Liquor Case Thrown Out Of Court Here

A "sickened and disgusted" County Judge Bruce Parker threw what State Liquor Control Board agents thought was a sure fire conviction, clear out of court, ordering an immediate dismissal to the case.

Testimony showed that an undercover agent approached the living quarters of the R. E. Sprinkle liquor store, 1002 Alcock, on Sunday, Aug. 21, and tried to make an illegal buy.

Mrs. Sprinkle, elderly and partially crippled with arthritis, was alone in the house at the time. The undercover agent used the old song and dance about being "sick" and needing the liquor badly. Mrs. Sprinkle insisted that she could not sell him any on Sunday. The undercover agent virtually insisted that he had to have a drink. Mrs. Sprinkle moved by his pleadings, offered him a small bottle free of charge, saying she would give it to him, but would not sell it. The undercover agent took a bottle from her hand, threw a dollar and some change on the table and went out, reporting his "evidence" to Agent J. B. Woodard.

The complaint, sworn out by Woodard, named the "buyer" as Charles E. Baxter, but gave no address or other identification.

Judge Parker asked Woodard in open court yesterday afternoon if he approved of such conduct by his undercover men. Woodard's answer, such as it was, only

Arwine Says He Never Knew Pair

DALLAS — (AP) — A former constable accused of killing a Wise County farmer and his wife yesterday said he'd never heard of them.

W. I. (Ike) Arwine, 63, former Bridgeport constable, had told Wise and Denton County officers the previous night:

"I shot John Mash in a corn field and I shot Mrs. Mash while she was cussing me."

Arwine surrendered meekly Wednesday after an armed posse had hunted him more than 24 hours.

Henry Wade, assistant district attorney, said officers were unable to get rational replies in questioning Arwine yesterday.

To test his reaction, they went to his cell and told him Mr. and Mrs. Mash were waiting to see him.

Arwine replied he didn't know of a Mr. and Mrs. Mash, Wade said.

The ex-constable, dirty, exhausted and hungry when he gave himself up, downed a hearty breakfast yesterday. It apparently was too much for him. He suffered violent stomach cramps and was ill all day.

Arwine Wednesday night told officers he had gone to the Mash farm Tuesday morning to talk to Mash about accusations made in the Odd Fellows Lodge in Bridgeport that Arwine had raped Mrs. Mash. He said he didn't rape her. Mrs. Mash had filed a rape complaint against him in a Justice of the Peace Court.

Murder charges against Arwine were filed late Wednesday night in Justice of the Peace C. H. Quissenberry's court at Decatur.

Hail Storm Rips Lefors

LEFORS — (Special) — Severe damage was done by a hail storm that struck Lefors last Friday afternoon.

The storm hit about 4 p.m., following a severe dust storm, travelled across town and lashed at part of the Laketon area.

The storm lasted about 30 minutes and was accompanied by torrents of rain that filled the main streets curb-deep.

The hail stripped fruit and leaves from trees, broke a countless number of windows, damaged most of the roofs in town, and dented many automobiles. Many hail stones were reported as large as golf balls.

Perhaps the most heavily damaged building was the Methodist Church, where every stained glass window on the south and west sides were broken. The Baptist Church also suffered the loss of 20 window panes, and every outdoor neon sign in town was damaged.

A considerable amount of damage was also done to the interiors of homes and business buildings when the rain poured in through ripped roofs and broken windows.

No estimated of the total damage done has yet been made.

Epidemic of Polio May Be Just Started

NEW YORK — (AP) — The polio epidemic may not have reached even the half-way point yet, and 1949 is certain to be the worst polio year in U.S. history, says the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The score on the basis of the foundation's latest reports:

17,306 cases so far in 1949.

3,422 new cases last week — the highest number ever recorded for one week.

The total of reported cases through last week compared with 9,743 for the same period of 1948, the second worst polio year up to that time.

In 1916, which had ranked as the worst epidemic year, there were about 30,000 cases.

The figures and prediction were issued yesterday by Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, the foundation's medical director, who said:

"Study of previous patterns of polio incidence shows that the peak may come anywhere between mid-August and mid-September. But the mid-point of the epidemic . . never has occurred before the second week in September.

"If the peak is reached early, the reduction in cases is slower than if it comes later. When the peak is reached late, the number of new cases reported drops rapidly."

Dr. Van Riper said this year's record of cases shows a sharp rise week by week since early spring, without even temporary drops.

(Texas rate dropped slightly last week.)

This year has been marked by an increased polio total to date as compared with 1948, in 38 states.

Statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announced that a new study shows the children's polio death rate is dropping slowly.

The report, based on deaths among insured children under 15 years old each year since 1911, said the biggest drop in deaths has been among children under 10, especially among girls.

Young Latvian Refugee Will Fill Pulpit

MIAMI —(Special)— A young Latvian refugee will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist Church, here, Sunday at both morning and evening services.

Andris Lamberts, 20, who was born in a Russian concentration camp, and spent most of his life in confinement, with his parents for preaching the gospel, will tell of life under the iron curtain. Young Lamberts will deliver his first public message since his escape with his family in a small fishing boat, from their native land. Upon arriving in America he found that he had contracted tuberculosis and his doctors have only recently given him permission to preach again.

Lamberts will be accompanied by his mother who will speak at the Sunday school hour and at Training Union. Both mother and son will dress in their native costume and sing special numbers in their native tongue.

The father, the Rev. Lamberts, remained in Chicago, where he has established headquarters for the Slavic Missionary Society. He has held some of the largest Baptist pastorates in both Russia and Latvia, and has also served as chaplain in the Russian army.

Women Hitchhikers Slay Man In Robbery on Brady Highway

BRADY, Texas —(AP)— A young woman and a girl, both hitchhikers, left the man who gave them a lift dead in a ditch, face down in Johnson grass yesterday.

The slain man was Lewis Patterson, 34, Brady real estate man. He was shot as he struggled with the woman for a gun while she attempted to hold him up.

County Atty. Evans J. Atkins said today he had prepared murder charges against Mrs. Sandra Peterson. He said they would be filed today.

The county attorney said a 15-year-old girl, Loretta Fae Mosingo of Austin, who was arrested with Mrs. Peterson at San Angelo yesterday, would be turned over to juvenile officers.

Atkins said Mrs. Peterson gave her age as 23 and said she was born in Somerville, Mass. He said she related that she came to Brady from Temple, and that she had lived in a number of places. She mentioned Reno, Nev., and Galveston.

The woman and girl were arrested yesterday at San Angelo a few hours after Patterson was shot to death.

Officers brought the girl here last night. The woman was left at San Angelo.

Patterson was found by a farmer, Varnard Young, in a ditch about six miles northwest of here.

The woman and girl were arrested less than a block from the San Angelo bus station by City Policemen Bill White and W. H. McGonigal.

Young found Patterson's body when he went to get his mail from the highway mail box.

A shot had struck Patterson in the abdomen and gone out the left shouder.

Patterson's automobile was found wrecked near the McCulloch County line.

The woman and girl were arrested about 3 p. m. They made statements to O'Neal Dendy and Ralph Logan, district attorneys at San Angelo, and to Sheriff A. V. Willborn at McCulloch County.

Officers said both the girl and woman told of leaving Brady about 11 a. m., being picked up

Thompson Is Honored By Friends

AMARILLO — (AP) — Friends of Ernest O. Thompson tossed a big barbecue in his honor last night and the Texas railroad commissioner said:

"I have gone through life trying to collect friends, and my collection—the finest friends any man could have—is on display here tonight."

Gov. Allan Shivers, several other state officials and the staff of the Texas National Guard were among the 1,400 men from 22 states who paid tribute to the one-time mayor of Amarillo.

Thompson is a lieutenant general in the guard.

Many of the guests represented the oil industry, whose production is regulated in Texas by the decisions of Thompson and other railroad commissioners.

Jay Taylor, oil and cattleman and one of four men who threw the huge party for Thompson, was master of ceremonies. The other three hosts were Lawrence Hagy, Harold Dunn, and Dr. B. M. Puckett.

Among those who paid tribute to Thompson were Gov. Shivers, Judge Marvin Jones, chief justice of the U. S. Court of Claims; Olin Culberson, fellow member of the Railroad Commission; Ross Rogers, who succeeded Thompson as mayor of Amarillo, and John Snider, who knew Thompson as a boy.

A tribute to Thompson was read by Andrew M. Howsley of Albany, general counsel for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. It was prepared by R. B. Anderson of Vernon, president of the association, and said in part:

"We can remember that when there were those in our own industry who could not resist a temptation of quick wealth at whatever cost, Ernest Thompson had the vision to know that such practices could only result in ruin."

Thompson was first named to the Railroad Commission in 1932, during the East Texas oil boom.

Skelly Has More Polio

Another polio patient from Skellytown was admitted to the West Texas Polio Center at Plainview.

She is Betty Price, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Price, but she is reported as having only a mild case of polio. She was taken to Plainview Wednesday evening.

The small granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Worley, of north of Skellytown, who was taken to Plainview Monday, was supposed to be returned home last night.

S. C. Kalka, another patient from Skellytown, returned home this week and is reported in good condition.

Miss Price made the seventh Skellytown patient to be sent to Plainview this year.

Those probably most seriously ill are Ronnie, 11, and David Allen, eight, sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Rhodes, who were taken to Plainview last week. They are reported improving.

Reports from Plainview indicate that the rate of admittances has slowed down this week. There are approximately 50 patients under treatment and convalescing.

Custody Case Is Settled

In an uncontested court action in 31st District Court this morning, Mrs. George Ralsey Stevens III was given complete custody of her 11-year-old daughter, Paula.

The case, overly publicized earlier this week in some Panhandle quarters, sailed through the Court without a murmer.

The child's father, Carl Funderburg, Amarillo, signed a waiver of contest Thursday and Judge Lewis M. Goodrich put the custody into force this morning with his signature.

H. L. Turner, News Route Driver, Dies

Harley L. Turner, circulation route driver for The Pampa News since 1944, died at 11 p.m. yesterday at the age of 56. He lived at 507 N. Dwight.

Mr. Turner will be remembered by a number of people at McLean, Shamrock, Wheeler, Mobeetie, Canadian and Miami. He had delivered bundles of The News to carrier boys in those towns each day except Saturday. Most recently his route was McLean, Shamrock, Wheeler and Mobeetie.

A resident of Gray County since 1937, Mr. Turner had been suffering from what he thought was stomach trouble for several weeks. He died of a heart attack at the Worley Hospital.

Besides his wife, Bertha, he leaves three sons, Claude, Weldon and Gaylon, all of Pampa; three daughters, Mary Ada, at home, Mrs. Evelyn Nickle, Tulia, and Mrs. Nina McLarren, Cameron, Texas; three brothers, Roy who works for The News, Luther, Bakersfield, Calif., and Elbert, Hereford; and one sister, Mrs. Leona Beadle, Pampa. Claude also works at The News.

Funeral services, to be conducted by Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, were indefinite at press time, because some of the children had not made arrangements. The rites will likely be Monday.

TROPICAL HURRICANE HEADS FOR FLORIDA'S GOLD COAST

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — A tropical hurricane with winds up to 120 miles per hour passed north of Nassau, Bahamas, today and headed for South Florida's Gold Coast.

All South Florida has braced for the storm which whirled toward this wealthy Atlantic resort area at a 18 to 20 miles an hour pace on a west-northwest course.

If the present course is maintained, the hurricane will strike the mainland a short distance north of Miami this afternoon.

A high flow of southern wind over Florida may cause the storm to take a more northward course about the time it reaches the coast and cause it to buzz saw along the thickly-populated area between Miami and Palm Beach.

The center of the second hurricane of the season passed nearly over or slightly north of the Bahamas capital shortly after 5:30 a.m. (CST). Highest winds were reported at 75 miles an hour in gusts. Nassau caught the weakest side of the storm.

In a 7 a.m. (CST) bulletin, the Miami Weather Bureau said the storm had picked up intensity during the night with highest winds estimated at between 110 and 120 miles an hour.

Because of the erratic nature of the storm, hurricance warnings cover a 142-mile stretch of the Florida East Coast from Vero Beach south to the greater Miami area, and inland to include the Lake Okeechobee region. Storm warnings flew over most of the state not included in the hurricane area.

Meanwhile, South Florida rushed preparations for the approaching storm. Merchants began boarding up storefronts at dawn. Small boats scurried up the Miami River seeking shelter inland.

The disturbance lashed Cat Island in the Bahamas with 110-mile-an-hour winds.

Ships and planes at the Key West Naval Base were ready to flee if the storm headed that way.

Chief forecaster at Miami, Grady Norton, called the hurricane "a renegade" and "a bad actor."

He said it pursued a veering course during the past three days, first curving northward then shifting back westward gain. A Navy hurricane hunter plane had difficulty finding the "eye" of the doughnut-shaped disturbance in the confused air currents.

Norton said earlier the blow presented the "rare phenomenon" of a hurricane still in the formative stage but with winds already blowing at hurricane force.

Cronister Testifies

DALHART — (AP) — D. A. Cronister testified he shot C. W. Barker and his son, W. J. Barker, "to save my life."

On trial for murder in the death of the Barkers, Cronister last night said after he had sold some Ochiltree County property to the Barkers they took a stock tank and some fence which belonged to him.

Cronister said he was riding with J. R. Cook in Cook's jeep when he met the Barkers on the road in a pickup truck on May 6, 1948.

When they stopped, Cronister testified, he heard the elder Barker tell his son: "Hand me that gun and I'll shoot the . . . ."

Cronister testified he reached back in the jeep, seized his rifle and shot C. W. Barker. He shot W. H. Barker, he said, when the man grabbed for his gun.

Cook, the only known eyewitness to the shooting, testified he saw the Barkers reaching for a gun.

Mrs. Cronister testified that while her husband was in Colorado a few days before the shooting, C. W. Barker hauled away the Cronister's stock tank. He struck her when she objected, Mrs. Cronister said, and threatened her and her husband's life.

