County Officials

Urge Voters To Register Now

Under the new Texas voter registration law, forced by court decisions, voters may register at any time during the year and be assured of eligibility after 30 days - but county officials would prefer they register before Jan. 31.

The county tax assessors-collectors will make up the initial list of registered voters including all of those persons who registered through Jan. 31. After that, newly registering voters will go on supplementary lists.

Voters registering now are registered automatically for three years under the law just going into effect. They are automatically registered again by voting in a primary, run-off or general election.

HARD HATS OF ANOTHER GENERATION make up a group known as "Green Thumb" workers. They are retired men who are not ready to sit down and no longer work. All must be over 56 to be eligible to participate in the federally funded program. The crew pictured above are taking a break during work on a dog pound for the city. Those working on the project are Tranquillo Saldivar, Jesus Garza, C. L. Smelley, Refugio Sosa, Miguel Rodriguez and area foreman, Luther Brown.

Green Thumb Crews Beautify The Country

Little Green Men may come from Mars, but little ole men with Green Hats are Earth people who are endeavoring to make their earth a little prettier, and at the same time do something useful in their retirement.

The Green Thumb program, sponsored by the Texas Farmers Unions, was begun in an effort to employ retired men, who were not ready to take to the old rockin' chair.

To be eligible to work in the program, a man must be at least 56 years of age and meet an income requirement. Funds for the program are approximated through the Labor Department.

Working with six crews in Hale, Swisher and the north half of Lamb Counties is Luther H. Brown, who is known as an area foreman.

James Dudley of Earth serves as crew foreman and Ben Andrew of Olton as safety man. Others working in the counties named are Tranquillo Saldivar, Jesus Garza, C.

L. Smelley, Refugio Sosa, and Miguel Rodriguez.

Most of their time is spent on beautification of parks and recreation areas. They must work for non-profit organizations such as city, county and state.

Working this week in Olton, the men have begun construction of a dog pound, complete with a gas chamber, shelter and pen. Before they could begin on the dog pound, they tore down an old building for the city (which had been condemned) and used the lumber from it to build the pens.

Although the crews are working only half time now, they are allowed to work 24 hours per week. They are required to take a 10 minute break every hour and their foreman says, "Much of the time we have to make them take their break, they are so anxious to get on with their work."

Mrs. Hazel Abernathy of Plainview is regional supervisor over eight counties. Headquarters are at Waco and Bob Mullins is the state director.

The Green Thumb crews take great pride in their work and they are usually praised for the work that they do.

Because of their age, there are certain limitations put on their labors, such as no use of machinery, no work on roofs or tall ladders.

But, within the framework of their capabilities, these seven Green Thumb workers go about their work with an enthusiasm that would put many a young man "in the shade."

For the third consecutive year Steve Stockdale and Kenny Spain were named. Also selected were Jane McGill, Stan Sampler, David Leathers and Pam Galloway.

Albino Guinea Pigs Born In Biology Lab

A guinea pig is a guinea pig is a guinea pig... Unless, it's an albino guinea pig -- or yet, TWO albino guinea pigs!

And that is just what the Olton High School biology department has ... two albino guinea pigs, which the teacher, Toni Baird, has been told is very unusual.

The parents of the two albinos were brown in color with a white spot on their forehead. Their offspring, two of them, were born Jan. 7 and they were male and female albinos.

Miss Baird said she had talked with the biology teacher at Wayland and West Texas State University and they each had told her that this was most unusual.

The teacher plans to set up a genetic study, mating the male and female as soon as they reach the proper age, which is usually four to five months. Then in the future, the albinos will be mated back to their parents to see what the results are.

"Albinism is due to both parents carrying the recessive genes for albinism," Miss Baird said. "By crossing the albinos with their parents, we may come up with half the offspring being normal and half being albinos. Only time will give the results."

"I bought the original guinea pigs in Amarillo back in the summer. I plan to breed them again and see if I get albinos again. The baby guinea pigs are now almost three weeks old and if they were going to change colors, they would have done so already," Miss Baird commented.

"If the next litter, like this first litter, is albino, then we've really got something," she concluded.

QUITE A RARITY ---These two little fellows are creating quite a stir at the biology department at Olton High School. The two albino guinea pigs, male and female, were born Jan. 7 at the lab and are the first litter belonging to a pair of brown colored guinea pigs with only one spot on their foreheads. Miss Baird, biology teacher, plans to conduct a genetic study with the pair and their parents.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Classroom Copycat

Scene: a college classroom. The professor is delivering a lecture on philosophy. Most of his listeners are paying only intermittent attention to his pearls of wisdom.

But one alert young man is zealously taking down every word. For he has a great idea. He will gather the lectures together, publish them in book form, and then sell them to students who are less energetic than he is.

