Student Council, with Macra Findley as president and Keaton Grubbs vice president and chairman of Homecoming, is staging the annual day.

Pep rally at 9:30 a.m. at activity period starts off the day with yells boosting the Wolves to victory over Hamlin.

Juanelle Bynum Gaylor, will give in the parade.

Cars carrying local dignitaries will be occupied by Mayor John Chinn, County Judge Elmer Martin, District Judge Austin McCloud, Ford Merrill, city manager, James McMath, superintendent of schools, Frank Deribus, president of Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Lottie Wilson, oldest living graduate of Colorado High.

Half time at the game will feature coronation ceremonies with McMath to present crown and arm bouquet to the Queen whose identity is secret until presentation time.

After game festivities include a Student Council sponsored dance in the high school gymnasium with music by a "live band." Dance is scheduled from 10:30 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Congressman Omar Burleson notified the Colorado City Record Wednesday afternoon in this official statement:

"White House to announce this afternoon that the skip row regulation now in effect will be returned to 62-65 program with no penalty for the historic skip row practice."

Mitchell County cotton farmers will get increased cotton payments to the tune of $350,000 for their 1968 cotton crop, according to statement from Charles Stenholm, executive vice president of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association.

Dropping of the skip row penalty, verified by Washington Wednesday, will also mean 3.7 million additional dollars for Rolling Plains area Stenholm estimated.

Reports from a White House conference this week indicate West Texas cotton farmers may have won their fight to remove U. S. Department of Agriculture penalties against skip-row planting.

"I think we've got them convinced the penalty should be dropped," Congressman Omar Burleson stated in Washington, D. C.

The congressman emphasized he has "every reason to believe" the Department of Agriculture soon will announce abandonment of the penalty that has been in effect since 1967.

Burleson's statement in Washington added weight to reports filtering down to local agriculture leaders in the last few days.

Previously, there had been reports of a compromise for skip-row planting in 1968 with some relief for area farmers, but not with complete removal of the skip-row inequities.

Burleson and three other Texas Congressmen — George Mahon, Graham Pirtrell and Bob Poage, chairman of House Agriculture Committee, were called to the White House Conference Monday night with President Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

"We are confident they (President Johnson and Secretary of Agriculture) will

Hospital Medicare 'Snag'

Approval Awaited From Baltimore

Colorado City Hospital District has run into a snag seeking Medicare approval for Root Memorial Hospital under change of ownership to the district.

The hospital was approved for Medicare program previously under private ownership.

However, since the district assumed ownership and operation, formal approval has been withheld by Medicare officials.

J. W. (Bill) Randle, chairman of the district's board of directors, said the district had been notified the decision was in the hands of top officials of Social Security Administration in Baltimore Md.

"We have received no notice why approval has been delayed and there has been no inspection of our facilities," Randle said. "We just don't have notice of approval."

The board chairman said officials of the hospital district had conferred with Medicare offices in Dallas concerning the changes of ownership several times with in recent days.

"We have asked for information as to how we can speed the approval," Randle continued, "but at this point have not received instructions."

Randle said Root Memorial

Hospital had Medicare was owned by Charles Root and when it was owned and operated by the City of Colorado City.

"Now, when the hospital has been taken over by the district," he explained, "they have held up official okay."

The district has endeavored, management remained the changes resulting from district ownership. Name of the hospital was not changed, management remained the same and operation was kept at the same level.

"We have done everything possible so as not create unnecessary changes that might cause delays in Medicare approval," Randle added.

Randle expressed confidence the delay in Medicare approval would not work a hardship on the hospital or Medicare-eligible patients, if approval comes soon. But long delay could cause trouble.

The only definite information received by the district is "that the question had not been resolved on how to handle the question of ownership."

Last month Colorado City Hospital District's board of directors restated the hospital's policy for non-discrimination in all areas of operation and management.

"The policy of the hospital and nursing home shall include the provision that they will continue to integrate," the board declared in an official statement, "and that there will not be any discrimination due to race, color, religion or national origin in any of the services and accommodations extended to the public, patient's relatives or visitors; and, that equal opportunities shall be extended all hospital and nursing home personnel, applications for employment, medical staff appointments including the designation of medical privileges, without discrimination because of race, color, religion, sex or national origin."

District Play Opens With Hamlin Here

Colorado High Wolves, joined in their last two games after an impressive trio of triumphs, encounter undefeated Hamlin here Friday night.

A homecoming crowd will watch the contest which opens District 5-AA title play for both teams.

Elsewhere around 5-AA four other conference members will be lifting the lid on district play — Stamford in Anson, Haskell in Winters.

The Wolves of Coach Truman Nix will be attempting to solve the puzzle that has resulted in losses to Brady (6-36) and Ballinger (0-27) on successive weekends after rolling up 106 points in victorious assaults on Coahoma; Roscoe and Sweetwater.

Even in defeat, the Wolves are running game — led by Dan Steakley and Ralph Lindsey — has been potent. But the C-City attack has misfired at crucial points, especially in scoring territory.

