U.N. Threatens Force In Congo

ARRESTED—Lillian Reis, onetime showgirl now a Philadelphia nightclub owner, is escorted to jail by police Capt. Clarence Ferguson after he arrested her outside the Federal Building in Philadelphia on an extradition warrant from New Jersey. Miss Reis is under indictment in New Jersey in the murder of Vincent Blaney, an alleged member of a gang that staged a half million dollar robbery in Pottsville, Pa. Miss Reis had just won a stay on a Federal charge of flight to avoid prosecution when Ferguson arrested her. Two hours later she was released on a copy of the charge only to be rearrested later after the chief witness in the murder case escaped from jail. (AP Wirephoto)

Heavy Snow Hits Plains, Panhandle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy snow struck parts of the Texas South Plains and Panhandle again Monday — the third storm in eight days.

The Weather Bureau warned that snow up to four inches was indicated in the southern portion of the Panhandle and in the northern part of the South Plains.

By midmorning, winds gusting up to 30 miles per hour tossed the snow about, and the Weather Bureau warned that drifts would occur.

Temperatures in the area were well below freezing as the snow hit.

The snow area ranged from southern Kansas across western Oklahoma and into Colorado and New Mexico.

Before dawn moderately heavy snow fell at Dalhart, near the top of the Panhandle and very light snow filtered down at Amarillo.

Monday's snow followed two major snowfalls last week, the first late last Monday that brought the South Plains what was called its "worst snowstorm ever." Up to 20 inches of snow covered the area around Lubbock. Three days later, snow hit the Panhandle-Plains section another blow.

The present inclement weather followed a day of springtime temperatures Sunday when most readings across the state were in the balmy 70s. Maximums, however, ranged from 81 at Laredo to 46 at Dalhart.

There was no Sunday precipitation, but late forecasts called for showers and thunderstorms over much of Texas Monday and Tuesday with the snow expected to end late Monday.

Trio Hurt In Plane Crash

GONZALES (AP) — A private plane crashed on a highway near here today, injuring three of the four Baytown men aboard.

M. L. Wismer, who wasn't injured, said the plane lost power in one engine and was losing power in another. The owner and pilot, Dr. H. W. Kilpatrick, decided to land on Texas 304, seven miles northeast of here.

Wismer said the right wing caught on a pickup truck parked on the highway shoulder. The craft rolled upside down.

Also aboard the plane were Dr. W. T. Jones and M. C. Bray. All except Wismer were taken to a Gonzales hospital, but their injuries were not believed serious.

The Baytown men had been to Del Rio to check on a hunting lease. The crash occurred about 7:30 a.m.

Roaring Lions Keep Neighborhood Awake

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP)—Residents of a normally pleasant neighborhood in this suburban community are being kept up late nights by a frightening sound—the roaring of 11 caged and full-grown lions.

The lions are being kept in a warehouse until their appearance on a television program in New York this week.

They were brought here from California by their trainer, Chet Juszyk, who got permission from the local board of health to keep the lions here.

"Those roars mean they're hungry — and that's what worries me," said one neighbor of the lions.

Swollen Rivers Still Flooding Southland

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Swollen rivers continued to pour over a stricken Southland today, where 10,000 or more persons have been left homeless.

Damage from week-long floods in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi will run into millions of dollars.

The Red Cross began establishing an emergency field disaster headquarters at Montgomery for flood victims.

At least 12 persons have died in Southern flood waters caused by torrential rains which lasted most of last week.

Stricken areas at a glance:

Alabama — Montgomery and central Alabama worst hit. At least 3,240 evacuated, including about 1,500 at Montgomery and 700 at Selma. Alabama River at Montgomery reaches record level of more than 23 feet above flood stage. Gov. John Patterson to ask for federal disaster relief.

Mississippi — Hattiesburg worst hit with 3,600 refugees. About 5,000 evacuated in state. Damage estimated up to $10 million. Gov. Ross Barnett appeals to President Kennedy to declare flooded areas major disaster area. Leaf River receding slowly at Hattiesburg.

Georgia — Columbus and West Point on Chattahoochee River at Alabama line suffer most damage. Police at Columbus estimate 1,000 evacuated. About 340 evacuated at West Point. Chattahoochee receding slowly.

Montgomery, Ala., and Hattiesburg, Miss., appeared to be hardest hit.

Tom Stowe, Red Cross information officer from Washington, flew over the central Alabama area Sunday and said it "looks like a sea." He said more than 15,000 persons apparently are directly affected by the floods in Alabama.

At Hattiesburg, more than 3,600 refugees are being cared for in 11 shelters, plus 1,000 more from Beaumont, McClain and Merrill, and 150 from Waynesboro.

The crest of the flooding Leaf River began moving downstream, but the water receded slowly at Hattiesburg, which had a record crest of more than nine feet above flood stage Thursday.

The Chattahoochee River on the Georgia-Alabama line reached a record crest twice Sunday at Columbus, Ga., causing what was described as the worst flood in 33 years in that city. Police estimated nearly 1,000 persons fled their homes at Columbus.

At Phenix City, Ala., across the river from Columbus, five blocks were inundated and about 400 persons were evacuated.

West Point, Ga., about 30 miles north of Columbus, also was hard hit. The Chattahoochee reached a crest there at 24.75 feet Sunday.

National Guardsmen were patroling at many Alabama cities to guard against looting.

Guardsmen used landing boats in efforts to rescue stranded cattle. Hundreds of cattle drowned, and it was feared the loss would mount into the thousands.

Hot Issues Greet Texas Legislators

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas legislators had their feet in the fire on a dozen redhot issues as the 57th session went into its eighth week today.

Among the major issues was the always tough though far from solved question of where the state is going to find more than $200 million to put its financial affairs in order.

The Revenue and Taxation Committee is expected to start what promises to be one of the session's most controversial periods with recommendation that the House pass at least two of Gov. Price Daniel's deficit-erasing bills.

These are HB 270 giving the state a stronger arm in seeking to collect abandoned property now held by banks pipeline companies and other business firms and HB 331 revising the state franchise tax.

Daniel the bankers the pipeline companies and other business lobbies are in a no-compromise fight over both of these propositions. The bills might raise $27 million to apply on the general fund deficit. It is now above $100 million but is expected to drop to $63 million as tax collections come in.

Tuesday Daniel's plan to shift the financing of the farm road program away from the burdened general revenue fund comes before a subcommittee of the House. Farm leaders are organizing for a fight.

Daniel insists that the general fund's deficit must be retired before the legislature can provide for state services during the next two fiscal yars.

Before House and Senate committees Monday were other controversial proposals such as a bill to forbid the wearing of religious garb by a teacher teaching in a state-supported public school; airing of the auto liability insurance fuss; more women's rights bills; a measure to abolish capital punishment; a minimum state wage and hour law.

Opponents of Rep. V. L. (Red) Berry's proposed constitutional amendment to permit local option elections on race track gambling in nine counties said Sunday they are ready for a floor showdown this week.

Rep. W. S. (Bill) Heatly of Paducah said the measure, now on the House calendar with committee approval, is scheduled to come up Tuesday and that he is ready to go to bat against it.

Berry has not said whether he wants a quick showdown.

Bill To Abolish 'Scratch' Method

AUSTIN (AP) — Howard Green of Fort Worth said today he is preparing a bill to require the "check" method of ballot mark instead of the "scratch" method for the April 4 special senatorial election.

Green said his bill would apply only to the special election in which 39 candidates are trying to succeed Vice President Lyndon Johnson.

Present election laws require that the names of candidates a voter does not favor be scratched out leaving only the single name of the choice. Previously voters could use either the scratch method or make a check mark beside the name of his candidate.

Marijuana Cache Is Confiscated

GALVESTON (AP)—Authorities confiscated nine pounds of marijuana and arrested a man Sunday after months of work.

Federal agents said it was the largest cache of narcotics in the Galveston-Houston area in two years.

Lumumbists In Advance

By PATRICK MASSEY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The U.N. Congo command threatened force against Congolese troops in Leopoldville today following a wave of attacks against U.N. personnel including what was termed a bestial attack against a woman.

