Phillips Team Plays Tonight

Greys Beat Follett in 12 Inning Game

The Perryton Greys will meet the famous Phillips team from Borger at Fairgrounds Park tonight at 8:45 o'clock. The Greys will have their very best team on the field for what is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season. The Borger team is made up of the stars that a number of years ranked as the fastest semi-pro outfit in the Southwest.

The Greys took their game from the Follett club in a 12-inning two-day contest last Thursday night. They got under way about nine o'clock and when the Greys scored the winning run in the last half of the 12th it was past midnight. The score: Perryton—13; Follett—12.

Enid Woman Is Seriously Injured Car Collision

Mrs. F. E. Buckminster, Enid, Oklahoma, is in the Perryton Hospital with her left leg broken in two places and other injuries which may prove fatal. Her husband, F. E. Buckminster is also a patient in the hospital with a badly smashed ankle and bruises and cuts about the face. Mrs. Buckminster has been unconscious since the accident.

The Buckminsters were injured Sunday morning about eleven o'clock when their car was hit in the side at a county road intersection six miles south and five miles west of Perryton by a car driven by Gerald Jones. The accident was caused by high weeds cutting off all vision of approaching cars.

Mr. Jones received a badly crushed hand in the collision. A third occupant of the Buckminster car, Claude Horn, received a two inch cut in his forehead and numerous cuts and bruises.

Mr. Buckminster had just completed harvesting wheat on a section of land he owns a mile east of the scene of the accident. He had been to Farnsworth to visit with friends and was returning to his harvest camp when the cars collided.

Mrs. L. M. Buchner, Mrs. Clifford Beck, Mrs. Glenn Truax and Mrs. Ray Grabel were in Amarillo Tuesday for a meeting of the Panhandle Pen Women. All are members of this organization.

Regulation of Wheat Production Defended

Pampa Man on State AAA Committee

It should be obvious that a loan program cannot exist without assurance that farmers will protect the value of the collateral—the wheat. The United States has a two-year supply of wheat on hand. Canada and the other exporting countries have record supplies. So Congress decided that before public money would be risked on wheat loans, wheat farmers would have to agree to regulate their marketings in line with good common sense.

Congress provided for marketing quotas, and wheat farmers of the nation voted to use them. Texas farmers approved them by more than 90 per cent, and the Panhandle voted more than 98 per cent in favor of the quotas.

Majority Cooperating Let me explain the background: Under the law, every wheat farmer gets an acreage allotment, based on his wheat growing history. When a farmer seeds within his acreage allotment, he becomes a "cooperator."

Wheat Acreage Conservator Fennell Warns Against Burning of Wheat Straw and Stubble

The wheat acreage allotments for all farms in Ochiltree County have been approved by the State A. A. Office according to County Agent E. W. Thomas. Notices of the exact acreage that can be seeded to comply with the Farm Program in 1942 are being prepared in the county office and will be mailed to producers in a few days.

The percentage of the cultivated land to be seeded to wheat averages 57 per cent as compared to nearly 65 per cent in 1941. This is in line with the reduction in the state and national acreage reduction which averages approximately 12 per cent. Thus on an average section of land containing 620 acres of cultivated land, multiplying 620 times 57 gives 353.4 acres which can be seeded to comply with the 1942 A. A. Program.

Red Cross Seeks Workers

The Red Cross room, located in the former WPA Sewing Room, 109 SW Second Ave., is opened for workers Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of each week. The room is equipped with thirteen machines and workers are needed to use them.

Knitting instruction and yarn can be supplied to all who assist with this work and helpers are on hand for those needing additional instructions. The room is cool and convenient. Bring your knitting and spend a few hours there, you may be a help to your neighbor.

Mrs. Lake Patton is supervising the junior girls and meets with them in the Red Cross room, each Tuesday afternoon. The Chapter has purchased several needles for junior workers, if you have a pair of these you are through with please bring them to headquarters, so someone else may use them.

The present quota which has been assigned the Chapter to be completed this fall consists of 40 bed-shirts, 40 layettes, 80 girls cotton dresses, 40 boys shirts, 15 convalescent robes, 20 hospital pajamas, 40 toddler packs, 12 mens sweaters, 36 womens sweaters, 57 childrens sweaters and 15 shawls.

Leave Wednesday State Convention

Sheriff J. S. Talley and Deputy Sheriff D. D. Taliaferro left Wednesday morning for San Angelo where they will attend a three day meeting of the State Organization of Peace Officers.

Mr. Talley has the distinction of being the only sheriff in the state with a record of thirty-three years of continuous service. He attended his first state convention in 1909, soon after he took office in November 1908, and since that time has missed only four state meetings.

Lake Fryer Fete Aug. 9-10

John Coburn, new concessionaire at Lake Fryer, will make his formal debut to the pleasure seekers of the Northeast Panhandle when he stages his big get-acquainted fete at the lake on Saturday and Sunday, August 9-10. It will really be the second annual opening day for rainy weather and muddy roads made a failure of the opening this spring.

Mr. Coburn has contracted with Pat Flynn, veteran promoter and publicity man, to manage the two-day celebration. Tentative plans call for a North Plains community picnic on the afternoon and evening of August 9. A big dance will be held in the evening, music by Hetrick's Rhythm Clowns and a North Plains floor show and revue with ten big acts from every section of the North Plains.

Miss Bette Bryan will have charge of the revue, also the bathing beauty contest to name Miss Lake Fryer of 1941 on Sunday afternoon.

At Officers School

Pountain Wade, a student at Allan Academy, Bryan, returned last week from Camp Bullis, San Antonio, where he took a six weeks course in officers training school. Over 800 boys were enrolled. Pountain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wade, will be at home the remainder of the summer.

Many fields of heavy wheat straw in the Southern Great Plains are being burned by farmers who seek to improve conditions and destroy insects. U. S. Department of Agriculture officials warn that possibilities of any such benefits will be far more offset by damage caused to the soil and future crops through burning of the straw. Top picture shows straw being burned on a typical plains farm.

Instead of being burned, the wheat straw and stubble should be worked in to the surface of the soil with any type of suitable implement, as illustrated in the lower picture. This practice checks wind and water erosion, permits the soil to absorb large quantities of water, and increases fertility over a period of years, experience shows.

Fire is one of the greatest enemies stalking Southern Great Plains farmers today, and, ironically enough, many farmers are deliberately starting fires that will destroy crop production of future years and add to soil erosion hazards, according to H. H. Fennell of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The burning of wheat straw and stubble is the fire hazard referred to by Fennell, who is regional conservator for the Soil Conservation Service in the Plains region. Heavy spring rains resulted in an unusually large production of straw on wheat fields over most of the region, the conservator points out. The excessive moisture also is reported to have led to an increase of insects in some areas. These facts are influencing many farmers to burn the straw with the idea of making plowing easier and to decrease soil erosion.

W. H. LANCE, Mayor of Perryton.

Williams, head of the vocational agriculture department of the Perryton Schools, returned this week from Chicago, where he attended a three weeks marketing school conducted by Swift Packing Company. Mrs. Williams accompanied Mr. Williams to Chicago, while their children, Sue and Bob, visited with their grandmother, Mrs. F. Waggoner, at Hamilton, Texas.

Next week, July 29-30, Mr. Williams will be in San Angelo for the summer conference of vocational agriculture teachers of areas 1 and 2. Approximately 125 schools will be represented, as the two areas embrace all of west Texas and the Panhandle.

