Visit Texas County Seats in Non-Stop Run

Leveland Men to Attempt Unique Endurance Test in Ford

The flight of the ship "Fort Worth" placed not only Fort Worth but all of Texas in the spotlight, and now three men at Levelland, out on the South Plains, are to attempt a different kind of an endurance test that is expected to create a national interest.

These men will leave June 20 on a non-stop trip in a Ford car to visit each of the 252 county seat towns in Texas. The trip is estimated to be from 40,000 to 50,000 miles, and the time required will be much more than the 172 hours that the ship "Fort Worth" soared in the Texas skies.

H. C. Gore, W. C. Breedlove and Walter Wright are the men to make the test. The start will be made to the north with Olton, the county seat of Lamb County, the first of the 252 county seats to be visited and Dallas scheduled to be the last.

The "Ford Musketeers" will travel day and night and expect to create a lot of favorable attention over the nation for Hockley County, one of the youngest counties in the state, as well as for the South Plains of Texas, where 5,000,000 acres of virgin agricultural land awaits development on the level prairies.

Information about Levelland and the South Plains will be handed out at every town visited.

WEST TEXAS PRESS MEETS JULY 12-13

Announcement has been made by the entertainment committee of the Sweetwater Board of City Development that plans are fully maturing for the greatest meeting ever held of the association which will have its fourth annual convention starting July 12.

One of the noteworthy accomplishments of the Sweetwater men will be the entertainment of every registered delegate with free plane rides over the city, together with luncheons, banquets, barbecues, golf match, shooting contests at the Gun Club and every known entertainment is to be shown the visitors.

Hon. Paul T. Vickers of Midland will be the toastmaster at the banquet Friday night, July 12.

FLOCK OF ICE PLANTS

Glen Sample of the Citizens Ice Company has spent the past several days in Snyder and tells us that he expects to have the Lovington, N. M. ice plant in operation within the next few days, and the Jal, N. M. plant finished July 15. Following that he expects to open up another plant at Presidio, down on the Rio Grande.

Mr. Sample has made wonderful progress since having started the local plant, and the best wishes of the Times-Signal go with him in whatever town or whatever clime he starts more ice plants. He will soon be able to state that he is interested in a "flock of ice plants" and what could be sweeter?

FREE MAIL DELIVERY FOR FLOYDADA SEPTEMBER 1

The U. S. Post Office Department has authorized free city mail delivery for Floydada, effective September 1, according to a message received last week by the Floyd County Hesperian from Congressman Marvin Jones. ## WADE'S SUCCESSOR TO BE NAMED ON JUNE 20

A. M. Bourland, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, meeting with other officials of the organization at Vernon Tuesday afternoon, decided to convene again at Abilene on June 20 for the purpose of selecting a successor to Homer D. Wade as general manager.

Wade resigned recently to become general manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

KNOW TEXAS

With geologists believing most of Texas' mineral wealth is still undiscovered or undeveloped, the state's mineral output in 1928 was valued at $435,000,000.

The future possibilities of Texas' agriculture may be guessed at from the fact that only 30,000,000 of its 97,000,000 acres are under cultivation.

In 1920 Texas had 29 cities of above 10,000 population and five above 50,000. The 1930 census is expected to show 50 cities above 10,000 and eleven of above 50,000 with one and possibly four above 200,000. Since 1920 Texas has grown in population at the rate of more than

Licensed Pilot Leases Yoder Field and Ship

R. L. Lowry, Experienced Aviator, Heads Snyder Flying Service

Yoder Field had its first baptism of a home-owned plane taking off from the field Monday with the arrival here of R. L. Lowry of Plainview, a government licensed air pilot, who has taken over the leasing of the field and airplane from Mr. Yoder. Mr. Lowry, with near 2,000 flying hours to his credit, will open a flying school here.

When the mammoth three seater Curtiss Robin plane took off with Pilot Lowry at the controls, Fred Yoder was the first passenger. Following a circuit of the down town district, the plane returned to the field, making a perfect landing. D. P. Yoder enjoyed the second ride. Previous to the trial flights, a complete overhaul of the entire plane had been made.

Mr. Lowry first secured his training at the Glendale Airport, Los Angeles, and knows the aviation game from start to finish and feels highly elated over becoming a new citizen of Snyder, as well as aiding in the most remarkable commercial business of today in the advancement of aviation. The local airport has received remarkable publicity in all parts of the state together with national news agencies and aviation journals vieing in their efforts to pay compliments to a small city that is so "air-minded" that boasts of a field that would do credit to any city of 100,000 population in the country.

The Times-Signal wants to join the citizenship of Snyder in a genuine hearty welcome to Pilot Lowry. It is this paper's hope that his flying school may have more applications than can be handled at the start and that health, wealth and success may meet his every forward step in the best little city in West Texas.

MITCHELL-SCURRY ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR REVIVAL SEASON

W. D. Green, the newly elected missionary of the Mitchell-Scurry Association, in his characteristic way is bringing things to pass on that great field. In last week's issue of the Colorado Record appeared the following glowing account of his work:

The Workers' meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry Association, which met at Hermleigh Tuesday, May 7, went down in history as a mountain peak hour with the workers of the association.

There was a large attendance, and everybody was in fine spirit, and looking forward to the coming soul winning campaign which is now approaching, with prayerful hearts that this may be the greatest year in the history of the association.

The missionary for the Mitchell-Scurry Association has 17 meetings dated for the four-months campaign. Several of the pastors have agreed to hold some mission meetings so as to reach every mission point in the association, and this association has the finest and some of the most capable pastors in all the far-stretching West, and the most loyal laymen as board members it has ever been my privilege to work with. So, with the help of our Father who has all power, I see no reason why we should not win.

As missionary of the association, I wish to visit every church, but in case we fail to reach some of our churches before we enter the campaign, I take this opportunity to plead with every Baptist in this section of God's vineyard, both young and old, to join hands and hearts with your missionary as co-workers with God and go in to win or die on the firing line. As Martha said to Mary, "The Master has come and is calling for you." Oh, that every Christian would answer in the language of the prophet Isaiah, "Lord, here am I, send me."

We have only one pastorless church now. We have just closed a few days meeting with the church at Gail. At the close of the meeting the church called Brother D. G. Wells as pastor. He is now on the field at Fluvanna for half time. We trust he may accept the work, as we believe he can do the work that will meet the demands of this noble little group. I find some of God's jewels in Borden County, and many others for the glory of God. My soul longed to continue the meeting and win some of them, but the closing of the school seemed to demand all the time and thought, so we decided to close with the Mothers Day program.

W. D. GREEN, Missionary.

BIG RAINS DAMAGE GARZA COUNTY CROPS

Lee Davis was up the past-end from Garza County, stating that the heavy hail dd much damage to crops in that section, hundreds of acres having to be replanted.

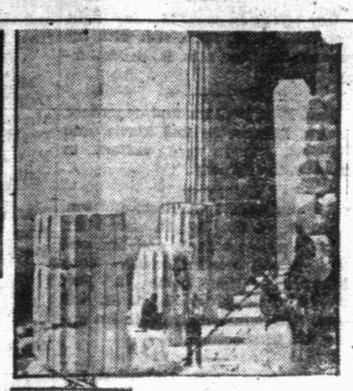

However, there is plenty of time for replanting and harvesting of bumper crops with favorable conditions in the future.—Texas Spur.

Globe Circling Students En Route Home

Higher education on the high seas. A class on the ship's deck. Who wouldn't love to go to school a la world cruise.

The ship at Adalia, Turkey-in-Asia, seen through a breach in the ancient fortifications built by the Saracens.

Athens — Art students visit ruins of the Acropolis to see "the glory that was Greece."

Siamese temple. The two figures guarding the entrance are supposed to repel evil spirits and protect the worshipers.

PARIS. — Their memories crowded with thrilling experiences in strange lands throughout the world, the one hundred young American men and women students who sailed from New York eight months ago on the annual educational expedition of Floating University are now in Paris on the last lap of their itinerary.

Recognized officially as a representative body of American students everywhere they went, the Floating University students received many unusual courtesies in China, they penetrated into the interior guarded by a gunboat loaned by the Chinese Nationalist Government. Disembarking with a military escort for protection from the bandits who infest the region, they spent a night in an ancient Chinese monastery located on a high mountain top. The journey up the mountain was made in sedan chairs carried by coolies.

In Siam, the traveling students were received by King Rama VII, and during the whole of their stay they lived in Phya Thai Palace. Mid-term examinations were held in a pavilion in the royal gardens, and according to a statement issued by Laurence B. Wallis, registrar of the University, from his office in the Graybar Building, New York City, the students showed themselves proficient in their studies.

Sailing up the Nile to Luxor, the students visited Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb in the Valley of Kings. By special arrangement with the Egyptian Government, they were permitted to inspect the inner rooms of the tomb, where practically everything is made of gold. The students also visited the oldest Christian church in the world, located at Abu Seregh.

It has been announced that the 1929-1930 student body of Floating University will number one hundred and fifty, evenly divided between men and women. Many of the students will be candidates for the B.A., M.A. and B.W.A. degrees. The latter degree, Bachelor of World Affairs, is Floating University's own distinctive degree.

Going Ahead Snyder

The City Council will be giving Snyder a long boost ahead with the early completion of naming the streets and numbering of houses that all may appear in the forthcoming telephone book which will enable visitors to find out where its citizens live.

District Manager Tom A. White writes the Times-Signal Tuesday that the new phone directory will be going to press June 29th, but he has promised to hold up publication of the book for a short time to co-operate with the eftizenship in something that Snyder has long sought. The new book should have every local citizen's name therein, as having a telephone in your home is a definite need not only for your own use but that of your friends.

FORMER SNYDER WOMAN DIES IN LUBBOCK MONDAY

Mrs. M. W. Risinger, 58, who formerly lived in Snyder, died Monday afternoon at the home of her grandchildren, Robert and Eva Grubbs, at Lubbock. She had been ill about two weeks.

Funeral services were held at Lubbock yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church, Lubbock, with Dr. W. R. White, pastor, officiating. The body was shipped here yesterday with burial by the side of her husband in the Snyder cemetery. Mr. Risinger died here two years ago.

Other than grandchildren, survivors are five sons, L. V. Risinger, Lubbock; O. L. Risinger, who lives in Wisconsin; Thad Risinger, Eldorado, Kan.; Alvin Risinger, Amarillo; and Dr. M. M. Risinger; and two daughters, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Linnie Shirley.

SANITARIUM GROUP VISITS FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

The morning service at the First Baptist Church was in charge of members of the West Texas Baptist Sanitarium staff of Abilene. Rev. S. F. Baucom, field representative of the institution, had charge of the service. Supt. and Mrs. L. A. Sanders and their two sons, and one of the nurses were in the party.

