Rotating Beacon Light Goes Up At Airport

Three members of the Colorado City Flying Club furnished the labor for installing the new rotating beacon, bought by the city for the airport here. They are, from left, Frank Deregibus, J. P. Jameson, and J. O. Dockrey, Jr. Jameson also furnished the pipe for construction of the beacon tower. The new light turns itself on and off by photo-electric cell to light the runway and field.

Hospital Board Ups Tax Rate In District To 50¢

Colorado City Hospital District Board voted unanimously Monday night to raise the district's tax rate from 30¢ per $100 county evaluation, to 50¢.

Increase almost doubling taxes for the hospital district here came after board members approved the 1968-69 fiscal year proposed budget of $695,602.26.

Drop in patient-medical revenue was announced by the board as the major contributing factor in the tax jump.

Figures on record at the hospital and lodge show the big variance to be in anticipated patient-medical revenue.

Study of those figures show the board anticipated a revenue from patient and medical care of $423,000 for the hospital's current fiscal year.

From Oct. 1 through July 31 actual patient-medical revenue was $305,589. (The figures do not include any tax revenue.)

Estimated income for the rest of the fiscal year, through August and September has been projected to a figure of $375,000.

Similar figures for Root Valley Fair Lodge, not including any tax revenue, show that anticipated patient-medical revenue for this year was placed at $150,000. Present total is only $113,735 with the projected figure for August and September to bring it to a possible $134,500.

Patient-medical revenue to date this fiscal year is about $50,000 below the expected income from that source.

Budget for 68-69 was first presented and reviewed in a special meeting August 12 with Joe Morren present as auditor for the hospital board.

"Actually, however," said Murrell Blassingame, president of the board, "the tax rate raise has been under study for the past three months."

Blassingame pointed to increased loss shown on both Root Memorial Hospital and Root Valley Fair Lodge operation as the reason for the increased rate.

"Hospital and Lodge operations have shown some loss every single month since the hospital district was created by the Texas Legislature and the board came into being," the board's president said.

Extremely light patient load through summer months was a contributing factor in the decision to up the tax rate.

Another factor was the minimum wage law which went into effect Feb. 1. "That meant salary raises for the 94 employees of approximately 10 per cent," Blassingame said.

Fiscal budget for 1967-68, first year the hospital and lodge were operated by the board, failed to allow for sufficient increase in employee pay scale, he added.

Public budget hearing has been set for Monday evening,

Answers City Hall

Mrs. Wallace Speaks Out

Mrs. Mallie Lou Wallace, replaced as city finance officer and tax-accessor-collector during a special meeting of Colorado City Council Thursday night, issued a public statement here Monday.

"I feel I must exercise my right to speak out on this matter," she told the Colorado City Record.

"I was out of town on a one week vacation last week. Sunday morning, after I had returned, I received a telephone call telling me of this action, my dismissal at City Hall," her statement began. "That was the first knowledge I had of it."

Mrs. Wallace's statement then continued, "I called the city manager asking for some explanation.

"His reasons, as told to me, were – one, my failure to notify anyone that I was leaving on my vacation.

"This is not entirely true. I did not call the city manager that I had definitely decided to take the week of August 19-24. However, Friday, August 16, I left work instructions with the young lady in my office in case of my absence. I also told the office clerk that I still had not made a definite decision, but that if I did not come down Monday morning she would know that I was on vacation for the week.'

In an aside at this point, Mrs. Wallace noted that she was taking her three-week summer vacation one week at the time and that she flew to California for a short visit with her daughter, returning to Colorado City Saturday night.

"The city manager's second reason, as related to me, was my failure to leave signed checks," she said.

"In the past, the city mayor has co-signed checks in absence of the city manager or the city secretary, when deemed necessary.

"Third, he listed my failure to notify the city manager that a certain business owes delinquent taxes and is going out of business.

"The city charter provides that the city tax-assessor-collector has the authority to sieze and levy upon all personal property and sell same to satisfy all delinquent tax obligations. The matter could have been handled upon my return to the city hall, Monday.

