In Western Part Of Soviet Union...

Brezhnev Announces Freeze Of Some Missile Deployment

MOSCOW (AP) — President Leonid I. Brezhnev today announced a freeze on deployment of medium-range nuclear missiles in the western part of the Soviet Union.

But he warned of "retaliatory steps" if no progress is made at Soviet-American talks on arms limitations.

Brezhnev's announcement was quickly rejected by the Reagan administration as a trick to maintain Soviet arms superiority.

Brezhnev said the freeze would remain in effect until Soviet and U.S. negotiators in Geneva — who today recessed their talks to May 20 — reach agreement to limit the deployment of medium-range missiles in Europe, or until the United States begins "practical measures to deploy" Pershing 2 and cruise missiles in Western Europe.

Brezhnev did not elaborate on the "retaliatory steps," but analysts interpreted the statement to mean the Soviets would station missiles near Western borders.

U.S. presidential counselor Edwin Meese III, interviewed on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America," dismissed Brezhnev's moratorium as an attempt to maintain Soviet arms superiority.

"The Soviets are way ahead of us ... in Europe, and this further threat indicates peace and reduction of nuclear arms is not their objective," Meese said. "They want to continue to be in a position where they can dominate Europe and can dominate, in effect, the rest of the world through their head start in nuclear weapons."

In Bonn, the West German government said of the Brezhnev announcement: "Whether this is a step in the right direction depends on whether it will mark a turning point for the Soviet Union in its medium range missile arming, that is, whether it (the Soviet Union) will not only end the further massing of rockets but is ready for a real reduction within the framework of the Geneva negotiations."

Brezhnev also said the Soviet Union plans to pull back a "certain number" of the medium-range missiles it has already deployed in the western part of the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet leadership has taken a decision to introduce unilaterally a moratorium on the deployment of medium-range nuclear armaments in the European part of the U.S.S.R.," Brezhnev said.

"We are freezing, in both the quantitative and qualitative respects, the armaments of this kind already stationed there, and are suspending the replacement of old missiles, known as the SS-4 (and) SS-5, by new SS-20 missiles," he said.

He made the pledge in an address to a Soviet trade union congress in the Kremlin. Soviet television did not broadcast the speech, as it has in the past, prompting renewed speculation about the health of the 75-year-old president and Communist Party chief.

There was no immediate comment from Washington. Spokeswoman Sue Pittman said the State Department would be "studying the proposal and possibly making further comment today."

President Reagan's spokesman, Larry Speakes, said the White House would not comment immediately.

A Western diplomat in Moscow said Brezhnev's announcement was "clearly aimed at the Europeans." It was expected to intensify the campaign by West Europeans opposed to the stationing of American missiles in their countries to counter the Soviet arsenal.

LABOR OF LOVE—Rev. Gary West looks on while his wife, Verna, plays the harpsichord he built for her from a kit during the past year. It was a surprise Christmas gift a year ago. Local Minister Builds Harpsichord For Wife

By Shirley A. Gorman

It was a labor of love; but, after a year of determination and dedicated perserverance, Rev. Gary West, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, finished the harpsichord he had promised his wife, Verna, a year ago.

"It was a surprise Christmas gift," she said. And what a surprise it turned out to be after she learned that her husband was planning to build her a harpsichord from a kit.

Mrs. West will present a harpsichord recital Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the sancturay of the First Presbyterian Church. The public is invited to attend and a reception will follow. A nursery will be provided in the Sunday School House located south of the church.

Assisting Mrs. West will be Amadeo Garza on trumpet, Valeta Wheeler on French horn, Aaron Fishman on flute and Donald Burk, tenor. Selections will be from the Baroque period and will feature such composers as Bach, Scarletti, Teleman and Handel.

West said he purchased the kit from Burton Harpsichord of Nebraska and has assembled it over the past year.

"Building the harpsichord involves assembly and finishing of the case, cutting and fitting the sound board, setting of hitch pins and tuning pins, stringing, assembly of the keyboard, and much more," West said.

"Fitting the sound board was one of the most difficult steps," West explained. "The sound board is seven feet long, three feet wide, and only one-eighth inch thick. One false move and the whole thing would have split in two."

Mrs. West was a piano and voice major in college so learning to play the harpsichord was a natural thing to do.

The family can now make its own music together with Mrs. West on the harpsichord, and sons Aaron, 14, and Benjie, 13, playing the flute and oboe, respectively.

West, though, says he is somewhat tone deaf and confines his interests to the technical side of the harpsichord, something Mrs. West admits does not appeal to her. She said she has learned how to tune the harpsicord, though.

The Wests first became interested in the harpsichord two years ago when a friend in Sweetwater introduced them to the idea and helped them select the right kit.

Cheaper Gas Coming?

DALLAS (AP) — A glut of crude petroleum, created by plentiful supplies worldwide, could lower gasoline prices across the country to 90 cents a gallon by midyear, an industry expert says.

Plummeting prices will be fueled in part by promises of continued petroleum supplies. Sam F. Sengar, president and chief executive of InterNorth Inc., said Monday during a three-day oil conference that the glut will force oil prices to $25 a barrel.

Later, a high-ranking Venezuelan official said that his country can supply one-twentieth of the world's energy needs well into the 21st century.

Farm Workers Underpaid

SAN JUAN, Texas (AP) — Farm labor leader Cesar Chavez accused the U.S. Labor Department of failing to enforce minimum wage laws with the result that many Texas farmworkers earn almost $1 below federal requirements.

"We tried to cover the entire Rio Grande Valley is a wage survey and found people are making $2.45 an hour," Chavez told a news conference Monday. "I couldn't believe it. That's lower than the Carolinas and Florida."

He said the survey conducted in the past two weeks covered 300 agricultural employers from Brownsville to La Joya.

Recall Started Anew

WASHINGTON (AP) — After voting last month to "close the file" on a recall involving thousands of toy ladders, the government is renewing it because of the death of a California 2-year-old.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission, in announcing resumption of the recall on Monday, said that up to 239,000 of the toy ladders may still be in use throughout the country.

Textbook Report On Board Agenda

Snyder School Trustees are scheduled to consider recommendations from their textbook committee and a request for new junior high band uniforms at their regular meeting tonight.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p. m. in the board room of the school administration building.

Also on the agenda for tonight's meeting are the county's tax collection proposal and completion of policy revisions to comply with Senate Bill 341 requirements for non-renewal of personnel contracts.

Reports will be presented on the lease renewal proposal by the city for the Humble-Smith School property, and completion of the school's new tennis courts.

Textbooks up for adoption this year include kindergarten systems, elementary art and social studies, speech, mathematics, economics, physical science, geology, Spanish, homemaking, theatre arts and vocational areas in electricity, drafting and woodworking.

Jury Finds Von Bulow Guilty

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A jury today found socialite Claus C. von Bulow guilty of twice trying to murder his heiress wife with insulin injections that plunged her into an irreversible coma.

Von Bulow, 55, could be sentenced to a maximum term of 40 years.

The jury of seven men and five women filed back into the courtroom at about 11:15 a.m. after deliberating 36 hours over six days.

The tall, balding defendant, seated at the defense table with hands folded in front him, maintained the stoic poise he displayed throughout the nine-week trial as jury forewoman Barbara Connett announced the two verdicts.

Mrs. Connett, in a clear voice, twice responded "Guilty" when asked by the court clerk for the jury's finding on the two counts of attempted murder.

Von Bulow's lawyers had said they would appeal a conviction.

If given concurrent 20 year terms on the two counts, von Bulow would be eligible for parole in 7½ years. If the terms are consecutive, he would have to serve nearly 14 years behind bars before parole review.

Smiling and chatting with spectators, the jury had entered the courthouse at 9:15 a.m. Von Bulow, for the second straight day, walked the two blocks from his harborfront hotel to the court.

Von Bulow, free on $100,000 bond since his arraignment last July, faces up to 40 years in prison on the two counts of attempting to murder Martha "Sunny" von Bulow.

Jury Finds Man Guilty Of Burglary

A jury in 132nd District Court this morning found Stanley Wayne Johnson guilty of burglary of a habitation.

Johnson's trial began Monday morning and it went to the jury this morning. The verdict was returned at 10:50 a. m. after the jury deliberated for approximately one hour.

Johnson was charged with the burglary of the apartment of Darrell Wilson last Oct. 18.

Testimony began in the punishment phase of the trial immediately after the verdict was announced.

