Shindler Heads Chamber Of Commerce For 1936 January 31 Is Last Day For Payment Of Taxes Without Penalty

PAY POLL TAX NOW; IT IS E- LECTION YEAR

Penalty and Interest Charges Are Added to State, County and City and School If Unpaid

Penalty Remissions Out

State and Local Officials Decide to Stop Custom of Remitting
Penalty Charges

January 31, 1936 is the last day for the payment of 1935 taxes without the addition of penalty and interest charges and as a consequence taxpayers who are interested in the support of the schools, city and county government are making every effort possible to pay their taxes before the delinquent dead line.

Tax collectors report that it appears as though payment of taxes this year will be about as good as last, then there is no question but that conditions are improving for thousands of dollars of tax money paid last year was made possible by the refinancing of farm and homes through Federal agencies. This condition does not exist this year, as few loans have been completed during the past 12 months.

Everyone should make a special effort to pay their poll taxes before February 1, as this is election year for national offices on down to precinct, and in Texas, one simply does not vote if they do not hold a poll tax receipt or are exempt.

SCOUT LEADERS PLAN PROGRAM

REGIONAL AND COUNCIL EXEC-UTIVES ASSIST LOCAL LEAD-ERS IN PLANNING EX-PANSION WORK

Interest in the Boy Scout movement was given considerable impetus as a result of the visit here on Monday evening of Lloyd M. O'Neal, deputy regional Boy Scout executive of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico; and C. A. Clark, Adobe Walls council executive. These two Scout leaders addressed an audience of Boy Scout leaders from Perryton and Gray at the school-house.

Many points of the 1936 Scouting program for the Perryton district were decided upon at this meeting, so states R. H. Prewitt of this city, chairman of the work in the Perryton District, which embraces Booker, Pollett, Darrouzett, Beaver, Morgan and Gray.

Mr. Prewitt states that the Perryton quota for carrying on the work in 1936 is now being completed. It will be necessary to raise from $412.00 to $824.00 for the work in this county.

Mr. Clark, the council executive, expects to return to Perryton on February 12 to start a Scout Leadership training school to prepare adults to carry on the Scout work in a competent manner. Other activities planned for 1936 include the organization of a Boy Scout drum and bugle corp, the promotion of Cub Scouting for boys under 12 years of age; and an expansion of the Rural Scouting program, thus bringing the work to boys in the most remote rural territory.

HERALD EMBARKS ON AN- OTHER YEAR OF SERVICE

The Ochiltree County Herald has passed another milestone in its history and comes to you this week as the No. 1 issue of its 19th year of telling the world of the "ups and downs," the births and deaths, and the happenings in and about Ochiltree county. In starting another year of service to the schools, the churches, and interests of this community, we rededicate the Herald as a "country newspaper," whose only reason for existence is to carry on for the advancement and betterment of Perryton and the surrounding farming neighborhoods, and to incidentally make a living for the six families that are dependent upon this newspaper for their support.

As in the past, so in the future, news pertaining to agriculture will be given right-of-way. Also we will continue to attempt to print all the news of this community "that's fit to print" and we will be the only judge as to what we consider "news." If you want to find out about the scandals, drunken brawls, family scraps, and such, then don't read the Herald. You will have to continue to get it over the backyard fence from the gossip and scandal-mongers.

The Herald has been under the present management for almost 15 years. During that time, we have tried to keep pace with the development of this great Panhandle country. We pledge that in the future we will attempt to do what we have tried to do in the past, and that is, "To work constructively, not destructively, for the advancement and progress of this country and people." We thank you for the cooperation and patronage that has made possible any newspaper service that we may have rendered this community.

TEACHERS MEET HERE SATURDAY

WILL DISCUSS ORGANIZATION OF COUNTY INTERSCHOLAS-
TIC LEAGUE; DISTRICT
FACULTY MEETING

E. D. Kelley, director-general of the Ochiltree County Interscholastic League, has called a meeting of all the teachers of the county to convene in the study hall of the Junior High School in Perryton at 10:00 a. m. Saturday, January 25. It is anticipated that every teacher in the county will be present as the organization of the county league will be perfected and rules and regulations for the spring contests and meets made. Superintendent W. B. Irvin has also called a meeting of the faculty of the Perryton Independent School District to meet at the school on the same day. This is the regular district meeting of the teachers and problems concerning the different schools are discussed at these meetings.

Soil Control Test Proves Plains Land Can Be Saved

The following story regarding the success of the soil conservation demonstration near Dalhart was prepared for the Amarillo News-Globe by George May. While conditions in this immediate area have never been so serious as around Dalhart, yet our lands are headed for ruin unless sound soil conservation methods of farming are adapted.

One year after the Dalhart soil conservation project was launched, 96 percent of the blowing land in the 26,000-acre demonstration had been brought under control.

On January 1, 1935, there were 19,900 acres out of control and at different stages of erosion. Now

ECA Work to Continue

Curtailment of AAA Activities To Have No Bearing on Soil
Conservation Work

It has been rumored that owing to the fact that completed agreements for work by CCC boys under the Soil Conservation program have recently been mailed back to those desiring to have work done, that this work is going to stop along with the AAA program.

The AAA program had nothing whatsoever to do with the work of the soil conservation department and the program of the entire soil conservation program which includes the Perryton camp, will go forward as originally planned. There is no connection between the AAA and the Soil Conservation department and the curtailment of the AAA will have no bearing on the work here.

PANHANDLE LE- GION CONVENTION

OKLAHOMA PANHANDLE IN-VITES TEXANS TO THEIR
CONVENTION AT GUY-
MON, ON JAN. 27TH

Compton C. Bull, commander of the Perryton American Legion Post, states that a delegation of Legionnaires and Auxiliary members from this city expect to attend the convention of the Oklahoma Panhandle Association to be held in Guymon, Monday, January 27.

Business sessions of the association will start at 2:00 p. m., with the Panhandle Commander, Hiram Butler, presiding. A banquet at 6:00 p. m., and a dance makes up the program for the day.

Elmer Fraker, Oklahoma department Legion Commander, will be the featured speaker on the public program in the evening. The Oklahoma department Service Officer, C. B. Dollabride, will be in Guymon all day Monday to confer with ex-service men on rehabilitation problems.

The Liberal, Kansas post is sending their Sons of the Legion Drum and Bugle Corp to add color to the occasion.

ATTEND IDEAL SALES MEETING SUNDAY, JAN. 19

An annual sales meeting of the employees of the Ideal Food stores was held Sunday, January 19, at the Hotel Warren in Liberal, Kansas. 190 employees and their guests were in attendance. Several speakers of prominence were heard throughout the afternoon and in the evening a banquet was held and a special musical program featured.

Those attending from Perryton were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hammon and Billy, Debel Johnson, R. E. Eldson, E. D. Givens, Jack Steele, R. C. Johnson Jr., and Leland Horne.

Dale Pearson, who attends P. A. M. C. Goodwell, Okla., spent the week-end with home folks in Perryton.

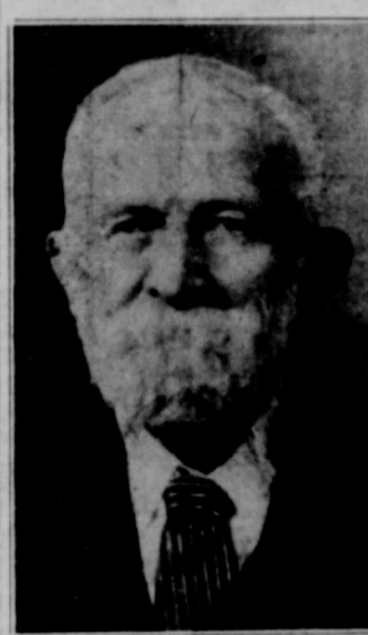

AGED PIONEER PASSES AWAY

W. H. RICHARDSON DIES JAN-UARY 17, AFTER LONG AND USEFUL LIFE; BUR-IED SATURDAY

Died in our city, near the hour of midnight on Thursday, January 16, 1936, William Henry Richardson, age 90 years, 1 month and 1 day.

Not for him our tears! Rather let us crown his grave with garlands; few of us will live as long or as well, and fewer yet will the Angel of Death greet with such a loving touch.

But he is gone! Another name is stricken from the ever lessening roll of old settlers, and loving relatives and friends are left to attest how sadly they will miss him. It must be so; these tender human ties cannot be severed without a pang.

W. H. RICHARDSON

Yet in such a death there is no cause for grief. His life work was done and well done. He had lived his allotted span of life and wearied with life's duties and cares, weary of suffering and waiting, he lay down to rest.

William Henry Richardson was born in Pulaski county, Ky., on December 13, 1845. When a young man of only 18 years of age, he moved to Missouri and on October 21, 1863, was married to Miss Lucy Elizabeth Browning at Sweet Springs, Mo. After almost 60 years (Continued on sixth page)

OKLAHOMAN SCHED- ULED FOR "VETS" ADMINISTRATION

Recent reports from Washington indicate that Frank Cleckler, former secretary of the University of Oklahoma Alumni association, is almost certain to be appointed as manager of the regional office of the Veterans' Administration at Oklahoma City, to fill the vacancy made by the death of Major Harry Gilstrap. It is understood that Cleckler has the endorsement of General Frank T. Hines, chief of the veteran's administration, but that both of the Oklahoma United States senators favor other men for this important post. Practically the entire Oklahoma delegation of congressmen favor Cleckler. Josh Lee, a nationally known veteran, is strong for Cleckler. Lee is expected to enter the primary in Oklahoma as a candidate for the United States senate against Gore, the blind senator who has always been very much opposed to legislation of benefit to World War veterans.

there are 800 acres that have not been brought under control, according to H. H. Finnell, regional conservator for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. Successful treatment of the 19,100 acres was during a year that had only 74 percent normal moisture. Black dusters last spring were said to have carried the tale of deterioration of High Plains farm lands. The land had been mis-treated—exploited. It was for that reason that the rich topsoil was being whipped up in clouds of dust. All during the blowing season, the dust storms raged. Those who saw the few black dusters will never forget them. They were profoundly impressed with the ominous sign of destruction that year by year had

Townsend Meeting Tonite

Advocates of Townsend Old Age
Pensions and Recovery Plan
Will Meet Tonite

To the Townsendsites and people of Perryton and vicinity:

If you are not satisfied with the present amount of business you are doing and the amount of work you are getting to do, come down to the courthouse at 7:30 p. m. Thursday January 23, and learn how the Townsend Recovery Plan can help you in the troubled times we are just going into.

Every New Deal thus far has failed. Let's try something else. This deal not only pays its own way but will wipe out the National Debt in a period of a few short years, besides bringing prosperity to your door. A good many of our Perryton folks went over to Amarillo last Wednesday to hear the state association organizer explain the Townsend Plan. It is simple in its working. It costs you nothing to listen to the explanation of the plan, so come one and all. J. C. JOHNSON, Chairman.

RANGER TEAMS WIN TWO GAMES

RANGERS AND RANGERETTES
IN TWO WINS OVER DAR-ROUZETT BOYS AND GIRLS SQUADS

The Perryton High School Rangers and Rangerettes scored two double wins over the boys and girls teams of the Darrouzett high school during the past week.

On Friday night, the Perryton teams went to Darrouzett. The boys won by a score of 25-20, while the Rangerettes scored over their rivals, 21-9.

In the return games played on the Ranger court Tuesday night, the Perryton girls won, 31-10, while the local boys had a hard time defeating the boys from Darrouzett by a count of 37-30. The Darrouzett boys led during most of the game.

Both Rangers and Rangerettes go to Spearman Friday night to meet the Lynx teams. Coach Kelley states that no home games are scheduled for next week. The Perryton teams will go to Canadian next week end to play in the Canadian annual tournament.

ANDERSON'S ATTEND SHOE MEETING AT FT. WORTH

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Anderson returned from Ft. Worth early Wednesday morning, where they were in attendance of a shoe convention Monday and Tuesday. They left here Saturday evening.

J. W. Anderson, a brother of "Andy", who has been visiting here for the past few weeks, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Anderson as far as Denison, the former's home.

Mrs. Oscar Flowers, who has been visiting with her parents in Waco the past two weeks, returned home Tuesday evening. She joined Mr. Flowers who was enroute home from a business trip to Austin.

The committee made its report at a conference of officials of the Soil Conservation Service, Resettlement Administration, and state extension service. No action had been taken on the recommendations in the open meeting at midnight.

The committee representing the eroded sections of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas, assembled here early Saturday morning. Because of various fac-

READER PRAISES HERALD FOR OUR FARM POLICIES

While we feel as though we have been doing nothing but our duty as newspaper publishers in a strictly agricultural community, yet we are just human and enjoy a few words of thanks now and then, so we are reproducing the following letter:

Perryton, Texas,
January 18, 1936.
Mr. Van W. Stewart, Editor,
"Ochiltree County Herald,"
Perryton, Texas.

Dear Sir:

For some time, I have noticed the fine generosity of the Ochiltree County Herald in giving valuable front page publicity to those things of concern and benefit to the farmer and this is a sincere "Thank You!" from one farmer.

Also, I should like to express my deep appreciation of the article in this week's issue under the head "Perryton Chamber of Commerce Endorses Roosevelt," not only for the excellent telegram of the C. C. to the president, but also the introductory words.

