Routine Patrol -- Key To Car Theft, Credit Spree

STATE HIGHWAY Patrolman Danny Williams cruised along Interstate 20 freeway, moving westward about five miles out of Colorado City.

Routine patrol on a routine February afternoon, that's all.

* * *

TIME WAS 4:10 o'clock when a moment later the patrolman stopped the Dodge for failure to drive in a single lane — in other words, weaving from lane to lane.

Still, nothing out of the ordinary. Driver's license identified the 220-pound 6-feet 5-inch driver from Michigan's Detroit area. Color photo on the license was fresh, clear, easily matching the man's face.

In front seat with the big driver was a small fellow, no more than 125 pounds on a thin 5 feet 7 inch frame.

* * *

MAYBE IT WAS the way they looked. Or the way they sat. Call it a hunch or an alert offifer's instinct. Whatever it was something whetted the patrolman's interest as he prepared to write the ticket.

Winter's wind was blowing strongly, so Williams invited the driver into the patrol car. Inside the big man, on request, showed a registration receipt for ownership of a 1963 green Dodge two-door sedan with matching license number plus a vehicle number.

Nothing out of order there. Still, Williams had that feeling for checking more carefully.

However, the driver said it was okay to look through his car and talk with the passenger. The little guy, he said, was only a hitchhiker he had picked up in California.

* * *

BACK TO the Dodge, with the driver remaining in the patrol car. And the little guy offered about the same information as the driver. It was from Los Angeles, had no identification. That's all.

Wrapped in the sock were four oil company credit cards and a roll of credit card receipts. On the floor beside the sock were auto tags — not Michigan as on the car, but Louisiana.

Something else. Name on the credit cards didn't jive with the name on the driver's license.

* * *

IMMEDIATELY Williams warned the hitchhiker of his rights under Texas law and U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

Then, with the extra license plates he walked back to the patrol car where the driver was sitting. The legal warning was repeated.

* * *

THE PATROLMAN had noticed the driver had, no money in his billfold when he checked his driver's license. The hitchhiker had said he had no funds, either.

They drove into the Courthouse for the driver to face a charge of failure to drive in a single lane, for his companion to face a charge of vagrancy.

Before Justice of Peace Leonard Henderson, though they said nothing. When the judge asked if they wanted a lawyer, they kept silent. When he told 'em they could plead guilty or post $200 bond, they still didn't speak.

"Not guilty," they finally muttered after the judge repeatedly ask them how they pleaded. That's all they spoke, though, except the little one said he wanted a court appointed lawyer. Nothing more. So they went to jail in lieu of bond money.

* * *

The credit cards were issued to Marvin A. Ritter of Harperwoods, Mich., a suburb of Detroit. He had reported the cards and a green carcoat were stolen while he was in church in Harperwoods Jan. 8.

Receipts in the sock amounted to $359.68 all charged on dates in 12 days, mostly since Feb. 9, a month after Ritter reported the cards stolen.

The receipts charted a travel route that included Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Alabama, Louisiana, Kentucky, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, California. Latest was the same day of the arrest in Van Horn and Pecos.

Tuesday Night

League Meeting

Little League, already organized with top officials for the coming season, get-down to business Tuesday night with a business schedule.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m. in Texas Electric Service Company's Reddi Room according to Bob Ratliff.

Coaches, managers, officials and all persons interested in the Little League program are urged to attend, he said.

Plans for the season have been inaugurated and are well under way. The Tuesday session will continue the program and move toward final work for the season opening.

Forrest Yancey, Col-Tex employe, is Little League president for 1967 and will direct the Tuesday meeting.

Vice president is Dave Sanders, Texas Electric Service Company employe.

Secretary - ereasurer is Ratliff.

League play will involve the same number of teams as last year — six major league teams, four minor league teams and six farm teams.

Tryouts for teams will start April 22, according to tentative schedule. First team practices will begin May 1 and actual play — first game of the season — will be May 15.

More interested personnel is sought by Little League for the season.

"We especially need persons who will assist with coaching and managing duties," Ratliff said.

