BOY "JOYRIDERS" WRECK VALUABLE CAR WEDNESDAY

OWVILLE BULLINGTON'S CAR DAMAGED BEYOND REPAIR IN TURN-OVER.

MEDICAL ATTENTION IS NEEDED FOR FOUR BOYS

All Are Arrested Thursday by Juvenile Officer; One is 18 Years Old.

Owville Bullington's closed car, valued at over $1,000 in damaged beyond repair; four boys ranging from 14 to 19 years of age are suffering from bruises. Four boys are in custody of officials.

That is the story of an episode which occurred Wednesday night between 8:30 and 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. Bullington's car disappeared from its parking place on Scott between Eighth and Ninth streets at 10 o'clock Wednesday night. Four boys said they took the car to get a "ride."

They said they drove the car out to the end of Tenth street, where they changed drivers and then started for a spin on the highway road. Arriving at a point a little more than a mile from the city, the car turned over, injuring all four and damaging the car to such an extent that Mr. Bullington advised officers Thursday morning that in all probability it could not be repaired.

The boys state that they were turning around, intending to come back to the city. Officers are prone to believe, however, that the car was turned over while going at a terrific rate of speed. This judgment was passed after viewing the wreckage.

All four of the boys were injured and after freeing themselves from the wreckage walked back to the city and went to their homes. It was necessary to call a physician in each case. Two of the boys suffered broken noses, another has a deep painful wound in his arm, while the fourth escaped with a half dozen cuts and bruises on his head and body.

The mother of one of the boys called the police station and informed the police of what had occurred. W. G. Bralley, juvenile officer, was notified and Thursday morning all the boys were brought to the court house, where charges were filed against the 19 year old boy in the county court at law. He is charged with joy riding. The other three boys, one 18 and the other two 14, will face charges in the juvenile court.

Reduce Your Fat Without Dieting

Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—"exercise." Today it is "Take Marmola Prescription Tablets." Friends tell friends—these friends tell others. They eat substantial food, live as they like and still reduce steadily and easily without a diet through long stages of tireless exercise, starvation diet, and absurd greasy and salty meals.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists the world over at one dollar a case, or if you prefer you can order direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

FATAL ACCIDENT LEADS TO ARREST OF C. B. RICHTER

Constable H. L. White of Burk Burnett placed Mr. Richter under arrest at Holliday Wednesday and charges were filed in the court of C. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, in this city.

No hearing has been had on the case and Richter went to jail. It was stated Thursday that bond would probably be set in the case, either by examining trial or by the waiving of a preliminary hearing.

According to reports, Richter was driving the car in which Mrs. Palmer was riding at the time of the accident. There are said to have crashed into another, resulting in injuries to Mrs. Palmer from which she died a few days later at the Burk Burnett hospital.

DECREASE $2,250 BARRELS DAILY IN OIL PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 22,250 barrels for the week ending September 25, totaling 2,242,700 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute.

The daily average production east of the Rocky mountains was 1,284,100 barrels, a decrease of 22,250. California production was 544,900 barrels, a decrease of 10,000.

OKlahoma shows a daily average production of 422,300 barrels, a decrease 9,500; Kansas 72,150, decrease 700; north Texas 66,200, decrease 200; central Texas 274,100, increase 1200; north Louisiana 54,100, decrease 450; Arkansas, 121,000, decrease 3450; gulf coast 87,350, decrease 2150; eastern 107,500, unchanged; Wyoming and Montana, 163,000, decrease 1450.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports were 205,857 barrels, compared with 225,285 for the previous week.

Pennsylvania crude was reduced 25 cents a barrel, Bradford district now being quoted at $2.75 and all other Pennsylvania grades $2.60. There were no other changes reported in the major districts; mid-continent grades being quoted from 80 cents to $1.75 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil, and gulf coast $2.

LOSES RACE WITH DEATH BY TRAIN AND AIRPLANE

LOWELL, Mass., Sept. 27.—Evans J. David, of Passaic, N. J., has lost his race with death by train and airplane from St. Louis to this city. Mrs. David died at a local hospital last night. No word has reached here from David since a telegram saying that he had started aboard last night by the fastest transportation available.