Assault Charge Brings $25 Fine

Tommie Lee King was assessed a $25 fine and costs this morning by County Judge Bruce Parker for assault with a motor vehicle.

King, around 11 p.m. yesterday, was driving west on Montague when he collided with Ross Cowan, 12, whose bicycle caught on the left front fender of King's car. The youngster was traveling north on Roberta when he collided with the King car. As he hit the car his body caught on the door handle, cutting his side. King, it was said, kept on going, never stopping to assist the boy. A Mrs. Cameron took the boy to her home at 625 Roberta where a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance picked him up and took him to Worley Hospital.

King was picked up near midnight by City Police and entered a plea of guilty to the charge this morning in County Court.

Man Winner at Iowa State Fair

DES MOINES — (AP) — In his first try at Iowa State Fair competition, an 82-year-old retired Montezuma, Iowa, farmer won a blue ribbon Thursday.

Samuel Zorn got his first prize for a handsome bedspread which it took him 192 days to knit.

MISSING WIDOW—Los Angeles police were launching an all-out search for Mrs. Mimi Boomhower, 48, above, wealthy widow who reportedly vanished from her Bel-Air home a week ago. She was last heard from when she telephoned a friend that she was to go out with an unidentified man. Police found all the lights burning in her home. Friends said she habitually wore extravagant jewelry.

Five Fires Answered Here in Day

Five fires, within less than 18 hours, were turned in to the Pampa Fire Department yesterday beginning at 1:30 a.m. and ending at 2:20 p.m.

The first blaze was the largest when fire from an undetermined origin destroyed a barn in the 1300 block Barnes.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said the barn was owned by "Granny" Garrett, but had nothing of value in it when it burned. The old building was virtually destroyed by the time firemen were notified, Winborne said.

The next two calls were grass fires. The first at 800 W. Foster at 10:15 a.m. and the second at 600 Yeager about 1:15 p.m.

In less than an hour after the second grass fire, a city trash truck caught fire a few seconds after it picked up some fire from a trash box. The truck was in front of 305 S. Gray when the blaze was discovered.

At 2:20 p.m. a garage was set on fire at 633 N. Hobart by a little boy playing with matches. The property is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Worley, Winborne reported. All fires except the barn, which completely burned, were extinguished before serious damage could be done.

On the heels of the five fires, Fire Chief Winborne asked every citizen to "take a little more time and exert a little more caution with matches, smokes, and rubbish because the present hot and dry spell has made every inflammable object especially susceptible to igniting.

Accountant Reports On Bank Deposits

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John Maragon today refused to answer questions at the Senate five percenter inquiry "on the ground that my answer might tend to incriminate me."

The Greek-American had taken the witness chair after an accountant testified that Maragon made bank deposits of $119,608.61 during a five-pear period in which he said his income was only around $30,000.

He would not talk when asked about his financial affairs, or answer many other questions.

But he did say "yes" when Senator Mundt (R-SD) asked: "Do you know Harry Vaughan?" He referred to Maj. Gen. Vaughan, President Truman's Army aide.

Mundt then wanted to know whether Maragon had ever been "associated" with Vaughan in "any activities."

"I refuse to answer on grounds that my answer might tend to incriminate me," Maragon replied.

Mundt said that answer left the "implication that you and Vaughan have been engaged in activities that are incriminating."

Maragon said that he was just following his counsel's advice.

He would not say, when asked by Chairman Hoey (D-NC), whether he had testified before the committee behind closed doors July 28.

Maragon did testify at that time.

The committee has since released a transcript of his testimony. Among other things, Maragon swore then that he had never received any payments for negotiating business with government agencies.

Maragon's lawyer, Myron G. Ehrlich, broke in to say he had advised his client to refuse to answer certain questions.

Ehrlich contended that "it appears there have been extracted from this witness possible

Plane Lands On Street; Two Injured

DENTON — (AP) — Two occupants of a light plane escaped with their lives when it crashed on a highway in the city limits of Denton early today.

The two occupants, both race drivers, were not believed seriously injured.

They were Judd Larson, 29, of Austin and Ben Frieden, 27, of Dallas.

Frieden said the engine of the plane sputtered and quit as he flew over Denton, enroute from Oklahoma City to Dallas.

He brushed a communications line as he tried to land on the highway to Sanger, Texas, and the collision with the lines nosed the ship down into a crash landing.

The scene was 25 blocks from the downtown district, and directly in front of the home of Mrs. Joe Hanar.

The accident occurred at 12:20 a.m.

Frieden said he and Larson drove in a race at Oklahoma City last night. At 10 p.m. they headed for Dallas.

Directly over Denton, he told a reporter, the plane's engine began sputtering. Then it quit. He was at 3,500 feet and lost altitude rapidly. He looked for a spot to make an emergency landing and saw the black-topped highway, lighted by street lights.

He circled for a landing, but brushed the communications line which threw the plane, a Cessna 140, out of control. It hit on its nose and was heavily damaged.

The plane hit the center of the highway, blocking it.

The crash victims were taken to a Denton hospital.

Jaycees to Distribute More DDT

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce will again distribute free DDT for household use Monday, Jaycee President Floyd Watson said today.

The distribution is again made possible by the Sherwin-Williams Co. and the Panhandle Lumber Co., 420 W. Foster, local agents for S-W products.

Last Monday the Jaycees gave away 800 pints and 96 quarts of a six percent DDT liquid coating for household use as part of a continuing civic drive to eliminate insect carriers of communicable diseases.

The Jaycees started at 9 a.m. Monday and all the DDT was given away by 11:30 a.m., Watson said.

The DDT to be given away this coming Monday is a 10 percent preparation in powder form also manufactured for household use to control insect pests.

The DDT will again be given away at the Panhandle Lumber Company, and the Jaycees, as last week, will begin handing out 1,000 eight-ounce cans of the powder at 9 a.m. They will be there until 6 p.m., or until all the available DDT is distributed.

Buses Running In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The buses were running in San Antonio today.

End of the strike of drivers and mechanics came yesterday in the middle of its fourth week. The first city buses rolled at 5 p.m.

The announcement of a union-management agreement came shortly after the San Antonio Transit Company announced plans to resume operations with non-union help if necessary.

Laurence Wingerter, vice president and general manager of the company, announced the settlement. He said union employes had agreed to return to work under a contract providing a wage increase of two cents an hour.

The 600 drivers and 200 mechanics had asked for a 19-cent an hour wage hike. They had been receiving $1.26 an hour.

Hugh Isbell Dies at 62

Henry Hugh Isbell, 62, a resident of Pampa since 1908, died at 7:15 p. m. yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

He was born in Fort Worth Nov. 27, 1886, moved to Plainview in 1891, and to Pampa in 1908. He operated a farm north of town for several years; then he moved into town and worked for Cabot and as a janitor at the Junior High School Gymnasium until he retired recently.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the First Christian Church with the Rev. H. H. Tyler, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. James Todd of Amarillo.

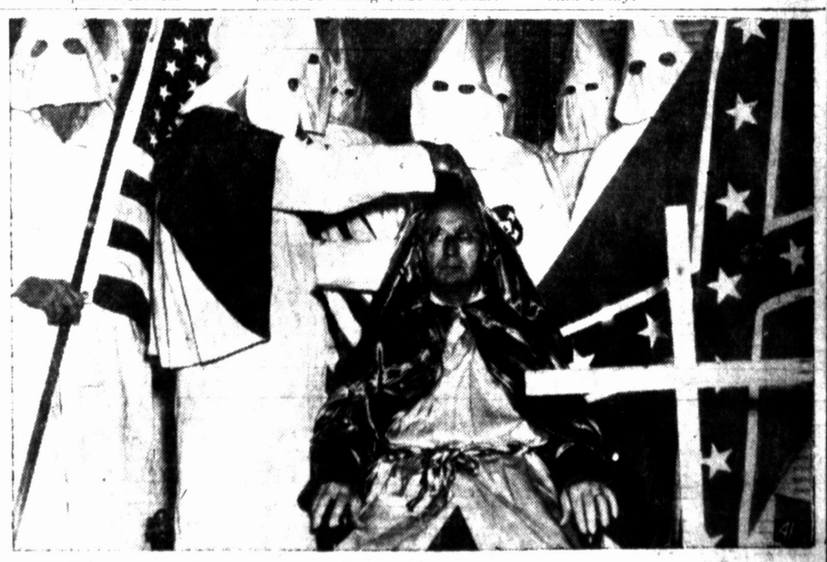

Burial, under the direction of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Isbell is survived by his wife; by two daughters, Mrs. Bert Stevens, and Miss Janice Isbell, both of Pampa; by his mother, Mrs. Martha Isbell of Fort Worth; by five brothers, Will of Plainview, Arthur and Clark of Lubbock, Bert of Pampa, and J. O. of Seattle, Wash.; by two sisters, Mrs. Leona White of Arkansas City, Kans., Mrs. Alleene Crow of Dallas; by an aunt, Mrs. Walter McClure of Fort Worth; and by two grandchildren, Lynda and Lee Kent Stevens, both of Pampa.

Pallbearers will be: Polk Valliant, T. V. Parker, Roy W. Williams, O. N. Frazier, Bill Kinzer, and Claude Fulton.

WOMEN

by Patterson at a bridge outside town, driving about six miles, and stopping as Patterson got out to pick up papers which had blown from the car.

Logan said the woman told him: when Patterson got out of the car she attempted to hold him up. They struggled for the gun and it went off and Patterson went limp. They took his wallet and car.

Dendy, attorney for the 119th District, said the girl told him the woman pulled a gun as Patterson started to get back in the car, but Patterson kept coming. There was a struggle during which four shots were fired, the last one striking Patterson.

Dendy said the girl then told him this happened:

At the woman's direction the girl took Patterson's purse from his pocket and found a $50 bill in it. The girl tried to drive the car but hit a post. The woman drove about ten miles, but the car went in a ditch.

They went to the Wilbert Fleming farmhouse and told him they had to get to Eden to see a doctor. Fleming and his wife drove them there. Then they hitchhiked to San Angelo.

There they registered at a hotel and bought new clothing and hair dye. They went to the bus station and checked a gun in a locker.

Logan said the woman told him she pulled a gun on a man to make him drive her from Austin to Temple Tuesday. She said she robbed him of $10.

(S. L. Cockrell of Houston told Temple police Wednesday he was held up and robbed of $11 and forced to drive to Temple by a woman hitchhiker.)

The woman said she picked the girl up at Temple; that they left there Tuesday night, hitchhiking, and that near San Saba she held up another motorist, but he had no money.

Young said that as he was plowing in a field with a tractor he had noticed an auto stop, and two girls and a man scuffle in a ditch. He said the girls got back in the car and drove off. He didn't quit his work to investigate.

As he continued work another automobile, headed toward Brady, ran past the spot where the first car had been parked. A woman got out, peered at the side of the road, got back into her car and sped away, Young said.

Brady City Officer C. J. Sharp, Jr., said that a woman who wouldn't identify herself called about 11 a. m. to say there was a body in a ditch by the road about three or four miles west of Brady. He said the officers drove out, but found nothing because the woman had apparently underestimated the distance. That was about 1:30 p. m. not long afterward came Young's phone call about the body.

Patterson was a native of Brady. He was survived by his wife, an eight-year-old son; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Patterson of Brady; two brothers, Johnny Patterson of Brady and J. D. Patterson of Fife, McCulloch County, and two sisters, Mrs. Bill Moffatt of Fort Worth and Mrs. Lurlene Saunders of Odessa.

Andrew Jackson lived with his wife for two years when they found that her divorce from her first husband was not valid.

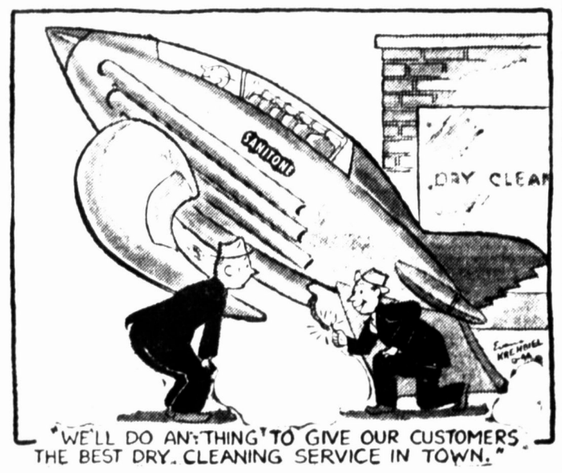

Benjamin Franklin was the first Postmaster-General of the United States.

Truman Keeps Mum on Plans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Some of President Truman's closest friends predicted today he won't let it be known until after the 1950 Congressional elections whether he will run again.

They agreed he will stump the country next year to get a Congress to back his "fair deal program."

A substantial number of them expressed conviction Mr. Truman's inclination is to leave the White House at the end of his present term in 1952.

All of them conceded they were "guessing."

And they insisted that Mr. Truman himself couldn't say for sure at this time.

The President himself set off the speculation yesterday.

He hinted with a smile that might have meant anything that he won't run in 1952. (He will be 68 on May 8 of that year.)

GM Wages Not Changed by Index

DETROIT — (AP) — General Motors workers' wages will not be affected by the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics index of 168.5, which was announced today.

The figure, based on a 1935-39 par of 100, serves as a measure of the cost of living.

General Motors Corp. said the new index "does not represent sufficient movement to affect any revision of wage or salary cost of living adjustment payments."

In a unique agreement drawn up last year, the corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers set up a sliding wage scale based on the cost of living.

Previous raises granted G-M workers under the agreement were canceled out this year when the cost of living began to drop.

MARAGON

self-incriminatory statements by methods" in violation of Maragon's Constitutional rights. His reference was to the July 28 session.

Ehrlich questioned, too, the right of the committee to ask Maragon about his personal affairs and he protested that committee counsel had refused to return papers that Maragon turned over to the committee.

The accountant's story of Maragon's bank accounts came immediately before Maragon was called.

Carmine S. Bellino, accountant employed by the committee, testified that it appeared that Maragon was receiving $1,000 a month pay from the Albert Verley Perfume Co., Chicago, at the same time he was employed in 1945 as a member of the American mission to Greece.