Violence against off-duty personnel broke out Sunday night and early today in the jittery atmosphere arising from the advance of Lumumbist troops toward the capital.

A statement issued by the U.N. command said these attacks cannot be tolerated and will be resisted "with full force."

The attacked woman was a member of the U.N. civilian staff the spokesman said. He said she was being driven home by an unarmed U.N. Sudanese officer Sunday night when the car was stopped by soldiers on a highway some distance outside Leopoldville.

Two Congolese armed with submachine guns climbed into the car and ordered the officer to drive to nearby Camp Reisdorf army post.

On the way the soldiers ordered the officer to drive in a bush area where other soldiers were waiting.

The woman was forced out of the car. The soldiers assaulted her while the officer was made to look on with a submachine gun jabbed into his stomach.

"It was a bestial assault" a U.N. spokesman said.

When the couple was released they took shelter in the home of a Belgian engineer.

In another reported incident four unarmed U.N. Canadian troops in a jeep were halted by Congolese troops near a scenic monument overlooking the Congo River.

They allegedly were ordered to take off their shoes and run for a mile over rocky ground while the Congolese beat them with rifle butts.

The leftist troops heading unopposed toward Leopoldville posed a threat to both the central Congo government and the future of the U.N. Congo operation.

The intentions of the rebel force from Stanleyville which backs the late Patrice Lumumba's regime in the northeastern Congo are unclear. Half the country now is believed under Lumumbist control.

The military column of about 500 men has met no resistance so far from either U.N. or central government soldiers. Most of Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's government troops are hundreds of miles north in Equator Province, asked by the U.N. command to hold up their own planned invasion of rebel-dominated territory.

Slated to arrive amid this new uncertainty is G. Mennen Williams, U.S. assistant secretary of state, who comes here on a five-day visit planned weeks ago.

His party of 19 was to go directly from Leopoldville Airport to a private briefing by U.S. Ambassador Clare H. Timberlake. Williams is to talk Tuesday with President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo, then meet Rajeshwar Dayal of India, head of the U.N. Congo mission.

The way Dayal has handled his job has created expressions of anger and mistrust among Congolese loyal to the Kasavubu government.

The Kasavubu regime has accused the United Nations of two-faced dealing with the rival Leopoldville and Stanleyville regimes.

The complaint is that the U.N. command has persuaded Mobutu not to send his army against Stanleyville, yet does nothing to stop Stanleyville troops on the march.

U.N. headquarters in New York Sunday published a Kasavubu letter charging that the U.N. Congo command has ignored repeated requests to halt the rebel movement.

The growing feeling among some diplomats here is that, reponsible for this policy or not, Dayal ought to be replaced to help restore Congo confidence in the United Nations.

In New York, an African leader said there would be hope for ending the Congo's troubles if the U.N. Security Council were to go to the Congo for a meeting. George A. Padmore, Liberia's ambassador to the United Nations and the United States, said in a TV interview that such an on-the-spot meeting would reassure African nations on U.N. aims.

Slain In Own Booby Trap

CHICAB (AP)—Joseph Buglieski's tavern on the Northwest Side had been looted twice recently, so he decided to rig a booby trap with a .30-caliber Japanese rifle to nab any intruders.

The rifle, set up by a series of pulleys and twine, would discharge when anyone opened the tavern's rear door after hours. He also had an electric burglar alarm in the tavern.

Sunday morning Buglieski, 63, was awakened by the electric alarm. He rushed out of the cabin he occupies with his wife at the rear of the tavern and opened the tavern door. The rifle discharged a bullet into his chest.

JFK Counting On Economic Upturn

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has told leading congressional Democrats he is banking on an upturn in the economy to hold next year's budget deficit to $1.5 billion.

The President has been told by his economic advisers that the deficit in the current year ending June 30 now is expected to reach $1.5 billion instead of the $79 million surplus former President Dwight D. Eisenhower predicted in January.

Eisenhower's estimates were based, among other things, on a proposed boost of around $800 million in postal rates. While Kennedy is requesting a similar increase, he is said to have little hope that Congress will act on the matter this year.

Kennedy's hope of holding down next year's red ink spending is reported to be based on the belief of administration officials that business will pick up about mid-year and provide revenues at a faster pace than they are now coming into the Treasury.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges has predicted a pickup within 60 days, but Kennedy's optimism about an increase in revenues is not fully shared in Congress.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee, who conferred with Kennedy last week, is known to have urged the President to check administration estimates on this score.

Byrd fears a repetition of the 1958 recession record, when a speedup in spending poured an unbudgeted $6 billion into the economy and a $6-billion drop in revenues forced a $12-billion deficit.

Kennedy is represented as trying to avoid any spectacular increases in spending at this point. But he is said to be having difficulty in fitting his program of accelerated missile production and a stepup in air lift capacity within the pattern of a nearly balanced budget.

Eisenhower estimated defense outlays at $42.9 billion in the year beginning July 1. There are clear signs that Kennedy intends to raise that figure.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee said after a weekend White House conference that "it wouldn't be possible to increase military strength without an increase in spending."

The Council of State Chambers of Commerce recommended Sunday that Congress should slice $3.4 billion from Eisenhower's fiscal 1962 budget instead of adding any new spending. It hit at what it called panicky antirecession efforts and called on Congress to reduce both spending and taxes.

Painters' Strike In Ft. Worth Ends

FORT WORTH (AP) — The union painters' strike ended today.

The union ratified an agreement with contractors that calls for hourly pay of $3.25 until July 1 $3.31½ from July 1 to Jan. 1, and $3.37½ for all of 1962. The old hourly wage was $3.12½.

The agreement calls for no restriction on tools.

Critical Talks Open In Paris

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba and French President Charles de Gaulle today began critical talks aimed at setting the scene for peaceful settlement of the Algerian rebellion.

The two went into a closed door conference immediately after Bourguiba arrived at De Gaulle's secluded chateau in Rambouillet outside Paris.

Bourguiba drove from Orly Airport in 45 minutes flanked by a motorcycle escort as police helicopters whirred overhead.

Tough security precautions barred everyone but government officials and accredited newsmen from the area around the chateau.

The Tunisian president who calls the rebels his brothers and the French his friends, flew in from Zurich for the climactic talks.

Thousands of police and special gendarmes guarded Orly Field and the 30-mile route to Rambouillet. The road was closed to all traffic an hour before Bourguiba's scheduled passage.

De Gaulle evidently was taking no chances that extremists opposed to any peace negotiations might mar the Bourguiba visit.

Full military honors were rendered Bourguiba as he stepped from his plane on his first visit to France since he negotiated independence in 1955. The greeting party was headed by French Premier Michel Debre.

Bourguiba and De Gaulle are scheduled for day-long private meetings. Later Debre, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Tunisian Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs Dr. Sadok Mokkadem and others will be called in for a formal round-table discussion.

Whether any communique will be issued is questionable. The negotiations are viewed as too delicate for either man to wish much publicity.

Before bringing the French and the rebels face-to-face at a peace table, some highly complicated questions must be cleared up.

Although the rebels have accepted in principle De Gaulle's proposal of self-determination for Algeria, they demand negotiations on how this will be applied. De Gaulle has previously refused to talk until the rebels lay down their arms, although it is now generally recognized that he is ready to weaken on this score.

It will be Bourguiba's task to work out with De Gaulle some formula which will allow face-saving on all sides.

New King Bolsters Security

By STEPHEN HUGHES

RABAT Morocco (AP)—Morocco's new king posted heavy security forces around strategic points today to keep a firm hand on the potentially explosive political situation created by the unexpected death of his father, King Mohammed V.

The popular 51 year-old monarch's heart failed Sunday after a minor operation, a team of 10 doctors announced.

The crown prince, Moulay Hassan, 31, was proclaimed king. An energetic, forceful young man educated in France, he was named in advance by his father as his successor in 1957.

