One British Union Accepts Peace Formula

LONDON (AP)—Striking locomotive engineers and firemen today accepted a peace formula aimed at settling Britain's 10-day-old railway walkout.

The acceptance by the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen opened the way to possible direct negotiations with the British Transport Commission, which runs the nationalized railway system.

Leaders of the powerful Trades Union Congress, meantime, were conferring with Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton in an effort to get government approval for the final peace talks even while the strike is still on.

Prime Minister Eden's government and the Transport Commission have insisted up until now that the 67,000 strikers must return to work before talks to break the deadlock over wage differentials could begin.

The rail walkout, slowly throttling Britain's booming industrial machine, was discussed at a two-hour meeting of Eden's Cabinet and at a meeting of TUC and ASLEF chiefs with representatives of a nonstriking railway union.

Jim Baty, general secretary of ASLEF, told newsmen after a meeting of his union's executive:

"After due thought and consideration of the principles embodied in the recommendations of the general council, my executive committee have directed me to notify the TUC of their acceptance of the provisions of the formula."

The rival 400,000 strong National Union of Railwaymen, which opposes the strike, still has to make its views known on the five-point peace plan.

The peace proposals were hammered out last night by the general council of the TUC in an attempt to solve the wage dispute which brought four-fifths of Britain's train crews out on strike and reconcile the claims of the striking and nonstriking unions.

Jim Baty, secretary of the striking 67,000-strong Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen told reporters "We are anxious to reach an amicable settlement.

Shares marked up quick advances soon after the opening of the London Stock Exchange, reflecting hopes by investors that the TUC's peace formula might lead to an end of the rail strike. Steel shares touched off the climb.

Meanwhile, the state-owned British Railways reported 6,943 passenger and freight trains were operated yesterday over the national networks. Normally, 40,000 trains run daily.

Stalemates continued in two other walkouts shaking the nation's economy. With the rail strike, they formed Britain's most serious labor crisis since the general strike of 1926.

Marine stewards in Liverpool and Southampton threatened to widen a wildcat strike which has idled six liners, stranding 2,500 America - bound passengers in British ports. The Cunard Lines canceled round-trip voyages of three of the vessels, ruining vacation schedules of thousands of dollar-spending tourists waiting passage to Europe in the United States and Canada.

On the third strike front, leaders of 20,000 stevedores whose 17-day stoppage has piled up cargoes in seven ports said they saw no prospect of an early return to work.

The rail peace plan turned over to officials of three unions this morning would require ground giving by all parties, including Prime Minister Eden.

The strike was called by the Associated Society if Locomotive Engineers and Firemen (ASLEF) whose 67,000 members seek restoration of traditional wage differentials over less skilled workers. The differentials were narrowed in an industrywide pay boost last January. The union is demanding a raise of $1.12 a week over present base pay of $27.30.

The British Transport Commission, which runs the state-owned lines, refused to deal with ASLEF separately. It said this union should get together with the National Union of Railwaymen (NUR), representing 400,000 other railroad workers, on over-all wage demands. NUR officials have said that if ASLEF gets its raise, their union also will press for more money.

City Plans To File Tax Suits

Legal action to collect delinquent city taxes was started last night when the city council instructed the city attorney to file suits against several of the larger delinquent tax payers.

At present there is a total of about $39,000 in city taxes which are delinquent.

"A major portion of the delinquent taxes are for the past four years on taxes for 1950 through 1954," B. J. Shelley, city manager, said.

A partial list of the larger delinquencies was read by the council.

W. W. Park, city attorney, did not indicate when the tax suits would be filed in district court.

Wage Floor Hike Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee today overwhelmingly approved a bill to raise the 75-cent hourly minimum wage to $1.

More than two million workers would get automatic wage increases if the bill becomes law, it was estimated.

The committee headed by Sen. Hill (D-Ala) rejected a motion by Sen. Ives (D-NY) to raise the nation-wide wage floor to $1.25. A second motion by Sen. Allott (R-Colo) to peg it at 90 cents an hour, the figure recommended by President Eisenhower, also was defeated.

The $1 figure was proposed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), subcommittee chairman, last week.

Hill said Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas hoped to bring the measure to the Senate tomorrow for almost certain passage.

In the House, the Labor Committee is holding hearings on the minimum wage and is believed likely to approve a boost to $1.

Contract Exceeds Bid, Probers Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators received testimony today that Chicago hat maker Harry Lev got a government contract at a figure higher than he bid and collected on it.

Sen. Bender (R-Ohio), a member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee which heard the testimony at a public hearing, promptly labeled this deal and a prior contract benefit allowed to Lev "a pretty stinky deal."

Bender also announced he now wants to revise his publicly expressed opinion that Army Maj. Eric Farnell, the contract officer on the other contract, "is an honest man."

"Either he was stupid or doing some finagling," Bender said. "This is a pretty stinky deal." Farnell is assigned to duty in Europe.

Hyman Serebransky of Haddonfield, N. J., chief of the legal office of the Army Quartermaster Inspection Service in Philadelphia, told about the contracts. The subcommittee is holding hearings in its search for evidence of possible graft in the buying of textile uniform items for the armed forces.

Serebransky said records show Lev entered a bid of 21 cents per cap for the manufacture of 166,320 garrison caps for troops. Then Lev sent a telegraphic revision to the New York procurement office cutting the bid to 18 cents per cap, Serebransky testified. He said the telegram arrived minutes before the bids were to have been opened May 17, 1951.

Award of the contract to Lev's Mid-City Uniform Cap Co. of Chicago was approved at the 18 cent figure, Serebransky said, but it actually was awarded to him the following May 8 at the original figure of 21 cents per cap.

And even at the 18 cents figure, the witness said, Lev was not the low bidder. He said the Ideal Uniform Co. of St. Louis, Mo., and the Camp Hill Industries, of Alabama, had submitted lower ones, but their bids were rejected.

Before today's session, the Senate investigators promised disclosure of "some unusual happenings," involving Lev contracts.

Lev, who became wealthy after coming to this country as an immigrant from the Middle East, has been named to the Senate Investigations subcommittee in hearsay fashion as a briber of government employes.

One of them, Air Force Capt. Raymond Wool, has been shifted to the Wright-Patterson Air Base at Dayton, Ohio, and confined to the base after testifying he had falsified federal income tax returns. No charges have been filed against him.

Wool disputed sharply suggestions from subcommittee members that he accepted bribes from Lev or others.

The bribery charges were aimed at Lev by a business rival, New York manufacturer Leon M. Levy, who said he had no direct knowledge that any money changed hands. Lev himself has been called to testify, perhaps this afternoon.

The subcommittee is seeking evidence of possible graft in the buying of uniforms for the armed forces.

Levy has testified that Marvin Rubin, a central figure in the inquiry, told him Lev paid $50,000 to Wool in 1953 for Wool's influence on a big contract to manufacture white sailor caps for the Navy. Wool then was a uniform procurement supervisor. Rubin was a business hustler for both Lev and Levy.

HE USED TO BE A SOLDIER HIMSELF—That civilian surrounded by Army brass is President Eisenhower, a fellow who knows a thing or two about military life. Flanking the president during his review of the cadets at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., are Cadet Lee D. Population Figure, Oil Leases Okayed

Snyder's present population was officially set at 16,324 when the city council unanimously passed a motion to accept the estimate of the Chamber of Commerce on the population.

The present official figure is more than 2,000 above the previous official estimate of 14,111 persons established in a similar action of the city council in February 1953.

The council requested the state highway department to change its city limits signs to reflect the new population figure.

The council in its regular monthly meeting last night agreed to lease for oil development several city owned residential lots in northwest Snyder on a contract with C. E. McGaw, attorney, who appeared before the council. The lease period is for one year, and the city is to receive a total consideration of $10 bonus for signing the lease.

Designation of the Snyder Daily News as the official newspaper of the City of Snyder for purposes of publishing legal notices and other necessary city advertisements was made by the council at the recommendation of W. W. Park, city attorney.

A resolution was passed by the council to accept a resolution of the commissioners court of Scurry County to transfer title of water and sewer lines in Towle Memorial Park from county ownership to the city. The city, in return for the water and sewer lines, agreed to furnish without cost to the county all water need for existing facilities, in Towle Park except water for the swimming pool and for irrigation purposes, and that the city maintain without cost to the county all the water and sewer lines in the park, and that the city maintain a lift station in the sewer line which now serves the park and Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Two city firemen and the fire marshal will be sent to the annual training school for firemen at Texas A&M College July 10 to 15. Expenses for the trip were approved earlier in the city budget. A credit of five per cent on the fire insurance key rate is received by Snyder fire insurance policy holders because of sending the three men to the state school.

Authorization was given by the council for the transfer of unappropriated funds of the water and sewer department to another city account to purchase a truck, bed and equipment for the truck for the water and sewer department, and to pay $1,600 to J. D. Scott and G. M. Henizelmann for right-of-way purchased on Thirty-fifth Street.

Several items of a proposed city electrical ordinance were discussed by the council to coordinate the thinking of the council and a committee which is working on drawing up the electrical code. One of the items discussed was that all buildings should be inspected and all definite fire hazards be noted and corrected under the ordinance.

The council voted to postpone the regular meeting for July from the first Monday night to the second Monday night because the first Monday is July 4, a national holiday.

A special meeting was called for 7 o'clock Thursday morning to discuss several items on last night's agenda which the council did not have time to discuss before the meeting ended at 11 o'clock.

No action was taken by the council on a proposed city zoning ordinance which was discussed by the council. A zoning and planning commission has been working for several months drawing up the ordinance. A legal public hearing on the ordinance was not set by the council, but was postponed for further council discussion of various phases of the ordinance.

A committee of three councilmen was appointed by Malven K. Stevenson, mayor, to study the city's insurance program and possibly recommend changes for future handling of the program. At present the city handles all its insurance through one agency, and gives that agency 50 percent of the commissions on the insurance,

Report UAW Agrees To Extension Of GM Pact

Bargaining Talks Go Past Schedule

By NORMAN WALKER

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers Union today was reported to have agreed to extend its General Motors contract from midnight tonight to midnight Sunday.

Such an extension would avert any authorized walkout tonight among GM's 325,000 UAW-member workers.

A similar contract extension was granted in Ford Motor Co. negotiations last week. They culminated yesterday in a new contract agreement including a guaranteed wage plan.

A GM extension would indicate that the UAW had some assurance that GM was at least considering a guaranteed wage plan pattern after the Ford arrangement.

DETROIT (AP) —General Motors Corp., according to reports circulating through its big Detroit office building, today put a new contract offer before the CIO United Auto Workers in a move to head off a possible midnight strike.

None would say, however, whether the rumored offer paralleled provisions of a new contract won from Ford Motor Co. yesterday, or whether it embodied Ford's version of a guaranteed wage plan.

Neither John W. Livingston, UAW vice president and chief of its GM department, nor Louis G. Seaton, GM director of labor relations, would confirm nor deny the new offer reports.

But the GM - UAW bargaining ran an hour past its scheduled breakup time and delayed for half an hour a meeting of the union's General Motors council.

There was an unusual bustle of activity around bargaining rooms in the GM building.

Livingston announced he would hold a news conference immediately after the council session adjourns, likely around 1 p.m.

The council has power to order a midnight walkout with ending of the five-year GM-UAW contract, or to extend the strike deadline.

Livingston said he wanted a GM settlement better than the union won at Ford.

"I don't see any reason why we can't do better than they did at Ford," he said. "General Motors certainly can afford it."

The question was whether GM would go along with the controversial guaranteed wage plan, even in the modified version negotiated at Ford, or would stand firm and buck the plan opposed by so many American businessmen.

For GM to fight would mean facing an almost certain strike and a major setback in its fiercely competitive fight with Ford for leadership in the auto sales market.

Despite the new agreement, more than 15,000 Ford production workers failed to report at four plants today. Three of them were picketed and closed.

