Democrats Elect Convention Delegates

Three delegates will represent Collingsworth County at the State Democratic Convention, where it will be determined if Gary Hart or Walter Mondale will be Texas' choice for president.

The delegate election came at the County Democratic Convention held Saturday, May 19.

Under party rules, two of these will go as delegates for Gary Hart and one for Mondale.

County Democratic Chairman Doug Seal and Sam Adams were elected the delegates representing Hart and Billye Owens, the delegate for Mondale.

The same rules cover election of alternates. Lorene Jenkins was elected first alternate for Hart and Jeanice Adams second alternate.

Tommy Hudson is the alternate for Mondale.

The opening business of the convention was election of Rudie Tate as permanent chairman of the convention and Lorene Jenkins as permanent secretary.

Other resolutions were:

"that to help pay for the higher cost of education and highway improvement, we pass a new severance tax on gas and oil at the refinery. These tax monies would be sent to school districts in amounts determined by school district numbered students. And monies for Highways be approtioned as needed."

Resolution No. 2 noted that the intent of the primary election process is that every voter have an opportunity to vote, that under the present Texas process it is difficult to express their preference for presidential candidates in the Democratic precinct convention, which are attended by only a small percentage of the Democrats participating in the precinct convention and presidential caucus, then said: "That in future Democratic Primary Elections, the names of Presidential candidates be placed on the ballot during the Democratic Election."

No. 3: "We advocate not less than 90% parity

History Book Newsletters Mailed

The Collingsworth County History committee announced that the official newsletter requesting family histories for the book have been mailed. There are over 4,000 names on the mailing list made from various sources.

The WHS typing class, under direction of Mrs. Rubye Hodges, has helped the book committee and other volunteers to type the mailing labels for the newsletters.

"If you did not receive a letter, or know of people who did not receive one, names and addresses may be left at the Chamber of Commerce office at 914 West Avenue, Wellington," said Mrs. Evelyn King.

Each family unit may have a free space of 500 words with one picture in the County History book.

Here are a few suggestions to help with the word count: do not count two-letter words, such as "an-be-to-at," but the two-letter titles are counted as a word, such as "Lt., Dr. Mr."--do not count one character number such as 1-9---initials are counted as one word, such as "J.B."---World War II is counted as three words, but WW II is counted as two words. If a word is hypenated at the end of a line, it is counted as two words."

Mrs. King also reported that a picture of any size may be submitted with the history, as large ones will be made into a smaller size without hurting the picture. Original photos are not encouraged to be sent, and only black and white photos can be used. All pictures will be returned to owners when the book is published.

The Chamber of Commerce, the Commissioners Court, and the Kiwanis Club have donated to the expense of mailing the newsletters, and for other incidentals which will include a variety of items.

Copies made of each history for protection against loss.

Many orders for the history book are being received, and the book is on a pre-sale basis only," said Mrs. King.

June 30 is the deadline for histories and book orders to be received.

Accounts are set up in both the City State Bank and Wellington State Bank.

Members of the book committee have been trained in appearing before groups and organizations to discuss the project, and clubs or other groups wishing more information may invite one or more of them to appear.

Big Absentee Vote Urged

Absentee Voting in the Second Democratic Primary opened Wednesday, May 23, and the last day to cast an absentee ballot by personal appearance is Tuesday, May 29.

Although this is a calendar week, there are only four days available for voting, Helen Gollihugh, county-district clerk, points out. Friday and Saturday are the regular week and Monday, May 28, is the official Memorial Day, a legal holiday.

Voting will be in the clerk's office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Mrs. Gollihugh said the office will be open during the noon hour.

Several people came to the office Tuesday, one day early, trying to vote.

There is only one local race on the ballot and only voters of Commissioner's Precinct 3 will be able to vote in that race. Candidates for that race, in the order that they appear on the ballot, are Elvis Pitts and Bill Lowe, the incumbent.

The major race on the unusually short ballot is that to determine if Kent Hance or Lloyd Doggett will be the Democratic nominee for United States Senator.

Seal considers this the race of major importance as a successor to Senator John Tower is at stake.

Mrs. John Coleman, immediate past Democratic County Chairman said it could be "the most important race we will ever vote in."

Other races on the ballot are for Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place: W.C. Bill Davis and Roy E. Grenwood, Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place 3: Thomas B. "Tom" Thorpe and Bill White.

The graduation will be held in Wellington High School auditorium.

The class will present its own program, with the student speakers being Britt Schmidt, valedictorian, and Denise Wilks, salutatorian. Denise will welcome the families and friends of the eighth grade, and after the class sings, Britt will give the valedictory address.