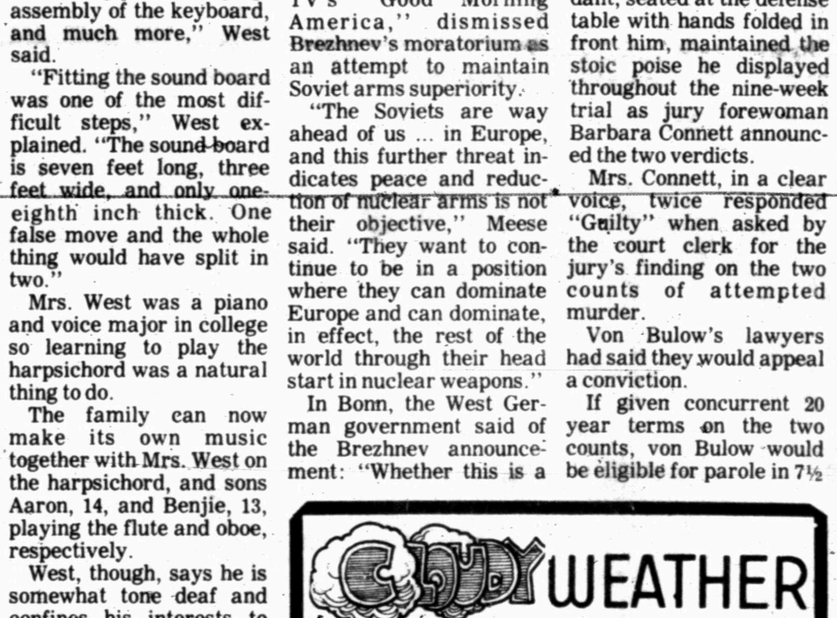

District Judge Wayland G. Holt is presiding, and District Attorney Pete Greene is prosecuting the case. Johnson is represented by Mitchell Block, local attorney.

Trial of another burglary case has been scheduled for Wednesday in 132nd District Court. The defendant in that case is Ted Eugene Morris, who is charged with burglarizing the house of Lew Bob Wood last Dec. 24.

Q.—Why do they call jump balls in basketball when there is no jump ball any more?

A.—College men's teams have eliminated the jump ball in favor of swapping out possession, but they still have them in high school and in women's college games. Perhaps the terminolgy of "tie ball" would be more appropriate for college men's games, but the commentators apparently haven't been completely oriented to the new system.

Since Snyder has ties to a white buffalo, legends concerning such animals are not uncommon here, but we heard a new version the other day.

We stopped off in Terrell for a meal and had scarcely settled in a restaurant booth when one of the local citizens noticed a white buffalo sticker on our lapel.

He stopped and asked if we were associated with the White Buffalo Boy Scout District. We were not aware that the scout district there was named for the white buffalo, and, of course, we took the opportunity to tell him the significance of our white buffalo sticker. He indicated interest, and then proceeded to tell us the legend which he said led to the scout district there being named after the white buffalo.

He said a tribe of Indians, while seated around a camp fire, suddenly found a blonde girl in their midst. It was she who instituted the ritual of the peace pipe, explaining to the Indians that vows and petitions made during the ritual were carried upward by the smoke from the peace pipe to a supreme being in the sky who had the power to grant their wishes.

Then, as they watched, the blonde girl was transformed into a white buffalo, and from that date on, supernatural powers were attributed to the white buffalo.

This story is compatible with other legends we have heard about Indians holding the white buffalo in awe, but differs in details.

If you have been keeping up with the NCAA basketball playoffs, perhaps you were surprised to find a school named James Madison represented. We were.

But, coincidentally with the beginning of the playoffs we came across information that this school, located in Harrisonburg, Va., is a former girls college and has been on the intercollegiate athletic scene only six years. It is named after the nation's smallest president.

James Madison was only five feet, four inches tall and never weighed more than 100 pounds.

Too bad he isn't around to tell some of today's diet bunch how he did it.

OUTSTANDING SOLOISTS—Patrice Davis and Laura Shifflett were named outstanding soloists in the junior high division of the Texas Tech Stage Band Festival March 5. The two were also nominated to the Texas Tech All Star Jazz Band and each received a certificate from the National Association of Jazz Educators in recognition of their performances. Davis plays electric bass with the group. Shifflett is the band's lead trombone player.

Pentagon Spokesman Criticizes News Coverage Of El Salvador

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The military junta in El Salvador has won a propaganda victory in the U.S. media by portraying the Democratic backers of President Jose Napoleon Duarte as "vicious military monsters," a Pentagon spokesman says.

The Duarte government in El Salvador has received a "bum rap" by the media, Assistant Secretary of Defense Henry Catto told reporters Monday.

Catto — a native Texan, former ambassador to El Salvador, and former officer of the Houston Post and Washington Journalism Review — said Duarte is the "only torture-tested guaranteed genuine Democrat involved."

"Whereas the people on the left, who have never run for everything, who represent a tiny minority of the country, who indeed are not willing to let their ideas be tested at the ballot, they have managed in many cases to run away with a propaganda victory and make it look as if Duarte and the Democrats are vicious military monsters, if you will," Catto said.

Catto criticized Western media coverage of the El Salvador situation after speaking to the Texas Daily Newspaper Association convention and chiding reporters as "con artists."

"They are constantly searching for controversy, conflict and contradiction," Catto said.

His boss, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, was to make a speech "of special importance" at the end of the convention today.

Catto, who conducts twice-weekly briefings for news reporters at the Pentagon, told the delegates that some reporters are so busy searching for "con leads" at the State Department, Defense Department and White House that some news stories are going begging in Washington.

"Frequently when a briefing is over, not a single one of the things that we thought might come up, comes up," he said.

He criticized "arrogance" on the part of some reporters, a "Chicken Little" syndrome he said results in some false story leads, a theory he said was advanced by a network editor that only bang bang violence in El Salvador was newsworthy, and editorializing in some reports.

The late President Lyndon B. Johnson once said that news reporters were a lot like blackbirds sitting on a telephone wire: "When one flies off in a given direction, all the rest will follow."

Catto said he agreed and sometimes uses that tendency to steer Pentagon correspondents away from touchy subjects.

Catto said the power of the press was necessary to the government, but that the media must be sure to be accurate and fair to avoid attempts by the people to curb some of the power.

"The free press is indispensible to a free govenment. We may get mad at you. We may cuss you, in moments of irrationality, we may even blame the leaks on you. But deep down most of us know without you, we would not be free," Catto said.

"But having said that, let me add that I leave you with earnest hope that you will redouble your efforts to be accurate and to be fair. For if the perception is (that) the media are vastly powerful and unfair, we are all — the government, the press, and the people — in deep trouble."

Actress In Critical Condition Following Street Stabbing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Theresa Saldana, critically injured in a stabbing attack outside her West Hollywood apartment, may have been stalked for days by a "fan" who kept track of her whereabouts in a diary, authorities said.

A truck driver on a delivery run stopped the attack on Ms. Saldana on Monday by taking away her assailant's 4-inch kitchen knife and pinning him to the ground by standing "on his neck" until authorities arrived, officials said.

After 4½ hours of surgery to repair multiple knife wounds, including a punctured left lung, the 27-year-old brunette was listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit at Cedars-Sinai Hospital, spokesman Larry Baum said Monday night.

"Some vital signs are good but some are still bad. She appears to be recovered somewhat but she's still in intensive care," Baum said of the actress, who appeared in the film "Raging Bull," portraying Lenore LaMotta, the sister-in-law of boxer Jake LaMotta.

Arthur Richard Jackson, 46, was booked for investigation of attempted murder, said Deputy Terry Gingerich. He said Jackson had a British passport and was believed to have come to Los Angeles from New York two weeks ago.

The motive for the attack on Ms. Saldana was not known, said Detective Fred Kalas, but he added that Jackson had with him a diary-like journal containing references to Ms. Saldana.

Truck driver Jeff Fenn, 26, said he was making his deliveries when he heard screaming Monday morning.

"I heard a woman scream, 'Help me, help me! He's trying to kill me!'" Fenn told reporters later, still wearing his blood-spattered delivery uniform.

Fenn said he saw a man "dragging her backward into the street, and I thought he was beating her with his fist."

"He finally got her down on the ground, and I came up behind him and saw he had a knife in his right hand, and he wasn't pounding her; he was stabbing her."

"I put him in a headlock and grabbed his right arm, bent it straight back and took the knife out of his hand. I don't think he even saw me. He was definitely into this. I think he was trying to kill her," Fenn said.

Government Purge Launched In China

PEKING (AP) — China's Communist leaders have embarked on a new revolution — a purge, peaceful so far, of the idle, the incompetent, the elderly, the corrupt and the disciples of the "Gang of Four."

It is an ambitious and risky crusade. Vice Chairman Deng Xiaoping and his supporters are trying to drastically reduce and reform the world's biggest — and by many accounts, its least efficient — bureaucracy of some 20 million people.

That is akin to changing thousands of years of feudal paper shuffling and sinecures that the coming of communism in 1949 only elaborated.

It all started with Scarsdale. When that diet came out there wasn't a doubt in my mind that this small city had discovered the ulitmate cure for cellulite. If you couldn't trust a respectable, hard-working community like Scarsdale, who could you trust? I cannot begin to tell you the shock I felt on seeing my first fat person in Scarsdale.

Not to be outdone, the West retaliated with the Beverly Hills diet, which had everyone in the country scrambling for the last papaya on earth.

Since then, there has been the Cambridge diet, the I Love New York diet and the soon-to-be-published Dallas diet.

All right, America, let's keep our wits about us before this thing gets out of hand. Just because I've eaten my way across America, I see no need to diet myself across it.

I know you people and I know exactly what you're going for. Milwaukee is going to say Dallas doesn't know what it's talking about until it's tried the Dairy Cream diet. Idaho will retaliate with the I Love Idaho Potato diet and Hawaii will come out with the Maui Pineapple diet.