Sporadic stoppages from Massachusetts to California developed yesterday, idling 114,000 of Ford's 140,000 production workers as the new contract was hammered out. Most returned to assembly lines today.

Five thousand of those refusing to report today were tool and die makers at Ford's vast River Rouge plant in suburban Detroit. The remainder of the Rouge's 30,000 day shift workers reported, but Ford said the plant would have to be closed in "a few days" if tool and die makers did not return. Tool and die makers said they were dissatisfied with an 8-cent hourly raise they got in the new contract and would hold out for the 30 cents they originally demanded.

At the three closed plants—in Buffalo, St. Louis and Monroe, Mich.—local grievances or agreements outside the national contract were blamed for stoppages.

There were flareups at General Motors plants, too.

At St. Louis some 5,000 walked off their jobs at Fisher body and Chevrolet plants, closing them and posting pickets. No reason was given by strikers for the pre-deadline walkout. Local leaders termed it unauthorized and said attempts were being made to get workers back on the job.

At Cleveland, 200 pickets turned back 8,000 at a Chevrolet division plant. That walkout reportedly started in protest of the disciplinary suspension of a worker.

Democratic Harmony Try Hits Trouble

DALLAS (AP)—An apparent drive for Democratic Party harmony, launched Sunday by the Democratic Advisory Council, ran into trouble today as Dallas party leaders rejected invitations to join the campaign.

The invitations urged support of the June 14-18 Texas tour of National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler.

Ed Drake, chairman of the Dallas County executive committee, and Hugh E. Prather Jr., state executive committeeman, repeated their earlier refusal to attend a June 16 dinner for Butler here.

Both said they would ask their supporters to stay away, also.

The special invitations came from State Supreme Court Justice Will Wilson, who will serve as master of ceremonies for the dinner. Wilson has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1956.

Drake issued a statement saying he was not antagonistic toward Butler but had no desire to help the Democratic Advisory Council, which he described as having "the announced purpose of using the funds collected to defeat duly-elected middle of the road and conservative Democratic office holders and party officials."

The council, with Corsicana Judge Jim Sewell as chairman, was formed after Gov. Allan Shivers and former Atty. Gen. Price Daniel led the state into Republican ranks in the 1952 presidential election.

Both Shivers and State Democratic Chairman George Sandlin have also declined to attend any of the Butler affairs.

Strayhorn Rites Held

Funeral services for Joe Strayhorn, 86, of 2111 Thirtieth Street, the first mayor of Snyder, were to be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. J. T. Hendren, pastor, was to officiate, assisted by the Rev. J. Lennol Hester and the Rev. M. W. Clark.

Mr. Strayhorn, a resident here for 67 years, died yesterday morning following a long period of illness.

Pallbearers were to be his grandsons, LeRoy Strayhorn, Weldon Strayhorn, Joe B. Strayhorn, John W. Strayhorn, Eddie Strayhorn and Warren Strayhorn. Burial will be in Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

North Scurry Gets Shower

Clouds which barely sprinkled rain on Snyder early yesterday afternoon brought 1.4 inches of rain to an area about 15 miles northwest of town.

The 1.4 inches was gauged at the Texaco loading rack on the Lubbock highway. A considerable amount of hail was also reported to have fallen with the rain, starting about 1:30 p.m. and continuing for about half an hour. Fifteen miles north on the Polar road .5 of an inch was recorded, while only a shower fell at the Humble camp on the Cogdell lease about 20 miles north of Snyder.

A maximum temperature of 93 degrees was recorded yesterday afternoon by David Strayhorn, weather observer. The overnight minimum was 66 degrees, with 74 degrees at 7:30 this morning.

Senterfitt To Seek Governor's Post

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN (AP)—Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, who gave up plans to seek the governorship last year when Gov. Allan Shivers ran for a third term, announced today he will be a candidate for that office in 1956.

A conservative, the 37-year-old former speaker of the House strongly advocated a "sound and permanent spending policy" for the state when he tentatively opened his campaign two years ago.

One of the only two men ever to serve two consecutive terms as speaker, Senterfitt was a state representative for 14 years before quitting political office at the end of last year.

Announcement of his candidacy for next year came in a brief press statement which Senterfitt sent by messenger to the Capitol press room.

"I will be a candidate for governor in 1956," he said.

"Prior to the 1954 Democratic primaries, I had announced my intention to run for governor, but the long illness, and subsequent death of my father made it impossible to devote the necessary undivided attention to organizing a campaign.

"Inquiries regarding my availability and plans as a candidate move me to make this definite statement now.

"As I hold no public office, I am free immediately to begin work and planning on my county, district and state organization. Upon completion of preliminary organization, I will present my views on state government."

Senterfitt is the first to declare openly for the governorship in 1956.

Other potential candidates are Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey; State Sen. Jimmy Phillips, Angleton; Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard; Ralph Yarborough, Austin, twice defeated by Shivers; State Agriculture Commissioner John White; U.S. Senator Price Daniel; Houston Mayor Roy Hofheinz; and Supreme Court Associate Justice Will Wilson, former Dallas County district attorney.

Senterfitt, a calm-mannered lawyer and banker, has gone on record in the past as opposing a general sales tax and a state income tax.

He has urged simplification of what he called a "hodge-podge" of Texas tax laws to give the state a single, clear tax code.

He is credited with formulating legislative rules during his tenure as speaker which consolidated most state spending into a single budget process. That process, still in use, details all money spent from any source and gives the general spending bill priority over so-called single-shot appropriations.

Senterfitt was born and reared on a ranch. He was valedictorian of his high school class and an honor law student at the University of Texas.

Merritt Rites Pending Here

Funeral services are pending for Will Merritt, 76, who died about 3 a.m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Merritt, a retired farmer, had lived here for about 50 years. The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Merritt, he was born in Hope, Ark., and moved to Mansfield, Tex., with his parents about a year later. He was married to Mamie Rhodes in Snyder on May 18, 1913.

Survivors in addition to the wife include four daughters, Mrs. G. L. Lollar of Merkel, Mrs. Floyd Mauldin of Lafayette, La., Mrs. Clarence Cummings of Laredo, and Mrs. W. T. Farris of Magee, Miss.; a sister, Mrs. Mattie Patrick of Snyder; three brothers, W. W. Merritt of Midland and Albert Merritt and Homer Merritt of Snyder, and 10 grandchildren.

Arrangements for the services will be under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Sputtering Vaccine Program Gets Another 'Shot In Arm'

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has given the sputtering anti-polio inoculation program a shot in the arm with clearance of enough fresh Salk vaccine for about a million more doses.

U.S. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele announced late yesterday the approval for immediate distribution of some one million cubic centimeters of vaccine made by Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis.

A few hours later, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis —which is paying for the mass immunization of first and second-grade children—instructed the Lilly firm to ship cleared supplies by "the quickest possible route" to New Jersey, Maine, Montana, North and South Dakota. Children in these states have yet to receive their first shots in a projected three-shot series.

At the same time, Dr. G. Foard McGinnes, National Foundation consultant who wired the hurry-up shipment orders to Lilly, said in Atlantic City, N. J., the drug firm would be asked today to send vaccine out of the same million-shot supply to eight Southern and Western states where it would be used for second doses. He listed these states as Florida, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Arizona and New Mexico.

The government and the foundation are aiming at getting two shots into as many of the first and second-graders as possible before the polio season reaches its late summer peak. A third "booster" shot is planned for seven months later.

In his announcement yesterday, Scheele said the million or so cubic centimeters "met the retesting procedures for vaccine which has already been produced . . ."

This was the first newly made vaccine to be released under stiffer production and testing safety standards recently adopted by scientific advisers to the Public Health Service and subsequently accepted by the six licensed vaccine manufacturers.

Some supplies, already distributed and in large part used, were recleared in mid-May after double checks by health service scientists. Still more were recleared last week after adoption of the tighter requirements.

Dr. McGinnes sent telegrams to health commissioners in the five Northern states alerting them to expect vaccine from the Lilly firm late today or tomorrow. He said he assumed the drug company would send some by air.

As soon as more vaccine is cleared, Dr. McGinnes said, other Southern states will be given supplies for second shots.

Meanwhile, the surgeon general and his boss, Secretary of Welfare Hobby, prepared for tonight's report to the nation via television and radio—a report which a Welfare Department spokesman said would "tell the American public what the situation is . . ."

According to a tentative schedule released yesterday, the two officials will speak for 15 minutes, with CBS and Du Mont carrying a live telecast and Mutual and NBC radio a simultaneous live broadcast.

The program was scheduled for 7:15 p.m., EDT.

This tentative schedule was set for later filmed and tape recordings: ABC radio, 9:15 p.m.; CBS radio, 10:45 p.m.; and NBC-TV, 11:15 p.m.

Legislature Rolls Into Closing Hours

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP) — The high-taxing, free - spending, filibustering 54th Legislature rolled into its closing hours today with one major problem — long-range water saving—still unsolved.

The plan to help local conservation projects with a 100 million dollar bond issue was still alive, only a few votes short of final approval in the House. It had at least a slim chance of passage before the session calls it quits and goes home for good at 6 p.m.

The Senate late yesterday, after several days of indecision, joined the House in voting to bring the session to an end on its 148th day. The Senate approved the adjournment resolution with a loud voice vote and the House greeted the news with a shout of glee.

The 150 House members and 31 senators have been on the job since May 10 with no pay. For the first 120 days of the session they drew $25 a day under a recent constitutional change which also cut them off the state payroll on May 10.

Rigid session-ending rules went into effect when the Senate accepted the House's proposal that the session close today. These rules forbid any action except mop-up work on bills that have already been approved by both houses, but require agreement to adjust differences.

This automatic rule chopped down hundreds of bills hanging in committee or on the calendars of both houses. It killed two loan shark control measures passed Friday by the Senate and which had posed a threat to plans to end the session this week. They died in House committee yesterday.

The 54th Legislature set records on every hand.

Its six filibusters included three consecutive national record breakers. Last session a modern record of four filibusters was set.

The lawmakers spent more money than any other session in history with their 1½ billion dollar appropriation bill to care for state expenses in the next two years.

To pay the bill, it approved the largest tax measure in history, putting the money-bee on beer drinkers, cigarette smokers, gasoline burners and some business men in a franchise tax boost. The 98 million dollar two-year tax measure upped cigarette taxes a penny a pack, beer seven-tenths of a cent a bottle, gasoline a cent a gallon.

Natural resources escaped this time without a new levy.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

New Field Wells Slated In County

Three new field wells have been slated for drilling in Scurry County.

Pete Lomax of Midland has filed application to drill the No. 3 Browning in the Corozon-San Andres field of northwest Scurry County. Site is 1,820 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of 574-97-H&TC, three miles east of Fluvanna and on a 160-acre lease. Rotary contract is to 2,400 feet.

In the Kelley - Snyder field, Thompson - Powell - Derrick Drilling Co. and others are to drill the No. 2-B Joe York. The location, about half a mile west of Snyder, is 1,969 feet from north and 3,167 feet from west lines of 180-3-H&GN, and on a lease of 76 acres. Rotary tools are to drill to 6,800 feet.

Gibralter Oil Corp. and others of Dallas will drill the No. 97 J. O. Barger in the same field. Drillsite is 467 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of 191-97-H&TC. Rotary contract is to 7,500 feet.

RUNNING LOGS

Texaco No. 231 P. L. Fuller, north Scurry prospector, is running electric logs after recovering sulphur water on a drillstem test from 7,738-860 feet.

The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 160 feet of gas, 160 feet of gas-cut mud and 4,050 feet of gas-cut sulphur water. Flowing pressure was from 220 to 1,950 pounds, with 15-minute shutin pressure 2,789 feet.

An earlier one-hour test from 7,650-730 feet recovered 30 feet of mud with no shows. Flowing pressure ranged from zero to 20 pounds, with 15-minute shutin pressure 105 pounds.

Texaco No. 8 Fuller is drilling in red beds below 1,665 feet.