Shelly Thomas will play the processional and class member Marvin Brown will give the invocation.

Mr. Allen will present the class to Supt. Kenneth McKay, who in turn will award the diplomas to the students.

Leslie Black will give the benediction and Carrie Langford will play the recessional.

Dozier Ex-Students Hold First Reunion Friday

Ex-students of the Dozier School will meet Friday evening and Saturday, May 25 and 26, for the first reunion to be held since it was established as a little one-room school on Dozier Creek 91 years ago.

It was one of the first schools opened in Collingsworth and served that part of the county 48 years.

Reunion activities will be in the Samnorwood School gymnasium and cafeteria, with between 150 and 200 expected to attend.

They will begin gathering in the cafeteria Friday about 7 p.m. to visit as late as they wish.

They will return Saturday morning for more visiting until the barbecue luncheon is served at noon, also in the cafeteria. Tickets will be $4.25 per person. The meal will be catered by a former Dozier resident, Helen Carreker Williams and her husband, Carroll Williams, now of Dumas.

A business meeting will be held at 2 p.m. with a former Dozier student and teacher, D.V. Biggers of Pampa, in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Brown of Wellington will attend if his health permits. They taught at Dozier from 1926 until the school became part of Samnorwood Rural High School District. Attending with them will be three of his four brothers and a sister. All went to Dozier School to their brother.

These are Sampy Brown of Sacramento , Ca., Dr. Olie Brown of Riverside, Ca., Urban Brown of Tahoka and Mrs. Ruby Adams of Lynwood, Ca., and her daughter, Shirley Belger. Her son, Dick Voyles of New Orelans will join them, but not in time for the reunion. The youngest brother Clois Brown of Colton, Ca., will be unable to attend.

Most of the Coleman family is expected and several former teachers have said they will come if they can.

Dozier School has the distinction of having been moved 6 times.

Mrs. Lois Simpson of Samnorwood, whose new book, The Samnorwood Saga, has been published and the first shipment is enroute to the author, provided the information.

In the section on Dozier, Mrs. Simpson has established that the first Dozier School was founded in 1893, on Dozier Creek about two miles west of the present Samnorwood. That location was for the children from Bradley Flat to also attend school.

The first Dozier teacher was an 18-year-old girl from Clifford, west of Wellington. She was Seigniora (Nonie) Russell who later married a Mr. Laun and moved with her lawyer husband to Woodward, Okla. She was the author of "Sand in My Eyes."

The first move was in 1897 to the Coleman home place; after the turn of the History Book Meeting at Dodson Called for May 29

All people who are interested in preserving the history of Dodson and the families involved are urged to attend a meeting Tuesday, May 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dodson American Legion Building.

"Some families have already done their family histories, but it will be worth while if they will attend this meeting to encourage others," said Mrs. Murray Dodson, who is working with the History Book program for the Dodson area.

Mrs. Evelyn King, county history book chairman, Corky Bowen and other committee members will be there to explain any questions those from the Dodson area might have.

century the school moved to the C.H. Caperton land. The school moved a fourth time in 1909 to what is now the Frank Massey land; the fifth move was in 1912 when the district was bonded, and the school was relocated across the road and a two room building, divided by a canvas curtain, was built. For the first time, Dozier was a two-teachers school.

With the increase of population, the school moved for the 6th and last time, across the corner to A.F. Wischkaemper land. A four-room brick school was built. Clyde Brown was hired as principal, his wife, Ruth was a teacher and another teacher was D.V. Biggers, Brown's former student. Mrs. Brown recalled this week that other teachers were Mrs. Johnny Brown, no relation to the C.C. Browns, and Mrs. Jim (Mabel) Biggs.

In 1931, the school had 120 students, two basketball teams, and won the loving cup for having the most points in County Interscholastic League.

Consolidation of many of the schools into Samnorwood School was completed by 1935 and Dozier High School students attended the new school.

Dozier Elementary School remained until 1941, when Samnorwood Elementary building was finished and Dozier children also moved to the central school.

The last two students to graduate from Dozier grade school were Zola Francies Tate and Howard Francies.

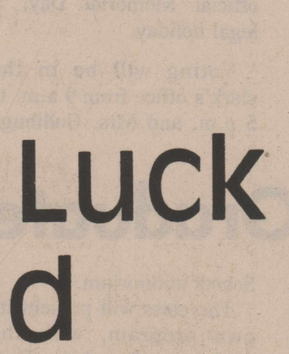

Members of the committee who have worked on the reunion are Willie Massey Turner of Amarillo and the Massey Home place; Dorothy Sechrist Darrow, Dozier; Shorty Sechrist of Wheeler; Bart Martindale of Shamrock and David Clark of Dozier.

