Gov. Romney Urged To Enter Race

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan said today that former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has urged him to offer a "clear choice" between moderate Republicans and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in the contest for the GOP presidential nomination.

Romney told a news conference after a closed-door discussion with Nixon at the 56th annual Governors' Conference that several other governors "have been urging me to become a candidate."

The Michigan chief executive said he would take this under consideration. Previously, he had said that he had committed himself to the voters of Michigan not to seek national office this year and could only accept a convention draft.

Any decision he makes will not be at variance with his previous commitments, Romney said.

The Michigan governor declined to name the state executives he said were urging him to take a more active role. Previously he had conferred with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania. He and his two colleagues said after that meeting that their discussion was limited to platform proposals.

Romney said the important thing was to give Republicans a choice at the party convention between a candidate who could support the traditional principles of the party and one like Goldwater, who might not agree to a forward-looking platform.

WHEN THE Orifilio Capote family left Cuba in March they left behind all that they owned of worldly goods. They traded that for something of far greater value—the chance to be with their children, and once again be a family, and to be in a free country. Lew Capote shows his mother and father a scrapbook that his "foster family,' the Clyde Halls, prepared during his two-year visit with them. Included in the book are several clippings about Little League, including the last which told of Lew's being the winning pitcher for his team the day before he left for Houston with his family.

Jury Trial Amendment Added To Rights Bill

New Head For Hospital Is Chosen

A special meeting of the Cogdell Hospital board was called Monday night.

The meeting was called by board chairman Howard Hogue after he received a call from George Summerlin who had been hired by the board as the new administrator of the hospital last Thursday night.

Summerlin told Hogue that the hospital in Tyler where he is assistant administrator had acquired a 180 bed nursing home over the weekend, and he did not feel that it would be right for him to leave at this time.

Three applicants met with the board and a committee of doctors last Thursday. All of the applicants were acceptable to both the board and the doctors, and board members admitted that the decision was a difficult one.

James P. Timmons, 36, of San Angelo was one of the three who were interviewed Thursday. When called yesterday, he came to Snyder and accepted the position of administrator.

Timmons is a 1955 graduate of the University of Oklahoma. He is married and the father of two sons aged 9 and 4, and two daughters, aged 7 and 5. They are members of the Baptist Church.

The new administrator was employed as an accountant with the San Antonio CPA firm of Eaton and Huddle, following his graduation from OU. That firm merged with the national accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

Timmons was then employed as the auditor for the Bexar County Hospital District in San Antonio, and later became assistant administrator of the hospital district in 1958. He has been with the Clinic Hospital of San Angelo for about three months.

Timmons said that he would assume his duties here within 30 days or less. Further he said that he expected to make several visits to Snyder before he actually took over the position of administrator.

Federal School Plan Retained

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate wrote a jury trial amendment into the civil rights bill today, then defeated a proposal to knock out provisions for government-financed training in how to handle school desegregation problems.

In the first votes on the bill in more than a month, a roll call of 51-48 approved a jury trial amendment offered by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky.

It would guarantee jury trials in all criminal contempts arising from the measure except in voting rights cases.

Next the Senate turned down a proposal by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, to eliminate three sections of the school desegregation title of the bill.

Under these sections, the U.S. Office of Education could arrange for and finance institutes to train school personnel in dealing with desegregation problems, could pay stipends to those attending the institutes, and could make grants to school boards to pay at least part of the cost of local training of personnel to handle desegregation problems and to help the boards hire specialists to advise on such problems.

The vote against this was 58 to 40.

The adoption of Morton's amendment was a defeat for administration forces but they believed it might help them get the Senate to adopt Wednesday a limitation on debate by swaying some Republican votes.

In advance of the test, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he is "cautiously optimistic" that the Senate will vote for cloture.

Mansfield made this report to President Johnson at the weekly White House breakfast of Democratic congressional leaders.

"We believe that reasonable men are now ready to vote," Mansfield said.

The jury trial amendment was offered by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., and was supported by Southerners, who have been fighting the bill for 74 days.

Thirty-one Democrats and 20 Republicans voted for the amendment. Voting against it were 35 Democrats and 13 Republicans.

One of the Republicans who supported the amendment was Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the front runner for the GOP presidential nomination.

It was the Senate's first vote in relation to the bill since May 6.

Both Texas senators, John Tower, R, and Ralph Yarborough, D, voted with the majority for the Morton amendment.

Court Action Expected In Cape Strike

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Court action was expected today in an effort to halt picketing which has stopped almost all contruction at this space facility.

The Brotherhood of Maintenance Way Employes, one of 11 non-operating unions on strike against the Florida East Coast Railroad since Jan. 23, 1963, set up picket lines Monday to protest use of Florida East Coast rails to supply major contractors on the cape.

Castro Rule Drives Cubans From Homes

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following story was written two weeks ago. Publication was held up until today, however, because of Mr. Capote's request. His 80-year-old father and his brother finally were permitted to leave Cuba, some four weeks after they had been told they could leave, and word of their safe arrival in Mexico last week has just been received. Mr. Caport thought it best that this story be delayed until that word came.)

By DICK ROBERTS

What things are really important? What is really valuable?

Only when one has to make a decision does one really take the time to answer these questions.

Orfilio Capote made his decisions about two years ago when the new face of Cuba under Castro became clear. In 1961 half of his ranch had been "confiscated" by the communists.

Mr. Capote decided that it was just a matter of time before the rest would go. And that was when he decided his children must leave.

His son, Lew, then 10 years old, came to live with the Clyde Hall family in Snyder. Hall and Capote had been roommates at Texas A&M, and had kept in contact over the years.

The Halls had not heard from the Capotes, however, since the Castro revolution began, before the letter inquiring about the possibility of Lew's coming to Snyder for an indefinite stay. Lew and his sister, Louisa, then 14, were then at the home of an aunt in Puerto Rico.

Mr. Capote said then he didn't know how long it would be before it would be safe to bring his children back to Cuba.

That day hasn't come yet.

As Mr. Capote had predicted, Castro did not stop with taking just a part of his holdings. In October of 1963, the Capote family was "relieved" of everything they owned except their house and personal property.

It was then that they made a firm resolution to leave Cuba.

Mr. Capote said that "you can't leave unless you have something to leave. Their home is all that most folks have to leave — that's all we had."

When a Cuban decides to leave, and gets a visa for Mexico, he knows what he can take with him. A man can take three suits and two pairs of shoes. A woman may take five dresses and two pairs of shoes.

The Capotes thought they were conforming to the rules. They left their home, their car, their money — everything but the suits, dresses and shoes. Except that Mrs. Capote, probably out of habit, put on a pair of earrings.

Castro had not said that anyone could take earrings out of Cuba. As a matter of fact he had not said that a person could even leave Cuba wearing a wedding band. Castro's guards removed both from Mrs. Capote.

Suitcases weren't on the list either, and the Capotes were carrying their clothes in their hands as they boarded the airplane. And although they were leaving everything behind except what they had in their hands, it was a mighty happy day.

But it was happy for only a short time. Without explanation, out over international waters, the aircraft turned back to Havana. What thoughts went through the minds of each of the passengers can only be guessed.

It had happened before that the Capotes' names had been at the head of the list, only to be put once again at the bottom. Would this happen again to them?

Actually, it was engine trouble that made the ship return, and finally, after three days of being kept at the airport, the Capotes finally left Cuba. The date was March 8 — a date they'll remember.

Mr. Capote said he didn't mind leaving his American - made Mercury automobile behind. They would probably give the car to a Russian or Czechoslovakian, he said, and whoever got it would sure have a problem finding tires.

It's pretty hard, Mr. Capote

Eight Killed In Montana Floodwaters

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Floods described as the worst in memory swept out of Montana's northwestern mountains Monday, killing at least eight persons, sweeping away dams and bridges and leaving hundreds of residents isolated. Rain pelted the area for the fifth straight day.

Authorities said the death toll included five members of one Blackfeet Indian family.

A girl was reported drowned in Valier, on the Indian reservation, and two motorists were killed when their vehicles plunged into raging streams.

In Glacier National Park, more than 200 persons were reported cut off by flooded roads or washed-out bridges. Many were park employes preparing for the summer tourist season.

Col. Howard McKinney of the Montana National Guard said the floods were the greatest natural disaster the state has ever suffered.

Damage estimates ranged into the millions of dollars.

Rescue workers were blocked in many places by washed-out bridges and long stretches of inundated highway. At least 20 bridges and four earthen dams were carried away by the pounding water.

Powered by near-record rains and late-melting mountain snowpacks, the floods hit by surprise.

Center of the flood area was northwest of Great Falls where the surging streams coursed through small communities and ranch homes.

Despite poor flying weather, one jet-powered Air Force helicopter penetrated the flood-stricken area.

With a sling and hoist, Air Force medics lifted seven persons from perches ranging from tree limbs to roof tops. An Air Force spokesman said one man was taken from a roof just as it started to go under water.

Destruction was heaviest in the small communities of Augusta, Choteau, Browning and Dupuyer.

Dams burst near Choteau, Browning, Dupuyer and East Glacier sending walls of water up to 30 feet high over the sparsely populated area.

Col. McKinney set up a rescue operations center in Helena, the state capital, after acting Gov. Dave Manning declared the floods a state emergency. Gov. Tim Babcock was in Cleveland at the National Governors Conference.

