VILLAGE GOSSIP (More or Less)

The Phillips Pharmacy at Phillips, owned by former McLean resident Joe Cooke, was destroyed by fire of an undetermined origin Wednesday night of last week.

Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cooke of McLean, suffered cuts on a leg and an arm when he broke out a plate glass window in the front of the building attempting to get in while the fire was going on. His mother said that he had made out a deposit late that afternoon and had slipped it under his cash register for the night; and that he was trying to get into the front of the building to get the deposit.

The fire caused practically a total loss. The rear end of the building where the pharmacy was housed caved in. Most of the merchandise in the front of the building was destroyed or damaged badly. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The McLean Cafe, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Al Fuqua for the past few years, was closed this week. Fuqua stated that he is storing his equipment here until he finds a suitable location for a cafe.

The building has been leased to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moore, Fuqua stated, and they plan to move the Texas Cafe to the new location in the near future.

Hulsey, who was connected with an implement company after moving to Hereford, is now employed as advertising manager of radio station KPAN.

FUNERAL RITES ARE HELD HERE FOR MRS. COBB

Funeral services for Mrs. Addylade Louell Cobb, longtime resident of McLean, were held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist Church.

Officiating at the services was Dr. Buell T. Wells, Baptist pastor. Interment was in Hillcrest Cemetery under the direction of the Claborn Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cobb, 89 years of age, had been in ill health for some time. She had been confined to her bed for several months. Death came Wednesday evening of last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Appling, with whom she had made her home for several years.

Mrs. Cobb was born October 24, 1864, at Westport, Mo. (now Kansas City). She came to McLean in 1911 from Dickens County.

On March 16, 1891, she was united in marriage to Rev. Stephen Albert Cobb at Cisco. A pioneer Baptist minister, Rev. Cobb served a number of rural churches in this area. He preceded his wife in death in 1941. One son, Dr. John W. Cobb, was formerly dean of Wayland College at Plainview.

McLean and the surrounding area was not alone in a heat wave this week.

The heat wave covered most of the U. S. Temperatures soared to new record heights in many places. On Monday in Dallas, the thermometer reached 110 degrees, and then 108 again Tuesday.

Highest temperature reported in the southwest was a blistering 121 degrees at Pittsburg, Kans., Monday.

Many communities were reported to be undergoing water rationing. In some sections of Fort Worth, there just wasn't any water. Pampa residents were asked Tuesday by the city commission to voluntarily use smaller amounts of water.

STATE MEET OF FFA TO BE ON JULY 21-23

All corners of Texas will be represented when the Future Farmers of America gather for their 26th annual state convention in the historic old city of San Antonio July 21-23.

Vernon Gibson, sponsor of the local FFA chapter, and members of the FFA string band will attend the meeting. The band won second place in the regional contest to entitle them to attend the convention.

Members of the band planning to attend are Alton Carpenter, Owen Rhea, Charles Williams, and Carl Lee Henley. Carpenter, along with Wayne Woods and Don Van Huss (who will also attend), will receive the State Farmer degree.

Young men from the piney woods, coastal plains, Panhandle, fertile river valleys, and the plateas will be provided a full program of entertainment, as well as the important business and educational sessions.

State President Jon Hagler of LaGrange and six of his regional vice presidents have met with the planning committee of San Antonio business men, and report plans for one of the finest conventions in the organization's history.

Area vice presidents are Raymond Hinders of Canyon, Derrell Rogers of Lamesa, Damon Campbell of Hamilton, Ardis Barnes of Commerce, Rusty Reynolds of Pittsburg, Hugh Spring of Luling, Kenneth Richardson of LaRue, Bobby Beathard of Kirbyville, and John Posz of Alamo.

An Advance Notice—

PLEASE VOTE JULY 24

EVERY TWO YEARS the cry goes out to the effect that it is the duty and privilege of every American citizen to vote in all elections in which he or she is eligible to cast a ballot.

This is merely another such cry.

