Farmers planting dry—or is it wet?

Farmers face various conditions to beat June 20 planting deadline

Local farmers, facing a June 20 crop insurance deadline, have been in the fields the past few weeks despite insufficient rain for planting. "Their backs are against the wall," said Mike Sweatt of the Farm Service Agency office in Colorado City.

"I don't want to sound real negative, but it's tough planting dry, hoping for a rain," Sweatt said last week.

He estimated conservatively that at least 50 percent of the county's cotton producers "are planting without the sufficient moisture they would like to have to make it happen."

Last week's rain was scattered as it's been throughout the season. Monday night, some areas of Loraine received over three inches while the downtown area received about an inch, according to reports.

Since May, land south of the interstate has received more rain than the northern part of the county, Sweatt said.

"We had rains down south that will get them out of a bind, but I don't know how long it will last, depending on if we get anymore," said Sweatt.

Sweatt said that some producers who have received rain planted as soon as they could get in the field and have cotton up.

However, many have waited the last few weeks to see if it would rain. "Most of them have figured out how long it takes them to get across their land and how long it takes them to get through and meet the deadline," said Sweatt.

WATER STANDS IN A LORAIN area field following Monday night's thunderstorm. The field is located west of Loraine at Lasky Road and Interstate 20.

Loraine area receives 3" rain Monday

A thunderstorm in the Loraine area around 5 p.m. Monday night led to minor flooding in low areas.

While the outskirts of Loraine received the most rain, the town itself felt the brunt of the storm's accompanying lightning.

Approximately 70 TU electric customers in the downtown area were without power for less than an hour due to fuses being blown, said a TU spokesperson.

Two refrigeration compressors at Green's Grocery Store were destroyed by lightning. Mr. Green said that the refrigeration equipment was back in service by early Tuesday morning. According to the National Weather Service in Abilene, one mile west of Loraine received 3.06 inches and three miles east of Loraine received 3.00 inches, while Loraine itself

Annual Fly-In plans underway

The 34th Annual Fly In will once again be held July 4 at the Colorado City Airport. The break-fast will begin at 7 a.m.

Pilots bring their families from all over West Texas to visit and see other aircraft and sometimes see impromptu airshows or skydiving.

The Fly In is organized by the Colorado City Fly In Association, a group of volunteers dedicated to promoting the Colorado City Airport.

The event started in 1962 to call attention to the new air strip east of town, said J.O. Dockrey, a longtime organizer of the event. The annual event has continued, now being held at the municipal

Lake Spence offers alternative water source

If ever needed, Mitchell County's three towns have an alternate water source at Lake Spence—thanks to the efforts of 1965 residents.

According to the October 14, 1965 issue of the Colorado City Record, the Colorado River Municipal Water District agreed to provide water rights to Colorado City and all Mitchell County in exchange for the dismissal of a legal suit by entities in Mitchell County opposing the CRMWD moving of the then new Colorado River reservoir site from Mitchell County to Coke County.

The settlement paved the way for immediate work toward construction of the new dam north of Robert Lee.

Officials of the CRMWD signed the agreement as did officials of the municipalities of Colorado City, Loraine and Westbrook; officials of Mitchell County, Colorado City Industrial Team and Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

The compromise was reached between the water district and the local factions when it was announced that to protect the interests within Mitchell County, legal action would continue all the way to the Supreme Court.

Tandy Curlee, who was president of the Chamber of Commerce at the time, said, "we fought hard to get the lake in Mitchell County. Since the watershed was in Mitchell County we felt we should have the dam."

Curlee recalled that the effort had large community support.

"Funds to fight the case came from our merchants. No one turned us down," he said.

Many meetings were held at the old Baker Hotel, sometimes attended by as many as 200 citizens, he remembered.

"We were interested in the economic benefits of the dam—what it would do to the tax structure and how it would attract tourists," said Curlee.

When it was evident that plans were firm on putting the dam in Coke County, local entities decided to obtain some guarantee of water rights from the Colorado River reservoirs instead of blocking construction of a new lake.

Charles Griggs of Sweetwater, the attorney representing local interests in the suit and agreement, along with County Attorney Frank Ginzel, explained some of the major points of the settlement in the 1965 Record story. According to Griggs:

•The municipal and/or industrial water from the district is assured any time in the future when there is need shown by the cities or county governments of Mitchell County.

•There would be no standby charge or expense—only the expense of the purchase of the water at rates determined on the basis of charges to other cities

Spring TAAS scores show improvement in lower grades

Spring TAAS scores for grades three to eight increased in almost every area when comparing 1995 tests to 1996. Kitten Arthur, CISD curriculum director, reported to the school board last week.

