Broke Broker Confesses $1,500,000 Counterfeiting

1,500 SPURIOUS FRENCH NOTES ARE INVOLVED

Only $63,000 Worth Placed on Market Before He Is Nabbed.

By United Press

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25.—E. V. Halliday, 29 years old, was held by the police today without bond, following his confession that he had counterfeited French certificates worth $1,500,000. Halliday, whose brokerage firm recently went to the wall, admitted he passed $63,000 worth of the certificates on St. Louis banks in an attempt to make up his losses, said to exceed $140,000.

Although Halliday confessed having 1,500 notes printed, with a par value of $1,000 each, only $63,000 worth were placed on the market so far as is known.

According to the confession, he deposited $43,000 in spurious certificates at the Night and Day bank, which later forwarded them to New York.

IRISH REFUSE TO ACKNOWLEDGE ENGLISH KING

By Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 25.—As Premier Sir James Craig of Ulster went into conference with Premier Lloyd George this morning, it was admitted officially that the Irish peace negotiations had reached grave and critical stage.

A prominent member of the Sinn Fein bore this out. "The situation is too serious for talk," he said.

At today's interview Lloyd George was unable to give Ulster assurance that the Sinn Fein would admit the point of allegiance to the king as king of Ireland. Such admission has been refused by the Dial Eireann representatives, who are declared to view Ireland's position solely as an independent state, which, however, might make treaties with other states of the British empire and possibly even acknowledge the king as the president of a federation of free states.

This is nothing like the settlement plan the British government has in mind and it appears that if the Sinn Fein maintains its attitude the negotiations must be broken off with the resumption of hostilities an immediate possibility.

HIGH OFFICIAL OF U. S. SERVICE IN BIG RUM PLOT

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Action by the United States attorney in connection with the alleged $25,000,000 rum plot uncovered here, may be expected shortly, prohibition Director Rudder indicated today.

The transcript of evidence implicating the head of an export firm here and former high official of the United States secret service, and others in the alleged plot will be furnished by federal attorney Coles, Rudder said.

CURETON WILL TAKE BENCH NEXT WEEK

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—Attorney General C. M. Cureton is to be sworn in as chief justice of the Texas supreme court the latter part of next week, succeeding Judge Nelson Phillips, resigned. Cureton, who is in Washington attending the Oklahoma-Texas boundary case before the United States supreme court, will leave for Austin next Tuesday.

On the same day Cureton is sworn in as chief justice, W. A. Keeling will take the oath of office as attorney general. Judge Keeling is at present first assistant attorney general.

FATTY MAY TAKE STAND TODAY; MOVIE PARTIES TO BE AIRED

By United Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Roscoe Arbuckle today was ready to go on the witness stand and make a sweeping denial of the charges that he fatally injured Virginia Rappe during a pajama party on Labor day.

If he testifies today, Arbuckle, it is understood, will declare:

1. That he was not alone with Miss Rappe for more than ten minutes.
2. That he followed her into his bedroom only when he saw she was ill.
3. That she became hysterical when he was attempting to care for her.

The big guns of the Arbuckle defense were to be unlimbered today. The attorneys representing the big comedian let it be known that they will start introducing testimony which probably will include inside details of parties in moviedom, and testimony of medical and finger-print experts, the story of the life of Virginia Rappe, and finally, as a climax, perhaps the personal appearance of Arbuckle on the stand.

The state also was active over the Thanksgiving holiday, marshaling new evidence.

FALL FROM HORSE CAUSES DEATH OF DR. TIBBLES, OLD-TIMER HERE

Dr. J. W. Tibbles, aged 71, an old-time resident of Ranger and a consistent civic and church worker of the community, died at noon today at his home, 447 Hodges street, as the result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from his horse at the corner of Hodges and Elm street and two ribs broken. Dr. Tibbles had been in feeble health for some time and failed to rally from the shock of the accident, despite all efforts made to prolong his life.

Here 17 Years.

Dr. Tibbles was a life member in Ranger Masonic lodge No. 738, having recently had life membership conferred upon him. He had been a resident of this section for the last seventeen years, moving to Texas from Batesville, Ark. For ten years he lived in Caddo and removed to Ranger seven years ago. He retired from the active practice of medicine several years before coming to this city. The leisure time left on his hands, Dr. Tibbles devoted to civic and religious work and occupied a leading part in the life of the city and surrounding section. He had become a familiar figure to many of the recent residents of Ranger in making his frequent trips from his home to town on his horse.

No One Near.

No one was in the immediate vicinity when the accident occurred yesterday, but it is presumed that the horse shied at some object in the street and unseated his rider, who fell to the ground on his right side. Persons who had witnessed the accident from a distance hurried to his assistance and carried him to his home. He was conscious at the time.

Dr. Tibbles is survived by his wife, four sons and two daughters, who are expected here today or tomorrow. Funeral services will in all probability be held Sunday morning, with the Masonic lodge officiating. Dr. Tibbles' children are: Dr. W. O. Tibbles, Monett, Ark.; John F. Tibbles, Florence, Kan., Fred Tibbles, Denton, Ark.; Dr. Charles Tibbles, Imboden, Ark.; Miss Nell Tibbles, a student at Abilene, and Mrs. C. M. Copeland of Hopeville, Cal.

POWERS WOULD USE NAVAL LIMIT FOR 'BARGAINING' ON FAR EAST

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The United States today was preparing to cope with a new danger to the success of the arms limitation conference. This was a tendency on the part of some of the delegates to delay settlement of the naval reduction question for the apparent purpose of making a better bargain on far eastern matters.

While the Chinese angle of the far eastern problem presented difficulties of its own today, these were distinct from the dangers seen by the United States.

An American official told the United Press that in some quarters there seemed to be an intention to withhold action on the naval program until all angles of the Far East question had been canvassed. The "game," as this official termed it, is to see what terms can be arranged regarding the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and foreign influences in China, Siberia and elsewhere, and if terms are not satisfactory, to refuse agreement to the Hughes program until satisfactory bargains can be made.

The American delegation is determined to forestall this situation if possible. It was intimated today that within a few days the naval experts, who have been working on proposed modifications of the Hughes plan will be called on to finish their work. Then the United States will call on Great Britain and Japan to settle once and for all the naval armament problem.

CONFERENCE A SUCCESS, FRENCH PREMIER SAYS

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—"The arms conference has been a great success from the French standpoint," Premier Aristide Briand told newspaper men today in his final talk before departure on the liner Paris, for home. "I am going straight to Paris," Briand said. "I do not intend to stop in London to confer with anyone."

Asked how he interpreted the feeling of America regarding his speech in Washington, Briand said: "America knows that France is not imperialistic, and I am sure we are entirely in sympathy."

Briand feels that his speech may have been misinterpreted in various parts of Europe. The speech of Lord Curzon of London, caused no stir in the Briand party. I t was looked upon as the "natural sentiment of a man who has always been antagonistic to French principles."

Briand declared he would make no comment for publication until he had seen the official text.

FRENCH STAND CRITICISED.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The British press today agreed with the stand taken by Lord Curzon, severely criticising the French attitude against limitation of her military resources. The Chronicle, summing up the opinion of the larger portion of the press, says, "The door is still open, but if France bangs it, we do not know what will happen to Europe."

CHINESE NOT WITHDRAWING.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Chinese delegates today sent assurances to Secretary of State Hughes, chairman of the arms conference, that they had no intention of withdrawing from the parley because of objections to semi-official British views calling for a virtual internationalization of China, as had been reported.

SIX HUNDRED EAT MERCHANTS' TURKEY DINNER

Orchestra Music and Theatre Tickets Add to Pleasure of Guests.

Six hundred or more persons were the guests of the Retail Merchants' association yesterday at the Thanksgiving dinner served both in the large building at 328 Main street and individually in various homes of the city and suburbs. Half the number feasted on turkey, cranberry sauce and the rest of an appetizing Thanksgiving spread, at the impromptu dining hall up town and later were guests of the Liberty theatre. The other half were later visited by the merchants with baskets or baskets were sent to their homes by their children, who reported that because of illness and other reasons that other members of the family could not attend the dinner. One late comer arrived on the scene after the last bit of turkey and the last spoonful of cranberry sauce had gone on a plate. He was given a dollar to provide a dinner of his own. Several of the small boys consumed two dinners, seemingly without effort.

No Race Overlooked.

Mexicans and negroes were not overlooked by the merchants in spreading Thanksgiving cheer. Sixty or more negroes were either fed at back tables or given baskets. Dinners were prepared and sent to ten Mexicans who were known to be in need. Members of the merchants' association and others served as waiters during the dinner and maintained a homelike spirit throughout.

