Pictures Of Mars Blurred

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. AP— The Mariner 9 spacecraft has sent back 64 more pictures from Mars, but man's first close look at the red planet was blurred by a huge dust storm.

Scientists at California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said that with but one exception the new pictures showed no discernible surface details through the huge dust cloud swirling aound Mars.

And they were unable to pick up again a Martian feature photographed by Mariner Friday while the spacecraft was 641,000 miles from Mars.

The picture appeared to show a crater 100 miles wide, with sand dunes radiating out a thousand miles, in Mars' western hemisphere south of the equator.

During a 37-minute picture-taking session Sunday in its second orbit of Mars, Mariner passed over the the area, but the crater and streamers couldn't be seen.

The dust, if that's what it is, was kicked up in late September when high winds apparently began blowing over Mars.

The one picture with discernible features taken Sunday showed Mars' south polar cap with frozen carbon dioxide. Scientists were elated to discover that the photographed area seemed to show a series of ridges first detected in 1969 when Mariners 6 and 7 flew within 2000 miles of Mars, taking photographs.

The experts wonder whether the carbon dioxide is frozen over mountain ranges, blanketing them as snow blankets mountains on earth, or whether they are ridges in the carbon dioxide.

Mariner 9 will pass over the area later during its 90-day mission and scientists hope for a better look if the dust is gone.

Ground controllers said a six-second burn of the spacecraft's retrorocket at 9:44 p.m. EST Today will move it to within 862 miles of Mars at the low point in each orbit, a drop of five miles. This will enable the 210-foot base antenna at Goldstone, Calif., to receive data more efficiently.

Mariner 9 was placed flawlessly into orbit Saturday night with a 15-minute engine firing.

Dr. James Fletcher, National Aeronautics and Space Administration administrator, said Sunday that data Mariner 9 obtains on the dust storm might be useful to the Russians if two Soviet space probes believed near Mars are to attempt an unmanned landing. The Soviets have been silent about their missions, but speculation is that Mars 2 and 3 will attempt soft landings.

There is speculation the dust and wind could interfere with a lander, especially if it used a parachute system.

AS PHASE 2 BEGINS

Council Calls Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Phase 2 of President Nixon's anti-inflation program barely under way, the Cost of Living Council called a session today to decide whether to rescind a last-minute exemption allowing car prices to go up without advance notice.

The council said Friday that companies required under Phase 2 regulation to clear price increases in advance with the government could boost prices without notice to cover the cost of wage increases due their workers between now and the first of the year.

But Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. urged the council Saturday to reconsider.

Grayson also predicted that any adverse affect that uncertainty over Phase 2, which began Sunday, has had on the stock market would clear up by the end of the week.

Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt, appearing Sunday with Grayson on the CBS interview program "Face the Nation," said the board will meet Tuesday to decide whether teachers and other groups may collect retroactively pay raises frozen during the wage-price freeze period that expired Saturday night.

But Boldt declined to predict what the board would decide. "We're going to consider it," he said. "There's a chance of anything, of course."

The board already has ruled against allowing general retroactive pay raises, but has agreed to consider individual cases on their merits.

Grayson promised Saturday that, if the Cost of Living Council approves his request to rescind its earlier ruling, the Price Commission would change its regulations to "assure that these requested price increases are reviewed within 72 hours."

He said Sunday that the 72-hour limit would apply to all price-increase notifications, not just those that would be exempt under the Cost of Living Council's ruling.

Under present regulations, companies with annual sales of $100 million or more must report proposed price increases to the government in advance. Such increases may go into effect within 30 days after notification if no ruling has been made.

Smaller companies may raise prices without notice, but can be ordered to rescind them if the government decides the increases were too large.

Meanwhile, the Senate resumed work today on a tax-cut bill proposed by President Nixon to spur the economy and boosted by Congress to provide additional tax relief for individuals.

Miners Balk

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Appalachia's coalfields remained relatively quiet today as many miners balked at their union's request to end the longest nationwide coal strike since 1949.

Some maintenance crews were reported to be preparing mines for work this morning, but thousands of miners refused to enter the pits despite the new three-year contract.

The Consolidation Coal Co., the nation's second largest, reported that 2,288 of its 13,442 union miners were working today at three mines in southern West Virginia, one in eastern Tennessee and four in Illinois.

In eastern Kentucky, all but 1,100 of the 10,000 miners represented by District 30 were reported back on the job. But in western Kentucky, more than 4,000 members of District 23 were waiting to have the contract explained to them.

Butz Severing Business Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl L. Butz, secretary-designate of agriculture, says he is severing his ties with business, but his decision failed to mollify Senate critics.

Opposition to Senate confirmation of Butz developed around charges that he favors big business over the family farmer, and that his directorships with the four companies might represent conflicts of interest.

Butz agreed that retaining the directorships would create potential conflicts, and said in an interview Sunday night he is resigning all business connections and placing his stocks in a blind trust. He labeled his critics' charges as "political statements."

Butz, 62, of Lafayette, Ind., said he has notified the Ralston Purina Co., International Minerals and Chemicals Co., Stokely Van-Camp Co. and the Standard Life Insurance Co. of Indiana he is resigning from their boards. Written resignations will be submitted in a few days, he said.

His position on the board of the J.I. Case Co., a farm-equipment manufacturer, was terminated about a year ago when the firm merged with Tenneco Corp., he said.

"That's not enough," said Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla. "It's a matter dating back to the time of Ezra Taft Benson. He's been on the side of big business."

Butz, dean of continuing education at Purdue University, was an assistant agriculture secretary under Benson during the Eisenhower administration.

"He's the best example of the big, rich ccorporation against the small farmer," Harris said. "Getting rid of that stock is not going to change that."

Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said "I think his interests would be about the same" despite resignations from business connections. "I don't think a man should have been appointed in the first place who had all those long-time interests," Young continued.

Two large farmers' organizations split in their evaluation of Butz, nominated by President Nixon to succeed resigning Clifford M. Hardin.

National Grange delegates, meeting in Charleston, W.Va., expressed support for Butz, and Grange National Master John W. Scott said, "I think Dr. Butz has a knowledgeable understanding of farm problems and can intelligently direct his efforts toward general improvement of the agriculture industry."

In Corning, Iowa, the president of the National Farmers Organization said Butz would "throw government support toward a policy of liquidating all but 600,000 farmers, hundreds of thousands of rural community businesses, and thousands of our small towns."

LVN Program At WTC Is Approved

The Licensed Vocational Nursing program has been approved for Western Texas College by the Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners in Austin, according to Gene Robertson, director of Occupational and Technical education.

Provisional accreditation begins automatically with the date of the enrollment of the first class and extends until the licensing examination results of the first graduates are evaluated by the board.

To be admitted to the Licensed Vocational Nursing program at WTC, the applicant must meet four requirements. The first requirement is that the applicant's high school transcript or GED scores must be on file in the WTC registrar's office.

The second requirement is that an application to enroll at WTC must be on file in the registrar's office. The third requirement is that an applicant must have made an application to enroll on the WTC LVN program.

The fourth requirement is that the applicant must have taken the aptitude test for the LVN program. After the applicant completes the four steps, she may request an interview with the head of the WTC LVN program. Interviews are being accepted for Nov. 17 and 18.

Child Care Tax Is Liberalized

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today 59 to 24 to liberalize a child care tax deduction for couples who both work and have children 14 and under.

It added to the $19.5-billion tax reduction bill an amendment of Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., which would make the full deduction available to couples with joint incomes up to $18,000.

As the bill stands, the limit for such couples was joint incomes of up to $12,000.

The amendment would add about $100 million to the previously estimated $250 million cost of the provision.

Under the provision, single adults such as widows and divorced persons and couples with the income limits could deduct up to $4,800 per year of child care and domestic help expenses.

Tunney contended the $12,000 limit was not high enough because few couples in this bracket could afford to pay large sums for child care.