In hard-hit Choteau, all 2,000 residents left their homes to seek shelter overnight in a church and country club on higher ground.

Nearly 1,000 persons were housed in emergency accommodations in Great Falls.

Typhoid vaccine was dispatched to a number of cities where community drinking water was polluted by floodwaters. The dams that broke at Choteau and East Glacier held city water supplies.

Cool Front Stalls In Texas Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A weak cool front stalled after crossing the Texas Panhandle and prospects for heat relief faded over the rest of the state today.

South winds continued to spread warm air across other sections, promising some of the highest temperatures in the nation for a fourth straight day.

The forward edge of the cool front lost its push near Lubbock on the South Plains, and revised forecasts dropped a mention of possible thundershowers in the Panhandle.

Weather Bureau observers saw a prospect for moisture only in a few showers near the coast and in extreme Southwest Texas.

SEARCH CONTINUES

Pilot Rumored Taken By Reds

By ANTOINE YARED

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—U.S. Embassy spokesman said today search for a U.S. pilot shot down Saturday over Communist territory is continuing despite reports that he has been captured by the Red Pathet Lao.

The spokesman said there is nothing conclusive about the reports but admitted the pilot was not sighted by rescue planes on Monday and hopes for his recovery fade with each day.

The spokesman said the downed flier had been spotted over the weekend but heavy Communist ground fire prevented helicopters from picking him up.

Unofficial reports earlier had said at least two and possibly five rescue craft were shot up during the first two days of search operations.

British and other diplomats expect to get word of the pilot's fate when they fly to Khang Khay on Wednesday for atlks with Prince Souphanouvong, head of the Pathet Lao.

Reliable sources said the Pathet Lao headquarters in Khang Khay informed its officials in Vientiane of the capture of Lt. Charles F. Klusmann, 30, of San Diego, Calif., who had parachuted from his Crusader jet tighter on Saturday.

A U.S. helicopter rescued Cmdr. Doyle W. Lynn of La Mesa, Calif., Monday and flew him back to the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk in the South China Sea. Lynn's Crusader was hit Sunday while he was escorting a reconnaissance mission.

The Pathet Lao has held another American flier, a civilian, for nine months.

Eugene Debruin of Kaukauna, Wis., a flier for the Air America charter company, was captured last September when his transport plane was shot down in southern Laos.

Neutralist Laotian forces were believed slowly pulling out of a hill position northwest of the Plaine des Jarres region under Communist artillery and mortar fire.

A high neutralist military source said his troops were still holding sections of the high ground around Phou Koutj, but that he did not expect them to hang on much longer.

Turmoil Brews In Brazil As Ex-President Purged

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — New political turmoil threatened Brazil today because of the purge of Juscelino Kubitschek, banned from politics for 10 years to keep him from getting the presidency again.

President Humberto Castello Branco signed a decree ousting Kubitschek from his Senate seat and removing the political rights of the powerful political leader who had been the leading contender for the presidency in October 1965.

The suave former society surgeon joined more than 200 persons whose political rights have been suspended since President Joao Goulart and his leftist regime were overthrown April 1. Former Presidents Goulart and Janio Quadros, who resigned in August 1961, also have lost political rights.

"My enemies fear me because they are afraid of the manifestation of the people," said Kubitschek, "and thus with this brutal act they (the government) remove me from the road of elections—which are the only valid manifestation in a truly democratic regime."

The ouster could prompt Kubitschek's Social Democratic party, largest in Brazil, to withdraw support from Castello Branco's government. A party spokesman said party leaders would meet to decide on a course of action.

Several thousand supporters massed outside Kubitschek's apartment house in Rio Monday night, singing the national anthem and cheering the former president. They carried him through the streets on their shoulders.

A clash threatened when followers of Kubitschek's old foe Carlos Lacerda, governor of Guanabara State and a rival presidential candidate, arrived and began jeering. They dispersed when the Kubitschek crowd continued to grow.

Kubitschek came to prominence as governor of Minas Gerais State during the final term of Getulio Vargas, who committed suicide in August 1954.

Campaigning for president on a pledge to make Brazil an industrial giant, he was elected and launched his regime with Goulart as vice president on Jan. 31, 1956.

As president, he opened Brazil's doors to foreign investment, transforming the land into South America's most industrialized nation.

The constitution barred Kubitschek from re-election and Quadros won the presidency in 1960. Goulart, Quadros' vice president also, moved up when Quadros resigned in 1961.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every Mother's Day my married children "honor" me by bringing their families to me to feed. This Mother's Day I had 22 here. All the men played cards, and the girls sat in the living room laughing and gossiping while I was in the kitchen doing all the work. Pa helped me dry the dishes. I love my children and grandchildren, but I am getting too old to work like this. If I am still around next year, how can I let them know that I would rather not be "honored" like this again without hurting their feelings?

GETTING OLD

DEAR GETTING: What feelings? Tell all your children before Mother's Day that Dad is taking you out for dinner. And then see that he does, if you have to use the money you've stashed away in the sugar bowl to help him.

DEAR ABBY: You said in your column that if a boy says something dirty or out of line in front of a girl, and the girl's brother hears it, it is his place to stand up for his sister and tell the boy off. What if a girl doesn't have a brother? My girl friend and I talked over this problem because it has happened to us. She says if a boy says something dirty, the girl should ignore it. What do you think?

ANOTHER FRESHMAN

DEAR FRESHMEN: To ignore offensive language implies that it has your approval. A girl should tell a boy who gets out of line in this manner that he should watch his language. And in no uncertain terms!

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman physician with three children who don't like to do dishes. I told my problem to a remarkable patient of mine who not only raised her own family but raised several foster children, and did a wonderful job. She sent me a copy of a little poem that she keeps pasted above her dirty dishes.

"Thank God for dirty dishes,
They have a tale to tell;
While other folks go hungry,
We're eating very well.
With Home and Health and Happiness
We shouldn't want to fuss,
For by this stack of evidence,
God's very good to us!"

Since I have put up this sign I have had no complaints.

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP)—A four-story brick building in downtown Parkersburg collapsed shortly before noon today, trapping an undetermined number of shoppers and clerks.

There was no immediate report of fatalities.

"It's a catastrophe," said a Parkersburg policewoman handling emergency calls.

The outside of the building was being renovated when the collapse occurred. Workmen were on scaffolding in front of the structure.

Cyprus Is Again Alerted For Invasion

ATHNS, Greece (AP) — Greek armed forces have been placed on the alert again amid new fears that Turkey is about to stage its long-threatened invasion of Cyprus.

"We are on the eve of an outbreak of war," said a high Greek government source.

The invasion port of Iskenderun in southeast Turkey, home base of the Turkish standby force, reported no unusual activity. Reports Monday night said officers of the force were attending a party at the army club.

Both Greece and the Greek Cypriot government of Cyprus ordered an alert over the weekend, but pressure from the United States was said to have averted any Turkish move.

The Greek government source said the new alert was ordered after information was received that "Turkey is prepared to invade the island of Cyprus tonight or early tomorrow."

Greek Foreign Minister Stavros Costapoulos called in U.S. Ambassador Henry Labouisse and British Ambassador Sir Ralph Murray to discuss the situation.

In Ankara, the Turkish capital, a high source said the Turkish government was sending a note to President Johnson asserting that the sole aim of a Turkish landing on Cyprus would be to preserve the present constitution and not to enforce partition of the island between the rival Cypriot factions.

Castro Rule—

said, to make those 20 - inch Russian tires fit those 15 - inch Mercury wheels.

But even as the Russians and Czechs took over his property, Mr. Capote never complained. His next door neighbor told them he didn't like what they were doing, and he is now in prison for 20 years. The new rulers of Cuba don't like objections.

Mr. Capote said that he wondered how Castro's prisoners live. To describe the food in the prisons, he just shook his head.

Even outside of prison, food is a problem in today's Cuba.

Everyone is rationed, Mr. Capote said. Some typical rations include 4 ounces of coffee per person per month; three pounds of rice per person per month; and four ounces of meat per person per week.

From his dairy herd, before Castro came, Mr. Capote used to sell about 800 quarts of milk a day. Now milk is sold for children up to seven years of age, or to those who are over 65 years old. Mr. Capote's father was one of the "lucky" ones. He's 82, and gets a quart of milk every now and then.

Food in Cuba can only be bought at the prescribed neighborhood store. A city with the population of Snyder, Mr. Capote said, would have no more than five stores, each one, of course, operated by the state.

The stores sell not only food, but clothing and other items as well.

It is permitted for a person to carry food from the store to his home. No further. If a person plans a trip, he must get permission to take his food with him, listing each item he is taking.

Since a person can only buy at his prescribed store, he will naturally have to take food with him, even to the next town, unless he wants to come home for every meal.

Before Castro came, gasoline cost 30 cents per gallon in Havana, and 32 cents in the provinces. Castro said that Cuba was spending $60 million a year for American gasoline, and that was too much. They could save $10 million a year by buying Russian gasoline, he said.

"That same Castro now says that Russian gasoline is too far away," Mr. Capote said. That's the reason Castro gives for raising the price of gasoline to 60 cents a gallon, he added.

Using gasoline and the refineries as an example, Mr. Capote said that the Cuban people never expected things to happen as they did under Castro. The Cubans, he said, just didn't believe that the United States and the big oil and sugar companies would permit Castro to seize their property. They just never believed that he could go so far.

But it did happen, and now the Cubans are completely dominated. "Ten men with guns could hold your town of Snyder if no one else had a gun," Mr. Capote explained.

