America Receives First Radio Message From Lakehurst-Bound Dirigible

ZEPPELIN, WITH UNWANTED BOY, MAKES SPEED

First Direct Communication With Ship Had At Washington

ALMOST HALF WAY

Radio Reports Dirigible Making 45 Knots Past Azores Islands

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. (US)—Well beyond the Azores islands, the giant sky-liner Graf Zeppelin tonight was confronted by rain squalls as she surged steadily westward through the cloudlanes toward mid-Atlantic.

By noon tomorrow, if all goes well, the America-bound dirigible is due above a dot in the ocean at 45 west longitude and 36 north latitude—provided her skipper, Dr. Eckener, adheres to the course he is apparently following.

Direct Message

The first direct radio communication with the Graf since she took off from Friedrichshafen was received by naval communications, Arlington station, at 7:05 p. m. eastern standard time. The Graf Zeppelin's message read:

"Ninety miles south of Pico, Azores. Making 45 knots. Light wind.

(Signed) "Graf Zeppelin."

The dirigible's position was described by naval officers as north of Punta Delgada.

Makes Good Time

From dawn to dusk today the Zeppelin had reeled off easily more than 1,000 miles, at a speed which ranged between 60 and 75 miles an hour.

Seemingly Dr. Eckener is following the 36 parallel, which would carry him about 200 miles north of the Bermudas, before he turns northwest toward Lakehurst, N. J., his goal.

Favoring winds or lack of them, as well as other weather conditions such as fog or rain, will determine the exact hour at which the dirigible can make her haven.

At the point in the ocean mentioned above the Graf Zeppelin last year encountered the worst disaster of all her flying, when a huge stabilizer of "fin" crumpled during a storm.

May Go North

No such difficulty is expected this time, for on other occasions the Zeppelin has ridden through light rain squalls without difficulty.

It was reported from Friedrichshafen, however, that Dr. Eckener might veer to the north after passing the Azores, preferring a fog belt to the dangers of rain.

That a stowaway really is aboard the Zeppelin was confirmed by radiograms tonight. Instead of being treated as a guest of honor, however, the German boy was "in the brig."

The radiograms added the youngster was being fed, but was being kept isolated, and would be

Negro Lecturer Talks On Educational Work

More than 350 persons, practically all colored, attended a lecture on "The Education of the Negro Race," given at the Memorial auditorium Thursday night by Roscoe Conkling Simmons of Chicago.

The speaker urged that provision of educational facilities for negroes by the states must be met with purposeful effort on the part of members of that race.

He also spoke on behalf of the Community chest, commending that method of handling charities and other social projects in the community.

Over-Assessments Against Banks to Be Refunded

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (UP)—Over-assessments of $900,000 made against state banks will be refunded within 10 days under the guaranty fund system, the state banking board announced today.

Col. H. H. Rogers, Standard Oil millionaire, and his bride, the former Mrs. Basil Miles, as they arrived in New York from France. Mrs. Rogers' passport and status as a non-resident were questioned but a trip to the customs house solved the difficulty.

'Young Edison' Too Sensible To Think He'll 'Succeed' Inventor

'Smartest Boy' in America Asserts His Modesty Quickly After Winning Examination Honor

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 2. (US)—"I wish to correct the erroneous impression that anyone can be selected as successor to Thomas A. Edison. I am not foolish enough to think I can ever be as great as he is."

Selected today as the life time protege of Thomas A. Edison, most famous inventor in the world, 16-year-old Wilbur Huston, of Seattle, Wash., made it clear he wished to impress his listeners with his modesty.

Surprised at Winning

After the announcement of the judges, made on the Edison lawn at Lewellyn park, that he had been selected as the "smartest boy," in competition with the pick of the youthful brains from every state in the union, Wilbur said:

"I am surprised. I did not expect to win and although you can guess my appreciation—I don't know how to express it."

Besides the honor that goes with being picked by the noted inventor as the smartest boy in the United States, Wilber is to have four years in any technical college he chooses with all expenses paid.

He'll Do His Best

After announcing his choice of colleges as Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Wilber explained:

"I am very interested in marine biology and expect to graduate as a chemical engineer. I intend to do my best to please Mr. Edison."

Wilber is a product of several public and private schools, having studied both in Seattle, his home, and in Baltimore. He finished high school in Lakeside, Seattle, and was chosen valedictorian of his class, having made the highest marks.

His father is Bishop S. Arthur Huston, of the Episcopal diocese of Olympia. His grandfather, Wilber Brothern, is one of the most noted horticulturists on the west coast, having achieved unusual success in hybridizing plants. He has a brother, five, and a sister, eight.

When asked how he answered some of the "trick" questions in the

BODY TO BOOST ROADS FORMED

Andy Bourland to Head Highway Organization

AUSTIN, Aug. 2. (AP)—A permanent organization for the promotion of highway construction in Texas with regional chambers of commerce of the state as its superstructure was created here today with the election of Andy Bourland of Vernon as president, and Ray Leeman of Cropus Christi as secretary. Bourland is president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Leeman is serving as secretary of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The organization, formed for the purpose of educating the people of Texas to the needs of adequate highways, is linked with the Sterling bond plan which the house of representatives refused to ratify by the lack of four votes during the regular session.

Former Floydada Mayor Claimed by Death

Special to The Record News.

FLOYDADA, Texas, Aug. 2.—W. D. Smith, 71, former mayor of Floydada and a resident of Hill county for 35 years, died at the family home here Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, following a sudden attack of apoplexy. Funeral services will be held from the First Baptist church here Saturday afternoon with Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Floydada cemetery.

Mr. Smith is survived by his widow, three sons, two daughters, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild. His two daughters were visiting at the home at the time of his death. He had lived in this city for the past 10 years.

Dallas Police Head Named in Damage Suit

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP)—A suit for $30,000 damages against W. C. Graves, Dallas police and fire commissioner, and the sureties of his official bond, has been filed here by W. J. Reid, former radio station operator.

The suit, growing out of a physical attack on Reid by Graves at the city hall last week, asked $10,000 actual damages and $20,000 exemplary damages.

Woman Falls Asleep After Seeing Burglar

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (UP)—Waking up in the middle of the night to find a burglar attempting to open her window, Miss Elizabeth Ledger got up quietly to put her money and a gun under her pillow for "safe keeping." She awoke a few hours later, after falling asleep, to find her money, gun, and burglar gone.

Rain Breaks Heat Spell in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 2. (UP)—An inch of rain in Springfield pushed mercury in thermometers down 30 degrees to 67 from a high of 97 last night. Rain was general within a 50-mile radius, although centering here. The temperature was considerably higher again today.

SNOOK FORCES CLAIM LACK OF PREMEDITATION

Wound on Girl's Head Made by Hammer Proved Of Deadly Nature

CORONER QUIZZED

Father of Murdered Co-Ed Stays in Office Of State Counsel

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 2. (US)—As the trial of Dr. James H. Snook, former Ohio state university professor, progressed today the defense attempted to set up lack of premeditation in the murder of Theora K. Hix, 25-year-old medical student.

Throughout the entire questioning of Corner James A. Murphy the defense insisted that death might have been caused by one of the wounds on the girl's head made with a hammer.

Blow Deadly

Murphy finally admitted that such a blow, without medical attention, could have been the cause of death but that it was his belief that the severing of the girl's jugular vein actually caused her death.

Previously, in his report, and his testimony during his examination by the state, he said the knife wounds were responsible.

The trial moved swiftly despite the fact that Murphy was on the stand during most of the afternoon session.

Eight other witnesses, however, were called including Charles C. Clay, who embalmed Miss Hix' body.

Girl's Father Present

Melvin T. Hix, father of the dead girl, has been spending the last few days of the trial in the prosecutor's office. He indicated today that he might return to the courtroom "if the testimony takes a certain trend," despite admonitions of his physicians and his lawyer.

An examination of Dr. Snook was held in his cell this morning by the defense physician, Dr. Frank W. Harrah. It was understood that the purpose of the examination was to prove that Dr. Snook was injured by Miss Hix and that this led to the murder.

Sayre Business Man Disappears

Special to The Record News.

SAYRE, Okla., Aug. 2.—The mysterious disappearance last Sunday night of G. W. Land, manager of the Sayre Business college and former lecturer, has led friends to suspect foul play, it was learned today.

Mr. Land was last seen at the Skirvin hotel in Oklahoma City. An appointment which he had made with T. M. Flanary, president of Draughon's Business college, in that city Monday morning, was not kept and nothing has been heard from him since that time.

He was described as being about 50 years of age, blond, partly bald, about five feet six inches in height and a good dresser. Mr. Land was formerly a lecturer and had traveled and lectured extensively in recent years.

Mexican Bank's Suit Against Rebel Dismissed

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. (AP)—Court action brought against Salvador Ateca, former Mexican rebel army paymaster, by the Banco de La Laguna, of Torreon, Mexico, to recover moneys alleged to have been taken from the bank during the recent revolution, was dismissed by Supreme Court Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo today.

A warrant of attachment for $160,000 which the bank had obtained against Ateca also was vacated.

Soviet Plane to Hop Off for America Monday

MOSCOW, Aug. 2. (US)—The Soviet plane "Country of the Soviets" is scheduled to hop off for New York on Monday, Aug. 5, according to a statement issued by the Soviet military air force tonight.

The flight, approximately 12,000 miles, will be from this city to the American metropolis via Siberia. The plane will carry four men.

"The Inside of Prohibition"

Mabel Walker Willebrandt

Former assistant U. S. attorney general in charge of prohibition tells the whole unvarnished story of eight years of enforcing the 18th amendment.

The first comprehensive and authentic story of the job of trying to make America dry is told by this stormy petrel of the justice department who, freed from the restrictions of officialdom, now tells the truth as she saw it.

The bootlegger who reached the ear of a president, the politicians who demoralized the government enforcement staff, the "higher ups" who protected crooked officers, the internal dissension that broke down the morale, make up a thrilling tale.

Is prohibition enforcible?
Is the government winning?
What is the outlook?

These and many other vital questions are answered in this remarkable series beginning Aug. 5 in

ETNA RUMBLES

Scientists Predict Small Volcanic Eruption Soon

CATANIA, Sicily, Aug. 2. (UP) Mount Etna rumbled ominously again today and emitted a pine tree pillar of incandescent material which was scattered over the surrounding district, along with a great amount of ashes.

The manifestation occurred at 4 a. m., just as early risers were starting their morning activities.

Scientists predicted that a small scale eruption would result within the next few days.

COMMISSION TO VISIT PRISONS

Other States to Be Toured By Texas Body

HOUSTON, Aug. 2. (UP)—Prison systems in other states will be inspected by the Texas prison centralization commission, now on a tour of state prison farms near Houston, it was decided today at a meeting at Ramsey farm.

The commission voted to begin its out of state trip Aug. 19, and to visit prisons in Oklahoma, Kansas, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, the Carolinas, Alabama and Georgia.

It was voted to employ a mechanical engineer and architect to accompany the commission, on motion of Ernest Austin, Bryan, a prison board member.

Opposition to the way in which the prisons are at present decentralized was voiced at the meeting today.

"A barbarious relic of the past," was the way Senator Edgar Witt of Waco described the system.

Officials pointed out the state's policy was short-sighted in gambling all the resources of the system on a one-crop mode of farming. Walking over the farms, the visitors saw acres upon acres of cotton, grown rank upon seeding from rich bottom land but robbed of its fruits by the boll weevil and cotton fleas.

The prisoners and the conditions under which they live interested the commission members most.

They saw men huddled together, in one instance 334 prisoners in a building 34 by 200 feet; buildings crudely constructed with worn floors and conveniences lacking; no provisions for recreation; dining rooms swarming with flies and no way of keeping them out; and hospital facilities crude. This was the story of squalor that unfolded itself before the commission.

26 Rounded Up In Wichita Dry Raids

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 2. (UP)—Wichita tonight was at least as dry as the Sahara desert, if not drier. Federal agents working with county officers rounded up 26 persons whom they alleged had been handling and selling liquor. The prisoners were arraigned this morning before United States Commissioner J. C. Shearman. Nineteen were charged with selling liquor outside the city limits. Officials are holding 13 more warrants for serving, as soon as they can find their parties.

50,000 Boy Scouts Greet England's Prince

ARROWE PARK, England, Aug. 2. (AP)—Fifty thousand boyish voices cheering in all languages roared welcome today to the Prince of Wales, accompanied by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in the royal box, at the world Boy Scout jamboree here.

It was a great day for the scout troops, particularly exciting for the 1,300 American youngsters whose camp was inspected by the heir to the British throne. Ambassador Dawes made an informal surprise visit this afternoon.

Sheep and Goat Raisers Convention Is Ended

DEL RIO, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—The annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' association of Texas closed here today with the election of officers and the selection of Brady as next year's meeting place. T. A. Kincaid of Ozona, was re-elected president.

A total of 488 sheep sold for $31,707.50. Two hundred and twenty-eight of this number brought $17,682, an average of $78 a head.

English Aviatrix Off On Flight to India

FOLKSTONE, Eng., Aug. 2. (US)—The Duchess of Bedford, one of England's most famous woman pilots and air enthusiasts, hopped off today in her monoplane "The Spider" from the aerdrome at Lympne on a 10,000 mile flight to India and back. The duchess expects to accomplish the fight in one week. Captain C. D. Barnard, pilot, and a mechanic accompanied her.

Seven Indicted on Dry Violations in Brooklyn

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 2. (UP)—Indictments were returned by a federal grand jury today against three suspended federal prohibition agents, a constable, a private in the regular army and two civilian employes of the government at the United States army base. All the indictments charged liquor violations.

ELECTRA MAN JUMPS IN WELL AFTER BRAWL

Domestic Rift Followed By Husband's Effort To Drown Self

ARGUMENTS WIN OUT

Pleadings of Police Avert Intended Drowning Of Former Patient

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 2.—Arguments won out where force was of no avail when Electra officers tonight finally dissuaded a man from drowning himself after they had sought to place him in custody allegedly for beating his wife at their home on an oil lease near here.

The attempted drowning occurred in an abandoned well near the man's home, which contained only five feet of water. The would-be victim, officers said, formerly was an inmate at a state asylum.

The man ran to the well and cast himself in as the officers were entering the home in response to a call, officers related. Once down in the well, he shrieked to officers that he was going to drown himself, and forthwith submerged himself in the water. Unsuccessful because he could not keep himself sufficiently inundated, he tried again. Officers meanwhile made up for lack of ropes with which to assist the man by arguing with him and urging him to come out. Finally he did.

He was placed in the city jail.

Deputy Constable Sam Spruiell and Officers Creek Brown and O. A. Whisnand answered the call.

Students Name Officers At A. & M. Short Course

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Aug. 2. (UP)—Fletcher Davis, Hondo, was elected president of the Texas agricultural writers conference and Buster Worley, Shamrock, president of the Texas united clubbers association at the farmer's short course here today.

Livestock problems were presented the visitors today in a series of lectures by experts from all parts of the United States.

Dallas Lumber Company Destroyed by Fire

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (UP)—Thousands of dollars damage was done here tonight when fire destroyed the Dallas Lumber company and threatened to spread to nearby homes and the street-car barn.

The blaze was spectacular and taxed the full efforts of the Dallas fire forces to prevent it from spreading. No casualties were reported.

Man and Wife Are Found Shot to Death

CHANUTE, Kan., Aug. 2. (UP)—M. L. Johnson and his wife were found dead in their home here today. Indications pointed to the shooting of Johnson by his wife who then turned the gun on herself. Neighbors discovered the double tragedy today, although it is believed to have occurred yesterday.

Safe of Western Union Stolen at Del Rio

DEL RIO, Texas, Aug. 2. (UP)—Police tonight were looking for the 500-pound safe of the Western Union office here, carried off last night by burglars who made their entrance through a window. It was not known how much was in the safe.

Texas Officers Forced To Run 70 'Miles Per' To Catch Duo

PARIS, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—Bruce Fowler and Raymond Gill, who escaped from the Huntsville penitentiary several days ago were recaptured here tonight after a 70 mile per hour pursuit through the outskirts of Paris.

Deputy Sheriffs Pick Anderson and John Collins met the fugitives four miles west of Paris on the highway after they had been informed by officers at Roxton that the pair had left that place headed for Paris.

NEW RIOT AT LEAVENWORTH

Guards Quell Second Coup In Two Days

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 2. (US)—A fresh outburst among convicts at the United States penitentiary was reported here today.

All night long the fires of yesterday's riot smouldered and early this morning the flames burst forth with renewed vigor when 900 prisoners were assembled in the main dining room.

A large group of convicts started the trouble this morning by hurling their knives, forks and plates about the mess hall. Wild yelling accompanied this outburst and guards were reported to have had considerable difficulty in quelling the new riot.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the riot was at its height. Since noon yesterday all available guard service at the prison has been pressed into service. Penitentiary officials are known to be highly alarmed concerning the situation.

Thomas B. White, warden, refused to discuss the affair, saying he was forbidden to do so unless he had permission from the department of justice office, at Washington.

Huge crowds gathered on the beautiful lawn of the prison yesterday afternoon and promptly were ordered off by guards, stationed several feet apart over the spacious grounds and armed with heavy caliber automatic rifles and sawed off shotguns. Newspaper men and camera men were there in large numbers but all efforts to interview officials of the prison proved futile.

Mike Martinez, 30 years old was the lone prisoner killed in the outburst yesterday. Martinez had completed one year of a 30 year sentence. His home, record and other details of his sentence were not available.

Names of the wounded prisoners and names of the ring leaders in the riot could not be learned here. The prison count at present, stands at 3,758 men. Approximately 3,000 prisoners were said to have been involved in the riot.

Borger Official Denies Basis of Damage Suit

BORGER, Texas, Aug. 2. (UP)—Declaring a damage suit filed against him and a liquor law violator he had prosecuted "had no foundation," John A. Holmes, district attorney, tonight said he "was willing to let the courts decided who was right."

The suit was filed yesterday by W. C. Witcher, former corporation court judge, who had acted as defense counsel for the liquor law violator. When his client failed to pay his full bill, Witcher sued the client as well as Holmes, whom he alleged had advised his client not to pay.

OIL OPERATOR AND RANCHMAN SUPPLY FACTS

Vast Petroleum and Agricultural Wealth Of District Told

SESSION ON TODAY

Lengthy Questioning Puts Halt to Hopes of Ending Hearings

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2. (AP)—Unexpectedly lengthy cross examinations today so delayed testimony in the Interstate Commerce commission hearings on proposed rail extensions in the eastern Texas Panhandle that Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner Charles D. Mahaffie adjourned the hearings until tomorrow.

Testimony of three railroads for Panhandle extensions was concluded. Intervenors for the railroads and a fourth railroad still must present their testimony.

Danciger Tells of Field

Joe Danciger, Amarillo oil man, had told of the oil development in the Panhandle, including Gray county, through which the proposed rails would run. He said 60,000 barrels of oil were produced daily in the Pampa field. He estimated the field would produce oil for 25 or 30 years. Production will be increased to 100,000 and possibly 200,000 barrels, he declared.

Danciger testified for the Pampa Chamber of Commerce in behalf of the Fort Worth & Danver's application for a road from Childress to Pampa, via Wellington and Shamrock. The Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf has asked to build from Shamrock to Quanah to Beaver Creek. At the latter point the Rock Island would connect with the proposed St. Louis-San Francisco line into Fort Worth (Iowa Vertion via Seymour, Olney and Jacksboro. Altogether 152 miles of railroad, worth about $11,000,000, are proposed.

