Up-down.

Up-down.

It became almost a rhythmical song.

Up-down.

Up-down.

And from the funnel on his fist poured speed, and yet more speed, to the befuddlement of the batsmen of the National league championship club in the opening game of the world's series of 1928.

Up-down.

Up-down.

The rhythm became irksome from sheer iteration before the game ended, with the New Yorkers the victors by a count of 4 to 1. The crowd of 70,000 gathered inside the green-gray walls of the Yankee yard fell silent for long periods toward the finish, broken only by occasional yips.

"Gee, I wisht som'pin would happen," moaned a veteran of many baseball wars wiggling in his seat in the press box high up in the shrouds of the stadium where 300 scribes spread the news of the day across the land.

Up-down.

Up-down.

Cards Hit Thrice

The Cardinals got just three hits off Waite Hoyt, and "Sunny Jim" Bottomley, the gangling "doorkeeper," or first baseman, of the Mound City club, got two of them—one a home run.

As a traveler past first on the rollers of that run, "Sunny Jim" was the only Cardinal to go beyond Big Lou Gehrig. The rest of them stood helpless before the pitching of Hoyt, as if enthralled by the rhythm.

Up-down.

Up-down.

Meantime, the Yankees were belting Bill Sherdel, the left hander, and Sylvester Johnson, a young right hander, for seven hits, which included a home run smash by Long Bob Meusel—this off Sherdel, with a runner on the base. Hoyt didn't need any more help than that blow.

The big town sharp-shooter who bet on baseball games had this one figured right. The Yanks were 6 to 5 favorites to win the first game. The Cardinals remain 11 to 10 favorites to win the series. The sharp-

Weak Evidence Frees Negro Lynching Suspect

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 4. (UP)—Because the evidence against him was weak, J. T. (Jack) Reese, first of the seven men who are to face trial for the lynching of Robert Powell, negro, here on the eve of the Democratic national convention, was released of the murder charges held against him in the case. The attorneys for the state said today that the trial of Reese would weaken the case of the state.

QUEEN OF IOWA PARK FAIR CROWNED

Sixth Wedding Held in Texas Governor's Mansion

Wedding marches sounded through the high-ceilin ged rooms of the Texas governor's mansion for the sixth time this week as Miss Helen Paxton of Abilene and Austin came down the graceful stairway, as she is seen at the left, to become the bride of Weaver Moore of Houston. On the right is the newest bride in her wedding gown with her matron of honor and sister-in-law, Mrs. George Paxton, on her right. The bride's attendants in the group are Miss Mary Jo Johnson on the extreme left, Miss Louise Millican and next to the bride, Irene McGinty of Dallas, with Mrs. Edgar Perry Jr., on the right. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of the governor.

UNIVERSITY TO GET $1,500,000

Settlement Reached in Suit For Oil Royalties

DALLAS, Oct. 4. (AP)—Texas university will receive $1,000,000 cash and an adjustment of royalties estimated to be worth $500,000 in addition to regular royalties now being paid, by terms of a settlement effected at a conference here today between attorneys representing the state and those representing the Reagan-County Purchasing company and others.

Settlement of the suit, filed by the state in behalf of the university against the Reagan County Purchasing company, Texon Oil and Land company, Texon Oil and Land company of Texas, Big Lake Oil company, and several others, was made by R. E. L. Saner, one of the attorneys representing the University of Texas, and Attorney General Claude Pollard. A judgment incorporating the terms of the settlement will be entered in the district court of Travis county next week, Pollard and Saner said.

Today's settlement was reached after an all-day conference, a continuation of a two-day conference Monday and Tuesday at Austin. Attorneys declared that it was the second largest judgment ever obtained in Texas. The largest was that against the Waters-Pierce Oil company for violation of the anti-trust laws, they said.

Royalty payments from oil production on lands located in Reagan county and owned by the University of Texas were involved in the suit settled today.

Control Board Invites Engineers to Confer

AUSTIN, Oct. 4. (AP)—Engineers of the state highway department which has been in dispute with the state board of control as to what kind of road machinery and equipment should be included in a pending $500,000 purchase, will be invited to confer with the board in an effort at settlement, Ray I. Tennant, purchasing member of the board said today after receiving a ruling from Attorney General Claude Pollard that the board has the last "say" as to what machinery shall be bought.

Police Oust Church Faction by Force

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 4. (AP)—Holy Trinity Greek church, its interior resembling a fort more than a place of worship, today passed out of the control of a faction which has been holding it by force of actual occupancy for several months, but not until police battered down the door. This accomplished, officers met with no resistance and served on the defenders a writ of possession granted by the courts to the opposing faction.

Colquitt Denounces Smith and Texas Demos as Being 'Sold to Tammany'

Former Governor Assails Prohibition Record of Candidates and Denies 'Whispering Campaign'

Attacking Al Smith because he claimed Smith had aided in the attempt to pass a law in New York which would legalize two and three-fourths per cent beer in violation of the one-half of one per cent interpretation of the 18th amendment of the United States constitution; attacking Smith because he has "in every way sought to nullify the 18th amendment and sought to put his personal whims and will, as well as the will of the state of New York, above the nation," attacking Smith "not because he is a Catholic, but because he is the kind of a Catholic he is," and flaying Texas Democrats for "selling out to Tammany hall, Tammany rule and Tammany's lack of ideals," O. B. Colquitt, former governor of Texas Thursday night spoke at the auditorium under the auspices of the anti-Smith Democrats on behalf of Herbert Hoover's candidacy for the presidency.

About 1,100 persons heard the speech.

"The whispering campaign, the prohibition issue and the religious issues all have been brought up by Al Smith and his ilk from Tammany hall," said the former governor.

"So far as I am concerned, there is no whispering campaign, for what I have to say I am willing to shout from the housetops.

Smith Nullifier

"Smith himself injected the liquor question into the campaign. He had in New York advocated a law to allow for drinks with two and three-fourth per cent alcohol, or enough 'to make you tipsy without making you tipsy.' He wanted to nullify the United States constitution for New York.

"What has Tammany hall ever done for Texas save ask Texas and the South to help Tammany? Tammany has no other use for Texas than its votes. Al Smith's election would be the most dangerous thing that could happen to the United States. When I saw Texas political

Hickman to Be Buried In Penal Cemetery

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4. (UP)—Edward Hickman will be buried in a California penal cemetery after his execution Oct. 19 for the slaying of 12-year-old Marion Parker, Los Angeles school girl, according to Charles Edwards, advisor of the Hickman family. The expense of bringing the youth's body to Kansas City for burial is more than the family could pay, Edwards said.

BANKERS URGE LOANS CURBED

National Association Says Farm Prices Gain

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4. (AP)—The American Bankers' association, concluding business sessions of its 54th annual convention, today unanimously adopted a resolution favoring "some reasonable manner of limiting the practice of withdrawals from banks by corporations for the purposes of making loans on stock exchange securities."

Such a limitation of loans for speculation could be based "upon the maintenance of normal balances which should not be disturbed by those who take part in stock-exchange loans."

Capital gains tax was characterized "—uneconomic and unsound in principle" in peace times by the bankers, who declared "imposition of such a tax is doubtless one of the factors in the speculative situation in the stock market, as many persons who have large paper profits hesitate to liquidate now in view of the large tax they would have to pay."

Concerning the agricultural situation, the bankers, in a resolution, expressed satisfaction "that within the present year the prices of most farm products have recovered more nearly to their pre-war relation to the prices of the products of other industries than has been the case in any other year since the war."

Heart Failure Claims Man at Pal's Funeral

DENTON, Texas, Oct. 4. (UP)—T. J. Jolley died of heart failure at Pilot Point, Texas, near here today while he was there to attend the funeral of E. S. Ragland, a friend, who also died from heart failure.

PARK PLANS WIN APPROVAL

State Drops Objections to $500,000 Resort

All objections of the state to the construction of an amusement park on Wichita lake were withdrawn Thursday afternoon following a conference between officials of the Wichita Falls state hospital and representatives of the American Amusement company, R. B. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control, announced Thursday night. Before leaving for Austin Mr. Walthall said he would give a favorable report on the amusement park plans to his board.

Objections Dropped

At the conference officials found that the park would not prove a disturbing feature to inmates of the state hospital when plans were explained by engineers of the amusement company, Mr. Walthall said. His statement also was borne out by Dr. C. W. Castner, superintendent of the hospital and by former Senator J. D. Parnell, who represented the hospital in the conference.

The state raised an objection to the building of the amusement center because it was believed music and entertainment features would annoy patients at the hospital.

George P. Smith, general manager of the Philadelphia Toboggan company and John R. Davies, vice president of the company, both of Philadelphia, Pa., engineers for the amusement project, explained plans to the state officials here Thursday. H. E. Byrne, president of the American Amusement company, Dallas, and Walter W. Peltier, local manager, also were in attendance.

Ready Next Season

Mr. Smith said Thursday night that surveying on the project already is in progress and that construction will be started for opening next season and that the amusement center ultimately will represent an investment of $500,000.

Thursday night the visiting engineers and officers of the American Amusement company were guests of L. L. Albritton, secretary of the Wichita Falls Traction company and Hubert M. Harrison, manager of the chamber of commerce at a dinner in the Wichita club.

Community Exposition Has Auspicious Opening in 'Gate City'

CROWDS SEE EXHIBITS

Home, Farm and School Assist to Make Exposition Big Success

(By Staff Correspondent)

IOWA PARK, Oct. 4.—Crowning of Miss Ruth Galey as reigning queen of the Iowa Park community fair and the presentation of a beautiful pageant here tonight brought to a successful close the first day of the fair which opened here Thursday afternoon.

The Iowa Park Community fair queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Galey of this city. The coronation exercises were presented under the direction of Miss Dosia Smith, assisted by Mrs. Carl Hoffman and Miss Mamie Carter.

The coronation of the queen climaxed a rather full afternoon and evening's entertainment. Festivities of the day started with the huge street parade through the city, headed by the Triangle band. Schools of the city closed and all the students were in the line of march. They thronged the fair grounds during the afternoon and early evening.

Immediately after the parade the fair was officially opened when a short program was held at the bandstand with Mayor E. C. Knox presiding.

R. E. Shepherd, former mayor of Wichita Falls and now publicity director for radio station KGKO in that city, complimented Iowa Park citizens on their wonderful fair and said that he wanted the old fiddlers who are to participate in Friday night's contest to broadcast a program over station KGKO.

T. J. Pace, representing the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, made a short talk in which he thanked the citizens for their cooperation in making the community fair a success.

C. C. Hudson, member of the fair committee, extended an invitation for everyone to attend the fair.

The fair grounds are to be opened again at 10 o'clock Thursday morning when a concert will be presented at the bandstand by the Triangle band. Thirty minutes later the baby show will be held.

Negro Gets Life Term On Third Theft Charge

DALLAS, Oct. 4. (AP)—Ernest Dailey, 40, negro, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor under the habitual criminal law in district court here today.

Dailey, tried for burglary of a residence here May 24, was alleged by the state to have been previously convicted of burglary in two cases. The negro pleaded not guilty to the burglary charge on which he was convicted today.

Movie Stunt Flier Killed as Plane Falls

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 4. (UP)—Clement K. Phillips, one of the leading stunt fliers of Hollywood motion picture studios, was killed here today when his plane nose dived from an altitude of 150 feet. He was en route here from Hollywood when the accident happened.

Arkansans Given Death On Murder Charges

ELDORADO, Ark., Oct. 4. (UP)—W. M. Crow and O. L. Cook, oil field workers convicted of first degree murder, were sentenced to die in the electric chair Dec. 28 in district court here today. Both men will appeal to the supreme court.

Officer Injured In Melee With Drunken Negroes

Detective R. L. Miller suffered painful cuts and escaped probable serious injury late Thursday night when he jumped on the running board of an automobile to arrest two drunken negroes.

Miller said he noticed two negro men drinking in a car parked at Lake and Mississippi streets and when he stepped on the running board and ordered the pair to drive to the police station the driver threw his auto in high gear, heading in the opposite direction. The officer lost his footing and sustained severe cuts on both knees as he was dragged several hundred feet.

After he regained his foothold Miller's revolver "persuaded" the driver to make a hurried stop, and the two negroes were taken to police headquarters. The officer went to the General hospital for treatment when the negroes were booked on charges of drunkenness.

In the general melee resulting from their attempts to escape arrest, both negroes received some manhandling before becoming docile.

JURY INDICTS ON ROBBERIES

15 True Bills Returned in First Report

Five indictments charging burglary were returned against G. W. Brown, alias Tom Tash and Ollie Lee Jones by the Wichita county grand jury which reported to Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court at 4:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Judge Martin received the report for Judge E. G. Thornton of the 30th district court, who had not returned from Graham.

Martin Receives Report

Brown and Jones, who are in the county jail, were arrested last Friday by city detectives in connection with the burglary of several homes the previous day while occupants were attending a circus in Wichita Falls.

Clothing and other merchandise valued at more than $3,000 was taken from the homes of Wichita residents in the raids.

Among 15 indictments which the jury brought in two were against Henry Whitner, who also is in the county jail. One charges assault to murder and the other burglary of a private residence. Of the other indictments, which will be turned over to the sheriff's department for service Friday morning, two are for burglary, one for swindling by check, two for assault to murder, one for theft from person, one for forgery and one for driving a car while intoxicated.

Clothing Recovered

Following the report Judge Martin excused the grand jury until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the request of John Bradley, Wichita Falls, foreman. Bradley said the investigators had completed all of the work at hand thus far.

Detectives Luke Hart and Pat Allen, who arrested Brown and Jones last Friday recovered two crates of clothing and other articles which were identified by owners of homes near Burkburnett and the Cashion neighborhood.

Comptroller to Head Legion Delegation

AUSTIN, Oct. 4. (AP)—A delegation of ex-service men of the state comptroller's department will attend the national convention of the American Legion, to be held in San Antonio next week, headed by Sam Houston, state comptroller of public accounts.

Comptroller Terrell and Governor Moody are the only elective state officials who are members of the American Legion.

Decatur C-C to Hear Oates Friday Night

M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railway, will deliver a lecture before the Chamber of Commerce of Decatur Friday night on dairying.

Mr. Oates lead a party of West Texas bankers on a tour through Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana last summer, and is attempting to promote the industry through this section of the country.

Four Miners Killed in Shaft at Miami, Okla.

MIAMI, Okla., Oct. 4. (UP)—While being lowered into the shaft of the Aztec Zinc and Lead mine of the Smith-Davis company here today, four men were killed. It was not known whether the men met death by falling to the bottom of the shaft when the tub tipped or whether they were crushed against the side of the shaft.

ESCAPED TRIO ACCUSED OF EXPRESS RAIDS

Texas Fugitives Held by Officers in Muskogee For Robberies

USE GUNS ON ROAD

Motorist Informed He's in Road by Firing of 'Artillery'

Alvin Ireland, convicted in Archer county three years ago for robbery of a Dundee bank, famous for five prison breaks since his conviction, the latest of which was a break from the state penitentiary little more than a month ago, is being held in Muskogee, Okla., in connection with three robberies of Oklahoma express offices, according to information received here by Warren Belcher, deputy sheriff.

Buddy Lyons, who was sent up from Wichita county for five years on automobile theft charges and another escaped convict were arrested in a small town in Arkansas with Ireland during the early part of the week.

They aroused suspicion and were arrested when, in lieu of a horn while traveling down an Arkansas road, they began shooting as means of making a traveler give them room to pass. The man telephoned ahead and the trio was arrested and transferred to Muskogee, where they were identified as having participated in express and railway station robberies in Watonga, Okeene and Mountain View, Okla., according to the information received here.

Ireland made his first escape from the jail at Archer City while waiting for a hearing on an appeal of his conviction in the Dundee bank robbery. He was recaptured and sent to the penitentiary on a 20 year sentence.

In one of Ireland's breaks from the penitentiary he was later captured and implicated in the killing of a guard in the escape.

He was also alleged to have been involved in a bank robbery at Loving, Texas, though he was not convicted with the three indicted in the Loving robbery.

Jump On His Neck.....An Editorial News Story

This is a little story to the effect that when a man gets in a tight place, the thing to do is jump on his neck.

John A. Hale, tourist, arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday night with $17.73, his truck, a Ford car, 18 men, women and children and no tail light.

The fact rough roads had "doused the glim" on the rear end of the truck was of small consequence, though Hale, because the $17.73 was expense money for the party, with what work could be secured along the way from Blum, Texas, to Pueblo, Colo.

Friday morning John A. Hale and party will depart the city with $5.43, his truck and an officer's receipt for $12.30 for not burning the aforementioned tail light. His party spent the night in the wagon yard.

Hale, his wife and five children, B. C. O'Daniel, his wife and six children, and two younger couples, occupying with household effects of the four families a truck and the trailing Ford, were halted as they passed by the courthouse square. It was a precinct officer and they had violated paragraph so and so of such and such laws. They were informed as to the penalty and the men of the party counted their money. Not one of them had enough but they all chipped in so that Hale wouldn't have to spend the night in jail.

There wasn't a justice of the peace around to try a case but Hale accompanied the officer to the courthouse where, for $12.30, the defendant was given a receipt which delegated the arresting officer to plead guilty for him and pay his fine before a justice Friday morning.

While Hale was negotiating with the officer a Wichita Falls business man and two or three bystanders bought supper for the womenfolk and the children of the party.

Here is the way Hale summed up the tangible assets of the men in his party after the ruffled majesty of the law had been satiated:

Hale, 56 cents; Sam Talley, 50 cents; B. C. O'Daniel, $4.10; R. C. Talley, 25 cents. Total, $5.43.

As previously mentioned, this is a little story to the effect that when a man is in a tight place, jump on his neck.

HASKELL FAIR DRAWS THRONG

Auto Races Feature First Day of Show

(By Staff Correspondent)

HASKELL, Texas, Oct. 4.—More than 5,000 persons passed through the turnstiles Thursday on the opening day of the fifth annual Haskell county fair. It was a day which passed all the expectations of fair officials and set an entirely new attendance record.

They came from all sections of Haskell and adjoining counties and were well repaid for their trip. Abilene sent a delegation of about 300 by automobile, airplane, and train. A delegation from Stamford headed by Homer Wade and other West Texas Chamber of Commerce officials joined with Rochester, Rule, Weinert and other neighboring cities in accepting Haskell's hospitality.