At the same time, Coach Nix's defenders have shown a tendency to fall victim to the passing bomb. All four Ballinger touchdowns came on passes, a fact even more glaring when you check too that Ballinger, not counting touchdowns, offense managed only 2 first downs against the Wolves in the first half.

While C-City was falling to Ballinger last week, Hamlin was defeating Class A Clyde 21 to 0. That was victory No. 5 against no defeats for the Pied Pipers, who have scored 122 points to only 12 for their opponents.

Before Clyde, the Pipers beat Rotan, Nolan, Cisco, and Tahoka, in that order, to raise the eyebrows of experts who originally picked Coach Joe Youngblood's team to finish just above Haskell out of the 5-AA cellar.

Group Attend W-Tex Parley

A Colorado City delegation was impressed Wednesday concerning the possibility of small firms to share in sub-contracts for federal equipment and materials.

Four persons — Darrell Shurtleff, Howard Hardcastle, Robert Aycock Jr. and Chamber of Commerce manager Sefton Pickens — attended the West Texas Area Procurement Conference in Kermit.

First of its kind in West Texas to provide counseling the specific purpose of drawing West Texas' small business industry into the benefits of federal government contracts.

More than a dozen booths were available to the West Texas to provide counseling on how to make contacts for government contracts, to meet requirements and to encourage small firms to participate in the government business.

In the five-state area of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana last year small firms obtained 248 million dollars in sub-contracts.

Today, less than 1,000 prime contractors are averaging 140 million dollars worth of government work every month.

Data was available in Kermit Tuesday on sub-contracts totaling up above 200 million dollars.

"Our Colorado City group was encouraged in their talk with contractors," reported Pickens, the chamber manager.

"They were encouraged not only talking to prime contractors but also in talking with small operators who have handled government work in sub-contracts." Pickens said he expected several contractors to send additional information to the group concerning specifications and requirements for certain merchandise.

"I think we learned that several of our shops have the equipment and ability to be considered for some of this government business down the line," Pickens said.

... Donated By Local Churches

Robert Hoyle and Louis Small prepare to haul a load of bedding and other supplies to Sweetwater for transportation to South Texas flood-ravaged families. The load of articles were donated by members of Northside Church of Christ. The church's contribution was one of the first loads of relief supplies to leave Colorado City.

Personal Fire Prevention

Everybody's Job, Marshal Says

Colorado City—Insurance firms and Fire Marshal Virgil Eaton pointed to rising fire losses across the nation and urged local citizens to join with other communities with intensified efforts to reverse the upward loss spiral.

Their emphasis upon public knowledge of the upswing in fire losses over last year comes as Colorado City observes Fire Prevention Week with the rest of the nation.

In fact, Fire Marshal Eaton said that Fire Prevention Week become a focal point for stepping up activities aimed at preventing fires.

"Fire losses for the nation this year, if current trends continue, will be substantially higher than the record loss of 1.5 billion dollars recorded in 1966," Eaton said.

and pointed out that fire prevention is everybody's job.

Eaton said "householders should be particularly careful with fire, especially with smoking and matches which are the leading cause of fires. Cooking, heating and electrical equipment should be checked periodically and these items which many persons take for granted can be, if neglected, dangerous fire hazards."

It can take lives as well as destroy property," the fire marshal continued.

Eaton noted that more than 12,000 persons died in fires in 1966 alone.

Noting that there has been a substantial number of large-loss industrial fires, Eaton added: "It is particularly important that management of factories, warehouses, and other places of business rededicate their fire prevention efforts; that they check their fire detection and fire fighting equipment regularly to be sure it is adequate to meet today's requirements."

Musical Eve For Students After Game

After game party at First Baptist Church Friday night will feature hot dogs, soft drinks, and a musical group of six young men from Wayland Baptist College, Plainview.

Billed as the LynMar Syx, the students play the guitar and sing folk songs, original music written by one of the members of the sextet.

Among songs to be presented on their program are three well-known to pop music fans— "Yesterday," "What Now, My Love," and "Soul and Inspiration."

The musical evening, with refreshments will begin immediately after the Hamilton Colorado High football game ends. All high school students are invited, said Frank Prewitt, music education youth minister at First Baptist, host church.

Mrs. Hines Speaks At Atheneum Club

Mrs. Witt Hines of Colorado City was guest speaker at the Atheneum Study Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Ally Bennett, at Loraine.

Mrs. C. R. Green, program chairman, led the pledges to the flags, United States and Texas, then introduced Mrs. Hines.

Review of the history of Mitchell County was presented by the guest speaker, Mrs. Hines, who heads the Mitchell County Historical Survey Committee.

After noting that earliest settlers came as buffalo hunters, that the first store was covered in buffalo hides with the furside out, and that the first pioneer Mitchell Countians lived in tents, and dugout, Mrs. Hines told of the organization of the county.

Texas Rangers, she told the club, played an important role in frontier life in this area. Her review of history included many names of early settlers as she recounted how they gradually established order, built homes, churches, schools, and businesses.