Denver Ends Case

The Fort Worth and Denver completed its case after introducing witnesses who told of the feasibility of a joint operation of the Shamrock-Wellington portion by the Frisco, Rock Island and Denver as suggested by F. E. Williamson, president of the Burlington lines, the Denver parent company. When the Interstate Commerce commission makes its decision it may award individual permits to each of the three roads or specify joint operation between Wellington and Shamrock, the Rock Island using Denver tracks from Quanah to Vernon, as suggested by Williamson.

A major portion of today's testimony was devoted to development in Gray county near Lefors and Pampa and the probability of future development. One of the witnesses, M. B. Davis, Lefors, said the land in that region was unusually fertile and susceptible to cultivation.

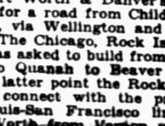

Land Waits Road

R. B. Smith, Chickasha, Okla., said he owned an interest in a 45,000-acre ranch in northwest Childress county and that 30 per cent

Prized Volumes From A. Zundelowitz Library Presented to School Here

A gift of 20 volumes from the library of A. Zundelowitz has been made to the Zundelowitz Junior high school by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cowen of Santa Monica, Calif., relatives of the late Wichita Falls philanthropist, it was learned Friday from Lester Jones, vice president and cashier of the Wichita State Bank and Trust company.

Mr. Jones was named one of the executors of the Zundelowitz estate in the will recently filed in California, and has just returned from more than three weeks spent in California. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Jones and three children for a tour of many of the California cities and resorts before returning to Wichita Falls.

In addition to standard historical and literary works included in the shipment of books received here Friday, the gift from Mr. and Mrs. Cowen included one of Mr. Zundelowitz' prized volumes, "An Authentic History of the Second War for Independence," issued in 1815 by J. G. Hathaway. The book, now yellowed with age, gives an intimate account of the war of 1812, including stories of many of America's deported to Germany as soon as the Zeppelin lands.

Dr. Eckener and others aboard were declared to be angered at the lad's leap onto the Zeppelin shell from the girders of the Friedrichshafen hangar, endangering the lives of all on board.

By noon tomorrow, if able to keep up her present speed, the Zeppelin will be a little more than 1,600 miles off Lakehurst. Computing an average speed of 60 miles an hour she would make the balance of the journey in 28 hours bringing her into Lakehurst about 4 p. m. Sunday.

However, an accurate forecast at present is impossible, owing to the always-present danger of unfavorable weather or mechanical mishaps. It appears likely, nevertheless, that with favoring conditions the Zeppelin will arrive at Lakehurst some time between noon and nightfall Sunday.

Doctor Eckener himself computed between 80 and 85 hours for the journey, as against the 111 hours required for the same voyage last year.

STOWAWAY KEPT IN ZEP'S 'JAIL'

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Aug. 2 (US)—It has finally been established that the Graf Zeppelin is carrying a stowaway to Lakehurst.

But he never will be a hero like "Red" Terhune who came over from Lakehurst on the Graf last October.

He will finish the journey to Lakehurst in the airship's calaboose, which is a locked compartment in the back part of the ship and which permits no communication with anybody else on board except his "jailer."

When the Graf Zeppelin lands at Lakehurst the stowaway, who is generally reported to be a "German youth," but who may turn out to be a "horse of another stable," will be turned over for punishment.

Doctor Duerr, director of the Zeppelin works, today declared that the Zeppelin authorities do not wish to aid the unwelcome passenger in getting world-wide fame for his feat and that proper steps will be taken to dispose of him at the proper time.

The little town of Friedrichshafen is keenly anxious about the stowaway. A complete census of local youths does not reveal any of the town boys missing.

There were reports some days ago that several American youths "busted" in Paris and that some of them were "hopping the rods" for Friedrichshafen in the hope of beating their way home on the Zeppelin.

The possibility that one of these might have been successful was discussed in spite of the classification of the stowaway in most reports as a German.

famous Edison questionnaire, Wilber declined to answer, explaining Mr. Edison would have to divulge that information. He admitted, however, he believed he missed some of them.

Of the 49 boys to take the examination, Wilber was among the last to finish, handing in his paper but five minutes before the five hour limit was up.

So impressed was Mr. Edison with the showing made by some of the boys he made a last minute announcement that four additional scholarships, providing tuition, would be awarded. The winners of these scholarships are Charles B. Brunissen, of West Redding, Conn.; Bernard Sturgis of Butler, Indiana; James Seth, of Santa Fe, N. M.; and Ivan A. Getting, son of the Czecho-slovakian consul at Pittsburgh, Pa.

The four additional scholarship winners will be provided with tuition only but will be given a place in the Edison plants if they desire it.

The boy who was chosen for his genius to perpetuate the work of the famous inventor is, besides intelligence, an average American boy. He has never taken a drink and is not fond of smoking, although he admitted he has smoked. He is an athletic type, being fond of fencing, swimming and tennis.

Does he like girls? That alone was the only question he refused to answer. But he admitted he likes dancing and parties.

Hundreds View Remains of Leahy During Hour Morgue Is Open

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—The doors to a funeral parlor that held the body of Harry J. Leahy, executed early this morning for the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey of Mathis, were opened for only an hour today but hundreds of persons crowded around awaiting a chance to view the corpse.

BURIAL REQUEST WILL BE DENIED

GEORGETOWN, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—Harry J. Leahy will not be granted his request to be buried in Georgetown, where a jury convicted him of the slaying of Dr. J. A. Ramsey and sentenced him to death.

Relatives today decided the body will be sent to Corpus Christi, where Leahy was well known, for burial.

The request to be buried in Georgetown dated back to the time of his conviction. He asked a Georgetown banker and churchman who had shown an interest in his spiritual welfare, to see to it that his body was interred here.

In making this request Leahy said "in after years the people of Williamson county will think different of me to what they do now."

'TRUST' AFTER KING'S SCALP

Power Interests Seek Removal of Official

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (US)—Moving secretly to extend its tentacles over the hydro-electric power resources of the nation, the "power trust" has circulated a "confidential" memorandum, demanding changes in the accounting system of the federal power commission, it was learned today.

Removal of William V. King, chief accountant of the federal power commission, because of fear that his methods would have a "dangerous effect" on power companies, is sought in the memorandum.

The pamphlet was said to have been prepared by some one in the National Electric Light association for circulation among "higher-ups" in the power trust.

A drive is launched in this tract for removal of the accounting work of the power commission from the supervision of King. Its transfer to the war, agriculture and interor department, which "will not have men specially trained for this work," is suggested.

The federal water power act of 1920 places the licensing of virtually all power sites in the country under jurisdiction of the federal power commission. Leases may be made for periods not exceeding 50 years, at the end of which time the government has the option to recapture the plants.

King has applied the system of account used by the Interstate Commerce commission as required by the law. The "confidential memorandum" expressed a fear that application of this system will hold the price at which the government may recapture below what the power interests desire.

Jesse Bird Held On Liquor Indictment

Jesse Bird, indicted for transporting whisky by the 30th district grand jury in its session early in July, was arrested here Friday afternoon by Dick Morris, deputy sheriff. Bird was first arrested by city officers who seized an automobile and a quantity of liquor several months ago. The prisoner was lodged in the county jail in lieu of bond.

NEEDED EMPLOYE

But Employer Flees After Girl Tells Story To Officers Here

The tearful story of a young Wichita Falls girl who answered an advertisement for a "housekeeper, unmarried," Friday morning put Frank Morgan, constable, on the trail of the man who inserted the ad. The youthful applicant told the constable that she had gone to rooms at an Indiana street address where her prospective employer had explained that the housekeeping job was only nominal.

By the time the officer reached the place after the girl's complaint, the would-be employer had fled. The advertisement had been answered by about a dozen girls during the morning, several of whom were still waiting for an interview when Mr. Morgan arrived, the landlady told the investigators.

Mrs Lena Rolling

Texas Mother Has Healthiest Child

Mrs. Lena Rolling is perhaps the happiest mother in Houston, and it is all because her little son Royce Lee finally got over a spell of sickness which pulled him down terribly.

"His blood must have gotten very thin because he broke out so badly all over his little legs," said Mrs Rolling in her home at 3011 Harrisburg Blvd. "From the time I started giving him Nature's Remedy Juniors it so thoroughly cleaned out his system that all the broken out places healed and others did not come back as they did before. Now he is in so much better health that I wish every mother could see him and see what those little chocolate candy NR Jrs do for ailing children."

All drug stores which sell Nature's Remedy, the safe dependable laxative and corrective also have NR Jrs. They are just 25c.—Adv.

of that land is tillable and would be cultivated if the Denver application was granted.

The Clinton, Oklahoma, and Western, Santa Fe subsidiary, is to present testimony tomorrow on its application for a line from Pampa to Lefors.

Overnight train service between Dalls, Fort Worth and the east Texas Panhandle would be offered if the Interstate Commerce commission approved application of the Fort Worth and Denver to build a line from Childress to Pampa. F. E. Clarity, operating vice president of the Fort Worth and Denver, testified at the I. C. C. hearing here today.

Clarity said trains would leave Dallas at 8:30 p. m., Fort Worth at 9:55 p. m., reaching Pampa at 8:10 a. m., the next morning.

Faster freight service also was promised, Clarity saying shippers in Fort Worth, Dallas and Amarillo would have second day delivery into Pampa, Shamrock and Wellington. One freight and one passenger train would be operated each way daily, the freight northward leaving Childress at 3 p. m., and arriving at Pampa at 1:15 a. m. By leaving Childress at 3 p. m., the train would connect with the southeast-bound Denver-Fort Worth and northwest bound Fort Worth-Denver trains, the former reaching Childress at 2 p. m., and the latter about 1 p. m.

The Fort Worth and Denver Panhandle line to Pampa would show a net railway operating income of $300,000 the first year and $364,685 the fifth year, H. B. Ruch, Denver auditor, said he had estimated. He compared revenues on the proposed Childress-Pampa line with those on the recently completed South Plains branch.

On the other hand, W. A. Blank, assistant general freight agent of the Denver, said he estimated the Denver would lose $343,414.44 yearly if the Rock Island petition for a road from Quanah to Shamrock were granted and the Denver application denied.

L. M. Hogsett, general freight agent for the Fort Worth and Denver Northern, took the stand again today for cross examination by attorneys of the Rock Island and Frisco railroads in the I. C. C. hearing being conducted here on the applications of three railroads for extension of their West Texas lines.

Hogsett, in discussing the Denver's proposed line from Quanah to Pampa, estimated that the income of that line for the first year would be $633,960, and announced that on that basis his road would be able to give lower rates on the shipment of cotton seed products between those points than are now given the shippers. The present rate is 22 cents a hundred, while the new rate would be 15 cents, Hogsett said.

In cross examination of Hogsett the attorneys attempted to show that the Denver's proposed line would take away more business from the present lines of the Santa Fe, Rock Island and the Clinton Oklahoma and Western railways than would justify building of the new road.

86 Bottles of Beer Taken In Raid on Farm Near Electra

In a search of a pasture a few miles south of Electra Friday afternoon, Charlie Gant, deputy sheriff, with Jess Leverett and C. L. Bradford, county motorcycle officers, arrested J. G. Taylor and seized 86 bottles of beer. The brew was buried in mesquite clumps not far from a shack. The officers traced its hiding place from tracks leading from the house. Charges of the possession of beer were filed against Taylor before United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz.

heroes of the army and navy. Among other events it tells of the battles of the famous Constitution and the loss of the Chesapeake and the death of Captain Lawrence. The book was written by Samuel R. Brown, and according to its author, gives "details of the military and naval operations from the commencement to the close of the recent war; enriched with numerous geographical and biographical notes."

Mr. and Mrs. Cowen also announced that in memory of Mr. Zundelowitz they will perpetuate the annual donations to the Wichita Falls milk and ice fund which were made for many years by Mr. Zundelowitz. The contributions will be made in the name of Mr. Zundelowitz to open each year's campaign as was the custom during the life of the philanthropist.

While in California Mr. and Mrs. Jones visited the principal cities and resorts of the state, including the famous Catalina island operated by William Wrigley, chewing gum magnate and baseball mogul. Thousands of persons visit this resort daily, Mr. Jones said, some 1,500 pleasure seekers having been on his boat, and 1,800 having cleared for the same island a few minutes before.

While in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Jones visited Mr. and Mrs. Neil Thackaberry. Mrs. Thackaberry was formerly Adee Wood, a member of the graduating class of Wichita Falls high school in 1910. Mr. and Mrs. Jones also being members of the class. At Long Beach the party met Clarence Barnett, another member of the class, and at San Francisco called on Morris Poore, a third member. Plans were discussed for observing the 20th anniversary of the class here next fall, Mr. Jones said, and each of the three former Wichitans now in California tentatively agreed to attend if at all possible. The class held a luncheon here last year attended by many out of town members, and this year it is hoped to have a complete attendance of the 24 surviving members of the class of 25. Burton Stayton is president of the class, and is already making plans for the reunion Mr. Jones said.

All Day Meeting Held By Durland Grove Here

Lunch was served to approximately 50 members and visitors when Durland Grove 1487 Woodmen circle met in all day session Friday in Eagles hall.

Mrs. Hulda Sherrell of Dallas, formerly a member of the Grove, was present to renew old acquaintances and meet new members. She was cordially welcomed.

Business session opened at 2:30 when officers were seated by the team. Grove honors were given visitors. Marie Moore, Jewel Meadows and Alma Griffith were accepted as members by transfer and applications for membership of Mrs. Lannie Thomas and Mrs. Van W. Hall were balloted on and they were elected.

Mrs. Maggie Brooks was elected second auditor to fill recent vacancy. Transfer members who were taken in last week, Mrs. M. Brooks, Miss Opal Brooks and Mrs. E. E. Goodlett, were introduced and given Grove honors.

It was agreed to have a white elephant sale Friday, Aug. 23 and a bake sale on Saturday following. All members who will donate pies or cakes are asked to telephone Mrs. J. R. Young, 5349.

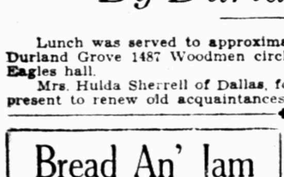

The Grove closed in regular form with 28 members.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

One could fancy oneself on some Italian plateau when sitting on the tiled terrace on the northeast corner of Mrs. C. E. McCutchen's lovely home. Early, very early in the home. Early, very early in the morning, it must be a lovely sight to see the sun rise through the tall poplars that guard the spacious grounds. And on the other side of the house to see the glory of the setting sun through the same tall graceful trees. And a little curving new moon to come up in the east, peeping round the waving branches; then on full moon evenings, could anyone describe it when the glory of its light shines down in silver shadowed streams.

And in the corner of the terrace, there's a fireplace. Fancy the cool evenings when one might still sit outside before a crackling log fire. What a place for a picnic supper. What a place, anyway, to breathe in beauty.

The deep dark green of cypress stands out against the deep cream of the walls. Ivy is trailing its clinging tendrils up toward the roof. The turf is thick as if it had been rolled, even if not so long as the quota set by England to make a perfect turf, 100 years.

In a far corner of the yard, there are two healthy sweet gum trees. We picture them now in the royal garb that sweet gums wear when the frost falls on them. They are native to our Tennessee forests and we know their beauty.

Mrs. McCutchen is a lover of trees and she is learning their habits. She knows the thirsty and the dry ones and watches over them. Such women appreciate what another lover of trees, Mrs. W. W. Silk, quoted to us: "Trees are poems that the earth writes against the sky."

There are four elms on those lovely grounds. We thought of the days of our childhood. At the front gate of our birthplace, stood two great spreading elms, green and graceful, the pride of our father's heart. As if it were yesterday, we remember how we trembled at the sight of him in wrath when a telephone man, who happened to be red headed, climbed into those trees and cut some limbs. "Get out of there, you red headed woodpecker," was what we heard; we expected to see blood shed, but the man "got out." Elms, we have always loved and never hear of them without thinking of the old New England elms.

And to one who has hungered for for red bud and dogwood, it was good to see a thriving red bud and to know that Mrs. McCutchen will have in her yard both the pink and white dogwood.

A house all one type would not be restful in America. Mrs. McCutchen has realized this in house and grounds. Old fashioned moss spread its brilliant color in close proximity to blooming cacti. Tall yucca plants near pink flowering bougainvillea; little trickling clusters of brilliant verbenas and dividing the front lawn from the rear, a blossoming wall of zinnias.

The roses, Mrs. McCutchen told us, were her husband's hobby. They blossomed in every color. Pruned to nicety, cultivated carefully, grown with love. Surely anyone with all that beauty spread before them, must be always happy.

It was trees and flowers we meant to speak of, but too, we must talk of two paintings inside the house. One, another triumph of beauty—a landscape by Emil Hermann in misty, lovely coloring. The other, the one thing that caught our eyes when we went in the house, the portrait of an upright, bright faced, handsome little lad. We had to ask about it, and found it was a picture of "Jim." And Jim is the crown prince of the house of McCutchen. Emil Jacobs did the portrait and it is the heart of the room where it hangs. Looking at it, one could see why the McCutchens are looking to the future in planning house and grounds.

Wanted to Cry

"You are the only gentleman in the room," said the stranger.

"In what way, sir?" asked a guest.

"When I tripped in the dance, tearing my fair partner's dress, you were the only one in the room who did not laugh."

"The lady is my wife, and I paid $30 for that dress yesterday."—Wrexham, England, Advertiser.

Slabs of copper in Sweden, tea compressed into bricks in China, tobacco, milk, cattle and salt, were at one time used as coins.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

TREAT YOUR HUSBAND LIKE A SWEETHEART

Yesterday I wrote that wives once a week should be given the consideration their husbands show customers. On the other hand, husbands once a week should be treated like sweethearts instead of wage-earners, cash registers or the cause of all the trouble.

Imagine how his worn face would relax, his tired eyes brighten if once a week your husband arrived home to find a sweetheart instead of a wife!

If instead of finding you in a worn-out rag you surprised him in one of your prettiest and most becoming gowns, with your hair freshly waved, your make-up properly applied and a smile instead of a worried look on your face. These things alone do a great deal to soothe the savage breast of man.

A man is not nearly so apt to bolt his food in silence if the menu is composed of his favorite dishes, if his pleasure obviously has been the determining factor in the preparation of the meal.

He is in the habit of burying his face in the evening paper?

Did you ever wonder if perhaps your careless dress and untidy hair might give any one an incentive to block off the view.

Is he sullen, moody and uncommunicative?

Of what do you talk to him? Is it of unpaid bills, of the necessity of a dentist for Junior and a doctor for Jane's adenoids, of complaints about the neighbor's children, the paucity of your wardrobe, his failure to get ahead rapidly?

If these are the chief items of your conversational repertoire, then don't wonder at his unresponsiveness or blame him for it.

You never made a husband of a sweetheart by harping on his defects and the high price of eggs.

You made a husband of a sweetheart by judicious flattery, by listening wide-eyed to the audible manifestations of his great mind, by not being suspicious and jealous when he had to break a date with you, by catering to his little peculiarities.

You won a husband by persistent prettiness and good nature, by emphasizing your own fine qualities and keeping dark your less lovable traits!

That's how you made a husband of a sweetheart.

The recipe for making a sweetheart of a husband is the same.

Children Should Be Given Lessons In Manners Early

Importance of Teaching a Child Good Manners. How Far Is a Mother Responsible for Her Daughter?—Straight Talk to a Too-Meek Wife.

Dear Miss Dix—Can you give me some suggestions about how to teach my children courtesy and good manners?—E. E. S.

Answer—Lucky children to have a mother who realizes the importance of teaching them good manners, for good manners are a letter of credit that the world honors at sight, and they will carry a man and woman farther than talent, or industry, or all of the cardinal virtues. Better to endow a child with good manners and courtesy than to present it with a fortune.