Together they had run the government of this north African nation of 10 million since last May, trying to head off leftist challenges by outdoing their opponents in friendly overtures to Moscow and increasing estrangement from the United States.

As preparations went ahead for the funeral in the royal palace Tuesday, police and troops were posted around nerve centers in Rabat and other major cities.

About 50 policemen, brandishing submachine guns, stood guard around and on the roof of the radio station. Each government ministry had 10 steel-helmeted troops and police on watch. Post offices, railway stations and power plants were guarded.

Thousands of mourners paced the streets of Rabat chanting verses of the Koran. Women massed around the palace, tearing their robes into shreds, scratching their faces and wailing for the dead king.

Four ambulances shuttled between the palace and clinics carrying women who fainted.

Messages of condolence came from President Kennedy French President Charles de Gaulle, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and other leaders.

The king had undergone a minor operation in the palace clinic for correction of a restricted nasal passage. Brief surgery had just been completed when the king's heart failed, the doctors said. They tried to revive the monarch with heart massage, drugs and electrical shock. After a 3½-hour fight, he was pronounced dead. The crown prince announced his father's death in a radio broadcast.

The Cabinet met to proclaim the crown prince as King Moulay Hassan II. It ordered seven days of mourning for the old king a national hero in the long fight for independence from France.

Secretaries Of Solons Well Paid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six secretaries of Texas congressmen drew $1,195 in salary during January, the maximum.

The top salaried individual among the Texas was John Holtan, secretary to Speaker Sam Rayburn, who received $1,470 in January. Rayburn's congressional district office staff is subject to the maximum limitation, but not his speaker's office staff.

Those receiving $1,195 in January, with their boss named in parenthesis, are:

Zeno Phillips (Rep. Omar Burleson); Davis Carter (Rep. Jack Brooks); Charles Frandolig (Rep. J. T. Rutherford); and Bob Waldron (Rep. Homer Thornberry).

Four others received January checks in excess of $1,000. They are: Cecilia Martin (Rep. Joe Kilgore) $1,150; Lacey Sharp (rep. Bob Poage) $1,104; Miss Alla Clary (Rayburn) $1,049; and Imogene Baumgardner (Rep. Albert Thomas) $1,071.

Most of the other top paid secretaries in the Texas offices received $800 to $1,000. Others in the offices who worked full time usually made from ~~$400~~ to $600 in January.

Mrs. John Dowdy, wife of the Athens congressman, who worked on her husband's secretarial staff for years, quit in February to devote full time to housekeeping and club work. Her January salary was $750. Dowdy is chairman of the Texas delegation.

Senate secretarial pay is made public every three months instead of monthly as in the House. The maximum for Senate secretaries is about $17,000 a year.

Ike Disavows Statement By South Dakota GOP Senator

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Sunday night disavowed as inaccurate and regrettable a fellow Republican's statement that Eisenhower is critical of the direction President Kennedy's administration is taking.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., talked with Eisenhower for an hour recently at his Palm Springs, Calif., vacation spot. In a news letter he sends to constituents, Mundt Sunday gave his impression of Eisenhower's views.

"He is critical of the tendencies thus far evidenced by the JFK administration—too much left of center; too partisan; too slanted toward programs supported by union bossism," Mundt wrote.

Mincing no words, Eisenhower issued this disavowal through a secretary:

"Sen. Mundt's statement as reported to me Sunday evening does not accurately describe either my views on public affairs or my personal plans, and I very much regret its issuance.

"The senator evidently intended to repeat in detail our private and purely social conversation but his recollection of the many subjects mentioned and his interpretations differ markedly from my own.

"Especially I regret the assessment attributed to me of the performance of my successor and his administration, on which subject I have formed no judgment.

"Moreover, I have always directed my public criticism to ideas and programs—never to individuals. While in that conversation and on prior occasion I have expressed opposition to certain of the pledges in the platform adopted in Los Angeles, I have likewise expressed the earnest hope of every loyal American that the future actions of the new administration will promote the over-all welfare of the United States."

Mundt could not be reached Sunday night for comment on Eisenhower's statement.

When Eisenhower first was asked for comment on the Mundt news letter he merely said that anyone purporting to repeat what he has said was doing it on his own responsibility, and that when Eisenhower had anything to report he would do it himself.

Several hours later Eisenhower issued the strongly worded longer statement.

The Mundt news letter also said Eisenhower was disturbed by Kennedy's statements that the economy is in trouble.

The letter said:

"The President (Eisenhower) feels that in the main our economy is sound and strong and regrets the tendency by Mr. Kennedy to 'downgrade' it since by doing so there exists the danger of discouraging venture capital from being invested in new enterprises (and developments and expansion of present enterprises) which otherwise would provide new jobs, bigger payrolls and new taxable profits."

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—A farewell note to her sweetheart was found beside the body of a pretty teen-age high school cheerleader who crashed a station wagon into a concrete pillar at high speed near here.

The California Highway Patrol said it appeared that Lynn Marie Bennett, 16, of San Mateo swerved into the Highway 101 overpass pillar deliberately Saturday night. She had driven the 190 miles from her home in about three hours, they estimated.

A four-page note found in her purse indicated she was upset over a recent breakup with her friend, officers said.

Her parents told police that she and Dennis Chandler, 16, a classmate at San Mateo's Aragon High School had broken up last Thursday. They had been going steady for two years.

Her father, Charles D. Bennett, is a math teacher at Aragon High.

Ex-Resident Found Dead

Funeral services for Leo E. Bever, former resident of Snyder but more recently of Midland, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the North Avenue A and Tennessee Street Church of Christ building in Midland.

He was found dead Sunday night in his car parked at an oil rig near Andrews, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

Burial will be in the Rest Haven Memorial Park under the direction of Newnie W. Ellis Chapel.

An independent drilling contractor, Mr. Bever came to Snyder in 1950.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Leon De Wald of Midland; and one brother.

Guilty Pleas Are Heard In Court

Two pleas of guilty were heard in county court today.

Billy Vickery pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI and was fined $100 plus court costs and given a 3-day jail sentence.

Seburn Eugene Collier paid a $25 fine plus court costs for driving while his license was suspended.

Roaald M. McGaha pleaded guilty in county court Saturday to five counts of swindling with worthless checks, receiving four fines of $5 each plus court costs in each case and a 15 day sentence in the fifth case.

Paxton Retiring As GM President

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Paxton is retiring as president of General Electric Co., Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner announced today.

Cordiner said Paxton's retirement is due "to the need for a continuing period of convalescence following major surgery in January."

Cordiner will assume the presidency until a new president is elected by the board of directors.

As a result of Paxton's retirement Cordiner announced he was resigning as chairman of the National Business Advisory Council.

Paxton's retirement comes in the wake of antitrust actions by the government in which General Electric and 28 other electrical manufacturing firms were fined and seven of their executives were sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Cordiner made the announcement of Paxton's retirement and his own resignation from the council in a press release. The actions had been reported earlier by the Troy N. Y., Record Newspapers.

Paxton has been associated with General Electric 37 years, joining the firm immediately after graduation from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Cordiner said Paxton had planned to retire in January 1962, when he would become 60, but because of his health is stepping down earlier.

Paxton will not seek re-election as a director at the annual stockholders' meeting April 26.

"Robert Paxton in his various executive positions, has made outstanding contributions to the success and growth of General Electric," Cordiner said.

In the last 10 years Paxton has served as officer in charge of manufacturing services, as a group executive, as executive vice president for all company operations, and since April 1958 as president.

Cordiner said of his resignation from the Business Advisory Council:

"With Mr. Paxton's retirement, I believe my time and attention must be devoted solely to the affairs of the company. In spite of urging to the contrary by BAC members, I must now insist that my resignation be accepted. Thus a new chairman will be elected at the March meeting."

Cordiner said that the council has "been of great service" to all administrations since it was organized in 1933.

LACE FOR ALLURE—Lace once reserved for weddings, evening dresses and lingerie, got the coat treatment in Paris this month. Marc Bohan, Christian Dior's newest designer, made this full-length coat (left) from black veiling from Lyon. Lavin-Castillo made an ensemble in brown French Calais lace over beige. The coat hemline is scalloped and the tie sash of the dress is beaded.