But this is just part of the story. The dictators also keep control of the parents through their children.

The children are required to go to school. Communist schools. If they don't go, they get no ration books for shoes or clothes. A parent, even if he might not like what his child is being taught, will let that child go to school so that he can get the necessities of life.

Mr. Capote said that the Halls had saved his son's life. Not his physical life, he was quick to explain, but his emotional life. The communists, he said, were good at making "believers" out of the youngsters. So much so, that they would even become informers on their own parents if the parents did not follow the "prescribed" pattern of thinking.

If a parent contradicts the child, the child reports that "non - conformist" thinking to the school.

What can a parent do? They can do what the Capotes did—they can send their children away if they have someone to whom to send them. Some 20,000 children like Lew are in the United States. And some 375,000 Cuban adults, like the Capotes, are now scattered around the world — refugees from their homeland, cut off from their friends and their businesses, but nonetheless glad to be anywhere but in Cuba.

The Capotes, on their arrival in Mexico, contacted the Halls. At first it was planned that the Halls would take Lew to visit them there since it seemed that it might take some time to obtain a visa.

But Mr. Hall called Earl Rudder, president of Texas A&M and told him of ex-Aggie Capote's problem. Rudder called Omar Burleson, United States representative for this area, and Burleson took immediate action on getting a reugee visa issued for Mr. and Mrs. Capote. A resident visa will take longer, but at least they were able to come to Texas without too long a wait.

Now Mr. Capote said the Russians and Czechs are talking about "wanting" the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo. And all the Cubans are "afraid."

The chances of his going back seem to be getting less and less every day.

"The United States is like a beautiful woman" Mr. Capote said. "All of Cuba is just waiting for her to speak."

Back-To-Work Balloting Due In Hillsdale Strike

By CHARLES C. CAIN

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — Workers at the strife-torn Essex Wire Corp. were to hold a back-to-work vote today in the wake of a warning from Gov. George W. Romney that settlement of the 102-day-old, violence-ridden strike is of vital interest to the public.

Officials of Essex and of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL - CIO, expressed optimism that the 180 strikers would approve the modified agreement worked out Monday at a six-hour meeting with federal and state mediators in Detroit.

Gov. Romney made a personal appeal to the disputants to "remember that the public interest is of greater importance than that of either party."

Frank Gallucci, vice president and legal representative of Essex, and Robert Klingensmith, administrative aide to IUE President James Carey, expressed confidence the modified agreement would be accepted at the mid-afternoon voting session today.

Gov. Romney, Carey and top officials of Essex hammered out broad outlines of a proposed new contract at an all-night session in the governor's office in Lansing last Saturday. Members of the striking IUE Local 810 at Hillsdale decided Sunday not to take a ratification vote, pending clarification of issues, and sent the pact back to the local's bargaining committee.

Gallucci said, "Part of the problem was that the union local membership was asked to absorb in a three—or four—hour meeting all the details that we had worked out with the union in more than seven months of bargaining."

Some 200 Michigan National Guardsmen and about 60 Michigan state police troopers patrolled at the strike-bound plant, scene of picket-line disorders and outbreaks of violence during the long strike.

Gallucci said the offer was a four-year pact which would give workers an estimated 33 cents increase over the $2.47 an hour he said production workers now average.

First Lady Tells Co-Eds Intelligence No Threat

CAMBRIDG, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson advised the girls of Radcliffe today not to fear "your intelligence is a threat to your femininity."

"The man you marry," she told the graduating class, "will want you to be what you are—not only his wife and the mother of his children, but a person in your own right, with drives and desires, talents and skills of your own."

Noting that the girls of Radcliffe, an affiliate of Harvard, pride themselves on casual dress, she said "nevertheless, I do not see among you any of those ungainly Thurber females"—pictured by the late author-cartoonist James Thurber — "with stones poised to crush the nearest male skull—and I trust you male acquaintances include none of those equally ungainly Thurber men, hissing, 'Where did you get those great brown eyes and that tiny mind?'"

Ultimately, she said in her remarks prepared for the Radcliffe baccalaureate exercises at Memorial church on the Harvard Campus, the issues "come back to the spirit in which you can direct your own life—how happily can you marry both man and job; or how happily you can marry one of them."

She urged them to take part in the business of "unfinished America" — from teaching the young to helping the elderly.

Harvesting Is Slowed

AUSTIN (AP) — Wet fields slowed Texas wheat harvesting last week and a few fields across the state were damaged by hail, wind and rain, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Monday.

Dryland wheat on the high plains is ready to combine as soon as fields are dry. Cotton planting is 88 per cent complete and sorghum planting is 76 per cent complete, with some wet fields in the northwest slowing planting.

In the Rio Grande Valley, melons, tomatoes and green peppers account for most of last week's vegetable shipments, with a lighter than normal volume of these crops.

Cantaloup and honey dew melon harvest continues active at Laredo, and onions continue to move in good volume in the winter garden area. Sweet corn, potatoes and cucumbers are in good supply in San Antonio.

Range feed conditions improved following last week's rain.

Great-Grandmother Tells Of Close Call

FORT WORTH (AP)—"I saw the train then," said the great grandmother.

"It was about 50 feet away and whistling, whistling, whistling."

Mrs. George Hester, 61, was relating how she escaped serious injury Monday when she leaped from her stalled car moments before it was demolished by a passenger train.

Mrs. Hester said her auto became wedged at a train crossing when a wheel slipped off the edge of the road. She tried to lurch the car forward and backward, then jumped out at the last moment.

She bruised her hip and head.

Johnson Quietly Amasses Votes

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has been quietly piling up Democratic delegate votes while the political spotlight focused on the Republican presidential nomination race. He already has more than half the number needed for his expected nomination.

The President now has 671 first-ballot votes stemming from primaries, state convention actions or personally stated preference, an Associated Press survey showed today.

This is about 58 per cent of the 1,158½ votes required for the nomination at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City in August.

There has been little doubt that Johnson—although he has not yet announced his candidacy—will win the nomination on the first ballot, perhaps by acclamation.

The only avowed candidate, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama has 38 first-ballot votes—all from Alabama. He might draw scattered support from other Southern delegations which so far have listed themselves as uncommitted. These include South Carolina and Louisiana. The Mississippi delegation has not been chosen yet.

Unlike the Republicans, who follow a one-man, one-vote policy, the Democrats will have many more delegates than the 2,316 votes authorized for their convention. Some delegates will have one-half of a vote and in a few cases they'll have one-third of a vote.

Besides the 671 votes already committed to him, Johnson is expected to pick up 244 votes from four states in which stand-in candidates won presidential primaries. They are Ohio, Indiana, Maryland and Wisconsin.

There are 621 votes in the hands of delegates who so far list themselves as technically uncommitted. Almost all are expected to vote for Johnson.

In all, delegates to cast 1,574 of the 2,316 convention votes have been selected.

Senator Notes 61st Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., celebrated his 61st birthday Monday and ribbed his home state Republicans.

The senator, speaking at a news conference, voiced appreciation to the more than 900,000 persons who voted for him in the May 2nd Democratic primary in which he won renomination.

He reminded Texas Republicans this vote was more than the total of the Republican vote in both the first and run-off primaries plus that received by Gordon McLendon, whom Yarborough defeated.

Of the Republican run-off primary last Saturday, in which George Bush of Houston was picked to oppose Yarborough in the November general election, the senator said it was one of the most expensive on a vote-cast basis ever seen in Texas.

He noted that Bush received 49,658 votes and estimated that the campaign expenses were four dollars per vote as compared to something over three dollars in the first primary.

A&M Loses In Baseball World Series

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

OMAHA (AP)—Maine's sophomores, led by a coach who did not want a scouting report, provided the upset and Minnesota started in its customary election year style in the rain-shortened first round of the college baseball world series Monday.

Maine was playing most of the hitters to pull in its 5-1 victory that ended a 13-game Seton Hall winning streak. But Coach Jack Butterfield said he was planning with rookie Joe Ferris in mind.

"He is not overpowering but we knew if he got the ball over right they would pull," Butterfield said. "I didn't try for a scouting report because I don't always trust somebody else's judgment.

"It's better to not know anything than to clutter the kids' minds with information that isn't always true."

Ferris had a six-hitter. Dick De Varney and Carl Merrill, both sophomores, were the hitting heroes for the Yankee Conference champions.

Minnesota's Big Ten champs stopped Texas A&M 7-3 behind right hander Joe Pollock with a 16-hit attack led by Ron Wojciak and Bill Davis. Coach Dick Siebert said, "I didn't even think about lifting Pollock when they tied it 3-3 in the seventh because he's my ace."

Evidence Is Presented In Gen. Walker's Libel Suit

FORT WORTH (AP)—Attorneys for former Maj. Gen Edwin A. Walker began presenting evidence today in his $2 million libel suit against The Associated Press.

A jury of four women and eight men was selected Monday, clearing the way for presentation of evidence by the plaintiff on the second day of the civil suit. All 12 jurors must agree to any verdict returned to State District Court Judge Charles J. Murray.

The Associated Press, as defendant, will present its evidence after the plaintiff.

Walker, 54, contends Associated Press stories falsely accused him of leading a charge during the 1962 civil rights riot at the University of Mississippi, in Oxford, Miss. Walker's chief attorney, Clyde Watts, Oklahoma City, said in his opening statement that Walker did not lead any charge, and did not assume command of the riot crowd.