"Fourth, and finally, the city manager cited my failure to publish in the newspaper a notice that the annual audit is on file at city hall for inspection.

"Such publication has not been practiced in the past – but that, too, could have been done upon my return," the statement continued.

"The city manager," Mrs. Wallace further stated, "called a special meeting of the city council – acted in haste to relieve me of my duties, without giving me a chance to defend myself on any of these charges.

"I feel that the unilateral action of the city manager and the city council was a precipitous and impetuous attempt at a 'railroad job.'

"The city pay scale could not be upped enough to get me back, but I do strenuously object to the immature handling of this whole affair," Mrs. Wallace concluded her public statement.

Mrs. Wallace added that she had immediately refused to accept a position as clerk at city hall, offered by action of the city council.

"I first went to work for the city in 1946," she said, "and except for two years have been a city employee since.

"I worked with two mayors, Charles Brazil and Peter Martin, before the city adopted the city managership form of goverpment. And I have worked for seven city managers – Roy Dozier, Jack Talent, Fred Boone, A. K. Sneathen, Earl Keaton, Ford Merritt, and the present city manager,' she said.

Mrs. Wallace returned to city hall after a two-year absence in 1956 to make her most recent employment record 12 years.

Named to replace her as city secretary, finance director, and tax-assessor-collector, is Mrs. Bonnie Farrar, assistant in the school tax office here while her husband, Nick Farrar was tax-assessor-collector for Colorado Independent School District.

Free Shots Scheduled

Program of free shots for Colorado City children is again in progress this week.

Wednesday evening of this week immunization shots were given by registered nurses at St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Parents whose children did not report at St. Ann's are reminded that Thursday evening (tonight) shots will be given at the College Street Church of Christ from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

The church is located at the corner of Dallas and College Streets.

To be offered will be the first, the second, and the third immunization shot to protect children from diptheria, whooping cough, tetanus, and polio. Also to be given free is the one immunization shot to prevent measles.

The program, started here in June and repeated in July, is being sponsored by Mitchell County Medical Association with cooperation of local registered nurses.

Parents of school age or younger children are reminded by doctors and nurses that three shots are needed for the triple immunization against diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Three oral doses of polio vaccine are required if a child is to be safe from polio.

The measles shot can not be taken at the same time as the polio oral dose, sponsors explain.

Parents are urged by the Medical Association to see to it that their children receive all shots needed to prevent the dread childhood diseases.

Vaccines for the free public health program is furnished by the Texas State Department of Health. Nurses and doctors here are taking part as a public service.

Band Sets Sales Mark

Record Gains 130 New Subscribers

Colorado High Wolf Band added more than 130 new subscribers to Colorado City Record in the first two days of its annual sales campaign Monday and Tuesday.

They went over the top in their opening-day sales winning a special $325 bonus to their earnings.

The annual three-day band sales was concluded Wednesday and final figures will be compiled Friday.

Band members set an all-time record for one day of sales Monday when they opened with 643 subscription sales. That was the work which won for them the special $325 bonus.

Final sales are expected to near the 900 mark and total band earnings – commissions, bonuses and prizes – are expected to climb near the $1,000 level.

A two-girl team of Sandra Kaulfus and Jean Costin led the Monday sales campaign with a total of 70 subscriptions, capturing a $30 Record cash prize. Three other teams won prizes the first day – Lyndall Gibson, Eldon Harris and Darvin Cox, $20; Rocky Sheppard, Robert Ramage and Mark Majors, $10; David Stubblefield, Jimmy Ross and Bill Crockett, $5.

The team of Stubblefield, Ross and Crockett added $30 more in cash to their prize list Tuesday by leading all teams in second day sales for the No. 1 award of $20 and a $10 special cash bonus for tops in new subscriptions.

Cash prizes went to three other teams in Tuesday sales–Rodney Merket, Noel Tomb and Helm, $15; Kaulfus and Costin, $10; Brenda Bodine and Peggy Robertson, $5.

Commissions on new and renewal subscriptions sales and the first-day $325 bonus will go into the Colorado High band fund to finance special band education programs and equipment.