Mark my words, it will pit east against west, north against south, brother against sister, palm trees against redwoods and grits against greens.

I say if we're going to diet, let's do it together. It's the government's fault ... with all this talk about new federalism and returning government to the states. If we don't pull together on an interstate diet, we'll have aother bicentennial experience on our hands. (Massachusetts still hasn't forgiven Arkansas for not painting their fireplugs like Minutemen.)

I know what you're going to say. The government is doing too much already, but a federal diet isn't asking too much. How much could it cost?

I tell you regional diets are getting out of hand. The other day someone wanted to know if they had tried the Richard Simmons diet and she answered, "Richard Simmons. That's a suburb of Chicago, isn't it?"

If you don't want to get stuck with papayas again...write your congressman today!

Center Counsels Kids After Death Of Parent

CHICAGO (AP) — Ten-year-old Matthew lost his father three months ago. Yet he still has imaginary conversations with him every night. David, who is 4, looks for his mother, who has just died. "Where is the lady?" he asks. "I miss her." Melanie, at 6, speaks of her father two years after his death: "I wish we could buy one. There has to be a dad at home."

Matthew, David and Melanie are among the more than 4 million U.S. children each year who lose a parent.

Because they live in Chicago, they and their surviving parent are comparatively fortunate. They receive counseling and support at one of the few psychoanalytic centers in the country to help children cope with the death of a parent: the Barr Harris Center for the Study of Separation and Loss During Childhood.

According to Dr. Arnold Samuels, director of the center at the Institute for Psychoanalysis in Chicago, "A trauma like the death of a parent can have profound consequences for children. We have observed children failing in school, fearful of illness, feeling no confidence — indeed, displaying a range of symptoms which endanger their normal development."

Problems can also arise later in life. Individuals whose parents died when they were children are highly susceptible to periods of depression, anti-social behavior, arrested emotional development, physical illness and even suicide, says Samuels.

The families who come to the center have, more often than not, had little time to prepare for their tragedies. More than two-thirds of the deaths were caused by murder, suicide, accident or sudden illness; more than half of the deceased parents were under 40.

The surviving parents are "not pathological," Samuels observe. "They are people deeply concerned with the effect of the trauma of death on an otherwise normally functioning family."

Work with these families has verified a hypothesis of many analysts that children must be permitted to mourn and grieve when a parent dies if a new balance is to be attained, he says.

"There are no simple ways to deal with this," Samuels says. "Euphemisms designed to spare pain may not be very helpful." He points out that an abstraction such as "heaven" may be perceived by very young children as a place to which the dead parent has gone; the child will wonder why he can't visit. Youngsters who are told their parent has "gone to sleep" are very likely to fear they will not be able to wake up from their own sleep.

"A direct and realistic response is best," says Samuels. He stresses the importance of concrete examples which illustrate that all living things die, such as falling leaves or pets that have died.

To prevent children from becoming fearful the surviving parent may die, it is important, Samuels adds, for a parent to tell a child that most people live long lives and that the parent takes care of his or her own health, and so is likely to be there to take care of the child.

Typically, the parent and child are seen an average of seven hours during an initial evaluation. Each child has at least two interviews, and the surviving parent three or four. Follow-up sessions are held every three to six months.

A usual fee of $40 per session can be reduced or waived depending on the family's circumstances. "We turn no one away," says Samuels.

Hair Spray

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Sprayed hair doesn't have to look that way, says Patrik Moreton, a hair stylist.

"I like to use an aerosol spray on hair, then run my fingers through the hair. This loosens the hair so that you have the body and the durability but not the set look," the stylist said.

"Like anything in excess, too much spray is bad," he added.

Here is a hand from a Swiss team match at the Dallas regional. Both sides were using negative doubles so after West's two-heart overcall each North decided to double to show his seven HCP and support for both unbid suits. At table one, South jumped to three spades and North decided that he had bid more than he should have and passed.

The play was short and easy. Dummy's ace of hearts took the first trick. South played four rounds of trumps to pull East's and tried to establish a diamond. Unfortunately for him, West had discarded two diamonds and just one heart on the spades. South was held to his contract since he never got a club trick.

North and South remarked that they had been lucky to stop at three. When time came to compare it turned out that the other South had bid and made four spades by simple, but careful play.

At trick two he led a club from dummy. West won and forced him with a heart. South led a second club. Again West won and forced him, but South just led a third club. Now dummy's 10 of trumps was there to ruff another heart lead so this South was able to draw trumps and make his 10th trick with an established club.

For Children...

Art Show Expands Scope

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Kaleidoscope, an art experience designed to encourage creativity in children, has now become available to youngsters all over the nation via regular weekly telecasts on the USA cable network.

Each segment of the two Saturday morning shows features a special art project, geared to children between the ages of 8 and 12. The programs, which are scheduled to run through 1982, give the historical or ethnic background of each project and feature three or more children actually creating the art work.

Some of the projects to be featured on the TV show are cartooning, building a mobile, making collages, building a bottle basket from household items, constructing a ring-toss game, making a pair of "fun glasses," designing puzzles, making hand puppets, and making string sculptures and yarn jewely.

The original Kaleidoscope, conceived in 1969 by Hallmark Cards, has a permanent home here near the company's corporate headquarters. The permanent location is open yearround to children from 5 to 12 and offers a variety of projects and exhibits.

In 1970, the company started a traveling Kaleidoscope, which visits medium-size cities and towns across the country. The road show, on a smaller scale than its parent and offered as a community service, attracts visiting school groups from surrounding communities, many of which do not have art programs for children.

Water derived from protected underground sources — natural spring or mineral water — can be consumed without any processing or treatment. It can take several thousand years for water to complete its cycle of falling as rain, subterranean percolation to an aquifer, and emergence as a natural spring water, according to Perrier.

LET THEM HAVE A DRY BED

The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family, too, is an end to this serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. It can cause complicated psychological problems that last a lifetime. It's so needless because bedwetting, when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. Send for our free brochure, "Bedwetting —What It's All About and How To End It", a report by two medical doctors. No obligation.

"YUP, A COLD HAS TO BE AWFUL FAST TO CATCH ME!"

Program Helps Find Jobs For High School Grads

DOVER, Del. (AP) — All Sherry Mumford wanted when she graduated from high school last year was a job — and because of a state program that focuses on students most likely to be unemployed once they leave school, she has one.

Miss Mumford is one of the first success stories of Jobs for Delaware Graduates, a program that targets high school seniors pursuing general education diplomas.

She graduated from Dover High School in June 1981 and immediately began work at a newly opened fast-food restaurant. She started as a cashier and, in less than a year, has had two promotions and a wage increase.

The 19-year-old Miss Mumford says she owes her job to JDG.

"They teach you about interviews, how to fill out applications and write resumes," Miss Mumford said. "I probably wouldn't have gotten this job and the advancement if I hadn't gone through JDG."

In the past, Miss Mumford has had summer jobs, but it never occurred to her to take a resume when applying for a job.

If it wasn't for JDG, "I wouldn't have known how to go about asking an employer questions to let him know I was interested in the job," she said.

JDG — a statewide nonprofit corporation — is the brainchild of Gov. Pierre S. du Pont IV, whose wanted to provide high school students with jobs in an attempt to keep the teen-agers off the state's unemployment rolls. The program is funded by the U.S. Department of Labor, private foundations and state funds.

"I think it's an attempt not to add to the problem if you can't solve the problem," said Bebe Ross Coker, JDG's director of administration. "These are the kids who fall through the cracks."

The program attempts to teach students basic employment skills — such as how to act during an interview, the importance of arriving on time for work, how to dress, writing resumes, vocabulary and handwriting, among others.

The program is voluntary on the student's part and does not take away from regular class time.

JDG looks for entry-level jobs at businesses ranging from laundries to fast-food restaurants to department stores. Ms. Coker said most of the students start at minimum wage, but added that salaries for JDG graduates range from $6,000 to $16,000 per year.

"We tell kids there is dignity in work. You have to start somewhere," she said. "Invest in yourself."

Although JDG does not guarantee job placement, its results have been promising.

In June 1980, JDG's first graduating class had 611 students of which 517 were placed in jobs — an 85 percent placement rate. The program also includes a nine-month follow-up of students, and in March 1981, 74 percent of those placed were still working.

In June 1981, with 935 graduates, 800 of the students were working by September 1981. Retention figures for the 1981 graduates will not be available until later this month.

In the 1981-82 school year, 1,034 seniors are taking part in the program. JDG began in eight Delaware high schools and now operates in 24 of the state's 25 high schools.

Students faix;'ement for a variety of reasons, Ms Coker explained. Some go back to school, others move from the area or get married and decide not to work.

Some students have been fired from jobs, she said, but many employers come back to JDG for more referrals.

"We're going to have kids that goof off," Ms. Coker said.

One student who worked as a mechanic for a major automobile dealer had a bad habit of taking "joy rides" in the new cars, she said. The youth was fired, but the employer turned to JDG for a replacement.

The JDG concept actually makes the employer's job easier, according to Michael A. Suber, a Burger King manager who hired Miss Mumford.