Dickson Urges Chief Support

The gent who was in the final consideration with Snyder's Jesse Browning for Colorado City's ponce chief publicly pledged his support to the new chief.

Browning, who will take over the chief's duties here this week, was the selection of City Council after the field of candidates was narrowed to him and Selma Q. Dickson.

Dickson, senior member of the police department, told The Record Saturday he would strive to be a better policeman under the new chief. "I would like to express my humble gratitude to the many, many people of all races in this community," Dickson said, "for the encouragement and support expressed to my wife and me in the last few weeks.

"We feel indebted to this community more than we can ever repay.

"I pledge myself to make this city a better police officer, a better citizen," he continued, "and to strive harder to make our city a greater place in which to live."

"I sincerely hope that everyone will back and support our new chief in such a way that he always will be proud to say that he is in Colorado City.

"Let us all move together, united for a greater city," Dickson concluded.

County Okays $1,556 Project

Commissioners have voted to accept a low bid of $1,556 for moving and relocating Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative Inc. service line in the county's eastern area on Dave Jackson and Wiley Walker farms.

The low bid was submitted by L&F Construction Company of Stamford. Next was a $1,600 proposal by Caldwell Electric Company of Big Spring.

Purpose for the electric line relocation is for widening and improving a county road for a distance of one mile to alleviate a severe drainage problem.

Bill's Vote Soon

Hospital Measure In Committee

House approval of a bill creating the Colorado City Hospital District may be voted within a couple of weeks.

Rep. Temple Dickson, who introduced the bill in Texas House of Representatives this week, told Colorado City citizens in Austin Thursday the action may be soon.

No opposition is anticipated for the bill, an enabling act to allow voters of the district's defined area to organize and operate the district if approved by authorized voters.

The bill has been referred by Speaker Ben Barnes to the House Committee on Counties, a routine action for this type legislation.

Dickson discussed the bill's introduction and procedure with City Manager Ford Merritt and other members of the delegation which traveled to Austin for Thursday conferences with officials of Texas Industrial Commission.

The hospital district has been proposed by community leaders, City Council and Commissioners Court as the answer to the local hospital problem.

When Charles Root, long time owner of the extended care hospital facilities (Root Memorial Hospital and Valley Fair Lodge) announced plans last fall to close the hospital because of financial reasons, Commissioners Court approved a special appropriation to the hospital and City Council purchased the facilities.

Both the county and city actions were announced as interim measures — designed specifically to provide the community with hospital facilities and to safeguard loss of doctors, nurses and technicians until a hospital district could be organized and approved to take over the hospital's permanent ownership and operation.

Introduction of the district bill in the House of Representatives by Dickson and subsequent passage of the measure will be a major step toward the district's organization.

Named in the bill to serve as provisional directors for the district hospital board are Mrs. Dee Bassham, Murrell Blassingame, Rex McKenney, T. C. Moore, J. W. Randle, Bob Reily and Wayne Shawn.

Second Auto Assigned to Patrol Here

State highway patrol in Colorado City vicinity is being strengthened by the addition of another patrol car.

The new 1967 Plymouth was delivered this week to Patrolman Buddy Hertenberger. Patrolman Danny Williams will drive the other car.

Assignment of two cars to Colorado City will increase the highway patrol especially on weekends and will allow a broader check across the county.

Although it is not definite now, there are indications Colorado City will have a third highway patrolman assigned to its office. Department of Public Safety has met with more success in its extensive campaign for patrol recruits, assuring more patrolmen after these candidates complete extensive schooling.

Patrol officials indicated Colorado City's patrol may be increased later this year after the first classes are assigned to active duty.

Mitchell County Commissioners Court has okayed money to pay for the radio equipment in the new car that will keep it in commun

City's New Chief

Colorado City's new police chief, Jesse Browning, is shown here while visiting in the police department. The new chief, who has been house hunting, will take over duties here this week, having resigned his post as police sergeant in Snyder effective March 1.

FILING DEADLINE is just a few days away, but candidates are scarce for both city and school board elections here in Colorado City.

