CHRISTMAS IN SEPTEMBER FOR RETIRED FOLK
Bill Gates, mail man, and Erven Fisher, Social Security official, look over retroactive checks.

Retroactive Benefit Checks Are Put In Mail Here Today

Retired and disabled men and women, who are clients of the Social Security Administration, were afforded concrete proof today of the benefits the recent amendment to Social Security payment laws afforded. The Big Spring post office has 1,000 letters—approximately half of the 2,000 which will be received this weekend—containing checks to Social Security clients for increases in retroactive benefits. These letters are being distributed today. Erven Fisher, director of the Big Spring office of the Social Security Administration, said the refund checks in this county will aggregate $58,000. Hereafter, the checks to clients on the rolls will be $11,000 greater than

NEW YORK (AP)—Six major newspapers suspended publication today in sympathy with the struck New York Times, leaving the city with only one of its metropolitan dailies. No morning newspaper was published.

Bombing Seen As 'Mistake'

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A flight of planes bombed a bridge in the demilitarized zone dividing South and North Viet Nam and a U.S. spokesman said today it is believed the planes involved were American. He said the bombing Thursday night could be "assumed to be in error."

A 'DEPARTURE'

He added: "If an investigation shows that the bombs hit in the demilitarized zone, this is clearly a departure from the rules. We have not previously struck the zone."

The spokesman said in a statement:

"Initial reports from Vietnamese sources indicate that about 2100 (9 p.m.) yesterday aircraft bombed the north end of the bridge crossing Ben Hai River on Highway 1 in the demilitarized zone. Further reports from the Vietnamese army indicate that there were three Vietnamese killed on the north end of the bridge. The bridge was reported destroyed."

SAID AMERICAN

"Observers allege the aircraft were U.S. An investigation is under way at this time, but it is believed that the aircraft were U.S."

Union Official Expects U.S. Strike Intervention

SEATTLE (AP)—A union official says there is a strong possibility of government intervention to end a machinists' strike against the Boeing Co., but a top government spokesman says no such decision has been made.

Charles F. West, a general vice president of the International Association of Machinists, said Thursday he thinks government intervention "will be in the form of invoking the Taft-Hartley Act."

The act calls for an 80-day cooling off period. William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said: "Such a decision must be made by the President of the United States. No decision has been made on any such course of action."

Simkin has called union and management representatives together for renewed negotiations Monday in Washington. Major issues in the dispute are Boeing's performance rating system for employees, union security and a union request that dependents be included under health and welfare plans.

Thant Proposes U. N. Order A Cease-Fire

Near-Freeze Invades State

By The Associated Press
Rain and near freezing temperatures invaded the Texas Panhandle today as a wintry cold front pushed deep into the state.

Overnight readings nosedived drastically in areas behind the front but a scorching heat wave still gripped areas to the south. By daylight the mercury was down to 38 degrees and a chill rain was falling at Dalhart. This was a 54-degree drop from Dalhart's top mark of 92 Thursday. Rain also fell at Amarillo and Childress.

RAINS EXPECTED

More showers were expected along and north of the front, which was pushing toward the southeast at about 15 miles per hour.

The cold air, billowing southward from the snow mantled Rocky Mountains and Midwest plains, started blowing into Texas about dusk Thursday. At Dumas in the north edge of the Panhandle it sent the temperature plunging from 90 degrees to 64 in 15 minutes.

SPREAD SOUTH

Forecasters call for the cold spell and showers to envelop northern sections of the state by nightfall and to spread into Central Texas by Saturday. Near freezing temperatures are promised parts of the Panhandle again tonight. A late summer snowstorm, with winter's bitter elements of blowing and drifting snow, cold, ice and blustery winds, diminished across wide areas in the northern and central Rockies and adjacent Plains states today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said that snow tapered off in most areas, except in some mountain sections, during the early morning. Strong winds continued in the storm belt and in most other western sections of the nation. But forecasters said the worst of the wintry weather appeared ended. Clear skies were reported in Montana for the first time in a week.

ONE OF WORST

The Weather Bureau said the storm was one of the worst in history for September. The wintry blasts struck in the fading days of summer and temperatures in the teens in some areas were in contrast to record breaking heat in the southern Plains and south central states. The summer season ends at 1:06 a.m. EST Sept. 23.