A six-piece orchestra, lead by Pop Endicott and composed of Ranger musicians, played during the dinner, having donated their services for the occasion. After dessert there were cigars for the men and theatre tickets for everyone to the Liberty theatre, donated by W. B. Palmer, proprietor. The last came as a delightful surprise, particularly to the children and women. Each were given one or more tickets or as many as they needed to take other members of their families.

Occasion is taken by President Humes, in the following letter to tender the thanks of the association to all those who helped make the dinner a success:

"Merchants of Ranger: Our association in giving the free Thanksgiving day dinner attempted at first to make a list of all firms and individuals that helped to make the wonderful success we had and write them a personal letter of thanks, and also publish the different items, so that the people who were our guests as well as others might know.

"We found this could not be done for the reason that almost every member of the association, and firms not connected with us, gave of both their time and materials, making too long a list and too many items to mention.

"We are therefore acknowledging the many helps we received, and believe the good done will more than repay each and all.

"Thanking all for past favors, and hoping for each a good and prosperous closing of the year, we remain,

"Sincerely yours,

"RANGER RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

"By E. M. Humes, President."

CROWN PRINCE TO DETERMINE JAPAN'S COURSE

Youth Named Regent to Break Deadlock of Militarists and Liberals on Arms Meet.

By J. W. P. MASON.

The appointment of Crown Prince Hirohito as regent of Japan indicates an intention on the part of the Japanese throne to end the deadlock now prevailing among militarists and liberals over the Washington conference. Hirohito will be called upon immediately to give a momentous decision for or against democracy. The Japanese liberals want America's naval reduction program accepted. The militarists are insisting upon a 10 per cent increase in the ratio. Hirohito would have to present his official verdict in this struggle.

If he decided for the liberals, Japan will have definitely begun to move away from the German militaristic influence. A new era of freedom will be begun in Japan. The decisions of the throne in Japan are final.

It may be fortunate for the world that Hirohito has just returned home from a foreign tour. He has seen democracy at work. It was recently announced by officials of the Japanese royal house that Hirihito's tour would lead to the extension of liberalism in Japan. Hirohito is now called upon to make good that prediction.

ONLY 21 YEARS OLD.

By A. L. BRADFORD,

(Copyrighted by the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Crown Prince Hirohito has been made regent of Japan. A definite decision to name the 21-year-old crown prince as the head of the Japanese empire has been reached, the principals of the Japanese delegation here were advised today.

Crown Prince Hirohito is being made the regent of Japan, because his father, the emperor, is in such a failing state of health that he can no longer make any attempt to discharge the duties of ruler of the empire.

FACES GRAVE SITUATION.

By United Press

By CLARENCE DUBOSE,

United Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—Crown Prince Hirohito, the 20-year-old youth, who has been named regent of Japan, has assumed responsibility at a grave time.

The most important and far reaching decision—that of naval reduction—is before the government at the present time.

Whether Japan is to decide for reduction, or is to continue the policy of naval armament demanding that a higher ratio than that suggested by Secretary Hughes, will probably be the first decision the crown prince must make.

OSAGE INDIANS PLAN MIGRATION TO OLD MEXICO

Civilization of Oil Fields Doesn't Appeal to Them; Chief Says.

By United Press.

EL PASO, Nov. 25.—Bandits are better than blue laws, and anyway the former never troubles Indians, so several thousands of Indians are planning to migrate from the Oklahoma oil fields to Mexico. Chief Charles Wahhreshe of the Osage tribe is conferring here with representatives of the Mexican government relative to the move.

Members of several tribes will make the move if the proper kind of land can be secured. Chief Wahhreshe favors the Chihuahua district, but it is understood that other lands may be accepted.

The Oklahoma Indians, particularly the Osage tribe, are wealthy, their land being in the center of the oil field.

The Indians do not care for the civilization which has come with the development of the country. The chief declared that he did not believe the United States government would oppose the move, and that the Mexican government would welcome them, because of the money which they would bring to Mexico.

Have Plenty of Money.

"We have plenty of money and our royalties will continue for years," the chief said, "but it is not cash that makes happiness. We want to go somewhere where we will not be molested, where we can live as we want to live and where we can farm and rear our children.

"Our land in Oklahoma is being made unfit for cultivation because of the oil wells. Our tribe long ago entered in treaties which give oil companies the right to drill. We are being gradually crowded off our own property.

"We are not afraid of bandits," he said. "There are 6,000,000 Indians in Mexico, more than there are in the United States, and there never has been a case of a Mexican bandit killing an Indian or robbing one."

10,000 WITNESS KLAN'S PARADE AT ABILENE

By Associated Press.

ABILENE, Nov. 25—A crowd estimated at 10,000 here last night witnessed the first parade of the Ku Klux Klan in West Texas. Several hundred hooded and silent figures wended their way through an equally silent crowd. The town was in complete darkness, broken only from the rosy glow cast by the flaming cross and flambeaus.

No untoward incident occurred during the demonstration. No banners were carried; only the American flag and fiery cross.

TWELVE LIVES LOST WHEN TUG FOUNDERS

By United Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25.—The Red Stack tug Sea Eagle with a crew of twelve men, has foundered off Peacock spit, Captain Wicklund of the Port Adams life saving station, informed the United Press today.

A patrol from the station late yesterday found a portion of the tug's pilot house, indicating the vessel with its crew had met disaster in the gale which raged until last night along the coast of Northern Oregon.

Furniture from the tug's cabin with a pair of oars marked "Sea Eagle," had been found earlier in the day. Patrols were combing the beaches early today in search for additional wreckage and bodies. The Sea Eagle was en route to Astoria from San Francisco and when last heard of had the four masted schooner Eccla, Honolulu to Coos Bay, in tow.

INDORSEMENT OF BALLINGER CROWD IS ASKED

Tells Packed House That He Has Blocked Many Government Extravagances.

By Associated Press.

BALLINGER, Nov. 25—Representative Blanton last night addressed a crowd which filled the district court room, reviewing the recent attempts to expel him from the house.

Blanton quoted from the Congressional Record, Washington newspapers and labor journals over the country to show how he had blocked extravagance, and declared he could better serve his constituents in the senate and would make the race if the people pledged their indorsement. After he had spoken more than two hours the audience, by an almost unanimous rising vote pledged its support.

Concerning the attempt to expel him from the house, Blanton said they had tried to kick him out "without a dog's chance," and asserted that Victor Berger, charged with being a traitor to his country, was given three years to get evidence in his behalf, while Blanton virtually had been denied a hearing.

TWO FIRES LAST NIGHT AT BRECK, BELIEVED SET

Special to the Times.

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 25.—Losses from two fires of supposedly incendiary origin totalled $10,500 Thanksgiving night. A second attempt on the residence of E. M. Walker, on Lindsey street, which was threatened two months ago, destroyed that home, with a total loss of $6,000 and caused $3,500 damage to an adjacent residence, the property of Seth R. Hughes of Hillsboro.

A second fire, breaking out while the firemen were engaged with the first, destroyed the offices of the T. E. Castle Lumber company on East Walker street, with a loss of $3,000.

None of the Walker family was home when the blaze started, apparently from an explosion, according to neighbors. Two months ago, neighbors discovered a fire in the house, started with oily rags under the porch. Two men were seen running away from the house just before the fire burst out, it was said at that time. No insurance was carried on the home.

The fire in the Castle Lumber company building started in the second floor, which had been used as living quarters, but which was unoccupied last night.

RANGER MAN WINS RACES AT ABILENE MEET

Rural Murry, 545 Marshbank avenue, won first money in all of the Thanksgiving motorcycle races held at Abilene in connection with the Howard Payne-Simmons college football game.

Murry was riding his "Cyclone" machine on which he won all but one of the racing events at the Dallas fair last month. The Abilene races yesterday were staged without any accident although several bad curves furnished a number of thrills and gave the riders an opportunity to show their ability to handle their fast motors. The races were attended by a large crowd from Abilene and surrounding towns.

WHAT IS THIS MAN M'NIDER, LEGION CHIEF?

Records Show He is a Humdinger Rip Snorter, in War and Peace.

By Associated Press.

MASON CITY, Ia., Nov. 25.—Hanford MacNider, the recently elected national commander of the American Legion, is known by his comrades as a smiling, dynamic, he-man, possessing enormous energy—a man that works hard and plays hard.

Mason City residents know him as "the only child" of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. MacNider.

Mr. MacNider was born in Mason City thirty-two years ago. He began his education in the Mason City public schools, continued his studies at Milton Military Academy at Milton, Mass., and finished at Harvard in 1911. Then for five years he worked as a teller in his father's bank here.

On Border Duty.

MacNider went to the Mexican border in 1916 as a first lieutenant in the Iowa National Guard. When the war came, he resigned his commission with the national guard in order to attend the first officers' training camp at Fort Snelling in May, 1917. He was given a provisional second lieutenancy in the regular army and assigned to the Ninth Infantry, which with the Twenty-third, made up the regular army brigade of the Second division.