Mrs. T. L. Finley conducted the business session. Mrs. Bennett gave the report from Mitchell County Federation.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Bennett to Mrs. Hal Bennett, Mrs. Percy Bond, Mrs. Glen Coon, Mrs. Finley, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Doyle Hester, Mrs. Jim Johnson, Mrs. C. H. Martin, Mrs. Woodrow Pratt, Mrs. K. L. Taylor, and the guests, Mrs. Hines.

us that skip-row cotton farmers are being penalized for practicing good water conservation," Burleson said.

The Department of Agriculture adopted the regulation penalizing skip-row planting over the protests of dryland West Texas farmers who contended the practice as a conservation measure to make the best use of moisture and improve their farming.

retary Freeman) agree with Contention of farmers has been that the dryland skip-row planting is intelligent, effective farming.

Taking the lead in the last couple of years to campaign against the penalties have been Mitchell County's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service committee, local farm organizations and the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association.

Charles Stenholm, executive vice president of Cotton Growers, reported after a trip to Washington last month that the Department of Agriculture "appears to be changing somewhat in its attitude toward skiprow."

He was optimistic then that realities as they pertain to projected yields would be removed for the 1968 crop. This change alone, which would not affect the acreage count on the planted crop, would mean approximately 3.7 million dollars more for Rolling Plains farmers next year. Stenholm added that it appeared very slim at that time for removal of all skip-row penalties and referred a letter of the USDA and House Agriculture Committee, headed by Proger, to resolve several differences in skip-row plantings.

However, Stenholm said the committee was assured that it would not see CCC cotton at less than 1-cent per pound above government loan rate for the particular quantities of cotton. The effect of the Department's decision would be to help move the current crop of short staple cotton the market at stable prices without undue competition from government and stocks.

Burleson in Washington after the white house conference and his prediction for removal of the skip-row penalty said there is a possibility that Secretary Freeman may use his discretion to reduce the 12.5 per cent mandatory diversion to help reduce the cost to USDA for payments and price supports is unlimited skip-row patterns are allowed.

Chief Brown reads rocks

Charles "Chief" Brown probably knows more about one valuable layer of rock than anyone else in the world.

An El Paso Natural Gas Company geologist, Chief is in charge of the development of gas reserves in the Pictured Cliffs Formation which lies far below the surface of the San Juan Basin in northwestern New Mexico.

Chief keeps exact data on the location and performance of each well tapping this gas-bearing sandstone. He knows the depth and thickness of this sandstone throughout the San Juan Basin. Carefully analyzing information, Chief recommends where further drilling should be carried out and which wells should be reworked to keep natural gas in abundant supply.

Other employees apply detailed knowledge of every producing formation in fields ranging from Canada through the Rocky Mountain area to New Mexico and Texas.

Chief Brown's skills along with those of the other 5,400 employees of El Paso Natural Gas Company — whose backgrounds range from chemistry through electronics to geology — are among the reasons that the West has assured supplies of natural gas.

CONVERSATION CORNER

READ the other day this little line: "To be bitter is to admit emotional defeat."

Think it was in the new autobiography of Bertrand Russell, that strange English scholar and philosopher who can be insufferably dull and deliberately obscure most of the time.

Liked that particular line — from a letter written to a grieving friend in America, years and years ago.

"To be bitter is to admit emotional defeat," he wrote to the friend who had suffered a deep, personal loss.

BEEN musing and mulling that line ever since.

Lord knows, everybody who breathes has known some bitter hours. And, life being what it is, may know more bitter tears, bitter hours one day.

Nobody has a guarantee on a perfect existence this side of Heaven.

The human heart is so vulnerable! Vulnerable to loss of friend, loss of family, loss of possessions, loss of prestige, loss of love.

Swinburne scribbled some lines, once, which went "To have known love, is a bitter thing it is."

There are some among us who could testify how much more bitter never to have known love.

THERE is a fine distinction between feeling grief and being bitter.

As my Mother used to point out, "It is not what happens to us . . . it is what we let it do to us."

To be bitter — about what happened yesterday or the day before yesterday, last year or the year before last — is to admit emotional defeat.

Life is a little like weather in some ways. Some days the sun shines, and skies are so bright it stuns the eyes. Some days the strong winds come — like adversity blowing people about.

Some days, and long nights, too, there are the dark storm clouds veiling the world, hiding the stars, threatening a deluge.

ALWAYS, whatever the problem, there is the promise of change — in life the same as weather.

There is a promise in each sunrise. "Ah, here is a brand new day . . . put your tears away, child . . . put your grief away!"

There is a promise in every sunset. Ever notice how the cerise clouds cut across the smoke gray . . . how streaks of amethyst, like chiffon scarfs float across the darkening sky?

Ever watch the afterglow as the sun goes down? Ever read there a promise saying surely, "Sunrise tomorrow?"

Until you taste the bitter

How can you know what's sweet?

How can you tell when all is well

Unless you've known defeat?

SEEN LATELYS included Jackie Coffee Hickman, legal secretary who lives in Lorraine and works in C-City . . . Odessa (Mrs. Jim) Wood . . . Mary Fugate (Mrs. George) . . . R. B. Baker on an office visit.