The storm pounded areas in Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas and Nebraska. Strong winds swept through the warm air across the southern Rockies and into a rain belt in Midwest areas.

18-INCHES DEEP
Snow piled up to 18 inches in the Whitefish, Mont., area near the Canadian border. The snow blanket measured 15 inches at Crawford, in western Nebraska, a record snowfall for the state in September.

At least five persons were killed in traffic accidents, three in Montana and two in Wyoming, on ice-covered highways. Blowing snow caused four-foot drifts in central Montana. The Trail Ridge Highway, the world's highest continuous rocky vehicle route in the Rocky Mountain National Park 80 miles northwest of Denver, was closed by drifting and ice glaze.

Abducted

A search was under way in Maine today for Mrs. John F. McGinn, 29, wife of a doctor, after her abduction at gunpoint from her home in Orono, Me., by a 31-year-old escapee from a mental hospital. Roadblocks were set up at virtually every major road intersection in that state. (Story on Page 3-A.) (AP WIREPHOTO)

India Given Peking Edict

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Communist China's ultimatum to India to pull out of a disputed Himalayan border area within three days has caused a possible widening of the India-Pakistan war. In a blunt note today, the Red Chinese threatened India with "grave consequences" unless India withdraws within three days from a Tibet-Sikkim border area claimed by China. The note did not specify what the consequences would be. But Red China struck at India in a border dispute in 1962 and the Indian army suffered a setback in the heavy fighting.

FIRST 'DEADLINE'

Red China's warning was interpreted in New Delhi as far more serious than the scores of notes and protests that have been hurled at India by Peking in recent months. This was the first such protest with a deadline.

Just a few hours after Red China broadcast its ultimatum, deeply worried Indian officials displayed a new reluctance to even speculate on whether the war against Pakistan could still be pursued with what Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri Thursday called "unabated vigor."

A State Department spokesman said in Washington the United States is maintaining a close watch on the India-Communist China border situation. He said the United States is very concerned over the possible extension of the India-Pakistan war.

CHINA WARNED

Last Monday Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Red China should stay out of the India-Pakistan conflict and let the U.N. Security Council settle it. Two days later a direct warning against intervention was reportedly given to Red China at a meeting of U.S. and Chinese ambassadors in Warsaw.

Diplomats at United Nations headquarters in New York expressed belief that China would cross the border unless India backs down. One delegate explained that the Chinese, having announced a time limit, would lose face if they did not follow through on their ultimatum.

The Chinese warning underlined the need for India to split its forces, keeping hundreds of thousands of men tied down in the Himalayan Mountains on the northern frontier while the same time trying to strike crippling blows at Pakistan on battlefields more than 1,000 miles to the West.

Peace Talks By Pakistan, India Wanted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant today proposed that the U.N. Security Council issue a binding order for a cease-fire between India and Pakistan and that it request heads of the two governments to hold peace talks in a third country.

The action proposed by the secretary-general would invoke the penalty provisions of the U.N. Charter by formally declaring that a breach of peace exists. He did not suggest any immediate application of sanctions, however.

Thant delivered his personal report to the 11-nation council 24 hours after his return from an unsuccessful effort to halt the fighting.

WORLD THREAT

Thant acknowledged that he had been unable to get agreement of India's Prime Minister Bahadur Lal Shastri and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan for a cease-fire and declared that the situation was so grave it threatens world peace.

Thant outlined a five-point approach which the council might now take:

Issue a binding order for a cessation of hostilities, declaring that if either party fails to comply, the penalty provisions of the charter would come into effect. This would bring into play the rarely used Chapter 7 which formally recognizes the existence of a breach of peace.

Offer resistance of the United Nations in ensuring observance of a cease-fire.

TROOP WITHDRAWAL
Call for a prompt withdrawal of troops to positions held before the current outbreak of fighting Aug. 5.

Request the heads of the two governments to meet in a country friendly and acceptable to both, and make available a small committee to assist in the talks.

Make possible use of the secretary-general in the negotiations.

Typhoon Trix Slams Honshu

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Trix, described as this year's most powerful storm, slammed into central Honshu tonight with howling 111-m.p.h. winds and heavy rains.

As the typhoon moved toward Tokyo, a light earthquake shook parts of central and northern Japan. No casualties or damage were reported.