Mrs. Sanders sang a soprano solo and the boys played a trombone solo and trumpet solo respectively. Supt. Sanders told some of the experiences encountered at the hospital and stressed the need of funds to take care of charity work at the institution. A liberal offering was received.

SIMMONS UNIVERSITY TO OFFER DERTHICK CLASS THIS YEAR

Miss Lucile Auten of Abilene Will Direct New System of Correlated Arts

Miss Lucile Auten of Abilene, who several years ago resided with her mother, Mrs. Alice Auten, in Snyder, has accepted the directorship of the Derthick classes in Simmons University, having been elected at a recent meeting of the board of trustees.

Simmons University has been chosen by Wilbur M. Derthick, well known educator, author and originator of the Derthick Classes in Correlated Arts, as the first college in the United States to have these classes as a part of the regular curriculum, carrying two term hours of college credit.

The course consists of a series of programs, correlating the three arts, music, painting and poetry, in a unique manner, and represents a lifetime of painstaking research on the part of educational leaders. These programs will be presented by professional and semi-professional talent.

The class is not confined to students of the university, and it is expected that many who are interested in things cultural will take the course. The work will be concentrated and intensive, the entire series of programs being given in twelve weeks. The classes began with the opening of the summer term June 7 and are meeting twice a week, the programs being one hour in length.

Miss Auten's election to this position came about as the result of a suggestion by Dr. Derthick himself, who designated her as one fitted by nature, education and experience to carry on this work in colleges.

Miss Auten holds an A. B. degree and B. Mus. degree from Baylor College and has done graduate study in both Chicago and New York. Her major in literary work is English poetry, while piano and voice vied for first place on the musical degree. She has devoted three years to a study of speech arts and has spent some time in the study of art.

FAMILY REUNION

Mrs. J. Longbotham had the pleasure of entertaining her children at a family reunion Sunday in which a fine time was enjoyed by those present who included Mrs. G. A. Stark, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Roach and sons, Seminole; Victor Longbotham and family; Sweetwater; Bernard Longbotham and family of Snyder.

Warm weather is not retarding many renewals to the paper.

KEEP COOL, FOLKS!

Pilot "Slim" Lowry of Yoder Field gave the Times editor his first ride in a Snyder-owned plane Monday afternoon, carrying us around the city limits several times, and the air above was wonderfully cool.

Any local citizen feeling that the heat is entirely to intense should complete arrangements for a ride above and find out for themselves what a "grand and glorious feeling" it is to soar above old Mother Earth.

Snyder is indeed lucky to have such a wonderful field, such a wonderful plane and such an expert and experienced pilot as "Slim" Lowry.

LARGE CROWD SEES NEW COTTON CHOPPER WORK

Around fifty men each day witnessed the demonstration of R. S. Moore's recently patented cotton chopper west of town last Friday and Saturday. Representatives of the International Harvester Co. and the J. I. Case Plow Works saw the demonstration and are contemplating putting it on the market in a big way, according to Mr. Moore.

The cotton chopper proper is an attachment to be placed on the front end of an ordinary slide go-devil. In combination with his implement, which is usually used first in cotton after it is up to a full stand, the chopper completes a fine farm tool that appears to be entirely practical. It may be placed on other ordinary farm implements, however, Mr. Moore explained, and may be used in two-row combinations.

Although the model shown was manufactured by Mr. Moore himself out of rough materials and by hand, it is a workable product and gives promise of becoming a prominent adjunct to the farmer's equipment in the future.

One of the benefits of the chopper is that the farmer, knowing that he has a way of thinning his cotton to the desired interval, may plant the seed thicker and thus take no chances on not getting a stand, whereas, with the cost of hand chopping so high, he usually plants thin expecting not to have to chop, the result being a poor stand in a good many instances.

OLD RESIDENT DIES SUNDAY AFTER RECENT OPERATION

C. C. Patterson, 77, for 36 years a resident of Scurry County, died Sunday morning at the Emergency Hospital following a recent operation.

Mr. Patterson has lived in Snyder for the past 24 years and was well known in this section.

Funeral services were held at the Snyder cemetery at 3 p. m. Sunday, Rev. G. S. Hardy, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. Patterson was a loyal member

New Tourist Camp To Be Located Here

Dallas Man to Build Modern Layout on Eastern City Limits

Construction of a new and modern tourist camp and filling station was started Tuesday morning on a five-acre plot of ground one block south of the Last Chance Filling Station on the east highway by F. M. Watters of Dallas. Mr. Watters has been in the tourist camp game at Coleman and recently sold his place there and had his eyes on Snyder to build a camp located on the Dal-Paso Cavern Highway.

According to the builder, ten cabins of stucco exterior are to be built at once, and if possible to secure city water and gas, sixteen will be the total to be constructed. Water is being piped at the present time from a supply at the rear of the property, and the builder is hoping that the gas company and city will bring a supply of both water and gas to the property that another modern tourist camp may be located in Snyder. The five-acre tract was purchased of Mrs. Logan and is one of the most desirable tracts located on any highway coming into the city.

The Times-Signal wants to join in welcoming the new addition to Snyder and hopes that the camp when completed may be fully successful.

MISS MARGARET YODER RECEIVES B. MUS. DEGREE

Miss Margaret Yoder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Yoder, who has been studying piano in the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago for the past three years, is receiving her bachelor's degree June 20.

Miss Yoder studied two years under Mrs. Schmidt and the past year under Waniack. In her piano examination she made a grade of 98, and third place among thirty pupils.

She expects to spend the summer in Los Angeles accompanying, and will return to Chicago next year to work toward her master's degree which she expects to receive at the end of two years.

FORMER SNYDER BOY TELLS OF PORTO RICO SCHOOL SYSTEM

The current issue of The Texas Outlook has an interesting story from the pen of a former Snyder resident, H. V. Williams Jr., concerning the Porto Rico school system. Editorial comment accompanying the article said, "Texas could profit by taking cognizance of the effective school system of Porto Rico."

Mr. Williams last year taught in Lovington, N. M. and is now superintendent of one of the largest consolidated schools in Wichita County.

GREAT PROGRAM FOR LUEDERS ENCAMPMENT

Every day is bringing new enthusiastic reports in connection with arrangements for the seventh annual Baptist encampment at Lueders. A full course of Sunday School work will be taught the entire two weeks. Among the teachers are: G. S. Hopkins, state secretary of Dallas; Rev. I. L. Parrack, pastor of the advanced standard Sunday school of Merkel; Rev. Chas. T. Whaley, Sweetwater; Rev. G. F. Brown of Midland; Rev. E. M. Agee of Wichita Falls; Rev. W. C. Moffett of Stamford; Mrs. A. T. Douglass of Abilene and Rev. Sam Morris of Abilene.

Stewardship and Missions will be emphasized by Dr. B. L. Lockett, returned missionary from Africa, and by Rev. C. D. Owen of Abilene.

Provision has been made to take care of the children, the leaders of the athletic features are hard at work and people all over this section are planning to be on hand.

A cafeteria will be on the ground amply equipped to take care of the situation.

FIRE BOYS PREPARE SEARCH WARRANTS

According to several officers of the Snyder Fire Department, search warrants are to be issued against Firemen Nolan Von Roeder, W. W. Smith and Roy Bennett for some special pictures that were taken during the beauty pageant at Galveston. It has been intimated that the three firemen were sent to the convention with the understanding that they were to deliver back to the department separate and exclusive pictures of the bathing beauties. The pictures cannot be found, therefore the suggested search warrants are being formed.

The department wants the boys to make good—and no excuses.

Return Safe

Nolan Von Roeder informed the Times-Signal Monday that W. W. Smith and Roy Bennett and himself had returned safe and sound Friday night and that "none of us

Guy W. Green Delivering Fine Messages Here

Kansas City Layman Will Close Series of Lectures Sunday Night

Guy Green will speak at the First Presbyterian Church tonight on the subject, "His Lost Chances." The service will begin at 8:30 o'clock and will run one hour. In speaking to the Times-Signal yesterday Mr. Green said: "I consider this sermon on 'His Lost Chances' the best one I have. In this opinion I have been joined by some, but not joined by a great many others. It will be a good thing, however, for the folks of Snyder to come out and listen to this address. I am certain it will interest them."

Good crowds have been attending the Green services, especially during the present week. The auditorium was well filled at the services both Sunday morning and evening. The Sunday school attendance was gratifying, and at the close of the Sunday school hour Mr. Green spoke on "Common Sense" and extended an invitation to the young people to make public decision for Christ. Fifteen of them responded. At the close of the church service two persons joined, and another one came at night.

While some churches fear to attempt a meeting Monday night, the Presbyterians went ahead with their effort and were rewarded by a fine crowd. The Kansas City layman spoke on "Rough Waters." He said that every human being needs in the boat with him Jesus Christ, the Great Pilot who knows the rough waters. During the course of his address Mr. Green spoke of George Matheson, Fanny Crosby, Helen Keller, David Livingston and many presidents of the United States, all of whom have needed Jesus in the boat with them. He said that the humble of the world, as well as the great, needed the Pilot and cited many instances to prove this.

Tuesday night the speaker's subject was "Lamps." He found the inspiration for his message in the Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins. Mr. Green affirmed that we ought to prepare for the bridegrooms of life during the regular round of our existence. Among the bridegrooms were those of material opportunity, character test, spiritual crisis and death.

Wednesday night's subject was "Forgetting the Things that Are Behind." This address was founded on Paul's famous words, "This one thing I do. Forgetting the things that are behind and reaching forward to the things that are before I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." The speaker said that the thing for us to do is tear out of our hearts and lives and souls the bitter memories, corroding hatreds and unavailing regrets that are handicapping us, and press toward a new mark.

The speaker's subjects during the remainder of his stay here will be as follows: Friday, "Have Any of the Rulers Believed?" Saturday, "Friends That Count." Sunday morning, "The Supreme Gift." Sunday night, "The Greatest of These."

Mr. Green will finish his stay in Snyder Sunday night and then will go to Post for two weeks. Several of the Post people have been over to Snyder to hear him during his stay here. Visitors also have been numerous from other nearby towns.

"Once more," said Mr. Green to the Times-Signal this week, "I desire to call the attention of the good folks of Snyder to the fact that I am not a preacher. Neither am I much of an evangelist. I am simply a country boy who gets up and talks for 30 minutes each night and then stops because I have run out of stuff to say. If those who have not come out will hear me once, they may never come back. Then, again, they may.