One candidate J. C. Brown of 716 Vine has filed for a place on the City Council ballot.

Terms of four councilmen end in April, but none of the four have made public their intentions.

* * *

LONE CANDIDATE so far, in the Colorado Independent School District board of trustees election is A. M. Holman, incumbent.

Two three-year terms will be decided in the school board voting.

School election will be April 1 and filing must be officially completed 30 days before the voting date, so that puts the filing deadline only three days away — Wednesday.

* * *

CURTIS LATIMER is the other trustee whose term expires this April as will Holman's. He has not stated either whether he will seek re-election.

Holman will be seeking his second consecutive term on the board, Latimer, if he becomes a candidate also will be up for his second consecutive term. However he served previously on the board in the 1950's.

* * *

BROWN, THE only announced candidate for City Council, is a long time office employe of Sun Oil Company.

Terms of four incumbents are up in April so four places at the council table will be decided in the city's April 4 election.

Deadline for filing for a place on the city ballot is 30 days before the election, which brings it before end of the week.

Riggsfield Funeral Held

Floyd Ira Riggsfield, 62, died about 1 a.m. Thursday in Baptist Memorial Hospital, San Antonio, after a long illness.

Funeral was held here Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Kiker & Son Chapel with Rev. M. A. Smith, Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church, and Rev. Billy Wilkinson, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating.

Born July 1, 1904, in Coryell County, he first moved to Mitchell County in 1919 and farmed in the Westbrook and Conaway communities.

His marriage to Mrs. Bessie Armstrong took place in Colorado City in 1942. The couple later lived in Arizona before moving to San Antonio where until his retirement, he was a carpenter.

Survivors are his wife, one step-daughter Mrs. Howard Mossberger, and one stepson, George W. Armstrong, all of San Antonio; one sister, Mrs. Alva V. Lewis, 220 West 7th St., Colorado City; three brothers, Ocie Riggsfield of Colorado City, Bill Riggsfield of Big Spring, and Lee Riggsfield of Cuthbert; two grandchildren.

Burial was in Westbrook cemetery.

Soil Steward Plans Develop

Plans are developing for combined church and conservation district program to mark Soil Stewardship Week.

Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District is the sponsor for Soil Stewardship Week annually here in Mitchell County. Its board of supervisors already has met with Rev. Fred Brewton minister of First Presbyterian Church and president of Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance.

Outgrowth of that conference at the last monthly meeting of the supervisors will be a breakfast March 4 for members of the ministerial alliance and district soil supervisors.

The combined groups will discuss and develop through plans for the observance of Soil Stewardship Week, April 30 to May 7. Ministers in the past years have cooperated in observance of the week — some developing sermon material in regard to soil stewardship, others appearing on programs during the week and some making brief mention of the stewardship concept in their pulpits.

This year, with the early planning and discussion between the ministers and soil supervisors, the conservation district officials are hopeful for the even fuller participation locally.

In addition to the breakfast meeting next Saturday the district will sponsor a special tour to point out and explain to the ministers soil, water and plant conservation being practiced on local farms and ranches, according to A. V. Sheppard, head of the Soil Conservation Service staff here.

The district also will provide materials to the ministers relating the aims and achievements of soil conservation.

It is also planned that the minister writing the Sermon Of The Week feature in Colorado City Record will present thought concerning conservation in that feature during Soil Stewardship Week.

Break-ins At Lake C-City Cabins

Approximately 20 cabins were entered last week, according to Deputy Sheriff Forrest Smith, but major losses were noted at only a few locations.

These included two black Zebco rods and reels, three silver Zebco rods and reels, one Shakespearean reel, one bamboo and one steel rod, and deep sea rod and

PRESENT LECTURES

Guests Give Programs For Hesperian Daughters

Hesperian Daughters Study Club's most recent meeting was in the Mission Hall at All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Rev. Harland Birdwell, vicar, said the opening prayer. Guest speakers were Mrs. Ollie Nunn of Kent and Mrs. Winnifred Wood of Big Spring, introduced by Mrs. Curtis Erwin, Sr., who toured the Holy Land with them in April last year.