Visitors in the various exhibits were impressed with the number and quality of the displays and registrations show that they exceeded by far those of any previous year. More than 500 birds are being shown in the poultry show in charge of C. O. Davis of Rule, and other departments are equally crowded. W. G. Pope is director of the agricultural department; T. A. Pinkerton, livestock; Mrs. John Oates, textile; Mrs. C. L. Lewis, art; Mrs. H. M. Smith, floral; and Miss Elma Kinnard, curios. Miss Matilda Gunn, home demonstration agent and W. P. Trice, county farm agent, are in charge of the exhibits made by the boys' and girls' clubs of the county.

Race Classics

Approximately 1,500 people saw the automobile races in front of the grandstand, Thursday afternoon. Some of the best drivers on West Texas tracks were entered and each of the five events was a classic.

Vick Felt of Deer Trail, Colo., driving a Marathon Special, lowered the track record for one and one quarter miles with a time of 69 seconds flat. The previous record was 70 seconds and was held by Dick Calhoun.

Felt also took first place in the opening race of the program, a seven and one-half mile event. His time was 7:13. John Krieger of Los Angeles, driving a Fisher Special, was second, time 7:16, and John Boling of Tulsa, driving Dick Calhoun's special, finished third, time 7:16:5.

Boling finished first in the second event of five miles. His time was 5:45. Earl Hovenden of Otis, Kan., driving a Kreb's Special, was second, time 5:46:5. Clyde Gilbert, of Boulder, Colo., driving a Baker Special, finished third.

Gilbert Takes Third

Gilbert took honors in the third race, also a five-mile event with 5:47 for his time. A. J. Walker of Denver driving a Walker Special was second making it in 5:49 and Andrew Fuller of Arkansas City, Kan., driving a Fuller Special, was third, time 5:58.

The fourth race was also a five-mile event. Walt Highley of Longmont, Colo., driving a Fronty Special, finished in 5:44. Fuller was second and Williard Pretniss of Denver in a Prentiss Special was third in 5:49. The feature race and the masterpiece of the program was a 10-mile contest between the first and second place winners in the first four races. Earl Hovenden took the lead over Dick Felt in the two final laps of the race for the first prize of $200. His time was 9:28:75. Boling finished second, time 9:28 and John Kreiger third in 9:30. John Gilbert finished fourth.

Colorful Parade

More than 50 decorated floats and automobiles, entered by the various Haskell merchants and organizations took part in the parade which opened the fair festivities Thursday morning. More than 30 cowboys and Indians on horseback, conveyances representing every period of West Texas history, five bands and all of the school organizations made up the colorful parade, which professional fair goers declared the best that has been staged in a West Texas fair this season.

A covered wagon occupied by Virgil Hudson, Mrs. Theron Cahill and Mrs. Frank Thomas took first prize for the best period conveyance. Mrs. Wayne Koonce won first place in a large group for the best horseback rider. She wore a present-day habit. The pep squad won the prize among the high school organizations; Oates drug store took first place among the merchants' cars with a beautiful float representing a powder box; the sixth grade took honors among the grammar school grades; the Rule Philadelphian club was first among the out of town cars; Midway was the winner among the rural schools; the Neotan Bible class of the Methodist Sunday school took the prize for the best club or organization car; and E. S. Mimms, impersonating Al Smith and riding a Democratic donkey, was voted the best clown. Carl Lamb, as Herbert Hoover rode with him.

Parade Judges

Judges in the parade were Roy Baker, Rochester; W. D. Payne, Rule; and E. A. Miller, College Station. Mrs. W. P. Murcheson, Miss Lois Earnest, and the Rev. G. R. Forrester were in charge of the parade.

Friday will be given over to judging and awarding of prizes in all departments. The T. J. Tidwell shows are on the midway to furnish amusement for the visitors Friday. Automobile races are to continue Saturday and the fair will close Saturday night.

MELODY BOYS ON AIR TONIGHT

KGKO Announces Novelty Program

A new melody combination will feature the Friday program of station KGKO with the introduction of the Southern Melody Boys on the air at 9 to 9:30 p. m.

The Southern Melody Boys have appeared on the KGKO program before but not in combination. They are "Happy" Jack Cross, Zack and Glenn, Bob Spencer and Yancy Cummings. All numbers will be by request. These entertainers have all doubled on instruments.

The Friday program is as follows; 8 to 8:30 a. m. bargain hour; 9 to 10 a. m., shopping hour; 11:30 to 12:30, 4:30 to 6 p. m. musical programs; 12:30 p. m., world series; 7 to 7:30 p. m., Zack and Glenn; 7:30 to 8 p. m., Mrs. Vivian Railey Hall in violin selections; 8 to 9 p. m., Hawaiian entertainers; 9 to 9:30 p. m., Southern Melody Boys; 9:30 to 10, R. S. Howell in harmonica and guitar program; 10 to 11 p. m., Hoover club.

Moody Revokes Pardon Granted Theft Suspect

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 4. (UP)—Gov. Dan Moody revoked today a pardon granted to Wayne Todd, convicted murderer, by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson on Dec. 21, 1926. Todd, who is now held in Fort Worth on charges of theft, is said to have violated conditions of the pardon.

South Plains Farmers in Excellent Shape, Agricultural Expert Finds

Agricultural conditions on the South Plains and the communities through the western part of the state are in excellent condition according to M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver who has spent almost a month in that section.

The best fairs in the history of Amarillo, Lubbock and Abilene were held this year, Mr. Oates said.

A bumper feed crop is being made on the plains while cotton is yeilding a fair harvest. The farmers will make money in that section this year despite the absence of a large cotton crop, Mr. Oates asserted.

An abundance of maize, grain sorghums, kafir corn and sudan grass will be produced this fall though little harvesting has been done so far. Crops will begin to move out of the section during the latter part of the month.

A large number of livestock, which are bringing excellent prices at present, have been produced on the plains and through the Panhandle while excellent alfalfa fields are being raised on irrigated land, according to Mr. Oates.

It is the opinion of Mr. Oates that the excellent farming conditions will produce prosperity through the section this year.

Farmers are beginning to plant one of the largest wheat crops that has been sown in Texas for several years, Mr. Oates stated.

Professor: There! I knew I had forgotten something.—Der Brummer, Berlin.

ORIGINAL CAST IN 'MARIETTA'

Sylvia Tell, Noted Dancer, Handles Ballet

Assisting in staging "Naughty Marietta," Victor Herbert's operetta due at the Memorial auditourim Oct. 8 were Willis Hall and Ethel Bennett, in charge of the dramatic direction, and Ellsworth Gilbert, responsible for the musical direction.

For the presentation a whole battalion of artists and artisans is required.

Back stage is a stage manager, with three assistants. Three men are required to produce the necessary lighting effects. A wardrobe mistress, with two assistants, is in charge of the costumes.

Principals and members of the ensemble appear in the different scenes.

In addition there is a beautifully trained ballet of young dancers, headed by a premiere danseuse. The ballets were staged by Sylvia Tell, the great American dancer.

In the pit is a corking orchestra which travels with the company.

Then there are business assistants, booking and advance agents and advertising men.

Hundreds of costumes are required for the performance. They were designed under the direction of Kathleen Horner, who received her training in Paris in the Academie Colorossi.

The scenery, built in New York, is colorful, modern in conception and was designed especially for the production now on tour.

The presentation to be given in Wichita Falls is exactly the same as it was during its New York run.

Construction Work to Start Soon On Building for Battery Plant Here

Plans for the financing and construction of a plant for the American Battery Products corporation, with a maximum capacity for production of 400 storage batteries daily, were approved by the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Thursday morning. The weekly payroll of the new industry will be $2,500.

J. W. Chatham, traffic and industrial manager of the chamber of commerce has been negotiating for the location here of the plant for the last six months. C. V. Chermendy, president of the Mascott Battery Manufacturing company of Denver who will manage the new plant, was in Wichita Falls Thursday to select a site for the plant.

The plant will be constructed immediately with five men employed at the opening. Forty men will be employed as soon as work is progressing smoothly, he said.

With the plant at its maximum output the Wichita Falls product will have national distribution. A minimum of 100 batteries will be manufactured by the plant at the offset and the amount increased to 400 daily.

The American Battery Products corporation makes batteries for all makes of automobiles.

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Hollow in Cheeks, Neck and Chest Growing Deeper Every Week

Tells Weak, Thin Scrawny Men and Women How to Gain Five Pounds in 30 Days.

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now, for McCoy's Tablets are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

McCoy's takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your money will be refunded.

Just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Renfro Drug Co. or any drug store. Distributed by McCoy's Laboratories, Inc., also distributors of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil—there is none better.—Adv.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. They they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.—Adv.

TEXAS MOHAIR PRICES SOAR

More Than 1,000,000 Lbs. Of Fall Clip Sold

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 4.—More than a million pounds of the fall clip of Texas mohair, estimated at between six and a half and seven million pounds, has been contracted in Texas with the high price thus far, 64 cents for regular hair and 74 cents for the kid hair.

Practically all of the mohair has been bought in the Brady territory, as well as around Lampasas, Menard, Johnson City, Hondo and Marathon. The prevailing price seems to be between 60 and 70 cents, though a carload from Fredericksburg brought as high as 74 cents a pound. Menard has around a half million pounds left, Brady has a quarter million pounds, and Lampasas and Johnson City each has 200,000 pounds.

John S. Allison of San Angelo, wool buyer for Adams & Leland, has bought 75,000 pounds of Mexican wool from the Val Verde Wool and Mohair company, eight months' spring clip, at an unannounced price. This is wool imported into Texas from Mexico, on which a duty of 13 cents a pound is paid on the wool. It is estimated that between 300,000 and 400,000 pounds of wool is produced opposite Del Rio. All of it is sold in Texas.

Prices of 32 cents a pound have been paid for the four and five months' fall clips now being sheared in the ranch country. It is estimated the clip will reach six and a half million pounds. These prices are for the early shorn wools and later shorn stuff is expected to yield better prices. Rains have delayed shearing in most sections.

Turkey Aided in Rapid Program of Expansion by New Rail Facilities

TURKEY, Texas, Oct. 4.—The eyes of Texas and the Southwest generally are upon that great section of West Texas now being opened up by the new extension of the Denver railroad to the South Plains. Half a score of towns and cities along this route are attracting great attention, but none of them are receiving more general discussion than the town of Turkey, located in the southern part of Hall county.

The name of the town itself is suggestive of interest. The name at once calls to mind the possibilities of there being a foreign settlement located there. Or it might bring up thoughts of a great wheat growing section, specializing in "Turkey Red wheat." However, the town derives its name from neither of these sources. It is so named because in early days a great wild turkey roost was located near there, and the place was known to cowboys as "Turkey Roost." When a settlement was founded there, it was originally called "Turkey Roost" and later shortened to Turkey.

Public spirited citizens of this rapidly growing West Texas city declare that the possibilities of their section are so great that even the turkeys knew a good thing when they saw it, and that the gathering of the wild birds near Turkey was prophetic of the gathering of people who are certain to make Turkey their home.

Grew From Village

A little more than a year ago, there was not a single modern business house in the town. One tile building was the sole claim of Turkey to being a town of "brick and stone." That tile building has been torn down and replaced with a magnificent brick structure and more than 30 modern business houses which would do credit to any city. More such buildings are under construction now, and all other types of building has kept pace with the construction of new business structures.

New farmers are rapidly moving into the Turkey territory. Business men of Turkey point out that there is an unusually large area of country tributary to Turkey in a business way. These business men are active in promoting good roads leading from Turkey to the rural communities in its territory and are determined to enable all the people to reach their town. Cotton and grain sorghum are the principal feed crops of the section. However, there is a gerat deal of diversity in the agricultural program of the section. Cattle still constitute an important item in the resources of southern Hall county and probably the cattleman will have a number of years left in a part of the county located in the rolling country along the "Red river breaks."

Grape Production

Turkey also aspires to become a center for grape production. A section of the country lying to the south of Turkey has been proved ideal for grape culture. Amazing results have been achieved by the producers of grapes in the territory. Thousands of acres of land are available for this purpose, and already steps are under way to bring a colony of Italian grape experts there to develop this resource. A large company engaged in the manufacture of grapejuice has evinced interest in the project, and it is possible that Turkey may come into prominence in this respect before many years pass.

The citizenship of Turkey are highly progressive, and filled with a determination to go forward. They are building a town which cannot help being a desirable place in which to live. Many openings are afforded in Turkey in many lines. Among other openings Turkey offers a location for a lawyer, a bottling plant, a photographer, and a sanitarium. Business openings in numerous lines are also afforded and citizens of Turkey have the habit of encouraging and supporting new businesses and industries in their city.

New residences by the score have been erected in Turkey since it was definitely established that the town was to become a railroad point. Many of these residences are handsome brick structures. A splendid sub-division has been opened on the heights overlooking the town, and is being rapidly developed. A $50,000 brick high school building is now under construction to care for the increasing scholastic enrollment. An impressive brick hotel of 40 rooms built and furnished at a cost of $50,000 cares for the visitors to the town. An adequate water works system for the town has been provided. Motorized fire equipment with good water mains provide fire protection. A new $35,000 sewerage system has been provided. Natural gas from the Amarillo fields is expected to be available at an early date. People of the town are talking of hard surfacing highway 86, known as the Ozark trail, which passes through Turkey, and already there is a movement for city paving. Turkey may be in many respects a metropolis in the making, and its citizens are making it rapidly.

Cotton Compress

Perhaps the greatest industrial addition to the town is the new cotton compress just reaching completion, which will make its first run this season. Cotton receipts of the town average 8,000 to 10,000 bales annually at the Turkey gins, according to Willis Walker, editor of the Turkey Enterprise, and this cotton plus that of the surrounding towns is expected to bring to the Turkey compress something near 30,000 bales each year. A good opening exists at Turkey for a cotton oil mill, according to figures compiled by Mr. Walker, which indicate that 650 cars of seed annually are available for crushing in the Turkey territory.

Turkey Dealers to Study Grading in Temple School

TEMPLE, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—To prepare themselves for marketing of Texas turkeys under federal inspection, 100 representatives of poultry dealers in Central Texas, will meet here late in October to attend a grading school.

Poultry men from this district, one of the four in the state, are expected from Brownwood, Brady, Hico, Hillsboro, Lampasas, Georgetown, San Saba, Goldthwaite, Cameron and Caldwell.

Under a plan adopted for the first time in Texas, turkeys will be graded and stamped under government regulations. The object of the move, raisers say, is to improve the quality of the Texas turkey, which for several years has been selling under the price offered for eastern raised birds.

CORPUS GROWS AS WORLD PORT

229,544 Bales of Cotton Shipped in Two Months

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 4.—Cotton exported from the port of Corpus Christi during the months of August and September amounted to 299,544 bales, according to a report made by the Nueces County Navigation ocmmission. This compares favorably with the ports of New Orleans, Houston and Galveston, which, according to Col. H. G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans Cotton exchange, exported 230,214 bales, 284,979 bales and 233,813 bales respectively during the same period. Their heavy movement starts later.

In the brief period of time the port of Corpus Christi has been in operation it has shattered all established records in regard to the amount of tonnage handled by a new port. At this time approximately 3,750,000 tons of cargo have been moved down the Corpus Christi ship channel to distant world ports. There have been nearly 600 sailings.

At one time during the present cotton season there were twelve large transatlantic steamships tied up in the Corpus Christi turning basin at one time. They were loading cargoes of South Texas cotton consigned to practically every section of the globe.

During the two years Port Corpus Christi has been functioning, it has demonstrated the fulfillment of an economic need and that the United States congress was justified in its initial undertaking of the deep water project. According to Roy Miller, special representative of the port, the rivers and harbor commission is making investigations with a view of ascertaining the advisibility of enlarging the facilities of the port by deepening the ship channel to 30 feet.

According to all present indication the port of Corpus Christi will continue to grow even more rapidly in the future than it has grown in the past. As the city of Corpus Christi develops and the tonnage mounts, this newest of nation's ports will take its place among the most important shipping centers of the South.

Lubbock Board to Aid College Fund

PLAINVIEW, Texas, Oct. 4.—The executive board of the Plainview district in session at Lubbock, Monday agreed to raise $1,000 for Wayland college during the coming year. The amount will be prorated among the Lubbock, Floyd, Brownfield, Dickens, Staked Plains and West Plains associations. President McDonald was authorized to use the money in any way he thought best and will probably be used in improvement of the college building. With an enrollment of 218 the college is practically self-supporting this year. A donation of $25 was received from an Olton friend of the college the past week. New chairs for the class rooms have been ordered and the college is continually making improvements in keeping with the growth of the school.

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Benjamin Franklin School P.-T. A. Holds First Meeting Wednesday

The first fall meeting of the P.-T. A. of the Benjamin Franklin school was held Wednesday afternoon at the school building.

Mrs. Harold Murph, first vice president, had charge of the program, which was opened by singing "America," after which Rev. Pat Moreland offered a prayer.

Mrs. Lester Aldrich, accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Baker, sang "Tommy Lad" and as an encore, "Little Mother of Mine."

Rev. Mr. Moreland talked on "The Worth in P.-T. A. and Its Value in the Home."

Mrs. T. W. Wesmoreland, the new president, had charge of the business meeting.

Low third room won the prize for having the most mothers at the meeting. Reports of the committees were given.

Mrs. A. H. Owens, chairman of the sponsor's committee, announced the sponsors and introduced them. They are as follows: Mesdames L. H. Estes for low first, Frank Timberlake for high first, A. W. Burnside for low second, J. D. Morgan for high second and high fourth, Marshall Perry for low third, Clarence Bingham for high sixth, C. H. Parker for low sixth and high fifth.

O' These Women!

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (US)—From Rockford, Ill., a lady writes me that she enjoys "Oh These Women," but she wishes she could hear something about "Oh These Men," and she tells me that she not only hears, but knows that men are doing everything to improve their looks and figures. She bolsters up her statement with this:

"I myself was married to a man who wore corsets so I know all about it. I tried to laugh him out of it, but it was no use. I came to look upon the fact with indifference, and he says his health improved when he wore corsets and long stockings."

She explains that he certainly presented a trim figure, and was very neat in his corsets. He had no bay window but a fine chest expansion.

She doesn't say she is married to him. She says "I was married to him." But she does approve the corsets.

The lady suggests that in time we will see advertisements for pink and blue corsets for men, and for garters in flesh, pink and blue.

"Of course," she adds, "these things will be a little different from what the women wear in corsets, or used to wear, but men are getting so vain they are certain to come back to the days when the men wore wigs, muffs, laces and corsets, and their white satin evening coats were adorned with jeweled pins."

As a matter of fact men in the days when those things were the fashion were not effeminate. They were brave and fine and it must have been something about the clothes that made them more gallant, more romantic, better balcony singers, and perfect darlings at dueling over the ladies. And what love letters those boys could write!