Could the professor block the young man's project if he so desired? This question arose not long ago when a professor actually did go to court against a classroom copycat. He claimed that publication of the lectures would violate his "common law copyright."

The defendant retorted that the professor had lost the copyright by uttering his words in public, thereby making them "free for all."

But the court sided with the professor and granted him an injunction. The court pointed out that he had spoken not to the general public, for general use, but to a limited group for limited use.

Other courts have agreed that a professor does not lose his common law copyright merely by delivering lectures to his students. By the same token, a minister probably retains rights in his sermons after delivering them to his congregation.

However, a copyright generally protects only the mode of expression, not the information itself. For example:

A professor of medicine complained in court that a new book contained certain details about surgery that he had described in his lectures.

But it turned out that the book did not use the professor's language at all—and used his data only in combination with material taken from other sources.

The court decided that the professor had no grounds for complaint. The court said he could not, simply by stating facts out loud, gain a monopoly on those facts for himself.

Marijuana

Will marijuana be legalized? Should it be?

Dr. C. B. Scrignar, associate professor of psychiatry at Louisiana State University and chairman of the Louisiana Narcotics and Rehabilitation Commission, has predicted that the controversial drug will some day be legalized because "the users of today will be the lawyers and judges of tomorrow."

Dr. Scrignar said, "during a panel discussion at an American Medical Association convention in New Orleans recently, that he personally was against the legalization of marijuana but he thought it was only a matter of time till it would be done because so many young people are now using it."

While some are saying that marijuana is relatively harmless, David Wilkerson, founder of "Teen Challenge" in New York City — where drug addicts are rescued from their living death — has said, "I consider marijuana the most dangerous drug used today."

Is marijuana harmless? Should the laws against it be repealed? Dr. Harold Kolansky and Dr. William T. Moore, writing in the American Medical Association Journal, earlier this year, said that marijuana users manifested "confusion, anxiety, depression, apathy . . . and, often, slowed or slurred speech."

Also, they reported, "Sexual promiscuity was frequent, and the incidence of unwanted pregnancies among female patients was high, as was the incidence of venereal disease."

While there are those who advocate the legalization of marijuana — and there are some who predict that this effort will succeed — we may hope that good judgment will prevail and the legal curbs on marijuana will be retained and strengthened. In any case, we can know, on the testimony of drug addicts who have tried it, that the real solution to the individual's problem of drug addiction is in Jesus — not in suicide.

MAGNETICALLY SPEAKING
To determine the magnetic properties of lunar materials, the astronauts on the Apollo 14 mission used moon-sample cans lined with an 80 per cent nickel alloy to prevent the Earth's magnetic field from penetrating to the samples.

A "HIGH" NICKEL ALLOY
To resist corrosion from condensing hot gases, nickel stainless steel was specified for the top 60 feet of liner in the world's tallest chimney. The chimney, 1,250 feet high, is located at the Copper Cliff, Ontario, operations of International Nickel.

DAUGHTER VISITS
Mrs. Margie Slatten has had as recent houseguests her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spain.

Starting with marijuana, Craig had moved on to LSD. In the tape-recorded message he said, "After you've taken so much of that stuff, you just really don't know where you're at. . . . It's hard to distinguish between real and unreal, and you're lost."

Real Power

But it isn't necessary for the drug addict to be lost.