Met F.P. (favorite person) Emmabeth Thompson, wife of Charlie . . . Lucille Trulock, too . . . Saw Mayme May, wife of Eli . . . Selma Landau, wife of Willie . . . Don De Laney, husband of Shirley.

Day was brightened by smiling faces belonging to Mrs. Dee Bassham, Mrs. Porter Richardson . . . and Don Benson, too.

HEAR TELL Mrs. Charles Womack of Albuquerque, New Mexico, has been here spending a few days as guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. John Brown, and brother Corley Bozeman.

Mrs. Womack, former C-Citizen, also visited her sister, Alice Coles (Mrs. Roy Davis Coles) while here.

She had been in Big Spring visiting her daughter Dorothy and Dorothy's husband Charles Lusk.

GLIMPSED Ellen and Guy Burson in their little blue VW . . . Mrs. Price Morris working with her flowers . . . Christi, beautiful little daughter of the Earl Brooks, playing with a hula hoop. Have you noticed how the fad has come back on strong?

Mrs. Harvey Cupp was saying that she and her husband were in Houston, recently, where Harvey had a medical checkup. They visited their granddaughter Charlotte (Roland) and her husband Mike Garner while there.

FAMILIAR FACES, various places, belonged to Violet Mosser on the downtown scene . . . Nice Don DeJulio, minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Mrs. Jack Long, nee Billie Marie Seward, and her sister, Joann Hammond (Mrs. Billy) are such look alikes never am sure which one I'm greeting!

Carolyn Braswell, accomplished and attractive wife of Eddie, heads Primary PTA as president this year . . . Mrs. Vernon Lewis is Hutchinson-Wallace PTA president.

OFF THE CUFF: Nell Scribner, 207 Manuel St., has adopted as her hobby the writing of verses. She now has several recordings of her poems as set to music and recorded by musicians in Nashville, Tenn.

Just found out the most heart-warming thing lately. Franklin (Butch) Johnson, son of Juanita Cook Johnson, has received his bachelor of arts degree from Texas Tech.

Now the world is full of B.A. degrees. But the world is not full of Butch Johnsons.

During all his college studies, Butch Johnson was totally blind. He reads Braille, owns a seeing eye dog and is now teaching at the Lighthouse For The Blind in Dallas.

He is married to the former Alice Ann Bridges of Lubbock, medical technician. Butch completed all work toward his degree some time ago with the exception of one course he had to conquer — French.

Butch is, you will remember, grandson of the late Drue Cooks, Mitchell County pioneers. His mother, Juanita, is currently recovering from burns in Root Memorial Hospital. She, too, is unable to see with her eyes . . . but sees beauty with her heart.

They're Among Us —

One of the virtues of our community is the "senior" list of citizens for whose character, good sense and good citizenship we always will be in debt.

These citizens — some retired, some not — make up a fine share of our population. They are active in clubs, civic endeavors, historical work, our churches and other facets.

I'm reminded of their contributions to our environment by the news that C.E. Cogswell is resigning the curator's job at our Historical museum. The Curatorship is a part-time but, just as in his ministry and civic work, this retired Christian gentleman has given more than that.

However I didn't start this just to say something nice about Mr. Cogswell. What I had in mind was to remind all of us of the "seniors" in our midst — here in town, out at the lakes and all around — who contribute solid moral citizenship to our community.

TO MEET TUESDAY

Women Will Organize Hospital District Auxiliary

Meeting of Colorado City and Mitchell County women interested in a Woman's Auxiliary to the Colorado City Hospital District has been called for Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 17, at 4 p.m.

Organizational meeting will be held in Fellowship Hall at First Methodist Church, said Mrs. B. D. Bassham who announced the called session.

"We've never had an auxiliary," Mrs. Bassham said, "but now that Root Memorial Hospital belongs to the people, we want and need one."

"The woman's auxiliary for the hospital district, when organized, will begin volunteer and special services to patients in Root Memorial Hospital and residents at Root Valley Fair Lodge," Mrs. Bassham explained.

"There are residents at the Lodge who badly need company," she said. "Some of them need to be taken for a little ride, to be accompanied for a walk. There is a real need for mending to be done for residents no longer young enough to sew."

Services needed at the new publicly owned hospital include the making of scrap-books for convalescent patients, information about hospital regulations and routine, help with letters and reading, and some of them need things for personal health and grooming — toothbrush, comb, stationery, etc.

Interested women are also requested to call on or telephone other women who might like to take part in the Woman's Auxiliary to Colorado City Hospital District.

Mrs. Bassham, registered nurse who is familiar with hospital life and patient needs not otherwise supplied by the staff, issued this week an invitation to all women — church women, club women, homemakers — to attend the organizational meeting next Tuesday.

You can cook a 3-minute egg faster with gas than with electricity.

Here's why. With a modern gas range there's no slow warm-up period. You turn the burner on and get the desired amount of heat — instantly! Burner-with-a-Brain holds that precise temperature until cooking is done. No waiting, no watching, no wondering with flame fast gas. You can see the flame go to work the instant you turn the burner on.