Boy Dragged Beneath Bus For A Mile

OREGON CITY, Ore. (AP)—As his mother watched in horror, 7-year-old Clay Concrief was dragged down a rural highway for one mile by a school bus filled with his classmates.

The bus driver, unaware of the boy's plight, continued on to his next stop before the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Moncrief, caught up.

From his hospital bed, where his condition today was satisfactory, the boy said: "I kept hitting the pavement and it hurt. Once I almost got caught under the wheels."

Demo Bigwigs Assemble To Hear Connally Plans

AMARILLO (AP)—Texas Democratic party leaders, including most of Gov. John Connally's administration and the legislature, began gathering here today for a weekend of rumor-swapping and candidates' announcements.

The occasion is a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Committee activities were assured a minor role, however, when Connally said earlier this week he will divulge his political plans at a committee luncheon Saturday.

FETE HAZLEWOOD

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and many legislators planned to make the trip anyway for an appreciation dinner for Amarillo Sen. Grady Hazlewood in nearby Canyon Saturday night. They plan to arrive in time for the Connally speech.

An overflow crowd of 800 is expected.

Most Capitol sources looked for Connally to announce he will seek a third term, despite the governor's admitted indecision over whether to retire or possibly run for the U.S. Senate seat held by Republican John Tower.

Death Sentence Meted In Killing

AMARILLO (AP)—A jury decided Thursday that Robert McIlwain, 20, must die in the electric chair for killing S.Sgt. Robert Roseke, 38, last July 1 at Amarillo Air Force Base. The body was found six days later in a barracks wall locker.

Jet Liner Down, 'No Life Spotted'

MIAMI (AP)—A U.S. jet liner with 30 persons aboard disappeared in the Caribbean area today and a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) spokesman said wreckage—but no sign of life—had been sighted on a hilltop in the British West Indies.

The Boeing 707 was a Pan American World Airways Clipper flight bound from Martinique to New York with stops in between. It was last heard from on a landing approach to Antigua in the British West Indies.

A CAB spokesman in New York reported that the wreckage was sighted on a hilltop on the island of Montserrat.

REACH SITE

The administrator of Montserrat, Dennis Gibbs, told a New York radio station by telephone that search parties had reached the crash scene and "it appears there are no survivors."

Gibbs described the location as a peak in a very difficult area to reach. Montserrat is about 30 miles southwest of Antigua which is about 1,100 miles southeast of Miami.

PLANE VANISHES

The plane was last heard from at 6:25 a.m. (EST), 10 minutes before it was due to land at Antigua, an airline spokesman in New York said. Three Coast Guard planes and one from the Air Force swept over the area where the big jet was last heard from, between Antigua and Montserrat in the chain of islands which form the eastern border between the Caribbean and Atlantic oceans. Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters at Miami said the last radio transmission from the plane was a routine request for permission to make its landing approach at Antigua.

HEARS BLAST

In New York, Pan American said a resident on Montserrat reported he had seen a large plane flying low, then heard an explosion. Pan American said the plane carried 21 passengers and a crew of 9.

DRAWS SENTENCE

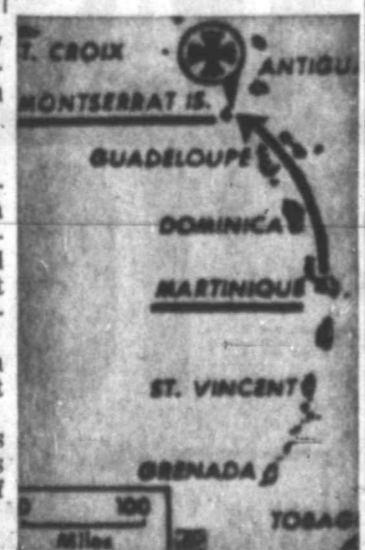

The jailed soldier is Pvt. Johnnie L. Jackson, 21, Washington, D.C. He was sentenced to six months imprisonment and forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay. Jackson was tried and sentenced aboard the Buckner at a court-martial convened by his commanding officer, Col. William R. Lynch, commander of the 2nd Brigade. The other three have not yet been tried because the commanding officer of their 1st Battalion, 77th Artillery, was not traveling on the Buckner, the spokesman said.

