in their wealth.

Those who practiced thrift, another honored ideal, discovered they were penalized. Money in the bank at 5 per cent sometimes decreased in buying power after the costs of inflation and taxes were deducted.

Faith in government itself was diminished by events. No greater intervention in the private economy was attempted in recent years; no greater failure in influencing the economy could easily be recalled.

And the remaining years of this decade are almost certain to be heirs to this continued government intervention in what had been considered private affairs.

Nation Urged To Be Prepared

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Federal Reserve Board chairman Arthur F. Burns says the nation "must be prepared for a further rise in prices in the months ahead."

Burns said at a meeting of bankers on Saturday that his prediction hinged on several factors: devaluation of the dollar, economic expansions and increasing demand — but not supply — of food and basic industrial materials.

"The most important underlying cause of inflation has been the looseness of our federal fiscal policies. Federal spending has been rising with disconcerting speed during the past decade," Burns said.

Bulletins From The Mailbag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Human sacrifice was sometimes part of the religious ceremonies of the Aztec Indians in Mexico. But legend reports one Aztec was put to death because the smoke from his household fire had soiled his neighbors' air. A bit drastic — but it solved the pollution problem.

Your foot may seem homely to you, but by design experts the human foot has long been considered one of the finest examples of architectural construction. It has 52 distinct bones.

There are from 60,000 to 80,000 species of flies in the world, ranging in size from the tiny midge to 3-inch-long robber flies, and many are harmful rather than hurtful to man. Two scientists are now testing a new method to exterminate the pesky horsefly. It is an artificial scent which they hope will make the flies too excited to mate.

Neither the movie house nor television has killed the popularity of old-fashioned amusement parks. There are still 725 of them in the United States, and they make about $300 million profit a year.

Jail is no place to be if you are in poor health or have a chronic disease requiring skilled tratment. A medical survey of nearly 3,000 U.S. jails found that 65 per cent had no facilities for anything but first aid treatment. Only 17 per cent were equipped to treat the mentally ill, drug addicts or alcoholics.

It all adds up: We don't guarantee these figures, but a statistician once estimated that a 50-year-old man has worked more than 6,000 days, slept 5,500 days, walked 800 days, spent 1,500 days eating, been sick 450 days, and consumed 8½ tons of bread, eight tons of meat and drank 7,000 gallons of liquids. Well, it all helps pass the time — and that's the biggest problem in life.

Worth remembering: "It's the kind of heart, not the type of house, that makes a home."

Sound advice: If your children ask you to give them a young walrus for Christmas, tell them no. A growing walrus eats 100 pounds of fish a day.

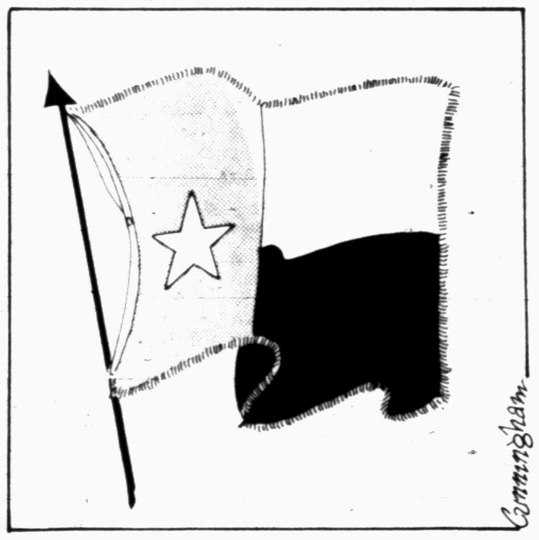

It was Plato who observed, "The boy is, of all wild beasts, the most difficult to manage."

Experts Fail To Open Safe

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — An old prison safe that the warden wanted opened proved too tough for the experts among the inmates of Colorado State Penitentiary.

A parade of prisoners tried the tumblers, vainly. Then the prison's No. 1 safecracker, an inmate identified only as "Rex," tried. He, too, failed.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE LONE STAR STATE

QUESTION: What is the Lone Star State?

* * *

ANSWER: The vast state of Texas is popularly known as the Lone Star State. This name grew out of its state flag, which has a single star in it. Texas is an area with great natural wealth. The fertile soil produces many crops and is suitable for raising cattle. It is rich in minerals including reserves of oil and natural gas. About 1519, the Spanish started to colonize this section of the New World. Later French colonists came to the region, but the Spanish settlements prevailed. Texas became a province of Spain and, in 1821, Mexico successfully became independent of Spain and Texas became one of the states of the Mexican Republic.