Very truly yours,
DELL WILSON.

MARY RAGAN INJURED IN CAR WRECK SUNDAY EVE

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ragan and son-in-law, Curt King, left Sunday night for Hays, Kans., in response to a message received that evening saying their daughter, Mary, was seriously injured in a car wreck.

Particulars of the accident have not been learned and the last message which the family received on Wednesday stated that Mary had not regained consciousness.

Miss Ragan lives in LaCrosse, Kans., where she owns and operates a beauty shop.

Drew Ellis Honored

Is Elected As Sub-Captain of Tex-
Christian University Football
Team For 1936

Drew Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis of this city and Perryton's outstanding athletic product, has been honored by his fellow players of the football squad of Texas Christian University by being elected as sub-captain of the "Frogs" for the 1936 season. Walter Roach is the new captain. The new squad leaders were selected from among the 27 lettermen eligible for these coveted honors.

Drew and Roach will assume command of the team on February 3, when the Frogs will start their spring practice.

ABE GREEN THANKS HIS FRIENDS FOR KINDNESS

We have been requested by Abe Green to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to the many who were so kind to him during his six weeks stay in an Amarillo hospital. He is truly thankful to those who sent cards, reading material, messages and called in person.

Soil Blowing a Certainty Without Preventive Work

Amarillo, Texas, January 19.—Declaring that an emergency program is necessary if a recurrence of dust storms is to be avoided this spring in the southwestern "dust bowl," a regional wind erosion committee last night passed resolutions urging immediate federal funds for the undertaking.

The committee made its report at a conference of officials of the Soil Conservation Service, Resettlement Administration, and state extension service. No action had been taken on the recommendations in the open meeting at midnight.

The committee representing the eroded sections of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas, assembled here early Saturday morning. Because of various faclors involved, the committee found it necessary to continue work on the resolution Saturday night.

Meeting with a Washington committee, the regional body and soil experts voiced support of an emergency program to reduce dust storms, and urged a timely emergency tillage, including listing, chiseling and other approved operations, to prevent a repetition of destruction resulting from the blowing soil.

Soil Conservation Service officials, headed by H. H. Finnell, regional conservator, with headquarters in Amarillo, proposed that the emergency plan be made the first step of a permanent land utilization program.

It was estimated that an emer-

Leaders Break Bread

The most successful affair in years is what every one of the 125 business and farm leaders of the Southwest said when the annual banquet of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce came to a close in the Home Economics rooms of the high school on Tuesday evening. How different this years banquet was from those of the past few years. Optimism prevailed, good fellowship and the firm conviction that the drought is over and that once more "Wheat Will Be King" with Ochiltree the banner wheat county of the state, made those that attended realize more than ever that the spirit that built Perryton and made it the outstanding city of the Northeast Panhandle had been rejuvenated and that Perryton Chamber of Commerce under the able leadership and guidance of President R. T. Shindler was "going places and do things" in 1936.

Visitors from Beaver, Okla., Gray, Okla.; Liberal, Kansas; Memphis, Waka, Spearman, Canadian, and the Blodgett and Wolf Creek communities swelled the attendance at the banquet to over 125. While the wonderful meal, prepared and serv-

SOL WILSON IS TRAIN VICTIM

FORMER RESIDENT OF THIS COMMUNITY KILLED IN IN-DIANA; WICHITA, KANS.
PRESENT HOME

Sol Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilson, living 25 miles south of Perryton, was instantly killed Monday near Richmond, Ind., when he supposedly became confused and stepped in front of a speeding interurban. Wilson was changing a tire on his truck, which he was driving through to Baltimore, when the accident happened.

Wilson came with his parents to this country in 1903 and lived at home until fifteen years ago, when he went to Wichita. Here he was married. He is the father of two children, Donna Jean and Darlene.

Wilson had been making these long drives hauling merchandise for some time. He left his home in Wichita a week ago Tuesday, going to Baltimore to haul back a load of fish. His companion, Don H. Lynn, also of Wichita, said Wilson had stepped back, and when he noticed the oncoming transit, became confused and stepped the wrong way.

Wilson is survived by his wife, two children, all of Wichita; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilson, of south of Perryton; five brothers, Ralph, Dave, Talmadge, at home, and "Doc" and Morrell; two sisters, Mrs. Lynn Parker of near Iowa Park, and Mary of Wichita.

Miss Mary Wilson was here visiting her parents when notified of her brother's death and left Tuesday for home and to attend the funeral. The parents were unable to go to Wichita.

WOULD PROTECT BANKING FIELD IN RURAL AREAS

American Bankers Association Would Combat Return of Excess Number of Banks

EXISTING LAX CHARTER POLICIES IN THE PAST

Finds a Chief Cause of Bank Failures Was Too Many Banks—Existing Sound Bank's Serving Communities Well

NEW YORK. — Existing sound banks, especially the small banks in the rural districts which are serving their communities well, should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused by former lax chartering policies, which were mainly to blame for the unfavorable failure record of the past, says the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is brought out in a report covering an investigation by the commission of bank failures and chartering policies.

"The Commission's study gives an impressive revelation of how great a part mistaken public policies in the chartering of banks played in creating the unsound banking structure which finally collapsed with the bank holiday in March 1933," Robert V. Fleming, president of the association, says in a foreword.

"Over-production of banks, literally by thousands, over many years in the face of insistent warnings not only from bankers and others who recognized the danger, but even more so from the mounting records of bank failures themselves, is clearly shown to have constituted as a whole one of the greatest single economic errors in the history of the nation."

A Recurrence Feared

He refers to fears of a recurrence of over-banking recently expressed by Federal banking authorities, to the powers given the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by the provision of the Banking Act of 1935 over the admission of banks to membership in the insurance fund, to strengthened state laws and to the policies now being followed by both national and state supervisory authorities aimed to safeguard the nation against over-banking.

"But sound laws and conscientious officials are not of themselves always sufficient safeguard in any field of our complex national life unless they have the active support of public opinion," he adds. "It is the purpose of the American Bankers Association to aid in marshaling public opinion in support of both national and state supervisory authorities in their efforts to strengthen and protect the banking structure."

The Economic Policy Commission summarizes its findings as follows: "The facts show a distinct causal relationship between the over-chartering of banks and the abnormal bank failure conditions that prevailed from 1920 to the bank holiday in 1933. It is desirable that studies be made on the basis of experience to develop standards governing the number of banks."

"Such a study would embrace the question whether banking facilities can best be supplied to the rural districts by small unit banks or by branches from banks of substantial capital in larger centers. Existing sound banks, which are serving their communities well should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused in the past by lax chartering policies."

Banking Officials Queried

"An inquiry among state commissioners shows a preponderant opinion against increasing materially the number of banks, coupled with the fact that present laws give them sufficient discretion to prevent a repetition of errors of the past."

"Under prevailing abnormal conditions, with the Federal Government extensively exercising loaning powers in competition with the banks, and with industry itself so largely supplied with funds as to render it to a great degree independent of normal bank borrowing the banking structure even with its present reduced numbers, finds it difficult to support its existing capital investment and operating personnel."

"These are new factors, intensifying the need for highly prudent and restrictive chartering policies. We urge the retirement of the Federal Government from the banking business as normal conditions warrant."

Conference on Banking

NEW YORK. — An eastern states conference on banking service will be held by the American Bankers Association in Philadelphia January 23 and 24 as a part of the organization's nationwide program on banking development. It has been announced.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the association will preside over the meetings. It is stated that this conference will be the first of several to be held in various sections.

The general topic of the conference will embrace the managerial, legislative and operative problems confronting all classes of banks. An outstanding phase of the meetings will be the development of plans for promoting a general better public understanding in regard to the functions and policies of banks.

Peter Finds a Way

By MARY MERRICK

AGNES MARKEY slammed the door of her small coupe and settled herself behind the wheel with an air of indignant finality.

And that's that, she thought—out of a job, no money to get back home, stuck in Florida with only one friend in the whole darned state, and that's life! Being Agnes, she gave a mental flip of her skirts to the whole foolish proceeding, and turned the car's nose south toward the cabbage palm desolated island where that one friend had a tiny cottage; where she knew she could get shelter, food, sympathy and a good cussing out.

Oh, yes, she'd been a fool to stay in Florida after having that fight with Peter, and giving him back his ring and refusing the marriage license. Might have known jobs didn't last forever—not even good jobs. Peter was the wise boy. He'd gone home and was now rolling in the sugar-coated luxury provided by that wealthy, silly mother who had been the cause of their disagreement. She hated that mother! She hated Peter!

She swept on at fifty miles an hour. She should have telephoned Lillian, but Lillian had no telephone. And a wire would get there in the morning—Agnes herself in two hours.

It was well after dark when Agnes reached the narrow bridge connecting the mainland with the island. And as she had thought possible, Lillian's house was dark. But she parked the car out on the road. She found, also, as she had expected, that the door was unlocked.

She switched on a light and looked about. The room had that upset air of having been lately left. Lillian, in all probability, was somewhere playing bridge, or down at the beach taking a moonlight swim. Lillian's bed was broad and looked comfortable. "Lillian may be surprised, I hope not unpleasantly," she murmured to herself, and took off her frock.

The light was scarcely out when Agnes, being Agnes, troubles and all, was sound asleep. She woke with a certain feeling of vagueness. The overhead light was shining brightly in her eyes. Oh, yes, of course, Lillian. . . . She turned over and looked—at a tall, brown-skinned, burnt-blond young man with ironically smiling eyes.

"Mamma's darling boy just dropped from his nice new shiny airplane as a little midnight surprise," Agnes managed to drawl.

"And doth the burnt bride returneth to the bridegroom?" returned Peter pleasantly.

"Cloying, as usual," Agnes came back smoothly. "But you'd better find your airplane and go back to mamma. I'm sure Lillian will be annoyed. She doesn't like midnight visitors—unannounced."

"Oh, as long as it's you," said Peter, unexpectedly, "I'm sure she wouldn't mind, but you see, she's gone to the east coast with some friends for the week end. . . ."

"Gooch," breathed Agnes, her aplomb noticeably shaken.

"And she turned the shack over to me—for the sunshine and all. You see before you the wreck of a pneumonia victim—rejuvenating."

But Agnes, now thoroughly awake and herself, which meant poised to the point of pugnacity, sat upright in bed and spoke firmly.

"Peter Bennett, you get right out of this room. If you don't, I'm getting up anyway, and I'm dressing and leaving here immediately. What do you mean by putting me in a position like this?"

"Splendid, Agnes, great! I'll leave, of course, but I'll wait for you in the living room."

Peter went out and Agnes dressed. The sap, she thought, not a speck of light in him. Mamma's boy! Oh, she'd like to wring his neck.

He was waiting for her in the living room. "I'm sorry you won't reconsider and stay," he said. "I'd take a blanket and sleep on the porch. We could talk it over in the morning."

"Oh, you . . . spat Agnes. "I wouldn't stay within a mile of you. You're spineless, weak-brained, spoiled. . . . I told you so before. You still are."

She heard Peter laugh. "Good-by," he called.

She stepped on the starter. An angry growl was her only answer. The sweet purr of the motor remained dead. She stamped harder. She kicked. But all to no avail. The car wouldn't start.

She opened the door to get out. Peter was standing there, still smiling, in the moonlight.

"I didn't think you could get it started, dear," he said. "You see, I opened the tank, and your gas has all run away."

For a moment they stood staring at each other. Then, suddenly, they were in each other's arms.

"But, Peter, dear, we can't stay here, all night, together."

"Why not, dear? There's a mislatter living in the cottage down the beach, and I've still got that marriage license. What say?"

"We may be fools, but I'm game!" whispered Agnes, as her arms slipped once more about his neck.

Perryton High School EL SOMBRERO

Prepared and Edited by The High School Staff
Dedicated To The Perryton Rangers

Holds Student Election

T. "Cap" Correll Is Elected
President of High School
Student Body

Student body election was held today morning, January 21. R. "Cap" Correll was elected president and Jack Allen vice president. Secretary is Cora Lee Tandy. Hershel Finney was elected editor-in-chief, and Joy Hergert, assistant editor-in-chief for the El Sombrero.

Gene Slavin was chosen as a student representative to the senior class meeting at the University of Texas at Austin, D. C. if she is lucky enough to have her name drawn to get the trip. Every school in the state elected a senior girl for this purpose and the lucky name will be chosen from those selected later in school term.

New officers will resume their respective duties immediately.

APPEARS IN U. OF GEORGIA QUARTERLY

The January, 1936, edition of High School Quarterly, published by the editor at the University of Georgia, appeared an article titled, "The New School" written by Superintendent W. B. Irvin of Perryton High School.

His article Mr. Irvin explains four year plan and the new curriculum revision. He classifies the state of Texas into three groups: the group that thinks nothing will come of it; the group that wants to stick to the old system, and the group of energetic people who are working on the revision.

Superintendent Irvin explains the school, and the new teacher's qualifications.

It is quite an honor to have an article accepted by this magazine, well worth mentioning.

LATIN I

The Latin I class are now working on their new and difficult material. One day in each week is set aside for studying their Latin.

On other days recitations are being translated from Latin to English and from English to Latin.