BANDS OF CONTRAST—From Pierre Balmain's haute couture house in the fashion capital comes this coat and ensemble, both banded by black. At left is a broad shouldered, generously cut coat patterned to look like giant check. At right is a super skinny black satin sheath with high banded waistline and contrasting banded coat.

Mrs. Sterling Hostess To Ira H-D

The Ira Home Demonstration Club met Friday in the Ira community center with Mrs. Pete Sterling, hostess.

Roll call was answered by six members, Mrs. Mack Kruse, Mrs. Pete Sterling, Mrs. Billy Calley, Mrs. Weldon Wiggins, Mrs. Floyd House and Mrs. S. R. Clements.

The club donated $5 to the Junior Ira 4-H girls to help them with their cooking demonstration expenses. The H-D council committee recommendations were approved by all members present.

Announcement was made of a hat making school March 10, starting at 9 a. m. for an all day affair. The public is invited and each person is requested to bring a sack lunch. The Ira and County Line Clubs will serve drinks.

Ira's next meeting will be March 9 at 2 p. m. in the community center as a joint meeting with the County Line Club.

A program on first aid and safety was held and it was announced that if enough interest is shown the Ira Club would like to sponsor a first aid course open to the public.

Refreshments of coffee, punch and cookies were served.

New Officers Named For Fluvanna 4-H

The Fluvanna 4-H Club (Number 2) met Thursday, February 23, with the election of officers highlighting the program of the evening.

Elected to club posts were Marshel Mathis, president; Paula Turner, vice president; Sue Smith, secretary; Linda Sue Gallaway, reporter; and Clarrissa Noel and Sandra Stansell, recreation leaders.

Following a session of singing as led by the recreation leaders, the meeting was turned over to junior leader Robyn Beaver, who performed a demonstration on first aid and record keeping.

Members in attendance included Gina Beaver, Ann Phemister, Junie Stansell, Sandra Stansell, Jane Sims, Sue Smith, Clarrissa Noel, Linda Gallaway, Marshel Mathis, and Paula Turner. Also attending were junior leaders Robyn Beaver, LaRue Reeder, Janie Gleghorn, and Gwen Landrum.

Prior to adjournment of the meeting, refreshments were served to those assembled.

Replace Coffee Table Glass With Artwork

If the glass on a coffee table breaks, replace it with a hardboard panel which may be decorated attractively. Here are some ideas on the decor:

Have an artist friend paint a home, garden or favorite picnic spot. Masonite tempered hardboard is widely used by artists, for it is more durable than canvas. The artist may spray a plastic coating over his masterpiece to protect it from sliding saucers.

Mount a photo blowup of a favorite subject. Protect the surface as the artist would his painting.

Cover the surface with a wallpaper of unusual pattern.

Glue to the masonite a fabric that blends with colors of the wall.

Lapboard Of 1900 Back In Vogue: How To Make One

A household necessity of 1910, the lapboard, is coming back into style. It's great for letting you relax as you work.

The homemaker can sit in an easy chair to do her mending, with sewing or mending on a firm panel of splinter-free masonite tempered presdwood on her lap.

Many kitchen tasks, too, can be done more efficiently and with less strain by using a lapboard.

One is wonderful too, for the invalid or convalescent. Students find it useful, and mother is glad to have a lapboard used on the dining room table during study time to protect the table cloth and to provide a firm, smooth writing surface for pen, pencil or typewriter.

Youngsters also like to use the boards on the floor, a favorite study location.

A handy size for an all-purpose lapboard is 18 by 20 inches, cut from ¼" tempered presdwood. A body-fitting semi-circle, if desired, may be cut in one side with a coping or keyhole saw.

Helpless Canines Forced To Live As Mere Human Beings

BY INEZ ROBB

If the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals doesn't get cracking at once, a dog's life will soon be unbearable. It's bad enough for people to put on the dog, but for dogs to be forced to put on people is too much. And that is exactly what is happening to helpless canines whose rich owners can and do afford to force the poor animals to wear clothes.

Once upon a time and not too long ago, there was a firm belief around the world that nature and nature's God had equipped dogs with exactly what they required in the way of covering. If a dog belonged to a long-haired breed, it was permissible to clip his coat for summer comfort. But that was as far as any humanitarian with respect for man's best friend would have dreamed of going.

Now I am not one of these pessimists who believes that the world is going to hell in a hand-basket, but I am becoming fearful that a decadent portion of it is headed in that direction in a dog-basket, or perhaps I should say a clothes-basket.

Since World War II more and more beauty salons for dogs have opened, all with a sideline of clothes for the poor animal. But I did not take the dog-dressers seriously until recently when one of the oldest and most conservative department stores on Fifth Avenue in New York opened up a couturier of custom-made department for dogs, featuring everything from dog pajamas at $15 a pair to mink coats at $110 and up.

At the opening of this dressy dog department, it quickly became apparent that mother-and-daughter outfits have been succeeded by mother-and-dog look-alikes. The well-dressed woman and her dog wear matching outfits, and reading from left to right, the canine is the one with the hang-dog look walking on all fours—in shoes yet!

Since pink in any shade is the fashionable color for spring, Rover, heaven help him, will wear it and like it even unto a metallic-woven cocktail jacket. Once upon a time only mad dogs and Englishmen went out in the noonday sun, but I should think that any dog would be mad — furious! — that had to go out to cocktails in a pink metallic jacket.

Goodness knows, any dog forced to wear a cocktail jacket deserves a double Martini on the house and a Mickey for his master. Once upon a time, one expected chorus girls, movie starlets, debutantes and other publicity seekers to press for attention with a dog wearing a rhinestone collar. And one of the most time-honored ways of attracting new photographers during Fifth Avenue's Easter parade is to be accompanied by a humiliated hound wearing a silly hat.

But it is only in recent years that Lassie and her like have been forced to submit to wardrobes. When my cousins and I were children, we were not even allowed to subject any family pet to doll clothes. This was regarded as cruel and unusual punishment for any self-respecting cat or dog.

The dogs had to stand still for a bath every so often, but that was all. There were no dog beauty shops in the Boise Valley. And when summertime came and a long-haired dog like our Jappy, a snow-white Spitz-poodle mystery, was clipped for comfort, Papa or the uncles did the job.

Jappy undoubtedly suffered from more frequent launderings than any of our other dogs. Mama firmly believed that cleanliness was indeed next to Godliness, and acted decisively on that principle. Every Monday, Jappy was laundered along with the clothes. Not really WITH the clothes, but after they were hung on the line. Then Mama gathered up Jappy, washed him in the final sudsy water and then invariably dipped him in the bluing water.

When Monday came, Jappy knew there was no escaping Mama. But he always had his vengeance. He looked beautiful and pristine as the driven snow as long as we children kept an eye on him after his bath. But the moment our vigilance was lowered, Jappy headed straight for the wood-and-coal shed. There he rolled to his heart's content in the coal bin, with the result that he was tattletale gray until the next Monday.

But at least Jappy was never forced to wear a cocktail jacket or pajamas. And I am now waiting for the story of the year when some brave and badgered dog bites the hand that dresses him.

Snow Tractor Used To Rescue Skier

MIDWAY, Utah (AP)—Sheriff's deputies used a snow tractor Sunday to rescue an injured skier in Utah's Wasatch Mountains. Van Webb, 15, Draper, Utah, and a companion spent 10 hours in a makeshift shelter until rescuers reached them.

Webb suffered fractures of the lower left leg Saturday afternoon on an outing with a group of Explorer Scouts. A scout leader, Cal Thornton, also of Draper, stayed with him while the others went for help. Thornton built a shelter with their four skis and made a fire to keep Webb warm until help arrived.

Columnist Learns By Opening Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

American girls are marrying younger than ever. The chances are 96 in 100 that a girl married between 16 and 20 will have a baby. If she waits to 30 or 35, the chances are only 85 out of 100.