Senate leaders are driving for a vote on the new bill by Wednesday.

The biggest obstacle to that goal could be a Democratic proposal for federal financing of presidential campaigns, which could be expected to touch off a bitter battle between money-starved Democrats and well-financed Republicans.

But the Democratic leadership isn't sure that rider will be offered.

Another fight could develop over various proposals to add to the tax bill riders increasing Social Security benefits.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the legislation, said every effort will be made to keep the bill free of amendments, since Social Security will be considered later in connection with the House-passed welfare-reform bill.

Long said, however, that a presidential campaign-financing rider is being prepared along the lines of one he sponsored in 1966. He said a decision will be reached early in the week on whether the amendment will be offered.

It was understood the provision might guarantee each major party's presidential nominee $18 million in a national election and a third-party contender $6 million.

The money could be raised by allowing each taxpayer to indicate on his tax return that $1 of his payment should be used for the campaign-financing fund.

Long got a similar plan enacted in 1966 with the strong backing of then-President Lyndon B. Johnson. But a coalition of Republicans and a few Democrats succeeded in nullifying it in 1967 after a Senate floor battle lasting six weeks.

In a major test on the tax-cut bill Saturday, the Senate turned down 53 to 13 an attempt by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to eliminate more than half the benefits of the 7-per-cent investment credit.

AM Suit Jury Being Selected

Jury selection began this morning in 132nd District Court in the case of J.R. Meadows and his wife, Effie Lou Meadows, versus American Magnesium Company.

The suit was filed April 28. Plaintiff asks for $25,000 in damages and $38,940 in reduction of land value, which plaintiff alleges is a permanent nuisance. The total sum asked for in the suit is $63,940.

Plaintiff alleges that "smoke vapors, fumes, obnoxious odors and poisonous and corrosive gases 'including particles of magnesium chloride, hydrochloric acid and chlorine gas' have blown in, upon and over plaintiff's land and premises into their home since the plant went into operation in July of 1969.

Meadows claims the operation of the plant is unreasonable and constitutes a nuisance. He claims damages and injuries to crops, grass and livestock and loss of income from farming and ranching operations. He also alleges damages and injuries were sustained as a result of corrosion to fences, stock and horse trailers, tractor and farm equipment, electric wire, engines of his automobile and pickup, television antenna and damages and injuries to furniture, appliances, drapes, carpet and air conditioner.

Meadows claims he was forced to move away from his home in order to protect his health.

The land involved is section 202, block 97, Houston and Texas Central Railway Co. survey near the AM plant.

Attorney for the plaintiff is Gene Dulaney. The defendant is being represented by the law firm Rosser and Carroll.

Laura Gains Strength

MIAMI (AP)—Late-blooming Tropical Storm Laura built its top winds to 55 miles an hour today and threatened to pour torrential rains into western Cuba's rich tobacco lands.

And Arnold Sugg of the National Hurricane Center in Miami said: "The probability that Laura will become a hurricane is fairly high."

At 6 a.m., EST, Laura was located about 525 miles south-southwest of Miami near Latitude 19.0 north, Longitude 84.0 west, storm forecasters said.

Weathermen put small boaters on alert Sunday night after Laura formed 17 days short of the end of the official Atlantic hurricane season.

Locally heavy rains and winds of gale force in squalls were predicted over western Cuba today, spreading into the extreme southeast Gulf of Mexico tonight.

"It's too early to say what part of the United States coast will most likely be affected," said Joe Pelissier, a hurricane center forecaster.

"But once a storm gets into the Gulf, it's going to hit some place. They just don't go away."

"There's probably a good chance it will produce hurricane winds of 75 miles an hour," Pelissier said.

The hurricane center said Laura was expected to hold a course toward the western tip of Cuba at 8 to 10 miles an hour and probably turn toward the north tonight.

"Small craft around western Cuba should remain in safe harbor and those around northeastern Yucatan and south Florida should not venture into open waters," the hurricane center said.

Peking Delegates Take UN Seats

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China's delegates to the U.N. General Assembly took the seats today formerly held by the Chinese Nationalists.

The five representatives of the People's Republic of China filed into the big, high-domed blue and gold 131-nation assembly hall and took aisle seats at 10:32 a.m.

The five were the delegation chairman, Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua; the vice chairman, Ambassador Huang Hua; Fu Hao, Hsiung Hsiang-huei and Chen Yu.

They arrived at the delegates' entrance with a girl interpreter, Tang Wun-shong, and the U.N. chief of protocol, Sinan Korle, showed them into the hall.

On the way, he introduced Chiao to U.S. Ambassador George Bush, who in turn introduced him to Bush's deputy, Ambassador Christopher H. Phillips. Bush asked to see Ambassador Huang, who also is permanent representative to the United Nations, but Huang had gone on ahead.

The U.S. ambassador later told reporters the meeting was his first with him.

"Well, we are the host country, and I was pleased to make his acquaintance. It was not a very weighty occasion. He said hello and I said hello."

The assembly president, Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik, made a brief speech of welcome.

"As president of the General Assembly," he said, "I take great pleasure in welcoming the delegation of the People's Republic of China.

"This is an historic occasion. The People's Republic of China is now beginning its participation in the work of the greatest intergovernmental organization in the whole world.

"Undoubtedly, by its participation, the United Nations will be strengthened in its effectiveness."

Kuwait led a procession of speakers from all parts of the world with their own welcoming remarks.

The U.S. delegation made a last-minute decision to be among the welcoming speakers.

Ex-nun can't shake 'stigma' of past

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old ex-nun. I have been out of the convent for two years and am now in my fourth job. I do office work and am well trained for it, but here is my problem: When I am asked about myself, I have always told the truth, and as soon as it is learned that I am a former nun, I am viewed with curiosity, suspicion and in some cases, contempt. The fact that I was a nun fascinates people (especially men), and wherever I go, I am questioned about it. I would like to forget it, but once someone knows, I am sunk.

I like this new job and want to stay. So far I haven't mentioned my background. I don't want to lie, but I don't want to pour out my life's story too soon because the truth might prejudice people right off the bat. Can you advise me?

EX-NUN

DEAR EX-NUN: Your problem is your excessive concern over what people will think about you when they learn the truth. Don't try to second guess them. If they're "fascinated" with the fact that you were a nun, so what? That's their problem. Don't make it yours.

DEAR ABBY: More than 25 years ago, I rescued two battered, unwanted babies from a 20-year-old mother and a cruel 22-year-old stepfather. The young mother tried to force her mother to take them, but her mother had a large family and refused to take on such an added burden. (The boys were two and three at the time.)

Finally the young mother put them out, and told them never to come back into that wretched little apartment over someone's garage. When darkness fell, a neighbor told me that these children were huddled on her back steps, like abandoned puppies, dirty, hungry and asleep.

I took the boys and asked their mother to let me keep them and she agreed gladly with no more emotion than one would show giving away some unwanted kittens. She promised to make the break clean and to never contact them in any way. The town was so bitter toward her and her husband, they left town.

The older boy has been a trial and heartbreak to us. I took him to psychiatrists, and psychologists. They all told me that his personality was damaged by his early mistreatment. He was hysterically nervous, a chronic bed-wetter, prone to steal, and a victim of screaming nightmares. He spent ten months in a juvenile ward in a state psychiatric institution, which didn't seem to help him.

The younger boy did better, spending four years in the Air Force. He married a nice little girl (I'll call Anna) and they moved in with us. While my husband and I were on vacation a few months ago, their natural mother came to town and looked the boys up. Anna became very friendly with her, and now for the shocker: Anna and her husband have just become parents of a baby girl, whom they named for that woman! I was stunned, crushed and amazed.

We have signed notes for them, given them money, and treated them as our own children. Please ask a psychiatrist, why, why, WHY?