"Every once in a while someone leaves his checker or domino game long enough to come out to the service. Then he goes right back to his game and swears he never will leave it again. But every twice in a while someone comes to hear me and keeps on coming.

"An old-timer came out of the church the other night and stopped to tell me he had heard the sermon I had preached so often it had grown threadbare. Of course that man has not been back. Once was all he could stand. But a lot of folks are not so disgusted as the old veteran was. They like my stuff. I am to be here only a few days longer. The folks who have not yet been in the church should come a running if they desire to see what kind of mental pabulum is being put out in the Presbyterian house of worship."

Hot weather has had no effect on Times-Signal job presses—they have been grinding out the work regularly.

A resolution voicing the attitude of the association toward constitutional amend ments soon to be submitted to voters were passed. It reads:

"Whereas, there are two constitutional amendments to be passed upon by the voters at an early date, which measures should have the fullest publicity to the end that their fates may not be determined by indifference on the part of the people. These amendments call for an increase in the number of supreme court judges and increasing the salary of the Governor,

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Texas Press Association urge its members and all newspaper editors to give careful study to the constitutional amendments to be submitted to the electorate this year, the conditions which prompted their submission to the ballot, and give such publicity to their findings as will tend to arouse the voting public to a sense of duty and representative expression.

The resolution was signed by Richard H. McCarty, R. J. Edwards, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree and C. C. Hudson, members of the court reform committee.

The next big newspaper event is the fourth annual West Texas Press Association meet at Sweetwater, July 12 and 13th.

KEEP YOUR BALANCE

Most of us have our "ups and downs."

Sometimes fortune smiles on us. We earn more than we require for our immediate needs. Then, often unexpectedly, misfortune comes and we need more than we earn. If we "live up" all of our income while we are prosperous, we will find it hard to meet reverses when they come. It is easy to balance these "ups and downs" by saving systematically and building up, while we are prosperous, a reserve against hard times that might come.

BUY IT AT HOME is not just an empty expression. Upon this practice is based community growth. When the people of any community consistently patronize local institutions for whatever goods or services they can get from them, they are laying the foundation for growth. When they fail to do this they retard progress.

Many people feel that when they give their business to some firm outside their own community it is just the "hard luck" of the local firm which loses the business.

This is not the case.

Purchases made in your community starts that amount of money in circulation in your community. Rent and taxes are paid with that money; shoes, dresses, groceries, radios, hats, needles, thread, automobiles, tires, gasoline, dentistry, school supplies—everything that is sold by anybody is bought with a part of the money that is paid for anything bought and sold in your community.

It is not any more a matter of local loyalty to buy at home than it is a matter of self-preservation. When you buy a pair of shoes, for instance, somewhere else which you might have bought at home, you not only take business away from your local shoe merchant, but you take money from your local bank and the whole town loses just that amount of circulating wealth.

It is just good, sound business practice to buy things at home. Buy at home and help your town to grow.

CANNING SEASON IN FULL BLAST

To help provide plenty of vegetables and fruit through the fall and winter for her family of five, Mrs. C. N. Rhodes of Pleasant Hill is canning these products this year, according to a canning budget. She has shown that a garden may be successfully raised here, and while she has canned with a steam pressure canner last year, this is the first time she has attempted to put up a complete supply properly balanced to give the right amount of fruits, leafy vegetables, starchy vegetables and meats. Mrs. Rhodes has thus far put up 114 containers and is confident she will complete the budget of nearly 700 cans of products outlined by Miss Jessie Lee Davis, home demonstration agent.

"Our garden and steam pressure canner is worth from $25 to $30 per month to us in saving in grocery bills," Mrs. Tom Hailey of Ira community says. She is one of the ten individual garden demonstrators in Scurry County working in co-operation with the home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Hailey has raised a garden for sixteen years and believes that if all folks realized how much a garden will furnish in fresh and canned stuff that more gardens would be found on farms. She used a steam pressure canner for five years, but this is the first time she is canning according to a well balanced budget. With the help of her daughters she is able to can 100 cans of corn in one day, or half as much again of other products.

"Our family eats at least three leafy vegetables from our garden every day and like them," declares Mrs. J. L. Carrell, who won fame as a gardner last year and who is a home demonstration club gardner again this year. "I don't know whether this keeps us well, but I do know that while we eat lots of vegetables we don't have any doctor bills," she says.

In her garden in the Union community she is growing more than 75 kinds of vegetables among which is New Zealand spinach, a comparatively new green that thrives all summer. Mrs. Carrell finds this green very easy to raise and fully as palatable as native spinach. She is one of the 128 4-H club women in the county who are raising gardens.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATION NOW IN OPERATION

The West Texas By Mail Cow Testing Association, located at the Texas Technological College and directed by K. M. Renner, head of the dairy products and manufacture department of the college, is thoroughly equipped with modern and standard equipment and is now in operation.

Several days ago supplies, instructions and other material were mailed out to twelve members that have approximately 1000 cows. The first shipment of samples of milk to be tested was received Wednesday, May 29, from J. T. Cochrell of Moran. Shackelford County, 250 miles southeast of Lubbock.

The association makes available to all farmers and dairymen of West Texas official information on the production of their dairy cattle at a nominal charge. A flat charge of $2.75 per herd and $1.00 per cow is made for membership in the association for a year. County agents over West Texas will assist farmers and dairymen in keeping their feed records.

Sterling C. Evans, district agent of the Extension Service of the Texas A. & M. College, was instrumental in organizing the association, and under his direction county agents over West Texas will promote and cooperate with the association in an effort to obtain the best possible results to the dairy farmers of West Texas.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has cooperated with the organization by buying equipment for the testing laboratories.

WHO'S GOIN' FISHIN'?

Chubby whispered to us across the counter this morning that he would enjoy signing up with some gang that intends going fishing and that he might go some place where fish are actually caught and when the "bobber" goes down, it stays down. The editor, likewise, would not be averse to hooking onto some party that is going, and if some of our kind and indulgent readers will take pity on two poor newspaper fellows who enjoy sitting along the bank waiting for that "darn bobber" to "faw down and stay down", we're ready right today to lay our fishing ambitions on the altar of sacrifice and get this fever off our brows. We want no tank fishing, but a place that has 'em—and no perhaps. Otis also says he feels the same way. So folks, here is a chance to do a real bit of Christian work. Incidentally, we don't take our hats off to any two-legged guy this side of Fort Worth when it comes to cooking. So there you are.

OLD FRIENDS

There are no friends like old friends
And none so good and true.
We greet them when we meet them
As the roses greet the dew.
No other friends are dearer,
Though born of kindred mold,
And while we prize the new ones
We treasure more the old.

There are no friends like old friends
To help us with the load
That all must bear who journey
O'er life's uneven road.
And when unconquered worries
The weary hours infest,
The kindly words of old friends
Are always found the best.

There are no friends like old friends
To calm our frequent fears
As the shadows fall and deepen
Through life's declining years
And when our faltering footsteps
Approach the Great Divide
We'll long to see the old friends
Who wait—the other side.

TO HELL OR BUST

We are privileged to print the following communication to Judge "Red" Harris who was trying to collect a bill for a client:

"Dear Mr. Harris: I got your letter about what I owe Mr. ——. Now, be pachent. I ain't forgot you. Pleez wait. When some fools pay me I pay you. If this was judgement day and you was no more prepared to meet your Master than I am to meet that account, you sure would have to go to hell. Trusting you will do this, I am yours truly."

STATE PRESS CROSSES OUR PUDDLE-JUMPER WITH JIM JONES PIGS

State Press Joe Taylor of the Dallas News, in his inimitable style as used in the Dallas News, Wednesday morning heaped more abuse on the now famous stolen "puddle-jumper" that the Nolan County News lambasted, and to can it all off, State Press "crosses" up said puddle-jumper with the record birth of 19 pigs to the sow belonging to J. A. J. Jones of Fluvanna.

Mr. Taylor, expressing himself editorially, said:

PORCINACEOUS.

Scurry County has been celebrating two momentous events. The motor car of Jimmie Smith of the Scurry County Times was stolen and the 600-pound sow belonging to J. A. J. Jones of Fluvanna had a litter of nineteen little pigs. Scurry, like other counties, suffers from the automobile thief. But it is a momentous event for a journalist to have a car and a news item for it to be stolen. Nineteen pigs in a litter is an event in any county and money in the Jones pocketbook. Jimmie Smith's car was recovered, so Jimmie has recovered, too. So has the sow. Mr. Jones the doubts and suspicions of human nature. So he did not rely alone on the confirmation of County Agent W. O. Logan, but called in the Rev. James H. Tate, the Presbyterian minister of Fluvanna, and both certify to the fact that the Jones sow had the litter of nineteen and that all of the piggies are alive, squealing and eating. Mr. Jones is an up-to-date farmer and believes in diversification, but he did not expect his investment in sows to turn out so handsomely. Jimmie Smith did not expect his investment in motor cars to turn out as it did, either. Showing that you can never tell what will happen when you diversify. There is no immediate connection between the two events unless, as the editor of the Nolan County News intimates, the Smith car went on a spree, and possibly the incentive was the occurrence at Fluvanna. The Smith car, of course, will never be quite what it was before its disappearance, and the Jones sow will not be, either. The motor car was new and shiny. Now it is a casualty and a garage bill. The sow was just a sow and now it is a leading citizen that has done something for the community. Sub S. P.'s advice to Jimmie Smith is to trade in the car on a 1929 model of the J. A. J. Jones 600-pound sow and acquire a producer instead of a consumer. Even in the newspaper business it pays to diversify. And if every journalist learned early in life to own a producing sow, he wouldn't be worried about where his pork chops are coming from in his old age. And if every one learned not to invest his spare cash in motors he would never have to wonder where is his wandering car tonight.

"Papa, the preacher was here to lunch today."

"You don't say so?"

"Yep, and he swore about mamma's cooking the same as you do, only he bowed his head and held his hands over his eyes."

You don't have to carry matches, or even a pocket lighter, for a cigaret recently introduced in Los Angeles. Just scratch it on the back of the box and it's lit.

The fire department was called to the Snyder Garage Monday noon, but quick work extinguished a small blaze that got started in the welding department.

Gene Howe, the Amarillo editor who criticised opera stars because they "saved their voices" when appearing in his home town, ought to be the first to congratulate Marion Talley on deciding to buy a farm. A movement of grand opera singers to the farm promises to be a splendid thing.

Hermleigh expects to have forty 4-H Club boys this year. Twenty-five have already turned in their registration cards, according to County Agent Logan.

"I suppose you carry a memento of some sort in that locket of yours?"

"Yes, it is a lock of my husband's hair."

