Local Schools Facing Crisis Unless Taxes Paid

Demo Nominee?

Newton D. Baker, who is on a Mediterranean cruise, also advocates referring the question of policy and enforcement to the states.

Jackson Says No Additional Loans In View

Closing Of Public Schools Not Unlikely Unless Taxes Paid Immediately, Business Manager States Friday

Appeal Is Issued

Citizens Urged To Aid Independent School District By Prompt Payment; Hutchinson Asks Cooperation

CLOSING of the Lubbock public schools by March 1 or soon thereafter is not unlikely, unless citizens of the Lubbock independent school district pay their school taxes immediately, or the board of education successfully negotiates for additional loans to pay operating expenses.

That was the picture painted Friday night by A. C. Jackson, business manager and tax collector of the Lubbock school district, who said that there were no visible sources of additional loans.

Appeal Is Made.

Mr. Jackson's statement followed an appeal by Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president of the Lubbock board of education, for immediate payment of school taxes. Doctor Hutchinson also had indicated that he feared the city schools would be forced to close before the end of the present term.

A bill signed Thursday by Gov. Ross Sterling preventing taxes this year from becoming delinquent until October 15, applies to the Lubbock independent school district according to an explanation received from the Associated Press at Austin.

The tax measure applies to independent school districts except where the school district is a part of the city government and the school taxes are collected by the city, the Associated Press reported.

Juvenile "Snow Gang" Boss Repentant On Eve Of Departure For Reformatory

REPENTANCE creeping into his memoirs, the 16-year-old "chief" of the juvenile "Snow gang" has written the press another letter, in which he bares his love for a girl and reassures himself that "she will wait for me."

Preston Carver, self-styled leader of the gang, and two cronies, Dick Owen, 16, and Willis Frost, 14, today will be taken to the state reformatory at Gatesville. The last communication received was written in the county jail and consisted of six laboriously pencilled pages, relayed somehow to the newspaper offices, where a small boy placed the packet on a desk and withdrew as unobtrusively as he had come.

Explaining that he had been leader of the "Snow gang" since 1928, Carver praised the "nerve" of his recruits and declared that the first time he was in jail he learned "not to do crime unless he could do time."

Paroles of the three youths were revoked by County Judge E. L. Pitts this week when they were brought before him on charges of stealing automobile tires. Carver and Frost were convicted before County Judge Robert Bean in juvenile court, December 24, on a theft charge and were permitted paroles. The day previous, Owens had received a parole after being convicted of automobile theft.

The trio will be confined to the state reformatory at least a year and may be kept their until 21 years old, subject to the order of the court, Judge Pitts said.

"The coppers have all of the famous Snow gang," wrote Carver.

"We have learned that 'the way of the transgressor is hard'."

Paul Frost, a brother of Willis was convicted of automobile theft in ninety-ninth district court before Judge Clark M. Mullican during the January term and sentenced to spend three years in the state penitentiary at Huntsville. Jack Smith was convicted in connection with the same theft and dealt a two-year penitentiary term.

Cyrus Frost, member of the same Frost family and a former convict, was one of two men to escape from the Lubbock county jail early Tuesday morning. He has not been recaptured.

Jack Frost, fourth of the brothers, was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary during the same term of ninety-ninth district court on a charge of theft exceeding $50. He was arrested in connection with the same case as were Carver and Willis Frost.

Whirlwind Vote Succession In Lower House Gives Support To Administration In Proposals For Relief

Senate Up In Arms

Democratic Leaders Prepare For Tug Of War; Plan To Go Any Limits To Fulfill Objects Of Program

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In a whirlwind succession of votes the house today threw its weight behind the administration as senate Democrats settled into their cleats for a tug of war over relief which may last beyond March 4.

Voting at the end of a day of tense dispute, the house rejected one after another five proposals for the government to give $25,000,000 to the needy. Four of them were modifications of the original senate provision to appropriate the fund for the Red Cross. They were designed to meet objections raised after that agencey refused to administer the fund.

To Go To Any Limit

While debate rang loud in the house, senate democrats issued a relief manifesto which they warned the administration they would go to any limits to fulfill.

The first point of their six phase program was the $25,000,000 proposal which the house rejected.

Senate leaders saw in the decision of the house a strong posibility the dispute would stretch the present meeting beyond March 4.

First of the four house votes which preceded its rejection of the Robinson proposal was one to give the fund to the president and permit him to specify the agency which would distribute it.

Next was one to provide distribution through a governmental ag-

Convicted Men Hanged Friday At Canon City

John Walker, Andrew Halliday And Claude Ray Pay With Their Lives On Gallows For Slaying Of Officer

Three Flip Coins

Farewell Letters Written By Condemned Trio; Confession To Robbery And Murder Made By Convicted Bandits

(By Associated Press)

CANYON CITY, Colo., Jan. 30. Three bank bandits were executed at the state penitentiary here tonight for slaying a Colorado deputy sheriff during their flight from possees which pursued them from Kansas into Colorado following a bank holdup at Manter, Kan., in March, 1930.

The trio was composed of John Walker, Andrew Halliday and Claude Ray.

Never boastful of their exploits after their capture near Jetmore, Kansas, about 24 hours after the bank robbery, and apparently sanguine of their fate, the three men—two of them in their early twenties—were reported to have gone to the gallows calmly.

Details Not Given

The state law prohibits official announcement of the details of execution. Newspaper men are barred from the death chamber.

Warden Francis E. Crawford said the condemned men had been hanged between 8:46 p. m., and 9:57 p. m.

Ray was the first of the trio to die, contrary to what was reported to have been a previous agreement that Walker would go first, Halliday was hanged second, and Walker last.

Warden Crawford Ray had subjected to the hanging machinery—unique, in that no trap is used and the victim is jerked upward from the floor—at 8:46 p. m., Halliday at 9:23 and Walker, at 9:57.

The assumption was the lapses in time between the respective hangings representing in large part the time required for the condemned men to die.

Recently the prison administration curtailed even the small amount of information given out on executions. Previously they had announced how long it required for a condemned man to be pronounced dead.

Demand Tariff Revision And Reform In Tax

Texas Farm Bureau Federation Passes Resolutions In Meet At Dallas; Approve Farm Board Recommendations

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 30.—The Texas Farm Bureau Federation demanded tariff revision and tax equalization in resolutions adopted today at the closing session of the three-day eleventh annual convention here.

The group approved the Federal Farm Board's recommendation to congress to increase duties on agricultural imports. This action was directed especially toward imported vegetable oils, of which it was claimed more than $75,000,000 annually is brought into the United States either on the free list or at low duty. This resolution was aimed to aid livestock development and dairy farming.

Federal Tax Asked

A federal tax was asked on oleomargarine products used as butter substitutes and the use of butter rather than substitutes in federal and state institutions was urged.

Revision of "the present antiquated revenue system to place the tax burden where there is ability to pay" was demanded and to accomplish this, the group asked for a state board of equalization or a tax commission to bring about more equitable assessment methods; classification of intangible property for assessment and taxation purposes; a state income tax; and a production tax on natural resources, as a means of reducing the state property tax.

Largest Crowd Of Year Attends Last Charm School Talk

With the largest crowd of the year in attendance, the Avalanche-Journal Charm school was concluded Friday afternoon at the Uptown Dance Palace.

Women of Lubbock and vicinity filled evefy seat in the auditorium to hear Miss Nancy Earle deliver the last lecture of this year's school and many stood during the entire afternoon. The talk was for women, exclusively, and the program was supplemented by a showing of house dresses and lingerie by the Stephens Dry Goods company and Jarvines.

Ice cream was served at the close of the school by the Bell Ice Cream company.

The school, which opened Monday afternoon, has continued through the week with larger crowds in attendance daily. Questions, asked by the women and answered from the platform, were features of the school today.

Grover Coleman Convicted Of Assault With Automobile

Found guilty by a jury in county court of aggravated assault with an automobile, Grover Coleman was fined $25 and costs exceeding that amount early Friday night before Judge E. L. Pitts.

The trial was the outgrowth of an accident at Avenue Q and Thirteenth street, October 21, when an automobile driven by Coleman collided with another operated by Clarence J. Rollo, of 1626 Sixteenth street. Rollo was injured seriously. Coleman and three companions escaped with less serious injuries.

Verdict of the jury was returned at 7 o'clock Friday night after deliberations of about an hour.

Fitzgerald Is Refused Bond

Prisoner Remanded To Jail After Habeas Corpus Hearing; Faces Indictments In Four Counties

Aready sentenced to a total of 20 years in state prisons, Richard ("Dick") Fitzgerald was remanded to the Lubbock county jail without bond Friday pending disposition of indictments against him in Lubbock, Lynn, Tom Green and Wichita counties.

The order returning Fitzgerald to the county jail was handed down here by Judge Clark M. Mullican following a habeas corpus hearing in ninety-ninth district court.

New Mexico authorities sought to extradite Fitzgerald to Logan, N. M., where he is wanted in connection with the robbery of the McFarland Brothers bank, August 12, 1930. T. C. Compton, district attorney, of Clovis, attended the hearing.

Under Sentence

Lynn county desires custody of Fitzgerald because of a 10-year sentence imposed upon him in a court there.

A ninety-ninth district court grand jury indicted Fitzgerald here, charging him with burglary in connection with the robbery of the Davis and Humphrey wholesale grocery house at 901 Avenue F in the early fall of 1929. Sheriff Wade Hardy and Chief Deputy Sheriff O. B. Conley, of Lubbock, arrested Fitzgerald on the indictment last December 22 at Big Spring and returned him here. Trial of Fitzger-

Vote Buying Charges Are Made To Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—A charge that votes were bought for former Senator Thomas F. Baynard in the 1930 Delaware democratic convention which nominated him for another senate term was made today before the senate campaign funds committee.

It came from Wright Dizer, a friend of the late Josiah Marvel, who lost to Baynard. He added that while he was not certain of the source of funds used for Baynard the "general suspicion is that it lay between "John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, and Pierre S. Du Pont, wealthy Delaware manufacturer."

Demand Probe Of Statement On Mussolini

Heflin Wants Investigation Of Charge Il Duce Struck Child With Car; Prepare For Butler Court-Martial

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Premier Mussolini had "already forgotten" Major General Smedley D. Butler's Philadelphia speech tonight but an approaching courtmartial forcibly recalled it to the fighting marine.

While the first ripple of comment swept across congressional waters, preparations went ahead for the prosecution and defense of the marine who distinguished himself in carrying the battles of the sea soldiers to their enemies all around the world.

Sure of Redress.

Mussolini cabled Italian Ambassador De Martino that he had felt sure he "would obtain just and prompt redress from the fairness the loyalty and the friendship of the American government."

He instructed the ambassador to "communicate to the federal government that I consider closed the incident which for my part I have already forgotten."

In the senate, Heflin of Alabama demanded that before Butler was disciplined an investigation be made into the truth of the statement that Mussolini ran over a child and did not stop.

"It sounds exactly like Mussolini," Heflin said, recalling, "I stood here three years ago and related stories of Italian Masons being murdered at the instance of Mussolini. There were 137 of them in one night if I remember correctly."

"Why should any American general bow down and crawl in the dust to the most red-handed tyrant on earth—Mussolini —the monarch of the old world?" he asked.

Late today, Secretary Adams approved a list of six rear admirals and one major general of the marines for the court to try Butler. Captain William C. Watts, chief of staff of the fourth naval district, Philadelphia, was named judge advocate to prosecute the case for the government.

Plan Hearings On Bills To Make State Pro Law Conform

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—The house committee on criminal jurisprudence will hold a public hearing Tuesday night on two bills to make the penalties of the Dean law, state prohibition statute, conform to the penalties of the federal statute. The bills were introduced by Representatives Kayton and Anderson of San Antonio and Petsch of Fredericksburg.

Federal statutes classify the first two violations as misdemeanors, punishable by a fine or jail sentence. The Dean law makes the first violation a felony with the offender subject to a penitentiary sentence.

