The Reserve
The agitation which has been led by the Portales Times and which gives promise of being successful by creating a forest reserve in the border sand hills near that place is a step in the right direction. The tract in reference is worthless for cultivation or grazing and if a forest can be induced to grow it will be a genuine benefaction to the big planes. ILLEGAL USE CREAM CANS IS PROBED

COMMISSIONER SAYS CONTAINERS BEING USED FOR OTHER PURPOSES

J. R. Poe, state dairy commissioner was a caller at the News office last Friday, and gave the following information as to the use of cream cans.

Mr. Poe stated that the use of cream cans for other purposes than to contain cream is prohibited by state law, and that it is the plan of his department to strictly enforce the law.

One farmer was arrested recently when it was learned that the cream can in his possession contained gasoline. Misuse of cream cans has resulted in approximately 1,000 cans of cream being poured into the gutter in the state by the dairy commissioner. Of this number several hundred have been in Roosevelt and Curry counties.

When milk is found contaminated by gasoline or other odors it must be poured out at the farmers' loss.

Mr. Poe urged the farmers to read the state dairy law, copies of which have been placed in all cream buying stations.

This law is for the protection of cream producers, and cans used for gasoline or slop, are rendered unfit for cream, and are a loss to the farmers using same, as they again go into circulation as cream containers, and sometimes get by the cream stations and render the butter unfit for consumption.

MEET TO SET DATE FOR PRIMARY

VOTERS WILL GO TO POLLS ON MAY 19, TO CAST THEIR BALLOTS

The County Democratic Central committee met last Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the district court room, with C. M. Compton, Jr., the county chairman, presiding and John W. Ballow, secretary.

The meeting was opened by the reading of the roll call by the secretary. Next was roll call of the committeemen, 16 being present, forming a quorum.

The first business was the setting of a primary date.

Motion was made to hold the primary on the 7 of April. Vote on this motion was 6 for and 10 against; motion was lost. W. O. McCormick made a motion that the date be set for June 20. This motion was lost for want of a second.

Harold Radcliff made a motion that the date be set for April 21, seconded by J. W. Sloane.

T. E. Mears spoke against this date as the special session of the legislature would probably pass a primary law. He stated that such a law was passed in the senate of the last legislature but killed in the house.

Vote on this date was 5 for and 10 against. Motion lost.

J. W. Thompson made a motion that the date be set for May 19. J. W. Sloane spoke, stating that it looked like the politicians were trying to determine the date of the primary for some ulterior motive.

B. B. Greathouse spoke, saying that it looked as if the politicians were insisting on an early primary, and that he favored throwing the primary open to all the people.

Vote on this motion was 15 for and 1 against.

A motion was then offered that all candidates be required to sign a statement that they were democrats, had voted for the entire democratic ticket in 1932 and that they would support the nominees of the coming election.

Motion carried 13 for and one against.

On motion of Harold Radcliff that a single primary be held the vote was 14 for and 2 against.

After much discussion a motion was made that the last date for candidates filing their names with the clerk of the central committee be at midnight on the 19th of April. Motion carried.

It was also decided that the candidates be assessed 3 per cent of the first years salary for the expenses of holding the primary election and that the cash for this assessment must be in the hands of the secretary by midnight on April 19.

W. I. Ashbrook made a motion that all be required to vote in their home precincts, and that those who would be legal voters in the general election be allowed to vote in the primary election. Motion carried.

Mrs. Coe Howard, national committeewoman for New Mexico then made a short inspirational democratic talk.

It was also decided that a pledge be placed in the ballot, stating that "I am a democrat and will support the democratic nominees."

PLANT SUDAN FOR PASTURAGE

An acreage of sudan sufficient for summer pasturage for the dairy herd will be found profitable. Sudan makes a splendid pasturage, and keeps up the flow of milk. It also saves the grass for winter pasturage, and makes a profitable crop.

In past years, many of the Roosevelt county farmers have depended upon the pasture for the care of the dairy herd through the summer, and when winter comes they find that the grass is short and heavy feeding is necessary.

A sudan pasture, cross fenced, so that one portion can be pastured while the other is growing, will care for more cattle than can run on the same acreage of grass, and it keeps the cows in better shape. A small sudan calf pasture is also profitable, and gives the calves a better growth.

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET FARM MACHINERY IN SHAPE

The wise farmer, while waiting for moisture to prepare his lands, will inspect his farm machinery and have it put into condition before the spring farming rush begins.

