U.S. Steel Is Only Holdout Of "Big Four"

Increased Benefits Granted Union On Pension Program

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—The CIO United Steelworkers today signed pension-insurance agreements which ended strikes immediately against two of the nation's largest steel producers employing 120,000.

Republic Steel corporation and Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation agreed on pacts which closely parallel the earlier settlement with the Bethlehem Steel company.

Only holdout among the country's four top producers now is industry leader United States Steel.

Handwriting On Wall

Comment on the Republic-J. and L. agreements, a company source said:

"This looks like the handwriting on the wall."

But no negotiations have been aranged between big steel and the union.

U. S. Steel put out a feeler last week but got no reply. A spokesman said the question now is who will make the first move.

U. S. Steel spearheaded the industry's fight against free insurance and pensions recommended by a presidential fact finding board.

Republic employs 75,000 but this includes only 45,000 strikers. J. and L. has 25,000 strikers out of 40,000 on its payrolls.

Remaining on strike throughout the country are about 328,000 union members of the 513,000 who walked out Oct. 1 for free pensions and insurance.

Hourly Workers Covered

The new settlements will boost the country's steel industry operating rate to an estimated 30 percent of capacity. The current rate is about 21 percent.

Here are the highlights of the Republic settlement:

Insurance—the company's present contributory insurance plan is continued but with increased benefits. Employes will continue to pay an average of three and one-half cents per hour and the company will pay two and one-half cents.

Pensions-employes reaching the age of 65 who have 25 years service will receive a minimum pension of $100 a month. Employes with 15 to 25 years service will receive proportionately lower pensions. The company will bear all costs of the pension program.

Man Jailed In Brutal Attack

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 8. (U.P.)—A 37-year-old man was arrested today and charged with brutally beating to death a six-year-old schoolgirl who was found dying in desolate woods near the U. S. navy shipyard here yesterday.

The child, Shirley Murray, was discovered in some underbrush by a negro passerby. At the time she was found in a blood-soaked underbrush bower she was still breathing and moaning pitifully. But she died within a short time.

Man Picked Up

The FBI, called into the case because it happened on government property, announced shortly before noon that Lawrence Augustine Markham, 37, of Norfolk, had been picked up and charged with the slaying.

FBI agents and Norfolk police made the arrest. No other information was released.

Newspaper Claims Russia Proposing HST-Stalin Meet

PARIS, Nov. 8 (U.P.) — The newspaper L'Qurore and France Libre said today Russia has proposed a Truman-Stalin meeting in Berlin before the end of the year.

Paul Hebert, the newspaper's New York correspondent, said that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's "courtesy visit" to Secretary of State Dean Acheson yesterday in Washington was the result of a phone message from Premier Josef Stalin a week ago.

Hebert said Vishinsky proposed a Truman-Stalin meeting in Berlin between Dec. 25 and Dec. 31.

Vishinsky also suggested a meeting of the big four in the near future and a settlement of the German and Austrian problems within the next six months, Hebert said.

Reprimand Is Given Officer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Capt. John G. Crommelin, whose release of confidential navy correspondence touched off the congressional investigation of military policy, got off today with only a sharp reprimand. He was restored to active duty.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, the new naval chief of operations, disposed of Crommelin's case by writing him a letter of reprimand. The letter said Crommelin had violated Navy regulations.

Crommelin, 48-year-old aviation hero of World War II, had been under suspension while the Navy considered whether to court-martial him.

Named Aviation Officer

Sherman, in putting him back on active duty, assigned him as aviation officer on the staff of the western sea frontier commander.

On Oct. 3, Crommelin slipped to newspapermen copies of a letter from Vice Admiral Gerald F. Bogan to Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews.

Bogan's letter spoke of dissatisfaction among navy men over military policies that cut down on the navy and built up the air force. Bogan said that morale, particularly among younger officers, was being hurt.

The publication of the letter brought on the inquiry by the House armed services committee into the quarreling among the armed services.

Youth Loses Leg In Hale Center Mishap

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8. (Special)—The right leg of William Martin Sizemore, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sizemore, of near here, was amputated in a mechanical cotton boll pulling machine late Monday.

The boy was rushed to Hale Center hospital, where doctors said the leg was cut off about seven inches above the knee.

Alabama Community Is Rocked By Blast

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 8. (AP)—An explosion of a 16-inch natural gas pipeline rocked the small nearby community of Saraland today and sent panicky motorists fleeing in all directions.

Residents of the town reported that the explosion tore a hole in the ground big enough to hold a five-room house, and showered dirt over a quarter-mile area.

There were no immediate reports of any injuries or damages to buildings.

SHOTTON REAPPOINTED

BROOKLYN, Nov. 8. (AP)—Burt (Barney) Shotton, who led Brooklyn to a pennant but lost the World series to the New York Yankees last season, was reappointed manager of the Dodgers today.

No terms were announced but it is believed the 65-year-old resident of Bartow, Fla., was hired for one year at the same figures he received last season—$25,000.

Cotton Pulling Prices Cut To $1.75 In Area

Farmer Meetings Held; High Cost Threatens Profit

BY C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

Faced with rising costs and declining prices, farmers from over a wide area of the South Plains have begun to unite in a movement to reduce the price of cotton pulling to a figure more in line with returns, it was indicated today after a series of farmer meetings over the area.

In at least three communities, Shallowater, in Lubbock county; Cone and Farmer in Crosby county, farmers have held meetings and agreed to cut back the price of pulling to $1.75. The Shallowater group said that would be the price in the field starting next Monday. The Farmer and Cone groups announced that $1.75 would be the price delivered to the gin and that it would be effective Wednesday.

Must Reduce Costs

Approximately 200 farmers of the Shallowater community attended a meeting on the situation Monday night.

"It was the concensus of opinion of farmers assembled at Shallowater that all area farmers will have to reduce the costs or limber up their machines," Geo. C. Leftwich, spokesman for the group, said here today.

"It has come to the painful attention of may farmers that the grades of cotton harvested by hand since frost have dropped to the point that an occasional bale is worth only 13 to 15 cents in the government loan or cash market, the average having dropped at least $25 a bale from the opening prices," Leftwich said.

Can Be Badly Hurt

"Inasmuch as it may take two weeks to get grade cards back from the classing office, many farmers are beginning to realize that they can be badly hurt if they pay $2.25 for cotton delivered at the gin," Leftwich and G. L. Catlett, another spokesman for the Shallowater group pointed out.

"If the majority of the grades drop to Low Middling Spot cotton, which is worth in the loan only 14.14 cents for 13/16-inch and 14.19 for seven-eights, they simply can't come out even. The seed at best, will barely pay for the ginning at present prices.

"In the case of a tenant who pays rent out of 15-cent cotton ($75 per bale) the landlord gets $18.75, the pullers $40.50 (1,800 pounds of seed cotton at $2.25), thus leaving the producer a gross after harvest and rent of $16.25 to compensate for his growing costs — this year the highest in history," Leftwich continued.

Still Looking For Profit

"On a county average of one-half bale per acre dry land and three-fourths bale irrigated cotton, the farmers are about convinced

Santa Claus Is Set To Put Bite On Dad

Toy Sales Are Expected To Hit $300 Million; Unique Gadgets Are Shown

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Santa Claus is set to put a $300 million bite on dad for toys this Christmas. There are a record number of children to unwrap the presents, and a record number of fathers to buy the toys and help wear them out.

The shops will offer more lower-priced toys, but plenty of luxury priced ones, too. American toy manufacturers think they'll top last year's unit sales volume, but that slightly lowered prices may keep the dollar sales volume down to last year's $300 million.

Almost every problem currently agitating parents is echoed in the designs for new playthings. For instance, department store toy counters now set up for the sales rush, are showing more toys presumably powered by atomic energy and jet propulsion.

Or, if father has been worried about the housing situation, maybe he'll buy one of the new prefabricated toy houses.

If he's all steamed up about the toug-of-war between coal and oil, with its overtones of strikes and prices, and the labor disputes involved in changing over from steam locomotives to diesels — perhaps he'll be interested to note that electric train sets show more diesel-type locomotives this year than steam.

And among the new games is one in which the object is to find parking space for the family car. Many persons no longer consider this search funny, but the game is said to be absorbing, and serves to let the youngster see what he's in for.

The farm influence, now that crop surpluses and food prices are so to the fore in even a toymaker's mind, is strong in the electric train department. For instance, you can buy your future 4-H club member a cattle car with ramps that toy cattle will walk up and down.

Big Three Holding Conference In Paris

(By The United Press)

PARIS, Nov. 8 — Secretary of State Dean Acheson arrived today for big three talks that may end the formal state of war between western Germany and the western powers.

Acheson landed at Orly field at 1:30 p. m. (6:30 a. m. CST). Less than 24 hours earlier he conferred in Washington with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

He said Vishinsky had not mentioned any proposal for a meeting of President Truman and Premier Josef Stalin at Berlin.

Problems To Be Discussed

The first formal meeting of Acheson, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Great Britain will be held at the French foreign office tomorrow. The talks were expected to last two days.

No formal agenda for he talks had been fixed. The topics to be discussed were expected to include:

1. The possibility of ending the formal state of war with western Germany to enable the Bonn republic to play a larger part in rebuilding western Europe.
2. American and British wishes to end the dismantling of west German industry.
3. Allied reparations policies.
4. Admission of the Bonn republic to the council of Europe.
5. Economic unification of western Europe.

German Industry Sore Spot

Acheson refused to comment on the appointment of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky of Russia as Polish defense minister.

Schuman got an official go-ahead from the French cabinet today to act as France's spokesman in the talks. He told the cabinet that insofar as France was concerned the major issues would be German requests for relocation of the occupation statute and the halting of dismantling of west German industries.

He said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of west Germany a week ago wrote the Allied high commission suggesting a meeting of exerts to investigate the whole ques-

Man Is Held In Extortion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—The FBI arrested a former army aircraft inspector last night on charges of sending a $200,000 extortion letter to an official of the Fairchild Aircraft Corp.

It identified the arrested man as Joseph R. Roth, 40, of Washington, and said he apparently harbored some resentment against the firm.

The extortion letter was received by Sherman Fairchild. Fairchild now is on the company's board of directors, but he was not associated with the firm while Roth was working there.

Second Man Threatened

The FBI also accused Roth of trying to extort $25,000 from A. J. Eckhardt of Baldwin, N. Y.

Fairchild said Eckhardt had worked at the company's Ranger engine plant as an inspector, and added that apparently he was Roth's superior.

The executive said Roth's letter gave the impression that he was "obsessed with the idea he's not had a fair deal."

"His argument is with the air force," Fairchild said, "not with Fairchild."

Federal agents said Roth had warned both Fairchild and Eckhardt to pay up by Armistice day or be dead by Christmas.

Famous Pastor Declares America's Greatest Need For These Days Is A Spiritual Revival

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

"We live in a country where millions of people translate 'freedom of worship' to mean freedom from worship," Dr. Robert G. Lee, president of the 6,500,000-member Southern Baptist convention, said this morning.

The dynamic minister, who arrived in Lubbock Monday to fill an engagement made about two years ago, said, "I think it is indecent for people to live in a community and have nothing to do with the church.

"You take out churches and what they stand for and it's like taking melody out of music, facts out of history, numbers out of mathematics and brains out of the skull."

Widely sought throughout the country, Dr. Lee came to Lubbock to preach in the fall revival meeting at First Baptist church.

Approximately 1,500 persons—the largest crowd ever to attend a Monday night service at First Baptist church—heard the first sermon he delivered in the revival. He will preach at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily the remainder of this week and will preach in both services Sunday, concluding day of the revival.

Since Dr. Lee arrived, Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, has been bombarded with requests to ask Dr. Lee to speak before various South Plains groups.

Engagements scheduled, in addition to the sermons in the revival twice daily, are: First Baptist Brotherhood meeting and meal, 6:30 o'clock tonight; Draughon's Business college, 8:30 a. m. Wednesday; Senior

Amendments Hold Interest In Texas Vote

Light Turnout In State Balloting Being Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

Unofficial returns at noon indicated the legislative amendment to the state constitution was having rough going in at least four counties.

An unofficial tabulation by the Houston Chronicle showed the amendment trailing in Harris county's 170 precincts had the amendment behind, 220 to 416.

Others Being Approved

The Chronicle said all other amendments were being approved in Harris county.

The Waco Times-Herald also reported the amendment running behind in McLennan county in the newspaper's unofficial tabulation.

The Hillsboro Mirror said its unofficial report showed the amendment behind in Hill county.

The Austin Statesman said unofficial tabulations in Travis county had the amendment trailing. The Statesman said morning voting on other amendments was about even.

Provides Pay Raise

The legislative amendment calls for an annual session of the legislature. It also would give legislators a yearly salary of $3,600.

The weather was idea but reports from over the state indicated a very light vote during the morning.

In most places voters strolled into balloting places one or two at a time. Austin described lines there as only "30 seconds long."

Only in places where local and district contests had fired up more than casual interest were there any resemblance of a crowd.

Light At Houston

Houston reported a very light morning vote. The Houston Chronicle said unofficial returns showed the amendment calling for annual sessions of the legislature was trailing sharply. It also would pay legislators $3,600 yearly. The returns were from 30 scattered Harris county precincts.

Voting also was very light in Dallas county.

Amarillo reported only a light vote. Some interest was whipped up there when the Potter County Tax Payers association came out against all 10 amendments. The Amarillo labor legislative council urged its members to vote for the amendments.

Only 31 votes had been cast at

Little Interest In Voting Here

Officials who were conducting the election today at Lubbock county's 33 polling places needed dominoes or a brisk whodunit to keep awake.

The voters were busy at everything but voting.

Approximately 140 ballots had been marked in the first five and a half hours after the polls opened, a composite count of the four boxes in the courthouse showed.

Estimates Too High

Almost 1,700 poll taxes had been issued for those election precincts, not to mention the number of exemptions certificates.

"Don't use my name, but estimates of a maximum of 5,000 ballots are 'way too high for Lubbock county in this election," one judge said. Another agreed. "They're just not interested, it looks like."

The voter may accept or reject 10 proposed amendments to the state constitution, and aid in electing a representative to a 21-member board of education.

Three-Way Contest

In several sections of Texas—including one area of the South Plains—voters also will fill vacant seats in the House of Representatives and the Senate.

In counties comprising District 120, observers said voting might be slightly heavier, since a three-way contest has been waged to fill the House membership vacated by Rep. I. B. Holt, who resigned to accept the Olton postmastership. Candidates include Tom Deen of Floydada, and Harold M. Lafont and Joe Jennings, both of Plainview.

The 21 persons who will be named members of the state board of education will be the first to be

Violence Mars Election Day In Philippines

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, Nov. 8—Violence and bloodshel marked the Philippines presidential election today. The toll by noon: 17 dead, 12 injured.

Forty towns were clamped under Philippine constabulary control to preserve order.

Shootings at scattered points in the islands marred the balloting of probably more than 4,000,000 Filipinos to name the young republic's second elected president.

Civilians Are Killed

The bloodiest outbreak early in the balloting was at Narvacan in Ilocos Sur, President Elpidio Quirino's home province in northern Luzon. There, by interior department confirmation, constabulary troopers killed 10 civilians—including some women — and wounded eight others.

Only a few hours after poll opening, irregularities were reported in the voting which will determine if Quirin and his liberal party will remain in power through the next four years.

His opponents are Dr. Jose P. Laurel, Nacionalista party candidate who has made an amazing political comeback since he was puppet president during the Japanese wartime occupation, and third party candidate Jose Avelino, former liberal party chairman who split with Quirino this year and became the dark horse in the race.

Other Officials Chosen

The nation also is choosing a vice president, eight senators and 100 representatives to the lower house of congress. Block voting prevails an deach party pinned its hopes on its presidential candidate.

Unknown Assailant Sought By Officers

Identity, and motive, of a suspect who allegedly cracked a Fort Worth man on the head with a bottle about midnight had not been determined this morning by investigators.

The version of the incident:

Stanley Clinton Stewart drove into Lubbock from Fort Worth and stopped his car at a drive-in cafe on East Broadway. As he was getting out of his car the assailant, described as wearing a yellow shirt, walked up and struck him.

The unknown man left in a 1948 two-tone blue Oldsmobile, investigators were told.

Stewart was treated at Lubbock Memorial for a scalp injury and released.

He said he would sign a complaint against the man, if apprehended, and appear against him in court.

Truman's Fair Deal Program Receives Test

New York Senate Contest Holding Major Spotlight

(By The Associated Press)

A heavy vote was being cast today in the New York Senate election, a center of national attention because it is regarded as a major test of President Truman's "fair deal."

Because President Truman's policies have been made a direct issue, the contest between former Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman and Republican Senator John Foster Dulles far overshadow candidates and issues in other scattered elections across the country.

Watch For Signs

But national leaders of both major parties were watching all contests for signs of which way the political winds are blowing for the 1950 general congressional elections.

In Boston, the prestige and influence of Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin became involved at the last minute in the mayoralty election.

Tobin, a former Boston mayor and Massachusetts governor, publicity threw his support behind City Clerk John B. Haynes. Haynes is trying to unseat Mayor James M. Curly who is running for his fifth term.

President Truman—and some of his cabinet—have spoken out for Lehman in the scrap with Dulles.

Both Leading Figures

The two men, both prominent public figures, campaigned hard to fill out the unexpired term of former Senator Robert F. Wagner (D-NY), a "New Deal" stalwart who resigned because of ill health last July. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appointed Dulles to serve until the election.

Wagner's term will expire in January, 1951. Ordinarily a race for such a short term would excite little public interest. But the stature of the two candidates plus their clear-cut definition of issues has projected the scrap into a preview of the 1950 campaign where the control of Congress will be at stake.

There also will be inevitable comparisons with 1948, when Republican Dewey carried New York in his losing presidential campaign against Mr. Truman.

Backs Truman Program

Texas Reports Clear Weather

(By The Associated Press)

Election day weather in Texas was just about as perfect as could be wished for.

It was a little foggy along the coast but elsewhere it was crystal clear and cool.

Salt Flat Lowest

The lowest early morning temperature was 35 degrees at Salt Flat. Lufkin had a low of 36, Wink 37 and Junction 38. Elsewhere the minimums were in the 40s and 50s.

Yesterday's maximums ranged from 66 at Guadalupe Pass to 79 at Wink.

Minimum Is 38

In Lubbock, the early-morning minimum today was 38 degrees following a Monday afternoon maximum of 75. The maximum this afternoon was expected to be about the same.

Increasing winds were expected to reach a velocity of 20 miles an hour during the afternoon. Increasing cloudiness is expected Wednesday, and it appeared that a mild cold front, now over western Colorado and extending south through Arizona might have some effect on South Plains temperatures by Wednesday.

Cisco Church Plant Destroyed By Blaze

CISCO, Tex., Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Cisco suffered its worst fire loss in six years early today when the East Cisco Baptist church was burned with an estimated loss of some $30,000.

The blaze was discovered between 4:30 and 5 a. m., but was so far advanced by then that firemen directed their efforts to saving the education building. Damage to the latter was estimated at $1,500.

A $10,000 remodeling job to the church was recently completed by the congregation. Insurance coverage amounted to only $12,000, the Rev. Paul Stephens, pastor, said.

BETTER FRIENDSHIP IS URGED

Vishinsky Greets Ambassadors At Big Washington Reception

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky says Russia and the United States ought to be better friends.

The honor guest at a glittering Soviet embassy reception last night, Vishinsky talked informally with newsmen on this general theme—but put his specific observations "off the record."