OTHER THREE

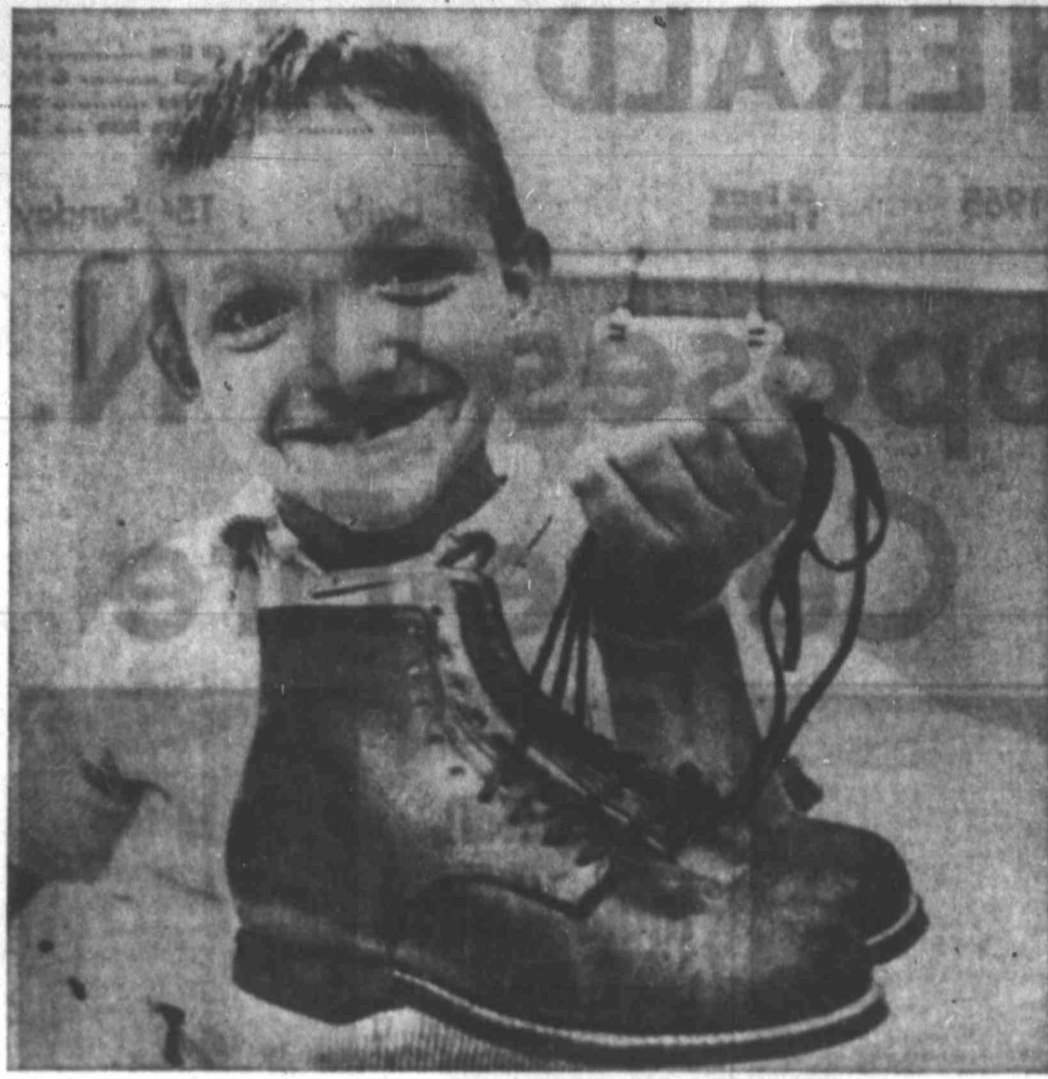

The three are Pvt. Percy L. Green, 24, Chicago; Pfc. David Clark, 26, Homestead, Fla.; and Pvt. Harold J. Brown, 22, Sanford, Fla.

The charges specify the men's refusal to take inoculations and to go through other procedures that normally precede a troop movement overseas, the spokesman said.

U.S. sources with the division at An Khe said all four men mentioned the Congress of Racial Equality and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in their protests against being sent to Viet Nam. But the sources said there was no information to indicate any of the four were members of the civil rights groups.