Gather up the plow points and have them sharpened, repair the listers and cultivators, and you will find that you will have much time for farming operations.

Repairing fences at this time is also wise.

RED AGITATION IS LOOKED-UPON WITH DISFAVOR

While there are a few reds in every section of the country, as a whole red agitation is looked upon with disfavor by the level-headed citizen.

Conditions have been bad for the last three years, but are now improving. By fall indications are that there will be a great improvement in all lines of business, farming included. The Federal Government is doing all in its power to bring back normal conditions, and red agitation only tends to delay recovery.

The United States Government was founded upon the principal of equal right to all, and is the best government in existence today. Discourage all red talk, and put your shoulder to the wheel to aid President Roosevelt in his recovery program.

GROW A GARDEN

Every citizen should grow a garden. Every farmer should produce garden stuff enough to take care of his needs the year round. The growing of gardens should be encouraged, as it enables one to produce a great part of his living, and tends to make better citizens.

In the industrial centers the workers are being colonized on small acreages, where they will be able to grow gardens during the season of slack work in the factories.

While there is no industrial center in New Mexico, there is much lands that can be successfully planted to gardens, and which will cut down the cost of living.

The busy man has no time for agitation, and there is no better means of bringing about sane thought than for everyone to be busy.

THE STATE PARK

Just what steps have been taken to get the state park under way, The News has failed to learn. But this is a valuable project to this section of the state, and work should begin at an early date.

Every effort should be extended to get this project approved, and provide a recreational center for the people of this section. Governor Hockenbush is behind this movement and should receive the support of every citizen.

THE TUGWELL BILL

The Tugwell Bill, now before the National Congress will seriously handicap every line of business.

Every citizen should write or wire their representatives in the United States Congress and Senate, opposing this measure.

Should this bill pass, not only will the merchants be handicapped, but the consumer will suffer as well.

NEWS PLAN IN THE WORKING

On June 2, 1932, The News published the following editorial:

A Workable Plan to Aid the Farmers
Congress now is tossing billions of dollars around like jack straws. It has appropriated billions to aid the railroads and the banks. It has bought up millions of bushels of wheat, supposedly to aid the farmers. But—

To really help the farmers, we must get back to the foundation of the present economical crisis. Farm products are now selling below the cost of production, and the government buying and storing will not aid, but creates a reserve that keeps the prices down.

To aid the farmers, the general public must have a buying power. The nine million of unemployed men in the United States must be put back to work, so that they can buy the necessities of life.

At this time, there is only one plan that will accomplish this. That is for the government to appropriate billions of dollars for a reconstruction program that will reconstruct.

Spending billions for public buildings will not do this, as a very small per cent will go for labor.

The Plan
A reconstruction program which will reconstruct and put labor to work is for congress to appropriate sufficient money to undertake a gigantic construction program which will employ millions of men at common labor.

This can be done by a Mississippi river control program, by the building of two national highways—one from the Atlantic to the Pacific and one from Canada to Mexico.

Use the army engineers to do the engineering work on these projects.

Use the army officers to supervise and foremanize the work.

Use the buck privates for straw bosses and to police the work.

Move the millions of unemployed and their families out of the congested centers of population into construction camps, using army equipment for these camps.

Use the army medical corps to look after the health of the camps.

Conduct schools in the camps for children of the laborers.

Use man power and horse power to do the work and let the expensive machinery lie idle during this period.

Let no contracts, but do the work under the supervision of the army, saving a great overhead expense.

Pay the laborers a minimum wage of, say $2.00 a day, and feed and clothe them through the army commissary.

A Five-Year Program

Such a program as the above should anticipate operating during a period of five years, maintaining a labor bureau, registering every workman according to his skill, so that when private industries need laborers they can be diverted from the construction camps to private industries, arranging with the railroads to give them and their families free transportation to the place of employment.

Farm Relief

In less than 90 days after such a program was started and the unemployed moved to the construction camps, the demand for food and clothing would begin, and farm products would find a market for at least the cost of production. Factories would begin to turn out products such as shoes, clothing and other necessities of life.

The farmers would begin paying their taxes, buying needed machinery for their farm operations, and, in less than two years, the unemployment situation would have reached a low average, and it is safe to say that there would not be left in the construction camps one million men.

How to Mobilize This Army of Unemployed

It need not be made compulsory for the unemployed to enter these construction camps, but by eliminating all charitable aid, soup kitchens and bread lines, they could be shown that they had a choice of earning their living or starving.

Saving in Crime

Such a move would give the government a check on this vast army, and these criminals inclined would be under the police supervision of the army.