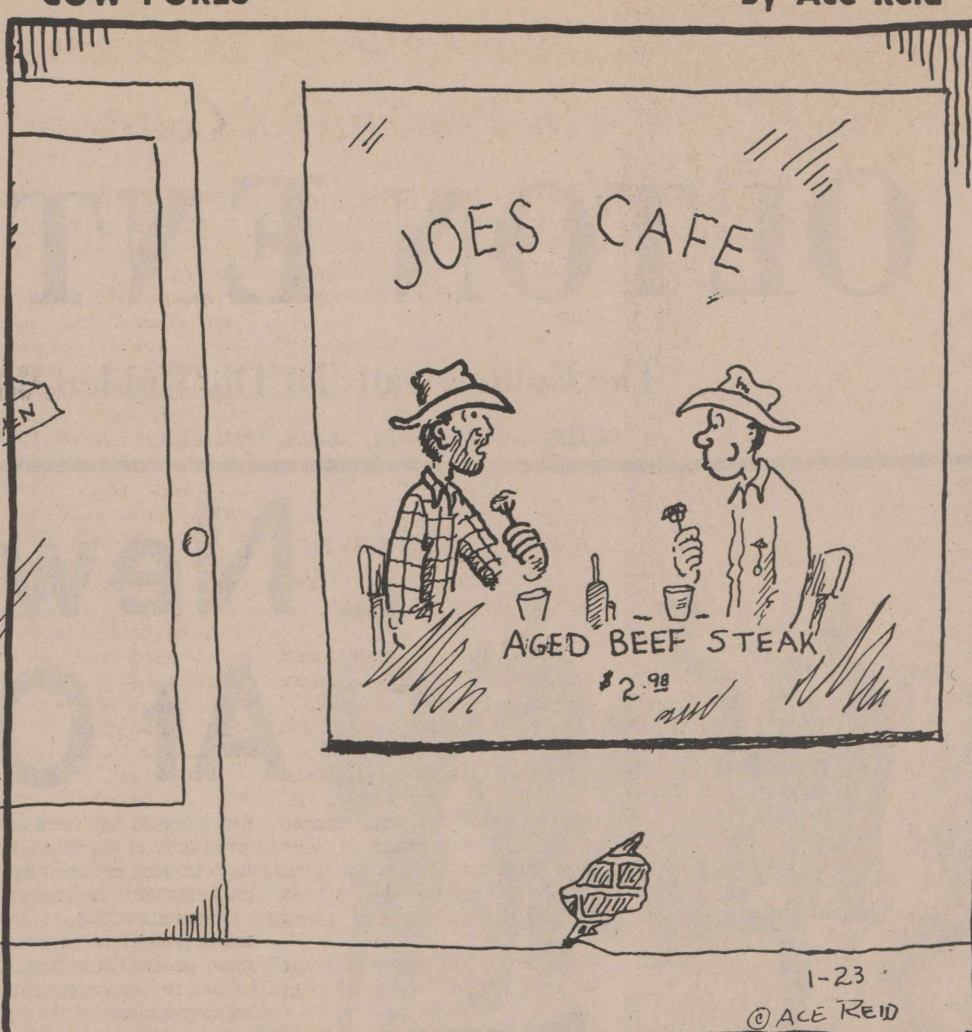

A former narcotics addict who found his answer in Christ wrote to a friend, "Two years ago last May I started smoking marijuana with several of my friends. The first year I smoked about three times a week. . . . I moved into a commune . . . where there was always pot and acid. . . . I followed my vanity and my lusts until I came to face obvious abominations."

"Then five young people in a group called the 'New Creatures,' who had known methedrine and the rest . . . proceeded to impress me with real love. . . . They were obviously convinced that Jesus was real. . . . By the time the sun came up, I was asking Him to please take the rest of my life and He has. In the past eight months I have stopped all my bad habits with ease. . . . Believe me, Jesus is real. And the Bible has real supernatural power."

While there are those who advocate the legalization of marijuana — and there are some who predict that this effort will succeed — we may hope that good judgment will prevail and the legal curbs on marijuana will be retained and strengthened. In any case, we can know, on the testimony of drug addicts who have tried it, that the real solution to the individual's problem of drug addiction is in Jesus — not in suicide.

Short Film Available On Cattle Feeding

A 25-minute film produced by the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, entitled "A Day With the Cattle Feeder," is available for use by civic, agricultural and other groups for programs, according to Dr. Robert C. Albin, professor of animal science at Texas Tech University.

"Texas Tech has been presented with a copy of the film to be made available to groups who are interested in feedlot operations," Dr. Albin said. The film is in color with sound and is particularly appropriate for all kinds of youth and adult clubs interested in agriculture and livestock production, he said.

Groups wishing to schedule the film are invited to write Dr. Robert C. Albin, Department of Animal Science, P. O. Box 4249, Texas Tech Station, Lubbock, Texas 79409.

Again in 1970, the United States was the free world's largest single consumer of nickel. The country consumed 330 million of the estimated 985 million pounds of nickel consumed that year.

MRS. JOHN HERRON

Herron-Roberson Vows Read In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday, Jan. 15, Miss Becca Lucretia Roberson became the bride of John Robert Herron. The Rev. John E. Lewis officiated the double ring service held in First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Roberson and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Herron of Brownfield.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Harold Carson, organist, who also accompanied Miss Janie Jones as she sang "The Twelfth of Never."

A candle Tree of Life centered the altar area, and was flanked by arched candelabra. All were fitted with pale yellow cathedral tapers and entwined with English Ivy. Yellow bows, garlands of ivy and votive candles marked the aisle.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of imported all over re-embroidered angel-peau, fashioned with a scalloped edge Victorian neckline.

The long sheer embroidered bishop sleeves terminated in a narrow cuff closed with tiny covered buttons. A narrow bias fold encircled the empire bodice which was centered with a panel of tiny tucks on either side of a row of covered buttons, accented with a satin bow.

Dainty flowers were embroidered on the see-through lace of the A-line skirt extending into a bouffant back fullness. Accented with a bow, the fullness fell into a full chapel length train.