BORDEN LOCATION

Phillips Petroleum has staked location for the No. 3 Quartz in the Jo Mill-Spraberry field of southwest Borden County.

The site is 660 feet from north and 760 feet from west lines of 15-33-T&P, 12 miles southwest of Gail. Projected depth is 8,000 feet.

GAINES FAILURE

Nine miles northeast of the Amrow field of southeast Gaines County, Placid Oil Co. has plugged the No. 1 Mrs. Ida Dalmont at total depth of 14,110 feet in the Ellenburger.

A final drillstem test was run with dual packers from 11,209-340 feet in the Strawn. Recovery was the water blanket, 1,000 feet of mud and 7,272 feet of salt water. The Ellenburger also showed water.

Location was 15 miles east of Seminole in 70-H-D&W.

TOM GREEN WILDCAT

Cosden Petroleum Corp. and Fortune Drilling Corp. will dig at 7,750-foot wildcat 13 miles southwest of Water Valley in northwest Tom Green County. It will be the No. 1-80 J. R. Mims, located 330 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of 806-H&TC. Drilling is to begin at once.

and divides the other 50 per cent of commissions between five other agencies which do not participate in handling of the insurance. Members of the committee appointed to study the insurance program were Hollis Fields, chairman, J. W. Phillips, and G. W. Parks, Jr., all council members.

Five members of the Masonic Lodge appeared before the council to discuss construction of a new lodge building at Thirty-fifth Street and Avenue S. A contract dedicating a section of Thirty-fifth Street west from Avenue S to the city by Fred Cullum was presented to the council. M. L. Andress was spokesman for the group.

The council accepted the low bid of the Parkhill, Smith & Cooper engineering firm to make a topographical map of five areas not now served by city sewer for future sewer development in the areas.

The firm's bid was at the rate of $1.50 per acre for the survey and maps to be made on a scale of one inch to each 200 feet, with contour lines at two-foot intervals.

The maps will be continuations of similar maps made by a 1950 survey of the present sewer system, and will be used in planning and design work for the sewer system.

Two sections of land in the north part of town, one section south of town, one-half section on the east and west sides of town will be included in the survey which will cover a total of 3,200 acres of land, and will cost $4,800.

Several higher bids were also submitted on the survey, with some bids totaling more than $19,000.

Charlie Wolfe, owner of Wolfe Studio & Camera Shop appeared before the council and requested that the city construct steps along the curbline of Avenue R east of the Manhattan Hotel. The council agreed to contact the owners of the property involved and study the possibility for construction of the steps, or making changes in the sidewalk.

Swim Classes Still Growing

Boys and girls by the hundreds are still being assigned to classes for free swimming lessons at the Snyder Swimming Pool.

One group of boys, taking the free lessons under sponsorship of the Boys Club of Scurry County in co-operation with Jack Dillon, pool operator, finished the second day of classes this morning of a one-week course.

Next week, another group of Boys Club members and a group of girls, being given the lessons by Dillon's staff under sponsorship of the Daily News, will start the beginners' classes at the pool.

By this morning, the count on those registered for swimming lessons numbered about 221 girls and more than 300 boys.

The Boys Club is also carrying on other activities at its headquarters in the stock barn in Towle Memorial Park. Most of its members signed up for the free swim lessons, while those and others are in organized recreation under direction of Guy Sullivan, summer recreation director for the club.

House Passes Postal Pay Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today overwhelmingly voted an average 8 per cent pay raise for the nation's 500,000 postal workers. The tally was 407-1, with Rep. Cole (R-NY) casting the lone "no" vote.

The pay bill, carrying a cost tag of around 165 million dollars a year, now goes back to the Senate for expected concurrence in two minor clarifying amendments.

Today's House action to all practical effect brings to an end more than a year of feuding between Congress and President Eisenhower over pay increases for the postmen.

The President has twice cracked down on Congress with vetoes—the first time in the last Congress because raises were not accompanied by corresponding increases in postage rates, and last month on the ground the boost was too much and that the bill left inequities in pay grades.

Still at issue are pending increases for more than a million other government workers, and administration requests for upping postal rates on most classes of mail.

Sheriff Sells Machinery

Four items of industrial machinery were sold at auction this morning by the sheriff's department after light bidding.

The machinery, four vehicles equipped for certain types of work, were sold to Ezell Motor Co. for $6,596.94, the amount owed the firm for storage of the euipment for several years.

This was the only overall bid and was submitted for the firm by Edgar Ezell, brother of the owner, J. C. (Com) Ezell. A few small bids were submitted on separate items.

There was no bid on an Allis Chalmers tractor and bulldozer unit. There were three bids from $100 to $200 for a 1948 Willys jeep equipped with a power lift, dual wheels, and a post hole digger. One bid of $300 was called out for a 1948 Dodge truck tractor, designed for pulling a semi-trailer. A bid of $300 was also submitted for a 32-foot American semitrailer with tandem wheels.

Thirty-seven adults were present at the auction held at the east steps of the courthouse by Bill Love, deputy sheriff.

The equipment was ordered sold after judgment in a Howard County district court suit originally styled Lone Star Cheverolet Co. vs. Ralph E. Powers, but the judgment was that of the federal government as intervener in the suit.

Funeral Rites Held For Accident Victim

Funeral services for Mrs. J. E. Bloodworth, 29, of Midland, were held this afternoon in the First Christian Church in Olney. Mrs. Bloodworth was killed early Sunday morning in a two-car collision 15 miles southwest of Snyder on the Big Spring highway.

Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Bell Funeral Home, with burial in an Olney cemetery.

Unemployment Dip Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced today a "substantial" drop in unemployment and predicted 1955 will be the nation's most prosperous year—given "industrial peace in our key industries."

He told reporters that new employment and unemployment totals show improvement greater than normal for the season.

"Last month seems to have been the biggest May for jobs in our history," Weeks said. "Unemployment also has declined further."

Grandfather Of Local City Manager Drowns

J. W. Shelley, 84, retired campus policeman at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark., and grandfather of B. J. Shelley, Snyder city manager, was drowned in a creek near his hometown Sunday night.

The elder Mr. Shelley and another man were in a car crossing a creek bridge when a wall of water from a flash flood descended on them and caught the car. The other man escaped, but Mr. Shelley was drowned.

The accident occurred about 8 o'clock Sunday night about four miles north of Fayetteville.

Funeral services were to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Military Takes Look At Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson, leaving the door open to new moves to step up warplane production, says the Pentagon is "taking a very good look at everything we are doing."

Asked at a news conference yesterday whether the Air Force has recomended a speedup in production of any planes other than its most potent heavy bomber, the B52, Wilson replied: "Not yet."

Asked specifically about the F100 Super Sabre Jet fighter, Wilson parried the question by saying he didn't want to generate "too much pressure" about that matter.

As for the "good look" he said the Pentagon is taking at its plans, he said he has ordered a twice-a-year review of all aircraft production schedules.

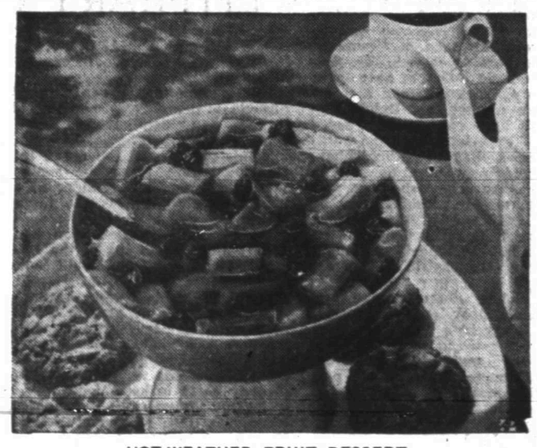

The Air Force disclosed recently it has ordered a 35 per cent step-up in the production rate of the B52. Wilson appeared at a closed session of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee yesterday to ask for 356 million dollars to carry out this speedup.

HOT-WEATHER FRUIT DESSERT
. . . features rhubarb and raisins

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5405.

A light, pleasant dessert can do wonders for hot weather meals. And, even if you are weight-watching, a modest portion of the right kind of dessert can usually be fitted into your diet.

Some people prefer not to eat their dessert immediately after a meal. It may be saved for an afternoon pickup instead of eaten with lunch, or served with coffee after supper or dinner.

During the months when fruit is plentiful you can enjoy it in many ways. Here is a rhubarb-raisin compote, nice with crunchy cereal cookies for texture contrast.

RHUBARB-RAISIN COMPOTE
½ cup seedless raisins
1 cup water
1½ cups sugar
2 pounds pink rhubarb (6 cups)
2 teaspoons grated orange rind.

Cut the rhubarb into one-inch pieces. Put the raisins and water in a two-quart saucepan and simmer, covered, for five minutes. Add sugar and stir to dissolve. Add the rhubarb, cover and bring just to a boil. This will take about five minutes. Remove from heat, add orange rind, cool and then chill. Makes six to eight servings.

CRUNCHY COOKIES
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup hydrogenated shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup firmly-acked brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups quick-cooking oats
2 cups ready-to-eat rice cereal
1 cup salted peanuts

Sift together the dry ingredients. Cream shortening and sugars. Beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time, then the vanilla. Stir in the dry ingredients, oats, rice cereal and peanuts. Form into balls, using a heaping tablespoonful of the dough for each. Place on an ungreased baking sheet about an inch apart and flatten slightly with the back of a spoon. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes six dozen.

LONG-TORSO FAVORITE

Styled with boat neckline, and a dashing, low-placed sash across the hips, this flare-skirted design has the long, willowy silhouette so fashionable now.

No. 2388 is cut in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16: 4½ yds. 35-in.

Newton Ends Interesting Film Project

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Robert Newton has tossed Long John Silver's crutch away after playing the crusty old pirate in Australia for a year.

The British actor has returned to his Hollywood home after completing one of the most interesting film projects in recent years. It was a daring venture that could provide him with a hefty annuity.

He told about the deal between rehearsals for his first acting engagement since his return—"The Suspect" on NBC's Video Theater.

"First of all, we made the feature version of 'Long John Silver' in CinemaScope and color," he said. "After we finished that, we made 26 half-hour TV shows, also in color.

"It was really a pioneering project. When we first arrived in Sydney, there was nothing but a large, barnlike building for a studio. We brought all our equipment from Hollywood.

"After we finished the feature, we did one TV show a week for 26 weeks. I think I had only one Sunday off. It was hard work, but it was worth it. The results were spectacular. The air is so clear down there and the scenery, especially the surf, is spectacular. And we shot it for half what it would have cost here."

Part of the financing came from Louis Wolfson. Yes, the same fellow who raised all that fuss at Montgomery Ward. Joseph Kaufman produced and Byron Haskin directed. Both are veteran Hollywood hands. The only other performer from here was comedienne Connie Gilchrist.

"We picked up the rest of our actors in Australia," said Newton, "and they were excellent. The technicians were good too—not experienced but eager to learn."

If Long John catches on with the kids, a la Davy you-know-who, 13 more films will be made here. The series would be exploited as was Davy what's-his-name, with merchandise, songs, books, etc.

On the chance that the character will prove popular, the feature version of "Long John Silver" has been held back from release. It will be shown after the TV series has had some exposure. The film is now playing abroad.

WSCS Training Program Held

A program of training for officers of the Trinity Methodist Church WSCS was held last night at the church. Mrs. Ford Kenner, new president, directed the program.

Other officers participating were Mrs. Bill Starnes, Mrs. Chales Duran, Mrs. Ray Atkinsin, Mrs. Jack Cole, Mrs. Dale Clemmer, Mrs. Carl Foree, Mrs. Gordon McMean and Mrs. Colin Kilgo. Mrs. Jack Riley led the opening prayer.

It was announced that summer meetings of the WSCS will be held at 8 p.m. rather than at 7:30.