The price of civilization is headaches. The average American now gulps 114 aspirins a year. It has been estimated that for every $50 earned in this country someone gets a headache.

We must be the world's most traveling people. Every day some 3½ million Americans are on an overnight trip taking them at least 100 miles away from home.

What sound most sets your nerves on edge? The most annoying sound to men, a survey found, was that made by scraping a saucepan with a knife.

Our own choices: the morning alarm clock—or a wife doing her fingernails.

Mighty obvious thoughts by mighty minds: "I don't suppose being in love has ever been easy for anybody."—Noel Coward.

Professional pickpockets usually drop a stolen wallet into the nearest mailbox after removing the money. They've found this the quickest way to get rid of the evidence. Each week about 450 wallets are found in New York City mailboxes.

Don't brag about how little sleep you need. It may be a sign you're not very smart. Sir J. Arthur Thompson said, "The less intellectual the animal, the less sleep it needs. We pay for our wits by becoming sleepy."

How do fish swim? Most people think it's by flipping their tails and vibrating their fins. But recent tests indicate fish get their main speed by wiggling their bodies.

Take it easy note: A psychiatrist says many high-pressure executives and professional men suffer from the same symptoms as alcoholics — personal frustration. The alcoholic seeks to escape his frustration in drink, the harried executive by overwork.

Here's a medical oddity: Lung cancer is twice as prevalent in Great Britain as in the United States, although Americans smoke far more cigarettes than the British.

Forest muscle: Pound for pound, wood is still the strongest building material known.

Does shaving irritate your skin? Well, zoo keepers often shave the wirelike bristles of elephants with acetylene torches. Believe it or not, the big pachyderms enjoy this kind of barbering.

Geography lessons: Oceans cover 71 per cent of the earth. The Pacific rolls over 33 per cent, more than the Atlantic and Indian Oceans combined (30 per cent) Other seas account for the remaining 8 per cent.

Our longevity really is increasing. If you are a healthy 40 now—and take good care of yourself—you have a better-than-even chance of living to be 80.

Buna, Clear Creek Draw Rave Notices

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Buna and Clear Creek, loser of only one game, were the only clear-cut favorites Monday as Texas schoolboy basketball's mighty 24 prepared to descend upon Austin for the state tournament.

Houston Austin (32-5) in Class AAAA, White Deer (31-2) in Class A and Frankston (36-3) in Class B were eyed as the most likely choices in the other three divisions.

Buna, with one of the best records of any school—it won state championships four times—comes roaring into Austin with a dazzling 42-0 season mark. It will be expected to continue this sweep in the Class AA division of the state tournament.

Clear Creek, with a long record of success in basketball but without a state championship, will be the popular choice to take down honors in Class AAA. Clear Creek is 35-1 for the season.

White Deer has a 31-2 record and will be favored narrowly to rack up the Class A crown.

Class B is difficult to figure. Only Hutto has ever even been to the state tournament before. But Frankston won the regional championship over Huntington, the Class A champion of 1960, and has a gaudy record. Aspermont (32-2) and Hutto (30-7) also look good.

Pairings were made Monday morning for the tournament that will have these teams:

Class AAAA—Amarillo Palo Duro, Denton, Houston Austin, Austin.

Class AAA—Dumas, Nacogdoches, Clear Creek, South San Antonio.

Class AA—Dimmitt, New Boston, Buna, Needville.

Class A—White Deer, James Bowie, Brownsboro, Louise.

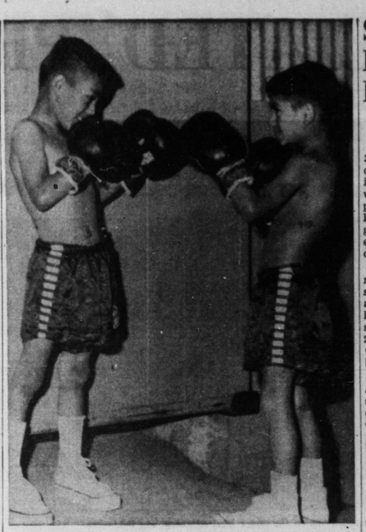

Class B — Aspermont, Blanket, Forestburg, Frankston, Mauriceville, Hutto, Santa Rosa, Mertzon.

In that group of 24 teams are five former state champions — Amarillo Palo Duro, 1956 in Class AAA; Denton, 1930-35 in Class A (back in the days when there was only one division; Austin, 1928; Dimmitt, 1952 in Class AA, and Buna, 1955-56 in Class A and 1957-58 in Class AA.

Class B will be the first two swing into action, starting at 8:45 a.m. Thursday. Class A will be in the afternoon and Class AA at night. Friday, Class B will hold its semi-finals and AA and A will play off for third place in the morning. Class AAA will start in the afternoon and Class AAAA at night. Saturday afternoon, Class B decides its champion at 1:05 p.m., Class A at 2:15 p.m., Class AAAA at 4:35 (with the game to be televised), Class AA at 7:30 p.m. and Class AAA at 9 p.m.

Crowd totaling 45,000 are expected for the tournament to be played in Gregory Gymnasium at the University of Texas.

There's not a single defending champion back, and only three teams that were at the tournament at all last year—Austin in AAAA, South San Antonio in AAA and Dimmitt and Clear Creek in AA.

PUT UP YER DUKES—As an added attraction in tonight's Midget Gloves action as sponsored by the Scurry County Boys' Club, a pair of 33-pound Abilene twins are to lock horns. They are Andy Olvera at left and brother Jose at right—or vice versa. The first gong for tonight's 22-bout card will sound at 8 o'clock, and the public is invited to attend the series of matches, which will be staged in the Towle Park Barn. (Photo by J. C. Burton)

Select Circle Being Sought By Roberts

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—At 34 and with his team mired in the cellar three straight years, there isn't very much one can look forward to. But Robin Roberts, the perennial ace of the Philadelphia Phillies' pitching staff, has one great ambition—to enter the ultra-exclusive 300-game winning society.

There are only a half dozen moderns in it. Two present day stars—Milwaukee's Warren Spahn and Chicago's Early Wynn — are knocking on the door. Spahnie should make it this year. He owns 288 major league triumphs. Wynn, with 284, is a 1962 candidate. Their biggest booster is Roberts.

"Those guys are remarkable. Aren't they?" Roberts said. "They seem to get better as they grow older. It's encouraging to me the way they keep going. It makes me feel that I might be able to keep going, too. After all, Wynn is 41, Spahnie is 40 and I'm only 34."

Roberts, in his 14th year with the Phillies, has posted 233 victories, needing 67 to reach the charmed figure. Spahn accumulated his victories in 15 years and it took Wynn 20 to amass his.

In some ways, Roberts' feat is more remarkable than those of Wynn and Spahn.

All of Spahn's years in the majors, with the exception of one, have been with a first-division club, including three pennant winners. Of Wynn's 20 big league seasons, 15 have been spent with a first-division club, including two pennant winners. Seven of Roberts' 13 campaigns have been with a second-division outfit, only one with a team that finished higher than fourth.

Thomas' Showing A Big Disappointment

BY ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Valery Brumel, the Soviet Union's matinee idol high jumper, goes for broke in the Knights of Columbus games here Friday night—his farewell appearance for the winter.

Tall, handsome and relaxed, Brumel, 18, said through an interpreter today that he hopes to hit 7 feet 4 or 5 inches before heading home to Moscow.

"I don't say I can do it," he smiled, "but I am going to give it my best."

His best to date is 7-4½ in Leningrad just a month ago. When he came here there was some doubt that he would put up any competition for John Thomas. Valery would be in a strange country, the crowds would be against him, the floor would be unfamiliar and the arena would be foreign to him.

But as it turned out, Thomas, 19, Boston University junior, has been the disappointment. Twice the pair have met and twice Brumel has won. Saturday night in the National AAU championships, he cleared 7-2. Thomas made 7 feet even.

Brumel thus became the first Soviet athlete to win a U.S. national indoor title.