NUMB

DEAR NUMB: Intensive psychological studies are necessary to determine what motivates people to behave as they do. On the face of it, it's hard to believe that this young couple didn't know how you would react, which leads to the natural conclusion. They didn't care.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ZOFTIG" IN ATLANTA, GA.: I don't want to spoil your day, but your normal weight for the rest of your life is what you weighed when you were 25 years old.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hunt Puts Blame On Kissinger

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Oilman H. L. Hunt, here to drum up advertisers for his conservative-oriented radio program "Lifeline," says America has but three or four years before the Communists take over.

The Dallas magnate told a news conference in his oppulent hotel suite that Henry Kissinger must be blamed for all of the nation's foreign diplomacy problems. Kissinger, who recently returned from Red China, is President Nixon's national security affairs advisor.

Labeling Kissinger a "super manager," Hunt said. "There's no one like him since Alexander the Great. He couldn't get elected and yet he's been running the country for the last 21 years."

"The United States only has three or four more years left before it falls prey to the Communists," he said.

Hunt was here to get sponsors from among those attending the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

Playboy magazine's interview with Hunt called him "tight as a new shoe and as shrewd as a riverboat gambler."

Two Mishaps Are Reported

City Police investigated two motor vehicle mishaps over the weekend, and one of them involved considerable damage.

There was considerable damage to the 1962 model Buick of George A. Lochabay, 402 Thirty-third Street, when he was involved in a collision with the 1970 Model Chevrolet of Henry F. Wenetschlaeger, 221 Thirty-fifth Street at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Damage to the other vehicle was minor. Officer Homer Dill investigated the mishap.

The other one occurred in the 2400 block of College Avenue at 2:55 p.m. Saturday. Involved were the 1966 Model Ford of Ruth L. Martin, Clairemont Route, and the 1964 Model Oldsmobile of A.W. Wallace, 1008 Thirtieth Street. Officer Melvin Sanders investigated this mishap. Damage was minor.

Suspect Is Free On Bond

Betty Magness Cagle, 35, of Snyder has been released on $5,000 bond. She has been charged with murder with malice in the shooting death of John David Rollins, 30.

The shooting occurred last Thursday night at 706 Twenty-ninth Street. The suspect was arrested the next morning after she was charged in Justice of the Peace court.

Investigating officers said Rollins died from a gunshot wound in the neck.

Fire Put Out

City Firemen extinguished a grass fire at Avenue I and Eighth Street at 2:10 p.m. Saturday.

Child Bitten By Dog

Clint Potts, 7, 3749 Sunset, was bitten on the leg and above one eye by a dog at 1:30 p.m. Saturday according to a City Police report. Officers said the animal was placed in the City Pound for observation.

Greyhound Strike Postponed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Greyhound Bus Co. drivers are remaining on the job after an 11th hour decision by the president of the Amalgamated Transit Union to postpone a Sunday noon strike deadline for five days.

In postponing the strike, John M. Elliott advised union negotiators by telegram from Washington, D.C., that he was setting up a top-level bargaining session between union and company representatives here Tuesday.

A strike would halt Greyhound operations in all states east of the Rocky Mountains and have a partial effect on states west of the Rockies.

Postponement of the strike deadline came after federal mediators said the contract talks had broken off following union rejection of an offer of a three-year contract Greyhound said would cost it more than $34 million.

Greyhound officials have refused to comment on any aspect of bargaining to replace a contract which expired Oct. 31, but union negotiator Ellis Franklin said the main issues do not involve wages.

Action On Funds Delayed

County Commissioners this morning delayed action on a request of Tom Smith, county child welfare officer, for an increase of $1,500 in his budget for this year.

He said an unusually heavy load of child care cases resulted in the need for more money. Commissioners said they would take action at the first of next month.

Smith's office operates from a county budget of $9,443, plus state funds. The office has spent from $500 to $700 each month this year on child care, which represents a substantial increase over previous years.

In other business, Commissioners approved a letter to the Federal Aviation Agency, requesting the re-installation of a non-directional radio beacon facility at the airport. This action followed a request by the Airport Board, which met last Thursday. The commissioners also agreed to repair some lights at the airport.

Texas Docks Idle Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas docks were idle today following a strike vote by West Gulf Coast locals of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Most of the locals reported Sunday unanimous strike votes after talks between ILA union leaders and the West Gulf Marid time Association broke down in Galveston this past weekend.

About 7,000 longshoremen are expected to be idled between Lake Charles, La., and Brownsville, Tex.

However, there are few vessels on Texas waterfronts caught in the squeeze since maritime shippers have had weeks to prepare for a strike.

A Galveston Wharves Board spokesman said its had only one ship in port but it isn't affected.

At the Port of Houston, a spokesman said about a dozen ships would be initially affected by the strike but they would probably sail elsewhere.

"Most of these vessels are foreign flag ships and I expect many of them will go to the West Coast to load cargo since longshoremen are back to work there," the spokesman said.

The Mexican oiler Alvaro Obregon tied up at Brownsville had no need of longshoremen and a seagoing barge loaded with wheat from Beaumont planned to sail for Vera Cruz, Mexico, if she could not unload today.

Longshore gangs hurriedly loaded milo on board the S. S. Delta Argentina and unloaded zinc from another vessel at Corpus Christi before the waterfront closed.

Beaumont had only one ship in port, the S. S. Oswego Liberty, which is being picketed by the Masters, Mates and Pilots association in a dispute over the use of foreign crews on foreign ships operated by American shippers.

The ILA bargaining team reportedly turned down a offer of a $1.50 an hour increase covering wages and fringe benefits over a three-year period in talks late Saturday.

A nationwide longshore strike was called Oct. 1 by ILA president Thomas Gleason but most West Gulf Coast locals refused to walk out, some saying the Presidential wage freeze prevented them from getting raises anyway. Others said strike orders were ignored because negotiations were making steady progress.

Movie Props Bring $500,000

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie props—ranging from glittering carriages from "Desiree" and "Nob Hill" to a huge stuffed ape from "Planet of the Apes"—brought nearly $50,000 Sunday in the first session of the 20th Century—Fox studio auction.

The stuffed simian was purchased for $220 by actress Debbie Reynolds, who plans to open a film museum here soon. She also paid $320 for two models of Italian railroad box cars used in "Von Ryan's Express."

Highest priced of the 366 items sold in the first of six sessions to dispose of unwanted props was the brougham carriage from "Desiree," the 1954 film starring Marlon Brando and Jean Simmons. It sold for $2,500.

A major purchaser was actress Jane Withers, who bought many pieces of furniture, including a gilded wood throne chair from "Viva Zapata!" and two Roman-style armchairs from "Cleopatra." And a local movie museum proprietor shelled out $50 for another "Planet of the Apes" prop—a replica of a dinosaur egg.

Vandals Cause School Damage

Vandals caused damage at two schools here over the weekend.

Someone shattered a window in a rest room at Travis Junior High School. They also scattered books and paper throughout the halls and several classrooms.

Someone sprayed white paint on the east and north walls at Northeast Elementary School.

City Police are investigating the cases.

U. S. 'Copters Collide In Air

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. helicopters collided in the air today, another one crashed after a mechanical failure, and a South Vietnamese chopper hit a mine as it landed and blew up.

Four Americans and six South Vietnamese were reported killed, and five Americans and three South Vietnamese were injured.

The helicopters collided about 70 miles northwest of Saigon as they were returning to refuel after landing South Vietnamese troops on an operation 10 miles east of the Cambodian border.

All four crewmen aboard one of the UH1 helicopters were killed, and the four crewmen aboard the other aircraft were injured.

The U.S. Command said an investigation was being made to determine the cause of the collision.

A third U.S. UH1 went down Sunday 21 miles west of Saigon after a mechanical failure, the U.S. Command reported. Three South Vietnamese troops were killed and one of the American crewmen was injured.

A total of 8,020 U.S. helicopters and planes now have been reported lost in the Indochina war.