The Loan Shark Bill

Section 11, Article XVI, of the Constitution of Texas reads as follows:

"All contracts for a greater rate of interest than ten per centum per annum, shall be deemed usurious, and the first legislature after this amendment is adopted, shall provide appropriate pains and penalties to prevent the same; but when no interest is agreed upon, the rate shall not exceed six per centum per annum."

This provision has made Texas the happy hunting ground for loan sharks, by giving rise to various evasions and dodges which have produced cases of 1,000 and 1,200 percent interest being charged small borrowers. Legitimate loan companies have been handicapped in rendering service to their clients, but the loan sharks have had a field day. Some states have curbed unconscionable money - hire practices by legalizing a higher rate of interest and thereby enabling responsible companies to make a living and at the same time serve small borrowers without exacting their eye-teeth.

A resolution was introduced in this session of the Texas Legislature for a constitutional amendment authorizing the law-making body to raise the interest rate above 10 percent with suitable safeguards to prevent abuses. Its punitive aim was to pull the teeth of loan sharks.

The Senate last week got into a debate on the bill, and ran into a filibuster by opponents of the resolution. How it will wind up isn't apparent at this time, but the prospect is that another attempt to end the reign of the loan sharks in Texas will come to naught, and the 1,000 percent boys will continue to exploit those people who are least able to stand their unscrupulous methods.

Various past efforts of the Legislature to cure this evil have come to naught. Unless this bill will result in protecting the interest of small borrowers, it's no good. If it does offer the hope of improvement, it may have some merit. This much is certain: something should be done about a situation that is disgraceful and inexcusable.

Looking Toward 1956

Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), who went into the 1952 Democratic convention with a long lead of pledged votes due largely to primary activity in many states, has twice spoken of his 1956 intentions this week. First, he said he was not an aspirant for the honor this time; a day or two later he "clarified" this by saying, in effect, that of course he would not include himself out if the party wanted him.

Adlai Stevenson was tight-mouthed, coy or cagey, according to the viewpoint. He said precisely nothing regarding his 1956 plans and intentions this week. But from an unidentified friend came word that, in effect, Stevenson was receptive but would not make his intentions known until later. Apparently this roundabout word was designed to allay the impression that Stevenson was again playing coy and hard to get, for the unidentified spokesman went on to say Adlai had been genuinely reluctant to make a grab for it in '52 because he felt he should finish out his term as governor of Illinois.

Meantime President Eisenhower is as say-nothing as usual about his own 1956 plans. Many of his followers in the GOP are hopeful he will be found in there pitching when the time comes, and almost to a man the Democratic leaders fear such will be the case.

The President's personal popularity continues high, and the political medicine men have many explanations for it, the most likely of which is this: the President, aside from his own engaging personality, has managed to walk a steady line between the two extremes—in other words, his middle-of-the-road course has worked well up to this point when things are going fairly well, and no great crisis prevails, but it has the disadvantage of disintegrating rapidly when things start to come apart at the seams.

Mr. Eisenhower is one of five of the ten White House occupants in this century to begin his third year in office with his popularity intact, the others being McKinley, Coolidge and the two Roosevelts.

So What Can Y' Do With It?

Radford Enters Second Term As JCS With Reputation Of 'Tough Guy' Among Military

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford will enter his second two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff with a reputation as the "tough guy" among American military leaders.

His name even crops up in the talk of a rock 'em, sock 'em school reputedly convinced the United States should smash Red China to halt Communist expansion in Asia; and that it could be done without igniting World War III.

The talk has grown to such proportions that Radford, on recent occasions, has taken the trouble to deny he has any warlike attitude. And his friends say such talk is sheer nonsense.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson have displayed complete confidence in Radford as an adviser. Eisenhower made his own position clear when he announced Radford will keep his job for another two years. His present term expires Aug. 15.

But the talk about Radford has persisted.

Why has the 59-year-old admiral been singled out as the chip-on-the-shoulder influence among all the top military leaders? Just how much influence does he have in shaping U. S. foreign policy?

It's an intriguing story because only a handful of people in the administration really knows where State Department diplomacy ends and Pentagon policy begins.

There are some who say it is Radford who has put "backbone" in the administration's Far Eastern policy and influenced a tougher attitude, although the admiral insists the policy making is the responsibility of civilians and not the military.

None deny the admiral is in a strong position to influence policy. He sees the President sometimes two and three times a week. He sits in on important policy-making meetings. He has ample opportunity to press his views not only through the President but also through Secretary Wilson and Secretary of State Dulles. This becomes doubly important where there may be differences of opinion among the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Radford's critics contend he has encouraged the administration in a policy which they claim ties the military to the use of atomic weapons. They say the United States now has no choice but to use nuclear weapons because the policy in effect rules out a "localized war."

Further, they say, Radford is willing, and has been willing, to commit military force in situations which they claim inevitably would mean commitment of ground forces on a scale which the Army is not prepared to furnish and still carry out its mission in other parts of the world.

Radford insists that neither he nor any other member of the JCS has taken a warlike attitude or favored preventive war against the Communists — that is, attacking now while the atomic balance is presumed to be on our side.

In this connection, he said in answer to a list of questions: "The Joint Chiefs of Staff have had considerable experience in past wars and probably know better than anyone the real meaning of the impact of war. I really do not believe you could have a group of men who are more dedicated to the cause of peace and the prevention of war than the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"Sometimes the fact that we have to deal constantly with critical situations and work on military matters seems to give some people the notion that we would probably like nothing better than a good war some place. I can tell you that such is not the case."

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, when he was chairman of the JCS, angrily denounced as "fancy Dans" the admirals who opposed the program which Congress finally approved. Later, it is said Bradley and Radford patched up their quarrel.

But Radford and his friends did succeed in blocking those opposed to further construction of Navy carriers, and in this sense he won his fight.

In 1951, Radford was reported in favor—with Gen. Douglas MacArthur—of an all-out effort to defeat the Chinese in Korea. This was at a time when Bradley was saying such a move would be the wrong war, at the wrong time, in the wrong place, and against the wrong enemy. Radford still thinks we could have whipped the Chinese if we had gone all-out.

At that time, Radford was ready—if ordered—to blockade the China coast. He informed Washington he could do it with the forces he had at the time. He was then commander in chief of the Pacific.

Radford—known as "Raddy" to his friends—has been an air power advocate for many years. He developed an interest in planes even before he went to the Naval Academy in 1912. He was graduated with the Class of 1916.

He was among the Navy's first graduate pilots and before many years had passed he was in the airmen's fight against the "battleship admirals" to place more emphasis on naval air power. He also demonstrated an unusual ability for administration and staff work which carried him up the ladder of Navy promotions.

Radford distinguished himself in World War II by his staff work, and also as commander of a carrier group in the Pacific. When the Korean War came, he was commander of the Pacific Fleet. The job he did in mobilizing the fleet to transport troops and supplies to Korea, and to fight in Korean waters, was one of the war's outstanding jobs.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Rep. Bolton Is Nurses' Best Friend In Capitol

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — From the time she was a little girl serving as a Brownie volunteer assistant to the Visiting Nurse Assn. members, making their tours around Cleveland, Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) has been dedicated to the cause of the nursing profession.

During the 15 years she has served in Congress she has emerged as the nurses' best friend on Capitol Hill.

Now deeply concerned over the shortage of nurses which she feels will lead to a "truly appalling crisis in the nation's health care," she has introduced a joint resolution in Congress providing for a National Commission on Nursing Services.

"The function of the Commission, which would be set up along lines similar to the Hoover Commission," she says, "would be to study, on behalf of the public, the entire field of nursing, determine the causes for the present nursing situation and make recommendations, in a report to Congress, as to what should be done about it."

The Congresswoman says she has been troubled for years about the increasing difficulty in obtaining enough nurses for the care of the sick. Last fall on the 100th anniversary of modern nursing, the American Nurses Assn. reported there are more nurses than ever before — nearly 400,000 registered nurses and 75,000 licensed practical nurses. But still more, both military and civilian, are needed.

"Though the nurse supply has grown extensively," Mrs. Lucile P. Leone, chief nurse officer, U. S. Public Health Service, told me, "it has not been able to keep up with the expanding demands for nursing service and the phenomenal advances in medical science."

More hospitals and health agencies are being built and expanding, Mrs. Bolton points out. More people go to hospitals, more babies are being born (90 per cent in hospitals), people are living longer. More people seek medical and nursing care, and new drugs and medical treatment require more nurses.

Mrs. Bolton, during World War I, served on the Emergency Committee of the National Organization of Public Health Nursing and helped establish the Army School of Nursing which preceded the Army Nurse Corps. During World War II she put through an amendent to get $1,200,000 to assist schools of nursing and in 1943 introduced the Bolton Bill for the training of nurses.

Despite Change In Views, Administration Still Doesn't Expect Much From Parley

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's view of the Big Four meeting has moved from negative (not wanting it) to somewhere between negative and positive (agreeing to it but cautioning not to expect too much of it).

Secretary of State Dulles cannot be said to have played up the importance of this meeting—perhaps in Geneva July 18—among President Eisenhower and his opposite numbers in Britain, France and Russia.

Even a mild and perhaps true statement by Vice President Nixon, pointing out how important the conference may be, did not draw endorsement from the State Department, whose views are Dulles' views.

Last week Nixon said the meeting may be man's last chance to avoid war. When Dulles' press officer Henry Suydam was asked for comment, he said: "I'll make no comment."

The administration's attitude seems to be getting under the skin of Sen. George, the Georgia Democrat who urged the meeting before Eisenhower agreed to it. Yesterday George said: "We ought to approach this with a positive attitude."

Dulles has taken pains to say: Don't get your hopes too high about this conference. Then if it fails, you won't be disillusioned.

Eisenhower describes his role at the conference this way: He and the other top men won't make decisions. They'll just discuss problems in general. When it comes to tackling specific problems, the foreign ministers will do that.

There is also some political usefulness in the administration's approach to the conference:

If the Republicans got the people steamed up about the meeting and it failed, the Democrats could try to blame them for it and the voters in the 1956 elections might show their disappointment.

By promising he would not fall into the trap of appeasement at the meeting, Eisenhower seems to have pleased those among his Republicans who sounded afraid to see him meet the Russians. At least they've been fairly quiet since.

But, by indicating beforehand he will make no final decisions, Eisenhower may be setting another kind of trap for himself:

What will he do if the Russians at the meeting suddenly confront him with proposals which have some air of reasonableness, particularly to Britain and France, but require a decision by Eisenhower if the conference is not to fail?

Since this isn't wartime, with its need for secrecy, the meeting will have propaganda value for all sides. Much if not all that happens will be made public, either by leaks or statements by the four powers.

Khruschev Has Unusual Talent For Making Foes

By INEZ ROBB

In the interests of peace in our time and on our terms, I am all for petitioning the U.S.S.R. to send Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev on a good-will tour of the world.

On his recent friendship visit to Marshal Tito and Yugoslavia, Comrade Khrushchev uncorked a very real and unsuspected talent for winning enemies and making foes wholesale. Nikita made it obvious that among the many books banned in Russia are those of Dale Carnegie and Emily Post.

Every time the Russian's No. 1 commissar opened his mouth, bats (brick) flew out and his feet flew in. From the moment of his arrival in Belgrade until his departure, the Khrushchev diet consisted chiefly of his own shoe leather. A determined nibbler, he!

Since the demise of Stalin and the eventual accession, of Nikita to power, we Americans have heard disturbing stories of his dynamism, drive, energy, ruthlessness, political acumen and astuteness. He seemed a bona fide big, bad wolf, ready and eager to eat Grandma.

Then Mr. Krushchev made the mistake of going to Yugoslavia and demonstrating to the world that he is not so much akin to the wolf as to a bull in a china shop.

From the moment Mr. Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin announced their impending visit to Yugoslavia, the free world came down with the jitters over the possibile reaction of Marshal Tito to this Russian wooing. But the instant Nikita arrived in Belgrade, he started tossing the crockery.