"But your husband is still alive."

"Yes, but his hair is gone."

In the forests of East Texas are standing 17,000,000,000 board feet of pine and 7,500,000,000 feet of hardwoods. Annual production of 1,500,000,000 board feet keeps Texas near the top in American lumber production.

For nine years Texas has led all the states of the union in value of farm crops, and there is not even a remote prospect that it will ever lose its place at the top of the list.

FARM NOTES

W. O. LOGAN, Co. Agent

J. A. owler is the first to try testing his cows for butterfat production. The plan was worked out by county agents in District Two, with their district agent, S. C. Evans, along plans used successfully in other states. There are twenty odd herds being tested in this district with over a hundred cows on test. Lamb County is leading with six herds on test and 36 cows.

The average butterfat produced during May for all cows ran 30.24 lbs with the high cow producing 1.5 pounds fat. The Tech College is doing the testing under Mr. Renner. The enrollment is increasing rapidly now and may be doubled during June.

Flies are reducing milk production and making milking an irksome job, says Elmer Bentley west of Snyder. This may enable you to keep flies away: Common laundry soap, 1 lb., 4 gallons water, crankcase oil, 1 gallon, 4 ounces powdered naphthaline. Cut coap in fine shavings and dissolve in water by heating. Mix or dissolve Naphthaline in oil, then add the two solutions stirring thoroughly for fifteen minutes or longer. Apply two or three times a week, but stir thoroughly each time before using.

Ed Jones of Fluvanna has entered the pork production contest and expects to make a ton or more pork from a litter of pigs in six months. We see some pigs everyday that are plenty old to be hogs, but they just don't grow. Some people still contend the color of a hog's hair causes them to eat chickens, but it's the kind of feed they get.

Technical Bulletin No. 60, U. S. Department of Agriculture deals with tests of all kind of chemicals and mixtures of them, and the feeding or administering of them to poultry internally for eradication of internal parasites. There is a general impression among farmers that certain chemicals can be fed poultry and other animals and it will protect them from external parasites. This impression has been commercialized and is costing farmers thousands of dollars each year, in the form of so-called patent medicines. The conclusion of tests carried on for a sufficient period of time proves conclusively that putting mixtures in food or drinking water for external parasites will not do any good. It is not practical, and even proved to hurt hens in a few cases. Scores of men and women of the county have told the agent of spending from two to fifteen dollars for some dope to feed it to get shed of lice, ticks, fleas, etc. It can't be done to save your money.

BUILDING PERMITS

Permits for May building totaling $10,500 were brought to the attention of the City Council Monday night, which gives a grand total of $72,150 for the first five months of 1929.

While this year's totals are falling behind last year at the same date, yet a natural growth is being enjoyed by Snyder which far exceeds a boom, mushroom growth.

When made up to resemble a flapper, a woman of the stylish stout forties has that indefinable appearance of a stylish stout about forty made up to resemble a flapper.

BOYLES MAKES WHOOPEE

C. S. Boyles Jr., editor of the Nolan County News, wields one of the most vitriolic pens in West Texas, and when that young man sits down to a typewriter, which of necessity must have an asbestos platen, folks, he shoots a wicked gun as per an editorial in the last week's paper, which brings State Press Joe Taylor into the subject matter as well as the editor of this paper. To keep the crowds straight, we are using the entire editorial:

Now You Played Whaley

State Press of the Dallas News, the most overrated space-filler in all newspaperdom, has hauled off an sdliced an intestine of no small dimensions.

This bologna artist, like a cub reporter out of the North Dallas High School graduating class, proceeded to sin the unforgivable copy desk sin when he made the most horrible and most unholy mistake in a proper name.

He called the Nolan County News the Nolan County Signal-Times.

This newspaper IS the Nolan County News, and there is a sheet in Snyder called the Scurry County Times-Signal, and when S. P. Scrambled the two up together and had "Nolan County Signal-Times" printed in black in some 85,000 newspapers that went out all over the City of the Hour and a few folks in Palestine, McKinney and Paris, he did the thing proportionately to calling the Saturday Evening Post the Saturday Blade.

But he didn't stop there. He used up 15 inches of $3.50 per inch Dallas News space in talking about Jimmy Smith of the Snyder rag, of some Scurry County pigs, and then hauled off and trumped his partner's ace by stepping in a gag like the "Nolan County Signal-Times."

Far be it from us to criticise a pencil pusher who was getting the building permits when we were being walked to sleep, but if Joe Taylor's eye-sight is getting so dim, and if his subject matter has become so exhausted and if his knowledge of names of West Texas newspapers is so barren that he must use Jimmy Smith to write about and on top of it make a mistake like he did, then—well, the Messrs. Dealey and Doran and King just naturally ought to do something about it. That's all.

NEW FORD DOESN'T NEED 'BREAKING-IN'

Precision manufacturing and an unusual degree of importance which the Ford Motor Company attaches to the inspection of Model A cars has gone far to eliminate that tedious process known as the "breaking in" of a new automobile.

On the windshields of the new Model A are directions which suggest a driving speed limit for the first 500 miles of 35 miles per hour. This is in marked contrast to the old line of instruction which cautioned against a speed of more than 20 or 25 miles an hour for at least 1,000 miles.

Excess heat is the most destructive agency which may affect an automobile, particularly in the first several hundred miles it is driven. Friction is mainly responsible for overheating, and a piston that is fitted too tightly may seize and in turn score the cylinder wall. This means an expensive repair job.

Careful machining of engine parts, such as cylinder blocks, pistons, camshafts, crankshafts, etc., the proper fitting of bearings, accuracy in the cutting of gears; multitudinous checks during the process of assembling the Model A and rigid inspections combine to produce an automobile which is ready for the road when delivered. For this reason it may at once be operated to the limit of speed prescribed by the motor codes of a great many states, without going through the customary "breaking in" period.

"Never make any prediction that you can't back with a bet," said an old Wall Street man. "Because," he continued, "first, if you lose, it will cure you of being cocksure; second, if you win, the other fellow can't deny that you predicted; third, it's a waste of time to be a prophet just for fun."

BETTER BOARD FOR GOOD BREEDERS

ARTICLE XXIV

Proper Housing, Feeding and Care of Fowls Selected for Breeding is of Importance. On the Way They Are Handled Depends Much of the Strength and Productiveness of Future Generations.

Editor's Note—This is another story in a series of 52 stories on poultry raising written by the well known national authority, Dr. L. D. LeGear, V. S., of St. Louis. The entire series will appear in this paper. Our readers are urged to read them carefully and clip them out for future reference.

It seems fairly easy for most people to understand that horses, hogs and other animals whose young are born in the same way must be in prime condition at the time of mating or the offspring are likely to be inferior. Consequently, every precaution is taken in the way of careful housing, feeding and conditioning to make sure that animals selected for breeding are in good physical condition. Peculiarly enough, the fact that the same care should be exercised with fowls whose young are hatched from eggs does not seem to be so generally understood. Possibly, the fact that any one egg looks so much like all others causes an instinctive deduction that such is the case. However that may be, the fact remains that the same need exists for proper care of breeding fowls as for any other form of animal life. In this article, therefore, I shall give briefly some of the most important points to be observed in the care of breeders.

As the first step working toward a stronger, more vigorous, high producing flock for the future, you will naturally select only such birds as are most likely to transmit these desirable qualities. They should be one year old or over, and of good size. You will choose only your finest speciment—birds of good form with vigor, perfect health, good individual records, and desirable ancestry. Breeders must be properly feed, housed and cared for if they are to provide eggs of sufficiently high fertility.

Not the least important consideration is proper feeding. As everyone knows, chickens can be fed certain materials in such proportions as to force a relatively high yield of eggs. This should not be done with breeders. What is wanted is quality—not quantity. During the breeding season you want as many large, perfect, fertile hatching eggs as possible, eggs from which will come strong, vigorous chicks that will live, thrive and grow rapidly. If the breeding female is forced during the winter, she may come into the breeding season in a weakened condition so that her eggs will lack fertility and vitality.

Give breeding birds a good rest after the molt and do not force egg production during the winter. Keep them on what is practically a maintenance ration—a good laying ration with the protein bearing foods such as meat scraps that are reduced in quantity and green foods. Rely mostly on hard grains well buried in litter so they will have to scratch for it.

As the breeding season approaches, gradually go back to a laying ration by increasing from time to time the quantities of protein bearing materials which constitute a considerable part of mash feeds. Be content with a fair normal yield from breeders that are never forced and you are most likely to get eggs of high quality for hatching.

Keep plenty of water, grit, charcoal and shell before your breeders at all times.

Feed breeding birds liberally, but do not overfeed so they become fat and lazy. Keep feeding down to what you can see keeps the fowls in good physical condition and promotes normal egg yield.

As a further guard against excessive fat as well as to insure necessary health and vigor, give your breeders plenty of exercise. Give them run of unrestricted range if possible, preferably where there is some form of green feed. Such a range also affords the opportunity to pick up bugs, worms and similar natural food materials which require exercise to get them.

See that houses are always well ventilated, clean and sanitary. Disinfect frequently with a good dip and disinfectant to keep down lice, mites and disease germs. Remove droppings frequently and change litter often.

As for the type of house best suited for breeders, no special type is required. Any good house of the open front type that is weathertight and free from drafts and dampness will serve the purpose. Allow each bird at least 5 square feet of floor space, and I would prefer 10 or more. Better too much space than too little.

In extremely cold weather, guard against frozen combs and wattles. Adequate feeding is one precaution as properly fed birds have greater stamina. It is also necessary in unusually cold weather to have curtains over the front opening of the houses; also to drop curtains before the roosts. In the case of males it is sometimes even desirable to put them in separate boxes or coops covered with burlap, since their large combs and wattles are more likely to freeze than those of the hen.

While it would be possible to elaborate considerably on the foregoing suggestions I believe that enough information has been given to guide any intellectual poultry raiser who wants to get better results from his flock.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

ANSON is doing a great deal of building. A theatre with a capacity of 450 on the main floor and 100 in the balcony is to be erected by Knox Pittard. The plans call for a modern theatre front, three entrances, the foyer of tile. Floor will be of cement and tile. The dimentions will be 30 by 120 feet.

HEREFORD celebrated the opening of a new $80,000 Baptist Church by starting a revival in it. All precedents in church construction were broken in the decoration, seating and architecture of the distinctive church. One thousand auditorium or theatre chairs are in supply. The rose colored roof, eaves and circular topped windows suggest the Spanish motif.

The DE LEON Free Press recently celebrated its 40th birthday. It was established in June, 1889, eight years after the establishment of the town, and has been published continuously ever since.