A South Vietnamese helicopter was landing infantrymen 80 miles north of Saigon and about 10 miles from the Cambodian border this morning when it hit a mine and exploded. Field reports said three South Vietnamese were killed and three were wounded.

In Cambodia, Phnom Penh's airport was closed to commercial flights after three rockets hit the airfield. The small barrage about 7 a.m. caused no damage, the Cambodian command said, but a second salvo of three rockets at 10:30 a.m. set the home of a civilian worker afire and wounded a Cambodian airman.

Among the flights canceled was a U.S. Air Force cargo plane coming to pick up an elephant given by Premier Lon Nol to Adm. John S. McCain Jr., the U.S. commander in chief for the Pacific. McCain is giving the animal to the Los Angeles Zoo.

It was the third time in a week that the airport had been shelled. In one attack on Nov. 10, more than 30 persons were killed and nine aircraft were destroyed or damaged.

Man Fires At Two Prowlers

Chuck Derrick, 2410 Thirtieth Street, fired two shots from a pistol at two men he surprised in his back yard a 1:04 a.m. today.

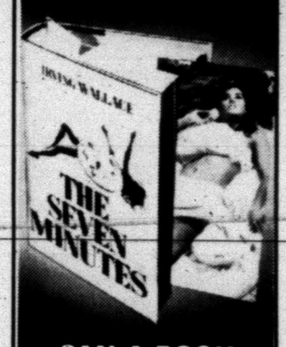

City Police said Derrick heard a noise in his garage and went outside to investigate. He saw two men. They started running and jumped over a back fence while Derrick fired at them.

Later investigation determined that two stereo tapes valued at $18 had been taken from the glove compartment of a pickup in the garage.

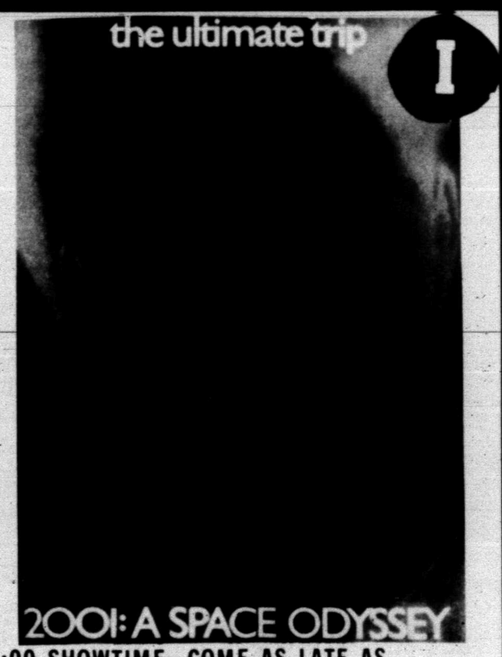

County Court Plea Is Heard

Ralph D. Crow pleaded guilty in county court this morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He received a 30-day jail term and a $100 fine plus court costs. However, the jail term portion of the sentence was probated for six months. The offense occurred Sunday.

Western Fashions Take Over In The Far East

By HISASHI UNO
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — The pleasant clip-clop, clip-clop of geta or wooden clogs, the most traditional of Japanese footwear, is fading.

Instead, the sharp rat-tat-tat of women's spike heels has grown louder and louder in the streets as if to indicate a successful landing of women's liberation forces and their triumphant march in Japan.

The wooden clogs and the cork-soled Japanese "zori" slippers have almost disappeared, as has the kimono from Tokyo's swinging center.

When the weather turns cool, young Japanese girls in miniskirts prefer to walk briskly in knee-high leather boots.

Many of Japan's oldtimers, who remember the conservative prewar fashions, frown upon the new modes and say they are "The products of American Materialism."

But the girls continue to seek any new fashion mode from abroad.

Fumio Ogawa, president of Japan's National Federation of Wooden Footwear Manufacturers' Associations, said the nation's total production of wooden clogs in 1970 declined to 70 million units from 100 million units 10 years ago.

Of those for women only, he said the annual output fell from more than 175 million to 10 million units.

Ogawa attributed the decline to the sweeping popularity of Western dresses in recent years in Japan and the mass production of shoes since the early 1960's.

"The Western clothes are easy to work in and vinyl sandals easy to throw away," he said.

To some Japanese women of today, however, the wooden clogs have the value of luxury or practical curios.

The lightest clogs made of paulownia, the symbol tree of the Japanese empress, are regarded as the most valuable of all. The most expensive set is priced at $55.50, or higher.

This compares with the more expensive imported shoes for women priced at around $41.67. The ordinary paulownia clog set is usually sold for $9.72, federation officials said.

In 1970, Japanese leather shoes manufacturers say, they sold more than 30 million pairs of women's shoes and also imported an additional 130,000 pairs from abroad.

Delta Kappa Gamma Regional Meeting Held Here Nov. 13

The Regional Meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma International Honor Society for women teachers was held at Snyder High School Nov. 13.

The day's activities began with a breakfast for local chapter presidents at the American Restaurant. Twelve chapters were represented from Abilene, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Colorado City, Fort Stockton and Snyder.

The General Session opened at 9:30 a.m. in the Snyder High School auditorium with Mrs. M.L. Galloway of Zeta Lamba Chapter of Snyder presiding. The invocation was given by Mrs. Roy Carter of Zeta Lamba Chapter and the welcome, by Bill J. Hood Superintendent of Snyder Public Schools.

The Alpha State President Levonne Davis of Texarkana was the main speaker for the noon luncheon in the cafeteria. She was assisted in directing the days meeting by Alice Crump of Texarkana, who is the Corresponding Secretary of Alpha State. The theme of the meeting was "And Let It Begin With Me."

In speaking to the hundred member group, Mrs. Davis, said, "We have come a long way in education today, but we must define our goals and travel with a purpose." She quoted from Nell Pines new book "Revolution in Learning" saying, "We must find new mind builders, we are wasting the capacities of children by failing to challenge their early years. If we properly use our money, energy and imagination we can make a new and more intelligent generation. We must however, teach children first of all to live and get along with his fellow man, teach him to accept human nature." In quoting from Paul Crume, Mrs. Davis added, "The first grade teacher is perhaps the most important single person in a child's life and often the least publicized. It is too bad that the first grade teacher could not be the one to teach children about our greatest problem of integration. There is not a black child who ever loved a first grade white teacher or a white one who loved a black teacher who ever became a racist."

There are forces beyond our control that are shaping our civilization today, for example, the television, a child spends eleven thousand hours in school compared to fifteen thousand before the television set. For a teacher this is a tough act to follow and she must use every source possible to provide creative learning. It is the teacher who makes the difference, even with all the new modern equipment available for use today, it is still dependant upon human operation. As one child expressed it "but machines don't have laps."

As key women educators we must decide what our goals are and where we are going from here, to make our next generation more intelligent.

Labor And Management Concerned Over Phase 2

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — We must all make sacrifices for the good of the economy, we were told back in August, and with what appeared to be a sense of comraderie in a crisis, almost everyone agreed.

Now, two months later, rituals of the sacrifice have been proclaimed and the reactions range widely, from disappointment to rage, and with elements of surprise, jealousy, fear and doubt—but not enthusiasm.

Looking back, it is possible to discern some of the motives that gave President Nixon his original support.

Labor, for example, felt that inflation was depriving it of its fair financial share and felt that federal intervention might benefit it by correcting an imbalance. And business too felt it was being battered in the market place because of unrestrained labor demands and now would obtain justice.

But the result of the deliberations by the Pay Board and the Price Commission for Phase 2, look unexpectedly firm and restrictive to both labor and management, and both now seem to feel that they have been baited into a lobster trap and that they might be the sacrifice.

This feeling is tempered by considerable doubt on three scores—the first concerns their understanding of the details spelled out during the past week, the second relates to the appropriateness of the formula, the third relates to the ability of the government to enforce the details.