The boorish, the uncouth, the brusque may have hearts of gold and clever brains, but we seldom find it out because we avoid them as much as possible and turn to the suave and pleasant and agreeable who win our liking at sight.

So, wise is the mother who teaches her children what to do and how to do it, what to say and how to say it and thus assures that her sons and daughters will be persona grata to their fellow creatures and have poise and what they call in business a good selling address, instead of letting them grow up awkward and dumb and ill at ease in company.

It is not too soon to begin teaching our children good manners in the cradle. Never let them form bad habits. Teach even a baby to say "thank you" and to show some appreciation of what other people do for it and the benefits of this will accrue to the youngster through life, because we all like to give and to bestow favors on those who show some enthusiasm over our kindness and thoughtfulness, and we do mighty little for those who take everything as no more than their due and give no sign of gratitude.

Next, teach your children to take a gracious attitude toward people. Teach them to make the conventional little polite speeches about being glad to meet strangers or having had a good dinner or enjoyed a ride or liking some present that has been made them. These speeches are the small change of courtesy that purchase liking out of all proportion to their worth. Many boys and girls get good jobs or coveted invitations just because we remember them as polite little children, whereas we carry our prejudice against rude children over into their manhood and womanhood.

Teach your children to answer courteously when they are spoken to, especially when they are addressed by their elders. The rude, tongue-tied, smart-alecky children who say something impertinent, or don't answer at all when they are spoken to by older people, will go through life making enemies and rousing ill-will and resentment against themselves that it will take actual genius to overcome.

Teach your children to respect other people's property. Don't let them wreck and destroy things at home and they will not do it abroad. All of us hate, with a venomous hatred, the children who go through our houses like a cyclone leaving rack and ruin behind them, who tear up our fine books and draw pictures with pins on our old mahogany and spill ink on our expensive rugs.

And we all sing the praises of the well-bred child who keeps its hands off our treasures and who moves about out cherished belongings with care not to injure anything.

Teach your child how to write nice little notes of thanks, of congratulation and of condolence, as the circumstances may require. This is a small matter of consideration of one's friends and acquaintances, but it differentiates the lady and gentleman from the boor and is an attention for which people are absurdly grateful.

Teach your children the etiquette of the table. Many most estimable people gargle their soup and inhale their food, but nobody wants them around. To know your way among the forks and spoons is not an accomplishment. It is a necessity in these days when so much business is transacted over the luncheon and dining table.

Recently two cases have come under my own observation where young men of extraordinary ability failed to get the places for which they had worked so long and which they were eminently qualified to fill except for their table manners. "We simply couldn't send out men to represent us who ate with their knives and used their forks like shovels," said the heads of the firm.

But the sum of all good manners consists in treating people as you would have them treat you. Teach your children to show to others the courtesy, the consideration, the tactfulness that they would like shown to themselves, and to say to others the pleasant things they would like to have said to them and they will have the kind of manners that will win them friends, wherever they go.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Who is to blame when a girl goes wrong when her mother permits her daughter's boy friend to call six nights in the week, staying until 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning? Often the boy and girl are all alone in the house, as the father works at night and the mother goes out to amuse herself. This mother also allows her daughter to go alone with this boy on picnics and long hikes. I don't think the girl and boy are to blame. I think it is the mother who is responsible. What do you think?

—PERPLEXED.

Answer—I fully agree with you. It is the mother's duty to watch over and protect her daughter, to guide her and to save her from blundering into the pitfalls into which so many ignorant young girls fall.

It is true that no mother can be with her daughter all the time, but she can keep an eye upon her and know what she is doing, and at least prevent her doing those things that make her a mark for the scandalous gossip of the neighborhood. Certainly no mother has any regard for her daughter's reputation who lets young men callers stay until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, or who goes out and leaves a young girl alone in the house with a boy.

Boys are quick to sense a mother's attitude toward her daughter, and the knowledge that mother is on the job and watching over her daughter, and that she will hold the young man responsible for bringing her home at a decent hour will make him have far more respect for a girl than if she was let loose on her own and nobody was looking after her, or caring what became of her.

her house, and ready to call time on

Also, boys have more respect for the girl whose mother is hovering somewhere discreetly in the background, knowing all that goes on in them at 12 o'clock. And so far from mother's surveillance driving the boys off, it enhances their value in the worthwhile boy's eyes, and if it shoos off the other sort, the better for the girl.

I know of one case in which a boy came back the next morning and proposed to the girl after her mother had read the Riot Act to him when they came home at 3 o'clock.

"That's the kind of girl I want to marry," he said, "the kind of girl whose mother has looked after her and taken care of her and seen to it that she led a clean life."

I think that the mothers of girls who go wrong will have a bitter question to answer in the Judgment Day when the Lord says to them: "I gave you a precious treasure to keep. Why were you not faithful to your charge?"

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I have been disagreeable and hateful to each other ever since we were married. He has a beastlike temper and beats me up and throws things at me and he says I haven't got the courage to leave him. He spends most of the time insulting me and telling me what a fool I am, and I get a bawling out if I even spend a dime on anything for myself. What do you think I should do?—UNHAPPY ONE.

Answer—Seems to me your husband is about right in his opinion of you, because lack of intelligence and courage is about the only reason why any one would stand such treatment.

No work could be harder than the work you do. No employer would expect you to work without paying you something. No employer would insult you as your husband does. You couldn't be wrose off than you are, so why not make a change unless, as sometimes happens, you still love the man who so misuses you?

But perhaps if you would be pleasanter to him he might be pleasanter to you. Perhaps you bring part of your misfortunes upon yourself.

—DOROTHY DIX.

"You Never See Dirty Clothes Hangin' On a Line"

By Robert Quillen

"Pettin' done in a car whizzin' along at sixty miles an hour ain't nothin' compared with what happened behind old Dobbin."

"Cousin Ezra was at our house last night an' got to talkin' about modern young folks an' the way all of 'em is hell-bound an' doomed to everlastin' fire.

"The sanctimonious old hypocrite! To hear him rave about young folks pettin', you'd think sex was invented since he growed up. He talks like folks back in his time was so innocent they never noticed no difference between a boy an' a girl an' it was just luck that kept a man from choosin' another man for his bride.

"I get so everlastin' tired o' that kind o' bosh. Modern younguns don't think no more about sex than they did in my time.

"They seem to, maybe, if you're a dried-up, rheumatic old grouch, but that's just because ever'body seems to be talkin' about victuals all the time if you've got so you can't eat nothin'.

"Folks ain't changed any. They behave just like they used to, an' it just seems different because they don't pull down the window shades.

"You hear a lot o' talk about automobiles bein' the ruination o' young folks now, but the kind that was due to be ruined went to the dogs just as quick in horse-and-buggy days.

"An' when it comes to plain an' fancy two-handed pettin', the kind done in a car whizzin' along at sixty miles an hour ain't nothin' compared with what happened behind old Dobbin when the lines was wrapped around the buggy whip.

"The younguns all played kissin' games by the time they was weaned, an' they took up kissin' in private by the time they started pairin' off for parties.

"Boys went at it slow an' easy in them times because the girls was timid an' easy scared, but they got the same results. And if a boy walked home with a girl from prayer meetin' or choir practice three times without tryin' to kiss her good-night, she thought she wasn't usin' the right perfume.

"Courtin' couples set at home in them days, but they turned down the lamp when the old folks went to bed; an' when she got the photygraph album to show him her ancestors, it wasn't because she couldn't think o' nothin' else to do. She done it so's she could set by him. An' if they didn't hold hands or kiss, their heads an' knees touched once in a while an' they got a thrill that rattled their toe nails.

"Old folks forget, but I'll bet Cousin Ezra held many a girl's hand in her muff when they was out stray-ridin' on a bobsled, and got the same shaky feelin' younguns get now.

"What's more, he took his time a-puttin' on a girl's rubbers after church, an' holdin' her foot made his scalp tingle. He's just forgot; that's what's the matter with him.

"I ain't excusin' modern young folks. I'm just sayin' they ain't no different from what young folks always has been. Unless maybe they got more sense.

"You couldn't find a community in my time that didn't have a ruined girl in it an' a young feller couldn't leave to go West without ever-body bein' suspicious.

"Girls cut up now, but them that ain't simple has got sense enough to keep straight. They shock some folks, bein' frank, but I like it.

"There ain't no virtue in wearin' six petticoats if them that don't show is dirty, as they was lots o' times; and a girl that shows her mind same as she does her shape ain't goin' to have no nasty thoughts or do nothin' sneakin'.

It's the darkest closet that needs cleanin' most, an' you never heard no scandal about a goldfish."

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1. (US)—What a city in which to live mystery stories, this Los Angeles! If one could only go up on a Hollywood hill and looking down, be able to see everything! Ooo La La!

Most of the movie stars have several homes. No one knows why, because some of the homes are very close together, but you are told: "That is the Spanish home of Sadie Thompson," and "that is the Arabian home of Coquette," and "that is the Chinese home of Lulu Belle." Surely it is a temptation if not an aid to leading a double life. In a way it is almost an excuse.

It's pleasing to find out that the really big timers have long memories. They are extremely nice to the girls who came to conquer and wound up with a white apron and a tray. They tip them liberally, and chat with them during tea and luncheon. What they could teach New York about civility and doing to others as you should! Some of the less fortunate are both beautiful and well educated, but they just didn't seem to have what it took.

Los Angeles is full of women, and the men are only about 1 to 4. A ratio that results in men daring to be themselves, and you'd be surprised!

Lois Moran, a young star with a milk-white complexion, got that way eating nothing but raw vegetables. And did you know Al Jolson's dentist has to charge him more than others, because he keeps him laughing and it takes all morning to do even the littlest job on his teeth? And about half the pretty girls in beauty parlors and tea rooms own their own homes and drive their own cars. How? High financing. I haven't got the details yet, but I'll let you know.

"After you water wave celebrities and manicure them for a few years you wouldn't look out of the window to see the pope ride a bicycle," said a blonde in a beauty parlor. "Why one of the girls who worked here gets $150 a week doubling for a star, who has two of all her clothes, and won't go places that bore her. All the girls has to promise, is to remember always to be a lady. She says it gets terribly hard to do sometimes."

The beautiful body of a young girl at the ambassador swimming pool. No, not in it, at it. A polka dot bathing suit only big enough to include three and one-half polka dots. There are only a few figures like hers left, and she was dancing with another girl. The men didn't so much as look. One city where there is so much beauty that you have to have something else besides.

A woman in Los Angeles sued another woman for alienation. The husband who got stolen testified for his wife and admitted coyly that he hadn't been done right by. So the wife got $10,000.

They used to have clay feet and now they make them of straw, and you have to keep them out of the slightest wind. They are such a care!

Wallflowers and delphiniums, two of the favorite flowers in old-fashioned gardens, do not thrive in America.

It Must Return Railway; Says Soviet

MOSCOW, Aug. 2. (US)—The only slim ray of hope to save the negotiations between China and the Soviets from complete breakdown tonight rests upon the original statement of Chang-Hsueh Liang to Soviet Consul General Melnikoff that the Chinese were ready to accede to the Soviet demand for the return of the Chinese Eastern railway.

The fact that the changes in the note from the Chinese government did not bear out the words accredited to the Chinese leader is construed as an attempt to test the determination of the Soviets.

The Soviet authorities are confident that firm reiteration of their slogan: "Negotiation only after a return to the former status"—supported by an order to retain the Siberian reserve forces which are strengthening the frontier defences and preparing to fight if necessary—will bring Nanking to terms.

The Moscow press regards the original attempts at settlement as indicating that the Chinese, disappointed in their expectation of international support of their bold attitude, realize that the breaks with the Soviets entail only economic hardship and international dissatisfaction and are ready now to back down to "save their face."

It is believed that the Chinese will grant eventually the Soviets demands and admit that they have outraged international ethics.

The breakdown in the negotiations is blamed on "the insincerity and provocative character of Chang Hsueh-Liang's supposedly peaceful declarations, and the complete hypocrisy and irresponsibility of the Chinese authorities who, despite the patience of the Soviet union, continue their risky playing with fire."

Officer Arrests Man On Desertion Charge

H. L. Baker, another of the nine men indicted by the 30th district grand jury last week for child desertion, was arrested here late Friday afternoon by Dick Morris, deputy sheriff.

Baker will be given a hearing before Judge W. W. Cook, in the 78th district court, at which he will be given an opportunity to make definite weekly payments toward the support of the children involved rather than be tried on the charge brought against him, according to information given in the office of the district attorney.

Entertainment Plans Laid for 'Splash Party'

Water polo, horseshoe pitching, games and entertainment for the children will feature the "splash party" for the uniformed bodies and nobility of Maskat temple to be held at Westmoreland park pool Friday evening, it was announced Friday by Al Ellis, recorder.

Divan officers will be judges in each of the contests and games. A basket picnic will be served following the swim and the games. The committee in charge of arrangements includes J. T. Yeargin, Sydney Gaines, Dr. C. R. Lanphere, and Otto Lambert.

Water District Workers To Hold Annual Fish Fry

The third annual fish fry for employes of the Wichita County Water Improvement districts will be held at Lake Kemp Saturday evening, it was announced Friday by G. A. Remington, general manager of the districts. About 60 guests will attend the party, arrangements for which are being made by Mr. Remington.

The guests will meet on the lawn of John Crawford, caretaker at the lake, at 6 o'clock and will fry the fish which will be caught earlier in the day by Mr. Crawford, it was said.

Former Yankee Soldier's Wife, 66, Asks Divorce

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 2. (UP)—A romance between two union soldier home inmates which began in March ended today in district court here when Rosie Taylor, 66, sued William R. Taylor, 82, for separate maintenance. Mrs. Taylor alleged her husband who receives a $72 a month pension, failed to support her and that she was required to take in washing.

Tire Thieves Active, Police Reports Show

Three cases of tire thefts were reported to police headquarters Friday, according to the stolen property records. W. M. Priddy, 1012 Harrison street, notified police that a new spare tire and rim had been removed from his car. Temple Shell, 1901 Elizabeth street, reported the loss of two new tires which were taken off the wire wheels of his new car. C. C. Hall, 2308 Buchanan street, reported to police that a wheel and tire had been removed from his automobile. In each of the last two cases, the automobiles were jacked up and the tires removed, the cars being left on the jack. Officers are working on the thefts.

Mrs. W. W. Belcher was hostess to the members of the Highland Heights Baptist Alathean Sunday school class Thursday afternoon at her home on Wenonah avenue. A social afternoon was enjoyed.

The house was filled with summer flowers for the occasion. Games were played and contests staged in which prizes were awarded to Mesdames H. M. Painter and T. E. McGinty. Mrs. O. H. Gideon gave an interesting reading.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames T. W. Morriss, M. Neale, J. L. Davis, O. L. Gideon, T. E. McGinty, E. L. Horner, J. J. Speer, M. J. Driscell, H. M. Painter, J. T. Cardelhac, L. T. Foster, E. F. Crites, Acuff, A. S. Rollins, E. O. Wheat and E. C. Austin.

CORNS ASSAIL HOOP ROLLER

'Hoopee' Williams Limps On Toward Gotham

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 2. (UP)—"Hoopee" Williams hit the road today for New York, with 2,000 miles of walking still before him.

Stepping lightly on the foot where a corn appeared during his Texas City to Houston hike Thursday, he shoved his 14-inch hoop out of Houston, heading for Beaumont.

The sun shone brighter for Hoopee on this part of the trudge, however. He had done away with the pair of gift shoes which gave him misery on the way here from Texas City.

There was a lot of sentiment attached to the shoes, Hoopee said, because they were a present from well-wishers in his home town. But he said that when it came to choosing between sentiment and corns, he had to let sentiment slide. So he got himself a new pair of shoes.

Another part of his equipment today was a life insurance policy for $25,000. It covers him for death along the road to Gotham. His mother, Mrs. G. H. Williams, is beneficiary. Hoopee's friends paid for it.

Before shoving off today Hoopee was examined at his hotel by a physician. He said Hoopee was in fine condition and probably would go on walking for 5,000 miles. Hoopee said 2,000 would be plenty for him.

"I got to get rid of this corn misery," he explained.

'NO BUNIONS YET,' SAY CROQUET CRONIES

HILLSBORO, Texas, Aug. 2. (UP)—"No bunions yet," the croquet cronies, W. R. Rose and C. G. Hart, replied today when asked regarding their feet.

"If Williams has a corn already after two days on the road, how big a patch will he have by the time he reaches New York?" Hart asked, when told his hoop-rolling rival was having hard going.

The cronies were encamped tonight between Hillsboro and Dallas.

SCHOOLS CONSOLIDATE

NOCONA, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—The Prairie Point school district, eight miles north of Nocona, recently made by the consolidation of Eagle Point, Prairie View and Red River Station districts has let contracts for a new brick school building to cost $21,500. Work on the structure is to begin soon.

SWIM STARS TO FORT WORTH

Elimination Winners in Inter-City Meet

Final plans for attending the inter-city swimming meet to be held in Fort Worth Saturday afternoon were made at a meeting of the winners of the recent elimination contests at Westmoreland park pool Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to C. C. Frazee, city recreational director, who is sponsoring the swimming teams.

The following winners will leave Wichita Falls at 7 o'clock Saturday morning for Fort Worth: Robert Dickson, Bill Mann, Vernon Black, Homer Donohoe, Evelyn Van Emden, Betty Jane Sehmann, Bonner Barton, Johnnie Benton, Henry Cook, Tom Beatty and Jack Dempsey. Transportation will be provided by the park department and Mr. Frazee. Gasoline, oil and hotel accommodations for Saturday night will be furnished by the Rotary boys' work committee, which is also sending a baseball team to play against the Fort Worth champions at the meet.

The Broadway Battlers, league leaders in the Rotary boys league in Wichita Falls, will play the Fort Worth team, it was announced Friday by W. B. Ward, head of the boys work committee. Other cities entered in the swimming meet will be Denton, Waco and Fort Worth.

Extension Granted Hale's Lawyer's Seeking Appeal

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 2. (UP)—Judge Franklin E. Kennamer today granted attorneys for W. K. Hale, "King of the Osages," an extension of time until Sept. 25 for completing their appeal for a new trial.

Thrusday was the final day upon which an appeal could be field by Hale who is serving a sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary for murder in the death of Henry Roan, wealthy Osage Indian. He was convicted in federal court at Pawhuska, Jan. 24.

Convicted Dallas Man's Wife Seeks Divorce

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (UP)—The wife of Fred E. McLarty, former wealthy owner of the Nash-McLarty Automobile company but now a Leavenworth prisoner, has sued for divorce, it was learned today.

Records in the district clerk's office show the case will be tried in district court. The plea for divorce states that McLarty indulged in "drunken debauches with women" and "resorted to fraud for the purpose of raising funds for meeting their demands." McLarty was recently sentenced to three years' imprisonment for concealing assets.

HIGH DAY OIL OUTPUT RECORD SET FOR JUNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (UP)—A new high record for all time per day production of crude petroleum was set during the month of June. It was announced at the commerce department bank.

An average of 2,780,000 barrels per day was drawn from oil wells during that month. The total production for June was 83,408,000 barrels, as compared with 72,526,000 barrels for the same month last year.

RACKETEER 'PUT ON SPOT'

BRADDOCK, Pa., Aug. 2. (INS)—James Bruno, 38, racketeer and police court character, was shot to death here today by two men who called him from his bed to talk over a "proposition," according to a statement made by Bruno just before he died in Braddock General hospital, police said.