Maragon's government pay was at the rate of $5,600 a year.

After the fruitless round with Maragon, the committee recessed until Tuesday. At that time it expects to hear Vaughan.

Among other things, Maragon declined to say:

Whether he ever did any business for the Albert Verley Company when he was in Italy for the State Department.

Whether he ever did any business for the Verley company when he was in Paris.

Whether he ever received wages from the Verley company and the government for the same priod of employment.

Whether he ever drew any salary in connection with the Tanforan race track in California.

There has been testimony that Vaughan and Maragon intervened with government agencies to help the Tanforan track get scarce building materials during the shortage after the war.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) asked Maragon if he had ever "worked for Frankie Costello." Frank Costello is a reputed New York underworld leader.

Maragon refused to answer that question and another as to whether he had ever "worked for" Frank Helis.

Helis' name cropped up during the investigation in connection with the Tanforan track.

Maragon, who was born in Greece and grew up in Kansas City, has never held any official position in Washington. The committee got testimony as late as last June, Army officials were under the impression Maragon was acting as a liaison between the White House and Secretary of Defense Johnson's office.

Maragon was attached in 1945 to an elections mission sent to Greece. Dr. Henry F. Grady, who headed that mission, advised the committee that Maragon was a "nuisance." He said he would have fired him had the State Department not beaten him to the punch.

Chinese Reds Approach Canton

CANTON — (AP) — Red forces pushed to the Kwangtung border today.

A Nationalist army spokesman admitted the Southwestern Kiangsi town of Lungnan had fallen to the Communists.

(Private reports which are reliable said Kiennan and Tingnan, too, had been taken by the Communists.)

(This would put the Reds within 140 miles or less of Canton, the provisional Nationalist capital, and on the Kwangtung Province border.)

Seven Lose Lives In Submarine

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Seven persons lost their lives early today when the snorkel-equipped submarine Cochino was lost while on a training cruise in Arctic waters.

Announcement of the loss was made by the Navy here.

An explosion in the battery room and fire destroyed the submarine.

An undetermined number of the crew were rescued.

Six of those lost were swept from the deck of the U.S.S. Tusk, a sister submarine cruising with the Cochino.

The Tusk had pulled alongside the Cochino to try to rescue it after the explosion.

made the Court madder. The case was tossed out the window.

Later Judge Parker said:

"Things like that just make my stomach turn, picking on a crippled old lady like that just to make a case. If it would have been a man, it might have been different, but that old lady, — whew."

The case didn't make other Courthouse officials any too pleased with the agent's actions.

Mrs. Sprinkle was described by some officers as "one of the nicest old ladies in the county."

However, the agents got one plea of guilty from a woman yesterday when Dorma Frazier pleaded guilty to selling liquor on Sunday. She was given a fine of $100 and costs for selling liquor to an undercover man on Aug. 21.

However, the agents couldn't get pleas of guilty from three men.

Willie Harris, Roy Edwards and Marshall Grice all pleaded not guilty to selling liquor on Sunday. Harris was charged with the sale of beer on Sunday, while Grice was charged on two counts, one of having liquor in his possession for the purpose of sale and for selling liquor on Sunday. All three were freed on bonds of $500 and $1,000.

Can Parents 'Boss' Daughter Who Is 'Keeping' Herself

Have parents the right to tell a self-supporting daughter what she can and cannot do?

That's the question asked me by a mother whose 20-year-old daughter is living at home, paying board and making her own way in the world.

"But," says her mother, "I say and I think I'm right that as long as she is living under our roof she ought to obey her father and me."

Even if she should—she doesn't. And that's the real point of the matter.

Why squabble over an issue you're bound to lose? Keep insisting that she do as you say so long as she is living in your home and she'll figure out some way to live elsewhere.

She'll move into an apartment with another girl, the first chance she gets, or she might even marry unwisely, just to get away from home to a place where she can be her own boss.

So if you want to keep her at home, where you can at least know what she is doing, don't antagonize her by trying to shove your ideas down her throat.

After all, if she is capable of earning her own living she should be capable of making her own decisions.

HELP WITH MISTAKES

She may make mistakes. And it may be hard for you to watch her make them. But at least you're there, where she can count on your help if she ever thinks she needs it.

Does that mean you can have no influence on her at all? Of course not. You can influence her if you start treating her like an adult instead of like a child. And if you let her know what you think is best for her, without telling her she is duty-bound to do as you say simply because she is still living with her mother and father.

And don't bear down so hard on that "living under OUR roof" idea. Make her feel she's living under her own roof—as indeed she is, on two counts. She's your daughter and your home is her home. Also, she's paying board.

Recognize her right to live her own life—and perhaps she won't try quite so hard to show you that she's going to—whether you like it or not.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

For our lesson on the play of the hand I have selected a hand from an article in the Bridge World written by Alfred P. Sheinwold. It was played by Harry Fishbein in the Master's Individual in 1948.

In addition to the Thursday lesson hand each week I am also giving you a lesson hand on bidding each Saturday, so do not censure the bidding given in today's hand.

Fishbein is one of the most colorful players in the country. He says you cannot win tournaments if you play always according to the book. Naturally if you asked him what you should bid with the South cards today, he would say, "One heart." But he just felt this was the time to be different. He bid one no trump. When his partner bid two no trump, he then bid three no trump.

On the opening lead of the ten of spades, Fishbein played the jack from dummy. When it held he knew he was on a spot, as there were 11 tricks at hearts, but only 10 at no trump, and absolutely no way to deliver any more. As Fishbein said — "When you see a hopeless situation try the unusual." So he led the deuce of diamonds from dummy. East was not confused. She went right in with the queen and immediately led back the eight of diamonds. West won this trick with the ace.

I have often said, do not be afraid to make a mistake as declarer. There is only one of you and two opponents. Maybe they also will make a mistake, and sure enough West failed to return a diamond. He returned a spade. Fishbein ran his five heart tricks. West carelessly let go a club and a diamond. Now when Fishbein cashed the ace of spades East was squeezed in clubs and diamonds. Thus 11 tricks were made for a top score on the board.

Boy Scouts Visit Ranch

Boy Scouts of Troop 114 returned Saturday from a week's camping trip on the Bar-N-I Ranch west of Trinidad, Colo.

A planned program of Scouting activities was carried out during the week, consisting of First and Second Class tests and merit badge work. Among other projects the Pioneers built a foot bridge 35 feet long over Abbott Creek.

Six hikes were taken, including one overnight camp where the boys slept under lean-to's they constructed.

Fishing, nature study, and campfire activities were carried out daily. Many wild animals, such as deer, bear, and mountain lion, were seen and tracked.

The Scouts making the trip were Ronald and David Mullins, D. I. Wilkinson, Billy Culpepper, Don Lindsey, Neil Jolly, Bobby Waddell, Kenneth and Herman Van Sickle, B. D. Robison, Robert Fleming, Bill Baumgardner, Dale Ray Fannon, Joe Cook, Carl Blonkvist, Ronald Owens, John and Bob Schoolfield, Bob Prigmore, John Darby, John Jones, Jimmy Lamb, Tony and Olin Saulsbury, and Robert Cornelius.

Senior Scouts were Pete Kilpatric, David Lamb, John Friauf, Bill Loving, Robert Stone, and Roy Sullivan, Jr.

Troop dads were Herman Van Sickle and Bill Fannon; Luther Beeson was camp cook; and Assistant Scoutmaster Floyd Brandt and Scoutmaster John B. Schoolfield, Sr., had charge of activities.

Schoolfield said today that the 18-year-old bus the troop rode in made the trip without even on flat tire, "but there are still several crossed fingers."

Annual Henderson Family Reunion Draws Many Relatives and Friends

SHAMROCK —(Special)— The family of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henderson and a group of friends met Sunday afternoon at the Community Building for the annual Henderson family reunion, which has been held during August for a number of years.

Each guest brought a covered dish for the 6 o'clock dinner, which was served from a table centered with an arrangement of gladioli.

Approximately 100 relatives and friends from various parts of Texas attended the gathering.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. West was the scene of a family reunion when their children and grandchildren gathered recently to spend a few days together.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Winford, their daughters, Nancy and Nona; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCrary and daughter, Eyvonne, all of Corcoran, Calif.; Mrs. Jack Kerchman and son, Michael, Perryton; the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Daly, son, Joe, and daughter, Margaret of Pampa; Hubert West and daughter, Janice, of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagner, son, Charles, and daughter, Mary, Chillicothe, and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Adams of Vernon.

To honor her cousin, Dorothy Laas, of Plainview, who has been her house guest for a few days, Carolyn Dodgen entertained recently with a bicycle party and breakfast at her home on South Madden.

The girls gathered about 7:30 for the ride which was followed by breakfast in the back yard of the Dodgen home.

Those present in addition to the honoree and hostess, were Linda Horne, Ann Leftwich of Childress, Mary Kay Holmes, Mary Katherine Setzler, Reita Boston, and Frances Bechtel.

Earl Lemoyne O'Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. O'Neal, received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Pharmacy from the Oklahoma University School of Pharmacy, Norman, Okla., Monday, Aug. 8.

O'Neal is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary fraternity, and Phi Delta Chi, professional fraternity.

The Saint Patrick's Altar Society met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. Byron Brown.

The meeting opened with the recitation of the Rosary in unison with Mrs. W. L. Walker presiding. During the business session plans were made for the sale of Christmas cards by the members of the organization.

Refreshments were served during the social period.

Break Shows Red Fallacy

The inflammatory exchanges between the Soviet Union and Marsnal Tito of Yugoslavia may or may not lead to a conflict more serious than words. In any event, this display of what life can be like within the Communist family of nations is instructive to the rest of the world.

The really interesting part is not that Russia called Tito a fascist and threatened "more effective measures" to protect Soviet citizens in Yugoslavia. Or that Tito accused Russia of double-crossing his country and otherwise showing an "enemy attitude."

What stirs us is how wide the chasm is between this high pitched brawling and the perfection and beauty we have always been told would accompany the creation of a Communist world.

Some otherwise rather sensible people have occasionally, in disgust at the confusions of a divided world, hinted that communism enthroned throughout the globe might be a good thing, because it would "bring unity."

That world-wide communism would not bring unity is what Tito and Stalin are teaching us. From the first moment Russia verbally attacked the Yugoslav dictator, the dream of sweet, reasonable cooperation under communism was broken.

The non-Communist nations owe a deep debt to the rebellious Tito, for without his defiance the lesson might have been long in coming. We can be thankful he has the armed strength to permit him to talk back.

It would be difficult to overestimate the value of this instruction. The idea of a united world under the Red banner has been one of the chief weapons in Russia's propaganda arsenal.

But now we know that relations among nations would be no more serene in a Communist world than they have been for centuries under a great variety of regimes. We know that Russia and her followers have no magic formula for assuring peaceful conduct among different peoples.

The Tito-Stalin exhibition of unity — Communist style ought to impel non-Communist countries to redouble their efforts to find a firm footing for peace.

There surely can be no illusions left that there is a better hope of peace in communism spread to every corner of the earth.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1949)

NEW YORK — For years I have argued that the New Deal, known as the Square Deal in its advanced stage, was fascism. Huey Long is said to have remarked that when fascism came it would come disguised as the antithesis of fascism. His own share-the-wealth program certainly was fascism but he never bothered to deny that it was. He concentrated on positive salesmanship through hypnotism. In this he imitated Mussolini and Hitler. So did Roosevelt. They all lighted the skies with the personalities, trying to deify themselves so that criticism of their programs would be turned off as blasphemy. Such little as we know of Russia does not indicate that Lenin, Trotsky or Stalin stooped to cultivate the emotional favor of the people. Dealing with clods, they use the methods of the czars. That is the difference between bolshevism and the fascist variations of the same thing. It is not an important difference.

"The Italian nation is an organism having ends, a life, and means superior in power to the single individuals or groups composing it," says the book of fascism. "It is a moral, political and economic unit."

Roosevelt in honesty could not have found fault with that. In so many words he never did. He constantly held that the individual person was only part of a mass man. He invited the individual to join a union, to sacrifice his individuality, and become a force in combination with thousands of other abandoned personalities. If the individual refused, Roosevelt would force him to. That compulsion would be expressed in unemployment enforced by the union blacklist and by physical and moral terror the same as the Black Shirt and Brown Shirt mob actions. A snob and a selfish man himself, he never understood that some of the common man had personality and manhood, too. People were just "the masses" to him. They had B. O. It is ironic that any New Dealer or Fair Dealer can have the gall to decry brutality by shrouded figures in Alabama. These attacks are trifling by comparison with the wild insurrections, the bloody onslaughts and nocturnal terrors which the CIO employed in its organizing days to conquer the manhood of citizens holding out against the goons. If I were a Southern man, having read the threats of the CIO to "invade" the South in the old manner of Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania, I would join the Klan for defense.

The Italian Black Shirts and German Brown Shirts were reproductions of the Ku Klux Klan of the Reconstruction. The best people of Italy had been abused by the insensate rabble which predominates in any population. At last, they drew together and came to a stand. It was the same in Germany. The old Ku Klux never aspired to be or to dominate a government. It established a code and a fear which made peaceful living possible and then vanished.

On the contrary, the Roosevelt goons have pressed forward to command the government. The CIO and the A. F. of L. became subsidiaries of the party which protected their brigandage. As auxiliaries of the party, they wrung literally billions of dollars from the workers and employers. They imposed sales taxes on butchered chickens, suits, hats, coal and musical records. The frank understanding was that they would spend as much as need be of the money so extorted to keep the Democratic Party in power. This they have done.

While it is true that our terroristic unions have remained formally apart from the actual government it is nevertheless true that they and the administration are one. The next development, barring the election of Taft or perhaps Eisenhower or MacArthur in 1952, will be the formal adoption here of the British socialist bankruptcy state.

The Fascists said that all work was a social duty and therefore was protected by the state. Control was exercised through the collective labor contract and state labor courts had the final power to settle all disputes.