There isn't any need for the ladies to mourn. Let them go back to corsets and wigs. We should care!

In Los Angeles a woman who sells corsets says that for years she has had regular male customers, who are never without several corsets. She refused to say what color, but the guess is baby blue. At any rate figures make a difference out in the west where men are movie actors.

Men do wear face powder. Any wife will tell you that if her husband is ashamed to buy it himself, he will use hers. Few men travel without—not the old fashioned talcum—but ladies' face powder, because it sticks better and makes their faces softer. The shine doesn't come back so easily.

And a Chicago department store with a men's store, says that the store sells more long woolen stockings to men than to women. Men fasten the long hose to their BVDS, and keep warm in the winter without wearing heavy underwear or extra heavy overcoats. The men's store now handles the women's woolen hose for the express purpose of selling to men.

Texas and Oklahoma Lumbermen to Meet

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 4.—The Southwest Oklahoma Lumbermen's convention will be held in Frederick Oct. 20 and it is the opinion of Hugo Kendrick, manager of Caldwell Nuckles Lumber company, that from 250 to 300 will be in attendance. Because this is so close to the Texas border it is to be a joint meeting of Texas and Oklahoma lumber dealers. Some of the officers of the Southwest district, comprising all of this part of the United States, have written that they will be here.

932 Bales of Cotton Ginned at Olustee

Special to The Record News.

OLUSTEE, Okla., Oct. 4.—Olustee gins put out 932 bales in September. Of the 932 bales the Farmers' Cooperative company ginned 505, the Moore gin 261 and the Chickasha gin 156.

The continued dry weather has caused the cotton to open rapidly and the gins are using two crews most of the time, a day crew and a night crew.

CHARM OBJECT OF LUNCHEON

Table May Carry Colorful Appointments

By IDA M. CHITWOOD
Noted Culinary Expert

The setting of a luncheon table is much the same whether one has a maid or not, charm being the object rather than ceremoniousness. The table can be colorful in its appointments, and far more individuality is permitted than for dinner.

If the luncheon is a small affair, one may place upon the table besides the nuts and bon bons, the dishes of relishes and the rolls or bread to be passed by the guests to one another.

Each place is laid with a service plate, the prettiest the hostess has, and with the necessary knives and forks, with the single exception of the dessert fork and spoon. A small napkin matching the cloth or runner is folded and laid on the service plate. A bread-and-butter plate with small butter knife is placed at the left side of the place just beyong the forks. Butter may be placed on the plate, but, preferably, it is served by the waitress while the guests are eating the first course. The water glass is at the tip of the knife.

The moment the guests are seated the first course is served—soup, oysters, or hors d'oeuvre, being placed on the service plate. The plate remains until the main course, when it is removed and a hot plate from the kitchen is substituted. Except when the salad plate is removed and the table cleared and crumbed in preparation for the dessert course, there is always a plate of some kind before the guest.

With the bringing of the dessert service, everything is removed from the table except the candles and nuts. The dessert plates usually have been gotten ready beforehand with the spoon or fork, or both, on them. The finger bowl with doily beneath it is always on the dessert plate. One or two small blossoms or flower petals are often seen in the finger bowl.

Luncheon usually consists of not more than four courses, and unless there is bridge afterwards, it is a short affair, the guests, unless they are intimate making their adieus by 3 o'clock.

Brady Calls Election $135,000 School Bonds

BRADY, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—A school bond election for the construction of a $135,000 high school here will be called at an unannounced date sometime within the next two months.

Architect's plans for the structure already have been approved by the Brady school board.

The new structure, of Spanish design, will contain eight class rooms, a spacious study hall, a library, and the principal's office on the first floor. The second will be devoted to domestic science, general science and commercial departments. A gymnasium will be located on the right wing of the building.

Early Impressions on Child More Effective Than Nagging Later On

Parents Who Think to Chasten Their Children by Nagging at Them and Harping on Their Faults Run Grave Risk of Handicapping Them for Life by Shattering Their Faith in Themselves.

Isn't it queer that parents so seldom realize the importance of early impressions on a child? We all know from our own personal experience that our early impressions were the lasting ones. We remember trivial things that happened to us in our babyhood long after we have forgotten important things that ocurred in our later year. We all have prejudices and beliefs and superstitions and inhibitions that our mature reason respects but of which we can not rid ourselves because they were ineradicably stamped on our infant minds.

In spite of this, however, and the knowledge that we are all pretty much what our early environment made us, we go on treating our own children as if they were insensate clods instead of being, as they are, sensitive plates making indelible records of all they see and hear.

It is the custom in many families, for instance, to discuss a child's defects fully and freely in its presence and to keep its weaknesses ever before it. This is supposed to be a chastening experience that is good for the youngster's soul and that will discourage in it the vices of arrogance and self-conceit.

It does all of that, and it generally does more. It wishes on the child the curse of an inferiority complex that dooms him to failure because it fixes in his mind the settled belief that there is no use for him to struggle, because his limitations foredoom him to failure.

Thus we have the curious spectacle of fathers and mothers who would be horrified at the mere thought of breaking their children's legs and arms and sending them out crippled into the world carelessly doing a far more cruel thing by shattering their faith in themselves and sending them out mentally maimed to fight the battle of life. And between the two, it is a far worse handicap to have a weak belief in your own ability than it is to have a weak arm, and to have a limping self-confidence than it is to have a limping leg.

When we are little children our parents represent incarnate wisdom to us. We think they are infallible and we take their verdict without question. Therefore, they write our price tags for us, and we value ourselves according to the estimate they put upon us. Afterward we may know that they were narrow-visioned and made a fatal mistake, that they were incapable of understanding us, but then it is too late. The mischief has been done.

So when the average child is told continually at home that he is dull and stupid and can never learn to do the things that brighter children do it kills all ambition in his breast. He feels that there is no use in making an effort, and he gives up and slumps down into the class of the nitwits.

Nag a child about being awkward and clumsy and it will grow more awkward and stumbling and blundering day by day. Discuss a child's querness and its odd ways and it will grow up into one of the eccentrics that are tragic misfits everywhere in creation. Fix in a child's mind the idea that it is shy and sensitive and you will develop a miserable, morbid man or woman, utterly unable to cope with life.

Keep forever reminding a child that it has a nervous temperament or a poor digestion or that it musn't overexert itself because it is not strong and you will make an invalid out of it. Likewise, half of the bad boys and girls in the world are tough because they are trying to live up to the reputation they have at home.

It's these early impressions of ourselves that we gain from our parents that do so much to make or mar our lives. For all that many a man who is a failure lacked of being a success was a belief in his own ability, but he never got over the idea, implanted in his mind in his early childhood, that he wasn't clever and would never amount to much, and that made him a coward.

All that keeps many a woman from being a raving beauty is carrying herself 60 per cent off her looks instead of 40 per cent over them, but she can't do it, because her mother killed her self-confidence by forever twitting her about what big hands or feet she had or how she stooped.

Of course, children have plenty of faults and it is the duty of their parents to help them overcome them, but in doing this it is not necessary to break down the child's morale. Parental criticism should be constructive instead of destructive. And, after all, who knows what talents lie hidden in any little frowsy head, what skill in any little grubby, clumsy hands?

So many dull children have developed into geniuses; so many sickly babies have become strong and healthy men and women; so many wild lads have become the pillars of society; so many commonplace boys and girls that nobody expected anything of have achieved fame and fortune.

But, oh, in so many, many young souls the fire has been put out upon the altar, every effort paralyzed, every ambition killed, all hopes slain by the child being taught at home to distrust itself, to lack faith in itself, to believe that it had no ability to achieve success!

So I would urge parents not to nag their children about their defects and not to shake their confidenec in their own ability, for, while we may not accomplish all that we think we can, it is a certainty that we can only do as much as we think we can.

School - College Notes

The Wichita Falls Junior college has followed the lead of the University of Texas and other leading colleges this fall in organizing non-credit, or "O" sections in English. Those students who were found defective in a recent test given by the University of Texas, are compelled to attend three one-hour classes extra each week along with the regular course. In these classes students are taught punctuation, spelling and other fundamentals of English. No credit is given for this extra work.

Ben R. Vardaman addressed the Junior college-high school general assembly Thursday morning on "The A. B. C.'s of Success." Mr. Vardaman spoke of the A as ambition, the B as breadth, and the C as character. Many personal incidents were included in his speech and held the interest of every student.

Joseph Rabinowitz played a violin solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Cortez Slaughter.

Selden Hale urged all students to support the Junior college Indians Friday afternoon in their game with Grandfield, Okla., and Betty Love Rugeley displayed to the girls the new costume adopted for the pep squad this year.

Women Most Beautiful in October; Homeliest in April, Says Expert

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Women are more beautiful in October than in any other month of the year.

They are homeliest in April.

There's a reason for the fall "deb" and autumn bride, and October school girl, according to that world-famous authority on feminine pulchritude, Miss Natalie Thurston. It is because woman's beauty at that season of the year most nearly approaches that which the magazine cover "cuties" lead one to expect.

"Feminine charm in October is as subtly mysterious as the dream girls of our greatest illustrators," declared Miss Thurston, in an address before a group of cosmeticians here. "In November begins the havoc to her complexion, which steamheated apartments and the season of indoor sports regularly occasion. March witnesses the completion of this devastation, a condition which becomes progressively worse through December, January and February. 'Easter lilies' might be another way of referring to April's charmers, for the resurrection season finds women's faces as palely beautiful as Eastertide flowers.

"May witnesses the rebirth of feminine charm. Women begin to go outdoors again, to exercise, and their skin absorbs the freshness of the spring showers. However, June beauty is as characterless as a new house. July and August, sun-burning, skin-tanning months, cannot be credited with abetting charm. And a woman cannot be beautiful in September when her skin still too tan, cries for the garnishing touches of bleaching and nourishing creams, and her sun-streaked tresses scream for special shampoos and tonics to restore their normal luster and color.

"Then comes October and—presto—woman's charm becomes like a house that is suddenly lighted from inside. Her eyes are still moonlit summer-time, and the bloom that makes for charm is there, subtly refined by autumn's beauty kit of powder puffs and lipsticks."

"My Hair is a Fright"

Edna Wallace Hooper, the stage favorite, in her sixties still graces the footlights with the vivacious charm of a flapper. In an interview she remarks that women always apologize when trying on a new dress or hat. How many of them say, "Of course it will look better when my hair is in decent shape."

So it is well to know that you can always keep your hair looking its best.

Miss Hopper with some forty years of stage work behind her, knows the tricks of attracting. Among the most important she rates a fresh, lovely wave. She has found the perfect curling fluid to keep your hair alluring regardless of circumstances.

Wave and Sheen, she calls it. A liquid dressing which not only preserves the wave but gives your hair a soft, fascinating sheen. Try it on your freshly shampooed hair.

Kiddies love the crispy cereal that crackles in cream

Kellogg's RICE KRISPIES

Rice Krispies are the newest treat your grocer has. Delicious whole rice bubbles. Full of tempting flavor. Toasted crunchy brown. So crisp you can hear them crackle when you pour on milk or cream!

No wonder kiddies love them so. And how good Rice Krispies are for them! Nourishing, healthful rice at its tastiest.

Serve Rice Krispies for breakfast. Have them for lunch and dinner. Try them with fruits and honey added.

Use them in candies, macaroons. Butter and serve like pop corn. Put them on ice cream to make a delicious "nut" sundae. Sprinkle into soups.

Order from your grocer. You've never known such a handy cereal. You've a treat ahead if you haven't tried Rice Krispies. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

High State Officials Routed From Bed in Early Hours

AUSTIN, Oct. 4. (INS)—Claiming that he was beaten in a Syracuse street bootlegger's joint at San Antonio, a man who said he was a Floresville lawyer routed Gov. Dan Moody, Adjutant General R. L. Robertson, and Ranger Capt. Frank Hamer out of bed early today and asked for protection.

No action was taken by state officials after assurance had been given by San Antonio authorities that a thorough investigation would be made of the man's charges.

MONTAGUE WILL VOTE ON BONDS

Paved Route Proposed to Cross County

Special to The Record News

NOCONA, Texas, Oct. 4.—An election for the purpose of voting $750,000 in road bonds has been called in Montague county and set for Nov. 3. It is proposed to use the money derived from these bonds to build a concrete road across Montague county from Clay county to Cooke county. Improved roads running north and south are also included in the project.

The main road is routed along state highway No. 5 and will pass through Ringgold, Belcherville, Nocona, Bonita and St. Jo. The cross roads will not be built of the same material as the main highway which will be similar in construction to that between Wichita Falls and Henrietta.

The main highway will connect with the road running from Henrietta to the Clay county line which is soon to be concreted. After crossing the northern half of Montague county the route will connect with the Gainesville road at the Cooke county line.

An election is planned in Cooke county for the purpose of voting bonds to pave this road and on completion of the entire project, it will make a paved route across the northern part of the state.

The Montague county towns along the route are said to be highly in favor of passing the bond issue.

Squirrels Damage Pecan Crops Near Ballinger

BALLINGER, Texas, Oct. 4. (UP)—Farmers who own pecan orchards along the Colorado river in this county and the Concho river in Concho county, report that squirrels are destroying the pecan crop and in some localities it is estimated that 50 per cent of the nuts will be destroyed before they mature and are ready for harvesting.

The pecan crop promises a good yield this year, the trees being heavily fruited, but the nuts are green and it will be 30 days or longer before they are ready for the market.

From July 1 to Oct. 1 is closed season on squirrels and it is against the law to kill them during that time.

Statewide Labor Survey Proposed

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—A state-wide labor survey and its distribution was proposed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the South Texas Chamber and the East Texas Chamber to the state board of control.

Homer D. Wade, representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce represented that organization and Ray Leeman, the South Texas Chamber. W. M. Blanton, who represented the East Texas Chamber failed to arrive for the conference.

R. B. Walthall, chairman of the board of control, said the board gave its unqualified approval to the proposition but was without funds to give financial aid to the proposition. The plan was to have the work done by county agents of the A. & M. college. It was pointed out by Walthall that it would be too late to recommend an appropriation in the college budget, but that the board would recommend to the next legislature an emergency appropriation for defraying the expenses of the survey. Wade estimated that the cost of the survey would not exceed $10,000.

Rheumatic Pains Yield to Capudine

Those who suffer from rheumatism will find that Capudine will greatly assist in the treatment by relieving the pain and reducing the fever and inflammation. Rheumatism is a serious disease and should have the attention of a good physician, but the patient should be made comfortable as suffering retards recovery. For this purpose nothing is safer or surer than Capudine. Being liquid, it acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders.

Capudine does not upset the stomach and contains no habit-forming drugs, yet it is more effective in relieving pain and high nerve strain. At all drug stores—30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By GRANT DIXON

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Martin S. Garretson, 60-year-old head hunter of New York, is not to be confused with the cannibals of Africa and the East Indies. While interested in different varieties of skulls and possessed with a passion for having them stuffed and mounted for souvenirs, Mr. Garretson does so only in the interest of science and natural history.

Head-hunter Garretson is merely the curator of the head and horn building at the Bronx Zoological park. The sharp-eyed, grizzly mustached veteran and plainsman has "a heap o' years" on the cattle ranges from Texas to Montana behind him. He knows a head and a horn when he sees one. That's the reason he holds his job.

To a few complimentary remarks on the remarkable 1,000-specimen exhibit and the splendid establishment he has, Mr. Garretson replied: "Pshaw, it's nothing; I'm just a nursemaid to a mess of horns."

The interview continued in the office which is also the headquarters of the American Bison society, of which Mr. Garretson is secretary. Not only that, he clinches his claim to America by having been an executive of the Old Oregon Trail association. Mr. Garretson went on to explain that here under his roof was the most complete collection in the well-known world of horns, antlers and tusks. Dr. William T. Hornaday, a former director of the park, and Madison Grant, president of the New York Zoological society, laid the foundation of the collection. Numerous specimens have been added or donated by large game hunters.

With a twinkle in his eye as he picked up his dessert, (a huge banana) Mr. Garretson nodded proudly to the large private collection he has lining the walls of his sanctum. Happy recollections of the time he went West are crowded here to bear tribute to the day when New York's exclusive head hunter, went agalloping in chaps and boots.

Mr. Garretson took his old buffalo gun off the wall and fondled it, pointed out his frontier revolvers, and rapidly passed over the outlaw branding iron that was used to mark over stolen cattle, which he briefly stated was found in an abandoned corral used by rustlers. A few spaces on the walls were filled in with a Comanche Indian lance which was used to hurl at bison and scores of pictures of famed western riders, including Buffalo Bill and others, many with whom he had been friends. The place of honor on each wall was occupied by a five-foot Texas longhorn, a mounted buffalo head, a prong-horn antelope head, his old spurs, bridle and wild horse hackamore given him by the Texas cattle king, Col. Charles Goodnight.

Cotton Opening at Fast Rate in Dawson County

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 4.—Cotton is popping open at a steady rate in Dawson county. Many farmers have as many as 25 bales open according to their reports here. Cotton pickers are needed here now and more will be needed as fast as they can arrive.

As well as cotton pickers, maize headers are also needed. This year the feed crop in Dawson county is far ahead of past years. It is estimated that 100,000 acres are planted to feed here this year. It will produce from 1500 pounds to two tons per acre.

TRADITION UPHELD

GREENVILLE, Texas, Oct. 4 (AP)—For the eighteenth successive year, J. H. Curtis, residing here, has received the first poll and property tax receipt issued here in Hunt county.

When Tax Collector Bob Gray opened his office on the first day taxes were accepted, he found Curtis waiting at the door.

ABE MARTIN

Candidate Wes Licklider, th' farmers' friend, went out in th' country t' his cousin Jim's, t'day, t'git photergraphed, but they had a milkin' machine. Why don't dry officers ever wing a rum king or a beer czar, instead of an occasional obscure retailer?

Seeds of Socialism

GOV. ALVAN T. FULLER of Massachusetts has never been classed as a radical. Indeed, it is little more than a year since the radicals and liberals of the country were denouncing him to the skies as a blind reactionary.

That, accordingly, lends interest to the fact that Governor Fuller the other day told the New England conference of Women's clubs that unless American politics undergoes a sweeping change, the growth of socialism in this country "will be astounding."

"If you deplore conditions in Russia today," said the governor, "remember that every bit of corruption in public life is a contribution to that same socialism.

"There are abuses in public life which make for the growth of socialism. And when these are carried to a certain point they kindle fires that cannot be checked."

The Socialist party in the United States today is a negligible factor in politics. In one or two cities it carries an election now and then, but on the whole it is impotent. Yet in Europe the Socialist party plays an important part in nearly every country. It often wields a controlling influence on governmental policy.