Girl Scout Day Camp May 28-June 1

Wellington Girls Scouts, Brownies and other girls interested in a few days of outdoor activities, will hold their Day Camp at Pioneer Park from Monday through Friday, May 28-June 1, according to Mrs. Darrell Colson, one of those who will be in charge.

The girls will leave the front entrance of Elementary School each morning at 9 a.m., arriving at Pioneer Park at 9:30.

They will return home each day at 2:30 p.m. except for Friday, and on that day they will leave for the camp at 3 p.m.

That will be the day they invite their parents to bring a picnic lunch and the entire family will be there for an evening picnic.

"The girls will show their parents what they have done," said Mrs. Colson.

There will be a guest each day to present a program.

On Monday, Lameda Black will hold a special class on lashing.

Tuesday, Chief Deputy Sheriff Ray Akemon will give a program on safety. Marshall Peters will come Wednesday to teach the girls first aid.

There will be a cook-out Thursday, when the girls will plan their own lunch, make the centerpiece, prepare and cook all their food and wash their dishes.

There will be a special program through the week, "Hug a Tree." This is to teach the girls what to do if they should get lost or stranded in the wilderness, or become separated from their parents.

More adult volunteers are needed.

The day camp is for registered Girl Scouts, but any other girl who is interested in the day camp program can enroll, Mrs. Colson explained.

The registration fee for Girl Scouts is $10 each or $12 for each non-scout.

Girls should be registered ahead of time and they must have their parents sign a medical release in the event that a child must be taken for medical treatment.

Those with questions should contact Mrs. Colson by calling 447-5241, or Mrs. Walter Clement, 447-5724, or they may contact Mrs. Mickey Vassey at her home.

Resolution No. 4 noted that some changes are needed in the Social Security System dealing with Medicare: "We ask that the amount paid upon entering the hospital not be raised any more than the percent of cost of living and the Social Security raise and not be charged more than once in any given calendar year for admittance.

The final resolution thanked Henry Wells, and Virginioa Robey of The Wellington Leader for their excellent coverage of our County Democratic business and affairs."

All resolutions passed unanimously.

Extended Coverage

What with cooking and electrical appliances in most kitchens, it's little wonder many fires start in that room. Fire prevention is part of kitchen planning. For example, you'll rarely find a window--with its breezes and curtain--near a stove.

* * *

First aid for top-of-the-stove fires is a pot cover. Most times that will smother the flames if the fire is small and confined to a pot or pan.

* * *

Every kitchen should have an all-purpose fire extinguisher on hand. Do not hesitate to call the fire department. Many large fires grow from small fires which got out of control because the fire department wasn't called soon enough. Keep an "escape route" for yourself between the fire and the door.

Mr., Mrs. Bill Hill Combine Events Into One Celebration

Mr. Hill celebrated his 80th birthday, although the actual date is May 20.

It was also the 44th wedding anniversary for Bill and Roxie Hill, and it celebrated her birthday also, although the date is May 26. Additionally, for the Hills and their children, and grandchildren, it was a celebration of Mother's Day.

Guests began arriving Friday, and the high point came with family members, other relatives, and friends from the years they lived in the Needwood Community and since they have moved into Wellington several years ago.

In the evening, the family members and guests who wished to join them drove to the Hill farm at Needwood to see a new fence. Some of it replaces wire put up approximately 50 years ago. Other wire that was replaced had been strung by the Mill Iron Ranch before it sold part of its land to farmers.

Those present for the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Hill; their son, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hill of Jacksonville and two sons, Rocky Hill of Huntsville and Kevin Hill of Waco; the Hills' daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Floyd with Suzanne and Kandace of Abernathy.

Other relatives and friends present were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bunch of Lake Tanglewood, Mrs. Charley Hill, Mrs. Harald Hill of Shamrock, Mrs. Ilene Brinkley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. Nell Slay and Virginia Robey.

- Swimming lessons should have top priority. Professional instruction usually works best. Never allow children to swim or play in water without adult supervision.
- Be wary about overexposure to the sun during the first few weeks at the beach. Keep hats, robes and cotton sweaters handy for covering up.

He explained how such a pictorial family history can be worked up.

In another segment of the film, Karnes included some of his own paintings, done since he has lived in Dallas.

Mrs. Robert Barjenbruch, conducted the meeting which she opened with a group of humorous sayings.

