Easy-Make Cranberry Holiday Menu Magic

Here is a cake that fits right in with the happy holiday mood, and fits equally well into your busy holiday schedule. Cranberries are autumn's traditional favorite fruit. They are a delicious complement to other foods served during the holiday season. However, don't limit the use of this colorful fruit as a relish or for a salad. Include it in the dessert sometime. For instance, the juice of the cranberry can spark a most ordinary angel food cake into a holiday creation.

Cranberry Cream Angel Cake
 An angel food cake that has been cut into a three-tiered beauty. Brilliant red cranberry juice is poured over each layer and its flavor seeps into the cake. For a filling dairy sour cream is spread over the cranberry on each layer. Then the whole cake is covered with a white frosting made with sweetened sour cream and cream cheese which are especially good frosting mates for sweet angel cake.

Then, because of the holiday mood, a little holiday magic is created by garnishing the cake with grape clusters of whole cranberries. Bring this dessert, in all its glory, before guests. Slice and serve with steaming hot chocolate, or demi-tasse coffee for gracious entertaining.

CHERRY CREAM ANGEL CAKE
 10-12 servings
 1 10-inch round angel food cake
 1/2 cup cranberry juice
 2 cups dairy sour cream
 1 cup confectioners sugar
 1 3-ounce package cream cheese
 Grapes or cranberries for garnish
 Slice cake in thirds horizontally. Place bottom third on cake plate.

They Went To Look At The Queen

CORONATION. By Paul Gallico. Gallico shows us once again that he is a skillful artist who can present a small gem in a significant setting.

His story is related to the coronation of Elizabeth II, from the viewpoint of a family from industrial Sheffield. They are Will Clegg, foreman of No. 2 furnace at the Pudney Steel Works, his wife Violet, 11-year-old Johnny, 7-year-old Gwendoline and Clegg's mother-in-law, Granny Bonner.

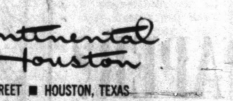

Sacrificing their annual seaside vacation, they had decided to spend the vacation money on a trip to London to see the Queen ride past in her coronation parade. Will had bought tickets for a vantage point on the parade route. But when they made their way through immense crowds they found the address given on their tickets was a bombed-out house. The tickets were counterfeit. But that time it was too late to find standing room in the streets. They found themselves behind a very high wooden barrier.

But there is magic in the ways of the mind and heart. Each of the five had approached this occasion with differing thoughts, and each of them found something to remember in the hours before they returned wearily to their home. New Philharmonic Hall Is Sadly Lacking In Warmth

BY INEZ ROBB

What follows is a report, and not necessarily of a minority of one. And, in the classic tradition of the old-fashioned father whom it hurt more than his offspring when the former took the latter to the woodshed (that's greasy kid stuff now!), this purely personal judgment causes me considerable pain.

So, not to beat around the bush any further, deponent would just as soon attend a concert in an ice house as in the new Philharmonic Hall, the first building to be completed in New York's grandly ambitious Lincoln Center of the Performing Arts.

The center itself is a vast and wonderful dream to house the cultural achievements and aspirations of a great metropolis and a glorious nation. It is a dream that has taken years to mature. Americans have nurtured the dream and supported it with pride.

But I am not alone in viewing the first of the center's completed buildings, Philharmonic Hall, with dismay. Inside and out, this huge glass block is barren and sterile. All the lights of Christendom, blazing through its glass walls at night, cannot give it a semblance of warmth or humanity. Both have fled.

I have seen more than one modern factory in the Scandinavian countries that could have served as a model of Philharmonic Hall. And any number of these new, all-glass buildings on Park Avenue are superior or at least equal to it.

There is not one touch of warmth or color or luxury in the glass box itself or in the great promenades on each tier of the hall. I grant that the promenades are very wide. But there is cold stone underfoot, an overwhelming and chilling expanse of glass on one side and bare walls on the other.

These promenades contain all the intimacy, beauty and allure of a monstrous gold fish bowl. If the glass walls framed a beautiful prospect, if they looked upon an entrancing garden, their effect might not be so repellent. But the "picture windows"—and the building is one vast picture window—open only on a panorama of New York traffic.

What little beauty, what soupçon of luxury, is allowed the Philharmonic Hall is spread thin over the auditorium itself. The dark blue walls are highlighted by the flight of accented gold kites suspended from the ceiling and the golden velvet that covers the seats.