The criminal element would not have the congested city unemployed to hide among, and the saving in crime prevention alone would almost pay the cost.

Return of Prosperity.

With these nine million men earning the support of their families, farm products would find a ready market, factories would be running at a normal speed, and general business all over the nation would move along smoothly on the wheels of prosperity.

In less than two years prosperity would be a thing of the past, new homes would be built, and the United States would have passed through the greatest crisis of history.

Some may say that the army does not have time for such work.

True, it would derive the higher officers of time for polo and golf and make them earn their salaries, but it would keep the personnel in perfect organization, and in readiness for instant mobilization, should there be need.

The great appropriation would aid those who really need aiding, and not be an aid to Wall Street alone.

Since that time President Roosevelt has formed a public works program that while not the plan proposed by The News, is in line with this program.

Millions upon millions have been spent to put the idle back to work, and millions more will be spent.

Compare this program with that of the President, and you will see that The News, while not a prophet, was thinking upon the right line.

The News is 100 per cent behind the President's recovery program, and feels that it is indicated in the suggestion of a solution of this problem.

For the government, as for an individual, there is but one way to reduce taxes—spend less money.

We are starting out on a road so new that we have got to make up our maps as we go along.

These grades entitled Mrs. Harris to membership in the Althi Chi scholarship society.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Freeman and has grown to young womanhood in Portales, and her home town is glad to hear of her success.

Congressional Reflections

BY DENNIS CHAVEZ
Congressman From N. M.

New Mexico has been signally honored this week by the Administration in the nominations and subsequent confirmation by the senate of two of its most esteemed citizens. On Thursday, February 22, the senate confirmed the nomination of the Hon. Felipe Sanchez Y Baca of Tucumcari, to be the United States marshal for the district of New Mexico. On Tuesday, February 20, the senate confirmed the nomination of the Hon. Milton J. Helmick of Albuquerque, to be Judge of the United States Court for China, with headquarters at Shanghai. Judge Helmick was serving as Judge of the Second Judicial District of New Mexico at the time of his nomination, and his selection from the many members of the judiciary throughout the United States demonstrates the high regard in which the Bench of New Mexico is held and is a compliment to the judges we have that are interpreting our laws in New Mexico.

The senate on Thursday, Feb. 22, passed the Adams bill, which is a companion bill to the Chavez bill in the house, and has for its purpose the granting of a moratorium to water users in the Federal Irrigation Districts. A meeting of the committee on irrigation and reclamation in the house will be called at an early date for the purpose of considering this legislation and making a report to the house, and it is expected that little opposition will develop either in the committee or on the floor of the house at this meritorious and justified legislation.

The state department has made a favorable report to the committee on foreign affairs on house resolution 247, authorizing an appropriation of $60,000 to defray the expenses of the American section, International Boundary commission United States and Mexico, in the conduct of an engineering investigation, study and report to the secretary of state to determine the feasibility and best means of effecting the canalization of the Rio Grande from the Caballo Reservoir site in New Mexico to the international diversion dam near El Paso, Texas, in order to facilitate Federal control of the channel of the Rio Grande and compliance by the United States with its obligation to deliver at said international diversion dam water to Mexico pursuant to the convention concluded May 21, 1906, providing for the equitable distribution of waters of the Rio Grande for irrigation purposes. The committee will consider this bill soon and it is hoped that it will be passed speedily in order that this work may be started sometime within the very near future.

The committee on public lands is holding hearings daily on the public domain bill, sponsored by the administration, authorizing Federal control of the public grazing lands. Considerable opposition among the members of the committee from states having public lands to several features to the bill in its present form has developed for it seems they desire to have the government cede to the respective states the option and control of these lands.

The Library of Congress is one of the most interesting institutions in Washington, so that I am going to give my readers a few facts about it which I hope will be of value. The building was begun in 1886 and was completed in 1897 and its architecture is of the Italian Renaissance order. The exterior walls are of New Hampshire granite. Fifty masters of painting and sculpture worked together to make it a treasure house of the best contemporary American art, fit to shelter one of the greatest libraries of the world. On the second floor are exhibited the original Declaration of Independence, the original Constitution of the United States and the Gutenberg Bible. The reading room is under the dome, which is 195 feet high. In the lantern of the dome is a female figure indicating Human Understanding, and on the collar surrounding the lantern, 186 feet in circumference, is the Evolution of Civilization, symbolized by the 12 nations and epochs which have contributed to the world's advance. The dome is beautifully decorated, and the series of statues in bronze by famous American sculptors at intervals on the balustrade enclosing the rotunda make the scene impressive. The resources for research in this library are unsurpassed in the western hemisphere; its service as a national library is unexcelled. Among the most recent important developments in service is the division of aeronautics, established through a benefaction of $140,000 from the Daniel