The reason, of course, is not hard to find. Since 1914, Europe has had an extremely bitter experience, and the shortcomings of the old leaders and old policies have been shown up unsparingly. People are turning to socialism in the desperate hope that it will provide some kind of remedy.

In this country we have had prosperity and happiness. There is little real discontent; socialism, consequently, remains unimportant.

But there is growing a deadly cynicism in regard to politics and politicians. People are losing their capacity for being shocked by wrong doing. Graft, incompetence and corruption are becoming more and more common. Chicago and Philadelphia are only large-scale examples of something with which every city is, in some degree, familiar. And that is a real danger.

The soap-box orator demanding state confiscation of wealth is not a menace to our institutions. We can ignore him. But the crooked politicians—the mayor who connives at police department graft, the district attorney who shuts his eyes to glaring abuses, the city boss who manipulates crooked counts at elections, the official who takes a bribe and lets law violators operate openly—these men are giving the soap-box orator ammunition that can make him powerful.

The radical is neither popular nor numerous in the United States today. But, as Governor Fuller warns, he will increase amazingly unless we have a drastic housecleaning in our politics. Once let the average man become convinced that present-day political machines are beyond reform and you will see a growth in socialism that will astound you.

A Month's Auto Production

WHATEVER may be said about the health of general business conditions in America today, there is no question that the automobile industry is enjoying the best of good times.

Department of commerce reports, just issued, show that August was the biggest month in history for American automobile production. During the month a total of 458,513 pleasure cars and trucks was produced.

The auto manufacturer must smile a sardonic smile when he hears other industrialists bewailing hard times. For him, business was never better.

Suspicion Often Misleads

A DETROIT woman went cabareting the other night with a male friend.

After she got home she missed a $1,000 diamond ring. She called police and accused the friend, who was arrested and locked up. Next morning the woman discovered the ring in her coat pocket. She went to the police station, much abashed, and her friend was released with apologies. Thereupon he promptly informed her that he and she were no longer friends, or even acquaintances; and all her protestations and pleas would not move him.

You might take warning from this lady's experience and learn how to curb your suspicions. It is easy to jump to the conclusion that someone has wronged you; but if you jump too quickly you are apt, like the Detroit lady, to regret it later on.

The Old-Time Campaigns

MOST of us, no doubt, are accustomed to think that the sordid side of presidential campaign politics is distinctly a modern invention. We are apt to yearn for the good old days of the pre-Civil war period, when issues were settled on their merits and there was less wire-pulling and chicanery.

It happens, however, that we're all wrong.

Rodney Dutcher's articles on "The Presidential Parade," recounting all of the campaigns in our history, is enlightening. Our national heroes, like Jackson, Clay, Webster, Calhoun and the rest, could play politics as well as any man now living. There were just as many tricks in those days, and they were all used. We may spend more money on campaigns now—the country, after all, is bigger—but our campaigns are no more bitter or underhanded.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS ON INCREASE

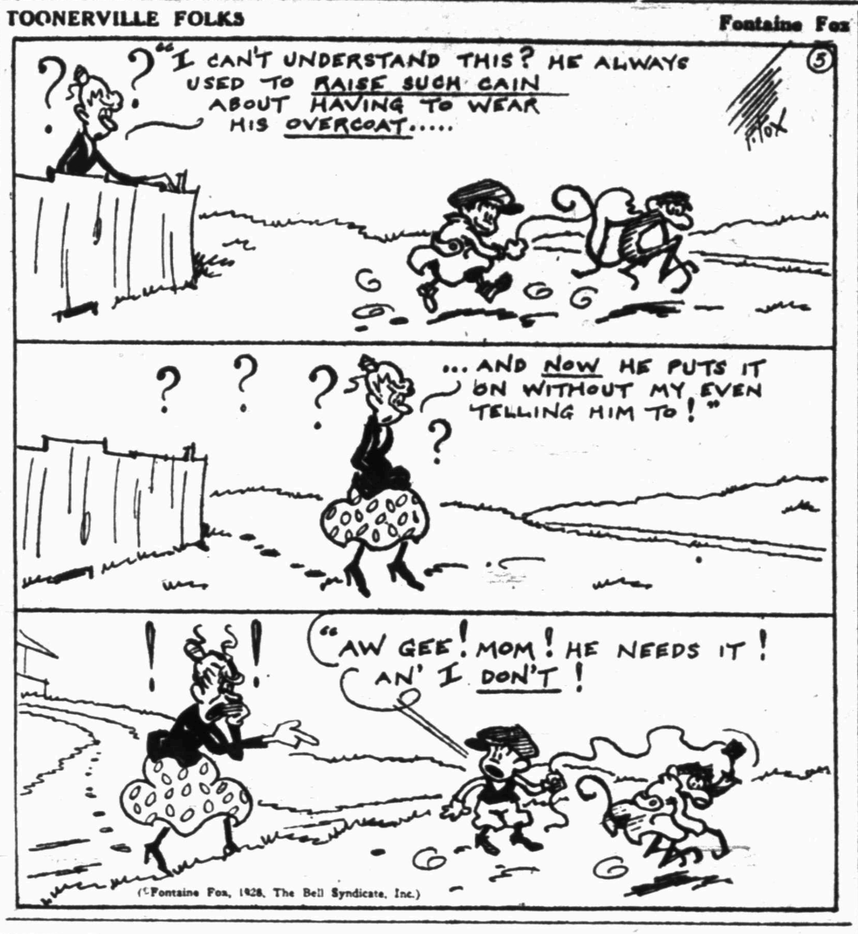

The percentage of pupils in public schools of the United States, as compared to private schools, is steadily increasing through the years. Figures show that 92 per cent of the elementary pupils are now in public schools, while 89 per cent were in such institutions 10 years ago. Pupils in secondary schools have increased in a still greater proportion. Public free schools are the bulwark of our republic's continued greatness. —McKinney (Texas) Daily Courier-Gazette.

DEVICE SEEMS WISE STUNT

The city of Cleveland has devised what looks like a rather smart stunt in the effort to cut down traffic accidents.

It had an elaborate survey of its accident record made, and discovered that certain zones on two particular streets saw more accidents than any other places in town. As a result, it adopted a rule that any motorist involved in an accident in one of those "danger zones" would be charged with careless driving, in addition to any other charge that the accident might involve. And it stipulated that the punishment for conviction of careless driving be a workhouse sentence. —Gainesville (Texas) Daily Register.

The Room Under the Stairs

The Baffling Story of a Man Who Read of His Own Murder

By HERMAN LANDON

Copyright by G. Howard Watt — Serialized by Ledger Syndicate

Synopsis of Preceding Installments

Thomas Dean, well-known writer of mystery novels, has buried his past in his present success. No one knows that he is Paul Forrester, who as a youngster had been mixed up in a chorus girl's breach-of-promise suit, and had also figured in a self defense killing out West. As a result of the latter he bears a scar on the right side of his neck. Dean, therefore is dumfounded to read in the morning paper the death-bed confession of Paul Forrester's murder made by Martin Lamont, western business man on a visit to New York, in which the dying man repents his five-year-old crime. Matters are further complicated by a visit from a strange lady, mysterious little Viola Gray, who tries to connect one of Dean's stories with Forrester's secret.

Resolving to clear up the mystery, Dean visits his family home, where the murder was committed, and runs into his friend, Lieutenant Shane, of the police force, who believes the novelist is merely seeking fiction material.

Together they visit "The Room Under the Stairs," and find the remains of Paul Forrester. Identification of the body is completed by a watch bearing the initials "P. F."

A visit to Lamont's bedside at the home of Dennis Littleby, famous lawyer, brings further complications, for the dying man speaks of the scar and points to Dean before collapsing.

That night Dean visits the scene of the murder and discovers pieces of a broken watch crystal. He is surprised at the sudden entrance of Littleby.

A Play of Wits

"You are a riddle, Dean," said the lawyer. "Are you in the habit of walking into strange houses at night and looking for pieces of broken glass?"

"I wouldn't call it a habit. It's a new hobby of mine."

"I suppose you realize you are trespassing?"

It wasn't true, but Dean could not contradict him. "I might ask you the same question," he countered.

"In which event I should follow your example and maintain a discreet silence." He chuckled, evidently well pleased with himself. "Come now, Dean. Nothing gained by talking at cross purposes, you know. Be as mysterious as you like about the pieces of glass, but tell me something else. When did you first met my friend Lamont?"

"This evening, at your house in Kew Gardens."

"Positive of that?"

"As positive as I can be of anything."

"Lamont's behavior was very strange. The sight of you seemed to excite him tremendously. How do you explain it?"

"I don't. I was hoping you could throw some light on his strange behavior."

"Why?"

"Being Lamont's lawyer, you are in his confidence more or less, I take it."

"Rather less than more. He has told me nothing whatever that explains the way he stared at you just before he took that nasty turn. I tried to analyze the expression on his face, but it kept eluding me. What would you have called it, Dean?"

On a guess Dean would have called it a mingling of terror and startled recognition, but he did not care to confide in the lawyer.

"I don't think words could describe it," he said evasively, then smiled engagingly. "It would be much easier for me to characterize the expression I see on your face this moment."

The lawyer startled slightly. "And how would you characterize it?" he demanded stiffly.

The novelist sighed. "It's too late now. I've lost it. Your expressions are so ephemeral, Littleby, that one needs a mind that works like a camera to catch them. A moment ago I thought you seemed greatly worried over something, but tried hard not to show it."

"Worried?" The lawyer's laugh sounded not quite natural. "What should I worry about?"

"Who knows? Two small pieces of glass, perhaps."

"You are a humorist, Dean. Being a close friend of Lamont's, I can't see the funny side of it as you do." A scowl of bafflement darkened his face. "Curious case, Dean. I can't help wondering what affected him so terrifically when you stood at his bedside. And as for the scar he mentioned—H'm. Something peculiar about that, too. I once heard of a man who had a scar in the exact position indicated by Lamont."

Dean stiffened. His hand started toward the right side of his neck, but he checked the movement in time.

"That's interesting," he remarked, trying to seem only mildly curious.

Littleby looked upward infinitely as if searching his memory. "The man I have in mind was accused of murder. He was never apprehended, as far as I know. It happened out West some years ago, and it was a particularly foul crime. As I recall the facts, he killed a defenseless trapper with whom his father had had a feud of some sort. Of course, it isn't at all likely that this was the same man Lamont had in mind."

"No, not at all likely." It required a tremendous effort on Dean's part to speak calmly.

The lawyer shrugged. "Well, I must be going," he declared with a glance at his watch. "I felt a curiosity to look over the scene described in Lamont's confession. You see," and he chuckled apologetically, "I was a private detective before I went into law. The old habits cling. Well, good night, Dean. Hope you find the other piece of glass."

He walked away, but his faint smile haunted the novelist. His mind was echoing certain phrases Littleby had spoken: "—a particular foul crime—defenseless trapper—a feud of some sort—never caught." Was that how the tragedy on the frozen hillside had appeared to the people of the community? No doubt time and mouth-to-mouth gossip had distorted the episode out of all semplance to the true facts. Or had the lawyer deliberately put a dramatic veneer on the circumstances of Simon Cabell's death? If so, what had been his object?

Dean blew out the candles and started to leave.

"Queer cuss!" he mumbled. "A look into Littleby's mind would be illuminating. In regard to those pieces of glass, for instance. They mean something. Littleby knows what it is, but I don't."

The Writing on the Wall

Dean was a limp and exhausted man at the end of the weirdest—he could think of no other fitting adjective—day of his life, and in the end his aversion to a strange bed decided him to return to Top O' Hill rather than go to a hotel for the night.

It was nearly midnight when he reached the clump of woods that flanked the house in the rear and let himself in with the key he carried. Mrs. Blossom, who was given to regularity and decorum and couldn't understand why any normal man should wish to live in a spooky old house that was in constant danger of the roof tumbling in, always retired early, and she always enjoyed the sound slumber that goes with an easy conscience.

Being bodily fatigued but mentally alert, Dean went to his workshop on the ground floor instead of retiring at once to his bedroom. He lighted the gas, stuffed his pipe with a villainous mixture compounded by himself of several pungent brands, tossed his unfinished manuscript into a drawer, and picked up a novel in the hope of reading himself to sleep.

Soon he gave it up. His eyes skipped unseeingly over the printed lines while his mind dipped in and out of dark corners. He was not thinking of the two fragments of glass now; that was a matter that required a fresh mind and sustained effort. Instead his imagination kept re-enacting the scene in Lamont's bedroom. The subdued light and the still all around seemed to give a touch of realism to his mental picture of the sick man as he sat upright in bed and stared wildly into Dean's face. Would he ever forget the ghastly look he had seen in Lamont's shrunken eyes just before he dropped back against the pillows?

Mad thoughts rushed through his brain. Had Lamont recognized him as Paul Forrester, the man he thought he had murdered? Recognition of an astounding sort was what Dean had read in the sick man's face, but how was he to reconcile this theory with the fact that, to the best of his knowledge, they had never met before? He could not be quite sure on this point, however, for of the thousands of faces he had seen in recent years his mind retained impressions of only a few. It was impossible that Lamont, for reasons of his own, had studied him at a distance, without Dean being aware of it. Too, in his childhood he had often been told that he had his father's eyes and mouth, and it was conceivable that Lamont, granting that he had known the older Forrester, had recognized the resemblance. That would account, at least in part, for the look of dreadful recognition he had seen in the man's face.

But it explained nothing else. It did not account for the amazing dovetailing of circumstances, or for the sick man's detailed description of the person he had murdered in the Hudson street house, or for the look of shuddering dread that had come into his face as he glanced at the telephone instrument at the bedside.

Dismissing these inexplicable phases of the mystery, Dean's thoughts turned to Littleby and his encounter with the lawyer in the Hudson street house. The man's behavior had been vaguely puzzling, and his curious personality, alternately magnetic and repelling, although it touched no extreme in either direction, had resisted all efforts to fathom his motives. His allusion to the trapper's death might have been only a random remark, but it could just as easily have been a slyly aimed thrust at the novelist. The latter supposition took for granted that the lawyer knew Dean's true identity, but such a presumption was hard to accept. Littleby had seen the scar on Dean's neck, and he had taken elaborate pains to pretend either that he had not noticed it or that it meant nothing to him, but his demeanor through it all really proved nothing except that the lawyer's mental processes ran a deep and devious course.

"And that's only natural, since he is a lawyer," Dean told himself, finding that all his conjectures faded away in a haze. He was too tired to think, anyway. In the morning he would attack the problem with a fresh mind. Another talk with Lieutenant Shane might give him a new slant on things.

He rose, knocked the ashes from his pipe, and his roving eyes paused on the big armchair beside the writing desk. A fresh, vivid picture blazed through the chaos in his mind. It was in that chair little Viola Gray had sat that morning, mouthing ecstatic trifles while unwittingly filling his mind with doubts as to her seeming ingenuousness. Strange how the sorcerous little creature had slipped his mind in the rush of complications that had filled his thoughts since morning. Odd, too, that she should have called on this particular day, that was to be marked with a huge interrogation point in Dean's career. Was Viola Gray, with her pretty face and her clashing subtleties, a puppet in the screaming mummery centering about Martin Lamont's deathbed confession?

He shook his head doubtfully, and then something drew his gaze to the wall over his writing desk. Until this moment he had been too preoccupied to notice that a square of white paper, with pencil tracings in the center, was pinned to the wall. He was certain that the paper had not been there when he left for the city. He stepped closer, muttered an exclamation. The tracings dissolved into a crude print. A name was written there. He spelled it out slowly, in a hushed breath:

"S-l-m-o-n C-a-b-e-l."

For a time he stood rigid, gazing at the characters on the paper, knuckles whitening as he gripped the edge of the desk. The clumsily formed and yet startlingly legible letters seemed to symbolize a dread that had been ever present despite his efforts to fight it down. Littleby's words, giving a new and more appalling twist to the tragedy on the hillside, recurred to him. What did it mean, this sinister inscription on a scrap of white paper pinned to his wall? A threat, a warning, an ill-natured reminder? He could not know, but at least one thing was certain. He could no longer evade the fact that some one knew—or, least, guessed—his secret. It was equally obvious that some one had stolen into his house during his absence and left this dolorous reminder on his wall. It was a crude bit of melodramatic claptrap, but effective nevertheless. And what could be the object? He found no answer, but he seized eagerly upon the one tangible clew contained in the inscription. Some one knew that he was Paul Forrester. The realization left him strangely calm, instead of terrifying him as it might have done under different circumstances. He was no longer dealing with shapeless shadows; he had found something substantial at last.

He unfastened the paper and concealed it in a drawer of his desk, then turned out the gas and went to bed. The last image in his consciousness was not the writing on the wall, but the bewildering loveliness of little Miss Gray.

He was up early the next morning. The world, or as much of it as he could see from his window, was full of sunshine and fresh breezes. His muscles, as he performed his usual morning calisthenics, were found to be in excellent trim.

His mind was keen and fresh, as if it had shaken off an abysmal spell during the night. After a cold shower and quick shave he went down to breakfast.

"Glorious day," he confided to Mrs. Blossom.

"The weather prediction is rain, sir," remarked the housekeeper gloomily.

"The weather man is a chronic pessimist. By the way, were there any callers after I left the house yesterday?"

"Only an insurance agent. I wasn't going to let him in, but there was no getting rid of him. These agents are a pest."

"An infernal nuisance," Dean agreed. "You didn't admit him to my workroom, I hope?"

"Certainly not, sir," with asperity. "I never go in there myself, except to clean up on Saturday mornings. I know my orders."

"To be sure, Mrs. Blossom," said Dean soothingly. "You are very good about protecting my privacy, and I appreciate it. You didn't let that pestiferous agent out of your sight while he was in the house?"

A vigorous negative was on the housekeeper's lips, but she held it back as a concession to strict veracity. "Only for a moment or two. He asked me for a drink of water, and of course I couldn't refuse him."

"Of course not. Asked you for a drink of water, did he? And you fetched it from the cooler in the dining room, I take it. H'm. Tell you what you do, Mrs. Blossom. If he should come back when I am out, ask him to call again. In view of the uncertainties of life I may be interested in a moderate amount of insurance. Your coffee is excellent this morning. Another cup, please."

The housekeeper gave him a sad, puzzled look. There were times when Dean's whims were beyond her, and so she merely nodded when her employer, rising from the table, told her he expected to be absent most of the day.