Pierre Laval Confirmed As Head Of French Government

PARIS, Jan. 30. (AP)—Pierre Laval, a butcher's son and one of the youngest of France's prime ministers, was confirmed as the head of the government by the chamber of deputies in two test votes tonight.

The youthful prime minister staked the life of his ministry on a laconic resolution expressing approval of the ministerial declaration, which he had read earlier in the day and in which he asked for peace among the political groups so he might carry on the country's business without interruptions of political bickering.

Arctic Explorer Has Cold Feet

EL PASO, Jan. 30. (AP)— Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd may have lived for months through sub-zero temperatures in the arctic and antarctic but early today he complained of "cold feet" while making a night drive from El Paso to Roswell, N. M., in an army car lent for the occasion.

In an Alamogordo, N. M., cafe, 100 miles northeast of here, the admiral mentioned the benumbed condition of his extremities A clerk quickly proffered the admiral a blanket, which the admiral accepted with equal alacrity and proceeded to bundle up his feet. The clerk refused payment for the blanket and advised Byrd to keep it as a souvenir.

Further along in the journey the automobile transporting Byrd broke down. He hailed a passing motorist and hitch-hiked his way to Roswell, where he was met by an army plane from Biggs Field, El Paso, which took him to Amarillo.

Mrs. Walker Free On Bond

Lubbock Woman Makes Bond On Assault With Intent To Murder Charge In Connection With Shooting

Posting bond of $7,500 in justice court, Mrs. J. Hugh Walker was freed at about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Terry county jail at Brownfield to appear before a 106th district court grand jury there at 9 a. m. Monday on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The charge was filed against Mrs. Walker as a result of the wounding of Miss Beatrice Carr, 19, who like Mrs. Walker, is of L bbock. The shooting occurred early Monday night as Miss Car sat in an automobile in front of a Brownfield hotel. Attendants at Lubbock sanitarium Friday night reported no marked change in the critical condition of Miss Carr, whose right lung was punctured by a shot from a Leuger pistol.

Examining trial for Mrs. Walker was held late Thursday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Shelton at Brownfield. Hugh Walker, husband of the accused woman, also was arrested after the shooting, and released on his own recognizance to appear before the grand jury.

House Votes For Embargo Or Tariff On Foreign Oil; Legislators Leave For Outing And Good Natured Razzing

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. — Another legislative week ended today, the lawmakers planned to leave tonight for an outing and a good natured razzing at and near Houston. The razzing will take place at the annual gridiron dinner of the Houston Salesmanship club tomorrow night.

The house went on record today in favor of a tariff or embargo on foreign oil, as demanded by independent oil operators. The vote was 85 to 32. The concurrent resolution, introduced by Representative Housley of Albany asked that congress act this season.

"Would Raise Prices

Representatives McDougald of Beaumont and Hatchitt of Wichita Falls led the fight on the resolutions. McDougald argued that action requested by the resolution would cut off American export markets. Hatchitt said it would raise the price of gasoline to the motorist.

Answering a question which asked if the Democratic party had not always been opposed to protective tariffs, Housley said he would not claim to be a Democrat if that meant standing by while people in his district starved and the northern manufacturers enjoyed protection on articles consumed in the south.

Senator Woodul of Houston introduced a bill to legalize Sunday picture shows and theater entertainment. A similar bill was passed during the last session but was vetoed.

"Bad John" Wright Dies To End His Colorful Career

POUND, Va., Jan. 30. (AP)—"Bad John" Wright, who made the law feared in the mountain country where he himself had been a feudist, is dead.

The inspiration for "Devil Judd" Tolliver in John Fox's "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Wright in his 88 years had an even more colorful career than his fictional counterpart. His 40 years as a peace officer in the Cumberlands, where success often depended on a steady nerve and a lightning-like trigger finger, brought him fame and a host of friends in his native hills.

"Bad John" died early today in his little mountain cabin near the Kentucky border. He had been in ill health many months.

Penalty To Be Charged After Today For Auto Registration; Tax Collector's Office To Be Open Until Midnight

Automobile and truck operators who have not purchased 1931 license plates when this day ends will be subject to arrest on a misdemeanor charge and will be required to pay a 20 per cent penalty when they do buy the tags.

Office of the county tax collector, where motor vehicles are registered and license plates issued, will be open until midnight, if applications for the new tags are received until then, it has been announced by W. H. Carpenter, deputy tax collector. The county tax colector's office is on the first floor of the courthouse.

The office will be opened at 6 o'clock this morning and clerks will receive registration fees and issue license plates through the noon-hour without a stop, Mr. Carpenter said. Only about 50 per cent of the automobiles and truck in the county had been registered for 1931 late Thursday.

Two-Cent Coach Fare Goes Into Effect On Frisco Line

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30. (AP)—A two-cent coach fare will go into effect on the Frisco railroad system in nine southwestern states tomorrow night, and on seven other railroads, between points where they compete with the Frisco.

The reduction from 3.6 to 2 cents a mile was designed by the Frisco management to meet motor bus and private automobile competition which has been making serious inroads on its passenger business. Frisco officials also said the cut was the "railroads contribution toward bringing business improvement."

Booth Tarkington Sees Victory In 14-Year Fight Against Blindness

By PAUL C. HOWE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BALTIMORE, Jan. 30. (AP)—With the aid of medical science and his own determination, Booth Tarkington has fought total blindness to the beauty of light.

"At present the picture is a smudge but I can distinguish color and form and my doctors say that my vision will return," the Indiana novelist said today as he prepared to leave Johns Hopkins hospital.

His fight for light started 14 years ago and during the long struggle cataracts were removed from both eyes and a detached retina in the right eye corrected. Last August, Tarkington revealed today, he became totally blind. Early this month he entered the Wilmer institute at Johns Hopkins for the final phase of a long series of surgical treatments.

Another cataract was removed from his left eye. This week the bandages were removed and the creator of "Penrod," "Seventeen" and "Alice Adams" saw again.

Special glasses are to be prepared for him to wear, one while eating, another for reading, and a third when looking at distant

Proposal Would Cut Number Of Texas Counties To 100

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—Calling attention to the amount of money spent in Texas each year in maintaining 253 county governments Senator Poage of Waco said he would draw up a proposal to cut the number of Texas counties to 100.

Senator Poage said about $25,000 in salaries was paid to office holders to operate the average county government for a year. He said in the larger counties the figure would run higher. He estimated that $10,000,000 would be cut from the cost of county government operation under the new plan. In discussing his plan Senator Poage said that in counties with the larger cities the county and city governments could be combined. Where such consolidation of government was possible the rural portions of the counties would be cut off and joined with like rural portions of adjacent counties.

Blame Congress Agitation For Slowing Relief Drive

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.(AP)—James G. Blaine, chairman of the disaster relief committee of the New York county Red Cross, issued a formal statement tonight blaming the agitation in congress over the $25,000,000 relief appropriation for retarding subscriptions to the Red Cross.

"Our campaign was progressing splendidly," he said, "until the recent discussions arose in Washington. They have caused many people to withhold contributions because they felt their gifts would be unnecessary if the congressional gift were made.

"The sum of $5,000,000 has been appropriated by the Red Cross to take care of the needs of thousands of men, women and children in the drouth area, but this fund is rapidly being expended."

Officer Charged In Hart Slaying

MEMPHIS, Jan. 30. (AP) — Murder charges were filed here Friday against Bill Guess, deputy sheriff at Ardmore, Okla., in connection with the slaying of Elbert Hart alias Pat O'Day, at an Estelline filling station Thursday night. Hart was shot when he broke away from a posse of Oklahoma and Hall county officers seeking his arrest on a charge of murdering Buddy Moorehead, Ardmore city detective on January 23.

Guess waived preliminary and immediately made a $2,500 bond set by Justice of the Peace R. N. Gillis. The officer left for Ardmore later in the day.

The School Tax Problem

ON the front page of this paper appears an article with which every citizen of Lubbock should be vitally concerned. It is the story which quotes Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, school board president, to the effect that there is a danger of curtailment of the public educational system if taxes due the independent school district are not immediately paid.

The schools are undoubtedly in the front rank of Lubbock's public possessions. To the fine, efficient system which leads so capably to the doors of the great college at our gates, is due no little credit for this city's rapid growth and development. People won't live where schools are below par and we'd all best remember it.

The financial crisis which the schools are facing today presents as much of a call to arms as would the advance of hostile troops upon the South Plains capital. There are no "ifs," "ands" or "buts" about it. Something must be done and that "something" is the payment of taxes.

The school buildings which dot this growing city, the faculties of the schools and the administrative forces which preside over both are not the property of the school board nor the employes of the school board. They are the property and the employes of every citizen of this community, who in fact are the stockholders of this very necessary public institution.

Young Mr. A. C. Jackson is the business manager of our organization of public education. Today he is even more receptive than usual. Go to his office, on the second floor of the City hall, and pay those taxes for the independent school district. If they are not paid, Lubbock is going to be in a bad way.

The Morning Avalanche doesn't believe Lubbock can afford to see the program of the public schools interfered with. Neither do we feel that Lubbock can afford to stand in the limelight and attract the finger of scorn which will be deservedly pointed at this community should it fail its children in time of need.

Pay those school taxes today for the kiddies' sake, for Lubbock's sake—that the progress of education may continue, unabated!

CREDIT AND BUSINESS

Modern business is based in great part upon credit. Big business and small business and all branches of business are conducted on a credit basis. It therefore follows that when credit fails business will fail.

It is no business secret that the chain of credit extends all the way down from the source of raw materials to the ultimate consumer. Everybody uses credit. The manufacturer, the merchant, the farmer, the customer, all are borrowers.

Business benefits from credit, of course, or it would not grant it, but the public also reaps rich benefits from liberal credit. Automobiles, fine furniture, good clothing, radios, pianos and many other quasi-luxuries are possible for most people only through credit.

If the credit method of merchandising is to endure those who receive the benefit from it must fulfill their contracts. That this has been done is evident from the fact that the great majority of people who buy on credit pay their debts promptly.

A cardinal virtue of the American people is the honesty they exhibit in their relations with their fellowmen. No greater insult can be heaped upon the American than to brand him "deadbeat."

Clouds have silver linings, but bubbles do not.

Practical Health Problems

SYMPTOMS OF RHEUMATISM

Abdominal Pains May Be First Indication Of Rheumatic Condition, Study Reveals

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The human body is a complicated mechanism through which the blood circulates.

The nervous system is co-ordinated through the spinal cord and the brain. Hence a pain in one part of the body may be the manifestation of something seriously wrong in some other part, exactly as a bell ringing on the second floor of a house may indicate that a burglar is trying to enter a basement window.

In a recent survey of the general subject of rheumatism, Dr. J. J. J. Giraldi, associated with a center for research in diseases of the heart in Bristol, England, describes a large number of cases of acute rheumatic conditions in which the first symptoms of importance were related to the abdomen rather than to the joints or to the heart, as is quite commonly expected.

Thus in four cases concerning boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 18, the first symptoms of rheumatic fever were severe abdominal pain, vomiting and diarrhea, followed within a few months by the development of murmur in the heart and later by pains in the limbs and all of the symptoms of acute rheumatism.

A study of medical literature reveals that these symptoms have been described by medical investigators as far back as 1635 and that a series of studies of these symptoms were made in 1894 by several physicians.

Sometimes the pains are related particularly to the appendix, and it seems possible that the rheumatic infection may on occasion manifest itself first in a severe form of appendicitis. On the other hand, it is quite possible that a severe rheumatic infection of the hip joint may cause pains which are much like those occurring in appendicitis.

Sir James MacKenzie, noted British investigator of diseases of the heart, emphasized repeatedly the importance of detecting the earliest possible symptoms of disease in order to accomplish what may be accomplished for its prevention and for its control.

It would seem to be especially important that children who complain of severe abdominal pain, with but slight fever and with but little other noticeable cause for the pain, be watched more carefully thereafter for the earliest signs of rheumatic conditions, particularly those affecting the heart.