There is at least one pest in every party whose idea of a good time is to pick a fight. (He should drop dead!) Mr. Khrushchev belongs in this category.

At state functions, Mr. Khrushchev, who is a deadringer for any Saturday night wrestlery on teevee, picked on anyone handy, including the Belgian Ambassador, the Yugoslav State Secretary for Foreign Affairs, an American general, Peter C. Hains, and the American Ambassador to Yugoslavia, James W. Riddleberger.

By the time this appears in print, Mr. Riddleberger, a career diplomat, may already have returned to Washington, where he has been summoned by the State Department to report on the Yugoslav situation. I fervently wish the government had a suitable medal for him as a reward for his victorious bout with Mr. Khrushchev.

When the leader of the proletariat taunted the American Ambassador with his lack of "contact" with the working classes, Mr. Riddleberger told him that as a farm boy, an ex-bricklayer and a former house painter, he, Riddleberger, had had considerably more practical experience with the working classes than he, Khrushchev.

That widely published news photo of Mr. Khrushchev shouting and snarling at Mr. Riddleberger is worth 10,000 words. It is obvious that the Russian has gotten the worst of the argument, something that never hapens in his homeland, and his temper shows.

The picture doesn't make Mr. Khrushchev look exactly lovable. And it is my idea that if we want to make the world safe for democracy, we ought to coax Mr. Khrushchev to make more personal appearance tours beyond the Iron Curtain.

Coupon Handling Brings On Rising Protest Of Grocers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Groceries "for free"—between 75 and 100 million dollars worth—will be handed out this year to housewives clutching coupons.

Retailers handle about one billion coupons annually—and their squawks about the trouble and the cost seem to be mounting as rapidly as the number and variety of manufacturers' coupon promotions.

To see what can be done about the objections, the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., has surveyed coupon-handling methods and now offers a system it says should cut costs and handling time in half. It involves uniformity of coupon size, short cuts in counting, and gadgets like special sorting tables.

Consumers like coupons apparently. And Paul S. Willis, GMA president, insists that most food distributors do too, because coupons pull more customers into their stores and sell food that otherwise would remain on the shelves.

His view isn't shared by at least one nationwide grocery chain (Safeway). It calls coupons an increasing headache for the stores and labels them a price-cutting dodge by brand promoters to fool the buyer.

Another distributor, on the other hand, makes an all-out bid for you to bring in your coupons by using full-page, four-color newspaper ads on the couponed products. Thinking of coupons as money, it holds that they provide the housewife with additional money for purchasing more groceries.

It costs all concerned 2 cents apiece on average to handle coupons, some estimate. On one billion coupons a year this would be 20 million dollars. GMA holds this could be cut in half if the food industry would follow its system, which it has just tested in 1,000 food stores.

Some coupons are a nuisance because they're too big and won't fit cash register drawer compartments. And some are small, hard to count and likely to be lost. GMA wants them all uniform, the size of a dollar bill. One manufacturer is trying out punch card coupons which can be counted by machines.

GMA urges its members to stick as closely as possible to denominations of 5 cents or multiples of 5, to make tallying easier. And it has designed a three-compartment box where coupons can be easily sorted by denomination, instead of by manufacturer. Each pile can be quickly counted and this cuts in half the time it takes a bookkeeper or store manager to sort, count and report coupons.

Congressman Has Plenty Of Duties Besides Lawmaking

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Lawmaking takes but a small part of a congressman's time, Rep. John Bell of Cuero would have you know.

He was just completing a telephone conversation when this reporter walked into his office.

"Well, I hope we'll have some news for you on this drought situation in a few days," Bell greeted the reporter.

"That was the agriculture department, in fact, Secretary Benson personally, and I've been telling him about the bad shape lots of those farmers and ranchers down home are getting in."

The Corpus Christi area's first-term congressman reviewed efforts he had put in seeking relief for drought sufferers, including jobless laborers in small towns in his district where business generally has fallen off because of crop failures.

He had carried on numerous telephone conversations with officials at the Agriculture Department. Then he had followed with a letter to President Eisenhower, urging help for growers and suggesting works programs for unemployed in the towns.

Next he had discussed the situation with R. B. McLeaish, head of the Farmers Home Administration, who had been called to testify before the House Banking Committee, of which Bell is a member.

"You know, McLeaish is a Texan, originally from the Rio Grande Valley," continued the congressman.

About this time Bell received a new batch of letters and telegrams from a score of county judges in his district and adjacent South Texas areas. With Karnes County Judge W. S. Pickett acting as chairman of the Emergency Assistance Assn. of South Texas, they had urged three per cent loans and an easing of loan requirements.

Bell then got on the phone and took the matter up with Benson, just before the cabinet officer left for Denver to discuss drought relief problems with governors from affected states.

Around the capital:

Elmer Hudspeth of Lubbock, one of several Texans here to receive personal awards from Secretary Benson in recognition of their work with the Agriculture Department, got double honors.

After Benson had handed him a certificate, in formal ceremonies on the Washington Monument grounds, he went back to his seat and discovered that a second certificate was clinging to his own. He saw that it got to the right person.

The Lubbock man was honored for developing new equipment and techniques for the seeding of row crops under semi-arid conditions of the southwest.

GUIDEPOST LITERARY

A HISTORY OF MARINE NAVIGATION. By Per Collinder. St. Martin's Press.

In this age of radar, sonar, radio directional beams, gyroscopic compasses and depthometers, you would think the story of how the ancients got around the ocean by rule of thumb would be pretty tame stuff. As Per Collinder tells it, the modern age is the tame one.

Picture a Polynesian, who has been called the Viking of the Pacific, setting out from Tahiti in a double canoe, headed for Hawaii some 4,000 miles away. A modern shipmaster, or even a latter day windjammer captain with more or less modern instruments, would find it comparatively simple. Favorable winds would carry him directly north to his objective.

But the Polynesian, lacking instruments, also played it smart. He tacked to the northeast until he could see that the pole star was just as high above the horizon as he remembered it in Hawaii. Then he turned west and, keeping the pole star at its proper height, ran down the line of latitude to Hawaii. Whether he judged the height of the pole star by a water-filled "magic calabash," as has been asserted, or by sighting with his fingers against the horizon he managed it often enough to make such voyages practical.

Details of the tecniques, maps and instruments employed by many of the early sailors on many seas are things of mystery now because they were trade secrets at the time. But enough is known to show that these adventurous souls employed more than courage and intuition in their wanderings. It may even be that Columbus knew the secrets of the trade winds that he used so surely to carry him to and from America.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever success the Imogene Coca show may have had otherwise, it has given a boost to the career of Hal March, who has been Imogene's partner in comedy the past few months.

The 35-year-old actor and writer begins tonight as emcee of the $64,000 Question on CBS-TV, and on June 25 starts another new show entitled The Soldiers on NBC-TV.

March actually has been around in radio and TV a long time with scores of guest roles and regular parts in such shows as My Friend Irma and Burns and Allen. But he says of his role in the Saturday night Coca show:

"It has been a tremendous shot in the arm. And it has been a wonderful experience working on the show. Miss Coca is one of the great talents of our time."

Miss Coca's new show, her first solo venture after the breakup of the Coca-Sid Caesar-Max Liebman team of Your Show of Shows, floundered rather badly when it started last fall. Then March was brought in as regular partner and foil as her TV husband, and the show has gained steadily in ratings.

However, March disclaims personal credit for the improvement, saying it was due to the change in format rather than his individual efforts. But he does give credit to the role for making him better known — at least for making people remember his name.

Tacked Out Of Job

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A man who had been a cobbler for 30 years asked the Florida State Employment Service to help him get started in another occupation.

Most cobblers, he said, hold tacks in their mouths while working, spitting out tacks as needed. Over the years, he had gulped too often when he should have spat. He produced X-rays to show the large collection of tacks in his digestive tract.

He now works happily on a label machine in a canning factory.

Brooklyn Keeps Up National League Pace

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

It's about time the rest of the National League gave up the idea of waiting for the Brooklyn Dodgers to collapse. Brooklyn can't lose for winning.

Take last night. All their right-handed power had been limited to four hits in eight innings by a southpaw rookie named Luis Arroyo and the St. Louis Cardinals had a 4-3 lead going into the last of the ninth.

When Gil Hodges led off with a walk, Manager Walt Alston couldn't decide whether to have Jackie Robinson lay down a sacrifice bunt and go for a tie or have him swing away and go for broke.

Alston flashed the "bunt" sign, but Robbie fouled off the pitch. Alston switched to the "hit" sign then, but the pitch was wide and Jack watched it go by. So Alston changed back to the bunt strategy. But Robinson again fouled it.

It was hit or nothing then. Alston wasn't bunting on the third strike.

So what's Robbie do? He smacks the next pitch into the left field seats and Brooklyn wins it 5-4. And just like that, they're eight games up on the runner-up Chicago Cubs, who were idle like most of the other teams.

The only other National League action was at Philadelphia. The Milwaukee Braves stayed a half game behind the third-place New York Giants by whipping the Phils 5-2 after Philadelphia had wrapped up a 4-2 triumph in the three-inning completion of the suspended second game in Sunday's doubleheader.

In the American, the New York Yankees made hay on the slack schedule, bombing Detroit with home runs 7-5 for a 4½-game lead. Rain postponed the only other game, Washington at Kansas City.

The Brooks battled back from a 4-1 deficit with two runs in the sixth, one on a leadoff homer by Pee Wee Reese. Clem Labine held the Cards hitless over the last two innings for the victory after they had tagged Billy Loes, Tom LaSorda and Russ Meyer for 10 hits.

The Yanks counted all their runs on homers. Eddie Robinson hit a pair, each good for two runs. Billy Hoeft lost his third in eight decisions.

Rookie Johnny Kucks was the winner, but claimed his fifth success only after Jim Konstanty put down a two-run Tiger rally in the ninth. Able Al Kaline, who has hit in all but four of Detroit's 49 games, homered with none on in the seventh to run his current hitting string to 14 games.

At Philadelphia, Ed Mathews continued to look like anything but a guy who just had an appendectomy. He hit his third homer in two days, a two-run job, as Bob Buhl picked up his second victory. George Crowe also homered with one on for the Braves, who scored the winning run off loser Dave Cole in the third on Bobby Thomson's sacrifice fly.

In the completion of Sunday's interrupted game, the Braves scored twice in the eighth, but the Phils coasted in on their four runs in the third.

Getting Net Meet Rounded Up Big Job

Participants are trying to round up the annual city tennis tournament here, but finishing the tourney appears to be a hard job.

For instance, two entered in the senior boys' singles of the tourney last night were attempting to complete a semi-final round. They were Joel Tankersley and Randal DeShan. The two played 62 games and still didn't finish.

Each of the players won two sets 8-6 and 6-2. On the fifth set, they were still tied up 9-9 when tourney officials stopped them before they dropped from exhaustion. The two will complete their match sometime this week to determine who will meet Ronnie Smith, winner of the other semi-final round, in the finals.

Also still to be played is the final consolation match in the men's singles, which will involve S. H. Ator and W. T. White; the men's consolation doubles finals, matching Ator and Landis Lee against White and O. C. Medford; and the senior boys singles consolation finals, in which Jerry Hale will meet the loser of the Tankersley-DeShan match.