About this time, American colonists in their westward movement settled in Texas. As American settlers poured into the area, dissatisfaction with Mexican rule became acute. After a war with Mexico in 1836, Texas declared its independence from Mexico and became an independent republic. American colonists had favored the flag with the one star as an emblem of Texas. In March, 1836, the new Republic of Texas officially adopted the flag with the Lone Star. In 1845, Texas was admitted to the Union. It still retains the Lone Star in its state flag.

Career In Optometry

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I would like to know about a career as an optometrist. — P.W., Alexandria, La.

Thanks to the American Optometric Association for preparing this answer.

Choosing a career in optometry can mean a rewarding life in research or teaching, as well as in the day-to-day caring for the vision needs of others.

MOST PEOPLE associate the profession of optometry with the optometrists who examine vision and prescribe lenses or vision training to correct vision problems. But today, many doctors of optometry are engaged in specialized teaching or fascinating research of the eye, the brain, vision function, vision development, psychology, complex lens systems and new vision examination instruments.

A minimum of 6 years of college and professional school education leading to the doctor of optometry degree prepares men and women for the clinical practice of optometry. Aspiring visual science educators and researchers pursue additional graduate study in any of a variety of fields.

THE FIELD of biology-neurophysiology delves into the mysteries that still surround the function of vision and opens the door to investigation of retinal and brain function.

The relationship of brain function, behavior, vision development and vision perception is one of the most intriguing areas of research for doctors of optometry attempting to find ways to overcome the learning disabilities that plague millions of American children.

Biomechanics — also called ergonomics — is a relatively new research field. It includes the development of new instruments for measuring physiological functions, the adaptation of computer technology to biology, and development of prosthetic appliances (such as low-vision aids and contact lenses).

A RAPIDLY GROWING visual science research area is optics, where doctors of optometry are meeting today's demands for greater precision in analytical and control instruments, complex tracking telescopes, guidance and camera systems, and monitoring devices used in space exploration. This area also encompasses laser research.

Other doctors of optometry are pursuing graduate study in public health, health care administration, and health information and communication. This latter offers training for careers in science writing.

WHETHER IN the research lab, college classroom or optometric office, today's doctor of optometry is a highly educated, skilled vision care specialist dedicated to serving others. The profession offers fulfilling career choices to science-minded men and women.

Insecticide Takes Toll

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It has been an unusually silent September in Cherokee County in Northeast Alabama.

"We just flat don't hear any birds," said one resident.

"You usually see quite a few doves by this time of year. Now you see very few," said another.

The birds, several thousand fish and undetermined numbers of rabbits and squirrels apparently have been killed by heavy spraying of this year's disappointing cotton crop, according to Charles D. Kelley, head of the Game and Fish Division of the Alabama Conservation Department.

In addition, a veterinarian said three cows apparently died from the insecticide.

Kelley dispatched Ralph Allen, chief of game management, to the scene and he reported back last week a heavy fish kill, including at least two private ponds, "completely destroyed," plus many dead birds and small wildlife.

Allen said he walked through one wooded area and could see "no visible indication of any birds or squirrels."

It's a mystery why the problem seems to be concentrated in Cherokee County and not in the other heavy cotton-producing areas of the state, Kelley said.

Allen observed that with DDT banned by the federal government, many crop dusters are replacing it with a longlasting chemical called endrin, which he described as "many times more powerful" than DDT.

Use of such pesticides is regulated by the federal government, according to Talmadge Balch of the Auburn Extension Service.

Both the Environmental Protection Agency and the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries have sent specialists to Cherokee County to test the pesticide levels. They have not issued their results.

Kelley said he was particularly disturbed by reports that crop dusting planes may not be cutting off their spray in time to prevent the insect poison from driving over highways and inhabited areas.

He cited an instance where Allen told of eating in a restaurant in Cherokee County when a crop dusting plane flew overhead and sprayed the restaurant.

Princess Anne Is Good Sport

KIEV, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A good sport despite her injuries, Britain's Princess Anne showed up to support the British team in the final event of the European equestrian championship.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman confirmed that the 23-year-old princess suffered a broken collarbone when she and her horse Goodwill made a spectacular fall Saturday in the match.