We have the Labor Relations Board.

"The employer and worker shall bear a proportionate share of the cost of provident measures," the program of fascism said. "The state shall make provision for provident measures."

What are "provident measures" but "social security" in which "employer and worker . . . bear a proportionate share of the cost?"

Was it fascism and national socialism that we fought? If so, were we crazy?

Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN

LONDON — We "did London" yesterday. It all started when I saw a notice in The Times that Cartier had some jewels at their place in New Bond Street. Right away George was all for sightseeing, but not in New Bond Street, which he said was just reeking with unexploded bombs likely to go off any minute.

It seemed that everywhere we went Dr. Samuel Johnson had been there first. They tell me he is the man who caused me so much trouble by inventing the dictionary. Before then people could spell words any which way and get an "A."

I don't wonder that Dr. Johnson had to hustle around so much to collect his words, as the British don't like to let go of them. If a word has four syllables, you are lucky if you can pry two of them out of an Englishman.

A foreigner can get along quite politely here with just for "you're welcome. for "youre welcome.

Mexico 'Flooded' With Bogus Bills

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Police said Mexico is being "flooded" with counterfeit U. S. $10 bills.

They said the excellent imitations apparently are coming from Europe on tramp steamers. The method of passing them in tourist centers which are accustomed to taking U.S. money shows an experienced and large gang is at work, the police said.

The bills, all of series "A," have been appearing steadily since last November. Police said they did not believe the bills were printed from plates prepared by the Germans during the last war because "they are much better than the German bills."

Salary-Setting Law Voided

AUSTIN (AP) — An attorney general's opinion has held unconstitutional part of a newly enacted law that attempted to set salaries for certain county officials in McLennan and Nueces counties.

The part of the law declared invalid called for $6,500 annual salaries in the two counties for the county judge, county clerk, sheriff, tax assessor and district clerk.

The opinion said that the classification given the two counties, and which forever excluded 244 other counties, was neither rational nor reasonable and violated the Constitutional prohibition against enactment of local laws by the Legislature.

The opinion held valid, however, that part of the law which set the criminal district attorney's annual salary at $6,500. Constitutional authority for local laws incident to the functioning of courts is expressly granted, it said.

McLennan County Auditor Tom Craven requested the ruling.

Washington . . . . . by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The 81st Congress has been panned so much that it's high time somebody gave the lawmakers credit for the many fine upstanding and constructive things they have done this year.

There is no better gauge on this than to look at the list of laws they have passed. After all, that's what they're here for. So what have they done? Up to Aug. 15, after seven months of work, 220 bills had been passed into law and duly signed by President Truman. That's roughly 30 a month, or one a day. What more could you ask?

On the principle that first things should come first, you could expect that the 220 new public laws would cover the most important subjects, settle the most vital issues, do the most good.

Public Law No. 1, passed Jan. 3 after one day of work, made Jan. 20 and Jan. 21 holidays for all federal employes in Washington. This was so they could attend the inauguration.

Having passed this miracle, the next day Congress raised the salary of the President, vice president and speaker of the House. This was Public Law No. 2.

It would be boring to just list all the laws passed, one after another. To get the spirit of the thing, let's just hit some of the legislative high spots. Feb. 25, after Congress had been in session five weeks, it passed Public Law 9 — to issue a commemorative stamp on the 200th anniversary of Alexandria, Va.

March 15, P. L. 19 authorized another commemorative stamp for the 300th anniversary of Annapolis, Md.

THOUGHFUL PLANNING

P. L. 22, March 23, extended an invitation to the International Olympic Committee to hold the 1956 games in Detroit. There's farsighted planning for you.

Next day P. L. 23 authorized the Marine Band to attend the G.A.R. encampment.

There was a very important piece of legislation passed in P. L. 29, which permitted fourth?class postmasters to be upgraded to third-class postmasters, and third-class postmasters to be downgraded to fourth-class postmasters without examination.

P. L. 32 gave the District of Columbia daylight-saving time again.

Spring got into the Congressional blood on April 21 when they passed P. L. 51, regarding the processing of certain visa cases for admission into the U. S. of alien fiances and fiancees of GI's.

A couple of laws later, Congress authorized the payment of $100 per capita to Red Lake and Chippewa Indians for timber sales. And the next law conveyed certain public lands to the Churntown, Calif., elementary school district.

P. L. 61 — May 12 now — actually did change the name of Culbertson Dam on Republican River in Nebraska, to Trenton Dam, in case you hadn't noticed.

By May 26, Congress was really worried about the international situation. It passed P. L. 74, authorizing the President to designate Memorial Day as a national day of prayer for peace.

TAKING A TIP FROM NERO

Following the advice of a Roman emperor — Nero, wasn't it? — who gave the people circuses when they cried out for reduction of the cost of living index, Congress on May 31 authorized the National Capital Sesquicentennial Commission to proceed with plans for the 150th anniversary of establishing the Capitol in the District of Columbia.

P. L. 88 authorized the Marine Band to go to Little Rock, Ark.

Congress did better after that, and passed its second 100 laws in only six weeks. P. L. 200 extended the time for construction of a toll bridge across the Rio Grande River at Rio Grande, Texas, after P. L. 198 had extended the time for construction of a free bridge across the Rio Grande at Del Rio.

In between were these epoch-making additions to Blackstone:

P. L. 132 authorized completion of the Eden project. It was another Eden — not the original Garden. This one's in Wyoming.

Filberts were included under marketing agreements by P. L. 139 and P. L. 140 corrected a typographical error in a law of 1940. P. L. 148 authorized the RFC to sell low-grade tin concentrates. Swan Island Animal Quarantine Station was disestablished by P. L. 186.

P. L. 190 authorized the general accounting office to make on-the-spot audits of accounts of the House sergeant at arms.

Anyway, P. L. 203, signed Aug. 3, designated June 14 of each year as Flag Day, and you don't have to worry about that one any more. Long may it wave.

Behind Closed Doors

One of the primary causes of our confusion and bewilderment that brings about long periods of unemployment and wars is that too many people who regard themselves as educated and leaders hide behind closed doors. Because they have graduated from a college or made a lot of money, or have an important position, or have been elected to an important office, or hold a pulpit, or hold a teaching position, they come to believe that they need not continue to test their beliefs. They believe that they have been tested and found acceptable as leaders. They do not seem to know that real life and thus development and growth, is one continuous process of testing.

These gentlemen do not seem to realize the great harm they can do to their fellow man by not having an open door for anyone who wants to test the rightness or the wisdom of what they are doing or advocating. Thus they go on continuing to misinform and mislead their fellow man. They do not seem to realize that the biggest job for every man is first to educate himself. That is the best, if not the only way, to educate others. There is little probability of a man reducing his errors to a minimum when he hides behind a closed door or when he makes a talk and refuses to answer questions without evasion. Probably the only test as to whether or not an act is in harmony with reality or nature or God's laws is whether or not it is in agreement with other axioms that men give lip service to believing in.

Entirely too many of these people use as an excuse for their living behind a closed door or an iron curtain that they are too busy. When they are too busy, it is invariably because they use themselves as the norm by which to determine right from wrong. If an act pleases their whim, it is right. If it does not please their whim, it is wrong. They do not seem to realize that you can no more reason without having an axiom or an accepted higher law or principle or rule or commandment from which to reason than you can measure distance without having a unit of measure by which to measure. Of course, these people can always be "right" in their own mind and they have little chance of ever learning or correcting their errors when they use themselves as a norm of rightness and hide behind lecture courses or pulpits or newspaper columns or an executive office. These people are invariably busy people. They are busy seeing people who want to use them. The man who knows that he has to reason from a principle and that principle is that all men are equally owners of themselves and all that they produce is not such a busy man. He can leave his door open. He is not molested by self-seekers.

I once knew an editor who believed that he was wise enough to print news that wasn't complimentary about the helpless, but the well-to-do or the people who he regarded as "the people" he believed he had the right not to print their misdoings. People wanted to see him constantly. They wanted favors from him. He thought they were his friends. Later when he was no longer connected with the paper and could not shield offenders he was not much sought after. He thought then that his former "friends" were "fair-weather" friends, and so they were.

I know of no better test as to whether or not a man is really useful to his fellow man than as to whether or not he is easily seen and as to whether or not he is willing to answer any and all questions about what he is doing or advocating. If he is in harmony with principles, he never can be embarrassed or made uncomfortable.

Most people hide behind closed doors and do not like people who want to test every act of their own and others by cross examination because these people would be greatly embarrassed if they opened their doors and had their pet formulas for promoting the general well-being tested by cross examination.

Success Secrets

Brooks Stevens, world-famous industrial designer of Milwaukee, got his start through a bout with polio at the age of seven.

Laid up in bed for two years, young Stevens took to drawing as one of the few forms of amusement open to him. Buildings, planes, trains and automobiles came off his drawing board in mass production. His engineer father helped out with suggestions and advice.

Stevens got out of bed at the age of nine and began a fight against his handicap which he largely conquered. But he never did get over his interest in creating original designs that his convalescence inspired. His school teachers complained that all he wanted to do was draw. Later, when he went to Cornell, the professors there made the same complaints. But since he was taking a course in architectural design, it wasn't so bad. Only he insisted on drawing washing machines and automobiles for the houses he was assigned.

Out of school he got a job with a wholesale grocer and promptly redesigned all the labels — most of which are still in use. Later Stevens went in business for himself as an industrial designer. The total value of the products he has designed is something like one and one half billion dollars! They include just about everything from outboard motors, railroad cars to the famous Jeep Station wagons and Jeepster. He was also called in to help revise the design on Kaiser-Frazer. His specialty is adding "sales appeal" through beauty and function of design.

If the world is to move forward, morally and religiously, laymen must rely on not only the ministers, but must accept some responsibility of leadership in the church themselves.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Differences between Secretary of State Acheson and Defense Secretary Johnson over the grant of a rolling mill to Tito represent the least important of their disagreements on the board military program of resisting a possible Russian blitzkrieg against Western Europe. Congressional cuts in military and Marshall Plan appropriations reveal that Congress leans toward Mr. Johnson, while President Truman sides with Mr. Acheson.

The basic difference, although none of the principal participants dare blurt it out publicly, revolves around the question of whether we shall try to "defend" Western Europe — and at what frontier — or whether we shall concede a quick Russian conquest, and merely prepare to "reconquer" it by bombing Moscow's war potential out of existence from bases in England, Italy, North Africa, possibly Spain, and from the Middle East if we can maintain a foothold there.

Congressional committees have heard from top national defense experts who, although entirely sympathetic to resisting Russia, maintain that it will be impossible to hold Western Europe against a Red invasion.

Even a large-scale rearming program carried out over twenty years, they insist, would not make the continent safe against the ground and air power which Moscow can concentrate in that relatively small area.

FRONTIER — The French, Dutch and Belgians, however, demand that the Allies fix the defense frontier at the Rhine. When the new German government becomes stronger and more confident, it will argue that the invaders should be stopped at the Elbe, several hundred miles to the East. Otherwise, they would be sacrificed at the first shot.

Secretary Acheson and his diplomatic spokesmen abroad have had to honor these demands. In the first place, the original conversations on problems of economic and military assistance were conducted by the State Department, as is customary.

FUNDAMENTALS — The joint chiefs of staff, as well as their British counterparts, were not consulted until after the broad program of "resistance" rather than "liberation afterward" had been formulated. Naturally, they had to agree to their superiors' arrangements.

Secretary Acheson and President Truman had no choice in the matter, and it should be emphasized that these are honest disagreements on fundamentals. The clash is not based on departmental jealousies or rivalries, but on a cold and realistic appraisal of future prospects.

Had the administration stated plainly and bluntly that it saw no chance of stopping Russia at the Rhine or Elbe, explaining that the Western forces would have to retire behind the English Channel, there would have been an immediate collapse of all negotiations.

ALTERNATIVE — In that case, the nations of Western Europe would have withdrawn from every American-sponsored project for recovery and defense, including the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Pact and the program for an economic and political union of Western Europe. No European government that satified such an agreement would have lived overnight.

The people themselves, as foreign diplomats have hinted in confidential conversations, might have concluded that there was no alternative save to throw in their lot with Stalin.

APPEASEMENT — Nevertheless and despite these considerations, there are military men who refer to this decision as "Pearl Harbor diplomacy." They also liken the rolling mill grant to Tito to the shipment of scrap and oil to Japan under the Roosevelt-Hull policy of "appeasement."

It was State, not the War or Navy Departments, which insisted that the U.S. Pacific Fleet be bottled up in Pearl Harbor, where the ships were so many tilting ducks for Jap aviators on December 7, 1941. State felt that to keep our warships in readiness at sea would have led Tokyo to declare war prematurely, and at a time when we were poorly prepared.

With Russia possessing 200 line divisions, 6,000 fighters, innumerable bombers and transport planes, and 17,000 heavy tanks, many Anglo-American strategists contend that we would be bottling up men, weapons and factories for destruction or capture by the Reds, if we attempt to prepare to hold an acre of land on the continent.

Even worse, they hold that the present program commits us to a ground war against Moscow in the early stages, and also in any attempt to "liberate" Europe after it has been conquered. Decisions made now on the military map, they point out, will harden into strategy that will persist until the end of any conflict.

As an alternative, they declare that we should make the realistic concession that the Reds can swallow Europe within ninety days. Next, in their view, we should make no plans to try to retake the continent through ground fighting.

They believe we should even neglect the Red force in occupied territory, letting it "dangle and die," as we did with the Jap units which we bypassed on islands strewn from Australia to Okinawa. Under this strategy we would not destroy European cities, factories, railroads and farms, as we did in retaking Festung Europa.

BOMBING — The Allied aim should be to destroy Russia's war potential in the back areas through strategic bombing with atomic weapons. The attack would be directed toward transportation and industrial facilities, oil fields and refineries. All these targets, it is maintained, could be reached with B-29's flown from British, North African, Italian and other bases.

The argument, for the compelling reasons already listed, has been decided in favor of State. But military men grown old in warfare insist that any conflict will be waged and won as they now recommend.