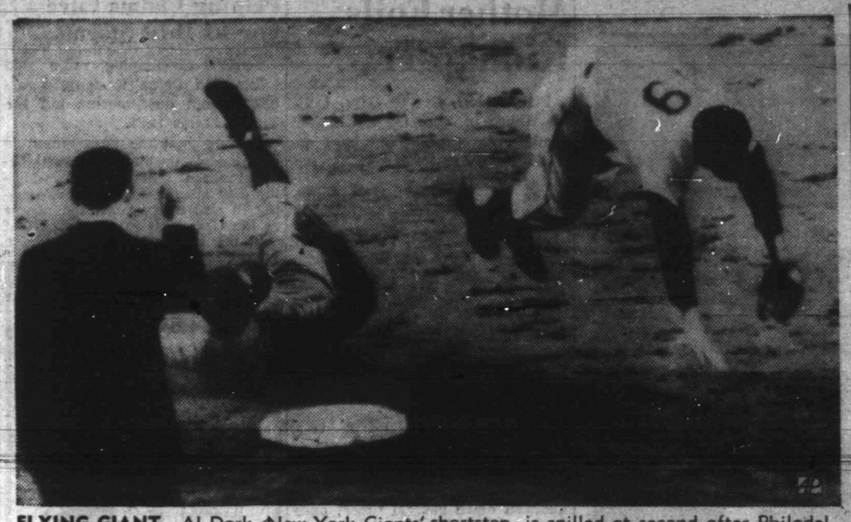

Grover Robinson won the men's singles, Robinson and M. R. Estes the men's doubles, Mrs. L. J. Flusche the women's singles, and Smith and DeShan the senior boys doubles.

Maxwell, Vossler In Lead On Qualifying

FORT WORTH (AP)—Billy Maxwell of Odessa and Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth bested par yesterday over the long Colonial Country Club course as nine Texans qualified for the National Open.

Maxwell led the field of 73 players with 4-under-par 136 for the 36 holes while Vossler had 138.

Others qualifying over the 7,035-yard par-70 course were Fred Hawkins, El Paso, and Harry Todd, Dallas, 143; Bill Trombley, Dallas, and Buster Reed, McKinney, 144, and Earl Stewart, Dallas; Doug Higgins, Fort Worth, and Ted Gwin, Fort Worth, 146.

FLYING GIANT—Al Dark, New York Giants' shortstop, is spilled at second after Philadelphia Phillies' catcher Andy Seminick came into second hard during the fourth inning of their game at the Polo Grounds in New York. Seminick was forced on Bobby Morgan's grounder to Giants' Bobby Hofman, second baseman, who relayed to Dark. Umpire is Larry Goetz.

New Conference Is Proposed By Schools

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

It probably will be denied but a new conference is in the works with its members to come from three other conferences—the Border, Gulf Coast and Missouri Valley.

Under the proposed alignment, Hardin-Simmons, Texas Tech, North Texas State, University of Houston, Wichita and Oklahoma A&M would make up this new league.

Representatives of these schools have talked to each other about it repeatedly and the thing may jell in less than a year.

The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) which held its fourth annual spring meet in Abilene last weekend, is thinking about a football bowl game.

Members of this association, and there are more than 450 including 45 Negro colleges, have had little hope of getting into a bowl game of any kind on Jan. 1. But if present plans materialize, they'll get that chance. The NAIA proposes to select the teams to play in this game and the bowl will be the Gator, which is reportedly ready to tie up with the NAIA when that organization wants it.

The Gator Bowl is a pretty good post-season feature and has had some fine teams play in it. It pays a nice chunk of cash to the participants.

Texans hadn't been cutting much ice in golf this year until Joe Conrad won the British Amateur.

Actually, it was a surprise for the amiable Conrad, a favorite of the press, to take the big tournament in England. He never has won a match in the American National Amateur and he lost his singles match in the Walker Cup matches.

But Joe is a mighty tough man sometimes in match play as evidenced by the fact that he twice won the Southern Amateur and once won the Trans-Mississippi.

It was good to see the likable Conrad break the Texas barrier this year and now it is to be noted that Ben Hogan has been picked by the golf's elite to win the National Open. This is surprising in view of the fact Ben hasn't won a tournament in a coin's age mainly because he isn't paying much attention to golf these days as he works long hours at his golf club factory in Fort Worth.

Bobby Morrow is the latest athletic glamor boy of Texas. Bounding Bobby, who has run 100 yards in 9.1, 9.3, 9.4 and 9.5, is quite the sensation and his duel with Jim Golliday of Northwestern, a 9.3 man, and Dean Smith of Texas, who has done 9.2, should be a crowd-puller for the National AAU at Boulder, Colo., June 25-26.

Morrow ran his 9.1 in the NAIA meet in Abilene, being helped, of course, by a 7-mile-per-hour wind that prevented a record. His time was two-tenths under the world's mark. The track was a trifle heavy because of rain three hours before, but it wasn't any particular handicap. Morrow had one of the inside lanes, which was rather dry.

Abilene Christian College is going to get a lot of fine publicity from this talented athlete, who, some of the greatest track experts in the country predict, will be the best in the country and go to the Olympic games although he'll only be a sophomore then. Observers at the NAIA who have seen Goilliday run think Morrow will beat him. If he does he should be able to beat Smith, too.

Morrow hasn't had the opportunity of running against either of these stars this season and it's probably a good thing. Bobby, 19 years old and inexperienced in competition in the big time, has been able to build up his own confidence and also develop himself to a fine point. Saturday night he was a picture runner, a boy able to turn it on or off as he pleased. He has a great start and a pickup like a brand new automobile.

Stegemeier Goes To Charleston Ball Team

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Rice shortstop Bob Stegemeier reported to the Charleston, W. Va., club of the American Assn. yesterday.

The junior, from Wood River, Ill., bypassed a year of eligibility. He had a .289 batting average last season.

Dodgers Take Over First In Pony Loop

The combined efforts of the Scurry Butane Dodgers and Courthouse Tigers last night evicted the Von Roeder Red Sox from what had appeared to be their home at the top of the Pony League.

The Dodgers, who have lost only one game this season and who went into last night's play tied with the Red Sox for the lead, shut out the Lions Club Phillies 10-0. Also in last night's play, the Tigers took the Red Sox 5-2.

The Tigers had the lead all the way against the Red Sox, who did not score until the last two innings. A homerun by Mike Ridley with one on base in the second got the Tigers their first two runs. Then, in the fifth, they came through with three more scores, one getting home on Gale Courtney's triple, one by error, and one on Orville Paty's sacrifice. The Red Sox got their first run in the sixth on an error, and the second came in during the seventh on a passed ball. One extra base hit for the Red Sox during the game was a triple by Barry Walker.

Coleman John, who pitched the win, went all the way to allow three hits, strike out 10, and walk only two. Loser was Richard Mahan, who went four innings for two hits, three walks, and five strikeouts. His relief, Dick Hayes, gave up one hit, walked three, and struck out four in three innings.

The Dodgers' win over the Phillies lasted only five innings because of the Dodgers' 10-run lead in the fifth. Two runs were brought in on Mickey McGrew's first inning double. Other runs included three which got home in passed balls, three on errors, one walked in, and one a base awarded on a pitcher's balk. McGrew had two doubles in the game, while Jackie Peveyhouse got one for the Phillies.

Ronnie Jones, winning hurler, went all five innings to allow only one hit, walk only one, and strike out 10. Loser was Tim Roberts, who went one and one-third innings for three hits, three walks, and three strikeouts. Relieving him was Charles Popnoe, who in two and two-thirds innings fanned three, walked four, and allowed three hits. Foy Dennis, who pitched the last inning for the Phils, allowed no hits and no walks and struck out one.

Next play in the league will be Thursday night and will match the Tigers against the Dodgers and Phillies against the Red Sox.

Giants Take First LL Win Of Season

The last place team in the National Little League took its first win of the season last night, while the first place team in the American Little League continued its undefeated season.

The Quarterback Club Giants took the Kiwanis Braves 12-8 in the National League to tie the Braves for third place in the league. The American Legion Yankees, first place team in the American League, downed the West Texas Bank Athletics, last place team, 4-1 for a fifth straight season win.

The Giants appeared destined to take the win throughout the game last night. They started off by scoring two runs in the first inning, one brought in by Joe Burns' single, the other coming in by error. Each team scored once in the third, each run coming in on passed balls. In the fourth, the Giants got four runs, two when Jesse Crawford slapped a homerun with one on base, the other two singled in by Bill Prude. In the bottom of that frame, the Braves got two runs, one coming in on Richard Smith's sacrifice, the other on Bubba Fleming's double. Giants Mike Morris and Joe Rosas stole home in the fifth for two more runs, while the Braves got two on errors in that inning.

Each team got three runs in the sixth, both the Giants' runs getting home on passed balls. One Brave run was scored the same way, the other driven home on Dean Comer's single. Two more extra base hits were marked up by the Braves, but they did not drive in runs. They were doubles by Benny Minor and Richard Smith.

Crawford was winning pitcher. In six innings, he gave up seven hits, struck out three, and walked three. Loser was Dean Comer, who in three and two-thirds innings allowed six hits, walked four, and fanned three. He was relieved by Jerry Minor, who went one and two-thirds innings for no hits, four walks, and four strikeouts. Bubba Fleming finished the game. In two-thirds of the last inning, he allowed no hits, fanned two, and walked one.

The Yankees did most of their scoring in the second inning, when Jerry Guthrie's double brought in three runs. The Athletics' only run was tallied in the third when Stanley Kruse went home while a play was being made at second base. The other Yank run was in the fourth, driven in by Bobby Haigwood's single.

Trailing 4-1, the Athletics loaded up the bases in the fourth but couldn't get a run home. The only Athletic extra base hit in the game was a double by Gilbert Merritt.

Richard Samuelson pitched the win. Going throughout the game, he allowed four hits, struck out 11, and walked three. The loser, Roland Key, also pitched the whole game for four hits, seven strikeouts, and 10 walks.

In tonight's Little League play, the Lions Club Cubs, second place team in the National League, will meet the first place Rotary Club Cardinals. In the American League, the Trinity Methodist White Sox and Holder Indians will break a tie for second place.

Tigers Meet Hermleigh In City League

Ready to grab chances to improve their place in standings, the Tigers and Hermleigh will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the City Baseball League.

The Tigers are now half a game behind Tri-Service, leading team in the league. Tri-Service has a 5-2 record, while the Tiger record is 4-2.

Hermleigh is in last place but is only half a game behind third place Sun. The Sun record is 2-4, while that of Hermleigh is 2-5. Should Hermleigh win tonight, it will move ahead of Sun to take third place.

The Tigers and Sun have met twice before this season. The Tigers won both times by similar scores, 5-3. One of the games stretched to 12 innings, however.

Lubbock Win Makes WT-NM Race Tighter

By The Associated Press

The Lubbock Hubbers sneaked in a run in the 10th inning Monday night to make things even tighter in an already close West Texas-New Mexico League race.

The Lubbock run, on a single by Bobby Phillips, beat leading Pampa 6-5 and trimmed Pampa's lead to only one and a half games. Lubbock, in sixth place, is only five games out.

Plainview snapped Abilene's six-game winning string with a 3-0 victory in the first game of their double header. The Blue Sox bounced back for a 4-3 decision in the nightcap. That left Abilene two games out of first and a half game back of second-place Plainview.

In the other games, Amarillo pounded El Paso 10-2 and Albuquerque used the home run ball to get past Clovis 6-4.

The clubs will switch around Tuesday night, with Lubbock at El Paso, Pampa moving to Albuquerque, Plainview traveling to Clovis, and Abilene at Amarillo.

The United States Amateur Baseball Federation team will play 21 games in South Africa from Nov. 17 to Feb. 7.

Abilene Man Wounds Cop, Kills Himself

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—An Abilene policeman was wounded late last night and police said his assailant later killed himself following a brief gun battle with officers.

Policeman Bill Olson was shot through the nose by a .22 caliber slug about 11:15 p.m. Officers said Olson's assailant, Leroy Douglas, put a similar bullet between his own eyes shortly before midnight.

The shooting, police said, followed this series of events:

Douglas' car had been in pursuit of a car being driven by Henry Torres in which Mrs. Douglas was a passenger. Climax of the chase was a three-car collision when Torres' car struck an auto stopped at a traffic signal. Douglas' car rammed into the Torres vehicle.

The two men engaged in a fist fight and Douglas drove away before police arrived. Police traced Douglas' car through his license plates and sent two officers to his home address.