"We are not trying a segregation or integration case," said J. A. Goocy, Associated Press attorney, in his opening statement. "We are trying the case of an individual trying to defy the courts and laws of this land."

The Associated Press answer to Walker's suit says that assessment of any damages would be "a restraint on the freedom of press" as guaranteed by the U. S. and Texas Constitutions.

Gooch said the defense would prove that Associated Press stories concerning Walker's actions at Oxford "were and are true in fact and substance."

Watts said in his opening statement that Walker went to Oxford in protest "of making a military operation out of a civilian crisis." Watts said Walker, who commanded federal troops at the Little Rock school integration riot, also protested the diversion of the attention of American people and of American military power from the Cuban crisis.

Leaves Retirement For Wightman Cup

BECKENHAM, England (AP)—Angela Mortimer, one of England's top tennis players until a few years ago, has come out of retirement to help Britain in its Wightman Cup battle with the United States.

Miss Mortimer, who retired 18 months ago, had a very satisfactory warm-up in a doubles match in the Beckenham Tournament Monday, then announced she would replace the injured Christine Truman on Britain's Wightman Cup team in the matches starting Friday.

Miss Mortimer, 32, originally named non-playing captain, was made the playing captain.

She teamed with Ann Haydon Jones, No. 1 player on the British team, for a 7-5, 4-6, 6-1 first-round doubles victory over Norma Baylon of Argentina and Annette Van Zyl of South Africa.

Bids Asked For W. Texas Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reclamation Bureau said today it will ask bids for building a water pipeline between Lubbock and Lamesa and for park and recreation facilities near Fritch. All are connected with the Canadian River dam project in Northwest Texas.

The 140-mile pipeline is estimated to cost $7 million; the other work, $20,000.

when you need your phone you can count on it

A freckle-faced miss invites a playmate over . . . Dad tracks down a hard-to-find gadget for the workshop . . . Mom gets a recipe from a friend. Whatever the need, people take it for granted their phone will work. What else that you use so often is so dependable?

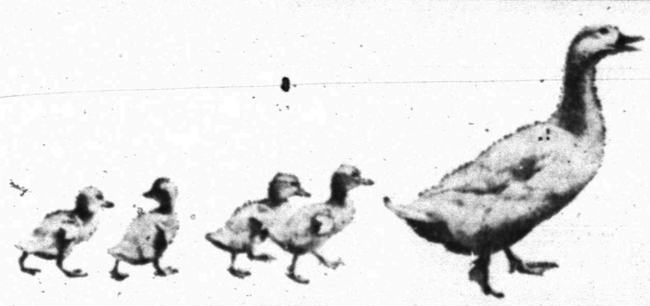

Making telephones so reliable takes complex equipment, technical improvements and, above all, carefully trained telephone people.

The payoff for these things comes when you pick up the receiver and your phone works, and works well. Our goal is telephone service that continues to grow in dependability, convenience and personal value.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

Not all leaders are born

some are made

The rather handsome car above is what you might call a two-time winner. Dodge led the nation in percentage sales increase last year and continues to set and smash these lofty sales marks in 1964.

It's also called a 1964 Dodge. Or the low-priced car that doesn't look like one or feel like one. People who have bought one, and who, incidentally, are trading in all kinds of other cars in record numbers, say they like: 1. The looks. 2. The roomy and rather posh interiors. 3. The extra savings of its famous Slant Six. 4. The lively V8 that goes on regular gas. 5. The self-adjusting brakes and 32,000-mile interval between major grease jobs. 6. The solid way it's put together—with a fully unitized, rust-protected body. 7. The price (right with Ford and Chevy).

If these seem like pretty good reasons for buying a car, join the swinging trend-setters who are changing the look and feel of the low-price field. You'll find them at your Dependable Dodge Dealer's.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Today we might as well discuss one of the world's greatest sports —watching — which is becoming extremely popular here.

Watching has finally achieved a category similar to that of golf, tennis and billiards and certain rules must be observed in order to participate correctly.

Of course, we have always had watchers standing by when streets were being paved, new sidewalks laid or old houses demolished. This is Watching in its simplest form.

It requires little skill and the rules are so simple that even a small child can run up a relatively high score in a short time.

Traffic watchers are in a slightly higher category. They must stand motionless on street corners, on the curb in the middle of the block or lean against the window of at least the fifth floor of an office building.

The ones who watch from the back of a sidewalk generally are disqualified and even the motorists pay no attention to them.

It has been my good fortune, however, to be able to study watchers of two houses being built next door to us. The rules are rather complicated but this in itself indicates that only the most hardy athletes can take part.

Workmen, who are well trained and in excellent physical condition, seem to be dozens of points ahead of the general public.

For instance, a group of passersby may pause a few minutes to watch one of those huge trucks puring cement into the foundations. As soon as the truck empties its load and leaves, the bystanders walk away and cannot make an honest claim to more than three points.

The workmen, however, watch in shifts. Approximately two-thirds of them sit in the shade on the curb in front of our house and witness the entire operation. They watch the truck pour cement and then watch their colleagues spread and level it. Very often they will watch two or three trucks pouring and then stay on to watch whatever is to be done next.

According to Scarne on Watching, this is worth a minimum of 23 points. If they watch without talking or shifting their eyes, they may well claim 26 points.

In keeping with the rules, which are extremely fair, they watch in shifts. After two or three hours, half the watchers go back to work and give the active set a chance to try and equal their score. Then the other half goes back to the job and their replacements take up positions in the shade.

Shifts are from 7 a.m. until midnight in order to give everyone an opportunity to try for the grand prize, which is a brass cannon.

Every morning at seven there is a grinding of trucks and shouts go up as the first shift of watchers get into position. At this time we get up.

Due to the strategical location of our house we can watch the work AND the watchers until midnight. I can't find Scarne's rule on this but it seems to me we should qualify for at least 53 points a day.

Even if it is only from the second story bedroom window.

Dallas Men Indicted For Fraud

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A federal grand jury has indicted two Dallas men who allegedly bilked 1,600 investors of some $4 million by means of fraud and untrue statements regarding oil and gas leases.

Named in the 32-count indictment were Marion E. Barnett and Charles L. Gouse. Also named were Admiral Oils, Inc., Oklahoma City, and Arrowhead Oil and Gas, Inc., Dallas.

The defendants are charged with violating the anti-fraud provisions of the Securities Act and with commiting mail fraud and conspiracy.

They were accused specifically of obtaining money in the sale of fractional undivided working interest in oil and gas leases in Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Louisiana, Nebraska, Ohio and West Virginia.

Jets Plan Flight Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets were reported today to be changing reconnaissance patterns in Laos to foil Communist antiaircraft guns which have downed two carrier-based jets.

The changes were believed to involve varying angles of approach, timing, formations and possibly altitudes.

There was a possibility the Navy might put in more jet fighters to guard the unarmed photo planes.

If Communist guns knock down any more U.S. jets, the photo planes might have to operate at a somewhat higher altitude.

This would reduce the quality of the photo information, particularly in the rainy season when visibility is less clear.

The Navy has been handling low - level reconnaissance over Laos, while the Air Force has been operating its photo planes at a higher altitude, sources said. The two services have about split the total volume of reconnaissance work.

The Watusi tribe in Africa believes its members were sent from heaven to rule — not work.

Erhart Will Visit US

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhart left today for a five-day visit in Canada and the United States aimed at strengthening the bonds between North America and Western Europe.

"It is a significant trip which I am taking, even though no spectacular results should be expected," the chancellor told airport reporters.

"Our government has a loyal alliance with Canada and the United States. Our fundamental positions coincide. Thanks to this, there will be a good foundation for the talks."

The 67-year-old chancellor goes first to Ottawa for talks with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. On Thursday, Erhart speaks at Harvard University and before the Council of Foreign Relations in New York. He goes on to Washington Friday and meets for two days with President Johnson.

Fatty Foods Linked With Heart Disease

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody, not just overweight persons and those who've had heart disease, should eat less fatty food, the American Heart Association says.

The organization widened Monday its recommendation of three years ago because, it said, of mounting evidence of a relation between fat consumed, cholesterol in the blood and heart disease.

A QUESTION:

WHAT DENOMINATION DID THESE EARLY CHRISTIANS BELONG TO?

Matthew, Luke, Paul, Silas, Mark, John,
Peter, James, Timothy Titus . . . . . .
A BIBLE ANSWER: NONE

These individuals and countless others of the 1st Century A. D. were just Christians! No "particular brand" of Christians but just Christians only! They were members of the spiritual body of Christ — the church for which He died, over which He is head, and of which He is Savior!

Protestant denominationalism came centuries later as a reaction to the apostate system that had developed in the interim since the days of the apostles.

But why can't people today be Christians just like Paul, Peter, John, and the others mentioned... without denominational affiliation? The truth is they can be!

This is the basic plea of the churches of Christ today . . . . a return to New Testament Christianity! It is not — as some have been led to believe—a plea of being the "only right denomination." The Lord's church is not a denomination, but a divine institution. And you can be a member of His church—a Christian only!

Is this not a valid plea? Is it not worthy of your complete investigation and consideration?

We urge you to come hear what the BIBLE has to say. We'll be having a gospel meeting all this next week with services daily at 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. "The Truth Will Make You Free." We cordially invite you to attend and hear for yourself!