Math scores increased in all grades except third where the score dropped by only one point. Math scores also improved significantly on the exit test, jumping from a 65 last year to 83 this year.

CISD campus goals last year targeted the math portion of the TAAS test.

This year's test shows that scores continue to improve, said Arthur.

Eighth graders made some of the most significant gains, raising TAAS scores in math and social studies by over 20 points.

In math, the eighth graders went from a score of 51 in 1995 to 76 in 1996. In social studies, a score of 58 last year jumped to 80 this year.

The TAAS results were received by the school district before the end of school, enabling the district to send the individual student scores to parents before summer vacation, said Arthur.

Another report tracked students' scores from one year to the next. The report showed for example that present tenth graders have improved their scores in all three areas, writing, reading and math since they took the test in the seventh grade.

Construction projects discussed at CISD budget workshop meeting

Colorado Independent School District Board of Trustees planned upcoming construction projects during a budget workshop Thursday evening.

The first phase of district plans to renovate Kelley Elementary School will begin this summer. The board awarded a bid to Johnston Construction Company. The Big Spring company submitted a low bid of $84,985 for first phase work which includes replacing the lighting in corridors, painting corridors, adding tack strip and replacing metal lockers with wood cabinets. After the corridors are painted, the board's plans are to hire a local painter/artist to paint murals on the walls as requested by teachers.

Kelley renovations are expected to be completed before students return to school the last of August.

Replacing the air conditioner units and duct work at Colorado High School will begin around the beginning of school. According to the architect, Gary Donaldson, in a letter to the CISD superintendent, the majority of the work will go on in the rooftop area and will not affect the school day. One classroom at a time will be moved, possibly to the library, while workers install the ductwork.

Work on the new activities building at Kelley Elementary will be bid around the last of July. The board looked at flooring possibi-Venson Stewart has worked around food practically all his life. He presently works in the Food Service Department of the Wallace Unit as a Collateral Duty Safety Officer.

Much to the delight of his wife, Celinda, Venson does most of the cooking at home. Barbecue is his specialty. He has a few original barbecue recipes that he keeps secret. He enjoys experimenting with new dishes. In fact, the only part of cooking he doesn't enjoy is the cleanup!

A native of Hobbs, New Mexico, Stewart got his first cooking experience working in a barbecue catering restaurant there. "I've been working with food since I was in the seventh grade," he recalled. By the time he entered high school he was operating the restaurant called Ma Brown's.

Venson and Celinda moved to Colorado City from Lovington, N.M. two years ago. They have two children, a daughter named Crystal who is six and a son, Christopher, five.

Local club to donate fans to elderly

Elderly residents without enough fans will be able to cool their homes through a Kiwanians service project.

Members unanimously voted to donate $100 from the club treasury to purchase 12-inch oscillating fans for seniors under home health care during their regular monthly luncheon meeting at the Heart of West Texas Museum Thursday.

The organization undertook the same fan project last year.

The Noah Project, the battered women's center located in Snyder which serves the area, including Mitchell County, will also receive a $100 donation from Kiwanians. Members are collecting items to donate to the center. Items needed include sheets, towels, bed covers, motel soaps, household items and baby clothes.

Renovation of the historic Round Top is another special interest of the service group.

During the past month, two members of the organization, Sue Lowrance and Joy Morris, helped with Project Celebration, the drink and drug-free fun activity night following graduation.

THIS 'n THAT

By Sheila Plagens
Greetings to everyone!

I was in Harlingen this past weekend visiting relatives and I couldn't believe how widespread the drought is. A front page picture in the Harlingen Star was of a pump on a lake that usually sits in 47 feet of water, which is now high and dry.

Also I couldn't believe the gas prices! Everyone was selling gasoline in the Valley for $1.06 per gallon. Here we sit within one hour of one of the largest refineries in the state, and we are paying at least 20 cents more per gallon than they are!

Stan Neff, son of Mickey and Sally Neff, participated in a NTPGA junior golf tournament held at Maxwell Golf Course in Abilene on June 11th. On No. 8, Stan hit his third shot on the par 4 hole from 120 yards out and the ball went in for a birdie.

The next day, Stan was in another golf tournament in Merkel where he came in fifth place with a score of 84. Keep up the good work, Stan!

Dr. John H. and Pat Chinn of China Spring, Tex. visited with Bob and Peggy Ratliff this past weekend. Dr. Chinn played with Bob in the golf tournament that was held at Wolf Creek.