The officers, Bill Olson and J.R. Kenney, arrived at the address at the same time a taxicab bearing Mrs. Douglas arrived. She entered the police car and was talking with the officers when a shot was fired from outside the car and struck Olson in the face

Kenney rolled out of the car and exchanged five shots with the gunman. Olson, though wounded, called police headquarters by radio and remained upright as he made the report.

Kenney ordered the house vacated and fired a shotgun blast over the roof. Immediately afterward, Douglas' car was driven away from the rear of the residence across open country.

Fifteen policemen searched the nearby Catclaw Creek area.

They heard several shots and located Douglas' car. When they closed in, they found Douglas sprawled partially out of the seat on the driver's side, two bullet wounds in his head.

Officers said a blood-splattered suicide note, filling four pages of small notebook paper, was found in the car seat.

Graham Has Competition

PARIS (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham got some tough competition from the elements last night. A violent thunderstorm nearly drowned out his voice midway through the second meeting of his Paris crusade.

Some of the 6,000 persons gathered in the sprawling Velodrome d'Hiver sports arena for the service hurriedly shifted seats when the rain leaked through the roof at half a dozen points.

The attendance was about 2,500 less than at Sunday's opener in the five-day crusade. But the 37-year-old North Carolina minister said the audience was "much larger than I expected on Monday night."

"I'm glad the rain has come," he told the crowd. "I know you need rain in Paris and I was a farmer once, so I am thankful for the rain."

When he called for decisions for Christ, 356 persons moved forward. Sunday night there were 623.

Two Paris newspapers criticized Graham's platform manner and delivery yesterday but the conservative Le Monde said it would be "unjust and disagreeable" to object to his "American style."

"Billy Graham's technique," Le Monde said, "may shock the sensitivity of European 'intellectuals.' But the fact is that he succeeds. The French Protestants who did not hesitate to bring Billy Graham here, despite certain misgivings, have made no mistake."

Graham's sermons here are translated as he speaks by a French pastor standing beside him.

Airman Convicted Of Stealing Plaque

DENVER (AP) — An airman from Kansas City has been convicted of stealing a plaque and a time capsule from atop Pike's Peak.

The plaque, unveiled last September, commemorates the first flight of an airplane with a turbo-jet supercharger. The time capsule, containing messages to future generations, was to be opened in 2053.

A federal court jury yesterday convicted Edward James Wenski Jr. of swiping the items. Wenski said he pried out the plaque and the capsule beneath it for souvenirs.

Sentence was deferred pending hearing of a new trial motion. The offense carries a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 in fines.

Russia Gets Formal Bid To Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia yesterday received a formal invitation to a top-level Big Four meeting at Geneva, Switzerland, to start July 18. The United States, Britain and France suggested four days of talks.

The Western invitation, delivered in Moscow, came as no surprise. The suggested place and date came out over the weekend.

In their note, made public here, the Western Powers referred to "divergent views" on the proposed meeting place. They recalled that Russia had suggested Vienna while they had wanted the talks to be held in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Proposing Geneva as a compromise site, they spoke of that city's "excellent facilities" and said the Swiss government is in accord with the idea. They asked an early reply so arrangements can be made.

There was no immediate Russian reaction, but the Soviet news agency Tass said early today Secretary of State Dulles was "still talking from a policy of strength and periling the prospects of Big Four summit talks."

Tass was referring to a speech Dulles made yesterday at the University of South Carolina commencement in Columbia.

In that talk, Dulles voiced doubt that the top-level Big Four talks will relax international tensions and he cautioned that 'for some time" the United States must "live as a nation that is imperiled."

In London, the Conservative Daily Telegraph came up with an idea for official invitations to President Eisenhower to visit Britain and France en route to the Big Four talks.

The newspaper, which often reflects the thinking in Prime Minister Eden's government, said, "Nothing could so dramatically symbolize Western solidarity on the eve of the great conference . . ."

Mother Foils Kidnap Try

PORTLAND, Ore (AP)—Mrs. Lillian Weinstein, with the aid of her mother, early yesterday beat off a man who attempted to kidnap one of her children.

The intruder left behind a gun and a note demanding $20,000 ransom.

Jesse Moore, 64, a Portland machinist, reported that his .45-caliber pistol had been stolen Sunday night and he identified it as the one found at the Weinstein home.

Detective Capt. William Browne said Moore was being held for investigation but no charges had been filed. Moore denied any knowledge of the kidnap attempt.

Mrs. Weinstein, an attractive woman in her early 30s, is the daughter of a millionaire Portland manufacturer. She is divorced.

She told police the intruder broke in through a window. She grappled with him and was knocked down several times, once from a blow with the pistol.

He was about to throw a typewriter at her when her mother rushed into the room and shoved him. He dropped the typewriter and jumped back out through the window.

A neighbor, William L. Monahan, aroused by the uproar, fired a shot from his own pistol into the ground outside. That drove the intruder away.

In the room at the time were Mrs. Weinstein's daughter Leslie, 10, and her twin sons Robert and Richard, 6.

"I just knew I had to fight or get killed. I guess I'm lucky to be alive, but I put up a pretty good fight, don't I?" she said.

Peiping Claims Cure For Its Dust Storms

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio said today Red China is doing something about dust storms but the United States isn't.

Peiping said the government is vigorously pushing reforestation but "in the United States, where the dust storms have been expanding in size every year, the people of the Great Plains are being told that the best hope they can have is that the dry cycle will end as in the 1930s."

NOW! ALL-ELECTRIC COOLING AND HEATING

New HEAT PUMP automatically cools and heats your entire home from a single compact unit . . . electrically!

Modern science has developed the all-electric Heat Pump, a completely new and different central system method of cooling and heating your home — electrically.

The Heat Pump both cools and heats from the same self-contained compact unit. The same pump that draws heat out of your house in summer reverses itself in winter and pumps heat into your house. It changes from heating to cooling, or back again to heating, automatically . . . even within the same day or same hour.

The all-electric Heat Pump is adaptable to new or existing homes of any design. The single unit can be installed indoors or outdoors. If the Heat Pump is to be exposed to view indoors it can be finished to blend with the decor of any room. The same ducts carry cool air or heated air, as required for your comfort.

While the Heat Pump is a new development of engineering, it has been thoroughly tested in installations now operating in homes and businesses throughout the country, including many in Texas, where it is providing proven, practical, dependable cooling and heating 365 days a year. It's the new, fully automatic, all-electric way to year 'round comfort.

Investigate the advantages of an all-electric Heat Pump for your home or place of business . . . today!

HOW THE HEAT PUMP OPERATES

Heat Pump operation involves two basic principles. (1) Indoor heating or cooling is a matter of transferring heat from one place to another, and (2) heat can be extracted from air, soil and water — even in coldest weather.

In summer, the Heat Pump operates as a refrigerated air conditioner. It extracts heat from air, pumps the heat outdoors, and circulates the cooled air throughout the house.

In winter, the Heat Pump automatically reverses itself and operates as a heating unit. It extracts heat that exists in one of the outdoor sources—air, soil or water—and uses it to raise the temperature of air that it circulates throughout the home.

For additional information about the all-electric Heat Pump, come by our office or write us. We'll be glad to answer your questions and provide other assistance at no obligation.

SEEKS REPATRIATION—Former Army Cpl. Otho G. Bell, an American prisoner of war who chose to remain behind the Iron Curtain, has written his wife, Jewell, in Olympia, Wash., that he wants to return home. Bell has said he wants to return home to see his daughter, Paula, 4, who was born after he was sent to Korea.

Integration In Oklahoma Colleges Set

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Oklahoma Board of Regents for Higher Education has ordered the integration of white and Negro students at all state-supported colleges.

The historic order, affecting 18 colleges, is effective at the start of the fall term in September. The vote by the board yesterday was 8-1.

The action is in line with the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling that public schools should complete integration "as soon as feasible." It also brings to a climax an integration process started six years ago when the high court ordered graduate Negro students admitted to Oklahoma colleges.

Since then enrollment of Negroes in the graduate fields has become common and there has been no adverse reaction.

Under the motion, governing boards and presidents of the colleges were authorized to accept enrollment of all Negro students who qualify for admission.

Negro leaders hailed the action as the final victory in their fight for equal opportunities in higher education.

Gov. Raymond Gary said the Board of Regents had to accept integration. "The Supreme Court has rendered its decision and handed down the mandate," he said.

Gary said in common schools desegregation will have to be worked out on a local basis.

Driver Is Termed Menace On Land, Sea

DETROIT (AP)—Termed a "menace on land or sea," Louis Morabito was ordered not to pilot a boat for the next four months. He was convicted of reckless driving on the Detroit River.

Morabito already has had his automobile driver's permit revoked.

"And don't take up flying," Traffic Judge George T. Murphy cautioned Morabito.

Scelba Group Hails Gains In Elections

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Premier Mario Scelba's pro-Western Christian Democrats today hailed their victory in the Sicilian regional elections as one with far-reaching consequences for all of Italy.

Complete returns from Sunday's elections gave the government party seven new seats in the semi-autonomous island's Regional Assembly and strong gains in popular support.

Scelba called the outcome a "magnificent accomplishment."

Their 37 seats made the Christian Democrats Sicily's biggest party by far, although it did not give them an outright majority of the 90-member chamber. They are expected to govern with the support of the Monarchists, who won nine seats and had been the Christian Democrats' allies in the previous assembly.

The Christian Democrats scored their gains at the expense of the Fascist ISM (Italian Social Movement) and the minor center parties. The Communists and their Socialist allies also increased their popular vote, but their combined representation remained at 30 seats.

This is the new alignment (former seating in parentheses):

Christian Democrats 37 (30); Communists 20, Socialists 10 (formerly combined 30); Fascists 9 (11), National Monarchists 8 (8), Popular Monarchists 1 (0), Liberals 3 (5), anti-Communist Socialists and Republicans 2 (3), independents and other 0 (8).

For the past four years the Christian Democrats had to depend on support from both the Monarchists and Fascists to govern. The alliance with the Fascists often was embarrassing to the national government in Rome. Now the tieup won't be needed.

The use of marines (solidiers on warships) dates as far back as naval history.

Tagged Bird Found Near Japan's Shore

SENDAI, Japan (AP)—To the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington:

You are hereby notified that flabbergasted Japanese fishermen found a metal ring on the leg of a big gull-like bird captured in the Pacific about 50 miles off Japan over the weekend.

The ring bore the inscription "Notify Fish & Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C." Prof. Masakichi Hatanaka of Tohoku University said he never had heard of a bird flying all the way from the United States.

Follows Directions Right Into River

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Where's the hospital?" Michael Toth asked a bystander.

"Just keep walking straight ahead."

Toth did—smack into the Ohio River.

Fished out by police, Toth, 48, was charged with drunkenness and breach of peace.

Picture Of BabyKangaroo Proves Costly

BALTIMORE (AP)—The first baby kangaroo in the history of the Baltimore Zoo made a brief public debut yesterday and a photographer—laboring above and beyond the call of duty—snapped his picture.

George Cook got his very candid shot from the neighboring cage, which normally houses a species of the genus papio, or baboon.

Cook and Eddie Nolan, Sunpapers photographers, alternated for 18 payroll hours in the baboon cage waiting for the baby—or Joey, as they're called in Australia—to show his face. The baboon had been moved out.

The Baltimore Zoo's Joey is believed to be about 3 months old. The Joey—hairless, blind and only about an inch long at birth—stays fastened inside the mother's pouch until it is about 3 months old. Then it emerges little by little from the pouch—something like Junior venturing forth from the stag line at his first dance—and begins to nibble at the greenstuff his mom eats.

Late in April, someone thought they spotted activity a little south of Mrs. K's mid-section. Photographers waited that time for a shot, but got nothing.

Day before yesterday, Nolan and Cook decided the time had come. They set up their stake-out in the baboon cage. Nolan, taking the first watch, had just settled down in his chair with his camera and lit a cigarette when a touring group of school kids came by.