The Record News Staff Poet

A Bit of Nothing on Life and Living

I, who idly sit and stare at life's slow funeral march,
Must turn to spinach and to peas;
must watch protein and starch.
And, sap-like, do I toil and moil to clean my body up.
It's all so useless . . . oh, too soon, I'm dirty as a pup!
And then I go and play at golf, and chase a ball about;
When it is over, where am I? Just hungry, and tired out.
I write a check to pay the rent,
and groceryman, and then
In thirty days I look and find all bills are due again!
I hie me to a movie house, to watch
the stars cavort;
When it is done, just where am I
but one-half dollar short?
Just sliding on from babyhood unto my destined mort.

And winter comes; I cuss the cold.
I loathe the summer heat.
There isn't much to spring, I know, and autumn's not so sweet.
I eat, and sleep, and work, and play, to keep the doc's suggestion,
And what have I but corns and bills, and sometimes indigestion?
All life's so futile, so it seems; I'd sometimes like to drop it.
But you, or you, or you, or you,
just try to make me stop it!

Growing Children

sometimes require a tonic as do their elders *

GIVE your child the right chance to develop, and you will not regret it in later years.

Many children become under-nourished due to lack of appetite. Keep the appetite keen. Food nourishes the body and makes it grow.

Also watch Nature's warning for changes in the system. Skin troubles—pimples, boils and that sallow complexion—all foretell a body weakness.

In such cases, S.S.S. is the proper tonic. It improves the appetite; helps Nature build rich, red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

For more than 100 years, S.S.S. has been helping children and their elders regain strength and vitality.

Children like S.S.S. It is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

* The physical welfare of the child is being given more attention by school authorities. Failure to keep up with class work and absence from school is probably due to a nervousness and run-down condition that may be largely attributed to a deficiency in red blood cells.

Gonzales Veteran Is Elected State Commander

TYLER, Texas, Oct. 4. (INS)—Nacogdoches was selected as the 1929 meeting place for the United Confederate Veterans of Texas at today's session of the veterans' convention here.

Lieut. Col. Wm. M. Atkinson, of Gonzales, was elected state commander of the veterans organization, and Judge E. S. McCarver, of Orange, was re-elected state commander of the Sons of Veterans.

Dawson County Boasts 3,000 Fine Milch Cows

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 4.—Action was taken Wednesday morning to perpetuate the Dawson County Fair association. The directors of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce voted in this meeting to do the necessary work to make the fair association permanent. Plans for formulating a permanent fair association will be worked out by the agricultural department of the local chamber and the present fair association within the next few weeks.

SETS PACE

Lamesa Farmer Reaps Huge Sunflower Seed Crop

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 4.—J. R. Weaver has set the pace on the South Plains for a new and profitable crop. This year he planted 1600 acres in sunflowers and has to date threshed about 700 pounds per acre of good seeds. These are high-class planting seed and are selling at 15 cents per pound. Weaver says he has discovered another money crop for the South Plains as sunflowers grow well here.

Horse and Buggy Good Enough for Gas Man

BRADY, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—Although he sells thousands of gallons of gasoline, C. A. Yoas, local filling station and tourist park proprietor, still drives a horse and buggy. He is the only Brady citizen who has not discarded this ancient mode of conveyance.

Yoas, once a prosperous ranchman near Sonora and now a successful business man, could well afford an automobile, but claims that he has no desire for one. His distrust in motor driven machinery dates back to his ranching days when he used a gasoline motor for pumping water, which gave him "plenty of worry."

W. T. C. C. MEET AT SPEARMAN

District Convention to Open October 16

SPEARMAN, Oct. 4.—The trans-Canadian district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will meet in Spearman on October 16 with probably the greatest attendance that has ever been present at a district convention. The good crops and general prosperous condition of the country are two of the factors which will contribute to the attendance.

Bob Taylor, secretary of the chamber of commerce at Spearman, is tireless in his efforts to make this the best district convention ever held by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and his efforts are bringing responses from all of the trans-Canadian counties.

Noted Speakers

A heavy bill of well known and popular speakers will be a great drawing card at the convention. I. M. Lightner, mayor of Guymon, Okla., in Texas county, who is a member of the W. T. C. C., will respond to the address of welcome tendered by Mayor George M. Whitson of Spearman.

Dr. A. H. Leidigh, dean of Texas Technological college, will also be a feature speaker and will discuss "Our Opportunities." He will be followed on the program by A. M. Bouriand, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who will make an address on "Co-operative Effort" which will be instructive and beneficial to everyone present.

Another high point in the program will come just before the noon luncheon when Senator Hughes of Woodward, Okla., addresses the assembly on "Mutuality of Interests."

During the luncheon to be held in the athletic room of the high school building the diners will be given an opportunity to hear Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers college talk on "Our Greatest Assets."

Senator to Talk

During the afternoon session, State Senator-Elect C. C. Small, and member-elect of the state legislature, C. W. Warwick, will be featured and will make very enlightening talks on "Legislative Needs."

Other talks will be made by A. T. Holcombe, manager of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce, and J. E. Biggs, district manager of the W. T. C. C. and by representatives of the different towns present.

Lindsey Nunn of Amarillo, director of the W. T. C. C., will be presiding officer at the morning session which will convene at the high school auditorium, and Henry Anslee of Amarillo will be toastmaster at the luncheon served by the Home Economics club.

Many delightful entertainment features have been arranged, and will play their part in making the district convention a great success.

RULING ON RED RIVER HUNTING

Stream Bed Belongs to U. S., Tucker Explains

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—Texas sportsmen who have been puzzled why they cannot hunt on their side of the Red river, the border line between Texas and Oklahoma, without molestation from the game wardens of the neighbor state, have had the question cleared for them in a statement by William T. Tucker, game, fish and oyster commissioner.

"Under decision of the United States supreme court, Red river was held to be the property of the government, and does not belong to either Texas or Oklahoma," Tucker said. "Oklahoma was given civil jurisdiction over the stream, and therefore has police powers over the river. There has been much confusion on this subject, but the point is clear that Texas has no jurisdiction whatever."

SEVERAL NEW ATHLETES TO PASTIME FOR SPUDDERS IN 1929

LAMB, ESTELL SLATED TO GO

Gardner Looks to New Talent to Keep High Post

By LARRY DAILEY

When J. Alvin Gardner presents his Spudders of 1929, several new faces will be in the cast. In addition to five members of the 1927 runnersup for the Texas league title who have been sold to or drafted by major league clubs, it is expected that some other athletes who are on Gardner's payroll the past season will pastime in new regalia next campaign.

While the boss of the Spudders is non-committal over his plans for further changes, if any, for next year, it is bruited around town that some of the boys won't find the welcome mat out in 1927. Gardner had a heavy payroll this season, with a team composed largely of high-priced veterans, and while they strove well in landing in second place, it seems likely that some of those tossers may be disposed of.

Gardner is keen for youngsters, particularly over this kid Debs Garms, the shortstop from Abilene who looked like a real ball player in a brief trial here this fall. He has other kids up from his Abilene West Texas farm, and more prospects from elsewhere who will get an earnest look-see from the prexy and his manager next spring.

Speaking of a manager, Jim Galloway probably will return as skipper of the Spudders. That isn't official, but is just this writer's guess, which is no better nor worse than anybody's. But Gardner was highly pleased in the manner in which Jeems brought the Spudders to the top in the second half season and too, they recently went to Oklahoma City together to see that town's team play Tulsa for the Western league title, indicating there must be some sort of understanding, if nothing else, between them for next year.

Help From Browns

The Spudder officials made the trek to Oklahoma City not merely to see a ball game or two, but to view the Oilers in particular. Gardner has three players coming from the St. Louis Americans next spring in the deal that sent three Spudders to that club, and it is likely that one or two of the athletes to be shipped here from the Browns will be tossers who pastimed this summer with Tulsa.

Reinforcements all along the line are needed by the Spudders. The players who go to the big leagues are Pitcher Herb Cobb, First Baseman George Stanton, Infielder Eddie Roetz and Outfielder Tom Jenkins, sold to the Browns, and Pitcher Mike Cvengros, drafted by the Chicago Cubs. Catcher Ike Danning, who pastimed with New Haven on option from the Spudders, also was in the deal with the Brownies.

Of course, it isn't improbable that one or more of the Spudders sent to the Browns will be returned, but Gardner is not planning on those athletes in his calculations for 1929.

Pitcher Bill Shores finished the season with the Spudders on option from the Philadelphia Athletics, to whom he returns, thus making it necessary to acquire further slab replacements. Too, there is a hint that another hurler or two will be sold or used for trading purposes.

Two Petes to Return

Tom Estell seems slated for a change of uniform. The spitball expert was used only in a relief role in waning days of the 1928 campaign, which indicates that he will not be included in the scheme of things for next season.

Pete Lapan, the grizzled veteran behind the mask, had one of the best seasons of his career this campaign and he doubtless will be retained. Doc Smith, the other catcher, suffered broken ribs late in the season soon after coming here from Fort Worth in a deal for Joe Cobb. He may be with the Spudders next spring.

Pete Turgeon, escaping the draft, of course will be back. He is, in the opinion of many keen baseball observers, the best second baseman in the minor leagues. Certainly he is so valued by Gardner and fans here and the popular and starry second baseman will be one of the cogs around whom the new machine will be built.

After playing brilliant ball in 1927, Wally Swanson had a disappointing season this year. But illness and injuries, rather than slowing up, decreased Wally's ability, as he is only a youngster. At his best, Swenson is a corking third baseman and a timely hitter and he would be hard to improve on at third base.

Rabbit Benton, except for occasional erratic lapses, played well at shortstop. His retention at that position or for a utility role is likely.

Fits Back, Of Course

Howard Fitzgerld occupies a like standing with Turgeon here. He is one of the most valuable all-around outfielders in the Texas league, and shares with Pete, the second sacker, the most widespread popularity. Howard will be back, ready for a bigger and better season than ever.

Fits and Brick Eldred probably will be the only holdover outfielders. It's a certainty, of course, that Howard will be back, while Eldred's retention seems likely. Brick is an oldtimer and not such a much as an outfielder. But he can sock that ball and he should hit plenty for the Spuds again next year, as he did this season.

Lyman Lamb hardly will fit into the plans of Gardner and his manager. Lymie's hitting fell off this year, and idleness from injury and alternating with Eldred didn't help his fielding any. Lamb still can play a corking game of class A baseball—but after several years of loyal and excellent work here he seems to need a change of surroundings.

Garland Orr, another Abilene youngster, might break into the outfield. Orr is a husky youth who compiled an impressive batting average at Abilene this year. In a brief trial here this fall he looked like a natural hitter and capable outfielder.

SIMMONS IS SET FOR FROG FIGHT

7000 Expected to Attend Game at Breckenridge

ABILENE, Oct. 4. (AP)—Though Coach Bridges has gone about the task of grooming Simmons university Cowboys for their game Saturday with T. C. U. at Breckenridge in quiet fashion, indications today were that he already has decided on his starting lineup for the fray.

Moore and Daniel are likely to draw the end berths, flanked by Pearce and Smith at tackles. Two huskies, Rogers and Jennings, will start the game at guard and Golightly likely will play center. In the backfield will be Sims at quarter, Sellers and Davenport at half back, and Houghton at full back.

Bridges has concentrated this week on a defense for the Frogs' vaunted passing attack and the cowboys believe their squad possesses sufficient power to check the Fort Worth's team offense.

Since it will be the first college football game ever played in Breckenridge, the tilt may draw a crowd of 7,000. New steel stands have been erected and the gridiron is in good playing condition.

Two Bobby's in Atlanta; Other One Is a Cyclist

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4. (AP)—Although Atlanta is widely known for her famous Bobby Jones, golf champion de luxe, there's another Bobby here, who, in his day, brought much fame to the Georgia city.

Bobby Walthour Sr., 48, still able to race on his bicycle as was his custom more than a score of years ago, recently returned from Europe and was accorded a homecoming celebration at Lakewood park, where he clipped off several fast exhibition miles to prove his near half-hundred years had not slowed him up.

YANKEES TAKE SERIES OPENER

Hugmen Shell Sherdel for 4 to 1 Victory

shooters didn't think the Cardinals could whip Hoyt, the best pitcher that Miller Huggins has, in the best year of his career.

"School Boy" Hoyt

It has been some years since it was fashionable to refer to Waite Hoyt as the Brooklyn school boy. He is hitting up around 30 years now, and has been moseying around the big leagues since John J. McGraw signed him up for the Giants when he was about sweet 16. He was a great pitcher today as he held the Cardinals in the hollow of his glove, as the boys say.

He was a Christy Matthewson in his heydey, a Chief Bender at his peak.

The clients who viewed the pastime, included not only the 70,000 in the yard but thousands of others posted on the towering heights of the apartment houses that have reared their heads above the Yankee stadium since the owners of the Giants kicked Colonel Jake Ruppert and his club across the Harlem river. That was a lucky kick for the colonel, when you come to think about it. He moved on to a waste place then owned by William Waldorf Astor that has become the heart of a residential section, to the enchancement of the colonel's real estate.

The colonel, by the way, by the way, was not the least interested of the spectators today, remaining seated in his box throughout the afternoon, though he commonly takes to the tunnels under the stand when the score is close. The colonel can't bear 'em close.

Those Crippled Yanks

The clients had expected to see some the Yanks wheeled to the plate in invalid chairs, in view of recent reports from the Huggins' hospital ward, and it was a great surprise to find the boys so full of vim and vinegar. Especially George Herman Ruth, called Babe. The popular impression was that the old sachem of smack not only wasn't feeling any so sprightly but that he had a severe crick in his batting average.

Behold the Babe, then, walking up to the old saucer, or plate, unassisted, and knocking out two doubles and a single for himself. Once he struck out but his gestures in so doing didn't seem quite as majestic as in other years. Can if be that the Babe is slowing up in his strike-out technique?

Toward the close of the pastime, Miller Huggins began husbanding his strength by putting in subs, but the Babe struck it out.

Old Aleck Today

Huggins fired his heaviest barrel at the Cardinals on this game, but the experts say that now that Hoyt is through for a couple of days, he hasn't much pitching left aside from George Pipgras. George will probably be in there tomorrow chucking them against the aged Grover Cleveland Alexander. Hoyt will probably pitch the second game in St. Louis. Of course it's possible for one pitcher to win a series if he is properly jockeyed by his manager.

The St. Louis club didn't look any too good today but no slub would have looked good against the deadly rhythm of Hoyt's right arm. A club that isn't hitting always seems dead from the capbuttons down. But one game doesn't make a world's series, and William McKechney's men may revive under the influence of old Grover's heaving tomorrow.

The speculators were eating their tickets as the saying is, when the pastime started at the rather unearthly baseball hour of 1:30 p. m. They were lined up along the sidewalks approaching the yard begging the clients to take the pasteboards off their hands at a reduction. The few empty seats in the stands were represented by the tickets left in the hands of the luckless specs.

It was a grand day, none the less, what with the sun shining cheerfully, and Colonel Jake Ruppert, the president of the Yanks, smiling from ear to ear, and back again, and the flags and bunting on the green and gray walls of the stadium stirring gently in the warm breezes.

The 70,000 noble patrons of the pastime took to yelling after 1:30, at about 1:41 to be exact, which was when the ubiquitous Ruth and Gehrig pieced together a brace of doubles for the first tally.

Judge Landis There

That was after Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, wearing only his fright wig to deceive us, chucked out the first pill of the series, and there had been band music, and much posing for the photographers by the base players and one thing and another.

Bill Sherdel, the slow-motion sidewinder of the Cardinals, had no control over Babe and Lou. Both smacked the ball to right with much vim. Ruth reporting home on Gehrig's drive. Long Bob Meusel hoisted a light fly to Frisch.

All this of course was after the Cards had had their dab at the pitching of Waite Hoyt in the opening frame. Lazzeri threw out Douthit. High hit a fly to Paschal, and Koenig tossed out Frankie Frisch.

The latter got a big hand when he stepped to the plate. Why not? He was playing in his own back yard and all the neighbors, children were there to see him. Frankie has done o. k. with this world series business since he left Fordham to join the Giants. This is his fifth.

The clients did some very hearty cheering for Benny Bengough in the third, when he galloped over to the Cardinals' dugout after a fly from Douthit's bat for the third out of that frame. Bengough had to walk all over the Cardinals' bats before he recovered his balance after the clutch.

Maranville Sprightly

That antediluvian little man, "Rabbit" Maranville, unkinked his venerable legs in a mighty sprint for a foul from Hoyt's hickory immediately thereafter. "Rabbit" got the ball with one hand, yanking it right out of the faces of the clients in the boxes back of third.

On his second appearance of the game at the plate in the fourth Ruth tagged one of Bill Sherdel's slow curves to center for a two bagger, Hafey galloped hotly after the ball as it revolved in the sun light, but he was a thumb short.

The clients raved over this exploit. Gehrig tapped a light roller to Sherdel for an easy out as Ruth jockeyed off second as lightly as a baby elephant. Then Long Bob Meusel gently tapped the pill into the crowd in the right field bleachers for a home run, and the happy clients made plenty of hi-hi. Bill Sherdel wasn't doing so well.

Lazzeri took a hefty swipe at a slow one and raised a foul to Wilson. Maranville got Dugan's tight fly ending the inning. The Cardinals were no little dejected at this particular writing, an expression of great gloom taking possession of the classic countenance of Mr. Will McKechnie, their manager. At least he looked gloomy as viewed from the crow's nest of the press.

In the Cards' side of the fifth, Harper got the first hit off Hoyt, a single to left center. Wilson forced Harper at second, then the St. Louis catcher made a noble effort to steal. Bengough cut him down with a great throw to Koenig.

Sherdel finally got partially even with Babe in the Yanks' sixth. He pitched two slow strikes over on Babe, then three balls. Babe turned and started for first with the next pitch, but Brick Owens, glowering in the shade of the hickories, called it a strike so decisively that Babe kept his protest down to a mere grunt. Lazzeri was yanked by Huggins at the start of the seventh, and Durocher took his place. Lazzeri's arm is so bad he can't make a double play, so when the Yanks get a lead and need defensive strength more than offensive, Huggins works this switch.

Bottomley Registers

"Sunny Jim" Bottomley finally broke through Hoyt's amazing pitching by banging a homer into the right field bleacher at the start of the Cards' end of the seventh. The ball was hit so hard, and was traveling so high and fast that Ruth remained stooped over, his hands on his knees, and let 'er fly. The clients thought well of that incident and gave Jim a large hand. It was the second hit off Hoyt, but it was a real hit.

With two out in the Yanks' side of the game session, Maranville juggled Dugan to safety on a hot bouncer. Harper got Bengough's line fly.