Damp Attack

Wolves Slip In Rain

Coach Truman Nix's 1968 Wolves took their wraps off Tuesday night and immediately bogged down in rain and mud.

Well, it wasn't exactly a bog, but it was just about too wet to plough, football speaking.

It was the first major competition for the Wolves, who move up into AAA competition in a couple of weeks, and they figured on a hard-nose workout against Winters, former district buddies in 5–AA, on Robert Lee High's field.

The rains came, though, so the teams kept traveling to Bronte.

Field conditions were muddy at Bronte also and showers during the scrimmage dampened the experiment.

Color the Wolves' offense cloudy, just like the weather. Disappointing is probably a better adjective.

One look at Coach Nix's face and you understood the smile was for his defense.

Naturally, you don't expect much from an offense after only a week of workouts. At this early stage the defense almost always is ahead.

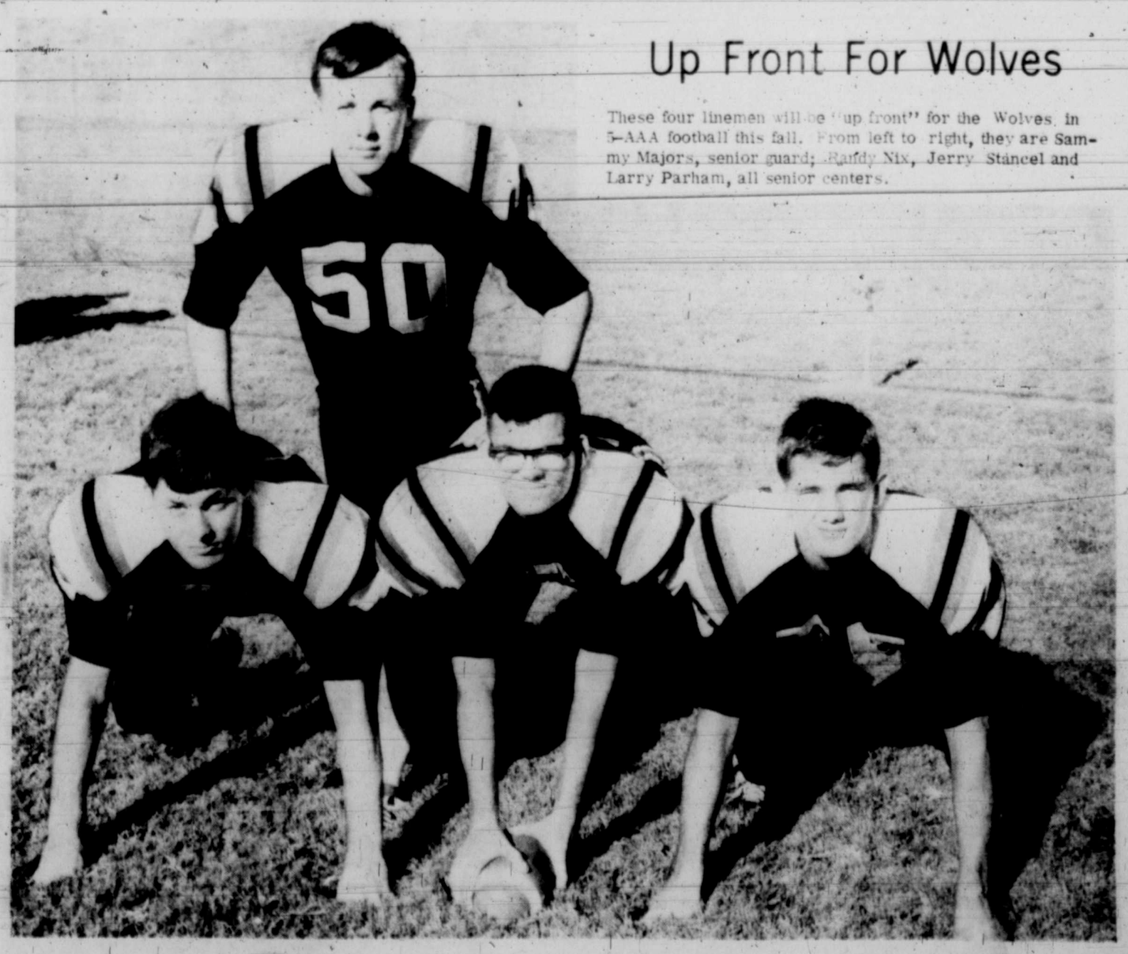

Still, the Colorado High offense wasn't pleasing to the coaching staff and you can take their word for it – the Wolves will be drilling plenty to develop their attack before they open their season and 3–AAA district play against Levelland.