FEDERAL LAND BANKS ARE BECOMING MORE USEFUL

That the Federal Land banks are an important source of farm mortgage loans and have become relatively more important during the last few months is shown by estimates released today, by the Farm Credit administration which show the aggregate amount of all farm mortgages recorded in the United States by various types of mortgages during the months of October, November and December, 1933. The mortgages recorded by the Federal Land banks on their own account and as agents of the Land bank commissioner increased from 40 per cent of the amount of all mortgages recorded in the United States during October to 69 per cent during December. These estimates are based on data taken from county records by correspondents of the Farm Credit administration and reports from the federal land banks.

The amount of farm mortgage credit extended during December was almost equal to the total amount granted during both of the two preceding months. The estimated amount of farm mortgages recorded in December was $142,332,000 compared to $86,742,000 in November and $66,658,000 in October. The land banks on their own account and as agents of the land bank commissioner loaned $98,081,500 of this new mortgage money during December, $52,792,800 in November and $23,598,000 in October. Approximately 90 per cent of the loans made by the land banks and Land Bank commissioner is used to refinance existing indebtedness.

From October to December the number of farm mortgages recorded by all mortgages rose from 38,000 to 57,095—an increase of 29,095 mortgages. The land banks more than account for the entire increase in farm mortgages during the period, since the mortgages recorded for them increased from 10,210 to 39,430—an increase of 29,220.

Other important sources of mortgage credit decreased in relative importance during the last quarter of 1933. Of the amount of all mortgage credit granted, the proportion extended by individuals decreased from 25 per cent in October to 12.3 per cent in December. For commercial banks, the decrease was from 12 per cent to 5 per cent during the same period; for mortgage companies, from 3 per cent to 4.2 per cent; and for insurance companies, from 3.4 per cent to 2.6 per cent.

Guggenheim fund for aeronautics, now supplemented by an annual congressional appropriation. Until very recently congress alone provided the funds to meet all the library's expenses, excepting one gift of $30,000 received in 1904. In 1925 the library of congress trust fund board was created by congress and authorized to receive and invest funds for permanent endowments. Notable among gifts are those of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., one of which was $450,000 for the acquisition in facsimile copies of source material for American history existing in the archives of foreign countries.

Conoco Travel Bureau Predicts Big Increase in Tourist Traffic

"More tourists will visit Portales during 1934, and more money will be spent in local business establishments by visiting motorists than during either of the last two years."

Such was the prediction made here by Claude Perry, commander of a roomy red, green and white Conoco Travel Bureau bus which rolled into town Saturday, stopping long enough to allow its personnel to inspect local points of scenic and historical interest and check over the tourist assistance now being rendered by Conoco service stations here.

Perry told The Portales Valley News that one reason why an increase in vacation travel to this area seems probable is the fact that 1933 statistics compiled by the Conoco Travel Bureau indicate a decidedly encouraging trend.

In 1932, for example, the Bureau served 143,097 groups of tourists; routed 35,000 of them into or thru this state. But in 1933, a total of 196,415 groups, or an increase of 53,318, was served; 50,733 sent to the state. Since there is an average of four people in each of these groups, the increase in local income which 1934 is likely to bring appears more than impressive. The trip service goal which the Bureau has set for 1934, is 300,000. People aided by the Bureau last year are to be found in every state in the Union, as well as Mexico and every province in Canada.

The Conoco Travel Bureau, Mr. Perry explained, has grown, in four years' time, from a small branch service a few hundred people to the largest organization of its type in America. It was founded by Continental in response to the demands of motor vacationists and everyday travelers who wish to be certain they are taking direct, trouble-free routes to their destinations and yet see the most interesting sights found in the country they journey through.

The Bureau's second major aim is to increase tourist travel to all of the nation's scenic regions. Thru approximately 18,000 company and dealer service stations and of hundreds of newspapers, hotels and chambers of commerce, the Bureau is distributing attractive maps and literature featuring this city and its surroundings, as well as numberless other interesting points in America.

This unusual service, to which every motorist is entitled without spending a cent—even for postage—goes farther than literature distribution. In the Bureau's central offices in Denver, more than a hundred carefully trained employees consult daily road reports from every state in the Union; note even the shortest detours, and incorporate this information into the routes they mark on all maps sent out.