The opening prayer was by Mrs. Ray Clubb, members answered roll call by quoting favorite verses of scripture; Mrs. R.H. Ball gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Charles Cason the report of the friendship committee.

Hughes Discusses Care of Damaged Lawns and Shrubs

Mike Hughes, nursery owner and landscaper, presented the program on landscaping and caring for lawns and shrubs when members of Wellington Garden Club met Wednesday, May 2 at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Charles Michael and Mrs. Mamie Terry were hostesses in the Heritage Room.

Hughes stated that when there are dead patches in a lawn, one should buy seed and sow these places, water them good, and the grass will soon come back.

He also said that home owners often mow grass without letting it seed and that is why it dies out. "You should let it go to seed more and reseed itself," Hughes said.

"As long as your neighbors have weeds, you will have weeds too, he said. He also advised that wood chips be put around shrubs to hold moisture.

Hughes gave the club two shrubs to be drawn for. Mrs. Deloyce Savage drew the honeysuckle and Mrs. C.R. DeArmond the pyracantha.

After the program, Mrs. Terry, president, conducted the business and members answered roll call by telling how they care for rose bushes.

Mrs. Charles Cason gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Michael the treasurer's report.

Members were quizzed on "Your garden know how," directed by Lorene Jenkins.

Each member was given a copy of "America, the What?" describing what littering does to the country.

Mrs. Terry reminded each member to take a bouquet of iris to a business house around the square as a part of the annual irish show.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Savage, Mrs. E.F. Bartlett, Mrs. Bill Harbin, Mrs. John E. Forbis, Mrs. Charles Cason, Mrs. Annie Caison, Mrs. DeArmond, Mrs. Michael, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Ray Clubb, Mrs. Dorothy McGuirk and Mrs. Terry.

A story on another page in this week's paper reports on Lindi Wolf taking 6th place in the Alaska state spelling bee. The words she spelled to get that title included axolotl, slumgullion and kyoodle, and I began to wonder if those words really were in the dictionary.

Sure enough, my trusty 1948 edition of Webster's New International, defines axolotl as "any of several larval salamanders...found in the mountain lakes of Mexico and the western United States. It ordinarily lives and breeds in the larval condition, but is capable, when the pond it inhabits dries up, of gradually losing the gills and fins, while beginning to breathe air at the surface, and of eventually emerging as an adult salamander. It is esteemed as a food by the natives of Mexico." Nifty fellow.

Slumgullion turns out to be an "an insipid drink, as weak tea or coffee" or "meat stew with vegetables, as potatoes and onions."

But kyoodle remains a mystery. Neither the 1948 dictionary nor the 1983 Webster's Ninth New Collegiate Dictionary yields a clue. If anyone finds out what a kyoodle is, please give me a call.

Here's a note to graduating seniors on the myriad opportunities that can be theirs if they so choose.

Karen Elliott House, who grew up in Matador, Texas, this spring won a Pulitzer Prize, the highest journalistic honor in the nation, for coverage of the Middle East in the spring of 1983, and particularly for a series of articles on King Hussein of Jordan and his pivotal role in President Reagan's Middle East peace plan. Mrs. House was the Wall Street Journal's diplomatic correspondent when she wrote the prize-winning articles.

Mrs. House, 36, was born in Matador and graduated from Matador High School. She began her journalism career by working at the Matador Tribune, and received a bachelor of journalism degree from The University of Texas at Austin. She worked for The Dallas Morning News before joining the Wall Street Journal's Washington bureau in 1974. There she covered regulatory agencies, energy, environment and agriculture before becoming diplomatic correspondent in 1978. She became the Wall Street Journal's assistant foreign editor in 1983 and became foreign editor earlier this year.

Not everyone will choose such a career path, but this story is a reminder of the hundreds of possibilities that are available to Wellington High School graduates this commencement season.

There was a good deal of discussion at the Democratic County Convention about how to get voters to turn out on the June 2 primary runoff date. Faye Horton says she'll be happy to give anybody a ride to the polling place who will vote the way she tells them.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Vocational training in public schools is under the gun as a special legislative session approaches. A strong effort is being made to discredit vocational education because of the few minor problems common to all large programs.

The Select Committee on Public Education has criticized vocational education for having special rules which prevent the use of teachers to instruct nonvocational classes or to perform nonvocational education duties. Another criticism is that vocational facilities cannot be used for any purpose other than vocational education.

Federal regulations, which once prohibited the use of vocational education teachers and facilities for nonvocational education purposes have been changed. It is no longer a prohibition. The State Board of Education, through its rules process, is now moving to allow schools to use vocational education teachers and facilities in nonvocational education areas.