"I like the concept of it. It's more like preventive medicine," Suber said. "They're helping the kids before they become a statistic."

He said JDG students he has interviewed seem to be more prepared and not as nervous as other new graduates.

"These kids are responsible. They have a job and they want to keep it," he said, adding that he saves money on his operation because he does not have to advertise for job openings.

"It's like having our own private screening process," Suber added.

Developing relationships with employers is a major part of the program, Ms. Coker said. She said the JDG staff, or job specialists, establish a rapport with employers to see what is needed from potential employees. And when an employer is having a problem with a JDG graduate — especially if the graduate is about to be fired — the job specialist is available to help.

Missing Father's Body Found In Lake Monday

LAKE DALLAS, Texas (AP) — Authorities say they have closed their month-long investigation into the baffling disappearance of four members of a Lake Dallas family now that a fourth body has been pulled from Lewisville Lake.

The body of Kenneth Merillat, 32, was retrieved Monday. The body of his wife, Alice, 27, was discovered Saturday, along the body of 5-year-old Kendra Lee. The couple's other daughter, 6-year-old Kayleen, was found floating in the lake Feb. 21.

Autopsies showed that all four members of the Merillat family drowned, according to Eve Gray of the Dallas County Medical Examiner's office.

"They have no medical proof that anything happened except drowning," said Denton County Sheriff's Lt. Ron Douglas. "We'll let it go at that."

The Merillats disappeared on Valentine's Day after they left home on a family outing to gather firewood. The weekend trips had become something of ritual in the year since the family moved to the community of Lake Dallas from Adrian, Mich.

"There have been other cases that have been more baffling," said Denton County Sheriff's Lt. Jim Wilson. "But from a human standpoint, it was a family and apparently a very close and loving family."

Wilson said one "possibilty" was that the children fell into the frigid lake water and were swept away by the strong current, and that the parents died trying to rescue them.

"In the weeks since the missing person report, we've followed every lead, reinterviewed witnesses in many cases. It's been frustrating. It was a heartbreaking tragedy," Wilson said.

Merillat's fully clothed body was spotted about 8:30 a.m. Monday by searchers in a WFAA radio helicopter. The clothes on the body — a green pullover and blue jeans — matched those Merillat was wearing when last seen. There were socks, but no shoes.

Lake Dallas Police Chief Y.G. Carr said that investigators originally had interviewed three suspects who had been seen near the lake on the Sunday afternoon the family disappeared. However, all three suspects passed polygraph tests administered by the Texas Department of Public Safety, he said.

About 250 volunteers and law enforcement officers had joined in the exhaustive search for the Merillats.

Khadafy Ready To Begin Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy "is feeling the pressure" of U.S. actions against him and would visit Washington if invited by the Reagan administration, Austria's foreign minister says.

"He would be prepared to come here if he would be received and he would like to discuss, so he said, all the problems, all the disputes which exist between him and the United States," Foreign Minister Willibald Pahr told reporters Monday.

However, the State Department indicated later that it is unlikely Khadafy will receive an invitation in the forseeable future.

U.S. officials said the Libyan leader has proposed talks with the United States before and that "Khadafy ... is well aware of our condition for such an exchange."

But Pahr said setting conditions for talks would be a mistake. "I don't think you can expect concessions before starting to talk. ... It is a mistake to expect results before negotiations. Results are a consequence of negotiations."

He said the future should be what is important in U.S.-Libyan relations, not the past. "One should look in foreign affairs into the future; one should be able to forget what happened in the past."

He said Khadafy is willing to submit a dispute over the Gulf of Sidra to the International Court of Justice. The gulf is claimed by Libya, but regarded as international territory by the United States.

U.S. warplanes shot down two Libyan jets that attacked them over the gulf last August.

"They are prepared to discuss any question with the United States," Pahr said of the Libyans.

Pahr said it wasn't his intention to act as an intermediary between Khadafy and Washington. But he said he reported on Khadafy's willingness to talk during a meeting Monday with Deputy Secretary of State Walter Stoessel.

Khadafy just completed an official visit to Austria. It came at the same time the Reagan administration imposed an embargo against Libyan oil to punish Libya for allegedly supporting terrorism around the world.

Pahr said he didn't recommend to U.S. officials that they meet with Khadafy, but made clear he thinks it would be a good idea.

Questions delay of test

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have diabetes. Instead of going to the doctor every so often for blood tests, I use the Test-Tape. Why does the doctor recommend testing the urine, not on the first trip to the bathroom after rising but 20 minutes later, just prior to eating breakfast? By following this method the tape never shows any coloring. What exactly is my condition? If I run a test an hour or two after eating I usually get a variety of coloring from sugar in the urine.

DEAR READER — Assuming that you did not have to get up during the night to empty your bladder the first voided specimen in the morning represents the urine formed by your kidney for the entire night. If you had a positive test the doctor would not know when during the night your blood glucose level was high enough to cause sugar to spill into your urine.

By having you empty your bladder when you get up and then get a specimen later, the specimen represents what your kidney is doing at that time, not all night. And that is related to your blood glucose level at that time. Since you have a negative test under those circumstances it means your blood glucose when you get up is not high enough to cause glucose to spill into your urine. That usually means you are under pretty good control.

If your doctor wanted to be sure you were not having peak levels at night he would ask for the first specimen.

The urine is related to the blood, as urine is a product filtered from the blood. Anytime you want to know what the blood picture is at a specific time it is best to empty the bladder first and get a fresh specimen a little later.

For some medical purposes the first voided specimen is the most important, particularly if you are looking for kidney disease.

The significance of different blood glucose levels in diabetes is included in The Health Letter number 18-10, Hyperglycemia: The Diabetic Problem, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB, — I'm a 17-year-old female in pretty good shape. Last year I was diagnosed as having mitral valve prolapse. What does this actually mean? Is it a very common disorder? Sometimes I have pains in my chest but ignore them as they disappear quickly. Should I take any precautions?

DEAR READER — The mitral valve consists of two flaps between the upper and lower chambers of the left side of your heart. The two flaps close together tightly to keep blood from squirting back into the upper chamber when the lower chamber contracts to pump blood out of the heart to your entire body.

When part of this valve is ruptured in such a way that the two flaps don't fit together well it is called mitral valve prolapse. Because of the poor fit a leak does occur. If it is small it is not too important from a mechanical point of view.

But the change can progress and the leak get worse. And the valve can get infected resulting in bacterial endocarditis just as in rheumatic heart disease. You should take antibiotics whenever you have a respiratory infection and particularly when having any dental procedure such as having your teeth cleaned. The condition is not rare. Many cases used to be diagnosed as rheumatic heart disease. The management is similar.

Prison Hearing...

Convicts Testify They Kept Knives, Held Jobs

HOUSTON (AP) — Three convicts transferred from a Texas prison to federal custody for their safety say a system of inmates supervising other inmates — outlawed by a federal judge 11 months ago — still exists in at least one prison unit.

Two of three witnesses who testified Monday said they worked as "building tenders," or inmate supervisors, and were allowed to possess weapons because their duties included breaking up fights.

A third convict testified a Texas Department of Corrections officer had slapped him and warned he would "bury" him if the inmate testified against prison authorities.

All three transferred from the TDC's Ramsey I Unit to federal custody last month after they agreed to testify in the latest court battle between state and federal officials over Texas' prison system.

The hearing was called by U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice after the state accused federal monitors of misconduct and demanded they all be fired, and the master in turn accused the state of failing to comply with Justice's order to outlaw building tenders.

The hearing is expected to last several weeks.

Abolishing building tenders was part of sweeping prison reforms Justice decreed last April when he ordered the state to ease overcrowding, upgrade medical facilities and improve penal conditions.

The decree has been appealed to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and parts of it have been stayed.

Justice appointed Ohio lawyer Vincent Nathan as special master to oversee compliance with his order. But state officials say that since Nathan and his monitors have been visiting prison, disturbances have increased more than eightfold.

Texas Attorney General Mark White accused the federal monitors of siding with the prisoners, helping incite prison disturbances and not reporting their discovery of deadly weapons in the possession of inmates.

Among the first three witnesses called by Nathan, two testified they kept knives in their cells with the knowledge and apparent consent of TDC officials.

When TDC Capt. Ernest Carranza found a 15-inch knife under the mattress of convicted murderer Kelso Haynes, "he said something to the effect that I should keep it concealed better than that," Haynes testified.

Haynes, 32, a convicted murderer serving a 45-year term, said he was allowed to keep the knife because he was a building tender.

Another ex-tender now in federal custody, convicted robber Jack W. Thompson, 28, testified a TDC lieutenant saw his homemade knife under the mattress in his cell and even moved it aside during a search for an inmate gambling sheet. Thompson said the officer did not confiscate the weapon.

The third witness, Michael Edward Schneider, 34, serving 75 years for aggravated robbery, testified he saw three inmate building tenders armed with "riot batons" when they were called to break up a fight last July 12.

Schneider also testified that Capt. Carranza warned him not to testify for the special master at the hearing now under way.

"He slapped me and said, 'I'm going to bury you, Schneider. I'm going to put my dogs (inmate musclemen) on you — I'm going to make you wish you never heard of those monitors,'" the convict testified.