On Saturday, July 24, the Democratc and Republican primaries will be held. In this area, nearly everybody votes in the Democratic primary, since nomination in the Democratc primary is about the same as being elected.

There will be some who will not vote, however. Some did not bother to pay their poll taxes, and they won't have an opportunity to cast ballots for candidates of their choice.

Some simply won't go to the polls, believing that one vote wouldn't make any difference anyway.

The latter assumption is false. Remember the race when Lyndon Johnson defeated Coke Stevenson by 87 votes in a statewide race? Remember last week when Senator Kerr of Oklahoma needed only slightly more than 2,000 votes to have a clear-cut victory over Roy Turner and other candidates in the race for senator? Many, many other cases have occurred; and no doubt there were literally thousands who simply didn't vote.

You may still vote an absentee ballot. Deadline for such voting is July 19. If you plan to be away on July 24, then vote an absentee ballot. Your vote just won't count if you don't cast it.

LIFE-SAVING COURSE OPENS ON SATURDAY

A Junior Red Cross life-saving course will be taught at the Windom Pool during the next few weeks, with the preliminaries scheduled for Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Conducting the course will be Miss Sue Glass, who recently received her water safety instructor's certificate at the National Aquatic School, sponsored by the American Red Cross at Lake Murray, Ardmore, Okla.

All sessions will be free of charge. Miss Glass will receive no compensation for her instruction, and Mrs. E. J. Windom, owner of the pool, is donating the pool for the course.

The classes will be open to swimmers only. Those 12 to 16 years of age are eligible, it was explained. All swimmers of this age are invited to attend the Saturday session if interested.

STATE TO GIVE CLOSER STUDY ANIMAL CASES

Diseases in domestic animals and fowls are coming under closer scrutiny since July 5 when state health and veterinary authorities launched a new system of reporting presence, prevalence, and distribution of animal diseases.

Depending on how much cooperation is forthcoming from private veterinarians, on whom the success of the program hinges, State Health Officer Henry A. Holle said the new system will reveal bi-weekly incidence of domestic animal disease occuring in any of the state's 254 counties.

Thus, health officials will have an up-to-date check on infections afflicting household pets and farm animals, providing ailing animals were seen by veterinarians.

Infections in animals are exerting increasingly greater influence on human health, state health leaders point out.

Agencies cooperating in the new venture are the State Department of Health, Livestock Sanitary Commission, A. and M. College School of Veterinary Medicine, Texas Veterinary Medical Association, the Disease Control Branch of the Agriculture Research Service, and the United States Public Health Service.

The State Department for years has maintained a reporting system for human communicable diseases. And for the past three years the department has conducted a monthly survey pinpointing the county of origin and species of all rabies-positive animal heads autopsied by the Bureau of Laboratories.

This new animal morbidity system is separate from the human disease record, and absorbs the monthly rabies report.

The report system works like this:

Two identical self-addressed postage-free report cards are mailed to each of the state's 700-plus private veterinarians. One card covers the first half of the month; the other the second half.

A column of most important animal diseases is printed on each card. The veterinarian has only to check the number of cases of each disease he has observed during the appropriate two-week period and return the card to the state health agency.

Accumulative results for each monthly period are by the Bureau of Laboratories, and a copy sent to each veterinarian when new report cards are mailed.

The tabulation shows any unusual incidence of specific disease in a given area, so that appropriate control measures can be started to prevent its spreading.

DALE CARNEGIE COURSE OPENS HERE JULY 29

A free demonstration meeting, at which details of the Dale Carnegie course will be outlined, will be held in the basement of the McLean Methodist Church Thursday night, July 29, beginning at 7 o'clock.

The course deals with human relations, effective public speaking, leadership training, and memory training, George Caddel of Amarillo, area director for West Texas, has explained.

The Lions Club voted to sponsor the course here in the regular meeting held Tuesday of last week. A committee of Dr. J. H. Kritzler, Hickman Brown, Guy Hibler, W. W. Hughes, and Lester Campbell was named by President J. W. Meacham to handle pre-arrangements.