Petar Rajtic, 6, Tetevo, Yugoslavia, is happy with his new shoes, the first he's had. Petar, crippled since infancy, is going to learn to walk. He was brought to Kewy Rehabilitation Institute, Minneapolis, where doctors said surgery to lengthen polio constricted tendons of his hips and ankles was successful. They hope that within two months Petar will be walking with help of crutches and braces. Petar wore his new shoes during a nap after his first therapy session with them. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Riots At Selma Called Red Plot

HOUSTON (AP)—Sheriff Jim Clark of Selma, Ala., says riots and demonstrations in his city earlier this year were part of a Communist Party project. He said plans were laid as early as 1958.

Clark spoke here Thursday night to the plaudits of about 350 persons and the hoots of 40 to 50 white and Negro dissenters.

PICKETS PARADE
Pickets bearing placards telling Clark to keep out of Houston's problems paraded in front of Lamar High School for an hour before the sheriff's talk. Ashberry Butler, Negro Houston School Board member and one of the pickets, sat in on the speech. He accused a white man of striking him but the man would not comment.

Clark said the Selma to Montgomery march was generated by Communists, the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department, reformers and "preachers called to preach by a jackass, instead of the Lord."

He said voter registration and Alabama's literacy test for voters were given as reason for the demonstrations.

"CONTROLLED PRESS"
He said after the federal courts struck down the literacy requirement for voter registration, the "controlled press" refused to report it to the world in advance of the march.

"When the march on Montgomery began, and 8,500 of the scum of the earth marched on us, we were only able to identify nine adult Negroes from Selma," Clark said.

His speech was sponsored by the Houston chapter of the Citizens Council.

Accord Sought On Pre-Trial News Matter

FORT WORTH (AP)—Differences of opinion between the press and the bar have come into the spotlight since the assassination of President Kennedy, Felix McKnight, executive vice president and editor of the Dallas Times Herald, said Thursday at a meeting of the Fort Worth chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society.

Tarrant County judges and bar association representatives were guests.

"We do not seek battle or debate with the bar and the bench," McKnight said. "No two elements should work more closely together than the press and the bar."

He said journalists, lawyers and judges are working together in an effort to settle differences over pre-trial reporting.

Self analysis in the newspaper business has resulted, among other things, in a report by a committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors on which McKnight served. The report recommends that newspapers:

—Report criminal news with restraint and concern for the rights of the accused.

—Give the public full and prompt information on criminal action.

—Resist all attempts to restrict coverage of trials and related events.

—Engage in frequent discussions with members of the bar and the bench in an attempt to create mutual understanding.

Dr. Townsend's Circuit Rider Article Printed

ABILENE—Dr. Charles (Bud) Townsend, newly named associate professor of history at Hardin-Simmons University, has been notified that a scholarly article he has written will be published by the "Ohio History," a publication of the Ohio Historical Society, Columbus, Ohio.

The article is entitled, "Peter Cartwright's Circuit Rider Days in Ohio, 1805-1807."

Cartwright was one of the most celebrated religious leaders and circuit-riders of the West. A Methodist, he baptized approximately 8,000 children and about 4,000 adults, receiving 22,000 into the church, according to Townsend's article.

Cartwright, in addition, assisted in the founding of two colleges, helped found the Illinois Historical Society, served four terms in the Illinois House of Representatives and died at 87 years of age.

The circuit-rider was born Sept. 1, 1878, in Amherst County, Va. His father was a soldier in the "great struggle for liberty, in the Revolutionary War with Great Britain." His mother was said to be a devoutly pious woman.

Price Field Move Up To Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—The big question in the auto industry these days is whether or not car makers will boost price tags on their forthcoming 1966 models.

The industry has not had a general price increase since the fall of 1958 when new 1959 models were introduced. That hike averaged about 2.6 per cent.

Since then, the annual boast of the auto makers has been that they have held the price line while improving their cars each year.

Chrysler is slated to be the first auto maker to show off its entire 1966 line in dealerships on Sept. 30, so to it will fall the first move in the price field.

Ralph Watts, veteran automotive editor of the Detroit News, wrote in a recent column: "Most new car buyers are going to pay more for 1966 cars than they did with '65 models."

BE WIPED OUT
"Everything the auto buyers gained from the recent cut in auto excise taxes — and much more in some instances — will be wiped out when the new models appear."

There is little question that industry leaders feel they are on a spot insofar as price increases are concerned.