Prefer Government Aid

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—If there is anyone in congress who, feeling called on to refer critically to big business, is entitled to have his comment accepted without discount for the least bit of radicalism in the author's makeup, that member surely is Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York.

Far from being a red, the Empire State lawmaker expresses grave alarm at the sentiment which he believes is spreading throughout the country.

In order to survive, he warns, capitalism must "clean its own house" immediately.

ILLUSTRATIVELY, the New Yorker (one of the richest legislators on Capitol hill and a scion of one of the oldest, bluest-blooded and most conservative families in America) views the present industrial and agricultural distress with the liveliest anxiety, as unqualifiedly dangerous to established institutions.

It is by deduction from the theories of social and economic philosophers like Representative Fish that one arrives at an explanation of the arguments advanced from unexpected quarters, in favor of federal government aid of the cities' unemployed and of the hunger-stricken farmers alike, in preference to reliance upon Red Cross activities.

Though I am not certain that Congressman Fish concurs in it, I do hear the idea advanced at the capitol that both urban and rural sufferers resent charity of the Red Cross variety, while at least subconsciously considering that they have an actual right to treasury help, as a part of insurance they have paid for in previous taxation.

THIS CONCEPT finds expression a trifle vaguely, but it can be patched together in not entirely indefensible fashion, from the angle, at all events, of those whose troubles are generally set down to over-production, or under-consumption—meaning a surplus, in either case.

Incidentally, it is a line of reasoning which has its appeal to the rank-and-file of folk who, extremely ill able to afford it, are urged to contribute to the Red Cross, to relieve the situation.

After all, there is an unescapable paradox in the proposition that millions of people are hungry, ragged and perhaps shelterless as a result of a surplus. To get away from the thought that a few individuals must have had far more than their share, or such a condition could not prevail, is well-nigh impossible.

IF SO, the corollary seems to be that the small group who received too much ought to furnish relief, rather than the large number who still hang onto their jobs, indeed, but contrive to skimp along only scantily.

And one can but wonder if the wealthy minority's voluntary gifts to the Red Cross will be relatively as liberal as the none-too-prosperous vast majority's.

On the other hand, might not the burden of an allowance from the federal treasury, fed largely by levies upon plethoric incomes, be more evenly distributed?

Of course such talk, so plainly put, comes mainly from insurgent sources. Nevertheless, for practical purposes it is pretty obviously borne out by recent congressional voting, heavily on the side of the treasury method of meeting the emergency.

PROBABLY the destitute are more interested in being fed and clothed than in the question whether it is done by the Red Cross or the U. S. treasury.

However, there evidently is a considerable body of public opinion which realizes that the money will come, to a great extent, from one set of pockets if it passes through Red Cross hands, and from quite a different set of pockets if it is taken out of the treasury.

The relief problem really pivots on this issue rather than on the risk of pauperizing the nation. The few millions immediately involved are unimportant, but the precedent is deemed vital.

PROMISE OR MENACE

The head of a great American chemical manufacturing concern predicts the end of all disease in 50 years. He included the dread cancer within the scope of his prophecy which he bases on the progress now being made in chemical science.

The prediction does not come within the realm of the impossible. In fact, many unversed in chemistry or medicine have long been confident that mankind would soon conquer the last of its disease enemies. This confidence has been strengthened and rewarded by the progress made in the battle against tuberculosis and the virtual elimination of disease epidemics in the United States.

Chemicals have long been employed effectively in the destruction of the enemies of vegetable life. Why should they not be as effective against the germs which prey upon human life? Already chemistry and surgery have made great headway against disease.

But what will it avail chemical science if it frees humanity from the menace of disease only to destroy humanity with poison gases, devastating explosives and other fiendish munitions of war? Some of the very chemical formulas devised to rid mankind of its invisible enemy—disease—are more invisible and a thousand times more deadly to man than the germs for the eradication of which they are intended.

Upon chemistry is civilization dependent in great part for its future happiness and welfare. Chemical research must not be interrupted nor restricted. There is no menace to man in the advance of chemical science. The menace is the use to which man puts his chemical knowledge. The world must see to it that this knowledge is employed for the protection of man not for his destruction.

Alienists may call it a complex, but in everyday life it is known as plain orneriness.

The drought was a godsend to the administration. Else where would it find another gold brick to sell the farmers?

The way of the transgressor remains similar to that of the pedestrian.

Keeping up with the times resolves itself into a problem of keeping up with expenses.

If a wife could handle her husband as adroitly as her daughter does family jars might be fewer.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

The same was in the beginning with God.

All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.

In him was life; and the life was the light of men.—St. John 1:1-4.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

SHAKESPEARE NEVER SAW AN ACTRESS.—Until 1660 the English Theatre was an exclusively masculine organization. Men and boys enacted all the roles. The heroine was usually acted by a beardless boy, while older feminine characters would be represented by fully grown men. The England of Shakespeare's time placed actors in the same category with vagrants and malefactors. A woman on the stage would have invited the most summary treatment on the part of the civil authorities and the audience. Not until after the Restoration did English public opinion of the Theatre become more liberal.

SIGNATURE OF THE ALMIGHTY.—The Hebrew word "Emeth" (Truth) is considered to be the signature of the Almighty. Beginning with the first and ending with the last letter of the Hebrew alphabet, it symbolizes God's Eternalness. The Sages of the Talmud narrate that, on frequent occasions, scrolls fell from heaven, inscribed with this word, (the autograph of the Almighty) in answer to prayers. The Alpha and Omega of the Church is derived from this Hebrew word. See: Talmud Yoma, 69, b.

Murder At Bridge

AIFA FICTION TYPE

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON," "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

©1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR DUNDEE believes that JUANITA SELIM and DEXTER SPRAGUE were both murdered because they were partners in a blackmail scheme while the police theory is that they were killed to avenge "SWALLOTAIL SAMMY" SAVELLI, whom Nita is supposed to have double-crossed.

Of Dundee's six possible suspects—JUDGE MARSHALL, owner of the death weapon; POLLY BEALE who married suddenly after Sprague's death; JOHN DRAKE; JANET RAYMOND, in love with Sprague, and FLORA MILES—his case is strongest against Flora. He believes it possible she killed Nita, thinking Nita had told her husband TRACEY, of some scandal involving her, and that Tracey killed Sprague to protect his wife from a charge of murder. He learns that Flora rushed Tracey into marriage and that he, a "male wallflower," was very flattered.

Taking up the trail in New York he finds that the dress in which Nita was cremated and which he thinks was her wedding dress, was bought in January, 1918. He then goes to the Forsyte School, where all the women involved in the mystery attended, and where Nita was director of the Easter play. He learns from GLADYS EARLE, bitter old maid, who was extremely fond of Nita, that Nita had not been divorced the year before. Miss Earle hints at scandals that have been hushed up by the wealthy parents of the Forsyte girls.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII.

Bonnie Dundee's heart leaped, but he forced himself to go softly. "I suppose," he said casually, "a fashionable school like this has plenty of carefully hushed-up scandals—"

"I'll say it has!" Miss Earle retorted inelegantly, and with ghoulish satisfaction. "Money can do anything! It makes my blood simply boil when I think of how those Forsyte girls in Hamilton—so smug and snobbish in their hick town 'society'—must be running poor Nita down, now that she's dead and can't defend herself! . . . If the truth was only known about some of them—"

Dundee could almost have embraced the life-soued spinster—she was making his task so easy for him.

"I've met them all, of course, since Mrs. Selim was murdered," he said depreciatingly, "and I must say they seem to be remarkably fine women and girls—"

"Oh, are they?" Miss Earle snorted. "Flora Hackett — Mrs. Tracey Miles she is now—didn't happen to tell you the nice little fuss she kicked up when she was here, did she? Oh, no! I guess not!"

"She looks," Dundee agreed, "like a girl who would have made things lively."

"I'll say so! Miss Pendleton nearly had nervous prostration!" Miss Earle plunged on, then fear blanched her face for a moment. "You know you've promised you'll never tell Miss Pendleton or Miss Macon that you talked to me!"

"You can depend on it that I will protect you," Dundee assured her. "When did Flora Hackett kick up her little fuss?"

"Let's see . . . Flora graduated in June, 1920," Miss Earle obliged, willingly. "So it must have been in 1919—yes, because she had one more year here. Of course they let her come back! . . . Money! . . . She took the lead in our annual Easter play in 1919, and just because Serena Hart complimented her and told her she was almost as good as a professional—"

"Serena Hart!" Dundee wonderingly repeated the name of one of America's most popular and beloved stage stars.

"Yes — Serena Hart," Miss Earle repeated proudly. "She was a Forsyte girl, too, and of course she did go into the chorus herself, after she graduated in—let's see—1917, because it was the second year after I'd come to work here—and Miss Pendleton nearly died, because she was afraid Forsyte's precious prestige would be lowered; but when Serena became a star everything was grand, of course, and Forsyte was proud to claim her. . . . Any way, Serena comes to the Easter play every year she can, if she isn't in a Broadway play herself, of course, and so she saw Flora acting in the Easter play in 1919, and told her she was awfully good. She was, too, but not half the actress that little Penny Crain was, when she had the lead in the play four or five years ago."

Dundee's heart begged him to ask for more details of Penny's triumph, but his job demanded that he keep the now too-voluble Miss Earle to the business in hand.

"And Flora Hackett — " he prompted.

"Well, the next day after the play the Easter vacation began, you know, and Flora forged a letter from her father, giving her permission to spend the 10 day's Easter holiday with one of the girls who lived in Atlanta," Miss Earle continued, with great relish. "Well, sir, right in the middle of the holidays, here came her father and mother—they were both alive then—and asked for Flora! They wired the girl in Atlanta, and Flora wasn't there, and the Hacketts were

SICK HEADACHE WENT AWAY

Texas Lady Benefited By Taking Black-Draught For Constipation Troubles.

Corsicana, Texas.—Mrs. E. G. Grimmett, of 1215 West Twelfth Street, this city, writes:

"When a child, I suffered from constipation, and my mother gave me Thedford's Black-Draught. It always helped me. Since grown, I have continued to use Black-Draught, as I have never found anything else so good.

"I used to have sick headache so much, caused from biliousness and constipation, but I don't have it any more, I am thankful to say.

"I give it to my children in a tea for colds and biliousness, as I have always found it helpful.

"I believe Black-Draught helped my husband more than anything he ever took for stomach trouble. He would have attacks of indigestion and would often have to go to bed. Black-Draught would rid his system of the poison caused from this trouble. We think Black-Draught is a fine medicine."

Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in a natural way. 88-201

Collegians Hold Spot Light Of Social Interest During Week-End

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

WHEN feature writers are short of material, they seek statistics such as directories yield. Since I'm running short this afternoon, some one suggested the city directory and I've been learning some things for the first time—an assortment of knowledge:

The only sand and gravel company listed in the directory is run by a woman—Mrs. Ozella Shelby. There are 99 notaries public in the city; 47 lawyers; 59 insurance agencies; 84 grocery stores with chains each counting as one; 16 types of contractors, including brick, building and general, cement drilling, electrical, excavating, flooring, hauling, heating and ventilating, paving, pipe line, plastering, plumbing, road, roofing and sheet metal.

One of each of the following is listed here: bookseller, map maker—the kind on paper and not rejuvenation of our faces, bottle market adjuster, art clay and art glass works, key-maker, automobile top maker and trimmer, barrel and box manufacturer, bicycle shop, cafeteria, butter manufacturer, dental laboratory, dog and cat hospital, various kinds of engineers—each in his separate class, express company farm lighting equipment, floor-sweep manufacturer, fur renovater, gas distributors, raw hide, skin and fur dealer, hosiery mending, iron and steel works, junk dealer, masseur, letter shop, news gathering bureau, daily newspaper plant, outdoor advertising company, meat packing firm, wholesale paper company, piano tuner, pipe line company, premium stamp company, rug renovator, tent and awning manufacturer, taxidermist, towel supply company, upholsterer and yeast manufacturer.