The State Board of Education, responding to the results of a 1981 legislative mandated study of vocational education in Texas, has recently undertaken action to correct many of the problems currently cited by the Select Committee.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The State Democratic Executive Committee met this week to certify the results of the May 5 Democratic primary, but left town with the outcome of the U.S. Senate race still as confusing as ever.

If you remember, that campaign ended up in virtually a deadlock between the three major candidates —State Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin, former Congressman Bob Krueger of New Braunfels and current U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock.

Hance surprised most political observers by edging out Doggett as the frontrunner. Most Capitol politicos had considered Krueger the favorite right up to election time.

However, the result of the SDEC's canvass of the vote changed things slightly.

After discovering a foul up in Willacy County tabulations, the SDEC put Doggett ahead of Hance with 456,018 votes to Hance's 455,621, and Krueger's 454,578.

That still means Hance and Doggett will face off in the June 2 runoff, but it does upset Hance's frontrunner apple cart.

Not to worry, however, because SDEC members say that those "new" figures are liable to change again.

The committee expects updated figures to be received from Dallam County in the Texas Panhandle to flip-flop the order again.

Which means Hance probably will regain the lead.

But that's not the end of the story.

While Hance and Doggett are fretting over who's going to get to call himself the frontrunner, Krueger is expected to ask for a full recount.

Krueger, who came so close to unseating Republican U.S. Sen. John Tower in 1978, said he would seek only a verification of the vote in only those counties that used voting machines, punch-card ballots and tabulated votes by computer.

Apparently, with all the uncertainty over the totals —and trailing by only a thousand votes—Krueger may feel he cannot afford not to seek a recount.

Illegal Aliens

Meanwhile, the campaign between the two "apparent" runoff contestants continues to degenerate into a one issue race —that issue being illegal immigration.

Most political observers credit Hance's late April media blitz, which zeroed in on that issue, for getting the Lubbock Democrat into the runoff.

Hance pounded, and pounded hard, on the issue of amnesty for those illegal aliens who have been in the U.S. several years.

Now, Doggett has begun to take Hance to task on the very same issue.

Doggett called a press conference to point out that—even though Hance has made his opposition to amnesty the major campaign issue—Hance has not attempted to proffer his own solution to the problem.

Hance countered by releasing a list of amendments he has offered to the immigration reform bill to be debated in Congress this June.

Doggett was not long in counter-attacking again by pointing out that those amendments were not filed until three days after the primary.

Whether we will hear again of any other issues in this campaign—such as inflation, unemployment, foreign policy or any of the dozens of other pressing problems facing the country—seems doubtful at this point.

Direct Primary

As for the other major election squabble, the issue of Texas Democrats holding a direct presidential primary for selecting delegates to their national convention apparently has been put to rest, at least until November.

The party's executive committee voted down a resolution supporting such primaries and, instead, authorized state party chairman Bob Slagle to appoint a special commission to study the issue after this year's elections are history.

That commission's study, which will be turned over to the Legislature in 1985, may or may not result in the controversial party caucus system being scrapped in favor of a binding primary.

With Slagle apparently dead set against any change that is not accompanied by a requirement that voters register according to party affiliation—thereby keeping Republicans from crossing over and influencing Democratic primaries—it seems doubtful that the idea will get much support.

But the main backer of the primary idea, Democratic County Chairmen's Association president Mel Phillips, says primary supporters will succeed eventually.

While there was some sentiment for the idea among committee members, it was put on the back burner for the sake of party unity and Democratic hopes of getting Ronald Reagan out of the White House and "turncoat" Phil Gramm out of Washington altogether.

Special Session

While the politicos were still slugging it out in the election arena, Gov. Mark White once again failed to set the date for the anxiously awaited special session that is to deal with sweeping education reforms and the governor's $4.8 billion tax package.

White has been expected to name June 4 as the starting date but, as week follows week, that date is looking less and less likely.

More than one Capital observer, including at least one source close to House Speaker Gib Lewis, has speculated that the session might never materialize.

Considering the anti-tax hike feelings in the House, that may not be too far-fetched.

THOMAS' ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON --- Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes May 3-10.

HOUSE

POWER The House rejected, 176 for and 214 against, an amendment to stop the provision of low-cost electricity from the Hoover Dam to some 10 million southern California, Arizona and Nevada consumers. The amendment called for selling the government power by competitive bidding when a 50-year contract expires in 1987.

Not voting: Kika De la Garza, D-15 and Kent Hance, D-19.