County Judge Dave Shanks heads the Ochiltree County National Defense Committee under appointment from Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel with Mayor W. H. Lance as vice-chairman. George Hohmann Is In FFA Contest

George Hohmann, member of the vocational agriculture class of the Perryton High School, represented this area at Marshall, Texas, last week in the Future Farmers of America state public speaking contests. The 10 areas in Texas were represented by 12 contestants in the state contest.

Hohmann, son of Mrs. Ernestine Hohmann Bennett, won the district speaking contest held at Claude, February 8, this year. Then on May 3, he represented the district at the area contest held in Memphis, winning first.

According to C. H. Williams, vocational agriculture instructor in Perryton High school, Hohmann was among the six boys competing in the finals. A PFA member from Abilene won first place. Hohmann left Tuesday of last week, and returned Sunday, July 20.

Hohmann, a member of the Senior Class, completing his high school work in Perryton in May, was an active and popular student.

Cyclone Plays Havoc at Booker Mon.

Damage estimated at least $50,000 was inflicted on the business district of Booker shortly after noon Monday when a cyclone from the southwest severely damaged many store buildings. The wind was accompanied by an inch and three-quarters downpour.

Greatest damage was the Clark Mercantile where the major portion of the north wall and parts of the west and south walls went out letting the roof down and damaging the greater part of the general merchandise stock with water.

Two buildings on the east side on the south end of Main street were practically ruined when the rear walls were wrecked and the buildings unroofed in the front. They were occupied by a skating rink and an auto part store.

A machine shop building on the north end of Main street collapsed. Practically every business building in town suffered some damage.

The storm dipped down on Main street and apparently lifted just as soon as it crossed the business district as not a single residence was touched. Fortunately no one was injured.

Test Cattle for Tuberculosis

Dr. M. A. Molohon, Veterinary Inspector for the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, arrived in Perryton Monday to make a check test of the cattle in the county for tuberculosis. Ochiltree County has been designated as a modified accredited area, county for several years and checks are made periodically every three years to determine if the county remains free of this disease among cattle. Dr. Molohon will be in the county three weeks and will test as many herds as possible during that time.

In case an animal is found to be a reactor, the animal is appraised at its actual or replacement value and condemned and sold. The owner receives the proceeds of the sale and the balance between the sale price and the appraised value is borne equally between the Federal government, the State of Texas and the owner. Thus if an animal is appraised at $60 and sold for $30 the government and the state would each pay the owner $10 to make the total received by him $50.

The cooperation of all cattle owners contacted by Dr. Molohon is being urged.

The Library Corner

The Library Board takes pride in announcing that our Public Library now has for its reference section the best possible encyclopedias for American users. The Encyclopedia Americana ranks with the Britannica as the most accurate and complete authority obtainable, and is more readable for American, since it is written from their viewpoint. Deep in and broad over the thirty new volumes in this superb multi-year edition. This is the most important addition to the library to date and one of permanent accuracy, since a new year book will be added each year.

Mr. J. L. Clark and the Board also wish to thank the young ladies who have lent their recently in the library hours for the children's section. Tuesday and Saturday operations at one thirty. They are Misses Peggy Jane Thomas, Louise Moore and Joan Boston.

The last two or three weeks fourteen books have been loaned to the library. Mrs. E. T. Anderson of the Wichita Falls gave one that is a collection of the opening and closing of four books and also sent one book for the library. Mrs. Reuben of Little Rock, Arkansas, gave one. Mrs. John Murray of Perryton, Mrs. Sheriff J. S. Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hartman, too.

Don't miss reading William Stearns' "Berlin Diary" just purchased by the book committee. Mr. Stearns' broadcast for CBS, whose voice you have heard in his broadcast from Berlin, had read from it as the news leading up to the present war, and during the first two years. It is a gem in the country and the book was made up from the daily news made in Germany and smuggled out of the country from the "black line". Mr. Stearns' work in secret assignments was the one who intended to return to Germany. He has been in Germany since the Nazis would make him more unpopular there than Dorothy Thompson. It makes fascinating reading. He tells all the things he wanted to tell about the world, but could only do so through voice reflection and obscure, to the censor. American flag. His book was chosen for the July book of the month.

Seventeen other new books of general interest have also been received and will be mentioned later in the Corner.

Social Security Provides Pensions

Under the Federal old-age and survivors insurance system, when a worker dies leaving a young child or childless widow, monthly benefits are provided for his family if he is what the law terms "currently insured," which means that the worker needs to have only 6 "quarters of coverage" during the 12 calendar quarters before his death, according to Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board. A quarter of coverage was explained as a calendar quarter (three-month period beginning January, April, July, or October) in which the worker was paid wages of $50 or more in covered employment.

"Take the case of a man whom we will call John Taylor. He died on October 1, 1940, when he was 35 years old. He left a wife and three small children. John had not been able to get a steady job in his line as a machinist since this Federal insurance system started on January 1, 1937. He didn't have any work during 1937 in employment covered by the law. In 1938 he worked only two months, September and October. He earned $75 a month. In 1939, he had a job as machinist's helper for 5 months, February through June, earning $100 a month. During the first 4 months of 1940, John worked in a garage at $250 a month.

When John died on October 1, 1940, his widow and children were entitled to benefits under old-age and survivors insurance. The record of his wages showed that in 6 of the 12 calendar quarters immediately preceding the quarter in which he died, he had been paid wages of $50 or more in covered employment. That means he was "currently insured" and as long as there is a child under age 18 his family is entitled to monthly insurance benefits."

Rural Carriers Sell Defense Stamps

Thirty-two thousand rural mail carriers are now acting as agents in the sale of Defense Savings Stamps, postal officials have informed the Treasury Department. Demand for the stamps in sparsely settled districts caused the Post Office Department to authorize the carriers to act as salesmen.

The stamps range in value from ten cents to five dollars. Purchasers are given albums in which they can be mounted. When filled, the albums may be exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds. Post Office officials recalled that rural mail carriers acted in similar capacities in 1917 and 1918 selling War Savings Stamps.

Navy Wants College Grads for Officers

The United States Navy is now offering to men who are single, under 28 years of age and with a college degree, a marvelous opportunity to obtain a commission as Ensign in the Naval Reserve.

Eligible applicants may now enlist to be sent to one of the three training schools, either at Northwestern in Chicago, at the U. S. S. Prairie State in New York or at the Naval Academy in Annapolis. Candidates accepted will be sent to the 4-month Mid-shipman Training School which begins September 18 at Northwestern and the Prairie State and January 9 at Annapolis. Due to the fact that Annapolis cannot supply this new demand for officers of this expanding Fleet, the Navy is calling upon new resources to fulfill this new program; that is, men with college degrees.

The Navy needs young men of strong character, high ideals and mental abilities to meet the requirements of Naval officers in the new Fleet. This particular branch of the Navy, known as Class V-7, offers the greatest opportunity for these new graduates to properly apply the knowledge they have acquired during their college career.

With the Naval Program underway, the expansion of the Fleet through construction of ships, establishment of new statistical bases demand is great that we have trained officers and enlisted men to man the ships and operate these bases.

The gigantic undertaking of the building of a 2-ocean Navy is not from any altruistic point of view but is purely from a cold factual outlook. In order to preserve our own standards of living, to protect our principles and ideals upon which our Government is built, to guard our own commerce and interest wherever that commerce and interest may be, to maintain freedom of the seas, the building of this mighty offensive fortress, our first line of defense, becomes a necessity and application should be made at the nearest Naval Recruiting Station, or by writing to this Station in Dallas.