Soon after arriving in France, in September, 1917, Mr. MacNider was sent to the army candidates' school at Langres as an instructor. The service at Langres was boresome. His old division was on the battle front, winning honor after honor. In May, 1918, MacNider was transferred back to the Indian Heads division.

Five Stars.

His record from then on can be related along with the campaigns of the Ainse, the Marne, the St. Mihiel and two offensives in the Meuse-Argonne. He was promoted from platoon commander to company commander, major and battalion commander, then lieutenant colonel and regimental commander.

MacNider was wounded at St. Mihiel and was honored with the Distinguished Service Cross and one cluster; Chevalier de Legion d'Honneur; Croix de Guerre with five citations for bravery, five palms, one gold and one silver star; Fourragere and the Italian war cross. He was given three citations in general orders.

After the armistice, Lieutenant Colonel MacNider passed into the berth of division adjutant and was mustered out in September, 1919.

From September, 1920, to September, 1921, MacNider was state commander of the American Legion in Iowa.

Helped Put These Over.

While holding the state office, he advocated and saw enacted into law a legislative program including a soldiers' bonus bill, a bill giving ex-soldiers preference in public office, and a bill exempting veterans of the world war from taxes on personal property up to $500. He looked after the hospitalization of Iowa's disabled soldiers and conducted a statewide service and compensation drive.

MacNider stands five feet, eleven inches tall, weighs 165 pounds and is fond of all out-of-door athletics.

Mason City residents say his only sweetheart is his mother. One-half hour after he was elected national commander at Kansas City he was telling her all about it over the long distance telephone.

ANIMAL TRAINER'S WIFE ASKS ALIMONY FOR LION

By International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—A pet lion, widely known in the local motion picture studios, figured at the hearing of alimony proceedings preliminary to a suit for divorce between Joseph Turner and Mary Elizabeth Turner, the latter known professionally as Betty McMillan.

"I can't award alimony for the lion," remarked Judge Summerfield when Mrs. Turner intimated that she would need a larger allowance than $10 a week for herself and the lion.

Turner, who is an animal trainer, and his wife lived together but a few months when they separated and he sued for divorce, charging cruelty and alleging his wife nagged him and called him names.

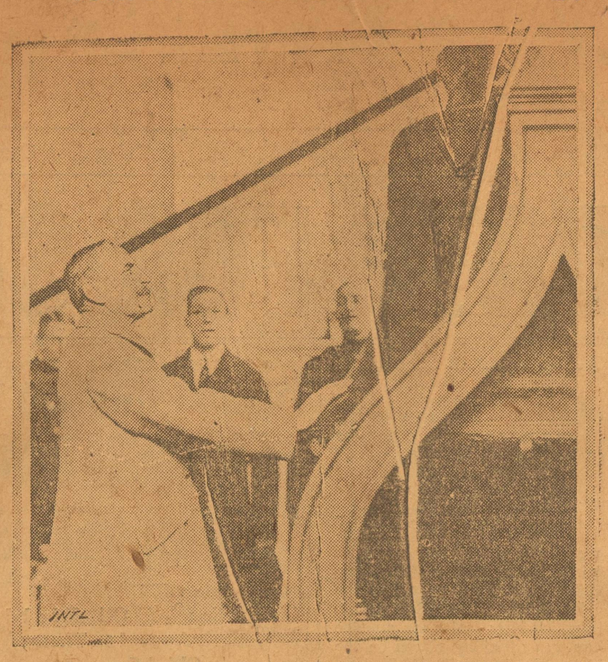

Mrs. Turner replied with a cross complaint in which she asked for an annulment of their marriage on the ground that her husband forced her to marry him at the point of a pitchfork. He not only threatened to kill her, but told her he would kill her lion also, the cross complaint recited. Fear for her own safety and love for the lion prompted her to consent to the marriage, it was alleged.

Mrs. Turner said she had raised the lion on a bottle and used it in a number of film productions.

THE WEATHER.

Tonight, fair and warmer, except in southwest portion. Saturday, fair.

FOCH RESTS HAND ON LIBERTY BELL

Ferdinand Foch, marshal of France, the greatest and oldest republic in the world, outside of the United States, paid a visit to America's most historic city, Philadelphia, and, at Independence Hall, saw the famous old Liberty Bell, which proclaimed the independence of the United States of America, one hundred and forty-six years ago.

Scream, and Near Riot, as He Pursues Blushing Girl With Garter in His Hand

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The busiest spot in the city by actual count, Park Row, in the neighborhood of Franklin statue, at a little after 1 o'clock this afternoon had a two-minute riot, involving hundreds of excited men and women. It was a terrific swirl, involving hundreds of excited men and women and newsboys while it lasted.

It began with the piercing scream of a woman from near the Frankfort street corner. There were shouts of excitement. A young woman, horror in her eyes and flushed, scuttled through the gathering crowd, followed by a pale and determined young man.

Something glittered in his hand. Out of Nassau street, and from Frankfort street and across the car tracks from City Hall park came a shouting, squealing, elbowing multitude, eager to witness participation in a murder, or just as eager to get out of the way of bandits who might have been raiding a mail truck.

The young woman darted into a candy store. The young man was close behind her. The crowd jammed into the entrance behind them.

Then the crowd began coming out again, trying to look like candy customers. A nervous policeman diving in, paused at the soda fountain and asked questions.

"Girl lost her garter," he was told coldly. "Feller picked it up and tried to hand it back to her. She lost her nerve. That's all."

"Thought, they weren't wearing 'em; how about it?" said the nosey man.

"Aw —! !" said the cop.

SHRINERS ENJOY MEXICAN DINNER, TO HAVE DANCE

The Ranger Shrine club met Wednesday evening in the club rooms in the Masonic temple, and after a short business session there were many interesting talks. Dr. W. C. Palmer spoke at length on "The Function of a Shrine Club," having as a keynote of his address, his conception of "Friendship From a Shriner's Standpoint."

A Mexican supper was served to seventy-five Shriners including many out-of-town visitors and all of the newly created nobility.

An entertainment committee was appointed for the winter as follows: Carl Wilson, chairman; J. L. Jury, W. Paul Lacy and Mr. Bundick.

This committee announces an informal Christmas ball for Dec. 23, which is the Friday before Christmas. This dance will be limited exclusively to Shriners and their families. Final plans for the ball will be announced later. However, something startling and different is being planned for this affair, both in the way of decorative effect and other innovations.

REVIVAL OF OLD-TIME FASHIONS MAY BRING BACK ROMANTIC ERA

By MARGERY REX,
Written for International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Will our new romantic styles in clothes bring back an era of romance?

With the revival of hoopskirts, lace scarves, tiny fans and garlanded coiffures cause to live again the delicate creatures who fainted as easily and as gracefully as they flirted? And do their garments really affect the characteristics of women?

Sudden changes in demeanor are seen in the drab little girl who suddenly gets a new dress. She is transformed. So is the middle-aged hitherto uncared for woman whose husband may unexpectedly gain wealth. Her new raiment makes a new woman out of her oftentimes.

Miss Ethel Traphagen, expert on dress design, confirms the legend that clothes make the man or woman. At her studio on Poplar street, Brooklyn, she displayed a number of drawings of styles of the past and told me some of her own theories on dress.

Miss Traphegan's Conclusions.

"Undoubtedly wearing clothes harking back to times of romance will make women take on the characteristics of those periods," Miss Traphegan says.

"Of course, you know one of my beliefs is that we go through one incarnation after another, and that when we long for the trappings of some one era we are going back to those days through which we passed and which we loved.

"In a certain mood a woman puts on a garment to express that feeling. Again, when she puts on the dress of a bygone century, she assumes thereby the qualities or vagaries of the time.

"In the different stages of development in our lives we are subject to different moods in which we revert to former experiences. If a woman puts on a Moyen Age costume she is apt to feel as the women of those middle ages did.

"The fact of woman taking to the bouffant skirts and rosebud garlanded coiffures shows a positive leaning back to the days of romance. In the thirties and in the sixties there was a romantic spirit, but there were also hypocrisy. Those crimoline girls looked very sweet and demure, but they were not always so ingenuous as we think them.

Spooning and Swooning Customs.

"Even when these styles are brought out now there is always a little flippancy added to them."

"But where, oh, where, in our highly condensed conditions of life is there room for the dear creatures to wear their hoops and succumb to the "vapours" at the slightest provocation? At least girls who swoon easily might be preferable to those ultra-moderns some of our readers score so savagely, those who spoon too easily and those whose only "vapours" are the thin streams of cloud that arise from the amber cigarette insulators.

"In Victoria's reign," Miss Traphegan continued, "she was so repressed that everybody became bottled up. The styles immediately showed this. The squeezed-in waists, the ridiculous stuffed leg-of-mutton sleeves tell of the influence of this strict ruler.