PUBLIC SPEAKING NEWS

The public speaking class is really the same size as it was at the beginning of the first semester. Due to the entrance of Gene Edna Huston, Helen Tall, Oscar Blank, and Leo Russell, the class has not been with us several days but we all wish her speedy recovery from her illness, that we can really begin this year in honest work. Mrs. Bryan has been substituting for her, and she is back in school today.

Seniors are thinking whom to select as class officers.

THE BUSIEST TIME OF ENTIRE SCHOOL YEAR

It is one of the busiest times of the entire school year. All the classes and etc., are reorganizing and changing officers. It is the time of Perryton High School that the officer except the secretary of the senior class can hold the same office for two semesters; for new officers are discovered and more students are benefited by the valuable experiences that come only through a leader.

Each old leader is reluctant about leaving his position, and wishes his successor the best and hopes to see bigger and better things of him.

GLEE CLUB NEWS

Have started working on our new songs. Some of the interested members are still thrilled and of them are still wondering if it's all about. We intend to hard enough to really give a performance you won't forget the amount of cooperative already shown, I am sure that it will put it over.

We are continuing our work preparing to the Canyon contest, and it is to be held soon.

S-A NEWS

Have elected new officers. The president is Linda Williams; vice-president is Gene Flowers; news reporter is Henderson. Henderson is sick and has home. We miss her a lot. Duke is taking her place. Duke is reading us "Hari, Hari, Hari."

SOCIETY

Attends Concert

Misses Ruby Neufeld, Margaret Prewitt, Eugene Mitchell, members of the Perryton school faculty, together with Mary Lee Wilson and Mary Madolyn Sherman attended Miss Esther Johnson's concert at Canadian last Monday night. Miss Johnson is an accomplished pianist and a native of Amarillo.

Many members of the faculty attended the chamber of commerce banquet Tuesday night.

Birthday Party

An outstanding event of last week was a charming birthday party given in honor of Bill Davidson at his home Thursday evening.

After a very entertaining evening, part of which was supplied with tap dances by Dicky Littleton and Marjorie Davidson, refreshments were served to Imogene Pitts, Earnestine Yoakley, Virginia Holland, June Phelps, Nelda Rose Wright, Myrtle Dowers, Sybil Apple, Effie Jones, Pauline Stevens, Bobby Whippo, R. C. Johnson, Earl and Meri Stevens, Dick Nies, Gene Mercer, Dicky Littleton, Alfred Dowers, and the host and hostess, Bill and Marjorie Davidson.

Entertains at Home

Last Saturday night Winnifred Butler entertained a few of her friends at her home. The evening was spent popping pop corn and dancing.

Those present were Bette Bryan, Opal Rowe, Earnestine Yoakley, Virginia Correll, Imogene Howlett, Lyndon Balzer, Philo Butler, Glenn Leatherman, Nova Livingston, Marion Palmer, R. T. Correll and the hostess.

THRU THE KEYHOLE

Alta just can't get interested in Spanish when Bill D. is around, poor girl.

Ask Nelda how she likes to park behind the granary.

What's this we hear about Sidney Jines going sleigh riding with Irene Wilson? Tsk! Tsk!

This Clark and Kuhn affair seems to be taking shape of a triangle, slowly but surely, and we all wonder who the third party is. Whatta you think, Fred?

It's just about time this case between Avis Lee and Ray is coming to a breaking point one way or another. They can't go on like this forever.

Queenie says if she can't get Bill she'll take Knute. Bob chimes in with, "Is that a fact?" "Where do I come in at?"

Myrtle Dowers appears to be taking this CCC punk for all he's worth. How about it Gene Mercer?

Bob Whippo is picking on the Davidson family too. That family is sure causing a lot of complications.

Wonder what will happen now that the Balmak boys are back?

I've heard that Beth Lovett and Vivian are very fond of sitting in kitchens, especially the CCC kitchens.

I do believe that Shelly Hill has given the key to his heart to Esther Cudd. And looks like she cudd all right.

We have wondered what study hall would be like without Mrs. Boyle. Now we know, but how it gonna be without Mrs. Bryan?

We suggest that Ruth Jeffery adopt this much of a certain song, "The object of my affections can change my complexion from white to rosy red." True, isn't it?

Earnestine Yoakley still has Earl, but Effie, you better be careful, 'cause Meri was seen with Imogene Pitts, not long ago.

Edna Houston was seen at the show Sunday evening with a Book-er boy. How much of the show did you see Edna? Not much would be my guess.

Joy Hergert had a big time in Spearman the other night. You know—he's really fond of that Violet.

7-1 NEWS

Betty Jean Coleman was the only one making one hundred on her final spelling examination.

Suzanne Sellers spent Sunday with her grandfather.

We are very glad our examinations are over. In history we didn't have a failure.

Joe Newberry has been ill all the week with scarlet fever.

We're sorry that Rosalie Allen, Eloise Johnson, and Joe Newberry are absent.

Girls Defeat Darrouzett

Win By Score of 21-9 In Game Played Friday, Few Fouls Are Called

The basketball game, Perryton vs. Darrouzett, last Friday night, proved to be a good game in the Rangers' favor. The score at the half was 6-2 in Perryton's favor.

This was quite a game for none of the Perryton girls fouled out and almost every girl was permitted to play which made it quite extraordinary. The game ended in Perryton's favor, the score being 9-21. Darrouzett returned the game here Tuesday night.

SMILES FOR THIS WEEK

Lady Godiva was the biggest gambler that ever lived. She put all she had on a horse.

Oh, he's all right in his place. Yeah, but he's gotta die to get there.

I don't like codfish, and I'm glad I don't like it, because if I liked it, I'd have to eat it, and I hate the stuff.

Old? Listen, she knew the Big Dipper when it was nothing but a drinking cup.

If you are sick, why are you bouncing up and down like that? I just took my medicine and I forgot to shake the bottle.

You know what a roadster is? Sure, a roadster is a chicken's husband.

Sure I play bridge. One night I won sixteen rubbers, and twenty-one umbrellas.

Last night I dreamt I died. Did the heat wake you up?

Oh, Perky here's a little green snake. Well, stay away from it. It might be just as dangerous as a ripe one.

When you started this You thought it Was a poem— Now you See you were Mistaken. Isn't it funny How people will Continue to read Something even When they know They're being Fooled?

I put my trust and faith in you, I thought I could rely. But now I'm disillusioned—I wish that I might die, I made you my ideal, you see, And so I copied you. I should have copied someone else. Cause now I'm flunking too.

Try some of these sometime: Theophilus Thistle the successful thistle sifter thrust three thousand thistles through the thick of his thumb. Sister Sue saw by the seashore And sewed shirts for the soldiers. Bill had a bill board. Bill also had a board bill. Bill sold his bill board to pay his board bill and Bill no longer has a bill board.

At the party the other night I won the prize for being the homeliest girl present.

Well, you chump, what did you want to attend for and take such a chance.

Because I thought you were going to be there.

MEET THE SENIORS

On June 7, 1919, in Ochiltree, Texas, Cora Lee Tandy was born.

She now lives in Roberts county, close to Notla. She has attended school at Waka, Notla, and for the past year and a half she has been a student of Perryton High School.

Her pastime is spent reading. Tennis and swimming lead in her list of sports. Ice cream and chili are the foods she craves. She nearly runs her friends crazy with her "phooies" and "don't believe its."

She is five feet, three and one-half inches tall, weighs one hundred and twenty-five pounds, wears size six and one-half double A shoes and has brown hair and eyes.

She has a bad habit of chewing on her fingers, and a fad of reducing. Her weakness is preacher, who is a blond.

She is planning to major in English at S. M. U., and be as good an English teacher as Mrs. Woods.

Claudine Christine George was born on August 5, 1918, six and one-half miles north of Perryton; she has lived there ever since. She has attended the Plainview, a country school and Perryton schools.

She has considerable talent in both dramatics and music. She says her one ambition is to sometime sing over the radio.

Ice cream and cake are her favorite foods, swimming and baseball are her favorite sports.

Singing is her pastime and hobby. She also plays a violin in the orchestra. Red, blue and pink are her favorite colors, and her slang expression is "my stars!"

She is a brunette, four feet and nine inches tall, weighs ninety-two pounds, and wears size three and one-half shoe.

Claudine has held numerous offices during her high school days; the most important of these are Junior Class President and Secretary of the Senior class.

BIOLOGY

The biology class is very happy to have five new members enrolled in the class. They are Josephine Addington, Don Farnsworth, Carol Hunter, Ben Crum and Willard Witt.

Mr. Bush states that the second semester's work is going to be interesting and specially beneficial to the proper knowledge for this younger generation. Later in the semester Mr. Bush is going to ask four of his biology students to work out a debate on the question "Which has the greater influence on the characteristics of a child, inheritance or environment?"

SPANISH I NEWS

We have a few new members and we lost a few old ones, but that's the way things go. We are happy to have our new members and sorry to lose the old ones. We hope they feel the same way.

Most of the original class is still digging away trying to learn something about the glamorous Spaniards. I am sure that we have all started with a determination to do better and more successful work this last semester.

We have supposedly mastered the present tense and now we have begun working on the past tense. It promises to be interesting.

HI-Y STARTS PRACTICE ON "SLABTOWN REVIEW"

According to E. R. Duke, play director of the local Hi-Y club for boys, the minstrel, "Slabtown Review," to be sponsored by the Hi-Y club is progressing rapidly. Practices have begun and the boys are very interested and anxious to put on a good performance.

The cast and admission and exact date will be announced later, but make up your mind now not to miss "Slabtown Review."

NEW SUBJECTS BEING OFFERED TO STUDENTS

Several new subjects are being offered to students of Perryton Junior and Senior High School. Miss Eugenia Mitchell and Mr. E. D. Kelley are offering Occupations to Junior High students.

In the place of civics, economics is being offered to any high school student, and business arithmetic in the place of commercial law. Mr. Wilbur Park is instructor of Civics and Mr. W. F. Haggard will be the commercial arithmetic teacher.

T. E. Hampton is offering a course in trigonometry. This is offered only to juniors and seniors. Any high school student can take occupations, but only eighth grade students will receive credit toward graduation in it.

ANNOTATIONS OF NEW BOOKS

Gamabiel Bradford

Bram Stoker

"Dracula," N. Y. Gossett and Dunlap, 1897.

Dracula has thrilled two generations of readers with the horror of its story, the mystery of its unfolding, and the suspense of its climax.

It is impossible to describe the plot as the terrifying, thrilling effect as it is so well expressed in the wording. It is one of the best imaginative stories of mystery and the supernatural ever written.

Rural Relief and Unemployment Report of Federal Emergency Relief Set-Up

What has happened to thousands of rural families in the struggle with poor land, drought, and unemployment in large sections of the country, is pointed out in a detailed study of "Six Rural Problem Areas," made public today by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

Early in 1934, when it became apparent that rural relief needs called for specialized measures, Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief Administrator, directed that the study be made to provide a factual basis for the formulation of rural rehabilitation policies. The study was made under the supervision of Corrington Gill, Assistant Federal Emergency Relief Administrator.

The information now compiled in a single report has been used for some months to guide administrative policy and action.

In past depressions, farmers have been able to feed themselves or to migrate to new lands, and thus, rural distress was not so markedly widespread or noticed, the report points out. However, the present crisis was piled on top of many pressing agricultural problems that existed long before the depression and brought to light unknown rural slums, the report shows.

"Although crop failure, speculative expansion, absentee ownership, and depressed price levels were among the factors that precipitated the relief situation in the six rural problem areas, the roots of the trouble obviously lay deeper," the report states. The frontier philosophy which assumed that the individual, if given complete freedom, will pursue an economic course that was to the best interests of society, led to the present dilemma of stranded communities, bankrupt farmers, and widespread unemployment.

"The rapid and heedless exploitation of the human and natural resources in these areas bears tragic witness to the fruits of such a philosophy.

"In the Lake States Cut-Over and Appalachian-Ozark Areas the destruction of the forests is a prime example of the social consequences of our lack of national policy with respect to the utilization of natural resources. In both areas, commercial companies cut the marketable timber, destroying small growth as they went, thus delaying the day when the area might again yield a timber crop. When the timber was exhausted, the communities created during the period of exploitation were left stranded.

"Yet under a planned system of timber utilization these communities could have supported their populations over a long period of years without the misery and suffering entailed by the exploitation of their resources for immediate profits.

"The philosophy which condoned the destruction of the forests for private gain is not confined to any one area, as the relief situation in the Short Grass region aptly illustrates. In the period of high wheat prices following the World War, large acreages of virgin sod were broken and planted to wheat.

"Because of the chances for quick profits farmers rushed into wheat production on a large scale with little thought of whether the farm economy which they were setting up could weather the vicissitudes of a series of dry years such as had occurred with disturbing regularity in the past. Neither did they consider the effects of removing all of the vegetation from large areas in which erosion by wind was common.

"The present relief system is patently a result of the philosophy of making a 'killing' and letting the future take care of itself. Not only the farmers, but the state governments pursued a policy which could only lead to economic disaster."

The concentration of this rural distress in the six problem areas is analyzed in the report. It is based on a study of 10,771 families in 65 counties in 23 states.