I have an intelligent friend, one who tries to look at every subject from all angles. He said to me a few days ago: "You must pay the price when you become angry. The person who is capable of making you angry is usually one who means a great deal to you. If you attempt to hurt someone, you may rest assured you will suffer. The law of compensation is no respecter of persons. It touches everyone and exacts a toll from those who violate it."

Ex-Buffalo Hunter Dies at Shamrock

David O'Laughlin Bowers, 72, who came to the Panhandle 66 years ago with his parents, living around Shamrock all his life, died Tuesday at his Shamrock home after an illness of two years. Mr. Bowers is a brother of Mrs. J. M. (Lillie) Grigsby of Perryton.

The following account of his life was taken from the Pampa Daily News:

Mr. Bowers spent most of his life as a rancher and farmer. He came to the Panhandle, from Memphis, Tenn., where he was born.

An early pioneer, as a boy he saw the buffalo roam and the deer and the antelope play around what later was to become Exum, and then Shamrock.

Mr. Bowers' father and mother settled in Wichita county where his father established a buffalo camp on the Red river 16 miles north of Wichita Falls.

In 1879 they moved and set up another camp on Buck creek, seven or eight miles southwest of Wellington. Mr. Bowers only recently recalled how his father hunted buffalo and employed a crew of skinners, kept busy many days with a kill as high as 150 buffaloes. In a recent interview, Mr. Bowers recalled vividly the great buffalo herds which roamed the plains where Shamrock now stands.

Mr. Bowers moved to Mobeetie in 1881 with his parents and his father took up the freighting business and helped haul lumber and supplies from Dodge City, Kans., with which to build the town and Fort Elliott. Back in 1896 Mr. Bowers was employed as a surveyor with the late T. D. Hobart of Pampa and was with the engineering crew which made the original H&GN Ry. Co. survey which still is used as the basis for land transactions in this area.

Mr. Bowers was living on the ranch near Mobeetie when the Rock Island railroad nosed through the Shamrock area in 1902 and then moved to Shamrock in 1907 when he built the house on the hill in which he died at 5 a. m. July 15.

He is survived in the immediate family by his widow, Mrs. Rada Bowers, of Shamrock; three sisters, Mrs. Lily Grigsby, Perryton; Mrs. Pearl Ridgeway, Dallas; and Mrs. Zula Mulking, Arizona.

Cene Shackleton, Pampa, is a step-son, and Mrs. Lucile Dooms, LeFors, a niece of the deceased man.

Funeral services were held at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Shamrock Methodist church, and burial was in the Shamrock cemetery.

Navigation Error Is 'Punished'

Flight instructors at Randolph Field, Texas, adopted an old grade school method of punishment this week after a Flying Cadet stepped from his airplane at College Station, Tex., and remarked, "So this is Temple."

A member of class 41-G, the Cadet had flight instructions and maps leading him to Temple, but landed at the other city instead.

Instructors, who termed the error as a product of carelessness ordered the student pilot to write 500 times: "I am a 'dodo' for not studying my maps before taking off on a cross-country navigation flight."

Someone asked Epictetus: "Who is the rich man?" His reply: "The contented one." This noted philosopher lived in the first century; was a slave; but after he gained his freedom, established one of the best known schools of his day. His epigrams are full of rich, beautiful, idealistic thoughts. Who remembers the master who owned Epictetus? Who remembers the name of any rich man who lived in the first century? The man who spends his life accumulating material wealth without regard to his fellow men is soon forgotten. The one who gives himself for others is remembered, his name is revered and honored long after his death.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Paul's Reminder to Christians

The International Sunday School Lesson for July 27. Text: Galatians 1:11, 12; I Thessalonians 2:13; II Timothy 3:14-17; II Peter 3:14-16; Jude 3.

WHEN a great man dies, almost invariably among the biographies is a volume that consists mainly of his letters. These are read eagerly by those who loved him because these letters revealed his life and thoughts clearly and intimately.

We have no formal biographies of the great apostles and leaders in the first generation of the Christian Church. It is interesting that on the whole we know more about Paul than we do about any of the original 12 apostles. We are fortunate in the letters which tell us more about Paul than the formal facts of his life and career as they are recorded in the Book of the Acts.

IN the passages by Paul, we have an indication of the intimate relationship he maintained with the churches he established, and with the disciples. Apparently there were two attitudes on the part of these—some whose loyalty to Paul was so intense that there was a danger of their religion making them disciples of Paul rather than disciples of Christ; and others who were inclined to be critical of Paul and to adhere more closely to other preachers or leaders who had come into the church.

For instance, Apollos had the reputation of being very fluent, whereas Paul seems to have been somewhat hesitant of speech and of a character and personality more marked by ruggedness and strength than by smoothness and beauty.

Paul found it necessary to remind both these classes of disciples that their primary allegiance was to Jesus Christ, that their faith should not stand in him, or in any other man, but in their Master.

ALONG the same line, he was insistent upon maintaining his integrity as a preacher of the Gospel. He had received his commission, not from man but from the Lord Jesus. His counsel to Timothy is advice that any young man, who would seek the ministry or who would follow the Christian life, might well take to heart.

Carlsbad Caverns Display Brilliant Works of Nature

SIGHTS WORTH SEEING

New Mexico's greatest tourist attraction, the Carlsbad Caverns, are visited annually by 250,000 tourists. Here nature has spent millions of years in carving its brilliant masterpieces.

BY WINIFRED CLARK WEIRD and wondrous Carlsbad Caverns National Park, nestled in the rugged foothills of the Guadalupe Mountains, in New Mexico, has thrilled as many as 250,000 visitors each year.

Ethereal in their beauty, the caves are believed to be the largest in the world. Carlsbad Caverns is a series of connected caves. Three main levels have been discovered and several haven't yet been penetrated. First level of the caverns is 750 feet below the surface. Below, at 900 feet, is the second level. The third dips 1320 feet into the earth. Of the 32 miles of caves that have been explored, only seven are open to travelers.

Each tour is guided by National Park Service rangers over well-lighted, well-laid trails and stairs. Natural scientists estimate it required 200,000,000 years to carve out the huge underground cathedral. Stalactite and stalagmite formations which range in height from a few inches to 100 feet—some of them 300 feet across the base—glisten like diamonds. It's an immense, dazzling, beautiful display.

Sun Spec Shortage Worrying Cadets

Possible shortage of a special brand of sun glasses at the Flying Cadet Post Exchange, at Randolph Field, Texas, has caused much consternation among the future Army fliers.

Distinctive equipment of 95 out of every 100 Flying Cadets at the "West Point of the Air" which they purchase themselves out of their $75 per month spending money are three items—first, a pair of the special sun specs; second, a gold and silver "solo tag," worn on their wrist; and third, a convertible coupe.

Defense orders to the particular lens company have forced them to curtail production on the special green tinted sun glasses, favorite of the fliers.

"It's not that I need the sun glasses," one Flying Cadet summed it up, "but how will everyone in San Antonio know I'm a Cadet, if I don't have a pair of sun glasses on?"

Let the other fellow discuss your virtues.

November Freeze Kills Chinese Elms

According to Harry P. Rigdon, Extension Forester, who was in Beaver County last Thursday assisting County and Home Demonstration Agents on forestry problems, there is no need for a lot of alarm because of the loss of Chinese Elm trees.