County detectives feared the killing may be renewal of a bootlegging war that has remained dormant for more than two years.

CLOUDBURST HALTS TRAINS

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Aug. 2. (UP)—Traffic on four railway lines was interrupted in East Central Iowa today when a cloudburst hit between Cedar Rapids and Belle Plaine. At the latter place 6.37 inches of rain were recorded.

BOND ELECTION

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—Within the next 60 days Port Arthur is to vote on an improvement bond issue of approximately $2,400,000. A seawall to cost approximately $1,400,000 will be included in the total.

A dash of sugar does not make vegetables sweet

A little sugar develops the natural vegetable flavors

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made that two groups of women cooking experts recently rediscovered the old secret of using a dash of sugar in the cooking of vegetables (preferably cooked in little water). It should be made clear to everyone that the purpose of using this small amount of sugar is not to make the vegetables taste sweet. That is not the case at all. As one of the women—a nationally known authority—says, the sugar not only increases the delicacy of flavor but it brings out all the distinctive qualities of the vegetables. She adds that a dash of sugar restores the freshness of flavor, in a large measure, to vegetables that have become slightly wilted, and it helps to heighten the color of the vegetables.

No one would advise making vegetable foods taste sweet. This proper use of sugar does not do that. The remarkable thing about a little sugar is that it develops the natural flavors of the foods and that it blends and accentuates the other seasonings used.

Now that the skinny, scarecrow figure is unfashionable, women will be more willing than ever to follow the dictates of medical science and to encourage the members of their family to eat a varied, balanced diet. Most unflavored foods are bland and unpalatable. A little sugar makes fresh and stewed fruits, cereals, milk desserts, cooked vegetables and some meats delicious to the taste. Sugar is nature's perfect flavor. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute. (Adv.)

NATIONAL FARM UNION PLANNED

Institute of Cooperation Discusses Organization

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 2. (AP)—Delegates to the American Institute of cooperation in session on Louisiana state university campus today turned their attention to the formation of a national organization of farm cooperatives to serve the farmer in the same manner in which the United States Chamber of Commerce serves the business man.

The national union comes as an outgrowth of nearly a week of conferences at the institute and following three days of contact with Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde and three other members of the new federal farm board on the L. S. U. campus.

As a result of these conferences and contacts, the trustees of the American Cotton Growers exchange late yesterday moved to further centralize national sales in cotton in conformity with recommendations of the farm board, and a committee was appointed as provided in the agricultural marketing act to speed federal aid for the cotton farmer.

C. O. Moser, Dallas, Texas, president and general manager of the American Cotton Growers exchange, was unanimously chosen as temporary president of the council following the ratification of the council plan by the delegates to the institute.

Charles W. Holman, Washington, secretary of the institute and the National Cooperative Milk Producers federation, was named as acting secretary but selection of other officers was deferred pending conferences with other cooperatives not represented on the organization committee.

Mr. Moser appeared before the institute today in the role of chairman of the organization committee for the new unified group and presented a formal report recommending immediate formation of the body with eight great cooperatives represented on the organization committee as a nucleus. This would involve an initial membership in the national union of more than a million farmers, or nearly a third of the agriculturists of the United States. It was stated that other major cooperative groups would be be asked to join as soon as the organization was perfected and that a basis of membership would be worked with smaller organizations.

Decatur Truck Ruined As Bridge Caves In

DECATUR, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—A Decatur Ice company truck was demolished Monday when a bridge on the Decatur-Sidell road gave way under it. Requests for the repair of this bridge has been made repeatedly, it is said. The damage to the truck and load will amount to several hundred dollars. It is stated that a new bridge will be put in.

American in Spain Finds His Little Joke Fails to Create Much Mirth

MADRID, Aug. 2. (AP)—In the historical town of Escorial, Beckey J. Dee of Chicago today still was confined in jail after what he claims was a thoughtless and ill-advised prank in taking from a wall of "the Little Palace of the Prince," a royal palace, a valuable porcelain plaque of ancient design, a part of the national treasures of Escorial.

The incident occurred on last Wednesday when Dee and his wife, members of a party of 25 tourists, visited the palace. Dee at first would say only: "It is all a mistake. I have done nothing."

Later he said that after some drinking he visited the palace with his friends and thought it would be a joke to pretend to take as a souvenir one of the porcelain plaques.

Then he became alarmed and tried to hide the plaque when he saw guards considered his action a serious offense.

Dee was at first granted considerable liberties but yesterday was placed "incommunicado." The people of the town laugh and say the joke seems to be upon him.

Judicial and police authorities consider the matter more seriously but not bitterly. They do not seem inclined to be more severe than necessary to teach a lesson.

Through the American consulate here certificates were cabled from Chicago to the effect that Dee was a man of good character in Chicago and well and favorably known by his associates.

$400,000 River Fund Approved

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (INS)—An allotment of $400,000 for improvement of the Missouri river from Kansas City to the mouth of the stream was approved by the war department here today.

The department approved also the following allotments out of the $50,000,000 fund created by act of congress for improvement of rivers and harbors for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Los Angeles harbor, improvement $70,000.

Illinois and Mississippi canal, Illinois; improvement $175,000.

Lock and dam in the upper White river, Arkansas, $50,000.

Today's allotments brought the total allocated out of the $50,000,000 fund to $45,920,515.65. A balance of $4,079,484.35 remained.

Magazine Writes of Decatur's Dairying

DECATUR, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—Decatur was given rather wide publicity in a national daily journal, "The Dairy Farmer" published at Des Moines. The story of the growth of the dairy industry around Decatur was given quite a prominent place in the magazine. It was referred to as one of the cities of Texas that have made wonderful strides in recent months.

Oklahoma Historical Building Contract Let

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 2. (UP)—Contract for the construction of the Oklahoma state historical building was awarded to the Holmboe Construction company, Oklahoma City, late today by the state board of affairs. The low bid was $412,200.

Contract for heating and plumbing at $38,527, was given to Fisher brothers of Norman. The building is to be built from the $500,000 appropriation by the recent legislature. It will be on the southwest part of the capital grounds.

THE "Waste Not, Want Not" policies of the Coolidge regime bid fair to continue under Mr. Hoover—and then some.

Congressional pork will wear smaller barrels than usual for the coming season.

The president's record as secretary of commerce should have warned the capitol that every possible federal leak and extravagance would receive his prompt and technical attention, at the White House.

And now the same engineering intelligence, which brought its experience to bear up thriftless commercial practice and the further simplification of manufacturing procedure and distribution, is even busier pruning dead wood from government administration.

Washington has long been aware of the president's belief that Uncle Sam is entitled to as much for his money as private business gets.

Which means that he ought not only purchase just as cheaply, but also restrict organization to a productive personnel.

Therefore, patronage is promised scant opportunity to feed its incompetent pets or pay essentially political debts at treasury expense.

Prosperity, too, is busting seams helping to fulfill campaign pledges of decreased deficits and fuller wage envelopes.

Wall Street may be blowing golden bubbles, but examination indicates that they're thoroughly fortified with steel and copper and cement, whose peak output forecasts another stretch of building activity and stabilized employment.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who hath real dignity, is not easily insulted."

A diamond is a diamond still, though it be in an ash can or a garbage pail and it will sparkle its best, regardless of its mounting. If you know in your heart that you are right, do not be disturbed by what people may say about you or your associates.

You won't hear a real explanation of the farm bill until the campaigning starts for the next congressional elections.

The professor who advised students to be snobs and "to speak and act like gentlemen" probably doesn't think much of the gentlemen he meets nowadays.

A Chicago man laughed so hard at a joke that he fell off the porch and cracked his head. He nearly died laughing.

A man recently testified in a British court that he hasn't had to overhaul his car in 12 years. If he got away with that, the courts in Great Britain must not be so efficient after all.

Honor for the Griffon

NOWHERE on earth are there as many steamships in a given area as there are on the Great Lakes during the navigation season. The fresh water seas are crowded from May to November, and the work that they do has played a large part in building up the prosperity of the United States and Canada.

That being the case, the two nations might have been expected to hold some sort of ceremonies in recognition of the 250th anniversary of the first appearance of a ship on the lakes.

Two hundred and fifty years ago this summer white men sailed the lakes for the first time. The story is interesting and romantic, with a dash of mystery to add to its attraction; yet the lake states seem to have forgotten it. It is well worth recalling.

La Salle, the famous French explorer, was the skipper of the lakes' first cargo carrier.

Down from Quebec came La Salle, beginning the amazing jaunt that carried him clear to the Gulf of Mexico and nearly made the entire American interior permanently a part of France. When he reached Buffalo he decided not to trust himself to the frail canoes of the Indians, and built his own ship.

This ship, named the Griffon, was about the size of a modern fishing tug, but La Salle crowded all his party aboard and set sail up Lake Erie. He had nothing resembling a chart. Jealous rivals had told him the lakes were full of reefs and sandbars. No one knew just what lay ahead. But the Griffon sailed steadily west, and in three days reached the mouth of the Detroit river.

Up the river went La Salle; up past the "flats" of Lake St. Clair and into Lake Huron. North it went, to the straits of Mackinac, and on into Lake Michigan, dropping anchor at last off the Wisconsin shore in Green bay, where a camp was established.

La Salle was heavily in debt. His party spent weeks collecting furs. Finally the Griffon was loaded with them and sent back, to carry them to Montreal and pay off La Salle's creditors.

The Griffon disappeared over the horizon on a bright clear morning—and vanished from sight forever. The first ship on the lakes had a short career. Somewhere between Green bay and the head of the Niagara river the Griffon went down with all hands—the first of a long line of ships to be lost to the fury of the inland seas.

Somehow, it seems as if more attention should have been paid to this anniversary. There is something supremely absorbing about the thought of that diminutive sailing vessel—the only ship on all the thousands of miles of sea—lost in the darkness of 250 years ago. Its voyage and the loss of its crew helped, in a very real sense, to pave the way for the present great traffic of the lakes. Why could we not have given the date some recognition?

Greater Fort Worth Storage Dams

FORT WORTH is a very ambitious city. Fort Worth has sold the first block of bonds of the greater Fort Worth water supply project. They amounted to $2,000,000. The total bonds contemplated by the whole project is $6,500,000. Lands will be submerged by the two large storage tanks to be created by dams to be erected by Tarrant county water control and improvement district No. 1. One dam will be near Bridgeport, in Wise county, and the other 10 miles from Fort Worth, in the Trinity, and both will have a combined capacity of 1,500,000 acre feet, one-third of which will be used for storage.

It is claimed this will be first effort made in the Southwest to effect flood control through erection of large storage dams. Storm waters will be conserved and held off the valley land and the authorized purposes of the district are water supply, flood control, industrial irrigation, power and recreational. Water demands of Fort Worth for many years to come are included in the provisions made by these huge dams. About 40,000 acres of land can be irrigated for a number of years if the adjoining land owners should desire to avail themselves of the opportunity.

Twenty years ago Big Bill Davis was elected the head of the Fort Worth municipal government. He was known as the "Cowboy Mayor." He had been a range rider in his youth. There was no Lake Worth on the map then. Artesian wells furnished the drinking supply of the people and the Trinity river the supply for fire fighting purposes. Big Bill created Lake Worth. He was damned as a crank and a public menace by the conservatives and lauded to the skies by men of vision.

He not only created Lake Worth at a cost of $4,000,000 but he built his famous meandering road around the lake. He held office for several terms. He was ousted from office by the ultra-puritans of the city. A monument should be erected to Big Bill when he passes on. He was the real builder of the Fort Worth of today. He gave the city a never failing water supply. Now the men who came after him are to master flood control through the erection of large storage dams.

Bond issues made it possible. Bond issues made it easy to transform a cattle town into one of the proud cities of the Southwest.

CHATTY—GODDESS OF GAB

Charlotte Chatterton, nicknamed Chatty, is a born gossip. She loses her job in Mrs. Mayberry's millinery shop because she talks too much.

Her mother, a dressmaker, has one wealthy customer, Mrs. Van Nuys, an old friend. Through her Chatty gets a job in the files department of Mr. Van Nuys' bond house downtown. There she falls in love with Dave Jordan, a young bond salesman, and he begins to pay her a great deal of attention.

Billie Langenau, in charge of the files, tells Chatty that Dave never pays any attention to any of the girls in the office except Agnes Herford, Mr. Van's secretary. When Chatty repeats what Billie said, she adds a lie of her own to it—and says that Billie told her that Dave and Agnes were in love with each other. Agnes threatens to tell Mr. Van that Billie has been gossiping about her, and Chatty determines to stop her if she can.

Finally she steals Agnes' desk keys and goes through her desk, trying to find a note she has seen Dave hand to her. The note is innocent enough, but Chatty finds Agnes' diary while she is hunting for it—and in the diary is the whole story of Agnes' love for Mr. Van. Chatty tears out the pages at home that night and sends them to Mrs. Van. Agnes does not discover the theft at once.

Billie and her sister, Sara, come to live across the hall from the Chattertons, and Chatty learns that she is separated but still married to a man named Brewster. However, no one knows this, including George Mayhew, a bond salesman, who is in love with Billie. Billie insists that she feels only friendship for George, but one night when Chatty reports that she had seen him out with another girl, Billie bursts into tears.

Chatty has a "date" for that same evening with Dave Jordan, and Billie, who is kindness itself, always, helps her dress herself for it. Chatty is ashamed of the little flat where she lives with her mother and young brother, Pud. She is particularly ashamed of Pud, who works afternoons and evenings in Tomlinson's drug store, helping the owner sell alcohol and gin. Chatty has begged him not to do this, especially since she knows that he sells his goods to Winnie Talcott, a stenographer at the office. So far she has kept Pud out of the room when Dave is at the flat.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XVI

Once again the front room was in apple pie order for the coming of "Chatty's young man," as Mrs. Chatterton had begun to call David Jordan already.

Swelling with the pride that every mother feels when her daughter is having her first love affair, she had gone to work that day to make the place look its very best—and it did look it now, as Chatty stood in the doorway, taking it in with pleased and happy eyes.

The curtains had been "done up" and they were white as snowdrifts in the windows. The sewing machine was hidden away in the closet off the hall. There was a strip of flowery new silk under the lamp that glowed on the table in the middle of the room. A wood fire sang and crackled in the brass-rodded grate.

"And that's the very place to put Agnes' diary!" The thought struck Chatty suddenly, as she stood there looking at it. "In two minutes it'll be nothing but smoke going up the chimney—and there won't be a single thing anywhere to prove that I took that diary!"

All day long the diary—or what was left of it—had lain under a pile of neatly-folded undergarments in the bottom drawer of the dresser in the bedroom.

And all day long Chatty had worried about it, wondering if her mother would go into that drawer and find it before she got home.

"I never should have put it there last night—and then forgotten it this morning," Chatty told herself, as she opened the door of the bedroom.

Mrs. Chatterton stood before the dresser, brushing her hair and twisting it up in the old-fashioned pompadour that she always wore.

"I'm afraid I can't stay to say 'Good evening' to your young man, Chatty," she said, turning away from the glass for a moment. "Kate Van Nuys telephoned just a couple of minutes ago and asked me to come over to her house . . . She sounded as if she were in trouble of some sort, and she's sending her car after me."

Chatty's heart began to pound like a little trip hammer in her breast.

She knew, of course, what Mrs. Van's trouble was. She knew that she had read the part of the diary that she had sent her—and that she was taking the news of Mr. Van's friendship with Agnes hard.

Her eyes flew to the bottom drawer of the old dresser. It was closed, thank goodness. "I'm safe," she thought, "but I'll have to burn that thing the minute mother leaves the house!"

She remembered that it had Agnes' name written neatly upon the flyleaf.

"And mother's so honest, that if she knew I'd taken that diary she'd tell Mrs. Van that I had—as soon as she found out that Mrs. Van had the pages I tore out of it," Chatty went on thinking.

But her face was as expressionless as a mask, as she helped her mother with her dressing.

"Maybe Mrs. Van's sick. You'd better hurry, mother!" she said. "And as soon as you're ready, why don't you run downstairs and wait for the automobile in the street? It'll save time."

Anything to get her mother out of the flat before Dave Jordan arrived! Anything to have the five minutes alone she needed to get the diary out of the drawer and into the fireplace! Anything!

"Indeed, I'm not going down into any street to wait for a chauffeur with a car!" Mrs. Chatterton told her. "I'll stay right here until the bell rings. It won't take me thirty seconds to get down those stairs!"

She was putting on her hat when the bell finally did ring at exactly seven.

The instant she was out of the room Chatty had the bottom drawer open and the black covered book in her hands. She was on her way to the front room with it when she heard Dave Jordan's voice:

"How do you do, Mrs. Chatterton?"

With a groan Chatty backed into the bedroom.

Her handbag lay open on the bed beside the pair of clean, white chamoisette gloves that her mother had washed out for her. She had just time to slip the diary into it before Mrs. Chatterton came hurrying back into the room to tell her that her "young man" had come for her.

As Chatty started down the narrow hall to the front room, Pud came to the door of his own room. He stood there, looking at her, and as she passed him he spoke to her in a hoarse whisper:

"Is that big Whoosis of yours here again?"

"Sssh!" said Chatty, and she nodded her head. "Be careful—he'll hear you!"

Pud cocked his eye at her. "I thought he was here. That's why I came in here instead of goin' into the front room—because you're ashamed of me."

In spite of his loud necktie, his wide-striped shirt, and his long pants, Pud was only 15—and Chatty could see that he was hurt.

"I'm not ashamed of you—I'm ashamed of what you're doing down at Ben Tomlinson's store!" she whispered to him, fiercely. "You were out late again last night with him—and if it doesn't stop I'm going to report Ben to the 'dry agent' downtown."

She went on down the hall, thinking that Pud was the skeleton in the closet of the Chatterton house . . . just as there is a skeleton in every house in the world. Someone or something that every family is ashamed of.

But by the time she reached the door of the front room she was smiling as if she hadn't a dark secret or a trouble in the whole wide world.

She held out both of her hands to him. "It's so wonderfully nice to see you twice in one day!" she told him, and she gave a little sigh that was the softest, happiest sound she had ever made in her life.

And she was happy that night! For months afterward she looked back on that night with Dave Jordan the way we look back at the summer sunshine on some bleak, gray day in winter.

"I'm going to take you out to that funny little inn, where I took you last night," he said to her when they were in the gray, snub-nosed roadster and leaving the town behind them.

"To the Lollypop Inn?" asked Chatty, cheerfully. "I don't think it's funny. I think it's a sweet little darling place!"

Dave chuckled. "You wouldn't think so if you could see it late on Saturday night, some time," he said. "It's about the wildest little lunatic asylum then that you'd ever wish to see—"

"Let's go out and see it, then, some Saturday night!" Chatty clapped her hands like an excited child. "I've never seen a really wild place in my life—and I'm dying to!"

Dave Jordan shook his head. "No—I'm not going to take you to any wild scenes anywhere," he said soberly. "You see, Chatty, one reason I like you so much is that you are not like some of these girls who've painted and powdered and smoked and run around since the time they were fifteen. You're different. You're decent and you're sweet . . ."

"You sound like a reformer on a lecture tour," cried Chatty, and she began to giggle because she didn't want Dave to see how seriously she was taking all this that he told her . . . how much his opinion of her mattered to her.

"Never mind how I sound! You listen to me!" Dave Jordan answered, in his bluff, quick way. "You're attractive because there's nothing 'wild' as you call it, about you, Chatty."

"Am I attractive to you?"

In the darknss Dave Jordan put out his left arm and drew her close against him. "I am afraid you are," he said quietly. "I am afraid I'm falling in love with you. What am I to do about it?"