Slides picturing the Biblical country as it looks today were accompanied by a lecture by Mrs. Nunn. Pictures of Rome, Greece, Crete, Turkey, Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon were shown.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. L. B. Gibson and Mrs. A. L. Geer.

First program in February featured a lecture on interior decorating with Mrs. Virgil Richburg as guest speaker.

The meeting was held in the Home of Mrs. Warren Costin, 105 E. 11th St., with Mrs. C. N. Mays as hostess.

Introduced by Mrs. Geer, Mrs. Richburg explained the uses of color accent in a room, the combination of furniture woods, upholstery and accessories, and the basics of furniture arrangement.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. S. Weems Dykes and Mrs. Richburg.

Members present were Mrs. W. H. Boney, Mrs. Curtis Erwin Sr., Mrs. R. F. Fee, Sr., Mrs. Carl Gary, Mrs. Geer, Mrs. L. B. Gibson, Mrs. Frank Ginzel, Mrs. E. V. Grantland, Mrs. John M. Worrell, Sr., Mrs. Donald Albright, Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. Costin.

Mrs. Grantland will host the March 2 program when Mrs. Costin will review How to Grow Up in One Piece, by Robert Paul Smith. The club will observe Texas Day.

Dorcas Meet At Luncheon

Dorcas Sunday School Class business meeting and covered dish luncheon was given in the First Baptist Church parlor Thursday at noon.

Mrs. C. P. Gary taught the devotional topic, "The Worth of a Good Woman," using as her text Proverbs 10:10-31.

Fifteen members and one guest attended. They were Mrs. B. H. Gregory, Mrs. W. R. Motley, Sr., Mrs. J. O. Dockery, Sr., Mrs. E. L. Henderson, Mrs. W. E. Bates, Mrs. W. H. Miller, Mrs. R. S. Crabtree, Mrs. J. L. Henry, Mrs. Gary, Mrs. A.R. Northcutt, Mrs. J. A. Sadler, Sr., Mrs. Paul Cooper, members, Mrs. Whitaker, guest.

Three Attend Course Held in Abilene

The two-day course of instruction was held at the Down Towner in Abilene.

TALK BY MRS. FORTUNE

Spring Fashions Studied By Zeta Delta Members

Spring Fashion • Beauty was subject for Zeta Delta Study Club program Thursday evening with Mrs. Phil Fortune as speaker in the home of Mrs. Don Fite.

"There is no such thing as a spring color," Mrs. Fortune told the club. "Choose any color you want to wear in any shade. Even clashing colors are in," she said.

Designs may be mixed this season, she added, with such patterns as polka dots, stripes and plaids worn at one and the same time. The speaker advised, "for longest staying power," the avoiding of the waistline. Variations of the high waistline and the low are "never out of fashion," Mrs. Fortune said.

Among other points stressed by her lecture were the very plain dress with seams and pockets as trim; "wild" colors added in accessories; handbags away from the rigid frame and swinging toward the pouch, envelope, and saddlebag lines.

Jewelry, she added, is for spring with earrings and bracelets in bright colors of glass and metal.

"So the louder and flashier your ensemble, the more in fashion you'll be," Mrs. Fortune concluded.

Mrs. Don Fite was chosen by Zeta Delta Club members as Outstanding Club Woman of 1966-67 and will accompany the president and incoming president to the Mesquite District Federation convention in Abilene, in March.

Next program will be Beauty in Fabrics to be presented by Mrs. Bobby Nobles with Mrs. John Carlson as hostess, March 9.

Language Master For Oral English

Diane Palacio, Ricky Espinoza, James Espinoza and Sally Martinez are intrigued with the Language Master being operated by Mrs. Phillip Anderson, Primary School teacher's aid. Language Master employs use of prepared card that contain pictures, words, and a strip of magnetic tape. Teachers find it especially useful in comparing a pupil's pronunciation to a standard. Constant practice enables a pupil to conform to the standard. The machine is in use at Primary building to help increase vocabulary of young children and to suplement the basic reading program.