(Of course, faster cooking means less gas used and more economy for you!) Only modern gas cooking gives you this much control, flexibility and speed. See the wide variety of modern gas ranges at your local gas appliance dealer or LONE STAR GAS.

SPECIAL TO HIGH PLAINS COTTON GROWERS

TRAIN LOAD SALE!

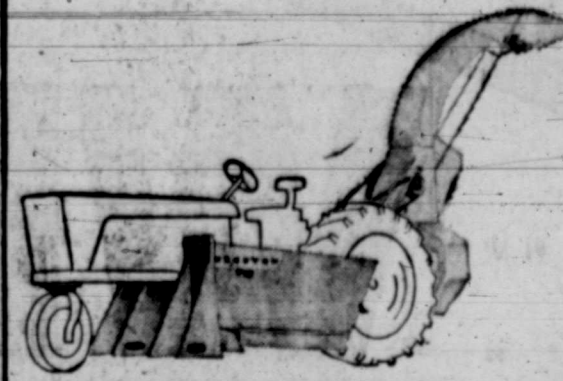

HESSTON BRUSH COTTON HARVESTERS

ATTENTION HIGH PLAINS COTTON GROWERS — Heston dealers have got 'em... and they've got 'em by the TRAIN LOAD! That's right... the Heston dealers in the High Plains area have purchased "lock-stock-and-barrel", an entire train load of Heston Cotton Harvesters... at savings in many cases of as much as $500 a machine which they're ready to pass right on to you! This means that you can save on self-propelled models, tractor-mounted basket models, as well as trailer models. They're all included in this special Train Load Sale. So go by and see your Heston dealer today. Right now he has the Heston Cotton Harvester in stock that will fit your exact need. And while you're saving money, you'll be harvesting all the quality you can grow... because QUALITY COTTON is what you get when you harvest with a Heston!

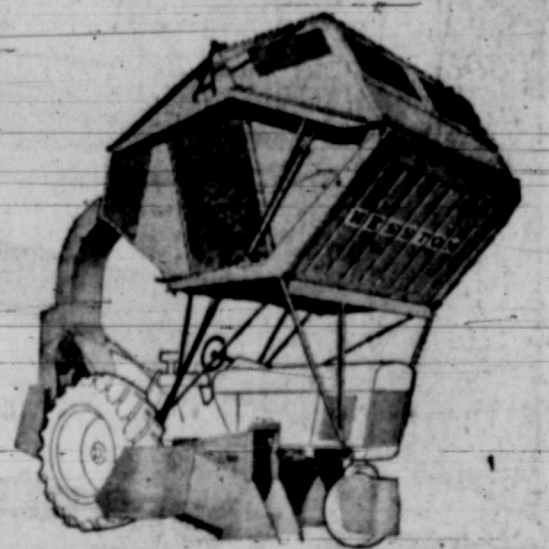

SELF-PROPELLED SP-50

For the speed, efficiency and profit of once-over brush harvesting with outstanding capacity and ease of operation.

TRAILER MODEL 22-T

The economical way to get maximum yields of quality cotton in one trip over the field... and higher net profit too!

BASKET MODEL 24-B

Your tractor and one man become a complete harvest crew... with the same harvesting and cleaning methods as the big Heston self-propelled models.

HARVEST HIGH-YIELD, HIGH-QUALITY COTTON WITH A HESSTON BRUSH COTTON HARVESTER!

"Gross returns per unit of harvested material were substantially and significantly greater ($11 per bale unit) for the Heston than for any other." This was the report from Oklahoma State University after comparative tests on the quality of cotton harvested by a Heston with cotton harvested by strippers. It's a proven fact that Heston brush-harvested cotton will grade higher than stripped cotton... and the reason is quite simple: The Heston Cotton Harvester gently "brushes" the cotton from the plant. Its soft nylon and rubber brushes are highly flexible and allow a full 2 1/2 inch clearance for stalks and branches. On the other hand, solid roll strippers have virtually no clearance whatsoever as they tear and shred the stalks and branches that are wider than the narrow fixed opening between the stripping devices. Obviously, this results in more stick, bark, and trash being harvested with a stripper... which means more ginning is required... and in turn, a lower quality grade of cotton. BUT THIS IS THE YEAR FOR QUALITY COTTON... and you'll get it with a Heston... PLUS the capability of harvesting in a variety of stalk sizes, excellent field efficiency, and superior green boll separation. You know that you want quality cotton... and your Heston dealer can show you how to get it... with a HESTON!

Sermon Of The Week

Unashamed of the Testimony —TIMOTHY 1:8-12

By M. A. SMITH

First Baptist Church
At the time of the writing of this letter, the Apostle Paul was in the cold, dark, damp, prison cell in Rome for his last prison experience. He knew that there was no hope for his life and soon the Roman soldiers would take him to the executioner's block where his head would be severed from his body.

This was the last letter he was ever to write and somehow we feel the vibration of his heartbeat as he gives forth words of instruction and encouragement to young Timothy. His son in the ministry. Somehow these words mean just a little more than they ordinarily would because they were sent the last will and testament of this great old Soldier of the Cross.