Chatty sighed. "I thought you were in love with the girl who wouldn't marry anybody but a ten thousand dollar a year man," she murmured, wistfully. "That girl I saw you buying flowers for on Easter Saturday. You go to see her sometimes, don't you?"

There was silence between them for a minute or two. "I won't see her any more if you don't want me to," Dave Jordan said, and Chatty couldn't believe her ears.

She kept thinking it over, nestling against him in the cool rushing darkness. "He must really be in love with me—a little bit. Or he wouldn't have said that," she figured.

The Lollypop Inn was small and white. It had a green shingle roof and green shutters. There were green pine trees all around it, and a white picket fence ran along the front of its broad green lawn.

"I can't imagine anything wicked ever happening in this place," Chatty declared, walking up the steps to the wide porch that stairy night in May. "It looks just like somebody's sweet little country house, Dave."

The food was the kind of food that would have been served in almost any farm house in America, too. The same kind of fried chicken that they had had the night before. The same kind of fried potatoes and deep-dish apple pie covered with thick, rich cream.

"And you can get the same sort of gin here that you can in any low-down speakeasy in town, too," Dave said grimly, when he and Chatty were having their coffee.

He pulled out his watch and looked at it.

"It's half past nine," he went on. "In another hour this place will be waking up—and by twelve things will be moving pretty fast. It's no place for a nice girl then, believe me."

All the way home they talked about prohibition, and Chatty kept wondering what he would think of her if he knew that she had a young brother who sold liquor to the kind of people who came out to the Lollypop Inn late at night and made things "move pretty fast."

But when the car drew up to the curb in the shadow of the maple tree in front of the Lipton street apartment, Chatty forgot all about Pud and all about her other worries and fears. For Dave took her in his arms, just as he had taken her in them the night before, and he kissed her again.

"You're the sweetest thing on earth," he said to her huskily, as they went up the stairs to the second floor landing. And there he kissed her again.

"How can life be so wonderful all of a sudden?" Chatty asked herself, lying awake in bed for a long time that night.

It was not until she was ready for work the next morning that she missed her handbag.

And then she spent five minutes hunting all over the flat for it before she remembered that she had tucked it into a corner of Dave Jordan's Pride of America the night before.

The thought made her go cold and sick all over . . . Suppose he had opened it, and found that torn diary of Agnes Herford's in it! Her name was written in it, too, Chatty remembered.

"Oh, I hope he hasn't opened it!" Chatty found herself actually praying that he hadn't, all the way down town.

But he was nowhere in sight when she opened the door of the office at half past eight.

She took off her things and sat down at her switchboard to wait for him.

After a minute or two she heard the squeak of a door opening behind her, and swung around to see if it were Dave coming in.

But it was not Dave. It was Agnes Herford. She had opened the door of her own small office, and she was coming across the big room to Chatty. In her hands was a small black-covered book.

"Look!" she gasped. "My diary! Somebody's torn out part of it! You were here late on Monday night. The night I lost my desk key, you know? Did you see anybody go into my office?"

Chatty shook her smooth, little golden head. "I didn't see a soul," she answered, as calmly as if she were telling the truth.

The Day Book of a New Yorker
Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—New York's landmarks are disappearing rapidly, but it is not often that one of them goes piecemeal. That is what is happening to the old New York Herald building at Greeley square, however. The rear half of the building has made way for a skyscraper which towers over the front half, now occupied by a clothing store. When one looks at the squat remains of the old building, and figure up the enormous space required to make a modern newspaper plant in New York, he gets a faint conception of how the city has grown beyond all the dreams of the most optimistic prophets. Newspaper owners should be able to gauge a city's growth as accurately as anybody, yet the Herald building was outgrown many years ago. One wonders if the modern newspaper plants will be as cramped and antiquated 20 years from now.

Fleeting Fame

A young society girl who came to New York about six months ago to pursue her art studies rented a studio in the fashionable east Sixties from one of the more prominent motion picture actresses. She was very proud of the history of her home, but she doubted that her mother, a conservative social leader who lived in the West, would permit her daughter to occupy such a place. The girl told all her friends that the studio used to belong to Miss X, the famous star—"but," she cautioned them, "don't tell mother." The other day the mother arrived for an unexpected visit, and someone spilled the beans. She wasn't in the least disturbed. "Oh, yes?" she smiled. "And who is Miss X?"

One on California

Herman Bernstein brings the story back from California. A New York society woman was visiting in the West, and was a guest at an entertainment in a palatial Los Angeles home. The hostess raved over the superiorities of California. She took her guest into a magnificent, moonlit garden. "Isn't this wonderful!" she exclaimed. "Oh, I don't know," said the slightly pained New Yorker. "It all seems so artificial." The hostess was astounded. "Artificial?" she expostulated, "why, everything's natural. The flowers are real. This magnificent view is not faked. Those stars above are real, and much brighter than the ones you see in New York." "Yes," said the guest, "but I'm afraid that any minute now the stars will come together and spell a picture star's name."

Ol' Man River

Fashionable Sutton Place, the East River waterfront that the rich have reclaimed for their own, is soon to have it smost unusual apartment building—a 15-story structure built out into the river. It will, it is said, be the only dwelling place built in a river. The promoters of the project have somehow got property rights extending beyond the shore line, and are utilizing them to provide their tenants with unobstructed views up and down stream. Most of the view from Sutton Place, incidentally, is Blackwell's island—or Welfare island, as it is now called. The buildings thereon, all weather-worn and kept years beyond their time, include the workhouse, a free hospital or so, and an old folks' home.

It's the Upkeep

Speaking of apartments, I am informed that a banker has moved into the most expensive one in the city. It is on Park avenue, and occupies three floors. The living room is three stories high. The apartment was built to the banker's order, and cost $400,000. The cost of maintaining cooperative apartments is at least 10 per cent, so the banker's "rent," on top of the purchase price, is $40,000 a year. And that doesn't include the interest he might be getting from a $400,000 investment.

Decatur Committee Plans To Repair Pavilion

DECATUR, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.) A meeting of the reunion committee was held at the First National bank on last Monday afternoon. It was decided to make repairs on the pavilion at the park and after the gathering of old settlers here in August the building is to be enlarged. A public subscription will be solicited to add to the fund supplied by the reunion committee for the repair work. The following committeemen were present at the meeting: Jack Rieger, John A. Stimmons, Dick Collins, W. M. Workman, John Gentry and Cliff Cates.

Lions Club Carnival Held at Decatur

DECATUR, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.) A carnival was held on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week at Harmon field, sponsored by the Lions club. The first night found 1,000 visitors at the field and the closing night saw the grounds filled with enthusiastic people from town and all sections of the county. Everyone was in holiday spirit. The proceeds of the carnival will go for improving the playgrounds.

The Once Over

LIMERICKS OF THE VACATION RESORT

There was a young girl in Southampton
Where the beach is ideal to be vampt on;
Her clothes were so slight
She forgot 'em one night
And now her mother sees that they're clampt on.

There was a young man at White Sulphur
Who claimed to be quite a good gulphur;
When he putted in vain
Some one said "Try again";
But he answered, quite sore, "What the hulphur?"

There were two non-swimming young sills
Who went to the Shinnecock Hills;
They fell in the sound
And were speedily drowned,
For they'd ears where they should have had gills.

I knew a cute girl at Schroon Lake,
Whose beauty made rugged men ache;
But the miss was so dumb,
By the verdict of some,
She was smarter asleep than awake.

A damsel at Winnipesaukee
Went out with a lad for a walk; he
Absorbed so much chatter
That just didn't matter
He concluded he'd been to a "talkie."

There were two girls who played Shinnecossett,
In whose bathroom there wasn't a faucet;
They could not take a scrub
In a faucetless tub,
So they bathed in a pail in the closet.

Drink Water to Keep Cool

If one wishes to keep cool during the warm weather, it is necessary to drink large quantities of water, or to use foods containing water abundantly. Water is the necessary medium with which the skin can regulate the temperature of the body. The skin acts as a sort of thermostat, keeping the body at about a temperature of 98.6 degrees whether on a warm summer's day, or a cool winter's night.

On a hot day the millions of pores of the skin are constantly busy throwing off fine particles of moisture and in this way lowering the temperature and eliminating waste products. Even the warmest day should not feel oppressive if one will allow his body to keep cool by regulating the diet, water drinking, and clothes. Avoid the rich, fatty foods. Keep the starches down to the minimum. Eschew sweets. Wear light clothes. But be especially sure to eat large quantities of the juicy fruits and the fresh vegetables, and drink plenty of water.

It is better to do most of the water drinking between meals when the stomach is empty so as not to over-distend the stomach by the combined food and water. At any time one should drink water when thirsty, but during the warm weather it is sometimes a good plan to drink even a little more than desired. From about 9 o'clock to 11 o'clock in the morning it is wise to take from about one to two quarts of cool water. Cool water is more agreeable to the taste and seems to refresh, but I would not advise the use of ice cold drinks to any extent. In the afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock it is advisable to take another quart of water, allowing not less than an hour to elapse before dinner. If this amount of water is used during the day you will not desire to drink much at meals or during the evening. The water taken in the morning does the most good, and it can be absorbed and used during the warm period of the day.

Only the purest water obtainable should be used, and if any doubt exists as to the purity of the water it is always a good plan to use distilled water, which is entirely free from minerals or bacterial micro-organisms.

Not only is it advisable to use more drinking water, but it is also a good plan to use water externally to keep the skin clean and the mouths of the pores open so as to encourage a greater elimination of perspiration. Every man, woman and child should take at least two shower baths daily, and during the hot day it is very refreshing to take a cold shower in the middle of the day. You do not have to fear any weakening effect from taking several shower baths.

Remember this, that a clean body, inside and out, cannot be a sick body. There is always more danger in not using enough water than in using too much.

Answer—There are many such preparations on the market, and I am sure any druggist can supply you. My policy is not to recommend any particular advertised remedy in this column.

Tuberculosis

Question—"T. B." writes: "I have heard that in Russia they take the liver and lungs of a young calf and seal them up and boil for 24 hours. This is then used in treating tuberculosis patients. Do you think this treatment is useful or harmful."

Answer—There can be no special advantage in taking the food you have written about. A tubercular patient needs to be dieted very carefully, but the main object of the diet should be to supply calcium deficiency and provide the best tissue building elements.

Gastric Ulcer

Question—G. H. writes: "I have a gastric ulcer, and do not seem able to take the milk diet. Do you have a diet which excludes milk and which would be suitable for me? Also keep up my weight, which is already below normal?"

Answer—A liquid is necessary to permit a gastric ulcer to heal. Solid food tears the healing surface of the scar and prevents a cure. The milk diet has proved to be the most satisfactory, but if you have an idiosyncrasy against milk, it might be necessary to substitute non-starchy vegetable broths made without meat, or you could use the orange juice fast if the orange does not burn your stomach. Of course, you will lose weight until the ulcer is healed, and for this reason it would be better for you to take a vacation from your work, especially if the work is heavy.

Childress Water Situation Good

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Aug. 2.—The water situation in Childress is good, according to Mayor J. W. Mitchell, who was discussing the conditions Thursday. He said that at this time Lake Childress, the source of supply, was three and one-half feet higher than at the low period of the year, which was in March. According to estimates recently made the supply is sufficient to run the city another year.

There has not been a real heavy rain over the watershed during the present year, according to Mayor Mitchell, consequently the run-off has been light. Another handicap is the farmers have put in cultivation the greater part of the watershed, also have terraced a large amount of the farm lands, which has curtailed the water supply to a certain extent.

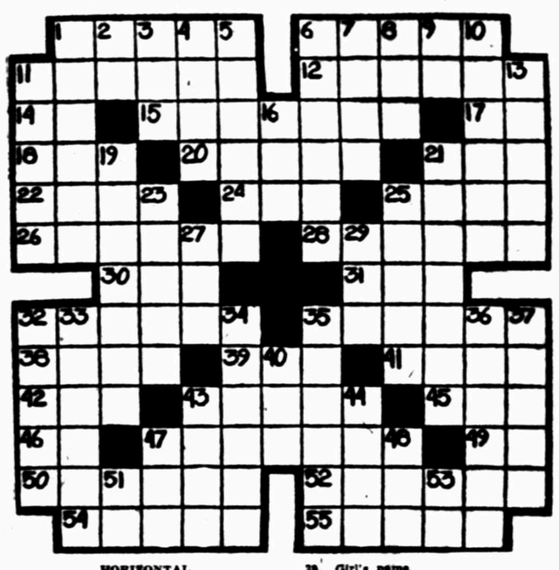

The "62" well, four and a half miles west of Lake Childress, will supply at least 400,000 gallons of water each day. If necessary the city can soon lay a pipe line that distance and have advantage of the water there. The city officials at this time contemplate putting down another well hoping to find a supply of at least 800,000 gallons of water. This would place the city in a position to be immune to drouths.

Bowie Guard Unit Off for Camp Sunday

BOWIE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—Capt. C. C. Dobkins and Lieut. A. A. Sader are in charge of about 75 members of company B, 111th engineers, local National Guard unit, which leaves Sunday, Aug. 4, for Palacious to attend the annual encampment of Texas National guards. They will be there two weeks.

In addition to military training the guardsmen may enjoy swimming, fishing, boating and other pleasures afforded by the seacoast town. The boys will leave on a special Rock Island train Sunday.

CALDWELL BEATS SPUDDERS IN TENTH, 5-4; STAPLETON STARS

BUD HAMMERS HOMER, 2 HITS

Messenger Batted Off Hill; Payne Charged With Loss

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

The several scouts who watched the Spudders and Cubs pastime yesterday were rewarded with a view of some very handsome chucking. And to make it better for them the fellow doing the chucking is a young man with his future before him. I refer to Earl Caldwell, the youthful Waco righthander, and thanks to his excellent and courageous hurling the Cubs won the opening game of the series of three, 5 to 4, in the tenth inning.

Andy Messenger, one of the league's foremost pitchers, made his first start for the Spudders since his acquisition from San Antonio. The tall righthander was not his usual effective self, however, and after giving up four runs and eight hits retired in the sixth round for a pinch hitter.

Bill Goff was the replacement and he pitched very creditably for two rounds but in the ninth with two out was relieved by George Payne. It was Payne's seventh day to work in the last eight, and like the pitcher that went to the well too often, George was the victim of the run in the tenth and is charged with the defeat.

Stapleton's Big Day

Bud Stapleton played a whale of an all-around game. The first sacker had a perfect day at bat with a home run, double, single and base on balls, drove in two runs and scored two and stole two bases, in addition to performing with his usual amazing ability and reliability on the defense.

Caldwell limited the Spudders to nine hits and would have held the Galloways to one run but Stapleton's homer, had it not been for faulty support. Roscoe, a rookie, misjudged a fly with two out that should have been fielded and two runners scored on the hit that went for two bases in the second inning and the usually reliable Wayne Windle had a fumble in the sixth after two were out that resulted in the other tally.

How Cubs Won

Young Roscoe compensated for his lapse on the attack, however, by driving home a comrade early in the pastime with a two-bagger and starting the tenth with a single, on which he tallied the winning marker, with none other than Windle banging a two-base smack that scored him, and thus Wayne also made up for his misplay.

The game was marked by 10 two-base hits, of which Waco had seven out of its 11 knocks, with Gene Rye clouting a brace of doubles.

Rye was the Cubs' big noise on the attack, with two doubles and a single that drove home three tallies.

Cubs Start Scoring

Blackerby singled sharply to right after two were out in the first inning and advanced to third when Stuvengen dropped a hit into short right but Warwick forced Stuvengen on a grounder to Benton.

The Spudders were retired in order.

Waco scored two runs in the second after two were out. Windle walked and went to second when Hermann booted Caldwell's grounder. Mellano was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Rye smashed a two-base drive past third, scoring Windle and Caldwell. Andy tightened up and struck out Blackerby.

The Spudders tied the count in their half, thanks to aid from young Mr. Roscoe, who joined the Cubs yesterday from a bush league down in the Carolinas. Red Bennett led off with a smacking two-bagger to center and advanced to third on Sullivan's infield out. Windle tossed out Hermann. Stapleton walked and stole second with no play made. Crouch lifted to left and Roscoe let the ball fall safe for a two-base hit, Bennett and Stapleton scoring.

Skipper Pratt

Skipper Del Pratt of the Cubs was banished from the coaching line as the third started, for talking out of turn concerning Crouch, whom the Bear foreman charged, alleged and averred had been struck out. Roscoe partly atoned for his error of judgment by driving in a tally. Warwick hit to center for two bases and scored on Roscoe's double to right.

Caldwell showed pitching skill and courage by turning back the Galloways one-two-three. A terrific liner by Turgeon hit Earl on the knee and bounced to Stuvengen for the putout. Caldwell gamely continued on the hill.

Joe Mellano got on base again in the fourth, on a base on balls, and scored on Rye's second double to left.

Caldwell retired the Spudders in order in the fourth for the third inning and second straight.

Stuvengen started the fifth with a two-base blow to left but Hermann snatched Warwick's hot grounder; Stuvengen was run down by Turgeon and Hermann on a bounder to Messenger, and Bennett came in for Roscoe's drive.

Double Play Halts Spuds

A double play averted Spudder scoring. Stapleton and Lapan singled. Messenger struck out. Stapleton swiped third, his second stolen base. Benton walked, filling the bases. Turgeon smashed another scorching liner, this right in the hands of Windle, and Lapan was doubled off second.

Caldwell banged another double, this to the center field wall, in the sixth and Mellano's lift to Fitzgerald sent him to third, where he was left.

Wichita Falls tallied one in its half. Windle fumbled Sullivan's grounder after two were out. Hermann singled to left, Sullivan stopping at second. Stapleton doubled to right, scoring Sullivan and sending Hermann to third. Lapan was hit by a pitched ball, again loading the bases. Bettencourt batted for Messenger and rolled to Mellano.

Blackerby and Warwick strolled in the seventh with Goff pitching but to no avail, and Fitzgerald's hit also went for naught.

Spuds Field Sharply

Fast fielding helped Goff prevent the hostiles getting on the lines in the eighth. Roscoe fanned. Hermann made a one-hand stop of Windle's bounder. Benton went to his left to throw out Caldwell.

Stapleton whanged his home run over the right-center wall in the eighth to tie the score at 4-all.

Rye singled to right but Sullivan hustled the ball to Benton and Rabbit tagged him sliding into second, after one was out in the ninth. Blackerby walked and Stuvengen was hit by a pitched ball and Payne ambled to the hill and struck out Warwick.

Caldwell fanned Payne and Turgeon and tossed out Benton.

Rye got under Fitzgerald's hard smash to far center. Bennett hit to center but was out trying to make it a double, Rye to Windle, and Sullivan hoisted to Roscoe.

Spudders Hold Ground

Despite their defeat the Spudders held ground in the pennant race and maintained a two-game lead over the Houston Buffaloes, who also were losing.

Among the scouts who saw the game were L. H. McEvoy, president of the St. Louis Browns, Jack Zoeller of the Detroit Tigers, and Ray Cahill of the Browns, who has been here several days.

Milt Steengrafe probably will hurl for the Spudders today.

Eagle Lake Scouts Boosters for Fitz

Howard Fitzgerald is one fellow who is a hero in his own home town. Twenty-one Boy Scouts of Eagle Lake, Texas, home of the star Spudder gardener, passed through Wichita Falls yesterday en route to California via Yellowstone Park.

"We're all for the Spudders and are backing 'em to the last stand," they said. "And say, Mister, who's the best center fielder in the Texas league?" When assured that Fitzgerald was that man, they said, "Well, we knew it but just wanted to know if you did."