Sharon Hammond, Lana Self, Linda Stewart, and Kathy Watson tied for first place in the vice-president's flight at a four lady scramble golf tournament held in Baird last Saturday. The tournament was held at Shady Oaks Country Club. Congratulations, ladies!

It's great to report that Kent Womack's recent surgery in Dallas (University of Texas Medical Center Zale-Libby Hospital) went very well. "I'm doing wonderful," Kent said Tuesday. His surgery was Thursday, June 13 and he returned home Saturday night.

Kent's surgery was called thalatomy. The doctor cut a 3" incision on the left side of his brain. The surgery was to relieve the tremors on the right side of his body and it appears to have been successful. Kent said it takes about three months to find out how successful the surgery was.

Henry and Sylvia Reyna were honored by Little League leaders at closing ceremonies last week. Henry's team made the most money for the league two years in a row. They have also had the highest seller those two years.

From the pages of the Record, June 23, 1966...the 4th annual fly-in was held Sunday, June 19 with approximately 55 planes in attendance ... Corner Drug was being remodeled ... Rev. W.M. Wilkinson was appointed pastor of First United Methodist Church ... a 72" sofa was on sale for $99, regularly $139 ... Gandy's ice cream, 1/2 gallon, was 49¢, a Ford Bronco at Craddock-Witten Ford was priced at $1995.00.

William L. House and Misty D. Turner

Turner, House plan to wed

Misty D. Turner and William L. House, both of Texarkana, Ark. plan to be married in a 4 p.m. ceremony August 17 at First Baptist Church, Big Spring.

The bride elect is the daughter of Dean and Marilyn Turner of Big Spring. Her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Dewey Turner of Colorado City and her maternal grandparents are John Wayne Newby, formerly of Westbrook, and the late Doris Coleman of Colorado City.

She graduated in 1991 from Scenic Mountain Medical Center School of Radiologic Technology and in 1994 from Lubbock Methodist School of Radiation Therapy.

Compton takes position at middle school

Carol Compton, wife of the new high school principal "Buddy" Compton, was hired as a middle school teacher during the June 10 Colorado Independent School District school board meeting.

Compton was head librarian and taught at Winston Churchill High School in San Antonio from 1989 to 1996.

B&PW Club meets

The Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club held their regular session at 7 p.m. on June 11, 1996 at the Civic Center with two guests and 17 members present. Outgoing officers served as the hostess committee.

After the pledge of allegiance to the American flag and the club collect, a delicious salad dinner was served.

Club scholarship winner Carrie Perkins was introduced by the scholarship chairman, Earlene Sellier. Carrie presented a resume of her accomplishments at Colorado High School spoke of her plans for the future. She will attend Texas Tech University to study animal science and possibly research.

A brief recess was taken, after which President Anna Staats called the business meeting to order.

Minutes were read and approved, and the treasurer's report was given, approved and filed for audit.

Correspondence was read by Shirley DeLaney and included thank you notes from Carrie Perkins, Project Celebration, the Womack family for the donation to M.D. Anderson in memory of Mary Womack, and from Nelda Garrett. Shirley DeLaney is a member of the State Foundation Committee.

Anna Staats presented praying hand pins to her committee chairs. She then called for an election of members to the auditing committee. They are Shirley DeLaney, chairman; Dee Hearn and Glenna Garrett.

The business meeting was adjourned and Virginia Dearen installed new officers for 1996-97. She rendered a beautiful installation ceremony and presented each officer with a flower representing her office.

Those installed were Anna Staats, president, red rose; Glenna Garrett, first vice president, purple zinnia; Charlene Reily, second vice president, white carnation; Dee Hearn, recording secretary, tulip; Shirley DeLaney, corresponding secretary, sunflower; and Christine Cooley, treasurer, pink day lily.

Mrs. Dearen used the ceremony that had been used by the late Eddie Barclay, Anna Staats' mother, to install Anna as a president of BPW in Kansas 30 years ago.

The meeting adjourned at 8:30 p.m. with the following present: guests Carrie Perkins and Leslie Perkins; members Shirley DeLaney, Anna Staats, Christine Cooley, Virginia Dearen, Nancy Crow, Urdine Morgan, Earlene Sellier, Sue Womack, Lovess Curlee, Glenna Garrett, Dee Hearn, Molly Bruce, Gwen Wistrand, Faye Spivey, Mildred Free, Pauline Light and Louise Logsdon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

Upon returning from vacation on June 5, we discovered that someone had broken into our mother's home and had been going in and out for at least a week. A neighbor had reported to the police that the door was open. Evidently the police went to the house, shut the door and that is all.