HD Women At Fairview Hear Agent

Mrs. R. E. McMillan was hostess for the Thursday afternoon meeting of Fairview HD Club.

Miss Janice Miller, Home Demonstration Agent, presented the current program topic, the making of draperies, and cushions. Her subject with draperies featured. She said, o nwhat "you want them to do for a room."

Draperies, she told club members, can make a room look larger or can "cover up." Miss Miller advised careful choice of pattern, fabric, lighting, color of the walls.

Mrs. W. C. Berry conducted a recreation quiz, "Presidents of the United States," following the program.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. Willard Thurman, Mrs. Weldon McMillan, Mrs. C. F. Wiggins, Mrs. Lon Strain, Mrs. E. R. Uzzle, Mrs. Sam Armstrong; Mrs. J. L. Strain Mrs. Waddell Strain, Mrs. J. C. Womack, Mrs. Berry and Miss Miller.

Theater Cash For Fund

Oscar Haney, left, manager of Palace Theater, hands $57.05 to City National Bank Vice President Wayne Shawn for the Leon Yeager fund. The money was proceeds from a benefit movie at the Palace and upped the Yeager fund total to $5,0274.41. Most of the fund has been through individual contributions, but $755.80 came from VFW benefit dance and $350.55 from Colorado High's basketball points for Yeager.

Director Speaker For B&PW

Miss Garrett's subject was "The BPW Member and Public Relations."

Charles Thompson Atheneum Speaker

Mrs. Doyle Hester, chairman, opened the program by leading a concert reading of America's Creed. She then introduced the guest speaker, Charles C. Thompson, of Colorado City, who gave some very factual stories on Business and Finance — especially in regard to the assigned subject, Women and Money.

Mr. Thompson began his remarks by recalling the importance and necessity for a medium of exchange, even among the most primitive people.

"As the cave man began to move out and build communities, cities, and kingdoms, he found this need and used products of field and flock to pay the required taxes. Later, gold bars and coins were issued. Finally, about the 14th century, a crude banking system began to develop and grew slowly into what we have today," he said.

Mr. Thompson stated that Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the treasury, under Washington, was largely responsible for the creation of the first bank of the U.S. which was chartered by Congress in 1791.

Many other facts and figures about the monetary system and its growth and efficiency were presented, along with ideas for safe investments of savings and the importance of making wills.

* * *

Mrs. T. L. Finley conducted the business session. Mrs. B. H. Johnson, 2nd vice president of Mesquite District of TFWC, read the program of the District meeting to be held in Abilene March 13-14.

Mrs. Charles Thompson and Mrs. Frank Crownover were Club guests. 14 members present were, Mrs. Lily Bennett, Mrs. Percy Bond, Mrs. Glen Coon, Mrs. Finley, Mrs. C. R. Green, Mrs. Hester, Mrs. B. H. Johnson, Mrs. C. H. Martin, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. T. J. Rider, Mrs. K. L. Taylor, Mrs. T. C. Wilson, Mrs. Jim Johnson.

days — the total could be near $1,000 per month. And the receipts included Holiday Inns and meals as well as oil, gas and new tires.

County Attorney Frank Ginzel entered the case, filed legal papers and obtained a search warrant from Judge Henderson. In the car, officers found a green car coat with certain markings corresponding to the stolen report in Michigan.

Checks on the two prisoners moved through police channels in Austin, Los Angeles and Detroit.

Police records, Texas' Department of Public Safety reported, were too long to transcribe by teletype machine.

* * *

IN MEANTIME, Detroit police said the Dodge was stolen. Numbers on the driver's ownership registration paper didn't match the vehicle's number, although model and color of the car matched.

Oil company credit departments began investigations through the states where receipts were dated.

And the police records arrived.