Thompson, serving 99 years for aggravated burglary, testified one inmate sympathetic to the guards asked Thompson if he would be willing to kill another inmate, Frank Smith, who was suspected of cooperating with federal monitor W. David Arnold.

"He said I was in a position where I could kill him and get away with it," Thompson testified, referring to previous testimony that building tenders can come and go from their cells as they please.

Thompson testified instead, he used Smith as a go-between to communicate with the special master, and was assigned the code name "Armadillo" by Arnold to protect his identity from other inmates and guards from whom he feared retaliation.

Dog Leads To Discovery

LONDON (AP) — Author Kit Williams, who buried a gold pendant and then left clues to its location in a children's book, always thought the 18-carat hare-shaped treasure would be found by "a quiet, thinking type...a North Country pigeon fancier."

And he was right — except it was a dog, not a bird, that led its owner to the discovery.

A British car designer, who for 18 months followed the clues given to readers worldwide in the children's fantasy "Masquerade," has ended the international treasure hunt, The Sunday Times reported.

He was led to the jewel-encrusted hare pendant by his dog, who "ran off to have a wee."

"My dog found it for me," said the 48-year-old man, who asked that his identity not be disclosed. "I was dead jammy (lucky)."

According to Williams, who buried the pendant 2½ years ago and disclosed the find on Sunday, the man and his girlfriend were walking the dog last month in a park at Ampthill, Bedfordshire, 43 miles northwest of London. His dog then "ran off to have a wee" on a stone bearing an inscription from the 104th Psalm.

Seeing the quotation and drawing on partial hints he'd found in "Masquerade's" illustrations, the man concluded, "It could be here," Williams said.

After days of digging near the stone, the man hit paydirt Feb. 24 and found the vessel in which the pendant had been hidden.

With British TV personality Bamber Gascoigne as witness, Williams buried the filigreed gold hare Aug. 8, 1979, near a cross erected in honor of Catherine of Aragon, first wife of King Henry VIII, who lived for a time at Ampthill.

The victor admits he never solved the book's 20-word master clue.

President Says Oil Decontrol Helped Glut

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — President Reagan said today that lifting controls on oil prices helped create the current oil glut and was responsible for greater conservation and lower energy costs.

While not claiming direct credit for himself for removing oil price controls, Reagan was sharply critical of former President Carter's energy program, under which decontrol was drawn up.

"The last administration's 'moral equivalent of war' which depended on government planning, bureaucracy and regulation gave us higher prices and shortages," Reagan said in a speech prepared for delivery to a joint session of the Oklahoma Legislature.

"Decontrol unleased the competitive powers of the market place, and gave us more supply, more conservation and lower prices," he said. "We reduced our imports by nearly half."

Reagan continued: "Those who credit the world oil glut for stable energy prices missed the point. Unleashing our domestic oil industry and continued conservation by the American people have helped create this favorable world energy situation."

Reagan said oil price decontrol is "just a first step" in energy issues and that phasing in complete decontrol of natural gas prices is another.

Although the president said he favors natural gas decontrol, his aides said recently he would delay sending Congress a proposal on the subject until after this year.

Under legislation signed by Carter, price controls will be removed from 60 percent of the nation's natural gas by Jan. 1, 1985.

Carter also signed legislation phasing in the decontrol of oil prices, but Reagan accelerated that process eight days after he took office by lifting all controls on crude oil prices.

The building in which Reagan spoke is the only Capitol in the world featuring a producing oil well on its grounds, according to a White House statement. Capitol Site No. 1 was completed in 1942 and pumps oil from a mile and a quarter beneath the structure.

The Oklahoma Legislature was Reagan's third and final stop on a 2-day trip in which he also spoke to lawmakers in Alabama and Tennessee. He was returning to Washington late today.

HEART ASSOCIATION DONATION—Residents of the Snyder Nursing Center presented Dr. V. N. Brock, representative of the American Heart Association in Snyder, with a check for $1085 Monday afternoon. Residents of the nursing center held a Rock and Roll Jamboree Feb. 12 to raise the funds for the association. Twenty seven local citizens and merchants contributed to the effort by pledging money to the association on behalf of the center residents who spent time rocking in their rocking chairs to raise the funds. Attending the presentation were Roxie Hartman, Francis Spensor, Lynn Gelski, activities for the center, Winnie Church, Velma Roberts, Juanita Land, nursing center administrator, Gaynell Sealy and Dr. Brock. Volcano Might Erupt Any Time

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Mount St. Helens could begin a mild eruption any time and probably will erupt before next week, scientists said after a half-dozen researchers returned from the volcano and reported its crater floor was swelling.

The U.S. Geolgical Survey and the University of Washington geophysics center predicted Monday night the volcano will erupt mildly within five days.

There is a "very small" chance that enough snow will melt during the eruption to cause flooding on the nearby Toutle and Cowlitz rivers below the mountain, said Kathy Cashman, a USGS geologist.

The eruption is expected to be the type that builds the lava dome in the volcano's crater, rather than spews ash and steam.

A mild eruption last winter caused no flooding.

Of John Belushi...

All Night Revelry Preceded Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian John Belushi, whose arms bore "multiple fresh needle puncture marks" at the time of his death, spent his last hours in all-night revelry that included heavy drinking and narcotics, a detailed coroner's report says.

Belushi was vomiting and pale, but stayed up on March 5 until 8 a.m., 4½ hours before he was found dead, according to the report issued Monday. It also outlined another night that week when the actor drank and used drugs into the early-morning hours.

Belushi, 33, died from an injected overdose of cocaine and heroin, Los Angeles County Coroner Thomas Noguchi said last week.

In New York, meanwhile, the Daily News reported today that Belushi left his wife, Judith, more than $2 million from three life insurance policies.

A detailed report by Deborah Peterson, an investigator at the coroner's office, said that on March 1, Belushi and an unidentified woman stayed up "drinking wine and inhaling cocaine...and injecting the drug."

Police Lt. Dan Cooke identified the woman as Cathy Evelyn Smith, a backup singer for rock groups. Miss Smith also is believed to be the last person to see Belushi alive.

On March 5, the coroner's report continued, Belushi and his woman companion were at "Rock City," a private club, where he was "drinking heavily" until about 1 a.m. He reportedly asked someone to drive him back to his rented bungalow at the Chateau Marmont Hotel.

The comedian needed help getting inside the bungalow. He began vomiting and appeared "pale and sweaty," the report said, but "the ingestion of the liquor and drug apparently continued."

Unidentified visitors were at the bungalow between 3 and 3:30 a.m., the report said. Belushi showered about 6:30 a.m. and went to bed about 8 a.m., when the woman observed he was "shaking and wheezing."

The woman was quoted as saying she heard "a loud wheezing" about 9:30 a.m., so she woke Belushi to ask if he was all right and gave him water. When she checked about 10:15 a.m., he appeared to be sleeping and she went out for breakfast in his Mercedes.

The report said the woman gave police a plastic syringe and metal spoon that appeared to have been burned on the bottom. It said she told police she took them from the bungalow when she left "because she was afraid that the maid would come in and call police."

Police led Miss Smith away in handcuffs from the Sunset Strip hotel when she returned several hours after Belushi's body was found at 12:30 p.m.

Toxicological tests showed Belushi had 0.007 milligrams of cocaine per 100 milliliters of blood, 0.009 milligrams per 100 milliliters of bile and 2.22 milligrams per 100 milliliters of urine. The bile also showed 2.1 milligrams of morphine, a drug related to heroin.

The amount of cocaine was described as "extremely large" and the morphine "substantial," by Dr. Jordan Cohen, a University of Southern California School of Pharmacy specialist on how drugs affect the body.

Ex-Narcotics Agents Say Prison Terms Fair

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Former undercover narcotics agents Creig Matthews and Kim Ramsey say their prison sentences for framing a nightclub operator on cocaine charges are "lenient and fair."

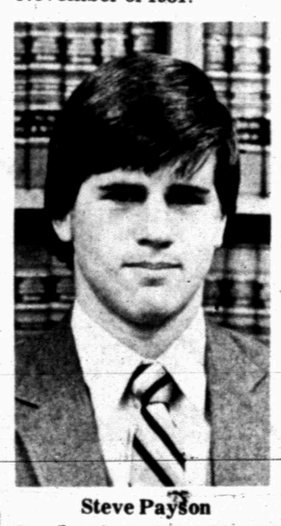

Matthews, 35, was sentenced Monday to three years in prison and his wife, 27, was sentenced to 1½ years. They were not married when they were undercover officers for the Tyler Police Department in 1979.

The sentencing was by U.S. District Judge William M. Steger.

Dear Abby

Medical Airline Is High-Flying Success

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is to bring you up to date on AirLifeLine, the non-profit association of airplane pilots (and others) who volunteer their time and planes to fly medical personnel, equipment and supplies, free of charge, in emergency situations.

We are progressing very well. We now have almost 500 pilots in 40 states. Money remains a problem, but I suppose that is the constant battle any group of our type faces.

Recently several volunteer pilots engaged in a four-month project flying mother's milk twice weekly from Sacramento to Modesto, Calif., to save a 1-month-old baby who had been kidnapped with, his mother two weeks earlier.