Motorists who apply for free

Travel Bureau service also receive a special "Passport" which helps them keep a careful expense record of their trips, identifies them wherever they may be and secures additional privileges for them at all Conoco stations. Each station acts as a field branch of the Bureau and is prepared to furnish valuable local information to all tourists. All cottage camps and hotels throughout the country have been catalogued and described in free literature now being set out by the Bureau.

Conoco division officers accompanying Perry were H. G. Van Stone, assistant division manager; J. B. Nave, district superintendent. The Conoco bus is equipped with special loud speakers which make it possible to broadcast radio and phonograph music, as well as all announcements made by the bus commander, for almost a mile in any direction.

Free Conoco Travel Bureau service is available to all readers of the Portales Valley News, and may be secured by writing direct to the Bureau's offices in Denver, Colo., or filling out special application cards distributed by all Conoco service stations and dealers.

CWA and Routh Relief Work Cut

Last week an order from Washington, asked that workers on CWA and Routh Relief work be cut 28 per cent, and this week orders were received to make another cut of approximately 12 per cent.

This cuts many men of the work, which is badly needed at this time.

Home Folk Soon to Trade Old Houses for Latest Types

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The trading in of "used houses" at part of the purchase price on new homes just like used cars are turned in on new automobiles, is predicted by men in the lumber industry who are stepping into the field of mass production of dwellings.

They envision a not-far-distant day when Mr. and Mrs. Home Buyer will walk into a house store, look at small scale models, as well as some full-sized ones, pick out a white house with a green roof, or some other color choice, and order it sent up.

At headquarters of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association it is said the industry is speeding up preparation to promote the ready-made residence business, with the lumber retailer "destined to become more and more like the automobile dealer who sells complete cars instead of parts."

There were 24 present, 27 members and four visitors.

We were very glad to have our county extension agent, Mrs. Edith Martin and Mrs. Christie meet with us.

A delicious dinner was served by our hostess. The day was well spent and enjoyed by all.

Our next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. McKinley, which is scheduled to be held March 9.

Miss Mackewin Walton returned Wednesday from several days' visit to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Morris at Clovis.

This is a unit of the Farm Credit association.

Kenneth Jones is really and truly a Portales boy, having been born and reared here. He graduated from the Portales high school and for the past three years he has been attending Woodbury college at Los Angeles, where he majored in business administration and executive secretarial training.

He belongs to the Gamma Sigma Chi fraternity and was editor of the college paper one term. The school recommended very highly.

Portales is glad to hear of his advancement and wishes him success in his new position.

WILL ISSUE ACCOUNT BOOKS

FARMERS WHO COOPERATE WITH AAA EXPECTED TO KEEP RECORDS

The County Extension Agent's office has just received word from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration at Washington that several copies of a special farm account book for cooperators will be distributed shortly. Farmers who cooperate in any of the Adjustment programs and receive the benefit checks will be expected to keep records of their farm business during the coming year.

These records will be used as a basis for issuing of the benefit checks and benefit contracts, and farmers who expect to enjoy these benefits in the future will be required to keep these records.

Some leniency is being shown farmers who do not have records of their business in past years, but this leniency will not be shown in the future, as everyone will now have opportunity to begin keeping records and will know what to expect.

Mrs. Myrtle Bailey moved this week from the Schumpert house to the Sylvester place on State street. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wise are moving into the Schumpert home.

Society for Prevention of Blind Here

Miss Smith of New York, who represents the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness was looking over Portales and Roosevelt county schools in general on Monday and Tuesday.

She inspected the lighting systems of the high school, junior high and grade school, and only found two rooms in the entire system that were below standard as to lighting. She reported that Portales school system was the best she had visited in the state in that respect. She also commended the teachers for their use of shades to regulate the light.

OBITUARY—JASPER ANSON

Jasper Anson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Anson, was born July 22, 1863, in Iowa. When he was nine months of age, his parents moved to Lafayette county, Mo., near Aulville. At the age of 21 he married Minnie L. Osborne in 1884. To this union were born eight children, all of whom were present at the funeral; there were 42 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A month after his marriage he was converted and joined the Christian church at Aulville, Mo., and lived a devoted Christian life until his death. He was a devoted friend to his fellow men, always ready to lend a helping hand to those in trouble or need.

In 1883 he moved to Noble county, Okla., where he homesteaded, taught school and served as a county officer for several years.