H. H. FITZPATRICK RESIGNS TO TAKE GRAHAM POSITION

H. H. Fitzpatrick, who has been acting as faller at the county jail since January 1, Wednesday tendered his resignation to the sheriff, asking that he be relieved from duty at once.

Mr. Fitzpatrick resigned in order to accept the position of deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division, railroad commissioner of the state. He will be stationed at Graham.

Prior to his entry upon the duties of county faller, Mr. Fitzpatrick had acted in the capacity of a deputy supervisor at Burk Burnett for sixteen months.

Two weeks ago he was called to his former home at Lima, Ohio, on account of the death of his mother. He returned to this city Wednesday afternoon, where he found a letter awaiting him containing the information that he had been reappointed by the railroad commission. He accepted and tendered his resignation as county faller.

BOY SCOUTS TO HAVE EXHIBIT AT T-O FAIR

The Wichita Falls Boy Scouts have arranged to have a booth at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair and arrangements are now being made by Scout Executive Creighton to bring scouting before the people and to show some of the many activities of the Boy Scouts.

The scouts themselves will build and decorate the booth and will arrange the exhibits.

Special arrangements have been made whereby each afternoon after school there will be several boys on duty at the booth, and these boys will act as managers for the bureau of information maintained by the chamber of commerce, which will be in the booth adjoining the scouts.

Saturday morning special pictures will be taken of the boys and every effort is being made to present at hangar 2 not later than 9 o'clock.

Some public schools of the Pacific coast open for fall session late in July.

Says Rheumatism Leaves You Forever

James H. Allen, once a rheumatic cripple who discovered Allenshu and with it banished every trace of uric acid and every sign of rheumatism from his body, says that every druggist guarantees a full pint bottle of Allenshu to show the way to complete recovery or money back.

It relieves at once and immediately after you start to take Allenshu the good work begins. It searches out uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

Even in cases where suffering has been pitiable and painful all traces of the dread disease disappear in a few days.

Palace Drug Store and Central Drug Store will supply you. Mail orders accepted.—adv.

A MOVE TO FEDERALIZE EDUCATION

Advocates of the Youngstering bill, says the Houston Post, are deluging President Coolidge with statistics on illiteracy in the United States, as an effort to win his endorsement of the proposal to establish a federal department of education.

The showing, admits the Post, reflects no credit on the country, but argues that such unfavorable statistics do not prove the necessity for having the federal government mix in educational affairs. The conditions, it believes, can be remedied by the states themselves.

To establish a federal department of education with a cabinet member at its head, continues the Post, would be another far-reaching move in the centralization of power in Washington. And it would be concentrating power in the federal government over a department of the public service that the local people have ever been jealous of. The people have ever regarded their schools as their local institutions, to be under the supervision of local and state authorities. To federalize the schools would be a final blow at the theory of local self-government.

The tendency of all federal departments is to attempt to standardize the activities coming under their supervision. With the proposed department functioning, it would not be long until Texas would be called upon to maintain the sort of school that some bureaucrats in Washington desired, rather than the sort the people of this state believed they should have, and could support.

The penalty for failure to comply with the 'sup-ervisions' from the department would, no doubt, be the withdrawal of the Texas apportionment of the national educational fund. For, we may be sure, the time would soon come when the states would be called upon to come in on a 'fifty-fifty' or some other division with the federal department.

It would in all probability mean a material increase in the financial outlay for schools with no corresponding benefit. Whenever the federal government takes up any enterprise, it means expenditure of millions of dollars, and in this matter it would likely be a duplication of expense at many points.

Furthermore, it would mean a new horde of federal inspectors, supervisors and directors going about the country meddling with school affairs.

Surely, the people have enough of those bureaucratic regulators at work among them now. Unless they expect to surrender eventually every vestige of local sovereignty to the Washington bureaucrats, they should draw the line at permitting the bureaucrats to get their hands on the schools.

COOLIDGE BEING URGED TO INCREASE WHEAT TARIFF

With the highest tariff known in many years the price of wheat is and has been very low.