After Wilson had retired on a fly to Paschal in the Cards' eighth, Ernie Orsatti gladdened the hearts of the west coasters present, such as Scotty Chisholm and Tommy Laird, by appearing as a pinch hitter for Maranville. He outwaited Waite Hoye and got a base on balls.

Waddy Holm batted in place of Bill Sherdel, who retired with his third defeat in world's series games at the hands of the Yanks. With a count of three and two on him, Holm raised a fly to Paschal. Hoyt pitched with great care to Douthit, Owens calling a third strike on the batter as Douthit jumped back from the plate with the fall of Hoyt's arm.

Thevenow, star of the series of two years ago, went to short in place of Maranville, and Johnson, a right hander, took up the pitching for the Cards. There are a lot of Johnsons around the big leagues right now. This one is Sylvester. He has a sharp curve. He expunged Paschal on a fly to center, but Koenig singled to center. Frisch just barely touched the ball as it bounced past him.

Last of Scoring

This incident produced Ruth again. He let one of Sylvester's shoots go and then singled past Frisch, who fell on his face diving for the ball. Koenig took second. It was Babe's third blast. Gehrig singled to right, scoring Koenig and putting Babe on second.

Long Bob Meusl hit a soft fly to Thevenow, ending the passage, and Durst relieved Paschal in center field for the Yanks.

Andy High fanned out in the Cards' last stab and Dugan and Gehrig combined in a great play on Frankie Frisch, the former making a difficult stop and a great throw, and Gehrig turning in with a remarkable reaching catch. Bottomley got his second hit, a drive to right that Ruth took on the first bound. Ruth then grabbed Hafey's fly for the last out and the crowd poured out on the field and rushed forward to peer more closely at the straggling athletes.

Capt. Virgil Wigley Heads Veteran Team That Looms As Contender for District Class B Honors

(This is one of a series of stories by Larry Dailey, Record News sports editor, on the individual and team prospects of high school football elevens in this section).

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

IOWA PARK, Texas, Oct. 4.—For the purpose of writing about the prospects of the Iowa Park Hawks, I am reverting to the usage of that vintage but descriptive phrase, "triple threat." For it seems that they have a man on their football team over here who is all that terms implies, and if he is as good as he seemed to be when I watched him in scrimmage, a threat to opposing teams he is indeed.

The young man is Virgil Wigley. He is fullback of the Hawks, does the line-bucking, runs around ends, is responsible for most of the punting and forward passing and is captain of the team. Outside of that, the wiggling Wigley has little to do with the play of the prep gridders here.

Lest I have conveyed the idea that this is a one-man team, I hasten to correct that impression. Grange was great—but a mighty team helped make his fame. And Wigley won't do his running and punting and passing unless ten men help him. They seem to have the ten men, and more, tried and true, over here.

Veteran Talent

Indeed, there are 12 letter men, a most imposing array of veteran talent to gladden the heart of even a coach as gloomy as Gil Doble. Franklin Love, quarterback; James Williamson and Theo Cheeves, halfbacks, are other backs who wear wound and service stripes on their sleeves as token of their efforts for their Hawks.

Cheeves also does some punting and all the backs forward pass.

A complete line, from end to end, of letter men can and doubtless will be offered by the coaches here. The ends are Alvin Smith and Jess Cameron, the tackles are W. B. Burney and R. E. Sunday, the guards are Wayland Fitzgerald and Wayne Golden and the pivotal man at center is Lloyd Copeland. Curtis Davis plays both tackle and guard, though not at the same time, of course.

Among the lads hoping to break into that veteran combination are Clark Taylor and Roger Golden, halfbacks, and the brothers John and Joe Cunningham, Kyle Hall, J. C. Cobb and Ferren Killow, linemen.

They have about 28 men out for the squad, not a large array, to be sure, but judging from the list of veterans it embraces quality if not so much quantity.

The team will average from 150 to 155 pounds.

Open Season Today

The Hawks open their season here today with Megargel. They play Burkburnett and Chillicothe here in successive weeks and then meet Seymour and Crowell. The balance of their schedule has not been completed.

Former athletes of North Texas Teachers college at Denton are the coaches. They are I. B. Griffith, the head coach, and Frank W. Belkin, assistant coach. They are in their second year of tutoring the preps in athletics here.

Loys Barbour is manager of the team.

NORTH TEXAS AGS WIN

ARLINGTON, Texas, Oct. 4 (AP)—The North Texas Agricultural college eleven beat Clifton college 32-0 here today. Taylor and Maxey starred for the winners; Ekrut and Jackson for the visitors.

CUBS NIP SOX IN FOURTEENTH

Nationals Cop Second in Row by 5-3 Score

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—The White Sox and Cubs battled for 14 innings today, the Cubs emerging winner 5 to 3 to make it two straight in the series for the city baseball title.

A three-run attack in the fourteenth gave the Cubs the game, after they had knotted the score at two-all in the ninth on an error by Art Shires, White Sox rookie first baseman.

Tommy Thomas, who started and finished the game for the Sox, struck out 13 of the National leaguers.

Reagan Juniors Play Fairview Here Today

Coach Beck's Reagan Junior High school gridders will meet the Fairview High school team eleven today on the Wilson field at 4 o'clock. Fairview, conqueror of Zundelowitz Juniors last week, has a strong team to test the mettle of Reagan.

Dixie Series Draws 67,087 Fans; $110,091

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 4. (AP)—Statistics compiled today on the Dixie series between the Birmingham Barons and the Houston Buffaloes showed that 67,087 baseball fans paid $110,091 to see the six games here and in Houston. Attendance in Birmingham was better than at the three games played in Houston. Wednesday's game here drew 9,827 persons despite the rain.

Of the proceeds, the players of the two teams will divide $39,486.60; the Birmingham and Houston clubs will divide $48,586.22 and the Southern association and Texas league each will receive $11,009.09. The comparatively smallness of the players' share is accounted for in the fact that they participate in receipts of the first four games only.

Yanks 7 to 5 Favorites To Cop After First Win

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (UP)—The New York Yankees tonight were quoted 7 to 5 favorites to win the world series after their 4 to 1 victory in the opening game today.

Wall street betting commissioners reported that they had placed several wagers of $7,000 to $5,000 that the Yankees win the series.

Odds on the second game are quoted at even money.

Henrietta Bearcats to Open Grid Season Today

HENRIETTA, Texas, Oct. 4.—Henrietta high school will play Bellevue high school in their first conference football game of the season Friday afternoon at Henrietta. Coach Bennett of Henrietta says all of his men are in perfect condition and are ready for the first conference game.

Colgate Plays At Vanderbilt

Eastern Elevens Drill for Saturday's Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—The exodus to the football wars of Saturday began when 25 members of the Colgate squad started for Nashville, Tenn., where they will meet Vanderbilt. For the most part, however, coaches of the major eastern teams were putting their men through hard workouts in preparation for the encounters at the end of the week.

Many eastern elevens are preparing to loose a barrage of passes on Saturday's opponents. Princeton, Yale and Army all specialized on the aerial game as they went through heavy drills today. The Tigers had Ed Wittmer, star running back, tossing the ball in a two-hour session that was devoted almost entirely to passing. Princeton's backs also got a chance to try their hands at running back kick-offs.

Army Works on Passes

At New Haven, the same sort of a drill was in order for Mal Stevens' blue clad warriors.

Army's aerial attack brought a pretty broken field run by Quarterback Nave, on the receiving end of a pass and covered 60 yards to the goal line. Allan also did some good work in line plunging.

Harvard also went through a hard scrimmage in preparation for its opener against Springfield.

Pitt Changes Lineup

Pennsylvania colleges confined activities to lighter workouts, concentrating on finding the best possible combinations.

Pittsburgh and Lafayette practiced with changed lineups, while at Lehigh Coach Tate devoted more attention to his second string men than to his regulars.

Penn State had an easy session of dummy drill and sprints followed by a light scrimmage. Several injuries resulting from scrimmages earlier in the week held up proceedings, notably the bump which may keep Captain Dick Guest of Lafayette out of Saturday's game.

Indianapolis Trounces Rochester by 12 to 5

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 4. (AP)—Indianapolis, pennant winners in the American association, overwhelmed Rochester, champions of the International league, in the fifth game of the "little world series" here today, 12 to 5. The local club has won three of the five games played. One of the other games was a tie.

INDIANS READY FOR GRAN'FIELD

Tribe Battles Oklahoma Preps Here Today

By GORDON FULCHER

Greatly strengthened since their showing in the first two games of the season, the Wichita Falls Junior college Indians enter their third engagement and the first on the home field with Grandfield, Okla., High school at Spudder park at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The line which functioned so poorly in preceding contests began to take on a formidable appearance in this week's practice. Coach E. A. Baggett's wail should be able to hold today while the addition of several new plays improves the offense of the team.

From indications in practice this week Jimmy Harvey will again be Baggett's choice for a starter at quarterback, though Donald Penn, a smart little general and a fair ball carrier, should see considerable service.

Dickey at Halfback

Olin Dickey, who has featured the early games with long punts and accurate passes is almost a sure choice for one halfback position, while John Weiler seems to have first call at fullback. The other halfback position rests between Mitchell, Castelberry and McMillan, though McMillan may be shifted into the line to take care of a weak end.

Gabbert Stephens at end, Bill Habern and Black at guards and Walter Pinney at center loom as the most promising linemen.

Tommy Hutcheson, a letterman from last season and probably the most shifty ball carrier on the squad, did not report for practice during the week. He has not carried the ball in a game so far.

Probable Lineup

Coach Bud McCallum gave his high school Coyotes their last hard practice yesterday before the game with Ardmore on the Oklahomans' field Saturday.

The Coyotes are a more formidable machine this week than they have been during the season. Kenneth Mills and Captain Harvey Black loom as the best offensive bets while Jud Bell, Hodgkiss and Bains appear to be the class of the linemen.

Jockey Seriously Hurt At Lincoln Fields Oval

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—Jockey Elmore Shropshire, Lexington, Ky., who has earned a tremendous following in the Chicago racing district because of his ability to boot home the long shots, was badly hurt during the running of the first race at Lincoln fields today.

His mount, Pokest, fell and the lad was trampled. Shropshire was taken to the Chicago Heights hospital.

"Chesterfield—that's it!"

Mild enough for anybody... and yet THEY SATISFY*

*THINK what that means: "Mild enough for anybody . . . and yet they satisfy!" Mild—yes. But something more—a quality of leaf, a skill of blending, that brings out the natural taste and goodness of the tobaccos themselves.

Tobacco goodness, and without oversweetening; mildness with character—that's the Chesterfield difference.

And it's the most important difference any cigarette could offer!

QUEEN OF PARK FAIR CROWNED

Pageant Closes First Day of Community Show

interest as many entires have already been made.

Persons interested in poultry raising may hear a lecture on "Poultry Helps" at 3 o'clock by W. C. Homeyer, Fort Worth poultry expert. This lecture will be given in the poultry building.

The old fiddlers' contest starting at 3 o'clock, will conclude the day's program.

Judges completed their work this afternoon in the womans' rabbit and school departments. Judging will start in the other departments Friday morning.

A total of 112 rabbits are being shown and all pens in the tent are filled. In order to stimulate interest in the raising of rabbits, members of the Texas Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association are serving rabbit sandwiches from a booth in front of the rabbit show.

There are about 125 entries in the agricultural tent, which is one of the outstanding departments of the fair.

The Barwise home demonstration club won first and the Pleasant Valley club, second, in decisions handed down today by the judges.

Four schools, Iowa Park, Weeth, Clara and Valley View, have arranged attractive booths.

Hogs Exhibited

The hogs being exhibited at the fair are attracting considerable interest. Members of the Wichita Falls Kiwanis Pig club alone are showing 68 head. Club members showing hogs are S. L. Hansard, C. N. Caple, R. B. Miller, A. Wust, Troy Gilmore, C. Baker, Virgil Evans, Louis Cooksey, O'Neal White, G. W. Hathaway, M. Roop, Severin Frerich and E. Ashbrook.

Nine members of the Iowa Park Pig club have made entries in the swine department. These are Prescott Halton, Lowell Spruell, Ralph Samson, Curtis Sehon, Hershall Ashbrook, Fred Scarbrough, H. G. Gilley jr., Aaron Morgan and Prince Williams.

There are 60 chicken, four turkey, four pigeon and two duck coops filled in the poultry exhibit. The building being used by this department was not large enough to accommodate the entries and some had to be placed in another structure.

Rich Abernathy, D. O. Smith, Reeves Overby, E. C. Knox, C. C. Burrows and C. S. Woods are exhibiting dairy cattle. B. Smith is showing beef cattle.

Colquitt Talks For Hoover Here

bosses so thoroughly inoculated with Tammany, I decided to fight.

"Efforts have been made in the South to stir up racial prejudice and race hatred over Hoover's issuance of an order to countermand another order in his department segregating the negroes.

"When Grover Cleveland, a Democrat, was president, the civil service law, which specifically prohibits discrimination because of race or color, was passed. Herbert Hoover segregated a group of negroes in his department to work up material on their own race of vital interest to their race.

"Attention to this segregation was brought to the president, and the result was that the negroes were taken from their special work and put back at their old desks in accordance with the Cleveland civil service law. That is the 'crime' with which Hoover is charged here in the South where Smith forces seek to stir up race hatred for the sake of votes.

Al's Smoke Screen

"It has been done to throw a smoke screen around Al Smith.

"I have a little paper clipping in which Smith tells of his non sectarian civil service commission in New York. Smith says it is composed of one Jew, one Catholic and one Protestant. He is right, in saying one Jew, one Catholic and one Protestant, but he failed to say that the Protestant is a negro named Martin who dictates his letters to his white stenographer.

"This same negro, Martin, has organizers over the United States in the north, west and east, organizing Al Smith for President Negro clubs. But this is not true in the South where the same Al Smith and his Tammany organization are seeking to stir up race hatred.

"In a swivel chair in New York is a negro secretary, kept there by Smith and Tammany, at $7,500 a year.

"I am not trying to stir up racial prejudices, but am exposing the way Tammany, and its men such as Smith, will work in stirring up issues against the other man, and am also showing where they really get their ideas.

"I am not against Al Smith because he is a Catholic, but because he is the kind of a Catholic he is.

"In New York there are 1,600,000 Jews. The other day a rabbi undertook to lecture the Protestant ministers. There are several million other foreigners. It is that foreign vote the Tammany hall and Al Smith men hope to gain with Al Smith as the candidate so they may have the chance to carry New York state.

Questions Rights

"By what right does a rabbi tell the Protestant ministers what to do? By what right do the politicians of today rail at their ministers for upholding that which is good in national ideals and exposing that which is bad as many are doing at the present time?

"When the call for ministers was sent out by George Washington was it the Catholics and Jews who answered? Or was it the Methodists, the Christians and the Presbyterians? The Catholics and Jewish names were missing, yet political expediency alone has dictated that they be brought into the campaign on the side of Smith as it is figured he will aid in carrying the rock ribbed Republican state of Massachusetts, the industrial state of Pennsylvania, and other eastern states which contain most of the 22,500,000 foreigners who have come to our shores in recent years.

"We can let the sidewalks of New York and Tammany hall put it over us part of the time but not all of the time.

"This present election is not a question of party. Hoover never has been a partisan politician. In Michigan in 1920 he carried the state on the Democratic ticket

Mayor 'Bossy' Gillis Must Spend Two Months in Jail and Pay $545

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 4. (UP)—Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, Newburyport's "bad boy" mayor, will spend the next two months of his executive term in the Essex county jail here for the illegal storage of gasoline.

The sentence was imposed in court here late today by Judge Nelson T. Brown, after the red-headed executive had pleaded guilty last week, on 12 counts in connection with the establishment and operation of a gasoline station in Newburyport without a permit.

In addition to the two months' sentence on two counts of illegal storage of gasoline, fines totaling $545 were imposed upon the mayor.

For cutting down a shade tree, Mayor Gillis was ordered to pay $400 to the city of Newburyport. On the two counts of illegal storage he was fined $100, on a third count of illegal storage, $25, and for violation of the city ordinance against selling gasoline without a permit, $20. The other charges against him were filed.

"Bossy" was given a 330-day sentence and fined $1,100 in the Newburyport court upon his first appearance on the charges, but entered an appeal. Last Friday, when he was summoned to the Lawrence court, he withdrew his appeal and changed his plea to guilty, throwing himself upon the leniency of the court.

Whether Old Gray Mare 'Used to Be' Oklahoman Is Problem to Legion

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The fact that "the old gray mare, she ain't what she used to be" is not going to worry Texas and Oklahoma legionnaires half as much as another important question at the national convention of the American Legion here next week.

The decrepitude of the steed is of little importance compared to the battle each state will put on to prove the old gray mare "used to be" a Texan, or an Oklahoman as the case may be.

Both states long have claimed the famous army nag and song. Brownwood's old gray mare and Old Gray Mare band will be there and there will be gray mares from plenty of other Texas cities and plenty of bands to make music about her.

General Roy Hoffman, Oklahoma City, has served notice that the Sooner delegation is coming well equipped to prove title to the ancient animal.

North Celebrates Fourth, South Christmas With Firecrackers

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 4. (UP)—Why do the North and South differ in their uses of firecrackers, the northern states using them to celebrate the Fourth of July and the southern states using them on Christmas?

The United States Department of commerce wants to know. Robert J. Smith, industrial and foreign trade secretary of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, received a query from the department this week which asks the question adding, "there must be some reason for this which dates back to the time when firecrackers were first introduced into this country."

FAVORITE JOKES OF FAMOUS FOLK

As Told by Them to
FRANK E. NICHOLSON

By THEODORE ROBERTS

Theodore Roberts is that grand old man of the screen who has done more to make the cigar famous than even Robert Burns. Roberts told me that his favorite fable concerned a southern colonel who was visiting in Saratoga Springs during the days before prohibition. On the night of his arrival, at the dinner table, the colonel said:

Theodore Roberts

"'Bring me a Kentucky beefsteak.'

"The waiter didn't understand understand just what the colonel meant by a 'Kentucky beefsteak,' so the southener explained:

"'Bring me a big steak, a quart of Bourbon whisky and a bulldog.'

"'But what do you want with a bulldog?' queried the puzzled waiter.

"'Why, to eat the steak, suh!' snapped the colonel.

Enrollment at C. I. A. Represents 19 States

DENTON, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—Nineteen states are represented in the present enrollment at the College of Industrial Arts, according to N. Walker King, registrar. There are students from Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Louisiana, Nebraska, Iowa, Arkansas, Alabama, Tennessee, Delaware, Kentucky, Missouri, Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan. Students are also registered from Havana, Cuba, and Mexico.