There are 54 restaurants; 25 cotton buyers, and 29 barber shops.

There were a lot of others, but this will indicate some of the different trades, businesses and professions.

FOR WAFFLE IRON

HERE is a good way to care for the waffle iron: Before you begin using your new waffle iron, apply Wessen oil to both top and bottom grids with the aid of a small pastry brush, so that a thin coating of oil covers the entire baking surface. No further grease or oil is to be used thereafter. Next, attach the cord to the electric outlet, and connect and disconnect the current at the appliance end of the cord. Then close the iron and preheat 10 minutes—no more—for if the iron is too hot the waffle will brown unevenly, and if it is not hot enough the waffle will stick.

CHARM, AGAIN

THE Charm school again: Whatever else women of Lubbock liked or disliked about Miss Nancy Earle, who conducted the Avalanche-Journal Charm school this week, they liked her genuineness. More than one woman has called me during the week to mention this fact, alone.

"She seems to be sincere in the things she says in the school and in carrying out the programs she advocates," several have called to say.

The Avalanche-Journal, as well as Miss Earle, appreciates that one thing. True charm is genuine and unless Miss Earle dones practice the things she advocates, she has lost half of her appeal. Actions speak so much louder than words, as a lot of people have said before me.

THE QUESTIONS

WHILE I did not hear all of the questions and answers that were repeated in the Charm school, one came up Friday afternoon that drew a patter of applause and I thought deserved this appreciation. It had followed several questions earlier in the week on the harm of smoking and Miss Earle's reaction to the habit.

Yesterday's question was "Why are women who do not smoke so terribly concerned about women who do?"

That is something I would like to know, too. We are all so inclined—and I mean men as well as women—to dip in the other person's habits and business so much more than we want them to meddle with ours. I can't say this any better than to quote "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone."

The things of which we do not approve are so terrible when the other person does them, and we wonder why they do not approve of the things that we consider are right.

YOUR HOBBY

DO you have a hobby? Eminent people usually advise one. The thing you do is not so important; the hobby is for the sake of diverting interest and bringing a relaxation from the routine of business or pleasure or what have you.

People have all sorts of hobbies: collecting pitchers, antiques, hotel towels, cacti, rare pieces of china, first editions, bells, etchings, animal trinkets, charity work, singing, raising cats—there are any number of things that one may do to fill idle hours and to sandwich in between the busy ones. The thing is that a hobby is a useful sort of habit to have around to serve as an outlet for feelings and a cushion for nerves.

DOUGHNUTS ARE BETTER IF COOKED A FEW AT A TIME

Likewise Coffee Has More Delicious Flavor When Roasted in Small Lots

Experience shows that if too many doughnuts are put into the hot fat at once, the cooking process is hindered. The temperature of the fat is reduced and the doughnuts become greasy.

A similar situation occurs when coffee is roasted in bulk. It is difficult to apply the heat evenly, and as a result some of the coffee berries may be overdone and some underdone. Such variation in the roast causes disappointing variation in flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this by inventing and patenting a process—Controlled Roasting—that roasts every coffee berry evenly. With automatic control of heat and speed of operation, a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters. Uniformity of roast and unequaled flavor is the result.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh when you buy it because it is packed in vacuum. This process takes air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, from the can and keeps it out. Coffee will not stay fresh in ordinary cans, even if air-tight. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can.

Rosa Ponselle Scores In Opera Test

Rosa Ponselle, who rose from vaudeville obscurity to become a star of the Metropolitan opera, has won a new success as Violetta, in "La Traviata," one of the most difficult of all opera roles.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Rosa Ponselle has passed the "supreme test" on the same stage where she jumped from vaudeville to grand opera 12 years ago.

She has added the role of Violetta in "La Traviata" to her repertoire at the Metropolitan Opera. This Verdi work always has been considered by critics as the acid test for colorature sopranos. She sang the part for the first time last summer at Covent Garden, London.

It was in 1918 that Miss Ponselle, then singing in vaudeville with her sister, Carmela, attracted the attention of opera producers. They brought her to the Metropolitan to sing opposite Caruso in "La Forza del Destino." After that debut she was a star.

Her versatility was considered sensational and several works were produced for her, including "Gioconda," "L'Africana," "La Vestale," "Don Giovanni" and "Norma."

She sang the difficult part in "Norma" in 1927, the first time it had been produced in New York in 36 years.

One critic said she is the only one who is carrying on the traditions "of the bel canto school of singing when a soprano could sing any role written for a soprano, be it lyric, dramatic or colorature."

She is of Italian lineage, although she was born in Meriden, Conn. She has a slight scar on her forehead where she was struck by a golf ball.

Once she abandoned her own birthday party to sing an operatic role on 30 minutes' notice. Florence Easton was supposed to lead in Verdi's "Requiem Mass," but became ill at the last moment. Miss Ponselle was rushed to the opera house and arrived just as the curtain was ready to go up.

Another time, in 1928, her friends gave her a birthday party. The cake was decorated with 30 candles. When Miss Ponselle walked in, she added another, saying that she really was 31 years old.

Her favorite sports are golfing and swimming. She spends her vacations in the south of France and in Italy.

Two Speakers Heard By Club

Nancy Earle And Charles E. Coombes Vie For Favor At Weekly Luncheon Of American Business Club

The wit of a learned man and that of a charming woman vied for favor Friday noon when two interesting speakers appeared at the regular weekly luncheon session of the American Business club at the Hilton hotel.

Miss Nancy Earle, who is in Lubbock conducting the Avalanche-Journal charm school, and Judge Chas. E. Coombes, of Stamford president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, both contributed materially to the interest and entertainment of the club's program on Friday. And both were received in equal favor by their listeners.

But speaking did not compose all the day's program. Two students of Texas Technological college also were guests and were introduced as artists. Miss Evelyn Jackson rendered one violin selection, accompanied at the piano by Miss Sue Brown. Following the first selection, Miss Brown sang and Miss Jackson accompanied on the violin.

Pres. C. A. Sheffield was in the chair while the program was in charge of B. B. Baron and Victor Bennett.

During recent floods in the south of China radio messages were several days late in delivery.

A COLLEGE COLUMN

By MARSHALL FORMBY, TECH CORRESPONDENT

TO DECIDE WINNER

Deciding games of the Texas Tech 1931 intramural season will be played today when the engineers clash with the liberal artists and the aggies meet the cadets. The first game starts at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the second shortly before 4 o'clock.

Should the liberal artists defeat the engineers it would give them a clear title to the 1931 crown, but if they lose and the aggies win, the result will be a three-cornered tie. With the exception of 1929, the engineers have won the crown each year in the football contests.

Basketball will be played next spring, according to Coach Del Morgan. It is planned to organize five leagues each consisting of four teams, but the leagues will not be divided according to schools.

WILDCATS ARE VISITORS

Members of the Abilene Christian college basketball team were visitors on the Tech campus yesterday. The Wildcats arrived Thursday, coming here for a two-game series of basketball games which were played Thursday and Friday nights.

PLAN COLLEGE MIXER

Declaring that Tech needs entertainments other than all-college dances, members of the Association of Women Students on the campus plan several all-college mixers. The events will be held in the gym and all sorts of games will be played.

Similar affairs were held a few years ago at the college. Usually no admission is charged, identification cards admitting the students.

Lillah Gaye Rodgers is president of the women's organization.

EDITOR WILL SPEAK

Among the speakers scheduled to appear here during the annual Tech Farmer's and Homemakers' Short Course will be Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, associate editor of the Extension Service News, published at College Station. Mrs. Cunningham has been active in state politics the last several years.

Plans are going forward rapidly for the short course which will be held at Tech February 10, 11 and 12. Prof. H. J. Bower, head of the Tech agronomy department, is manager of the course which will be open to farmers and housewives throughout Texas.

ENROLLED AT UNIVERSITY

Word from Melvin Roloff, student in Tech for the last two years, says that he is taking a business administration course in the University of Texas at Austin.

Roloff's home is at Dawson, near Waco.

MILLER TO SPEAK

"The Place of Mathmatics in Engineering," will be the subject of Dean W. J. Miller's address at a meeting of the American Mathmatical society in Fort Worth today. Several members of the math department are in Fort Worth today attending the gathering.

Miller is dean of the Tech engineering school.

MAKES MODEL BRIDGE

Included among the displays at the annual Tech Engineers' Show will be a model bridge constructed by D. D. Bivins, senior student in the civil engineering department. The bridge which will be 72 inches in length, will be made of galvanized iron and will be made up of nearly 3,000 rivits. The model will be copied from a bridge 72 feet in length.

Each department in the engineering school is planning a special departmental exhibit for the show which will be in full swing during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention May 14, 15 and 16.

DEADLINE IS TODAY

After today no pictures may be made for the 1931 La Ventana, Tech annual, according to officials of the book. The deadline has been extended several times, but all material must be in to the printer within a few weeks and no more time can be allowed for class pictures.

Officials of the book hope to have it ready for distribution by April 10.

Love Letters Of Woman Technical

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30, (AP) — Love letters written by a woman of 59 can be quite technical, Attorney Arthur W. Kennedy agrees.

Kennedy asked Mrs. Adelaide Pottenger Hanson, 59, Los Angeles club woman in superior court, what she meant by the "X's" and "O's" in her letters to his client, Wallace J. Blanchard, 58, who was suing her for $53,000 heart balm.

"In college I learned that 'X' represents an unknown quantity," replied Mrs. Hanson. "I thought he could take them to mean whatever he wanted to."

"And those 'O's'?"

"Well, 'O' is an open letter. It can mean much or little."

"Now, Mrs. Hanson," Kennedy pursued, "didn't you mean kisses and hugs by those letters?"

"No, I thought he could take them any way he wanted to."

Blanchard lost the suit because at the time he asserted his heart was broken it was proved he was married to Carrie E. Blanchard, who lived in Boston.

The urn containing the ashes of Colonel Ronald Brooke, late of the Eleventh Irish Hussars, has been installed permanently in the Brooke family pew at Colebrook, Ireland, Parish church.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:
JESUS THE GREAT PHYSICIAN

Scripture Lesson:
Luke 4:38-44; 5:12-16.

Luke 4:38. And he rose up from the synagogue, and entered into the house of Simon. And Simon's wife's mother was holden with a great fever; and they besought him for her.

39. And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she rose up and ministered unto them.

40. And when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.

41. And demons also came out from many, crying out, and saying, Thou are the Son of God. And rebuking them, he suffered them not to speak, because they knew that he was the Christ.

42. And when it was day, he came out and went into the desert place: and the multitudes sought after him, and came unto him, and would have stayed him, that he should not go from them.

43. But he said unto them, I must preach the good tidings of the kingdom of God to the other cities also: for therefore was I sent.

44. And he was preaching in the synagogues of Galilee.

Luke 5:12. And it came to pass, while he was in one of the cities, behold, a man full of leprosy, and when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face, and besought Him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

13. And he stretched forth his hand and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And straightway the leprosy departed from him.

14. And he charged him to tell no man, but go thy way, and show thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

15. But so much the more went abroad the report concerning him, and great multitudes came together to ear, and to be healed of their infirmities.

16. But He withdrew Himself in the deserts, and prayed.

Golden Text: Surely He hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows.—Isa. 53:4.

Time—Most of the events of our lesson took place in May or June, A. D. 28, the second year of Christ's ministry. Levi's feast, in the autumn of the same year.

Place—Capernaum.

INTRODUCTION:

The passage of Luke which we are to study contains a number of other matters, but it is chiefly occupied with accounts of Christ's miracles of healing. It follows most fittingly the story of the temptation, in which our Lord was urged to use His supernatural power in the ways the devil suggested, to advance His own fame or to minister to His own pleasure and comfort. Here we see Him working marvelous miracles, but always in order to help suffering humanity and bless His fellow men — the use of His vast powers which his Father approved. We also find that such a use of them brought Him more fame and influence than any use of them merely for show and to astonish the crowds could possibly have given Him.