I was reluctant to call the Police Department because I was not satisfied with their handling of a previous case. I did call them on the advice of the Sheriff's Office since this crime happened within the city. The police officer met me at the house and instructed me to make a list of the items that were missing. I made out the list and gave it to him the next day.

Five days later, no report had been made and no effort whatsoever had been made to locate the missing property. I was informed that the officer who was handling the case was on his days off.

After deciding that nothing was going to be done by the Police Department, I, on my own, contacted two local antique dealers and inquired if they had purchased any of the items we were missing. One dealer had and had sold it out of town. We called the Police Department and an officer came to his place of business. We had the name of the man who sold the item to the dealer and the name of the person who bought it from the dealer. The officer informed me that I needed to go to Snyder to identify the item and bring it back so he could take a picture of it. (?)

In the meantime the dealer had contacted the Sheriff's Office and filed a complaint against the person who sold him the stolen merchandise. When I returned from Snyder and after taking the item by the P.D. so they could take their picture, I went to the Sheriff's Office. They filled out a report and within an hour had a warrant for the man's arrest. They did in one hour what the police could not do in six days. And for this type of incompetence we are paying these officers $12 to $16 per hour. What a waste.

I wish to thank Doyle Mitchell and John for helping in finding the merchandise and a special thank you to the Sheriff's Office and Deputies Mike Redwine and Tommy Dill for helping us get most of our property back. We need more dedicated officers like these in our community. Job well done MCSO and many thanks again.

Janet Free

Dear Editor,

On Wednesday June 5, 1996 Deputy Mike Redwine contacted Lt. Pat Taylor and informed him of the possible Free burglary. Mike requested and Pat agreed to work the case together, and share information. Lt. Taylor was under the impression that the initial report would be made to the Sheriff's office.

The Frees reported the burglary on June 6, 1996, but did not supply a complete list of stolen items until 9:47 a.m. Monday June 10, 1996.

The Sheriff's office and police department did work together as they should. A burglar was placed in jail and the Free's obtained their property back.

I regret any bad feelings the Frees might have toward the police department, however, the facts are that their letter is not true and very misleading. I can only guess their motives.

Sincerely,

David Montgomery
Chief of Police

Julie Ellis

Ellis to attend FFA youth convention

A Colorado High School FFA member has been selected to join other FFA members from across Texas to perform in the state's largest annual youth convention July 6-11 in Houston.

Julie Ellis, daughter of Ray and Jeanne Ellis, will join the 1996 State FFA Chorus to provide musical entertainment for more than 7,000 members and guests at the 68th State FFA Convention.

Chorus members were selected on the basis of their instructors' recommendations, audition tapes and past choral experience.

The State FFA Chorus is sponsored by the Texas FFA Foundation.

Dry conditions increase nitrates

By JOE RAFF, CEA-AG

Due to our extreme dry conditions and hot temperatures, we have a good chance of building up nitrate levels in sorghum, sudangrass, Johnsongrass, pigweed, Russian thistle, sunflowers and kochia. These nitrate levels build up in the plant under severe conditions, like drought, frost and even when these plants get too much water following a drought.

The lab in A&M says that plant material that exceeds one percent nitrates can lead to acute toxicity symptoms and death. The safe level of nitrates is from 0-.15 percent. Anything above the 0.15 percent can cause abortions and reduce performance in pregnant animals. Levels can reach up to .5% and still be safe for non-pregnant animals.

Those of you that are going to cut some sudangrass for hay may want to raise the cutters and leave the bottom third of the plant. Most experts say that the bottom third is where the highest levels of nitrates are found. And I don't think that haying will dilute or get rid of the nitrates. Haying only decreases Prussic Acid levels, not nitrates.

If you need to use hay or forage that has high levels of nitrates, remember these points:

1. Be certain cattle are full prior to exposing the cattle to nitrate-containing forage. This will prevent initial high levels of nitrate intake and also dilutes the nitrates in the rumen.
2. When grazing nitrate-containing forages, limit grazing for the first six to eight days, increasing grazing time from one to two hours to full time grazing by day six to eight will allow the cattle to adapt.
3. In grazing situations, release the cattle when risk of high nitrate levels is low. For instance, do not graze immediately following weather conditions that stimulate nitrate accumulation.
4. Stock lightly when grazing so that cattle can select the low-nitrate portions of the plants.
5. Be certain adequate amounts of drinking water are available.