Soft, wet turf made it difficult for blockers and Quarterback Keaton Grubbs to set up for the Wolves offense, just as it did for Winters. In fact, Coach Nix was planning to emphasize the Wolves' aerial game against expected speedy ground offense of Winters.

The weather had different ideas, however, and the major offensive thrill came on a Colorado High score set up by a Grubbs pass to slot back Randy Parker.

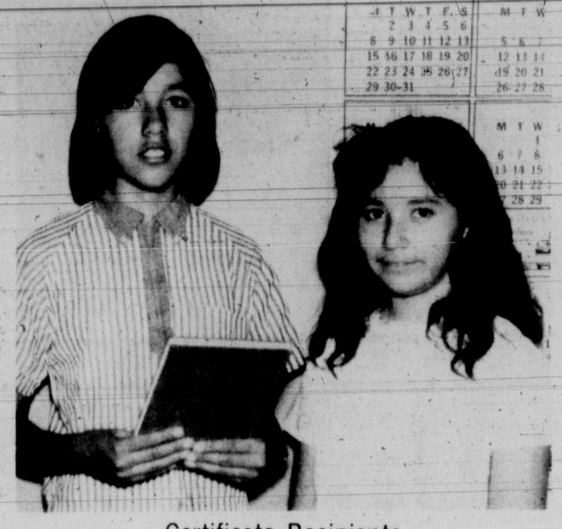

Parker, the rangy senior all-around athlete, appeared to be just about the most improved player on the Wolf squad. That goes for offense as well as defense.

Mitchell County Library assumed a Mexican accent last Thursday evening as Joe Earnest, Colorado City attorney, presented another in a series of book reviews for local residents.

Accent on Mexico was the feature of the review and was highlighted by the showing of color projections from Mexico with commentary by Earnest.

One in a series of book reviews sponsored by Friends of the Library and Cultural Activities Committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, the program included excerpts and a condension of two books about Mexico.

They were "The Mexican, The Making of a Nation," by Victor Alba which explores the spirit and the culture of Mexico and "Mexico, Land of Hidden Treasures" written by Ellis Credle.

Fifty-five persons attended the review.

County Agents
Go To State Conference

The biennial state conference for all Agricultural Extension Service employees is meeting on the campus of Texas A&M University, August 26-30 reports County Agent Bobby Lemons.

Both he and Home Demonstration Agent Janice Miller will be out of their offices for all this week.

Extension Secretary, Mrs. J. C. Garrett will be on vacation during the week.

In addition to outstanding speakers for each of the morning sessions, Lemons said, each Extension worker will have an opportunity to participate in three different special training programs during each of the afternoon sessions.

A major benefit from such conferences, the county agent said, is the opportunity to visit with agents and staff members from other sections of the state and exchange with them ideas and experiences which have worked for them.

Outstanding speakers will be Extension Directors: J.B. Claar from Illinois; W. M. Bost from Mississippi; Dean H. O. Kunkel from A&M's College of Agriculture; and Texas Director John E. Hutchinson.

Mr. and Mr. Cox Add Special Features to New House Plan

By LENA BAUMANN,
Record Women's Editor

When Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox built their new home at 1426 Eastover they added two special features not usually found in this area.

Those features are a home humidifier for winter months and an air filter used the year round.

The special additions were prompted by Mrs. Cox's continuous trouble with hay fever.

The air filter makes hay fever pills unnecessary because it takes up all pollen, dust particles and even cooking odors from the entire house.

Another feature in the Cox home is 34 feet of cabinet space in the kitchen including a built-in China cabinet.