The industry, after long years of fighting, won a major victory last June when the 10 per cent federal excise tax on new cars was cut to 7 per cent, with an additional 1 per cent cut by next January 1 and an ultimate cut to 1 per cent by 1969.

Spokesmen for the auto industry had promised the government through the years that any cut in the auto excise tax would be passed along in full to the car buyer.

GOES ALONG
Thus, the industry had to go along with the tax return idea, even though some auto executives felt they could make out a good case as to why the auto companies should get part of the tax cut.

Three of the big reasons cited were increased costs for production, labor and parts. Some questioned how long the auto makers could absorb these additional costs without increasing car prices.

Another factor was the number of safety items, such as dual windshield washers and wipers, side mirrors and padded dashboards which will be standard on 1966 cars in response to the suggestion of the federal government.

Thirteen of these safety items were made standard on 1966 cars. Testimony before a congressional committee indicated the items were worth about $68.

Insurance Is Restored In Unusual Litigation

GARDEN CITY—Judge Ralph W. Caton, 118th District Court, Thursday morning handed down judgments in favor of the plaintiffs in a pair of lawsuits which may be just the curtain raiser for other litigation all over West Texas.

The cases were styled Lorin McDowell III et al vs. Southern States Life Insurance Co., et al, and Glenn S. Brunson vs. Southern States Life Insurance et al.

Judge Caton began trial of the suits last Monday before a jury in 118th District Court. Thursday morning, he discharged the jury and acted on the cases himself.

He said the suits involved a complicated scheme in which it is alleged agents of the defendant insurance company, acting without permission of the company, picked up two life insurance policies held by the plaintiffs. The alleged reason was that there were dividends due on the policies, and they had to be audited.

When the policies were returned to the two plaintiffs, they had been allegedly used to obtain loans which had been

Forest Fires Uncontrolled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Uncontrolled fires, pushed by fresh winds, cracked today through Northern California's tinder-dry forests, brush and grasslands.

The last rains fell six months ago.

Two fire fighters were burned, one seriously; separate blazes threatened two towns; a major interstate highway over the High Sierra was closed, and all fire-fighting units in the state were alerted. Blazes were eating at the outskirts of one of the towns and damage there was estimated at $500,000.

Wife Of Doctor Kidnaped By Escaped Mental Patient

BORRINGTON, Maine (AP)—Law enforcement officials and volunteers searched today for Mrs. Lynne P. McGinn, 29, a doctor's wife, abducted at gunpoint from her home by an escaper from a state mental hospital.

Roadblocks were set up at virtually every major highway or intersection in the state after Mrs. McGinn was forced from her home by Roger R. Haller, 31, of Bangor, police said.

HELD PRISONER
They said the man entered the home Thursday afternoon and held Mrs. McGinn and her two children, Stacey, 4, and Pierce, 1, prisoner for several hours. Her husband, Dr. John F. McGinn, arrived home late in the afternoon and his wife greeted him with the words, "We have company."

McGinn was held also, police said but then talked Haller into letting him leave again on the pretext of visiting a sick patient.

WIFE GONE
McGinn rushed to notify police — and then when they returned, they found his wife and station wagon were gone.

McGinn said the man identified himself and talked calmly about his activities since an escape from Bangor State Hospital Saturday night.

Haller apparently put Mrs. McGinn in the station wagon and drove off, as soon as the doctor left the house, police said. When police and McGinn arrived, only the children, unharmed remained.

Careless Smoking Ranks High Among Fire Hazards

"Careless smoking habits are ranked as the number one fire hazard in the nation," A. D. Meador, fire marshal, said today. "One billion factory-made cigarettes are lighted daily by the American public," he continued, "not including cigars, pipes and hand-rolled cigarettes. Virtually every one of these 'smokes' is an incendiary agent, and all careless smokers are unintentional arsonists."

"Preventing fires from careless smoking is a moral obligation of every citizen," he added.

"Fires from the burning embers of carelessly discarded cigars, cigarettes, or pipe ashes are not accidental fires," Meador said. "The thoughtless smoker must take the entire blame. It was a careless smoker, not an accident, that caused the holocaust in Texas City, which cost the lives of 468 persons, and $67 million in losses. The fire department there lost 27 lives in the disaster."