Lace petals fashioned into a profile headpiece held an elbow length veil of English illusion. For "something old" she carried a handkerchief given to her by her maternal grandmother. She "borrowed" a diamond necklace from the grandmother of the groom, and wore the traditional blue garter. In her shoe she carried two pennies, minted in the years of the couple's birth dates.

Atop her satin covered Bible, given to her by an aunt, Mrs. George Hay, the bridal bouquet of feathered carnations was centered with a white orchid. From it fell a cascade of ribbon streamers tied in loveknots.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Lynda Bell of Lubbock. Bridal attendants were Mrs. Buddy Nicholson, sister of the bride, and Miss Peggy Herron, sister of the groom.

Feminine attendants wore identical formal length gowns of citron yellow saki, fashioned with bateau necklines, soft bell sleeves, and empire bodices. The soft A-line skirts extended into a Watteau back fullness, and the deep square necklines of the back were accented at the waist with large bows. They wore cameo velvet chokers and matching profile and bow headpieces from which fell double veils. They carried nosegays of tinted carnations and English ivy, centered with votive candles of pale yellow. Streamers of ribbon were interspersed with English ivy.

Miss Bonica Nicholson, niece of the bride lighted candles. Miss Bandi Nicholson, also a niece, was flower girl. Glen Martin of Wellman, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

Grady Herron, Brownfield, was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Leland Hulser, brother of the groom, and Jerry Hester, both of Brownfield.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Roberson chose a pink chiffon gown fashioned with a high neckline, long sheer sleeves, pleated bodice and full pleated skirt. She added a pink cattleya orchid corsage and matching accessories.

The mother of the groom wore a gown of gray silk crepe, styled with a drop waist line, full pleated skirt and long full sleeves. She wore matching accessories and pink orchid corsage.

Special guests were Mrs. Buelah Roberson and Mrs. Margery Potts, both of Lockney, grandmothers of the bride; and Mrs. R. F. Herron of Brownfield and Mrs. J. R. Parson, of Sweetwater, grandmothers of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was hosted in Fellowship Hall of the church to honor the young couple.

The bride's table was laid with a cloth of white organza with satin border, over white satin. An arrangement of tinted carnations and English ivy, accented with clusters of beads, encircled the base of a silver candelabra fitted with yellow tapers.

The three tiered wedding cake, with a trim of pale yellow roses, was topped with wedding bells. Yellow punch was served from a silver bowl. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Basil Sherman and Mrs. Archie Sorley.

For travel the bride wore a brown double knit suit with striped trim, white boots and white knit tam, and the white orchid corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

A 1970 graduate of Olton High School, the bride has been graduated from a Commercial college in Lubbock.

Herron, graduate of Wellman High School, has served in the US Air Force and is presently attending Commercial College in Lubbock. Following a wedding trip, they will be at home at 5401 4th Street, Lubbock.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Herron, Miss Melba Herron, Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin, Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Johnson, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. George Hay, Miss Nancy Bell, Flip Reisse, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Aldridge, Mrs. Susan Olgan, Mrs. Ruth Earsley, Miss Carol Flores and David Goolsby, all of Lubbock; Mrs. Ursula Mofica, Debbie and Rita of Idalou; Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, Glen and David of Denver City; Mr. and Mrs. Felix Thetford; Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Moran; Mr. and Mrs. John Newberry and Bobbie and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Hulser and Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Herron parents of the bridegroom, hosted a rehearsal dinner for the bridal party, Friday evening at The Coachman Restaurant.

Miss Colledge Is Honored In Pre-Nuptial Courtesy

Miss Cynthia Jane Colledge, bride-elect of Larry Bruce Hines, was complimented with a bridal shower Saturday afternoon, Jan. 15, in the home of Mrs. Bob Duncan.

A cloth of white net bordered with scalloped lace laid over yellow covered the serving table. Carrying out the honoree's chosen colors, the centerpiece of yellow gladioli and daisies was flanked with purple candles in twin candelabra. Table appointments were silver and crystal.

Refreshments were white cake squares with purple accents, golden sparkle punch, and yellow mints. Napkins were imprinted in purple with wedding bells between the names "Cindy and Bruce".

Presiding at the serving table were Misses Debby Lohman of Olton and Kathy Bohner of Edmonson. Miss Tracey Ebeling of Albuquerque, N.M., registered gifts and Mrs. Bill Benton of Lubbock was at the guest register. Other members of the house party were Mmes. Jim Aldridge and Jackie Burkhalter of Tahoka, Mike Smith of Plainview, Danny Cook of Lubbock, and Lannie McClain of Canyon.

Presented with corsages were the honoree and the special guests, Mrs. Melvin Hines and Mrs. C. B. Hines of Olton, mother and grandmother of the prospective bridegroom.