The only way to know if your hay or forage has nitrates is to take a representative sample of the field and send the sample to a lab for testing. I have some forms in the office if anyone needs some. Tests can be expected in three to four days and results can be faxed.

When using the leaf spray method to control mesquite, the most effective mixture has proven to be half a percent of Reclaim, half a percent of Remedy, a quarter percent of Surfactant (soap, etc.) and a quarter percent of Hilite Blue Dye. Hilite Dye was recommended so the same tree does not get sprayed twice.

CISD budget planners begin series of workshops

Teacher salary increases and a loss in revenue from taxable values are important factors in planning the school district's budget for next year, the Colorado Independent School District business manager told the school board last week.

The board of trustees began the first of a series of workshops on the school budget last Thursday evening.

Business Manager Geneva Findley presented an overall picture of the district's finances to the board, which included:

- The average daily attendance has dropped, although school administrators have been anticipating an increase because of prison employees' children.
- Last year the school's average daily attendance (ADA) dropped by 20. This year the ADA is projected to drop by 9, said Findley.
- Taxable values decreased. In 1994-95, taxable values decreased 1.73; in 1995-96 values decreased 2.23 percent and the projected decrease for 1996-97 is 2.52 percent. The district projects a loss of almost four million dollars because of the decrease in valuations.

•The tax rate per $100 is projected to increase from 1.5253 in 1995-96 to 1.54 in 1996-97.

•Tax collection is based on 95 percent. Tax collection is expected to decrease due to the decrease in taxable values.

•Value of the property in Mitchell County has decreased from $261,658,049 to $256,115,147.

•Last year the district did not spend the projected amount so the beginning fund balance is projected to increase from $3,766,098 to $4,766,098. However, planned projects such as renovations at Kelley and air conditioning at the high school will decrease the money in the projected balance, said Finley.

•Local revenues are expected to decrease from $4,105,040 to $3,925,270.

•State revenues are expected to increase from $3,392,010 to $3,466,520, due to the mandated teacher raises.

•Total revenues for the general operating fund are expected to decrease from $7,497,050 to $7,391,790.

•Expenditures will decrease from $8,985,278 to $8,880,078. Major purchases made last year, such as computers, will not need to be bought this year.

•The end fund balance for 1995-96 is projected to be $4,766,098 and in 1996-97 $4,042,098.

•The district maintains a minimum fund balance of three months operating expenditures.

The first draft of the budget is scheduled to be completed July 10 and the proposed budget adopted by the board of trustees August 19.

Local farmers may apply for emergency farm loans

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by drought and high winds which occurred from November 1, 1995 through January 31, 1996 and continuing are being accepted at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office located in Sweetwater.

Mitchell County is one of seven contiguous counties in Texas to be recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the disaster.

Farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business or $500,000, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 3.75 percent.

As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until January 8, 1997, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing.

FSA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FSA office in Sweetwater is open from 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

According to reports, Robert Cox's farm north of Loraine received over three inches of rain.

Justice of the Peace Glenda Haltom, who works in Colorado City but lives in Loraine, said cars were pulled off the road just before the Loraine cut-off because of the hard rain around 5 p.m.

of the county and has seen a vast difference in the conditions. Land two miles south and four miles east of Colorado City he said received "marginal moisture".

North of the interstate? "It's bone dry," Turner said.

Sweatt noted that sub-soil moisture was critical.

"You can be wet this deep on top of the bed," he said, holding his thumb and index finger about two inches apart, "and you plant your cotton, but when that root hits dry dirt, it's in trouble."

"We're going to have to have real timely rains to make this crop happen," said Sweatt.

served by the CRMWD.

If there is a critical supply of CRMWD water when the local need arises, then the amount supplied to Mitchell County will be determined in ratio to the amounts other cities receive from the district.

This agreement provides for water, at future need, not only for Colorado City, Loraine, Westbrook and Mitchell County—but also for any other governmental body that is formed within the county, such as a local water district.

Delivery of the water from the district to the requesting city or cities will be at the most feasible point from the viewpoint of both contracting parties (city making the request and the district).

Cost of pipeline from the requesting city to the delivery point will be paid by the city involved, but the agreement stipulates that the district can build the line and then be repaid by the contracting city.

The 1965 Record story ended: "Colorado City presently has an adequate water supply from Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion—both on tributaries of Colorado River but the compromise agreement provides assurance of future water supply for either municipal or industrial growth in any area of the county."

"Colorado City has never approached the district about supplying the water," a spokesperson for CRMWD replied when asked if it was possible for the city to hook up with the pipeline from Lake Spence.