The baby was found near his brutally murdered mother and taken to Modesto Memorial Hospital. There the doctors found that the baby was allergic to baby formula and might not survive without mother's milk. The call for mother's milk went out, and 13 mothers responded! Members of the Sacramento-based AirLifeLine donated their time, flight costs and privately owned craft in making the 60-mile hop between Sacramento and Modesto on a "mother's milk run" to keep the baby alive. The infant is alive today and doing well.

AirLifeLine also made three mercy flights to Culiacan, Mexico, in cooperation with the non-profit Surgical Eye Expeditions International in sending teams of specialists to perform corrective eye surgery at a clinic. They have provided free medical service to 131 Culiacan patients.

AirLifeLine recently flew a kidney to San Francisco where it was transferred to a commercial airline and delivered to a patient awaiting a transplant in Tennessee. Another pilot flew a rare blood type north to Oregon for an accident victim who might have died without it.

AirLifeLine is a network of caring professionals who volunteer their services to deliver vital human organs, tissue and rare blood types to recipients in remote areas not reachable by commercial carriers.

Your publicizing AirLifeLine has provided great impetus to our organization and has inspired our board of directors to name Dear Abby its first Honorary Life Member.

For those interested in membership, or in making tax-deductible donations, our address is: AirLifeLine, 1005 8th Street, Suite 302, Sacramento, Calif. 95814. Phone: (916) 442-6230.

Again we thank you, as do the increasing number of beneficiaries of AirLifeLine services. Sincerely yours,

FREDERICK J. SIMONELLI,
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

NCAA Tourney Roundup...

Cougars And Tigers To Vie Friday

by The Associated Press

While form has held up in three regionals of the NCAA basketball tournament, upsets have been the norm in the Midwest.

Thanks to teams such as Boston College, Houston and Kansas State, just one seeded team remains in the Midwest - No. 5 Missouri, which was ranked second behind DePaul in the region.

The Tigers take on Houston and Boston College faces Kansas State in the Midwest Regional at St. Louis Friday night. Missouri, 27-3, would seem to have a homecourt advantage but that doesn't bother Houston.

"We beat Tulsa in Tulsa on Saturday," said Houston Coach Guy Lewis, whose Cougars upended the 10th-ranked Hurricane. Tulsa was seeded third in the region. "The kids aren't worried about playing Missouri in St. Louis. We're looking forward to it."

Boston College is looking forward to another giant-killing but they'll face another master of the upset in K-State. BC has knocked off San Francisco and DePaul, while the Wildcats beat Northern Illinois, then surprised No. 12 Arkansas.

"We're just happy to be going to St. Louis," said BC Coach Tom Davis. "I hope we make a good showing there."

The winners Friday night at St. Louis will meet Sunday for the right to represent the Midwest at the finals in New Orleans.

In the other three regions, all of the four seeded teams advanced. In the East, which also will be played Friday and Sunday, at Raleigh, N.C., top-ranked North Carolina takes on No. 13 Alabama, which was seeded fourth, and No. 9 Memphis State, the second seed, faces Villanova, rated third.

The Mideast and West regionals go on Thursday night and Saturday. No. 3 Virginia, which is top-seeded in the Mideast, plays No. 17 Alabama-Birmingham, the fourth seed in the region. But the Blazers' will be playing on their home court.

The other Mideast game pits the second and third seeds, No. 7 Minnesota against No. 20 Louisville. The Big Ten champion Gophers, 23-5, nipped Tennessee-Chattanooga by a point in their opening game. Louisville, 21-9, which won the NCAA title two years ago, routed Middle Tennessee to get to Birmingham.

Out west, a visitor from the East, Georgetown, and three western schools will battle. The Hoyas, ranked sixth in the country and top-seeded in the regional, put their 27-6 record on the line against defense-minded Fresno State. The Bulldogs, ranked 11th and seeded fourth in the West, slowed down West Virginia to get to the regional finals at Provo, Utah. Georgetown outlasted Wyoming.

In the other game at Provo, No. 4 Oregon State, rated second in the West, faces No. 8 Idaho. The Vandals, champions of the Big Sky, beat the Beavers in an early-season meeting this year. But Idaho had to struggle to edge Iowa by two points in overtime to advance, while OSU blew out Pepperdine by 19.

Aggies Win Another; Top Washington, 69-65

SEATTLE (AP) - The University of Washington Huskies lost their see-saw match with Texas A&M partly because they "couldn't foul quick enough," says Huskies Coach Marv Harshman.

Texas A&M's Claude Riley put up three key jumpers down the stretch, including the go-ahead bucket in the final minutes to put the Aggies on top, 69-65 in the National Invitational Tournament's second round.

After a ragged first half that saw the Aggies ahead at halftime, 33-31, the lead changed hands 10 times in one six-minute stretch as 6,000 basketball fans sat on the edge of their seats until the final minute.

Despite dropping behind 55-50 after Washington's Dan Caldwell sank two free throws with 9 minutes 25 seconds to play, the Aggies rallied behind 6-10 forward Riley and 6-0 senior guard Milton Woodley.

Riley hit the go-ahead bucket for a 62-61 lead with 2:58 to play before fouling out with :16 left.

He topped the Aggies with 17 points while Rudy Woods, who also fouled out, added 14. Caldwell paced the Huskies, 19-10, with 20 while guard Steve Burks added 18.

Woodley picked up his third foul midway in the first half. Without him, A&M's offense strugggled for Woodley leads the team in assists.

Over three minutes, the Huskies ran off eight straight points for a 25-22 lead, but A&M bounced back to lead at the half as they turned to a slow-down game.

In the game's closing minutes, Woodley sank four of five free throws. His miss with :46 left and the Aggies leading, 64-63, gave Washington a chance to lead. But the Huskies' Brad Watson missed.

The Aggies also lost guard Reggie Roberts to fouls with 4½ minutes to go. But reserves like Kevin Cunningham and Mike Thomas came through.

Metcalf said his club will be better prepared when it meets Purdue Friday night in third-round action.

"One more win and we go to the Garden (for the final four in New York,)" he said. The Aggies, who finished in third place in the Southwest Conference, are 20-10.

The Aggies shot 52 percent from the field compared with the Huskies' 46 percent.

NIT roundup...

Bradley Blasts Syracuse, 95-81

by The Associated Press

Although it didn't do much to assuage Dick Versace's feelings, the Bradley coach exacted a measure of revenge against the Big East Conference.

Bradley's Braves, who were bypassed for the NCAA Basketball Tournament after winning the regular-season championship of the Missouri Valley Conference, took their frustrations out on Big East member Syracuse, trouncing the Orangemen 95-81 Monday night in a second-round National Invitation Tournament game.

"We're Missouri Valley champions, and it's a difficult league," said Versace, who has made no secret of his displeasure with Dave Gavitt, chairman of the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee and Big East commissioner, ever since four Big East teams were picked for the NCAA Tournament, while only Tulsa and Illinois State made it from the MVC.

"We should have been included in the (NCAA) tournament, although I'm glad to be in the NIT."

Bradley was outscored from the floor 37 field goals to 30, but won the game at the free throw line, connecting on 35 of 47, while Syracuse was only 7 of 15. The Braves built their lead to 13 points at halftime. Willie Scott hit two quick baskets after the intermission and five points by Anderson in the first five minutes built Bradley's lead to 62-38.

Syracuse and Rutgers were the only eastern teams left in the NIT field, but Rutgers was crushed by Purdue 98-65 at West Lafayette, Ind.

In other games, Georgia trounced visiting Maryland, 83-69, Dayton shaded Illinois 61-58 at Champaign, Ill., Virginia Tech nipped Mississippi 61-59 at Oxford, Miss., Oklahoma, playing at home, turned back Cal-Irvine 80-77, Texas A&M won a road game at Washington 69-65 and Tulane won at Nevada-Las Vegas 56-51.

The semifinals and finals will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden next week. First, however, the third-round schedule finds Virginia Tech at Georgia, Tulane at Bradley and Dayton at Oklahoma on Thursday night and Texas A&M at Purdue on Friday night.

Snyder Hosting Annual 9-Man Event Thursday

The annual Snyder Baseball Tournament powers its way into the local sports lineup this week, beginning Thursday morning and extending into Saturday night.

Eight teams, including three from District 2-AAAA, are entered in the tournament, which also includes 1981 state playoff contender Lubbock Estacado.

Thursday's agenda pairs Andrews and Canyon in the opener at 11 a.m., followed by Plainview and Estacado at 1:30, Odessa Ector and Lubbock Dunbar at 4 and Levelland and host Snyder in the feature game at 7.

Friday's action keeps the same timetable, with losers of the Andrews-Canyon and Plainview-Estacado games playing at 11 and losers of the Ector-Dunbar and Levelland-Snyder games playing at 4. Winners vie at 1:30 and 7 p.m. respectively.

Seventh place will be played Saturday at 11, followed by consolation at 1:30, the game for third place at 4 and the championship tilt at 6.

All games will be played at Moffett Field.