Valery, who has studiously avoided any opinion on Thomas' troubles, permitted himself a little leeway.

"Yes," he admitted, "I was disappointed in John. I thought he'd do better. I'm still not sure I'm a better jumper because I know he can do better.

"I hope he jumps higher than he ever has in Friday's meet. But I hope to go just a little bit higher than he.

Just a hint of an incident almost occurred during the broad jump in the AAU meet. Ralph Boston of Tennessee State, who holds every record in the books, shattered his own week-old pending record with a leap of 26-6¼—½ inches farther than last week's mark.

He did it with his back to the wall, too. It was on his last jump and Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of the Soviet Union was leading with 26 feet even. That made Igor the second man ever to hit 26 feet indoors.

But after Boston made his record jump, "Ter," as Boston calls him, had another try.

Over he went and it was a good one, but how good no one will ever know. He fouled and the officials refused to measure it.

That made Leonid Komenkov, chief of the Soviet delegation unhappy.

"They measured Boston's fouls," he said. Furthermore, I'm not so sure it was a foul. If it was, it was by just a quarter of an inch. I think it would have been a 27-footer."

Strong Field To Enter Reef Relays

(Note: The annual Canyon Reef Relays will be held this Saturday on the Tiger Stadium oval, and represents the high point locally for the spring sport. Below is the first in a series of articles dealing with the prospects for the upcoming meet as submitted by Tiger track coach Dutch Stehley. Items concerning the other areas of competition; i. e., distance, sprint relays, sprints and hurdles, will follow.)

By DUTCH STEHLEY

The high jump appears to be a duel between Jerry McKay from Colorado City and George Osman of Borger. McKay won the Canyon Reef last year in the event with a 6'2" and tied for state meet in the 3A division. Osman has been reported over the bar at 6'3" in practice this year. Others who may be a threat are Bax Callaway (Snyder), who was third Saturday at Fort Stockton, Ted Teegarden of Midland, Del Cothern of Dumas, and Max Gatlin of Lubbock, who was third last year at 5'10". (The Canyon Reef record in the event is 6'4" as set in 1956 by Aspermont's Dub Thorton.)

Concerning the pole vault, Midland has the two boys who seem most likely to win. Bob Penn—who cleared 13' last season—and Ted Teegarden—who topped 12'6", also last year—are the boys I'm referring to. Teegarden won at Fort Stockton last week, while Penn won the event here last year. George Osman of Borger could be a winner, as could Allen Newberry (Monterey), and our own Snyder boys—Bobby Brown, Perry Culwell, and Ronnie Overby. Any one could break the record of 12'6½". (The record was set in 1955 by Midland's Palmer.)

Jerry McKay of Colorado City, the District 3-3A champ in the broad jump, is the likely winner in that event, but (Jesse) Crawford and Brown of Snyder may upset him in this meet. Another boy to watch is Tommy Middleton of Lubbock, who has been near the record (22'8 ¾") in practice. This will be McKay's first meet this year. Crawford won the event at Fort Stockton, while Brown was third. (The record was set in 1959 by Marshall McCrummen of Monterey.)

In the shot put, no one appears capable of nearing the record of 56'11¼". Brenek of San Angelo won at Fort Stockton with 53'7". Also, Keller of Permian has been over 50'. Several others who may hit beyond the 50' circle are Martindale (San Angelo), Johnson (Midland), Freeman (Lake View), Northcutt (Colorado City), and Bill Weaver (Snyder). (Martindale is the record holder, which was established in 1959).

Gary Walker of Big Spring, who threw the discus 165'4" last year, should be the winner in that event. Edward Martindale of San Angelo will probably give the greatest competition. Outside of those two the field is wide open. Walker was second here last year. (The record of 181'1½" was set by Amarillo Tascosa's Johnson in 1959).

Mick Boomed For New Role

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle, 29, trotted out for a spring training workout today faced with the new challenge of becoming the American League champions' "take-charge guy" after a 10-year baseball career in which he has shunned the spotlight.

The reticent center fielder, who hit .275 while smashing 40 home runs and collecting 94 runs batted in last season, was thrust squarely into the position Sunday when new manager Ralph Houk brought up the subject.

"Mantle could be the leader of the ball club," Houk said. "He has reached the point in his career where that's possible. I'm going to try to bring that out in him. I talked with him when he signed last month and I'll talk to him some more."

Houk said that didn't mean the switch-hitting outfielder would officially be designated captain, a post the Yankees have kept vacant since the late Lou Gehrig retired.

Manager Danny Murtaugh of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates faced the day with all hands on deck and the annual contract squabbling ended by the signing of first baseman Dick Stuart.

Terms for Stuart, 28, were not disclosed, but the big first sacker who hit .260 during the 1960 campaign and drove in 83 runs while hitting 23 homers, said, "I got almost what I wanted."

Also agreeing to terms as the list of unsigned major leaguers continued to dwindle was little Nellie Fox, Chicago White Sox second baseman.

Elsewhere around the camps, Detroit and Baltimore rookies impressed their skippers while a new addition to the Los Angeles Dodgers' roster reached mid-season form.

Jack Wood, candidate for the Tigers' second base job vacated by the trading of Frank Bolling, hit a homer and single in an intra-squad game, and outfielder prospect Jim Northrup stroked three singles.

Jim Liggett, who hit .257 for Stockton in the Class C California League last year, made his debut in the Orioles' opening squad contest and had a triple, double and single.

At Vero Beach, Fla., the Dodgers' new addition became one of the first to get the heave-ho when minor league umpire Jim Duncan of the Midwest League thumbed him out for heckling from the coaches' box.

The "rookie?" Leo Durocher!

Midget Gloves In Final Fling Here

Snyder boxers hold the inside track here tonight in the open division of competition in defense of their open title as earned last year in the initial Scurry Boys' Club Midget Gloves Tournament. A strong finish by contending Lamesa could swing the trophy to that team however.

Snyder already has one title sewed up, and that is in the 65-pound open class, which Eloy Benitez copped due to his being the only entrant. In addition, the Snyder fighters have placed five other boys in the open finals, two of whom, however, will be having to go up against each other in the forms of Robert Garcia and Jesse Costello.

Lamesa, on the other hand, has three boys who have gained finals berths, plus three others who will be vieing in the semifinals. As a result, the Lamesans are still very much in the running for the team trophy which will be awarded at the conclusion of tonight's bouts.

In the novice end of things, Rotan looks to be making the strongest bid for the team title as nabbed last year by Abilene. Only one Rotan fister has thus far fought his way to the finals, but a strapping five will be vieing in the semis, which tends to give that team a strong contending nod. Odessa, Snyder, and Lamesa are the other outside choices in the novice ranks.

The public is invited to attend tonight's final go-round, which will unfold in the Towle Park Barn beginning at 8 o'clock. Admission prices are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Archers Hold Shoot Here

The Canyon Reef Archery Club held its regular club shoot here yesterday, with the highlight being Grover Gilbert's turning in of a sizzling 337 score in taking first place in the 250 class.

Robert Martin, with 233, was second in that division of competition and J. F. Kerby third with 181.

In a nip and tuck scramble for top honors in the 175 class, Joe Fattig edged out Gerald Pullig by 12 points—279-267.

Bill Poe was an easy victor in the 75 class with his 125 total.

For the women, Lena Fattig nabbed first in the 75 class with 122.

Mike Poe was a first place finisher in the intermediate class, as he shot a score of 66 to Gary Poe's runner-up tally of 55.

Oliver Guy, who was dealt a tough break in the second round, fell short by one point in the 325 class, shooting a score of 324.

Raiders Shoot For Title Clincher

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas Tech makes its last road trip of the season Monday night and it could be a fateful one—it could be thwarted for the nonce in its efforts to win outright the Southwest Conference basketball championship.

All the Red Raiders have to do to sew up the title they already hold a share of is to beat Rice. This wouldn't sound too difficult considering the records of the two teams—Texas Tech is 10-2, Rice is 5-7 and out of the race. But Rice it was that knocked down highly-regarded Southern Methodist 64-62 last week, and SMU was found to be quite tough by the Red Raiders.