Used Bucket Headgear To Dive for Golf Balls

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP)—Retrieving lost golf balls is deep sea diving, in a sense, for Clarence Chandler, Dallas high school youth.

His pocket money comes from pellets he finds in the Dallas Country club lake. The deep sea phase of Chandler's work is provided by a homemade tin bucket he wears over his head while diving. A friend on shore pumps air into his headgear through a tube attached to it.

They laughed at his contraption originally, but Chandler now laughs back. He claims he can find 50 golf balls an hour in the lake, and profits from their sale provide a fair income.

Athletics, Cubs Choice Of Broadway Betters

NEW YORK, Aug 2. (UP)—W. L. Darnell & Co., Broadway betting commissioners, reported today the following commissions to bet on the major league pennant races:

$10,000 to $2,000 that the Athletics win the American league pennant.

$10,000 to $2,000 that the Yankees don't win the pennant.

$5,000 to $2,000 that the Cubs win the National league pennant.

Daily Dope

By LARRY DAILEY

THREE Spudders and possibly one or two more will advance to higher company at the end of this season. Ray Cahill of the St. Louis Browns, and other scouts have indicated to me that at least a trio of Spudders are certain to advance, while the one or two others are under serious consideration.

Pete Turgeon, second baseman; Rabbit Benton, shortstop and Red Bennett, left fielder, are the three who have particularly caught the fancy of the ivory hunters. And with good cause.

Turgeon and Benton are stars of the Texas league at their respective positions. They are consistent and brilliant fielders and hard hitters, each batting more than .333. I look for the Browns to grab that brilliant keystone pair and if they don't stay at St. Louis they surely will be sent to Milwaukee.

There are infielders playing regularly in the major leagues inferior to Turgeon and Benton.

BENNETT doubtless will return to the Browns if some other club doesn't grab him. Natural hitters like the big fellow don't languish long in the minors. For two seasons he hit more than .370 for Tulsa and now he is banging around that mark and fighting for the Texas league batting lead. And he is getting his blows when they count, too. Including games of July 30, he had driven home 114 comrades, a remarkable record and further proof of his tremendous value as a hitter.

Bennett has improved 100 per cent in his outfielding within the last year or two. He still is rather awkward, but that lack of grace is deceptive. He covers a lot of ground, has an accurate and strong whip and is reliable on both ground and fly balls.

Not only are those three fellows outstanding athletes but they possess ideal temperament and disposition.

Wichita Falls will regret to lose them, but for the sake of those lads who have done so much to make baseball history here, will give them good speed when they go up.

MILT STEENGRAFE and Hal Wiltse, pitchers with lots of stuff on the ball, also have been intently eyed by the ivory hunters. Dick Sullivan, the aggressive kid, who has delivered amazingly in all ways in his first year in fast baseball, is another likely prospect.

George Payne and Howard Fitzgerald, while they have not attracted attention of the scouts as their teammates mentioned above, are among outstanding players in the Texas league and their graduation to a major or AA circuit would not be surprising.

SPUDDER players and fans admire ol' George Payne, not only for his pitching skill, but for the great courageous heart of him. In fact, it is the moxie shown by George that is even greater than his wizardry as a pitcher.

Pitching last Sunday in the second game at Shreveport, the fourth straight day he worked, George said to one of the infielders: "I haven't a thing on the ball today."

"You don't need anything on the ball with the heart you've got," said the infielder.

DUKE HERMANN and Paul Hopkins are teammates again. The Spudder third baseman and new pitcher were roommates while students at Colgate, the large college in New York. Both were captains of the Colgate nine, Hermann two years preceding Paul.

They are fraternity brothers, too.

ILLINOIS RING BOARD OUSTED

Resignations Asked Following Ticket Scandal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 2. (UP)—The Illinois state boxing commission, headed by Paul Prehn, who also is president of the National Boxing association, has been directed to resign effective Aug. 10, Gov. Louis L. Emmerson announced tonight.

Recent disclosure that the commission had taken more than 900 tickets from Promoter Paddy Harmon for tonight's Mandell-Canzoneri lightweight championship bout was understood to have caused the governor's action.

Besides Prehn, Sam Luzzo and Al Mann are members of the commission.

Promoter Harmon announced Monday that he had given 969 tickets, valued at more than $8,000 to the commission, which had requested the allotment, he said, to fulfill demands from legislators and their friends.

Penick Predicts Close Grid Race

Conference President Forecasts Fight to Last Day

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—The approaching southwest conference football season likely will result in a race which may not be determined until Thanksgiving, Dr. D. A. Penick of the University of Texas, president of the organization, said today. Even strength of the seven institutions will have an incentive to bolster attendance marks at conference games, Penick said.

The conference president said Texas, Baylor and Southern Methodist universities will enter the season with the advantage of established coaching systems, but that new mentors of the four rival schools are liable to overcome the handicap of installing their style of play and spring surprises before the traditional "turkey day" games.

Penick said tribute to Dana X. Bible, former football coach at A. & M. college, who accepted a similar post at Nebraska university.

MANDELL HANDS CANZONERI LACING TO RETAIN CHAMPIONSHIP

SAMMY WINS ALL THE WAY

Titleholder Outfights And Outboxes Challenger

CHICAGO STADIUM, CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (AP) — Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, successfully defended his title against Tony Canzoneri, in their 10-round battle in the Chicago stadium tonight.

The champion, after losing the first two rounds, moved ahead in the third, and gave his youthful challenger a masterful boxing lesson until the finish. Mandell was credited with winning seven of the 10 rounds with the first two going to Canzoneri and the eighth even.

The verdict of the two judges and the referee, Dave Barry, was not unanimous, however. The two judges voted for Mandell, with Dave Barry, the referee, balloting in favor of Canzoneri.

The lightweight titleholder was a 2 to 1 favorite to retain his title with Canzoneri, the former featherweight champion having only a handful of supporters.

Mandell scaled exactly 135 pounds, the championship limit, when he weighed in at the offices of the Illinois athletic commission at 2 p. m. The challenger, following him to the scales tipped the beam at 132½ pounds, a pound and a half heavier than the mark he had set for himself during the training period. Mandell seemed as lean as a race horse and slightly drawn when he stepped on the scales.

The battle was fought to the accompaniment of booming thunder. As the big West Side arena began to fill, the rain which had been falling all day, beat a steady tattoo on the roof. The deluge, however, did not dampen the enthusiasm of the spectators.

Indications were the crowd might not reach a capacity attendance due to the downpour. All the cheaper seats were occupied with only a patch here and there of empty seats in the $10.80 locations. Harmon, president of the Chicago Stadium corporation, estimated receipts would exceed $110,000, with more than 20,000 in attendance.

The Best Pitching Staff

The merry-go-round of sport is always cluttered up with a flurry of arguments, but there is no great argument left as to the best pitching staff in baseball. It belongs to the Athletics, and this same staff will have a vital effect on the next world series.

No other club can offer such a trio as Grove, Walberg and Earnshaw, as a leading trio, and these in turn are backed by Ehmke, Rommel and Quinn, who are not the worst in the world. If any pitcher is to top in 30 victories this season and bring back memories of Mathewson, Walsh, Johnson, Alexander and Chesbro it will be a member of this Athletic cast. The top three mentioned all have a chance, with Grove favored to lead the pack. The big left hander is not only traveling like the west wind, but he is backed by a hard-hitting ball club that can provide him with the supporting runs.

One star pitcher is usually about all most ball clubs can claim, but three make pennant winning fairly simple.

This isn't the first time Connie Mack has gathered together the best pitching staff in baseball. In 1905 he had Waddell, Plank, Bender and Coakley. In 1910 he had Bender, Plank and Coombs. The Chippewa Chief, the Gettysburg Guide and the Colby Carbine are still remembered.

Another Department

In addition to pitching strength, what other ball club can match the Athletics when it comes to a board of strategy? What other manager can show two smarter aides than Eddie Collins and Kid Gleason? Columbia Eddie and The Kid know more baseball than most teams will ever learn. This goes from the physical to the psychological side. They are two of the smartest of all time, and you can go back beyond Comisky. If any club directorate can out-think Mack, Collins and Gleason it will have to start its pondering before daybreak.

The Better Class

A fight fan wishes to know which class has furnished the better talent, the heavyweights or the lightweights.

The lightweights—by a span. In the last 40 years the best of the heavyweights have been Sullivan, Jackson, Corbett, Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, Langford, Johnson, Willard, Dempsey and Tunney.

Through this same period the lightweights have offered Lavigne, Erne, McAuliffe, Gans, Britt, Nelson, Wolgast, Owen Moran, Ritchie, Welsh and Leonard. And Sammy Mandell.

Yet no class has presented three better men than the middleweights have had to offer with Fitzsimmons, Ketchel and Greb. Here are three of the greatest in any class.

The Luck of Qualifying

Cyril Tolley's return to the United States recalls the rasping luck he suffered in his last invasion when he failed to qualify at Merion by a stroke. It was on this same occasion that Jess Sweetser slipped by a single shot, and Sweetser was then at or near his height of golf fame.

The luck that Tolley suffered came upon the greens. In his last 18-hole test he had something like 10 puts to hole that were less than an inch or two from the cup. In other words, he had 10 puts that wavered or rimmed or fluttered around the tin without dropping.

The put for an inch or for half an inch counts as much of a stroke as a full drive. To have 10 of these in one round that you can knock in with one hand puts a heavy burden on the rest of the game. There can be a big difference in the play needed to get a score around 78, for example. At one time the 78 can result from a series of puts ranging from three to 10 feet. That is the type of 78 that might easily be an 85. The 78 got where put after put is tapped in at close range might just as easily have been a 73.

Only a stout soul can stand the strain of watching put after put from a reasonable range roll up to the cup and turn away at the mast pin or flutter in and then pop out. There is, of course, a big premium on putting skill. But there is also a big premium on the "luck of the green," a factor that can make a terrific difference in any round at any given time.

"Three thousand miles," writes a golfer, "is a long way to go for a tournament if you don't qualify." Still, 3,000 miles isn't a long way to travel for the opportunity of playing golf at Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and other courses on the Monterey peninsula. As those who make the trip in the next few weeks will testify at full length.

There is a rumor around that the French are becoming interested in tennis and soon will take up the game and give it a trial.

All Senor Campolo needs is to prove how much he can take. The rest of it should be fairly simple. The first part of the job always has its jarring technicalities.

ODD FELLOWS MEET AUG. 21

Rebekahs to Join in Session At Crowell

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Aug. 2.—Speakers prominent in lodge circles throughout the state are scheduled to appear on the program of the annual session of the Lower Panhandle Odd Fellows and Rebekahs association here Aug. 21-22.

The complete program for the two-day event, which is expected to bring hundreds of lodge members here, has been announced by Mrs. Suda Awtrey, secretary of the association.

Barry Miller to Speak

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, grand master of Texas Odd Fellows, is scheduled to make the principal address at the morning session of the opening day of the session. The session will open with the invocation by Chaplain W. W. Griffith and two welcome addresses, one by Mayor C. T. Schlagal in behalf of the city of Crowell and Foard county, and one by Clara Oswalt, Crowell, in behalf of Foard county and the Rebekahs. W. A. McIntosh, Memphis, and Bertha A. Ross, Vernon, will respond to the two addresses.

The session will adjourn from the Crowell high school auditorium, designated as the meeting place, at noon, and will proceed to the First Baptist church, where luncheon will be served.

Afternoon Speeches

After officers' and committee reports, the afternoon session will be featured by addresses by Mrs. Jessie N. Ross, Amarillo, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas; Ray Rector, Stamford, deputy grand warden; and Whit Davidson, Dallas, grand warden-elect. An announcement will be made pertaining to ritualistic work by Mrs. Hattie Beetle, Chillicothe, second vice president of the association. A memorial service conducted by the Vernon Rebekahs, and the Grand Lodge assembly will follow.

In the evening, at 7:15 o'clock, an entertainment program will be given at the high school auditorium. Special features in which Miss Roberts, fine arts director, and Band Master Barlow, of the Odd Fellows home, will assist, will include a reading by Rose Thranert; a whistling solo by Edna Wilkins; a presentation, "The Overall Kids," by Rose, Ruth and Nina Thranert; a vocal selection by Lorena White and Rose Thranert; a glee club number featuring Dot Arledge and Nina Thranert, a dance by Nina Thranert, a reading by Dot Artledge; a selection by Dot Arledge and Nina Thranert, and a talk by the superintendent of the Odd Fellows home. The public will be invited to attend this entertainment.

After the program contest subordinate work, and Rebekah contest work will be held in the auditorium.

Dearborn to Speak

The morning session of the second day will be featured by addresses by F. J. Dearborn, Orange, Texas, grand patriarch of the Odd Fellows of Texas, and by E. Q. Vestal, Dallas, state grand secretary, and by the election of officers. Other events on the program include musical selections by the Glee club, special readings by Rose Thranert, and a school of instruction conducted by Mrs. Ada Ramsey, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas.

The session will come to an end in the afternoon with final reports of committees, selection of the next meeting place, installation of officers, and the completion of unfinished business.

Rebekah Officers

The Lower Panhandle association consists of 12 counties and 76 lodges. The Rebekah association officers are: Mrs. Lillie H. McNeely, Wichita Falls, president; Mrs. R. T. Eudaley, Electra, first vice president; Mrs. Hattie Beetle, Chillicothe, second vice president; Mrs. Suda Awtrey, Electra, secretary; Bertha A. Ross, Vernon, treasurer, and W. W. Griffith, Crowell, chaplain.

The program committee for the annual session consists of Josephine Griffith, Crowell, chairman; Maggie French, Crowell; Cora Carter, Crowell; Rue R. Miller, Crowell, and G. W. Backus, Vernon.

Bowie Residents Warned Against Wasting Water

BOWIE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—The citizens of Bowie have been asked by Mayor O. W. Watson to be very conservative in the use of city water and not let any of it go to waste. They are asked not to use any more water than absolutely necessary in the watering of lawns and for similar purposes.

The supply of water is ample for domestic use but is not sufficient to permit of any wastage. The citizens are also asked to cut weeds and clean up rubbish about the premises so that the danger of fire may be eliminated. It is pointed out that a big fire would draw heavily on the water supply and might run it very low before the summer is over.

The officials of the city plan to put down additional wells or otherwise increase the water supply before another hot season comes.

New Engine Secured For Bowie Light Plant

BOWIE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—A new Diesel type, 380 h. p. engine, will be installed at the municipal light plant in the next few days, according to Mayor O. W. Watson. The engine has arrived and is awaiting location on the special foundation arranged for it.

When the new engine is ready for duty this city will have one of the best power plants in the state. The new engine takes the place of one of the 100 h. p. engines that was sold when it became obsolete as far as this plant is concerned.

A voltage regulater was installed during early spring and a constant and regular flow of current is assured with the new equipment now being added.

HUBERT AT BOWIE

BOWIE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—The matter of the overpass, west of the city, was urged to citizens of this section by Hubert Harrison, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, on a recent visit here while en route with his family to Fort Worth.

Girl Trusty in Altus Jail Starts For Postoffice but Heads 'South'

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 2.—Members of the Jackson county sheriff's force don't believe in women's rights nor are there going to be any more women trusties at the jail here since Billie Ray, held on three liquor charges, went to the postoffice and forgot the way back.

Billie has been in the Jackson county jail since June 26 awaiting trial in the county and district courts and in the county court at Hobart.

As a result of the extreme heat in the cells and good behavior, she was allowed the freedom of the jail and several times allowed to go to the postoffice across the street upon her request.

She always came back until Wednesday afternoon. Inquiry showed she hadn't been seen at the postoffice and that such a person had taken her coupe out of storage at a garage and departed "south."

The car, still headed "south," was found at a highway filling station where Billie was awaiting change from money paid for gasoline. Now she is in jail again and was taken to Hobart pending arreignment on the first of the charges.

SLIDING SUGAR SCALE IS MADE

Condition of Market Would Rule Levy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—A sliding scale sugar tariff plan ranging from one cent a pound at the time market prices are high to three cents a pound when the market is depressed was made public today by Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee.

Smoot will offer the proposal as a substitute for the flat rate of three cents a pound placed on sugar in the house tariff bill.

Hearings will be held next week at which time the substitute will be considered by the committee.

Under the sliding scale, the present rate of 2.20 on sugar would apply when sugar is selling in New York at six cents a pound, which is about the present price.

Cuba would receive the same 20 per cent preferential under the sliding scale as it now enjoys when the flat rates on sugar are applied.

Protests against any reduction in the industrial tariff schedules, if increases are made in the agricultural duties in the house tariff measure, were made before the senate finance committee today by Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire.

VANDERBILT DENIES RUMOR OF TABLOID FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (INS)—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., visited in Chicago today denied repeated rumors he was considering establishing a tabloid newspaper in Chicago.

"My visit here is to greet the flyers, Williams and Yancey, who recently flew to Rome, and has nothing to do with business whatsoever," Vanderbilt said.

GRAY GUSHER MAKES 20,000

Phillips No. 4 Palmer Has Record Flow

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 2. (AP)—Blowing in late last night Phillips Petroleum company's No. 4 Palmer in the northwest corner of the east 82-acre section of 31, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, Gray county, Texas, today was flowing more than 20,000 barrels of high gravity crude oil per day.

The well started off last night accompanied by 45,000,000 feet of gas from pay sand and found from 2852 to 2855 feet by actual gauge. The well made 852 barrels between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning.

Oklahoma Adds 13,583 Barrels

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 2.—Thirty-eight of the 82 completions in Oklahoma oil areas the past fiscal week had an initial production of 13,583 barrels a day. There were 33 failures and 11 gas wells. The Seminole district, Oklahoma City field and Logan areas are the most active spots in the state today, although now and then some of the other sectors develop a good well. The gassers had an open flow of 53,750,000 cubic feet a day.

Kansas had 83 completions, with 20 being oil wells, making 7,294 barrels the first 24 hours and the others were failures.

A survey of Oklahoma oil fields disclosed 75 new starts, while Kansas had but 33 first reports, with the Panhandle field having nine and West Central and West Texas having 12.

Bellevue School Election Ordered

BELLEVUE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—By a ruling of State Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs, there will be held in the Bellevue Independent school district an election to fix taxation in territory recently added to the Bellevue district.

At its meeting on March 2, 1929, the school board of the county met and abolished Gowan school district No. 17, west of Bellevue and ceded to Bellevue a portion of that district at a meeting on April 16. It now becomes necessary to hold an election before the new district is subject to taxation. The ruling was made by the attorney general through the state superitendent.

When the Gowan district was divided a portion of same was allotted to each of four surrounding districts. Bellevue got approximately 4,000 acres of land, one and three-quarter miles of Denver railroad and the same distance in pipe lines, telegraph lines, etc. The total taxable valuation of the acquired territory is estimated at $100,000.

The holding of the election is to clear up the technicality and to make the $1 tax uniform in all parts of the district. Local taxes will not be affected. A petition is now before the public asking for sufficient signatures to call the election. Twenty are required.

New Gas Pipe Line Is Nearing Bellevue

BELLEVUE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—The crew laying the new 20-inch pipe line for the Lone Star Gas company, from Petrolia to Fort Worth and Dallas, will reach this point within the next two weeks, according to information from the engineering department of the company. This is the largest line in this section and was started the first of last week, one crew beginning the work near Fort Worth and the other at Petrolia. Both will work towards Bellevue, reaching here from each end about Aug. 16. Another force of workmen are laying pipe and the crews are never more than a mile apart.