He was a pioneer of that part of Oklahoma and made many friends who looked to him in times of sickness and trouble. He was a leader in community, school and church work, being Sunday school superintendent for some years. He was for years very active in Masonic, Odd Fellows and Woodmen fraternal work.

In early Oklahoma days doctors were few, and he and his wife served as doctor and nurse in times of sickness. He was ever ready to cheer and aid others, and devoted much of his time to aiding the sick.

He moved in 1913 to Oenok county, Mo., where he made his home until 1919, when he moved to Portales, N. M. In 1923 he moved to Curry county, and operated a store at Broadview, where the people of that community found him a real friend they could depend on and love for his honest, kind and cheerful disposition. He loved these people and the little village of Broadview dearly and his interests and ambitions were for its upbuilding.

His children joined him in a family reunion at Broadview in June, 1932, also again in June 1933. At that time all enjoyed perfect health.

Mr. Anson was always strong and well until December 23, 1933, when he became ill. He died Saturday morning, Feb. 17, at 12:15.

Mr. Anson leaves to mourn for him a wife and eight children: Adrie J. Anson of Seminole, Okla.; Mrs. Rosie McNeal, Perry, Okla.; Roy L. Anson, Tonkawa, Okla.; Mrs. Althea Donahay of Texico, N. M.; Mrs. John Lee of Claude, N. M.; William Anson of Portales; Harry V. Anson of Seminole, Okla.; Mrs. Belle Smith of Grady; thirty six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren; two brothers; Mervin of Aulville, Mo., and Pete Anson; two sisters, Mrs. Maud Ault, Bould-

BETHEL

We almost reached the 100 mark in Sunday school last Sunday, 98 being our attendance record. Bro. Tyson failed to fill his appointment. We devoted a few minutes to honoring Washington's birthday. Our superintendent gave a short review of the life of Washington and Ola Dutton gave a reading.

Anna Miller has recovered from the measles and is now suffering with erysipelas. They had a physician Sunday and gave her a serum. We hope she will soon be fully recovered.

A family by the name of Williams has moved on the Green place and a family by the name of Parker lives in the small house on the Green place.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman of Friendship have moved into the home recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Traugler and family.

J. H. Boteler of Borger has been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Perkins and son visited his mother, "Grandmother" Boteler in the home of his brother, Henry Boteler at Midway last Sunday.

Fred Stewart has returned from a trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sayer of Eldora, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Norton and son, Roy Jr., of Hartford, Mich., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Woodburn and family for several days. They were looking after property interests and prospecting. We hope they will decide to locate here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers and Mrs. Britt Boyd of Hereford spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sain.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Anderson and Mrs. W. L. Sain attended the funeral of Mr. Anson in Clovis Monday of last week. Friends will remember the Ansons who left here about six years ago. They had lived here several years and made friends, who will be grieved to learn of his passing, which occurred at the home of his daughter, er, Colo.; Mrs. Lola Sutherland, Warsaw, Mo., and many friends.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. P. B. Wallace on February 19, 1934, at the Claude school house, burial being in the Clovis cemetery.

With a heavy grief were laden, Uncancelable by man, For we know you're gone forever And return, you never can, With its big bright hearth, the fire-side

Seldom fails our hearts to cheer But is different for tonight For you're no longer here.

Those who long have turned to wards you Now must seek another guide. And the Dear Friends who have loved you, Cannot linger at your side

We alone are not to miss you There are others, far and near, Who have known and likewise lived you For your friendliness and cheer.

Even the night seems to oppress us As we nurse an aching heart, It brings no longed for consolation But the tears of sorrow stand, Now were grieved and sad and lonely

But this lifeless heap of clay, Shall arise, and you will meet us On that coming judgment day.

Mrs. John Lee at Claude. He was in business at Broadview, having charge of a store and the post-office there. He was the father of eight children, who, with his wife survive. All were present at the funeral. Bethel community extends sympathy to the bereaved loved ones and friends.

The writer omitted the name of Chester Anderson from the list of guests in the Lex Cooper home a week ago last Sunday.

One of our old landmarks is disappearing. A large two-story home has been torn down and remodeled into a small house by Mr. Dan Smith. While the writer does not know of the history of this place, I am sure it would make an interesting story.

Several of the Bethel folks have been having the flu.