Compresses Flooded With Texas Cotton

CORPUS CHRISTI — (AP) — Texas' bumper cotton crop has flooded in on this gulf town in such volume that the city's two compresses have slapped on an embargo.

One compress will take no more cotton by either rail or truck. The other accepts truck shipments — but the huge, heavily laden trucks stretch out in long lines and wait hours to unload.

The compresses, by applying extreme pressure, reduce the bulky bales brought in from the growing areas to smaller bales for easier shipment.

President J. K. Cain of the Aransas Compress, which has embargoed all shipments, said the ban may be lifted Monday. But Fred Crook of the Port Compress, which embargoed only rail shipments, said it was impossible to determine now when his embargo would be lifted.

Both compresses have been on a 24-hour schedule trying to process cotton stacked three bales deep in all warehouse space. The Aransas Compress has some 30 acres of stored cotton under cover. The Port Compress had 8,000 bales still on rail cars waiting to be unloaded Wednesday.

The Guiding Hand

By GORDON MARTIN

When you see a man go down the street who's been a big success, you admire his ability and great resourcefulness. And you point him out to others as the chap who's cut the buck, and who rose to fame and fortune due to industry and pluck. But you'll see another reason, if behind the scenes you glance—there you'll find an understanding boss who gave the man his chance.

We've got lots of such employers who are more than quick to note if a youngster on the payroll really helps to row the boat. For the boss remembers long ago w he was starting out, that somebody took the time to tell him w 'twas all about. So he gives the youngster counsel and he listen his woes, while he guides his efforts up the path and keeps him on toes.

On occasion when the struggling fellow thinks he's quite fed it's the boss's pat upon the back that bucks his spirits up. So it's at all surprising that such friendship through the years is the big single factor in the making of careers. And when finally the goal reached, the man who hits the top will be grateful for the guid hand that wouldn't let him flop.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Harelip and cleft palate are one of Nature's errors in proper development which requires a number of cooperating specialists for proper treatment.

Parents of a child born with cleft lip or palate should not blame themselves. Early in the development of the child, long before birth, the face develops in a number of separate parts, all growing toward each other so that eventually there should be a complete union to form the whole face. When the parts do not unite, a cleft or opening is the result, usually on one or both sides of the upper lip. The name of harelip comes from the fact that the rabbit, or hare, normally has a cleft in its lip.

Besides being disfiguring, a cleft creates other problems such as difficulty in breathing and speech impairment. The hard palate at the roof of the mouth in to separate nose and mouth cavities. The soft palate, at the back of the roof of the mouth, closes off the nasal passage from the throat, permitting the stream of air used for speech to come out the mouth instead of the nose.

Therefore when a cleft palate exists the air goes up and out the nose, causing the nasal speech which is characteristic. Also when the roof of the mouth is not complete, the tubes leading to the middle ear cavity are exposed, resulting in poor hearing.

It is generally recommended that corrective processes be started in childhood, though effective results have been accomplished in adults and complete repair may not be possible at one time.

Modern treatment calls for the cooperation of specialists in plastic surgery, hearing, breathing, dentistry and speech reeducation. The degree of repair needed and other physical factors must be determined by the surgeon; for example, the cleft in the palate sometimes should not be closed for many months or years, depending upon each individual case.

When surgical repair has linked the various organs to provide proper hearing and breathing, the cosmetic improvement is further enhanced by a special dental appliance which also assists the patient in controlling sounds for speech, and the patient is taught good speech habits under the guidance of the speech re-educator. The process is long and time-consuming, with muscle training an important part of the speech teacher's work.

Because of the emotional conflict involved, parents of children with these defects should be guided by a competent physician.

Big Texas Pays Big Tax Bill

DALLAS — (AP) — Big Texas pays a big tax bill—more than Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Wyoming combined, with Alaska tossed in for good measure.

Internal revenue officials said Texans paid $1,381,165,565.49 in federal taxes during the year ended June 30. That's 3.41 percent of the national total of all federal tax collections.

Is that the mostest of any state

Nope, just seventh.

★ IN HOLLYWOOD

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Eleven years ago I made my gangster picture, "Angels Dirty Faces." When the last had been fired, the final thrown, and the law had accplished its inevitable purpose half promised myself that would be the end of my career a hoodlum on the screen. We started off the cycle with "Pu Enemy," made by Warner Bers in 1930. Although in su quent years I had made comedies, more service films more musicals, respectively, mob stories, I felt that I was ing identified too closely those tough guy roles.

Too, my conscience had be to bother me. I began to wo if I had been entirely succes in accomplishing what I h hoped to accomplish by pla occasional hoodlum roles. I wanted them and so planned of them to get over vividly unforgettabley the age-old t that crime doesn't pay; that wrong social environment a improper associates foster cri that these wrong environm and opportunities for poison contacts should somehow be el nated by the society that supp them.

MAKES OUTLAWS HUMAN

I had tried to accomplish by applying one of the old axioms of show business, "If laugh at them, you can't h them." To each hoodlum cha ter I tried to bring in some of humor by injecting differ mannerisms, lines and pieces business, as we say, that wo elicit a laugh here and there. this way I believed that I wo make each of these outlaw char ters human and therefore und standable and deserving of modicum of sympathy.

So now, after 11 years and half promise to myself I am ag playing a gangster role, aft having turned down literally ens of them submitted to me o that period of years by practic every studio and every agent the industry. I am Cody Jarr a complex-torn, grown-up m er's boy and psychosomatic ki in Warner Brothers' "Wh Heat," with Virginia Mayo as unfaithful wife, and Edmo O'Brien as a U. S. Treasury age out to get me at all costs, cost eventually being my life.

Since the picture started I h been asked many times, "H does it feel to be back in a ga ster role?" My reply has been varied. I'm glad to be play this particular hoodlum primar because he's one of the most ch lenging and interesting charact of his sort that has ever be written in a screen play. W him I hope again to get ov more strongly this time, the o old fact of crime and its wag and in "White Heat" there is a ditional impact.

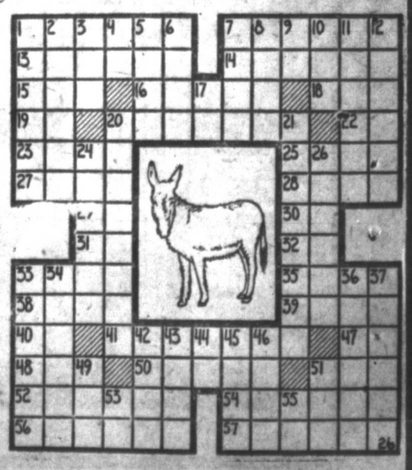

So called "closet dramas" a those designed to be read, b not acted.

Mystery of the Crimson Crystal Is Cracked While Grinding Rats

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Dr. Mary Shorb was busy grinding rats. Little did she dream that soon she would win fame and help crack the mystery of the crimson crystal.

The crimson crystal is Vitamin B12, one of the most powerful vitamins known to science.

For 20 years scientists had been studying raw liver in a search of a mysterious element that helped patients with pernicious anemia.

At the same time dairy scientists were seeking a mysterious "Factor X" they had discovered in liver and some other substances.

Poultry scientists were hunting the equally mysterious Animal Protein Factor (APF) contained in animal proteins and cow manure.

Dr. Shorb went to the government's experimental farms at Beltsville, Md., to help on the Factor X investigation in 1946.

One of the big problems was to find an easy way to measure the amount of the unknown Factor X in various food substances.

Using rats to test these food substances was slow and expensive.

Mrs. Shorb is a bacteriologist. The scientists wanted her to try to develop bacteria, which multiply rapidly, as a testing medium. Meanwhile she helped grind rats to measure their fact content as part of other feeding experiments.

Mrs. Shorb tested many bacteria. Finally she placed one strain, lactobacillus lactis Dorner (LLD), on a diet of liver and tomato juice plus other essential nutritional factors. Forty eight hours later she peered at this culture, growing in test tubes.

The bacteria were doing very well! Mrs. Shorb had what she wanted—bacteria that required liver to live.

By feeding dozens of liver and tomato juice combinations Mrs. Shorb could determine just how much Factor X each contained. Finally it might be possible to keep reducing the liver preparations to a single factor that would turn out to be Factor X.

About then funds for the bacteriological part of the Beltsville Factor X project were exhausted.

"I went to Maryland University and asked for laboratory space—no salary. They gave me space. The next job was to interest some big company in my project," she said.

Finally a representative of Merck and Company of Rahway, N. J., manufacturing chemists, came to the university. Their representative got me a fellowship to do work at the university."

At the Merck Laboratories a team of scientists was turning out a number of liver substances in the hunt for its mysterious nutritional properties.

Mrs. Shorb's bacteria were the answer. Merck sent her the liver substances. In a comparatively few hours she could give them the answer.

After hundreds were tried the electrifying announcement came: This one is it!

The laboratory team had a substance containing red crystals—one millionth of a part of liver!

The bacteria thrived on it.

This red crystalline substance was tried on anemia patients.

It brought prompt recovery.

The Merck scientists named it Vitamin B12.

U.S. Takes Bold Step With Slavs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Washington's decision to allow Red Yugoslavia to buy a three million dollar steel mill in this country, thereby increasing that Balkan country's military potential, marks a bold development of U. S. policy.

Clearly this gesture toward Communistic Belgrade represents what Secretary of State Dean Acheson bluntly describes as a "calculated risk." Marshal Tito, dictator of Yugoslavia, is no friend of capitalistic Uncle Sam.

The marshal broke with Moscow some 14 months ago over his refusal to abandon nationalism and place the sovereignty of his country in the hands of the Kremlin.

However, this whole Moscow-Tito row could be a trick to fool the Western powers into giving aid to Yugoslavia — aid which later would be turned against them.

Why then do we lend aid and comfort to Tito? The answer is that the conflict between Moscow and Belgrade may not be phony but the real thing. Most of the evidence seems to support this view.

Assuming that Yugoslavia is at loggerheads with Moscow, there are sound reasons for giving the Balkan states assistance. These may be summed up by stating that Yugoslavia could be a powerful obstruction to further Communist imperial expansion in Europe.

For one thing, the mere fact that Tito is defying the might of Russia is encouragement to other small nations to stand firm against aggression. Moreover, militarly Yugoslavia is one of the most important bases in Europe.

All these circumstances explain why the United States is sending "war-potential" material to a Communist government.

Visual Aids Shown in Light

COLLEGE STATION — An improvement in method of projection of visual aids such as slides and motion pictures has recently been developed at Texas A&M College by two professors in the course of their industrial duties.

D. W. Fleming, associate professor, Mechanical Engineering Department, and Bob M. Gallaway, assistant professor, Civil Engineering Department, have developed stationary and portable models of a screen which permits daylight showing of motion pictures and slides. By use of the screen the projector is used in front of the audience.

The pictures projected are reflected by means of one or more mirrors to the screen which stands alongside the projector.

"The significant advantage in use of the screen," Gallaway says, "is that persons can be instructed in the classroom, the shop or in public under the conditions of the moment." There is no need for darkened auditoriums and disrupting movement of persons from one area of a building to another, Gallaway points out.

"Also important is the fact that with use of the screen the lecturer can himself operate the projector from his usual position in front of the audience," Gallaway says.

New-Type Bus Is on Display

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Continental Bus System, headquartered at Dallas, Texas, has displayed a new-type long distance passenger bus here.

It will shortly be placed in service on some route originating in Dallas following a transcontinental exhibition trip scheduled to end in California.

The bus, providing many innovations for mass highway travel, has an interior closely resembling an air liner.

It includes accommodations for 32 passengers and has washroom and toilet facilities, a stewardess and a snack bar.

'Spectacular' Builder Has Spectacular Ideas

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK — (AP) — When a man builds a better mousetrap than his neighbor, the next thing he wants is to build a bigger mousetrap. Then a still bigger one. And, in the end, he's miserable if he hasn't built the whoppingest mousetrap ever.

Something like that has happened to Douglas Leigh.

Leigh is a boyish, soft-spoken Alabaman who has made a million by creating those razzle-dazzle electric signs that swing, sway, hiss, rain and otherwise startle the crowds.

You've seen them, in the movies if not in the original: the Niagara of real water that roars over Times Square, 50,000 gallons a minute; the blimps that flash advertising from the sky; the giant soldier blowing giant smoke rings.

"Spectaculars," they're called. And Leigh has dreamed up the more spectacular of them.

So how fantastic can you get?

Let's sit down in Leigh's Rockefeller Center office and listen to a man who's as full of ideas as a boy with a new slingshot and a bag of pebbles:

"Well, there's our walking man. He'll be as tall as a seven-and-a-half story building and it will look from the sidewalk as if he's stepping from the top of a theater right down onto Broadway.

"Then there's the 175-foot sign we're doing for a bank in Minneapolis. A real whopper. They'll be able to see it for miles across the wheat fields. And tell from it what the weather's going to be.

"You know about our stork? It's going to be 220 feet long and it will fly through the air, carrying a baby. We're doing it with lights on a blimp.

"Won't the stork make people nervous; like newlyweds, you mean? Oh, I suppose there will be a lot of wisecracks. . ."

"Another idea I've had is to paint an insurance ad on the Rock of Gibraltar. Never really expected to do it. Still, England owns the Rock and she's hard up for dollars. I wonder. . ."

Citrus Growers 'Must Wake Up'

ASTOR PARK, Fla. — (AP) — Unless Florida citrus growers wake up, the industry "could get in the hands of a few corporate enterprises," Director Walton Rex of Florida Citrus Mutual warned here.

"The new citrus code won't solve the big problems of the industry which have been giving growers trouble for the past 50 years," he told the 16th annual Citrus Growers Institute here.

"They won't be solved until the grower realizes he must do more than just grow fruit and forget it."

Urging growers to "get into an organization you can dominate," Rex said Mutual is grower-owned, dominated and controlled.

Price prospects for the 1949-50 season are good, said Dr. J. Wayne Reitz of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's production and marketing administration.

"That there will be periods of definite price weakness is entirely possible," he declared, "but a determined industry working together harmoniously can go far in removing such obstacles."