Does the city have any plans to pursue this alternative? "It has never been a viable alternative, but it could become one," said Mayor Jim Baum.

Raff, Sheets volunteer for Rehab sale

Dale Sheets and Joe Raff of Colorado City were among the volunteers at the sixth annual Club Lamb Sale to benefit West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The sale was held Saturday at the Wylie FFA Show Barn. Sheets was one of two auctioneers at the sale and Raff was meat goat chairman.

Over $16,000 was raised during the sale. The top selling club lamb brought $1,000, an all-time high price for a lamb at the Rehab's annual sale.

airport northwest of the city, which was once the Webb AFB auxiliary field.

For several years trophies have been awarded to the oldest pilot, youngest pilot, oldest aircraft, most unusual aircraft, and aircraft coming the longest distance. The oldest pilot has been the same for a few years—a man in his eighties—but the youngest pilot has never been the same for more than two years.

The oldest aircraft last year was Tex Edwards' 1937 Grumman

Goose from Big Spring. The oldest aircraft is usually one that was built in the 1940s and the plane announced as the winner of the award is sometimes separated from the runner-up by only months.

The most unusual aircraft have included Consolidated Catalina flying boats, YAK 18, Lockheed C130, Grumman Goose, and several homebuilts. The winner of the longest distance award has usually traveled about 200 miles but the record was a craft that came from Anchorage, Alaska.

HP Jr. Rodeo to be held here July 4-6

The High Plains Junior Rodeo will be held here July 4, 5, and 6 at the county rodeo arena starting at 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 6 p.m. Saturday.

Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for students. Proceeds go towards the Mitchell County DARE program.

The rodeo is sponsored by DARE and the Colorado City

Area Chamber of Commerce.

Events include barrels, poles, goat tying, breakaway roping, chute dogging, ribbon roping, team roping, calf and steer riding, calf roping, steer stopping, bull, bareback and saddle bronc riding.

Entry forms may be picked up at the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce office.

Longhorns are "stars"

If you drive out to Lake Colorado City State Park and notice that there aren't any longhorns in the fenced pasture, don't panic.

They're simply busy appearing on stage and being stars.

The six locally housed steers are among the 20 members of the official state herd who participate in the Fort Griffin Fandangle in Albany each year.

The Fandangle is an outdoor musical theater production which tells the story of the government outpost of Fort Griffin and the pioneers who settled nearby.

Longhorns played an important role in the settling of the area and are the largest, size-wise, of the cast of horses and 350 people in the production. Around a dozen cowboys handle the steers during the performance.

Playhouse workdays next week

The Colorado City Playhouse will hold a workday at the Opera House Tuesday, June 25 and Wednesday, June 26 beginning at 5 p.m.

Everyone is invited and needed to help with major spring cleaning backstage, in the costume rooms and throughout the local theater.

State prison guard training...

Free seminar scheduled in Odessa

Odessa College has scheduled a free informational seminar from 7-8 p.m. Monday, June 24 for men and women interested in state prison guard training.

The seminar will be conducted in room 130 of the electronics technology building on the OC campus.

According to Sidney Lyle, chair of the OC law enforcement/criminal justice department, Texas prison guards make an annual starting salary of $20,300.

Applicants must have a high school diploma or GED, be at least 18 years old, have a clean criminal record and be willing to relocate.

July 8 is the deadline to apply for the next prison guard classes, which will be conducted at OC during the day from July 29-August 6. A recruiter from the Texas Department of Criminal Justice will be at OC July 22 to test and interview applicants, Lyle said.

Applications for the prison guard training will be available at the June 24 seminar or may be obtained from the law enforcement/criminal justice department. Call (915) 335-6505 for more information. OC is open Monday through Thursday and closed Friday during the summer.

'Bash Brothers' leave for larger, greener fields

By BRENT GRAHAM

In the late '80s, power hitters Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire teamed up on the Oakland Athletics to form one of the most feared back-to-back hitters in all of baseball.

In that span the "Bash Brothers," as they were affectionately known, went on a rampage, devouring American League pitching and helping Oakland capture two World Series titles.

Not since those days has there been a more potent lineup in baseball.

That is, until this year. The Colorado Wolves displayed their own version of the "Bash Brothers." The dynamic duo of Michael Hoyle and Lynn Boyd were definitely the most feared back-to-back hitters in tough District 8-3A.

They combined to drive in 33 runs, clubbed seven home runs, smashed nine doubles, all while batting .371.

But most of their damage came in district play, where they wreaked havoc on the opposition.