The loss so far of all Chinese Elm trees is a direct result of the hard freeze last Armistice Day. Chinese elms had not yet gone into the dormant stage, and therefore damaged more severely than other species of trees. This particular freeze killed a large percentage of Chinese elm and apricot trees over the entire great plains region.

This is the hardest freeze of its kind on record and will not probably happen again for many years. Since this injury is not caused from disease, Rigdon advises that producers go ahead and plant Chinese elms.

The most limiting factor of tree production in Beaver County, according to Mr. Rigdon, was moisture. It is often possible for water to be drained from adjoining fields and road sides into tree plantations to build up the reserve supply of moisture.—The Herald-Democrat, Beaver, Okla.

Christian Science

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, July 27.
The Golden Text is: "O praise the Lord, all ye nations... For his merciful kindness is great toward us: and the truth of the Lord endureth for ever" (Psalms 117:1, 2).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the Lord heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived... And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is truth" (I Kings 17:22, 24).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The eternal Truth destroys what mortals seem to have learned from error, and man's real existence as a child of God comes to light. Truth demonstrated is eternal life" (page 286).

THE PASSING OF THE Boomtown

Oil boomtowns exist today only in the movies. The old-time "gusher" wells are gone forever.

In the early days, as long as oil flowed, the boomtowns flourished. But soon the wells failed and the booms collapsed, carrying with them the income and security of those who had depended on them.

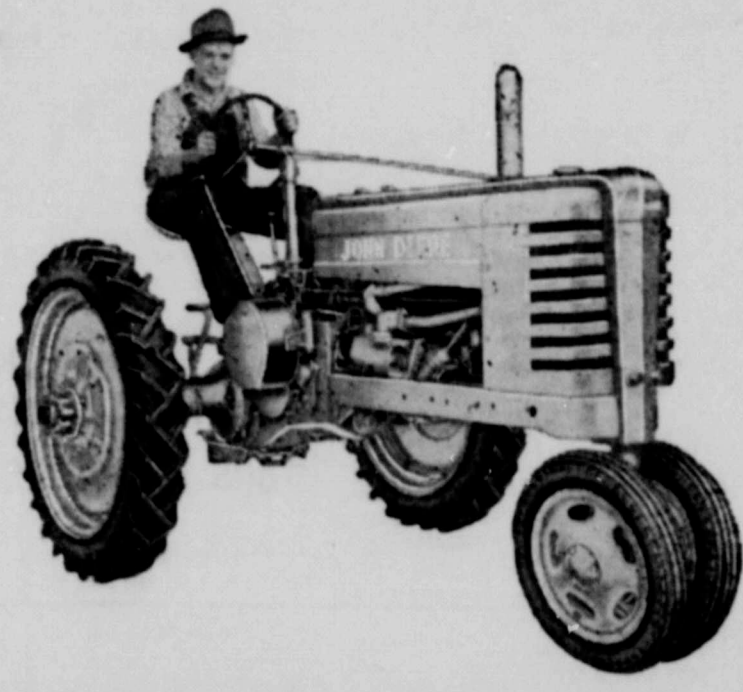

Today, through a sound program of conserving oil and gas, hundreds of Texas communities are enjoying a permanent type of petroleum development. Furthermore, because of conservation, we have the largest oil reserves in the world, one of our greatest assets for National Defense.

Oil now builds stable communities. It provides assured tax revenues and greater ultimate tax returns than were ever possible in boomtown days. And every citizen benefits from the income oil creates.

Conservation not only protects Texas oil resources. It also assures for many years the prosperity which oil brings to every community where it is found.

Time to do Summer Pruning of Shrubs

COLLEGE STATION—If started at once, now is a good time to do summer pruning of shrubs. According to Sadie Hatfield, Extension Service specialist in landscape gardening, all dead or diseased limbs should be cut off. Limbs which are in the way of other plants, pathways or windows should be cut back, but avoid heavy pruning.

Light summer pruning tends to check vegetative growth and helps the plant to form a crop of fruit and flowers for the next spring. Root pruning, which has the same effect if not done too heavily, also may be done now by sinking a sharp spade into the ground and cutting a small portion of the roots.

This time of year is suitable for making cuttings of many plants. If they are given plenty of water and partly shaded, they will root and develop. Cutting of choice petunias should be made now because petunia seed has a tendency to divert to the original single white flower. Pinks, carnations and most shrubs also may be rooted from cuttings.

Lawns, Miss Hatfield cautions, should not be mowed as closely at this time as during cold weather. She also suggests letting grass clippings remain where they fall for the benefit of the grass. To build up the lawn, a shallow top dressing of good soil may be spread, but in doing so avoid covering the grass entirely.

Shrubs and trees set out during the past two years may need some help during dry weather, and those showing signs of suffering may be helped by using a temporary shade during the hottest part of the summer.

Rev. and Mrs. William E. Fisher left early Monday morning on a two weeks vacation trip. They will visit their son and family, Rev. W. S. Fisher, pastor of North Side Methodist Church, Corsicana. They will also visit relatives and friends at Dallas, Fort Worth, Georgetown and San Antonio.

Test Cows Before Sale

The farmer who has a promising heifer would do well to let her mature and come fresh before selling, if possible. I know of a heifer whose owner offered to trade her for $10 worth of hay. The trade was refused, and when she came fresh 17 months later, she proved to be the best cow the farmer ever owned. He refused to sell her for $75 and during her first lactation period, she brought him in more than $100, besides furnishing all the cream, milk and butter his family used for 17 months.

Just after her sixth month, she has already produced milk that has sold for more than $500. And this does not include any estimate of the milk, butter and cream consumed at home. Nor does it include $63.25 for sale of her offspring.

He figures that that heifer has been worth $1,000 through the past 6 years and that she may yet make it $1,200, at least half that sum clear.

Poultry Facts vs Fancies

Dust baths do not effectively control lice. Not all birds dust themselves and they cannot get sufficient dust on all parts of the body to kill the lice. Chickens like to dust themselves, but this should not be relied upon to control lice even if the dust contains some insecticide.

Often a scratch grain containing many different grains is used as a feed for chickens. While chickens like some variety in their feed, one usually can get more food value per dollar from a corn-wheat mixture.

Some people regularly use tonics, drinking water tablets, etc. Such medicines are all right if they are needed, but should never be used on a healthy flock or without the advice of a qualified poultryman.

Many housewives believe the pearlike white objects next to the yolk of an egg indicate the egg is fertile. The white spots are edible albumen and are present in every egg. Fertility can only be determined by close examination of a small light-colored spot usually on top of the yolk. If the center of this spot is dark the egg is fertile.

Forced to Return to Livestock

Fifty to 60 years ago the South had a pretty high proportion of America's hogs, cows, and sheep; then a great export demand for wheat, cotton, and tobacco, 1890-1925, made us largely forsake livestock in a rush for money crops but now with the world demanding less wheat, cotton and tobacco, Southern farmers are simply returning "by compulsion" to the better-balanced agriculture of our fathers. Just how far behind we still are in livestock production becomes clearer when we realize that while the 14 Southern States have almost exactly half of the nation's farms, we have only a little over one-fourth of the nation's milk cows, chickens, and sheep as will be seen from the following table:

THE SOUTH'S PERCENTAGE OF THE NATION'S FARMS, ETC.