Although two-thirds of the families receiving relief in the counties surveyed lived in the open country, and 55 per cent of the heads of families were usually engaged in agriculture, the problem of assisting these families to become self-supporting is by no means wholly agricultural. Except in the spring wheat area, where drought was the chief factor, from 32 to 70 per cent of the heads of families were usually engaged in non-agricultural occupations, and many of the farmers were receiving relief because of the loss of supplementary employment.

The areas studied are the Eastern Cotton, Western Cotton, Spring Wheat, Winter Wheat, the Lake States Cut-Over, and the Appalachian-Ozark. Although these areas included approximately 50 per cent of the rural families receiving relief, they included only slightly more than one-third of the whole rural population of the country. Varying causes were revealed for the collapse of agriculture in the different regions, such as over-population, inefficient small farms, and loss of supplementary employment in the mountain areas; drought in the wheat country; disorganization of commercial agriculture in the cotton areas; and the loss of supplementary employment in the cut-over area. Poor land was an underlying cause in nearly all areas, and another was that many of the relief families had relatively poor educational advantages.

Chances of rehabilitating these families are analyzed in the report. It was noted that, in the opinion of local relief case workers, about 20 per cent of the families in the 65 counties studied were incapable of self-support. Fifteen per cent were capable, but in need of supervision, as well as temporary financial aid, and 65 per cent were capable of self-support if given only temporary financial aid.

Only 35 per cent of all families on rural relief were considered capable of operating small plots as a means of partial support in conjunction with other employment.

To meet conditions such as these, FERA inaugurated the rural rehabilitation program, which is now under the Resettlement Administration.

The study reveals that about $203,000,000 were spent for unemployment relief in the six areas by Federal, State, and local governments during the 19-month period from April 1, 1933, through October, 1934. Average family payments ranging from about $400 during this period in the Lake States Cut-Over area to less than $200 in the Western Cotton and Appalachian-Ozark areas.

Short Grass Wheat Areas
Drought has been the major reason for the high percentage of the population on relief in the Spring Wheat Area, which includes Montana, the Dakotas, and contiguous areas in Wyoming and Nebraska, and in the Winter Wheat Area, which includes portions of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, southern Wyoming and southern Nebraska.

In addition, dry land farming has been conducted on a too intensive basis. Much land has been put under the plow that should have remained in grass to prevent erosion. Both areas since 1900 they have been given over more and more to wheat.

Depressed farm prices and a succession of dry years since 1930 brought large numbers of farmers to the relief rolls. In both areas, the typical family receiving relief contained a tenant farmer, his wife, and two or three children. In the Spring Wheat area the man was 45 years of age and had lived in the county for ten years or more. In the Winter Wheat area the head was somewhat younger and a more recent resident of the county. In other respects the families were similar. The farmer rented about 400 acres. In the past years of successive crop failures due to drought he had mortgaged his equipment and livestock, used some of his capital, borrowed money several times, and finally had to apply for relief for his family and his livestock.

In the Spring Wheat Area the farmer was likely to be a Scandinavian or German origin. To the south in the Winter Wheat Area he was more likely to be of old American stock. If he lived in New Mexico or Colorado, he probably had Mexicans as his distant neighbors. Both areas are sparsely settled. School facilities and modern conveniences, however, are evidently better here than in most of the other rural problem areas. The average head of a relief family had had eight years of school and only five per cent in the spring wheat and three per cent in the winter wheat had no schooling.

The two areas had the greatest proportion of radios per farm of any of the areas in 1930 and next to the Lake States the greatest number of telephones. The Winter Wheat Area had the highest proportion of farms with water piped into the house. In both areas the relief families included a greater number that had enjoyed a satisfactory mode of living than was true in either the Lake States Cut-Over Area or the Appalachian-Ozarks.

In the Winter Wheat Area unemployment as well as drought contributed to the relief problem. Farmers made up only about half the relief population. Half of the relief heads were unemployed. Among them were many displaced tenant farmers, farm laborers and non-agricultural workers. One-third of the families on relief were tenant farmers' families and more than one-fifth of these were unemployed, having been forced into bankruptcy and off their farms after a series of crop failures. Nineteen of the farm laborers were unemployed in this area.

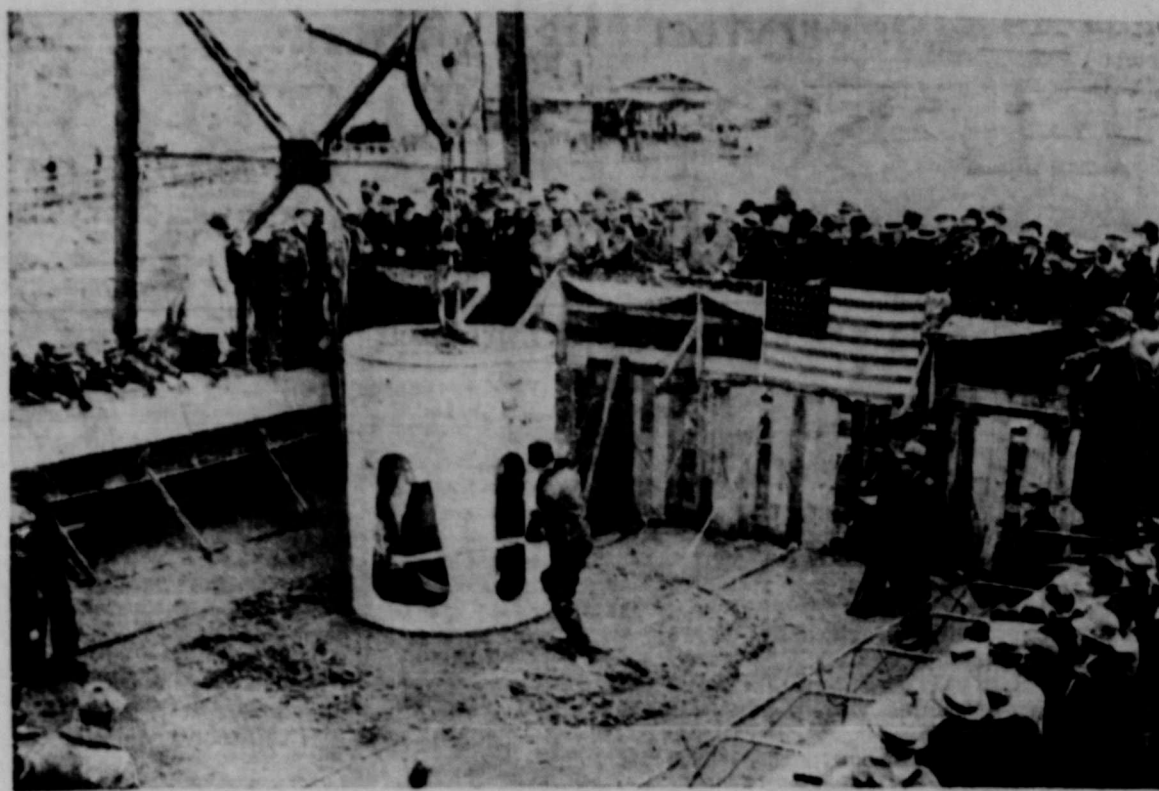

They had lost their jobs not only because of the drought restricting agriculture, but because of the great increase in the use of tractors and combines in the Winter Wheat Area. Many of such unemployed tenant farmers and agricultural laborers had moved out of the country into villages and towns since 1930. As a consequence in this area, unlike the others, the relief rate for towns was higher than for the open country.

The relief rate in the Winter Wheat Area increased from about six per cent of all families on the rolls in January, 1934, to about 32 per cent in August, 1934, then declined, only to increase again to about 32 per cent in 1935.

In both areas the relief given was largely work relief and amounted to more per family than in any other area except the Lake States Cut-Over. This was partly due to the fact that it included both livestock feed and "human relief." Between April 1, 1933, and November 1, 1934, more than $15,000,000 was spent for relief in each area, averaging $310 to a family. Monthly relief benefits per family were higher in the Winter Wheat Area, averaging $23. In the Spring Wheat Area the average was $14 per month.

About one-third of the persons on relief in both areas were 10 to 24 years of age. In the Winter Wheat Area this was due to the large numbers of stranded young migratory workers. In the Spring Wheat Area the large numbers of youth were probably on relief because the extreme drought had forced so many established farmers with older children onto the relief rolls.

The highest proportion of relief families with able-bodied male workers were found in these areas, accounting for about 90 per cent of the families. In the Spring Wheat Area more than one-fifth of the families had two or more male workers.

In the opinion of local relief workers, about two-thirds of all families on relief in the Spring Wheat Area were capable of operating full-time farms if assisted in recouping their capital losses of recent years. This was the highest proportion of any area. Another 11 per cent, mostly young families, were considered qualified for rehabilitation on farms with supplementary employment. Nine per cent were considered fitted only for non-agricultural work or as farm laborers. Sixteen per cent were classified as incapable of self-support.

In the Winter Wheat Area 46 per cent of the relief families were believed capable of self-support as full-time farmers and another 23 per cent part-time farmers, if given help. About 17 per cent were considered capable of self-support, but not on farms. The other 14 per cent could not be rehabilitated.

STAR IS CRITICAL OF SO-CALLED ART TEMPERAMENT

Prima donnas with traditional displays of temperament have mostly been consigned to oblivion, according to Gladys Swarthout, who insists that the angry outbursts of divas usually are "all made up." "I never was a prima donna," declared the young star of the Metropolitan Opera, who makes her screen debut in Paramount's "Rose of the Cho," which comes to the theatre on January 23-24.

"People have to do things with the voice, to show the artists. But temperament makes much harder to sing. It is better to be calm and quiet-singer is disturbed and excited affects the vocal cords and high notes are just that more difficult to reach."

If you work your starter only eight or ten times a day, from now till March 21st, that will be 400 to 500 starts altogether. Let's say you only cut your time in half on each start, using Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. Even so, that's something like saving your battery 250 starts before next Spring!

Right there Conoco Bronze might easily save you the price of a battery, or the fuss and expense of re-charging. Besides, you choke less, with Conoco Bronze, so you will not waste gasoline, or risk the life of your engine. And neither will your oil get so thin that you change it too often—another good saving.

Now Conoco Bronze costs you only the same as a gasoline you might buy for no special reason at all. Then isn't this a fair request: test a tankful of sure-start Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company, Established 1875

FARNSWORTH 4-H CLUB

Leola Hall, Reporter.
A well equipped sewing box is very necessary for the 4-H club girl in the making of her clothing. Marie Ludwick, county home demonstration agent at the Farnsworth 4-H club meeting, held in the home of the sponsor, Miss Adeline Mae Copeland, January 17, at 7:00 o'clock, p. m.

Scissors should be 7 or 8 inches long, sharp and of good quality, thumb well fitting, tape measure 36 inches long with metal ends and numbered on both sides, needles and two course for material and large enough to carry thread, thread to be determined by the material, pins sharp pointed, pin cushion stuffed with hair or wool, stated the agent.

The following officers were elected: President, Mona Pearson; secretary-treasurer, Mildred Morehead; reporter, Leola Hall; wardrobe demonstrator, Hazel Jewell; garden demonstrator, Muriel Rhem; sponsor, Miss Addie Copeland.

Those present for the meeting were Mildred Morehead, Mona Pearson, Leola Hall, Muriel Rhem, Miss Addie Copeland, Mrs. Copeland, and agent.

WATERMELONS ALL YEAR BY PROPER ATTENTION

By preparing soil early, planting variety of seed adapted to this section of state, and clean cultivation, Mrs. Walter Keim of Wolf Creek club is still having water melons.

The melons were pulled in the early fall and stored. Mrs. Keim says that she always plants the same Watson and Irish Gray varieties and her planting time each year is May 7th before daybreak. Mrs. Keim believes in making use of all the melon by eating the meat and conserving the rinds into pickles, preserves and marmalades.

LODGETT MEMBER IMPROVES CLOTHES SPACE

To begin her club work as wardrobe demonstrator, Mrs. Dan Nitschke of Blodgett Club has taken inventory of her clothing and is keeping account of expenditures for clothing for herself and her family.

Mrs. Nitschke has her foundation from last year. She plans to improve her clothes closet by buying the rod for hanging clothing from the middle of the closet to the lining the closet, and putting in shelves on side opposite the rod. Mrs. Nitschke has set the date for completing her improvements around the first of April.

Mrs. Jack Dodson, Reporter.
Before buying clothes, always know what you have on hand," remarked Miss Marie Ludwick, county home demonstration agent, in the home of Mrs. Kirt Williams, Tuesday, January 21, 1936, at the meeting of the Ochiltree Home Demonstration Club.

"Remember brands of clothes the same as foods. This can be done by keeping accounts," stated Miss Ludwick. Wardrobe work for the year was discussed. Miss Ludwick won the mysterious package.

Those present were Mrs. Jim Dodson, Mrs. C. H. McCartney, Mrs. C. C. Crouch, Mrs. Jack Dodson, Mrs. E. E. Venis, Miss Marie Ludwick, and the hostess, Mrs. Williams.

OCHILTREE CLUB WILL MEET TUESDAY, FEB. 4

The Ochiltree Home Demonstration will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, February 4th, at 1:30 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Jack Dodson.

An interesting program on early history of our county is being planned. Visitors are always welcome.