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers, 6-3, are slated in a game at Abilene Cooper today at 4. The squad finished second in last weekend's Monahans Tournament.

District 2-4A play begins March 26 as Snyder travels to Fort Stockton for a 7:30 p.m. tilt.

BIG ONE -- Jon Traylor, 14, used part of the spring break to go fishing, and the results were obviously profitable. Jon, son of Bob Traylor of Snyder, hooked this big catfish last week, using a rod and reel.

'Pokes Play Here, 7:30

Dallas Cowboy fans from throughout the area are expected to flood Scurry County Coliseum tonight to see not football - but their Sunday afternoon heroes in basketball garb.

The "Dallas Hoopsters" are taking on a group of area and local "All-Stars" in basketball action at 7:30. Tickets are $5 each.

The Dallas Cowboys team will be made up of quarterback Glenn Carano (6-3, 202), tackle John Dutton (6-7, 265), wide receiver Butch Johnson (6-1, 192), tight end Doug Cosbie (6-6, 230), tackle Larry Bethea (6-5, 254), and running backs Tony Dorsett (5-11, 190), Ron Springs (6-1, 200) and Robert Newhouse (5-10, 215).

Competing on Snyder's "city team" will be Ernie Armstrong, John Gayle, Don Gressett, Milton Ham, David Holt, Ed Thrift and Bill Warner.

Making up the coaches squad will be Bud Birks, George Byerly, Charlie Crane, Robert Crawford, Walter Hargrove, Kenneth Housden, Larry Scott and Clarence Spieker.

Coaching the "All-Stars" will be Western Texas College Dusters coach, Joe Cushing.

Ira Boosters Set Meeting

IRA -- Ira Boosters Club will meet Wednesday night at 8:30 at the school, it has been reported.

Topics of discussion will include jacket sales and the press box project. Everyone is urged to attend.

Little Feels No Guilt About Win This Time

CITY OF INDUSTRY, Calif. (AP) - Sally Little once felt slightly guilty about collecting the $22,500 first prize in the Olympia Gold women's golf tournament.

Monday, however, she soothed her conscience - and picked up another $22,500 - for winning this year's tournament.

Little was declared the winner in 1981 because she led after the first two rounds. The final 36 holes were rained out. This time, the tournament again was plagued by rain, but it went the full 72 holes and Little scored a come-from-behind victory over Donna H. White.

"I just think I was meant to win it," Little said Monday after her 3-under-par 70 gave her a 2-stroke victory over White, who faded to a closing 76.

The final round of the $150,000 event was delayed on5 day when heavy rain washed out Sunday's play.

White, meanwhile, wasn't particularly downcast, although she began the final 18 holes with a 4-shot lead over Little and a 3-shot advantage over Ayako Okamoto.

"Sally just played so well. She really deserved to win," said White, back on the tour this year after taking 1981 off to have a baby. "I'm pleased; I haven't been in contention for two years."

Little, a 30-year-old South African who has won 11 events in her 12 years on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, carded rounds of 75-74-69-70 for a 5-under-par 288.

Okamoto, a 30-year-old star of the Japan LPGA circuit who recently scored her first U.S. victory, wound up in a third-place tie with Nancy Lopez-Melton. Okamoto had a closing 74 and Lopez-Melton, unable to completely overcome an opening-round 78, shot 5-under-par 68.

The final two rounds were played over the 6,006-yard, par-73 Eisenhower course at Industry Hills after the golfers played one of the first two rounds on the Zaharias course, also par 73.

Rangers Expose Expos

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Pat Putnam and Bobby Johnson both hit home runs Monday as the Texas Rangers defeated the Montreal Expos 8-1 in exhibition baseball.

The Rangers, who improved their Grapefruit League mark to 4-3, worked over four Montreal pitchers for nine hits, including the blasts by Putnam and Johnson.

Texas pushed across its first three runs in the third on an RBI single by Al Oliver and a two-run double by Leon Roberts.

Oliver knocked in another run in the fifth when his double off Darren Dilks brought across the Rangers' fourth run. A sacrifice fly by first baseman Lamar Johnson made it 5-0.

Putnam and Johnson drilled their homers off the last of Montreal's pitchers, Greg Bargar, in the eighth to round out the scoring. Putnam's was a bases-empty blast, Johnson's came with a man aboard.

Montreal's only run came in the ninth when Dave Hostetler hit a solo homer off the Rangers' Bob Lacey.

John Butcher, who worked the first three innings and shut the Expos down on a pair of hits, picked up the win. Jeff Taylor got the loss.

Astros Fall To Twins

COCOA, Fla. (AP) - Minnesota's Dave Engle hit a two-out single in the ninth inning to rally the Twins to a 3-2 exhibition baseball victory over the Houston Astros Monday.

Ray Smith reached base on third baseman Joe Pittman's error to start the Twins' ninth inning and Gary Ward followed with a run-scoring double to tie the game. Ward went to third base on shortstop Dickie Thon's error and scored on Engle's hit.

Houston took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on second baseman Phil Garner's two-run triple after Thon had singled and Terry Puhl had walked.

Anti-Bingo Group Sets Phone Drive

A group opposing a proposal to legalize bingo in Snyder mapped plans for a telephone and transportation campaign at a meeting last night at First Baptist Church.

The "Citizens for a Better Community" plan to organize a telephone campaign to urge opponents of bingo to go to the polls. They also plan to offer transportation to and from the polls for voters on election day.

The bingo proposal will be up for a decision on Saturday, April 3, in the city election.

The local group last night was urged to work for defeat of the proposal. The Rev. Leland Kennedy of Abilene, a guest speaker at the session, said that the only way to win in such campaigns is to work hard. He said it requires time and dedication to achieve success.

Clarence Minton, chairman of the "Citizens for a Better Community," warned that legalizing bingo would provide an opening that could lead to an invasion by organized crime.

An amendment to the Texas Constitution approved by the voters in 1980 permits non-profit organizations, such as fraternal groups, churches, etc., to sponsor bingo games. However, legislation implementing the amendment made it a local option.

Some 125 persons attended the meeting last night.

Denouncement Causes Furor

NEW YORK (AP) — When Susan Sontag stood up and denounced communism as "fascism with a human face" — well, you wouldn't believe the fuss.

The crowd booed. Weeks later, debate raged in obscure journals. There were even snide suggestions that Ms. Sontag, a durable star of the left, would soon be writing for Reader's Digest.

And what did she say?

"There are many lessons to be learned from the Polish events. But, I would maintain, the principal lesson to be learned is the lesson of the failure of communism, the utter villainy of the communist system.

"It has been a hard lesson to learn," she continued. "I am struck by how long it has taken us to learn it — and of course I include myself."

To understand the stir caused by these words, you must consider the time, and the place.

It was Feb. 6.

The night of the Reagan administration's international television propaganda spectacular, "Let Poland Be Poland."

The night some prominent leftists hired Town Hall in New York to express their support for Poland and Solidarity, and their contempt for Reagan's policies. Their contempt, as Ms. Sontag put it, for "Reagan the union-buster, Reagan the putt master of the butchers in El Salvador."

To people who have spent a lifetime opposing the Richard Nixons and Barry Goldwaters and Ronald Reagans, it's a bit embarrassing to condemn martial law in Poland, and find Reagan agreeing.

So distinctions become essential. The distinction of having authors Studs Turkel and Kurt Vonnegut Jr. at Town Hall, instead of Charlton Heston, the host of "Let Poland be Poland," the distinction of having a song from aging folksinger Pete Seeger instead of from aging crooner Frank Sinatra.

The distinction of listening to Susan Sontag, author of "Illness as Metaphor," "Styles of Radical Will" and "Trip to Hanoi," the last based on her 1968 trip to North Vietnam.

Ms. Sontag said the left should have been more attentive in the 1950s to emigres from eastern Europe. Then she slipped on the brass knuckles.

"The emigres from communist countries we didn't listen to, who found it far easier to get published in the Reader's Digest than in the Nation or the New Statesman, were telling the truth," she said. "Now we hear them.

"Why didn't we hear them before?"

Comparing martial law in Poland to right-wing rule in Chile and Argentina, Ms. Sontag said: "Communism is fascism — successful fascism, if you will ...

"I repeat: not only is fascism (and overt military rule) the probable destiny of all communist societies ... but communism is in itself a variant, the most successful variant, of fascism. Fascism with a human face."

Despite Ms. Sontag's warm words for the Reader's Digest, the fight started at Town Hall has moved into the left's familiar arenas: earnest journals like The Nation and newspapers unknown outside New York, like the Soho News.

Some writers said communism's evil was already well known; others insisted that communism and fascism are not the same thing.

Philip Green, a member of The Nation's editorial board, said he and his friends were angry when rebellions were put down in Hungary and Czechoslovakia, and were no less angry about events in Poland.

One Theft Is Reported Here

Snyder police officers are investigating one theft reported Monday afternoon.

Jefferey Plyant, called police at 5 p.m. Monday to report the theft of a tool box and tools valued at $200 from his truck. The theft is reported to have occurred sometime between 7 p.m. last Friday and 11 p.m. last Saturday while his vehicle was parked at Jaxson's Club or in the 2400 block of Avenue R.