It is generally conceded that the tariff of thirty cents a bushel is not responsible for the low price of wheat, and that this tariff has had little effect one way or the other.

A provision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act permits the executive upon the recommendation of the tariff commission to increase or lower tariff rates fifty per cent. President Coolidge is now being urged to increase the tariff on wheat to the maximum amount permitted under this act, which in the case of wheat would be forty-five per cent.

Certainly by this time the wheat growers of the northwest whose votes are needed by republicans must be skeptical about the benefits of a high tariff when applied to farm products. There are some indications of strengthening of the wheat market. It might be safe therefore to add more duty on wheat.
But if the maximum duty is imposed and the price of wheat remains at its present low level the political effect will be bad.

And there is talk about levying and raising a tariff on farm products—it is a mighty good starting point to raise the tariff on other things—things for instance that the farmer must buy. It is on such things that an increase in tariff rates is more likely to raise the price.

VACATION ACCOMPLISHMENTS

I've been taking an' swimmin' An' I've got a cot of tan, An' I haven't had a hat on Since the summer time began.
An' I've learned to swim for minnows An' I've learned to row a boat, An' when we're in the water I can do the dead man's float.

Once I caught a bass that weighed A half a pound or more,
An' I saw a six-foot water snake A swimmin' on the shore.
I've been away all summer An' I haven't worn a coat, An' I swim under water An' can do the dead man's float.

I've gathered huckleberries, Kissed winners on the beach, I guess I've grown an inch or two An' got a longer reach.
I haven't worn my Sunday shoes Or scuffed round my throat, Since I started my vacation, But I do the dead man's float.

My nose has started peelin' An' my ears an' neck are brown, An' he says it's time to study Now we're back again in town.
But I'm not fond of readin' Or the poetry they quote, But I learned the dead man's float.

DARE TO TEAR DOWN

Gov't is an acknowledgment of imperfect knowledge.

If we didn't realize and admit our errors and imperfections at times, we would never grow. Every important invention is followed by improvements.

We are constantly casting from us things which is no further use to us.

I rode through a great boulevard in Chicago the other day, and came to an entire block which had been torn down in order that the street might be widened and made uniform with the rest of the beautiful drive. Scores of buildings had to come down.
But in their place will spring beauty and greater efficiency.

Dare to tear down.

Over and over the inventor tears down, only to rebuild along newer lines from ideas furnished by his former experiences.

As we look over these characters of ours, we are impressed with the need that is there for greater improvements. We must tear down much to make way for better traits and truer principles of conduct.
Never feel satisfied. That means stagnation.

Let ideas guide you. But keep them fresh and new. Don't be afraid to drop worn-out ideas.

The real builder at heart has no feelings when it comes to tearing down old structures. He just does something better, something more durable and useful.

But when you tear down, always be sure that you have something better to put in the place of that which you demolish.

FAIR WARNING

I plan to buy a sausage stuffer before the winter is in sight, but I won't buy from any dealer who bores me morning, noon and night. The salesman in this town is busy, they keep close on all we need, and if we'd buy ourselves a Little, they come out our chinked-out. I wanted to say to my boys I'd need a gradation pretty soon, and seven colleagues sought my whistly before the close of afternoon. I said to Mrs. Hefflinger, when last he visited my shop, that I must buy a brand new winder, the old one being out of track. And as he was winding around my dwelling with his winder, he told me I'd want a good one. In eleven days I was permitted to go and buy things at the store; no gifts misses round me fitted and bored me while I did my chores. No sixteen tagged me in the morning, or roused me from my midnight sleep to tell me deadends for dehorning my Cotswold cows and Durham sheep. But now the boys are keeping tally on all the things that I may need; they chase me through the street and alley, and severer voice their speed. Their persecutions I must suffer as I have suffered much before; but when I buy my sausage stuffer I'd like to get it at the store.