O'DONNELL Methodists are now spending $3,500 remodeling their church. Seven Sunday school rooms will be built besides other improvements. When completed this will be a splendid edifice and up-to-date in every respect.

TAHOKA is to have a new business block. C. A. Hill of Lamesa has announced that he will erect a brick building 50x125 in size and house a chain grocery store and an automobile agency. The old Howell building, one of the first garages erected in this section, will be razed for the new structure.

A BIG SPRING building is nearing completion. It is the $55,000 Read building which contains seven stores on the ground floor and a 25-room hotel on the seventh floor. It extends the business district one block on East Seventh. Other buildings nearing completion are the Alta Vista Apartment house, Studebaker plant and six-story Petroleum building.

SILVERTON'S new high school building will cost $30,000, and will be completed by August 15. The school board will make plans to organize both a Junior and a Senior High School, according to C. D. Wright, president of the board.

BROWNFIELD is rushing its street paving. At a meeting of the city council recently, a Wichita Falls firm was employed as engineers on street paving with instructions to start actual construction as soon as possible. It is thought that the proceeds of the bonds recently voted will provide for the paving of several additional blocks.

The COLEMAN Chamber of Commerce recently elected Sim O'Neal to serve another year as secretary of the civic body. Elmo V. Cook, head of the agricultural department and teacher of agriculture in Coleman High School, tendered his resignation to accept a position as agricultural agent in Bosque County.

BORGER, the world's largest carbon black manufacturing center, has ten plants now operating or nearing completion, with 63 units, consuming 315,000,000 cubic feet of residue gas daily. Four hundred and seventy-five thousand pounds of carbon black for tires, etc. are made every day.

The WICHITA FALLS cheese plant is buying 27,000 pounds of milk a day from farmers and dairymen in the area, which means an income of $600 daily and $20,000 monthly from a source that was non-existant only a few months ago. Other creameries and purchasers of milk in that city swell the total considerably.

PERRYTON will soon have a modern three-story hotel. It will contain 41 rooms and will supplement another good hotel under construction containing 26 rooms. Paving of 14½ blocks in the business district is under way and $50,000 theatre, equipped with vitaphone, is nearing completion.

The most unsatisfied person in the world is the loafer who wishes that he had something else to do.

Yes, vacation time is here, with its joys and its sorrows, its pleasures and its heart-aches, its building up and its tearing down. For when men go from labor to refreshment, satan goes from refreshment to labor. Satan never vacates, but finds his busiest moments when men are idle. Then it is that he finds his greatest opportunity to plant his seed of destruction, to tempt men when they are least on guard and least suspect his deceitful presence. Men fall, not because they know, but because they are deceived; and satan recognizes the importance of the hour of idleness of the minds of men for the planting of the seed of discord and infidelity through the subtlety of his deceptive teachings. "Eve being deceived was in the transgression." I Tim. 2:14. Let us not vacate in our church attendance; but let us go right on with our study to "show ourselves approved to (alligned with) God, rightly dividing the word of truth."

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

Saunders Norvell, president of the Remington Arms Company, Inc., says:

THAT after forty years in business and studying the things that happened in business, I am absolutely convinced that the only policy upon which a business should be conducted is that of absolute honesty, integrity and fairness. I do not mean this from a religious point of view, or even a moral point of view. I mean that experience teaches any observer that it is the best policy.

The basis of all business, of course, is confidence. We only do business with people in whom we have confidence. We only increase our business with people in whom we have confidence. When that confidence is once broken, then all satisfactory business contact comes to an end. This is true not only between a house and its customers, but it is true between the heads of a house and its employees. It is true between employees in conducting the business. Suppose the head of a house does something that is unfair. Suppose he is crooked, even in a small matter. Naturally, the employees nearest to him know what has been done. Naturally, they lose confidence, and this loss of confidence spreads in an organization like a prairie fire.

Then there is another side to unfairness in business that should be considered. When things go wrong and result in quarrels, fights, lawsuits, claims and all that sort of thing, it takes up a world of time of the head men as well as the employees of the business, as there is only just so much time for all of us. The time taken away from an executive with these claims of all kinds is time taken away from constructive work. It is not only expensive in itself, but it destroys profits that might be made if the executive could devote his time to building up the business.

I have observed that in almost every case where a business has a great many lawsuits and fights that there is something wrong with the management of that business. They are trying to be too shrewd. They are trying to take unfair advantage of somebody. Of course, I know this is not always the case. Sometimes unfair people try to take advantage of the business, and they must defend themselves, but I am dealing in generalities. Always look out for a man or a business that is mixed up with lawsuits. There is something wrong somewhere. All this twisting and turning causes a lot of loss. The best law firms in the country are those that keep their clients out of court. Even when a client must submit to some imposition, frequently good lawyers recommend that they settle the claim.

While I do not pretend to be orthodox, I have always said that the best book for a commercial house was the Bible. The best business lessons are to be derived from that Book. The Bible is based on human nature in the raw, and business is also based on human nature. Therefore, there is a very close connection between the Bible and business.

SUMMER ADVERTISING BRINGS RESULTS

Some straight from the shoulder methods of keeping a store before the public in summer are given by Ernest A. Dench, writing in the June issue of the Texas Commercial News. Consumer resistance is sufficiently strong as to need superhuman efforts to materially increase summer sales, he states, but the sane and sensible retailer keeps his hand on the advertising lever with the idea of maintaining a steady volume of seasonable business. It is extremely unwise to lie down and take the summer slump for granted. Consistent advertising through the summer months may not increase sales but it will certainly maintain a satisfactory seasonable volume, and the merchant will avoid the condition of reaching the end of the summer with his shelves burdened with profitless unsold seasonable merchandise. Continuous advertising plugging will keep his goods moving.

The American people seem to believe in popular government, provided they don't have to do anything to make it run along right.

Any disarmament plans our statesmen have should be tried out in Chicago or Memphis.

"I SUFFERED frequently from nervous headaches, and I could not sleep well," says Mrs. Cora Dover, R. F. D. 2, Hickory Grove, S. C. "I was thin and pale. I was so weak I could scarcely walk.

"I tried several remedies but nothing seemed to help me. Night after night I worried because I could see I was going down-hill. I had my children to look after, and I was afraid of what would become of them if anything happened to me.

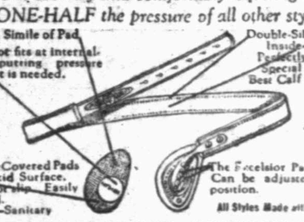

"I began to take Cardui. It wasn't long until I was beginning to pick up. My strength gradually began to return. I rested better at night and was less nervous. I took several bottles of Cardui, and when I had finished taking it I was in fine health."

A MAN CAN APPRECIATE ONLY THAT WHICH HE KNOWS

Records show that many of the old sayings are falling by the wayside, the latest of which is the one about the impossibility of converting the hearing apparatus of a female omnivorous mammal into a silk overnight bag. A man in New York has ruined that by actually making silk of a sow's ear. But the tried and proven statement that "A man can appreciate only that which he knows" will undoubtedly outlive the span of years of the most of us.

Arthur Brisbane tells a story about a brown rat in Lincoln Park, Chicago. This rat lives happily in his hole under a tree, never doubting but that the whole park was made just for him, as some people believe the whole town in which they live was made just for them. This rat is an agnostic—you can't make him believe anything that he cannot understand and prove, and as he cannot understand or prove very much, he is happy and self satisfied. He is a good rat, however, minds his own business, and keeps regular hours. He runs up and down his little path, looks with contempt at the queer animals which live up the tree, and some day he will die in his hole, with his teeth grown long, convinced that he has not missed a thing that life has to offer.

Without intention of drawing any undue comparisons, the fact nevertheless remains that in every community there are residents, who, like the rat, deny what they can not understand; citizens who are contemptuous of that which is near them, and that which could be appreciated. Intellectually, these people are as rats—rodents to the civic life of the community. These people do not know but unlike the case of rats, it does make a difference and upon the shoulders of somebody or some group of somebodyies is the responsibility of doing that which is necessary to make them appreciative.

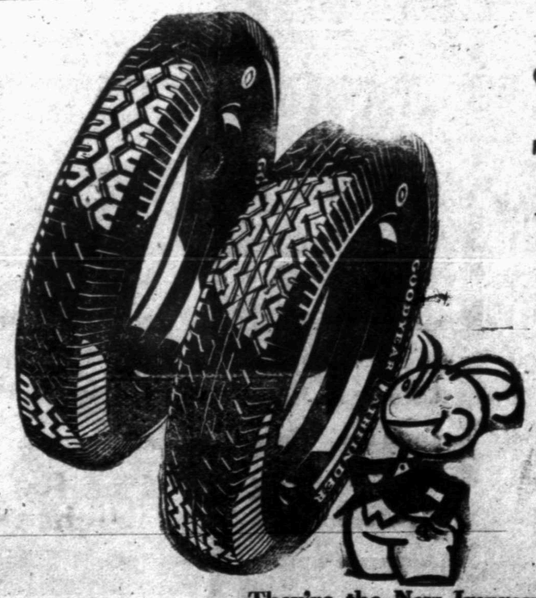

The voters who deter the building of better schools, the paving of roads and streets, the making of playgrounds, the laying of sewers, the installation of disposal plants and water filtration plants; the business people who insist on being "storekeepers" and "pooh-pooh" the idea of clerk training, yet weep and wail that chain store and capital are ruining their business; the resident to whom a stranger says: "This looks like a pretty good town," and replies: "Yeah, it's all right, if you like it"; the merchant that the community has supported but who refuses to belong to a service club or a civic organization, and who belittles, runs down and decries every attempt on the part of anyone to help the community; Mr. Average Citizen, who sits back and says nothing, does nothing, with an "It's none of my affair" attitude; the ever-present percentage that go out of their way to run the community down maliciously; the resident who takes no part in the clean-up campaign, on orphans' home benefit, hospital or other charitable drive; the property owner, resident or otherwise, who refuses to eradicate visible community abominations; the man, grown old, who cares not a whit if the swimming pool of his forgotten boyhood joys is polluted with the refuse of his factory; the gossip, the civic derelict, the knocker and the fool—these are the rodents who must be shown and taught the costliness of their ways before, and in order that they may appreciate,

Now is the time for every thinking citizen and civic organization, every business man and every city official to awaken to the very evident fact that "What was, isn't"—that things have changed and that old fashioned ideas of community life will not stand the gaff of modern ways of doing things.

Fluvanna News Notes

Mr. Jas. H. Tate (V. P.) is the authorized correspondent for Fluvanna, and as such is authorized to receive renewal and new subscriptions. Cooperate with him in building a fine weekly news column for this thriving town.