The formula of 5.5 per cent wage increases and 2.5 per cent price increases has never been tried and there is no assurance it is correct.

There is some concern about the way the percentages relate to productivity increases, for example.

If productivity increases the economic cake gets bigger and then labor, business and government all can take a bigger slice. If the cake remains the same, no element of the economy can take a bigger slice except at the expense of another.

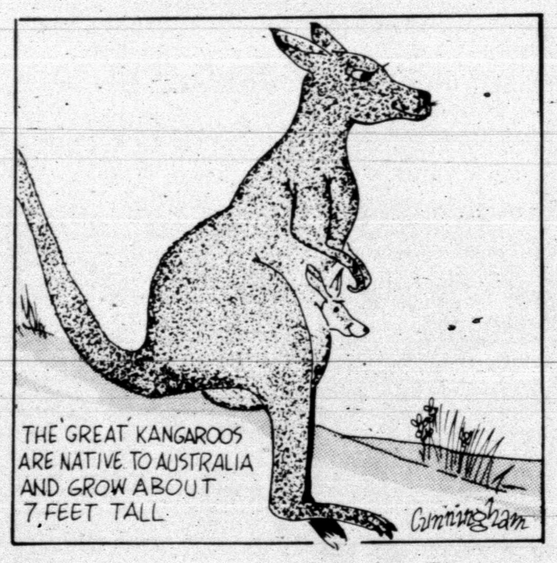

In pursuit of the bigger cake, management is encouraged to run a lean operation, to invest in labor-saving equipment, to be innovative, to keep its plants modern and efficient. And, in anticipation of sharing in the greater output, labor is encouraged to work hard and be efficient.

Greater productivity tempered by human and social concerns, therefore, is a goal accepted by all elements of economic life, but there is some question of whether or not it is being encouraged by the new guidelines.

A price increase may be permitted if costs rise, for example, but that increase must be reduced if productivity also gains, the reasoning being that the increased productivity has had a counter effect on costs.

But what happens if a company just decides to forego productivity increases and let its cost rise? Won't it get roughly the same increase?

Junior Editors Quiz on FLORA AND FAUNA

QUESTION: What kind of animal is a Fauna and where is it found?

* * *

ANSWER: Fauna is the name given to animals in a geographical area or geological period of time. Scientists are constantly referring to the Fauna and Flora of an area. This is a reference to the animal life and vegetation in some part of the world today, or animals and vegetation which existed at an earlier time in the history of the world.

Today, scientists describe the Fauna of an area such as Australia, be referring to the kangaroo, and wallaby, animals classified as marsupials, because they carry their young in a pouch and live in Australia. They may refer to the Fauna of South America mentioning the llama or vicuna, peculiar to that area of the world. They mention the lemur in describing the Fauna of Madagascar or may note that the buffalo, coyote and prairie dog are the Fauna of the western United States.

The geologists frequently refer to the Fauna of another era. There, animals once lived, but are now extinct. Bones of dinousaurs have been found in many countries and it is believed that these large reptiles lived millions of years ago, but died off because of adverse weather conditions, perhaps during the Ice Age.

Columnist Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Japan has found a new way to solve a pollution problem—turning discarded plastic bottles into streets. The bottles are crushed, melted and then blended with other substances to make a street paving material.

What makes civilization so dangerous to the young? Accidents mostly. They are the leading cause of death among all persons from 1 to 37 years old. Accidents claim more lives among children aged 1 to 14 than the six leading diseases combined. Among youths from 15 to 24 the toll from accidents is greater than from all other causes combined.

The gravitational pull of the moon affects the earth itself as well as the seas. This pull, which causes the tides, can also raise the North American continent half a foot when the moon is directly overhead.

Some anthropologists believe the human neck is getting shorter. Whether this is physically true, it isn't a bad idea. Certainly few people today want to stick their neck out very far.

Quotable notables: "With the supermarket as our temple and the singing commercial as our litany, are we likely to fire the world with an irresistible vision of America's exalted purposes and inspiring way of life?"—Adlai E. Stevenson.

Good advice: Don't fool around with old golf balls. If pierced, they can explode and maim. Golf balls with liquid cores contain a compound under pressure of up to 2,500 pounds per square inch.

Oink, Oink: The lowly pig, despite the low regard in which it is held, is one of the most intelligent of animals. In Polynesia it was used in earlier centuries to locate lost burial places. In France it still is employed to search out truffles. In England during the last century it was trained by many hunters to retrieve game.

History lesson: What U.S. president was taught to read and write at 17 by the woman he married? He was Andrew Johnson, successor to Abraham Lincoln. Johnson, a young tailor who had never been to school, learned his ABC's from Eliza McCardle whom he later married in 1808 at the age of 18. He was the youngest president to marry.

Kachoo!: Americans are expected to get half a billion colds this year. Incidentally, the so-called "common cold" is a myth. Over 100 viruses that can cause colds have been isolated. It can take weeks to identify the culprit virus in a particular case, and by then the cold has dried up and been forgotten.

Folklore: It is unlucky to point at the moon or try to count the stars. A child born on Sunday will be safe from evil spirits. A bride who fails to cut the wedding cake herself may wind up childless. You'll have bad luck if a picture falls from the wall in your home, but only if the glass is broken.

Farmers Comply With Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says farmers have complied well with a set-aside program rule requiring crop land taken from production to be of similar quality to acreage usually planted to feed grains, wheat or cotton.

The rule is aimed at preventing farmers from idling sub-quality land in return for federal price-support benefits on crops grown on the remaining acres.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said Friday spot checks this year disclosed "insignificant" discrepancies in relation to the total number of acres in the 1971 crop set-aside program.

Of 3,000 counties surveyed, only in 144 were discrepancies found on five per cent or more of the farms, officials said.

Prince To Wed

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Madrid newspapers have published reports from France that Prince Alfonso de Borbony Dampierre will marry Maria del Carmen Martinez-Bordiu, Gen. Francisco Franco's 20-year-old granddaughter.

The report published Saturday was not officially confirmed here.

The prince, 35, is a first cousin of Prince Juan Carlos, who has been named Franco's successor as chief of state.

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I would like to be a greenkeeper for a golf course. How can I find out about this work? Is it an overcrowded field? — I.T., Amarillo, Tex.

The man who used to be known as a greenkeeper is now called a golf course superintendent as there is an increasing need for a college education. Of an estimated 10,200 courses in this country; there are about 8,300 qualified supers so it's a field with more demand than supply at present, according to the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA), which supplied the information for this column.

THE SUPERINTENDENT is one of three key execs at a golf club (the other two are club manager and golf professional) Overall duties vary by size and type of course (private club, municipal, military, semi-private or semi-public, resort, 9-hole or 18-hole).

RESPONSIBILITY may include grounds maintenance, equipment purchasing and maintenance, structure (building) maintenance, landscaping, hiring-training-direction of personnel, materials purchasing and use, cost and record keeping, budget planning and reports.

A qualified man or woman needs a variety of education, experience and skills. He should know how parts of the course relate to golf play, turfgrasses and their maintenance techniques, soils, fertilizers, irrigation, drainage, insects, fungicides, mechanics, accounting, management, public relations and communications.

EDUCATION is not standardized. For maximum advancement, 4 years of college is recommended. Possible majors: horticulture, botany, agronomy, entomology. Programs are often found in college of agriculture. Some leading schools: Penn State, Mich State U., No Carolina State U., Virginia Polytechnic (Blacksburg), Purdue, Texas A & M, U. of California, U. of Arizona, Colorado State U., U. of Tennessee, U. of Massachusetts, Iowa State U., Mississippi State U., and U. of Florida.

TWO-YEAR programs in turfgrass management, golf course management, landscape architecture (and various other program titles) are available in more than 200 community and junior colleges. However, associate degree holders should consider continuing their education at night to obtain a bachelor's degree. There are indications that the bachelor's degree will be a basic requirement in another decade or two, and you may as well be prepared for that eventuality.