The demonstration meeting will be free, and will be open to the public, and a large number of men and women are expected to attend. Free refreshments will be served at the demonstration meeting. Several from Shamrock, Wheeler, Clarendon, and Groom are also expected to enroll in the course.

The classes will meet once weekly for 16 weeks, with certified Dale Carnegie instructors handling the sessions.

Members of the Lions committee plan to meet with as many civic clubs in other towns as possible during the coming two weeks to publicize the course.

MRS. TOLER OF DUBLIN DIES

Mrs. Mary Louise Toler, mother of Mrs. T. G. Barbee of McLean, died last Thursday at her home in Dublin. Mrs. Toler was born January 9, 1875.

She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lewis, early-day residents of the Greens Creek community. At an early age she was converted and united with the Baptist church.

On December 13, 1891, she was united in marriage to James F. Toler, and to this union eight children were born, two preceeding her in death.

Survivors include six children, Mrs. Pearl Morris of Brownwood, Ike Toler of Denver City, Nila Dupree of Pettus, Mrs. Barbee of McLean, T. G. and J. T. Toler, whose addresses are unknown; two adopted children, Mrs. Louise Chamberlain of Levelland and Bill Toler of Odessa; nine grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, three sisters, two brothers, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at the Greens Creek Baptist Church Friday, July 9, with Rev. M. Shannon of Stephenville officiating, assisted by Rev. Jesse Bigbee.

Holland who has been with the gin at Briscoe for the past 12 years, reported to his new job Monday.

HOPPERS HIT DONLEY CROPS, AGENT STATES

Poison bait being used mostly is bran or cottonseed hulls mixed with toxaphene or aldrin or sodium flousilicate. Breedlove says he has about ten drums of sodium flousilicate on hand and anyone needing it can have it free of charge by just calling at his office. Toxaphene or aldrin in a bait or spray is good; however, the county agent points out that if spray is used the pasture should be green. When pastures are dry, the poison bait is best.

Breedlove is asking all cotton farmers to keep a sharp lookout for cotton insects and at the first sign, if they need help before poisoning, to call him and he will be glad to assist in starting the poisoning program. The 2-1 mix of toxaphene and DDT that is used for bollworm control in cotton and other cotton insects will also give a good kill on grasshoppers.

In the past week, over 100 farmers have put poison out for grasshoppers and some have started a spraying program on cotton that will control cotton insects and also get the hoppers at the same time. Breedlove urges anyone needing help to call by his office or drop him a line and he will assist them.

McLEAN LIONS RALLY DRAWS LARGE CROWD

With the date of the first primary only nine days away, politics—local and state—is beginning to come in for its share of discussion.

That people are interested in their candidates—how they look, what they have to say, etc.—was shown by the crowd attending the political rally and pie and cake auction in downtown McLean last Saturday night.

The rally attracted some 300 or 400 people. Sponsored by the McLean Lions Club, the affair also drew all county and local precinct candidates. The club took in a total of $102.50 from the sale of the pies and cakes, and the money will go into the club's activity fund, President J. W. Meacham stated. S. B. Kiser was the auctioneer, and Sheriff Rufe Jordan served as master of ceremonies.

Candidates attending included all county office seekers, those asking for the district attorney's job, the local precinct candidates, and the three men who want the commissioner's post in Precinct 4 of Donley County.

In the contested offices in Gray County, the judge's race is probably drawing more comment. J. B. Maguire, Jr., seeking a second term, is being opposed by Eruce L. Parker and L. P. Fort. But the comment is limited—it's hard to determine just how any voter is going to vote.

Another county race of much interest here is that between Ola Gregory and Mrs. Sherman White for county treasurer. Miss Gregory is the present holder of the office. In this particular race, however, there appear to be no issues other than the personalities involved, since no voters seem to doubt the ability of either to carry out the office's duties.

Precinct-wise, the only contested position is that of constable, being sought by Luke Henley, the incumbent, and J. D. Fish. Both men are conducting an exceptionally clean race, and both are working hard to contact as many voters as possible.