His general line: the common feeling of Russian - American friendship has fallen asleep but some day it will awaken and confound the enemies of freedom.

Smiling amiably, Vishinsky shook hands with more than a thousand diplomats, congressmen, newsmen and other guests. They jammed the embassy for the annual celebration of the anniversary of the 1917 revolution which swept the bolshevists into power in Russia.

Just Social Call

Vishinsky came from the United Nations general assembly session at New York for the occasion. He had a private 14-minute talk with Secretary of State Acheson in the afternoon, shortly before Acheson, left by plane for the big three western foreign minister's meeting at Paris. Both he and the State department declared it was merely a social call.

Then for about three hours, the east-west cold war went into a state of suspension. Under a heroic-size oil painting of Generalissimo Stalin, the envoys of most of the American and western European nations which have rejected Communism chatted briefly with Vishinsky and with Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin.

The ambassadors included Britain's Sir Oliver Franks, Henri Bonnet of France, and Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne of Norway, dean of the diplomatic corps.

Slav Not Invited

The ranking American diplomatic official was James E. Webb, under secretary of state. He came early and left to go to the airport to say goodbye to Acheson. The secretary himself had planned to attend had not the big three meeting developed, the State department said.

One envoy missing was Yugoslav Abassador Sava N. Kosanovic, whose government is on distinctly bad terms with Moscow at the moment. He was not invited.

Most of the guests came early and stayed late, crowding around tables laden with caviar, sturgeon, turkey, and ice cream. The vodka and champagne ran out before the last had left, but there were plenty of other types of beverages.

Non-official guests included Joseph Davies, former ambassador to Moscow, and Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Producers association, who once had a talk with Stalin on a trip to Moscow to try to persuade the Russians to accept more Hollywood films.

David Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy commission, was questioned by reporters as soon as he stepped past the receiving line after a brief chat with Vishinsky.

"We didn't hear Mr. Vishinsky say anything about the Soviet atomic bomb," one newsman tried as an opener.

"I didn't either," Lilienthal replied. When a smilar opening was tried on Vishinsky, the Russian's reply was the same.

Quiet Israeli Town Haven For Artists

SAFED, In Upper Galilee, Nov. 8 (AP) — This medieval town of Biblical learning is to become an art center in Israel. Several leading Jewish painters left noisy Tel Aviv to settle in this little mountain town northwest of Tiberias and the Sea of Galilee. It is the rocky area where, according to an old Jewish legend, the Messiah will descend from heaven.

The painters say the whole atmosphere of the Safed tradition, the unique beauty of the landscape and the lightness of the air constantly inspires them.

Orson Welles Agrees To Produce Pictures For Egyptian Studio

CAIRO, Nov. 8 (AP) — Orson Welles is going to make American movies in Egypt's Hollywood-on-the-Nile.

Charles Lifschitz, head of Cairo's Al Ahram studios, annnounced he signed an agreement with the American producer-director-actor to make two major productions here this winter. Production will start in December.

Egypt — land of the pyramids and the Sphinx — never before has been used by the American film industry for a major production. But since two Egyptians made the first Egyptian movie, "A Kiss in the Desert," 21 years ago, Egypt's film industry has come of age.

To Boost Industry

Today it is one of the most active outside Hollywood or Elstree. During World War II, when foreign films were not available, local production jumped to 110 feature productions a year. Ten thousand persons were employed. Local stars—particularly lovely, blonde Camelia and an Egyptian "Clark Gable," Anwar Wagdi, were developed.

Egyptian movies were shown as far away as Singapore and Paris.

With production down to 41 pictures a year now, Welles' arrival is expected to give the industry a major boost.

"Welles work in Egypt during the next few months undoubtedly will have fruitful results in the whole progress of Egyptian films," Al Ahram studios said in announcing the deal.

Shooting is scheduled to start in December and probably will continue for five months.

With Hollywood looking abroad for a way to cut production costs and utilize frozen currency, Egypt was a local production center. It has big studios with modern equipment. Wages are comparatively low. Most films cost under 200,000 dollars—less than a quickie costs in Hollywood. There are colorful natural settings.

Delay Faces Space Ship Travel Fans

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8 (AP) — Man's desire to roam about outer space and explore heavenly bodies will remain a songwriter's fancy for a few years, says Dr. Ralph E. Gibson, director of the applied physics laboratory of the Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Gibson cites these obstacles to inter-planetary travel:

1. You would need a rocket ship weighing about 10,000 tons — the weight of a light cruiser — to carry a pay load of 50,000 pounds. 2. You would need fuel tanks a quarter of a million cubic feet in size and would have to carry 8,000 tons of fuel, probably liquid oxygen. 3. You would have to start with a velocity of 36,000 feet a second in order to get shot out of the field of the earth's gravity.

Dr. Gibson's laboratory has been experimenting in guided missiles at the government's White Sands (N.M.) testing grounds.

Roving Tailor Cuts Expenses Of Patrol

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 8 (AP) A roving tailor cuts the cost of outfitting the 500 Illinois State highway patrolmen.

A mobile truck carrying the tailor visits each of the 14 division headquarters on the day patrolmen gather for monthly inspection. As the need demands, the men are measured for new uniforms, shirts, caps, and coats.

Public funds are saved since neither state vehicles or gasoline is use to transport the men to Springfield for periodic outfitting as in the past.

British Bill Would Let Women Spend Capital Of Trust Funds

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP) — As far as the House of Commons is concerned, Countess Mountbatten can spend her nearly $4,000,000 inheritance any way she wants to.

The House, dominated by Laborites whose normal policy is to "soak the rich," took pity on the wife of Admiral Viscount Mountbatten, the wartime supreme allied commander in southeast Asia, and all married women in her plight.

House Passes Bill

Its members passed a bill lifting the legal restrictions which for 80 years have kept Britain's married women from getting at the capital of inheritance funds left in trust. If the House of Lords passes the bill Countess Mountbatten can start spending the 1,400,000 pounds her grandfather, Sir Ernest Cassel, left her.

Countess Mountbatten appealed to Parliament earlier this year for permission to spend the money. The old British law, designed to protect moneyed wives from unscrupulous husbands, forbade her to touch anything but the income from the money in trust.

She complained that the restrictions put her "in a position where I never know quite where I am."

Plane Is Used For Field Mice Hunting

HAMILTON, Mont., Nov. 8 (AP) Dr. J. K. Frenkel, pathologist at the federal laboratory here, needed some field mice for experiments. Ferd Fullerton and Lawrence Humble said they'd go hunting for them.

Fifteen minutes after they took off in Fullerton's plane, they spotted harvesters working in a hay field. They landed in the field, borrowed a jeep and soon had a bag full of mice for Dr. Frenkel.

Many UE Workers Back CIO In Expulsion Of Left Wingers

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8 (AP) — More than 107,000 united electrical workers have swung to the CIO in a family fight over right-left politics, a survey showed today.

At the same time, the new CIO group—the union of electrical workers—announced it had won its first employer recognition, a contract signed with two firms employing 1,075 workers at Yonkers, N. Y.

The survey covered scores of locals in 12 states—California, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

It showed that 107,482 UE members have voted to secede from the parent union or have otherwise indicated strongly they intend to do so in the less than a week since the UE was expelled by the national CIO for left wingism.

Split About 50-50

Most of those who have voted for secession have also announced their intention of going into the CIO. A few have made no statement of their intent. One small local joined the CIO-United Auto workers.

A total of 68,608 UE members in other locals have voted to stick by the parent organization or have announced that is their intention.

This total of 176,090 who have said what they intend to do compares with a total UE membership estimated at 400,000 to 450,000. Previous tests of strength in the locals and on the national convention floor indicate that about half the membership is left wing, half right wing.

The survey does not include 25 Chicago locals, 24 of which voted to stay with the UE, as membership figures of this group are not yet available.

Fights Break Out

Developments have followed thick and fast since the national CIO last week at its Cleveland convention kicked the UE out for showing left wing tendencies. Announcement of the new CIO union, to attract right wingers who wanted out of the UE, followed the expulsion by minutes.

A series of fights, both legal and physical, resulted. There was a brief near-riot at Sharon, Pa., and fisticuffs at Fairmont, W. Va., and Pittsburgh. Only last night right wingers phoned police in Pittsburgh to complain that left-wingers had broken into and taken over the headquarters of the 13,700-member local at the east Pittsburgh plant of Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Courts in a half dozen states were kept busy.

Yesterday they ruled on four funds cases, in which left wingers had tried to tie up the union treasury. Rightist officers at the Westinghouse east Pittsburgh local were given full use of their $200,000 kitty. Judge James L. O'Toole told the complaining left wingers:

"You're trying to use this court to settle a fight within the union. . . . I think the last thing in your mind is to protect this money. You want to freeze this local in the present situation."

Fund Use Limited

The court's action enabled the local to set up a membership meeting for Wednesday to vote on the question of secession.

At Lynn, Mass., Syracuse, N. Y., and Sharon, Pa., court rulings gave rightist officers limited use of union funds—for current expenses only—but put the bulk of the treasuries in escrow. Further court hearings will decide who gets the money—the UE or the new CIO group.

Supreme Court Justice Jesse E. Kingsley emphasized what use may be made of the funds by saying they could not be used "for extraordinary purposes such as promoting secession from the UE."

This ruling also cleared the way for a vote of the 2,500-member Syracuse local on whether it will go to the CIO.

In Philadelphia, a federal court ruling temporarily stopped Harry Block, director for the new CIO group for the Philadelphia district, from using the name "united electrical workers" or the initials "UE" in connection with unionism. The court said the prohibition will stand until testimony determines whether anyone would be damaged.

The stewards committee of local 1412 with headquarters in Oakland, Calif., voted "unanimously" to support the UE. Mrs. Sandra Waite, business agent of the union, declared:

"We don't think communism is the issue at all. (The UE) is doing what it is supposed to do — secure benefits for workers, while Mr. Murray is changing the CIO into a political organization."

Official Expelled

The Lynn, Mass., fight is interesting because it is the home local of Albert J. Fitzgerald, UE president. After weeks of bickering, the Lynn local expelled Fitzgerald from membership on the ground he voted for himself in defiance of instruction that he support Fred Kelley, business agent of the local and right wing leader. Now the entire 17,000-member group is bolting UE and staying in the CIO. Most of the members work in General Electric plants.

One Cincinnati local at Formica Insulating Co. received its charter in the new CIO union Sunday. The group has been promised financial aid and legal support in any controversy that may arise from its swing to the CIO.

The 4,000-member local at Sperry gyroscope in Lake Success, N. Y., is so unhappy with the UE that it voted last week to "give away" its $174,000 treasury rather than have it fall into the hands of the parent group.

The union plans to convert the funds into government bonds and give them to eight right wing trustees under promise they will return it later.

The local at North Tonawanda, N. Y., has been split. One section voting to break away from the UE claims to represent 500 employes at Pratt and Letchworth, Inc., while segment, with 1,400 members in four other Tonawanda and North Tonawanda plants, voted to retain UE affiliation.

Following is a state by state tabulation, showing groups that have seceded from the UE and gone over to the CIO, have voted not to secede, or have otherwise shown strongly in what direction their sympathies lie.

	Sticking With UE	Moving To CIO
California	6,300
Illinois	9,800
Indiana		5,000
Iowa	7,675
Massachusetts	1,633	25,015
Minnesota		1,117
Missouri		4,700
New Jersey	10,800	2,150
New York	16,600	10,000
Ohio		23,000
Pennsylvania	15,800	35,300
West Virginia		1,200
Totals	68,608	107,482

This total of 176,090 compares with a reported national UE membership of 400,000 to 450,000.

Shamrock Hotel Has Brief Fire "Scare"

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Smoke wafted down the northwest corridor on the eleventh floor of the plush Shamrock hotel here early today, but the small fire was put out before many guests awoke.

Hotel employes rushed to the alarm and doused a smouldering "love seat" before the neighborhood fire equipment reached the scene.

Arming Of Germans As Bulwark Against Russians Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Rep. W. R. Poage, D., Tex., proposed today that the United States arm 25 divisions of German nationals under command of American senior officers but that she "keep the supply of ammunition in American hands.

He said this course would deter Russian aggression and assure western European nations they won't be left in the lurch in the event of a Soviet attack. He proposed that a similar course be followed in Japan.

Poage made the proposal in a statement in the final edition of the congressional record for the first session of the 81st Congress.

Married Couple Is Striking Snag Because Of Man's Treatment Of Young Stepson

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I have been married over two years and I have a school-age son by a former marriage. I am very much in love with Jay and he with me, but his relations with my son presents a problem. He completely ignores the boy at all times, speaking to him only to correct him.

The child feels Jay's dislike and has mentioned it to me on several occasions; and for the last 18 months I have tried in vain to learn the reason for Jay's attitude. There seems to be no jealousy involved, and he thinks the world of our nieces and nephews, and he has never physically abused Bill—but he says he just can't like him, try as he might.

We have never quarreled about the situation, but we have talked it over several times and Jay has promised he would try very hard to change his attitude, but the other day he said he guessed the problem is hopeless. He said he didn't think he could ever like Bill, and since this environment is completely wrong for my son, I am wondering if the marriage is bound for the rocks.

I have tried to help Jay every way I can, but I hardly know how, when I can't understand the cause of his aloofness to Bill and when he can't explain it either. If this problem could be worked out I am sure we could be very, very happy; and I certainly don't want to break up my home if there is a way to avoid it. Your advice will be much appreciated.

(Signed) V. P.

MAN IS BATTLING HIS INFANTILISM

DEAR V. P.: It is my impression that Jay is a pretty decent sort, in that he has some degree of sensitivity and regard for fair play, but in relation to Bill he is blocked from being an openhearted foster father, due to a lot of anxious infantilism that still lurks in his unconscious, clogging the development of his character.

The significance of his involuntary aloofness to Bill seems clear to me, and if he can't explain his attitude, it is because he has the sixth sense to feel ashamed of the unmanly emotions back of it,—even if he hasn't spelled them out to himself. And because he has that much awareness, plus the grace to blush for unworthy sentiments, I venture to think he can grow up, despite his poor showing with Bill thus far.

Actions speak louder than words in detonating hidden dynamite in one's emotions, and Jay's performance in completely ignoring Bill, except when correcting him, obviously and naively reveals that he wishes the boy didn't exist,—so that he, Jay, might have you all to himself, unencumbered, without prior commitments to love, or tangible evidence of having been loved before, etc.

MAN SHOULD DEAL FROM HIS STRENGTH

HOWEVER, chalk it up to Jay's credit that he wouldn't entertain that "wish" if it crossed his mind, which is to say, he honestly doesn't know why he "can't" like Bill. So don't make the mistake of thinking, "Why, you monster—," etc., in catching a glimpse of his emotional block. The average person is pretty much an innocent victim of what goes on in his unconscious, unless and until he's had professional help in taking stock of forces resident there.

The creative solution of the difficulty is to understand the unrealistic, unbidden, involuntary nature of Jay's unconscious "rejection" of Bill; and then proceed on the basis of this shared understanding to behave realistically, towards each other and the child in the family relationship.

Up to now, Jay has been, and again I must say: unconsciously, marking himself down, unnecessarily, to a child-level of consepuence in the situation. And what he needs to realize is that he holds all the cards for being King of Hearts in the relationship, the idol of wife and foster son, if only he has the sense to deal from his strength,—i. e., by acting like the man he is, per nature's reckoning, and concerning himself to give the justifiably anxious little boy a really fatherly brand of devotion.

Boost In Bus Fares Sought

HOUSTON, Nov. 8 (U.P.) — The Houston Transit company today petitioned the city for an "immediate" increase in bus fares, and indications were that it would be allowed.

Carl Frazer, bus line president, wrote Mayor Oscar Holcombe to ask for the new price scale.

He did not specify just how large an increase the company wants, but during strike negotiations with the union last week a straight 10-cent fare without the use of tokens was hinted.

Seek Quick Action

Mayor Holcombe said any new rate would be set by Public Service Director Clinton Owsley. If the proposal receives approval, the new rate would go into effect "as quickly as it is legally possible," the mayor added.

Owsley said a study of company costs would be necessary before he could determine a new rate that would give the company "a fair return" on its investment.

In his letter, Frazer claimed the company had operated at a loss since Nov. 3, when they granted bus drivers a 13-cent hourly pay raise to conclude a brief but paralyzing city-wide bus strike involving 1150 bus drivers and mechanics.

"The present fare structure is totally inadequate to enable the company to pay these wages and remain solvent," the letter said.

Candied Yams Stop Sovereign During Galley Inspection

King George VI Piped Aboard U. S. Cruiser And Given Royal Treat Of American Steak

By WILLIAM RICHARDSON
United Press Staff Writer

PORTSMOUTH, England, Nov. 8—The royal standard was raised over the American heavy cruiser Columbus today as King George VI came aboard, inspected the ship from top to bottom and lunched on steak and baked potatoes.

The steak especially was a royal treat for Britain's ruling sovereign. Like other rationed Britons, he rarely sees one on his own dinner table.

The ship's ceremonial three-inch battery boomed a 21-gun salute as the king was piped aboard. He was greeted by Admiral R. L. Conolly, commander of the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean fleet, U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas and other American officials.

Yams Stop King

The king, wearing the uniform of a British admiral, first inspected two formations of U. S. marines while a navy band played a march.

His tour of the ship took him down into the galley. There he carefully inspected gleaming aluminum pots which contained the enlisted men's lunch. The menu included vegetable soup, ham, buttered beans, candied yams, vegetable salad and ice cream.

The candied yams stopped the king.

"What's that?" he asked.

He was told it was a favorite American dish.

"Have the men good appetites?" asked the king.

"Very good, sir," replied Chief Warrant Officer John Surrina of Leadwood, Mo. He said the galley could feed up to 1,000 men. There are 958 officers and men aboard the Columbus.

Ovens Full

Seaman R. R. Waymere of Council Grove, Kan., the ship's baker, had the ship's ovens full when the king entered the galley. The king remarked that Waymere's devil's food cake "smells very good."

Waymere told the king he had baked about 300 loaves of bread today.

He visited the executive officers of the ship and posed for pictures with Conolly, Douglas and other guests.

Then the official party went into the captain's cabin for lunch. The menu was black bean soup, broiled mackerel, filet mignon and mushrooms, baked potatoes, buttered broccoli and hollandaise sauce, parker house rolls, strawberry jelly, tomato aspic, cheese and crackers, cherry jubilee and coffee.

After lunch, the king saw an exhibition of American naval war films, including "The Fighting Lady" and "The Fleet Came To Stay."

It was the king's first visit to an American warship since 1945, when he boarded the U.S.S. Augusta to chat with President Truman on his return from the Potsdam conference. The 13,600-ton Columbus is Conolly's flagship.

LOGS are felled for a new school in Idaho wilderness.

Residents Of Wild Region In Idaho Busy Building School

ELK CITY, Idaho, Nov. 8 (AP)—The wildest outpost of the largest remaining primitive wilderness area in the United States is finally going to have a school.

A 14 by 16 foot log building is taking shape on the banks of the Salmon, Idaho's famed "River of No Return," and this fall seven youngsters will study the three R's there instead of by correspondence from the state.

People Building School

The river people are building the school themselves at a point across from the Tex Mott ranch, three and one-half miles from the end of the last road that pokes its way into this wild land. The location was selected because the Mott family is furnishing five of the seven students. Another will come from the early-day mining town of Dixie, which has no school, and the seventh is Donald Watson, son of Mrs. Tracy Watson, who will be the teacher.