MILITARY By a vote of 207 for and 208 against, the House rejected an amendment to spend less on the category of military aid that goes primarily to Third World countries. The amendment sought to save $164.8 million by freezing fiscal 1985 outlays at the 1984 level of $422.5 million. It did not affect aid to Central America, Israel or Egypt.

Voting yes: Hightower, De la Graza, Stenholm.

Not voting: Hance.

EL SALVADOR By a vote of 212 for and 208 against, the House gave President Reagan a big victory by approving some $261 million in fiscal 1984-85 military aid to El Salvador. This followed House rejection of a Democratic plan to provide no additional aid this fiscal year and link 1985 aid to a better human rights performance by the Salvadoran government. The amendment was attached to HR 5119 (above).

Members voting yes supported the president's military aid request for El Salvador.

Voting yes: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholm.

Not voting: Hance.

SENATE

DEFICIT On a tie vote of 49-49, the Senate rejected a Democratic alternative to President Reagan's deficit-reduction package. The rejected plan was to use tax hikes and spending cuts to reduce the deficit by $204 billion over three years, compared to the president's $144 billion reduction.

SOCIAL SECURITY The Senate rejected, 23 for and 72 against, a deficit-reduction plan that sought large savings primarily by limiting cost-of-living increases in entitlement programs such as Social Security, military and civil service pensions and federal workers' compensation. Its defense cuts were comparable to those contained in the president's plan (above).

Bentsen voted no. Tower voted no.

WASHINGTON -- Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes May 10-17.

HOUSE

RELIGIOUS By a vote of 270 for and 151 against, the House failed to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to pass a bill (HR 5345) opening the way for voluntary student religious meetings in high schools.

Members voting yes wanted a federal law insuring that high school religious groups could meet voluntarily in school facilities.

Voting yes: Jack High tower, D-13, Kika De la Garza, D-15, Charles Stenholm, D-17.$

Not voting: Kent Hance, D-19.

MX The House rejected, 212 for and 218 against, an amendment to halt the MX missile program by deleting all money for the weapon's continued production from the fiscal 1984 military authorization bill.

Members voting yes wanted to halt the MX missile program.

Voting no: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholm.

Not voting: Hance.

COMPROMISE By a vote of 229 for and 199 against, the House approved a compromise that President Reagan and his House allies accepted to save fiscal 1985 funding of the MX missile. Fifteen missiles would be funded, rather than the 40 advocated by the president and the 30 favored by the House Armed Services Committee.

Members voting yes supported continued MX production.

Voting yes: Hightower, De la Garza, Stenholm.

Not voting: Hance.

SENATE

DOWN PAYMENT By a vote of 74 for and 23 against, the Senate passed and sent to conference with the House a fiscal plan (HR 2163) to take a $142 billion bite out of the $600 billion or more in additional deficits projected over the next three years.

Most senators voting no thought the $142 billion plan did not go far enough in slowing the growth of deficit spending.

CRAIG DARTER

Darter Enters TTU Medical School in July

He has been accepted by Texas Tech University School of Medicine and will begin his studies there on July 30.

In his senior year, Darter was president of Alpha Epsilon Delta, an honorary society for pre-medical students, and was reporter when he was a junior. He was also a member of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society for those in the top 10 percent of the junior and senior classes.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Darter, Darter was on the Dean's List the entire time he was in Tech and on the President's Honor Roll the last semester. In the 1982-83 year he received a $250 scholarship awarded by the Lubbock-Crosby-Garza counties Medical Society.

From January through May, Darter worked in the TTU Health Science Center as a research assistant in physiology.

Pictures of Old Interiors Sought

Interest in preserving and restoring historic buildings has reached every corner of Texas. However, it is still difficult for people who care about Texas' heritage to find photographic documentation on buildings because material is scattered over the state.

But now the largest collection of interior photographs of Texas homes and public buildings to date is being compiled. Already more than 300 views have been located and more are being sought both in public and in private photographic collections. Area residents have a chance to use their old photographs to help this effort, said Loretta Wright, a member of the Collingsworth County Historical Committee.

This project, "Images of Victorian Texas: 1860-1920," which has the support of many preservationist groups throughout the state, aims to locate photographs of the interiors of Texas buildings, especially houses, taken before 1920.

These interior views show what kinds of furniture, draperies, carpets and accessories were in use at a point in time in a specific place. They document characteristic room arrangements, seasonal changes, special efforts to accommodate the climate as well as ethnic and regional variations in interiors.

As many people know, interior photographs are rare when compared with the number of surviving portrait photographs and exterior building views.