Hostess gifts were an electric mixer, gold-colored aluminum cookware, service for four of pottery with sugar bowl, and a bride's book.

Lullaby Shower Honors Infant

Mrs. Elza Miller and infant daughter, Nikki Paige, were honorees Saturday at a lullaby gift-tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Travis.

A lullaby theme was followed in decor. The party table, laid with a white cloth, was centered with an arrangement of blue flowers and white candles. Mrs. Frank Adams and the hostess served cake, coffee and spiced tea.

Hostess gift was a car seat for the infant. Personal gifts were also presented.

Mrs. Lee Simmons Presents Tips Regarding Recreation

Roll call was answered with "A Careless Habit I Have." The program, under direction of Mrs. Lee Simmons, was a study of recreation.

Mrs. Simmons quoted a young boy as saying "Recreation is what you do when you don't have to." She continued the explanation by saying "recreation is something one does after toil. What is recreation to one person, may not be to another."

"But," she continued, "Recreation is something every person needs in life."

Announcement was made of County Friendship Day being sponsored by Home Demonstration Clubs of the county. The meeting, to be held in Lamb County Cooperative Building, will present a program on Drug Abuse.

Accent On Health

A healthier Texas is the aim of the Texas State Department of Health, and to carry out that goal Texas health authorities have moved to carry state health program closer to Texas residents by instituting a regional concept of public health.

The first of the proposed 10 public health regions opened in 1970 in Tyler in East Texas. Two more State Health Department regions became operational on January 1, 1972. Region 3 has headquarters in El Paso and covers six counties in Far West Texas. Region 10 covers 20 counties in South Texas from headquarters in Harlingen.

"The Texas State Department of Health has made available better health services to over two and a quarter million Texas residents with creation of the two new regions," said Dr. James E. Peavy, Texas Commissioner of Health. "And the goal is to eventually provide these services to all Texans, particularly those not now reached by state health services."

Eventually, the State will have 10 public health regions providing services to the State's entire population. All regional offices will have staff representing the major public health disciplines. "The regional health system will allow state health programs to be brought closer to the people who need them, and will provide better administration of health services," said Dr. Peavy. "It will also provide more efficient use of the limited public health resources, and at the same time provide public health services to all residents throughout the region."

The huge West Texas region covers 21,778 square miles, with a population in excess of 379,000. Dr. John Bradley, former regional director of the State Health Department's TB control program, is now Regional Director of Public Health Region 3.

Region 10 covers a wide area of South Texas in which more than 870,000 persons reside. Regional director of Public Health Region 10 is Dr. Victor Zalma, a former Epidemic Intelligence Officer who served the TSDH Communicable Disease Services Section on assignment from the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

James Eshelman-June Kantz Exchange Vows In Kansas

In a mid-morning ceremony Saturday, Jan. 8, Miss June Kantz became the bride of James Eshelman. Vows were exchanged in Danforth Chapel on the campus of the University of Kansas, with the Rev. William DeLaughter, minister, officiating. Mrs. Stanley Shumway, Lawrence, Kans. presented traditional nuptial selections at the organ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Kantz of La Crescenta, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Eshelman of Clinton, Mo.

The altar area was decorated with potted white chrysanthemums accented with large white bows.

Presented at the altar by Michael A. Berndt, the bride wore a formal length gown of white silk styled along Victorian lines.

The empire bodice featured a stand-up neckline and full Bishop sleeves banded in tating lace. The softly gathered skirt was trimmed at center back waistline with a bow and full length panels. She wore a velvet Dior bow as a headpiece.

The bridal bouquet, designed by the bride, was fashioned of white chrysanthemums surrounding a blue iris, on a background of green fern.

Miss Gail Grussmeyer of La Crescenta, Calif., a childhood friend of the bride was maid of honor. She was gowned in a floor length skirt of red velvet. Her white silk crepe blouse was tied at the waist with a velvet bow.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kantz chose a red, white and blue dress ensemble with matching accessories. The mother of the groom wore a light wool beige dress with matching accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Berndt honoring the couple. The refreshment table, laid with a white linen and lace cloth, featured the traditional three tiered cake. Frosted in white, it carried accents of blue. An arrangement of white mums was centered with a blue candle. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Presiding at the table were Mmes. Berndt and Russell Eshelman, sister-in-law of the groom. The bride, a graduate of Olton High School, was at one time on the staff of The Olton Enterprise. Currently she is a junior student at University of Kansas, working toward a degree in journalism.

Former Oltonite Appointed Regional AKCO Distributor

Don Hardy of Floydada, former resident of Olton, and now famous custom builder of race cars and racing equipment, has been appointed regional distributor for AKCO, Inc., makers of fiberglass accessories for pickups.