The princess' right leg was described as "stiff and sore" but she moved easily about the stable area Sunday morning.

Ponies For Barbecuing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spiralling meat prices and the beef shortage forced one Arkansan to consider barbecuing a Shetland pony from his stable.

William Stowe, owner of a Newport riding stable, said the 300-pound ponies were selling for about three cents per pound undressed.

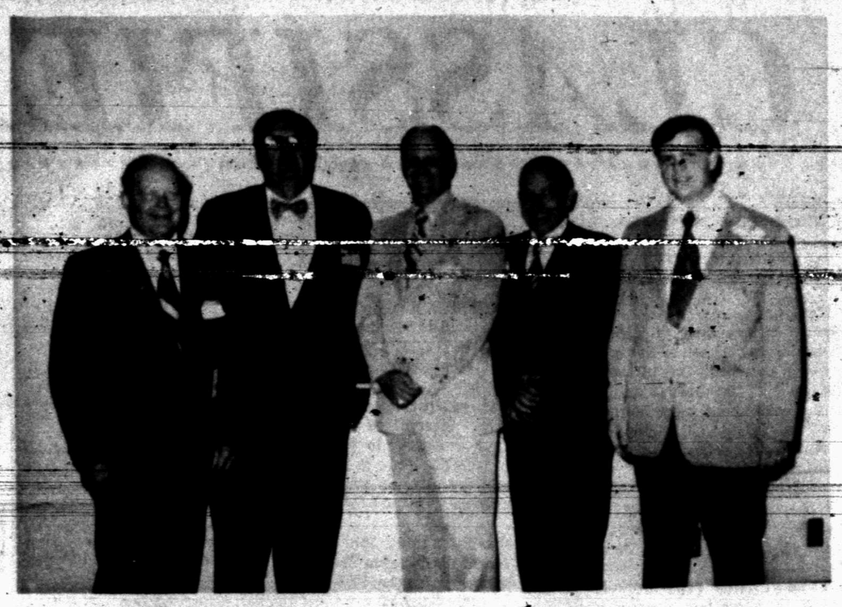

"It's a lot cheaper to use a pony from the stable than to buy beef," Stowe said. "Ponies aren't too much good to me anyway."

Stowe added that he had been barbecuing goats for some time for persons on trail rides, but he added that the last goat "was so tough, we couldn't hardly cut the gravy."

State Rep. Tom Collier, who owns a Newport restaurant, said he had received several requests for bulk barbecuing because of high meat prices.

"We've had a lot of sides of pork, but no sides of beef at all," he said. "It's just gotten too high."

Collier said he has experienced an increase in requests for barbecued sheep and goats.

ATTEND BANQUET—Included among those present for the Kiwanis Club Ladies Night Banquet, held at Western Texas College Saturday night, were, from left to right, Bert Chapman of Abilene, Lt. Gov. of Division 12; Tiny Payne of Colorado City, Lt. Gov. of Division 22; Doug Flynn, president of the Noon Kiwanis Club of Snyder; Charles Gillespie of Midland, Lt. Gov. designate of Division 22; and, Dick Dowell of Sweetwater, Lt. Gov. (Key Club), Division 12.

RECEIVES CHARTER—Henry Hartman (right), president of the Sunrisers, morning Kiwanis Club of Snyder, receives the official charter from C.T. Bush, 1972-73 Governor of the Texas-Oklahoma District.

Sunrisers Kiwanis Club Gets Charter

C.T. Bush of Athens, 1972-73 governor of the Texas-Oklahoma District, Kiwanis International presented Henry Hartman, president of the Snyder Sunriser, morning Kiwanis Club, with an official charter Saturday night at the annual Ladies Night Banquet. Members and their wives of both the Sunrisers and the Noon Kiwanis Club of Snyder were present.

Bush said the sponsoring Noon Kiwanis Club has a full appreciation of what Kiwanis means.

"You have worked together as a team and can see what can be accomplished through cooperation," he said.

Bush urged the Noon Club "to continue to help the Sunrisers." He presented Doug Flynn, president of the Noon Club, a patch in recognition of his role as president of the sponsoring club.

Bush said Kiwanis Clubs are concerned about individuals and community needs.

Discussing past themes of Kiwanis International, Bush said, "We are a group of men who give of our time and talents to help other people, who teach patriotism with pride, who believe in God, who are concerned about youth, who support schools and churches.