* * *

FOR THE BIG BOY, the driver — 1 to 3 years in prison in 1954 for auto theft; federal correctional institution in 1961 for auto theft; 2 years in Federal Reformatory in El Reno, Okla. in 1963 for transporting stolen vehicle; 2 years probation in Houston in 1964 for transporting stolen vehicle; arrest in Los Angeles in 1966 for misdemeanor. But these were only some of the record, not all.

For the little guy the hitchhiker — sentenced to Federal Correctional Institution Ashland, Ky., in 1959, for transporting stolen auto; another federal sentence in California in 1962 for auto theft; same sentence repeated in 1965 in California for auto theft; 5-year probation in Los Angeles in 1966 for robbery; 1-year probation in Los Angeles in 1966 for drunk.

* * *

TWO DAYS passed and the two still didn't talk. A local lawyer was helping the little hitchhiker with his legal problem. The big guy wouldn't even answer when asked if he wanted to contact a lawyer.

There were complications. Oil companies wanted the credit cards, but declined to file charges. Not enough evidence, they said, to identify the pair as persons who forged names on credit card receipts.

Detroit police said they had too many of their own problems to worry about one stolen automobile way down in Texas. Too busy, they said.

* * *

THE PATROLMAN, County Attorney Ginzel and District Attorney Weldon Kirk huddled and re-huddled. FBI agents went to work. Time was running out for the traffic charge, though, and phone calls day and night brought nothing new.

California did ask for a "hold" on the little one. That state wanted him for violation of probation.

But there was no cooperation for prosecuting the credit card or stolen vehicle cases.

Turn the big guy loose, said the U.S. District Attorney's office in Fort Worth. We can't prosecute when we can't be backed up in court, the office explained.

* * *

IF HE WANTS the car when he gets out of jail, the U.S. office said, let him have it after signing a receipt.

Not a Chance, replied the county and district attorneys. He won't get the far unless he can prove ownership. Still, Detroit wasn't interested.

Prosecutors advised prosecuting the traffic case only. Their hands were tied in the other violations.

Williams kept checking and pleading by phone. His insistency brought an FBI agent into town and they went to the jail cell. More warnings to the prisoners.

All of a sudden the big driver opened up, and started talking. He said it looked like they had all the information they needed to stick him good.

The ex-con said he had picked out a car on a Detroit used car lot that matched model, style and color of car listed on his registration slip. He tried the car, had keys made, then stole it at night.

The FBI agent went back to the U.S. District Attorney's office and convinced 'em there they had a case.

This week, 10 days after it all started — the big guy moved out of County Jail in chains with a U.S. Deputy Marshal. California authorities took the little one back for probation violation.

Patrolman Williams, back in his patrol car, had a little more faith in law enforcement system to which he belongs.

Duplicate Winners

Mrs. J. P. Hendrix and Mrs. J. C. Richardson were high team in Thursday's duplicate series for women, Colorado City Country Club.

Second high score was made by Mrs. Charles Morgan and Mrs. J. P. Lake.

Third high honor went to Mrs. Gillian McEntire and Mrs. J. W. Randle, with Mrs. Gary Baker and Mrs. J. A. Sadler, Jr., winning fourth spot.

Smith said in many of the cabins the burglars made entrance but carried off only beverages.

Entrance at most cabins was through windows.

CONVERSATION CORNER

Ruth Coffey's

MEMOIRS are things sentimental people write when the action slackens, leaving time to remember. Time, opportunity, and the strength left to write down for posterity all the fascinating things that happened in your fascinating life.

Where is the man or woman who does not secretly think . . . and sometimes even say out loud, "My life would make a wonderful book?"

Memoirs must, as a matter of course, be true . . . and must be as wise and as wonderful, or just plain wicked, as the writer of the memoirs.

And that might make many memoirs mighty dull reading. Lack of overpowering wisdom or wickendness, either, that is.

MEMOIRS of mine would just have to start with that first lesson in flying.

It was a bright spring morning when a little girl named Ruth was five years old. As children will, she had dreamed the night before of flying . . . flying high over the Baptist church steeple and over the wild fields of bluebonnets at the edge of town.