SALARY FIGURES documented by an industry-wide survey won't be available until early next year, but in general, 18-hole course supers earn $10-30,000, and 9-hole course supers earn $7-18,000. Fringe benefits may (not always) include a car, jeep or station wagon, housing provided by the club and club privileges. It is thought that only about half the supers receive insurance, health and retirement benefits. A large number of supers receive expense monies for professional association dues and travel to educational conferences.

PERSONS INTERESTED in this career should subscribe to GCSAA's journal, "The Golf Superintendent," $5/yr. or $3/yr. student rate. (GCSAA, 3158 Des Plaines Ave., Des Plaines, Ill. 60018.)

GCSAA also maintains a job placement service for members, and has recently established a certification program to establish professional competence. Those who pass the certification exam may use initials "C.G.C.S." (Certified Golf Course Superintendent).

Texas Is Big Farm Producer

Texas agriculture produces an abundance of food and fiber each year, so consumers are blessed with a plentiful and high quality supply of produce. Thus, it's appropriate to reflect on the agricultural industry in the state in preparation for Food and Fiber Abundance Week in Texas, November 15-21, points out County Agricultural Agent Billy Roach.

Cash receipts from farm marketings during 1970 totaled $3.1 billion with $1.0 billion coming from livestock and livestock products and the remainder from crops. Total cash receipts are expected to reach the $3.76 billion mark in 1976.

Agriculture is one of the most efficient sectors of the economy, explains Roach. In 1970, each farm worker supplied himself and 46 other persons with food and fiber needs.

The county agent also points to the fact that Texas consumers are continuing to get a bargain at the food market. The average consumer spent 16.5 per cent of his disposable income for food in 1970. Over the past 10 years, the amount of disposable income spent for food has decreased 19 per cent. In the meantime, per capita food consumption increased six per cent.

The overall agricultural industry has a tremendous impact on the total economy of the state, adding almost $10 billion annually. Recent studies show that agriculture has a multiplier effect of 2.7. Therefore, if agricultural income increased $1 million, then the total economy of Texas would increase $2.7 million.

Texas generally ranks third in the United States in total crop and livestock cash receipts after California and Iowa. Texas is the leading producer of cotton, grain sorghum and several other crops and leads in all cattle, beef cattle, sheep and wool, and goats and mohair.

Brooke Sees Black VP Soon

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., says it will not be long before a black is vice president of the United States and "1972 could be the year."

Brooke, who is black, said he has not been approached by President Nixon for the vice presidency, but if he were offered the spot, "as a Republican I would be honored."

Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, House minority leader, has mentioned Brooke as a possible running mate for Nixon in speeches in various parts of the country.

Ford Ups Prices Of Pinto, Capri

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has hiked the prices of its domestically produced Pinto and the imported Capri, ending the era of the U.S.-built auto with a price tag of less than $2,000.

Increases on the Pinto line average $94, while the German-built Capri will go up $119. The price boosts have government approval.

The new price tags put the basic Pinto at $2,028, compared with $1,998 for Vega and $2,040 for American Motors' Gremlin, the other subcompact cars built by U.S. firms.

The suggested list price for Volkswagen's best-seller, the Super Beetle, is $2,278.

A Ford spokesman said Saturday that price increases for the rest of the Ford line are in the offing.

The other U.S. auto firms—General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors—are expected to follow suit.

Ford announced a $150 increase on the two Pinto models last July just before the 1972 models were to make their debut, but that price hike was rolled back at the time of the government price freeze Aug. 15.

Ford went to the Cost of Living Council and asked for permission to raise Pinto prices, contending that the firm had made substantial sales prior to Aug. 15 as required under the Office of Emergency Preparedness guidelines. The council agreed and granted Fort price relief on the Pinto line.

The Capri, built by Ford of Germany for distribution by Lincoln-Mercury dealers, will now carry a list price of $2,730.

"The Capri price is being increased to offset part of the effect of the change in value of the German mark," Ford said.

It was the second boost this month for Capri. The last price hike was $100 on Nov. 1.

Addicts Face Heart Infections

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A medical researcher says heroin addicts face the threat of heart infections along with hepatitis from dirty needles.

Among 1,070 addicts treated during 33-months at the District of Columbia Hospital in Washington D.C. Dr. Trazwell Banks said researchers found 50 cases of bacterial endocarditis-an infection of the heart's inner lining.

He told the American Heart Association convention Friday that this is an infection rate of 8 per cent among addicts, far above the normal one-tenth of one per cent among hospital patients.

Thieu Presents Plan Of Economic Reforms

By J.T. Wolkerstorfer
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu presented today a program of sweeping economic reforms aimed at increasing investment, production and exports.

The program outlined to the National Assembly included provisions for devaluing the piaster and attracting foreign investment.

Thieu said the nation is living in "a state of dependence on foreign aid," and "there will be a day when it is going to be reduced and then terminated."

He called for the utilization of aid to "develop rather than consume ... to shorten the road to self-reliance, and to enable the Vietnam economy to gradually recover from the devastations of war and to find by ourselves the potential for continuing development."

Pointing out that less than half of South Vietnam's farmable land is under cultivation, the president said increased agricultural production must be "the foundation of economic development and social reform."

He noted that under the 1971-75 five-year plan, his government seeks to increase agricultural production 92 per cent, the fishing catch 78 per cent, forestry production 406 per cent and livestock production 72 per cent.

Thieu also called for a "strong industrialization program" to create more jobs, reduce dependence on imports and develop exports. south vietnam's imports currently exceed exports by more than 40 tg 9ne.

Thieu said he would abolish the system of import and export licenses and would send to the assembly bills to simplify and reduce import and export taxes and to "authorize the establishment of a free exchange system."

Informed sources reported that the piaster would be devalued to a rate of 400 to the dollar, its present black market rate. The rate would then be allowed to float, and the government would review the currency market each week and set a new exchange rate whenever it felt this necessary.

Exchange rates now vary from 118 piasters to the dollar for U.S.-funded imports to 400 for importers drawing on the government's foreign exchange reserves. Foreign civilians and American troops get 275 to the dollar.

Fourth Child Born In Nursery

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mrs. Norman Roberts gave birth to her fourth child Sunday in a nursery—the kind where plants are grown.

She was in the Dunlap Life Squad ambulance which had to pull off Ohio 127 in Colerain Township into the lot of the Natorp Garden Center because the baby was being born.

After the birth, the life squad moved on to the Jewish Hospital where mother and son were doing fine.

"I sure was surprised," said her husband. "I was supposed to take Lynne to the hospital Monday to have labor induced."

Italian Politics Run Differently

ROME (AP) — The campaign for Italy's presidency is in full swing, and no one has announced that he wants the job.

That doesn't mean there's any shortage of candidates; there are six. It's just the way things are done in Italian politics.

President Giuseppe Saragat, the Democratic Socialist whose seven-year term expires Dec. 28, has already started moving out of the Quirinal Palace. But he's one of the unannounced candidates, and there's no guarantee that he won't be moving back in.

The president is chosen by Parliament, and the election starts Dec. 9 but is likely to be a lengthy process. A two-thirds majority is required for election on the first three ballots. After that a simple majority will suffice. Saragat's election in 1964 took a record two weeks and 21 ballots; he won only after accepting support from the Communists.

The political parties now are in the thick negotiations. The candidates are keeping to the shadows for fear of spoiling their chances, but everyone knows who they are.

Amintore Fanfani, 63-year-old president of the Senate, tops most lists as the man most likely to win.

A four-time premier and former president of the U.N. General Assembly, he is a shrewd member of the Christian Democratic party, Italy's largest, who is on friendly terms with Soviet diplomats and archconservatives alike.