"You have to participate in club projects to get the most out of Kiwanis," Bush pointed out. He listed several helpful hints for the new Club: 1. Honor membership; 2. Accept whatever job is given you; 3. Select big projects; 4. Cooperate with the majority.

Noting there are 24 members in the Sunrisers, Bush challenged them to set a goal of 50 members in the next year.

"Our faith in God will determine our destiny," he declared.

Bush also noted that 138 Kiwanians currently are serving in the national congress.

Henry Hartman, president, in accepting the charter, said he was proud of the morning club and that he believes the Sunrisers are responsible persons who are dedicated to doing what they can to help in the community. He expressed appreciation to the Noon Club for their help and support.

"May God continue to bless us all as we give of ourselves," Hartman concluded.

Bush also presented Tiny Payne, Lt. Gov. of Division 22 from Colorado City, with a plaque for being the Lt. Gov. of the division in which the new club was organized.

Payne presented certificates to Arel Faver, Jack Riley, Doug Flynn and James Stehly for being past presidents of the Kiwanis Club.

Flynn presented a gong and gavel, a secretary's kit and a banner to the new club.

Payne served as toastmaster, and Harry Dietz was master of ceremonies. Invocation was given by C. Warren Cullar. Serving at the reception which preceded the dinner were Cheryl Taylor and Sue Jane Sullivan.

Roy Meador led in singing "America" and several other songs. David Burkett led in the Pledge of Allegiance. Hartman gave the welcome, and Mayor Bill Seale greeted the guests. Charles Gillespie, '73-74 Lt. Gov. of Division 22 from Midland, introduced guests. The gifts from Flynn on behalf of the Noon Club were accepted by Guy Sullivan. Jack Riley gave the benediction.

Bert Chapman of Abilene, Lt. Gov. of Division 12, and Dick Dowell of Sweetwater, Lt. Gov. (Key Club) of Division 12, also were present.

There were other out-of-town guests from Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Colorado City and Midland.

Local guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Seale, Mr. and Mrs. Bentley Baize, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harrington, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sullenger.

GOP Admits Scandal Hurting Fund Raising

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican party leaders generally believe the Watergate scandal won't hurt the GOP in the 1974 elections but several acknowledge it has made fund raising a lot more difficult.

As many members of the Republican National Committee think Watergate will hurt both parties as believe it will damage the GOP, an Associated Press survey showed.

The survey was conducted as members of the committee gathered here for their first meeting since the eruption of the scandal that has dominated political speculation since the President's second inaugural.

GOP state chairmen, most of whom also are members of the national committee, met here Sunday. The three days of meetings will wind up with the initial session Tuesday of a party reform commission headed by Rep. William Steiger, R-Wis.

Speakers at the sessions are headed by Chairman George Bush and Melvin R. Laird, President Nixon's top domestic policy adviser.

More than half of the 70 GOP officials from 37 states who replied to the AP survey said they thought Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's 1976 presidential prospects had been hurt by disclosure that he faces possible criminal charges in Maryland.

The poll showed an upsurge of 1976 interest in Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., the ranking GOP member of the Senate Watergate committee, and in former Texas Gov. John Connally and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

To a lesser extent, gains were seen for Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

As far as 1974 is concerned, an overwhelming number of those replying said they doubted the Watergate scandal would be a GOP problem in the 1974 elections — but for different reasons.

"Six months ago I thought Watergate could have a disastrous effect on the 1974 elections, but now I don't think so," said committeeman Ken Nuckolls of Washington state.

Kansas Chairman Jack Ranson said, "If Watergate is still an issue, I think it will affect both Republicans and Democrats."

Colorado National Committeeman Bill Daniels agreed, saying it had created a "throw the bums out" attitude that could damage incumbents of both parties.

In a half-dozen states, the GOP officials conceded Watergate had created problems in raising money, including Maryland, Ohio, Minnesota, Tennessee, Missouri, Oklahoma and Idaho. The same problem is being felt by national Republicans who recently have cut back their activities.

Amtrak Chances Better

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chances are better this time that funds will be released for a new Amtrak line running between Dallas and St. Louis by Little Rock, an official of the Office of Management and Budget says.

A conference committee should resolve the differences between the House and Senate versions of the Amtrak bill within two weeks, a counsel for the Senate Appropriations Committee said.

The Nixon administration had refused to spend money earmarked for the new line in a similar bill passed by the past session of Congress.