Birds fly, she thought as she ate her cereal. Butterflies fly. Pidgeons fly. Buzzards fly. Even chickens fly from the top of the roost to the ground. It looks easy. And such fun!

BACK porch of the big, rambling house was perhaps five or six feet from the ground. Not so high as the top of the chicken coop.

So . . . so the little girl poised herself on the edge of the porch, spread her arms . . . and jumped, flopping her "wings" like crazy.

She did not soar like in her dream. She didn't even fly over the picket fence. Instead, she fell flat on her face, banged her head. And got a bloody nose.

That was her first lesson in accepting life's realities, the limitations of the flesh, no matter how willing the spirit.

People can't fly, she had to decide, except maybe in their dreams when the stars are high.

TROUBLE with lessons life teaches, though, is that fast as you learn one lesson there's another waiting.

My first flying lesson taught me one thing — you can't flop your arms and fly up in the sky. And that was about all.

It did not teach me to "look before you leap." Not really. It did not impress the importance of "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

It should have given deeper meaning to "pride goeth before a fall." But it didn't. Not really.

Main point it made clear was that people with bruises and bloody noses just have to wash the hurt place, change clothes, and go on to school anyhow.

And that's what most people do . . . one way or another . . . from kindergarten on . . . life being what it is, and largely made up of falling flat first, then facing facts.

SHOPPPING Scene was peopled by Berta Goodwin . . . Gwen Brown . . . Bonnie Burt, this time.

Met for the first time Weems Dykes (The Rev.) nice new pastor of First Christian Church, office visiting along with Gene Louder, St. Luke Methodist preacher.

Jack and Jackie Smith of the L.T.N.S. (long time no see) department were enjoying enchalada dinners . . . Gus Chesney was gathering groceries . . . Larry Moser, son of Joe, was home from Dallas for the weekend.

JESSE BROWNING, new C.O.P. (Chief of Police) was being introduced around by Sheriff Lewis Claxton and Assistant Chief Truman Henderson. Chief Browning has a nice, firm handshake and a ready smile.

Widest smile seen lately, though, was worn by Terry Keel (Mrs. Tex) who was proudly showing the seven pound bass she caught at Lake Champion via rod and reel. Terry's boots were made for dancing.

SEEN LATELYS all kinds of places were Lena Porter of City Council . . . Cleo Smith, wife of The Rev. M. A. Smith, Jr. . . . Ellon Burson, wife of Guy . . . Ruby Cawthron, wife of Drue, of Westbrook.

New subscriber to the Record, Mrs. Dwight E. Welcher who lives in John Day, Oregon, turned out to be the former Lorene Feaster, sister of Hubert and Archie Feaster who live in Buford Community. Lorene is here on a visit with her brothers and families.

HEAR HE! that Lt. Tim Bennett, husband of Linda Chesney, is now a first lieutenant in Korea, recently promoted.

Hear, too, that the Max Bermans plan a stay of several weeks in Florida.

That Lena Porter's son-in-law, Major Eddie K. Norris is temporarily at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio for three weeks special training. Major Norris, his wife Fannie Bess (Porter) and their sons Chip and Dale, are stationed at Beale AFB, California.

Our Roger Richards son of Bea and Lloyd, is one of five finalists in the contest for chosing Mr. ASC at Angelo State College in San Angelo.

SPIED Mrs. Willie Garner . . . Yvonne Sadler (Mrs. J. A. Jr.) . . . T. P. Fowler and Jay Craddock coming out of Lions Club . . . Selma Dickson on Walnut St. . . . Frances and Clem Myers in a lunch duo . . . Pearl Lindsey.

Saw Anne Cook (Mrs. Bill) local artist and her little golden-haired great-niece Mallinda Lou Wallace . . . Velma (Mrs. L. L.) Comer . . . Jim Kelley and his attractive wife Pat, lovely in a white coat . . . Erna Lou Burt (Mrs. Mike) and her cute little daughter Jane Ann together . . . Mrs. Emory Sweatt of Westbrook community sister of Mrs. Bill F. Carter . . . and Rhetta Biggs Sanders wife of Dave.