One of the most enjoyable occasions we have had in Bethel was a surprise birthday dinner for Mrs. A. C. Woodburn last Sunday. After Sunday school a large crowd took dinner and followed Mr. and Mrs. Woodburn home. There were 65 present as follows: Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Anderson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Jones and children, J. Vance Miller, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ham and Mrs. Tex Cooper and children, Mr. and Mrs. Doy Dutton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stewart and children, Manuel Elkins, Florence Elkins, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Carsrud, Mrs. D. Sherman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Evert Foster, Mrs. Lawrence Todd and daughter, Billy Joe Tucker, Hazel Tucker, Leander Groves, Frank Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Adams and son, and the Woodburn family. We all wish for Mrs. Woodburn many more such happy birthdays. Mrs. R. A. Ham baked a lovely birthday cake.

CHURCH OF CHRIST (Pine and Kansas Sts.)

Our revival closed Sunday night February 18. Despite the epidemic of measles the attendance was good. The straight-forward Bible preaching of the young evangelist created quite an interest.

There were 15 added to the congregation. Five more were added last Sunday, three by baptism and two by membership transfer.

Our regular schedule of work has been resumed. We welcome visitors to our regular services, just as we did to the revival services. Remember, you will always hear the gospel preached from our pulpit. Preaching Sunday morning at 11 and at 7 in the evening. Bible school begins at 10 in the morning.

C. A. Buchanan, Eugene Dement and Mrs. A. G. Ross of Portales, and about a dozen from Clovis attended the lecture program at Abilene Christian college at Abilene, Texas, last week. This was one of the strongest of the 17 annual lectureships that the college has given. The college has a million dollar plant nor clear of debt. A generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hardin during the lecture week cleared out a debt of $233,000 against the school. There is much rejoicing over this in the brotherhood.

This was one of the strongest of the 17 annual lectureships that the college has given. The college has a million dollar plant nor clear of debt. A generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hardin during the lecture week cleared out a debt of $233,000 against the school. There is much rejoicing over this in the brotherhood.

One of our old landmarks is disappearing. A large two-story home has been torn down and remodeled into a small house by Mr. Dan Smith. While the writer does not know of the history of this place, I am sure it would make an interesting story.

Orel Boteler of Artesia was visiting in Bethel last week.

Several of the Bethel folks have been having the flu.

There were 15 added to the congregation. Five more were added last Sunday, three by baptism and two by membership transfer.

ATTRACTIVE STORE LIGHTING DRAWS TRADE

Have you ever noticed how people have a tendency to stop at attractive, adequately-lighted windows, and usually pass the dim, poorly-lighted ones by? And in stores where there is plentiful illumination, are the stores in which business always seem to thrive? The merchants who employ this most economical sales force know from experience that a good part of their business can be attributed to good lighting, as it makes shopping easier.

"LIGHT UP" FOR PROFIT!

You, too, Mr. Merchant, needn't envy the fellow who seems to get all the trade. You can do the same good business as he with a small investment in that powerful sales force, GOOD LIGHTING. The cost of good lighting is negligible when you find that in no small measure it helps you to sell merchandise. Why not resolve today to employ this sure-fire attention and business getter...for PROFIT?

Cucumber Tree Hardestof the Magnolia Family

The cucumber tree is the hardest magnolia native to eastern North America. In appearance it suggests a tropical tree, for its leaves and flowers are large. It is found from western New York to Illinois, Georgia and Arkansas. A rich, moist woods, with abundant sunlight is its favorite home. Good wood, rapid growth, few foes are among its principal merits. It is a beautiful tree for lawns and parks. The leaves are simple, thin, egg-shaped, four to twelve inches long, pointed at apex, smooth along margin. They fall in response to first frost. The flowers are large, upright, solitary, bell-shaped, about three inches long, greenish, tinged with yellow; difficult to see among foliage. The fruit of a red cucumber-like mass, two or three inches long, containing scarlet, pea-size seeds, suspended by long, slender white threads at maturity. The bark is grayish to brown, and breaks up into long furrows. The twigs are smooth, shiny, bitter, rather stout, brown, marked with crescent shaped leaf-scars. The buds are conical, sharp-pointed about one-half of an inch long, and pale silky. The wood is soft, weak, brittle, and light yellowish to reddish-brown in color.

Balkan States, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia

The Balkan states comprise Yugoslavia (the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes), Albania, Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania. Though Rumania is not geographically a part of the Balkan peninsula, it is practically a Balkan state.

Austria is a republic, its status as a republic having been proclaimed on November 12, 1918. It is made up of the provinces of Vienna, Burgenland, Lower Austria, Upper Austria, Salzburg, Styria, Carinthia, Tyrol and Vorarlberg.