The one-room school will have five grades this fall. All of the youngsters, based on home studies measured by standard achievement tests, are abreast or ahead of their general age groups.

The school represents quite an achievement for the ranchers who live beside the Salmon's white water. The Idaho county school board agreed to furnish equipment and a teacher if the local people would build the building.

Pines Are Felled

Huge yellow pines were felled on the spot. Workers included Mott, big game packer and cougar hunter; Monroe Hancock, veteran riverman who guided the National Geographic Society's expedition down the Salmon years ago; Okey Grogg, a miner; Earl Eidemiller, the teacher's son-in-law, and Clyde Barlow.

Mrs. Watson, a sprightly young grandmother who prefers the river life to the "outside," pitched in and helped, too. She peeled bark from the big logs and has already stacked most of the winter's supply of fuel. Everything that goes into the building—from blackboards to heating stove—will have to be brought in on horse or mule back.

Photographers Hear Talk On New Process

Members of the Lubbock Photographers association heard a talk on the new Flexichrome process in color photography by a representative of the Eastman Kodak company in their meeting Monday night at Koen's Studio.

Sherral Lakey was the speaker and in addition to his talk, showed a movie of the process and a complete set of Flexichrome photographs. He was assisted by Jack Roberts, also of Rochester, N. Y.

A talk on selling by Fred DeVries was another feature of the meeting.

The photographers made another donation to Milam home and made up a gift of three complete sets for beds, three pair of blankets, sheets and pillow cases for Girlstown.

It was voted not to hold a December meeting and the next meeting set for the second Monday in January.

Mrs. Floyd Koen, wife of the president, assisted by Mrs. C. S. Adams, Mrs. Jack Hayslip and Mrs. Gene Gideon served refreshments to 35 persons.

Secret Rituals Are Set At Convention

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP) — Secret rituals of the Order of the Eastern Star were scheduled today for 7,000 delegates attending the state convention.

Business sessions were to be held this afternoon.

An honor banquet for past grand matrons and past grand patrons was scheduled this evening. The convention attracted a group of international officers. Among them are Miss Mary Jane Truman of Grandview, Mo. She is associate worthy grand matron of that state.

Mrs. Esther Baldwin, worthy grand matron, of Waco, will be honored at drill ceremonies by members of the Waco chapters tonight.

Lions Entertained By Radio Comedian

Songs by Red Brown of El Paso entertained the Lubbock Lions club today at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel.

The widely known radio entertainer and comedian pleased his audience with his humor and hillbilly tunes played on the guitar and banjo.

Mrs. W. T. Milam, founder of Milam's orphanage, gave a brief review of the institution since it started in 1925 in her own home.

Since she founded the orphanage she has taken care of 1,100 children. At present, the orphanage accommodates about 70 children a year.

Rev. David L. Zacharias, who gave the invocation, was program chairman.

Dr. Bill Davis introduced the following guests: Joe Montgomery of Dallas, W. A. Hart of Ruidoso, S. R. Langson, Dr. J. O. Haymes, Jimmy Kopf and Warrant Officer Bill Reno.

The visiting president said "Denman lost his hat when he last visited our city so we are returning him one—however, his head seems to have grown larger since we last saw him."

Hub City Kiwanis Plans X-Ray Drive

The Hub City Kiwanis club today at the regular weekly luncheon made plans for a final drive to get Lubbockites to take X-ray examinations now being offered to them free of charge.

The X-rays, being taken at American Legion headquarters by a mobile X-ray unit of the Texas State Health department, are being sponsored by the club. The unit will be here through Saturday.

C. E. Mitchell, John Malouf, and Howard Golden gave brief biographies of several members of the club as part of a program to acquaint members with each other.

Jason O. Gordon, club president, announced that the charter night ceremonies for the new club will be Nov. 22.

J. Don Davis was introduced as a new member. Howard Golden gave the invocation.

Italian Accused Of Mistreating Wife

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 8. (U.P.)—A traveling salesman was arrested here today for forcing his pretty bride of several months to wear a padlocked chastity belt during his absence from home.

Police officials said the salesman, Vincenzo Montuori, had been charged with "maltreatment and private violence" to his wife, Rina.

Notre Dame Retains Leadership In National Grid Poll

Rice Ranks In Seventh Spot; Ponies Drop Out Of First 10

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Notre Dame is dominating the college football picture this year as few teams have done in the past.

The resourceful Fighting Irish, making mincemeat of a man-sized schedule, held the No. 1 position for the fifth straight week today in the Associated Press nationwide poll. They are a near universal choice.

The South Benders received 137 of 163 first place votes cast by sports writers and sportscasters.

This left only 26 to be distributed among the other powers in the land with second-ranked Army getting 13. Oklahoma, No. 3, received nine and California, No. 4 collected three.

The lone remaining first place vote went to another unbeaten, untied team, Cornell, which took sixth place behind the defending national champion Michigan, twice-beaten this year.

Hold Record Edge

With the poll broadening each season, Notre Dame commands the heaviest first place vote in the 13-year history of the AP feature.

Not even Army, in its robust wartime days when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were rampant, or the Irish, in 1946-47 when they were riding high behind Johnny Lujack's buggywhip arm, enjoyed such mass national acclaim.

All the shuffling in the weekly standings occurred in the lower division as the top five teams held firm.

Cornell moved from seventh to sixth on a strength of a 33-7 triumph over Syracuse. Rice, climbing from eighth, succeeded to the No. 7 spot after humbling Arkansas 14-0.

As a demonstration of Notre dame's influence, Michigan State climbed from tenth to eighth just because it gave the Irish a good scrap, losing 34-21.

Ponies Lose Ground

The last two places in the top ten were filled by newcomers Minnesota and Virginia as Baylor and Southern Methodist were shoved below.

Minnesota walloped Iowa, 55-7, to win the ninth position. Unbeaten Virginia gained the tenth place by upsetting favored Penn, 26-14.

The total vote with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parenthesis)

1. Notre Dame (137)	1598
2. Army (13)	1144
3. Oklahoma (9)	1108
4. California (3)	943
5. Michigan	605
6. Cornell (1)	500
7. Rice	467
8. Michigan State	225
9. Minnesota	200
10. Virginia	199

The second ten—11. Ohio State, 188; 12. Southern Methodist, 97; 13. Texas, 90; 14. Kentucky, 79; 15. Boston University, 66; 16. Louisiana State, 44; Stanford, 39; 18. Wake Forest, 33; 19. College of Pacific, 30; 20. Santa Clara, 28.

Others receiving five or more votes:—Maryland, 25; Wyoming, 20; Dartmouth, 18; North Carolina, 16; Baylor, 12; Illinois 8, Duke, 7; Villanova and Wisconsin, each 6.

Boys Club Teams To Be Organized Today

Organizations of boys club teams was scheduled today at Boys club, and teams in four age groups will be formed.

Play gets underway Thursday following assignment of players to teams. Today the Pee Wees, ages 10-11, meet at 4 p. m.; Midgets, 12-13, at 5 p. m.; Juniors, 14-15; at 6 p. m.; and Seniors, 16-17, at 7:30 p. m. An independent team of boys 18 and over will open the season's play with a game at 7:30 o'clock with Barber college.

A total of 61 boys turned out Monday at the first basketball meeting, and before the end of the week there will probably be twice that number.

In the past there have been regular games between Lubbock teams and out-of-town quintets.

Class A Title Games Slated

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's title time in Class A football.

Five teams have already cinched district crowns as the Nov. 19 deadline for certifying schoolboy champions draws near. More are scheduled to be determined Friday.

Two undefeated, untied teams fell last week, and several others face giant-killer foes this week.

Mount Vernon Upset

Mineola upset powerful Mount Vernon, 13-7, and Columbia beat El Campo, 28-14.

Mount Vernon had rolled up 359 points against seven previous opponents.

Lefors, Grand Saline, Lavega, Brenham, and New Braunfels have already clinched crowns.

Canyon's 12-6 upset victory over Hereford left Dalhart alone in the lead in District One. It can win the championship by beating Dumas and Canyon.

Lefors Clinches Title

Lefors clinched the District Two title by thumping Wellington, 33-18, while Shamrock upset McLean, 14-7.

Spur, 3-A leader, beat Abernathy, 19-6, but probably won't claim the title until it meets Floydada on Nov. 18.

Littlefield tied Sudan, 7-7, but won the game on penetrations, two to one, to take the lead in the north zone of District Four. The Wildcats have one more tough foe remaining, Levelland.

Post and Slaton have their showdown in the south zone of 4-A this week.

Crucial Games Slated

District Six's west zone championship may be decided Friday, when Rotan meets Hamlin. Rotan can clinch the crown with a victory.

Haskell is a top heavy favorite to win the east half title by beating Munday Friday.

Ballinger's undefeated, untied Bearcats tackle Coleman this week and the decision will likely settle the 7-A championship.

Nocona stands in the way of Bowie in District 9-A, while Burkburnett or Holliday will settle the 10-A title in their game Nov. 19.

Ranger and Eastland meet this week for the championship of District Eight.

Arlington and Birdville pace the pack in 11-A, while Garland and Irving are tied for the lead in 12-A.

Honey Grove and Clarksville meet Nov. 18 in 13-A's deciding game.

Hart, Nomellini Are Sought By Pro Clubs

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Leon Hart, Notre Dame's 265-pound end, and Leo Nomellini, Minnesota's all-America tackle, are the two players from the present college crop the pro coaches would most like to find in their Christmas stocking.

Shopping already has started for the two big rival circuits—the National Football league and All-America conference — and these two behemoths are high on both their priority lists.

North Texas Ties Mustang Freshmen

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Sparked by big Bill Forester, 215-pound fullback, Southern Methodist university's freshman football team battled North Texas State's B squad to a 20-20 tie yesterday at Ownby stadium.

Forester, a North Dallas High school star last year, scored three touchdowns to take individual honors at Ownby stadium.

Ags' Fullback Tops Runners

(By The United Press)

Texas A. & M.'s answer to the Sherman tank — ramblin' Robert Smith — could rest on his gridiron laurels today and still say he had experienced a season to be envied by any back.

Smith, a 192-pound sophomore, powered for 175 yards on 23 tries against Southern Methodist last Saturday. The performance increased his Southwest conference ground-gaining lead to 626 net yards for the season, with two games still facing the Aggies.

Lantrip Runner-Up

Runner-up honors were held by Bobby Lantrip of Rice. He gained 96 yards against Arkansas to boost his 1949 total to 471 yards.

Newly released conference figures show Paul Campbell of Texas to be the new passing leader, supplanting Texas Christian's Lindy Berry.

Campbell netted 56 yards through the air against Baylor. But Berry, who had held the lead since season opening, was idle and his overall total stayed at 1,047 yards, five less than Campbell's yardage.

Third place in the great aerial act went to Adrian Burk of Baylor whose total was 940 yards.

Proctor Holds Lead

End Ben Proctor of Texas continued to widen his pass receiving lead over idle Morris Bailey of TCU. Proctor's total, including 40 yards on three tosses against Baylor, was 479 yards. Bailey's was 417 yards.

Kyle Rote of SMU retained his punting lead with a 44-yard average. Texas Christian's Jimmy Hickey was second with an average of 40.6, two-tenths of a yard better than All-American Doak Walker's spirals for Southern Methodist.

Bobby Dillon of Texas was the top punt return artist. He averaged 19.8 yards, an eight-tenth yard lead over Rice's Rex Proctor.

Rice had the best offensive average, 374 yards per game. Texas was second with a 371-yard average.

On defense, Baylor's 201 yards allowed per game was slightly better than the 209-yard mark compiled by Texas.

Sammy Snead Voted As Golfer Of Year

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. (AP)—Golfer of the year? You don't need three guesses to know it's Sammy Snead.

The Professional Golfers association of America said today Snead was No. 1 in its annual nation-wide poll.

Sports writers and sports casters voted Cary Middlecoff runner-up. Middlecoff ruined Snead's chances of a grand title slam by beating him out of the National Open crown. Johnny Palmer, Tam O'Shanter champion, was third in the balloting.

ROBINSON SLATED

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Ray Robinson, the world's welterweight champion, will appear in a six-round exhibition here Nov. 16, promoter Alto McGowan announced today.

MR. OUTSIDE IN NEWS—Lt. Glenn Davis, (above), All-America halfback on Army's great teams of 1943-46, is back in the news as a major league baseball prospect. Davis, a standout at West Point in four sports—football, basketball, track and baseball, will be eligible for a discharge from the Army in June and is expected to resume his spectacular athletic career. The Dodgers have reportedly offered him a $40,000 bonus for signing a baseball contract, and numerous pro grid clubs will bid high for his services. On the diamond, Davis is a hard-hitting and speedy center-fielder.

Young Team Shows Marked Improvement

Texas Aggie Coach Stiteler Hikes Farmer Victory Hopes

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 8.—The phenomenal fortunes Texas A&M college Coach Harry Stiteler enjoyed as a high school mentor deserted him as a college head coach, but today the tide appeared to be turning.

After a 14-year span during which the diminutive, silver-haired Stiteler's schoolboy grid teams won 138 games and lost but 20, he jumped into the collegiate ranks as an assistant coach and for the past two seasons as head coach.

Lose Nine Games

His Texas A&M teams lost nine and tied one last season and have lost six, won one and tied one so far in 1949.

But, that last tie—Saturday's 27-27 thriller with mighty Southern Methodist—may be the turning point that will find Stiteler's Aggies on the upgrade again.

Although his only previous experience with losing teams had been when he served as the 137-pound quarterback on an A&M team that won only two of nine games in 1930, Stiteler told Aggie backers when he took over in 1948 that they needn't expect to hold many victory marches for two or three years.

Sophs Show Polish

Now, the green sophomores he has been banking on are beginning to show a little of the polish he expected them to pick up this fall and, while the Aggies still may not cash in a victory before the season ends Thanksgiving day, they've shown signs of capabilities that bode evil for conference foes next year or 1951 at the latest.

Of the 22 men who have seen the most action this fall, 12 are sophomores, eight are juniors and only two are seniors.

The backfield which was instrumental in matching SMU's Doak Walker, Kyle Rote et al last Saturday was made up of three sophomores and one junior. The latter was subbing in for Soph Glenn Lippman, who was hurt early in the game.

The entire defensive line was made up of sophomores. And sophomores provided nearly half of the offensive line that outcharged the Methodists and helped rambling Robert Smith, the bulldozing soph fullback, run SMU ragged.

Quarterback trouble, which had bothered the Aggies most of the season and been responsible for many of the "greenhorn" mistakes, appeared at an end with Frenchy Dick Gardemal turning in a superb ball handling and signal calling performance.

Good Hunting Is Reported

EL PASO, Nov. 8 (AP) — Good hunting is the word from far West Texas. During the first two days of the deer season, an estimated 150 have been killed.

Two locker plants here checked in 110 bucks.

G. O. Walker of El Paso shot the largest buck reported, a 10-point black tail weighing more than 300 pounds.

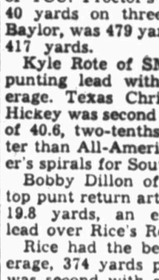

Darrell York, 16-year-old Ysleta High school student, was the first reported to get his limit. He killed an eight-point blacktail and a five-point whitetail.

The best result have been reported from the flats south of the Guadalupe mountains.

Homecoming Program Set At Hale Center

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8. (Special)—Hale Center Owls will entertain the Olton Mustangs here Friday night on Jefferies Memorial field—to be observed as the annual Home coming game by the Hale Center high school. Members of the Hale Center Owls, by secret ballot, will name a football queen for the Armistice Day game, and a coronation will be held before the opening kick-off.

The game this week is expected to draw the largest crowd of the season as home fans will be pulling for the Owls to upset the undefeated Class 3-B loop leaders. Hale Center has won five conference games and lost two, while Olton has won seven straight.

Bobby Layne Leads Pro Grid Passers

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8 (AP)—Apparently all a man needs to lead the National Football league in passing is a good arm and the right to call Texas his home.

The latest NFL statistics released today disclosed that a Texan by the name of Robert L. Layne has replaced another Texan by the name of Samuel Adrian Baugh as the top aerial artist.

Baugh of Washington, who led the loop in the art of tossing the pigskin last week, now trails the adept Layne by a point and a half under the NFL's inverse system of rating. Charley Conerly of the New York Giants rated third and Johnny Lujack of the Chicago Bears fourth.

Layne, the former Texas university flash, pitched his New York Bulldogs to their first victory of the 1949 season last Sunday—a 31-24 win over the New York Giants—as he completed 23 of 39 passes for 333 yards. It was the greatest day of Layne's pro-football career. The Bulldog's "T" quarterback now has trown 163 passes, completed 87 for 1,057 yards and four touchdowns. Only four Layne tosses have been intercepted.

Baugh's record now reads 135 attempts, 77 completions, 1,232 yards and 12 touchdowns.

SWC Gridders Slate Drills

DALLAS, Nov. 8 (AP) — Southwest conference football teams got down to serious practice today.

Only a few of the teams reported serious casualties yesterday and one—Arkansas—had some very cheering news, but not for Southern Methodist university.

Leon (Muscles) Campbell may play for Arkansas against SMU Saturday. He limbered up with the team yesterday. He has been out of action for more than two weeks.

Baylor didn't work out yesterday, instead the Bears heard a scout report on Wyoming, the team that last week beat Colorado State, 103-0. That's the club Baylor plays this wee.

Rice Coach Jess Neely wasn't too pleased with his Owls' showing in beating Arkansas, 14-0, last week. He's already warning his players about Texas A. and M.

A. and M., the team that amazingly tied Southern Methodist, 27-27, last week, lost one of its starting linebackers for the Rice game and maybe for the season. Dick Callendar hurt his knee badly.

Girls Cage League Schedules Meeting

HILLSBORO, Nov. 8 (AP) — A record number of teams—390—will be in the High School Girls Basketball league of Texas this year.

L. C. McKamie, director-general, said this is 40 more than played last year. He also said an advisory board meeting would be held soon to re-district the state and consider a site for the 1950 state tournament.

The tournament has been held here in the past, but has grown so large Hillsboro does not have the facilities to handle it.

Westerners To Face Roughest Game Of Schedule This Week

Coach Dell Morgan and Allie White of Tech spoke on last week's games, and Coach Pat Pattison of the Westerners and Damon Hill of Dunbar's Panthers had their eyes on the future.

Lubbock Holds Offense Drill

The home stretch looms in front of the Westerners this week, and the Bronc Busters will be hard put to corral Odessa's Bronchos Friday at 2:30 p. m.

But at Chapman field such practices as Coaches Pat Pattison, Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor feel necessary to accomplish the trick are being put to work, and by Friday the tale will be told.

Emphasis was on offensive drills Monday, and Coach Pattison is readying a full scale land and air attack for Odessa. Lengthy defensive drills were the order of the day last week, and more of the same will be seen later this week.

Condition of the team is good. Although idle last week, the members of the squad appeared to be in good shape after the layoff and ran through their plays with vigor and enthusiasm.

The session got underway early and broke up at dark following play practice and defense by each of the three teams. After this a short tackling practice was held and wind sprints were run.

The Westerner squad set in on the Odessa-Lamesa near disaster last week, but neither the coach or the players are allowing themselves to become over confident after watching the Broncs stuble through the entire first half. What Odessa showed the last half of the game in scoring 32 points convinced the Lubbock team that a hard battle will be on their hands Friday, a battle that should decide District 3-AA.