Statweide, the type of the campaigns being conducted for the governor's office is very muchly different. Alian Shivers, seeking a third term, and his principal opponent, Ralph Yarborough, are slugging it out. One charges the other with one thing, and the other comes back with a counter-charge. Shivers still appears to have a slight edge in the minds of voters at the present time.

The only other state race attracting much attention is that for lieutenant governor. Ben Ramsey, seeking another term, is conducting a quiet campaign, but it is expected to be effective enough to get him re-elected. His principal opponent seems to be C. T. Johnson of Austin, a businessman who decided to run for the office and who is spending considerable money in an attempt to get it.

Grass, Crops Begin to Need Moisture

For a while, warm days with sunshine were needed by newly-planted crops in the local area, but most any farmer, or business man either, will tell you that you can carry some things a bit too far.

In other words, the area is beginning to need rain.

Already beginning to suffer are the grasslands. Ranchers report that some grass is becoming spotted dry areas, with the greenest grass, of course, growing in the low places. Cattle are taking to the younger grass, too, since it is more tender and palatable than the older, taller grass.

The row crops are also starting to show signs of hot weather fatigue. Cotton and feed are both coming along strong, but a few more days of continued hot, dry weather can do considerable damage.

Meanwhile, wheat harvest in the Panhandle—including the small amount harvested here—is practically complete. Lack of moisture during the winter months prevented the yield from being normal. Replacing the wheat crop in areas where the wheat was never harvested are several grain crops, including milo maize and kaffir. These grains are being raised in considerable quantity on the South Plains, in the irrigated sections.

Some areas are also going in comparatively heavy for castor beans this year, especially due to the fact that cotton controls are in effect. The beans seem to grow well in irrigated areas, and fairly well in dry-land farming areas. Some beans have been planted in the local area, following the meeting held earlier in the year on the subject. The beans have a government-guaranteed price again this year.

A.M.A. Chief Urges MD's to Safeguard 'Soul of Medicine'

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Walter R. Martin of Norfolk, Va., in taking office here as 108th president of the American Medical Association, advised the nation's physicians to "reach back further than the disease" in treating their patients.

One of the nation's outstanding authorities on medical matters, he warned that "the very success of medicine in a material way may now threaten the soul of medicine."

"Medicine is something more than the cold mechanical application of science to human disease," Dr. Martin said. "Medicine is a healing art. It must deal with individuals, their fears, their hopes and their sorrows. It must reach back further than a disease that the patient may have to those physical and emotional environmental factors which condition the individual for the reception of the disease. The trend in modern medicine is to separate the patient further and further from the physician as a counsellor.

"As practitioners of medicine, we have dedicated ourselves to the service of humanity. We should remember this at all times and, in our private and public acts, hold that thought as a torch before us."

"The mechanics of medicine have become the important part of medicine in the public eye," Dr. Martin declared. "More hospitals, more equipment and more technicians have become the symbol of medical progress. In this mechanical maelstrom many patients find themselves lost. They speed from this laboratory to that, from one specialist to another, with hardly a pause for consideration by anyone of their problems as a human being.

"It would be desirable if every patient could first seek the advice of a general practitioner of medicine. The general practitioner should determine the need for and kind of special studies suitable in each case."

Science and Your Health

By Science Features

Good nutrition is an aid to good mental health. That is the conclusion reached in a survey of 74 recent scientific studies. A severe vitamin deficiency, the researchers found, is now known to be among the causes of at least 11 nervous or mental disorders.

Dr. Robert A. Peterman, medical director of J. B. Roerig and Co., and Dr. Robert S. Goodhart, scientific director of the National Vitamin Foundation, report that disorders due to vitamin deficiencies involve such symptoms as mental deterioration, depression, hysteria, defective memory, hallucinations, anxiety and irritability.

Their survey points out that doses required for vitamin therapy may range as high as 10 times the amount needed for normal nutrition. Anti-stress formulas such as ASF have already been devised to meet the vitamin requirements for acute stress situations.