Finley Adds Catfish To Blue Moon

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charles Finley has bought a Catfish for $75,000.

But then last week he paid the same amount for a Blue Moon.

No, the owner of the Kansas City Athletics isn't about to spring some more gimmicks on the American League, he's merely indulging in baseball's battle of the dollar for the nation's top young prospects.

James (Catfish) Hunter, an 18-year-old pitcher from Hertford, N.C., was Finley's latest addition to his growing list of bonus babies. Last week, the A's signed another pitcher for a bonus in the $75,000 area, Johnny Lee (Blue Moon) Odum, a 19-year-old from Macon, Ga.

Hunter was one of nine hopefuls signed by major league clubs Monday as the tempo began to build toward the usual series of $100,000 signings that follow college graduations in June.

Hunter, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound right-hander, pitched five shutouts in the past two season with the Perguimans County High School team. In one 12-inning game this spring he struck out 29 batters. He has an over all record of 6-2.

At the same time, the Cleveland Indians paid a reported $60,000 for infielder Ralph Michael Gagliano of Memphis, 17-year-old brother of Phil Gagliano, an infielder with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Indians said the younger Gagliano had been sought by 17 major league clubs.

The Minnesota Twins signed Eddie Hill, a right-handed pitcher from Bristol, Tenn., and Mickey Haien, a shortstop from Twin Valley, Minn. They were in the $10,000-$20,000 range.

The New York Mets got the most, possibly for the least. Given modest outlays were Gary Haverly, a shortstop who graduated from Pittsburgh State, Kan.; second baseman Dave Miller, out of Wake Forest; infielder Francis Raley, from Baltimore Junior College, and two pitchers, Ron Taylor, University of Houston, and James Bethke, Kansas City.

Koufax Close To Another No-Hitter

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodger left-hander who makes a habit of being stingy with base hits, took a swipe at a second straight no-hitter Monday night and for four innings of a 2-1 Dodger victory over Cincinnati, he had statisticians scrambling for their record books.

Koufax retired the first 12 Reds he faced but No. 13, Deron Johnson, broke the spell with a home run. With the pressure off, Koufax gave up three more hits en route to his 100th career victory.

Sandy, whose third no-hitter came against Philadelphia last week, scored the tying run in the fifth when he forced Dick Tracewski who had walked, moved up on Maury Wills' single and scored on Willie Davis' hit.

John Roseboro doubled home Tommy Davis with two out in the sixth to win it.

The only pitcher ever to put together back-to-back no-hitters was Johnny VanderMeer, who did it in 1938.

And, interestingly, VanderMeer hurled for the Reds and pitched his second no-hitter against the Dodgers.

Elsewhere in Monday's abbreviated major league schedule, Milwaukee whipped Houston 5-3 as Hank Aaron tagged a two-run homer, Cleveland's Leon Wagner took the major league RBI lead with a two-run homer and a run-producing single as the Indians topped Los Angeles 6-3, Jim King smashed three home runs but Washington bowed to Kansas City 5-4 and Detroit outslugged Minnesota 10-5.

The St. Louis at San Francisco National League afternoon game was rained out.

Koufax, bringing his record to 7-4 with his third consecutive victory, also was touched for a ninth-inning single by Johnson and two hits by Steve Boros. Boros beat out a bunt in the fifth and singled in the eighth.

Besides trying for a second straight no-hitter, Koufax also was trying to set a record by striking out 10 or more batters in a single game for the 55th time in his career. The record of 54 is shared by Bob Feller and Rube Waddell. Koufax, however, struck out only five.

Felipe Alou opened the Braves' first with a double. One out later, Aaron connected off Hal Brown, 1-6, and Milwaukee never trailed. Alou collected two doubles and Lee Maye also had two hits while Dave Roberts slammed two doubles and a single for the Colts.

Tony Cloninger, 4-5, got the victory but needed ninth-inning relief help when Houston pushed across two runs.

King's three-homer salvo and a pinch-hit homer by Don Zimmer all came with the bases empty. That left the Senators one run short.

The A's got a homer from Ed Charles in the first, then put it away with a four-run eighth-inning uprising. Rocky Colavito singled in two runs before George Alusik wrapped up the rally with a two-run homer. Moe Drabowsky got the victory, his first since April 25, and snapped a seven-game losing streak.

Wagner who brought his RBI total to 46, and Bob Chance hit back-to-back homers in the eighth after singles by Joe Azcue and Dick Howser around a sacrifice had provided the tying run for the Indians. Chance's homer was his fourth in four games.

The Angels had taken a 3-2 lead in the seventh, chasing rookie Sonny Siebert, who had a four-hit shutout through six innings.

Don Demeter hit a homer for the Tigers in the first. Then, after the Twins tied it 2-2, Norm Cash hit a three-run shot in the third and put Detroit ahead to stay.

Dave Wickersham, tagged for Harmon Killebrew's 16th homer, won his seventh game after failing on three previous tries, but needed Larry Sherry's relief help.

The New York Yankees have finished in the American League's first division every year since 1925.

More Qualifiers Vie For Berths

By The Associated Press

Five former Open champions and a fellow who has won everything else but, try to qualify today for the U.S. Open Golf Championship at Washington June 18-20.

The big show is at Detroit, where 82 players including most of the touring pros, shoot at 39 berths.

A total of 55 places will be up at four other sites in the sectional qualifying round.

Thirty-five golfers qualified Monday at eight courses. Among the successful players were Chick Harbert, former PGA champion, and tourists Bob Brue and Dean Refram. Colorful amateur Billy Joe Patton also made it, but he had to survive a sudden death extra hole.

Former PGA champion Paul Runyan and veteran Johnny Bulla were among those who failed to qualify. Western Amateur champion Steve Oppermann also missed, and former Open champion Jack Fleck—who beat Ben Hogan in a storied playoff—did not try.

Hogan will not attempt to qualify, either. The four-time winner does not approve of being asked to qualify, with his record.

Sam Snead, attempting to make it to the championship for the 24th consecutive time, is among the name players at Detroit. Others are former Open champion Tommy Bolt, PGA champions Bob Rosburg, Jinf Ferrier and Jerry Barber.

Tour regulars Bob Goalby, Johnny Pott, Art Wall, Joe Campbell, Gay Brewer, Tommy Aaron, Bobby Nichols, Ken Venturi, Doug Sanders, Rex Baxter and Phil Rodgers will also shoot at Detroit.

At New York, the field includes former Open champion Cary Middlecoff and former PGA champions Doug Ford, Vic Hebert and Jim Turnesa.

Open champions Ed Furgol and Lew Worsham and PGA champion Denny Shute play at Pittsburgh. PGA champion Chandler Harper is at Washington.

The 129 survivors of the sectional qualifying join 21 exempt players, including defender Julius Boros and big guns Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Bill Bisdorf, a Denver pro, posted the best sectional qualifying round Monday, when he shot 67-66—133, nine-under par on the Rolling Hills course in Denver.

Tie Game In Colt League

The Pony League Braves won their first contest of the season as they edged the Rebels 6-5 Monday night while in the Colt League a tie game was played between the Yankees and Red Sox.

The Braves broke their drought by building a 6-2 lead after three innings and then cutting off a Rebel rally in the 6th after the Rebels had scored three runs. The Braves tallied four in the 2nd on only one hit, a single. A hit-batsman, two walks and an error enabled them to push the runs across the plate. The Rebels are now 2-3 for the season.

The tie game resulted when time ran out after seven innings had been played. The Red Sox had gone out in front with three runs in the 2nd and two in the 4th. The Yankees tallied once each in the first and 3rd, then tied it up with three in the 5th. There were two doubles in the game, one by Roy Hunter of the Yankees and the other by Bob Ray of the Red Sox.

Athletics, Giants Are FL Winners

The Farm League Giants squeaked by the Cubs 17-16 Monday night and the Athletics lambasted the Indians 23-2. This brings the season record to 1-5 for the Indians, 4-1 for the Athletics, 1-4 for the Cubs, and 4-3 for the Giants.

The Athletics had three big innings, scoring 7 in the first 8 in the 2nd, and 8 in the 3rd. The contest was called after four innings because of the ten-run lead rule. For the winners doubles were hit by Dennis Blythe, Jerry Loper, Billy Atkinson, Horace Loper and Bill Bilberry. Sandy Land was the winning pitcher, giving up only two hits.

The Cubs were leading the Giants 13-4 going into the bottom of the 4th. That was when the Giants broke loose, scoring 13 runs before the third out was made.

Hitting doubles for the Giants were Tommy Hendrix, Mike Line and David McComas. Gary Shields hit a double for the Cubs.

Hutchinson Joins Team After Checkup

SEATTLE (AP)—Fred Hutchinson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was given a checkup of a cancerous growth in his chest Monday and headed for Los Angeles today to join his team.

Just before the examination, he said the outcome of the examination would decide whether he could rejoin the Reds or had to stay in Seattle a while.

He said he felt about the same as he did after receiving massive radiation treatment for six weeks early this year in Swedish Hospital's Tumor Institute in Seattle.

Dr. Orliss Wildermuth, head of the Tumor Institute, said he considered Fred's examination a routine checkup.

Lake Thomas Yacht Club, an organization for sail boat enthusiasts, has launched the first project in a series of developments at its new base on White Island on the southside of Lake J. B. Thomas

The loading ramp has been poured and will be ready for use in a matter of days, said S. A. Dugan, Midland, commodore. Successively, the club will construct a pier and floating dock, fences for the southern boundary of its lease, and then a clubhouse.