Announcement of the appointment of Don Hardy Race Cars and Equipment, 202 West Missouri St., Floydada, as AKCO's representative was made in Dallas by Jack Manry, national marketing director for the firm.

"We are exceptionally pleased to name Hardy as the regional AKCO representative," said Manry. "He certainly knows cars—having built some of the best cars in the world during his 10 years as a custom race car maker; some have won the national competitions and have set low elapse time records. We are flattered that a man who knows fiberglass first-hand, and recognizes its qualities and durability, will choose our (AKCO) line of products to distribute in the Lubbock area."

AKCO products include the "Tool 'n Tank", a fiberglass accessory that provides either 25 or 50 gallons of fuel storage for pickups along with convenient locked-box storage. Other products include the "Tonneau" and "Lazy Lid" which provide cover and security for pickup truck beds, and a line of camping accessories.

Hardy has been associated with all types of automobiles and trucks for the past 15 years. He raced nationwide for three years, and is a former national drag racing champion.

From a start in 1967, when he built two racing cars in his well-equipped shop in Floydada, his business has grown steadily. In 1970, his custom production had climbed to 20. His clientele numbers well-known champion drivers in both the American Hot Rod Association and the National Hot Rod Association. Some of the Hardy-built vehicles are capable of hitting, in a quarter mile, a speed of 221 mph in an elapsed time of about six-and-a-half seconds!

As distributor for AKCO products, Hardy will make the superb new pickup accessories available to the public through quality dealers in the west Texas and eastern New Mexico area.

BOOST FOR MOTHER NATURE

SUBTLE ALLOY

Almost everybody recognizes stainless steel, but do you know nickel silver when you see it? You're likely to handle this versatile alloy of copper, nickel and zinc (there's no silver in it) every day in such things as keys and eyeglass frames.

SIMPLY ELECTRIFYING

Relief from one of life's petty annoyances is at hand—or you could say at foot. The incorporation of a minute quantity of superfine nickel stainless steel fiber in carpeting draws off the static electricity that zaps you when you touch metal.

cizing the exceptionally low quality of this year's crop is not a particularly pleasant chore, but the continuity of the information we supply to our customers is important, and our reputation for 'telling it like it is' is worth a great deal to us in our year-to-year efforts to promote greater use of High Plains cotton."

'TEXAS SIZE' LEMON is shown off by Mrs. Bertice Lawson but there's just one "hitch". It came from California. Mrs. Lawson recently spent two weeks in the home of her children, B. G. of Los Angeles and JoAnn Hinkle of Sacramento and was presented this king size lemon by a friend. The lemon weighed two pounds.

SHARP FABRIC PRINTS

Electroformed screens of pure nickel are used in textile printing equipment because of the metal's resistance to wear. Print patterns remain sharp over thousands of yards of fabric.

SOFTENING THE BUMP

Foamed plastic parts used for automobile dashboards, armrests and visors are formed in molds made of electroformed nickel. The process enables precise reproduction of the surface texture specified by designers, even after hundreds of thousands of parts have been made.

PASS THE JUG, PA

To protect product purity, nickel stainless steel is used extensively in the bottling department of the biggest cider manufacturer in the world, H. P. Bulmer Ltd. in the United Kingdom. The company's new bottling line, which fills 12,000 bottles per hour, has all surfaces in contact with the cider made of Type 316 stainless steel, containing 10 per cent nickel.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INCORPORATED

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. this week issued its first seasonal report on quality of the 1971 High Plains cotton crop, a full month behind the normal date and at about the same time as the producer organization usually releases its "final" report.

PCG began compiling data on the production and quality of each year's cotton crop in its 25 counties back in 1958, and 1971 is stacking up as one of the poorest years, both as to production per acre and quality, in the 14 year period.

Per acre yields, though not yet known for certain, are now estimated at about 285 pounds, compared to the previous low of 349 pounds recorded in 1969. The all-time area high was seen in 1965 when average per-acre production came to 519 pounds. The 1970 crop turned out 389 pounds per acre.

Micronaire readings are also posting an all-time low. The first report on the 1971 crop shows average micronaire to be just under 3.0, well below the 3.2 of 1961 and 1966. High for the area, in 1958, was 4.0, and last year's micronaire averaged 3.7.

Staple length so far on this year's crop is 30.4 thirty-seconds of an inch, far below the 32.3 thirty-seconds of 1968 but above the 1963 historical low of 29.8 thirty-seconds. The 1970 crop staple averaged 31.1 thirty-seconds.

Fiber strength, or Pressley, for 1971 has dropped from last year's all-time high of 85,000 pounds per square inch to 80,300 psi, but to date has held above the 14-year low of 73,000 psi set in 1966.