Major emphasis in the report is on the B vitamins. Lack of thiamine (B-1) may cause forgetfulness, and insomnia. Insufficient riboflavin (B-2) may result in mental depression and visual disturbance, while not enough niacin may produce apprehension and anxiety, according to the report.

IKE'S PROGRAM

FOR SOME REASON, the idea has been gaining wide currency that the Eisenhower legislative program has encountered extremely thorny going, and that only a relatively small part of it has any chance of becoming law. There seems to be more talk about the setbacks than about the accomplishments.

It was obvious from the beginning that no program so all-embracing as that laid down by the President at the start of his administration would be approved in its entirety. Some of the President's friends and followers are of the opinion that he made a mistake in asking so much. But, whether that is true or not, an objective look at the record shows many very important accomplishments.

Jay Hayden, a nationally syndicated columnist, recently discussed what has happened. "Eisenhower is approaching the end of his first full fiscal year in a remarkably strong position. It is not too much to say that Eisenhower's accomplishment in the field of economics adds up to as revolutionary a swing toward industrial freedom and stability as Roosevelt's initial New Deal did in the opposite direction of socialistic government controls."

Mr. Hayden went on to describe a number of the major achievements. Some are highly controversial, of course, and many people will disagree with their wisdom. Regardless of that, the President wanted them and got them. Here is a partial list:

The administration wiped out all price and wage controls. And it did this, as Mr. Hayden observes, "with no sign of inflation, wholesale strikes or other disturbances that were prophesied as resulting from that action."

Government military buying for military purposes has abeen reduced by $7,500,000,000 in a single fiscal year. Yet employment has been running at higher levels recently than was the case a year ago. In May, the number of employed reached a peacetime record.

Substantial reductions have been made in taxes, from which all individuals and enterprises will benefit in one way or another. Even so, the defioit will be two-thirds less than the Truman estimate.

Though the Senate and House agricultural committees voted down the Eisenhower flexible support proposals, and voted continuance of 90 per cent supports, a surprising number of senators from farm states—including Iowa, Kansas, Idaho, Florida, and New Mexico—supported the President. Here Mr. Hayden observes, "The avowed purpose of President Eisenhower to cut back farm price supports, hailed earlier as his greatest political danger, shows signs of becoming an election-day asset."

Other Eisenhower requests which have been approved include the St. Lawrence Seaway, which had been advocated by every President beginning with Harding without success; increased social security benefits; a national defenses bill differing in a number of important respects from prior ones; and extension for a year of the reciprocal trade plan.

That is the record of a stormy and eventful year. Few Presidents have obtained so much they wanted in so short a period.

LES TALK

Haven't heard much comment lately concerning the proposed dam over Salt Fork. Haven't heard much about whether McLean should get in on the deal or not.

Have noticed that Shamrock has a water shortage. Have noticed that Groom has a water shortage (one well flooded and out of use due to the floods there).

Some day, may notice that McLean's water wells aren't doing the job, too.

Was out to Lake McClellan for a spell during the July 4 week-end. Surprising how many people avail themselves of the lake facilities. There were probably hundreds of cars there on July 4—some with people who wanted to fish, some who wanted to boat ride, some who wanted to wade in water, some who just wanted to get out of town for a picnic.

The lake, however, may not be around for too many years to come. A few more hard downpours of rain may finish off that spillway, and that will likely be "all she wrote" as far as the lake is concerned.

The most surprising thing about Lake McClellan is its location. Naturally, you can't see it from the highway. Don't you imagine tourists wonder, when passing along the highway, just where the lake can possibly be? You get off a comparatively level highway, travel only a short distance, and there unfolds a winding lake with numerous trees. Tourists in this section of the country, who bother to turn off the highway to look for the lake, must surely be amazed when they do find it.

The latest release from the Amarillo district (26 Panhandle counties) of the Texas Highway Patrol District No. 5 shows that eight people were killed, and 64 injured in highway accidents during the month of June. Estimated property damage was $69,839.

During the same month a year ago, four people were killed and 37 were injured.