BUSY BEE CLUB

Waldeen Dodson, Reporter.
Scissors, tape measure, pins, needles, thread, thimble and pin cushion should be in every club girls sewing box," stated Mrs. Jim Dodson, club sponsor, at the meeting of the Busy Bee Club, Saturday, January 18, in the home of Wilma Leicht, at 2:00 o'clock.

A box 16 inches long, 6 inches wide and 2 inches deep is a very convenient size to keep sewing equipment in. A sewing equipment list should be pasted in top of box lid," further states Mrs. Dodson. Every club member had her sewing box and equipment at the meeting. A traveling pie sale was started.

Delicious refreshments were served to visitors, Miss Eugenia Mitchell, Miss Nora Stump, Ruth Stump, Jack Dodson, Jim Bill Dodson and Cecil Leicht; members present were: Beryl and Waldeen Dodson, Vivian and Lillian Williams, Wilma Leicht and Mrs. Jim Dodson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woods spent the week-end in Elkhart, Kans., visiting with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ologston. On their return Monday they spent several hours in Liberal, Kans., visiting with Mrs. Woods' sisters, Mrs. J. E. George and Mrs. Jennie Karau.

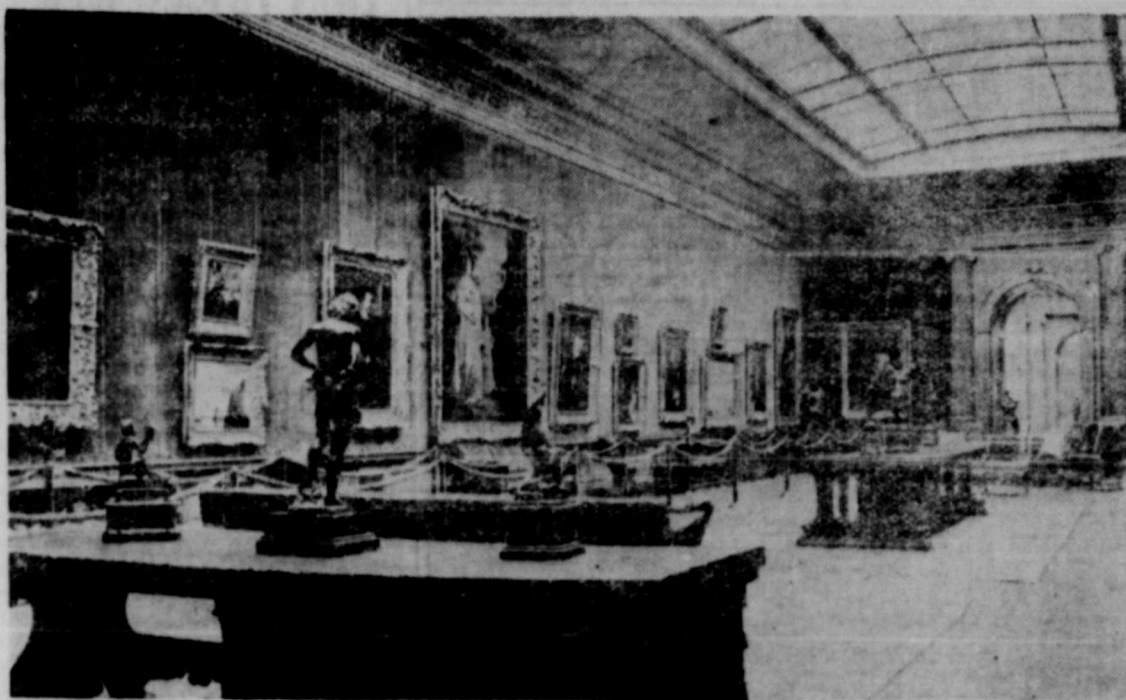

Bran Mineralizing Makes Red Blood

Dobry's Best brings you all the healthful properties and nutlike flavor of whole wheat, in a flour that is velvet-soft, snow-white, twenty times finer than old-fashioned flour. Dobry's Best is milled in a spick-and-span, new mill, with the latest word in milling equipment. It will banish baking failures; it will delight the taste of everybody. Bran Mineralizing makes Dobry's bread the best tasting bread you ever ate. It stimulates the appetite for more, and why not? Good bread is not only the most healthful, but the most economical food that you can serve. Dobry's cold biscuits taste better than hot ones made from low grade, old-fashioned flour.

Terraces Pay Farmer

Moore County Farmers Find That Terracing Paid Him Big Crop Dividends

Dumas—Terracing is providing a profitable investment for Henry Ham, Moore county farmer, according to county agricultural agent W. K. Cottingham.

Henry Ham of the Middle Well community recently reported a return of $5 per acre more from his terraced land than from his unterraced land than from his unterraced land. "I seeded my terraced land without any preparation of the seedbed since the summer of 1934, while the unterraced land was cultivated twice before seeding," Henry Ham said. "After seeding, the terraced land was cultivated twice while the unterraced land was cultivated four times."

"The difference in the cost of preparation of the seedbed and the cultivation of the crop was 52 cents per acre. The cost was greater on the unterraced land."

Henry Ham's terraced land produced 250 bundles of feed per acre compared to 150 bundles on the unterraced land. The feed from the terraced land was valued at one-half a cent more per bundle than the feed from the unterraced land because of its having more grain in the heads.

The Moore county farmer reported that he got a good stand of feed, following a light rain, on the terraced land; while on the unterraced land, which was seeded two weeks later, the stand was poor because of lack of moisture.

According to the county agricultural agent's report, approximately 40 acres of land was terraced on Ham's farm in the fall of 1934 at a cost of 58 cents per acre for fuel and oil and labor to operate the county grading machinery.

TAXES ARE DUE!

1935 TAXES DELINQUENT FEBRUARY 1, 1936

Your 1935 State and County TAXES are now due and must be paid before February 1, 1936, to avoid penalty. In order to avoid the payment of penalty and interest rates, we are asking that you come in at once and pay your 1935 taxes.

PAY YOUR POLL TAX!

Both men and women are required to pay their poll taxes. Unpaid poll taxes are a lien upon any real or personal property that you may own, or come into possession of. This is election year, and city, precinct, school, county, state and national officers will be chosen. Pay your poll tax before February 1, 1936, and you will be able to cast a vote, otherwise you will be disfranchised. If you are exempt from the payment of a POLL TAX, get an exemption certificate. Exemption regulations are as follows:

1. Only those voters exempt because they were not twenty-one years of age on or before January 1st of the year in which the levy was made and those who have moved into this state after said date are required to obtain an exemption certificate.
2. Certificate-holders of these classes moving from one precinct to another must present their certificate to the Tax Collector for endorsement showing the new residence.
3. Such a certificate - holder moving into another county must present the certificate to the Tax Collector of that county for reissue or registration and endorsement at least twenty days before any election at which he expects to vote.
4. Exempt voters living outside a city of 10,000 inhabitants who are permanently exempt from the payment of poll tax need not obtain exemption certificates, but may continue to vote as they have in the past.
5. Young people who are now twenty-one years of age and those who may become twenty-one years of age during the poll tax year should obtain their exemption certificates before February 1st.

Car License Fees Payable Feb. 1

Automobile license fees cannot be paid before February 1, 1936, but they must be paid and 1936 tags on cars and trucks before April 1, 1936, if same are operated on the highways.

AGED PIONEER

of married life, this ideal union was broken on February 19, 1935, when the wife passed on to her eternal rest.

After living in Missouri for 10 years, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson moved to Texas, locating at San Marcos, where they resided for one year before moving to Coleman, Texas. They lived at the latter place for many years, emigrating to Ochiltree county in the frontier days of 1901. For many years they lived on a ranch several miles southwest of old Ochiltree, later moving into the town of Ochiltree and coming on to this city when it started in 1919.

Mr. Richardson leaves behind him a life rich in good deeds. Ever a true friend and neighbor and a public spirited citizen, he added much to the transition of this Plains country into an agricultural empire. He had been an active member of the Christian Church for many years and his life's history is of one who followed in the steps of his Master.

Surviving relatives are Mrs. W. T. Ellison, Amarillo; Mrs. J. S. Talley, Perryton; J. W. Richardson, Perryton; and Mrs. W. M. McMillen, Lindrieth, New Mex. One daughter, Mrs. Fanny Cheatham, died a number of years ago. Two grandchildren, Rowan and Bessie Cheatham Parker, were raised by the Richardson's. Other close relatives include a sister, Mrs. Lucy Cundiff, Bangs, Oklahoma, and two brothers, B. F. and J. V. Richardson, Santa Anna, Texas; and 14 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Christian Church at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Rev. M. K. Griffith officiating. The services at the grave were in charge of the Masonic lodge with Past Master E. M. Allen directing. The deceased had been a member of the Masonic fraternity for 67 years and until recent years had been very active in the lodge work.

Active pallbearers were Sam Hergert, C. W. Callaway, Calvin Flowers, F. P. Rogers, Carl Ellis and G. B. Meers. Honorary pallbearers were W. M. Shrader, E. L. Whippo, W. C. Bryan, A. F. Cutter, S. P. Whippo, Ernest Records, W. E. McMillen and J. L. Dodson. Music was furnished by a mixed chorus composed of Mrs. G. W. Cutter, Mrs. C. E. Whippo, Mrs. J. L. Cougar, Mrs. Gertrude Butcher, Addison Cutter, A. K. Wooten, Robert Lawrence and I. R. Buchanan, with Mrs. A. K. Wilson at the piano.

Interment was in the Ochiltree cemetery.

ed by the girls of the Home Economics department of the Perryton High School was being consumed, the diners were entertained with a program of classical and popular music by the school orchestra under the direction of Wilbur Parks.

Due to the fact that the banquet was sponsored jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club, President Shindler, who served as toastmaster, called on Lion President Irvin R. Buchanan for greetings from the Lions. After the invocation by W. B. Irvin, Misses Kathryn Allen and Anna Lou Herndon appeared in a tap dance number; and the Lions Club quartette composed of Addison Cutter, Paul Cain, W. I. Byron and Rufus Bolerjack rendered two selections.

After Secretary Addison Cutter's financial report; a report of the Ochiltree State Park by Van W. Stewart; and the report of the highway committee by W. B. LaMaster; J. H. Neufeld, 1935 president of the Chamber, made a brief resume of the activities of the past year. Mr. Neufeld extended his thanks and appreciation to the members and directors for 1935 for their loyal cooperation during his administration. He stressed the financial support that had been extended, citing the fact that the books for the year were closed with only $50.00 unpaid in pledges. Among some of the accomplishments for 1935, Mr. Neufeld mentioned highway improvements, aid to farm problems, keeping out fake stock salesmen and "gyp" advertising schemes, expenditures on Ochiltree State Park project, and numerous other activities that were of untold value to the entire community.

President Shindler stated that the Chamber was not in position as yet to make any announcement as to 1936 major activities but he did state that he saw no reason for increasing the budget which has been $2,000.00 for several years. Over $1,300 of the 1936 budget has already been pledged. President Shindler announced that when members went out of the city on Chamber business, he was going to insist that they turn in a statement for expenses in full and that they be not allowed to pay their own expenses. He also called the attention of the members to the Friday noon directors luncheon and invited any citizen, be a member or not, to join the directors at any time.

Judge G. L. Light, Liberal, Kansas, the main speaker of the evening, after being introduced by the toastmaster, delivered an inspiring address that should have been heard by every citizen of this community. Judge Light is one of the leading attorneys of Southwest Kansas, he is an active worker in highway and Chamber of Commerce affairs, and when it comes to discussing matters of interest to such a group, he was talking on a familiar subject.

He said that the responsibility for the success of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce rested not on the shoulders of the president, nor upon the directors, but it was an individual responsibility upon every member and that only by the combined efforts of all could the year 1936 be made a success. He stated that the town of Perryton was known through the West from the Canada to Mexico for their highway activity in leading the battle for the Federal designation of Highway No. 83.

Other points brought out by the speaker were as follows: "Money is not all that is needed, actions speak louder than words with a civic organization." "The citizen that takes a free ride on the civic organizations is no better than the bum who rides the rails." Paid tribute to the Chamber for their support of the Boy Scout movement, stating that the best insurance on good citizenship is to develop our boys into real men. Judge Light said that during his years of service on the bench, he has made it a point to ask every boy brought before him the question, "Have you had Boy Scout training, and that of over 700 boys, age 16 to 25, he has only found one that was a Boy Scout."

Following is a list of those who registered for the banquet: Harley N. Elledge and Van Earl Steed, Waka, Texas; T. W. Gray and J. G. Kerns, Gray, Okla.; Miles Roberts, Waynoka, Okla.; C. W. Claybaugh, Liberal, Kans.; J. H. Buchanan, Spearman, Texas; J. C. Ebersole, Memphis, Texas; Chas. W. Callaway, Canadian, Texas; Jack Z. Barker, and R. T. Hibbs, Beaver, Okla.; G. K. Engle and S. E. FLOWERS INTO ATTORNEY RACE

JUDGE OSCAR C. FLOWERS ANNOUNCES AS CANDIDATE FOR ATTORNEY OF THIS COUNTY

Judge Oscar C. Flowers of the law firm of Correll & Flowers has definitely decided to enter the race for attorney of Ochiltree county, subject to the action of the voters in the Democratic primary to be held in July.