Per cent of the nation's farms	48.5
Per cent of the nation's milk cows	29.6
Per cent of the nation's "other cattle"	31.5
Per cent of the nation's hogs	32.1
Per cent of the nation's sheep	28.3
Per cent of the nation's chickens	29.2

All in all and after all, however, the most important thing is that the South is really "returning to livestock." And if we changed our methods only when "driven to it by compulsion," we were not different from other people in this respect. And now that we have not only aroused men and women but such a vast army of 4-H club boys and vo-ag students delightedly working with pigs, calves, sheep, lambs, and poultry, it will not be long till the South becomes indeed the "Land of Flocks and Herds, of Meadows, Silos, and Pastures" without which we cannot have a properly balanced agriculture... and without which our people cannot properly utilize either their time or intelligence.

It's News! Congressman Uses Stamp!

Last week we received two letters in the same mail. One was from a member of congress from Oklahoma, and the other was from Ross Rizley, also a member of congress from Oklahoma. Both envelopes contained publicity or propagand for publication in newspapers, personal comment by the solons not a part of their official duties. On Mr. Rizley's envelope there was the usual franking privilege signature, intended for official use only—PLUS A THREE CENT STAMP. On the other envelope there was the franked signature, but no stamp. Just another reason why some men make better legislators than others. To the best of our recollection, Mr. Rizley is the only congressman, senator or governmental agency, who places a genuine, bona fide United States postage stamp on an envelope containing publicity matter. If other of our country's solons would pay closer attention to the payment of such postage, there ought to be less deficit in the postal department and consequently less agitation for newspapers to make up the shortage in second class mail.—Editor S. E. Lee in Buffalo, Okla. Journal.

Lake View Tattler

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hooper were shopping in Spearman, last Friday.

Mrs. John Sims and her daughter, Mrs. Hila Robertson, were Spearman visitors, Monday. They were surprised when about a mile and a quarter from home, they drove into mud and their car slid off in the ditch. After the two inch rain, they slowly waded the rest of the way home.

Mrs. A. C. Dial decided to surprise her husband by milking. Donning a new suit of shorts—the first she had ever worn—she looked herself over in the mirror, decided even old bossy would admire so trim a looking milk maid. When she reached the lot, old bossy greeted her with a bow of the head, a low moo, and a paw of the earth with a charging look in her rolling eyes. Mrs. Dial, forgetting the prettiness of her happy-go-lucky air, started for the house. Looking back over her shoulder, what she saw caused her to speed along at a fast rate. Coming to the ditch that drains the water from the premises, she paused to make a good jump. Then old bossy made a head-on collision in the middle of Mrs. Dial's back, knocking her down. About that time, Mr. Dial and workmen came in and had to fight the cow some time before rescuing Mrs. Dial. Mrs. Dial, an optimistic little lady, states she can talk even though she does have a fractured leg and is under the doctor's care. Now, if you happen to buy a tough piece of beef steak or a roast that you can't chew, don't feel hard at the butcher. Who wouldn't want an old cow like that butchered?

How would you like to live in one county, go every morning and evening into another county to feed your horses, hogs, cows and chickens and gather your eggs, rain or shine? That is just what Mrs. Williams has been doing for thirty years, as the Ochiltree and Hansford county line runs between her barn, chicken house and house.

The Pipkins are celebrating at their house. They all want to cook as they have a new propane system with a new table top stove and a new propane ice box.

The county commissioners in Hansford county do all they can to make the roads passable for the farmers. They have cut the high weeds along the country roads, making the road wider and the ditches visible for the harvest workmen and grain haulers.

new as when I was a child but it had been kept up fairly well and was still in use. Seeing the same old persimmon tree that my brothers and had gathered and eaten persimmons from, I sat down on the big rock and I talked to my self just pretending my brothers were there and we were children once more. From there, I went to the old well where we had drawn water hand over hand with a rope in an old oaken bucket. The bucket was gone. There was no rope, but I looked down in the well. There was water and I would like to have tasted again the refreshing water to see if it tasted the same as 13 years ago. Near the well, I sat down on the big rock that had been used to salt the cows, and hulled black walnuts, getting my hands all brown with walnut stain. After not being able to get a drink from the well, I went to the spring in the side of the hill that 13 years ago had been walled with rock with a pipe draining the water into a large trough that had been hewn from a large log for the stock to drink from. I found the spring caved in, everything there had fallen down, and the faithful old spring water was slowly seeping thru the earth spreading here and there doing its bit to help vegetation along.

"I didn't go into the house but the same curtains were hanging at the windows that were there 13 years ago when friends came from valleys, plains and over the hills with saddened hearts and tear-stained faces to pay their last respects and whisper endearing low-spoken words of sympathy to us children, whose mother had so suddenly been taken. Leaving the old house, I slowly made my way around rocks and trees over the old path that my brother had kept well trodden coming to the old place. I walked up the hill. There I turned and looked back at all I could see, thinking of my childhood life. Turning, I walked down the hill to my brother's home. Entering the back door just as I did when I was child 13 years ago. My sister-in-law did not know I was coming. She was surprised and exclaimed, "Clementine, you frightened me. I didn't know you were coming. You came in just as you did when a child going to school 13 years ago."

House Lifts Wheat Penalty

The demands of wheat growers that the marketing quota law make provision for crop failures brought legislative results Monday at Washington when the House voted to amend the act to permit growers to sell their normal production of grain, even if from excess acreage, without paying penalties.

Rep. Ross Ritzley, Republican representative from Guymon in the Panhandle of Oklahoma told the House that the bill "takes care of the farmer with excess acreage and a crop failure."

It was explained the measure, which now goes to the Senate, would allow a farmer who had a 100-acre allotment and a normal production of 10 bushels an acre, to sell penalty-free 1,000 bushels even though the production actually came five bushels an acre from 200 acres. Under the present law the penalty would have to be levied on all produced in acreage in excess of the 100-acre allotment.

At the same time the agriculture department announced provisions whereby farmers who have wheat in excess of their 1941 marketing AAA acreage allotments and obtain permission to sell the over-quota grain without paying the 49-cent-a-bushel penalty.

This permission will be granted by local AAA farmer committee as soon as the 1942 crop is planted. Winter wheat crop seeding usually starts about Sept. 1. Thus producers of excess winter wheat could market such grain this fall.

The amount of excess-quota wheat which a farmer would be permitted to sell would be equivalent to the normal production of that portion of his 1942 allotment not planted to wheat.—Amarillo News.

Your Government Needs ALUMINUM

A nation-wide drive for the collection of all aluminum that people can spare from their actual needs is now in progress. It will be turned over to the government to be manufactured into parts for national defense equipment. The Office of Production Management and Mayor LaGuardia of New York are the national directors of the aluminum campaign and they are asking the nation to contribute 20,000,000 pounds of aluminum. The goal will provide aluminum for the building of 2,000 airplanes and thousands of parts for other defense weapons.

We are for total defense and this is one of the ways to show the nation powers that we are united and solidly behind our government with our aid. Our way of living as set out in the Declaration of Independence is menaced by those who wish to force a lower standard of living upon us. We have enjoyed for 165 years a free way of life and any power or force threatening this privilege in the past have been definitely repulsed and the American people today will gladly sacrifice anything to restore this freedom.

Let's back our government in every call made upon us... let's pour in the aluminum and show the nation that Ochiltree county is back of Old Glory and the boys in the army, navy and marine corps one hundred per cent.