Another fast workout is expected today at Chapman field, and it is doubtful that scrimmaging will be included in the bill of fare.

Raw cotton has doubled in price in France and the price of fine wool yarn has tripled, during the last 12 months.

In speaking of the Friday afternoon clash with the Bronchos of Odessa in the crucial District 3AA tilt, Pattison said that he wished it were over and we had won by one point.

Faces Hardest Game

The Westerner squad was present at last week's Lamesa-Odessa contest, and Coach Pattison said that had never seen a good team as flat as were the Bronchos the first half. "If Lubbock is behind by 14 points and as flat as Odessa, I don't believe we could catch up," Pattison commented.

"Coach Joe Coleman has the type of team that can beat anyone in the state, and the game Friday will be the hardest game we have played or will play," he continued, adding that the game will not be over until the final gun because Odessa had a strong line and 12 or 13 hard-running backs.

Hill Expects Rough Tilt

Hill is expecting rough sledding in his contest here Friday afternoon at Chapman field with San Angelo, and he was singing the blues. The Panthers were beaten, 19-0, by Abilene, Hill declared, and the same Abilene team fell before San Angelo's Leopards, 26-7.

Coach Morgan was impressed by the fact that Texas Tech did not allow Texas Western to score as the Raiders banged out a 13-0 decision last week at El Paso. He said that the team was lucky to get out unhurt and that the Raiders goal-line stand when Western had the ball on the Tech five and four downs to score was very gratifying.

Holmes Gives Quiz

"I don't know what happened to the Picadors," was the statement given out by Coach White, "except that it was impossible to make a long drive because of penalties amounting to 125 yards, four fumbles, four pass interceptions and other things."

The Picadors play in Abilene this week, having lost to Odessa college, 13-0, last week after winning by the same score the week before.

High school coaches Pat Farris and Fred Brown introduced the members of the Cowhand squad to the crowd. The Cowhands have lost but one game, 31-19 to Odessa, but in a second contest Odessa lost, 39-0.

Joe Holmes, who is well known in this area as a football official, gave a short quiz of possible rulings that might come up in a game and then answered questions pertaining to rulings that were asked by those present at the meeting. Holmes' discussion was followed by pictures of the Rice-Tech game.

Future meeting will be held every Monday night at 8 o'clock in the East ballroom of Hotel Lubbock until further notice.

Lubbock Gridders Hold Torrid Pace

Rushing, passing and pass receiving honors for the Westerner football teams through seven games this season are being shared by left Halfback Wayne Stroud (rushing), Quarterback Bobby Brown (passing) and End Garnet Reeves (pass receiving).

Leading ground-gainer and scorer for the team with 71 points is Stroud. On 42 running tries Stroud has advanced the ball 509 yards for an average try of 12.1 yards.

Scoring 10 touchdowns, Fullback Malcolm Young has made 60 points of the Westerners' 290-point total and is the workhorse of the squad, carrying the ball 61 times and gaining 418 yards for 6.7 yards on each carry.

Third in rushing is right Halfback Charlie Williams with 432 yards on 47 attempts, an average of 9.2 yards per try. Williams has scored five touchdowns for 30 points.

Substitute Mack Taylor is fourth in rushing. He has picked up 216 yards for a 7.4 average in 29 carries from scrimmage. Four touchdowns have given Taylor 24 points.

Passing chores have fallen to Brown and Morris Turner in the main, and each has come through admirably. Brown has an exceptional .629 completion record, hitting the mark 22 times in 35 attempts for 412 yards and five touchdowns. He has not had a single pass intercepted but has snared six passes from the opposition.

Turner, in relief of Brown, has completed 13 of 24 passes for 223 yards and three touchdowns, a .542 percentage. Turner has had two intercepted.

In pass receiving Reeves is the leader, catching 10 passes for 198 yards and three touchdowns. Two tallies on recovered fumbles have added 12 more points to Reeves' total to give him 30, a tie for third with Williams in the scoring department.

End Billy Wright has caught six passes for 90 yards; Taylor five for 78; Williams four for 90 and two touchdowns; Billy Tooke 3 for 36 and one score; Dean White two for 47 yards; Stroud two for 42; and Young, Charles McCown, Lyndell Ross, Wayne Noland and Bobby Day one pass each.

Other ball carriers and their averages are: Brown, 21 tries for 3.4; Turner, 16 tries for 2.1; Tooke, 14 tries for 4.1; Don Rawls, 16 tries for 4.6; McCowan, four carries for 4 yards average; Tommy Fisher, four tries for 12.5; and Jack Weldon, five tries for 6.4 yards per carry.

Top punter of the team is Young, and he has averaged 43.9 yards on 11 kicks for a 483 total. Wright has punted twice for 101 yards and a 50.5 average, Turner once for 43 yards and Taylor three times for a 16.6 average.

Presley Fifth In Scoring

Although not scoring a touchdown this year, Billy Presley is fifth in scoring on the Westerner squad. The young sophomore has done the place kicking on point after touchdown tries for the last five games, splitting the uprights on 25 of 30 attempts. Stroud has kicked five extra points and Turner two.

Punt return leader is Brown, and the flashy quarterback has returned eight boots a total of 269 yards, one for 85 yards and a touchdown and another for 80 yards and a score. Another return of 70 yards did not go all the way.

Stroud has carried five punts back 199 yards, scoring against Lamesa on a 98-yard run. Next high is Turner with four returns for 99 yards.

Seven players have handled kickoff returns, with Brown carrying three times for 47 yards, Fisher two for 43, Young two for 35, and Weldon, Wright, Rawls and Williams returning one kick-off each.

Leading pass interceptions is Brown with six. Stroud has snared five enemy aerials, Tooke two and Williams one.

Backfield Coach Of Bulldogs Predicts Layne Will Be "Best Pro Quarterback"

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Virginia's Art Guepe expects to hear from Bluefield, W. Va., about it, but he's around saying that his fullback, Johnny Papit, is a better runner than Bill Dudley ever was . . . "I could outrun Dudley, but I can't come close to this fellow," Art explains, overlooking the fact that he may have slowed down himself since Dudley's college days . . . Papit, a Philadelphia boy, who almost went to Lafayette and then to West Point before enrolling at Virginia, was the leading ground-gainer in Saturday's Virginia-Penn game despite the fact he was used more as a decoy than a runner . . . "He never lost ground or was stopped at the scrimmage line," Guepe points out gleefully. "When we needed a yard, he got it . . . and just as a matter of record, the unbeaten Virginia team has only 11 players with full scholarships and 13 partial scholarships; its captain, Johnny Thomas, doesn't get anything for his efforts and the total outlay for "aid" is only $17,000.

Besides Papit, Guepe found time to dish out praise yesterday to Tackle Dick Johnson and Quarterback Whitey Michels on his own team and to Penn's Bull Schweder and Bernie Lemonick as the best pair of guards he has seen. Charley Callahan, the Notre Dame tub-thumper, insisted that Bobby Williams had his best day and quoted Red Sitko as saying: "I played at St. Mary's pre-flight with Johnny Lujack, George Ratterman and Frank Tripucka, but Williams is the best quarterback I have seen." That caused Ed Danowski to whisper, "Sitko must be an experienced player." Ray Nolting, the Bulldogs' backfield coach, plugged Bobby Layne as the most accurate quarterback in the National Football league and one who will be the best, and Johnny Cox, Navy publicist, hailed Eddie Price as the whole Tulane team.

Player Draft Is Scheduled

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Major league club owners will spend over $100,000 in the annual player draft in Cincinnati next week in hopes of snaring another Hack Wilson, whom the Chicago Cubs acquired for $7,500 back in 1925.

History shows that few of the players picked up at basement prices become standouts—or even stick in the majors. However, there are exceptions.

The Cubs found one when they drafted Wilson from Toledo. Wilson, belonged to the New York Giants but a slipup in the Giant office exposed him to the draft and the alert Cubs claimed him.

Hack led the National league in home runs in 1926 and four years later set the National league home run record of 56 and the major league runs batted in mark of 190.

The four top contestants will receive prizes donated by King's Jewelry, Dunlap's, Hemphill-Wells and Hoyt Furniture company. The winning contestant will be entered in the state meet to compete for a trip to Washington, D. C., and a $500 scholarship.

Efforts Of TIL To Curb Tilts Doomed

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Nov. 8.—We fear the Texas Interscholastic league is butting its collective head against a brick wall in trying to stop the all-star football games in which high school boys participate.

Recently, the Interscholastic league advocated that rules be made that no high school coach can assist in putting on such contests, that high school facilities not be used for such purposes and that the colleges declare any boy ineligible for college athletics who engages in unsanctioned all-star contests.

Proposals Are Opposed

The only sanctioned all-star football game apparently would be the one put on at the Texas coaching school each year. It is argued that this game is for demonstration purposes.

What the league is hitting at mostly is Mose Simms' national high school all-star game which saw its inception at Corpus Christi in August. The league objects to anything in which it sees a purpose of commercializing on a high school athlete's fame.

All three of the league's proposals to curb these contests are faulty. In the first place, high school coaches are not used in such an all-star game as Simms is promoting. Big name college coaches are sought. In the second place high school facilities are not necessary. College or municipal stadia can and probably will be used in order to handle the crowd. In the third place the colleges are not going to legislate out all-star games for high school boys. Boys good enough to be invited to play in such games are too good for the colleges to turn down because they played in them.

The colleges commercialize in football, too, you know.

Game Is Analyzed

Let us analyze the all-star football game put on at the Texas coaching school. The reason the league approves it is because the Texas High School Coaches association says it's to demonstrate the theories of the big name college coaches who lecture at the coaching school and tutor the all-star squads on the side. But the Texas High School Coaches association charges admission for its game and the proceeds are used to operate the school and carry out other projects of the association. The coaches are in business and they benefit just like any promoter who might put on an all-star game. The coaching school helps expand their business.

The Interscholastic league can not control the boys' participation in an all-star game because only the boys who have finished their high school eligibility are used. Only the colleges could stop the all-star games.

LIFE PHOTOGRAPHER TO SPEAK

U. S. Inclined To See Others As Inferior, Author Claims

Only by knowing other nationalities better and erasing prejudice can Americans practice democracy on a world-wide basis, Miss Margaret Bourke-White, widely traveled Life photographer and author of several books, said this morning following her arrival to speak at Texas Technological college tonight.

"We're so apt to think of others as strange or different or inferior. We cannot afford to do that," she said.

"There's too much competition in the world. It's a big world and there's room for all of us as we come to know not how different, but how like us they are.

To Speak On India

"With tension in the world, this is a deeply serious thing for us to live out democracy in America, because we are in a position to take world leadership," she said. "We can only get the trust of the backward nations by practicing what we preach in terms of democracy."

Miss Bourke-White will speak at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the Recreation hall at Texas Technological college on India, which she visited in 1948 and where she interviewed Mahatma Gandhi a few hours before his assassination. Students will be admitted first and if any seats remain, tickets may be purchased by members of the public.

Dinner Planned

She said she had been told residents of India are mysterious and inscrutable, but that when she went there and became acquainted with some of them she found "they are not inscutable at all."

"By getting information and not being misled by propaganda," Americans can practice democracy by knowing one another better, she said. "A free press is about the most important thing on earth," she said, since it gives the reader the information of the world and the opportunity to form his own conclusions.

Along with knowing one another better, she suggested, Americans should have an "awareness of the fundamental principles of democracy" and apply them in erasing "any form of race or religious prejudice."

Following her speech tonight, Miss Bourke-White will be honoree at a dinner sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary professional fraternity for women in Jouralism, at 9 o'clock in the Colonial room at Hilton hotel.

Admission price for her speech in the Recreation hall, if any seats remain after students are admitted, will be $1.20.

Strike Talks

Previously republic paid pensions to employes earning salaries of more than $3,000 but had no pension plan for hourly workers.

Plans Similar

The new Republic pension plan is almost exactly like that signed by Bethlehem.

The agreement was signed by CIO and Steelworkers president Philip Murray and by E. J. Magee, acting director of Republic industrial relations.

Agreement was reached in one hour and 15-minute session in Murray's office.

Earlier today the union signed an agreement with the industry's producer, Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation. That settlement, too, was in line with the Bethlehem Steel pact. It ended the strike of 25,000 workers.

Coal Supply Problem

Republic Steel said in a statement:

"It is expected that Republic's plants will be reopened on Tuesday but full production will be delayed until there is more light on the coal strike. Republic now has less than a three-week coal supply."

Republic Steel, with a total of about 75,000 employes, said approximately 2,000 employes will be eligible for retirement on Jan. 1, although retirement will not be compulsory.

The agreement, third to be signed among the country's largest steel producers, makes provision for pensions above the $100 a month minimum.

Those payments are computed by taking one per cent of an employe's average annual earnings for the ten years preceding retirement and multiplying that by the number of years of continuous service with the company.

No Progress On Coal

While the steel strike picture grew steadily brighter, the coal situation still looked dark.

Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching reported no progress toward settlement yesterday after a meeting with Southern coal operators. He called in Harry M. Moses of U. S. Steel Corp. today for a fresh try.

U. S. Steel, the biggest steel firm in the country, has its own "captive" coal mines. It has been deeply involved in both the coal and steel disputes, without any sign of settlement in either.

Against this picture of activity in the steel industry, efforts to settle the long strike of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers remained at a standstill.

Ching said that after talking to Moses, he planned to see spokesmen for northern, midwestern and far western coal mines. The federal mediator said he planned to wind up that phase of his strike-settling efforts by Wednesday night.

But he emphasized that he has no deadline in mind for asking the direct intervention of President Truman in the coal situation.

TRAINING COMPLETED

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (AP)—Potential ambassadors from East Germany have recently completed special Communist training in Russia, unconfirmed reports from the Soviet occupation zone said today.

Greece will buy 7,500 American mules—$2,000,000 worth—to aid refugee resettlement.

Hearts Exchanged

Misses Margaret and Gladys McCormick, former resident of Mineral Wells, have moved to Lubbock to make their home. They are residing at 2101 Seventh street. A third sister, Mrs. E. L. Massey, lives at 323 College avenue.

L. D. Baggett, 58, of Memphis, Tenn., purchasing agent for United State Rubber company, died about 5:30 p. m. Monday in a local hotel, Rix Funeral home reported. He had arrived in Lubbock Sunday. Funeral arrangements are pending, the funeral home announced.

Bond of $500 was posted by Clovis J. Eastman, 26, of Lubbock, after a plea of innocent of illegal possession of a pistol. Elvis Truman Dillard, 31, of Matador, pleaded guilty of drunk driving and was fined $75 and county court costs. Oscar Nalig Johnson, 40, of Oklahoma City paid a $75 fine in corporation court in connection with a disturbance complaint growing out of an alleged illegal possession of a pistol.

David Sarten, 17, of 708 Third was taken to West Texas hospital after a collision of his motorscooter and an automobile at 12:50 p. m. at 400-block Ave. H. City Radio Patrolman Bob Adkinson said Sarten rode around another car and struck one driven by C. G. Owens of 510 Ave. A. W. G. Baker, another motorist, took the youth into his car and took him to the hospital. Lacerations, at least one of them deep, were suffered, police were told. The victim will undergo x-ray examination this afternoon to determine whether there are broken bones. Each principal was given a ticket charging no operator's license, Adkinson said.

U. S. Elections

public endorsement from the President and active support from present and former Democratic cabinet members.

Dulles, 10 years Lehman's junior, was hammering away hotly at Mr. Truman's domestic policies.

Dulles has had the active backing of Gov. Dewey, who lost out to Mr. Truman in the 1948 presidential race. His strength is principally upstate, whereas Lehman's stronghold if New York City. Both men say they will win.

Observers predicted that 5,500,000 of the 6,300,000 eligible voters would go to the polls. The election for mayor in New York City, where a hot three-cornered race took place, and Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Syracuse and Utica were expected to contribute to the surge of voters to the ballot boxes.

In the New York City contest, William O'Dwyer, the Democratic incumbent, had the backing of President Truman. O'Dwyer predicted victory but so did his two major opponents, Newbold Morris, the Republican-Liberal-Fusion candidate, and Rep. Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party.

Marcantonio described himself as an underdog. He may have a lot to do with the outcome, however. Most politicians figured Morris could win if Marcantonio polled as much as one-fifth of the total of 2,500,000 votes expected. They figured O'Dwyer to win if Marcantonio's vote was far short of 500,000.

New Jersey, another state that went Republican in 1948, was the arena for a statewide battle predicted in advance to be close. The fight was between Republican Governor Alfred E. Driscoll and Democratic State Senator Elmer H. Wene, for a four-year term as the state's chief executive.

Give Close Attention

While lacking the national interest of the New York senatorial battle, the New Jersey scrap is receiving close attention from politicians.

Republicans have campaigned with the statement that Wene is a political ally of Frank Hague, a controversial figure in New Jersey politics for the past 35 years and long a leader in Democratic national councils. Wene, a nationally known chick breeder, has replied that he is "not beholden to any man."

The only other gubernatorial contest has attracted little outstate interest. Virginia voters are regarded as certain to name Democratic State Senator John S. Battle over Republican Walter Johnson.

In today's only contests for the House of Representatives, the two are to fill out unexpired terms, a Democrat's in New York, and a Republican's in California.

Put Five In House

In the heavily-Democratic New York 10th district (Brooklyn), Mrs. Edna F. Kelly, Democrat, is opposed by Republican George H. Fankuchen and Jules Cohen, liberal. If victorious, Mrs. Kelly, 42-year-old widow of a city court justice, will give Democrats five women in the House to four for the Republicans.

On the Pacific coast, Californians in the 5th district (San Francisco) also have a three-way race. John F. Shelley, Democrat and president of the California Federation of Labor (AFL) has the advantage of the heavy Democratic registration.

He is opposed by Attorney Floyd J. Cosgrove, Republican, and Charles R. Garry, another Democrat who ran on the Wallace Progressive ticket last year.

State legislators are being elected in New Jersey, Virginia and Kentucky.

Bridgeport, New Haven, Waterbury, Conn.; Louisville; Boston, Detroit; Patterson, N. J.; Cleveland,, Akron, Youngstown; Pittsburg and Scranton, Pa.

Optimists To Meet For Dinner Tonight

Warlick Carr, Lubbock attorney, will speak on "Optimism" tonight at 7:30 o'clock at an informal dinner meeting of Optimist club members and their wives at Hotel Lubbock.

G. C. Stewart, president of the club, said the regular Tuesday luncheon meeting was suspended today only in order for the members to meet with their wives in observance of Optimist Week.

Several recitals and a musical program are also scheduled on tonight's program, according to Stewart.

Methods Developed For Theater Video

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—Two methods have been developed and applied in theater screen size projection of television.

One of them, the direct method, contains a special high voltage receiving tube with a reflecting lens system to blow up the image as it travels to a 15 by 20 foot screen or larger. The tube requires 80,00 volts or more to supply the proper light.

The other system, indirect, uses a high speed film process. The received image is photographed on special motion picture film passed immediately through a developer and then into a projector and onto the screen. The elapsed time between received picture and projection has been reduced to 20 seconds

Top Ad Libber Has Coined 10,000 Gags

Comedian Learns It's Better To Charge People For Advice

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NE WYORK, Nov. 8.—"I grew up," said Morey Amsterdam, "the day I discovered you can't give people good advice—you have to charge them for it."

Amsterdam is one of the top funny men of television, and radio. This is the new Amsterdam. The old Amsterdam was just a gag writer for other comics.