"But in America we have a conglomeration of races. Each brings a different environment and a past. The countries from which they come have each had a different history of fashion affected in so many ways in the past. No one silhouette of style predominates today.

"Clothes influence women greatly. The gingham dress imparts youth and freshness. It speaks of childhood and bread and butter days. Brocade makes us feel regal; velvet, dignified and a little softened.

"She who dons taffeta becomes crisp and jaunty like the fabric. Blue serge is business-like and suitable and lends self-consciousness.

"The rolled-down stockings and all too short skirts we have had for some time, give a woman vulgarity. Or rather, they bring out her innate vulgarity, for the fact that she wears them shows the quality to be in her.

"Colors have a greater power over ourselves than we imagine. Each has a separate meaning. Yellow speaks to those who can understand it, but blue cannot say what yellow says. Neither can red nor violet. Blue is cold and formal, but very satisfactory. Green is cool and restful, while yellow is cheerful and brilliant and creates harmony about it. Red is warm and aggressive, orange rather hot, but still very decorative; violet is mystic, mournful and darkening.

"Light colors give youth, gayety and femininity to women, while the dark shades offer dignity and repose. Neutralized colors have great charm and subtlety."

What man wouldn't want to protect a dainty thing in shell pink or baby blue, and who cares what happens to a navy blue serge girl?

Little satin toes peeping from beneath a lacy skirt are more tantalizing than plain sight of two little knees that knock. Preserving old letters in lemon verbena may become a more popular indoor sport than preserving ones own sweet self in apricot brandy.

But the romantic girl had lily white hands and wore flowers at her throat. This last feat is one mystery we would like explained. The practice of lilies-of-the-valley or violets way up near one's larynx is inexplicable.

SUGGESTED CUT IN OWN SALARY

Here is one man in a million. Meet Arnold W. Brunner, New York architect, who has been re-elected architectural adviser for the state of Pennsylvania and who suggested that his own salary be cut from $20,000 to $14,000 He explained that he had no desire to collect two salaries from the state — one for commissions and the other on a fixed yearly stipulation. The board of public grounds and buildings accepted Mr. Brunner's suggestion, and his contract for 1922 calls for $6,000 less.

For prohibition enforcement: $10,000,000. If that keeps up the treasury will go dry before the country does.—Washington Post.

Latest Dictates of Paris Shown There Before New York Sees Them.

By Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 25.—While New York's Fifth avenue shops are displaying the latest modes in furs and new creations in winter hats and while Miss New York's cheeks tingle in the chill autumn winds, the shops in the Calle Florida of Buenos Aires are showing the latest confections in the millinery of spring and the smartest designs in summer gowns and Miss Argentina's cheeks are rosy with the warmth of spring sunshine.

Calle Florida, like Fifth avenue, has its daily morning shopping parade of fashionably dressed women and in these first days of the southern spring when winter's raiment is being replaced both by nature and by humans, it is an especially lively one.

Windows Shoppers, Too.

Miss Argentina arrives in the shopping district in luxurious automobile and like her northern sister, poceeds afoot to "inwodw-shop" from store to store, the chauffeur following his mistress as she progresses.

There are half a dozen large department stores on the Florida and numberless specialty shops, and in them she finds anything a feminine heart could desire in any city of the world, costly gowns, hats, lingerie and dainty footwear from Paris, practical household implements from the United States and jewelry, furniture and art objects from the four corners of the globe.

The fashions, so American women residents of Buenos Aires declare, are just two seasons ahead of New York. American women arriving in Buenos Aires in the spring, they say, can buy hats, gowns and shoes which they will find on returning six months later to the New York spring are "just coming in."

Shortened Skirt First.

"Buenos Aires from the beginning has kept about three inches ahead of New York in shortening skirts," says the wife of an American business man who makes frequent trips with her husband between the two cities. "The first time I came here three years ago, I was quite shocked at the shortness of the skirts the Argentine women were wearing. But when I got back to New York a few months later I found American women had also shortened theirs.

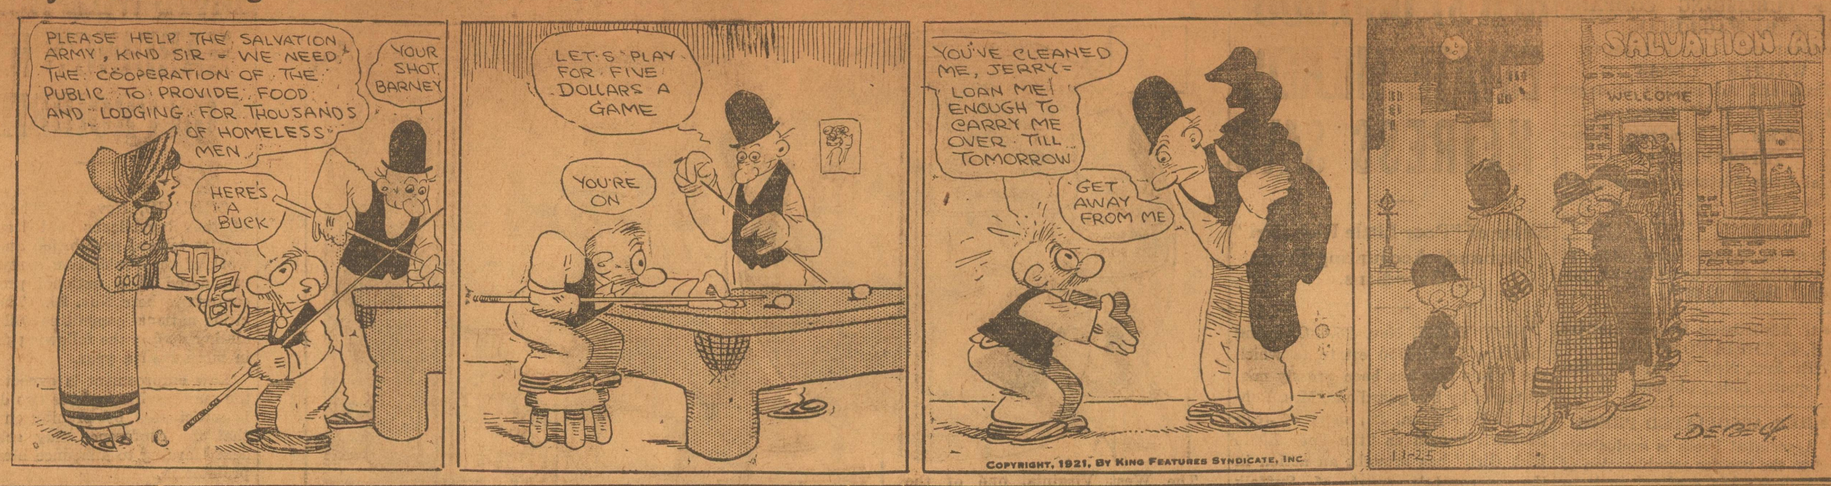

"They have been wearing almost knee high skirts in Buenos Aires for more than a year, but it was only on my last trip home this summer that I saw them as short in New York as here. Argentine women refuse to be behind anybody in dress and I think the Parisian style dictators, recognizing the opposition of the seasons, give them a six months advantage."

ROUGH FOR THE STOMACH.

By taking Blank's Cola Celery each morning you will wash all poisons from the stomach, leaving it pure and sweet, with rosy cheeks.—From an English Advertisement Discovered by the Boston Transcript.

OUR FIREBOYS LEND A HAND AT MINERAL WELLS

Two members of the Ranger fire department had a hose coupled to a fire plug and were turning the first stream of water on a burning home in Mineral Wells at 4 o'clock this morning, before the Mineral Wells volunteer department and their flivver fire engine had appeared on the scene. What appears to have been inhuman speed on the part of the two local smoke eaters is explained by Joe Manicchi and Pete Otamamick of the local department, who were passing through Mineral Wells on their return to Ranger after spending their "day off" in Dallas. They were accompanied by A. G. Wartman, power foreman of the Western Electric company here.

As the party drove past the Mineral Wells fire hall, an alarm sounded and the chief set about rounding up the volunteer members of his department to man the Ford fire engine. The Ranger men seized a hose or "line" and hurriedly turned it on the fire. In the absence of a pump or sufficient water pressure, however, it was an uphill fight until the Ford flivver got in action and then the blaze had got beyond control.

The family said to be named Campbell, escaped in night clothes, without an opportunity to save any of the household furnishings. An adjoining house, which was threatened by the fire, was saved. Manicchi had five holes burned in the top of his brand new flivver by flying sparks.

ADVERTISING EXCELLENCE.

Maggie Maloney, because she made a reputation with corn beef hash, is awarded $25,000 by her lifelong employer, Mrs. Mark Hanna.