Some interior photos survive in library and archival collections but many interior views are in individual collections and in family photograph albums. Dr. Cynthia Brandimarte, director of the project, is eager to hear from individuals or institutions that have interior photographs taken between 1860 and 1920.

She wants to make sure that interiors from all areas of Texas and interiors of all groups of people are well-represented in the publication produced from this research.

If you have, or know someone who has, such photographs, please write to Dr. Cynthia Brandimarte, Images of Victorian Texas: 1860-1920, Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, Box 967, W.T. Station, Canyon, Texas 79016 or call (806) 359-8618, or they may call Loretta Wright, member Collingsworth County Historical Committee, at 447-2077.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT

NEW CATTLE WORMING DRUG AVAILABLE

A new compound is now available for controlling interal and external parasites of cattle.

The product, marketed as IVOMEC, is available only through veterinarians. It is 1 percent ivermectic formulated in a sterile solution for subcutaneous injection in cattle. The compound has a wide safety margin in cattle, calves, pregnant cows and even heavily parasitized animals, but it is not approved for use in female dairy cattle of breeding age. Cattle or calves should not be treated within 35 days of slaughter of human consumption.

A single injection at the recommended dose controls both the immature and adult stages of many common internal worms--including the brown stomach worm---as well as many external parasites. However, it has no measurable effect on flukes and tapeworms. But these two parasites cause little in this area of Texas.

As with all products for controlling cattle grubs, proper timing of treatment is critical. Cattle should be treated with IVOMEC as soon as possible after the end of the heel fly season. Animals may be treated during the winter months for internal parasites, mange mites or lice without danger of grub-related reactions.

Softball League Meeting Thursday

The Wellington Softball League should begin play either the first or second week of June, according to Richard Sims, president.

"It looks like we will have four teams, and probably will be playing a double header each Monday night, one game at 8 p.m. and the other at 9.

Sims has called a meeting for Thursday at 8 p.m. at Marian Airport Ball Park to finish cleaning up the grounds and to find out which players intend to play.

There are still places open on the teams and anyone who would like to play is urged to come out to the ball park.

"You're more than welcome," Sims said. "If you want to play, come on out and we'll get you on a team."

Anyone wanting more information should call Sims, Lanny Ford

JOAN COCHRAN

Joan Cochran Valedictorian of CJC Class

The Valedictorian of this year's graduating class at Clarendon College was Wellington's Joan Cochran, who had a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

At the commencement on Friday, April 27, she gave the valedictory address, and was recognized as graduating with honors.

Mrs. Cochran, the wife of Grady Cochran, received a scholarship from Phi Theta Kappa, a national honor society. Joan Cochran was awarded an associate of arts degree, and she will continue her studies at West Texas State University, preparing herself to become a science teacher.

She completed her work at Clarendon College in two years, but she points out that she not only attended classes at the college, commuting from Wellington, she also took night classes and other extension classes, and attended summer sessions.

She graduated from Brewer High Schhol at White Settlement after she and Grady Cochran married.

Mrs. Cochran has other Wellington ties.

She is the daughter of Olene Fuson Moss who grew up here but now lives in California, and is the granddaughter of Mrs. Frank Fuson and the late Mr. Fuson.

Her brother, Paul Moss, also lives in Wellington.

NEW LIFE

Nothing is more interesting than young new life. It represents all that is fresh and innocent, but more, it represents the unlimited potential of the future. How much many of us would give to have some of the vivacity and energy of the young and more yet, to have our future before us.

We can't have yesterday over again, but we can have a new life. We can be born again from above, fresh and new. God wills to give everyone this new life, abundant life, free of fear and anxiety. Go to Church this week and hear of the God who gives new lives for old.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Is something wrong with your life—an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure.

Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church in everyone!

The reunion will be held Saturday, July 28, in Bura Handley Community Center.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and visiting will continue until noon when everyone is asked to bring a basket lunch. The reunion group will provide coffee, tea and pop.

Visiting, singing and music will continue through the afternoon. A late lunch will be served, followed by a program and business meeting.

Officers will be elected for the next year.

Samnorwood Exes Meeting Called

A meeting of Samnorwood Ex-students has been called for Thursday, May 24, at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria, according to Kenneth Martindale.

The purpose is to finalize plans for the ex-student directories, which are for the 50th anniversary reunion to be held at Samnorwood Saturday, June 30.

"We need for the ex-students in the Wellington area to get their information in for the directory, and we need that information by June 1," Martindale declared.