The first instance was the cure of a demoniac. The fearful disease of demon-possession was connected with sin, either that of the sufferer or that of his parents. "The demons thus allowed to enter the body and soul spoke in their own persons, recognized Christ as their Master, tore their victim and rendered them deaf and dumb, threw them on the ground foaming at the mouth, and in one case were driven off into a herd of swine, forcing them into the sea. Evidently, with many symptoms of insanity and epilepsy, demon-possession was more than these."

The demoniac healed on the Sabbath. Luke 4:31-34.

Our Lord healed many demoniacs, under many different circumstances, but the demoniac healing in Capernaum on the Sabbath and in the synagogue was a typical case. The evil spirit knew Jesus and recognized his diety, but Christ would have none of his tributes. The demon threw his victim down on leaving him, but left him uninjured. No wonder such a victory over the powers of evil won for Christ immediate renown. "Call it epilepsy or insanity, and the miracle would be quite as great—perhaps still greater, as spirit might speak with and influence another spirit, whether with an evil one, but the instantaneous healing of a physical sickness would plainly be supernatural."

SIMON'S MOTHER-IN-LAW HEALED—Vs. 38, 39.

And He stood over her, and rebuked the fever." Once (Luke 8:24) Christ "rebuked the wind and the raging of the water." The forces of nature were His creatures. When they rose in rebellion, He could make them cower at His feet with a word. "And it left her." Matthew has the lovely record, "He touched her hand, and the fever left her." Christ touches us. He touches our hearts, and changes them. He touches us with the hand of absolution; He says, 'Thy sins be forgiven thee.' We bring Him sad, fevered with sin, yet receiving healing. We touch Him and He touches us, and we are cured of that plague."—Rev. H. J. Wilmot-Buxton. "And immediately." The cure of a fever is in the ordinary course very slow and tedious, but the power of Christ was made evident here and always, in its decisive swiftness.

Healing A Multitude. Luke 4:40-44

"All they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto Him," Mark, whose Gospel is supposed to embody the reminiscences of Peter at whose house Christ then was, says that "all the city was gathered together at the door" (Mark 1:33). The street was packed with misery—the lame, the deaf, the blind, the dropsical, the palsied, the demon-possessed, the lepers, a horrible mass of wretchedness such as those lands without skilful doctors can instantly furnish even today. "And he laid his hands on every one of them." This gesture was common in Christ's miracles of healing, It was the touch of sympathy, of fellowship. It put our Lord's personality into the blessing. He would heal with a word, or even at a distance, but he usually chose the closer, warmer method, as a stimulus to faith and love. "And healed them." "None went away unblessed. He laid his hands on all."

Demons Acknowledge Deity of Jesus. v. 41

"And demons also came out from many, crying out, and saying, Thou art the Son of God." One of the differences between demon-possession and insanity in this separate identity of the demons, and their possession of an insight into Christ's deity which their victims would not have. "And rebuking them, he suffered them not to speak, because they knew that he was the Christ.'" The testimony was not such as he desired. It was premature and unsuitable. As Matthew Henry quaintly says, 'it was extorted in the process of explusion, and being a confession made upon the rack, it was not admitted in evidence'."—Prof. John Laidlaw.

"And when it was day, he came out and went into a desert place." Not a barren place, but a deserted place, a solitude. Christ's miracles cast, they wore upon the motal energies in spite of his divine power; and after a day of such stupendous outgiving of healing virtue as the Sabbath had been, the Great Physician needed the restful quiet of the wilderness, and was wise enough to seek it.

Synagogue Preaching by Jesus. vs. 43, 44.

"And he was preaching in the synagogues of Galilee." Snyagogue preaching, open to all who were thought by "the rulers of the synagogue" to be likely to have helpful messages, was one of the most popular and most helpful of Jewish institutions, Christ took advantage of it throughout his ministry, and so did Paul and the other apostles. "That this practice, and the absolute liberty of teaching, subject to the authority of the 'chief ruler of the synagogue,' formed important links in the Christianization of the world, is another evidence of that wonder-working rule of God which brings about marvellous results through the orderly and natural succession of events—nay, orders these means with the view to their ultimate issue."—Alfred Edersheim.

A Leper Healed. vs. 12, 13.

"Behold, a man full of leprosy." "Observe that, while St. Matthew and St. Mark describe the suppliant as 'a leper', St. Luke, 'the beloved physician,' has 'a man full of leprosy,' and this is no mere rhetorical embellishment; it is medical language indicating the seriousness of the case. The ancient physician distinguished three stages of the disease; tetter or eruption appearing in dull white spots; white leprosy, when the whiteness overspread the flesh; and black leprosy, when it assumed a livid hue. Especially in the last the patient was described by medical writers, like Hippocrates and Galen, as 'full of leprosy'."—Prof. David Smith. "And when he saw Jesus, he fell on his face." "Flinging himself on his knees, and worshipping, and finally in his agony prostrating himself on his face."—F. W. Farrar.

"Tell No Man." v. 14.

"And he charged him to tell no man." Probably his chief reason was because he knew that the fame of such a wonderful miracle would raise to a greater prominence than ever the miraculous side of his work as against the teaching side, and would also, increasing his fame, increase the opposition to him and so hasten his death before the appointed time. Mark tells us how vehemently Christ insisted on the man's silence.

The Palsied Man Healed. Luke 5:17-26.

This miracle is a notable instance of human helpfulness also, as the palsied man was carried on a mattress by four of his friends. It is a fine example of perseverance, as, being unable to make their way through the crowd into the house where Christ was, probably preaching in the courtyard, they lifted the poor sick man up the steep outer stairs, tore up the thatched or tile covering of the courtyard roof, and let the invalid down at the feet of the Healer. The miracle is especially remarkable also because Christ, instead of healing the man, announced the healing of his worse disease, declaring the forgiveness of his sins; and then, when the Pharisees and doctors sitting by questioned his right to make such an assertion, he proved his spiritual authority by working an instantaneous cure of the disease, that malady so close to death. This wonder filled all with amazement and fear, and they glorified God.

"'Is your father at home?' a gentleman asked a child, on the village doctor's doorstep.

"'No Sir,' the boy answered, 'he's away.'

"'Where do you think I could find him?'

"'Well, you've got to look for him some place where people are sick, or hurt, or something like that. I do not know where he is, but he's helping somewhere.'

"If one had been seeking for Christ in Galilee, he would have found him where people were distressed, helping them."

Tech Matadors Down Wildcats, 27-18, To Sweep Series

Visitors Lead At Half; Mats Return Strong

Large Crowd Sees Matadors Renew Battle At Half To Submerge Wildcats; Fast Playing Features

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Nearly 2,000 Tech students and Lubbock fans took advantage of "Dutchey" Smith's bargain rates last night and packed the gymnasium to see the Texas Tech Matadors maul thunder out of the Abilene Christian college Wildcats in the last half of their final game to win the contest, 27 to 18, sweeping the Lubbock series and winning their third straight game of the season over the Abilene contingent.

The Wildcats were tamed as the first half drew near a close and when the second period opened they walked on the court as docile as their more domestic though far removed, relatives that prowl from back fences at midnight. While the Matadors went on a parade to register 16 points in that fast second half their neighbors from Abilene town scored a measly five.

Pippen Held To Naught

That fine long-distance shooting that thrilled a large crowd on the previous night was a missing quantity on the part of the Christians last night. Captain Pippen was completely squelched, smothered outdone and rubbed down. Not once did he land one in a position to fall through the mesh for a counter. He took shots many of them from the foul mark from the center circle and tried to shoot from the dressing rooms but nary a one found its intended mark.

It remained for Mr. Lawrence, starting forward and one of the high scorers of the T. I. A. A. to do most of A. C. C.'s point-making. Five times he shot from scrimmage for counters. The other eight points were gained by Reynolds, the other forward. Day, a substitute forward, Watkins, center, and Reese, guard. The defense that functioned like a clock on Thursday night was smashed by a powerful attack launched by the Matadors in the second half.

Cats Lead At Half

The first half is a different story. Lawrence led off with a long field goal. Captain Hodges for Tech retaliated with a similar one and that was a signal for some plain and fancy shooting by the visitors. Reynolds made one form under fire. Lawrence followed shortly and Reynolds came back with another net toss from somewhere near the sidelines. Lawrence quickly followed with two more points and Matador fans were beginning to "warm" for fireside and radio.

But hark ye! Coach Golightly sent in some instructions by a substitute forward and the tide changed. Fisher and Crews accounting for four points in short order and Hodges tied the score with a net crip shot. Just before the half ended Lawrence sunk another and the rest period found the tiring Christians leading 13 to 11.

Matadors After Blood

The Matador came back fighting in the second half. Tad started off with a free throw and before you could bounce a ball Lawrence repeat it backward. Fisher had found his points and Hodges had made 2. A few minutes later Tadlock took a charity goal. There was a period of rapid play as the Christian Wildcats staged an effort to score. For five minutes found found the basket and the ball was in midcourt. Then Harry Dunn registered a tallied seven.

Tech Teams In Last Contests

Intramural Season Ends Today With Two Games; Artists To Meet Engineers, Aggies On Card With Cadets

The last of the intramural football season passes in review this afternoon when all four of the Texas Tech teams play in the final games. The Aggies and Cadets clash on one field while the Liberal Artists and Engineers meet on another.

The team from the School of Liberal Arts, coached by Floyd Wooldridge, Bill Teal and Jack Durham, top the list with two games won and none lost so far, and go into their game today with the Engineers favored to win. The Engineers are coached by Bill McWilliams and Lawrence France. They won their first game last week defeating the Cadets, but dropped to the Aggies in a hard-fought game last Saturday 7 to 0.

The Aggies, coached by Rip Vanzant and Speed Moffett, are favorites to win their battle with the Army this afternoon. The Cadets have so far failed to emerge victorious. Red Waller, Buddy Brothers and Ross Ayers coach the Soldiers.

Denny Shute Scores 66 To Lead Texas Open

Defender Sure Of Good Money By Early Lead

Wet Course No Detriment To Fast Columbus Pro; Shoots 5 Under Par To Lead Field At San Antonio

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

BRACKENRIDGE PARK, SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 30. — Desnmore Shute, the debonair young Columbus, Ohio, professional, who won first place of $1,500 in last year's Texas Open Tournament, evidently has come back to claim his own.

Starting in just where he left off a year ago, Shute turned a wet course today in 66 strokes, five under par, to lead his closest rival by two strokes in the opening round of the 1931 event. Although he had not participated in any previous money meets this winter, the defending champion was in rare form. He knocked in five birdies and thirteen pars and not once was in danger of going over perfect figures, despite the slow condition of the fairways and greens.

Shute already was assured of at least $125 at the pay off Sunday night, having won $100 as the leading professional in yesterday's amateur-pro event and $25 for today's low score.

Harry Cooper Rests Second

In second place tonight, just two strokes back of the pace setter and one ahead of five ardent pursuers was Harry Cooper, Chicago professional, with a 68. Like Shute, he was never over par. His card showed three birdies and fifteen pars. By actual count the Chicago star was putting for birdies on 16 greens, several of them stopping on the lip of the cup.

Shute's card:
Out 325 444 425—34
In 244 344 432—32——66.

Cooper's card:
Out 425 444 434—34.
In 344 444 443—34——68

Grouped at 69, two under par, and in threatening positions for the second round of play tomorrow were five straight shooting professionals. They were Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., a former Texas open champion; Abe Espinosa of the Chicago Espinosas, Frances Schneider of Dallas, Texas, Tom Lally of San Antonio, and Mike Murra, a dark horse from Wichita, Kansas.

Seven Shoot Par Golf

Charles Guest, Los Angeles money seeker, was the lone entrant to register a 70, running the total of par breakers to eight for the day, but seven succeeded in hanging up exactly what the score card called for, 71. In the group were Ralph Guldahl, the 19 year old Dallas star, winner of last week's movie tournament at Los Angeles, Al Espinosa, Chicago veteran; Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn, who led through the third round of the Los Angeles open; Tom Rakiets, Akron, Ohio; Harold Long, Denver; Lou Waldron, Celia, Ohio, and Jack Speer, San Antonio amateur.