Thus is Maggie enriched, and more than that, made famous. Soon it will be in order for one of the uplift magazines to picture her smiling copiously as she clutches a $25,000 bill. Accompanying the picture, there will be an article by Maggie herself, telling the world how her rise to fame and fortune was accomplished.

And interwoven in the article will be a moral, impressing upon we ordinary mortals that faithful and conscientious performance of any task, however humble, must eventually bring one into the limelight of publicity and at the same time upholster the couch of life with luxuriant gold and green foliage, fresh from the treasury.

All of which is pure bosh. The ordinary man, holding the ordinary position, may work faithfully at his task, but by sticking to his work bench he will never achieve more than local fame, and his riches will never reach more than a modest competence.

Fate butts in occasionally and gives one fortunate place; that is all. Maggie Maloney may be the best cooker of corn beef hash in the world. Then again, she may not. But she evidently is a good cooker of the delicacy, and furthermore, she cooked it for a millionaire politician, so that its goodness received the publicity it deserved. Thus Maggie added to the fame of the Hanna family, and the Hanna family has added to Maggie's fame.

Moral: See that the world is told about what you are doing. If no one else will tell about it, do the telling yourself.

HER $7,000,000 ESTATE MILKED, HEIRESS SAYS

Sister of "Poor Little Rich Girl" Demands Accounting From Guardians.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Charging that the $7,000,000 estate to which she is sole heir has been grossly mismanaged by her guardians, Mrs. Robert B. Honeyman, Jr., sister of Jean Stewart, known as "the Poor Little Rich Girl," has brought an action in the surrogate's court of Suffolk county, opposing their appointment as administrators.

In answer to a citation, returnable yesterday at Riverhead, to show cause why Leander H. La Chance of Chicago, and Martin Taylor, a lawyer of 120 Broadway, Manhattan, should not receive letters of administration, Mrs. Honeyman, who is 19, made sensational allegations.

She and her 10--year-old sister, Jean, who died in Chicago on Oct. 10 last, were the only heirs to the $7,000,000 estate left by their father, John K. Stewart, an inventor, of Centerport, L. I., who amassed a fortune in the manufacture of speedometers and automobile accessories.

Incurable Cripple.

Jean had been a cripple since shortly after her birth. She was afflicted with a hip disease which baffled the greatest physiciansshrdl ; shrdlu unu greatest specialists of the country.

When she died a month ago the entire fortune left by her father passed to her sister Marion, now Mrs. Honeyman. In her petition just filed, Mrs. Honeyman not only opposes the appointment of Taylor or La Chance as administrators, but also asks that the letters issued March 23, 1917, appointing them as her guardian, be revoked.

She maintains that she is more than 19 years old and under the laws of Illinois is of full age and entitled to immediate possession of her property.

When the father, who was one of the organizers and chief owners of the Stewart Manufacturing company and the Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation of Chicago, died at his summer home at Centerport, on June 1, 1916, his estate was variously estimated at $7,000,000 to $11,000,000.

Wife Soon Died.

Less than a year later his wife died at a resort in South Carolina. Following her death Supreme Court Justice Strong, then surrogate of Suffolk, appointed Taylor and La Chance general guardians of the two daughters.

Mrs. Honeyman, who was married last April to the son of a prominent Manhattan lawyer, says that there were among the assets of the estate more than 11,000 shares of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation. She charges that La Chance, by virtue of his position as guardian and administrator, bought the stock, with the consent of Taylor, at far less than its real value, and procured his election as chairman of the directors of that corporation.

She alleges that he has made large profits to the detriment of the estate and in violation of his duty.

Mrs. Honeyman also alleges that La Chance made efforts to induce Mrs. Stewart, when she was acting as executrix of the estate, to assist him in acquiring an interest in the stock of the Stewart Manufacturing company and an executive position with the company.

Got Shares, It Is Said.

He managed, she charges, to get possession of 700 shares at a price far below their real value and caused himself to be elected president of the corporation.

The action brought against Taylor, who lives at St. James, L. I., and La Chance, who dwells in Chicago, was presented by Mrs. Honeyman's father-in-law, Robert B. Honeyman, of 61 Broadway. In addition to the sensational charges of mismanagement, improper disposition of valuable stocks and falsification of court records, it was revealed that already a tremendous sum had been expended in settling the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart.

After Stewart's death the widow gained wide notoriety by her lavish expenditure of money. She often carried as much as $500,000 with her in an old suitcase, which she checked from place to place as if it contained inexpensive wearing apparel.

Estate Was Milked.

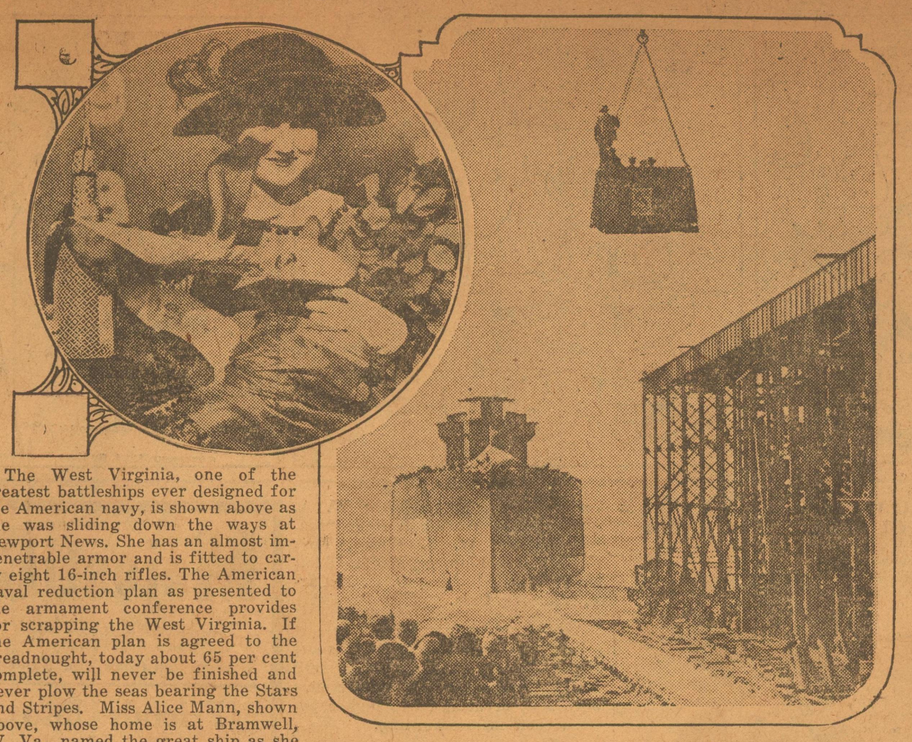

It was also asserted in the petitioning papers that after the mother's death the estate was milked pretty freely by the appointment of temporary administrators, special guardians and appraisers. It was also shown that large sums were lavishly expended for the maintenance of the girls, which expenditures Mr. Honeyman now demands be explained.

Up to the time an accounting was filed in 1919, the papers show $325,000 had been paid from the estate in counsel fees and commissions, "exclusive of sums for fees and commissions in connection with the administration of the estate in Illinois."

It is charged that even the office rent of the firm with which Taylor is connected, was charged against the Stewart estate. The firm name is McKinstry, Taylor, Patterson & Ellis, formerly of 60 Wall street, but now occupying a large suite in the Equitable building.

Another allegation is that La Chance entered a false record in the Cook county probate court of Illinois in the administration proceeding. It is asserted he made a record that his ward was present in court, which is necessary under the laws of that state, when, as a matter of fact, she was not there.

Best U. S. Warship Launched, But Faces Scrap Heap

The West Virginia, one of the greatest battleships ever designed for the American navy, is shown above as she was sliding down the ways at Newport News. She has an almost impenetrable armor and is fitted to carry eight 16-inch rifles. The American naval reduction plan as presented to the armament conference provides for scrapping the West Virginia. If the American plan is agreed to the dreadnought, today about 65 per cent complete, will never be finished and never plow the seas bearing the Stars and Stripes. Miss Alice Mann, shown above, whose home is at Bramwell, W. Va., named the great ship as she left the ways.

BUSINESS MEN ARRESTED FOR RUM SMUGGLING

By Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 25.—John G. Crossman, a prominent business man and wealthy property owner of Miami, was under arrest here today, charged with violation of the federal liquor law. He was allowed liberty on $6,000 bond, for appearance early next week.

Paul A. Dampier, treasurer of the Miami Fisheries company, and Charles Albury, said to be a business associate of Crossman, also were arrested and each was granted $3,000 bail.

Two warrants were issued for Crossman, one alleging an offense in New York state and the other for conspiracy in New Jersey. Crossman's arrest, officers say, will break up one of the biggest liquor running syndicates operating on the coast.

DOWNING STREET MOVES TO AMERICA

By DAVID L. BLUMENFELD,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—If the delegations of foreign nations to the conference were to adopt slogans, "Efficiency" should surely be selected by the British.