But in truth, luxury and beauty have been avoided as if both were the modern plague or scourge of decoration. "Stark" is the work for the new Philharmonic Hall, both inside and out. Nothing about it is more dismaying than the dreadful, dingy and unappetizing restaurant, considerably less attractive than many a New York City cafeteria, that hits one in the face as the concert-goer enters what should be the grand lobby of the building.

No matter what it costs, something should be done about this Greasy Spoon at once. And surely the money can be found to carpet the promenades and to drape the icy acres of glass! Have color, warmth and comfort been outlawed?

I have long been a tremendous admirer and outspoken exponent of modern architecture. The Guggenheim Museum is magnificent, for example. But what is so hot about a glass box?

The whole concept of Lincoln Center is a splendid venture in courage for all who believe in the nation's tremendous cultural expanse. It is inconceivable that any but modern architecture should be chosen for the center, but not a modern expression best suited for a factory.

It will be a tragedy if, for example, the new home for the Metropolitan Opera turns out to be as frigid and antiseptic as Philharmonic Hall. If it should, God forbid, there will most assuredly be the preservation of the old Met, just as there was a successful crusade to save Carnegie Hall.

Easy Clue Is Left Behind By Suspect

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A would-be photographer bought a camera at a suburban shopping center, but paid for it with a bad check. It turned out to be easy for sheriff's detectives to find the man and arrest him at his home.

While the camera store clerk was demonstrating the camera, he took a picture of the customer, who was wearing a lettered jacket.

Actress From England Sees Contrasts

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Everything here is a symbol. If you ask a successful American who he is, he immediately wants to show you his motor car."

The speaker of the lines is Shirley Anne Field, who is known as one of Britain's "swampy young ladies" and also as "the pin-up girl of the English intelligentsia."

Miss Field, a film star, is 34, beautiful, red-haired and green-eyed. She appears more cheerfully outspoken than angry, however, and herself feels one reason she is flippant with the hip is that she's half-Irish.

"There is so much contrast in this country," she observed. "You meet here either people who are unbelievably talented—or people who seem to have no place at all."

"I'm a cold-weather girl and like fresh air. But in New York you can't open a window. They're all painted together," she said.

"When I tried to open the window in my hotel, the maid told me, the air conditioning in this room cost $10,000—and you have to use it."

Attacking a $6 steak with gleeful relish, Shirley said that despite the fact so many things in America were a symbolic price tag she was having a high old time visiting here.

"Actually, I live in a world of symbols myself rather than of reality," she confessed. "I always feel like I'm on the threshold of maturity, but never quite through. You get very confused when you are young and in this business."

Shirley feels a close kinship to the late Marilyn Monroe. A war wait reared in an orphanage, she went to work as a secretary at 15, saved her shillings to take drama lessons. She was a model and a television performer before winning movie recognition.

As did Marilyn Monroe, she aspires to glamor, but she resents the thought that to a studio an actress is "in a mold, an animated piece of property."

"I picked show business because it forces a kind of discipline upon one. But to be yourself takes a lot of courage. In the final analysis, you're alone in what you try to do in life," she said.

"And you get lost if you're not yourself. If you don't know who you are, who does?"

"But all I can do is act—and cook. Sometimes I feel happy only when I'm working. You need a complete dedication to self. But I have fears, and when I'm acting someone else—well, those fears go."

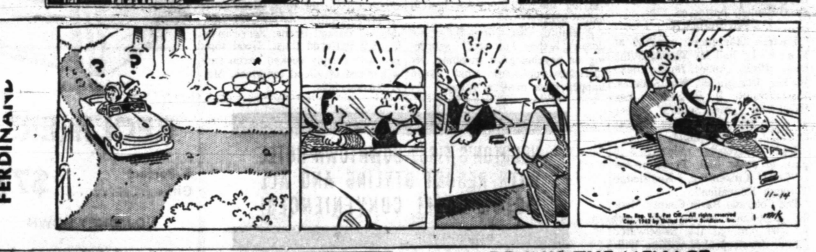

Texas Court Is Overruled

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texas court was overruled Tuesday by the Supreme Court in holding that Sherman D. George, an agent for the National Maritime Union, was in contempt for picketing a Texas City refinery.

George was fined $100 and sentenced to three days in jail after he picketed the refinery, operated by a subsidiary of American Oil Co., in June of 1961. A Galveston County court had issued a temporary injunction against such activity.

The highest tribunal disagreed with the Texas Supreme Court, which had upheld the contempt judgment, saying the National Labor Relations Act neither prohibited nor protected George's conduct.