Ex-students from other areas have responded well to requests for this information, it is the local people that are getting the committee in a bind." he explained.

Information to be included include name and address of ex-student and spouse, occupation, names and addresses of children, schools attended after graduating from SHS, or honors received.

Besides the day-long June 30 reunion, some of the Samnorwood classes will meet Friday night, and other groups are considering Sunday meetings. The latter will be get-together from groups that ran around together, "the old crew," said Martindale.

Christian School Prepares for '84-85

The Wellington Christian School is looking forward to the '84-85 school year. One of the main goals is to have it a Christian school open to all denominations in the community, not teaching doctrines, but a high standard of academic education in a christian environment and atmosphere, said Pam Pyeatt, who is associated with the school.

There will be no changes in requirements for graduation as the requirements for both past and future are above all the new requirements going into effect for next year in the state of Texas.

The school is working toward "Model School" statis through the A.C.E. (Accelerated Christian Education) program. This will enable college bound high school seniors, who qualify, to work on college credits at school during their senior year. The credits will be through Calvery Christian College in Lewisville, just out of Dallas, Mrs. Pyeatt said.

The school is also looking forward to moving to a new location, where it will be has not been determined yet.

Those who would like any information concerning the school, should contact Pam Pyeatt at 1703 Park Lane or call 447-2787.

Owens & Scott Thriftway Sells to Lubbock Group

George Scott and Steve Owens announced this week the sale of Owens & Scott Thriftway to Southwest Foodliners, Inc. of Lubbock. The sale was closed Sunday, May 20.

Southwest, with Waylon Newman of Lubbock as general manager, operates seven other grocery stores under the IGA Foodliners name in Claude, Clarendon, Stratford, Spur, Memphis, Sunray, and Paducah.

A store manager has not yet been named for the Wellington store, Newman said.

Crews were at work this week remodeling the store, and a grand opening will be held in a few weeks, Newman said.

The Owens & Scott Grocery partnership was formed in 1949, George Scott said. Scott said he began work for Steve Owens in 1935 and worked for him until World War II when Scott served in the Army. After the war, Scott worked for J.C. Ward until he formed the grocery business partnership with Owens.

With the sale Scott is retiring but Owens will continue to operate his Owens Enterprises store.

During his career, Scott formed partnerships with younger people to help get them started in the grocery business. Scott and Don Davis built and operated a partnership store in Memphis and Davis bought Scott's interest. Scott also formed a partnership in a store in Panhandle which he stills owns with Dee Holliman. And Scott's granddaughter, Jackie Bradley, owned a one-quarter interest in the Wellington store's merchandise and equipment at the time of the sale.

Scott has also been active in the Church of the Nazarene.

Lindi Wolf Spells to 6th in Alaska

Lindi Wolf placed sixth in the Alaska state spelling bee April 28 & 29 by spelling the words ceaselessly, snubbed, inadvertence, estafette and deuteragonist.

The word she missed was fuchsia.

Lindi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wolf of Fairbanks, Alaska and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.C. Thomason of Wellington and Mrs. Lorene Wolf of Tipton, Oklahoma.

She competed against 7th and 8th graders and was the last elementary student to be eliminated in the contest.

Among the prizes she won were a $50 savings bond, a Kodak Disc Camera, and transportation to Anchorage where the state bee was held. She was accompanied on the trip by her parents and her sister, Lecia and brother, Leon.

LINDI WOLF

To win her school bee she had to spell correctly mackerel, mediocre, reactionary, vigilante, vespacide, subbasement, chaotically and overbearance. To win her district bee she had to spell correctly dysrhythmia, humectant, waistband, incompletable, assassin, kyoodle, grandomania, supercilium, slumgullion, reminiscence, axolotl and endocrinology.

Sales Tax Rebates up 5.67 Percent

State Comptroller Bob Bullock on Friday, May 4, sent a check totaling $12,611.98 to the City of Wellington for its sales and use tax allocation for the period ending April 27.

This is up from $11,861.27 for the same period a year ago.

The 1984 payment to date to the City of Wellington totals $35,949.99, in comparison to $34,022.35 a year ago. This is an increase of 5.67% in the amount of sales taxes collected.

Bullock's office sent checks totaling $98.5 million to the 988 cities that levy the one percent sales tax.

"These payments are running 12.5 percent ahead of last year," Bullock said. And for the first time this year, we can say that virtually all of this increase came from growth in tax collections and not from the changes in our bookkeeping the Legislature made when they moved up due dates for sales tax last year."

May's checks reflect sales made during March and the first quarter and reported to the Comptroller by April 20.