"Careless smokers and thoughtless campers, not accidents, are responsible for the destruction of vitally-needed forests. It is not an accident when unsmuffed smoking materials are thrown out of office and hotel windows or from cars, causing fires."

Is it an accident when a person smokes in bed? "No," Meador said. "These smokers usually promise themselves that only one last puff is needed, and all too often it is their last puff. They never realize that on going to bed they will eventually fall asleep—with the combination of a smoke, magazine, and bedclothes, death is lurking nearby. Deadly gases are generated from burning bedclothes. The result is often a burned home and a newspaper obituary."

People should never smoke in bed, in filling stations, or any area where it is prohibited.

Spacemen At Athens Meet

ATHENS (AP)—This was the Gemini astronauts' day at the International Astronautical Congress. But Russia's spacemen were not exactly taking a back-seat.

The congress invited L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. to address a special plenary session. The Russians scheduled a news conference before the session for Soviet cosmonauts Pavel Belyayev and Alexei Leonov, the first man to walk in space.

Thursday things were reversed. It was the Russians' day at the congress, and the Soviet cosmonauts were featured as speakers at a council session.

No point in showing the '66 Volkswagen. It still looks the same.

Hardly anyone knows that the VWs in our showroom are '66's.

An eagle-eyed visitor may notice that the hubcaps are flattened (so they can't be scrubbed by high curbs). But that's the only clue.

Everything else on the outside is right where we left it in '65.

Inside it's another story. All our time and effort has gone into improvements that matter.

The '66 VW has a third defroster in the center of the windshield for improved visibility.

We put locks on the back of the front seats so they can't be jolted forward.

And this year (for the first time) we've decreased the average gas mileage. By 8%. To a mere 29 miles per gallon.

Because this year (for the fourth time) we have increased the engine's power. By 25%. To give you more push per hill.

There are 23 improvements in the '66 Volkswagen.

Try and find them.

Lethal Chlorine Barge Located

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A sunken barge containing 600 tons of lethal chlorine was located late Thursday in the Mississippi River near the Louisiana State University campus.

Navy divers positively identified the sunken craft as the one which touched off a large-scale search when it was reported missing last Sunday in the aftermath of Hurricane Betsy.

Army engineers, who said they were acting under orders from the White House, waited until 11:45 p.m. to announce the discovery.

Installed from the search operations center to Washington. Authorities had estimated there was enough chlorine in the barge to kill 40,000 persons if released accidentally in a heavily populated area.

More than 100,000 gas masks were rushed to Baton Rouge for possible use.

There was no word when engineers would begin operations to raise the barge from its muddied in the Mississippi. It was located about 200 feet off the east bank of the river.

SHIPPING OPEN

Shipping in the busy Mississippi was immediately reopened.

"The barge is safe, and there is no danger of any kind," said Col. Thomas J. Bowen, Army district engineer.

The federal government rushed planes and a Navy destroyer to Baton Rouge to participate in the search, but it was a simple hand-carried device that located the barge.

A "bottom profiler," a recently developed device, which scans water bottoms was used to find the barge.

Army engineers advised maritime interests to use caution in navigating the Mississippi in the area.

Skeleton Twenty Centuries Old

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — An archaeologist said Thursday that a skeleton found in a sand pit near here was that of a man who roamed Central Texas more than 2,000 years ago.

Curtis Tunnel, archaeological curator of the Texas Memorial Museum at the University of Texas, said the skull was elongated instead of round like most human skulls since about 500 A.D.

He said bones, remarkably preserved, apparently were those of an Indian who died between the ages of 35 and 45.

Mrs. Irwin Scheel found the skeleton on her husband's farm near here.

Two AF Planes Downed In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force jet planes were shot down in North Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

The F105 Thunderchiefs, part of a six-plane raid Thursday, were apparently hit by intense anti-aircraft and automatic weapons, fire 80 miles northwest of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

The pilots were believed alive. They were listed as missing.

2 DOWNED

The downing of the two planes brought the total of U.S. planes shot down in North Viet Nam to 92 since air strikes began last February, the spokesman said.

A flight of fighter-bombers, believed to be American, destroyed the north end of a bridge in the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam Thursday night, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Three Vietnamese were reported killed but it was not yet known if they were North or South Vietnamese. Observers assumed they were North Vietnamese since they were on the north end of the bridge.