It is but a few days since seventy-nine Britishers, male and female stepped off the pullman at the union station here, the men with walking sticks and gloves, the women secretaries neatly veiled and "tailor made;" and already the official homes of Great Britain here are taking on the atmosphere of Downing street at its best.

In the Franklin Square hotel where two whole floors have been given up to the British for offices, an American visitor would feel almost strange. As he steps off the elevator at the second floor, a uniformed British marine clicks to attention and asks his business. If everything is in order the visitor is conducted to a waiting room. While he waits the London Times is laid out on a table before him. The walls are adorned with British calendars. Through the thin partitions come the voices of the fair haired English stenographers rattling away, for all the world as if they were at home in London and the street outside was whitehall and not 14th Street, Washington, D. C.

Everything in that series of little offices is orderly, neat, arranged. In the rooms of the directors of the various branches of the British government concerned in the conference tweed suited young men leisurely dictate letters; a telephone bell rings and the broad accent of London town carries over the wires to another "little England" on Connecticut avenue—the home of Sir Auckland Geddes and the British embassy.

"What's that. You want to see Sir John. . . . Oh, rather. At five and twenty minutes past five? Righto. . . ." Bang. Down goes the receiver and the letter is casually finished. No speed, no rush, no panic. Just an orderly office full of very ordinary orderly people. But they do the work.

AMERICAN GUN CREW SETS NEW TARGET RECORD

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—A world's record in gunnery was established by the gun crew of turret No. 4, of the U. S. S. New Mexico, in practice off the harbor here, according to officers of the flagship. In short range director practice five shots were fired from three fourteen-inch guns of the turret No. 4 in one minute and thirty-eight seconds, all director hits at 6,000 yards. The previous record was one minute and forty-two seconds.

Another shining example of marksmanship was seventeen out of twenty direct hits at 6,000 yards. Lieutenant Lyle Morgan is commander of the record gun crew and Ensign Atherton McCombray second in command.

SEEKS HER SHARE

Miss June Avis Evans, named by Dan R. Hanna in a cancelled interlineation of his will as the woman he intended to make his fifth wife, is in New York preparing to fight for a share of the estate of the Cleveland millionaire. She has appeared on the stage and was formerly a society belle of Evanston, Ill. At the time of Hanna's death Miss Evans and her mother were living at the Hanna estate in Watertown, N. Y. Hanna's estate is said to total $10,000,000.

DRYS WILL ASK HARDING'S IDEA ON PROHIBITION

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The attitude of the Republicans and Democratic parties toward prohibition and future work of the Prohibition party will be considered at a national prohibition conference here Nov. 29. The Prohibition national committee will hold an all-day session the following day, first in more than a year.

Law enforcement is expected to be the major subject of the two days. It is anticipated by prohibition leaders that the conference may ask President Harding to announce himself for prohibition.

A memorial hour will be devoted to Eugene Chafin, twice candidate for president on the Prohibition ticket. "With the falling down of the last two national administrations on the enforcement of the prohibition law, Chafin's doctrine 'Government by Administration,' looms higher and higher," says an announcement.

Consideration of world prohibition work will be taken up at a meeting of the Prohibition Foundation the evening of Nov. 29.

The meetings were called by Virgil G. Hinshaw of Chicago, chairman of the Prohibition national committee.

FELT JUST LIKE IRON BAND WAS ROUND HER HEAD

"I don't believe anybody ever suffered from headaches like I did. The pains felt like an iron band was being drawn around my head and my temples would throb until I was driven almost distracted. I shudder when I think of those awful headaches. I had no appetite either.

"I owe Tanlac an everlasting debt of gratitude for entirely ridding me of those terrible headaches. My stomach has been toned up too, and everything I eat agrees with me now. Tanlac certainly brought me health and happiness."

It Is the Person With Rich, Red, Normal Blood—The Person of Health and Energy—That Meets With Business and Social Success.

A Lowered Vitality Is Usually Due to Waste Products in the Blood.

When your blood is impoverished and loaded with waste products, you don't get the full strength out of your food, and as a consequence, you become weak, nervous, and easily upset.

Waste products get into the blood mainly through the intestines, but there are other sources—for instance, the glands. Some glands secrete digestive juices, while others excrete waste products. If they fail to properly function, waste products accumulate.

As a result, nature strives to cast off the poisons. It may be through the skin in the form of some skin disorder, but it is not infrequent for it to settle in the muscles and joints and cause rheumatism.

For over 50 years, thousands and thousands of men and women have relied on S. S. S. to clear their blood of waste products. S. S. S. will improve the quality of your blood by relieving you of the waste products which cause impoverished blood and its allied troubles — skin disorders, rheumatism and a lowered vitality.

The same qualities which give S. S. S. its beneficial effect in clearing your blood of waste products make it extremely desirable for keeping your blood in good condition.

SLASHING ATTACK GIVES RANGER HIGH FINAL GAME WITH BRECK

Spectacular Football By Both Teams End With Rampagers on Top by 14-7 Score; Passes and Running Plays Make "Open" Game and Aerial Attack Results in Touchdowns.

Clean-cut smashing of the line, a perfect forward pass to Heasley that netted twenty-five yards, a double pass which fooled the Breck defense and one of Huffman's headlong dives yesterday afternoon put over the winning touchdown for Ranger High in a hard-fought game with Breckenridge at Nitro park. The final score was 14 to 7.

Outweighed at least ten pounds per man, the Rampagers more than evened up the lack of avoirdupois by speed of attack and tenacity of defense, and as the end of the game drew closer, had clearly played the invaders off their feet. The line was outcharging the Breck forwards to a noticeable extent.

"Open" Game.

Both teams presented a slashing attack, and numerous forward passes assisted in making the contest an open game, with little of the mass formation plays which make some football contests tedious to the spectators. Clean and accurate tackles by the score were made by both teams, and altogether, it was the best all around exhibition seen here this year.

The work of Huffman, Schertz and Mills in the Ranger backfield, Pruitt, Terry and Henshaw in the line, stood out, as did that of Avery and Rickels of the pigskin carriers and Allbright at end, for Breckenridge.

Fancy Diving.

A seesaw first quarter, with both teams advancing the ball well in midfield but being checked as the goals were approached, ended without scoring, but early in the second period, Ranger bucked the ball over from the ten-yard line. The last play was a headline plunge by Huffman that carried him yards beyond the goal posts. As he struck the ground, the ball bounded from the lanky quarter's arms and there was a mad scramble, but Russell, with a fancy dive clamped himself about the pigskin and drew credit for the touchdown. Mills officiated as goal kicker with 100 per cent effectiveness, and the score stood: Ranger 7, Breckenridge 0.

That lasted about two minutes, for Breckenridge, receiving the kickoff, went sixty yards on six plays and tied the score. It was the Buckaroos only sustained attack of the game and even it was aided by a bit of luck, for the play which put the ball in a scoring position was one of the freakest forward passes that ever made good. Fifty-six of the sixty yards, it might be inserted, were made on passes.

Two Long Flips.

Receiving the kickoff, Breck was downed sixty yards from the goal. Line plays failed to gain more than a yard or so, and Avery opened up with passes. His first flip spiraled on a line to Allbright, who made a fine running catch, twenty-five yards down the field. Again Avery passed. Ranger forwards spilled through the line and rushed him. Fearing to rough the passer, they hesitated, and Avery swung back his arm and threw the ball away. It went high into the air, end over end, and came down in the arms of Allbright, who with Rickels running interference, went to the three-yard line before a beautiful tackle stopped him. That was the luck, or the break, of the game. (Larry Smits says it was a perfect pass, because the man for whom it was intended caught the ball.)

Anyway, there it was, three yards from the line. One line buck failed. Another lost ground. Then Avery shifted his backfield and crashed across the line on an off tackle brush, at the extreme lefthand corner of the field. A successful goal tied the score and the kickoff, which T. Alworth returned twenty yards, was the only play before the whistle blew for the end of the half.

Intercepts Pass.

A seesaw battle early in the second quarter turned in Ranger's favor when Huffman, coming in with a rush, snagged a Breckenridge pass that had bounded off several hands, on the visitors' forty-five-yard line. A shift play directed at the line failed to gain and then Huffman hurled the spheroid. It fell into the clutching hands of Bob Heasley as he ran clear, twenty yards down the field. As he turned to sprint, his feet slipped but he plunged forward to the Breck twenty-yard marker. Huffman in three hard plunges advanced the ball eleven yards. Then the Breck defense was crossed by a double pass which sent Mills around right end. He legged it manfully to within one yard of the goal, and Huffman plunged through for the winning score.

The remainder of the game seesawed, with the ball gradually working toward the Breckenridge goal, and the final whistle blew with Ranger holding the ball on the twenty-eight-yard line.