Today the United States of America stands among the very few nations on the earth where its citizens enjoy their own individual way of living. People living in totalitarian countries have no individualism, no freedom of speech, no freedom of action... their government tells them where to go and when, what to hear, what to eat and when to eat, and what sort of religion they can worship. The United States of America does not want this.

Our aluminum drive started Monday, July 21 and will close Monday, July 28. The big bin down on Main Street is ready. If you live in Perryton or the country bring in your aluminum and toss it in the bin. If you live elsewhere, come to Perryton, take your aluminum to the nearest community center and they will bring it in. The Perryton committee will collect aluminum in Perryton Monday, July 28, house to house, from those who have not delivered it downtown.

Delinquent Taxes Pay Now and Save! A new law, House Bill No. 76, passed recently by the legislature and duly signed by the Governor, and now in effect, releases interest as well as penalty on state and county taxes delinquent on or before July 1, 1940. Under the new law, all penalty and interest heretofore imposed will be remitted if all taxes owed on all property owned by a taxpayer are paid. However a six per cent penalty will be added if a taxpayer chooses to pay all taxes on only a part of his property and does not clean up delinquent taxes on all of his property. In order to obtain this great saving, delinquent taxes must be paid before November 1, 1941. To get the benefits of the above remissions, all delinquent taxes must be paid before November 1, 1941. To get the benefits of the above remissions, all delinquent taxes must be paid. Bear in mind that this new law does not effect 1940 taxes, on these the usual penalty will be collected if they are delinquent. J. S. Talley. Ochiltree County, Sheriff, Tax Collector and Assessor.

Youthful Driver Doesn't Fear Consequences; or Appreciate Value

The youthful driver is a particular headache to the automobile underwriter, for young drivers in the various age groups are involved in from seven to three times as many fatal accidents as drivers of mature years. This is even more true of the younger generation who drive their own cars, because those driving the family cars generally are more cautious. The son or daughter in school is feared more than the one who works and earns his or her own living.

The safety bureau of the Chicago Motor Club recently found that on the basis of the number of miles traveled, drivers 16 years old have nearly seven times as many fatal accidents as drivers of 30. Seventeen-year-old drivers have four times as many. The age group from 18 to 21 has about three times as many fatal crashes as 30-year-old drivers. From 22 to 25 years there is a regular decrease, until the 25-year-olds have not a great deal higher accident frequency than those 30 years old. The accident frequency chart shows a gradual improvement after 30 until the age of 48 is reached, after which drivers have a higher accident tendency. However, the 68-year-olds have just as good a record as drivers of 27 and several times better than that of the juvenile drivers.

Although some progress has been made towards reducing the juvenile accident record through safety education in the public schools, there is a definite need for careful underwriting of risks involving drivers below 25 years of age, but particularly those between the ages of 18 and 21. Speed is attributed as the cause of most of the accidents involving young drivers.

An interesting observation was made the other day by the head of a casualty claim department on the question of juvenile accidents. He remarked that parents will permit youngsters of 16 and 17 years of age to drive cars that have a value of $800 to $2,000 about the streets and highways; they know that these youngsters have no appreciation of value and no fear of consequences and yet they are permitted to drive without much restraint or supervision. These same parents, he observed, if they had a grand piano in the house of the same value would be extremely jealous of its welfare and would be severe with the youngsters if they should mar its finish or cause it any damage during the course of a party.—National Underwriter—April 21, 1941.

As long as you are controlled by fear, you are a failure. The average man is afraid of shadows that fall across his pathway; he runs and hides when someone says "boo." If you are ready to concede defeat because of fear, you may as well close up shop and call in the under-taker.

Coach Bob Zuppke Victor In Biggest Fight of Career

BY ART BRONSON

ROBERT C. ZUPPKE, for 28 years coach of Illinois' football teams, won his toughest battle this month. He held on to his job.

It was a rough and tough, drag out battle with no holds barred. It was filled with acrimony and bitterness in which the major issue was repeatedly buried and the old name calling, dog-eat-dog technique employed.

There was only one issue in the entire affair, of course, that being: Can Zuppke coach a big-time football team? Apparently the University of Illinois still believes he can. It would be highly irregular to call a man incompetent after 28 years of service. The unusual feature of the affair is that the alumni, traditional scalp seekers, supported him throughout. Without them, Zup would have been tossed to the wolves long ago.

THE "oust Zuppke" move became an active issue in 1938. The athletic board, consisting of four faculty and three alumni members, asked for his resignation. He gave it. He was to receive a pension of $6000 a year until he was 65, $4000 per annum thereafter.

But the board of trustees, mainly alumni, supported Zup. Many of them had played ball for him. They refused to let him go.

The battle waged rather warmly, especially when Harold "Red" Grange, Zuppke's immortal "Galloping Ghost," injected himself into the fray. He went to bat for Zup, accused Athletic Director Wendell S. Wilson of offering him the backfield coaching job during the 1938 uprising. Wilson denied this hotly in a telegram to the press—so hotly that Grange has filed a $50,000 libel suit.

FINALLY, the Illinois board of trustees, showing rare restraint, took three steps. (1) Accepted resignations of the entire athletic board; (2) ousted Wilson in all but name by giving him a one-year contract, a leave of absence for the duration of the contract with instructions it would not be renewed; and (3) reinstated Zuppke for one year with a special clause giving him permission to retire at any time before reaching 65 with full pension.

It would seem altogether consistent for Illinois oyster forces, who want and need a winner, to try another tack. They owe it to themselves to get busy and round up some of the high-powered material that invariably floats through the middle west. Certainly there is no more shame to this approach than in others previously employed.

The trustees have saved Zuppke's face. He'll coach the Illinois in 1941, but unless his team has a winning season, it will probably be his last year. He would then be inclined to resign quietly. None of the pressure or personal issues which surrounded the Wilson dispute would then be involved.

Another Senatorial Decision in One Year

WASHINGTON, July 23—In good sportsman manner, Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson this week cheerfully accepted the official vote canvass that showed Governor W. Lee O'Daniel barely defeated him for U. S. Senator.

Johnson's sentiments were contained in a statement issued here shortly after he telegraphed congratulations to the senator-elect. It said:

"I wish to repeat a statement made shortly after the official canvass of the votes cast by Texans in the senatorial race. It is: 'A public servant worthy of his hire would not preach Roosevelt and Unity all over Texas and then spend the remainder of his term fighting and contesting before an overburdened senate for the 18 months' job.'"

"A year from now there is another decision to be made. I accept cheerfully the officials' results certified Monday at Austin that Governor O'Daniel was elected United States Senator. I shall cooperate with the new Texas Senator behind the Commander-in-Chief in meeting the defense problems ahead."

"My personal gratitude to all those who voted for me is based on the knowledge that I was an instrument for expression of their great love of country as well as their appreciation of their Commander-in-Chief and the wisdom of his course in defending their liberties and their homes."

Practically unknown outside his own district at the start of the campaign, Johnson polled 174,279 votes in a breath-taking campaign under a "Roosevelt and Unity" banner. In unofficial returns over the post-election week-end, he led the governor by more than 5,000 votes, the only candidate whom O'Daniel has ever trailed, however fleetingly, in an election count.

Everyone may be successful in this life. The one-talent man and the ten-talent man each has a place in society. The first is successful if he uses his talent, but the second is not successful if he uses only a few of his talents.