Grades are also below par for the area, as shown by the fact that only 16.9 percent of the crop has graded "white", as compared to last year's 41 percent and the 14-year high of 62 percent in 1959. Lowest level reached in this category, in 1966, was 9 percent.

PCG officials and others in the Plains cotton industry point out that the abnormally low quality characteristics and yields are the result of unseasonably cold, wet weather during late August and early September of 1971, a crucial period during the cotton growing season.

Quality reports are computer compiled by PCG on each year's crop from data supplied by USDA's cotton classing offices and by the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech. Grade, staple and micronaire figures are sent to PCG by the classing offices on one sample from each "sample sack" received from area gins. In addition, USDA supplies "pressley plugs" which are tested at the Textile Research Center for tensile strength and elongation.

The PCG reports are distributed without charge to members of the cotton trade, textile industry and others around the world, providing a current, detailed account of the qualities and quantities of cotton available from the High Plains.

Discussing the 1971 report, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson said "Publi-

RECORD PRODUCTION YEAR
In 1970, International Nickel, the free world's largest nickel-producing company, delivered a record 518,870,000 pounds of nickel. By the end of 1972, the company expects to be producing at a rate of more than 600 million pounds on an annual basis.

Americans spend several billion dollars each year on car repairs. The U.S. has 110 cars for every 1,000 inhabitants, far more than any other country in the world, so obviously the cost of automobile replacement parts is a big area of consumer concern.

And to guarantee that consumer demands are met in this area, the Automotive Parts and Accessories Association has formed a Consumer Protection Council.

The council establishes an "Action Line" between consumer and retailer in the automotive aftermarket. Member stores of the APAA participating in the consumer program are bound by a strict code of ethics. The consumer protection code is on display in all stores in the program. The code guarantees:

- Quality automotive products, honestly advertised.
- Prompt and fair adjustments.
- Strict adherence to local, state and federal laws.

These three tenets guarantee that the consumer has a higher court of appeal if he does not get satisfaction in the store.

A dissatisfied customer merely has to write to the APAA headquarters in Washington, D.C. and the association guarantees results.

But in the vast majority of cases the complaint will be settled at the store level, according to Norman Berke, chairman of the Consumer Protection Council. He said this was because retail stores and manufacturers who subscribe to the APAA Code have agreed to high ethical standards.

The consumer code is displayed in a prominent position in all participating stores. And if retailers demonstrate an indifference to the program, which might bring some discredit to it or the association, the plaque is removed.

MRS. ROBERT CRISWELL AND DAUGHTERS

Cooks Of The Week

Cooking is a family affair at the Robert J. Criswells. "And Robert J. is the best cook of the bunch," says his pretty wife, Pat, one of our Cooks of the Week.

"He cooks breakfast every morning so we can hurry off to Olton and school," Pat says. She adds that he can also "Broil a mean steak!"

Although things can get pretty involved for a lone man in a household of four females, Robert can't conceal his pride in his four girls - wife, Patsy; teenagers, J Carol and Robin and pre-teen Elizabeth Ann.

The Criswells live one and a quarter miles east of Halfway, in the Plainview school district. The girls, however, chose to transfer to Olton after their mother's first year of teaching here.

Pat says she really began teaching at Olton schools "accidentally" - she was just filling in until another teacher could be found. That was six years ago. She teaches remedial reading in H. P. Webb Elementary School.

Artistically gifted, Pat loves to do antiquing and painting but those hobbies have taken a back shelf while she enjoys her daughters and their interests. Keeping up with the three girls leaves little time for outside interests, she's found.

J Carol, named for her dad, is a Junior and Robin, a sophomore, at OHS. Both girls are cheer leaders. J Carol is active in basketball. Robin is kept busy with band and piano. Elizabeth Ann, a sixth grader, is "busy as a bee" with little girl's interests.

Pat says she could never manage without the all out cooperation of the family with the cooking and household chores.

To help keep her parents, the Bryan Dunagins of Merkel, posted on the girls' activities Pat sent her father a gift subscription to the Enterprise a few years ago. He enjoyed it so much that when renewal time came around he reminded his daughter, "don't let my paper expire!" Pat says that if their names are mentioned in an issue "Dad'll see it, he reads it all, even the want ads."

Pat and Robert J. grew up in Merkel and went together eight years. She went to college and taught two years while he completed his military service in Korea before they were married.

"I guess it's because we grew up in a small town that we love Olton so much," Pat says sincerely. Her natural bubbling enthusiasm is still further revealed when she goes on to say, "And the people here in the Halfway community and in Olton are the best people in the world."

The Criswells are members of "the best rural church there is" First Baptist Church of Halfway.

Here's how we beat the system.

For years, the competition has looked at Gifford-Hill's 360 pivotal sprinkler system as the one to beat.