Church Affairs

Rev. D. G. Wells of Lamesa, pastor of the Fluvanna Baptist Church, was reported sick abed last Sunday and consequently was not able to fill his pulpit at this place.

Rev. J. R. Williamson held his [illegible] services at the Methodist Church. On next Sunday evening the Epworth League will formally install its newly elected officers.

The regular morning and evening services will be held at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday.

Mrs. J. R. Truss' Sunday school class of the Fluvanna Baptist Church, together with several invited guests from other Sunday schools, chaperoned by J. R. and Mrs. Truss and Mrs. Will Beaver, hied away last Friday afternoon to Two Draw lake near Post where a picnic supper was spread and afterwards a season of boat riding was enjoyed. The young people of the party were Misses Horace Sims, Alma Lemon, Nealy, Edna and Alphagene Squyres, Mae Frances Beaver, Vernay and Burline Boynton, Mattylyn Beaver, Maurine Roddy, Mrs. Colon James and Mrs. E. V. Boynton and Messrs. Leo Beaver, Lane Roddy and Earl Browning. No doubt these young folks had a time.

Methodist News

The Epworth Leaguers put on an interesting and inspiring program at the usual hour. Miss Angie Haynes, our delegate who attended the assembly at McMurry, gave an interesting and entertaining report which everyone enjoyed. Then at the preaching hour the Epworth League officers were installed for the new year.

The W. M. S. is still climbing. We climbed a few steps higher on last Monday. If the passers by had chanced to look, they would have seen nine of the ladies climbing in the church window, the building being locked. This shows how determined the ladies are to carry on their society.

The W. M. S. is going to study "Infant and Child Care" and would be glad to have all interested to come.

The ladies will meet next Thursday at the church to quilt. All ladies who belong to the W. M. S. are invited out with your thimbles and needles.

Mrs. J. I. Boren will be hostess to the W. M. S. next Monday night.

Everyone is glad for Mrs. Williamson to be back with us, as she is such an inspiration to our church and society.

Reporter.

Will and Mrs. Werner and M. McPherson and wife visited T. A. Faver last Sunday.

O. S. Wills made a flying trip to Big Spring last Wednesday.

Misses Colon James, Mae Frances Beaver, Angie Haynes and Vernay Boynton made a trip to Roscoe last Friday where they visited the Jake Ross family, Mrs. Ross being a sister of Mrs. James.

J. F. Dowdy and O. S. Wills made a business trip to Gail last Monday.

Mrs. Tom Jones and daughter, Oma, spent last week visiting in Colorado.

Bos Stavely and family visited relatives in Post last Sunday.

E. Josey and family of Big Spring visited the J. G. Landrum family here last Sunday.

J. W. and Mrs. Knight and son, Morris, of San Antonio, are here this week visiting a daughter, Mrs. Dolf Faver, and family.

Dr. and Mrs. Jones are enjoying a delightful reunion occasion in their home this week. The following relatives have arrived at the time of this writing: A brother, M. M. and Mrs. Jones and daughter, Lillian, of Jonesborough, Texas; two other brothers, W. O. Jones and family and T. P. Jones, all of Floydada, Texas. Also a daughter, Mrs. Mayhew and son, Avner, and daughter, Frances, all of Dallas.

J. A. Stavely and family visited in Southland last Sunday.

Miscellaneous Notes

Mrs. C. F. Landrum, after spending a month in the Lubbock Sanitarium, is back home doing well.

Mrs. Effie (Ed) Boles went to Lubbock Monday where she expected to undergo an operation for appendicitis. At the time of this writing we have learned nothing further.

The Miller (Craft) Ranch received a carload of cedar posts this week.

The Fluvanna Independent School District bond election is set for July 10. This is a very important matter, hence, every voter in the district should register his or her conviction on this subject. The real question is, shall we adequately house and educate our young people at home or not?

Stop! Don't kill the skunks. They may smell bad sometimes, but you need not smell of them very much. Really, we have no better friends among the small wild animals. Did you ask what a skunk is good for? Well, they are death on mice and rats, hence plenty of skunks, few mice and rats, while few skunks means many rats. And we all know that rats are great pests. Of course if a skunk gets your hen house located, you will either have to kill that particular skunk or fence him out. The latter is better.

At Guthrie, Okla., the other day Federal Judge Vaught sentenced 25 men and two women to terms in jail for violating the prohibition laws. The sentences ranged from 30 to 360 days. That's the way to get good law observance.

Snyder Dairy Host to Large Crowd at Plant

Improvements Are Recently Made to Comply With City Ordinance

(Too late for last week)

The T. J. Gassaway Dairy were hosts yesterday noon to more than fifty guests who were agreeably and happily surprised at the arrangement and new sanitary measures that have been installed at the Snyder Dairy. Seated in the dairy barn along a table that ran full length of the room and which was as clean as a china dish, the guests first enjoyed a fine chicken dinner with all the trimmings which had been prepared by Mrs. Gassaway and her helpers.

Following the banquet, Toastmaster Watt Scott added a bit of spice in having Marshal Woodfin arrest Roy Strayhorn and J. E. Blakey and lock them in a special "bull" pen that had been provided for the occasion.

City officials were present in full force, with business men, members of the ladies' clubs and citizens who enjoyed the speaking program with Health Officer I. A. Griffin starting the fireworks and stressing the wonderful strides that had been made in sanitary additions to the Gassaway dairy and of the co-operation that had been given both the health department and the city council. "Citizens of Snyder should feel proud of their dairy," was the remark made by Dr. Griffin in closing.

Mayor Howard G. Towle recited the events leading up to the present high standard of milk sanitation in Snyder when he told that several years ago several ladies' clubs had come to the city council asking for improvements to be made in the local milk supply. This later was followed by a sanitary milk ordinance, which local citizens in some few cases condemned at the time but who are now the loudest boosters. "That Snyder has improved the milk situation is better evidenced in this gathering here today," said the Mayor.

Toastmaster Scott in addition to bringing in spicy remarks at different places, told that a creamery man who was here last week had remarked that "out of 100 dairies visited recently, with the exception of one, the Snyder Dairy is the best of them all."

Guy W. Green, "full-of-pep" Kansas City citizen, was introduced and gave a fine talk that was entertaining and interesting, giving, as he said, "the best I can with what I have"—and it was plenty. Mr. Green proved himself a forceful talker, full of the old ginger that doesn't come in bottles, and his remarks added a great deal of entertainment to a program noteworthy for what it was intended to do—to sell the idea of milk sanitation to the visitors.

County Agent Logan completed the program in a happy vein and aside from remarking of the known food values of milk, attempted to prove that there is no true distributing point for a chicken's milk supply at this time.

Following a picture of the group, demonstrations were given of the electric milking machines and of the new way in which milk is brought to a more complete sanitary standard.

The crowd enjoyed the good fellowship and entertainment and cordially thanked Mr. and Mrs. Gassaway for the splendid pastime and the further knowledge that Snyder's milk supply is being handled in such an efficient and sanitary manner.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

John C. Gorman, publisher of the Princeton (Ind.) Democrat, says:

THAT it is the duty of every citizen in his community to join hands in some organization that has for its aim the advancement and betterment of that particular town or city. This can be done without reflection on your neighboring towns or cities. The natural advantages of every community need and must have the assistance of the citizens—the taxpayers—to SELL these advantages to those who do not know of them.

The more people, industries and expansion you have in your community the better your property sells at higher prices. Taxes in a well governed community are lower and prosperity is more evenly distributed.

It pays good dividends to work for your home town. Someone must do this, and the property owners, business and professional men are really held responsible for this service.

Statistics show that doctors only collect three-fifths of their fees. Now you can show this to your doctor.

COMMUNITY PROJECTS

NEIGHBORHOOD EXPERIMENT AMONG YOUNG PEOPLE

Six years ago three church women of Holyoke, Mass., started a sewing club in a rear room off "Moonshine Alley." Their equipment consisted of a sewing machine, a card table, and two chairs. On the first day fifteen girls and one mother attended. They sat around on the floor on newspapers and all were soon busily engaged sewing carpet rugs. Within a few weeks this simple beginning had increased to one hundred and twenty-six children, who were organized into groups according to ages. Most of these came for sewing, principally making over old garments, but some came for a story hour, and others for games in the backyard.

At first very little money was available for the work. A friend paid the rent of $4.00 a month; school boys made an eight-foot table and two benches, and a neighbor made two flower boxes. It took six weeks to educate the neighborhood that the plants should not be taken. The flower boxes were replanted many times, and it was not until a sign, "Please Do Not Take the Children's Plants," was placed that the flowers were allowed to come to full bloom.

This work was carried on for five months when, the room being unheated, cold weather forced a temporary discontinuance, with the exception of two sewing clubs which met in the home of a nearby family. Nine children in this family still left plenty of space for two clubs in the tenement of four small rooms!

The following spring the Holyoke Junior Achievement Foundation offered to cooperate by furnishing work programs and by training and supervising volunteer leaders to direct them. This at once made the children still more enthusiastic and necessitated quarters which could be given over entirely to the work. A heated front room was obtained and a few interested individuals pledged the rent of $12 a month; so that this center might become permanent. For five years the work was continued in this one room with a steady increase in the number of clubs and with the principal emphasis placed on teaching girls how to make their own wardrobe; clothes which would be becoming, healthful and economical.

Last year the quarters were enlarged to include, in addition to one front room, three connecting rear rooms. The older club girls volunteered to give a play to raise money with which to equip and decorate these larger quarters and with this money and a few small gifts, and with the work of some of the older girls and boys who have made curtains, tables, benches and shelves, the rooms are now tastefully, though simply, furnished. In one of these rooms Junior Achievement toy clubs have been operating during the past year, in addition to the sewing clubs, and there have also been started a music group and a "clean-up" group. This latter has been particularly active during the summer months, cleaning up the back yard, planting flower boxes, building a sandbox and keeping the halls and front sidewalk clean.

Much has been given by the landlord where these quarters are situated, by the Holyoke city government, by the Women's Guild which has recently pledged itself to care for the rent, and by Junior Achievement which has conducted the work programs; and the response of the families in the neighborhood to the opportunity for better and happier conditions has been the rich reward of the workers in this experiment.

ARE SOUTHERN STATES THE "SHAME OF THE NATION?"