The ramp, pier and docks are in a cove on the northeast point of White Island The 48 x 48 ft. club house, due to be started within about a month, will be on the highest point on the island and the observation deck will be 30 feet above maximum water level and will afford a sweeping view of the lake. Rising from the top deck will be a signal mast. The second deck will be glassed-in and surrounded by a walkway.

The club now has two fleets (three boats of the same class constitute a fleet), plus several miscellaneous types of non-power boats

Officers other than Dugan are Don Campbell Big Spring, vice commodore; Tom Coit, Midland, rear commodore; Dillard Anderson Midland, fleet captain; James Calloway, Midland, officer of the Deck. Jake Murphy, Midland, treasurer; John Berryman, Midland, secretary.

Cadillac

HIS THIRD CADILLAC . . . HIS FIRST NEW ONE

This man is enjoying his first brand-new Cadillac—after becoming acquainted with the car's unsurpassed value by twice buying used Gadillacs.

He learned that a late model used Cadillac gave him more standard equipment and engineering advancements than most new cars.

First of all, while Cadillac's styling was continually refined, it never lost the clean, dignified look that says Cadillac and Cadillac alone. The smooth, quiet performance and complete reliability of his used Cadillac was a constant source of enjoyment. Then, too, he and his family enjoyed luxury and comfort to a degree reserved exclusively for Cadillac owners.

The pride of ownership of so distinctive a car was a never-ending pleasure, for he had the satisfaction—always—of knowing he drove the finest.

When it came time to trade his previously owned Cadillac for a later model, he found its value had held remarkably high . . . and returned a substantial part of his original investment.

So what could be more natural—or wise—than to make the eventual move to a new Cadillac?

New or used, there is no finer motoring investment than a Cadillac. And new or used, your authorized dealer has one to fit any budget. There's never been a better time to invest in the finest of them all.

Islanders Aren't Kidding— They Mean To Buy Johnson

By KEITH WILLEY

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP)—Anti - Australian Papuans on New Hanover Island are raising a fund to buy President Johnson.

They want the American president to take over their little island 300 miles northeast of Australian New Guinea. They expect him to bring vast riches.

To swell their purchase fund, they are refusing to pay the head tax of $4.48 a year. The movement reportedly has 2,500 members.

The Australian administration has sent District Commissioner Mick Healey and more than 40 armed police to New Hanover from neighboring New Ireland Island. New Hanover has a population of 8,000 Papuans and a dozen uneasy whites.

The leader of the so - called Johnson Cult is a 20-year-old Papuan "prophet" named Bosmialek who worked for a U.S. Air Force survey team on New Hanover earlier this year.

Healy said Bosmialek has told his followers that 600 U.S. troops will arrive June 16 on the Queen Mary with several helicopters to help throw out the Australian administration. He said the cultists have prepared three landing sites for the helicopters.

During the recent House of Assembly election, the cultists refused to vote when told they could not vote for President Johnson.

Bosmialek's followers believe Johnson will send ships loaded with cargo for their use. Bosmialek said early this year the first such ship would arrive on April 10. A U.S. survey ship due in New Hanover on that date was hastily diverted to New Ireland.

New Hanover and neighboring islands have been the center of pro-American cults since American troops were stationed on them during World War II. A U.N. mission two years ago heard witness after witness ask that the United States replace Australia as the governing authority.

Farm Benefit Shift Is Discussed

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk has bobbed up in farm circles of reviving proposals to place farm program benefits on a quantity basis.

Benefits now are extended to farmers who restrict crop output on an acreage basis. In 1960, the Democratic party's farm platform plank endorsed the idea of shifting to a production unit basis.

The new talk arose in the wake of an Agriculture Department report predicting that reserve and surplus supplies of feed grains would increase this year despite the operation of a feed grain program under which $846 million was paid out to growers to hold down production.

This program offers benefits to farmers who divert a part of their feed grain from production. What happened was that the decrease in acreages used for the 1963 feed grain crops was largely offset by an increase in output per acre.

Many farmers diverted their poorest acres, used more fertilizers and better seed and production practices. The corn crop was the largest of record despite the fact that 17 million acres were idled.

The reserve and surplus supplies of feed grains on Oct. 1, the beginning of the 1964 crop marketing year, are expected to increase nearly 7 million tons over the 63 million a year earlier.

However, the idea of shifting control programs from the acre compliance basis to a production basis has met with strong resistance. It could be that Congress when called upon next year to extend the feed grain program may insist on such a shift.

Applying controls on a production unit basis would have administrative difficulties, particularly for feed grains because nearly half these grains are used on farms where grown for livestock feeding. Controls based on unit production would be easier to administer on crops whose major portion moves to market, such as tobacco, cotton, and wheat.

State Dept. Tells Of Oswald's Travels

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials begin testifying before the Warren Commission today about the travels and activities of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy.

The commission obtained written reports from the State Department some time ago but now wants to get first-hand accounts from those who dealt with Oswald or handled various questions within the department concerning his travels and Communist associations.

Even Mexico Yields To Progress

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Progress is changing drastically Mexico's eating and drinking habits. First it was tacos, now it's pulque.

Tacos are a form of sandwich, made of tortillas (a pancake-like bread) and whatever is handy. You wrap the tortillas around meat, chicken, almost anything, then slap in hot sauce or vegetables for seasoning.

Health authorities recently clamped down on tacos vendors, contending mainly the way they made tacos was unsanitary. What became known as the taco war followed. No one won, but many stands are still closed.

And now drinkers of pulque are worried. Pulque is an alcoholic drink made from maguey plants. It is not as strong as whisky or as weak as beer—just a sort of happy compromise, and cheap.

The way it's made and distributed is also a bit unsanitary, health officials say, and downtown pulquerias have been closed down.

The thing that's really worrying pulque fans, however, is that the makers themselves are diverting pulque sap to other and more profitable uses.

One large firm that processes about 160,000 liters a day—four liters make a quart—has decided to use only about 50,000 liters for pulque, and 90,000 of the sap processed into a syrup rich in vitamins and minerals. The rest is used for a yeast for industrial use.

Swindlers have a favorite saint in Mexico now—San Martin de Porres, the Negro friar recently raised to sainthood by the Roman Catholic Church.

The reason San Martin is a favorite is because swindlers are making money out of rumors an apparition of the saint appeared in a remote village.

Church officials investigated and rejected the apparition, but the swindlers began preying on humble believers.

They began collecting money "to build a church on the site where the apparition appeared." One even sold dirt in envelopes, saying it was from San Martin's tomb.

The building of a church made sense to the devout, who know that the centuries-old Basilica of Guadalupe was built on the site where the Virgin Mary supposedly appeared to an Indian farmhand.

A man named Pedro is king of Mexican beggars.

Pedro was resting peacefully on a park bench when a policeman awakened him and told him to move on. Pedro yawned, got up, and hundred peso bills trickled from his pockets.

In all he had $4,744 (U.S.) on him, and although police at first were skeptical and arrested him as a possible pickpocket, he convinced them he made it all begging.

College Grads Have Reason To Be Cocky

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—There is considerable criticism of young college graduates today. It boils down to a belief that they come into the business world spoiled.

The general theory is that Joe College has the idea that the mere possession of a sheepskin with his name on it is an automatic passport to a cushy job and a lifetime of guaranteed security, if not downright ease.

Perhaps college graduates today are a bit too brash as they leave the campus for the more competitive world of industry. Perhaps they do tend to gravitate toward the giant corporations because they feel safer there in the shelter of bigness than fighting for dominancy in smaller and riskier firms.

But it is easier to give good advice than it is to give good example.

What middle-aged man, looking back at his own experience, can knock a young college man with a specialized skill for signing up with a big corporation—if that corporation is offering him anywhere from up to $600 or more a month, to start?

The encouraging thing about young college graduates now is that they come out into a world which, by and large, has a place for them and wants them. If they are good in their fields, they can usually not only find a job—they can have their pick of several jobs.

This gives youth self-confidence, and there is nothing youth needs more.

How much more hopeful and assured they must feel than the youth of a generation ago!.

Then the college student clung desperately to his alma mammy, and on graduation day he had to be thrown kicking and screaming into life. For the world then beyond the ivory tower was an economic jungle, where nobody seemed to want him and there was nothing for him to do.

A great depression gripped the land, and the fearful young fellow found no industrial talent scouts standing in line to bid for his services.

Marriage was virtually impossible because he could find no job to support himself, let alone a wife and children.

Still vivid in my own memory is a fraternity bull session at the University of Missouri in the spring of 1932. Some of the graduating crop of that year were discussing how much of a guaranteed monthly income they'd settle for if they could sign up for it then and be sure of getting it the rest of their life.

Johnson Seems Impatient For Campaign Skirmishes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson acts like a man who can't wait for the 1964 presidential campaign to start. It actually has started, although it is not supposed to until after this summer's political conventions.

Johnson already has begun firing at complaints Republicans are making and seem sure to continue until Election Day, one way or another. More than that: he sounds as if he takes for granted that Sen. Barry Goldwater will be his opponent.

A speech last week was a direct answer to Goldwater's misgivings about American defenses. Monday he hit at another Goldwater complaint: that government is getting too big and endangering freedom.

There's a touch of the Republican campaign of 12 years ago when Dwight D. Eisenhower ran for the White House. Eisenhower himself got into the act Monday with one of his favorite themes of 1952: cut government spending.