During this session, a rider was tacked onto a supplemental appropriations bill by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Appropriations Committee chairman. Jim English, a member of the Appropriations Committee staff, said about $102.1 million was appropriated to run the line by Little Rock and other cities.

Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., whose district also would be affected by the proposed bill, has said he would assist the affected communities in filing a suit if the funds are impounded.

Officials of Amtrak, the publicly funded national railroad corporation, have said the corporation will not participate in the suit. They said an increase in passenger use of Amtrak would help in the network's fight for funds.

Emergency Eucalyptus Bill Runs Into Fire

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An emergency eucalyptus bill, aimed at avoiding a big blaze in the East San Francisco Bay Hills, is running into fire on Capitol Hill amid a battle over federal aid.

Backers argue the bill is needed to avert or lessen the possibility of a disaster from dry trees filled with highly combustible eucalyptus oil. Opponents claim the legislation would set a dangerous precedent and is inflationary.

"If the people of California believe that these eucalyptus trees represent the threat that they seem to think they do, we maintain that the state of California should pick up the $11 million tab out of its $850 million treasury surplus," said six Republicans on the House Agriculture Committee. They urged the House to kill the bill.

But the bill's supporters, including a majority of the Agriculture Committee, contended the legislation would help solve "an extraordinary problem not addressed under current interpretations of federal law — a threat of forest fire sweeping through a populated area carrying with it a high probability of major federal disaster despite exhausting local efforts to abate the threat."

Last December, an unprecedented freeze left a ghostly brown forest of some two million eucalyptus trees in the hills above Oakland and Berkeley, Calif. Thus, the committee reported to the House, 2,700 acres of trees ranging as high as 150 feet have been "transformed into a volatile fuel that carries the potential of a holocaust."

Rather than "providing an unwise precedent inherent in a direct grant of federal funds without additional local participation, the committee ... feels that the more proper course is to provide additional federal funds, contingent on matching efforts within the state of California," the report said.

Therefore, a Senate-passed bill was revamped by the House committee and is due to be put to a House vote on Tuesday.

As approved by the Senate, the bill would authorize up to $11 million in grants to state and local governments for fire suppression, tree removal and reforestation work on public and private land. In addition, it would authorize whatever money would be needed to reimburse property owners for costs of removing trees from their land.

The House committee's version, however, would provide a limited federal-state program with cost-sharing and matching-fund features for tree removal and fire suppression work and for reimbursement purposes. State and local agencies would receive federal grants but no payment of federal money could exceed 75 per cent of costs incurred by private landowners and no money would be available for replanting trees.

Astronauts Photograph Six Nations

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab 2's astronauts today photographed six African nations ravaged by drought, hoping the pictures will help alleviate such conditons in the future.

Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma wakened an hour earlier than normal to snap the pictures in a pass just south of the Sahara.

Countries photographed were Mali, Senegal, Mauritania, Niger, Upper Volta and Chad.

A Mission Control spokesman said these nations have been hit hard by drought conditions in the last four or five years, threatening millions of people with famine or disease.

"It is hoped the high resolution photographs from skylab will contribute to the reduction of such famine in the future by identifying water and mineral resources and the pattern of vegetation," the spokesman said.

After more than seven weeks in space, the Skylab 2 astronauts were reported in good health.

Sunday was to have been an off day, but the space travelers requested a full slate of activities, allowing spare time only to take their weekly showers. They did the same on their five earlier off days.

Make Child Night Bright In Costume

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Tips on designing and creating Halloween costumes at home to meet "see and be seen" safety standards shed some light for dark nights.

The American Optometric Association, in a pre-Halloween message to parents, says a Halloween costume should be visible to drivers traveling at speeds of 70 miles per hour and must be free of masks that may block a child's view.

Decorating costumes with retro-reflective material is an effective way to make young wearers highly visible to drivers at night, the association says. This material is available in either iron-on or sew-on fabrics and tape, so youngsters can make up their own designs. Parents should be certain the children will be visible from front, back and sides, the association cautions.

Cholera Claims Another Victim

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — A 72-year-old man died of cholera today on the island of Sardinia, raising the death toll in Italy's outbreak of the disease to 24 in two weeks. Like most of those stricken, he had eaten shellfish.