"In a scathing reply to the editorial of a Chicago newspaper, quoted as pointing the finger of shame at the South, Holland's, the Magazine of the South, in the current issue says: "Utter and amazing ignorance, not only of the South but of our country as a whole, is revealed in a recent editorial in the Chicago Daily Tribune entitled 'Public Life in the Sticks States,' which takes note of Louisiana and her political problems, of Oklahoma's impeachment trials, of the 'Ma' Ferguson episode in Texas, and of Bilbo of Mississippi—but which does not mention, oddly enough, Al Capone or Len Small of Illinois—and goes on to say that the Southern States are remote from the centers of commercial activity, culture, and learning, and are the 'shame of the Nation.'

"After the first wave of surprise at so crass display of sheer ignorance, we are amused at being termed the 'shame' of anything by a newspaper in such an abbattoir as Chicago, with its putrid politics, its guarded elections, its gangster-ruled streets, its St. Valentine's Day slaughters, its beer 'barons', and its neighboring Herrins and Ciceros. Political disputes in the Southern States at least are settled in courts of law, and not with machine guns. The Southern States have no unseated United States senators, nor does any of their senators send a floral offering and his personal card to a gangster's funeral.

"The South, in six years, increased its manufactured products values $567,000,000. In those same six years, manufacturing values in the rest of the country decreased $279,509,000. Southern ports handle 42 per cent of the country's water-borne tonnage. Over 61 per cent of all active cotton spindles in the Nation are in the South. Such facts as these are endless. If this is remoteness from commercial activity, make the most of it.

"The South was steeped in culture and learning, and its cities were the sites of recognized colleges and universities more than three-quarters of a century before Chicago came into existence. Its first college was founded over 140 years before Chicago. In fact, when Chicago was founded, there already were 40 universities and colleges in the South—as against only 20 in the Middle West and 36 in the remaining states. Two of these Southern colleges were in Louisiana and Mississippi.

"The second college founded on American soil was in a Southern state—the College of William and Mary, at Williamsburg, Virginia, in 1693. Only one other university was founded in America during that century—Harvard, in 1636, located in Massachusetts, which is not a Middle West state.

"In the eighteenth century, beginning with the founding of Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, in 1749, the South saw 13 colleges and universities founded within its borders, and 14 founded in the rest of the country. No college or university was founded in the Middle West during that century.

"The first American college established in the nineteenth century was the University of South Carolina at Columbia, in 1801—the fifteenth Southern university to be founded prior to the establishment of any such institution in the Middle West. Before the founding of Chicago's first university, the South had 58 colleges and universities. Of these, three were in Texas, two in Louisiana, and one in Mississippi—states, according to the learned Tribune, 'remote from culture and learning.'

"Of the twoscore Southern universities founded while Chicago was still but an idea of a trader's mind, one was Wesleyon, in Macon, Ga., the oldest woman's college in the world, and the first to award a degree to a woman. Subsequent Southern colleges, preceeding Chicago's first, included the famous Baylors in Texas, in 1845—Baylor College for Women, and Baylor University.

"Today, there are in the Southern States 189 recognized colleges and universities. The Middle West has only 116. The remainder of the country has 275.

"In justice to the Middle West, the North, and the East, it should be understood and stated that this ridiculous editorial in the Tribune does not reflect the attitude and opinion of the public in those sections toward and regarding the Southern States, but is actuated probably by jealousy and is indicative of a narrow policy that has characterized the Tribune's attitude toward the South for many years. Business men in Chicago and the Middle West know its utter falseness, and it is to the interest of those same business men—many of whom seek Southern patronage—to see that such misstatements are not circulated in the future.

"If the editorial writers for the Tribune are weary of recording murders, gang fights, and bootlegging in Chicago—as they have reason to be, and are, merely seeking a new subject, we suggest that they choose one on which they have more information. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing, but none at all is gross ignorance."

HOW TO KILL WEEDS IN LAWN

Weeds in the lawn are an annual problem. As a matter of fact, they become almost a perennial problem. Dandelions and plantains are the two worst and most disfiguring weed pests that rise up out of nowhere to disfigure the greensward. It is a constant fight to repress them. For the small lawn hand weeding with a good weeding tool is the simplest solution of the problem.

A tool known as an asparagus cutter, a long, slender band of steel with a notched and sharpened end, is a most efficient weapon as a thrust will sever the taproot of a dandelion in a jiffy. It is also effective in cutting the tough, cord-like root of the plantain. It is similarly effective against an invasion of yellow dock which snaps off irritatingly and can't be pulled.

Close mowing to prevent any of these pests from seeding is a first essential. Sowing white clover to run them out when the crops has been thinned is another ameliorating method.

The application of sulphate of iron is becoming accepted as one of the easiest and most efficient means of dispersing dandelions and plantains. It is especially effective against dandelions. This is a chemical to be applied in liquid form in a fine spray. It will blacken and disfigure the grass temporarily but it will not kill or injure it. In fact, it acts ultimately as a fertilizer. But it will put the dandelions to flight.

"This preparation is now on sale at all seed houses with full directions for its use on the package. It is the most convenient and quickest remedy for the weed pest in the lawn. There are a number of patent weeders which will yank out weeds. Get a start at once at rooting out the weeds that disfigure the grass plot. Order a five-pound box of sulphate of iron and practice with it on a small patch of lawn until you are familiar with its use and then go over the premises.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

MOBEETIE is growing a new town within the radius of the old since the new railroad has been secured. Lots were recently sold at a hitherto unheard of price. Plans are made and foundations are being laid for buildings which are to make the town a bigger and better place to live.

MEMPHIS sold a lot of 98 Jerseys in auction last week. They were auctioned by W. A. Nash who lectured on the value and recent progress of dairying in the South Plains. A great number of the cattle were graded, some registered, and all good producers.

MIDLAND has a farmer who makes $750 an acre on his garden. Noah Kinnemore has been growing peas under mulch paper, and sells his entire supply to consumers who drive to his truck patch. His dewberries and strawberries are bringing $500 an acre. He intends growing sweet potatoes this year. The paper lasts three years.

Two CROSBYTON people have no dread of drouths and short crops of cotton and wheat, for they have a good source of income from their chickens. Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Findley's flock of 300 chickens brings from $80 to $100 income every month. The Findley's say that the demand for poultry and poultry products continues to increase every day.

DENTON'S annual field day at the experiment station showed what progress was made in the experiments on wheat, oats, grain, sorghums, sweet clover, corn, alfalfa, peas and other legumes. Crop rotation and the value of good seed were given attention. Some pure bred sorghum seed was given to those present.

The ROSWELL-CARLSBAD, N. M., road is being put into good shape for the summer travel. The road is being graded up and a gravel trench cut preparatory to the surfacing treatment. At the same time the new weed destroyer is having a try-out on the road. Traffic is not interfered with.

The PORTALES, N. M., Canning Company is now signing up tomatoes for the coming season and has already secured the output of 300 31 carloads and shipped 15 carloads acres. In 1928 the company canned of fresh tomatoes. The average for 1927 and 1928 was 500 acres, and the 1929 acreage is expected to be larger.

LUBBOCK'S young Texas Tech Chamber of Commerce has for some of its objectives the molding of the traditions of the college while it is still young, welcoming visiting teams to the campus, cooperating with local civic clubs and the offering of a prize for a school song.

LITTLEFIELD'S Trades Day on Monday, June 3, was a huge success, attended by a large crowd. Reduced prices were offered for contests held during the day, and Col. J. W. Horn was marshal of the events of the day. A registered Jersey heifer, registered sow, and pen of purebred chickens were some of the prizes.

CLAIREMONT, county seat of Kent County, wants a gin. It is 17 miles from the nearest cotton gin at this time and offers a good location. Seven thousand acres are being planted to cotton now, with the acreage increasing each year.

BROWNFIELD has 18 boys and girls 4-H clubs with a membership of 350. There are 150 in the pig club. The boys who were in the pig club last year are realizing $41.20 a head for their pigs. The poultry club members have secured pure bred chickens. Thirteen Jersey calves were shipped in for the dairy club members.

BIG SPRING entertained the members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Oil & Gas Bureau Thursday, May 30. W. B. Hamilton, chairman of the oil and gas committee, and H. J. Adair, manager of the Oil and gas bureau of the regional organization, were present.

EBLING-ROSS WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED THURSDAY AT SUNSET

Miss Mildred Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ross, became the bride of Fred L. Ebling last Thursday evening at sunset when Rev. W. F. Ferguson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in West Snyder.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with flowering pot plants and summer cut flowers. An arch of fern and sweet peas formed the altar where the sacred rites were said.

Immediately preceding the ceremony Mrs. Otis Don Carter sang Carrie Jacobs Bond's "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George E. Alexander. The couple entered arm in arm to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was beautiful in a dress of powder blue georgette with cream lace and accessories to match. Her only jewelry was a lovely pearl necklace, a gift from the groom. The bride's bouquet was of dainty pink rosebuds tied with long pink satin streamers.

The very impressive ring ceremony was said as Mrs. Alexander softly played Lange's Flower Song.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home for the few relatives and close friends present.

Miss Ross was reared in Snyder and is a graduate of Snyder High School, where she was actively popular in various phases of school life. She has been active in church and social circles here for several years.

Mr. Ebling is in the employ of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway and has been in Snyder for about two years. He has recently been transferred to Crosbyton where the happy couple will make their home, having left Snyder early Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Ebling plan to spend their honeymoon sometime this summer in Kansas, where they will visit the groom's relatives.

Those present at the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Carter, Rev. and Mrs. George E. Alexander, Mrs. W. F. Ferguson and Miss Ethel Gertrude Ross.

The Times-Signal extends best wishes to this estimable young couple and joins their hosts of friends in bespeaking for them a long, prosperous and happy life together.

MARRIED HERE SUNDAY

The ceremony which united in marriage Guy Stark Jr. of Seminole and Miss Dannie Brown of Dunn was read Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock at the Preuitt home in Snyder, Rev. Hardy, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Snyder, officiating.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stark Sr., is well and favorably known throughout Gaines County, he having been born and reared in Seminole. He graduated from the Seminole High School and entered Tech College at Lubbock the first year it opened, receiving his A. B. degree from that institution last June. The past year he taught English in the Dunn High School, and re-elected and promoted to principal for the coming term.

While the bride is a stranger to us, she is held in high esteem and loved by the people of her home town. Mr. Stark is to be congratulated in winning for his life's companion such an attractive and charming young lady.—Seminole Sentinel.

FAMOUS PROMOTER COMES THRU SNYDER

A. R. Wright, said by show publications to be one of the greatest promoters in the country, dropped by the Times-Signal office Tuesday to pay his respects and to tell us that the Alamo Exposition Shows are playing to capacity houses everywhere this year.