Local police were also called to the scene of a fight at the Pizza Inn around 9:30 p.m. Monday. Officers arrested four male subjects on public intoxication charges at the scene.

One of the four was discovered to be in possession of a small quantity of marijuana when they arrived at the police station. He now faces Class A misdemeanor charges of possession of marijuana in a quantity less than two ounces.

In two unrelated incidents, local officers also arrested two men on charges of unlawfully carrying a weapon Monday evening.

MovieFansPick Favorite Ones

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie-goers picked the two aging stars of "On Golden Pond" — Henry Fonda and Katharine Hepburn — as best actor and best actress in the 1981 American Movie Awards.

And they cast their votes for Jane Fonda as best supporting actress for her role in the film.

"Raiders of the Lost Ark" took the best film of the year award.

The awards, organized by the National Association of Theater Owners and presented Monday at the Hollywood Palace, were based on audience polls taken at 2,000 theaters nationwide.

John Gielgud, who plays the acerbic servant in "Arthur," was named best supporting actor.

"Raiders," the biggest money-maker of 1981, collected awards for best picture, best director — Steven Spielberg — and best script — by Lawrence Kasdan.

Movie-goers voted Alan Alda and Sally Field the most popular film stars, and Lionel Ritchie was the winner for best original song for his title tune in "Endless Love."

Special awards were presented to Warren Beatty, whose "Reds" won no awards although it was nominated in six categories. Composer John Williams and veteran producer Hal B. Wallis also received special awards.

Obituaries

Mrs. McKinley

Funeral service has been set for 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Carroll Funeral Home at Gainesville for Mrs. B. L. McKinley Sr., 93.

Mrs. McKinley, the mother of B. L. McKinley Jr. of Snyder, died Monday night in Frontier Nursing Home in Gainesville.

In addition to B. L. McKinley Jr, she is survived by another son, Billy C. McKinley of Denison; a daughter, Mrs. H. P. Aston of Dallas; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mr. Hamby

Ollie Hamby, 83, died at 2:30 a. m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p. m. Thursday in the Bell-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. Officiating will be his son, the Rev. Frank Hamby of Green Bay, Wis., assisted by the Rev. Ken Branam, pastor of First Baptist Church.

Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale.

A native of Kyle, he had moved to Snyder recently from Coleman. He was married on Oct. 31, 1936, in San Marcos to Julia Harrell. He was a Mason, being affiliated with San Marcos Lodge No. 129 RAM and 215 R&SM.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Dale Hamby of Snyder and Frank Hamby of Green Bay, Wis.; a sister, Agnes Whitby of San Marcos; two brothers, Dick Hamby of San Angelo and James Hamby of Universal City; and five grandchildren.

Body Search Continues In C-City Lake

Dragging operations were to continue today at Lake Colorado City for the body of Henry Borego, 34, of Snyder.

He is presumed drowned following a boating accident on the lake over the weekend.

He fell from a boat while fishing on the lake at about 3 a. m. Saturday, and his companions on the fishing trip were unable to find him in the water following the mishap.

Dragging operations had to be discontinued Monday afternoon because of high winds on the lake.

Traffic Cop Service Gone

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard has discontinued for lack of money the traffic cop service it operated on the busy Mississipppi River since 77 people died in a 1976 tanker-ferry collision.

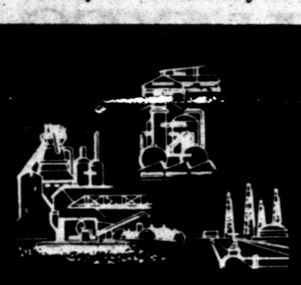

Closure of the Vessel Tracing Service came at noon Saturday.

Alexander's Pest Control Can Give You Professional Advice

Termites, roaches and rodents--they're all on a rampage at this time of the year. And Alexander's Pest Control can give you professional protection against all of these pests - and many more.

Termites may be small but you can't afford to take chances with them. Your home represents your largest investment, and for a small investment, you can protect it against the ravages of costly termites. Left alone, termites can cause literally thousands of dollars of damage.

Just because your house is made of brick or concrete doesn't mean that it's safe from termites. These crafty insects are cunning in gaining entry and getting to the wooden interior construction.

Termites will eat anything containing wood or cellulose. They frequently damage valuable papers, books, expensive rugs and items in storage.

Professional treatment, such as Craig Alexander can give, is the only way to be sure you're safe from termite damage--and again this treatment is far more economical than repairs. Alexander creates a chemical barrier around and under your house that stops subterranean termites cold.

As we said earlier, Alexander can eliminate other insects and rodents from your house, too. Call Craig Alexander at 573-7133 and let him help you with all your insect, pest and weed control needs.

Diet Center Emphasizes March Is National Nutrition Month

If you're thick and tired of it....

Face up to it and don't be pound foolish! A good look at yourself in the nude is your most effective and realistic appraisal!

1. Learn to keep your mind off your stomach. 2. Learn the difference between hunger and appetite. Hunger is a painful sensation. Appetite is purely mental. It will play tricks on you. It is a mouth-watering reaction to pleasant smells of food, and your stomach telling you where your mind is! 3. Stop thinking "diet" - think "nutrients!" 4. Remember - Your future is on your fork! 5. Remember - Hunger results from what is in your blood-stream, not what is in your stomach! 6. Remember - You are a victim of "Carbohydrate Poisoning", the most killing disease of the 20th Century! You are a Carbohydrate Addict! Admit it! 7. The reason you keep gaining weight back after losing it is because you only "look normal" - inside your body is the same metabolic abnormality that made you fat in the first place! 8. You have been "brainwashed" by advertisers who would have you start you day with processed cereals, sweet rolls, pancakes, butter and syrup, then urge you to fill up your stomach through the day with soft drinks and junkfoods that contain little or no food value, only carbohydrates! 9. RX for hunger. Cut carbohydrates - not nutrients! There is a biologic basis for this astonishing phenomenon. The first fuel your body burns for energy comes from your carbohydrate intake. When carbohydrates are available, your body burns them rather than stores fat. But carbohydrates as such, are not stored in the body beyond 48 hours. So when no carbohydrate is taken in, your body must draw upon its reserve source of food - stored fat! When your body finds no carbohydrates, it is forced to take aother source of fuel for the energy you need! Your body automatically converts from a carbohydrate burning engine into a fat burning engine! 10. No calorie counting diet or doctor can make hunger tolerable for a lifetime! 11. Remember - Any diet will work! The point is, how long can you tolerate it! 12. Remember - Overweight is never cured! 13. Remember - You may have your favorite carbohydrate dish anytime you want to gain 3 or 4 pounds! 14. Remember - The reason you overeat is because you are over hungry. Eat the right foods before you get over hungry. 15. Remember - If you want to be slim and healthy, you do it by choice not will power! 16. Remember - Obesity runs in your family! So does bad eating habits! 17. Remember - Playing with fad-diets and the unknown is a dangerous sport! 18. Remember - Refined carbohydrates contain no essential substance that the body must have to repair itself! Their only value is for false, quick energy! 19. Remember - You have an appetite for sweets because you have created it! The body does not hunger for sweets, you have only fooled yourself into believing it does! 20. Obesity is a parasite that effects humanity. Overcoming it could be called miraculous, but for the fact that it is accomplished by such a simple common sense means! 21. DIET CENTER provides you with the means - You use the common sense, you already have! It's up to you to put the two together and conquer your biggest health problem - overweight!

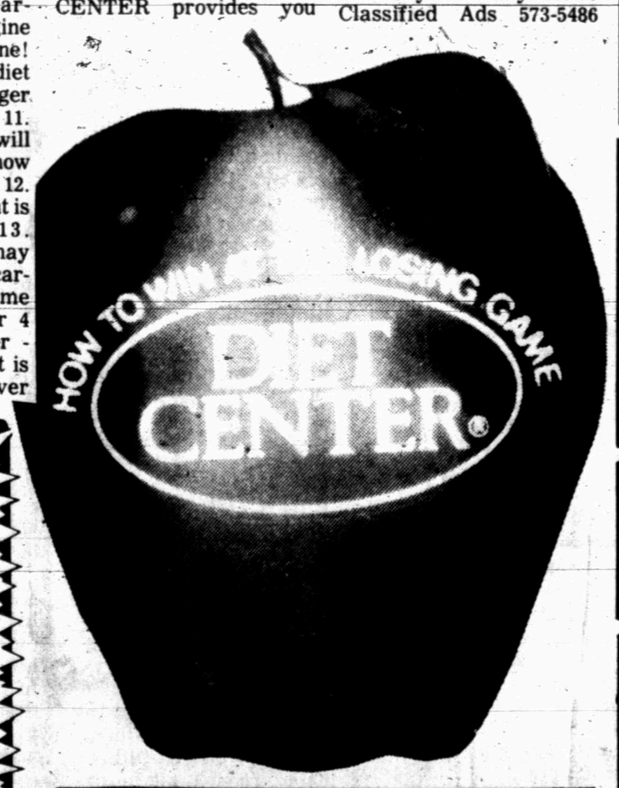

Call 573-8583. Donna and Fairy at 1904 37th Street are the means by which you can overcome your life-long weight problem.