LONG RUN DECIDES AUSTIN-TRINITY GAME

SHERMAN, Texas, Nov. 25.—Trinity university made good use of the breaks coming her way and snatched victory out of seeming defeat from the Austin college Kangaroos Thursday afternoon, 7 to 3. Hollis' failure to hold the ball after going over for a touchdown in the third quarter had its effect of finally reversing the score against the Kangaroos. Austin played the entire four quarters in Trinity territory, endangering her goal for a touchdown in the first, failing a placement goal in the second, counting a touchdown which was annulled by Hollis' fumble in the third and counting their lone score in the fourth.

Trinity scored her touchdown in the fourth, shortly after Morehart dropkicked Austin's three points. Durden caught a pass thrown by Edmonson from the twenty-five yard line and ran the length of the field for a touchdown with but one Austin player to dodge. Trinity played a wonderful defensive game and stopped Austin's terrific onslaughts repeatedly on their own goal.

T. C. U. BEATS ARKANSAS IN SEE-SAW BATTLE

FORT WORTH, Nov. 25.—Three times forging to the front and twice being topped by one point because of a failure to kick goal, T. C. U. finally beat Arkansas here Thursday, 19 to 14.

The first score came early in the second quarter, when a pass to Houtchens put the ball on Arkansas' six yard line and it was bucked over. Ryan missed goal. Arkansas counted a few minutes later, when two passes put the ball on the Christians' nine-yard line and Winkleman went around the end after two bucks had failed. A goal gave the Razorbacks the lead, 7 to 6.

T. C. U. again took the lead in the third quarter by the pass route and Arkansas countered with a touchdown earned by straight football, again getting a one-point edge. Then in the last three minutes of play, Fowler's passes went into the receptive arms of his ends and the Christians marched from their own twenty-yard line for the winning counter.

RICE DEFEATED BY OKLAHOMA, 27 TO 0

HOUSTON, Nov. 25.—Oklahoma university defeated Rice institute Thursday by a score of 27 to 0. The unusually hot weather destroyed much of the interest usually shown in such games and made it extremely hard on the elevens. Oklahoma saved her athletes a great deal by depending on forward passes almost exclusively and using very little scrimmage.

FOOTBALL

Numerous upsets marked yesterday's football, especially in Texas.

A. & M. held State to a 0-0 tie, and maintained the record of never having been beaten on Kyle field.

T. C. U. by a successful passing game beat Arkansas in the final quarter, 19-14.

Trinity, with a weak record for the season, beat Austin college, strong contender for the T. I. A. A. standing, 7 to 3.

Howard Payne overwhelmed Simmons college, 28 to 0.

These games were all more or less —mostly more—in the nature of upsets. State was figured to beat the Aggies, and Howard Payne's victory while not unexpected, was not figured to be so decisive.

In the east, Cornell finished up one of the best year's "the big Red team" has ever had by walloping Pennsylvania, 41 to 0, and Penn State had its glory somewhat dimmed by a 0-0 tie with Pittsburgh.

Missing Silver Polisher Starts on Hunt, Winds Up in Fort Worth; How Come?

Did Nick Metaxokis, veteran of the Crete revolution and late silver polisher of the Ranger cafe, chase a jack rabbit into Fort Worth or was he in turn pursued into the outskirts of that city by larger game? Here are the facts and near facts surrounding his mysterious disappearance while on a hunting trip last Monday a week ago and his subsequent appearance in Fort Worth. The conclusion will be your own:

Nick, a taciturn individual with a pronounced taste for his own society, left his quarters in the Pacific rooms one Monday morning with his shotgun, and headed toward the hills. Personal belongings were left scattered about his room, indicating an early return, as usual, from one of his hunts. He failed to put in an appearance and after several days his friends became alarmed, thinking that he had met with some accident and was lying, possibly wounded, in the hills. The Times was notified of the disappearance with the fears expressed for him and an account was written of it. Sunday, Ranger cafe employes were notified in a letter from a countryman in Fort Worth that Metaxokis was working there.

Friends here stated that there was no reason for Nick's informal leave taking and that he had in all probability decided to include Fort Worth in his hunting territory after finding game scarce in this vicinity.

CLUB OWNERS WANT TO KEEP LONG SERIES

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Reduction of the world's series from nine games back to the old standard of seven games, which has been advocated by Commissioner Landis, is not getting a shout of approbation from the club owners.

When this interesting bit of new business comes before the magnates of the two major leagues at their annual December conclave, it may prove a stumbler for the commissioner.

Considering the high price of everything and the great outlay of cash that comes with the honor of being a pennant winner, the club owners maintain that they run the chance of losing money on a seven-game series, especially if one club should win in straight games.

Looking at the $900,000 gate the last classic in New York, the claim seems on the surface to be absurd, but digging down and uncovering the many side channels into which a large part of the receipts find their way, it seems legitimately a bad piece of business to win a pennant.

Each of the New York clubs made about $80,000 on the late series. Had either the Giants or the Yanks followed the footsteps of the Boston Braves, who beat the Athletics in straight games back in 1914, both of the participants would have lost money.

Eight and a half cents of every dollar taken in at the first five games went to each one of the contending clubs and the series expenses had to be paid out of that. The lavish way in which both clubs entertained the newspapermen and friends ran into thousands of dollars.

Under the present arrangement, the advisory board and the two league treasuries get the largest cut of the receipts. The $42,500 salary which Commissioner Landis gets forced the advisory board to increase its share from 10 to 15 per cent of the receipts.

The players get 60 per cent of the receipts of the first five games. The increase in this "cut" from the old scale was made necessary by the ruling to give the second and third place clubs in each league a share of the spoils.

After the commissioner's share and the two leagues' share are deducted, the club owners haven't much left out of their 40 per cent. Better breaks come after the fifth game. Eighty-five per cent of the receipts are divided fifty-fifty with the league treasuries. In the event of an eighth and ninth game, the league profit most, as the club owners must turn over 75 per cent to their respective leagues.

So it seems, figuring it all up, that there is little but glory for the club owners who get into the series. In the case of the rich New York clubs this is fair enough, but supposing St. Louis should win the pennants next year, which is not at all improbable, the proposition would not be fair for the risk and the expense involved.

If the magnates do accept the recommendation to return to the old seven-game arrangement, it is probable that they will insist upon a rearrangement of the process of division which will give the pennant winner a better break.

CHICAGO GANGSTERS CONFESS TO MURDERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 25—Six gangsters, picked up by police and characterized by them as the most vicious band of robbers and murderers encountered in years, today admitted having committed three murders.

Last night they admitted one murder, but today, with their memories refreshed, they recalled two more. Killing was only one part of the operations of the gang, police said. They admit more than fifty robberies of jewelry houses, more than fifty hold-ups of oil-filling stations, the theft of an automobile every night for weeks and hundreds of street robberies, running as high as twenty-four in one night, it is said.

They can account for more than $200,000 they have realized, but when arrested the entire gang could muster only $2.

GERMAN PALLBEARERS TO STRIKE FOR HIGHER WAGES

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—The most unusual strike in the wave that is sweeping Germany as a result of climbing prices is the strike of the professional pallbearers of Pottsdam. They have demanded higher wages for carrying mortal remains to the grave and the funeral parlors have installed strike-breakers.

Reverence for the dead is not deterring the strikers from attacking the strike-breakers carrying caskets or accompanying hearses. Several funerals Thursday and Friday were the centers of small riots.

SIMMONS COWBOYS LOSE TO HOWARD PAYNE TEAM

ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 25.—Howard Payne college of Brownwood strengthened its claims to the Texas Interscholastic Athletic association title here Thursday when it defeated the Simmons college Cowboys, 28 to 0.

The game was hard fought throughout, but the locals were out-classed. The contest was witnessed by a record-breaking crowd, including a special trainload of Brownwood fans and students.

RODEO RIDER IS HEIR TO LARGE TEXAS ESTATE

Granddaughter of Amarillo Rancher to Get Half Million From Lazy-Z Holdings.

By International News Service

BILLINGS, Mont., Nov. 25.—In a small tarpaper covered shack in the north end of the city Mrs. John A Gould ("Tex Hayes"), heiress to half a million dollars is dreaming of the ranch she intends buying near Billings.

"That's all I want," she told a newspaper man.

About forty years ago Mrs. Gould's grandfather, Matt Hayes, started ranching near Amarillo, Texas, and he gradually increased his holdings until the Lazy-Z ranch was one of the largest in the country. His holdings covered fifteen or twenty miles at least, that being the distance she often rode, and then she did not cover the whole territory, Mrs. Gould said.

Grandfather Hayes died some years ago, and his son and Mrs. Gould's mother were killed in an automobile accident in Fort Worth in 1910. Recently oil was struck on the ranch.

Mrs. Gould, then Alice Hayes, left home when a young girl, and, while she knew relatives were advertising for her four years ago, she did not return.