However, if Texas Tech should be upset by Rice it would still have another chance at winning the championship undisputed—it could turn the trick by beating Texas Thursday night in the final home game of the season.

With its dangerous duo of Del Ray Mounts and Harold Hudgens hitting on all cylinders, the Raiders reached the "dormie" stage in the conference race last week as they smashed Baylor 96-81 and Texas Christian 101-75.

At the same time Texas, A&M and Arkansas were moving into a second place tie, two games back of Texas Tech. While the Aggies were upended by Southern Methodist 65-61 to help Tech's cause, they turned about to topple Texas 86-69 and knock the latter out of contention. Arkansas walloped Texas Christian 96-76 and Baylor 70-48 to hold pace with Tech.

Arkansas might lose its status of contender for a share of the title Monday night. The Razorbacks play Southern Methodist at Dallas. The Aggies will play cellar-dwelling Baylor at College Station and Texas Christian will be meeting Texas at Austin.

The campaign closes Thursday night with the Texas Tech-Texas battle, Baylor meeting Southern Methodist at Waco, Rice and Texas Christian clashing at Fort Worth and Texas and Texas Tech tangling at Lubbock.

The scoring championship fight is due to go down to the last whistle. Carroll Broussard of Texas A&M leads with 492 points while Mounts is second with 473 and Steve Strange of SMU has 414.

The conference already has set an all-time attendance record with 80 home games drawing 390,016. There are eight games left to pad the total. The record of 374,522 for 87 games was set last year.

Weight Of Gloves Being Haggled Over

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The city boxing commission may decide today whether Ingemar Johansson may wear six-ounce gloves in his March 13 bid to regain the heavyweight title he lost to Floyd Patterson.

Bill Fugazy, promoting the Convention Hall bout, said he would press the Swede's demand at the commission meeting. Six-ounce gloves, regulation in New York, were used in both previous Patterson-Johansson bouts. Miami Beach has a rule that eight-ounce mitts are to be used.

Patterson boxed only three rounds Sunday in addition to working out before a crowd of 600 in his hotel ballroom gym.

Junior Editors Quiz on FAMOUS STATUES

QUESTION: What is the Christ of the Andes?

ANSWER: Passengers in airplanes flying over Upsallata Pass in the rugged Andes Mountains of South America can look down and see the huge statue named "The Christ of the Andes." The statue was erected on the border between Argentina and Chile by those two countries to mark the end of a boundary dispute. It was dedicated in 1904. A plaque at the base of the statue carries the words, "Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than Argentines and Chileans break the peace sworn at the feet of Christ the Redeemer."

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture of this famous statue.

Kennedy, Krush Spar Cautiously

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev are up to their necks in friendly frustration.

They have laid a pleasant foundation for a future meeting, which seems inevitable; like two men who wanted to bury a hatchet but not in each other's head.

They have exchanged cordial messages and avoided name-calling and personal attacks which would make a meeting impossible, as Khrushchev made a meeting with former President Eisenhower impossible because of what he said.

But beyond that there's no basic difference between Khrushchev's relations with Kennedy and his relations with Eisenhower. With both his main policy has been consistent: push where he sees a chance.

The chance he sees now is in the Congo. Although Kennedy wants the United Nations' forces to stay there to keep the peace, Khrushchev wants them out altogether.

Russia's chance for influence among the Congolese and a shattering penetration of Africa would be vastly improved with the U.N. forces gone. From the Russian viewpoint, this is natural enough.

It's also natural enough for Kennedy to want nothing of the kind. So, while Kennedy has extended a friendly hand to Khrushchev, he has kept the other fist clenched.

There was nothing gentle about Kennedy's warning to Russia—without mentioning either Russia or Khrushchev by name—not to try to move into the Congo.

He told the Russians and Red Chinese in his State of the Union message that soft talk from them would leave him unconvinced that they are not trying to take over the world.

At the same time both men are getting their governments ready to talk seriously about disarmament. This will take a lot of talking and a lot of time.

Khrushchev says he's anxious for disarmament. He says he's a believer in peaceful coexistence. But what he means by that and what Kennedy means are not necessarily the same thing.

Because they are not the possibility of disarmament seems a long way off.

So long as the United States is equipped to fight an all-out war, it will have the power to discourage the Russian and Chinese Communists from starting small wars since they might mushroom into big ones.

If the Russian idea of peaceful coexistence means pushing into one nation after another and taking over, through pressure from without or within, then it would become a very unpeaceful coexistence.

Since Kennedy says "we must never be lulled into believing that either (Russia or Red China) has yielded its ambitions for world domination," then he will have to remain able to deal firmly with them.

He's firm with them now, while Khrushchev tries to push in the Congo. So, while Kennedy and the Russian on the surface deal in the friendliest way, they are actually frustrating each other.

New Rocket Fuel Ready

MCGREGOR, Tex. (AP)—Rocket propellant maker Rocketdyne said today it had developed a solid fuel that will fire at 75 degrees below zero.

The company called the development a major breakthrough in missile research.

Rocketdyne Vice President T. E. Myers said such a firing was made in a research motor 38 inches in diameter and 7 feet long. Myers said it was believed to be the largest solid propellant rocket motor fired at such temperatures.

Ability to fire a solid propellant motor at super-low temperatures, he added, promises significant advantages for almost all types of missiles.

The new propellant, he said, is a member of a new family called flexadyne. The family shows superior resistance to cracking or tearing at extremely low temperatures, a difficulty Myers said was encountered in earlier solid fuels.

Rocketdyne is a division of North American Aviation, Inc., with a plant in this Central Texas town.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Curtis Elliston, 27, saved his life during a three-hour ordeal after his left leg was caught in a silage auger Saturday.

The blades stripped the flesh to the bone from his ankle to his knee. Elliston stopped the machine by jamming the overshoe from his other foot into the blades. Then he made a tourniquet with his belt to stop the flow of blood.

His employer, Martin Shrout, found him in the silo three hours later. The leg was amputated at the knee at the Independence Hospital.

Demonstrate In 4 Cities

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negroes in four Texas cities Sunday staged demonstrations aimed at ending racial segregation at movie houses and a railroad restaurant.

The demonstrations at Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Austin were peaceful.

About 60 Negroes and six whites demonstrated in front of the union railroad restaurant in Houston forcing manager James D. Richardson to close the eating place.

Negro students demonstrated in Dallas at the Majestic and Palace Theaters but the demonstrations attracted only passing interest.

Two weeks ago 80 white and Negro youths staged stand-in demonstrations at the two Dallas theaters, both owned by the Interstate Theaters, Inc.

About 50 Negro and white college students staged their second unsuccessful theater demonstration in two weeks at San Antonio.

Officials of the Majestic Theater and the Interstate Theaters chain, which owns it, turned the students away politely but firmly.

Approximately 50 white and Negro University of Texas students renewed their stand-in demonstrations at the Texas Theater in Austin to protest the ban on admitting Negroes.

Runs Away To See Kennedy

GREENEVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A girl who wanted to see President Kennedy, saved $20 from her school lunch allowance and went to the White House.

Shortly after daylight Sunday, White House guards said Kay Eichenberry, 14, of Greeneville, appeared at the gates and asked to see the President.

When the guard said the President wasn't at home, Kay said she would wait. The guard called police, who located the runaway girl on a nearby park bench and persuaded her to help them contact her parents.

Kay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Eichenberry, said she told them she was going to the library to return some books, then boarded a bus for the nation's capital.

Kay's father, a Magnavox Co. executive, told neighbors before he and Mrs. Eichenberry left by plane for Washington that he would try to arrange for Kay to see the President before they return home.

SNYDER BUSINESS NEWS

CENTRAL TIRE SERVICE located at 1931 Twenty-fifth Street offers heavy duty muffler with free installation and a lifetime guarantee for all makes and models of cars or trucks. Wallace Morgan is showa above explaining one of the mufflers in the complete stock at Central Tire. The store is also headquarters for car inspection.