Patrolmen investigated 97 accidents; made 512 arrests, 198 of which were for speeding and 29 for driving while intoxicated. A total of 1,355 warnings for hazardous violations were issued by the 28 patrolmen in the 26 counties; and patrolmen traveled 69,738 miles to carry out their duties.

Since June had 30 days, the patrolmen traveled 2,321 miles each day, or an average of 89 miles per day per patrolman. How would you like to realize that you had to travel that far every day, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year?

Here are a few more figures which may interest you concerning our highways, especially since the gubernatorial candidates are mentioning the need of better highways.

Texas ranks near the top in vehicle registration and mileage, yet there are only 600 miles of four-lane divided highways. It is estimated that in the immediate future, the state will need 3,000 miles of modern four-lane divided highways.

Texas has nearly a quarter of a million miles of public roads, or about seven per cent of the total roads in the U. S. Since 1940, the state highway system has increased 92 per cent.

There is nearly one vehicle for every two people in Texas, as compared to the national average of slightly over three people per vehicle.

In Texas, there are more than two and one-half million passenger cars. It might also interest you to know that Texans own and register 29,207 motorcycles, 24,785 house trailers.

Your motor fuel tax totals six cents per gallon, with two cents of that a U. S. tax. Of the state four cents, the county gets 6 per cent, refunds account for 12 per cent, tax enforcement costs 1 per cent, schools get 22 per cent, and the highway fund gets 59 per cent.

The economic life of a standard constructed highway is fixed at 20 years. The cost for maintenance and continual rehabilitation of a highway far exceeds its value and earning capacity when it passes the 20-year mark. Today, over 87 per cent of the trunk highways are inadequate for present traffic and more than 1,800 miles of pavements have passed their life expectancy.

These figures and others are passed along in a little book put out by the Texas Highway Department. We have a copy at the office, if you wish to check up on state candidates and the figures they sometimes quote in their speeches.

Too great refinement is false delicacy, and true delicacy is solid refinement.—La Rochefoucauld.

SCIENCE and your Health

DENTAL HEALTH
by Science Features

Scientists agree that good dental health is an important factor in maintaining general welf-being. Yet recent statistics compiled by the World Health Organization show that nearly 100 per cent of young people living in industrial areas suffer tooth decay.

In addition, the WHO survey showed that equal numbers of adults are afflicted by diseases of the gums as well. And, according to a report by three dental scientists at the University of Illinois, diseases of the gums are the chief cause of tooth loss, at least in men 35 years old and over.

The Illinois scientists studied more than 5,000 male dental patients between the ages of 20 and 80. They found that almost half of the men who had reached the age of 45 either suffered from gum diseases or were completely toothless as a result of them. In adults under the age of 24, the figure was only five per cent.

Oral diseases such as gingivitis, pyorrhea, and cellulitis have been effectively checked with wide-range antibiotics. One report, made before the Dental Society of the State of New York, stated that terramycin was successful in treating over 90 per cent of more than 200 patients suffering from 26 different oral infections.

Of course the best way to insure good dental health is through abiding by these oft-repeated precepts. Brush your teeth after each meal, clean the crevices with dental floss and see your dentist twice a year.

Wheat Is Moving

Up to this writing McLean has shipped two cars of wheat from the 1914 crop, one by J. H. Bodine and one by J. H. Whitley. Both cars were consigned to the Amarillo Mill and Elevator company, and it is said that the sample was fine, bringing around 70 cents. The McLean country has never enjoyed much of a reputation as a wheat producing section by reason of the fact that so much of the soil is of a sandy nature and the spring winds are inclined to blow the wheat out, but this year there was an unusually large acreage and it is predicted that quite a few cars will be shipped from this station.

LEOPARD GIRL!

Don't be frightened! It looks like leopard skin, but actually it's cotton. This eye-catching swim suit by Cole of California is made of sueded cotton leopard print in tawny gold. The one-piece suit has a deep-diving halter neckline in back ending in a low V cut.