At the Governors' Conference in Cleveland Monday, Eisenhower, who has been super-cautious about making any suggestions in the Republican presidential contest, urged a constitutional amendment requiring balanced budgets every two years.

Like Goldwater, he deplored bigness in government. But when he talks about cutting government spending he is in a prickly field where he had to eat his own words when he was president.

In 1952 he promised to reduce expenses to $60 billion yearly from what he said was then $80 billion, although actually it was $74 billion. But he hedged it a bit. He said he'd make the reduction "assuming the cold war gets no worse."

He also promised to balance the budget. He never got the budget down to $60 billion. In his last fiscal year it went up to $81.5 billion, highest in peacetime history, with a deficit of almost $4 billion.

He managed to balance the budget only three times in eight years. At the end of his second term the national debt was the highest in history. Both the debt and the budget went up further under President John F. Kennedy.

In the course of his talk to the governors, Eisenhower took a crack at Johnson's antipoverty program. Johnson could not have known, when he prepared his own speech, what Eisenhower was going to say Monday.

But what he said, while undoubtedly aimed at Goldwater, answered Eisenhower, too, on the question of government bigness. Johnson said the nation need have no fear it was getting too big for the freedom-loving individual.

Goldwater has been playing his warning about bigness over and over like a record.

As long ago as 1960, in his book, "Conscience of a Conservative," Goldwater was saying:

"How did our national government grow from a servant with sharply limited powers into a master with virtually unlimited powers? In part we were swindled.

"All too often we have put men in office who have suggested spending a little more on this a little more on that, who have proposed a new welfare program, who have thought of another variety of security.

"We have taken the bait, preferring to put off to another day the recapture of freedom and the restoration of our constitutional system."

Johnson said government neither subverts, undermines nor lessens freedom "through the Social Security System, or by bringing electricity to the farm. . .by controlling floods, by ending bank failures. . .by providing school lunches for our children."

Goldwater has toned down his statements about the Social Security System. He suggested putting it on a voluntary basis, although how it could then survive he never explained.

After he lost the New Hampshire primary in March his campaign manager there said he had pulled a major boner in advocating a voluntary Social Security System.

Since then Goldwater has been saying he simply wants to improve Social Security, not end it, by keeping the dollar sound.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAND AND SURF

QUESTION: How are sandbars made?

ANSWER: Sandbars are caused by currents of water which carry sand and debris and deposit it, usually in long narrow banks or spits. Such sandbars may be caused by river currents or the action of ocean waves. They may be under the surface or exposed by the piling up of the sand during gales or by the lowering of the water level.

Cape Cod, on the eastern shore of Massachusetts, is a striking example of sand bars and spits created through wave action. Originally, the outer shore of the Cape was curving and uneven. But as mighty ocean waves came roaring in the protruding bumps of the shore line were levelled off and the arm of the Cape cut down to a smooth line. Currents swept both northward and southward along this outer shore, carrying great quantities of sand. As the force of the current slackened toward the northern part, the sand dropped down and was deposited in long bars underwater. More and more sand built them up until at last they appeared above the surface, and so the "hand" of Cape Cod's "arm" appeared above the water, with currents still sweeping around and building it up spirally. The long southern spit was made the same way.

FOR YOU TO DO: The pointed sandspit on which the gulls are sitting is the extreme end of the part of the Cape built up from the sea; you are looking across Provincetown harbor. What great event in the Pilgrim story happened in this historic harbor?

Predicts Repeal Of Rights Bill

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says that if the civil rights bill is enacted, "it will be repealed in two to four years."

"I'm not advocating disobedience of any law," Wallace said in an interview. "But people, North and South, are going to resent and resist this. It will take a police state to enforce it.

"It's a severe attack on private property and free enterprise, and when people realize this the law will be repealed in two to four years."

Wallace said he is convinced that feeling over the racial issue was an important factor in Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in the California Republican presidential primary June 2.

As for Rockefeller's state, Wallace said: "New York already has all those civil rights laws on the books and New York has more problems today than any other state in the union."

Answering a question, he said he has no plans to organize a nationwide movement to work for repealing the civil rights bill if or when it becomes law. "I won't put myself up for that," Wallace said, "but I'll do my part as best I know how."

Judging from Wallace's out-of-state mail, it appears that he has won much support for his position on civil rights.

Since he entered Democratic presidential primaries in three states, an aide said, nearly 250,000 letters have come to him. Wallace got 27 per cent of the vote in Wisconsin, 34 per cent in Indiana, and 42.7 per cent in Maryland.

Examination of the letters and telegrams showed they came from virtually every part of the nation.

Many originated in large Northern cities where racial problems have arisen in the past year. Many others, however, bore the postmarks of small communities.

"Had I known I was going to do so well in those primaries," Wallace said, "I would have gone into California."

He said he intends to go into more states seeking to win unpledged electoral votes.

"It is conceivable that you could get enough electoral votes to hold the balance of power as to who is and who is not going to be the next president," Wallace said.

A-Smasher Described

AUSTIN (AP)—A Texas A&M University physics professor described today to high school science students and teachers the "atom smasher" which will be constructed on that school's campus, beginning next year.

The cyclotron, or "atom smasher," will be so large that a building similar to an aircraft hangar will be required to house it, said Dr. John A. McIntyre.

McIntyre, speaking to some 500 students and teachers attending the fourth Texas Nuclear Symposium at the University of Texas, said the cyclotron will be the fifth "atom smasher" on a university campus.

It will produce particles at the rate of 10 quadrillion a second in a circular pattern with a diameter of one-sixteenth of an inch, the professor said. One of the cyclotron's outstanding features, McIntyre said, will be its ability to "produce particles with greatly varying energy."

Estimated cost is $6 million.

The four-day nuclear symposium, co-sponsored by the university and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, ends Wednesday.

RR Detective Is Sentenced

EDINBURG (AP) — Justice moved quicly Monday in the case of Lorenzo B. Shipp, a detective for 22 years with the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Shipp, 52, pleaded guilty to Robbery charges in courts at Brownsville and Edinburg, was sentenced in each court and then transferred to the state prison at Huntsville.

Shipp first pleaded guilty in 138th District Court, Brownsville, to charged or robbing a motel and a liquor store. Judge H. A. Garcia sentenced him to 10 years in prison in each case, with sentences to run concurrently.

Transferred to the district court at Edinburg, he pleaded guilty to robbing a food store in Edinburg and a liquor store in McAllen. Judge Tom Hartley sentenced Shipp to 10 years in prison on each charge, with terms to run concurrently.

Picketing Continues

DALLAS (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators picketed the Piccadilly Cafeteria Monday for the tenth day as the cafeteria's attorney filed a motion to show cause why the group's leaders should not be held in contempt of court.

Eight pickets—three white and five Negroes—formed lines at the cafeteria's entrance seeking admission and service. As in the past, they were refused by employes.

L. W. Anderson, attorney for the cafeteria, sought to have the Rev. Earle E. Allen, a leader of the Dallas Coordinating Committee for Full Civil Rights, and Ted Armstrong, chairman of the Dallas chapter of the Congress for Racial Equality (CORE), cited for contempt.

He alleges that the two violated court orders, issued June 2 and June 4 by Judge Dallas A. Blankenship, enjoining them and members of their organizations from further demonstrations within 50 feet of the cafeteria.

Last Rites Held For W. P. Hobby

HOUSTON (AP) — William P. Hobby, former governor of Texas and one of the nation's leading newspaper publishers, was buried Monday after solemn but simple rites.

He was interred in historic Greenwood Cemetery, last resting place of Texas leaders dating to the days of the republic.

Hobby died in his sleep Sunday at the age of 86. He had been ill for six years.

He joined the Houston Post in 1895 as a circulation clerk and rose to chairman of the board.

He became governor upon the impeachment of former Gov. James E. Ferguson in 1917 and then defeated Ferguson for a two-year term of his own in 1918. The legislature adopted more than 95 per cent of his program.

During services Monday, his silver gray casket was draped with an American flag which had stood beside his desk for 30 years.

Dozens of mourners stood along side aisles of the 1,500-seat Christ Church Cathedral for the 20-minute services.

Those attending included Houston's political and civic leaders, educators, attorneys and many friends.

President Johnson and Texas Gov. John Connally, who was out of the state, sent condolences. Connally proclaimed a one-week period of mourning for Texans and ordered flags over state buildings flown at half-staff.

Methodist Bishop Paul E. Martin and Canon Douglas Fontaine of Christ Church Cathedral conducted the simple episcopal rites.

At the cemetery, Bishop Martin and Canon Fontaine recited brief graveside services.

Before the benediction, the flag was folded and presented to the widow, Oveta Culp Hobby, Houston Post president and former secretary of health, education and welfare.

She then handed it to her children, William P. Hobby Jr., Post executive editor, and Mrs. Henry E. Catto Jr., of San Antonio.

Gov. Hobby's grave is near the resting place of another Texas governor and an old friend, Ross S. Sterling.

It was Sterling who induced Gov. Hobby to return in 1926 to the Post (then the Post-Dispatch) as its president. Gov. Hobby had left the Post in 1917 to publish the Beaumont, Tex., Enterprise.

Hobby was born March 26, 1878, in Moscow, an East Texas logging town.

His father was Edwin C. Hobby, a veteran of the confederate army who made a career in politics as a district judge. His mother was Eudora Adeline Pettus, daughter of a Virginia physician.