Judge Flowers needs no introduction to the voters of Ochiltree county. He is a life long resident of the county. Shortly after graduating from the law department of Baylor University in the spring of 1930, he was elected County Judge of this county. This office, he filled with credit and honor to himself and his supporters, being re-elected for a second term. After deciding not to run for a third term, he retired on January 1, 1935 to enter private practice, forming a partnership with Judge R. T. Correll.

In offering himself as a candidate for county attorney, Judge Flowers states that, if elected, he will endeavor to the best of his ability to be fair and impartial to all in the administration of the office. His previous record as a public official stands as a strong endorsement for his election to the office he now seeks.

There is no question as to Judge Flowers' qualifications and ability to fill this important post. He is worthy of the consideration and support of every voter and will appreciate same.

TO ATTEND FRIGIDAIRE MEETING IN FORT WORTH

C. D. Roberts, local dealer for the Frigidaire equipment, will leave Tuesday, the twenty-eighth, for Fort Worth, where he will attend a sales meeting and Frigidaire school for four days.

portant office. She has served the people of this county faithfully and if returned to office, she pledges to the voters the same careful service in the future that she has rendered in the past.

The Herald feels no hesitancy in recommending the serious consideration of every voter to Mrs. Slavin's candidacy. She is worthy of your support and will appreciate same.

vin's candidacy. She is worthy of your support and will appreciate same.

Flowers at Austin Meet

Judge Oscar C. Flowers Represented County and Chamber of Commerce at Austin

Judge Oscar C. Flowers returned Wednesday from Austin where he represented the County Commissioners and the Perryton Chamber of Commerce before the State Highway Commission in a hearing regarding completion of Highway No. 83.

Judge Flowers was a member of a large delegation composed of representatives from Childress, Wellington, and Shamrock. The delegation was interested in obtaining assurances that the gaps on No. 83 from Wellington on North to Perryton would be closed at once, but received no definite time when such would be completed.

While in Austin, Judge Flowers had a conference with Col. R. O. Whiteaker, chief engineer of the Texas State Parks Board, in regard to the Ochiltree State Park. Prospects for starting development of the park within the next few months are very good.

Misses Virginia Correll, Luella McMillen, and Virginia Benge, Berger, and R. E. McMillen, Albuquerque, New Mex., were in Canadian Monday evening and enjoyed the piano concert given by Miss Esther Johnson, Amarillo.

B. C. Hurn, Higgins, was a Perryton visitor Sunday night. His niece, Mrs. Harold Thrush and son, Terry Al, accompanied him home Monday and will spend the week in Higgins.

Word has been received from Ray Bowles of the Gray community that his condition is not improving. Mr. Bowles, who is a World War veteran, is a patient in the Veteran's Administration hospital at Hines, Ill.

Soil Survey Starts Here

Dunmier and Jones Will Make Survey of Every Section of Ochiltree County

Dunmier and Jones, working under direction of Glenn L. Fuller at Lamar, Colo., are stationed here and will conduct a reconnaissance soil survey of every section of land in Ochiltree county. Work here will be concluded within the next month.

The purpose of this survey is to get information which will provide invaluable data on which to base future conservation and erosion control operations.

Ochiltree county is one of nine Texas counties to be included in this survey.

Pay City Taxes!

Maybe you are one of those who wonder just "what in the heck" goes with all the money that the City of Perryton collects for taxes. Did you ever stop and try and figure for yourself, the many, many things that are made possible by city taxes?

Police protection is one of the items of city expense. Then there is the fire department, with the fire marshal, fire boys and efficient fire fighting equipment, with dozens of fire hydrants located at strategic points in every part of the city.

Another place that our tax money goes is for the maintenance of the streets and alleys of the city. And while we are enumerating city expense and at the same time modern conveniences, let's not overlook our fine water department or the modern, sanitary sewer system. Remember, these all cost money and there's very few things worthwhile in this old world that we don't have to pay for.

Another major item of service to the citizens of Perryton is the collection of garbage in the residential sections of the city. And then there are just dozens of "things" that have to be done, such as the cost of assessing property, collecting taxes, compensation insurance on city employees, etc., etc., etc.

But we have overlooked one of the biggest things yet and that is the lighting of our city streets. When the city council, a few years back, reduced expenses and by cutting off some of the street lights, loud and long were the protests. For many months, now, the lights have all been burning and everybody is happy, but it all comes out of the city tax funds.

ADDED PENALTIES IF NOT PAID BEFORE FEBRUARY 1

In the past it has been the policy of the city, to forget about penalties and interest on delinquent taxes. Remember, January 31, 1936, is the positive deadline for the payment of 1935 city taxes without the addition of the penalty of eight percent and one-half percent interest per month.

In the future the policy of the City of Perryton will be to collect the taxes before the "deadline" date or assess the penalty and interest as prescribed by law. All people are created equal and as public citizens, they should receive fairness and justice from their officials. Is it fair to collect taxes from one person when they are due and then remit prescribed penalties and interest charges to another who pays his taxes days and months after they are past due? In the future all will receive the same treatment, so take heed and don't let your taxes go delinquent for there will be no penalty and interest remissions as in the past.

BOYER IN LEGISLATIVE RACE

COUNTY ATTORNEY INTO CONTEST FOR REPRESENTATIVE FROM 124TH DISTRICT

Politics in the 124th legislative district will no doubt "come alive" during the next few weeks following the announcement of Max W. Boyer, present Ochiltree county attorney, as a candidate for the seat in the Texas Legislature now occupied by B. L. Rogers of Farnsworth. The Herald is this week authorized to place Mr. Boyer's name before the voters of this district as a candidate for the 124th district representative, subject to the action of the voters in the Democratic primary to be held in July.

Mr. Boyer has served this county for the past five years as county attorney and during that time, has made an excellent record as a public official. He has been a resident of Perryton since July 1, 1929, when he opened a law office here shortly after graduating from law school.

He has been very active in the Young Democratic Club movement in Texas and was the first president of the Ochiltree county club. Mr. Boyer is worthy of the consideration of the voters of the district and if elected as their representative, will make an excellent officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. F. Bray and sons, Bob and Keith, were down from Liberal, Kan., Sunday and Monday, visiting with friends and preparing their household goods for moving.

Mrs. J. M. Wood who has been ill for several months in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jack Allen, suffered a setback this week and her condition is very grave.

Miss Annie Bruce Henderson, teacher in the Perryton schools, was operated on for appendicitis at her home in Abilene last Wednesday. Mrs. Ralph Duke is teaching in Miss Henderson's place.

To the Voters of the 124th Legislative Dist. of Texas

In announcing my candidacy for the House of Representatives of Texas from 124th Legislative District, I sincerely hope it may prove beneficial to everyone. To me in satisfying my ambition to be given an opportunity to do something worthwhile for my fellow man, and to the citizens of this district, that in the event of my election, I may be able to do something to bring better conditions to all our people in this section of the Panhandle. It is a certainty that there is great need of change in the way and manner in which our State government has been administered.

I have been engaged in the practice of law in Texas since July 1, 1929, during five years of which time, I have been County Attorney of Ochiltree County. In the civic and political affairs of my county and in the politics of West Texas, I have had a profound interest every since the day that I "hung out my shingle" in the town of Perryton and began the practice of law. I have always fought for the interests of the Panhandle and if elected to the Legislature, I shall continue to fight the battles of the people of this district to the end that the North Plains of Texas will take its place in the splendor of the Lone Star State. I refer to the above matters for the sole purpose of calling your attention to the fact that I am not without experience in public affairs.

I believe that a Representative in the State Legislature ought to receive the petitions of his constituents with an open mind and vote for legislative acts that the majority of that constituency desires and be guided by their wishes regardless of personal prejudice or bias. A legislator should acknowledge personally each communication addressed to him from any citizen in his district relating to proposed legislation or matters of public service, and if elected, I pledge to so personally acknowledge each letter or request sent to me.

Many of our present day legislative expenses should be curtailed. There should be a co-ordination of many of the useless boards, commissions and committees, many of them to be done away with at a saving of thousands of dollars each year. I believe in an increased old age pension law, the present attempted old age pension law being entirely inadequate and of little or no aid to those of our aged group who have reached the close of a worthy life. I believe further that as regards co-operation of State with National policy, if the Congress of the United States cannot under the fundamental law of the land constitutionally care for the needs of agriculture that either the State should do this or if as a member of the Legislature, should a Constitutional Amendment proposed by the Congress to aid agriculture be submitted to the Legislature for ratification, I shall vote for the ratification of such amendment if proper for the protection of agriculture. I am opposed to the "grabs" from the public treasury of certain interests which seek to build their highways to the discrimination of the smaller counties of Texas and if elected to the House of Representatives, I shall continually point out to the proper officials the unjust discriminations so manifest in the past to the end that proper deserts be given to all. CERTAINLY THE ROAD PROGRAM IS AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE OF THE GREED THAT HAS BEEN DISPLAYED OF LATE.

As the campaign progresses I hope to have the opportunity to personally meet each voter in the district and I shall have more to say at future times as to matters which I believe to be of grave concern to all people. I will greatly appreciate what consideration the voters can give to my candidacy as I want to have a part in the restoration of our government to the teachings of the Democratic fathers of Texas, in order that the plain citizens of this district shall receive due consideration, and to that end, I sincerely, and earnestly solicit your active support at the July Democratic primary election.

Respectfully submitted,
MAX W. BOYER.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. Garrett were guests for bridge with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Beck, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McMillen, Lindrith, New Mexico, and his nephew, R. E. McMillen, Albuquerque, New Mex., left Tuesday evening for Miami where they will visit a few days in the home of Mr. McMillen's sister, Mrs. J. B. Williams, before returning to their home. They were called to Perryton by the death of Mrs. McMillen's father, W. H. Richardson.

Sunday dinner guests in the O. C. Shearer home were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hise, Miss Ada Marie Harbert of Dumas, and Mrs. Minnie Blank and sons, Oscar and Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bennett and daughter, Paula Fern, of Borger, visited Saturday night and Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bennett.

"I put TERRAPLANE first because I put Safety First"

"Go ahead, kids... that car's got BRAKES!"

NO one needs to be reminded that safe driving in winter, more than at any other season, calls for a car that is safe. Then why not start this new year with the "safest car on today's highways?" Terraplane—with more new and important safety features than any other low priced automobile ever had!

Bring Safety up to Date!

For safer riding, safer steering, safer stopping, Terraplane brings you Radial Safety Control (patent applied for). Here is a revolutionary principle of front axle and spring design which new owners from coast to coast are hailing as the greatest safety feature in many years.

None but the best brakes are good enough. And no other low priced car but Terraplane meets that demand with Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for). Latest and best hydraulics with a separate safety braking system that takes hold automatically if ever needed.

For added safety on the highway—greater steadiness on curves—two more 1936 improvements: Tru-Line Steering and the Rhythmic Ride.

Safer Bodies! Safer Chassis!

The world's first safety engineered chassis is now combined with America's first bodies all of steel, and seamless roof of solid steel.

There is extra safety, too, in Terraplane's record-breaking performance, to take you out of traffic "tight spots." And in the Electric Hand, an optional extra, for easier gear shifting and safer driving.

Drive safely in 1936—in a car that you know to be safe. Drive a new Terraplane.

OFFER EMPLOYMENT TO NEEDY

STATE WORKS PROGRESS ADMINISTRATOR TO GIVE EMPLOYMENT TO NEEDY NOT ON RELIEF ROLLS

San Antonio, State Works Progress Administrator H. P. Drought today opened an avenue of employment to able-bodied family heads admitted to relief rolls between November 1 and December 31, 1935. Barred from participation in the Works Progress program by a national regulation which restricted employment to those admitted to the relief rolls prior to November 1, these "employables" became wards of their own communities January 1 when the Texas Relief Commission dropped all except incapacitated cases from the relief rolls.

Drought authorized district directors throughout Texas to accept these family heads, expected to number between 4,000 and 5,000, for employment on projects, declaring that "when we have done this, we will have fulfilled the original purpose of the Works Progress program, which was to offer employment to all able-bodied family heads on the relief rolls."

The State Administrator asserted the regulation had discriminated against many worthy cases who had made every effort to sustain themselves throughout the depression years and who had come to ask public aid only after exhausting all personal resources.

"After January 1," Drought said, "there was no federal agency to which they could turn, and municipal and county governments complained that they were not able to help these unfortunates."

Instructions have been issued by Texas Relief Commission officials to case workers to certify all employable cases not found to be ineligible for aid prior to the automatic closing of the cases as of December 31. These cases then will be registered with the National Relief Administration Service or the Texas State Employment Service and from these offices they will be assigned to Works Progress Administration projects. It was pointed out, however, that these persons will not be assigned until previously certified workers have been placed.

"It is important," Drought continued, "that local government officials do not misinterpret this order. There will not be any general relaxation of the essential employment regulations of the Works Progress Administration. The requirement that 90 per cent of all labor on projects come from relief rolls will continue to be strictly enforced."

"While we realize that there are other needy unemployed throughout the state who have managed to stay off the relief rolls, there is nothing we can do for them except provide jobs for such of those as may be placed on our projects through the 10 per cent allowance for non-relief labor."