Paneling in the family room, cabinets and doors throughout the house are birch with a light pecan finish.

Mediterranean styling is used in interior decorating as well as the exterior of the multi-color brick home with beige and brown trim. Black wrought iron grill work and a elbony yard light highlight the front of the house.

A small flower bed next to the cactus green front door is filled with monkey grass, geraniums, berbeanias and waxed leaf ligustrum.

Most of the walls of the three-bedroom home are of soft white. Ceilings are finished with Spray-Tex of the same color. Ivory colored antique satin draperies match walls in the bedrooms and formal living room.

Kitchen and family room are separated by an eating bar. Counter tops are covered with mellow-tone formica. Avocado appliances accent the kitchen area. A kitchen door opens into a small utility room with more cabinets. A utility room door leads into the double garage.

Double sliding doors, covered with draperies of light avocado and beige which match inset fabric in the kitchen window shutters, open out onto a patio and the spacious back yard. Family room is furnished with Italian Provincial furniture with basic colors of yellow, gold and avocado.

Master bedroom is carpeted in gold sheared-tip nylon carpeting and features an Italian Provincial suite. Providing additional color for the room is a plaid bedspread of pink, blue and gold. One wall of the room is papered with gold and white vinyl wallpaper.

Adjoining bath is finished in yellow ceramic tile and soft white with blue accessories and yellow fabric insets in the window shutters.

Guest bathroom has gold fleck ceramic tile topped by a vinyl wallpaper of avocado and white with flecks of gold. Formica for the long dressing table is a light avocado, white and pale orange marbleized pattern. Window shutter insets are of avocado and bright blue floral design. Blue and avocado floral accessories and a dark avocado shower curtain complete bathroom decor.

Guest bedrooms are carpeted in the same gold covering as the master bedroom. One room features Early American furnishings; the second, modern.

Mist green sheared-tip carpeting is used in the living room with an ivory brocade couch, bright blue arm chair and pale tangarine upholstered smaller chairs. Italian Provincial is repeated in the room's furnishings. Avocado and bright blue accents compliment the setting.

Howard and Elizabeth Cox have lived in Colorado City about 25 years. They have two daughters, Mrs. Adair (Carole) Ratliff of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Allan (Mary Louise) Neale of Dallas, and a granddaughter, eight-month-old Rebecca Ratliff.

Mr. Cox is owner of W. H. Cox Agency.

Cox Home Features Built–In Conveniences

Mrs. Howard Cox displays a part of the built-in conveniences in her kitchen and family room combination in the Cox's recently built home at 1426 Eastover Street. Air filter, which eliminates pollen, dust and cooking odors from the house, and a humidifier are included in the many other features of the home.

Thirty-Four Feet of Cabinets

Just one of the multiple features in the recently built home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox at 1426 Eastover Street is the abundance of kitchen cabinets. Double glass doors in the dining area open onto a patio and spacious back yard. Italian Provincial furniture is predominent throughout the house.

Finding A Place

I'm constantly amazed at how good people discover so many places to do their good.

Take Mrs. Floyd Coffee of Loraine, for instance. She found a niche in our Mitchell County Public Library to present a regular story hour during the summer for entertainment and enlightenment of children from all walks of life.

She had help, too, from Colorado City's Mrs. James Kelley and Mrs. Don Powell.

You and I probably would never have thought of a good thing like this. But the Friends of the Library and Library Board thought about and these good women found another place to do good.

Ruth COFFEY's

CONVERSATION CORNER

QUOTATION, credited by Reader's Digest to Senator George Aiken, is something to think about in between the blow by blow rounds of the Democrat convention.

The senator from Vermont is said to have put it this way, once: "If we were to wake up some morning and find that everyone was the same race, creed, and color, we would find some other causes for prejudice by noon."

And the senator was probably right.

* * *

BY SUPPER time there would be called meetings in every city and hamlet to debate such weighty matters as "Resolved that blue eyes are better than brown or green."

Somebody, somewhere, would be sure to organize all the people over six feet tall. Somebody else would get all the dimpled darlings together and exclude anybody with just a cleft in the chin.