FOUR RECOLLECTIONS

Richard McCarty, in the Albany News.—We all like to look back to the old time state that happened away back yonder, especially those of us who look are sprinkled with the silvered gray, and our shadows are lengthening back toward the eastern horizon—yes, living in the past. When we were a red-headed country shaver down there on the farm, our daddy owned a blooded-cow, stocking-legged, four-legged, extra long and the was our boyish ideal of the equine kind. Oh, but she was a beauty forever, trim limbed, fleet footed, and in her estimation, she could run faster than a bird and jump over the moon. And to save our life, to this good day, when we sit up a good night, she comes back to me as a memory of the measure of standards. There ain't never been another swimming hole like old Cody down there on the coast, to be sure, never so good as old as the creek of a low-paw white, and Five years ago yesterday more than 400,000 United States soldiers began the drive on the Argentine.

Over a thousand men, they killed thousands in fighting that stretched along a forty mile front.
Soon after that the war was over, and the soldiers were sent home, in whose hands and frightened big pocketbooks promised the moon and stars, have not yet received a penny of the money that was promised.
The soldiers are still waiting for all the money.

The Catholic church, that he had was the most learned man in the law in all the country around about, and he was a lawyer, and he was John Stearns on the law, and what no appeal from his decisions.

On the second point we perfectly agree with Rev. Baucum when he says: "The preacher cannot accept the proposition that any man, pope or any one else, has the right to change the word of God." Catholics do not and never have changed the word of God. Neither the pope, nor the church has ever been guilty of this crime.

Third, he says: "It cannot be said that it will be lost, no matter how young." The church does not teach that non-baptized infants are "lost" in the sense that they do not go to heaven, but are detained in limbo or "purgatory," where they do not suffer, but are awaiting the vision of God. God has never said to any one, but through the merits of Jesus Christ that they are "lost" in the sense that they do not go to heaven, but
where they do not suffer, but are awaiting the vision of God.

What Rev. Baucum has to say about the prophecies of "Romanism" in governmental positions, and even in many of our public schools is so palpably untrue that it is hard to see how any sane man could give it any consideration. Yet this "bugaboo" has been dished up time and again till it is very stale, and has become palatable to many unthinking people and has filled them with great fear for our beloved country and its institutions.

The charge is absurd. How many of our presidents were Catholics?
None. How many of our cabinet members were Catholics? None. How many Catholic office holders in the government?

Wichita Falls? How many Catholic teachers in the public schools of Wichita Falls? Is it not a fact that Catholics are discriminated against and that we do not by any means hold the percentage of offices that our number call for, except perhaps on the police force?

Rev. Baucum then goes on to say that the "Romanist" maintain that outside of the church (Catholic) there is no salvation.

Maybe the "Romanists" do maintain this, but the Catholic church does not teach this. We do maintain that whoever willfully and maliciously does not belong to the church cannot be saved. If I believed it my duty to belong to the Baptist church and willfully and maliciously refused to join the Baptist church, I would sin against my conscience and I could not be saved as long as I did not become a Baptist and vice versa. This does not mean, though, that the church is as good as another.

ism" in governmental positions,

Judges Announce Awards in All Departments of Women's Work at Community Fair Held at Electra Electra, Texas, Sept. 27.—The second community fair opened Wednesday with an unusually large number of exhibits in all classes. All the exhibits were in place at an early hour, and good crowds were in attendance throughout the day. The effort of the fair committee, consisting of Clyde Orr, A. B. Marshall, and Earl Tinsley, with the cooperation of the chamber of commerce and the various department heads, are reflected in the success of the fair, which is judged better than last year both in the number and quality of exhibits shown. Greater interest is also being manifested on the part of local merchants and farmers. Judging in the women's departments was completed yesterday afternoon. The awards in the women's and girls' club work were made by Mrs. F. E. King of Wichita Falls, who will also be in charge of this department at the Texas-Oklahoma fair at Wichita Falls, October 1 to 7. Awards in the livestock, poultry and produce departments will be made today. Following are the awards in all departments of women's work: Art: Mrs. M. E. Crawford, all awards. Inexpensive Method of Reducing Dangerous Swollen Veins at Home. Moore's Emerald Oil... The world progresses. Today ailments that used to be considered incurable can now be cured in a few days. If you have varicose veins or branches you can start this today in bringing them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so. Just try an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the colored veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required. After a few day's treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon return to normal.