"It must be remembered that this organization was established to employ 120,000 persons, a quota based on the employable relief load of May, 1935. It never was contemplated that WPA should employ all the idle, regardless of status; however, many local public officials have urged and are advocating such a course."

"If this position is prompted because some public officials are concerned primarily with the prosecution of public improvements, it should be remembered again that WPA was created to absorb employable relief cases, that public improvements are a by-product of their employment."

"The problem for caring for incapacitated persons and others lately found to be in dire need did not descend without warning on the local governments. Repeatedly during 1935 they were advised by officials of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and the Texas Relief Commission that relief grants would cease with the end of the year. The fact that local measures to meet this responsibility were not adopted should not be laid at the door of WPA."

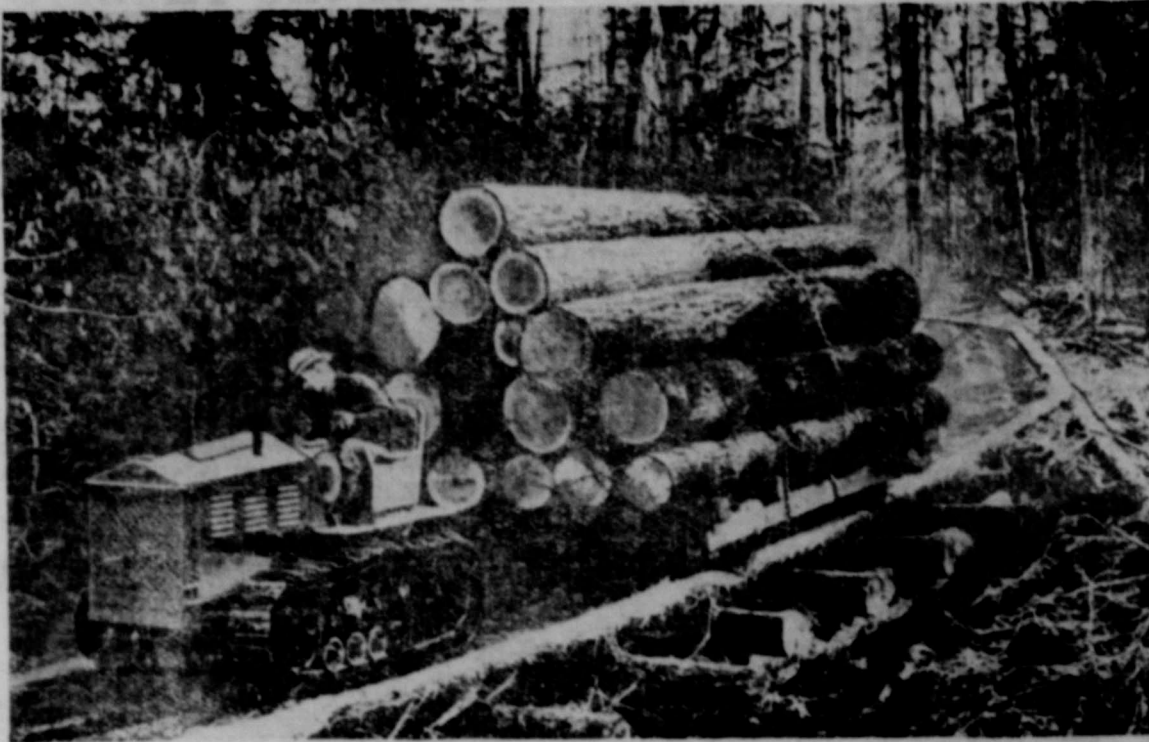

CATCHY AND POPULAR SONGS IN "COLLEGIATE"

Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, whose combined talents have produced a major portion of the nation's most popular songs in recent years, contribute eight new numbers to Paramount's latest screen musical, "Collegiate," which stars Joe Penner and Jack Oakie and which opens on Sunday at the Ellis theatre.

Frances Langford, the Florida songbird who became famous on the radio, sings, "Will I Ever Know?" as her featured number in "Collegiate." Joe Penner's number is, "Who Am I?" while Mack Gordon, who with Harry Revel has an acting part in the film, sings "You Hit the Spot." Miss Langford also joins with Jack Oakie in singing "You Hit the Spot."

Modern Logging Methods in Washington State

Heavy power machinery and other mechanical equipment has largely revolutionized logging methods in the past decade. An example is the Naylor logging camp near Ravensdale in western Washington. A 110-horsepower caterpillar tractor is able to pull a 10-ton load of logs on a flat car which runs on wooden rails.

OKLAHOMA FARM NEWS

Duncan Wall Extension Service

Ripe tomatoes were recently enjoyed by Mrs. R. N. Dickerson, Kiowa county, from her own vines.

Says Miss Eva A. Stokes, Kiowa county home demonstration agent. Mrs. Dickerson reported at the Gladson club recently that she pulled her tomato vines and hung them upside down in her cellar and that every two or three days she gathers ripe tomatoes.

Grasshoppers do not attack feterita as readily as they do the other grain sorghums, Ed Poale tells Leland Stark, Dewey county agent. Being short of seed last spring Mr. Poale mixed his feterita, maize, kafir and cane seed. The only crop which reached maturity in the field was feterita, the cane, kafir and maize being eaten early by the numerous grasshoppers.

The Fourth of July each year finds ripe melons on the table in the home of Mrs. Louie Wilson, Centrahoma, says Miss Alva Anne Owen, Coal county home demonstration agent. Mrs. Wilson plants the melon seed the same time she plants her tomato, pepper, and cabbage seed, in halves of egg shells filled with soil. When the weather is warm the plants are transplanted.

Instead of making cement tile in one-foot lengths, Mr. M. J. Dietrick, Turpin, makes one long tile across his garden, says Walter M. Schnelle, Beaver county agent. Mr. Dietrick says that his tile affords less danger of dirt and roots working in between the joints to stop the flow of water. He also reports that it is as easy to lay as the shorter joints.

Expo's Manager

William A. Webb, above, of Dallas, was named general manager of the Texas Centennial Exposition, which opens in Dallas June 6, because of his long experience in handling rush construction jobs. A veteran railroader, one of Mr. Webb's greatest accomplishments was rebuilding and remodeling the great South Australia government-operated railroad, a $70,000,000 project. He was recommended for the task, which he finished in 1931, by the U. S. Department of State.

Good Lighting Does This... to your evening paper

YOU may not realize it, but reading a newspaper in poor light is a hard visual task. The combination of small type on newsprint makes for poor visibility. Good lighting can greatly improve this. For scientists say that good light "magnifies" newspaper type... makes it easier to read... by increasing the visibility of the black type and gray-white paper.

You'll enjoy your newspaper more with good lighting. To reduce otherwise annoying contrasts be sure to have other lights burning in the room. You'll also save yourself possible eyestrain, headaches and fatigue by reading only in good light. Try putting a 75 or a 100-watt bulb in your favorite reading lamp tonight. See what a difference it makes!

Lamp Prices Are Lower!

Why risk eyestrain by reading by the lights of undersized bulbs when you can buy Mazda lamps in sight-saving sizes at these new low prices:

TEXAS CENTENNIAL HALL OF STATE

The glories of Texas will be paraded before the eyes of millions of visitors to the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas in the great State of Texas building new under construction. Architect's conceptions of the facade and complete structure, shown above, give some idea of the magnificence of the project. Situated at the end of a beautiful esplanade at Flag, the $1,200,000 building will afford one of the most breath-taking vistas at the Central Exposition of the Texas Centennial Celebrations, opening June 6.

KILLING AND CURING OF FARM PORK

By Fred Hale

Swine Husbandman, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

The average farm family consumes about three 225-pound hogs each year. In order to cure and preserve hams, bacon and other pork products so as to prevent spoilage or waste, and to secure the delicious taste and quality desired, certain points of prime importance must be taken into consideration.

Proper temperature, slaughtering and correct handling of the carcass are necessary to prevent spoilage. After a healthy animal is selected for slaughter, it should be taken off feed and water, for twenty-four hours before it is killed. Thorough bleeding is of prime importance and lessens the chance of spoilage of the meat in the cure. Avoid sticking the shoulder as the knife goes in just in front of the breast bone. After the hog is stuck, one should allow at least six minutes time for complete bleeding. For scalding, use water at a temperature from 145 to 150 degrees. If the water is too hot the hair will set and will be very difficult to remove. For a barrel scald, the temperature of the water should be not over 160 degrees.

After the viscera is removed, the carcass should be split and hung up over night to cool out. In the event of unexpected warm weather, rush the carcass to the ice plant in town and arrange for curing at the ice plant, if possible. Do not salt down hot pork. Quick cooling of carcass after killing will insure a safer cure and less spoilage.

For methods of cutting up the hog for curing, write the Texas Extension Service for their circular No. C-60. For your immediate information on curing and storage of pork, however, we will say:

A clean, cool cellar, ventilated so as to keep the air fresh, is an ideal place for curing pork on the farm. There are many methods of curing meat, but they are all a variation of two principal methods—the Dry Cure and the Brine Cure. The Dry Cure is very popular and practical in Texas, as it is simpler and requires less handling of the meat.

The principal curing agents are salt, saltpeter, and sugar. Salt when used as a sole curing agent makes the meat hard and dry. Saltpeter is used principally to retain the natural red color of the meat. Sugar reduces the drying effect of the salt, tends to soften the muscle fibers, and imparts a flavor to the meat. Vessels used for curing meat should be of a type that are easy to clean, free from bad odors, water tight, and of sufficient size.

The following dry sugar cure mixture is one of many good mixtures giving good results when the previous killing, handling and cooling of the carcass has been properly executed. The mixture, for each 100 pounds of meat is:

Fine salt 8-lbs.
Brown or white sugar 3-lbs.
Saltpeter 3-ozs.
Mix the above ingredients well and rub half of the mixture on the meat thoroughly and pack down in an oak barrel or some other suitable vessel. Place the hams on the bottom of the container, shoulders next, then the bacon sides, and the small cuts on top. Pack the meat with skin side down. It is advisable to push some of the curing mixture up along the shank bone and some into the hip joints where the ham has been cut from the side.

A week later, remove the meat and rub the remaining half of the mixture on and repack. Information collected at the Lubbock Substation in cooperation with the Texas Extension Service shows that it requires less time to cure hams and bacon in Western Texas than is generally recommended. At Lubbock, Texas, hams kept in good condition after they had cured two days per pound. That is a 15-pound ham required 30 days in the cure. Bacon, however, will cure when left in the cure only one day per pound. That is, an 8-pound bacon will cure in eight days. Ordinarily bacon is left in the cure 1 1/2 days per pound and hams 2 1/2 days to 3 days per pound. After the meat is cured, it should be removed and washed in cool water, (about 60 degrees). Use fresh water for each batch of meat, as the water when once used gets salty like the meat.

After the meat is washed it should be hung up to drip and dry overnight. The meat is then ready to be smoked. Use hard woods or corn cobs for smoking fuel. After the meat is smoked to a nut brown color, the meat should be allowed to cool and dry before wrapping for storage.

The Texas station, in cooperation with the Extension Service, has found that cured hams and bacon may be kept in refined cottonseed oil in perfect condition. The cottonseed oil prevents mold, drying out of the meat, loss of weight, and insect damage. Other storage methods include hanging the cured pieces in a screened smoke house, free from vermin or insects, or wrapping each piece separately first in paper, then in muslin bags (flour sacks are satisfactory) and suspending in a dry, well ventilated building. If eight fitting bags are used and painted with yellow wash (see U. S. D. A. Bulletin No. 1186 for yellow wash formula) the meat will keep in storage.

Write in to the director of the Texas Extension Service for their circular No. 60 on the killing and curing of pork, and also the U. S. D. A., Washington, D. C., for their bulletin No. 913 and 1186 on killing hogs and curing pork, for detailed information.

Our tariff system makes a farm program necessary in the interest of the entire nation. Complete and permanent recovery can be had on no other basis.

No one wishes this country to sink back to the depths it had reached in 1932.

The decision of the Court in the A. A. A. case is a far-reaching one. However, I cannot believe that a national tariff is legal and that a national farm program which merely restores the price balance cannot be made legal.

I cannot believe that the cotton farmers and the producers of other world market crops must purchase their supplies in a higher-priced protective market and that there is no constitutional means by which they may be given an even break.

The greatest fundamental in our system of government is equality in the operation of its laws.

I am sure a constitutional method of putting all our citizens on an equal footing can be found. Certainly in the interest of simple justice the effort should be made. To this task the House Committee on Agriculture is devoting its earnest attention.

Personally I favor a domestic allotment plan linked with a soil conservation and rebuilding program and also including the seeking of new and additional outlets and markets, domestic and foreign.

While proper adjustment is desirable, we should of course produce all the market will absorb, both at home and abroad.

The legislation should be broad and flexible so as to permit different plans for different commodities, thus fitting to each commodity the plan best suited to its peculiar production and marketing conditions.

Such a program will be to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

The Congress added the domestic allotment plan, the soil conservation and market expansion features to last year's legislation. However, as other plans were already in operation, these had not yet been brought into full effect. Since the domestic allotment, soil conservation and market expansion plans were not involved in the decision of the Supreme Court, these were probably not affected; but as they were linked with some of the provisions that were held invalid, it would probably be wise to carry them forward in a new act.