* * *

SOMETIMES it's downright discouraging to consider all the different things people can get mad at each other about.

People fight with other people over everything from how to cook a pot of chili to the quarterbacking of Don Meredith.

And when the world gets too dull to endure, when there's nothing else to fuss about, people can always argue religion or politics.

It isn't necessary, nor even desirable, for us Democrats to wait until a Republican comes along, either.

We can have us a rousing good fight just among ourselves any old time, just seating or unseating delegates and kicking the unit vote around.

* * *

TROUBLE with us Democrats is that we're all people.

And people never have cared too much for harmony with other people – at home, in the neighborhood, at the Ladies Aid Society, civic club, bridge party, church, school, or political party.

It could be depressing to remember that nations are just collections of people, too.

And as Senator Aiken said "If we were to wake up some morning and find that everyone was the same race, creed, and color we would find some other causes for prejudice by noon."

Chances are it wouldn't even take until noon. Mid-morning coffee break would be more like it.

* * *

TALL TEXAN Charlie Thompson, C–City banker-lawyer-rancher, was headed home from Chicago at last account. He decided that the Demo convention could get along without him. And vice versa.

Did you see that by-lined story written by Katharyn Duff in the Abilene Reporter-News Monday Afternoon? The one about crowded Chicago hotels and pandemonium about reservations?

"Charles C. Thompson," it read, "Colorado City bank president, was one who found his room unsatisfactory. After waiting most of Sunday afternoon, sitting on his suitcase when he could find nowhere else to sit in Texas Headquarters, he got a hotel room.

"It's a nice room, he said when he came charging back to Texas headquarters, but it has no bed.

"There was a couch but it was far too short for his six-foot-plus, 200-pound-plus body."

As if all that weren't enough, the convention threw out the unit rule, a thing very dear to Charlie's heart.

CLOUD NINE is situated for now around the Hobie Gundrum family.

The Gundrums drove to West Yellowstone, Montana, to visit daughter Jeanie and her husband Peter Westnedge. And guess what?

The Gundrum's first grandchild, a little girl, was born while they were there. Named Tracy Jean, the baby weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces.

Paternal grandparents live in England.

By way of further celebration Peter was promoted to assistant to the president of Hamilton Stores, Inc.

* * *

SPEAKING of celebrating, Mrs. Rose Warner, mother of Blanche (Mrs. Frank) Wilson celebrated her 90th birthday Friday.

She received a single rose every day for two weeks, then a huge bouquet of yellow roses on her birthday. Only then did Mrs. Warner learn that the sender was her granddaughter, the Wilson daughter Jane who lives with her husband and children in Denver, Colorado.

MAIL CALL brought a letter from Mrs. John H. Carroll, nee Anita Ezell, who lives in Cottonwood, Arizona.

Anita, Record subscriber, writes with a bit of nostalgia. "I am sorry C–City is changing so. The highway going around it just isn't fair!

"My husband and I are very proud of our new home here. It is in such a pretty little valley. . .near Sedona and not far from Phoenix and Flagstaff," Anita writes.

She has, by the way, completed her high school education since moving to Arizona. "Am very proud of that diploma – even at a ripe old age," she adds.

Age? Well, as some movie star or other always puts it, "What's age? It's only a number."

There was a time when Texas, the largest beef producing state in the nation, had to ship cattle elsewhere for finishing. But not any more. Feed lots dot the rural areas of Texas to feed Texas cattle.

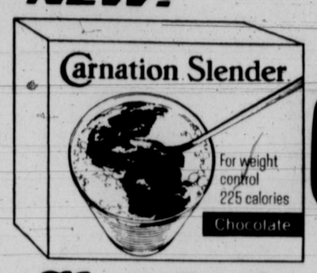

With scientific blending of feeds, these lots put incredible percentages of weight gain on cattle.

Much of the work is done electrically. Some lots are almost completely automatic. Cooperative electricity loads the bins, grinds and mixes the feed often and sends it to the eating troughs with belts, pulleys and screws. The member-owned Lone Wolf Electricity Cooperative by furnishing dependable supply of electric power has a low-cost made such installations commercially feasible. This is just one of many ways the Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative is Helping Texas Grow.