When President Wilson sought someone in Europe who knew conditions and who would assist in getting stranded Americans home, the American ambassador suggested Mr. Hoover and Wilson appointed him. Later he served in Wilson's cabinet. Still later he served in the Harding and Coolidge cabinets.

Man, Not Party

"This election is a question of the man, and not the party.

"When I take my ballot in to vote, I am going to scratch the Democratic presidential electors, all 20 of them, and leave all of the rest of the straight Democratic ticket stand. On the Republican side of the ballot, I am going to scratch all of the names except the 20 presidential electors. I am going to scratch all names on the Socialist and other tickets. In this way I will vote for Herbert Hoover, as a great man, and I will stay with my party and vote for Dan Moody and all the rest of the state ticket and all the county and other Democratic nominees.

"Dallas county will give Hoover 10,000 majority. A Record Telegram reporter from Fort Worth told me the other day that he believed Texas north and west of Fort Worth would go for Hoover. Tarrant county will give Hoover a 5,000 majority, and I believe Wichita county will do the same thing."

The evening opened with a program by the Highland Heights Christian church orchestra. R. H. Henry of Burkburnett presided, and introduced Dr. S. A. Barnes and Dr. Paul H. Packard, each of who made short talks. Dr. Packard introduced Mr. Colquitt.

AL SMITH WOULD LET STATE ACT

Those Wanting Prohibition Should Have It, He Says

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—Governor Smith holds that states wanting prohibition should be permitted to remain dry under the 18th amendment.

The Democratic presidential nominee re-emphasized this contention today in replying to a charge that if he were consistent he would advocate outright repeal of the prohibition amendment.

SPEECH IN LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4 (AP)—Kentucky Democratic headquarters here announced late today that Governor Smith will speak in Louisville Saturday night, Oct. 13. The announcement, which came from national headquarters, did not state what other cities he would visit on the trip.

The governor directed his remarks, made at a press conference, at a speech made last night before a group of Republican women in New York state by James W. Wadsworth, former Republican senator from this state.

Referring to Wadsworth, with whom he has been friendly for years although they are political antagonists, as "Jim," Smith stressed to newspaper men that he himself was a "Jeffersonian Democrat."

"I believe in state's rights," he went on. "If a state wants to be dry I want to let it be dry. That is the answer."

Then the governor directed an attack on Wadsworth's own stand on prohibition, declaring the former senator "came out for the repeal of it only when he wanted to be reelected."

"He never introduced any repeal resolutions in the senate when he was there," the nominee continued, "and only became violently interested in the repeal of the 18th amendment when his election was at stake. But it did not do him any good because the people in the state got on to it and that is one of the reasons why he did not win."

HOSPITAL NAMESAKE

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—A blackeyed, gurgling, two-month old baby boy, left recently on the steps of a Houston nurses' school, has been named Jefferson Davis by Dr. L. M. Shipp, head of the Jefferson Davis hospital, where the infant was transferred.

Sea Fishing Reported Good at Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—With the coming of the autumnal equinox and the rising of the tide in Laguna Madre and Corpus Christi bay, the fall fishing season on the gulf coast is well under way.

Both red and speckled trout are being caught in large numbers near Alta Vista reef, three miles off shore, and in nearby channels.

Fishermen returning from short trips across Corpus Christi may report that trout and red fish are biting and that pike are being taken in more limited quantities.

October is expected to be marked by unusual tarpon catches. Tarpon have been running in large numbers near Flour Bluff, which is fast taking its place with Port Aransas as the best places to angle for the fish on the gulf. Many tarpon also are being caught daily in Corpus Christi bay and along the 21-mile ship canal leading to the Gulf of Mexico.

C. I. A. Students Will Print Daily Paper

DENTON, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—A daily newspaper written and printed by students of the College of Industrial Arts here will be one of the features of the annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, to be held at C. I. A. on Nov. 12-16.

The newspaper, as planned by the department of journalism, will be devoted almost entirely to federation news, and will be printed as a courtesy to the hundreds of women who will be guests of the college.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in Regard to Health and Diet Will Be Answered by Dr. McCoy, Who Can Be Addressed in Care of This Paper

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, Oct. 7, 1928.

Sunday—Breakfast: Poached egg on Melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch: *Mushroom soup, head lettuce with peanut butter dressing, made by thinning peanut butter with milk. Dinner: Roast chicken or pork, cooked spinach, asparagus, salad of vegetables (chopped celery, carrots and peas) molded in gelatin, baked apple.

Monday—Breakfast: Coddled egg, crisp bacon, genuine wholewheat muffins. Lunch: Cooked pumpkin, string beans, shredded lettuce. Dinner: Salisbury steak, baked parsnips, boiled turnips, salad of quartered cucumbers, pineapple souffle with whipped cream.

Tuesday — Breakfast: Cottage cheese, Melba toast, baked apple. Lunch: Boiled potatoes (unpeeled), cooked cauliflower, cooked beet tops. Dinner: Roast mutton, cooked beets, cooked lettuce, salad of endive and celery, prune whip.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Coddled egg, genuine wholewheat bread and butter, stewed figs, (fresh or canned). Lunch: Corn (canned), cooked spinach, cooked cucumbers. Dinner: Roast beef, cooked oyster plant, cooked mustard greens, salad of shredded cabbage, stewed apricots.

Thursday—Breakfast: Re-toasted breakfast food with cream, ripe or stewed peaches (unsweetened). Lunch: Stuffed celery, nonstarchy vegetable soup. Dinner: Baked or broiled rabbit, cooked carrots and peas, McCoy salad, ice cream.

Friday — Breakfast: French omelet on Melba toast, applesauce. Lunch: Baked pumpkin, cooked okra, lettuce. Dinner: Broiled sea bass, cooked chayotes, cooked spinach, salad of sliced tomatoes on lettuce, no dessert.

Saturday—Breakfast: Dish of wholewheat mush with butter or cream, pearsauce. Lunch: Pint of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates. Dinner: Roast veal with Melba toast dressing, baked grated small carrots and turnips, cooked lettuce, salad of tender raw spinach leaves, gelatinized milk with prune juice and whipped cream. (recipe given Sept. 17th).

*Mushroom Soup: Place in one quart of cold water a half cup of diced celery, one diced carrot, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and one cup of canned mushrooms cut in small pieces. Place over fire and bring to boiling point. Keep tightly covered, and just below boiling point, for one hour. When ready to serve add a little boiling water if liquid has diminished from original quart, and a half pint to a pint of hot cream. Do not thicken with flour or cornstarch. Add a little salt at the table if desired.

Stuffed Celery: Mix with peanut butter the desired quantities of minced ripe olives, chopped parsley, and enough of the pulp drained from canned tomatoes to make a smooth paste. Work ingredients together with fork and fill the grooves of crisp, well bleached celery stalks of uniform length. Place on ice for a little while before serving.

Note: Genuine wholewheat bread or muffins may be used in a limited quantity with proteids, starches, or stewed fruits by those in good health. This is an exception to the general rules regarding the combination of these foods.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rectal Dilators

Question—H. D. asks: "Do you recommend the rectal dilators as a cure for hemorrhoids?"

Answer—Rectal dilators are sometimes helpful in cases of hemorrhoids and I also advise the use of the ice treatment, by inserting a cone-shaped piece of ice for about five minutes at a time. I have an article on this subject which I will be glad to send you.

Headaches and Arterial Hardening

Question—Mrs. K. L. writes: "My husband has such bad headaches. The doctor tells him it is caused by the large artery leading from his heart to his head having lime in it. Can you advise what to do?"

Answer—Your husband doubtless has a hardening of the arteries which can be at least partially cured by living on a careful diet which is comparatively free from all grain foods. He should use large quantities of fruits, especially the acid fruits. The action of these fruits in the body helps to dissolve the calcarious deposits which form in the tissues of the arteries.

Inflammation of the Bone Marrow

Question—H. M. J. asks: "Could a person having an old chronic osteomyelitis leg have dead bone in the leg? Would having slight pain, with scars on leg turning red, mean there was pus or dead bone there? This happens only when I do a lot of walking or driving a car. After once having osteomyelitis will I always have attacks every so often?"

Answer—Osteomyelitis can be cured in certain stages either by dieting or through surgery, or by a combination of both of these treatments. The walking probably irritates your chronic osteomyelitis, but would not necessarily indicate that there is any dead bone remaining. A good diagnostician can tell you the exact condition of the bone through the aid of the X-ray. A permanent cure is possible if you take the right treatment in time.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP).—Early advances in the cotton market here today were checked by a renewal of realizing or liquidation and after selling up to 19.20, December eased off to 18.95, closing at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 9 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 3 points, with the near months relatively steady on buying attributed to steady Liverpool cables and reports of showers in the eastern belt. Later months soon firmed up and the market showed net gains of about 11 to 17 points before the end of the morning on covering which appeared to be coupled with some trade and commission house buying.

October advanced to 19.24 and March to 19.03 shortly after the publication of a private crop report placing the condition at 54.1, the indicated yield at 13,993,000 bales and the ginnings prior to Oct. 1 at 4,700,000 bales. The demand soon tapered off, however, and the failure of the smaller crop figures to create more active or general buying seemed a disappointment to holders of contracts.

There was a renewal of liquidation which later in the afternoon was supplemented by some southern selling and prices eased off to 18.98 for Oct. and 18.77 for March, or about 9 to 15 points net lower. Closing prices were at the lowest of the day. Another private crop report was issued during the day, making the condition 55.3 and the indicated yield 13,960,000 bales. Some additional figures are expected before the publication of the government figures at 11 a. m. Monday, which may cause changes of sentiment.

The late selling was accompanied by comment on the warmer weather in the South, the opinion being expressed in some quarters that it might be adding to the crop in sections. Private cables reported trade calling and covering in Liverpool with hedging light and said that Manchester was more cheerful because of encouraging advices from China. Port receipts today, 57,152. U. S. port receipts, 1,134,006. Exports, 39,513, making 1,190,720 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4 (AP).—Trading in the cotton market today was of a typical pre-bureau character with little attention paid to ordinary market influences. After an early gain on expectations of a bullish crop estimate, prices turned easier under hedge selling and pre-bureau liquidation, December contracts selling off from 18.60 to 18.37, and closed at the latter figure, net 6 points down for the day. The general market closed steady at a net decline of 6 to 9 points.

Despite higher Liverpool cables than due the market opened easy at losses of 1 to 3 points. The execution of overnight selling orders was responsible for a further slight decline in early trading with December selling around 18.42, an active months generally 2 to 7 points down.

Rumors that a prominent authority would issue a reduced statement during the day induced some demand which absorbed offerings and carried December contracts to 18.60, January 18.56 and March 18.48, or 18 to 20 points above the lows.

The report when issued made the indicated yield 13,993,000 bales, but it had no effect on fluctuations as its influence had been discounted before hand. In afternoon trading there was a renewal of pre-bureau liquidation and some realizing by early buyers. Prices continued to work lower with occasional rallies, making new lows in final trading with December at 18.37, January at 18.33 and March at 18.26, or 17 to 23 points down from the highs. The close was at the lowest with March showing the maximum decline.

Chrysler Outstanding Bull Feature In Rally of Stocks; Oils More Active

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (US)—Further easing in call money from renewal of 7½ to closing of 6½ per cent with loans made on the outside at 6 per cent caused further rally in the stock market today. Chrysler was the outstanding bull feature as it moved into new high ground but there was continued good demand for Steel and General Motors to enhance bullish sentiment.

Independent Steel shares were in better demand also as expectation of favorable dividends was voiced should the good business enjoyed by the industry continue over the turn of the year as expected. Lambert climbed 3 points further, Certain-teed Products scored similar advance, Briggs jumped 2 points while gains of 1 to 2 points were numerous throughout the list. Barnsdall featured a stronger and more active oil department with advance of 3 points more while Cerro de Pasco led the coppers higher due to expectation of extra dividend. Rails remained dull and somewhat irregular despite the report of increase of 16,000 in car loadings which pointed to sutsained good earnings for the carriers.

Raskob Checks Trading

Mr. Raskob caused momentary hesitation just before noon when he denied that he was "in the market" because the campaign was keeping him busy and for the second reason he thought stocks too high. Just as the market ignored similar opinions of many others during the month it quickly recovered from the Raskob' statement and before the close the continued strength in leading stocks caused it to be almost forgotten entirely.

There was some wonder as to why Mr. Raskob has changed his opinion regarding the good stocks "selling 15 times earnings," however, because the market quickly shook off the effect of Mr. Raskob's view, as it had other bearish developments lately, did not stop several traders from giving it serious thought to the extent that it meant that at least one of the former "big ten" was in harmony with others.

Chrysler was sold heaviest following the Raskob utterance but snapped back in good style. Those who have been regarded as in the Raskob group have been the friendliest to Chrysler but several were willing to lend support as they do not entirely agree with Raskob's view that all stocks are too high. They believe they know Chrysler's plans for expansion and therefore are optimistic for the "long pull." Steel, General Motors and Can were again the recipients of buying from the mid-western group dominating dealings and from current conversation it would seem they mean to keep these three standard industrials in the front of all rallies.

Briggs Hits Record

Briggs was taken in hand early in the day by the group that started operations a fortnight ago and reached new record high, coincident with the rumors of improving earnings. Certain-teed Products advance followed report that it had established close relations with the Johns Manville interests with business booked indicating larger earnings this quarter. Grasselli Chemical was more active also with rumor that largest buying was from abroad through Durant sources. Barnsdall advanced followed special analysis by a leading wire house that has been interested in the stock for several weeks. Mid-Continent Petroleum benefited fractionally from expectation of dividend declaration soon.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4 (AP).—The 11-market cattle receipts were estimated at 29,100, as compared with 37,797 last Thursday and 39,445 a year ago. Curtailed supplies created a better feeling throughout the trade and prices were on a steady to strong basis. Country demand has lightened considerably for stockers, but feeder trade at some points continued sluggish. Choice yearlings at Chicago realized $17.40, while weighty steers topped at $16.50.

Although hog supplies were comparatively light, moderate shipping orders prevented any material price advance. Light lights at some points registered an upturn of 25c but the general market was steady to 10c higher. The day's extreme top of $11.35 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings approximated 57,500, a decrease of 15,800 from a week ago and 6,300 from the same day last year. Fat lambs were generally steady to 25c lower, with the maximum decline of 50c at St. Louis on natives. Choice range lambs at Chicago and Omaha cleared $13.25. The supply was estimated at 75,600, against 86,893 a week ago and 84,369 a year ago.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 4. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 5,000; steady to 10c higher; top $11.10 on 225-250 pounds.

Cattle—Receipts 3,000; calves 400; steady; slaughter steers, good and choice 1300-1500 pounds $12.75@16; 1100-1300 pounds $12.75@17.25; 950-1100 pounds $12.75@17.25; fed yearlings, good choice 750-950 pounds $12.75@17.25; vealers, milk fed, medium to choice $8@14.

Sheep—Receipts 9,000; steady to weak; lambs, good and choice, 92 pounds down $12@13.15; ewes, medium to choice, 150 pounds down, $4.25@6.75.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 18,000; steady on hogs over 180 pounds; lighter weights strong to 25c higher; top $11.30.

Cattle—Receipts 8,000; calves 2,000; steady to strong; slaughter steers, good and choice 1300@1500 pounds $14@18.50; 1100-1300 pounds $14@17.75; 950-1100 pounds $14@17.75.

Cows—Good and choice $9@12; bulls, good and choice $9.50@10.75; vealers, milk fed, good and choice $15@16.50.

Sheep—Receipts 20,000; fat lambs weak to 25c lower; sheep steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW
By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (US)—Corn was a star performer today and showed itself worthy of all the confidence expressed here this morning because of the strength it showed on Wednesday. The market today showed every sympton of a real bull market that may be bought on every soft spot for some time to come.

At the close wheat was up ⅛c to 1c; corn was up 1⅜c to 1⅞c; oats were ⅝c higher; rye was up 1c to 1⅜c.

Corn went straight up from a higher opening; it advanced slowly most of the session, but never really faltered and never got back to the low it touched right after the opening.

For three preceding days longs had been selling out their holdings—not only professional traders, but outsiders who had carried corn all the way down on the decline—and were eager to get out of the market.

Many of them not only sold out the corn, but also sold corn short because they regarded the price as high. The result of these transactions, as explained here today, was to build a very strong foundation under the market.

That foundation in my opinion, was as strong as ever at the close. The crowd was still waiting for a break to let them buy back corn they had sold out, or were repeatedly selling short on little bulges with the hope of finding the top.

Local professionals will probably take to selling wheat short against purchases of corn and get the wheat market into an oversold condition that will force them to cover and bid it up in doing so.

Rye looked very strong and acted as if bound toward a much higher price level.

In the cash market wheat was 1c up; corn was 2c to 4c up; oats unchanged to ½c up; rye was ¼c to ⅝c up; choice barley was firm, poor grades easier.

11 WELLS GOOD FOR 4700 BBLS.

Completions Decline in Permian Basin

Special to The Record News

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 4.—Total potential oil production in the Permian basin of West Texas registered only 4767 barrels daily in the completion of 11 wells in five counties last week, compared with total daily potential production of 269,719.40 barrels indicated by 17 producers completed in three counties during the week ending Sept. 22. Last week's potential probably was the lightest during the year to date.

Winkler county completed five of the 11 wells but their total daily potential yield was only 2204 barrels. Howard county was next with two completions for 1212 barrels. Crane county finished two wells for 974 barrels. Loving county one for 206 barrels a day and Jones county one for 171 barrels daily.

Jones county abandoned two tests dry and Glasscock, Howard, Irion and Martin counties one each. One location in Howard also was abandoned.

List of Producers

Producers completed last week, alphabetically by counties and by companies follow:

Crane county: Church and Weekly No. 2 University-Lassiter, section 34, top of pay 2920 feet, total depth 3012 feet, shot with 170 quarts from 2924 to 3012 feet, initial production 524 barrels daily.