The domestic allotment plan is peculiarly suited to cotton and wheat, but other methods will probably be better suited to some of the other crops. No single plan would be suited to all of the different commodities.

These are merely my own views. Legislation will be worked out by the Congress to accomplish the desired end in so far as it is possible to do so within the limits set out in the decision of the Supreme Court.

International Sunday School Lesson

By A. C. Williams, Minister, Perryton Church of Christ

Lesson 4 January 26, 1936
JESUS PREACHES IN THE OLD HOME TOWN
Luke 4:16-30

I. Introduction and Background
The early Judean Ministry had been completed. The Galilean Ministry was opening. Jesus had healed the nobleman's son at Capernaum, preceded thence to His home town Nazareth where he had grown to manhood. How the people ought to have received him. Their eyes had beheld a model youth around the humble dwelling of a carpenter. Through these years of obscurity the citizens of Nazareth, had they but opened their eyes, could have beheld the developing and unfolding Christ child. But how often people regard distance as the one great qualification of greatness. It was thus with Nazareth. Those who would have welcomed a man from afar, could not see that a really great character was in their very midst.

II. Jesus Reads and Preaches in the Synagogue

Synagogue worship was conducted on each Sabbath (Saturday). It was on such a day that Jesus made His way to the place of devotion. As his custom was he took the scroll and read. Isaiah's prophecy of Christ's ministry was the group of passages read. As Jesus read of the good tidings to preach to the poor, the liberation of captives from bondage, the binding of broken hearts, the opening of the eyes of the blind, and the proclamation of the acceptable year of the Lord —were so appropriate, because Immanuel stood before them in person, to begin a ministry among them.

The reading concluded, Jesus handed the book to the minister and sat down. All the people fastened their eyes upon him. Never before had they seen such grandeur and heard such words. Not the scribes, not the Pharisees, but the son of God had read to them from the gospel prophet. There was authority to his words. There was power in his message as he read. Though the townsmen had seen him many times before, never had they been so strangely affected by his presence, words and bearing. With attention tense, and awe spreading itself over his audience, Jesus began to explain the prophecy, telling the people that the words were at that day fulfilled in their ears, but that they would not receive them. Rather they would spurn him and demand that he heal himself. Then, after reminding his countrymen that no prophet is accepted in his own country, he shamed them by citing God's mercy to heathens when the chosen people were passed by. The widow of Sidon, the leper of Syria, received blessings while Israel languished.

III. Jesus and His Message Are Rejected

Our Lord was no issue-dodger. False religion was scathed in no uncertain terms. Rather than face the facts, the people became a mad mob, and tried to throw him over the cliff, but he escaped and went his way. Nazareth had rejected her deliverer.

LUTHERAN CHURCH ITEMS

Holy Day or Holiday?

In days gone by we had a good deal of one-day religion. Within recent time this has been reduced to one-hour religion. Many have reached the point where they have no religion. If we would hand the American people a questionnaire, asking, "Are you a Christian, an unbeliever, an atheist, or an agnostic?" the majority would undoubtedly check at "Christian." But if some one comes to our shores from a foreign country, he is surprised that we call Sunday the Lord's Day; for over sixty per cent of the people of America give no attention to the Lord. To many it is a holiday in place of a holy day.

Making Sunday a holiday leads to spiritual and moral decay. We forsake God. We weaken our conscience. Making Sunday a holiday makes for godlessness, indifference, lawlessness, wickedness.

Sunday should be a holy day, a day on which we worship the Lord, our God. We must recognize the Lord God; we dare not ignore the saving Gospel message. If we make Sunday a holiday, a day of pleasure, of outings, of social visiting by remaining absent from God's house and being indifferent to the Gospel of Christ, we are not worthy of the name Christian. On the other hand if we make Sunday a holy day, our whole week will be sanctified and hallowed. We shall begin each day with a hopeful outlook, having the assurance that God turn everything to the good of those who love Him.

The service next Sunday morning at 10:30 will be conducted in the German language, but the Sunday school and Bible Class sessions which follow will, of course, be in English. We invite you to attend.
H. W. Hartenberger, Pastor.

CCC Camp News

By Robert Headgrove

That slipped crack in El Sombrero about donkeys in Co. 2874 don't get by unnoticed. Remarks by the Camp's citizens were mostly to the effect that if one of the Jones boys led a donkey by the Camp it would be hard to tell which was which. And that goes for the humor-brain behind El Sombrero's wit. No hard feelings, just infinite tolerance.

My woman's intuition (don't ask who my woman is) always told me that Perryton was a town of romance. Well known as the friendly city, marriages during the holidays strengthened the feeling that friendships here fast budded into courtships, but when I see the love-bitten, romance eaten tree soldiers mooring around camp like they were hungry, there are no doubts remaining. I mention no names but I need the cooperations of the boys out here with the snappy step and feeling for moonlight nights.

What I mean is, you walk up to me and say, "news-nose, old frau, if you won't write my name in the paper I'll tell you who Curly's girl is." Let's get the ball rolling or I'll have to use my own judgment. Some of the girls uptown might get in touch with me, too. I pat myself on the back for thinking of this.

Not much real news this week. The basketball team, though resplendent in new, flashy red, white and blue silk and satin suits is idle. They are looking forward to a basketball or football game with the Perryton High School teachers on Wednesday night—whichever the opposing team plays. They plan to enter Higgins Independent tournament the last of the month.

The traveling library, composed of more than 100 new books swelled interest in reading and studying. These books together with well-filled magazines and newspaper racks complete the Company Library.

Miss Pauline Fulton R. N. came in last week from the St. Francis hospital, Wichita, Kansas, to work at the Perryton hospital.

Five Women Who Are Rulers of an Ohio Town

The government of the town of Llandale, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland, is practically a matriarchy. Not satisfied with the male administration, the women of Llandale decided to "clean house" and succeeded in electing a slate of their own choosing which included the mayor, treasurer, clerk and two of the six councilmen. The women are shown here as they attended their first meeting. Left to right, seated: Mary Roginsky, treasurer; Ann C. Lakowitz, mayor, and Helen Lastutka, clerk. Standing: Mrs. Ozema Williams and Mrs. Ethel Sotos, councilmen.

VOTE ON WHISKEY ISSUE

In response to a petition presented to the commissioners court Monday, an election has been called for the McLean and Allanreed precincts in Gray county to determine whether intoxicating liquor shall be sold legally in such precincts.

Both McLean and Allanreed were dry with heavy majorities from an election held last year, but a county-wide election with a wet vote in other parts of the county threw them into the wet column.

The election, to be held on the 25th, will allow the voters of this part of the county to say what they want in the matter.—The McLean News, Gray County.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bryan and daughter, Joan, were Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Bryan's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Ragsdale, Hardesty, Okla.

Miss Johnny Helen Gray spent the night Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Claybaugh, Liberal, Kansas.

SCHOOL TAXES ARE DUE!

Taxes for 1935 in the Perryton Independent School District are due and must be paid before February 1, 1936, to escape the burden of additional penalties and interest charges.

The officials of the Perryton school district appreciate the general attitude of the taxpayers toward the importance of keeping the schools functioning. We know that many have sacrificed in order to make their school tax payments.

Due to this splendid spirit of cooperation on the part of the taxpayers of the district, the Perryton schools have not only been maintained at a high rate of efficiency, but the standard of the school has actually been raised during these years of depression.

DELINQUENT PENALTIES

Pay your 1935 taxes before February 1, 1936, and avoid the addition of extra penalties and interest charges. Remember that penalties on 1935 unpaid taxes are added at the rate of one percent per month, until July 1, 1936, when the penalty is increased to eight percent and interest charges at the rate of one-half percent per month are charged.

Keep The Schools Open!

The school system is the greatest asset that we have in the Perryton school district. They are the means whereby our children are given an education and prepared for the struggle of life. Don't fail them. Make every effort to pay your school taxes and keep the schools open for the full term. It can be done if everyone will do their part just as they have so unselfishly done in the past.

SOIL CONTROL

been sapping the fertility of the plains land.

A great American desert was predicted for the Middle West, and attention was called to the fact that the world's greatest deserts are man made.

Government programs were suggested for the purpose of returning the farm lands of the plains to grass.

To minds of the Plains people came this question: "Must we give up this fertile soil to winds—were we mistaken in placing our confidence in the land that in half a century has been transposed from open prairies to a prolific farm and ranch section."

Then without the magnificent gesture made by the forces of destruction in the black duster came the story of the remarkable success in the Dallam County soil conservation experiment.

The mild-mannered Mr. Finnell who directed the project before being elevated to a position in charge of soil conservation work in five states:

"The Dalhart project shows what can be accomplished through proper land treatment."

To make the erosion control demonstration as impressive as possible the U. S. Soil Conservation Service selected one of the worst blowing sections of the Southwest for the farm experiment.

And in face of the fact that the year's precipitation was only 74 percent of normal (13.59 inches) and the winds in the spring were the worst in the memory of even the oldest of plains residents, 96 percent of the blowing land was anchored down.

Land that a year ago appeared totally destroyed and doomed to cause destruction to adjoining lands as well, this spring will be planted to row crop.

Moreover all, except 800 acres of the 26,000 has sufficient protective cover to prevent it from any wind erosion damage during the coming growing season—March and April.

Bringing the badly eroded land in the Dallam County project, under control was not a simple process, and no person should believe that it was accomplished without weeks and weeks of thought, planning and labor on the part of the government employees in the conservation service and the farmer-land-owners as well.

In some places sand hummocks were piled two and three feet high, and the soil was blown out for as much as 16 or 18 inches—in some places possibly more.

The first step toward restoring the land was to make a detailed survey to reveal all the recovery needs.

Second—Work out a program of reclamation and permanent control with the landowner.

Third—For the purpose of making the experimental area an educational demonstration, the conservation service assisted not only in repairing damage but also in bringing the land back to normal.

Fourth—The government body assisted in making permanent improvements to the land in the nature of water conservation work.

Fifth—The soil service contributed seeds and plants for permanent vegetative plantings.

Sixth—It kept men in the field to watch for opportunities to apply various precautionary measures at the approach of erosion hazards, thus treating dangers in advance.

All of the land in the 26,000 acre tract within two or three seasons will be as productive as ever. Progressive recovery of production will be made before the end of this year.

Observers of the Dallam County demonstration come to this conclusion: Control of the dust storms, conservation of plains soil, and maintenance of productivity depend upon the proper land use.

It must be noted that all of the dust that was carried in the black dusters did not come from farm lands.

The grasslands of the plains have been overgrazed during recent years. The cattle population reached one of the highest peaks during the drouth and low prices late in 1933. Since that time the number of cattle have been cut down and the ranges have been improved.

It would be impossible to say how much of the fine dust that swept the Middle West almost daily during last March and April originated on the thinly grazed ranges, but it was considerable.

No, the farmers were not altogether to blame for the dust storms, but for the most part the ranges will come back if they are not overgrazed while the farm lands must have lots of assistance.

"Even land that has been mistreated for many years can be brought back rapidly if proper methods are applied before erosion gets the upper hand," Mr. Finnell said recently. "However, it is much easier for a farmer to keep his land in good condition than it is to bring it back after neglect."

In some instances it was necessary to make two or three plantings to get a cover crop started in the dry soil in the Dalhart experiment which was in one of the driest sections of the drouth area last year. Leveling the hummocks, wide piles of sand was another serious problem that had to be tackled early in the conservation work.

All work in the Dallam experiment was not done by soil conservation employees. Cooperation and assistance of the farmers were responsible for making the demonstration a success. They contributed work and use of machinery.

When necessary the soil service contributed material assistance as well as supervision.

Success of the program is obvious from the standpoint of saving the land and bringing it back to productivity. This however, is merely the economic aspect. Hundreds of plains farm homes have been saved from destruction through the work already done. Saving the remainder depends upon the citizens themselves, and their willingness to cooperate with the federal conservation program.

SOIL BLOWING

gency program to alleviate the blowing in the spring would cost $3,500,000.

Ask Appropriation

Source of the needed revenue was a vital problem confronting the committeemen. It was generally agreed, according to those familiar with the committee conference that no funds are now available. The resolution, it was expected, seek a special appropriation from Congress.

Conditions were pictured less severe than a year ago, but "terrible dust storms" were predicted during the spring blowing season unless proper tillage methods are applied. R. I. Kimmel of the Washington office of the Rural Resettlement Administration is head of the regional committee. Members of the regional group are Dean H. Umberg of the Kansas Extension Service; Parker D. Hanna of the Texas Extension Service; L. H. Hauter of the Resettlement Administration, Perryton; R. I. Kimmel of the Oklahoma Extension Service; E. A. Starch of the Resettlement Administration, Dallas; R. I. Throckmorton of Kansas State College, and Mr. Finnell.

The many friends of Abe Greer, now connected with the Soil Conservation Service, will be glad to know that he is on the road to recovery after undergoing a very serious operation in Amarillo, Texas, returned to Perryton, Sunday, after a six weeks stay in St. Anthony hospital, but it will be several weeks before he has gained sufficient strength to resume his duties at the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rupprecht returned Tuesday from Amarillo where they went on Friday and Mr. Rupprecht underwent a nose operation.