As a youthful vaudeville performer Morey—he joked and played a cello—used to try to suggest to the stars he hero-worshiped ways they could improve their routine.

Will Rogers Advises

"They just laughed me off," he said. "Then I went in professional gag writing. And five years later they were paying me $3,000 to $5,000 for the same material I had tried to give them for nothing."

He himself got an excellent bit of advice from one star for whom he wrote movie dialogue—Will Rogers.

"Don't offend anyone," the genial cowboy wrote on one of about 100 postal cards he mailed Morey over the years. "I get by because no matter what I say about anyone I always wind up saying something good about him also."

At 37 Morey, one of the best ad libbers in the trade, figures he has coined himself some 10,000 gags.

Best Gag Recalled

"For a while I was doing 78 shows a week and had to throw 200 jokes a day," recalled Amsterdam, who now has his own program on the Du Mont television network.

His best gag?

"I like one I wrote for a Bob Benchley movie short. Benchley picks up a phone and says:

"'Hello, honey. Get the kids off the street—I'm driving home'."

Morey says it is foolish for an amateur to try to heckle a professional performer, as the performer keeps about 100 gags ready for just such an emergency. Once he was sued over the authorship of one of his songs. When Morey took the stand the plaintiff's lawyer sneered:

"So you're a comedian! Make me laugh."

"I will if you'll lend me your face," said Morey. The lawyer went back to law-ing.

Atlanta Tops For Crop Of Beauties

ATLANTA, Nov. 8. (U.P.)—Atlanta has more pretty girls than any place, a self-styled expert reports.

Harold Helfer, making a survey for the American Legion magazine, said the Georgia capital has one pretty girl out of every two. Dallas one in three. El Paso one in eight. New Orleans one in 12.

Helfer wrote that the South had a proportionately greater number of pretty girls than any other section. The general percentage is one out of three, he said.

Juvenile Hoodlums Running Extortion Racket In Schools

VALLEJO, Cal., Nov. 8 (U.P.) — Gangs of juveniles wearing secret tatoo marks have extorted 50 cents a week from their schoolmates here under threats of beatings, school authorities said today.

John R. Alltucker, superintendent of schools, described the situation as "critical" and called on parents to help smash the extortion racket.

He said the gangs demanded 50 cents weekly tribute or two white shirts from students at the Vallejo and Franklin junior high schools.

Two students who refused to pay were beaten so badly they required medical attention, he said. Another student was terrorized to the verge of a nervous collapse.

Texas Election

Hillsboro up to 9 a. m. Voting also was light in Hill county.

Bond Issue At Midland

Voting got off to a slow start at Midland. The major interest there centered around a proposed $200,000 bond issue for a Midland county park building. Another local proposal would authorize the county to levy an additional road tax not to exceed 15 cents on $100 valuation.

Henderson county reported a light vote. A local issue was a county referendum on an offer by Jay Lucas, Athens merchant, of land near Athens for a free market square.

Only 120 votes were cast at Abilene during the first hour.

Expected To Pick Up

At Waco 300 votes had been cast up to 10:30 a. m., a very light vote for Waco which has a potential of 27,000 votes. The Waco Times-Herald said an unofficial report had the legislative amendment behind. The Times-Herald said the amendment on women jurors was about even in the morning voting. Voting was expected to pick up some during the afternoon.

Voting was light in Fort Worth and Tarrant county. Less than 10,000 votes were expected to be cast.

The number that went to the polls is anybody's guess until tonight when unofficial returns start coming in to be tabulated. In some counties, where hot local issues are at stake, big turnouts were predicted. These issues include.

Election of an official wolf trapper in Montague and Jones county.

Solons To Be Named

Election of four state representatives and one state senator.

A liquor prohibition question in Nueces county (Corpus Christi).

Yesterday, political observers were predicting a vote of between 200,000 and 300,000 out of a possible million and a half.

Last minute blasts for and against proposed amendments and on local issues generated some interest in the special election.

Speaker of the House Durwood Manford last night advocated the amendment calling for a yearly session of the state legislature and an annual salary for legislators.

Judges Made Pleas

Two Dallas judges—Sarah T. Hughes and Gordon Simpson—came out with pleas in behalf of the amendment that would allow women to serve on juries.

There has been considerable campaigning in some areas for spots on the board of education. This is the first time that Texas has had an elective board of education. Its formation was authorized in the Gilmer-Aiken bills, reorganizing the state school system.

Most controversial of the ten proposed amendments are those calling fo rthe yearly legislative calling for the yearly legislators; women serving on juries; abolishing the poll tax and on the one giving the legislature authority to provide for trials without a jury in lunacy cases.

Decries Whole Idea

While Manford advocated the $3,600 pay for legislators and the every year session, a member of the state Democratic executive committee decried the whole idea.

Roland Boyd of McKinney made a radio speech against the proposal. Senator Grady Hazlewood and Rep. Blake Timmons of Amarillo said oil, gas, sulphur and pipeline lobbies do not want the yearly sessions. They urged adoption of the amendment.

The wolf hunters club is fighting the proposal to hire a wolf trapper for Jones county. The club wants a bounty system on predators. Farmers advocate the official killer.

Liquor stores were not closed for the election. Liquor Board Administrator Coke Stevenson, jr., said this type of election was not covered in the law which requires the liquor stores to be closed during balloting hours.

Harvest Cost

now that they will still be looking for the profit at the end of the rainbow, when the crop is in," Leftwich said. "Therefore the Shallowater community farmers have decided to do something about it. Next Monday the price of pulling will be $1.75 in the field and $2 at the gin.

The farmers at the meeting agreed the investment risk, the cost of housing, trailers and other conveniences provided for at the producers' expense have added to the harvest cost at least an additional 75 cents per hundred.

"Every farmer present agreed that bats may roost in some of his houses next year and the cotton trailers will be a drug on the market," Leftwich added.

Machines Are Installed

"The farmers know that the migratory laborers realize that stripping machines can harvest the cotton for about 12½ per cent of the cost of hand pulling, which greatly reduces the jolt of the lower grades," Leftwich said.

These strippig machines are being installed at a furious pace all over the South Plains area because of the cost of harvesting and the critical labor shortage.

In the meeting at Cone last night, the uniform price of $1.75 at the gin was agreed upon for the farmers of the two Crosby county communities.

Another meeting is scheduled at the Farmer school house tonight and all farmers of Crosby county are urged to attend.

elected to this board, which was set up as another step in making effective the Gilmer-Aikin bills for reorganizing the state public school system.

Candidates for the seat from the 19th Congressional district are E. H. Boulter of Lubbock and J. M. Rankin of Ralls.

Boulter, who has been engaged in various phases of public school work and administration for more than 30 years, moved to Lubbock with his family eight years ago to become state deputy district superintendent of public instruction in this area. He held that post until entering the insurance business in Lubbock several months ago.

Prior to becoming deputy district superintendent, Boulter was superintendent of schools at De-Leon.

Rankin has resided in Crosby county more than 20 years, and is engaged in farming in that county. He is a former superintendent of the Ralls school system, resigning that post to look after his farming interests.

He edited the Slaton Slatonite at one time and still writes a column for the Ralls Banner.

Rankin has been active in American Legion work for a number of years. He has been commander of both the Ralls and Crosbyton Legion posts, and has held district Legion offices.

Polls Open At 8 A. M.

In Lubbock, polls will open at 8 a.m. today and close at 7 p. m.

Three Men Killed In Crash In Louisiana

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 8 (AP)—A light plane crashed into a wooded swamp two miles north of here yesterday, killing three men.

They were Shelton Lancaster, 24, operator of a night spot here, and his two brothers-in-law, Joseph Lucas, 20, and Gary Lucas, 12, both of Thonderbolt, Ga.

Increase In Cotton Crop Is Forecast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — The Agriculture department, in its semi-final report of the year, today estimated the cotton crop at 15,524,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This is 78,000,000 bales more than the 15,446,000 forecast a month ago. It compares with 14,868,000 last year and a ten-year (1937-47) average of 11,306,000.

The indicated crop is considerable larger than expected market demands. This situation has led the department to propose rigid marketing quotas on the 1950 crop designed to limit production to about 12,000,000 bales.

The quota proposal will be submitted to growers at a referendum to be held Dec. 15. It must be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting before it can be put into effect.

The yeld of cotton to the acre was estimated to average 287.6 pounds, compared with 313.1 last year and 254 for the ten year average.

Production of American-Egyptian cotton was estimated at 4,900 bales compared with 3,600 last year and the ten-year average of 29,500.

In an accompanying report, the Census bureau said 9,543,686 bales of this year's crop had been ginned prior to Nov. 1. This number compared with 10,436,740 ginned to the same date last year.

Thursday; Lubbock Kiwanis club, Thursday noon, when he will speak on "Achievements and Limitations of Science;" Baptist Student center at 2401 Thirteenth, at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, when he will speak on "Are You In Love With Love?"

His topic in the sermon at 7:30 o'clock tonight will be "Is Hell a Myth?"

His weekly broadcast over the American Broadcasting company network will originate from Radio Station KFYO at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

While in Lubbock, he will deliver the sermon, "Pay-Day—Some Day," for the 367th time. The famous sermon has been filmed and is being shown in two southern states this week. Service at which he will deliver the sermon in Lubbock will be announced later.

Commenting shortly before the morning service today on conditions in the United States, he said, "We have all the evils that have made all the other nations go to doom—evils that would cause us to hand down our blood-bequeathed legacies reduced in quality and in quantity.

Will Cure Ills

"But," he said, "we have the gospel that will cure all those ills and the Christ who is an answer to our every perplexing problem and question in every realm known to human—political realm, educational realm, scintntific realm, national and international realm."

The solution, he said, must lie in putting into practice God's commands—in making hands and feet and minds "do what our ears have heard."

It's not lack of preaching; it's lack of practice, he said.

If a genuine revival such as America has had every century takes place, the spiritual trend would be upward and not downward, he said. "I believe it's going to come," he added.

Moral, Spiritual Crisis

"Our real crisis is not political and not economical; it's moral and spiritual.

"I believe that our country has been a though in the mind of God Almighty from all eternity for the welfare of this entire world today and I believe that if God's people will stand by the Bible and do God's will, God will send America what America needs most—a spiritual revival."

If America will do the right thing, it will be in a great position to aid the whole world, but, "If we do not accept our responsibility and our opportunity, I believe God will take our light away."

First To Visit City

Dr. Lee once preached for a revival at Beaumont while Dr. Grant was pastor there. He promised Dr. Grant two years ago to come to Lubbock to preach in a revival.

He is the first president of the Southern Baptist convention ever to visit Lubbock during his term as president. Almost 27,000 Baptist churches are affiliated with the Southern Baptist convention.

The record Dr. Lee has established with the church of which he is pastor, Bellevue Baptist church in Memphis, has been heralded widely. The church has grown from membership of 1,430 to membership around 8,000 in the 22 years he has been pastor. During that time, number of additions to the church has averaged 13 for each Sunday.

Dr. Lee is author of 16 books already published and two more are in process of being published.

His biography, "Robert G. Lee, A Chosen Vessel," written by Dr. E. Schuyler English, has been published.

During the revival here, Euell Porter, head of the voice department at Hardin-Simmons university and choir-master of the First Baptist church in Abilene, is leading singing.

The night services have been scheduled at 7:30 rather than later so that children may attend, said Dr. Grant. "Bring the family" has been stressed.

13-Inch Rattler Is Found In Chicken

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Nov. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Jack Latham was startled as she began dressing a chicken—there, poking out of its gullet, was a rattlesnake's tail.

Her husband split the fowl open. Just as they suspected, it had swallowed a 13-inch rattler, head first.

Demos, GOP At Loggerheads Over 81st Congress' Record

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 — The Senate Democratic leadership has accused Republicans of "moral bankruptcy" during the first session of the 81st Congress. The GOP, in turn, charged the Democrats with "waste and inefficiency."

Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas, defending Congress' record since January, said in a statement that the lawmakers achieved many of the "great goals" marked out by President Truman. He accused the Republicans of fostering isolationism and of catering to "special interest groups."

In a separate statement, Senate GOP Leader Kenneth S. Wherry denounced Congress' record this year as positively "unsafe." He said Lucas was guilty of "irresponsible and dangerous" leadership.

The two statements, evaluating the work of the past session, were included in this year's final edition of the Congressional Record. It was published yesterday.

Wherry found that the few "accomplishments" of the session were patterned after the Republican, 80th Congress.

But he said the session washed out Republican budget balancing and economy efforts.

Lucas found accomplishments considerable, particularly in the foreign policy field, but said 1950 election contests must find the people throwing out of office the "forces of tyranny."

Top European Muralist, Found Sweeping City Streets, Is Returned To Art Work

DETROIT, Nov. 8 (U.P.) — War thrust Edward Kozak from acclaim as one of Europe's greatest muralists into destitution as a Hamtramck, Mich., street cleaner, but he is back at work today at his art.

An architectural decorator discovered the famed Ukrainian artist with a broom instead of a brush in his hands and returned him to his paints.

Forced To Flee

Kozak lost his position in European art circles because of a caricature of Stalin. Reproduced in a dozen countries, it aroused the ire of the Kremlin and he was forced to flee.

Nazi Germans imprisoned him in a slave labor camp. He was released by U. S. troops and came to America as a displaced person.

Last March he got his first job. He was a painter—a house-painter. But that job ran out. All he could find was a job sweeping streets.

A decorator, Andrew Amaglia, recognized Kozak and hired him. His first assignment was the mural work at St. John's seminary here.

Sweeping streets did not insult the grateful muralist.

"Even if I have to sweep," he said, "I would be happy if I can remain in the United States. You see, I'm afraid no longer. It feels good inside being here."

Three On Trial In Attempted Swindle Of St. Louis Man

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Three alleged horse race touts went on trial in municipal court here today on the complaint of E. J. Joyce, retired St. Louis businessman, that they tried to involve him in a "sure thing" bet on a fixed race.

Joyce reported to police that the men said they could make $200,000 if he would supply them $20,000 to bet on a race in California. He went to authorities instead.

They were booked as Robert Champeau, 52, Kansas City, Mo.; Frank E. Wilson, 70, Kansas City, and George J. Gordon, 49, St. Joseph, Mo.

Equipment Seized

Joyce told police that he first became acquainted with Gordon and Wilson, and that Champeau later appeared with the "fix" proposal. Champeau was identified yesterday by J. C. Couch, Murfreesboro, Ark., as one of the men responsible for his loss of $2,000 in a race deal last year.

Police reported that more than $450,000 in fake cashier checks and other possible swindle equipment was found in the apartment occupied by Gordon and Champeau.

Manila itself was quiet.

The capital was expected to roll up a big vote for Laurel in keeping with its tradition as anti-administration.

Quirino drove to his precinct at San Miguel procathedral at midmorning to cast his ballot. He was surrounded by presidential guards, secret police and constabulary troopers.

"Baka tayo dayain (we might get cheated)."

Obviously he referred to the situation in the provinces of Lanao and occidental Negros. Two of three members of the national election commission recommended suspension of the election there. They said extensive false registrations made a fair vote impossible.

Quirino refused to call off the voting in the two provinces—where probably at least 80 per cent of 422,000 registered voters are for his liberal party.

Female Flour Sack Look Is Denounced

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP) — Women may accept the boyish bob the cloche hat and the short skirt but the Corset and Brassiere association of America will resist to the death a return of the flat-chested silhouette of the flapper era.

So said Harold Kruzman, president of the association, on his return today from a flying trip to England and France, to track down the frightening rumor that feminine curves are on the way out. He added:

"There is no truth to the rumor that the sack silhouette of the 1920's is due for a comeback. Women would never accept it."

CRETE (AP) — The people of Crete are thanking France for half a million dollars but they're worn out after putting in 24 hours a day for nearly a month to earn it. The money represents the sale of wine under a "deadline" contract with hard-pressed French wine importers, whose own domestic grape production had been cut badly by this year's drouth.

Marshall Plan Assistance For Indonesia To Be Started Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — Marshall plan aid started flowing again today to the Netherlands East Indies after an eleven-month halt.

The Economic Cooperation administration said about $40,000,000 is earmarked for assistance to the Dutch far eastern territory, which is scheduled to become an independent nation next year.

Resumption of American aid to Indonesia represents an official United States recognition that the long and bloody warfare between the Dutch and native Indonesians has ended.

Marshall plan dollars were cut off last December when the fighting was at its heaviest. At that time, ECA chieftain Paul G. Hoffman stopped the recovery assistance on the grounds that shipments could not reach the persons and places intended because of the hostilities.

Aid Halt Date Set

The policy shift, meantime, was described by State department officials as the first of several official steps designed to bolster the standing among nations of the Indonesian republic. These sources minted that the United States may soon move to recognize the government of Indonesia and establish diplomatic relations.

ECA said that its action in renewing aid was based on a promise by the Netherlands that they will turn over sovereignty of the East Indies to the independent nation on next Jan. 1.

The recovery agency made it clear, however, that Marshall plan aid will be terminated at that date. It was explained by ECA officials that under the European recovery program, as passed by Congress, Indonesia can receive American help only so long as it is a dependency of a Marshall plan country.

Whether or not the U. S. would continue to help the Indonesian republic, these officials said, is a matter which Congress must decide.

ECA said the funds to be spent during the next nine weeks will be used to finance purchase of sorely-needed foodstuffs, textiles and other consumer goods.

Team From Air Force To Visit Texas Tech

A team of Air Force officers will be on the Texas Tech campus Nov. 14 to interview anyone in the area interested in a career in aviation in the Air Force.

The group will interview both men and women who have had as much as two years college education in room 110 of the Extension building.

Those who have completed their college work will have an opportunity to apply for an early training class, according to Col. David K. Lyster, jr., here to make advance arrangements. Others who meet qualifications will be examined so that they may enter Air Force training after graduation.

Three types of training are open to men, the aviation cadet pilot training program, the aviation cadet navigator training program and the officer canidate program. Only the last group is open to women, preparing them for non-flying executive duties in administrative and technical fields.

To qualify the applicant must be between the ages of 20 and 26½, must have completed at least two years of college and must meet physical and moral qualifications.

After a one year training course, graduates will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Air Force and will have opportunity to compete for regular commissions during three years of active duty.

In any of the training programs a student who fails to complete the work is returned to civilian life.

Appointments for interviews may be obtained at the Placement office at Texas Tech or at the Lubbock Army and Air Force recruiting station.

Two Lubbock youths were returned here Monday night from Amarillo on warrants charging car theft. They were Joe E. Brumfield, 17 and a 16-year-old boy who had been arrested Sunday by Amarillo police.

A young Latin-American boy, about 5, rang up a $25 damage bill Monday afternoon when he turned the ignition key and stepped on the starter of a pickup truck parked in the alley behind Hodges Bros. Hardware, 1115 Ave. G.

The truck backed into a window, smashing iron window bars and the glass. Earl Carver, manager estimated damage at $25, and Mrs. Frank Trejo paid that amount police records showed.

Gulf Radar Stations Planned By Bureau

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8. (AP)— The U. S. weather bureau plans to put five radar stations along the Gulf coast in the next five years to help spot Gulf storms.

The plan was explained here yesterday by Oscar Tenebaum, chief of the bureau's domestic aviation section of the forecast division.

He told of a five year plan which the bureau has and said top priority "will be given the Gulf coast area and it is hoped that a radar installation can be placed at New Orleans or at Burwood at the mouth of the Mississippi river."