In its decision the Supreme Court said American and its subsidiary were engaged in interstate commerce within the meaning of Labor Management Relations Act.

Junior Editors Quiz on YOU

QUESTION: What makes you hungry?

ANSWER: Your body is made up of billions of cells. They have different shapes according to the different jobs they do, but the cell A is about average. Cells are made up of a marvelous material called protoplasm, which seems to be the living stuff of life. It can take digested food and burn it to change it, releasing the heat we need inside our bodies and the energy we must have to charge around and do all the active things which make our lives worthwhile. The cell is a little factory turning out finished products of heat and energy (c). Raw materials must be brought to it. Just as trucks roll up with supplies for a factory (B), the red corpuscles in the blood come to the cells, bringing digested food. These busy carriers can do their job only if they have something to carry. When the food from your last meal is digested, your body sends you a hunger signal so that you will know it needs more food to go to work on. This is why you get hungry, so you will know that you must have help, help from your mother or the school cafeteria, at least three times a day!

FOR YOU TO DO: Nutritionists tell us that a relaxed, quiet atmosphere during meals is good for the digestive system. Young people are a bit apt to race through their meals. Try relaxing and eating more slowly.

BUT LACKING IN STRONG TEAM EFFORT

Wolves Look Big, Capable

The Colorado City Wolves were described here last night as big and capable, but as a group that has experienced trouble jelling as a team.

Snyder's Tigers will meet the Wolfpack Friday night at 7:30 in Colorado City in a District 3-AAA encounter, and the comments as expressed were heard during the weekly Quarterback Club session held in the high school cafeteria.

Tiger head coach Horace Bostick went on to explain that the Colorado City team is one that normally plays in "sports" that they play one quarter well but suffer collapse the next. "They're big enough and capable of playing you 'tough,' though," he advised.

Two Tiger backfield stalwarts continue to be hampered by knee injuries. Fullback Bob Pena is still slowed by his, but will probably see limited action Friday. Halfback Eddie Kirby, who saw brief action last week against Sweetwater, is not slated for an immediate return to the team.

Reverting to the Tiger showing against Sweetwater, line coach V. V. Shearburn commented that he thought the team put out with "close to a 100 per cent effort," and went on to say that the team spirit had suffered no letdown since the game. Sweetwater won the contest 3-0 on the strength of a field goal in the fading seconds of the first half.

Coach Bill Hartfield presented an offensive scouting report on the Wolves, stressing first and second down plays. The entire starting unit averages out at some 178 pounds to the man, and as has been the case in most of the Tiger games to date they will be "giving away" a lot of weight to the Wolves.

The Pack sets strong right the majority of the time, but also sets left on occasion. Their favorite running plays center around the "scat right" and "scat left" plays, traps, and a cutback pattern over tackle. Tailback Charles Houston does the majority of the passing and completed eight of 12 in Friday's 24-56 loss to Lake View.

Hartfield echoed Bostick's earlier comment when he mused that individually the Wolves looked good at times, but that "they haven't got together yet" for a concerted team effort.

Wolf defenses were described by Coach Roy Carter, who advanced the opinion that anything and everything could be expected when they take the field. "They started out with a crazy defense against Lake View," he stated, "and before they wised up they were behind 32-0." He went on to add, however, that they shored up their second half defenses considerably and turned in a much better effort during those last two quarters.

Capping off the session was the Snyder-Sweetwater game movie, with narration by Coach Bostick.

Truce Arrived At In Amateur Feud

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The AAU and NCAA, at each other's throats for 2 1/2 years in a bitter war of words and actions over control of amateur sports in the United States, were wedded in an uneasy coalition today.

The truce, reached Tuesday night after two days of intensive negotiations and a personal appeal from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, will hold until after the 1964 Olympics.

Fluvanna In Cage Split

PEACOCK—Peacock's Peafowls opened the 1962-63 cage debut of the Fluvanna Buffaloes here Tuesday night by toppling the Vikings, 63-51 but the Buffalo Gals turned the tables to help salvage the evening's efforts by romping to a 35-22 win.

Joe Beaver was top point maker for the Buffs with 17, while Robyn Beaver and Oralla Yungano meshed 11 piece for the Fluvanna girls to pace that attack.

Fluvanna sees its next action Friday when it entertains Peacock in a return match.

Sellout Crowd Eyed For A&I-SWTS Tit

SAN MARCOS (AP)—A sellout crowd of 7,000 is expected here Saturday night for the biggest game of the year in small college football.