Particular was Mr. Wright to tell us of a new act that is now with the show in which two huge lions chose a girl who is riding a motorcycle around a motordome. So thrilling is the act, according to Mr. Wright, that spectators stand in line for hours to get a slant at the most remarkable act that has ever been brought into Texas.

The Alamo Exposition Shows, who headquarter at San Antonio, are in charge of Jack Ruback, the most dapper young show manager in the game, and in Mr. Wright, Ruback has a fine promoter who is carrying the slogan of the shows to all parts of the state. Mr. Wright was unable to say whether or not the shows would appear here this season, their present datings carrying them through to October at the present time.

"BULL'S EYE" GETS PLENTY ATTENTION

The "Bull's Eye" at the Howard Dry Goods store is attracting no end of attention since there is a prize possibility twice a week, and Manager Eager says "the folks are surely watching for their names."

The plan as outlined in the Times-Signal was most unique in its method of presentation and for that reason has excited keen curiosity.

WHAT A HEN

A hen owned by Mrs. H. B. Lattin, of Beloit, Wis., has just laid her 2,080th egg. The hen is twelve years and ten months old. A white Leghorn, it has laid an average of 300 eggs a year for three years. When nine years old she laid 136 eggs from June 1 to September 17. Only 36 eggs were laid by her last year.

ON THEIR WAY

A card to the Times-Signal yesterday from J. Lee Byrd at Raton, N. M., brought the news that he was awfully sorry to have missed the return home of Allen Stevens and his bride. He ended up the card, "so you boys tend to Allen," so in that case Joe York, Red Waskom and "Chunk" Smith will have to organize the bunch.

Mr. Byrd stated that he and Mrs. Byrd and daughter, Vivian, were en route to visit his brother in Wyoming and expected to spend a month in that state as well as Colorado and Montana.

Byrd Took Many Sanitary Means To Safeguard Health of His Men

New York.—News dispatches from Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic Expedition, dated "Little America, Antarctica," tell of the excellent health, high spirits, and physical comfort of sixty men, 12,000 miles from civilization, living in a temperature many degrees below zero.

It is not to mere chance or good fortune, that the members of the Byrd expedition have thus far escaped the ravages of sickness and disease, for Commander Byrd, realizing that the marked changes in temperature between the temperate climate to which his men had been accustomed and that of the ice-locked wastes of the frozen Antarctic would require all of the sanitary precautions known to modern science and medical skill if the health and physical well being of his expedition were to be adequately protected.

COMMANDER RICHARD E. BYRD

Commander Byrd's success as an explorer and adventurer into the far and desolate regions of the earth has been attributed to the painstaking preparations which have always preceded each of his efforts. This policy of preparedness for all possible contingencies was noted on the occasions of his flight over the North Pole, and his Trans-Atlantic flight.

For weeks before sailing from New York for the South Pole Commander Byrd's men were put through arduous physical instruction under a trained gymnast; each man's teeth were carefully examined and all dental defects were treated; skilled physicians and surgeons examined each member of the crew. Many applicants for berths with the expedition were rejected because of bodily infirmities or minor physical defects, and when the Expedition finally sailed away from New York every man in the crew was pronounced 100 per cent physically fit.

Even the mattresses for the bunks of the crew were specially made to insure a maximum of rest during sleep. Dr. Francis D. Coman, of Johns Hopkins University, the medical officer of the Expedition, took along a supply of medicines, surgical appliances, first aid equipment, etc., almost sufficient to stock the average hospital.

Both Commander Byrd and Dr. Coman realized that germs and vermin know no geographical limitations and thrive alike in temperate and frigid climates, so twenty-five cases of lye were also included among the many supplies. The reason for taking along such a large quantity of lye is that it has many sanitary uses, kills germs and vermin that abound wherever a large group of human beings are closely confined, opens sinks and drains which when clogged from breeding places for disease spreading germs. A teaspoonful of lye in a gallon of Antarctic snow quickly solves the problems of the Byrd dishwashing crew.

Chlorinated lime was taken along in large quantities to purify the drinking water, as a disinfectant and for sterilization. Both lye and chlorinated lime, according to Chief Steward Greason of the Byrd Expedition, is used for swabbing down the walls and floors of the little houses in which the Byrd men are dwelling in the Antarctic, and for washing out their bunks.

Dozens of other items designed to insure the health of his men on the two-year expedition into Antarctica were taken along by Commander Byrd—and the superb health of every member of his crew apparently justifies these many precautions.

FRATERNAL

"Say, Bob, can I borrow your pen?"

"Sure thing."

"Got a sheet of writing paper I can use?"

"Reckon so."

"Going past the mail box when you go out."

"Uh-huh."

"Wait a minute till I finish this letter, will you?"

"All right."

"Want to lend me a stamp?"

"Yeh."

"Much obliged. Say, what's your girl's address?"

ANSWERED

Professor—"Can you give me an example of a commercial appliance used in ancient times?"

Student—"Yes, sir, the loose leaf system used in the Garden of Eden."

A newspaper headline says "Einstein Theory Checked." Now we wish someone would kindly figure out how the thing ever got started.

Uncle Sam may be a grand old man when it comes to governmental affairs, but as a business man he is all wet. OF BURNED OUT BEARINGS YOUR MOTOR CAN ESCAPE IT

IF you've ever listened to the anvil chorus under the hood when a bearing burns out, you realize the damage that poor oil can do to a motor. Replaced bearings cost real money—a great deal more, in fact, than the cost of a year's supply of good oil.

Isn't that reason enough why you should always insist upon a brand of oil which has stood the test—a brand backed up by an organization which has spent years specializing in the lubrication needs of every type of motor?

Such are the brands offered you by the Continental Oil Company. You may be sure that an oil sponsored and sold by this organization is the right oil for your car.

You protect the bearings — and your pocketbook, too — when you ask for these brands at service stations and garages.

Conoco Motor Oil insures protection. It seals compression—saves gasoline—fights friction. Stands up under most intense cylinder heat. In short, does a complete lubricating job in all kinds of weather.

Ask for the grade made especially for your car.

Texas counties have been given the privilege of selecting their own crops for exhibition at the 1929 State Fair of Texas. New score cards for agriculture at the 1929 exposition which has recently been adopted puts every county in the state on an equal footing. A third more space is being added to the Agriculture Building.

More than one-half of the 254 counties of Texas were represented in the agricultural exhibits of the 1928 State Fair of Texas. It is expected that many more than this number will exhibit at the 1929 exposition.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus features more wild animal acts than any other circus now on tour. The circus also has the largest menagerie of any American circus and all of these will be at the 1929 State Fair of Texas for the entire period of 16 days, playing matinee and night performances daily.

Advice is easy to give but hard to take. Beware of adopting the easy course. Other men's opinions are often better than your own, and the man who talks to himself for such a long time that he thinks he has been listening to someone else needs a change.

The automobile industry is said to support 10 per cent of the people, while the remaining 90 per cent are kept busy jumping out of the way of the product thereof.

OFFICIAL SONG FOR TEXAS IS CHOSEN BY MOODY'S APPROVAL

Texas for the first time in history now boasts of an official state song. "Texas, My Texas," by Gladys Yoakum Wright and William J. Marsh of Fort Worth, which survived six years of competitive tests, became the official state song when Governor Moody, during the past week, approved the action of the legislature in adopting it. The song was given recognition on the recommendation of Sen. Margie E. Neal of Carthage.
In Gov. Pat M. Neff's administration the governor offered a $1,000 prize for a song, and named committees to select the best one offered. "Texas, My Texas" was chosen out of hundreds tried out. The legislature failed to adopt it and named a new committee to hold further competitive hearings. The matter dragged on through Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's administration. A new committee, headed by Miss Neal, began work of sorting through all the songs available to choose the one thought most fitting for official adoption. Miss Neal recently reported the selection of this song, and the legislature adopted it by concurrent resolution.
Words of the song follow:
Texas, our Texas. All hail the mighty state.
Texas, our Texas. So wonderful, so great.
Largest and grandest, withstanding every test,
O empire wide and glorious, you stand supremely blest.

Texas, dear Texas, from tyrant grip now free,
Shines forth in splendor, your star of destiny.
Mother of heroes, we come, your children true,
Proclaiming our allegiance, our faith and love for you.

God bless you, Texas, and keep you brave and strong,
That you may grow in power and worth throughout ages long.

Touching Return

"When the tourist arrived home he fell on his face and kissed the pavement of his native city."
"Emotion?"
"No, banana skin."

A stooping posture is said to be unhealthy, though that kind of a posture over Father's knee in the woodshed used to be called wholesome.

In addition to the public schools and state-supported higher institutions of learning, there are in Texas more than 100 educational institutions of university, college and sub-college rank supported by churches, private individuals and endowments.

Of 340 foreign states and countries only 54 have a greater area than Texas. The little-known names of a number of these will be interesting to Texans. For example: Bechuanaland, Tchad (twice the size of Texas), Ethiopa, Kirghiz (943,646 square miles), Nigeria, Sinkiang, Tanganyika, Thibet and Turkestan.

Texas stands seventh in automobile registration with 1,214,297 motor vehicles licensed to use its 2,083,942 and California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan follow in order ahead of Texas. Oklahoma with 529,843 is the nearest to Texas in the South and Southwest, and North Carolina with 464,376 leads in the "Old South."

Giving Himself Up

Offisher, you'd better lock me up. Jush hit my wife over the head wish a club."
"Did you kill her?"
"Don't think sho. Thash why I want to be locked up."

New Yorker (incredulously)—And you mean to say that in California you have three hundred and sixty-five days of sunshine?
The Man from Los Angeles—Exactly, sir; and that's a mighty conservative estimate.

Roses grown in Smith, Van Zandt, Cherokee and other East Texas counties are shipped to market throughout the United States. This is one of Texas' new and growing industries.

More than 537,000 Texas homes are served by electricity. About 450,000 electric irons are used in these homes. This is the most widely used electrical appliance.

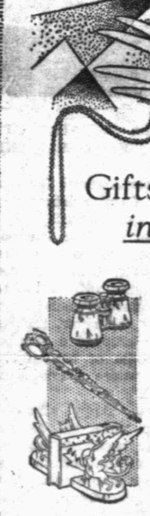

"Pa, won't you please help me with my Sunday school lesson? It's about Noah and the flood, and we've got to say what the story teaches us."
"Why, that's easy, my boy. Obviously it teaches us that we should always provide for a rainy day."

Mother—Johnny, how dare you strike your little sister?"
Johnny—Auntie made me.
Auntie—Nonsense, Johnny; I said if you did I would never kiss you again.
Johnny—Well, I couldn't let a chance like that slip.

"And how do you like school?" asked the kind old lady.
"Closed," answered the little lad.