Muffler, Auto Electric Work Are Popular At Central Tire

Free Installation and a lifetime guarantee on all mufflers they sell has made the Central Tire Service, 1931 Twenty-fifth Street, the center of attention for muffler service. Their complete muffler shop has grown to be one of the largest departments.

"We're increasing our stock to insure heavy service mufflers and tailpipes in stock at all times for any make of car or truck," Stanley Noah, owner and operator of the business, says, and adds that the large stock and buying power enables the firm to give free installation service.

The complete electric service recently added by Central Tire has also been a great success, Noah declared. It includes generators, starters, and regulators for the generator and all electrical accessories such as light bulbs and wiring.

Yes, now car owners are getting a complete electrical service at Central Tire with the same feeling of confidence and satisfaction they have always had when trading with the concern in other departments such as a complete brake service, tractor tire service, and front end service as well as the muffler and tailpipe service already mentioned.

"We added the electrical service to give better service, as the best performance from a battery or generator is obtained when the battery - regulator and generator are "tuned-in" to work perfectly together and this can be done with the service we now offer," Noah added.

With spring weather people are going to be going more and getting ready for that big trip come vacation time. Now is the time to take that car in to Central Tire for a checkup to see if everything is working properly. Waiting until a car stalls in a strange town is too late to wonder if there is a short in the wiring or if the voltage regulator is set right to get enough power into the battery.

For good dependable care of your car; for new mufflers, regulators, tailpipes and batteries; and for new or retreaded tires, stop in at Central Tire Service and get your car in safe driving shape for the spring and summer driving just ahead.

Spring Drug Needs On Hand At Hall Firm On East Hwy.

The annual siege of spring fever seems to be getting a good hold on Snyder citizens these days, bringing back thoughts of the sulphur and molasses treatment for spring "laziness" of by gone days.

Nowadays, people get their sulphur and molasses in the form of high potency vitamin pills to keep the body in fine going shape and ready for a change to warmer weather.

In Snyder, people have been getting their vitamin needs from Hall Drug Store, 606 East Highway, for over 10 years. Hall Drug has a complete line of vitamins of all sizes, shapes and descriptions to fit any individual or family needs. From the first liquid vitamins prescribed for the tiny infant to large economy family size bottles of pills, Hall has all the vitamins to keep your family healthy and ready for the summer ahead. They have single, multiple or vitamin-mineral supplements to complete your dietary needs.

The health and well being of the people of Snyder has been the main interest of C. E. Hall, owner of the store, for over 10 years and now his son, Larry, has completed pharmaceutical training and joined with his father in supplying medical needs for Snyderites.

The Halls, father and son, will continue the prescription service founded by the father in always putting the welfare of people above physical comforts, in getting up at all hours of the night to fill desperately needed prescriptions. Hall feels that it is not only his duty but his right to put medicine in the hands of the ill.

Primarily a pharmacy, Hall Drug stocks many other items for the convenience of its customers- a complete line of cosmetics and patented medicines, magazines and cards for all occasions, a gift section stocking hundreds of unusual gifts for particular tastes or the gift to say "Thank You" or "Happy Birthday.""

Right now, Hall is stocking the gift section with special gifts for Easter-candy, Easter eggs and baskets, and adorable stuffed bunnies in all manners of dress.

For all your drug needs, you'll be pleased and satisfied with the Hall Drug Co. located at 606 East Highway in Snyder's first shopping center.

SET FOR EASTER—Basically a pharmacy dedicated to dispensing medicine to the ill, Hall Drug Co. located at 606 East Highway stocks numerous items for the convenience of its customers. Above, Janelle Calvert and Loretta Prince arrange a display of Easter merchandise in the gift section.

Creation Of Jobs Is No. 1 Problem

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy's top labor advisor says that creating 26 million new jobs in the next decade is the nation's No. 1 domestic problem.

Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, made that assertion at a banquet given in his honor Sunday night by AFL-CIO labor union officials whom he formerly served as a chief legal counsel.

Goldberg's estimate of future employment needs means that more than one new job will have to be created by the end of the next decade for every one of the approximately 65 million jobs existing today.

Goldberg said that widespread unemployment and dwindling job opportunities are high on the list of "unfinished business inherited by the present administration."

"All the things that have been swept under the rug during the past eight years are rapidly coming to light," he said.

Goldberg agreed with George Meany, AFL-CIO president, that finding jobs for the rapidly increasing work force and for workers displaced by new production techniques is a problem of major proportions.

Meany, noting that the work force climbed by an average 820,000 annually in the past five years, wondered how, if jobs couldn't be found for all of them, could the much greater influx of new workers be put to work during the coming decade.

"Maybe the answer is the shorter work week. I don't know," Meany commented. "All I know is that we have a new administration in Washington with fresh ideas and I hope it can solve this situation."

Meany went on to say that there is something "basically wrong" when great American industries can work at less than half their capacity and still earn a handsome profit.

Goldberg was due to confer today at a closed session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

The labor secretary told newsmen on his arrival here that Congress is speeding up its procedure to push Kennedy's proposals ahead. He said he hoped Kennedy's first major goal will pass the House this week—a proposal for $1 billion extra unemployment compensation aid.

Goldberg said he was very encouraged with the way Congress is handling Kennedy's proposals and felt that legislators of both political parties share "a sense of urgency" in spurring economic recovery.

JFK Finds Little Time For Hunting

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) — President Kennedy is finding he is able to spend far less time than his wife at their retreat in the Virginia hunt country.

And Jacqueline Kennedy, an accomplished equestrienne is getting in considerable riding, but not as much as she would like. Word is getting around that her doctor prefers that she not ride for a while with any of the hunts for which this part of Virginia is famed. Mrs. Kennedy gave birth to a son last November.

Kennedy, who is pouring a lot of energy into action as the nation's new chief executive, probably will have little time for the hunt even if he has the inclination.

Kennedy motored to Middleburg Sunday, for the third weekend in a row, to spend the night at 400-acre Glen Ora, the estate he and the First Lady have leased. He returned to the White House this morning.

Last week, too, it was a Sunday arrival at the estate and a Monday departure. The week before, Kennedy got in a full weekend at Glen Ora.

Mrs. Kennedy has been spending far more time at the estate. She was at Glen Ora all last week, except for a quick trip to Washington Tuesday for some social engagements.

The First Lady has been riding frequently over the countryside. An ardent and expert horsewoman, she has ridden in the past with the Middleburg, Piedmont, Fairfax and Orange County hunts.

Glen Ora is in the territory of the Orange County Hunt, which extended her an invitation to ride with it. The president of the hunt, Thomas F. Furness, said Mrs. Kennedy replied she probably will want to hunt but wants no publicity about it when she does.

Asked whether the invitaion to hunt included the President, too, Furness laughed and replied: "He doesn't hunt. He's too busy."

Right now the ground is too soft from rain and melting snow for anybody to hunt, Furness said.

First Negro In Florida Hospital

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —A Negro woman quietly registered for a private room and became the first member of her race admitted for treatment at city-owned Mount Park Hospital.

Administrator Don Rece said Sunday Altamease Chapman, 56, is expected to remain at the 524-bed hospital for about 10 days. Suffering from varicose veins, she had been sent to Mound Park by a Negro physician.

The City Council voted Friday to allow the hospital to accept Negro patients after petitions were circulated to block construction of a wing for use by Negroes.

Herter, Ike Plan To Meet For Talks

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—An aide says former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will meet, probably today, with ex-Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herter and his wife arrived Saturday in Los Angeles, heading for a three-week vacation at a hotel in this desert resort area. They will be about two miles from the rented home occupied by Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower at the Eldorado Country Club.

Still bothered some by lumbago, the vacationing ex-President has played no golf in recent days and did not go to church Sunday.

Digs Out Of Jail

CENTERVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Furman Gibson, 38, of Fort Worth dug his way out of the Leon County jail Sunday. A deputy sheriff said Gibson used a lever that once opened the jail gallows trap to dig through a brick wall.