Texas A&I, one of two unbeaten teams left in Texas, clashes with Southwest Texas State, which has an 8-1 record and leads the Lone Star Conference. A&I is second because of the tie.

This is the first time since 1948 that a Southwest Texas team has been in position to bring home an outright Lone Star Conference championship. Since then the Bobcats have twice tied for the title.

Barrera Decided

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Humber-Barrera's perfect record in professional boxing was shattered Tuesday night when Evaristo Salinas of Mexico City took a 10-round decision despite being knocked from the ring in the final round.

Barrera, a former Golden Gloves champion from Robstown, had won 10 straight before he met Salinas. The Mexican bantamweight gave him a savage body beating.

It was the 10th round before Barrera could rally. He did it with a two-fisted assault that blasted Salinas out of the ring. Salinas climbed back, however, and held his foe in the last minute.

Salinas weighed 115, Barrera 120.

Cassius, the 1960 Olympic Games light heavyweight champion, will make his 18th start as a professional. He has not been whipped and has scored 12 knockouts.

Moore, famed for ballooning to 200 pounds and up between matches, appears to be a swell-for Archie—195 lbs. stands 6-6 1/2, 11 and has the build of a small bull in his shoulders and upper arms.

But," said one high official, "We hope it will naturally evolve into something permanent."

No details were announced but The Associated Press learned that the agreement provides:

1. The NCAA-backed United States Track and Field Federation would be limited to educational institutions.

2. The AAU will remain the sanctioning agent in all international competitions.

3. The committee will rule internal open competition in the United States.

On the surface, it would appear that the AAU has fought off the NCAA challenge successfully. The AAU never has been particularly interested in college competition, and as a matter of fact, does not require collegiate meets to get its sanction.

The federation, on the other hand, had demanded sanctioning authority along with the AAU. This, the AAU maintained, was against the rules of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, the governing body of world track and field.

Neither Wahn Byers, chief NCAA negotiator, nor Col. Don Hull, who headed the AAU team, would make any comment. Only a formal statement, read by United States Olympic Committee President Tug Wilson was released.

Both the NCAA and AAU must vote on the agreement.

Things had gotten to such a serious point that the NCAA was threatening to forbid college athletes to compete in AAU meets.

The AAU, for its part, had warned that collegians who participated in non-sanctioned meets could be barred from the Olympics.

The most immediate threat, if the conflict continued, would be to make the indoor track season a shambles. The federation had scheduled a national championship to conflict with the AAU national event.

The agreement did not include basketball and gymnastics, two other sports that the two factions have been feuding over.

"For our part," said Wilson, who called the meeting in a last ditch attempt to avert complete chaos, "we are greatly relieved. Now we can go full speed ahead on our plans for the Pan American Games and the Olympics."

Ronald Green poured 34 points through the hoop here in Lincoln Gym Tuesday night to lead his Lincoln High Trojans to a 76-63 cage triumph over Floydadans.

Linwood Durr clipped in with 25 additional points to boost the effort, while Willie Barnes and Kenneth McClain each grabbed off 10 rebounds to lead in that department.

Otha Jackson was high man for the visitors with 22.

The Trojan B also emerged on the winning side of things in its joust with Floydada-B, 39-25. Joseph Crayton and Vernon Clay paced the attack in that one with 16 and 10 points apiece and Curtis Clay was top rebounder with eight.

HOMEWARD BOUND—Two of McMurry College's outstanding tackles — Doug James (left) and Ronnie Giles — hail from Snyder. They'll both be seen in action in Tiger Stadium Saturday night when Coach Grant Teaff's Indians tangle with Louisiana College at 7:30. Tickets for the game may be purchased in advance at the Ben Franklin Store on the west side of the square.

RETURN TO TIGER STADIUM

'Homecoming' Set For Indian Trio

ABILENE—The McMurry College Indians go calling Saturday night, November 17, as they journey to Snyder (home town of Coach Grant Teaff) to wind up their 1962 season—meeting the Louisiana College Wildcats in a night game sponsored by the Snyder Optimist Club.

McMurry will be out to close the season in the black. After losing to Abilene Christian College, 14-12, last Saturday the Indians stand 5-4 for the season and are not anxious to make it an even 5-5 for the year.

A 6-4 season would give Coach Teaff the same mark as he had in 1961.

It will be homecoming for three people associated with the McMurry team. Besides Teaff, two Indian players are Snyder High School cross-jackle Doug James and Ronnie Giles. And just to make it more interesting, Coach Teaff's father, Bill, is immediate past president of the Optimist Club at Snyder.