First baseman Michael Hoyle and catcher Lynn Boyd went 19-47, good for a .404 batting average, while slugging three homers and five doubles in district.

Individually, both parts of the terrific tandem put up exceptional numbers as well.

Boyd had no strike outs in district while Hoyle benefited by posting an over .400 slugging percentage and over .600 on base percentage.

They accomplished all this while feeling the pressure of performing well throughout the season.

Hoyle felt a lot of pressure in the season after signing a letter of intent to play baseball at Howard College.

"It was real hard for me to relax at the plate in the first few games," Hoyle said. "I wanted to show them [Howard College] why they recruited me."

Boyd felt the pressure in a different way.

Not knowing where or if he would be playing college baseball was a motivating factor for Boyd to some degree but a brutal district schedule still put a lot of pressure on him.

Boyd responded by having an exceptional year and by season's end had several colleges interested in him.

"I've narrowed it down to two choices," Boyd commented. Those two places opting for Boyd are Southwest College in Hobbs, N.M. and McMurry in Abilene.

Although Colorado City's version of the "Bash Brothers" was short-lived, one thing is for certain—Hoyle and Boyd will be gems on the baseball diamond at the next level.

Gibson reunion held June 6-9

The 35th annual Gibson reunion was held June 6-9, 1996 on Poppy Point, Lake Buchanan. Seven families comprising 31 descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. F.P. Gibson enjoyed games, contests, good food, fellowship and reminiscing.

Those who traveled farthest were Melanie Proctor from Biloxi, Miss., winning first place, and Marlin French from Great Bend, Kan., winning second.

The oldest member attending was Etta Lee Gibson of Colorado City. The youngest was two-year-old Tyler Proctor from Biloxi, Miss.

The longest-married couple was Marlin and Juanita Gibson of Ackerly—56 years.

An auction was held with Ken Deatherage as auctioneer and several nice gifts were won in the contests and games.

The group enjoyed the occasion and plans to meet again at the same place in 1997.

Attending were Kenneth and Kathy Gibson of Kemp, Texas; Dale, Carey and Chris Woodell of Conroe, Texas; Winford and Rose Ann Martin of Colorado City; Marlin and Juanita Gibson of Ackerly; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dale Gibson and daughter of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy French of Corpus Christi; Mr. and Mrs. Darrin French of Lake Charles, La.

Marlin French of Great Bend, Kan.; Melanie Proctor and son Tyler of Biloxi, Miss.; Etta Lee Gibson of Colorado City; Ken and Marvlyn Deatherage of Hawley; Wilma Gibson of Mathis; Ruth Gibson of Midland; Janette Meeks and Brittany Raney, both of Lovington, N.M.; Brad Lanier of Big Spring; Sonya Thompson, Emma Liles and Glenda Liles, all of Houston.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank all of the volunteers that worked on our parent's home with Christmas in April. A very special thanks to the contractor Bob Morgan, TDCJ inmates, the Colorado City crew and the City National Bank for a job well done. We appreciate all the hard work done in order to put on the metal roof, the ceiling in the kitchen, dining room, and bedroom, and the painting of both inside and outside the house. Words cannot express our appreciation but from the bottom of our hearts we say thank you and God bless all of you.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

By Jim Baum

You may recall we recently wrote about the late Otto Jones and his memories of the chuck wagon. (Lone Wolf, April 11, 1996.) That column led us to some correspondence with Jones' grandson, Ray Kayser of San Antonio, who says his grandfather was a prolific letterwriter.

In fact, Ray shared another of Jones' letters with us, a letter entitled "Breakin' Her In." It was written January 1, 1973, and the longtime manager of the Spade Ranch was referring to his wife, Myrtle Bartlett.

"Dear Ray,

Honey and I have been married 59 years today. It don't seem that long tho as we've kept busy most of the time. Honey lived in Sweetwater. I drove my Matched Dun team hitched to a brand new Spalding Buggy into Colorado City on December 31, 1913, on January 1, I boarded the T & P Ry for Sweetwater.

"After leaving my team at the Wagon Yard, [I] went to the Barber Shop run by my cousin O.B. Farmer, one of the best rifle shots that ever killed antelopes and coyotes on Renderbrook. I spent 35 cents for a bath and O.B. gave me the works, on the house, haircut, shave, shampoo, tonic, smelled great.

"Then I went to County Clerks office, E.E. Roy an old friend. Saved $1.75 as he gave me the license."

In his letter, Otto Jones then skipped ahead to after the wedding ceremony.