Tenebaum said the bureau now has only six radar stations in all but plans 35 more, including five in the Gulf area.

Long Career As "Belvedere" Is Slated For Clifton Webb

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8—Clifton Webb appears set for a long career as Mr. Belvedere.

The fastidious actor has sold his Greenwich, Conn., home and bought one in Beverly Hills; his film schedule will keep him busy here. Now playing the father of 12 in "Cheaper By The Dozen," he returns to his familiar character next in "Mr. Belvedere Takes A Rap."

This will apparently precede such other announced subjects as "Mr. Belvedere's Book of the Month," "Mr. Belvedere Goes West" and 'Mr Belvedere Goes To Africa."

Actor Wants Change

Webb himself would like a change of pace. Says he: "I'd like to play a despicable character, one even I could hate."

This may be testimony on the state of the theater this season. Such stage actresses as Gertrude Lawrence, Margaret Sullivan, Margalo Gilmore, Jane Cowl, Erin O'Brien Moore and Ethel Barrymore are in Hollywood.

Charles Laughton's Bible-reading tour in the east may be extended. He has been well received and is enjoying himself. But he'd like to be home for Christmas.

It looks as though the good old musical revue is coming back. "Duchess of Idaho" will be packed with such specialties as Eleanor Powell, Connie Haines, Lena Horne and Mel Torme. "Mr. Music" will have Groucho Marx, Dorothy Kirsten, Peggy Lee and Marge and Gower Champion.

Plans "Homey" Christmas

Humphrey Bogart says he doubts if Warners will lend Lauren Bacall. "If she ever got out of her contract, she'd probably work for my company, Santana," he added. "She might as well—she owns half of it under community property law."

Bogie said he'll have a homey Christmas this year for the baby (Stephen, not Lauren). He admitted Hollywood softens up at Christmas.

"Why Hollywood people are the most sentimental in the world," he said on the set of "In A Lonely Place." "I don't know where people get the idea we're hardboiled and tough. We're just like anybody else."

Prospector North Of Hale Center Plugged

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8 (Spl.)—The Tobe Foster et al No. 1 G. A. Harrell oil test was plugged this week-end at a total depth of 7,000 feet. This was the contract depth of the test.

The rig which drilled the test, nine miles northwest of here is standing by awaiting orders. The casing and hole was left intact, pending negotiations to extend the test deeper.

The No. 1 Harrell is 660 feet out of the SE corner of the SE¼ of section 7, block O-D&SE.

Hale Center's Gins Choked With Cotton

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8 (Spl.)—Two weeks of fair weather allowing cotton pullers uninterrupted work, have choked Hale Center's cotton gins. Trucks, trailers and wagons numbering more than 100, and loaded with one, two and three bales to be ginned, are waiting their turn on yards of each of the five gains of this region.

As cotton pullers swarmed the streets here Saturday, merchants added up their sales after midnight to report unprecedented totals. One grocer reported he was "out" of many staple items, since his stocks were purchased heavily by home folks as well as migrant laborers.

First National bank closed for an hour at mid-day Saturday while additional currency was being brought here from a nearby banking center to fill the needs of farmers paying wages to cotton pullers. Extra thousands of dollars were needed for this purpose, much more than had been anticipated.

MORE MEAT FOUND ON 1949 BIRD

New Experiments Bring Finer Turkeys For American Tables

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

BELTSVILLE, Md., Nov. 8 (U.P.)—H. L. Shrader, senior poultryman of the Department of Agriculture who also is known as the world champion turkey carver, can't miss setting a new record come Thanksgiving.

He's got a broader field this year.

Meaning the 1949 turkey has a wider breast and fatter legs and therefore more for Shrader to work on with his carving knife. Its bones are smaller and the flavor finer than any since the pilgrims caught their birds on the wing.

Some 41,000,000 gobblers are ready for the holiday market—one of the largest crops in history. And thanks to experiments performed here and at agricultural stations throughout the country the output is one of the best.

Food Is Expensive

Furthermore, this year's holiday bird grew up faster than any other on record.

Back in great grand-dad's day, it took some nine months to raise a poult big enough for the carving knife. Today, due to cross-breeding, time elapsed is seven months. Some day, according to the Department of Agriculture, this time will be cut to five and a half months.

That, of course, will save the housewife money. Turkeys will be cheaper because they are gobbly eaters while they are growing up—and turkey food is expensive.

Dr. Charles Knox, in charge of turkey breeding at this government research center, explained that turkey breeding is done logically.

Hazards Of Raising

"We do it in what you might call a family basis," he said. "We find the best females and mate them with the best males we can find. State departments of agriculture and the colleges have been a great help in cooperating to find a better bird. Texas still turns out the best turkeys."

A couple of years ago, the stores started featuring an "apartment house turkey." According to Dr. Knox, this is still popular. The female of this kind weighs around 15 pounds and the male 22 to 24 pounds. The bigger birds run up to about 30 pounds or more.

Dr. Knox, who knows his turkeys from feather-duster to gobble, says that raising the fowl has more hazards than show on the scales at the final weigh-in.

A turkey hasn't any sense and would just as soon commit suicide as not.

Prices Are Cheaper

"The birds, most of them," he said, "would rather stand outside and drown during a storm than take shelter. That cuts into the profits—especially after you've nursed a flock from egg to market. But they'll do it every time."

Dr. Knox told about one grower who found six prize birds smothered in a barrel which had been left in a turkey yard. Somehow, they managed to get under and into the barrel. Once inside, the turks didn't know how to get out.

And in panic, a flock of turkeys will fly into anything. A fence, a barn, a garage, or a house.

Turkeys this year are expected to run a little cheaper than last year—on account of the big crop. The dressing or "with it" will run along according to what the traffic will bear.

Pilots Propose Plan To Avoid Accidents

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 — The Air Line Pilots association (AFL) today recommended that the Civil Aeronautics board adopt three regulations to prevent air tragedies such as that which killed 55 persons at Washington. They were:

1. That all military and private airplanes be excluded from high density traffic airports used by scheduled air lines except where no other airports are available in the area.

2. That tests be made to determine the most visible color designs (such as an orange and black checkered pattern), and that all air line aircraft be required to carry the design.

3. That a code of dot-and-dash light flashings be established to give airplanes carrying passengers the right of way at all times over all other aircraft.

Midwest, East Get Warm Temperatures

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP) — Indian summer came back for a repeat performance today for most of the country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard.

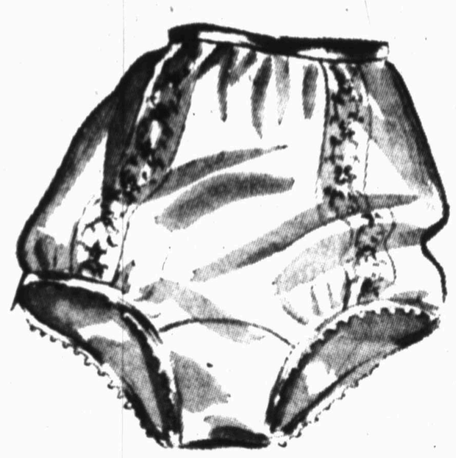

The western states had rain and cloudy skies while the rest of the country had fair and clear weather with temperatures mild for the season. Rain fell along the Washington and Oregon coast and there were showers in part sof Nevada, Utah and southern Idaho.

New temperature records for the date were reported in several cities yesterday. They included 75 at Omaha, Neb., 68 at Green Bay, Wis., and 66 at Duluth, Minn. The mercury was in the 60's and 70's over most of the central states.

Hearing Is Set For Desperado

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 8 (U.P.)—A federal grand jury will hear charges today that slippery desperado Jack Tatum broke out of Maricopa county jail and twice drove stolen cars across state lines.

The tattooed young ex-convict touched off one of the west's most widespread manhunts in decades Oct. 22 when he alone of five fellow prisoners gained a brief taste of freedom. Two of his companions were shot and killed in the break, and two others were captured.

When Tatum, 28, was brought into court yesterday, he pleaded guilty to another Dyer act charge and was ordered to appear Nov. 21 for sentencing.

Prisoner Watched Closely

He was accused of driving a stolen car from Gridley, Cal., to Desert Cove, Nev., Aug. 25.

Dist. Atty. Warren L. McCarthy said, however, that the middle member of the notorious Tatum brothers gang will not be accused of wounding Dep. Sheriff O. Z. Alford during the jail break.

The thick-lipped bad man apparently was not carrying a gun when Alford was hit by a bullet, and the shot was believed fired by a fellow officer, he said.

Tatum has been watched closely in jail since he was returned Saturday from El Paso, handcuffed, in leg irons and guarded by four federal agents.

Man Killed, Five Hurt In Explosion

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8 (U.P.)—An explosion in the fieldhouse of St. Louis' famed Forest Park killed one man yesterday and injured five other persons.

Damage was estimated at $50,000 from the blast and the fire which followed.

The dead man was Robert Owen Holtes, 38, believed to be from Texas. Two other persons were seriously hurt and three suffered minor injuries.

Authorities believed the explosion started in an oil burner. The fieldhouse is near the Jefferson memorial where the Charles Lindberg trophies are kept.

Barkley Is Selected Grandfather Of 1949

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Vice President Barkley, who in 10 days is to become a bridegroom at 71, was named "Grandfather of 1949" yesterday.

The award was presented to Barkley—who has seven grandchildren—by the National Federation of Grandmothers and Grandfathers clubs.

Barkley, who came to Chicago to address the American Peroleum institute, said he had visited Mrs. Carleton Hadley, his bride-to-be in a St. Louis hospital where she is confined with the flu. He said she was "feeling better" but would be in the hospital for several days.

Lions Minstrels Again Proving To Be Popular Hit

The Lions Club Jubilee Minstrels are back in town—and as good as ever!

That was the consensus of a good turnout of Texas Tech students and military personnel who warmly applauded the opening night of a three-night performance of the 1949 show at Lubbock High school auditorium last night.

The first of two performances for the public will be presented tonight. The curtain goes up on the song-filled, action-packed, laugh hit at 8 p. m. Wednesday night's final performance also starts at 8 o'clock.

Fourth Annual Show

The show is being given for the benefit of the Girl Scouts camp at Buffalo Lakes, and a near capacity crowd is expected for the two performances tonight and Wednesday, according to Groves Denman, Lions president and coordinat-

Voters in two southern states—Virginia and Texas—go to the ballot boxes today to determine the fate of their poll tax laws.

The Virginia proposal would abolish the $1.50 tax as a voting requirement, but give the state assembly power to write new election qualifications and levy new per capita taxes for other purposes.

In Texas, voters are being asked to discard the $1.75 tax as a voting requirement, but to retain the tax itself.

National Bill Awaited

In the background is a national anti-poll tax bill which passed the House of Representatives last year and is due to come up in the Senate after Congress returns in January. The bill, one of President Truman's civil rights proposals, applies only to elections for federal offices.

Wording of the proposed amendment in Virginia has caused some groups normally opposed to the poll tax to ask defeat of the abolition proposal. On the other hand, such Democratic leaders as Senator Harry F. Byrd, Gov. William M. Tuck, and John S. Battle, gubernatorial candidate, favor the repealer.

Proponents of the Texas amendment argue that the state should act before the federal government, as now presented, would cost state school funds $1,000,000 a year. They argue that few people will pay the tax without the voting requirement.

Pennsylvanians are being asked to approve a $500,000,000 veterans bonus—the highest in the nation. The money would go to 1,300,000 World War II veterans at the rate of $15 for each month of service overseas and $10 a month for home service.

New Jersey voters have before them a referendum to provide $105,000,000 for World War II veterans by a gross receipts tax on business

Californians will pass judgment on a number of propositions including repeal of some provisions of a pension plan voted in 1948; a $250,000,000 state bond issue for grants or loans to school district, and a proposal to increase the pay of state legislators from the present $100 to $300 a month.

SCHOOL ROOMS BECOMING POPULAR MEETING PLACES

'Responsible Citizenship' Is Theme Stressed For Education Week School Programs Today

School rooms of Lubbock are becoming popular meeting places for students and parents as the third day of American Education week gets underway. "Responsible Citizenship" will be the theme stressed today as some schools observe special visiting days, some receive parents on a pre-arranged schedule, and others reiterate their "come anytime" invitation.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, addressed all sixth grade pupils of Roscoe Wilson at a special assembly in the J. T. Hutchinson Junior high auditorium Monday morning on the general theme of the week, "Making Democracy Work".

Dr. Grant told students of his trip to Europe during the past summer and contrasted the way of life in non-democratic countries with the democracy in the United States. He cited ways in which students may help to preserve democracy, cautioning children to see that their parents vote in every election until they, the students, are old enough to vote. Dr. Grant also gave examples of how democracy begins with "give and take" in the home, continues as co-operation in the school, and expands into privileges and duties in city, state, and national government. Mrs. E. E. Key directed singing for the assembly program.

School Chorus Sings

Sunday afternoon between 2:30 and 3:30 aproximately 275 parents called at George R. Bean school to meet teachers, view the work of students, and enjoy a social hour. Monday at noon 90 students in the ninth grade chorus, directed by Mrs. Elois Elliott, sang songs in keeping with education week themes for the Junior Chamber of Commerce weekly luncheon. Carl Bailey, school principal, gave the address.

At Sanders school, where parents are being invited to visit specific rooms at designated times, an open house will be held following the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at 7:30 tonight. "Teamwork Between Fathers and the School" will be the topic of a panel to be given by John Wilson, I. M. McMillan, and W. E. Lorance.

Dinner To Be Held

Also to be held tonight will be the Administrative dinner honoring Superintendent and Mrs. R. W. Matthews and school board members and their wives at 6:30 o'clock at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school.

More than 100 mothers and fathers went to Dupre school Monday to have lunch in the school cafeteria with their children and visit rooms afterwards. Several other schools were inviting parents to eat in the school cafeteria with

We got this information straight from the horse's mouth — or, perhaps better stated, straight from the fashion czars of Paris, London, New York and Hollywood—at a style show to end all style shows in Fort Worth the other day.

For the first time in history, the world's leading couturiers (harrumph) gave a complete preview far in advance of the customary style showings—and together. They did it for the nation's Associated Press editors gathered in Fort Worth, because even a couturier (whatever that is) figures it's good business to butter up the AP family.

The show was rigged up by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, host to the AP conclave, and was presented in the new television auditorium at WBAP.

And in addition to clothes, shoes, hats and furs, also was shown an $8,500,000 collection of rare gems, flown in from New York by Harry Winston, Inc.

HUSBANDS will—or should—be interested to know that we saw one model in Fort Worth wearing $3,500,000 worth of stuff—including the dress.

She had a million dollar diamond swinging from her throat; pear shaped ones (almost as big as pears) dangling from her ears; diamond bracelets as big as handcuffs; a gob of precious gems of one sort or another hooked onto her pocketbook—and even diamond clips on her shoes.

We are a guy who knows nothing about fashions and cares less, but even we could appreciate the tremendousness, as it were, of the occasion. Hardbitten editors who wouldn't give you a dime for everything Jean Patou has in his Paris store were glassy-eyed at what they saw. Their ladies oh-ed and ah-ed so much and so often it sounded like there was an epidemic of asthma abroad in the auditorium.

It was a great show and the Star-Telegram folks really impressed the visitors from New York, Chicago, New England, and the West Coast with the fact that anything can happen in Texas and frequently does.

The biggest names in the fashion racket; Hardy Amies, Philip Mangone, Manguin, Griffe, Pierre Balmain, Mr. John and Lilly Sashay were represented, along with a couple of dozen others.

It's too bad every woman in Texas couldn't have seen the show—even though there aren't 10 social events per year in the whole country that could support such wardrobes!

ALSO FEATURED at the Fort Worth AP clambake were two crack correspondents, flown across the oceans to report to the editors. They were Larry Allen, whose station is Warsaw; and Seymour Topping, from China. Both have been long behind the Iron Curtain with plenty of opportunity to gauge the Russians and their satellites.

Mr. Topping, who has been out of Red China less than two weeks, does not discount the victories of the Communist cause in the Orient. But neither does he believe that China necessarily will fall into the Red orbit. Instead, he believes that the Chinese brand of Communism may very possibly evolve into something quite different from the Russian brand; that quite possibly the Russians never shall be able to dominate that far-flung land with its 465,000,000 people.

He pleads and hopes for eventual American recognition of China and a program there to spread the American doctrine. He thinks that if we play our cards right, we may eventually swing China to our side, no matter what they call their type of government.

Mr. Topping is most critical of Chiang-Kai-Shek and the other Nationalist leaders who, he says, have muffed the ball unbelievably to date.

Mr. Allen, whose Warsaw listening post is bang-up against the USSR, ventured an opinion on World War III. Since he is a veteran foreign correspondent, his opinion must be accepted as weighty.

If World War III doesn't break out by the end of 1952, he hazards, there will be no World War III in our time. If such a war does break out, he anticipates it in 1952—a national election year in this country.

According to Mr. Allen, Central and Eastern Europeans simply cannot understand that Americans can fight each other tooth and toenail, politically, but become a solid front overnight in case of a war. The European theory is that when we start cutting each others throats in the 1952 campaign, we shall be so hopelessly split among ourselves that we'll be easy pickings.

If Mr. Allen is right, as he very well may be, the world will lie in extreme danger for the next 24 months. But if it survives the next 24 months without widespread shooting, human beings then may relax and put all their efforts to building and maintaining peace.

NOT GIVEN to sentimentality, Messrs. Topping and Allen have risked their necks on countless occasions in the course of their daily work.

Therefore, it was interesting, even touching, to hear these men talk about their personal reactions to getting home after 3½ and 4½ years, respectively, in Communist-ridden lands.

Neither man knew what the other man would say; in fact, Allen had spoken and gone back to Washington before Topping got to Fort Worth. But both openly, sincerely, confessed to tear-filled eyes as they stepped onto American soil from the airplanes which had brought them home.

It would be good if every American could hear Seymour Topping and Larry Allen—and the others like them—talk about the difference in living in Red-ridden countries and here at home.

We know of no other way in which our countrymen could be brought to understand what freedom and the rights and privileges of American citizenship really mean.

BY DREW PEARSON: JOHN L. LEWIS DESPERATE OVER REVOLT IN UNITED MINE WORKERS

U.S. And Great Britain Rowing Over Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON — Inside reason why John L. Lewis is trying so desperately to settle with the coal operators is that his United Mine Workers union is torn with rank - and - file revolt.

PEARSON

Many coal miners deeply resented Lewis' offer, to contribute funds to CIO steelworkers from the UMW treasury at a time when the miners themselves are destitute and hungry. Also, there is widespread rank-and-file bitterness over Lewis's dissipation of the miners' pension-and-welfare fund.

The rebellion against Lewis is strongest in Virginia and West Virginia, where several local mine unions have voted by secret ballot to go back to work. However, the operators refused to reopen, fearing possible violence and bloodshed by Lewis' strong-arm squads.

Other miners, rather than have their families go hungry in the prolonged strike, have actually gone to work in nonunion mines in Virginia and western Kentucky.

Row Over China

President Truman and Secretary Acheson got wind of the fact that a large British diplomatic delegation has been secretly conferring in Pieping with the Chinese Communists in order to negotiate British recognition of the Red government. This is a direct violation of the Bevin-Acheson agreement made in New York a month ago in which both agreed that no deals would be made with the Chinese Reds without first consulting each other, together with France, Holland and Belgium.

When the State department learned that this agreement had been violated, Secretary Acheson and the other foreign ministers sent a scorching joint note secretly to British Foreign Minister Bevin denouncing his government for trafficking with the Chinese Reds.