It is planned to complete this the only 20-inch pipe line in North Texas, by the middle of September. It will have a capacity of 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day tapping the Panhandle field and assuring an unlimited supply of gas for all purposes the coming cold season. The pipe is being laid two and a half feet below the surface of the ground.

Record Grain Harvest In Armstrong County

CLAUDE, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—Armstrong county has just completed the greatest harvest in its history. Two million bushels of grain, including wheat, oats, barley and rye, have gone to market.

The harvest has covered a period of four weeks with the work done almost entirely by combines. Haulers and trucks were the only additional help brought into the county.

Wheat constituted the greater part of the group, most of it testing high in quality, and a good yield. The weather was ideal with the exception of a hail the first week which destroyed many hundreds of acres. The county at large has had less hail than usual this season.

Bellevue Lodge Members Attend Henrietta Meet

BELLEVUE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—A number of members of the local lodge of the I. O. O. F. went to Henrietta to attend lodge there on Tuesday night. The locals had charge of putting on second degree work. Those making the trip were M. G. Duncan, team captain; Willie Johnson, V. M. Dishman, Hubert Dishman, Lawrence Spears, H. L. Ford, E. B. Green, P. P. Kinsfather, W. F. Mount, George F. Simmons, C. E. Lewis, J. M. Staats, Joe Johnson.

The local lodge is a very active one and has some 65 members. The lodge hall is one of the best equipped in this part of the state. They are up on their work and the work of the degree team is excellent.

Troup to Vote On $60,000 Bond Issue

TROUP, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—The city council has ordered an election Aug. 27 on a proposed $60,000 bond issue for a new water filtration plant and sewer system here.

Twenty-one thousand dollars would be provided for construction of waterworks, $25,000 for a sewer system and $14,000 to refund warrants previously issued here for sewer extensions.

'Back to Texas,' Becomes Sooner's Slogan When He Counts Profits

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 2.—"I'm going back to Texas."

This is what W. G. Duke, a native of Texas, and who has been in the lumber business in Shawnee and Tulsa for the last few years, declared last week when he learned that 640 acres of land that he owns in Taylor county, West Central Texas was in line for future oil prospecting.

The story of how Duke got the land and has held on to it, reads like a fairy story, especially the way the land has increased in value since 1912, when he got possession of it.

Back in 1909, Mr. Duke loaned $9,600 on the 640 acres, and in 1910, 1911 and part of 1912 the country was hit by drought, and he had to foreclose in 1912 to save his loan. Failing to "give the land away" for less than he had in it, Duke decided to hold on. He personally planted 160 acres into wheat, and held on.

In 1928 he leased the farm for $50 an acre, or $32,000 cash, and some three months ago he sold one-half of the royalty for $175 an acre, or $112,000, to K. L. Ashton, Big Spring, and A. C. Davis, San Angelo, and a mineral lease has been taken by Alderson Brothers and associates of Abilene.

"I've wandered around a great deal since leaving Tyler and Dallas," said Mr. Duke, "so have decided to go back to Texas and stay. The way this land has kept me a-goin' is proof to me that Texas is the only place to live and own real estate."

Duke has made a survey of the lumber business of the Southwest and has backed up his check by acquiring controlling interest in lumber yards at Midland, Sweetwater and Big Spring, and plans to open yards at Pecos, Alpine and Fort Stockton.

COOKE COUNTY PRODUCER

Humble Oil and Refining company No. 4 Poteet located west of the Kewanee Oil and Gas company record well in the Bulcher pool of northwest Cooke county, is flowing 800 barrels daily from the sandy lime at 1451 to 1525 feet.

COTTLE COUNTY FAILURE

The Exploitation Company of Texas No. 1 test located on the Richards ranch in Cottle county, has been abandoned as a dry hole at a total depth of 4000 feet.

ARCHER COUNTY COMPLETION

The Rathke Drilling company No. 2 W. F. Parrish located in the old Sunshine State pool in Archer county is finished as a small producer from the sand at 1588-98 feet and is being placed on the pump.

WILBARGER COMPLETIONS

Staley and Wynne interests last week brought in a flock of nice completions on their G-lease in Wilbarger county, Waggoner lands, that boosted the firm's output approximately 850 barrels daily. The wells finished were G-5, swabbing 350 barrels, and G-6, swabbing 200 barrels, both in the 2370-foot pay; G-7 and G-8 are making 150 barrels each from the 1851-foot sand.

RATHKE OIL COMPANY

The Rathke Oil company No. 1 Watts located in southwest corner of section 64, block 15, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, two miles west of Doans crossing in Wilbarger county, is drilling at 1596 feet.

GOLDING-COCHRAN

Golding and Cochran No. K-1 W. T. Waggoner located in section 4, block 17, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, Wilbarger county, is drilling at 1750 feet.

ANOTHER DECLINE

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 2.—The Greater Seminole field produced 370,305 barrels from 2,024 wells Thursday showing a decline of 1,037 barrels under the output for Wednesday. Four wells were completed in the St. Louis field and one each in the Little river and the Carr City pools.

Buffalo Springs Plans Picnic for August 9

BELLEVUE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—Buffalo Springs will hold a big picnic on Friday, Aug. 9, according to Messrs J. C. Fletcher and W. H. Colley. A program of music and speaking is being prepared. There will be a double-header baseball game and the dinner will be served by the Buffalo Springs Cemetery association. Deer Creek and Shannon will play the first ball game with Buffalo Springs choosing the winners.

CARAWAY 'GAME'

Arkansas Senator Braves 18 Storms in Long Air Journey

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 2. (INS)—Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, wanted his son, who is a student flier at Brooks field, Texas, to know that his father was air-minded.

So the senator flew in an army plane from Washington to Little Rock, Ark., and thence to Memphis, braving 18 storms, getting lost once, and acquiring a sun-red nose.

All this was revealed today by Lieut. L. H. Clark of the army air corps, the senator's pilot.

"The senator is a game sport," said Clark. "I offered to land whenever he wanted me to, but he told me to fly on."

SECOND WELL IN FOARD AREA

Fain-McGaha and Shell Get Producer

CROWELL, Texas, Aug. 2.—Fain-McGaha and Shell Petroleum company's Johnson No. 1 was brought in this afternoon and for several hours has been swabbing at the rate of about 300 barrels daily production.

The well is located in the T. A. Johnson survey, Foard county, and offsets the Shell Tarver No. 1, Foard county's recent oil discovery, 11 miles east of Crowell.

It is believed that this well is equally as good the Tarver discovery which has been averaging around 300 barrels daily production.

The new well was brought in at 2040 feet and has been drilled 16 feet into the pay. The hole has not been cleaned out yet and it is not known just what it is capable of producing.

Rain Clouds Promise Aid to Fire Fighters

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 2. (UP)—Rain clouds today brought a ray of hope to the 1,500 or more rangers and volunteers fighting the advance of nearly 100 forest fires in the timber and brush lands of Northern Minnesota.

Reports to the state forestry department here indicated calm weather over the entire danger area had aided fighters in forcing the flames back to the fire lines. With the calming of yesterday's brisk winds danger also was believed averted from several Lake Superior shore settlements.

Oldest Chicago Paper Joined With Daily News

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (UP)—The Chicago Daily Journal announced today that it had associated its editorial activities and linked its name with the Chicago Daily News.

The Journal's program and policies, the announcement said, "are entrusted to the management of Walter A. Stock, president of the Chicago Daily News, and his associates."

The Journal is the oldest daily newspaper in Illinois. It was founded 85 years ago.

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—The Prairie View State Normal and Industrial college, a negro institution had an enrollment of 1,500, the largest in the history of the school, for its summer session.

The bachelor of science degree was awarded to 72 candidates. Professors expressed satisfaction with the quality as well as the quantity of work in the summer school. More than 75 per cent of the students had passing grades.

Decatur Fair Planned by Chamber of Commerce

DECATUR, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—Decatur will have a fair this fall, sponsored by the chamber of commerce. This is in answer to appeals for a fair by citizens of the town and country. No fair was held here last fall, the lack of one being a disappointment to many.

The chamber of commerce is endeavoring to raise a fund of $500 to pay the cost of a fair, less the cost of the usual premium list. Most of it has been subscribed

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under week-end realizing or liquidation and some local or southern selling. December contracts sold off to 19.10 or 34 points net lower, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 34 to 47 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 9 to 22 points. A private crop report placed the condition at 73.1 and indicated a yield of 15,740,000 bales. These figures were about 900,000 bales above one of the reports published on the previous day.

October declined to 18.84 and March to 19.26, making net losses 34 to 43 points on the active months. The close was within a point or two of the lowest. Private reports yesterday gave the condition from 68.4 to 73.1 and the indicated yield from 15,146,000 up to 15,740,000 bales.

Private cables reported an inactive market in Liverpool.

Exports were 7,446, making 18,210 for the two days so far this season. Port receipts, 2,474. U. S. port stocks, 516,529.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2. (AP)—Fears of bearish private reports and unfavorable construction placed on two such reports issued today caused a decline of $1.50 a bale in cotton today. Prices were on the downgrade from the start and reached the lowest in final trading when October contracts sold at 18.74, a net decline of 30 points. The general market closed easier at net losses of 30 points on active months.

Liverpool cables were steady but the market here opened easy at net losses of 2 to 4 points. Prices declined. Two private advices gave condition averages from 68.3 and 73.1 per cent of normal and indicated yields ranging from 15,146,000 bales to 15,740,000 bales.

By mid-session October traded at 18.81, and December 19.01, 23 points net down. The market recovered 5 points of the loss but values weakened again under renewed liquidation. The lows of the day came in final trading when December touched 18.94, or 30 points under yesterday's close. Final prices were at the bottom.

BUNKER HILL AND SULLIVAN MINING AND CONCENTRATING COMPANY

The operations of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating company began in 1885. It operates lead and silver mines in Idaho, among them the Bunker Hill mine, regarded as one of the greatest lead-silver properties in the world. The company also has a 50 per cent interest in a lot of other properties. It operates through a subsidiary, the Star mine at Mullan, Idaho, and a half interest in the Treadwell Yukon company, Ltd., which owns the Sudbury mine in Ontario. The company has a three-year option on the Yellow Pine Mining company property at Good Springs, Nev.

There has been a decrease in earnings for the last three years. The amount of ore mined in 1928 was 452,345 tons which compares with 459,761 in 1926, the peak year. Net income in 1928 was $2,255,749 as compared with $2,658,986 in 1927 and $3,157,301 in 1926.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding includes $730,400 in six per cent preferred of $100 par and $3,270,000 in common shares of $10 par. The preferred has preference as to assets of 110 and of dividends of six per cent and two per cent bonus guaranteed and also shares with the common in dividends over eight per cent. It has voting power only when the holder is an employe of the company.

Preferred dividends have been paid regularly. From 1925 to 1928 the common was paid $9 a share. In 1929, 75 cents a share was declared each month to May 6. This included 50 cents extra.

As of Jan. 1, 1929, total current assets amounted to $3,384,968, current liabilities totaled $1,309,794, and net working capital was $2,075,174. Book value applicable to the common stock amounted to $147.22 a share.

Stocks Roll Into New High Ground Aided by Bullishness of Morgans

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. (US)—Stocks boiled right along into a new high ground, today as the cry "Morgan's are bullish" influenced larger public participation. Further gain in brokers' loans, continued tight money and banking worry over the English money situation failed to depress. The list faltered but did not weaken when week-end profit taking developed at the close and most groups finished net higher for the session. Steel gained fractionally after registering its daily new high. American Can gained over 2 points and other Standard Industrials gained about a point on the average. General Electric moved 12 points higher, Westinghouse 3⅜, International Telephone 5⅞, Consolidated Gas 7¼, and American Telephone 10¾. Rails enjoyed much better demand with Central gaining 3½, Atchison 6½ and Union Pacific 2½. Coppers were strong early but lost part of their gains by the close. Oils were quiet and slightly irregular. Call money rate was held at 10 per cent throughout. Turnover increased to over the 4,000,000 share level.

Better demand for the railroad stocks attracted attention to Alleghany Corporation as it is expected to take place among the leaders of the group as the plans of the management for expanding activities become known. The corporation, it was stated, had added to its holdings of New York Central and other railroad shares during recent reaction on the transportation group.

International Telephone's advance followed report that buying for the account of an English financial group had been concluded. As told of here several days ago this group is affiliated with the management of International and were taking a substantial block of the shares out of the market. General Electric and Westinghouse buying caused further depletion of floating supply of the shares as brokers report a steady flow of the stock out of the market. The belief persists that Westinghouse eventually will go into the Baldwin organization as the same interests hold substantial amounts of both stocks. Baldwin new shares are expected over on the big board before long.

More favorable reports were heard concerning the position of the Copper shares. Durant interests were credited with influencing strength in Anaconda again. The Newmont interests it was stated were holding to their commitment in Kennecot as they did not expect the Copper metal price to decline any further. Borg Warner group activity was resumed coincident with report that the company was planning acquisition of another important property. Greater interest resulted from report that sales of the company's patented railroad equipment were increasing. The continued advance in grain prices finally attracted attention to Harvester. Those who have been active in Montgomery Ward for some time were reported adding to their holdings of Harvester in expectation of improved income during the last half of this year.

The only result of the $52,000,000 increase in loans for the week was estimate that borrowings would increase at least 30 per cent more before the end of the year. In such event the forecast of W. C. Durant would be proven correct. Continued gain in loans, however, would be likely to bring further "warnings" from the reserve and threats of action from congress. However, bankers continue to state that there is nothing dangerous in the increase in loans so long as they do not outstrip the increase in value of securities borrowed upon. In fact there are many bankers who think that loans of $10,000,000,000 would not be too high under present conditions.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle receipts around the 11-market circuit were light with the estimate placed at 7,500, as compared with 9,318 last Friday and 10,022 the corresponding day a year ago. No material price changes were registered.

The sheep supply, approximating 38,900, was 8,500 more than a week ago, and 10,000 heavier than the same day last year. Firm prices on fat lambs and little change on aged stock was registered. Chicago realized $13.75 for range lambs and closely sorted natives.

Lighter hogs to shippers ruled moderately active at steady prices. Packers were bearish and on closing rounds enforced an uneven decline of 10@40c. The day's top of $12.35 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 55,350 against 79,355 a week ago and 49,683 a year ago.

Grain

TEXAS CASH PRICES

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2. (AP)—Wheat prices on the Fort Worth cash grain market followed the decline in contract values today with losses of 3 to 4 cents, the biggest reductions prevailing in export grain. Corn also sagged badly, and barley was in better demand. Estimated receipts: Wheat, 310 cars; corn, 6; oats, 12; barley, 16; sorghums, 10; hay, 5, and snapped corn, 1 car.

Export Grain—Exporters bid as follows, basis delivered Texas gulf ports: No. 1 ordinary export wheat, 4c lower, $1.35@1.36; No. 1 soft red mixed, 3½c lower, $1.35@1.36; No. 3 barley, 1c higher, 74@75c.

Milling Wheat—Mills bid as follows, basis delivered Texas common points: No. 1 hard milling, 3c lower, at $1.37@1.38; 13 per cent protein, $1.41@1.42; 14 per cent $1.45@1.46; 15 per cent $1.49@1.50; 16 per cent $1.53@1.54.

Dealers' bids and offers on coarse grains, basis delivered Texas common points, as follows:

Corn—3c lower; market very slow; No. 3 mixed, $1.14@1.15; No. 3 white, $1.19@1.20; No. 2 yellow, $1.20@1.21.

Oats—Demand good, unchanged.

Barley—Demand improved, 1c higher; No. 2, 74@75c.

Sorghums—Steady, unchanged.

Sorghum Heads—Nominally unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (AP)—An all-around collapse of grain values today resulted largely from apparent growing likelihood of railroad embargoes directed especially against shipments of wheat to Chicago. Stocks of wheat here have increased suddenly to such an extent that seemingly a quick adequate outlet must be found, or embargoes cannot be escaped. Selling of wheat future deliveries broadened out on a big scale today, and the market fell as much as 5¼c a bushel, compared with yesterday's finish.

Closing quotations on wheat were decidedly unsettled, 3¼c to 4c net lower, with corn 3c to 4c down, oats 1c to 1⅜c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12@15c.

Aggravating the market effects of threatened choking of grain storage facilities here were wheat receipts of 714 cars in Chicago today, nearly triple the number arriving at this time a year ago. Adding greatly to consequent selling pressure on the market here was an unexpected sharp downturn in wheat quotations at Liverpool, where future deliveries closed at 1½ to 1⅞ pence setback, whereas an advance of 1⅝ to 1⅞ pence had been looked for.

With chances of export business in wheat from the United States thus evidently curtailed, and with rail embargoes on grain already in force at Galveston and Houston, much talk went round that the enormous movement of domestic winter wheat to market centers may cause at least a temporary general glut.

That Stopped Him

"Did you tell her when you proposed that you were unworthy of her? That always makes a good impression."

"I was going to—but she told me first."—Daily Chronicle, London.

Bellevue Revival Starts Sunday

BELLEVUE, Texas, Aug. 2. (Spl.)—A big union revival will be held in Bellevue, beginning Sunday, Aug. 4. It will be held in the same place as last year, a big tent on the Methodist church lawn.

The preaching will be done by Rev. R. E. Matlock, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Marlow, Okla. The singing will be led by Rev. W. B. Swim, pastor of the local Methodist church.

Pianist for the meeting will be Miss Lucy Childress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Childress and Miss Willie Mae Gaines will be her assistant. A tent has been secured by the tent committee.

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the next day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ads accepted for afternoon papers up until 11 a. m. same day.

Morning paper up to 6 p. m. for the following morning.

Sunday paper up to 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Same copy in both papers.

THE CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT IS OPEN ON SUNDAYS

from 4 to 6 p. m. And telephone orders for classified ads to be inserted or to be discontinued will be accepted.

Exceptions: Want ads will be accepted over the telephone for all excepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.

The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriate headlines and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

FLYING CHAMPS TO BARNSTORM

Jackson and O'Brine Begin Midwest Tour

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2. (UP)—An extensive tour of middle western, eastern and southern cities will be made by the St. Louis-Robin effective immediately, it was announced today after Pilots Dale "Red" Jackson and Forest "Obie" O'Brine had taken off for Chicago.

The trim orange monoplane which this week established a world record of 420 hours of consecutive flight will be accompanied on the tour by its refueling ship, manned by Maj. C. Ray Wassall and P. V. (Shorty) Chaffee, to give refueling exhibitions.

The fliers will visit Kansas City, Aug. 3 and 4.

CHAMPIONS LAND AT CHICAGO FIELD

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (UP)—The world champion endurance fliers—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine—landed at municipal airport here at 11:55 a. m., C. S. T., today on the first leg of their continental triumph tour.

Only a small crowd greeted the aviators on account of a heavy rain.

Electra Society

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 2.—The T. E. L. class of the First Baptist Sunday school was entertained Wednesday with a lovely luncheon at the home of Mrs. John Brownlee, on West Roosevelt avenue, in the regular monthly meeting. The home was prettily decorated with cut flowers making a lovely background for the luncheon.

Mrs. M. L. Sanderson, president of the class presided at the meeting, which was given first to the business session. Mrs. Brownlee, led the devotional, which was followed with prayer by Mrs. W. L. Cason. Mrs. D. A. Cawifield, secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. R. B. Floyd offered her resignation as vice president of the class, at which time Mrs. D. A. Cawifield was elected to fill her place. Mrs. W. L. Allen was elected as secretary to fill Mrs. Cawifield's place. A handkerchief shower was then presented to the honoree, Mrs. R. N. Floyd. The gifts were brought in on a tray and presented to the honoree. She gave a response for the gifts. Covers were laid for the following guests: Mesdames R. R. Floyd, A. J. Bodine, Mary Jowell, D. A. Cawifield, W. D. Thompson of Childress, W. L. Cason, C. W. Moore, O. M. Stidham, F. N. Hogle, W. A. Gault, W. L. Allen, Mae Wilson, W. R. Rouse, J. L. Glenn, F. L. Mahaney, O. J. Byrd and Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Rivers.