"We boarded the Kansas City Mexico and Orient Ry to Blackwell, 30 miles to the South. About ten miles North of Blackwell, the engine developed a hotbox...looked like we might have to spend the night in the chaircar. There was no sleeping car on the Orient."

Jones went on to say the newlyweds stayed in Blackwell at his parents' and uncle Clyde's and Eunice's for 3 days. Then they returned to Sweetwater where they packed his bride's furniture. Next stop, Colorado City.

"When we arrived in C. City," Jones continued, "we spent the night at the Barcroft Hotel." The next morning Mr. and Mrs. Jones stopped by the wagon yard where they got Otto's team. "They had wallowed in mud, horse manure, etc., and it wouldn't brush off. Looked awful," he added. To say nothing about the aroma the young man and his bride must have experienced on their ride out to the ranch.

Upon returning to the Renderbrook Ranch, the young married couple was greeted at the White House by a group of cowboys. (The White House was the first major family residence built at Renderbrook headquarters.)

"Make Russell, Fred Rodway and a half dozen other cow-punchers were on the edge of the porch," Jones wrote. "Fred Rodway, who lived at the Peter L. Camp, had made the trip to Colorado City in his wagon and brought me a desk that he and the punchers gave us for a wedding present."

Because Jones' bride was a bookkeeper, he gave her a desk job at the ranch. It lasted for almost two years. After that? "When your Mother was born," Jones told his grandson, "she was too busy [to work] after that."

At this point in his letter, Jones recalled a conversation he had had with Make Russell before the wedding. "I told him I was going to get married and to hold the fort down, that I might be gone a week.

"He asked who I was getting married to. I told him Myrtle Bartlett that he had met at _____. He says, 'Yeah, Miss Myrtle Bartlett.' After a bit he added, 'a purty old girl. Good stock too.' "I think we appreciated that speech more than any," Jones concluded.

The cooks at the ranch at that time were Mr. and Mrs. Green Preslar of Sanco, in Coke County. Jones wasn't too fond of their cooking.

"After about a week, I remarked to my bride on the way to the White House if that old gal would make some cream gravy, it would soften up that steak a lot. About the next time for supper we had gravy! My bride had gone over and made it."

Sometime later Jones, his wife and uncle Fred, who was visiting the ranch, were out for a walk "when I just had to remark about the gravy-quote-now ain't that a hell of a note.

"Been starving for milk gravy for 2 weeks and when I got it you couldn't dent it with a crow bar. I noticed my remarks were amusing to her, so I had more to say, of course. Then she and uncle Fred told me who made the Gravy. 'Breakin' Her In,' " Jones wrote.

(Next week, a snake wraps around the bride's ankles, plus much more.)

Mitchell Co. is No. 2 at district horse show

The District 2 4-H Horse Show was held June 14 and 15 in Lubbock with 87 contestants from 16 counties competing in judged, timed and roping events. There are no age divisions—all ages, 9-19, compete against each other.

The timed events, which included Barrel Race, Pole Bending and Stakes Race, were held Friday. Competing for Mitchell County were Ashley Hill, Casi Jo Joiner and Toni Joiner.

Toni Joiner placed sixth in Pole Bending and eighth in the Stakes Race and Casi Jo Joiner placed ninth in the Stakes Race.

The judged events took place on Saturday. Competing for Mitchell County were Jami Goebel, Laurie Miller, Sam Miller and Robin Morris.

Jami Goebel placed eighth in Showmanship and second in Western Horsemanship. Laurie Miller showed the Reserve Champion Mare. Sam Miller placed sixth in Halter, Registered Geldings age five and over.

Robin Morris showed the Grand Champion Gelding in Halter, placed third in Showmanship, first in Western Pleasure and first in Western Horsemanship. Robin was the Champion Judged Horseman in District 2.

Mitchell County was the second High Point County in the District 2 Horse Show.

The State 4-H Horse Show will be held in Abilene in July. Mitchell County youth qualifying to go to the state show are Jami Goebel, Casi Jo Joiner, Toni Joiner, Laurie Miller and Robin Morris.

July 15 is deadline to report acreage

Producers are encouraged to report their spring seeded acreage to the county FSA office by July 15, 1996.

An acreage report is required for the following purposes: fruits and vegetables planted on the farm, a marketing loan or loan deficiency payment may be requested, have a CAT insurance policy serviced by the county FSA office, may request benefits under the Non-insured Assistance Program on a noninsurable crop, acreage enrolled in a Conservation Reserve Program contract.

If you have your acreage planted to a crop please consider calling for an appointment to certify these acres, Mitchell County FSA office, (915) 728-2651.