Bevin, replying, admitted his country's guilt, but brazenly stated that the move was necessary. However, Britain, he condescended to say, would keep its allies informed of its activities from here on in.

SOUTHERN race disturbances or KKK floggings make sensational headlines, while the little acts of kindness between white and colored people seldom get in the newspapers.

James Jones has been so energetic and so devoted that he has won the admiration of all citizens in his community and last year this columnist nominated him as a servant of brotherhood.

The other day, however, the man who had been helping others, himself was taken sick. He was sent to the hospital with a complication of various ailments, leaving a wife and seven children without funds.

Promptly the white citizens of Florence started a campaign to help him. Last January, Jones collected $2,576 to help the march of dimes. Now his friends are trying to top his mark to help him.

Mexican Bulls Get Too Tame

In the battle against hoof-and-mouth disease, the agriculture department is getting more bellows from Mexico's bull fighters than from the bulls. For the bull fighters blame the U. S. agriculture department for breaking the spirit of their fighting bulls.

It seems that the agriculture department, working with Mexican authorities, has insisted that fighting bulls be vaccinated every four months as well as all other beef on the hoof. But the bull fighters complain that this takes the fighting spirit out o ftheir bulls.

Replies the agriculture department: "Unless the vaccinations continue ,there won't be any bulls—with or without fighting spirit." As a compromise, the authorities have agreed not to vaccinate a fighting bull 30 days prior to his appearance in an arena.

---And Stay Out!

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

IT seems to me a young man is extremely foolish to marry a girl without first getting well acquainted with her mother—if he has the chance.

For the kind of wife a girl will turn out to be depends to a large extent on the kind of a mother she has.

MILLETT

Here are a few things a smart young man should find out about a mother before he marries her daughter.

One. What is the mother's attitude toward her own husband? If she regards her husband as of less importance than her children—she has probably raised a spoiled daughter, whose interest in getting married will all be self-interest.

Two. What is the mother's attitude toward the job of homemaking? If she belittles it and has not taught her daughter anything about homemaking — then the daughter is likely to turn out to be another frustrated wife, bored with the responsibility for making a home.

IS HER MOTHER POSSESSIVE?

THREE. What is the mother's attitude toward her daughter? Is she willing to let her daughter think for herself and accomplish her own—not her mother's—ambitions? If she's a possessive mother, no young man had better count on the idea that she'll stop trying to run her daughter's life as soon as she gets a husband.

Four. What is the mother's attitude toward such things as money and social position? An ambitious mother who has a shallow set of standards may pass them on to her daughter. So if the mother sets great store by money and social position, the young man should make sure the daughter doesn't share those ideas — unless, of course, he shares them himself. In which case, she would probably a good wife for him.

Five. Is the mother a happy, cheerful person? If she is, chances are the daughter will be easier to live with than if she had grown up in a family bossed by an unhappy, neurotic woman.

It is always wise for a young man considering matrimony to take a good look at the girl's mother and decide if she is going to be the kind of woman her mother is, and if she is, if that is what he wants in a wife.

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Writer To Make Trip Despite New Restrictions By Bosses

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—The annual October itch having done its evil work, despite a month-long battle with his better self, little Buster here is off on another one of those things. Ordinarily I know where I'm going, having thought up a beautiful and noble itinerary to impress my masters, but this is open rebellion and I will tell them nothing at all They can take that old expense account and they can . . . oops! What am I saying?

RUARK

Usually the business of travel is simple. You mince into the master's platinum-floored office wearing a look of sly self-sacrifice. You toss in a few waste pitches about the weather and what a wine editorial that was the other day, make a couple of innocuous confessions of unimportant sins he knows about anyhow and then mutter that New York is wearing a little thin and maybe . . .

Then comes the real technique. If it's winter, you never choose a trip that will be warm. You say that Montreal needs looking at and the man agrees that maybe, it does. If it's summer, you say maybe we better check St. Louis or something classy in Kansas and the man says fine, as long as it isn't too much fun you can do it.

Don't Answer Phones

From there on it's a cinch. Once you're out of town it is practically no distance at all to New Orleans or San Francisco or Havana or Acapulco or Denver or some other pleasant place. As long as you don't answer the phones or read letters the office can't get at you and you can generally bum eating money from the editors as you go along, editors being pretty easy to flimflam if it an't their dough.

When you come back a couple of months later the office is reasonably testy, especially when the expense account is rendered unto Caesar. But if you keep out of sight a few days, some new crisis usually bobs up and takes the heat off you. This has been the technique for some time, and always workable until now.

• • •

WHEN I hinted slyly at my three keepers, the other day, that travel was broadening, they all three stood up on their hind legs and yowled.

"Not New Orleans!" they screamed, as one wounded horse. "Not Havana!"

This seemed highly unreasonable, since I had been to neither place this week, but you cannot win by battling the bosses except subtly ,and I could think of nothing very subtle at the time.

"And another thing," said the leader of my keepers, in what I presume he meant to be a sarcastic tone. "Try to imagine that you are three normal people, instead of you, and attempt to spend only what three normal people would spend if they were off on a spree. By that I mean, why take a whole floor of a hotel when the bridal suite is plenty big enough? Take taxis, don't buy automobiles. If you must tip, five bucks is plenty to give the bellboy for bringing you a jug of ice water."

"And no Tangier!" the No. 2 keeper shouted. "No Casablanca! We hired a columnist, not a member of the Arab league."

"No Rome!" the No. 3 boy barked. "No Capri!"

Choice Is Restricted

This went along until I finally figured that the only places I am going to go are Walla Walla and Weehawken. And I was never able to force much copy out of either town. So I just say nothing at all and look pathetic and finally the No. 1 keeper says "Well, he hasn't been to Denver lately or to San Francisco" and I blush and toe the rug and so that seems to be the plan.

I intend to start with Denver, just to fulfill the contract, but from there in its an open game. May go to San Francisco—may not. May go to Hollywood. May go to Honolulu. May go to Fiji or Australia. May just stay in Denver. Can't tell yet. I'm the boy with the flexible mind, and I may not come home at all.

Concerning the expense account. Of course, the firm's prestige may suffer some, if I get jailed from riding the rods with my hobo's bundle, and I understand panhandling is frowned on in some localities. Stealing to keep alive is not a nice necessity for a columnist, but I'll make out somehow. And one day when I'm dead they'll all be sorry. Sniff.

Today's Thought

Wisdom consisteth not in knowing many things, nor even in knowing them thoroughly; but in choosing and in following what conduces the most certainly to our lasting happiness and true glory. —Landor.

Today's Journal Editorial

BONDS FOR URGENT NEEDS

Indications are that opposition will be negligible at the election next month on the proposed $1,075,000 City bond issue to provide for expansion of the sewage disposal plant and to acquire rights of way for the completion of the Lubbock Highway Dispersal system.

Everyone should be aware that Lubbock has far outgrown its present sewage disposal plant. Failure to enlarge those facilities would involve grave danger to the community health, for reasons too obvious for comment. The enlargement of the plant doubtless is the most urgent of the immediate needs confronting Lubbock.

It should be apparent, too, that delay in acquiring rights of way for the Highway Dispersal system almost certainly will add to their cost. Provision for getting them as speedily as possible merely will be an exercise of sound business judgment.

Both needs are urgent. Those concerned with the sewage disposal plant are of an emergency nature. Both appear sure of overwhelming approval when the election is held on a date still to be set definitely, but tentatively scheduled for about December 15.

GENERAL MOTORS STOCK BOOSTED

One Of Largest Dividends In American History Declared

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. (AP)—One of the biggest cash dividends in American history will go to General Motors stockholders on Dec. 10.

It totals more than $190,000,000. With other payments already made this year, it will bring the company's grand total of dividends for 1949 to more than one-third of a billion dollars.

This is an all-time record for General Motors Corp., and financial circles said it probably is an all-time record for the United States.

The yearly earnings will amount to $8 a share for common stock, which has a par value of $10. The stock closed here yesterday—before the company announcement—at $69.12½ a share. The year's dividend will be 80 per cent of the par value and almost 12 per cent of yesterday's price.

Prices Shoot Up

Reaction to the news on the New York stock exchange will be delayed until tomorrow, since the exchange is closed today for the general election.

The San Francisco exchange still was open, however, when word of the announcement hit the tickers. The price shot up immediately $2.62½ a share to $71.75. The new dividend will be paid to stockholders of record Nov. 17, and will be $4.25 a share for common stock. Preferred stockholders will get regular dividends.

The huge dividend comes from record-breaking earnings recently reported by the company. Sales for the first nine months this year totaled $4,458,000,000, well over a billion dollars more than the comparable 1948 figure of $3,436,000,000. The net profit for the first nine months of this year was $502,000,000, compared to $327,000,000 for the same period last year. This year's total dividend will be $351,664,000.

Du Pont Gets Most

Of the company's 44,000,000 shares of common stock, E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Co. holds 10,000,000 and will receive nearly a quarter of the dividend. The Du Pont board will meet about Nov. 15 to decide its own dividend action.

In a joint statement, C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, and Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman, said requirements of the last four years made it necessary for the company to hold back a high percentage of profits for new plant and bigger expenses.

They said they now are "gratified to be in a position to make a dividend payment . . . that is above the reduced level of dividends in the post war years, thus helping to correct what has been an inequity to the stockholder group."

The two executives said the stockholders have lagged behind other income groups in the last few years.

In a second record-breaking move, the company said another huge slice of cash—$125,000,000—will go to retire the company's debt to eight life insurance companies. The money was borrowed in 1946. It was in two parts, with payment not scheduled until 1966 and 1976. It carried 2½ per cent interest, and can be repaid at any time.

"It would be unrealistic to project volume and profits over a long period on the basis of their current levels since sales are still benefitting from a backlog of deferred demand," they said.

In addition to automobiles and trucks, General Motors makes refrigerators, household appliances, Diesel locomotives, aircraft engines and parts.

Condition Of Beaten Flomot Man Critical

MATADOR, Nov. 8. (Special)—The condition of Pearl Panner, 60-year-old Flomot bachelor who was severely beaten about the head by an unknown assailant as he slept early Sunday morning, remained unchanged this morning at Stahley clinic here. Attendants reported that he had not yet recovered consciousness and his chances for recovery were "slight."

Sheriff's Deputy Jinks Wilson said they still had not discovered a motive for the beating and had no leads as to the assailant's identity. A search revealed that nothing had been taken from Panner's house.

Panner was moved to the clinic from his Flomot home after a neighbor discovered the man lying unconscious in his bed about 8 p. m. Hospital attendants said he had suffered a fractured skull.

Town Goes To Polls But Ballots Missing

CLEAR SPRING, Md., Nov. 8 (AP)—The polls were opened and the bars were closed as this town of 500 prepared to elect a burgess and three commissioners.

But there were no ballots.

After waiting around for an hour after yesterday's 2 p. m. opening time, the pollworkers went home and the bars reopened.

Ankenny finally appeared. He had gotten the ballots from an out-of-town printer, he explained, and was on his way back with them when his car broke down.

The commissioners will have to hold a meeting to decide a new election date.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — President Truman attended a ballet performance last night and "liked it very much."

He gave this verdict to reporters after a two and a half hour performance by the Sadler's Wells ballet of England, touring the United States for the first time.

Mr. Truman and Mrs. Mrs. Truman sat in the presidential box at Constitution hall. They joined in frequent applause and he nodded his head to the movements of the dancers and kept time to the music with his program.

AIR DISASTER WILL BE PROBED

Pilot Claims He Was Cleared For Landing Prior To Crash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (U.P.) — Bolivian pilot Erick Rios Bridoux has told friends he reported engine trouble and was cleared for an emergency landing when his P-38 collided with an Eastern airliner here last week, it was learned today.

Rios, who is hospitalized with injuries suffered in the crash that claimed 55 lives, said he told the control tower at national airport that his plane was losing power.

He got instructions, he said, to come in for a landing as soon as another plane touched ground. He began his approach after seeing what he identified as a "twin-tailed Cessna" hit the runway. He said he took it for granted that that was the plane he was ordered to follow in.

Rios said he did not see the Eastern airliner until a split-second before the collision.

Though he did not completely rule out radio failure as a cause of the accident—worst in civil aviation history — he said he remembered being in radio contact with the control tower shortly before the crash.

Airport control tower operators have said they warned Rios by radio to circle the field before trying to land, but that he failed to comply and came right in on top of the landing airliner.

Guillermo Gutierrez, Bolivian ambassador to the Organization of American states, said the flier may be able to talk with investigators today or tomorrow. The Civil Aeronautics board begins formal hearings on the collision tomorrow.

Rios' condition was described as "satisfactory" by attaches at nearby Alexandria, Va., hospital. He is under treatment for a broken vertebra, three broken ribs and multiple lacerations.

Chinese Reds Open Attacks

HONG KONG, Nov. 8 (U.P.) — Chinese Communist columns pushing westward threatened today to divide the remaining nationalist-held area of China into three parts.

A column driving toward the Nationalist co-capital of Chungking reached within 20 miles of Enshih, refugee capital of Hupeh province, forcing the provincial government to flee northward to Lichauan.

New Drive Reported

Another Communist column operating farther south drove toward Keweiyang, capital of Kweichow province, and captured Tienchu, 150 miles west of Kweiyang. At the same time it sent spearheads racing southward against Kweilin.

Meantime, the Nationalists claimed a major victory in the Chusan islands, 90 miles south of Shanghai, saying a Communist assault on Tangpu island had been beaten back with 7,000 casualties.

Women Who Started Food Shop For Fun Have Gourmet Mecca

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 8. (NEA) The spirit of Horatio Alger, if it finds its way to Madison, will be happy. It will find two little ladies who bought a food specialty shop "just for fun," and, through hard work, turned it into a mecca for gourmets all over the world.

Miss Margaret Snyder, a former music supervisor in local schools, and Miss Norma Howarth, who used to work in a real estate office, lived together on a century-old farm and dreamed of running their own business some day. When they spotted an advertisement for a food specialty shop in the business opportunities columns of a newspaper, the "some day" had come.

Made Show Place

They moved in 10 day later, and immediately set to work on a 5 a. m. to 9 p. m. workday, transforming the shop into a picturesque show place. Tiny shelves set around the tiny shop are framed by gay wallpaper. But it is what the Misses Snyder and Howarth have set on those shelves that excite the food-lovers who visit or write in.

There are spectacular Italian antipastos, fragrant Chinese water chestnuts, caviar from Russia, pumpkin seeds from Mexico, anchovies from Portugal, 60 kinds of native Wisconsin cheeses, exotic teas from Ceylon, herbs and spices, spiced pickles in wine, homemade candy, imported herring from Scotland, chutney and curry powder from India, and cheeses with names like carvi and cavli and kuminost and jetost from Norway and green sage from Switzerland and rouge de noir from France.

Willing To Take Risk

Although the women admittedly were inexperienced in selling, they have done well. Mail orders come from as far away as Europe, Alaska and South America.

"So many people seemed shocked that we were willing to take such a risk," smiles Miss Howarth. "We have no background for the work. But I've always said you need just three thing to succeed: faith in God, faith in yourself, and the willingness to work hard."

Why I Decided To Produce This Startling Motion Picture..
by Ida Lupino
Last winter, while engaged in first-hand observation and research at a police court in Los Angeles, in preparation for a motion picture role that I was studying, a pretty girl in her middle teens was brought in by a police woman. The youngster had been picked up for loitering in the street. The sharp eye of the police officer had detected that she was pregnant.
As the story of this girl's plight unfolded between sobs, it opened my eyes as never before to a great and burning shame not here, but everywhere and mine—that such a thing could be allowed to exist by those of us who believe we are understanding adults
And when later, in the judge's chambers, the whole national picture was painted for me, of the 400,000 girls—half of them between ten and nineteen—who bring children into the world outside wedlock each year, I determined that this story, shocking though it was, had to be brought to the screen.
"Not Wanted" tells this story powerfully, frankly, in all its pathetic detail tells it through the eyes and tears of one girl—wilful, beautiful, innocent young Sally, who wanted so much of love and life... and who knew so little of either.
The story of Sally is a page taken from life. It is a powerful, straightforward drama, as TRUE and as REAL that your heart will tighten as you watch it unfold in all its intensity.
It is with deep pride that I bring "Not Wanted" to the American screen.

MISSILE ESCAPES ANTI-AIRCRAFT

Navy Fires Buzz Bomb From Submarine In Pacific Tests

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD USS SPANGLER OFF HAWAII, Nov. 8.—A submarine-launched buzz bomb zoomed over a long line of 35 navy ships yesterday and apparently escaped a hit from anti-aircraft guns.

The missile was assisted by a rocket in its takeoff from the deck of the submarine Carbonero. Known in navy parlance as a loon, the missile was launched 20 miles behind 35 ships strung out over a 21 miles course. It sped 400-500 miles an hour over its controlled course and plunged into the sea 80 miles from where it was launched.

Launching Ramp Small

A close look at the loon launching showed the navy's missile development has reached a stage where submarines can carry a number of jet weapons in normal underseas operations. Loon wings are detachable and the missile and its jet engine when broken down probably would occupy the same space area in a submarine as three torpedoes.

The missile launching ramps are made of a light steel frame work easily taken down and stowed.

Not Intercepted

Not only did the loon apparently escape ack ack hits but it evidently was not intercepted by fighters from the carriers Valley Forge and Boxer. The missile is the same as the German V-1 that gave London so much trouble late in the war. British gunners and airmen shot down a high percentage of them in the latter days of the war.

The loon's fuel range is reported to be between 100 and 200 miles, which would make it a good weapon in the event of war with a country with a sea approach.

However, good weather is needed to get them into the air from a submarine. One fell into the sea 500 yards from the submarine Cusk from which it was launched yesterday. A rough sea and a 25 knot wind made its launchings difficult.

Air-Cooled Pigs Yield More Meat

By STAN CARTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

DAVIS, Calif., Nov. 8.—Air conditioned pig pens may become the latest thing in scientific farming.

Scientists at the University of California have been working for three years to find out under what weather conditions swine thrive best.

They don't promise that air conditioned hog pens will be practical. But they have found that pigs kept at certain temperatures eat less food and produce more meat.

"We can't tell yet whether it will be worth while for a farmer to install expensive air conditioning equipment to get maybe 15 per cent more efficiency in raising hogs." Dr. Elmer H. Hughes said.

Dr. Hughes and Dr. Hubert Heitman, both members of the University's College of Agriculture faculty, are studying the effects of different temperatures and humidity condition on swine.

They watched pigs in an air conditioned, insulated room, and discovered that small hogs — from 70 to 144 pounds—seem to thrive best at temperatures of about 60 degrees (f); larger hogs —from 166 to 260 pounds—seem to thrive at about 75 degrees.

At those temperatures it took less food to produce 100 pounds of meat. When the temperature was increased or decreased the rate of gain declined and utilization of food was lowered.

"That doesn't mean those would necessarily be the best conditions for raising hogs on the farm," Dr. Heitman said. "You've got to remember this work is experimental. It's being done indoors."

Dr. Heitman said university and U. S. Department of Agriculture engineers are building experimental pig pens. Some are insulated against heat. Others are water-cooled.

Dr. Hughes and Dr. Heitman killed one animal—a 228-pounder—purposely. The hog was kept in a dry room, warmed to 100 degrees. In five days it lost 18 pounds. And on the fifth day the hog died.