The total U.S. citrus crop will be the smallest of any year since 1942-3, he added.

Heavy Dustings of DDT Kill Rats Say Scientists

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Government scientists have discovered that rats can be killed by heavy dustings of insecticide DDT.

This information has two important implications:

First, it emphasizes the need for using DDT carefully in the production of foods for human consumption. If rats can be killed, the human body also may be damaged by constant exposure to DDT.

Second, it means that DDT can be used as another weapon to exterminate disease-harboring rat colonies in cities.

The rat experiments were made by U. S. Public Health Service and the Georgia Department of Public Health.

The scientists placed 119 rats in a rat-proof concrete building. They placed DDT in patches and bands upon the floor, in such a way that rats had to go through it to reach food and water.

About one-third of the rats died within seven weeks and the scientists said the deaths "apparently" were from DDT. Careful examination of the bodies of the dead rats confirmed the cause of death as poisoning.

Medical experts have known that rats could be killed by feeding them DDT. But in the Georgia experiment the DDT dust wasn't feed directly to the rats. The report said the rats dragged food through it, however, and they accidentally scattered some of the dust in their drinking water.

DDT is used in rat-infested places to kill parasites—lice and other vermin—that live on rats. These parasites carry such diseases as bubonic plague and typhus.

The health service report said not so many rats would be killed by DDT when infested places are dusted as were killed in the controlled experiment. This is because the rats seemed to avoid the dust if possible, but in the controlled experiment they could not avoid it in reaching food and water.

A study was made of one infested area that was dusted and the bodies of 26 rats were found. Autopsies showed their organs contained DDT and apparently this was the cause of death.

Months ago the Department of Agriculture took precautions to prevent the appearance of DDT in food for human consumption.

It has warned dairymen not to use the insecticide on dairy cows or in dairy barns. It also has cautioned against using the insecticide on crops that may be eaten by dairy cows or by cattle intended for slaughter.

God Dwells In Every Heart

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

When the Psalmist wrote in Psalm 119:11, "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against Thee," what did he mean?

In the New Testament, in John 1, is the account of the Word that was in the beginning, the Word made flesh, dwelling among men in the earthly life of Jesus, "the Word that was with God, and was God." But what did the word of God mean to Old Testament writers, who wrote many years before Jesus came?

For them, as for those of the New Testament, it meant God in the heart, and the "heart" was the center of man's life and being. To have God in the heart meant to be guided and controlled by God.

The word of God was the expression of God, synonymous with His commandments and His law. In Psalm 40:10 the writer expressed the same thought in the words, "I have hid Thy righteousness within my heart." In Isaiah 51:7 is the reference to the people in whose heart is the law of God.

The sense of right was dominant in all the devout Hebrew's thought of God, and of man's relation to Him. The good man is the "upright" man (Psalm 11:7; 37:37). The figures of the measuring line, and the plumb line, are applied to life and character, as they are to building.

So the word of God in the heart was a word of law and command. The good life was not a matter of chance, or of man's perference. It was based on the unalterable character and laws of God himself. As well expect a life without law to be good, as to expect a house built without square, and measurement, and plumb line, to be anything but crooked.

This elemental truth, so repeatedly emphasized in the Psalms has been sadly disregarded and neglected even by many who make profession of religion, and consider themselves among the saved. What a world this would be if every nominal Christian and church member had the Psalmist's passion to have the word of God hidden in the heart, so deep and strong that it was the motive power of every word and action!

To be "upright and innocent from the great transgression" (Psalm 19:13) must be the sincere purpose of every man who would be worthy of a place in the fellowship of those who love the Lord.

Christian teaching only enforces and strengthens all that the Psalmists wrote concerning the word, and law, of God in the heart. If Jesus stressed the new commandment of love, it was as the fulfilling of the law, and not its abrogation, or as a substitute for it. There is no substitute for righteousness.

But the New Testament does reveal the word of God as love, and the indwelling of God's Spirit as the source of spiritual power to obey the word. To hear and obey the word. To hear and obey the voice of God within is man's highest attainment and destiny.

The youth, whose two previous attempts were unsuccessful, swam the grueling distance from Cap Gris Nez, France, in 23 hours and 48 minutes. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London)

Velasquez Spoils Guerra's No-Hit Bid; Lamesa Next

ABILENE—(AP)—Gil Guerra gave up two singles—both of them to Ernie Velasquez— as the Abilenes blanked the Pampans 10-0 to break even and wind up the series with the Oilers here last night.

It was Abilenes second shutout in three nights, and kept the Blue Sox in third place in the WT-NM League standings.

Tonight the Oilers move into Lamesa to tangle with the red-hot Lobos, currently occupying second place in the league standings It will be a two-game series ending on Saturday night, with the Oilers returning home Sunday afternoon to meet the league-leading Albuquerque Dukes with a single game Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Bob Upton will hurl for the Lobos tonight. Pampa's choice was doubtful.

Last night's loss dropped the Oilers a game farther out of fourth place, but no lower in the standings as the Lubbock Hubbers took an 11-0 pasting from the Lobos.

A three-run homer by George Sturdivant, veteran first sacker who had been awarded a watch by a group of local fans, a homer and a double by Manager Stubby Green, two doubles and a single by Bobby Fernandez featured the Blue Sox attack. Sturdivant had a single and a double to go with his homer, and drove in five runs altogether.

Abilene operated on Howard Bass for five innings, scoring once in the first, again in the second, making four in the fourth. Geer's double scored Danny Concepcion, who had walked, then Fernandez walked and they both scored ahead of Sturdivant's long homer over the leftfield wall.

Bass got 'em out in the fifth, but retired in favor of Merlin Hubbard to start the home half of the sixth. Fernandez greeted Hubbard with a single, moved up when Hubbard hit Pedro Dunabeitia, scored with the latter on Sturdivant's long double to right.

Geer opened the home half of the eighth with his homer, followed by Fernandez' second double — his 53rd of the season. He moved on a wild pitch, scored on Dunabeitia's long fly to center.

More Fisticuffs as Lobos Skunk Hubbers

LAMESA — (AP) — Big Jack Guiterrez tossed a four-hitter for his second straight shutout and his 17th victory of the season here last night before 2,203 fans as the Lamesa Lobos romped to an 11 to 0 victory over the listless Lubbock Hubbers.

This was Lamesa's third straight shutout triumph in Lobo Park They trounced the Hubbers 12 to 0 here Wednesday night and whipped Abilene 10 to 0 here Sunday.

D. C. Miller supplied all the tallies needed in the first inning when he poled his 44th homer of the season behind a walk to Hank Melillo.

The game was enlivened by a brief exchange of blows between Manager Jackie Sullivan and Guiterrez in the top of the fifth, when a three-nothing pitch by Guiterrez sailed near Sullivan's head.

The Hubber manager immediately charged the mound and Guiterrez threw off his glove. Both men swung wildly at each other, failing to inflict any damage. Players from both teams quickly rushed on the field and order was restored in a matter of seconds. Both players remained in the game.

Too Hot for Tennis, Netter Goes Skiing

DURHAM, N. C. — (NEA) — William Bull, summer school student at New Hampshire, failed to show up for his quarter-final match in the campus tennis tournament during the hottest week in July.

It developed that he went skiing.

Bull had entered a jump at Gilford, N. H., staged on artificial ice flakes.

Local Golfers to Start Qualifying For Top o' Texas

Qualifying rounds for the Top o' Texas Invitational Golf Tournament will start tomorrow for local golfers. The firing will continue until September 3, the opening day of the tournament. On that day, all golfers, local and out of town who want to compete for the medalist honors, will play their eighteen holes.

The Top o' Texas meet is only a week away, and already many local golfers have entered and are working every day to vie for the many prizes being awarded in this tournament, the biggest yet for Pampa.

There will be over $1,500 worth of awards, with everything from golf balls to 17-jewel wrist watches.

So, while the course is still in excellent shape and not overly crowded with qualifiers, all local golfers are asked to start qualifying Saturday. Final day for qualifying is Sept. 3 at 6 p.m.

Sports Moving Back Toward First Division

By The Associated Press

If Bobby Bragan, Fort Worth Cat manager, had a couple of more players like Walter Fiala, feline second baseman, he could probably get along without his other players.

Fiala, last night, in leading the Cats to a 15-1 Texas League victory over the last-place Beaumont Exporters, banged out four hits, stole two bases, scored three runs, handled 16 chances and participated in four double plays. Dick Williams and Preston Ward homered for the league leaders.

Second-place Tulsa edged seventh-place Houston 7-6. The Oilers tallied two runs in the last inning.

Six-place San Antonio tallied two runs in the ninth to squeeze out a 9-8 win over third-place Oklahoma City.

Shreveport climbed to within a game of fourth-place Dallas by downing the Eagles 6-1. Lewis Davis' two-run homer in the fourth took the wind out of the Dallas sails.

K. P.'s Capture Industrial Title

The K. P. Lodge are the champions of the Industrial Softball League. Last night they won their third victory in the playoffs of the league to take the series and the title three games to one.

Last night's victory, an 11 to 3 affair, was protested by the Skelly Oils, claiming that the K. P's used an ineligible player. But a check this morning failed to disclose any infraction of the rules.

The winners will receive jackets as a reward for their playoff victory.

The K. P. Lodge, a team that ended up the first half play barely in the first division was taken over by A. L. Weatherred in the middle of the year and turned into a strong ball club. The Skelly Oils had not lost a game in the league that they played, though they lost two by forfeit. In the playoffs the K. P's defeated them in the first, second and fourth games.

Dodgers Split and Lose Ground as Cardinals Win

BROOKLYN —(AP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers staved off a ninth inning Chicago assault to turn back the Cubs, 3-1, in the second game of a doubleheader Thursday, thus gaining a split for the day. The Cubs won the opener, 4-0, behind Johnny Schmitz.

The Dodgers scored all their runs off Dutch Leonard, in the third inning. Roy Campanella walked and scored when Pafko threw Banta's single into the stands trying to nip Campanella at third. Marv Rackley singled in a run, and the third came in on Robinson's bloop double over first.

Schmitz, a long time nemesis, held the Brooks to four hits in the opener. It gave the southpaw the distinction of winning all four Chicago's victories over Brooklyn.

Alpine Plays Tonight

WICHITA, Kans. — (AP) — The Fort Wayne, Ind., General Electrics, winners of the National Semi-Pro Baseball championship the past two years, opened defense of their title last night with an 8 to 0 victory over the British-American club of Manchester, Conn.

A revised schedule was issued yesterday because three teams, one the Temple, Texas, Whitehalls — the Dixie Negro Series representatives — weren't able to compete here.

The revised pairings include a Friday game at 8 p.m. between the Alpine, Texas, Cowboys and the Tuscaloosa, Ala., Indians (second round).

Coach Larry Snyder of Ohio State is in charge of 10 American track and field stars on a European Tour.

Veterans Remain in Western Amateur

CHICAGO — (AP) — Two veteran golfers who have come within a couple of putts of winning the Women's Western Amateur crown in the past without getting in are semifinalists today.

Polly Riley of Fort Worth, the 1938 Curtis Cup star and Western Amateur runner-up, faces off against medalist Peg Kirk of Findlay, Ohio. Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., meets Helen Sigel, Philadelphia city champion making her first bid for the Western diadem.

Riley moved up yesterday with a 5-3 victory over Marjorie Landsaw of Illinois.

Kirk, the Augusta titleholder's winner last spring, advanced with an easy 8-7 win over Dot Ellis of Indianapolis.

Schepps Meets Opposition in Bid To Transfer Greenville Franchise

DALLAS — (AP) — George Schepps said he wanted to shift Greenville from the Class B Big State League to the Class C East Texas League and directors of the Greenville Baseball Club, Inc., promptly said he couldn't do it.

Schepps yesterday asked the Big State League for a franchise for Corpus Christi, now in the Class D Rio Grande League.

He told club owners of the Class B circuit that if he got the franchise for his Corpus Christi club, he planned to shift Greenville to the East Texas League.

The directors of the Greenville Baseball Club, Inc., who lease the Greenville ball park to Schepps doesn't operate a team in this league, the vsaid they would do it themselves.

But Schepps said he had a contract with the Greenville Baseball Club, Inc., that states he must operate only a club in organized baseball if such a franchise was available. It doesn't say anything about having to stay in the Big State League, he declared.

"My only thought in moving Greenville to the East Texas League is the natural rivalry that exists between East Texas League cities," he declared.

He said he owned the Greenville baseball franchise and everything else except the playing premises.

Bill Huff, president of the Wichita Falls club, said he had seen reports in newspapers that President J. Walter Morris was to be replaced that a story in the Sporting News mentioned two sports writers — John Clift of Denison and Al Echols of Greenville as being considered for the president's job.

"There has been no discussion by the Big State League of any such thing," Huff said, "and I think we should put at rest any rumors that we are thinking of making a change."

Six of the eight clubs were represented at the meeting and by unanimous vote they endorsed Morris. The Big State League's Shaughnessy play-off will start Sept. 7. This will give one day off between the end of the regular season and the play-off. A day off also will be taken between each series.

Gold Sox Win Final From Albuquerque

AMARILLO — (AP) — Steve Lagomarsino, who had not faced the Albuquerque Dukes this season, found the league-leaders very much to his liking here last night as he hurled a neat five-hit, 9-4 victory.

The Sockers got rid of Frank Shone, the Dukes' ace righthander, in the midst of a four-run rally in the fifth inning. They already had touched him for four counters in the first on singles by Crawford Howard, Doug Lewis and Lyle Christianson, two walks and a hit batter.

American Netters Face Aussies for Davis Cup Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. —(AP)— Dennis Notshots of Australia and the United States tear into each other in the opening singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round here today and the issue may be all but decided by time the sun goes down.

The first tussle sends Wimbledon Champion Ted Schroeder, the Americans' No. 1 singles entry, against Billy Sidwell.

Following their match, U.S. champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales will take the court against 23-year-old Frank Sedgman, Australia's vastly improved ladies' titleholder.