Authorities ordered an autopsy for an 18-month-old girl who died Saturday at San Giorgio a Cremano, on the outskirts of Naples. The baby's father, a fisherman, had been hospitalized with cholera last week, and her mother reportedly refused to have her inoculated. Seventeen families who lived in the same apartment house moved into the local school.

PIZZA PLACE—Bob's Pizza Place, 2519 College Avenue, is now under the ownership of Bob Felton. The manager is Wanda Lee. Bob's Pizza Place specializes in fresh pizza, but also serves breakfast, sandwiches and soft drinks. You can order pizza "to go."

Fresh Pizza, Not Frozen, Is Specialty At Bob's Place Here

"I'd like to thank the people of Snyder for their patronage and tell them that I would appreciate their continued support," said Bob Felton, who recently took over ownership of the American Restaurant on the East Highway and Bob's Pizza Place, 2519 College Avenue.

Felton formerly operated Bob's Restaurant on the Roby Highway after he moved here from Graham in 1969.

Wanda Lee is manager of Bob's Pizza Place. You can get breakfast, all kinds of sandwiches and soft drinks at Bob's Pizza Place, but the establishment specializes in pizza. All of their pizza is fresh—not frozen. Bob's Pizza is supplied by Pizza International out of Fort Worth. The firm is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. six days a week.

The American Restaurant is open from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. seven days a week. You can order just about anything from the menu that the ordinary restaurant would supply. However, they serve a noon buffet at the American every day except Saturday.

The American Restaurant also has a meeting room which is being remodeled at the present time. When completed, it will have seating facilities for 80 people.

"We also operate a catering service," said Felton, "and we provide barbecue or whatever we can get. We can go from one mile up to 100 miles, and we can handle up to 1,200 plates."

You can order "to go" orders from either the American Restaurant or Bob's Pizza Place. The telephone number of the American Restaurant is 573-9424; the telephone number of Bob's Pizza Place is 573-9553.

Felton and his wife, Bernice, are parents of four children: Mrs. Sue Kevlin of Houston, Mrs. Ann Hunt, who is a court reporter in Laredo; Patsy Felton, a stewardess with American Airlines; and, Bobbie Felton, who works at Emerson Marine Sales of Dallas.

NEW EMPLOYE—Tommy Lay, new employe at Central Tire Service, 1510 Twenty-fifth Street, displays a new Bridgestone steel-belted radial tire sold by the firm. A tire salesman, Lay says that you can get up to 10 per cent more gas mileage with steel-belted radials.

Tommy Lay Joins Sales Staff At Central Tire Service Here

Central Tire Service, 1510 Twenty-fifth Street, has hired a new employe. He is Tommy Lay, a 1966 graduate of Hobbs, Tex., High School.

Tommy said he has lived in the Snyder area most of his life. He graduated from Texas Tech in 1971 with a degree in business management. He is married to the former Jan Womack of Snyder. They live at 2601 Avenue W. Both are members of Colonial Hill Baptist Church. Lay's father, James Lay, operates a farm 10 miles east of Snyder.

Lay has been employed as a tire salesman for Central.

"You can get up to 10 per cent more gas mileage with steel-belted radials," he pointed out.

Central Tire Service now features the Bridgestone steel-belted radial tire. It is the tire with a difference you can feel the first time you take the wheel.

The 3-ply steel breaker is made of heavy steel cord, with the 3-ply belt girdling the circumference of the tire under the tread. It holds the tread rigid, firm and flat on the road surface, reducing tread scuff, squirm or scrub that literally "grinds" tread rubber. The Bridgestone steel radial reduces power loss and has greatly improved traction on wet or dry roads.

The Bridgestone steel radial has 3 fabric radial plies in addition to 3-ply steel breaker plies. The 3 fabric radial plies are three plies of fabric run straight across the tread from bead to bead at a 90-degree angle. Cords are parallel and permit maximum flexing without sawing or grinding. The tire runs cooler; sidewalls flex when sweeping into high speed turns allowing tread to stay flat on the road for maximum road contact. It is an improved tread design that reduces harsh side and improves wear.

The 3-ply "steel" belt plus three radial sidewall plies offer six full plies of steel-fabric protection in the tread, reducing the possibility of puncture flats. The tire with cross section up to 185 have 3 steel belts and 2 fabric body plies. The tire with cross section 195 and up have 3 steel belts and 3 fabric body plies.

Central Tire Service has steel-belted radials for most models of trucks and cars. The firm also provides balancing and alignments.