The next money crop that will mature will be watermelons and they are expected to begin moving about the 15th of August. It is understood that the acreage is, as usual, very large and there will likely be melons far in excess of the market demand. There is no section of country in the southwest that is more congenial to the growth of this delicious commodity than the McLean country and the output is not only of superior quality but grows to enormous size.

Owing to the fact that our melons come on in the early fall they usually find an active market in south and east Texas, the crop in those sections having been exhausted earlier in the season.

Musk melons are also a splendid producer here but their cultivation has never been given special attention owing to the fact that the demand is not great and no one has offered to finance a marketing campaign.

Birthday Party

At the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Noel on Monday afternoon, little Frances celebrated her fourth birthday. The guests included 13 little girls and two boys. The children enjoyed outdoor games on the lawn, while part of the time was spent in "playing dolls" and eating cracker-jacks.

At 6 o'clock the doors of the dining room were opened and the children marched two and two around the table, where the birthday cake, adorned with four tiny candles indicating the age of Frances, was sitting, each one trying to blow out the candles. Ice cream, cake and candy were served.

From the dining room the happy little group posed for Brō. Howell to take their pictures. After this they enjoyed an auto ride with Mr. Noel before wishing Frances many more happy birthdays.

Many nice little gifts will make Frances long remember the occasion.

Sabotage Penalty Too Weak . . . Rogers

By Congressman Walter Rogers

The Punishment Should Fit the Crime

The bill being considered was HR 9580, a bill to revise and extend the laws relating to espionage and sabotage, and for other purposes. The penalty provided for sabotage during time of war or national emergency was fixed at not to exceed a $10,000 fine, and not to exceed 30 years in prison, or both such fine and imprisonment. Other situations involving sabotage would be punishable by a fine of not more than $10,000 or a prison term of not more than 10 years, or both such fine and punishment. The hour was late, the members were very tired and wanted to go home. It was a bad time to be offering amendments, but the Republican leaders had indicated that we would finish the bill before the House adjourned. This simply meant that if an amendment was going to be offered to the bill, it had to be offered at that time. The espionage section of the bill provided for the death penalty as an extreme, but the sabotage portion of the bill did not. Therefore, I offered amendments to the bill that would empower a court to impose a penalty on saboteurs of death, imprisonment for any term of years, including life imprisonment, or a fine up to ten thousand dollars, or both fine and punishment. In other words, I merely attempted to enlarge the authority of the court so that it could exact the death penalty or life imprisonment if the circumstances of the case warranted it. Frankly, I have always felt that the court should have full power to assess a punishment commensurate with the crime committed, and I can think of no worse crime than sabotage, espionage or treason. A 17-year-old boy in Texas can receive the death penalty for robbery with firearms, while a mature man could contaminate the water system of a defense installation, which could result in untold agony and death to thousands of people, and if tried under the act we were considering, the most that he could receive in punishment would be 30 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. This just doesn't make sense to me, and I feel sure that if the House of Representatives had the opportunity to consider these amendments under different circumstances, they would not turn them down as they did the other evening. We are never going to be able to thoroughly defeat Communism or the other "isms" that would destroy our way of life, unless the courts have the full power to mete out penalties that will not only punish the criminal, but will be a potent deterrent to the crime involved.

Red China and the UN

The recent high level public statements on the Red China-UN issue kicked off debate on foreign policy and foreign relations that has been smoldering for some time. The reason being that if Red China gets into the United Nations, it will be by virtue of the votes of nations that are supposed to be our friends. As Secretary of State Foster Dulles recently said, we do not anticipate that Red China will be voted into the UN, however, should such a tragedy occur, the circumstances present at that time should determine whether or not this nation stayed in the UN or gave up its membership. In other words, it is entirely possible that the best interests of this country could be served by permitting our potential enemies to guess at what we will or will not do at some future date, rather than continue to telegraph our punches as we seem to have been doing for some time. I know of no one in this country who wants to see Red China admitted to the UN; certainly I, as a member of Congress, would vigorously and bitterly oppose such entry. However, if Red China should gain admission by a narrow margin, the subsequent action or course of this nation should be determined by thorough analysis of the world situation at that time. Certainly we would not want to do something that would aid and abet Communistic forces in their quest for world domination. Giving the other team our signals is not going to help us win the game.