Sedgman is the key man in the Aussie's hopes of recapturing the trophy which they lost to the Americans in 1946.

Sedgman can turn back the predictable Gonzales today there is every reason to believe he might do the same with Schroeder when the singles pairings are reversed for Sunday's windup.

Australia must be considered the top dog in the lone doubles encounter tomorrow, since its representatives dominated the ranks of our own national doubles championships only a few years ago.

But if the Americans come out on top in both of the opening singles battles, the Aussies might as well turn their thoughts to next year or concentrate on the Pacific singles championships starting at Forest Hills on Monday.

The national singles tennis championship will be staged over the Forest Hills courts, Aug. 29-Sept. 5.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hasse---News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What lefthander holds the record for total victories in a lifetime major league career?

WEEKEND NOTES: Glad to report that the sixteen-month-old son of Verdon Gilchrist, Borger Gasser second sacker, has been returned home after suffering no ill effects from the mild attack of polio. The slight attack centered around the shoulder and neck, but doctors said no telling effects should come of the disease. And speaking of polio, a total of $124.25 was contributed by Clovis fans to the Frank Okrie Fund last Monday night, boosting the total well over $4,000.

IT DOESN'T LOOK as if it pays to lead the league, at least by too big a margin. The Albuquerque Dukes, who have held the league lead in the West Texas-New Mexico League most of the season, are one of two clubs whose attendance has fallen off this year from a comparable period last season.

In the Longhorn league the Big Spring club and the Vernon Dusters, currently running one two in the race, are the only two clubs in that circuit that show a decline from last season's attendance figures.

People who say that nobody will support a loser but a winner always draws might be inclined to change their opinions a bit.

A RECENT LIST of roster changes announced by Milton E. Price, president of the WT-NM League, shows that the Lubbock Hubbers have made the greatest number of changes in an attempt to wrangle a first division berth. And most of the new names have been transfers from the Greenville and Corpus Christi ball clubs, owned by George Schepps, general manager of the Hubbers.

A few of the roster changes made returned Ken Peacock to Greenville, along with Cotton Russell. Bo Dempsey, slugging outfielder, was sent to Pensacola, where he will play with Dave Teyema. Up from Greenville have come Joe Koppe and Irwin Kay, who are one of the main reasons the Hubbers put on such a concerted drive of late.

Borger placed Eddie Carnett on the disabled list after the skull banging session he had with the Abilene dugout, and assigned Vallie Eaves to Abilene.

Amarillo assigned Bob Glass to Roswell and Lamesa returned Anthony Levanti, infielder, to McAllen.

LAMESA FANS, long used to a second division ball club, are so enthused over the fine showing made by this year's club that they held a "night" for Manager Jay Haney. Haney received a new automobile from the fans and a solid gold watch from the players on the Lobo ball club.

This is Haney's first season at the helm of the Lobos, which he has produced into a hustling, fighting team.

WORD FROM Albuquerque is that the biggest share of the Dukes' pitching staff will go to Oakland, California, of the Pacific Coast League after the end of this season. Ticketed to join the Oaks are lefthanders Tommy Breisinger and Don Ferrarese. And probably Frank Shone will return to the Sunshine State team, too.

Ferrarese has been one of the best chuckers in the league this season, hurling a one-hitter, five two-hitters and two three-hitters. Both Shone and Ferrarese hold victories over every other team in the league.

AND SPEAKING OF Albuquerque, one of the newest and best magazines to hit the newstands, "Holiday Magazine" has chosen Albuquerque as the ideal minor league team and will do a 20-page color spread on the Dukes in their magazine shortly. The story will compare the York York Yankees with the Dukes.

The comparison idea is to show the difference between major and minor league travel, environment and other conditions.

WHOSE SIDE should Pop be on?

Carl Jaspers of Northwood, Iowa, never knows just when to cheer at a baseball game. He has three sons, all pitchers, and each pitching for a different team in the North Iowa Borderline League. When the brothers face each other, Pop is in doubt when and who to cheer for.

One of the boys, Lee, lost an arm in a farm accident two years ago, but is still a star pitcher.

ANSWER: Lefthander Eddie Plank won 325 games in his major league career, the most captured by any southpaw.

Longhorns Add Six To Coaching Staff

AUSTIN — (AP) — Addition of six assistant coaches to the University of Texas athletic staff was announced yesterday by Athletic Director Dana X. Bible.

Three ex-Longhorns, Jesse Hawthorne, George McCall and Dick Harris, and John Edwards of Sundown, Texas, will join the football coaching staff. Edwards will be with the varsity, the others with the Freshman squad.

T. J. (Froggie) Lovvorn, former star at Abilene Christian College and George Pepperdine, returns to assist Coach Clyde Littlefield with track and cross country. He was here in 1945-46 while working on his Master's Degree and then coached at Laredo Junior College for two years.

Shotton's Woes Start When Bums Return to Daffy Baseball Play

NEW YORK — (AP) — So you think you have troubles? Why, you're on top of the world, and we don't mean at the North Pole.

Consider the woes of poor Burt Shotton. His Brooklyn Dodgers only have been leading the National League most of the season to date. They're at least an even bet to win the pennant. They have youth, speed, sufficient power.

So they go into a losing streak. They drop three in a row and fall behind the St. Louis Cardinals. Shotton's usually cheerful face mirrors the grief gnawing at his oaken heart.

"Things couldn't be worse," he sobs, catching tears in a gold-plated bathtub.

Well, it's comparative, of course. One guy comes in from a round of golf, and asked how he did, replies savagely: "Lousy—a terrible 74." Another guy comes in beaming and buys drinks all around. He had a swell day. He broke a hundred.

Shotton's disgust probably wasn't due entirely to the fact that the Bums lost games. It was the way they lost them that brought anguish to his soul. A mechanical error can be forgiven, but a skull, or rock, sends practically any pilot into a frenzy.

What did the Bums do? Well, a couple of days ago they wound up with two base runners at third base, thus giving an indication that the flame of the daffiness era at Ebbets Field might smoulder, but never die.

The incident only goes to show that no matter how hard you try to train ball players to do the right thing at the right time, there will be occasions when they revert to their corner lot days.

The Dodger camp at Cero Beach is a model of eifficiency. Nothing is left undone to make the players foolproof in performance. They are taught how to run, one foot after the other, how to slide, how to hit, how to throw. We wouldn't be surprised if there were classes in shoe tieing and hair combing.

When they leave there they are supposed to be buffed and polished and gleaming like a car coming off the assembly line. Perfection is the keynote, even if it is the perfection of standardization; a machinelike perfection.

So it is a little gratifying to see that the Bums have their weak moments the same as players who learned their baseball on trial and error.

Homer by Mize Helps Yanks Beat Cleveland

CLEVELAND — (AP) — With Johnny Mize and Gene Woodling slapping home runs off Bob Feller, the New York Yankees last night defeated the tottering Cleveland Indians, 6 to 3. The victory shoved Cleveland to six games behind league leading New York.

Braves Win Streak Halted by Redlegs

BOSTON — (AP) — Lefty Ken Raffensberger's double and Lloyd Merriman's three-base drive to right centerfield in the 10th inning last night gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over the Boston Braves. During the eighth, Tribesman Tommy Holmes tried to break the 3-3 tie by stealing home and was ousted, for the first time in his eight-year major league career, for protesting umpire Lon Warneke's unfavorable decision.

Cherry Pleased That Texas Isn't Favored

AUSTIN — (AP)— For the third time in nine years the Texas Longhorns are not the favorite or co-favorite for the Southwest Conference football title.

That makes Coach Blair Cherry very happy.

He is glad the Longhorns will be off the spot this year. He figures you have a better shot at the crown when the experts (so-called) don't pick you to win it.

Cherry points to history to prove his point. Texas A&M was the 1942 favorite, but Texas came out on top of the pack. Rice was given the pre-season nod in 1947, but Southern Methodist won the title.

Whether Texas can make a strong bid for the title this fall depends largely on how fast Cherry can bring his Sophomores along. A strong November finish might find the Longhorns in contention for the number one spot in the standings.

East-West Squads Conclude Hard Work

CORPUS CHRISTI — (AP) — A light drill in full uniform winds up practice for East and West squads tonight for the first National High School All-Star Football Game tomorrow.

Both squads completed heavy drills yesterday.

Coach Red Drew of Alabama is bossing the East squad and Will Walls of the University of Corpus Christi the West team.

Today Is Big Day for Nation's Trapshooters

VANDALIA, Ohio — (AP) — This is "the day" in trapshooting!

The grand American Handicap, a 100-target feature which no one has ever won twice in 49 years—trapdom's No. 1 competition and its most cherished championship—is up for decision at the roaring "golden grand."

The colorful handicap, generally won by a nobody from nowhere, pays a guaranteed $1500 to the winner—but his "take" may soar into the thousands if he plays the optionals—the peculiar wagering system under which the scattergun artists bet on themselves against the field.

Somewhere around 1,700 marksmen from all the states, Cuba, the Canal Zone and Canada are entered in the shoot.

SWC Grid Officials Hold Meet Saturday

DALLAS — (AP) — The annual rules interpretation meeting of the Southwest Football Officials Association will be held here Saturday and there may be some fireworks over the so-called "blackballing" of officials in Southwest Conference football.

Conference coaches several months ago worked out a list of officials for conference games on which all agreed. The result was that some of the veteran officials were excluded. The idea was to simplify the work of James H. Stewart, conference executive committee, in arranging the schedule and also to take the pressure off the officials. It was argued that if an official was used by one coach but was not acceptable to another the official might feel an obligation to the coach who picked him.

But members of the officials association were quite critical of what they termed a "blackball." The association will hold its general business meeting at 4 p.m. Saturday and there may be some things said about it.

There are almost 1,000 members of the association at this time with some 200 expected to attend the meeting here.

ROUTE
Work Together
to Fit Him for a Successful Career!

WHEN your newspaperboy graduates from high school, he will be unusually well equipped for advancement in whatever line of work or study he may pursue. For, TWO great educational forces—the public school and the daily newspaper—have joined hands to give him the best possible preparation for success. As a result, he has the benefit of BOTH practical schooling and actual business experience.

His spare-time newspaper route is the ideal supplement to classroom studies because it enables him to put many lessons to immediate use. This combination of route work and schooling gives him a well-balanced knowledge of both business theory and practice—makes him better able to absorb and apply the things he learns!

Important, too, is the money he makes and saves from his newspaper route efforts—it comes in mighty handy for school books, sports, hobbies and the good times every teen-ager craves! Often such savings enable an ambitious boy to COMPLETE high school and GO ON to the college of his choice.

Spare Time Route Work Adds a Big "PLUS" to a Boy's Education!

ECA Reports Slackening in Rate of European Recovery

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) reported a slackening in the rate of European recovery.

In a sober report on its first year's operations, the agency said the dollars earned by the nations of Europe during the period were enough to pay for only one-fifth of their imports from the Western hemisphere.

"This was the critical problem which the participating nations faced as the European Recovery Program (ERP) entered its second year," the ECA said.

However, the report added, the program's "ultimate objective of a 'healthy economy independent of extraordinary outside assistance' remains as a difficult but attainable goal."

The report noted Congress had set up three aims when it authorized the European Recovery Project: boosting production, stabilizing currencies and stimulating trade among the participating nations.

"In each of these fields," ECA said, "the nations of Europe made substantial progress in the first twelve months of the European Recovery Program.

"As the year drew to a close, however, there were indications of a slackening in the rate of progress, particularly in the export trade, which gave warning of the difficult problems that must be solved before the goal of economic independence can be attained."

The agency noted that Western Europe boosted its exports during the 12-month period, through April 2, 1949, until they were about equal to the prewar volume.

"But the persistent difficulties in earning dollars have posed a continuing problem of sustaining the high level of trade which is of paramount importance both to Europe and the United States."

Texas Rent Offices to Close Soon

DALLAS — (AP) — Area rent control offices in Texas all will be closed up by Sept. 1 and some already are about to quit.

Thus federal rent control, so far as the presence of administrative authority is concerned, will end more than a month and a half before decontrol under state law.

"After Sept. 1 our eight-state region, which includes Texas, goes into liquidation," director Russell Stephens said.

Area rent control offices in Texas to be closed are at Austin, Lubbock, Big Spring, Laredo, Corpus Christi, Harlingen, San Antonio, Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Bay City, Galveston and El Paso.

Although the offices will be closed up, controls will remain technically in effect until the decontrol measure passed by the 81st Legislature takes effect, Stephens said that date is Oct. 17. Previously Oct. 19 had been named as the effective date of state control.

Actual physical closing of the various area offices depends on when transfer trucks provided by a contractor can reach them, Stephens said.

Although there will be no more Office of Housing Expediter employes in Texas, several court cases still are on the dockets at Dallas, Houston and Jefferson, Stephens said. Rent control officials have said these cases will be prosecuted despite the ending of controls.

Stephens was asked about a statement by National Expediter Tighe Woods that decontrol would not affect cities over 100,000 population.

"What Mr. Woods said was that he would not decontrol cities over 100,000 population, despite cuts in his budget," Stephens explained. "Where a state decontrols, as in the case of Texas, he has no say in the matter."

After Sept. 1 the other seven states in Stephens' region—Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana—will be attached to other regions. Colorado, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma will be attached to Region 6, Chicago. New Mexico will be attached to Region 8, San Francisco, and Louisiana and Arkansas to Region 4, Atlanta.

Spears to Attend School for Deaf

AUSTIN — (AP) — The State School for the Deaf will admit Johnny Spears as a student next month.

Supt. Roy Stelle said he has been notified by a Houston ear doctor that the 14-year-old East Texas boy has been deaf since birth.

Spears was taken to Houston recently by a naturalist who claimed the boy had lived in the woods on his own since the age of four, foraging for food and sleeping in the open. Spears' mother indignantly denied the claims. She said the boy had eaten at the family table and slept in a bed at home at night all his life.