If you enjoy thrusting in a saber of pointed criticism and then chucking with diabolical glee, you may expect to be paid back in kind.

That Reminds Me

BY RALPH HERBERT

TO the American grain farmer, who finds his fortunes affected by adverse conditions in the world market due to the war, it may be a sort of Job's comfort, but recent reports that the tillers of the land in other countries are in like plight. And perhaps worse off.

Argentina, one of the great cereal rivals of the United States, does not make parity payments to farmers as does the American government, but it does seek to mitigate their situation by purchasing certain amounts of corn. But great quantities of unsold corn are being spoiled, partly by weevils and partly because the grain is getting moldy or is decaying from other causes.

Omitting this spoiled corn and considerable quantities which have been utilized for various purposes within the country, Argentina, nevertheless, has a surplus available for export amounting to about $475,000,000 bushels. A mere trickle of 200,000 bushels was shipped out in April, May and June of this year compared with about 30,000,000 bushels in the same period last year and over 52,000,000 bushels in 1936.

THE deadly influence of war has ravaged the European market badly so far as Argentine exports of corn are concerned. Most European countries, doubtless, wanted and needed the corn. Some, like Germany and Italy, were blocked off the seas by the British navy and a like fate later befell customers like Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France and Norway.

In the years 1930-1934, Great Britain's average yearly imports of corn from Argentina were 91,922,000 bushels. Last year they were only 3,487,000.

GERMANY in previous years averaged 13,687,000 bushels. Last year it got none. Italy averaged 13,359,000 bushels. Last year it got 2,043,000.

Now under German domination, Holland, Denmark, Belgium, Norway and occupied France can be counted as completely lost as markets for Argentine grain. The British blockade will stop any grain going to Hitler-ruled countries.

Why Dogs Chase Cars

There is a reason for everything under the sun—even for a dog chasing a car. Silly or not as it may seem, the howl of your pooch dashing out and giving chase to the whirring, and sometimes fatal, wheels of an automobile or motorcycle, is grounded on an instinct old as time itself.

Way back yonder, the ancestors of our present day dogs crouched beside some trail leading to the community waterhole—there to wait and watch for his dinner on the hoof. And when it did come by, usually at a high gallop, why Granddad P-o-h hot-footed it after the fleeing animal until he caught up with his quick-lunch counter.

Habit, they say, is a great master.

Parachute Troops Will Wear New Emblem 'The Silver Badge of Courage'

A silver emblem depicting a winged parachute, opened for descent, which will be worn over the left breast just as Air Corps pilots wear their "Wings," has been approved by the War Department for wear by qualified members of the U. S. Parachute Troops, Sergeant Harvey M. Gist, U. S. Army Recruiting Officer at Pampa, Texas said today.

The new emblem, designed by Captain William P. Yarborough, a well known pioneer parachutist of the 501st Parachute Battalion, is unofficially termed "The Silver Badge of Courage" by Army men because it is worn only after the parachutist has proven himself capable of undertaking the daring and adventurous duties assigned to him, Sergeant Harvey M. Gist said. Embryo parachutists volunteer from other branches of the Army and are carefully selected for their strength and athletic prowess, their intelligence and their ability to handle different types of weapons, he explained. Then they must undergo months of special drills designed to familiarize them further with their weapons and attend study periods in which they learn related subjects which will be important to them.

Many weeks are spent, too, in packing and re-packing their parachutes so that eventually they may trust their lives to them without hesitation. During all this time they undergo a rigorous routine of calisthenics, tumbling, boxing and competitive exercises designed to put them into top physical condition.

In order to qualify for the rating "Parachutist" and the additional pay authorized, they must finally complete six jumps from an Army transport plane, one from 1,500 feet, one from 1,000 feet, two from 750 feet and two mass jumps from 750 feet.

Only after this strenuous, but far from tedious training has been completed, and the qualification jumps accomplished, may the young parachutists wear "The Silver Badge of Courage."

Mental Tests for Future Cadets
A record-breaking "field" of youths anxious to enter pilot training in the U. S. Army Air Corps will report to Randolph Field, Texas, August 12 to undergo scholastic examinations for appointment as Flying Cadets, officers announced this week.

A preliminary survey led members of the field secretary's staff to estimate that upwards of 200 will try the test. One hundred fifty took the last test May 13.

The precedent-smashing number is accounted for by the liberalization of scholastic requirements in the test, and officers declared they expected some youths who had failed previous examinations to try again.

Applicants must make passing grades in seven subjects instead of nine as were required until about two months ago. They may claim exemption from examination in subjects for which they can show college credits.

"It is possible," one officer said, for a young man with only one year of college to be exempt from all examinations.

Cloud Formations Have Definite Personalities
Meteorological instructors at Randolph Field, Texas, who have a flair for drawing, have decided that "humanized blackboard cartoons" have a beneficial effect on teaching of cloud formations to Flying Cadets.

"That bulbous looking affair with the 'pleasant face' is what we call a friendly cloud," said one instructor when a visitor dropped into the weather classroom. "That other one with the 'frowning face' is a storm cloud—out for no good."

Flying Cadets grasp the idea more firmly by associating faces—good and bad—with different types and formations, although as one professor stated, "They can't depend on actual clouds having faces."

Recruits Attending Air Corps School
Recruits who came into the U. S. Army Air Corps to get education are having their day, officers at Randolph Field, Texas, declared this week, announcing that out of 1,948 men received at the giant south Texas field about 700 have been ordered to technical schools for specialists courses.

First groups sent to engine, radio, parachute, clerical and other technical classes over the nation left the field in March, and since then detachments of from 50 to 100 men have left every 15 days.

In order to qualify for entrance to one of the schools, men take a preliminary intelligence test and later a shop mathematics examination which embraces eighth grade and high school subjects.

For men who are rusty on mathematics, Randolph Field academic department instructors are conducting special classes which lead toward proficiency in subjects on which workers must be informed.

stroy the insects, Finnell says. "The advantages of labor saving and insect destruction which may be credited to burning are more than offset by erosion damages and decline of future production due to fertility losses," the Department of Agriculture official warns.

But how should the wheat straw and stubble be handled, many farmers are asking. To this question Finnell explains that the straw should be worked into the surface soil so as to create a mulch and preferably not be turned under with a turning plow.

"Any type of implement may be used that will control weed growth and work the straw into the soil near the surface," it is explained.

Damages resulting to the soil from the burning of wheat straw, it is pointed out, include increased danger of erosion, loss of moisture, and reduced fertility over a period of years.

"The burning of straw and stubble leave a field more barren and subject to wind and water erosion than do three years of crop failures," Finnell declares. "It is a mistake to think that the roots alone will control erosion for a large percentage of the roots are too deep to be effective in checking damage by wind and water. When the straw and stubble are worked into the ground, the movement of soil by either wind or water is checked.

"Burning also deprives the soil of moisture," the conservator continues, "because when the straw and crop trash are destroyed there is nothing to check the water as it runs off the field. With the straw mulched into the surface, the soil remains spongy and is capable of absorbing much larger quantities of water.

Another factor is the loss of fertility that comes from burning," Finnell points out. "When the straw is burned the organic matter that would maintain and improve the fertility of the land is destroyed. Within three years after straw is burned, the soil fertility becomes vitally affected and crop production tends to decrease.

"Farmers of the Southern Great Plains now have an effective means for controlling erosion for at least three years even if drought prevails for the next two years, but this advantage will be lost if the wheat straw and stubble are burned and not turned into the soil properly," the conservator warns.