'68 Farm Tour Takes Look

At Mitchell County Farm Practices

Two school busloads of Mitchell County farmers and businessmen made the 1968 Farm Tour Thursday morning as guests of the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee, and the four agencies of the United States Department of Agriculture here.

Commentators for the tour visiting outstanding demonstrations and farm practices were John Russell, Farmers Home Administration, and Bobby Lemons, County Agent, assisted by Eddie Braswell, Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation, and Don Hodges, Soil Conservation Service.

Sixty-two citizens took the tour of five official stops to view 16 varied projects.

Dutch Treat barbecue at noon in Lone Wolf Coopatorium attracted a total of 65 persons. Clyde Buckalew was caterer for the ranch-style lunch hour.

A number of the demonstrations and practices visited were seen from the bus by the tourgoers. At the five official stops, the tourists got off the two buses and took a closer look at the farm or ranch project on the tour route.

Seen from the buses was a cotton varieties demonstration planted by J. D. Hill, Jr., May 9, to Western Stormproof, Lockett 4789A, Dunn 56 C, G. L. 16, CA 875, Paymaster M18.

Sudan varieties demonstration, planted by James Cox April 25, included Pioneer 985, SX11, Funk 78F, Chow Maker, Trudan #2, Growers #11, Sweet Sioux, Sucrose, and Haygrazer.

First stop with tourists leaving the buses for close inspection was at the Raymond Watlington farm to see his cotton varieties demonstration planted May 7 to Lankart 3840, Dunn 56C, Lockett 4789, CA 563, Coker 4104, Western Stormproof Br., Stripper Cala 8, and T. P. S. A. 6.

Lone Wolf Creek, site of a proposed flood control project, was visited next.

Second official stop was at the Travis Turner cotton varieties demonstration to see Lockett 4789, Lockett 4789A, Lankart 611, Lankart 57, and CA 788-64-24.

Refreshment break was a mid-morning watermelon feast staged in the Turner watermelon patch through courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Turner, assisted by Dewey Turner.

As the tour progressed, use of herbicides and fertilizer at the Richard Gale farm, cotton varieties at the O. P. Givens farm, planted to five varieties May 19, and use of herbicide on grain sorghum by Givens were discussed.

Herbicide on grain sorghum demonstration at the Roscoe Huggins field was also viewed.

Stop three switched from crops to cattle at the Bob Fee, Jr., Ranch where an artificial insemination program was started three yers ago. Fees showed the Grand Champion pen of 10 Angus steers at the Special Feeder Sale in San Angelo August 19.

Waterway on the Dr. Bruce Johnson farm, operated by Wayne Oliver, seeded in July to Switchgrass was praised by commentators as successfully draining 2500 acres.

Charles C. Finley's waterway, shaped by dozer and grader in Dec. 1966 was studied. It was sprigged to Coastal Bermudagrass in July, 1967, fertilized and irrigated to control erosion and produce top yield of excellent forage.

Stop four was made at the Atwood Sheffield grain sorghum variety demonstration planted April 25 to six varieties, fertilized and with Propazine applied.

Dryland grain sorghum variety demonstration of Whit Holman was seen at the fifth official stop. Holman planted eight varieties April 20 and harvested August 16.

Richard Gale's dryland cotton fertilizer demonstration, planted May 17, was the last field inspected.

Coffee was served to the tour by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and Loraine Feed & Seed furnished cold soft drinks.

First Stop Goes At Cotton

Dryland Grain Sorghum Observed

Time Out For Table Talk

Watermelon Patch Mid-Morning Break

Mrs. Weldon McCollum, at left in foreground, and Mrs. Fred McClelland, right, ASCS office staff members, joined the watermelon feasters at the farm of Travis Turner, extreme right eating melon. In the background from left are Eddie Braswell, Dewey Turner, Frank Brownfield, Travis Branch, and A. Y. Hantsche. Tour also visited Turner's cotton demonstration.