The Louisiana team calls Pineville, near Alexandria, home. Enrollment at Louisiana College (around 1200) is similar to McMurry's (the Abilene school has 1238 on campus this year with another 466 at Dyess Air Force Base).

The Wildcats are operating with a new head coach, Frank Young Jr. Young came to Pineville in 1960 as line coach and was promoted to the head spot this year.

Louisiana College Saturday defeated Jacksonville State of Alabama, 27-7, and the Wildcats will wind up their season at Snyder.

Texas, Arkansas Get Nod

By HAROLD CLASEN
NEW YORK (AP)—There must have been frost on the pumpkin used as last week's crystal ball in making the college football selections. Forty-one winners out of 83 decisions meant an average of only .707.

Here are this weekend's winners with no assurance that there are not as many traps as last week: Southern California over Navy; The Trojans are edging towards the Rose Bowl with Pete Beathard and Bill Nelson at the controls of their attack.

Alabama over Georgia Tech: Probably the most rugged battle in the South since Grant took Richmond. A duel within a duel pits Joe Namath of Alabama against Tech's Billy Lochridge.

Minnesota over Purdue: Two of the country's best defensive outfits tangle with the host Gophers having slightly the better of it because their line is anchored by Bobby Bell.

Texas over Texas Christian: A year ago TCU's Sonny Gibbs shot down the Longhorns with a single pass, 6-0. This year Texas offers the passing of Tommy Wade in rebuttal.

Missouri over Oklahoma: The Tigers could clinch the Big Eight title and an Orange Bowl bid in this one. Johnny Roland gives them a slight edge.

Penn State over Holy Cross: The Nittany Lions are the East's only consistent football team.

Wisconsin over Tennessee: The nickname of the Tennessee team is the Volunteers. This year the name is spelled with a small v.

Northwestern over Michigan State: Tom Myers will regain his pitching eye although the Spartans, ready out of the Big Ten race, might duplicate last week's Wisconsin massacre of the Wildcats if they put handles on the ball.

Army over Pittsburgh: Each team needs a victory to redeem itself. The redemption goes to the Cadets.

Louisiana State over Mississippi State: The Bayou Bengals should have no trouble with Jerry Stovall healthy.

Arkansas over Southern Methodist: Once more Billy Moore will be the decisive factor.

Washington over UCLA: The Huskies' hex over California teams when they visit Seattle will prevail.

Duke over Wake Forest: The kicking of Bill Reynolds plus Jay Wilkinson too much for Wake Forest.

Wisconsin over Illinois: The Badgers have an adding machine type of attack.

Skippering over the others in a hurry:

EAST: Boston College over Boston University, Buffalo over Colgate, Dartmouth over Cornell, Harvard over Brown, Columbia over Pennsylvania, Villanova over Rutgers, Princeton over Yale, Syracuse over George Washington.

SOUTH: Auburn over Georgia, Florida over Florida State, Kentucky over Xavier, Maryland over Clemson, North Carolina State over Virginia, Tampa over Furman, Vanderbilt over Tulane, West Virginia over The Citadel.

MIDWEST: Miami (Ohio) over Cincinnati, Dayton over Wichita, South Carolina over Detroit, Iowa over Michigan, Iowa State over Kansas State, Kansas over California, Louisville over North Texas State, Nebraska over Oklahoma State, Notre Dame over North Carolina, Tulsa over Toledo, Ohio State over Oregon.

SOUTHWEST: West Texas State over Hardin-Simmons, Rice over Texas A&M, Texas Tech over Colorado, Arizona over Texas Western.

FAR WEST: Air Force over Baylor, Arizona State over New Mexico State, Idaho State over Nevada, Wyoming over Brigham Young, Washington State over Idaho, New Mexico over Montana, Oregon State over Colorado State U., Stanford over San Jose, Utah over Utah State.

B Team, Jr. Highs Eye Swansongs

The Snyder Tiger B team will be trying to bring its final 1962 reading to 5-5 Thursday in Colorado City when B teams representing the two schools clash in a 4 p.m. grid battle.

They got together once before in Snyder the latter part of last month, and the Tiger eleven came through to post a 23-12 triumph on that occasion.

Thursday night will be a big one from a junior high standpoint, also, and will see the eighth and ninth grade outlaws from Lamar and Travis getting together in Tiger Stadium to wind up their respective campaigns.

Kickoff time for the eighth grade encounter is 6:30 p.m., and features a pair of twice-beaten teams. Lamar stands 5-2 for the year, while Travis sports four wins against two losses and a tie.