Hungary, like Australia, is also a separate independent country, but comprises only about one-third of the area of the former kingdom. It was proclaimed an independent republic on November 10, 1918.

Czechoslovakia is another country having a republican form of government in consequence of the World war. The Czechoslovak state came into existence on October 28, 1918, and consists of Bohemia, Moravia, Slovakia, Silesia and Ruthenia (sub-Carpathian Russia)—territories which formerly lay chiefly within the empire of Austria-Hungary, with slight additions of territory formerly by German and Russian.

District of Columbia

When the District of Columbia was formed in accordance with the act of congress approved July 16, 1790, and amended March 3, 1791, there were already two town sites laid out within the present boundaries of the city east of Rock creek. One, south of the Capitol in the vicinity of the United States Engineers' headquarters, was known as Carrollburg, and the other, not far west of the White House, was known as Hamburg or Funktown, a part of which is well known to old-timers as Foggy Bottom. The plat of Hamburg was recorded at Upper Marlboro, Md., October 23, 1771, and both towns, therefore, came into existence, at least on paper, prior to the War of the American Revolution. Hamburg was laid out by Jacob Funk, and for this reason is frequently referred to in early records as "Funktown."

Mule Tougher Than Horse

The mule, the offspring of a female horse and a male ass, is more easily kept, can subsist upon a greater variety of food and endure heat, hunger and thirst better than the horse. It also generally lives to a greater age and is less susceptible to diseases. Moreover no other beast of burden is so sure footed and so capable of enduring fatigue. Although a male horse is sometimes crossed with a female ass to produce what is known as the "jenny," the mule is far superior to this last-named hybrid in size and strength as well as in appearance.

The Southern Cross

The Southern Cross is the popular name for a southern constellation situated near the Antarctic circle. It consists of four bright stars. The two brilliant stars which mark the summit and foot have nearly the same right ascension. The constellation, therefore, is almost vertical when passing the meridian, and these two stars act as pointers to the Antarctic circle. The Southern Cross is visible all over the southern hemisphere and in the northern hemisphere up to about latitude 25 degrees N.

Arcturus

Arcturus is some sun. It is 230 times as bright as our little sun which you complain so much about when you have to work out in it. The astronomers' name for Arcturus is "Alpha Bootes." "Alpha" (A in the Greek alphabet) means that it is the brightest star in the constellation of Bootes. "Bootes" means the Bear Hunter. Bootes, in the ancient mythology, was supposed to be chasing the Great Bear around the pole, with his hunting dog.—Answers Magazine.

Carried Jackknife Blade in Brain 15 Years Without Knowing It

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Carrying a jackknife blade in one's brain is not so bad, if one doesn't know it is there, but ultimately it will do queer things.

The record case for this state of affairs, a World War soldier who unknowingly carried such a blade for 15 years, was described Saturday at the Eastman Kodak company.

The blade, half as long as his nose, has been successfully removed from the brain of James P. Sherry, an employee of the company.

Sherry, a corporal in company C, 305th field signal battalion, 80th division, was struck in the elbow with shrapnel while in the Argonne. For hours he was dazed. He was treated for the elbow injury and no other wounds were noticed.

After the war he settled down here, married and has three children. Recently one leg became lame. He had severe headaches. He went to Dr. Charles S. Gallaher, who found an additional suspicious symptom in an abnormal condition of the eye opposite the lame leg.

On an X-ray plate the knife blade showed vividly. It was thrust straight into the brain. Its point of entry was on the left side, just about at the level where hair would be parted on the side.

The explanation now advanced is that the Germans, short of materials, were using scrap metal in their shrapnel, that this blade was in the shrapnel burst; that it probably went into the skull red hot, and cauterized the wound. Examination of the scalp showed a very fine scar.

Harold Sweetland left Sunday night for Wichita, Kansas, on a business trip. He will probably be gone several weeks.

ATTENTION TOMATO GROWERS

In order that you may plan your crop, we make the following announcement:

It is our intention to buy tomatoes for 1934 in the same manner as last season, paying for them according to grade. The average price paid for all grades last season was $12.05 per ton. If prices of canned tomatoes are higher at selling time, our price for tomatoes will be advanced accordingly.

We believe we will be able to handle all the tomatoes suitable for canning, which will be offered.

While green beans will be a sideline with us, we will be in the market for a considerable portion of the surplus crop at a price that will be profitable to the grower.

We recommend Marglobe and Bonny Best Seed. We do not have seed for sale.