If you're counting on a new VW, you can stop at $1797

In fact, when it comes to money, a VW will save you a lot of counting after you buy it, too.
On gas bills. (It gets about 27 mpg.)
On tires. (They average 40,000 miles.)
It hardly ever needs oil between changes.
And, since the engine is air-cooled you never have to dish out for anti-freeze.
So if you don't like to count, buy it figures.

Sept. 23, in the hospital basement business office suite.

Blassingame became president of the hospital board when J. W. Randle resigned as member and president. Randle's resignation was accepted by the board in the July 22 meeting.

Appointment of a new member to fill Randle's unexpired term which runs until April 1969, has not been made by the board.

Randle, who had headed the board since its organization, resigned, he told the Colorado City Record, because "I looked at the calendar and realized I was having another birthday. That was the only reason."

Serving as board members are Bob Reily, secretary, Wayne Shawn, Willie Landau, Rex T. McKenney, Tom C. Moore, and Blassingame.

Biggest figure in the proposed budget of $695,602.48 is the operating fund for Root Memorial Hospital set at $397,316.22, including tax revenue.

Operating fund for Root Valley Fair Lodge is proposed at $172,869.26, including tax money.

Other figures are $94,104.50 for the general fund and $31,312.50 for interest and bond retirement fund.

Fiscal year runs from Oct. 1, 1968 to Sept. 30, 1969.

Maximum tax rate per $100, county evaluation, under the act of Texas Legislature creating the hospital district was set at 75¢.

Wolves

Carl Devorce, the sophomore strongboy with his 6'2" frame and 236 pounds, stood out in performance as well as size at defensive guard.

Charles Morton, junior linebacker, was another impressive hand on defense.

Coach Nix purposefully kept some wraps on his running game. All-Stater Dan Steakley was not his usual busy self as Nix had the offense working around the speedster much of the time.

Scouts from Brownfield, Levelland and Lubbock – all district opponents of the Wolves – were watching the scrimmage and that, no doubt, influenced Nix in his offensive strategy.

Nix not only ticketed hard offensive work for the Wolves in days ahead, but also definitely decided on wet ball drills to prepare his club for possible wet weather problems in their 3–AAA schedule and to get 'em ready for heavy dew turf.

Next major scrimmage for the Wolves will be Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in Abilene against Stamford, 5–AA power, on McMurry College field.

Colorado High's B-Team will scrimmage Hermleigh Thursday (tonight) at 7:30 p.m.

Here Sept. 5 for a 6 p.m. scrimmage in Wolf Stadium will be Roscoe and Stanton.

MR. AND MRS. FLOYD MERKET,
. . . wed 50 years.

Floyd Merkets to Celebrate Golden Wedding Annversary

Open house Sunday afternoon will honor Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Merket in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

Hosting the fete in the Merket's China Grove Community home from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., will be the couple's sons, daughters, their wives and husbands.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Bo Merket, Mr. and Mrs. Lindy Merket, Mr. and Mrs. Lucky Merket, Mr. and Mrs. John Bills, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hunter.

Mr. and Mr. Merket were married in the parsonage of Dunn Methodist Church Aug. 27, 1918.

Mrs. Merket is the former Celia Allen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Allen. She moved to the China Grove Community with her family when she was a year old.

Mr. and Mrs. Merket met while Mr. Merket was visiting in China Grove with a brother, Jim Merket, now of Loraine.

Mr. Merket lived in Nimrod at the time of their marriage and they resided there for about five years.

In 1923 they moved to China Grove and bought the China Grove Store from Mrs. Merket's father.

Mr. Merket is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adam Merket, who moved to China Grove following the Floyd Merket's move. Floyd Merket with his father, his brother, Jim, and a brother-in-law first owned and operated the China Grove Gin.

The Merkets sold the store to a son-in-law and daughter, John and Betty Bills, about three years ago after operating it for 42 years. They have lived in the same location since moving into the community.

Mr. Merket is now retired from both the store and his farming interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Merket Wednesday extended an invitation to all their friends to visit with them Sunday afternoon during calling hours.