John Golden, Auga Caliente open champion of Stamford, Conn., was deadlocked with Dudley Bell, Houston, and Fred Gilbert, Los Angeles at 72. A group of fifteen players bunched with 73's included Horton Smith, New York; Frank Walsh, Chicago; Craig Wood, Deal, N. J. and John Dawson, Chicago.

Shute's fine 66 today tied the competitive course record for Brackenridge park, held jointly by Bill Mehlhorn and Wiffy Cox. Playing in the threesome with Horton Smith and Jack Speer that attracted the day's principal gallery, the Columbus star gave the spectators something to look at from the first hole on.

Although the course was fairly heavy and the sun appeared through the low clouds only intermittently, there was no further moisture today and the fairways promised to be in good shape for tomorrow's round. The low 64 scores and ties after tomorrow's 18 holes will be eligible to compete in the final 36 holes Sunday.

Texas League Magnates Convening At Galveston

Miller Takes Job

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 30. (AP) — Appointment of Edgar E. (Rip) Miller, former Notre Dame line star to be head coach of the Naval Academy football team was officially announced today.

Miller has signed a contract for one year, it was stated by officials of the Navy Athletic association.

(By Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Jan. 30. — With every club having representatives on the scene early, Texas League magnates decided to plunge into their annual schedule meeting 12 hours ahead of the program and went into session tonight at 7:30. It was thought possible a schedule might be adopted tonight and that business might be concluded tomorrow making a Sunday session unnecessary. Routine business will be transacted first, however.

Except for the Stein-Ballew swap between Galveston and San Antonio, arranged early this afternoon, no trades were concluded.

Delegates at the meeting are Shearn Moody, Alvin F. Myers, and Derrill Pratt, of Galveston; Homer Hammond, president, and Tom Connor, secretary of San Antonio; Fred Ankenman of Houston; T. S. Hickman, of Shreveport; Rube Stuart, president, and Robert L. Stow, business manager, of Beaumont; R. L. Tarleton, of Dallas; W. E. Huff, president, and Guy Airey, secretary of Wichita Falls, and T. L. Robinson, president, and Roy Meehan, secretary, of Fort Worth. Alvin Gardner of course is presiding.

As North Texas scribes are unable to attend, it is improbable a baseball writers association will be organized here tomorrow. However, most of the South Texas scriveners are expected. Tomorrow night magnates and scribes will be dinner guests of Shearn Moody.

Davis Cup May Draw Big Crop

Field For Competition May Approach Record Entry Of 1928; 26 Nations Entered Already For Play In 1931

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Despite a few defections, the field for the Davis Cup competition this year promises closely to approach last year's total of 30, which was only three below the record entered in the 1928 competition—the year after France won the historic cup from the United states.

A few days ago 26 nations were known to have field entries for the three zones in which this year's competition will be staged: in the European zone, two in the North American zone and five in the newly created South American zone. Entries for the European and North American zones close tomorrow in Paris. The lists for the South American zone were closed last September with Brazil, Argentina, Paraguay, Urugay and Chile entered for play.

Only the United States and Canada are known to have entered in this zone, although there still remained the probability that Cuba and Mexico would enter at the last minute.

The smaller field in the European zone is explained by the creation of the South American zone, the teams from below the equator previously having competed in Europe. The winner of North American zone and the winner of that match will compete against the European zone winner for the right to challenge France for the cup. South American play is scheduled for this winter.

No Trading Time Is Wasted At League Meet

GALVESTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Texas League magnates didn't waste any time here today before starting to trade. Homer Hammond of San Antonio hadn't finished shaking hands with Del Pratt, Galveston manager, before a deal had been consummated sending Ralph Stein, southpaw hurler to the Indians for Harvey Ballew, hard hitting outfielder.

"Hello Del," said Hammond on stepping from his auto. "I'd like to do some trading."

"All right," replied Pratt. "What will you trade?"

"The same deal I suggested at Fort Worth," retorted Hammond.

"You mean Ballew for Stein?" shot back Pratt.

"Yes," said Homer.

"Agreed," said Pratt and they shook hands.

Pratt has been trying to get Ballew for more than a year. He hopes to convert the gardener into a capable second baseman.

In addition to the three infielders, the following Buffs have signed contracts: Pete Fowler, southpaw flinger who pitched his last ball for Reading of the International league in 1929; Bob Durham, pitcher bought from High Point in the Piedmont League; Hal Funk, slated to be first string catcher; Joe Medwick, young outfielder from Scottdale in the mid-Atlatic loop.

Pirate Pilot To Take No Chances

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates are taking no chances in having rookies "lost" this spring. If any youngster comes into the training camp at Paso Robles, Cal., late, with the excuse that he "couldn't find the way," a lot of explaining will have to be done to pilot Jewel Ens. Instructions are being sent to every member of the squad, telling just what train to take, and when to change cars and how, and a lot of other useful information.

nearly crazy. But as luck would have it, Mr. Hackett ran into a friend of theirs on Broadway, and this friend began to tease Mr. Hackett about his daughter's being a chorus girl!"

"A chorus girl!" Dundee echoed, taking care not to show his disappointment.

"Of course they nabbed her right out of the show, but that wasn't the worst of it!" Miss Earle went on dramatically and mysteriously. "They tried to hush it up, of course, but the word went through the school like wildfire that Flora was not only in the chorus, but that she was living with an actor she'd been writting fan letters to long before the Easter play went on!"

"Did you hear his name?" Dundee asked.

"No", Miss Earle acknowledged regretfully. "But I'll bet anything it was the truth! . . . Why, Flora Hackett was so man-crazy she flirted scandalously with every male teacher in the school. The golf 'pro' had then got so scared of her he lost his job!"

"I suppose," Dundee prompted craftily, "she wasn't any worse than some of the other Hamilton girls."

"We-ell," Miss Earle admitted reluctantly, "nothing ever came out on any of the others, but it looked mighty funny to me when Janet Raymond's mother came and took her out of school right in the middle of a term and hauled her off to Europe for a whole year! . . . . And Janet looking as healthy as any other girl in the school, except that she was crying half the time, and in and out by one of the maids—"

"Did you tell Nita these stories and point out the pictures of the girls?" Dundee had to risk asking.

Miss Earle frose instantly. "Naturally she was interested in the school, and once when she said it always made her mad the way chorus girls were run down, I told her that in my opinion society girls were worse than actresses, and—Oh, of course, I gave her some examples, a lot of them worse than anything I've told you about Flora Hackett and Janet Raymond. . . . I hope," she added viciously, "that Nita dropped a hint or two if Flora and Janet had the nerve to high-hat her when she was in Hamilton!"

"Perhaps she did." Dundee agreed softly. "By the way, how did Nita happen to get the job here of directing the Easter plays?"

"That's what the reporters wanted to know," Miss Earle smiled. "But Miss Pendleton wouldn't tell them, for fear Serena wouldn't like it and maybe be drawn into the scandal, when everybody knows she is as straight as a string—"

"And Serena Hart get her the job?" Dundee was amazed.

"Yes. . . . Wait, I'll show you the letter of recommendation she wrote for Nita to Miss Pendleton," Miss Earle offered eagerly. "Remember, now, you're not to tell on me!"

She went to a tall walnut filing cabinet, and quickly returned with a sheet, which she thrust into Dundee's willing hands. He read:

"Dear Miss Pendleton: The bearer, Juanita Leigh, is rather badly in need of a job, and I have suggested that she apply to you for a chance to direct the Easter play. I have known Miss Leigh personally for 10 years, and have the highest regard, both for her character and for her ability. Since you usually stage musical comedies, I think Miss Leigh, who has been a specialty dancer as well as an actress in musical comedy for about 12 years, would be admirably suited for the work. Knowing my love for Forsyte as you do, I do not have to assure you that I would suggest nothing which would be detrimental to the school's best interests.

Fondly yours,
Serene Hart.

"She was wrong there, but I know it wasn't Nita's fault," Miss Earle, who had been looking over his shoulder, commented upon the last sentence of the leter.

"Is Miss Hart appearing in a play now?" Dundee asked.

"No, but she's rehearsing in one—'Temptation'—which will open at Warburton Theater next Monday night," the secretary answered. "At the rehearsal Tuesday night, Serena told Miss Pendleton how awful of the letter.

"I'm sorry she was about Nita, I have me tickets for the opening. . . . You go to see her, but don't tell her I told you anything. I know she's rehearsing at the theater this afternoon, because, she said she would be all week, and I can't go to the boat to see Miss Pendleton and Miss Macom off for Europe."

"Well!" Dundee accepted the situation gratefully, as if it had occurred to him. "But first I want to come out to lunch with you. I'm sure you know of some nice little roadhouse in the neighborhood."

He found the luncheon, which Miss Earle poured avidly, without its interruptions with her flow of reminiscences concerning the girls she knew. Dundee was able to learn nothing more to the detriment of former Hamilton alumnae, but he did add considerably to his knowledge and pity of female human nature.

It was nearly three o'clock when he presented his card, with a message penciled upon its back, to the old doorkeeper who drowsed in the alley which led to the stage entrance of the Warburton Theater, off Broadway near Times Square, and 15 minutes later he was received in the star's dressing room by Serena Hart herself.

She was working on poor Nita's part when she began without preliminaries she seated herself at her dressing table and indicated a decorous chair for the detective. "I don't know how much longer I can stand it out of it. . . . . Of course I've been pumping that poor, silly Gladys Earle. . . . Why girls like that are always called— Good! I'm tired! We've been at it since 10 this morning, and by the Lord we're through now for the day."

Dundee studied her with keen interest, and decided that, almost plain though she was, she was even more magnetic than when seen from the footlights. . . Rather carelessly dressed, long brown hair rather tousled, her face very pale and haggard without the makeup which would give it radiance on Monday night, Serena Hart was yet one of the most attractive women Dundee had ever met—and one of the kindest, he felt suddenly sure. . .

"When did I first meet Nita Leigh?" she repeated his question. "Let me think—Oh, yes! The first year after I went on the stage—1917. We were in the chorus together in 'Teasing Tilly'—a rotten show, by the way. The other girls of the chorus were awfully snooty to me, because I was that anathema, a 'society girl,' but Nita was a darling. She showed me the ropes, and we became quite intimate—around the theater only, however, since my parents kept an awfully strict eye on me. The show was a great hit—ran on into 1918, till February or March, I believe."

"Then do you know, Miss Hart, whether Nita got married during the winter?" Dundee asked.

"Why, yes, she did!" Serena Hart answered, her brow clearing after a frown of concentration. "I can't remember exactly when, but it was before the show closed—certainly a few weeks before, because the poor child was a deserted bride days before the closing notice was posted."

"Deserted!" Dundeed exclaimed. "Did you meet her husband, Miss Hart?"

Farmer's Wife At Abilene Gains Daily

Was Greatly Worried Over Her Condition Until Argotane Ended Troubles

"My wife has gained in eal'h and strength by taking Argotane and has improved so much she really looks like a different woman," said W. D. Mitchell, residing on rural route 5, Abilene, Texas, who is an Argotane booster for what the medicine has done for his wife.