One of the first things he tells Timothy and the fact that should be impressed upon our hearts is the statement made in Verse 8 of our passage: "Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord."

First, let's consider the nature of the testimony. It is about the Lord Jesus and is concerned primarily about His Gospel.

It is important for us to realize that when we speak of His Gospel we do not mean the multitude of unrelated subjects proclaimed from our pulpits in our day. Neither do we mean the theological controversies and debates that have been worn threadbare through repeated proclamation from pulpit and pen.

The Gospel needs to be proclaimed — not defended. Someone has said that the Bible is like a lion — unchain him and he will defend himself.

As we speak of the Gospel neither do we mean just the effects and implications produced by the Gospel message, as wonderful as they are. Because of the proclamation of the Gospel Message an impetus has been provided that has checked the greed, vice and tyranny of man over his fellow man. Because of this proclamation womanhood has been elevated and childhood has been exalted. Because of this proclamation the world has been given incentive for institutions of mercy and charity. Because of this proclamation there is a deep respect for constituted authority and man has been lifted to a higher and nobler plane.

All of these facts are wonderful, but they are results of the Gospel and do not comprise the inherent message.

Essentially the Gospel means the death, burial and resurrection of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

It is the testimony that brings people to the foot of the cross that they might see sin in all its awfulness. It is the testimony that says, "Not that we loved God, but that He loved us and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins." It is the testimony that says, "All have sinned, and come short of the glory of God," but also says, "Christ died for our sins." It is the testimony that says, "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

This is the testimony of which Paul said he was not ashamed. Genius that he was, brilliant thinker that he was, great theologian that he was; yet we hear him say, "For the which cause, I also suffer these things; nevertheless I am not ashamed." The proclamation of the simple Gospel message was the primary aim and goal of his life.

Finally, let's consider the need for this testimony. Our world in its sickened condition will never be changed by outward applications of reformation and social readjustment. It will be changed only as individuals are changed inwardly by the power of the Gospel of Christ.

God has created all mankind with a capacity for His indwelling presence. He has a hunger for this presence and not complete without it.

Our sharing this testimony of the Gospel of our Lord helps to provide man's greatest need. May we, too, be unashamed of this testimony and be eager to share it with others.

State Capital Highlights

Governor Listens To Public's Voice

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Gov. John Connally dropped a political bombshell on the state capital scene by reportedly telling 45 top supporters in a meeting at the Mansion that he has about made up his mind not to run for re-election.

Word of his unexpected reluctance promptly leaked to newsmen. Connally confirmed that the meeting was held and the possibility of a fourth term was discussed. "My mind is not finally and irrevocably made up," he stated. "I have a pretty firm idea what I am going to do, but I am not prepared to announce the decision. I may decide within the next few days, but I think it will be longer — two weeks or later."

Backers began deluging the governor's office with telephone calls and some newspapers are sounding editorial appeals for the governor to run "just one more time."

U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough's name figures increasingly in the list of prospective gubernatorial candidates following a disagreement between Connally and the senior senator over flood aid.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, who already has announced as a candidate for the top spot, continues his campaigning in East Texas where he is conducting a "listening tour."

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Co has stated repeatedly might run for governor if Connally does not.

House Speaker Ben Barnes says he will run for lieutenant governor regardless of Connally's ultimate decision.

COURT RACES — State high court races are assured more than ordinary attention in 1968 primaries by the early announcements of three incumbent judges that they will not seek re-election. Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Wesley Dice is the latest to reveal plans to step aside at the end of his present term. States Attorney Leon Douglas immediately announced as a candidate for the place.

Earlier announcements were made by State Supreme Court Associate Justices James R. Norvell and Meade F. Griffin that they will retire after next year. Potential candidates to succeed them include Austin District Judge Tom Reavley, Chief Justice James G. Denton of the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, Associate Justice Matt Davis of the Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals and Houston District Judge Sears McGee.

NEW INSPECTION — Auto inspections, expanded by the new State, are underway at various points and will continue through April 15.

Don't be surprised at the additional items covered by the new $1.75 fee. They will include:

- Required front seat safety belts on every car which has anchorages as part of the manufacturer's original equipment.

- Checking for "lash" or "play" in steering control. Vehicles will be rejected if steering wheel can be turned more than two inches without front wheel motion. It must also be possible to turn the wheels from full right to full left without jamming or binding. Vehicles with power steering must be checked with power on, and if fluid is below recommended level, car will not pass inspection.

- Wheels with defective or bent rim flanges or those with loose or missing bolts, nuts or lugs will cause rejection of the vehicle.

AIRPORT AID — Texas Aeronautics Commission has allocated $167,250 to 21 towns and a county for airport development.

Funds went to Wharton County ($24,500) and these communities:

Alpine, $14,000; Bay City, $20,000; Canton, $18,000; Clifton, $9,760; Dimmitt, $20,000; Dublin, $18,000; Ennis, $27,500; Gilmer, $18,000; Granbury, $20,000; Kennedy, $18,000; Knox City, $20,000; Kerrville, $20,000; Levelland, $18,000; Liberty, $18,000; Littlefield, $18,000; Livingston, $20,000; Llano, $20,000; Madisonville, $20,000; Paducah, $14,000; Shamrock, $18,000; Slaton, $18,000; Stamford, $18,000; Weslaco, $10,000; and Wills Point, $20,000.