Hobby's first wife, Mrs. Willie Cooper Hobby, died in 1929. Two years later he married Oveta Culp, the daughter of an old friend who had served in the legislature. She had been a parliamentarian in the House of Representatives and was intensely interested in both politics and journalism.

Jail Mate Admits Killing Gangster

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Salvador Gonzalez Alba, a jail mate reportedly admitted to police he killed prisoner Francisco Otero Lastra, alias "paco el Cubano," the internationally-known gangster.

Alba told police investigators Monday that Otero attacked him with a piece of pipe following an argument over a $9 bet. He said he then was forced to kill him to save his life.

Otero's body was found by jail guards with 30 knife cuts.

The Cuban gangster was serving 14 years for slaying a Bolivian student in a night club.

Mexico Auto Sales, Production Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's auto production and sales increased sharply in the first quarter of 1964, according to the National Automotive Industry Assocation.

Association officials reported that auto makers turned out 14,583 cars in the first three months of this year, compared with 12,050 in the same period a year ago.

The association said auto sales this year are up nearly 25 per cent for the first four and a half months of 1964.

Goldwater Confident Ike Won't Block Nomination

By JACK BELL

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater left the 56th annual Governors Conference feeling confident that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will not upset his bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

The silver-haired senator said in an interview Monday night that he is convinced the former president—about the only man who could do so—would not interfere in Goldwater's headlong rush toward the 655 delegate votes needed for the nomination.

Goldwater, given an ovation on his arrival at a conference dinner, stayed to hear Eisenhower speak. He talked briefly with Eisenhower and other party leaders while table-hopping, then flew back to Washington for action on the civil rights bill amendments.

"I think President Eisenhower is neutral in this situation as he has been in the past," Goldwater said. "I do not think he has changed his position and I do not expect him to take any action that would be aimed at blocking me."

Goldwater said that in the absence of any expressed opposition from Eisenhower he is confident he will get the nomination at the mid-July San Francisco convention. He added that he thinks he has a good chance of defeating President Johnson in November.

"Wait until the people begin to assess Johnson's stand on this civil rights question and come to realize that his spending policies are out of line," the senator said. "Then we'll see whether we Republicans can beat him."

In a brief appearance as a conference guest, Goldwater avoided any conferences with Republican governors who have been complaining that his conservative views would make it difficult for him to carry their states as the GOP nominee.

Specifically, he did not make himself available for discussions with Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. All three have said that Goldwater's positions on foreign and domestic policies would damage the Republican ticket in their important electoral vote states.

Goldwater indicated that his conference with Eisenhower did not get deeply into politics. He said the former president did not bring up political matters and he himself didn't volunteer any observations in that field.

"We talked mostly about golf and how to get rid of the bursitis that has been bothering him," the senator said.

Eisenhower, who urged the governors to get behind a movement for the states to originate a constitutional amendment requiring balancing of the federal budget every two years, conferred with 15 of the 16 Republican governors on the political situation. Romney missed the meeting but flew in later.

Gov. John Anderson Jr. of Kansas, conference chairman, said he and his colleagues "agreed that the Republican party and Republicans nationally are bigger than any individual."

This seemed to signal the general recognition that Goldwater is close to having the nomination in his pocket. Nevertheless, Rockefeller is reported to have told Eisenhower that with the senator on top of the ticket the result might be disastrous in New York, Ohio and Illinois. Scranton and Romney already have made it plain they have similar fears in Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Rockefeller, who absorbed a fateful licking from Goldwater in last week's California presidential primary, dropped by the senator's table during the dinner.

"Congratulations on that California victory," Rockefeller said. "You and I were the only ones who stuck it out."

Democrats, crowded out of the headlines by the uproar created at this conference by the Republican minority, bid for some attention through a statement of Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey.

Hughes said, in obvious reference to Goldwater, that the leading candidate for the GOP presidential nomination "espouses philosophies which time and again have been rejected by the people of our state." Hughes predicted President Johnson would carry New Jersey in November.

Then Republican governors, worried about some of Goldwater's positions, labored over a statement of principles which they felt might influence the San Francisco convention to adopt a platform more liberal than the conservative views expressed by the senator.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, invited to have breakfast with the Republican governors, predicted that if Goldwater gets the nomination he will accept a platform which will unite the party behind him.

Nixon, shortly after arriving from Detroit early today, told a newsman:

"I respect the evaluation of the situation by the experts, but Sen. Goldwater still does not have the majority of the delegates. In the next few days, the Goldwater tide could put the senator over or, on the other hand, a new trend could develop.

Eisenhower proposed in a speech to the conference Monday night that the states originate a constitutional amendment which would give the president the power to veto individual items in congressional money bills.

He said this ought to be linked with amendments which would require a president to submit to Congress federal budgets "which balance at least biennially" and which would provide that Congress could increase presidential monetary requests only by a two-thirds vote.

US Cleared Of Charges By Panama

GENEVA (AP) — The International Commission of Jurists today cleared the United States of Panamanian charges that American troops and police violated human rights in the bloody Panama Canal Zone riots last January.

The commission found, however, that excessive force may have been used to put down the rioting and to stop sniping from the Panamanian side of the border.

The commission also criticized Panamanian authorities for failing to curb the rioters and snipers and for doing nothing against inflammatory broadcasts at the height of the crisis.

Twenty-two persons, including three American soldiers, were killed. About 325 others were injured during the incidents Jan. 9-12. Panamanian crowds, enraged in a dispute about the flying of the Panamanian flag in the Canal Zone, burned down several buildings and wrecked cars, shops and other American property.

The commission, a private organization of lawyers, judges and law professors throughout the non-Communist world, was asked by the National Bar Association of Panama to investigate whether the gunfire of U.S. police and soldiers against the rioters was a violation of the universal declaration of human rights.

Bomb Scare Closes International Bridge

LAREDO (AP)—Police halted all traffic across the Rio Grande bridge during the early morning rush hour today because of an anonymous bomb threat.

No bomb was found and the bridge was reopened.

Nearly 150 employes left the customs and other government offices at the same time.

The 7:10 a.m. shutdown caused a massive traffic jam. Between 3,000 and 4,000 persons cross the bridge en route to jobs in this country each day.

Firemen joined police in a search after a man telephoned to Border Patrol that a bomb had been planted on the bridge over the Rio Grande.

Networks May Join In Covering Election

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials of the three major television networks have conferred on a proposal for pooling coverage of the November election returns.

A morning session was held Monday in the offices of the Columbia Broadcasting System and an afternoon session at the National Broadcasting Co. The American Broadcasting Co. also participated.

Later, network representatives conferred with The Associated Press about the possibility of the AP being included in the pool.

No decisions were reached pending further discussions on how the pool would operate, how returns would be gathered and distributed and what the cost would be.

The networks said the discussions were continuing.

Panamanian Shoots Fellow Politician

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP)—Roberto (Tito) Arias was given a chance to live today while police sought a disappointed party associate who pumped three bullets into the colorful, controversial politician.

Arias' wife, British ballerina Dame Margot Fonteyn, said in Bath, England, her brother-in-law, Harmodio Arias, telephoned her that her husband was "out of danger."

Dr. Antonio González Revilla, who headed a team of neurosurgeons in a 2½-hour operation on Arias, said it would be 72 hours before he could say whether his 45-year-old patient would live or whether he would be paralyzed.

Police sought Alfredo Jimenez, a member of Arias' Panamenista party and an old friend as the gunman.

It was the second political shooting since Panama's national elections May 10.

Panama's U.N. ambassador, Aquilino Boyd, fired two shots May 21 at the editor of a newspaper which accused Boyd of election fraud. The editor, Esolastico Calvo, received a minor wound.

Arias was in surgery twice Monday night over a period of almost eight hours. First, doctors removed bullets from his right arm and his right side. He was given blood transfusions. Then the surgeons removed a bullet which lodged against the spinal column and caused paralysis.

Dame Margot said that unless her husband had a relapse, she hoped to go ahead with her first of three performances with Rudolf Nureyev at the Bath Festival tonight.

The couple were last together three weeks ago when Dame Margot stopped for a few days in Panama en route to Europe after an Australian tour.

Arias was riding in a car driven by Reynaldo Medina Monday when they met Jimenez' car stopped at an intersection for a red light.

Witnesses said Jimenez spotted Arias, leaped from his car, whipped out a pistol and fired.

"You're not going to cross me up," Medina said Jimenez shouted.

Arias and Jimenez, in his late 30s, ran as candidates for deputy and alternate deputy, respectively, in the National Assembly. Publication of the vote count Monday showed Jimenez elected, but as an alternate for another deputy and not Arias.

Speculation was that Jimenez believed he would have less chance to sit in the assembly than he would have had as Arias' alternate.

Rain, Nor Snow, Nor Postage Due—

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The United States Post Office has returned Albert Washington's wallet to him, with the $205 in cash he had in it, but it wasn't simple.

Soon after Washington lost the wallet in January, with the $205 in a secret compartment, it reached the post office via a mail box.

They mailed it to his Oakland address with 18 cents postage due, but he had moved and left no forwarding address. So it went back to the post office.

After the required 60 days, workers stripped the wallet according to regulations and found the money. Postal officer Matt Higgins hunted around Washington's old neighborhood until he found someone who knew of his new address, and delivered the wallet and the $205 to him here.

Higgins didn't even ask for the 18 cents postage due.