Following on the heels of that game—at 8 o'clock—is to be the ninth grade showdown scrap. Travis will enter that one with a 4-4 mark, while Lamar is 1-7.

Wagman Had, Lost $10,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Aron Wagman has admitted he made approximately $10,000 fixing college basketball games during the seasons of 1959-60 and 1960-61.

Wagman so testified Tuesday during the trial of Jack Molinas while being cross-examined by Jacob Eversoff, Molinas' attorney.

It was the fifth day Wagman had appeared on the witness stand. However, Wagman added: "I didn't come out ahead in any year. I gambled away what I made."

Molinas is charged with bribing Billy Reed of Bowling Green, Ohio, to fix three games in 1959 and 1960; with conspiracy in attempting to fix 25 college games and with subornation of perjury.

During his testimony, Wagman also said he and Joseph Green, an admitted co-conspirator, had agreed to end their dealings with Molinas after the 1957-58 season.

Ancient Archie To Battle Youngster

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Archie Moore-Cassius Marcellus Clay battle is billed as "the fight of the ages," a rather logical label when the ages of the participants are considered.

The affair is also a "battle of the lips," and it might even turn out to be the heavyweight fight of the year.

Clay, the loquacious one from Louisville, is a young man of but 20.

The age of Moore, the old monogoose from San Diego, is debatable, but somewhere in the upper 40s.

One-time triple champion Henry Armstrong once swore that he and Archie were boxing around St. Louis in smokers and the like in 1908.

Archie in the record book first fought formally in 1938.

Whatever the date or Moore's age, it is certain this remarkable man was fighting for a living before Cassius Marcellus Clay was

Deficit May Imperil Plans For A Tax Cut During 1963

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials are forecasting a federal budget deficit this year of $7.8 billion. This could be big enough, perhaps, to imperil President Kennedy's plans for a 1963 tax cut.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., was one of the first Congress members to comment today on the official deficit estimate announced Tuesday by the Budget Bureau.

"Under the circumstances," he said, "it would be a serious mistake to give the President the tax cut which he indicated last summer. He will ask when Congress resumes."

It may have been no accident that, just prior to the deficit announcement, it was reported that the administration was giving thought to a gradual tax reduction that would take effect in several steps over a period of one to two years. Such a plan would soften the immediate impact of lower taxes.

The Budget Bureau said several factors were responsible for dashing its dream of keeping out of the red in the current fiscal year that began July 1. It said:

"The economy, by falling far short of earlier expectations, is cutting deeply into forecast revenues. Federal income now is expected to total $85.9 billion—down

$7.1 billion from the estimate Kennedy provided when he sent the budget to Congress last January and predicted a $500 million surplus.

The administration's 1963 tax bill and the Treasury's July liberalization of tax depreciation, both aimed at spurring business modernization, will account for $2 billion of the revenue loss.

Spending will jump to a peacetime high of $93.7 billion—up $1.2 billion from the January forecast because of $400 million more for interest charges on a bigger national debt and congressional changes in bills to boost postal rates and overhaul the farm program. The Budget Bureau said that, despite the Cuban crisis military outlays are expected to total $48.3 billion—one of the few figures unchanged from 1961.

The official revision of the budget figures contained a hint that the deficit might be higher if the economy fails to score a substantial advance in the last three months of the year.

The red ink total in the last fiscal year was $6.3 billion. A deficit of $7.8 billion would be the second highest in peacetime, topped only by the $13.4 billion chalked up in 1959.

Recovery Teams Working On Guam

By ROBERT MYERS
AGANA, Guam (AP)—Recovery teams began sifting through what appeared to be a massive junkyard on Guam today and said they expect to find more victims in the rubble left by Typhoon Karen.

Karen, officially described as the worst disaster in the history of this strategic American outpost in the western Pacific, damaged or destroyed nearly every civilian building on the island. Winds up to 174 miles an hour blasted the island for four hours Sunday night.

So far, six Guamanians have been reported dead, at least 100 other natives and military men or dependents injured and damages estimated at more than $100 million.

Red Cross and civil defense offices have been set up to coordinate recovery. U.S. Dist. Judge Paul D. Shriver has been named as head of this effort.

Most of the wreckage is still unchecked.

"When we finally get to cleaning up the mess, we'll probably find more bodies," police officials said.

After invocation by Alex Campbell, preacher of Dunn Baptist Church, a supper was served. After the supper there was visiting and looking over the display of old pictures which brought laughs and fond memories.