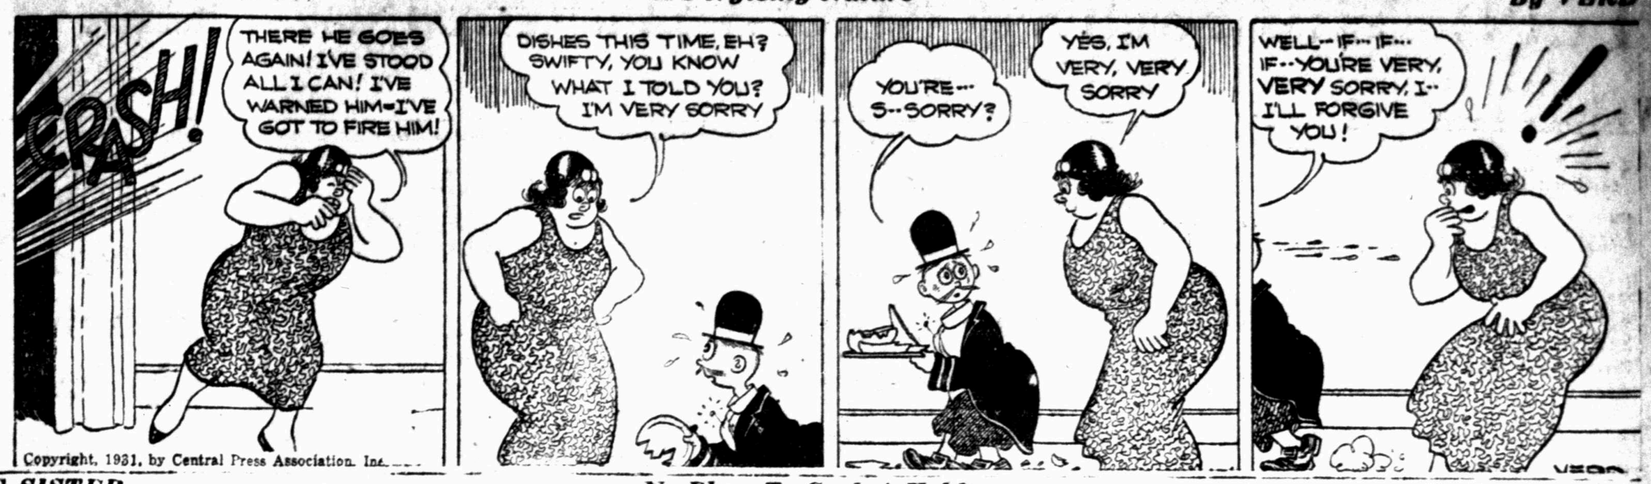

"My wife had been a sufferer for eight years from stomach trouble," he continued, "and got so bad she could hardly eat enough to keep her alive. She had no appetite and what little she did eat seemed to do her more harm than good. Her food would not digest and after eating gas formed in her stomach and kept her in misery for hours. She was all the time complaining of sick dizzy spells and her nerves shattered so she could hardly sleep at all, and she would worry all the time over her condition. She kept getting weaker and thinner all the time. Nothing she would take in the way of medicine or treatment did her any good and she kept on complaining and seemed to be getting worse instead of better.

"We heard so much comment about the Argotane treatment we decided she had better try it, and I am sure glad she did for it seems it has gotten rid of all her troubles. She eats anything she wants now and it don't hurt her at all. She sleeps like a healthy child and gets up in the morning feeling hearty and strong and actually able to do all her own house work. She has been entirely relieved of all pains by Argotane and says she is better in every way than she has been in years."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Lubbock at the Bowen drug store.

Cotton Improvement Show In Friday's Mart — Livestock Fat Lamb Trade Slow And Uneven — Grain Few Changes Made In Ft. Worth Mart

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 30. (AP)—There was improvement in the cotton market here today. While the price movement was narrow, the general trend was upward owing to favorable cables, firmer stocks and rather encouraging news from the textile markets, domestic and foreign. Weekly statistics were hardly as good as looked for but had little effect on prices.

After opening 2 to 4 points higher on good cables the market continued to gain during the day with only trifling reactions until values showed gains of 10 to 11 points above the previous close.

There was some slight reaction in the late trading on the failure of strike negotiations in Lancashire but the market rallied again sharply at the end closing at or near the highs, the general market showing net gains for the day of 8 to 11 points.

Liverpool came in about as due to 3 points better than due and private cables reported the continent again bought and the trade called. Manchester cabled there was an improved cloth inquiry from India and a fair business in Egyptian yarns. First trades here showed gains of 2 to 4 points which was not a full response to the cables and although there was a slight reaction of 1 to 3 points right after the start, prices soon rallied and by the end of the first hour March traded at 10.38, May at 10.84 and October at 11.10 up 4 to 7 points above yesterday's close.

Stock Market Shies At Own Advance To Close Irregularly With Decline

BY JOHN I. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—The stock market shied at its own advances of 2-10 points today and closed irregular, with a small decline in the composite price of 90 issues.

Some traders saw less chance for success of a veterans' cash bonus, but if there was less nervousness in this connection it was hardly apparent in the government section of the listed bond market. Liberties and treasuries again sold off heavily although, as was the case yesterday, final quotations were above the day's lows. Highest grade domestic bonds, on the other hand, were a trifle steadier.

Trade Volume Expands.

Stocks may have found some consolation in the fact that a number of the important earnings statements for 1930 have now been published, for the market was strong during most of the day, featured by the activity of a few volatile issues. However, intensive profit-taking swept over the lists in the last half hour and the gains in the leaders dwindled rapidly; some were converted into small net declines. The volume of trade expanded, sales approximating 2,200,000 shares.

The weekly business reviews saw a conservative gain in trade, with some expansion in lines which have been quiet.

Wheat was quiet, but inclined lower, closing unchanged to 3-8 off. Most of the selling was in the July delivery which weakened in sympathy with Winnipeg. Favorable weather, increased stocks in Kansas City and a large Argentine export contributed to the heavy tone of corn which dropped a cent. Cotton was stronger, closing with gains of 55 to 75 cents a bale.

Sterling exchange resumed its advance climbing 3-32 to $4.85 21-32 for cables. Other European rates, with the exception of the Spanish peseta, were firm.

Relief

ency, and another through the war department. The fourth would have doubled the fund and given it to the president for distribution.

Hold Majority

On each proposal, the Republicans held their heavy majority in line except for a score of scattering votes which went to the Democrats favoring them.

The program outline by the senate Democrats and announced to the senate by Democratic Leader Robinson was:

$25,000,000 for relief.
$15,000,000 for food loans.
$3,000,000 for medical supplies.
20,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat for the hungry.
$5,000,000 for organization of relief corporations.
Reappropriation of $2,300,000 for flood relief in southern states.

All the proposals are pending in some form. Three of them now are attached to appropriation bills which must be passed before March 4, if the special meeting is to be avoided.

In making his announcement, Senator Robinson said:

"This statement is made in order that it may be well understood that the provisions referred to, or acceptable substitutes therefor, represent the minimum of emergency measures which in the opinion of the advocates are required by existing conditions in order to avoid the necessity for an extra session of congress.

"It is not intended to prevent the presentation of or insistence upon other measures."

House Democrats threw all their strength into the fight for the $25,000,000 proposal there. The amendments they offered sought to meet objections raised by the Red Cross which said it could not accept the fund.

Republican stalwarts argued that the question would determine whether "we are going to abandon aid by charity" and resort to aid by taxation. They termed it a challenge to the efficiency of the Red Cross and said that organization was fighting for its life.

objects.

"I guess I will have to have a holster made to carry them about," he remarked whimsically as he sat on a hospital bed, smoked cigarette after cigarette and talked of literature and life. His monogrammed cigarettes are as long as the ordinary kind, three times as thick and many times as strong.

"I will continue to write but no more drama," he said. "It isn't fair to the producer. I don't know the taste of New York and unless a play pleases there it hasn't got a chance. I had a lot of fun producing 'Mr. Satan' but the manager didn't have any. It was a flop—lasted but three weeks.

"My writing in the last few years has been easy compared with the time when I used to do the stuff in long hand. Now I just sit in an easy chair and dictate five hours a day to my stenographer. Then she and my wife read to me. When one tires another carries on. It's mostly biography and detective stories nowadays and we can finish one of the latter in a day."

Tarkington expressed opinion the time may be coming when there will be no more novels and novelists.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—Fat lambs trade was slow at prices unevenly 10 to 40c lower. Matured killing classes of sheep were mostly steady. Shippers and city butchers in Chicago stopped at 9.40 on choice lambs, while at Omaha and St. Joseph best offerings brought 8.90. The supply numbered around 47,000.

Opening trade on hogs was on a steady to 15c higher basis but several centers reported a slow close on offerings 220 lbs. and up at weak to 10c lower figures. The top of 8.15 was paid at St. Louis. Offerings were around 86,500.

Most markets reported a fair demand for killing cattle, offered at fully steady prices. Short fed heifers continued to arrive in liberal numbers and weight averages about 850 lbs. find a very narrow outlet. Country demand this week has been slow for feeders and fairly broad for light weight stockers. Receipts were estimated at 8,650.

Schools

The Lubbock independent school district is not a part of the city government.

Able To Pay.

Mr. Jackson said Friday night that several hundred taxpayers had talked to him Friday in connection with the new tax measure, declaring that if the law did not apply here that they would pay their school taxes, and that if it did, they would pay taxes before February 1.

"Collection of school taxes in the city has fallen far below what school officials had expected and hoped for," Dr. Hutchinson explained, "and, in my opinion, unless payment of these taxes is made within the very near future, the schools of Lubbock will never be able to continue through the present session."

"Lubbock schools already have borrowed $80,000 with which to run up to this date," he further continued. "This amount is due on February 1. Four more months are yet facing us, requiring an expenditure of approximately $100,000. In addition to that amount about $65,000 must be set aside for the interest and sinking fund to care for bonds already issued.

"That alone should convince our tax payers that the problem faced by the board is an alarming one. And the situation as it now stands is grave; rather we are facing a crisis. As I see it, and as other members of the board see it, all having studied carefully every need, money must be obtained from some source and the only logical source, the one avenue through which our funds can come is failing at a most critical time.

"But one day remains before February 1. A last urgent request and appeal to the tax payers is made. Although it sometimes hurts, we must look the matter squarely in the face and looking at it from that angle it is vividly flashed before our minds that disastrous consequences may result unless a whole-hearted response is made."

Allred Gives Ruling On New Tax Measure

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—Independent school districts, where the districts are not a part of a city government with taxes collected by the city, will get the benefit of the O'Neal tax penalty postponment law, Attorney General James V. Allred held in a written opinion today.

The school districts, except those whose taxes are collected as part of city taxes, come under the bill which postponed until October 15 penalties on state, county and district taxes, Mr. Allred held. He said the bill applies to all except three kinds of general taxes:

1.—Poll taxes.
2.—City Taxes.
3—Taxes on districts already permitted to be paid in semi-annual or quarterly form. These districts were taken out of the emergency tax relief.

The services will be conducted in connection with an on-to-Pentecost campaign which has been underway here for the last four weeks, Captain Wilson explained.

Government control of motor transport has been inaugurated in South Africa.

Fitzgerald

aid on the burglary charge was scheduled on the January criminal docket but was postponed.

Requisition papers from New Mexico for Fitzgerald and another suspect in the Logan bank robbery were honored January 5 by Governor Dan Moody. Defense counsel for Fitzgerald opposed the move. Judge Mullican issued a writ of habeas corpus the following day restraining extradition of Fitzgerald until he was tried on the burglary charge here.

Jack Walker, alleged partner of Fitzgerald, was arrested in Amarillo, December 28. He too sought release by a habeas corpus action.

The third man in the alleged bank deal, Carl Huseman, is under arrest at Tucumcari, N. M.

Bragged of Job

Bragging of their alleged job is said by police to have cost the trio their freedom. A girl friend of the trio heard them tell all the alleged details. She tipped off authorities with the result that one by one all the group were taken into custody.

On August 12 last, according to reports, a bespattered motor car drove up in front of the McFarland Brothers bank at Logan, N. M. Entering, the two men who had left a third in the car, forced Miss Reel McFarland, bookkeeper and Miss Hazel McFarland, her sister, to lie on the floor. T. H. Chance, a customer, also was forced to lay down. Later they were sent into the vault and locked in.

Scooping up the money in sight they got away. A posse was organized by Sheriff J. W. Moncus of Quay county, New Mexico, but the trail was lost.