WELL EXTENDS GREYBACK POOL

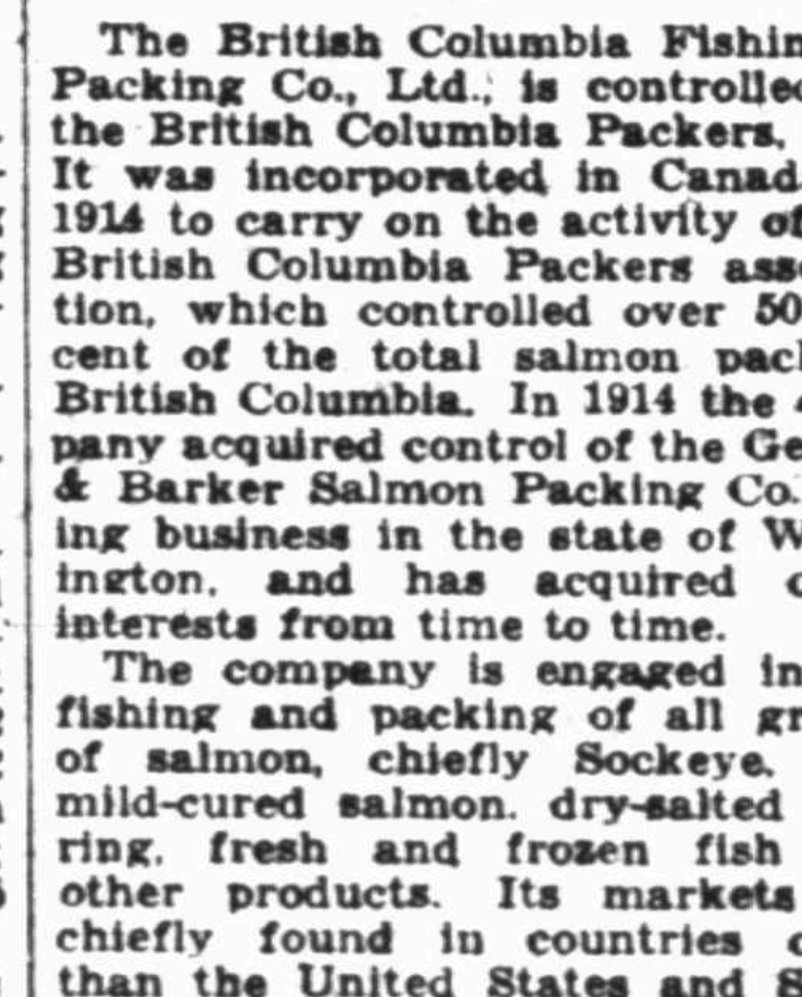

C. U. Beasley No. 1 Waggoner Is 200 Barreller

Production from the 2400 foot sand in the Greyback pool, Wilbarger county, was extended approximately three quarters of a mile to the east by the completion of C. U. (Monk) Beasley No. 1 test located in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter, of southeast quarter of section 18, block 4, H. and T. C. R. R. survey, Waggoner lands.

The well which is showing up for about 200 barrels made several flows from the sand at 2404-05 feet.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FISHING & PACKING CO., LTD.

Five Year Record

The British Columbia Fishing & Packing Co., Ltd., is controlled by the British Columbia Packers, Ltd. It was incorporated in Canada in 1914 to carry on the activity of the British Columbia Packers association, which controlled over 50 per cent of the total salmon pack of British Columbia. In 1914 the company acquired control of the George & Barker Salmon Packing Co., doing business in the state of Washington, and has acquired other interests from time to time.

The company is engaged in the fishing and packing of all grades of salmon, chiefly Sockeye, also mild-cured salmon, dry-salted herring, fresh and frozen fish and other products. Its markets are chiefly found in countries other than the United States and South America. It owns and operates 23 canneries, two oil and meal plants, two mild-curing plants, two dry salteries, a saw mill, a box factory and a ship yard. It also operates a fleet of 70 motor fishing boats.

Funded debt totals $482,000. Capital stock outstanding consists of $2,490,000 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred shares of $100 par, and 99,608 shares of no par common. The majority of the common is owned by the British Columbia Packers, Ltd. The preferred and common stock are each entitled to one vote per share.

On the preferred stock an initial quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent was paid June 10, 1927, and was continued up to March 10, 1928. The dividend was declared on March 10, 1928, but the declaration was rescinded. None has been paid since. On the common stock an initial dividend of 31¼ cents was paid June 10, 1927, and continued to Dec. 10, 1927. The dividend of March 10, 1928, was declared but rescinded.

In 1927 there was a deficit of $466,390. This compared with an income of $345,262 in 1926.

As of Jan. 1, 1928, total current assets were $2,800,647; current liabilities were $2,705,386, and net working capital $94,261. Book value applicable to the common stock amounted to $13.98 a share.

In the first four months of 1928, sales advanced about 7 per cent as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year.

$856,000 Lease Is Worth Price

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 4.—Increasing production to 7419 barrels in 24 hours after deepening 19 1-2 feet to 2119 1-2 feet, Henshaw Oil corporation's No. 1 Settles, three miles west extension of the Howard-Glasscock field, today became the area's greatest producer, and lends evidence that Henshaw payment of $856,000 cash for the acreage was more than justifiable.

The well is in section 6, block 32, township 2, south, Texas and Pacific Railway company survey, Howard county.

The acreage for which the corporation paid nearly a million dollars cash to William McGinley of Chicago and Sigler of Fort Worth consists of 218 acres, divided into three leases.

City Manager Offers $10 To Stop Cycle Noise

WACO, Texas, Oct. 4. (AP)—Deluged with reports from irate Waco residents that they had been unable to sleep at nights because of the ceaseless "pop-pop" of motorcycle exhausts, City Manager E. E. McAdams has offered a $10 reward for a noise eradicator that will solve the problem.

"I'll dig down in my own pockets and pay the amount," the city manager declared.

Though a drive has been conducted against motorcycle owners who operate machines with open exhausts, little relief has been given Waco's complaining citizenry.

SERVICES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Brown to Give Special Sermons Friday

Special young people's services will be held during the revival services Friday at the First Baptist church, when students from the High school, Junior college, and the local business colleges will be guests, it was announced. Dr. Fred F. Brown, at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., will deliver special addresses for the occasion. In the evening a musical program will be offered by the ladies and the male quartets.

Goodell Speaks On Story of Lot

The history of the Biblical character, Lot, was reviewed as an example of what the modern Christian should not be, in a sermon delivered Thursday night by Dr. Charles L. Goodell, New York pastor, at the First Methodist church revival.

Dr. Goodell's subject bore the title: "Corner Lots in Sodom."

Recalling that Lot "was never a man to risk anything for a conviction because he really never had one," Dr. Goodell described the man as a person who lived only for himself. "He was never enthusiastic about anything save what was coming to him," Dr. Goodell said. "There was nothing of the prophet in him. It is true that he went out of Chaldea, not knowing whither he went, but the two best men in the world knew," and he went with them. A sturdy old Scotsman has said Lot's biography could be written in four words, 'and Lot went also'."

The pastor reviewed Lot's fall into sin through "buying a corner lot in Sodom," and following the sinful practices of the people in that city.

"And if I know what sin did to Lot, I know what it will do to me. And I know what happened to Lot's children, I shall know what will happen to mine if they follow the same path," he said.

September Marriages Lead Divorces 73-41

While 73 marriage licenses were issued during September in Wichita county more than half as many divorce suits were filed, records at the courthouse revealed Friday. Divorce suits up to Sept. 30 totalled 41.

While issuance of marriage licenses started slowly in the beginning of September records for the month compared favorably with several other months during the year, records of Miss Elizabeth Hall, showed. June was the heaviest month with 110, with July a close second with 90. April was the lightest month with one less than September.

Roscoe Ails Opens Vaudeville Season With Good Bill Here

By The Record News Critic

Roscoe Ails, with his company of clever dancers and exceptionally competent five-piece orchestra forming a suitable background for his sparkling wit, played to an unusually responsive audience at the Majestic theater Thursday in the opening bill of the Keith-Orpheum Interstate vaudeville. The bill will play through Friday.

Roscoe Ails ably defends his title of Broadway's comedian-dancer, his comedy proving new and racy through well received by a capacity house reluctant to see the dancers leave when the final curtain fell.

Shirley Dahl gives an original version of the "Crazy Rhythm" dance and Ails and Dorothy Ellsworth gave a clever duet "Five Step Dance." Solo, duet and quartet dancing numbers are on the program. The scenery is of exceptional richness. The bill is one of the longest on the road and lasts somewhat longer than an hour.

The Lester and Irving team presented an unusual double-lift act which has taken years to perfect. Their acrobatic stunts are novel. "Three Co-eds" Meredith Gregor, Marion Peck and Theresa Alger give a group of old time medleys flavored with a new collegiate turn.

Adams Street Methodist Church To Observe Its First Anniversary

The first anniversary of the organization of the Adams Street Methodist church will be observed in exercises to be held at the church Friday evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Rev. W. D. Cook, pastor.

Principal speakers for the occasion will include District Judges W. W. Cook and P. A. Martin, the pastor and M. J. McDonald.

An entertainment program will feature Ocie Davis and Rupert Malone in a song duet; the Sibley-Taylor Methodist church orchestra and R. L. Mansell in a violin solo, accompanied by his wife at the piano.

The invocation will be delivered by Rev. J. A. Sweeton. Shortly after the opening of the program the names of charter members of the church will be read by the pastor. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

REHEARSAL

The third rehearsal for the revue "Twilight in Gypsyland," to be presented Oct. 26 under the auspices of the Woman's Forum, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the parish house of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Lois Parker is director of the musicale which will present more than 50 singers.

Thornton Returns to Court Here Monday

Judge E. G. Thornton of the 30th district court, who was expected to return from Graham Friday, will not arrive until Monday morning, according to word received Thursday night by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court. Judge Thornton will attend funeral services for Mrs. Thornton's sister which will be held in Burleson, Texas, Friday afternoon. He joined his family at Dodge City Thursday after completing a case in Graham.

Credit Grantors Hold Meeting Thursday

Routine business was taken up at the meeting of the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association at the Wichita club Thursday evening. The letter "L" was taken up for discussion and a check up was made of the whereabouts of delinquents in that classification. Following the meeting members attended in a body the opening of the Buchanan Stationary and Supply company. Members heard the talk given at the Kemp hotel by Ben R. Vardaman.

Bonds for Canal Work Are Sought

M 'ALLEN, Texas, Oct. 5. (UP)—Another water district of the lower Rio Grande valley has turned its attention towards the concreting of canals which are used to furnish water for the irrigation of valley lands. The latest district to announce its intention of voting bonds for this purpose is the district known as the Donna district. Already petitions have been circulated and sufficient signatures have been secured to assure the call of the election.

The amount to be voted has been set by the board of directors of the district at $1,350,000.

The first district in the valley to concrete canals was the McAllen district. This district voted $75,000 in bonds which have been sold and the money used in concreting a part of the canals. The next district was the Mission district which voted $1,600,000 for the work. Of this amount, $800,000 in bonds has been sold and the remainder of the bonds will be sold near the end of the year.

Dawson County Fair Ass'n May Be Permanent

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 4.—More than 3,000 good grade milch cows have been accounted today in Dawson county, according to the survey that the chamber of commerce is now making to determine the number of cows in the county. The agricultural department of the local chamber is conducting this survey with the idea of locating here a milk factory. The organization is in touch with several companies that are interested in locating here, provided the production is sufficient. It is understood action will be taken this week.

C OF C MEMBERS TO MEET TODAY

Vardaman to Speak at Friday Luncheon

Ben R. Vardaman will talk on "Increasing the City's Influence" at the membership meeting of the chamber of commerce at the Kemp hotel Friday noon. The membership meeting is held instead of the regular Friday meeting of the business council of the chamber, according to Hubert M. Harrison, general manager.

The principal business taken up at this time will be election of a committee of seven who will nominate 20 members for directors of the chamber. From this group of 20 members, the chamber of commerce will choose five directors in the January election.

Mr. Harrison urged those who desire to attend to make their reservations at his office as early as possible Friday morning. A large number of names have already been received, he said.

Three Building Permits In Day Amount to $7515

Three building permits totaling $7,515 were issued by the city clerk's office Thursday.

The largest was for the erection of a brick veneer home and garage for G. W. Peckham at 3215 Milby by H. L. Putty for $6,000.

The North Texas Furniture company was granted a permit to make repairs at 715 Ninth street totaling $1,200.

F. E. McConnell was granted a permit to make alterations in the Nat Henderson building at 708 Seventh street totaling $315.

Farrell Inoculates Hogs At Iowa Park Fair

Dr. J. M. Farrell, chief city sanitary inspector, was in Iowa Park Thursday inoculating hogs for the Kiwanis club.

This club has fostered the raising of pigs by worthy boys, and has placed a number of high grade animals on farms in the care of the boys. In order to guard the health of the animals, it was deemed best to have them looked after. Dr. Farrell is not in private veterinary practice, and did the work as a matter of civic duty.

Nationwide Hookup for Iowa Republican's Talk

Congressman L. J. Dickinson, Iowa Republican, will speak from KYW in Chicago on behalf of Herbert Hoover on one of the largest radio hookups ever recorded, according to word received at local Republican headquarters Thursday. The speech will be from 8 to 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Nearby stations in the hookup were announced here as being WFAA, Dallas; KOA, Denver; KVOO, Tulsa, and WREN, Kansas City.

ONTARIO, Can.—Wilbert Richard Williams, held at Kingston for the murder of his wife, confessed to police that he beat her to death when she nagged him for going to the bathroom without his bedroom slippers. Williams is a former school teacher.

SMITH RALLY

Mrs. Smith's Address Here Is Set For Wednesday

Plans for a speaking engagement for Mrs. Cecil Smith, prominent Sherman club woman, and former Democratic national committwoman of Texas, here Monday night were altered late Thursday, and it has been arranged for her to appear at the courthouse for an address Wednesday evening, Edgar Scurry, Wichita county Democratic chairman, announced.

The change in schedule was made that the speaking would not conflict with "Naughty Marietta," being sponsored by the Woman's Forum, which will be presented at the Memorial auditorium Monday night, Mr. Scurry said.

Property Owners Plan New Bridge

Plans for collecting about $35,000 in contributions toward the construction of a $75,000 bridge, 40 feet in width to span the Wichita river at the north end of Scott avenue, will soon be launched with J. T. Harrell, vice president of the City National bank, to head the association, according to an announcement made by Hubert M. Harrison, general manager, at the meeting of the board directors of the chamber of commerce Thursday morning.

Mr. Harrell announced that the commissioners' court would be asked to provide the remainder of the funds toward constructing the bridge. Large contributions have been pledged by industries in North Wichita which will be directly benefitted by the construction of the bridge.

The chamber of commerce assisted the association in laying plans and in perfecting its organization. Property owners along Scott avenue in North Wichita have agreed to pave from the bridge to the Iowa Park highway. A three-way boulevard approach will lead from the bridge to Indiana, Scott and Lamar avenues.

Chest Committee to Hear Merger Plans

Proposals made by Dr. F. R. Collard, member of the Community chest board of directors, for the consolidation of the work of the Family Relief association and the Salvation army probably will be heard at a meeting of the chest budget endorsement committee at 10 o'clock Friday morning, it was learned Thursday. Tentative budgets for member organizations of the chest will be considered at the meeting.

Chicago Speaker Soon To Appear in Lamesa

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 4.—Ben R. Vardaman of Chicago will be in Lamesa the last week in October for a commercial and merchants' institute. Mr. Vardaman, with 20 years' experience in community lecturing work, will speak to the city schools, churches, clubs, business and professional men and women, clerks and farmers of this section.

YOUNG OBREGON SHOOTS SELF

Two Versions in Injury of General's Son

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 4. (UP)—Humberto Obregon, son the late Gen. Alvaro Obregon, was in a serious condition tonight as the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

There were two official versions of the shooting. First, that Obregon had accidentally shot himself as he left his automobile early today. Second, that he had attempted to take his own life after bidding his fiancee goodbye late last night.

The second version of the shooting was given newspaper correspondents at the Cruz Blanca hospital after Police Chief Rios Zertuche had sent officers to the hospital with orders to ascertain the truth of the affair.

According to hospital authorities, Obregon, who is 21 years old, shot himself in the breast on the steps of the home of Fernando Torreblanca, son-in-law of President Calles' private secretary. Young Obregon spent last evening at the home of his fiancee, Senorita Flora Vega, authorities said. With Senorita Vega and several other friends, he had motored to the home of Torreblanca.

Obregon, who was to remain at Torrebianca's, left the car after bidding goodbye to his fiancee and others in the party. He had reached the steps of the house when a shot was heard, the officials reported. Senorita Vega and the others rushed from the car as the youth crumpled on the doorstep.

Steel Shipped for New San Angelo Airport

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Oct. 4. (UP)—Steel for San Angelo's new municipal airport is now en route here, the concrete footings have been contracted for by the city commission, and all is in readiness for Embry Hunt to assume the duties of manager, Oct. 15.

The large white circle already has been arranged on the field and "San Angelo" in white letters, 12 feet high and six and a half feet wide, have been painted on the roof of the eight-story San Angelo National bank building.

The airport project is sponsored by the San Angelo Board of Development, the city's commercial organization corresponding to a chamber of commerce.

A huge beacon light, such as is used along all government routes, is to be erected soon, as are boundary lights which will outline the limits of the field for night flying.

The administration building is to be erected at the same time the all-steel hangar is under construction. The hangar is to be 80 by 100 feet, large enough to house three large airplanes. Other facilities are to be constructed as needed.

Alleged Embezzler Is Hounded by Words Of 13 Letters

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4. (UP) The name of Harry E. R. Swales contains 13 letters. So does the name of James L. Daniels, which belongs to a detective who brought Swales to New Orleans, charged with embezzling $39.39—303 times 15 cents—from a company, the name of which contains 13 letters.

Marquis Deaver, whose name contains 13 letters, brought the charge against Swales. Swales' home address contains 13 letters as does the address of the company for whom he worked.

Harry Snyder, chief of the bureau of investigation for the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner company on July 13 came 1300 miles from Detroit to investigate Swales' accounts.

Dallas Little Theater To Open During Fair

DALLAS, Oct. 4. (UP)—The Little theater of Dallas, nationally known by three successive victories in the national Little Theater tournament in New York, will open its new season with a comedy, "What Every Woman Knows." The first performance will be given on Oct. 15, and the play will continue throughout that week, which is also the second week of the state fair.

"What Every Woman Knows" is the story of Maggie Wylie and her marriage to John Shand, a young university student of Scotland, who later becomes a member of parliament. The play is full of clever situations and excellent lines and in addition has a happy ending.

Visitors of the state fair have been invited to inspect the new building of the Little Theater at Maple avenue and Carlisle street any day from 9 o'clock until noon.

Prominent Texas Mexican Fatally Slashes Himself

M'ALLEN, Texas, Oct. 4. (INS)—Claudio Garcia, 54, prominent Mexican resident of Mission, five miles west of here, committed suicide in his home this morning by slashing his throat with a razor. Domestic troubles were ascribed as the reason for his act.

Garcia is survived by two sons and three daughters.