COURTS SPEAK — Reversing a 32-year-old decision denying right of parents to recover damages for death of a child due to pre-birth injuries, State Supreme Court recognized the right of parents to collect compensation in such a case. Suit involved the death of a two-day-old infant as a result of injuries before birth in an auto-truck accident.

Court in other actions:

- Upheld denial of applications for savings and loan institutions in La Grange.

- Agreed that the City of Fort Worth and Fort Worth schools can tax Greyhound buses within their jurisdictions.

- Set a November 22 hearing on a Negro's suit against a Houston club manager who refused to serve him and allegedly jerked a plate out of his hand.

ATTACK ON CRIME — House Speaker Barnes revealed this three-pronged plan on the problem of rising crime rate in Texas.

The "concentrated attack" would equip law-enforcement officers with the tools necessary to offset a "wave of lawlessness," he said.

First of the three steps is the appointment of a study committee to make a continual study of the Code of Criminal Procedure, which was passed by the 59th Legislature and revised some what by the 60th Legislature.

Second point will be the production of a Manual of Law Enforcement, designed to insure "uniformity in crime prevention in the state to be put out by a recently appointed Law Enforcement Study Committee."

Finally, Barnes wants to establish a state police academy, which would be open to law officers of all levels within the state, from highway patrol to county sheriffs and city police.

AUCTION SALE — High bids on oil and gas leases on University of Texas lands in West Texas averaged $54 an acre. Funds will be used mainly for university construction.

Jerry Sadler, Land Commissioner and Chairman of the Board for Lease of University Lands, said the 170 tracts totaled 45,000 acres and brought high bids of $2,426,100. He expressed satisfaction with this figure.

AG RULES — New law, requiring American government and history courses in state institutions of higher education and junior colleges for general academic courses, is not applicable to vocational or technical course certificates given for State Board of Vocational Education-approved courses, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

In other opinions Martin held that:

- State comptroller may refund tax overpayments made under mistake of fact or mistake of law under duress.

- Comptroller must refund forfeited discount and deductions and penalties and interest when a taxpayer is able to show returns were mailed on time but postmarked late.

- Motor vehicle sales tax applies to all sales of motor vehicles to a dealer where vehicle is extensively utilized for personal or business purposes of the dealer, his family or employees, including use of vehicle as a demonstrator.

- Comptroller's office can use state funds to pay premiums on existing group-life insurance policy for its employees. No new group contract is necessary under recent law.

- Fees cannot be paid by a county to its own county clerk in condemnation proceedings brought by the county.

DRAFT QUOTA — Texas draft boards have received a quota of 1,159 men for November, reports Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state selective service director.

Figure compares with 977 for October, 1,180 for September, 1,421 for August, 974 for July and 975 for June. National call totals 22,000, all for the Army.

State draft boards will forward 4,650 men in November for pre-induction examination, compared with 4,000 for October.

Senator's Point

Federal Help in Crisis

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
United States Senator

South Texas has suffered one of the most devastating shocks in its history. Last week I visited and flew over all of the 30 counties which suffered hurricane winds, torrential rains, vast flooding and 95 tornadoes, all part of that destructive natural complex, Hurricane Beulah.

Some 18 persons were killed, 100,000 are homeless and more than a billion dollars in property damage has been done. Many residents of Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy, Starr and other counties are still without homes because of the damage from the storm. Hurricane Beulah entered Texas the morning of September 20th just south of Port Isabel in Cameron County, crossed the Rio Grande, moved north to a point north of Alice and then bent back like a hairpin until it crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico between Falcon Dam and Laredo.

AS BEULAH moved into Texas the federal government and the Congress of the United States began taking steps to help the Texans who were victims. On the next day after Beulah hit, September 21, I introduced an amendment increasing by $10 million the funds available for emergency disaster relief.

The Senate approved my amendment, making a total of $25 million available. The very next day, September 22, I asked President Johnson to declare a national disaster area in South Texas, but he advised me that he could not do so without a request from the governor.

I went to Texas as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee on Sunday, September 24, and returned to give an eye-witness report to Congress and to obtain an additional $1 million appropriation passed by the Senate Appropriations Committee to help clean up and repair the Intercoastal Canal on the Gulf Coast, which was heavily damaged and clogged with trash and debris.

DESPITE a delay in the governor's request for an emergency declaration, federal agencies worked together splendidly to help relieve the suffering. Tens of thousands of federal and local officials and volunteer helpers lent a hand. Shelter was provided for over 30,000 persons.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard worked with the Texas National Guard and rescued hundreds of stranded persons from trees, rooftops and low-lying areas, in South Texas and even in Mexico. The Red Cross set up kitchens and brought in nurses. Army engineers established a big communications center in Harlingen and sent in technicians to help keep roads open.