Nolan didn't have a chance. A fresh, young comedian yelled: "Hey, look at that baboon."

The ordeal ended after Cook had waited for two hours yesterday. The Joey, looking more like a scared pup than a kangaroo, stuck his head out of Mama's pouch, then once more withdrew from the hurly-burly.

Child Burned During Rescue

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Arthur Robinson Jr., 7, suffered severe burns yesterday while rescuing his 2-month-old brother from a flash fire that destroyed their trailer home in suburban Chesterfield, Mo.

Hazel Ann, his 9-year-old sister, died in the flames.

The baby escaped injury. Young Arthur suffered first and second-degree burns of the face, arms and legs.

Mrs. Arthur J. Robinson, 37, said she was cooking on a bottle-gas stove when flames swept through the trailer "like lightning." She and the boy rushed outside screaming but Arthur returned quickly and got the baby from the sofa.

"I went in too," Mrs. Robinson said, "but I couldn't get to Hazel because of the flames. She was in the back bedroom and probably wasn't able to get the door open."

Mrs. Robinson was treated for burns and released from a hospital. Only a year ago fire destroyed the family's six - room home at Licking, Mo. No one was at home at that time.

Ford leads all low-priced cars

in V-8 power

(with a Y-block V-8 that delivers new Trigger-Torque "GO")

Of all the low-priced V-8's, only Ford's Y-block V-8 has an extra-deep engine block to give you smoother, quieter, longer-lasting "GO"! This brilliant V-8, with Trigger-Torque response, obeys your commands instantly ... gives you new confidence in traffic... allows you to pass more safely, too. And Ford's short-stroke design and Automatic Power Pilot spell extra savings every mile.

in years-ahead looks

(with styling inspired by the Thunderbird)

Only Ford brings you the years-ahead beauty of Thunderbird styling ... the "let's go" look of Thunderbird lines. The lower roof line, longer body line and flatter rear deck all say "fine car." And inside, the smartly tailored Luxury Lounge interiors feature freshly beautiful colors and fabrics appearing for the first time in any car.

in smoother going

(with Angle-Poised Ball-Joint Suspension)

No matter where you go, this advanced form of Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension smooths your way. The springs have been tilted back to smooth out the bumps from the front as well as the up-and-down bumps. Even the smooth roads seem smoother!

in modern power assists

(with new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic and new SelectAire Conditioner)

You can have your Ford as automatic as you want ... at a price you want to pay. Power can help you shift, steer, stop ... move windows and seat both up and down ... even condition the air you breathe.

in choice of models

(with 16 models including 5 different Station Wagons)

No other car offers you so many models to choose from. And in station wagon choice—whether you prefer 2 doors or 4 ... seats for 6 or 8—Ford has a best-seller beauty to suit your needs.

and in resale value

(with a higher return on your investment)

The final proof of Ford's extra worth is in its resale value. Ford has traditionally returned a higher portion of its original cost at resale than any other car in the low-price field. Why not get the whole Ford worth-more story at your Ford Dealer's. Once you do, we feel sure, you'll never want to settle for less than Ford.

Ford the new best seller....

sells more because it's worth more!

Dr. Salk Answers Vaccine Questions

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk today answered some of the most critical questions in parents' minds about his polio vaccine.

Does just one shot give some protection?

Yes, Salk said. It gives a large degree of protection, lasting up to six months or longer.

If a child has had one shot, is paralytic polio more likely or less likely to occur?

Less likely, he said.

Does the giving of one shot increase his chances of getting polio?

No. It reduces the chances.

Does the second shot have to be given soon?

No, he said. It apparently can be delayed for up to 30 months, without having to start the vaccination process all over again.

Can the second shot be given during summertime, when polio may be prevalent?

Yes. It is perfectly safe to give the second shot then.

Should a child be given his first shot during summertime, when polio may be widespread?

The consensus is that it can be given then, Salk said. There can be a risk, but it is slight on a communitywide basis.

Can a child who has been vaccinated pass polio on to his brothers, sisters or parents?

Yes, this is possible, and this could explain some of the cases of polio occurring now in families of vaccinated children.

Salk explained why this can happen, in an address to the American Medical Assn., and in a question-and-answer news conference.

He said the vaccine is designed to prevent paralytic polio by creating antibodies in a child's bloodstream against the three types of polio virus which can cause human paralysis.

The vaccine cannot prevent polio virus from entering the child's body and infecting him. It's intended to prevent those viruses from hitting at his nerves and causing paralysis. The antibodies in the blood can intercept the viruses before they get to his central nervous system.

But he can pass the virus from his body—even though it doesn't harm the vaccinated child—on to other persons, in the normal but still unexplained way by which polio virus is transmitted from person to person. For a time, the vaccinated child can be a "carrier" of polio virus.

Yale Club Is Assessed Fine

SIMSBURY, Conn., (AP)—A town justice fined a Yale alumni club $50 last night for running a raffle and said its members should have known better than to break the law.

The raffle was held at a scholarship fund-raising outing here last month, and the winner of a new car was retired Connecticut Supreme Court Justice William M. Maltbie—who 17 years ago upheld a state law banning raffles.

Trial Justice Francis J. Gallagher fined the Yale Club of Hartford after its officers pleaded no contest. Gallagher said he wasn't highly in favor of the law but:

"Volunteer fire companies and church groups had to give up using lotteries because of this law. Now we have a well-educated group of men. . . . Undoubtedly many of them realized that this was a violation of the law. It's on the books and has to be enforced."

Maltbie, who bought a ticket but didn't attend the outing, had said he was embarrassed by winning the automobile and that he was going to sell it, turning the money over to the Yale alumni fund. Maltbie said he did not understand that the ticket he bought had anything to do with a raffle.

About 8 per cent of U.S. people are over 60 years old compared to 4 per cent in 1900.

Carr Has Backing For Speaker's Post

AUSTIN (AP)—A quietly efficient West Texas lawmaker who favors shorter sessions of the Legislature than this one seems to have the inside track for speakership of the next session.

He is 36-year-old Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, who claims the written, pledged support of 95 of the 150 present House members for speaker of the 55th session.

Carr would succeed Rep. Jim Lindsey of Texarkana, who is not a candidate to succeed himself.

Another possible candidate is Rep. Horace Houston of Dallas.

Carr's claim of 95 assured votes is presumed on all those members seeking reelection in 1956, and winning. Unless there is a more drastic than usual House turnover, the pledges give him a long head start against any other candidate.

Carr told reporters he would not oppose an effort to streamline operations in the House by trimming the number of standing committees from 43 to 25 and limiting each representative to service on no more than these committees.

One of the powers wielded by the speaker is his exclusive privilege of naming committees and their chairmen. These are the committees that process bills before they can reach the floor for debate. The speaker also has great influence in speeding up or retarding the progress of legislation.

Carr believes the Legislature could take a long stride in the direction of getting its work done in the constitutionally-suggested 120-day limit by working harder. He thinks the House should stay in session every week, from the opening, from Monday through Friday.

The current session, running a month late and its members without pay since May 10, saw only a few Friday House meetings although it declared that a 5-day week policy would be followed early in the session.

Carr was active in legislative redistricting work and is a three-term veteran of the House. He has also been the sparkplug in much legislation tightening up on criminal laws, and served as a member of the House Crime Investigating Committee in 1951-53.

He married Ernestine Story of Tahoka and they have one son. David, 5. Carr was born in Hunt County, graduated from high school at Lubbock, from Texas Tech and the University of Texas Law School. He served as a pilot and intelligence officer in the Air Force in World War II, and was county attorney at Lubbock.

He is a Methodist and active in Boy Scout and other civic work.

Firm Asks Injunction After Phones Tied Up

HOUSTON (AP)—A Houston firm, claiming its six telephone lines were tied up all day, obtained a temporary restraining order against a nationwide credit clothing firm.

A petition filed yesterday by Horton & Horton, shell and sand dealer, alleged representatives of Lane's credit clothiers tied up the six telephone lines while trying to collect a debt from one of the Horton firm's employes.

Horton seeks a permanent injunction to prohibit "harassment" and damages totaling $15,000 for business lost May 31.

There's A Big Difference In 'Red' Apparel

By EDDY GILMORE

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — One of the biggest differences between Tito communism and Khrushchev's brand is reflected in state-produced panties for ladies.

In Russia, the first country in modern times to nationalize bloomers, they are long in the leg, elastic at top and bottom and coming in only two colors — blue and purple.

But here panties are on sale in many styles, and in colors as varied as the rainbow—green, yellow, pink, black and flesh shades.

Girdles and garter belts are as hard to find in Red Russia as millionaire bankers, but here they're as common as plums.

Russian slips, which are short, most always made of cotton and with no more styling than a stove pipe, are plentiful. Because the Soviets don't make nightgowns, slips are often worn instead of gowns.

Lack of familiarity with flimsy nightgowns once led to a major social blunder in the U.S.S.R.

Three wives of generals, whose husbands had liberated an armful of nighties in Berlin, wore them to a Red army reception thinking they were evening dresses.

In all of Russia there are few, if any, factories manufacturing bathing suits.

In Yugoslavia girls can buy them. Some are as dainty as a delicate cloud in a high summer sky, but vastly smaller.

"You should see my Bikini," said a Zagreb actress. "A girl friend mailed it to me in a regular sized envelope."

When it comes to bras, however, Russia comes out ahead.

This article of feminine underwear is as common as samovars and one of the really cheap things in Soviet land, costing less than a dollar.

An American visitor to Moscow once said, "The women of this country either have the best bras or the best chests in the world."

Things haven't developed that far in Yugoslavia.

'Gate Crasher' Found At Drive-In Theater

LONG BEACH, Calif., (AP)—Drive-in theater proprietor Milt Arthur encountered a man with a shovel trying to dig under his fence. The unidentified shoveler, pressed for an explanation, said he could see the giant screen from his nearby home, but the sound rarely come through. He said he was trying to hook a speaker wire onto one of the theater sound wires.

"Scram," said Arthur.

Outstanding Young Man Draws Suspension

HOUSTON, Tex., (AP) — Texas J. Foster, named one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1952, has been suspended from the Houston police force.

Police Chief Jack Heard said the 29 - year - old policeman was suspended indefinitely for "conduct unbecoming an officer." Foster said he will appeal to the city Civil Service Board.

He was honored by the Junior Chamber for his undercover narcotics investigation among Texas teen-agers.

Heard relieved Foster after a fellow officer was wounded slightly in a shooting at a woman's home. Foster said the shooting was accidental. Heard quoted the officers that they had been drinking and the shooting climaxed horseplay during a social call.

Stevenson, Clement To Speak In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, and Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee will be principal speakers tonight at a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 Democrats are expected to attend. The funds are being raised for the recent mayoralty campaign. Winner in the election was Mayor Richard J. Daley, a Democrat. Daley served as state director of revenue during Stevenson's term as governor of Illinois, 1948-52.

Thief's Reward Small

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A thief knocked down Maurice Schachter, 68, a drugstore clerk on the way to a bank, snatched his briefcase and fled. The briefcase contained only a raincoat.

Father's batting average on most things is pretty good. But it has been our observation that he is often more demanding of comfort for his family than for himself. A lot of fathers who should know better are still struggling through the summer in the rumpled discomfort of a suit that was never intended for hot weather wear.

Father's Day provides the perfect opportunity for the family to prove that occasionally they know what's best for fathers by remembering him with the very special gift of a new summer suit. There is a wide choice of fabrics to choose from in the famous 'BOTANY' Brand '500' suits — fine wools spun to feather lightness and toughened with Dacron to keep them crisp and neat through the hottest days. Other light, supple wools, brightened with silk. Still others with mohair — all in the new, cool, dark shades that need a minimum of cleaning. It is a very special day. So why not surprise him with a special gift certificate (you can budget it just like any other purchase) and then come in with him to share in the pleasure of helping him pick a whole summer of good looking comfort — with love.