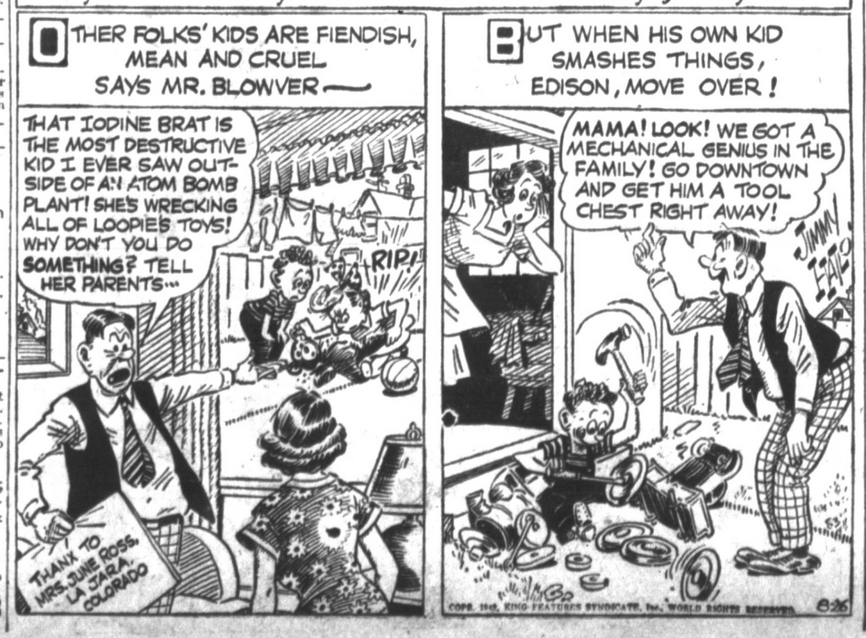

The world is tired of political fanaticism. . . men who want to live together in peace. The kind of peace we seek cannot be won at a single stroke or by a single nation.

—President Truman.

THE STORY: Expected by her family to marry wealthy Barry Bainbridge, Gaynel Teare has not yet made a decision because she is also quite fond of Frits Freyman, a young newspaperman. Gaynel is the breadwinner of her family consisting of Emily, her widowed mother, brother Denny and younger sister Pat. Emily, whose varied enthusiasms change so frequently that Gaynel calls them "Interims," has just sponsored a Little Theater play and now at Barry's invitation, she, the cast, Gaynel and Pat are vacationing on Barry's yacht off Mackinac Island. Then Pat is suddenly taken quite ill and Gaynel realizes it is appendicitis.

XV

AFTER Gaynel had taken care of her sister Pat, she thought it safe to leave her a moment. The pain must be terrible. Something would have to be done at once. "Lie as quiet as you can, honey," she whispered. She must not let Pat see how afraid she was. "I'll be right back."

She would get Barry aside. No use alarming the others. Emily would have a case of nerves; the rest would be of no actual help. Thank God, there was Barry. He would know what to do. He was always there to go to, depend on. Pat's groans, increasing in volume and frequency now, followed her as she ran.

Barry said, "I'll go over to the Island right away. I'll go myself. There must be a doctor stopping at the hotel." He took her two hands in his, squeezed them tightly, as though to give her the confidence he felt. "Meanwhile, don't you worry. Tell the others I've gone to make arrangements for the dinner. Get Francis to send you plenty of ice and towels. We'll do everything for Pat there is to be done, if it's as bad as you fear, Gaynel."

It was every bit that bad. The doctor Barry brought back in what seemed like an eternity to Gaynel as she fixed and changed ice packs, said there was no question that it was the appendix. An acute attack. An immediate operation was absolutely urgent. Or he could not guarantee the consequences.

"You mean . . . it's got to come out—there's nothing else we can do?" Gaynel tried to hold her voice steady. They had gone outside the stateroom. Barry had got Miss Cupples to come stay with Pat. The others would have to know pretty soon. First she and Barry must decide what was to be done.

THE doctor said that was the situation. The appendix might burst.

"We'll not take any such chance." It was easy to decide that much. "If only Doctor Carile could operate. He understands Pat's condition. He's such a wonderful surgeon. . . ."

"The best will be none too good." The doctor's tone was gravely significant.

"You mean you can't do it!" Gaynel's eyes widened with fear. "That there's no one on the Island . . . no hospital we could reach. . . . Oh, Barry, what shall we do?" She turned to him, grasped his sleeve as though for support; she felt, in fact, as though she were faint. This was much more than she had counted on, been prepared to meet.

"Then that's what we'll have." Barry made this decision. "The best. I'll radio for a Coast Guard amphibian, or if we can't get that, a private one. Another radio to Doctor Carile will take care of the rest."

"Oh, Barry." She could not thank him. She clung to him. She might have known he would not fail her, ever. There was no one like him.

"Run along and get ready." He gave her a little push, gently; his eyes saying he did not expect thanks. "You'll want to go with her, of course. Leave everything else to me, my dear."

Pat was sleeping; the doctor had given her something to deaden the pain. Her hair was all awry; the scarlet lips drawn and pinched; the sweet young face so sill and white. She looked as she might look in death. Gaynel dropped by her side, buried her head for a moment, shaking with sobs she tried in vain to suppress. Her little sister . . . if anything happened to her. . . . Oh, she could not bear it . . . could not bear even the possibility of such a thought.

BARRY sent word the amphibian could make it in less than an hour. A radio had been received it was on its way; they had been fortunate in reaching the Coast Guard. The hospital had been reached, too; Doctor Carile would have everything in readiness.

Gaynel shed her shorts, got into some clothes, packed a bag. She would sit by Pat now; she was beginning to stir and strike out blindly and murmur short incoherent phrases.

Miss Cupples had another patient; Emily had collapsed when Barry had broken the news to her. Gaynel would have to see this through alone.

Not alone, either, it seemed, after the big plane had been set down by the side of the yacht and Pat had been lowered in the dory by the davits and Gaynel prepared to climb in, too. She turned first to give her hand to Barry, to try once more to express the deep gratitude she felt. She said, "Good-by—and thanks," trying to smile for him the best she could, to show him the things in her heart that could not be put into words just then.

He smiled back at her and said, "But it isn't goodby. Did you think I'd let you go alone? You should know better than that, Gaynel."

She wondered in that moment how she could doubt that she loved him. She ought to know that, too. What a fool she was! As soon as Pat got through this . . . was well again, she would give Barry the answer he wanted.

Writer Seeks Maternity Leaves for Expectant Papas

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK — (AP) — Maternity leaves? Sure. But why not get really practical about this business of having babies? Why not time off for fathers, too?

This almost became a burning issue this week. A newspaper in Kentucky heard that a union in New England was demanding paternity leaves for workers—male workers, of course—and the news wires quivered with anxiety while New Haven checked.

But before long the report came back: nothing to the story. No break in prospect for the old man. Another golden opportunity gone glimmering down the drain.

That's the way it is nowadays. Things that shouldn't happen to a dog are always happening to people. And things that should happen to people, especially men, don't happen at all.

If Phil Murray, John L. Lewis and the boys want my advice (and you should see them jamming the anteroom) they will put paid pre-natal preparedness periods for papas at the top of their 1950 want list.

And big business (you think babies are not big business?) will stall just long enough to make it convincing, and then will give in with a secret sigh of relief.

The truth is that a man who's expecting a baby isn't worth the powder (the baby powder, that is) to blow him to work.

His company loses a couple of hundred dollars every time he shows up at the office.

He's a dead weight on the payroll. He does nothing but burn cigarettes and sneak out to the telephone. If he does force himself to turn out a little work he creates such a snarl that two other fellows have to spend a week untangling it.

Heaven help the stockholders if one of those other two men should also be an expectant father.

You may know more about this than I do, since I've only been through the mill once. And I didn't get jittery. Not at all. The show must go on, you know.

Oh, there was that time when I wrote something like:

Of course I meant the National Labor Relations Board. Perfectly natural mistake. Could happen to anyone.

He Can Sleep Better Now

CLEBURNE — (AP) — C. M. Phillips slept better Wednesday night than he did the night before.

Wednesday night he knew he had won the race to produce Johnson County's first bale of cotton. The night before he thought he had, but wasn't sure.

There was a little confusion. He and another farmer, D. Hanna, raced into Cleburne Tuesday afternoon with a load of cotton.

Phillips went to one gin; Hanna to another. Hanna's cotton was ginned without trouble. Phillips' bale got gummed in the machinery.

This allowed Harna to report with the first bale of ginned cotton and caused the Chamber of Commerce Cotton Committee to meet in two lengthy sessions to decide the winner.

The committee finally held that Phillips got to the gin first and that's what counts. It handed Phillips the prizes put up for the first bale.

Luscombe Adjudged Bankrupt

DALLAS — (AP) — Federal Judge William Hawley Atwell has adjudged bankrupt the Luscombe Airplane Corp., pioneering firm in the mass production of light aircraft which has assets estimated at $1,000,000.

The court's decision came after Luscombe attorneys futilely sought a 30-day extension of proceedings to work out a reorganization plan. The pleaded that Luscombe was in the process of seeking a $450,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Luscombe owes creditors some $700,000, according to petitions filed in court here. One extension about 60 days, already had been granted by Judge Atwell.

"The court has no right to hold the matter off for 30 days, because reorganization of Luscombe was dependent upon a loan from the RFC, and there is no certainty that this loan would be granted," Judge Atwell said.

The aircraft firm, maker of the two-seater Silvaire monoplane was turned down by RFC recently for a $600,000 loan. A new application for $450,000 now is before RFC officials, Luscombe Attorney Paul Carrington said.

Carrington said Luscombe's reorganization could possibly have been completed within another 30 days because of the following three negotiations now underway:

1. Through its network of dealers over the country Luscombe was trying to raise $150,000.

2. Luscombe had subcontracts with the Boeing Aircraft Co. Officials said a proposal had been made to Boeing whereby Boeing would purchase a large amount of stock and pay Luscombe $150,000.

3. Luscombe also was working on an agreement with Texas Engineering & Manufacturing Co. Carrington and TEMCO directors met last Monday to discuss a merger proposition.

If Luscombe could get $150,000 from some source, the RFC indicated it probably would approve the $450,000 loan, Carrington told the court.

Flier a Little Late for Chow

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Don Clark, Marine Reserve flier, was flying over the ocean near Catalina Island when he radioed his base:

"Call my wife. Tell her I'll be late for chow."

Minutes later the engine of his Corsair plane conked out and he crashed into the ocean as he had anticipated. A fishing boat picked him up wet but unhurt.

All Four Farm Plans Have One Purpose: To Help the Farmers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two stories on the farm plans kicking around in Congress now.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Four farm plans are being talked about in Congress now. They're named after Rep. Gore (D-Tenn), Senator Aiken (R-Vt), Senator Anderson (D-NM) and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

All the plans from that time to this, although differing in details, have had one purpose:

To help farmers have a good income by keeping farm prices up, even if it means government help to the farmers.

When it passed the first plan in 1933 Congress said in effect to the farmers:

"We want your purchasing power now to be on a par with your purchasing power in 1909-14. We will call it parity with that period.

"If prices fall to somewhere between 52 and 75 percent of parity, the government will step in and buy your crops or make you loans on them so you can hold them till the price goes up.

"Which means, the government puts a floor under your crop prices and won't let them fall below 52 to 75 percent of parity."

The 1933 act helped the farmers. The law was revised in 1938 and again in 1941. That revision in 1941 — called the Steagall Amendment, after Rep. Steagall (D-Ala) — was an important one.

This revision raised the guarantee to 90 percent on six basic crops, and added others.

The Steagall Amendment stayed until 1948.

Then, Congress said, there would be a new law, called the Aiken law.

This is where the four plans: Aiken, Gore, Anderson and Brannan — come in. This is what they would do:

Aiken — Set a sliding guarantee of 60 to 90 percent of parity on six basic crops. On other crops there would be a guarantee from zero to 90 percent.

Gore — Keep the 90 percent guarantee on the six basic crops and guarantee 60 to 90 percent of parity on other crops which the government chooses to help.

Anderson — Give a 75 to 99 percent guarantee of parity on the six basic crops and on other crops make it 60 to 90 percent.

Brannan — Keep a high parity guarantee on non-perishable crops, like wheat, but let perishables, like milk and meat, find their own price level in the public market, but let the government decide what is a fair price for the perishables. If the public market price fell below that level, the government would pay the farmer the difference between the low price he got and the price considered fair by the government.

But where do all the plans stand now? Unless both houses of Congress can agree on some plan to take the place of the Aiken plan, which Congress approved in 1948, the Aiken plan becomes law Jan. 1.

The House has passed the Gore plan as a substitute for the Aiken law-to-be. But the Senate hasn't. On the other hand, the Anderson plan has been offered in the Senate as a compromise between the House-passed Gore plan and the Aiken plan.

But the Senate, which has been mulling over all the plans, hasn't acted on the Anderson plan, either.

Two Claim Shooting

HOUSTON — (AP) — A few hours after a Houston cafe operator was shot to death, the man's sister-in-law and brother-in-law both were claiming they did it.

W. L. Baker, known as "Buck," was shot to death at his home about 1 a.m.

Willis C. Brown, 34, and his sister, Mrs. Idel Burmingham, 32, both admitted the slaying. Their sister, Ethel, was Baker's wife.

But murder charges were filed against Brown, who said that Baker had threatened to "kill the whole damn family."

Police Capt. Loyd Frazier said tests indicated Mrs. Burmingham had not fired a gun.

Solon Pleased With Late Action

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Chavez (D-NM) said he was "most pleased" with action taken by the Senate in voting funds for work on the Fort Sumner, N.M., reclamation project.

Acting on committee amendments to the interior appropriations bill, the Senate approved $750,000 in cash and $1,000,000 in contract authority for the project during the current fiscal year which began July 1.

Another $714,000 will be necessary to complete the $2,464,000 project, but this will be asked for after 1950, Chavez said.

BOLD BURGLAR

The 40 Chicago policemen on duty didn't bother the determined burglar a whit. He entered the squad room, broke into a locker, took a gun and holster and ambled out after threatening an elevator operator.