I walked among the wreckage of South Texas, and I saw some very sad scenes. But I also saw a great cooperation between federal officials and local residents, with everyone pitching in to help out. The State Highway Department and the Department of Public Safety worked night and day to maintain order and keep traffic routed safely.

ON SEPT. 28, AFTER President Johnson toured the state accompanied by both U. S. Senators and the governor, he made the emergency declaration necessary to legally trigger special aid for 24 counties. The Department of Agriculture flew in surplus food and brought in hay and feed for livestock.

The Labor Department helped organize work gangs to man levees and rebuild flood barriers. Rural Electrification Administration officials moved to restore power in the rural areas that were cut off.

The United States Public Health Service set up hospitals and vaccinated thousands of persons against typhoid and other diseases, and sprayed against the hoards of mosquitoes which followed the storm.

The Food and Drug Administration sent inspectors to guard against contaminated food, and Federal Aviation Agency officials kept airports open where possible, and skillfully regulated traffic flights.

The Small Business Administration and the Federal Housing Authority set up emergency offices to make special low-interest, long-term loans and financial help available. Those offices are still open, and are offering aid to hundreds.

NOW THAT a disaster has been declared, and all this federal aid is available, the work of reconstruction can go forward vigorously. Hurricane Beulah has been a staggering blow for South Texas, but it has provided a textbook example of how the federal government can serve the people in times of crisis. The people can and will rebuild.

Taxpayer's Quiz

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Why do people who go bankrupt still have to pay their back Federal income taxes?

A — The law says that most debts of a legally declared bankrupt are dissolved but that Federal taxes remain a legally collectible debt.

Q — I am selling some property and expect to show a profit on it. However, I will be paid over a 5 year period. How do I report this for tax purposes?

A — If certain conditions are met, you may report the gain using the installment method. Under this method, the gross profit on a sale is prorated over the period in which payments are received. This method can be used only if the seller received no payments, or payment of 30 percent or less of the selling price, during the year of the sale.

Make careful note of the payments you receive from the buyer so that at the end of your tax year you will have the information necessary to report the sale on your return. Further information is contained in IRS Document No. 5108, "Installment and Deferred Payment Sales," which may be obtained free by sending a post card to your IRS District Office.

Most people starting their first job find it to their advantage to take the standard deduction rather than itemize.

School Food

Billions In Federal Aid

More than $368 million! That's the value of food Texas schools participating in the National School Lunch Program bought from local businesses last year. This represents about 80 percent of the food used at those schools.

Where did the other 20 percent come from? This was food and cash donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to aid schools in expanding and improving their food service.

Schools can count on a sizable donation this year, too, according to John J. Slaughter, southwest director of Consumer Food Programs, USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, Dallas, Texas. More than $143 million worth has been bought for schools across the nation thus far. This is already $13 million more than bought all last year.

This amount will include some 436 million pounds of frozen and canned beef, butter, frozen turkeys, cheese, frozen orange juice, frozen cut-up young chickens, canned purple plums and apple sauce.

Some 902,000 Texas children ate a total of 148.1 million lunches at school last year.

school lunches for over 20 million youngsters, the foods will help feed almost 100,000 children getting school breakfasts in a two-year pilot program made possible by the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

In addition, schools may obtain as much as they can effectively use of such food as raisins, peanut butter, flour, rice, shortening, lard, cornmeal and rolled oats.

USDA also has bought $10 million worth of canned fruits and vegetables for schools taking part in the program. These foods are bought specifically to help schools meet high nutritional program standards. These purchases under authorities of the National School Lunch Act normally total $60 million each school year. So far the special purchase foods amount to 72 million pounds of canned green beans, peaches, pineapple and peas. Also, USDA has asked for bids to buy sweet potatoes, tomatoes, frozen cut-up young chickens, canned purple plums and apple sauce.

AN EXPERIMENT with new housing in Puerto Rico in a slum called La Fanguita (little mud), provides an example of what should not be done. Neat white bungalows were soon black with mud dripping down their sides. Furnished refrigerators were pulled up in the front door as a status symbol, but not used for refrigeration. The people were simply not prepared to take advantage of better living conditions.

An entire New Development was built 40 miles from the suburbs of Rio de Janeiro, and away from any place of employment. The people who were moved in had no means of furnishing their own transportation. Surely, we know better than to make these mistakes, but there is no certainty we will not. Plans are underway to rebuild portions of five metropolitan areas as "Demonstration Cities." People have got to live where they can work and there has got to be work where people live. Local planning can better do the job than someone sitting in Washington.

The Church For All All For The Church

HAPPY LANDING

This takes nerve! Imagine dropping into space with nothing but a "silk umbrella" between you and eternity! Yet men do it every day, and they trust that umbrella as we would trust our best friend.

Faith is something like that white parachute, as thousands upon thousands of Christians can testify. Faith upholds you and supports you, no matter how rough the going may be. Without faith in a loving God, man is very much alone . . . and man was never meant to deal with life's problems by himself.

Like the first parachute jump, faith isn't easy at the beginning. It takes courage to hand over the reins of one's life, but you can be sure of one thing . . . you'll always land on your feet. Strengthen your faith by attending the church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