Fanfani's chief rival from his own party is Foreign Minister Aldo Moro, 55. A former premier also, Moro is known for his patience in reaching compromises. Rival politicians say he doesn't overpower you as much as outwait you.

If Moro and Fanfani deadlock, the prize might go to Giovanni Leone, a colorful Neapolitan who is considered one of Italy's most astute lawyers.

Canadidates with a Marxist background include Saragat, Pietro Nenni, the 80-year-old grand old man of the Socialist party, and Deputy Premier Francesco de Martino, 64, also a Socialist.

Nenni recently went to Communist China and De Martino to Romania. In the code language of Italian politics, this indicates they are looking for Communist support in the election.

In fact the Communist party, largest in the West, holds the key to the election.

The Christian Democrats, Socialists and Democratic Socialists have joined forces in a coalition center-left government that has a majority in Parliament. But the parties are competing with each other for the presidency and the Christian Democrats are divided themselves. As a result, Communist backing is needed to elect anyone.

Paper Says Jury Told Of Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Times said today that a federal grand jury in Miami has been told that recluse billionarie Howard Hughes, bearded and with grotesquely long fingernails, was the object of a plot to free him from a Nassau hotel if he was being held against his will.

The jury was told of the alleged plot by Peter Maheu, whose father, Robert A. Maheu, is currently fighting a court battle contesting his firing last December as chief of Hughes' Nevada operations, the Times said.

The newspaper said many of the allegations made by Maheu were denied by a Hughes spokesman.

The newspaper said Maheu told the jury:

—At the time of the plot last December, Hughes was a 6-foot tall man weighing only 94 pounds, with a beard to his chest, hair to the middle of his back and fingernails and toenails from six to eight inches long.

—The plans to spirit Hughes away from the Britannia Beach Hotel in Nassau never came off because Maheu's investigators found no evidence that Hughes was ever at the hotel, to which he reportedly moved from Las Vegas, Nev., last Thanksgiving.

The Hughes Tool Co. rents a ninth-floor penthouse suite at the hotel and there are reoccurring reports that it is the industrialist's new hideaway. Maheu said he doubted that Hughes was there now.

—A six-foot-long, three-foot-high mahogany box was seen by Maheu's investigators in a hallway of the Hughes' penthouse.

James Whitten, an attorney for the criminal division of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., asked Maheu if he felt the box could have contained a body placed on ice, the Times reported. It said Maheu replied: "It could have been anything."

The grand jury is probing whether the Maheu investigators ilegally transported listening devices from Miami to the Bahamas, violating a 1968 federal law against private wiretapping and bugging, the Times said it learned from a source close to the investigation.

Maheu gave this account to the grand jury, the Times said:

During two weeks last December, eight persons hired by him, two associates and six men from a Miami investigative firm, went to Nassau to verify that Hughes was there.

If they located him, and heard him calling for help, the men were to notify local authorities. If the authorities were unwilling to take action, his men would have done whatever was necessary to free Hughes.

A doctor was waiting to examine Hughes and a boat was obtained with which to take him from Nassau-if he wanted to leave.

Bowl Decisions Are Ready

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the week that was as far as the college football bowls are concerned ... but they wish it wasn't.

Decisions, decisions, decisions will be the order of the day as the bowl committees today meet to decide whither to extend their invitations come 6 p.m. Saturday.

The biggest decisions must be made by the Orange and Sugar Bowls, which undoubtedly will have to issue their invitations on Saturday without waiting for the outcome of the Nebraska-Oklahoma clash Thanksgiving Day or the Alabama-Auburn battle two days later. All four are undefeated.

The most popular theory is that the Orange Bowl, which prides itself on inviting the highest ranking teams possible, will bid for top-rated Nebraska and fourth-ranked Alabama. If they accept, it would leave runner-up Oklahoma and No. 6 Auburn for the Sugar Bowl ... or No. 5 and equally unbeaten Penn State or No. 8 and once-beaten Notre Dame.

"We are going to have to pick two teams and then spend a lot of sleepless nights hoping," says an Orange Bowl spokesman. "I'm almost 100 per cent sure we will have to invite two teams Saturday. The coaches want it that way, too."

As a result, one bowl could have two winners and what could turn out to be a national championship game. The other bowl then would be stuck with two losers. But if the guessing game pairs a winner against a loser, the hue and cry for a national playoff will be louder than ever.

The contenders, except for No. 7 Georgia, maintained their winning pace over the weekend. Nebraska whipped Kansas State 44-17 as Jerry Tagge passed for 285 yards and three touchdowns and Johnny Rodgers caught 10 passes for 125 yards.

Oklahoma piled up 502 yards on the ground in routing Kansas 56-10 and set a national one-season ground-gaining mark of 4,333 yards ... with two games left. Third-ranked Michigan didn't have to be invited anywhere. The Wolverines nailed down the Big Ten crown and automatic Rose Bowl berth with a 20-17 squeaker over Purdue on Dana Coin's 25-yard field goal with 43 seconds left.

Alabama, even with Johnny Musso sidelined, cruised past Miami of Florida 31-3 as Wilbur Jackson, Steve Bisceglia and David Knapp subbed effectively for Musso, Ellis Beck and Joe LaBue. Penn State's Lydell Mitchell scored four touchdowns for an NCAA record of 25 this season as the Nittany Lions turned back stubborn North Carolina State 35-3. Three of Mitchell's tallies came in little more than four minutes of the final period.

Auburn used Pat Sullivan's 248 yards and four touchdown passes to oust Georgia from the unbeaten ranks and the Southeastern Conference race 35-20. Terry Beasley and Dick Schmalz each caught two scoring tosses.

Notre Dame defeated Tulane 21-7 behind improving sophomore quarterback Cliff Brown. Ninth-ranked Arizona State erupted for seven touchdowns in the second half and buried Wyoming 52-19 but No. 10 Stanford lost for the third time to a decided underdog, bowing to San Jose State 13-12. The Indians had already clinched the Pacific-8' Rose Bowl spot while Arizona State captured the role of host in the inaugural Fiesta Bowl to be played in the Sun Devils' own stadium.

Tennessee, No. 11, had the weekend off but No. 12 Colorado, loser only to Nebraska and Oklahoma, spruced up its own bowl attractiveness with a 40-6 rout of Oklahoma State as super soph Charlie Davis ran for 342 yards, only eight shy of the national record.

Texas, ranked 13th, moved a step closer to its fourth straight Cotton Bowl trip.

Chicago Defeats Redskins, 16-15

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I never scored on a screwier play," Chicago's Dick Butkus exulted. It was but one play in a slightly screwy day that did all sorts of strange things to the National Football League standings.

The Bears' big linebacker, usually the recipient of plaudits for his defensive brilliance, found himself the offensive hero of Sunday's 16-15 victory over Washington when he grabbed a desperation Bobby Douglass pass on a broken point-after-touchdown play.

Cyril Pinder had burst up the middle for a 40-yard scoring scamper that knotted the game early in the fourth quarter. But the snap back to Douglass on the attempted conversion by Mac Percival squirted away and Douglass scooped it up on the run at Washington's 30-yard line.

"When I saw Douglass scrambling around I went down looking for a pass," said Butkus, eligible since he was a backfield blocker on the conversion play. His wild waving caught Douglass' eye, then Butkus caught the wobbling pass that won the game.

Pinder's run provided the game's only touchdown as the Bears and Redskins scored the rest of their points on an NFL record-tying eight field goals, three by Percival of 9, 15 and 42 yards and five by Washington's Curt Knight, from 30, 12, 37, 9 and 27 yards out.

The outcome kept the surprising Bears within a game of first-place Minnesota in the National Conference's Central Division and sliced the Skins' lead over Dallas in the East to one-half game. One game is the largest margin any division leader holds with five weekends of action yet to come.