Birthday Party

Little Miss Georgia Jeralean Barnes celebrated her fifth birthday Monday afternoon with a garden party at the adjoining homes of her parents and grand parents on West Summitt avenue. The lawns of Mr. and Mrs. Jere B. Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ancell Sr., were converted into a playground beautifully decorated with colorful balloons, toys and other attractive features, amusing the little folks. Games were enjoyed on the lawn with favors of automobiles for the boys and jackston sets for the girls. Ice cream and wafers were served to the guests. Mrs. W. A. Gault was a special guest and together with little Miss Louise Cross Rule Totten and Jacquelin Dildy, assisted in entertaining the guests. Prizes in the guessing contests were won by Mary Ligon and James Ligon.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts, the outstanding one being that of a roll-top desk given by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ancell Sr. The guest list included Martha Jane Hemmer, Martha Lee Gillum, Patsy Ruth Ezell, Jenne Ann Doores, Yvonne Harris, Joanne DeVault, Louise Cross, Mary Pat McGann, Betty Sue Cunningham, Norma Gene Marriott, Molly Virginia Skinner, Mary Louise Ligon, Sammy Joy Barwell, Mary Jane Cole, Paula Lee Murray, Letty Phylis Warden, Jacquelin Dildy, Danna Dale, Marjorie Sue Barr, Eleanor Ray Lebus, Geraldine P'Pool, Jimmy Scarbrough, Margaret Andrews, Barney Totten, Joe Cotter Davidson, Marion Jack Suggs, Homer Cole Jones, James Tanner, James Totten, Britton Ancell and Frank Lebus Jr.

Bridge Party

Naming Mrs. J. Dave Brown of Dallas as honoree, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Gillis, entertained at bridge Thursday evening at their home on the west highway. Seven tables were arranged for the games, and blue-bells were the flowers chosen for the decorations. In the games Mrs. H. E. Morrow won high score for ladies, and Edward Schlaffke won high for men. The honoree was also presented a gift at the close of the games. Refreshments were served to the following guests: Messers. and Mesdames S. B. Marchant, G. R. Davidson, Schlaffke, M. O. Turner, H. E. Morrow, L. B. Slaughter, J. H. Marriott Jr., Frank Fisher, Robert P. Hall, J. A. King, Dan Comfort, and John B. McKinley, Mesdames J. Dave Brown, and J. P. Parr and Miss Helen Slaughter.

Personals

The Misses Lillie and Dollie Watson of Wichita Falls were the guests over the week-end of Misses Florence and Clara Hughes, of West Michigan avenue.

Mrs. C. R. Miller is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Kutzschbach of Taylor. After her visit there she will visit in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lewis of West Michigan avenue, announce the arrival of a new girl in their home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wilson, and Jack Jochry of Dallas are visiting in the home of Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Nannie Myre. They were called to the bedside of their niece, Cleota Dees, daughter of Mrs. Myre, who has been seriously ill, but who is reported improving.

News has been received of the death of P. E. Pitt, a Confederate soldier and a former resident of Electra, at the Soldiers home at Austin, July 26. He was the father-in-law of Bob Jackson of this city.

Mrs. F. E. Larrimore and Mrs. C. D. Oman of San Angelo are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Peterson of West Michigan avenue.

Mrs. R. B. Jones underwent an operation this week at Vernon.

Although still in a serious condition, Mrs. J. D. Suttle is reported to be improved. She suffered a stroke of paralysis two weeks ago, and her condition has been regarded as critical.

CITY'S WATER RECORD BROKEN

162,920,000 Gallons Used In July, Report Shows

The largest amount of water pumped in any one month in the history of the city was pumped into the city mains during the month of July, when 162,920,000 gallons were consumed by residents of Wichita Falls, according to the monthly report of the city water department issued Friday.

The July consumption was several million gallons in excess of the June consumption, when 144,920,000 gallons were pumped into the mains. Water sales during July amounted to $30,100.93 as compared with a total of $23,231.72 in July, 1928, the report indicated. Collections in the past month tottaled $26,488.92, many of the bills not being due until the latter part of August. Collections in July, 1928, came to $23,580.91. Figures on the consumption for July 1928, were not available, it was said.

Beitzel Dies On Scaffold

Mate Slayer Wisecracks As Noose Is Fixed

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Aug. 2. (US)—Wisecracking to the last, Russell St. Clair Beitzel, 28, calmly went to his death on the gallows here today for the murder in Los Angeles of his 19-year-old common-law wife, Barbara Mauger.

"I see the customers are all here," said the doomed man as he saw the witnesses seated near the scaffold.

"Do you want me to take a couple of practice drops?" Beitzel inquired as he stepped on the trapdoor.

Other remarks by the slayer while the noose was being adjusted were muffled by the black hood over his head.

The wisecracking lost the executioner his composure.

Beitzel was hopeful of a reprieve to the last. His last hours were spent playing classical phonograph records.

The love affair which led to the murder of Miss Mauger began in Philadelphia, where Beitzel deserted a wife and two children.

DEATHS

EDGAR F. NOE

Funeral services for Edgar F. Noe, 50, well-known farmer of Frederick, Okla., who died in a local hospital Thursday evening, will be held from the Church of Christ, Tenth and Burnett streets, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon with Reverend Camp, pastor of the Church of Christ of Iowa Park, officiating. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Noe is survived by his widow and three children, Eugene, Crawford and Miss Leota Noe, all of Frederick; his mother, Mrs. L. R. Noe of Hammond, Okla.; four brothers, E. H. Noe and W. W. Noe, both of Wichita Falls, F. H. Noe of Elk City, Okla., and T. W. Noe of Los Angeles, Calif.; and one sister, Mrs. Wilburn Smith of Hammond, Okla.

Active pallbearers at the services will be O. C. Blanton, R. S. Dunaway, P. W. Tucker, R. R. Keith, Roy Staton and Jimmie Ryan.

MRS. H. E. KELLEY

The body of Mrs. H. E. Kelley, 47, of Dennis, Texas, who died in a local hospital Thursday evening, was forwarded by the Hines mortuary to Weatherford, Texas, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Burial will be in Weatherford.

WILLIAM H. TABER

Funeral services for William H. Taber, 79, who died Thursday at the family home, 904 Third street, were held in Iowa Park at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Interment was in the Iowa Park cemetery.

Wichitan Flies From Illinois in New Plane

Mrs. Mary Priest, of Wichita Falls, landed at the Municipal airport late Friday afternoon in her new Monopret plane in which she flew from Moline, Ill. The plane was piloted by Samuel Salmons.

The trip required two days, airport officials said, the party having stopped over at Wichita, Kan. The new plane is a diminutive monocoupe, and is smaller than the usual airplane.

Palestine Holds Man Under Indictment Here

C. R. Steele, indicted here last week for wife and child desertion, has been arrested in Palestine at the request of the sheriff's office here, according to word received by H. F. Hawkins, chief deputy, Friday afternoon.

Charlie Gant, deputy, left late Friday to bring the prisoner back to Wichita county. He is expected to return early Saturday.

MAJESTIC: Mary Dugan saved by brother Jimmy's ninth-inning rally in Judge Nash's court. Paramount news.

STRAND: "The Time, the Place, and the Girl." Betty Compson and Grant Withers among the rah-rah boys in football season. Movietone news.

OLYMPIC: Ken Maynard's white horse and 10-gallon hat in Europe with "The Royal Rider." Comedy. Sportlight. Pathe news.

GEM: Bob Custer in "Texas Tommy." Chapter 4 of "Pirates of Panama." Comedy.

Just to settle the question of original authorship in the case of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," now in session at the Majestic, be it known that Mr. Wolff's rather tardy novel—if you've chanced to see it—was not the source of Bayard Veiller's amazing courtroom play. The "novel," like Mary's well-known little pet, brought up the rear guard.

Not that such priority indicates the creation of undreamed new material for a play. After you've heard the jury acquit Mary, and sit pondering the possible case against the real culprit, you'll wonder why we all waited for Mr. Veiller to put the day's front page stories into so many scenes, and have the year's best play.

The courtroom has always been a year-round producer of drama. Its poignant appeal, born of the constant possibility of excitement, has not been dulled by the scenic effects accomplished by the silken era. An exhaustive examination of the record of recent trials in the country might show that the frantic rush for front seats at Mary Dugan's trial could not be copyrighted. The "butter and egg" man and the "sugar papa" whose home life has lost its luster are not exactly innovations in post-bellum America.

The astute Mr. Veiller therefore deciphered the large, clear handwriting in which the demand was registered, and "The Trial of Mary Dugan" has competed successfully even with the Hardinge-Livingston production at Chicago, and other equally riotous hits.

With the exception of two or three minor scenes, the entire action of the play is confined to the courtroom. A uniformly strong cast endows the trial with undeniable realism, suggestive of the sensational reaction of the crowds which witnessed the legitimate productions. Norma Shearer, the Follies star in Veiller's play, reveals the dramatic possibilities of just sitting in a plain chair.

Around the person of Mary Dugan the three attorneys, played by H. B. Warner, Raymond Hackett and Lewis Stone, wage a complex legal battle which provides the much-desired mystery element. It was a close shave for young Jimmy in his first case, for the district attorney became downright venomous in his treatment of Mary.

Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackaill, who lightened materially a vacationless summer with a refreshing performance in "Two Weeks Off" at the Strand recently, will open at the Olympic Sunday in "Children of the Ritz." This story, compiled by Cornell Woolrich, dragged down a heavy first prize in a contest conducted by "College Humor"—$10,000, which has some weight. Our Jack will represent the laboring millions in Jimmie Walker's town, while Dorothy Mackaill will prove the true democracy of Miss New York in affairs of the heart.

$8,020 Claim Based On Oil Field Accident

J. F. Preston Friday afternoon filed suit against the Texas Employers Insurance association for $8,020 compensation in connection with an oil field accident near here on Dec. 18, 1928.

The plaintiff claims to have permanently lost the use of his left hand and arm when the arm was pierced by the tongue of a hand truck in the field while he was in the employ of the Lone Star Tool company. One finger was amputated as a result of the injury, and the arm permanently disabled, Mr. Preston asserts. He asks for payment of $20 a week for 401 weeks, seeking collection in a lump sum.

RACQUETEERS TO MEET AUG. 16

Tennis Players to Plan For State Meet Here

A meeting of all tennis players who wish to take part in the state meet to be held in Wichita Falls, Aug. 16 and 17 will be held at the office of the city park department in the Memorial auditorium Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock. Plans for the state meet will be made and drawings for those players who will enter the elimination events to begin Monday will be held at the meeting, it was announced by C. C. Frazee, city recreational director.

Preparations for the meet, which is being sopnsored by the Texas Amateur Athletic federation have been completed here by the park department. The six new tennis courts, said to be the best in the city, have been completed at the Junior college campus and will be ready for use during the meet. Eighteen gold medals, bearing the seal of the T. A. A. F., have been received and will be presented to the winners of each event. The only remaining preparations for the meet are the elimination contests for Wichita Falls entrants and the invitation and registration of players from other Texas cities, Mr Frazee said.

Weed Cutting Again Urged by Officials

The large amount of weeds and rank grass in alleys and unused portions of lots has brought a second plea from officials of the city health department that citizens of Wichita Falls cut away all weeds from property adjoining their homes. Mosquitoes, tarantulas, spiders and other insects, as well as snakes and small reptiles, breed easily in rank weeds and grass, it was pointed out Friday by Dr. J. M. Farrell, chief inspector.

The cutting of weeds would help in the prevention of disease and remove a large amount of danger from poisonous bites from insects and snakes, it was said. Moreover, weeds and unkempt grass form an unsightly appearance for the residential part of the city. The cutting of weeds in August would prevent seeding and therefore reduce the amount of such rank growth next summer, Dr. Farrell stated.

Financial Committee Of Chest Meets Monday

A meeting of the financial committee of the community chest will be held in the directors room of the City National bank building at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, it was announced Friday by Miss Myrle Neely, executive secretary. A discussion of accounts will be held and the monthly checks will be issued to recipient organizations, it was said.

MIZELL VIEWS DAIRY HERDS

Expert Visits Larger Farms Of District

John L. Mizell, newly employed dairy expert for the county, spent his first active day in the county Friday in the inspection of a number of the most important dairy herds near the city. He visited the J. T. Harrell herd, the Hartsook stock, and the herd at the Wichita Falls state hospital.

The inspections marked the beginning of a survey of all the dairy stock in the county which is to be the first work of the expert before he begins the task of organization and improvement. He is to work in the office of G. C. McGown, county agent, in the basement of the courthouse. His first report to the county commissioners is expected on Monday of next week.

Agreement Reached On Child Desertion Charge

By an agreement between the district attorney's office and defense attorneys, Bill Palmer, indicted for child desertion, Friday afternoon agreed to pay $5 a week toward the support of his two minor children. Failure to meet the payments ordered by Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court, will mean the prosecution of the indictment returned by the 30th district grand jury here last week, Palmer was informed.

Swimming Party Planned By Big Brothers Club

A swimming party for the members of the Rotary Big Brothers club will be held at Westmoreland park pool Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced Friday by W. B. Ward, chairman of the Rotary boys' work committee. About 50 boys will attend. A picnic supper and an entertainment will be given by the members of the boys' work committee, Mr. Ward said.

Dalhart Youth Wins Sharpshooting Honors

DALHART, Texas, Aug. 2. (AP)—Malcolm C. Wynne, Dalhart youth, who won third place in the sharpshooters' contest conducted at the C. M. T. camp at Fort Logan, Colo., last week, will go to Camp Perry, Ohio, for the national guard contest this month. Donald Moore and Red Hagood, two other Dalhart boys, made good records at Fort Logan in sharpshooting.

Houston-San Antonio Air Line Opens Oct. 1

HOUSTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Regular air passenger service between San Antonio and Houston will be inaugurated Oct. 1 by the Texas Air Transport company, W. A. Moores, field representative, has announced.

Moores said that a fleet of new planes would be used on the line which would place Houston within two hours of the Alamo city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jones Friday took the first steps toward the legal adoption of the baby boy who was left asleep on their door step, at 1317 North First street, almost three months ago.

The baby was about three weeks old at the time the Jones' opened their front door shortly after midnight on May 14, to find him deserted there. Since that time they have searched in vain for his parents, trying to find a way for a legal adoption. Meanwhile, the youngster has thrived in the home and the foster parents have become more and more anxious to make sure they could keep him always.

L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, explained to them Friday that a petition asking that the baby be declared a dependent and neglected child by the district court here would make it possible for him to be legally assigned to their care. The petition was filed at once and will be acted upon by the court on Saturday, Aug. 10, Mr. Abernathy declared. If no word is heard from the parents before the hearing, the future of the baby will be definitely determined by the court, the attorney said.

San Angelo Packing Plant, Based On Wichita's, to Be Constructed Soon

Construction of the proposed $100,000 meat packing plant at San Angelo will begin in the near future it was stated in a letter received Friday by Dr. J. M. Farrell, chief inspector of the city health department, from Dr. R. L. Rogers, sanitary inspector of San Angelo.

A meat ordinance modeled on that of Wichita Falls was passed on final reading at a meeting of the city council of San Angelo a few days ago, the letter stated. A delegation of city officers and citizens of San Angelo were in Wichita Falls several weeks ago for the purpose of gathering data on methods used at the local packing plant, on the type of health ordinance in force and on the methods of enforcing the ordinance. Their findings were incorporated in large part in the plans for the San Angelo plant. Included among the delegation were Dr. Rogers and J. W. Lammey, who will construct the new plant.

The San Angelo abattoir will include a modern poultry division, a complete dry-rendering unit and a modern slaughter house, as well as complete facilities for refrigeration, the letter indicated. It is proposed to organize a stock company with Mr. Lammey at the head, Dr. Farrell said. The message expressed appreciation to the Wichita Falls health department and especially to Dr. Farrell for their aid in gathering data for the San Angelo plant.

Wichita Falls News Boys Guests Of Traction Company for Frolic Today

About 100 newsboys and members of the Lions club boys' band will be entertained at Lakeside park Saturday night with free pop, hamburgers, sandwiches and access to all the amusement features of the park, the transportation and frolic having been arranged by L. L. Allbritton, manager of the Wichita Falls Traction company.

The Lions club band under the direction of Paul Seeds, will assemble at the Times and Record News building at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will play several numbers while the newsboys gather for the party. A parade down Scott avenue and Eighth street to the corner of Ohio avenue and Eighth will be led by the band with the youthful news vendors in march formation behind. At that corner they will board a special street car bound for the lake.

At the park, the boys will be given free run of the amusement devices and will be served with all the requisites of a proper newsboys' celebration, including pop in assorted colors, hamburgers in the usual color and other eats in their natural colors. The band will play for a concert at the coliseum during the evening.

The frolic, made possible by Mr. Allbritton, will be supervised by Noble Gray, newspaper and magazine dealer, W. E. Rutlege, circulation manager for the Times and Record News, and Bill Turnbow, assistant circulation manager.

JURY WHEEL NAMES PICKED

Judge Cook Assigns Work Of Selection

The annual task of filling the wheel from which juries for the three district courts here will be drawn throughout the coming year was begun Friday morning when Judge W. W. Cook called together the officials in charge of the work. The district and county clerks, the sheriff, the tax collector and the tax assessor, or their deputies, are assigned the duty of preparing the names that go into the wheel, the judge explained.

The names are supplied from the full poll tax roll, as prepared by the assessor's office. From the roll of qualified voters the names are transcribed by the official committee and later placed in the jury wheel, to be drawn out from time to time during the court terms of the year. The task must be completed and the wheel filled by Aug. 15, Judge Cook declared.

JUNIOR C.-C. HOLDS MEET

Membership of 400 Set As Goal for Fall

Interest in the purposes and activities of the Junior chamber of commerce was attested by the attendance of a large number at the first weekly membership luncheon held Friday noon at the Kemp hotel, when committee reports reflected the various endeavors to which the organization is devoting its efforts.

Walter Nelson Jr., president of the junior chamber, emphasized in a brief address the importance of close acquaintance among the members, and the value of weekly membership meetings at least for a considerable period as a means of developing such association.

Programs which have been given regularly on Saturday nights from 7:30 to 8 o'clock were reported by T. J. Waggoner and Temple Shell, who have been in charge of that activity. During those periods emphasis has been placed on the fact that the junior chamber was organized for the purpose of supplementing the work of the senior organiaztion, and assisting it in all phases of its program.

Recent trade trips made to Archer City and to several cities in Oklahoma were discussed by Frank Haley and A. D. Lightsey. "These visits are made for the purpose of making our trade territory "Wichita Falls minded," said Mr. Lightsey, "and we can afford to send even larger delegations on future trade trips than those which went to Archer City and Lawton."

The athletic committee also has gotten under way with a program designed to foster greater interest in high school and college football here, it was said.

Names as prospective members were requested by Jerry Vinson, representing the membership committee. An objective of 400 members by the end of this year has been set, it was stated.

Hubert Harrison and Harry Hines, representing the senior chamber, spoke briefly with regard to plans now being formulated by that body, and asking the support of the junior membership in carrying out the adopted program.

The committee on numbering houses on the Iowa Park road was asked to meet Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Entertainment at Friday's luncheon was furnished by the Texas male quartet.