"Yes, they bragged about the way they put it over," the girl friend is quoted as having told officers. "They covered their motor car with quicksand until the color could not be distinguished. Then after the robbery Huseman drove Walker and Fitzgerald into the cave near Logan where the car was washed. He returned to town and Walker and Fitzgerald made their way into Texas under cover of night."

Four months ago Huseman was arrested. It was not until late in December that Walker was found in Amarillo and Fitzgerald in Big Spring.

Description Of Victim Is Given

VERNON, Jan. 30. (AP)—A description of Homer Crabtree's condition after the fatal attack on him near Le Fors, Gray county, last November, was presented to a jury this afternoon in the murder trial of Emmett Thompson, charged with Crabtree's death.

"Snow Gang"

ed Friday afternoon follows — a story of pathos, humor and self-contradiction, told frankly and colored by both a spirit of repentance and a still breathing bravado:

"They have at last captured the chief of the gang, Preston Carver, and did a good job of it, is all I have to say for the coppers. I have been lucky not to be in the reform school years ago. So are my men. I have to give myself credit for being a wise guy. You know that if you stay in the racket long enough you will have to pay dearly for your crimes.

"The chief of police will have to can a bunch of his flat foots because all of the famous Snow gang has been captured and given terms in the state reform school.

"I have been chief of our gang since 1928 when the other chief got his time. I thought I could make a good chief, so I took the job. I picked out a bunch of boys that I thought I could trust and they have every one proved to be what I took them for.

"We have not got a big gang. We have always picked the right kind of jobs and we have been lucky not to get caught. My gang has nerve. When they see a cop coming they don't get scared and run like the Alley Rats do. We have the name of being the best juvenile 'gang' in Lubbock.

"But when I come back to this one sad said town Lubbock, I want everyone to know that I will be a little gentleman. Not a big gangster like I would make if I didn't go there. There is only one thing that I hate to go down for and that is my sweetheart.

"Gee, I hate to leave her. She is the best looking little girl in town. She is not the one that I sent the first report to the reporter by and I sure love her. But she will wait for me and after I shake my time I will go straight. So if she is still here I will win her back and I will be happy once more.

"Well, we will sign off and eat dinner.

"We three, Preston Carver, Willis Frost and Dick Owens are going to the reform school and try to make the best boys down there. We are the meanest ones here in Lubbock. But still we are not tough. We are just a bunch of honest crooks."

tion of the present law and said such a condition was not conducive to law enforcement.

The public utilities regulation bill, one of the last of the scheduled major proposals of this session to be offered, is to be introduced Monday by Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg.

While the legislature was in session, the governor made three more of their bills into laws. The measures signed were those to make a legal holiday of January 19, the birthday of Robert E. Lee, to relieve over crowded conditions in the confederate women's home by permitting transfer to the women's ward of the confederate veteran's home, and to repeal the Tarrant county civil service law.

The senate finance committee voted a favorable report on emergency and deficiency appropriation bills of $422,700 for 1931 summer schools in state colleges, $628,378.65 for state departments, and $385,219 for the state's judiciary. Senator Poage of Waco announced he would offer a proposal to reduce the number of counties from 253 to 100.

ble for the ruling," observed Crawford. "They raised a row about how long it took us to hang a man."

CANYON CITY, Colo., Jan. 30. (AP) A triple execution was prepared at the state penitentiary tonight as penalty for the slaying of a Colorado officer by three men who robbed a bank at Manter, Kan., and fled into this state.

As their end approached, the trio —Claud Ray, John Walker and Andrew Halliday, agreed to flip coins to determine the order of the hangings.

The crime for which Colorado courts decreed the death penalty was the shooting to death last March at Eads, Colo., of Coral A. Hickman, Kiowa county undersheriff who blocked the westward trail of their escape. Sheriff Duncan Coe, of Cheyenne Wells, Colo., was made a semi-invalid by a bullet from the bandits' guns and two other persons who joined in the chase received minor injuries.

Took $4,000 Loot.

The robbers took $4,000 from the State bank at Manter and started at once for southeastern Colorado. After encountering Hickman and his aids on the highway they doubled back in their tracks. In less than 24 hours after the bank robbery they were captured by a posse near Jetmore, Kan.

The three were brought to Denver where they made confessions while being held in jail pending trial. A Kiowa county jury found them guilty of first degree murder and the death penalty was imposed. This verdict was upheld by the supreme court, which only recently denied a rehearing on an appeal.

Walker and Ray Embraced the Catholic faith today and were baptized by Father Regis Barretn, prison chaplain. Halliday took religious consolation from the Rev. Tedder, Denver and the Rev. J. W. Wells, of the Canon City Nazarene church.

The three men wrote farewell letters to their relatives today.

Three Men Are Put To Death For Murder

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30. (AP) — Three men died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary tonight. They were Fred J. Massa, 27; Earl Sites, 27, and Kenneth McCartney 25, all of Mansfield, O. They were put to death for the murder of Ralph Wilcox, Galion, filling station operator, during a hold up June 27, 1930.

Thirty-two minutes were required to electrocute the trio, the second triple electrocution in the history of Ohio penitentiary.

The death chamber was crowded to capacity with newspapermen and witnesses as the first of the condemned murderers, Sites, was led in. He was pronounced dead at 7:41 p. m., after the usual three shocks.

McCartney was second to pay the extreme penalty. He was dead at 7:50 p. m. Last came Massa, the trigger-man in the Wilcox murder. He was dead at 7:59 p. m.

The condemned men were calm as they went through the final door to their chair.

Dinner Given By Methodists

Group Of 80 To 100 Persons Attend Affair In Connection With Four-Day Bible Conference Here

A group of 80 to 100 persons attended a dinner which was given at 6 o'clock Friday night at the First Methodist Episcopal church in connection with a four-day Bible conference which is underway here.

Dr. M. Leo Rippy, of Nashville, served as afterdinner speaker and subsequently completed his exposition on adult work in the church at a session in the church chapel. Doctor Rippy left here Friday night for Amarillo and expected to leave the Potter county seat by airplane this morning for Oklahoma City.

No Session Today

No sessions will be held today. Final session will be held at the church Sunday afternoon.

Ministers and laymen from Methodist Episcopal churches of the Panhandle-Plains are attending the conference. The adult department of the Sunday school at the First church sponsored the dinner, arrangements for which were supervised by W. W. Campbell.

Doctor John H. Hicks, professor of Old Testament at Southern Methodist university, Dallas, was the other principal speaker on the conference program and also spoke at the meeting session which followed the dinner.

"Why I Believe the Bible" will be Dr. Hicks' subject when he speaks at the last session of the conference Sunday afternoon.

Thursday evening a discussion of adult work was given by Dr. Rippy who emphasized the difficulty in carrying on a Sunday school program by contests and orchestras as attendance features. The constructive way to get results was given as building an attractive program fitted to the local situation of the Sunday school and interesting people by individual work.

Dr. Hicks in his address showed the stages which the new testament became a written book and gave as a source of all the books the thirty years of the life of Christ.

"The equipment installed in the plant is of the most modern type, and is indorsed by the Cleaning and Dyeing Association of America.

"It is no wonder that the reputation of Stinson's comes to me so highly—the equipment and scientific knowledge of all kind of fine materials make it possible to give the unusual service that you like to receive."

Would Reduce Local Expense

With About Two Billion Dollar Budget From Which To Trim Tax Savings, Solons At Work On Economy

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—With composite budget of approximately $2,000,000,000 from which to trim tax-dollar savings, several thousand state legislators are at work in at least half the 48 states trying to devise means of reducing local government expense.

The force of the economy movement varies geographically from hot intensity to deliberate caution. The saving campaign is most intense in the middle west—Iowa, Nebreska, South Dakota, Kansas and Oklahoma—in territory where the burden of local taxes far outweighs that of federal taxation.

Prospects Dim

In some states, notably those of greatest population, like New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, no prospects for local tax reduction are reported. California, with a normal state budget of $265,000,000 reports anticipated increases, including $5,000,000 for the state building fund to provide jobs for unemployed. Georgia looks for an increased budget and so do Connecticut and Tennessee.

Pennsylvania reports that Governor Pinchot, pledged to a policy of no increase, hopes to hold the budget to normal.

Oklahoma leads in proposals for drastic reduction. Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray has promised to cut ad valorem taxes 5 per cent by July 1, through wholesale reductions of salaries and trimming and consolidation of governmental bureaus.

In Nebraska Governor Bryan has reduced the salaries of a number of appointive state officials without legislative action.

In some states where legislators are convinced that budget totals must be maintained there are definite moves toward more efficient reorganizations and more economic spending. In Maine a complete new administrative code is proposed, and other states plan to trim and consolidate specific departments.

To Shift Burden

Generally, in states which find it necessary to increase their budgets for the next one or two years, the plan is to shift the burden of the new taxes as much as possible, easing the load on farms and homes and setting up commodity and sales taxes and special exercises. Several states also plan exemptions from license fees for farm trucks and reductions of auto license fees.

In Wisconsin Governor LaFollette is sponsoring abolition of personal and real taxes amounting to $4,000,000 a year, and the substitution of additional income, inheritance and special taxes. In North Carolina, to relieve taxes on lands, a state luxury tax, a gross receipts tax and a retail sales tax are proposed.

In most cases where flat salary reductions are demanded it is proposed that these extend not only to all state employees and officials, but also to employees and officials of counties, cities, schools and other local subdivisions, including teachers. In Oklahoma; a teachers' tax is proposed to relieve unemployment distress.

Bombs, Bullets Which Put Chicago In Headlines Just Noisome Event, Claim

CHICAGO, Jan. 30. (AP) — Bombs and bullets shot Chicago's name into first page headlines the last decade, but, the city would have the world know, all the shooting was just a noisome incident.

"While gangsters slaughtered each other for territorial rights," the city went about its business, increasing its commerce and industry and spending more than three billion dollars since 1930 to modernize and beautify itself.

Millions Spent.

The "towering skyscrapers" of the 'teens—the pride of their time—are dwarfed today by peaks of masonry and steel soaring 50 stories skyward. Scores of millions have been spent in the loop alone, but the former strangle hold of the loop on Chicago's business district has been broken.

Outside the steel band of the downtown elevated railroad loop have risen the $32,000,000 merchandise mart, the world's largest building as to floor space; the furniture mart, the world's second largest building; the Stevens hotel, the largest hostelry; the $80,000,000 union station, the Chicago stadium, seating 125,000 persons; the Palmolive building surmounted by the world's most powerful aerial beacon; the Tribune tower, the towering Chicago civic opera and Chicago Daily News buildings.

Changes Made.

Amazing changes also have been wrought in the outlying districts. Dozens of skyscraper hotels and apartment towers above old homes and bustling business districts have appeared where less than 20 years ago there was only swampland and prairie.

The inexorable march of progress has swept away many evidences of another day. The famous Briggs house and the old Palmer house with the silver dollars in its barber shop floor, have made way for skyscrapers. The Del Prado hotel built for the 1893 exposition, has been razed to make way for University of Chicago improvements. Fire has destroyed the old German building, also a fair relic. The old Field museum, also built for the fair is being restored to its classical beauty. Eventually it will become an industrial museum.

In 1933 Chicago celebrates its 100th birthday. In that century it has grown from a sand flat trading post to the fourth city in the world.

RESOLUTION PASSED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—A senate concurrent resolution, memerializing congress to pass resolutions before it providing for enlargement and improvement of the Wichita forest reserve near Lawton, Okla., was adopted by the Oklahoma senate today.

Town Commissioners of Ballyshannon, Ireland, are under fire for refusing to place lights in the streets, and thus forcing pedestrians to use flashlights and other improvised lamps at night.

TAKES TITLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—The Radio Keith Orpheum corporation took title today to the assets of the Pathe company, purchased recently, President Hiram S. Brown of R. K. O. announced. He said two distinct motion picture producing and distributing organizations would be maintained.

RESOLUTION TABLED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—The house oil and gas committee today tabled the resolution of Robert Galbreath, Tulsa, asking investigation of administration of proration rules in the state.