Life at the Rogers Household

The other afternoon our Mary Catherine, who is five years old, received as a gift from one of her little friends, a stray cat. Jean was away from home at the time, so Mary Catherine deposited her treasure in the house and closed all doors so that it could not escape. For fear the cat might be able to get some of them open, she locked several, including one that leads to a screened porch. It just happened that Susan, the 12-year-old, was entertaining some friends on this porch at the time. No one noticed that the door was locked until one of them started into the house. They were supposed to be keeping an eye on Mary Catherine, but they soon discovered that the baby sitters were prisoners of the baby and the baby didn't realize it. Mary Catherine was playing in the back yard, and if one of her friends hadn't come into the house to get a drink of water, I suppose the baby sitters would have had to wait it out. They finally found the stray cat and promptly evicted it, over the loud protests and opposition of Mary Catherine.

The result?—better schools, more and higher paid teachers, and better guidance for your children.

Since Allan Shivers became your governor, school funds have increased from 145 million to 211 million dollars per year. Teachers get $1000 a year more. Your child receives individual attention from 15,000 more teachers.

SCHOOLS GET HALF MILLION IN STATE AID

Gray County school children are among those over the state sharing the most impressive period of Texas public education in state history., a compilation of figures from 1949-1953 released in Austin this week shows.

The county received $535,017.94 for public education during the last fiscal year as its share of the giant 211 million total spent over the state, the Texas Education Agency report said. It also showed that money for the state's school children had increased from 145 million in 1949 to the present figure.

Interviewed this week, Governor Allan Shivers noted that education funds were distributed through the Gilmer-Aiken formula to a wide variety of uses.

Largest amounts went for salary and operations. Fifteen thousand more teachers with average salary increases of $1,000 in the last few years took a large percentage.

Shivers also explained that last year school administrations received more money to spend for needed improvements than ever before.

Figures also showed lesser known—but important—uses for funds. These included school buses that pick up children in rural areas and transport them safely to school.

Cafeterias with hot noon lunches, only recently becoming less than a luxury to public schools, received financial help also, figures showed.

Shivers, who called the present school system "the best yet in Texas' bid for better education," said that the picture looks even better for future students.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lankford and children, Mickey and Bill, of Tulia visited with Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Rippy the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnston and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson and son of Muleshoe spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wood.

In Month of May—

10,908 HIGHWAY ARRESTS

Members of the Texas Highway Patrol effected a total of 10,908 arrests during the month of May, according to a report just released by W. J. Elliott, chief of the patrol division of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Of these, 8,516—or 78 per cent—were for hazardous traffic violations. As usual, however, the patrolmen gave twice as many warnings to motorists as they did tickets—a total of 21,898.

Leading the list of both arrests and warnings was "speed." Forty-three per cent of the arrests and 36 per cent of the warnings were for violations of the speed law.

Patrolmen didn't do their work standing still. They racked up a total of 1,163,004 miles during the month while working 101,907 man hours, 37 per cent of which was at night.

All of the patrol work wasn't just riding, either. Accident investigations required 3,431 hours; 1,396 hours were spent on safety work; and patrolmen spent 2,994 hours on court duty.

Other arrest activities included: driver license violations, 1,525; drunk driving, 596; improper passing, 767; and driving on wrong side of roadway in passing, 417.

Second greatest number warnings, next to speeding, were made for defective lights. There were 6,008 in this category. Other warnings issued included improper passing, 1,596; wrong side of roadway, not in passing, 1,096; and stop sign violations, 1,726.

Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Rippy and Mrs. Nida Rippy Green, accompanied by Mrs. R. M. Stone of Borger, attended the Rippy family reunion at Falls Creek Baptist encampment grounds near Davis, Okla., over the week-end.

Mrs. R. M. Stone of Borger is visiting with Mrs. Nida Rippy Green this week.