Four Men Speak At Toastmasters' Club

Discussing subjects from peanuts to double talk, four speakers, Kenneth Moore, Bob Rose, Ira Dunlap, and Warren Faller, were speakers at the regular weekly dinner of the Toatsmasters' club, Hub chapter 660, in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel Monday night.

Pros and cons of parallel parking were discussed by the club membership in one-minute talks with Tom Murphey as topic master.

Dr. G. G. Boysen was toastmaster for the program and Larry Copenhaver, C. W. Ratliff, Joe Torrance, Lou Walker, and Wm. R. Sewell were critics.

The president's cup for the best talk of the evening went to Ira Dunlap for his speech on "Double Talk."

Gold Fever Hits West Coast Again As Cafe Owner Finds Shiny Metal In Well

CASTAIC, Cal., Nov. 8. (U.P.)—Gold fever struck this mountain hamlet today as prospectors and residents stood ready for an assayer's report that might be the starting gun of a gold rush.

Charles V. Allen said he discovered a "yellow metal that looks like gold" in buckets of muck hauled up from a well behind his restaurant. While assayers in Bakersfield tested the metal, Allen and about eight neighbors filed mining claims.

"I found there was enough metal in each bucket or muck to fill a quarter inch in the bottom of a water glass," former prospector Allen said.

West Coast Heiress Is Facing Contempt Charges In Hearing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) —Rep. Wood (D-Ga) said today he will ask the House committee on un-American activities to consider contempt proceedings against wealthy Louise Rosenberg Bransten Berman.

Red-haired Mrs. Berman, West Coast heiress, yesterday for the second time refused to tell the committee whether she contributed to Communist activities.

Mrs. Berman, attractive wife of Lionel Berman of New York, was an obdurate and frequently indignant witness.

Refused To Answer

Flanked by Attorney Joseph Forer of Washington, she parried each question from committee counsel with a refusal to answer on the constitutional grounds of self-incrimination.

Chairman Wood, who sat with Rep. Moulder (D-Mo) as an investigating subcommittee, questioned her performance.

"I intend to submit for the consideration of the full committee the possibility of citing Mrs. Berman for contempt," Wood told reporters.

Mrs. Berman is linked by official committee reports with Steve Nelson, a Communist organizer, and as having been in frequent contact with Soviet consular officials in San Francisco and New York.

"NUTS," SAYS HUBBY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 8. (U.P.) A 59-year-old housewife told police today her husband threw a pan of cupcakes and a flower vase at her, dragged her from her kitchen to the backyard, then left home shouting, "I don't like nuts on my cupcakes."

The course will be open to those wishing to take part, with the standard first aid training being offered first.

Lubbock firemen, called to a point on the Shallowater highway three miles northwest of Lubbock, saved four burning bales of cotton from total destruction at 2:15 p.m. Monday. The cotton had been pushed off a truck by a driver for a Shallowater gin, firemen said, but his name was not learned. Only the outer edges of the bales were burned, it was reported.

Dr. R. G. Lee, pastor of the Bellevue Baptist church at Memphis, Tenn., who is currently conducting revival services at Lubbock First Baptist church, will be the speaker at a Brotherhood meeting at 6:30 p. m. today in the church annex. Dr. Lee is also president of the Southern Baptist convention.

HALE CENTER, Nov. 8 (Spl.)—Jimmy Lamb, sophomore and Isla Jo Dutton, senior, were the only two students of Hale Center high school to be listed on the first six weeks' honor roll, they being the only two students with grades averaging above 90, Superintendent N. L. Douglas reported.

The Hale Center ward school listed 28 students on its first six weeks' honor roll, as announced by Principal E. S. Agnew. The 28 made straight-A report cards. Another 72 were listed on an honor roll as making a grade of B or better.

Raisin-Meat-Ball Spaghetti

A McCall's Magazine-Fail-Proof Recipe

Sauce		Meat Balls
1	slice salt pork	1½	lbs. chopped beef
1	small onion	1	tablespoon salt
1	No. 2½ can tomato puree	½	cup cracker meal
2½	cups water	½	cup raisins
1	teaspoon salt	2	eggs, unbeaten

Place salt pork in skillet over low heat until fat is melted. Add chopped onion to fat and brown. Mix in tomato puree, water, salt and cook slowly for 15 minutes.

To make meat balls, mix all ingredients together thoroughly and shape into balls. Drop into sauce and simmer 1 hour and 15 minutes in uncovered pan. Serve sauce and meat balls over freshly cooked spaghetti. You'll be surprised at the good flavor the raisins give this recipe, a gift to us from one of our Italian friends. Enough sauce here for 6 staunch spaghetti lovers.

Texas Ranks In Fifth Place In Weekend Violent Deaths

(By The United Press)

The death toll was sharply below the count of 804 killed during the Fourth of July weekend last summer, which the National Safety council said was the worst in history.

The 310 included 225 highway deaths, three dead in plane crashes and 82 from other causes, including several drownings and hunting accidents Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Toll Up Sunday

The count almost doubled on Sunday. The toll for the two days up to midnight Saturday was only 174 of which 128 were in highway accidents, two in airplane mishaps and 44 from miscellaneous causes.

The total over the last Fourth of July was 321 dead in highway crashes, 18 in plane accidents, 277 drownings and 188 dead from various other causes.

New York, which had the worst toll of any state over the Fourth of July, was second highest over the "average" weekend with 20 dead.

But California, which was sixth over the Fourth of July, was by far the highest this past weekend with a total of 32 dead—23 in road mishaps, one in a plane accident and eight in other mishaps.

After California and New York were Pennsylvania, with 18 deaths; Wisconsin, with 16; Illinois Texas and Tennessee, 14 each; Georgia and West Virginia, 11 each; and Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and North Carolina, 10 each.

James W. Taylor, 28, of Tooele, Utah, was drowned when he tried to rescue a dog from a reservoir. The dog, which became panicky after diving in to retrieve a pheasant, pushing Taylor under the water and afterward saved itself.

One of the worst weekend accidents was a car-train collision near Cincinnati Saturday in which five persons, all between 20 and 23 in age, were killed when their car was hit by a fast New York Central passenger train.

"The government belongs to the people of Texas," Shivers said, "but you . . . have the responsibility of letting us know what you want."

MEET THE MANAGER—Charles Robbins, manager of Stein's clothiers, 1210 Broadway, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 28, 1912. He went to school there, and played semi-pro baseball. He wanted to play professional baseball but hurt his arm and was unable to continue. He played the violin and for some time was a member of orchestras, and had his own six-piece band. In 1936 he left New York to join Stein's organization at San Antonio. In 1937 he went to Houston to become assistant manager of the store there. In 1939 he became manager of the San Francisco, Calif., store and remained there until 1941 when Stein's closed approximately 30 of its stores because of the war. He then went to Greensboro, N. C., to manage a Stein's store there. In 1943 he went to Little Rock, Ark., as manager, and in 1946 returned to Houston as a window trimmer. He came to Lubbock when Stein's opened its store here in May, 1948. He is a member of B'Nai Brith and Congregation Shaareth Israel. His hobby is baseball. Elmo Wasson, governor of the 183rd Rotary club district, will be in Lubbock tonight for a meeting with committeemen and chairmen at a dinner in the Hilton hotel Yaqui room at 7 p.m., according to Guy C. Victory, president of the local club.

Red-Inspired Riots Injure 23 In Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 8 (AP)—Police headquarters said 23 persons were injured in yesterday's violent outbreak of shooting, bottle-throwing and stoning between police and a group celebrating the anniversary of the Soviet revolution.

A government report said the group, shouting pro-Russian and anti-government slogans, opened fire on the police when they tried to disperse the demonstration. The police fired back and were showered with bottles and stones.

Some 500 demonstrators were marching toward Plaza de Armas square, which was already jammed with hundreds of youths celebrating a traditional students' holiday, when the clash occurred.

Police began a roundup of suspected leaders of the demonstration and said they had seized a large quantity of Communist propaganda leaflets. The Communist party is outlawed in Chile.

COAL WALKOUT PEACE IS SOUGHT

Governor Of Illinois Rejects Lewis Plan For Strike Talks

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. (AP)—John L. Lewis' proposal that Gov. Adlai Stevenson sponsor a conference of Illinois coal operators and United Mine workers has been rejected by the Illinois chief executive.

Lewis said he had suggested the conference to Stevenson after yesterday's meeting here with the union's 200-man policy committee to discuss the seven week old coal strike.

Stevenson, in a statement, said he could see "no purpose that would be served" with such a meeting.

The governor said "Lewis' proposal is for a conference to discuss a settlement in Illinois and Indiana or both, and the Illinois operators on the other hand insist that negotiations be conducted on a national basis."

Meeting Thought Useless

Lewis did not comment on Stevenson's stand since he had not been notified officially. The governor said he decided attempts to bring about such a meeting were useless after talking with Governor Schricker of Indiana and Illinois coal operators.

Earlier, the Illinois and Indiana operators said they did not want separate peace with the UMW. Negotiations by the union with the northern and western operators' groups have broken off.

Lewis said he told Stevenson that if the operators would meet with the union under his sponsorship, "we will do so at any hour or any place he designates."

The UMW chief also told reporters he advised Stevenson that if the public requirements for coal in Illinois are as great as he said, then he should call a conference between the operators and union so "the public can form its own opinion on what is going on."

Official Blamed

Lewis said he believed an agreement in Illinois and Indiana strikes had been blocked by George B. Harrington, president of the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company.

Harrington said he could not block an agreement in Illinois and Indiana strikes if other coal operators wanted an agreement. He added he did not have any "unusual opposition" to Lewis' settlement proposals.

Earlier, a union spokesman told newsmen the UMW wants to bargain on a national basis, "but if that's impossible, we'll bargain on a statewide basis or with individual operators."

Lewis and his policy committee met for three hours behind guarded doors at the Sheraton hotel yesterday discussing the 51-day strike by 380,000 miners. Lewis, discussing the union's demands, said the miners are "prepared to execute a modest agreement which would result in a production increase of 30 to 35 cents a ton of coal mined."

Another meeting was called for this afternoon.

Wedding Dress For Mrs. Hadley To Be Exclusive Creation

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 8. (INS)—A peek at the wedding dress to be worn by Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley when she marries Vice President Barkley was given today by Marusia, the designer who is creating the garment.

Honeymoon Ensemble

Mrs. Hadley's going away ensemble has been given the name of "International Visa." It is a two-piece outfit of pure imported jersey wool of the same shade of blue as the wedding dress. It has a slim, elegantly simple silhouette.

The jacket is a casual hip-length loose coat featuring an inverted box pleat. It is taupe in shade and carries out the blue of the dress in a shadow stitch plaid.

Grocers Of Area To Meet On Wednesday

With the aim of achieving greater efficiency and convenience in the smaller retail food stores, the Lubbock district of the Texas Retail Grocers association will launch a "Better Stores Program" for independent retailers of the South Plains in a meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Adair Music company's store.

The meeting is to be the first of a series of seven which will consider all phases of retail food store operation, Homer Hill, secretary of the association said. Store layout and equipment will be the subject of the initial meeting at which Clyde Stovall, Lubbock, president of the association will preside and in which local food retailers and store experts will participate.

A discussion, in which the participants will be outstanding operators of the area, followed by a question and answer period and the showing of a new factual color-sound slidefilm will make up the meeting program. The film has been recently produced by the National Association of Retail Grocers, of which the local dealers are affiliated.

Plains Contractors Hold Meeting Here

Approximately 25 members, associate members and guests of the South Plains chapter of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America met at a regular monthly business meeting and dinner Monday night at the Hilton hotel.

Media for local chapter publicity and advertising was the main topic of discussion at the meeting's roundtable forum. The forum's results were turned over to the publicity committee, under Chairman George Warner, for action.

Organized in July 1947, the chapter is headed currently by G. E. Jones, with Edwin Merritt as vice-president and Marvin A. Fann as financial secretary.

The so-called century plant usually blooms in ten years, not 100 years, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Dwarf Pre-Fabricated Houses Helping Residents Of Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 8. (AP)—A dwarf house is helping solve Berlin's critical housing problem for less than $300 a house.

Of 1,500,000 flats in Berlin before the war, almost 40 per cent were destroyed by air raids. Although Berlin has now 1,000,000 people less than before the war, more than 300,000 flats are still needed to meet Berlin's housing shortage.

About 100,000 flats have been reconstructed since the end of the war.

New Houses Erected

A new type of pre-fabricated house, the "dwarf," is now being erected by Kurt W. Lange and Heinz Georges. It can be built by the buyer himself, if necessary in half a day, and can easily be enlarged.

The idea of building cheap little transportable houses came from Berlin's association of garden-owners. The chairman, Franz Naulin, wanted to give his members a chance to live on their garden plots. A Berlin architect, Wilfried Schwartz, made the drafts.

The constructors took into account the general aversion against standardized houses. So they standardized the single parts only, not the size or the "face" of the houses.

Any part of the house, such as doors, windows, etc., is changeable and may be placed according to the owner's wishes.

By enlarging the original design, the two-room "dwarf" with its 18 square yards may become an "Idylle" with 22 square yards, "Jewel" with 26 square yards, or even a "Giant" with 60 square yards.

The "Idylle" comprises a kitchen, bedroom and drawing room, a toilet and a household store room for about $500; the "Jewell" costs about $830. It has two bedrooms besides drawing room, kitchen and bathroom.

Laredo Citizen Died At 117, Paper Shows

LAREDO, Nov. 8. (UP)—A newly-discovered baptismal certificate indicated today that a Laredo woman, who died last week, was 117 years old.

The certificate was found yesterday among the effects of Mrs. Encarnacio Refugio de Garcia. It showed her birth date as March 25, 1832, at Ramireno in Zapata county.

Survivors include 70 great grandchildren, 34 grandchildren, two daughters and three sons.

PRICES OF GROCERIES STUDIED

Canned Goods Found Cheaper Than Many Frozen Products

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—The commerce department reported today canned fruits and vegetables in some instances are cheaper for city dwellers than the fresh products, even when the latter are bountiful.

The canned goods also undersell frozen fruits and vegetables by wide margins, the department said in a new "industry report" on canned fruits and vegetables.

"Retail prices of canned fruits and vegetables average generally between 60 and 80 per cent of the prices on equivalent quantities of the corresponding frozen products," the study said.

"Usually, the maximum price among the different brands of the canned item is lower than the minimum price in the range for the comparable frozen fruit or vegetable.

Canned Prices Lower

"In some instances, canned prices are also well below the cost to urban consumers of fresh products, even when the latter are in flush supply."

The conclusions were "based upon a survey and analysis made in the Washington, D. C. area," the report said, adding that "representative chain store prices were used."

The department listed these "comparative prices of selected fresh and processed products" in cents "per net edible pound:"

	Canned	Frozen	Fresh
Green peas	16-26	30-36	28-32
Lima Beans	32-44	45-52	28-34
Snap beans	21-40	36-40	14-17
Sweet corn (kernel)	18-31	35-37
Sweet corn (on cob)	39-55	75-84	13-15
Spinach	16-19	28-35	24-30
Peaches	14-26	31-39	9-11
Orange juice (Unsweetened)	8-10	16-18	12-15

While fresh sweet corn was lowest priced by far at the time the survey was made in August, the report commented that it sold for three to four times the listed prices "at other times during the limited period of its availability."

"Fresh peaches," said the report, "were also completely out of reach of either of the processed (canned or frozen) products as far as price competition was concerned at the height of the 1949 season.

Canned freestone peaches, it said, were "available at 67 to 84 per cent of the price of frozen peaches."

"While the Washington, D. C., area may not be typical of the country as a whole in terms of absolute prices, the relationship between and among the processed and the fresh products found to exist here is probably representative of that in populous centers throughout the country," the report said.

Storm Damage Light In Alaska Hurricane

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 8. (AP)—A raging hurricane emptied its cheeks on tiny Umnak island, near the tip of the Alaskan peninsula, yesterday. Weather bureau reports said early today the storm was moving across the northern Gulf of Alaska at a "gentle" 35 miles an hour.

Peak velocity at Umnak was 175 M.P.H. but property damage was reported to be light. There were no injuries.

Jessup's fact-finding trip.

Manila will be Jessup's first stop on his Far East tour. An informed source said the ambassador-at-large would go on to Batavia, in Indinesia, and then expects to visit Communist-held parts of China as well as meet Nationalist leaders who have been forced to move their capital to Chungking.

The source said Jessup would leave immediately after a final conference with State department officials in Washington Nov. 18.

Jessup has been representing the United States in U. N. assembly debate on disposal of Italy's prewar African colonies. His scheduled departure at the end of next week indicates the U. S. believes the Italian colonies problem will be settled by then.

The fact-finding tour is expected to deal all phases of American policy in the Pacific. The question of U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communists is reportedly only one of the subjects with which Jessup is to deal.

He was expected to confer with Philippines President Elpidio Quirino on the proposed Pacific alliance to contain Communism in Asia and the Pacific islands. Qui-

Armistice Breakfast Slated By Auxiliary

Final plans were mapped out for the Armistice Day breakfast which is to be held in the Junior ballroom of Hotel Lubbock at 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Reservations for the breakfast are to be made not later than Thursday, Auxiliary officers said. Reservations may be made by calling one of the following members: Mrs. Henry F. Evans, 2-2149; Mrs. H. J. Kendrick, 2-3985; Mrs. Sid Lowery, 2-6676.

They also made plans for sending gifts to the "Gift Shop" at the Waco Veterans hospital. The "Gift Shop" is set up so that patients can select Christmas gifts free of charge to send to their respective families.

The local Auxiliary asks that all persons who would like to donate gifts to send to the "Gift Shop" may bring them by the local Legion hall not later than Nov. 21. Gifts need not be wrapped, they said.

The Auxiliary also expresed gratitude to residents of Lubbock and surrounding area for their generous contributions to the Poppy sales on downtown streets Saturday.

Man Recovering From Mishap At Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Texas, Nov. 8. (AP)—Hubert Hayes, 33, Stamps, Ark., was reported recovering from facial injuries today in a Texarkana hospital following a Highway 67 collision in which two other men received minor cuts.

Ernest Adams, 28, of Dallas, driver of the car in which Hayes was riding, said he was blinded west of here by lights on an auto operated by J. J. Norwood, 35, Logansport, La. The cars collided last night.

Both Adams and Norwood escaped serious injuries.

In his speech last week, Mr. Truman compared "reactionaries" of today to the federalists who opposed the Louisiana purchase in Thomas Jefferson's time.

Stassen accused the President of using historical references to "play upon . . . two favorite themes of his: First, that all wealthy and successful men are selfish, shortsighted, cruel and heartless; second, that all who oppose his schemes are reactionary, bigoted and are evil enemies of the common people."

Originally the diamond had a deep lively green color, he said. It came from Belgium in 1938, but he doesn't know any thing more about its history.

The green color changed suddenly to a golden yellow in 1940 when a jeweler accidentally heated the stone to much while shaving down its heavy setting. After scientists inspected it, the owner's wife immediately stopped wearing it. The radioactivity had already started to attack the calcium in the bone of her finger.

University of Michigan scientitsts found the diamond is shooting helium atoms. Its radioactivity is apparently due to one form of radium, they said.

Explanations Given

One possible explanation is that the diamond had once been packed close to radium or radon in the earth. Heavy atomic centers or nuclei from the radium penetrated deep into the diamond.

At Harvard, it was found that diamonds, which are pure carbon, will change to a green color and become radioactive when they are bombarded with deuterons in a cyclotron. Hardy's stone was