They've done their best to build a system that looks as sophisticated and acts as sophisticated.

But now, just about the time they think they're getting close, we beat our own system.

For 1972, we've added new features that still make the 360 the most dependable, the most versatile and safest system you can buy.

The 360's new direct gear drive has bearings completely immersed in oil and fewer moving parts which mean less chance for malfunction.

The new collector ring eliminates rewinding cable.

The new alignment control linkage has positive control that reacts instantly to any misalignment. If there is a malfunction, the entire system shuts off automatically.

The new intermediate control panel is moisture-proof. The base is aluminum. The cover is Kydex plastic. It's non-corrosive, non-conductive, chemically inert, ultraviolet resistant and constructed to prevent the collection of condensation.

The new automatic end gun control option is located at the pivot panel. This solid state control allows you to turn the end gun on or off as desired.

The new weather-proof coating is designed to give maximum protection from severe exposures.

The primer is fine zinc particles dispersed in a high strength plastic binder.

The top coat is a non-oxidizable, corrosive and chemically inert, vinyl acrylic material.

Together the two coats provide protection similar to galvanized materials, but superior when exposed to highly corrosive, high humidity atmospheres.

The only thing we haven't improved lately is the water pattern. Not even we can figure out a way to do that. Yet.

You can't beat our system. So, join us. For a demonstration.

"THE RESERVE"

"The Reserve" — to some it means a standby military unit or perhaps the Federal Reserve Board.

To us, "reserve" means the supply of electricity we have left after you, industry, business and public authorities have used all the electricity you want. We've never had a blackout in the area we serve by reason of not having enough left. We've always made sure that there would be plenty for your use ... an adequate reserve.

And, that's why we're projecting an investment of $144 million over the next five years. To be certain there will be an adequate reserve left after you use what you want. To be certain new industry coming into our area will have the electric power it needs to operate and so make jobs — jobs that contribute to economic well being for our customers.

THE NUMBER'S GAME

Here's the population explosion in personal terms. To the proud parents, it's their first child — and they love her! But to the statisticians, who deal only with cold facts, she's just one more person on an already crowded earth.

What a dilemma! We want children, but we want them to face a secure future. When almost no one is optimistic about the present, how can anyone look forward to the future?

Other generations have faced momentous problems, too. Yet, with God's help, they surmounted them.

And God — if we turn to His Church — will do the same for us!

Guess everyone watched the Dallas game, didn't they? It sure was a good game.

The Varsity boys and girls played Abernathy Friday night but both teams lost their games. The girls final score was 34 to 40. The Antelopes slipped by the boys 50 to 54. Both teams did a good job though. Go get 'em, Fillies! Let's go, Mustangs!

The FHA banquet is scheduled for Saturday the 22nd. Has everyone got themselves a date?

Expresses Appreciation

(Editor's Note: The following bit of verse was submitted by Mrs. A. B. Jeffrey as an expression of appreciation for her home town people.)

It's so easy to say, "I AM BUSY"
You know I don't have the time,
But some-one will wonder now "Is She"
And the clock will continue to chime.

At calls when your courage is needed
With always a shake of the head
So easy to leave them unheeded
And offer excuses instead.

Most OLTONITES are thoughtful and willing Somehow the minutes they find,
The need for good deeds to be filling,
And ALWAYS the time to be kind?

No matter how many their labors,
If good be the service that's ask,
They'll share in the cause of their neighbor (me)
And happily go to the task.

For this is the creed of the "OLTONITES"
Where-ever their home may be made
They never are "seekers-of-rest" - men
They are never too busy to aid.

Excuses of the "would-if-I-could" folks
Have always been easy to find,
But SOMEHOW, the OLTONITES are good folks
With STRENGTH and the TIME to be KIND...

Revised Driver Regulations Reminder Given By White

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reminded Texas farmers and ranchers of revised driver qualification regulations which should give significant relief from the stringent regulations that were in effect in 1971.

New exemptions were made for farmers and ranchers by the U. S. Department of Transportation after many complaints were filed against restrictive farm driver qualification regulations last year.

The new regulations which became effective January 1 include:

1. Farm vehicle drivers operating trucks weighing 10,000 pounds or less are totally exempt from the driver qualification rules.

2. Farm vehicle drivers operating straight trucks weighing in excess of 10,000 pounds within 150 miles of their farms are totally exempt from the rules.

3. Farm vehicle drivers 18 years or older operating a tractor-trailer unit within 150 miles of the farm are exempt, except they must be physically qualified but need not be physically examined and certified until January 1, 1973.

4. Drivers employed by custom operators are granted total exemption while transporting custom harvesting machinery to or from a farm and while transporting the custom-harvested crops to storage or market.

5. Beekeepers transporting bees during seasonal movements are exempt.