In Sunday's other action, New Orleans upset San Francisco 26-20, Minnesota nosed out Green Bay 3-0, Dallas defeated Philadelphia 20-7, Miami edged Pittsburgh 24-21, Baltimore nipped the New York Jets 14-13, Los Angeles tripped Detroit 21-13, New England outlasted Buffalo 38-33, Oakland walloped Houston 41-21, Kansas City tamed Cleveland 13-7, the New York Giants beat Atlanta 21-17 and Cincinnati whipped Denver 24-10.

In tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game, St. Louis visits San Diego.

"This team is getting better as it goes along," Saint Coach J.D. Roberts said after his quarterback, Edd Hargett, threw his third touchdown pass of the day against the 49ers, a 10-yarder to Virgil Robinson with 57 seconds remaining.

Hargett, subbing for injured Archie Manning, completed 13 of 21 passes without allowing an interception, finishing with 225 aerial yards against the usually fierce San Francisco defense. He also hit Dave Parks for scores covering 39 and 22 yards.

"This is the most frustrating game I've ever been involved with," Coach Dan Devine said after the Vikings shut out his Packers, winning on Fred Cox' 25-yard field goal with 4:02 to play. Green Bay came away without a point despite drives that reached Minnesota's 16, 21, 1, 10 and 8 yard lines.

Defense also did it for the Cowboys, who recovered three fumbles, intercepted two passes, and sacked Eagles quarterbacks four times. Duane Thomas scored on runs of one and 13 yards for Dallas.

The Dolphins remained half a game ahead of Baltimore in the American Conference East, rallied from an 18-point Steelers' lead as Bob Griese fired touchdown strikes of 12, 86 and 60 yards to Paul Warfield.

The Colts, getting a pair of third-quarter touchdowns on drives directed by Johnny Unitas, beat the Jets as Ted Hendricks blocked a conversion attempt by Bobby Howfield on New York's second TD. Jerry Logan assured them of victory as he slapped down a 22-yard field goal attempt by the Jets' kicker with about four minutes to play.

The Rams moved within half a game of the 49ers in the NFC West as Roman Gabriel fired scoring passes of 14 and 32 yards to Lance Rentzel against the Lions.

Nets Whip Pitt 130-125

PITTSBURGH (AP) — High-scoring and highly scored upon, the Pittsburgh Condors are playing half-court basketball.

"Anytime we ran a set play we got any shot we wanted, but we played our worst defensive game of the season," declared Mark Binstein, Condor coach and general manager, after Pittsburgh's 130-125 loss to the New York Nets in Sunday night's only American Basketball Association game.

"I just can't get five guys on the court at a time to concentrate on basketball," added Binstein, who took over the coaching reigns recently from Jack McMahon.

Rick Barry and Bill Melchionni paced the Nets with 41 and 24 points, respectively, as New York won its third in a row to move into third place in the ABA East.

The Condors, fifth in the East, cut the Nets' 69-59 halftime lead to three points going into the final period.

However, Barry scored 12 points in the last quarter to lead New York to victory.

Saturday, in the ABA, it was: Indiana 116, Kentucky 111; New York 117, Floridians 113; Carolina 129, Virginia 109; Memphis 125, Utah 116, and Dallas 97, Denver 92.

Race Still Alive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's still life left in the Southland Conference race.

It appeared Louisiana Tech had it wrapped up last week but Tech blew a 14-0 lead and fell to Southern Mississippi 24-20 Saturday.

The designated SLC game gave Tech a 4-1 record.

Meanwhile Trinity stayed alive with a 27-14 victory over Abilene Christian behind Greg Oliver's 162 yards rushing and two touchdowns. Trinity is 3-1.

Aggies Stand In Texas Title Path

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Texas-Texas Aggie Thanksgiving Day collision with the Southwest Conference title on the line poses enough questions to keep a soap opera on television for five years.

Can Texas win an unprecedented fourth SWC title? Are the Longhorns too crippled to stop a suddenly awesome Aggie machine? Can Aggie Coach Gene Stallings save his job with a victory?

Texas Coach Darrell Royal, who tells it like it is, sees no easy time of it against a muscle-bound Aggie outfit which has found some goal line direction under senior quarterback Joe Mac King to go with a hard-tackling defense.

Royal says "A&M is ready to lineup man for man and challenge us better than they have for a long, long time."

The Aggies haven't beaten Texas since their Cotton Bowl year of 1967 when they bumped the Steers 10-7 at Kyle Field.

Second - string quarterback Donnie Wigginton, who could loom big in Royal's plans if Eddie Phillips can't heal his injured shoulder in time, said, "If we get everybody well, we will win against A&M...and on January one we'll play one of the top teams in the nation and find out how good we are."

Linebacker Tommy Woodard added "We're anticipating nothing but trouble against A&M. They've got more hosses this year and one of the best defenses around."

The Aggies have surged to four consecutive SWC victories after a stumbling start that started the rumors flying again on Stallings' job status. The A&M Board of Directors meet annually around Thanksgiving time and Stallings will be waiting by his telephone.

Texas thoroughly whipped Texas Christian 31-0 Saturday after a slow start but Phillips injured a shoulder.

"He can't lift his right arm," said Royal. "(Defensive end) Greg Ploetz has a bad knee ligament and fullback Bobby Callison has a bad knee. That's three more injuries to top men."

Phillips had recovered from toe and hamstring injuries that kept him sidelined most of the time since the UCLA opener.

While Royal is concerned about injuries, he also is puzzled about the mistakes his Longhorns keep making.

"We just can't seem to get everything in gear," Royal said. "We slip down, step out of bounds, clip after a big gain... in big games those mistakes will keep you from winning."

It will definitely be a big one Thanksgiving Day.

Outright victory gives Texas its fourth straight ticket to the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS: Texas 31, TCU 0; Arkansas 18, SMU 13; Texas A&M 18, Rice 13; Texas Tech 27, Baylor 0; Houston 56, Virginia Tech 29.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE: Texas Tech at Arkansas, Fayetteville, 1 p.m.; SMU at Baylor 2 p.m.; Rice at TCU 2 p.m.; Miami at Houston 7:30 p.m.

A loss would scramble the race like oatmeal dropped from a two-story building.

While Texas is 5-1, Arkansas is 4-1-1. The Razorbacks host Texas Tech Saturday in Fayetteville in their final game. Should Arkansas win and A&M win then the Razorbacks would go to the Cotton Bowl. Should Texas lose, Arkansas lose and Texas Christian lose—the Aggies would be in Dallas to celebrate New Year's Day.

Southern Methodist Coach Hayden Fry, who has lost to both teams, said "A&M has a strong enough team to make a game out of it, but the key will be how good a job the Aggies do in having people in the right position to stop the Wishbone."

While Texas was beating TCU Saturday, the Aggies tripped Rice 18-13. Arkansas defeated SMU by the same score and Texas Tech buried Baylor in the cellar with a 27-0 triumph.

Other games Saturday show SMU at Baylor and Rice at TCU in day action with Miami at Houston in a night tussle.

Roberto Clemente led the Pittsburgh Pirates in hitting last season with a .341 mark, fourth best in the National League.

Nicklaus, Trevino Win World Cup

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus hugged the solid silver international cup presented to the low scorer in the 19th World Cup golf championships and said he wished "it didn't exist."

Lee Trevino, onetime $30-a-week driving range attendant, was being served beer and having cigarettes lit by a billionaire.

The United States' two premier golfers finished mutilating teams from 45 other nations Sunday, shooting a 21-under-par total of 555 at PGA National Club.

Nicklaus rollicked home with a personal 17-under-par 271.

"The individual award should be eliminated from the world cup," said Nicklaus, who blazed through rounds of 68-69-63-71. "It's a team tournament and no one person should be allowed to steal the show."

South Africa was the runner-up, limping home 12 shots behind the Nicklaus-Trevino powerhouse at nine-under-par 567. New Zealand was two strokes farther back in third.