Legion Barbecue at Lake Fryer August 4

E. W. Thomas, who in addition to giving Ochiltree county a swell administration as county farm agent is the head chef for American Legion feeds, announces that the mutton for the big Legion barbecue and joint installation of Post and Auxiliary Unit officers has been killed and is now in cold storage awaiting the big feed.

The outdoor picnic and general mid-summer get-together will be held at Lake Fryer on the evening of Monday, August 4. Legionnaire Robert Lawrence donated the mutton for the feed. Chef Thomas says that the Post will furnish the barbecued mutton, coffee and beans and the Auxiliary women will go pot luck for the rest of the feed.

cents in Texas. Loan Date Extended That means the non-cooperator can get an income of 58 cents a bushel on his excess wheat. And as soon as he puts up the bond, he can do what he likes with the rest of his wheat.

His county AAA committee will explain the whole procedure. Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, in my opinion, has tried to be as fair about this as possible. The department of agriculture announced recently that the maturity date for loans on excess wheat would be extended to April 30, 1943. That's a year beyond the regular maturity date for loans on other wheat.

Realizing that the so-called penalty is designed not to raise money but rather to keep the excess wheat off the market, it is inconceivable that a loan on excess wheat would ever be called.

To my way of thinking, the wheat farmers of Texas have never had a better friend than the United States Department of Agriculture, and any farmer who has kept faith with the secretary and the farm program officials in general, finds now that he is in very good shape.

It's pretty hard for anyone to do much for a farmer who insists on fighting his friends, but the non-cooperator can thank his stars too, because if it weren't for the cooperators adopting quotas to protect the market, all of us would be mighty lucky now to get two-bits for our wheat.

Wheat classified as excess under quotas automatically become "free" as soon as the quotas become inoperative. So the simplest thing for a non-cooperator to do is put his excess wheat in storage, get a loan on it, and plan to cooperate next year.

Like System of Traffic Lights This program has been approved by a democratic process and by due process of law. If this is regimentation, so is the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States which protects the life and property of all individuals in the nation. Certainly the wheat farmers' most valuable property is his wheat, and the farm program is the only thing which keeps his wheat from being worthless right now.

What would happen if nobody paid any attention to traffic lights? The quotas are just a system of traffic lights for wheat. The promoters of dissension are asking farmers to run red lights. I firmly believe that Texas farmers, as well as farmers over the rest of the nation, will be smart enough to wait for the green light and avoid a smash-up.

And while we're talking about Lake Fryer we want you to know that the new concessionaire, John Coburn, is really doing a swell job. He's on the job all the time and is a real host. John is giving his best to make Lake Fryer a real recreational spot for the Northeast Panhandle and deserves the support and cooperation of all citizens and organizations.

He has had a large force of workmen busily engaged in cleaning up the area, and cutting down the weeds. If the people of this community want Lake Fryer to be the play spot of the Panhandle, make it possible for John Coburn to receive sufficient profit as concessionaire to give the park the attention it needs.

Weeds at highway intersections continue to be a menace. In all parts of the Southwest, Here in Ochiltree county we have had several accidents, two people going to the hospital Sunday afternoon from such an accident.

The county has purchased three tractor driven mowers and they are fast cutting down the blind corners. However the fence rows are grown up in weeds and farm operators can make their contribution to safety by cutting the weeds close to road intersections.

Until these hazards can be removed let everybody drive with caution at all road intersections. Slow up the few minutes longer will never be noticed when the day is done. Our highways in this level Panhandle country should be the safest in Texas yet they rank highest in fatality per accident percentage. We do not have as many accidents as other parts of the state but our ratio of serious injuries and deaths per accident is highest. The reason is that we drive faster than they do in other parts of Texas.

Chairman W. H. Lance of the Ochiltree County USO states that he has mailed a check to Regional Chairman E. B. Germany for a part of the county pledge. However there are many many folks who have not contributed a thin dime to this worthy cause. Then there are others who have pledged but have not paid or brought in their wheat. He asks that this be done at once so that all pledges can be received and remittance in full made to state headquarters on August 15.

A regular old two-gun XIT salute to the good folks over at Dalhart who staged a whopper of a celebration for the opening of Rita Blanca Lake located almost in the city limits. They really do things in a big way over Dalhart way. Next on their program comes the XIT reunion on August 4-5.

Judge Marvin Jones who as congressman from the 18th district secured the Panhandle lake building program was the dedication speaker, John McCarty, editor of the Amarillo News and former Dalhart Texan publisher, was master of ceremonies at the program. John introduced so many "brass collars" that we won't attempt to mention any but the honor guest.

They must have had at least 10,000 folks over there. Ed Bishop says ten to twenty thousand so we'll let it go at that. But we'll say that we saw more cowboys that never ate a sour-dough biscuit and more sailors that never dipped an oar than were ever assembled in one place before.

Maturity Date For Excess Wheat Loans Extended

COLLEGE STATION, July 22—Loans on wheat defined as excess wheat under marketing quota provisions will be extended to April 30, 1943. Fred Rennels, assistant administrative officer of the state AAA, has announced.

The maturity date for all 1941 loans on excess wheat stored on farms or in approved warehouses had been set previously as April 30, 1942.

This announcement, made thru the United States Department of Agriculture will materially aid farmers who overplanted their wheat acreage allotment this past season and who have excess wheat on hand. Rennels said. Under marketing quota provisions, farmers with excess wheat on hand are permitted to store the wheat and postpone paying the 49-cent per bushel penalty at this time. And, in the event farmers with excess wheat underplant their permitted acreage or suffer crop loss next season, a portion or all of the excess wheat may be absorbed and marketed without penalty.

Producers who store excess wheat on farms are entitled to 7 cents per bushel storage allowance where the maturity date is April 30, 1942, and an additional 5 cents per bushel allowance for storage up to April 30, 1943, provided the wheat is delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation as payment of the loan, the AAA official said. This storage allowance, however, applies only to farm stored wheat.

Loan notes secured by excess wheat stored on the farm will be extended only if evidence submitted to the county AAA committee not later than April 30, 1942, indicates that insurance certificates have been extended, consent for storage during the extended period has been obtained, and required inspection fees have been paid. Loans made on wheat in excess of wheat marketing quotas are made at 60 per cent of the rate offered to farmers who plant within their acreage allotments.

Producers who store excess wheat on farms are entitled to 7 cents per bushel storage allowance where the maturity date is April 30, 1942, and an additional 5 cents per bushel allowance for storage up to April 30, 1943, provided the wheat is delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation as payment of the loan, the AAA official said. This storage allowance, however, applies only to farm stored wheat.

Orrin Brown Spending Time Writing a Book

Buster Cator, local deputy sheriff, visited in the jail at Stinnett this week and went around to talk to his former prisoner, Orrin J. Brown. Brown was all tangled up in a heavy contingent of typewriter paper and was pecking away like mad. He looked up to see Buster and said "what in the thunder are you doing here?" Buster grinned and told him he had come to take him to Huntsville and find him a new chair. Brown grinned back and said "Aw... what are you doing up here."

Brown is writing the book on "Wild Life" for the purpose of raising funds to help perfect his appeal for reversal of the trial in Hanstford county when he was sentenced to the electric chair at Huntsville.

Cator reported that Brown was getting as fat as a butterball and did not seem worried about anything that was in the future.—The Spearman Reporter.