$500,000 Waiting for Her.

While in a second-hand store buying furnishings for her small home, a friend called her attention to a newspaper story in which her brother was making inquiries for her. The story said that $500,000 was waiting for her.

"What do you intend doing with the money?" the newspaper man asked.

"I intend buying a ranch near Billings," was the quick reply. "The only place I would be happy would be on a ranch."

"Do you plan taking a trip, say to Europe?"

"The United States is good enough for me," she answered emphatically. "But I might go to bonnie Scotland. 'Jack' (her husband) came from Scotland, and my mother was a 'schoolma'arm' in Scotland. She took me there when I was about 11 years old. But," as an afterthought, "I have to get the 'jack' first.

"We have been trying to get compensation for Jack." (Jack served overseas and was wounded twice in the Argonne. Incidentally, he was a member of Major Whittlesey's Lost Battalion.)

"And I'm going up to the clean-up squad to try to get in, anyway," put in the ex-soldier.

Wherever cattlemen meet Mrs. Gould is known, but to them she is known as "Tex Hayes." She has lived on ranches all over the Western states and has competed in rodeos in Pendleton, Ore., Calgary, Alta., Cheyenne, Wyo., Miles City, Mont., Fort Worth, Texas, and the Flathead Reservation.

Included in the many trophies she has won for riding is a set of spurs presented by the late Theodore Roosevelt. These she still has in her possession, but she has given most of the nine or ten saddles and bridles she won to comrades of the range.

"I have also worked in Yellowstone Park, 'riding for the dudes,'" said Mrs. Gould. "I used to teach dudes with one eyeglass and old ladies how to ride. Some of them had to get on the horses with stepladders. They all liked me, though, and I got all kinds of tips.

"I have always worked hard on ranches breaking horses and riding. I have ridden horses since I could get into the saddle, and it is the only life for me."

An attractive, capable-looking woman, Mrs. Gould is now 28 years old. She has several sisters in California and Chicago. She has not seen any of them for eighteen years or more.

Jack Gould, the husband, is taking a vocational course here. He wants to be a plumber, his wife said. He, like Tex Hayes, has worked on nearly every ranch in Montana. They were married on March 13, 1920. Gould enlisted here, went across with the Sunshine division of California, and was transferred to the Seventy-seventh division of New York.

BAYLOR BEARS BEAT S. M. U. BY SCORE OF 28-0

WACO, Nov. 25.—Baylor took a 28 to 0 victory from the S. M. U. Mustangs here Thursday. Bradshaw's broken field 35-yard dash for the final touchdown and Tanner's brilliant line plunging was the outstanding features of a contest characterized by straight football.

DOCKMEN QUIT AT NEW ORLEANS

By United Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25.—Port traffic was virtually at a standstill here today when approximately 11,000 dock workers went on strike. Extra police were hurried to the river front to guard against possible trouble growing out of the appearance of 400 strike breakers. About seventy ships are awaiting cargo.

A. & M. STOPS STATE IN SCORELESS BATTLE

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Nov. 25.—Texas A. & M. preserved their record of never being defeated by the Texas Longhorns on Kyle field Thursday when they battled their ancient rivals to a standstill, the score standing nothing-all when the referee's whistle ended four periods of desperate and determined football.

The Longhorns outplayed their rivals in the sense that they had the ball in foreign territory most of the time, but each time when a Longhorn score seemed imminent, the vaunted Aggie defense braced and turned the battle back from the gates.

Final Period Close.

The final period was especially exciting. Texas carried the ball with rapid strides toward A. & M.'s goal, getting as far as the six-yard line, only to lose the offensive when an attempted pass went awry. The Aggies then displayed a flash of offensive strength and advanced from their twenty-yard line back to midfield. The Longhorns then began another offensive, but were checked on the Aggies' twenty-yard line. The Aggies punted out of danger. Both teams made desperate efforts to gain, trying the forward pass repeatedly, but without results. The game ended with the ball in midfield.

NEW YORK ALDERMAN WEIGHS 400 POUNDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The seats of the city fathers will be dwarfed by comparison to Lilliputian size when Frank J. Dotzler, Republican alderman-elect from the sixth district, arrives with his specially constructed furniture next Jan. 1.

Dotzler lists his weight in round numbers at 400 pounds, and finds it necessary to take with him his own private chair, which has a seating capacity of one square yard. The city had the chair built for him several years ago when, upon his election to the board of aldermen, it was discovered that he could not squeeze into the regular seats. Dotzler bought it for $1 when he retired, because the city was short of storage space.

1920 Club Party Is Original Affair Jammed With Fun

The party given by the 1920 club Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Barnes, in the Gholson addition, was a sure-enough party, in which formality was laid aside and the spirit of the season was paramount. The house was beautifully decorated throughout, its decorative effects showing originality and artistry.

The guests on arrival were guided to the door by Master James Phillips, dressed as a Boy Scout. Mrs. E. J. Barnes, dressed as Priscilla, welcomed each one at the door and turned them over to the other members of the house party, who also were hostesses. They were Mmes. Bob Hodges, J. P. Scott, L. A. Vandervoort, dressed as Dutch maidens; Mrs. B. B. Liles, dressed as a Colonial dame; Mmes. R. M. Davenport and C. D. Woods, in the costume of Indian maids, and Mrs. S. P. Boone and Mrs. A. L. Duffer in modern dress.

The sun parlor and conservatory were cleverly decorated so as to represent Holland and it was in these rooms that a very exciting contest, the pinning of the wooden shoe on a Dutch maiden's foot, was enacted. Mr. L. A. Vandervoort proved the most efficient in this contest. The guests were given pins and paper and required to make for themselves paper caps, which attempts at Millinery resulted in many and various styles of head-gear. Then the Mayflower contest was held and Mrs. M. H. Hagaman won the right to lead the guests into primitive America.

The living room had been converted into a veritable wigwam, with autumn leaves and skins of fur-bearing animals draped effectively on the walls, Indian blankets spread on the floor and the old black kettle swinging in the fireplace, completing the illusion. Under a canopy in one corner of the room sat two Indian maidens, Mrs. R. M. Davenport, portraying Minnehaha, and Mrs. C. D. Woods Pocahontas. The guests were commanded to be seated on the floor, sitting indian fashion, while a "powwow" was held, during which the "pipe of peace" was smoked, in truly twentieth century style, and many a matrimonial tomahawk was buried as it passed from mouth to mouth, making the circle of the room. Following this was a war dance, fantastic in its realism. On the wall were hung various and sundry pictures, from which the imagination of the guests were required to evolve a Thanksgiving menu, and in this contest, Mr. Vandervoort again won the honor, the prize being a nut basket made from a cocoanut.

The dining room was modern America as was the dressing room. On two tables in the dining room were two bowls of cranberries, floating in water, and the guests paired off by corresponding numbers on tiny turkey cards, were required to try their skill in spearing these berries with a hat-pin. In this contest the gentlemen proved as successful as the ladies.

Then there was a gobble contest, in which one was blindfolded, as in hide and seek, and requested to identify the one they caught by their gobble. Men may recognize their wives by their cackle—but never by their gobble, as was very plainly demonstrated in this contest. This was "heaps" of fun, and then came a game called "smiles," and because it was a smiling game it was full of smiles, which did not wear off during the evening.

The hostesses served to their guests, who were again seated on the floor of the "Primitive America" room, a dainty collation, consisting of pumpkin pie, topped with whipped cream, coffee and nuts.

Those present were: Messrs and Mmes. R. H. Hodges, Karl Jones, C. D. Woods, L. A. Vandervoort, R. M. Davenport, Lytton R. Taylor, J. E. T. Peters, Vincent Wakefield, L. P. Hodges, S. P. Boone, M. K. Collie, O. L. Phillips, Howard Gholson, C. E. Maddocks, A. L. Duffer, George Davenport; Mmes J. P. Scott, Garrett Bohning, D. C. Boyd, A. C. Skillern, M. H. Hagaman, T. S. Harrison, R. B. Campbell, B. B. Lyles, George Taggart, T. L. Lauderdale; Misses Collie, Dorothy Taggart and Mr. Leslie Hagaman.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Moyer.

AUTUMN DANCE.

The autumn dance given by the Elks Wednesday evening was a very brilliant and gala affair. The Summer garden, the scene of the dance, was very effectively decorated with autumn leaves draped from the ceiling and banked in every available place. The music was splendid and the crowd, which was composed of Ranger's representative people, as well as a number of out-of-town guests, were very appreciative of the occasion.

Among the out-of-town guests were noted: Miss Alpha Winston, Rural Ellis, Cliff Wilson of Eastland, Bobby Bates of Desdemona; Mortimer Fersh, Walter A. Crozier, L. R. Bertson of Thurber, Earl Brunson, J. Elliott, John Fawlks of Mexia.