Geothermal Power Bill Now In Panel's Hands

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new source of energy—the heat of the earth's interior—may be tapped if a bill passed by the Senate becomes law.

Development of this energy for production of electric power, minerals and heat would hold much interest for the oil and gas industry.

Several angles would be involved. Although some of the results might be competitive with the industry as it now is constituted, there is another side. The industry's oil field equipment and experience undoubtedly would be put to use in development of the geothermal energy, creating new markets and new jobs.

KNOWN DEPOSITS

Under the Senate-passed bill, now before the House Interior Committee, geothermal deposits in the public domain would be opened to leasing. Most of the known deposits in this country are under federal lands.

"In recent years the worldwide search for sources of low-cost energy has accelerated," the Senate Interior Committee reported in approving the legislation.

"Consequently, there is substantial interest in the potential for commercial development of geothermal power, particularly in the Western United States. Geothermal power is a little known, relatively new, and unique source of energy."

AIR, WATER

While a mental picture of Old Faithful comes readily to mind with mention of the word geothermal, deposits of steam and hot water which have not forced an opening through to the surface are what the backers of the bill have in mind.

Sections of the country that appear to have the potential for production of geothermal power are limited to the area west of the Great Plains. Oregon, Idaho, California and Nevada contain such thermal areas.

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., author of the bill, said in explanation.

ICC PROBES

The International Control Commission began an immediate investigation. India, Canada and Poland are the three members of the commission.

U.S. authorities reported these other developments:

About 40 Viet Cong staged a predawn small arms attack on a government outpost seven miles southwest of Saigon. Vietnamese casualties were light and no estimate was made of guerrilla losses.

Twenty U.S. planes bombed the Co Dinh military barracks, 13 miles west of Thanh Hoa in North Viet Nam. The same area was hit Tuesday.

HIT STORAGE

Other planes hit the Hon Me Island storage facilities nine miles off the coast and 177 miles north of the border with South Viet Nam.

In the Da Nang area, 350 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. Army helicopter killed four guerrillas with its machine guns as it supported a government operation.

Woman Flier Tells Of Fury Of Hurricane

ABERDEEN, N.C. (AP) — The wall of Hurricane Betsy was black. The winds tossed the aircraft like a toy, first up and down and then sideways.

Once inside the eye of the storm, white fluffy clouds appeared. The winds were no more. Temperatures suddenly rose 10 to 15 degrees. Ears popped and cracked.

Below were the Andros Islands in the Bahamas. The damage of the hurricane was clearly visible.

These are the memories of Page Shamburger, who became one of the first women to fly into the eye of a hurricane. She rode through the winds of Betsy 16 times.

TRACKED HURRICANE

Miss Shamburger, a pilot since 15 years of age, was invited by the Air Force to join a two-day tracking of the hurricane that brought death and destruction to Florida and Louisiana.

The Air Force said she was the first woman ever to ride on a hurricane penetration flight.

Miss Shamburger rode in the Air Force four-engine plane on two 12-hour missions.

"We would penetrate the storm, fly into the eye and stay there 20 minutes collecting data for the Weather Bureau's national hurricane center," she said.

Miss Shamburger, one of the nation's top woman pilots, said there wasn't time to be frightened.

Motorcyclists Urged To Exercise Caution

"A high percentage of accidents involving motorcycles and other two-wheeled vehicles usually result in serious injury or death, a fact that many cyclists fail to realize," Leo Hull, assistant police chief, said. Motorcycle accidents are rising in numbers nevertheless, he stated.

"The American Motorcycle Association's motto is that a properly-handled motorcycle is the safest vehicle on the road," Hull continued.

"Several things the cyclist should always remember will aid him in avoiding accidents," Hull said.

"The size of the 'cycle makes it difficult for other drivers to see it, and the cyclist should always presume other drivers do not see him and be prepared to stop or get out of the way."

"Passing cars on the wrong side, or weaving in and out of traffic is extremely dangerous in any case, but especially so for the motorcyclist. A turning car presents a wall to the cyclist. A man on a motorcycle should never enforce the right of way but should always give the right of way to other drivers, and never 'crash' a yellow light.

"The maximum safe speed for motorcycles or any other two-wheeled vehicle is 60 mph, day or night, even on turnpikes."

"Cyclists who ride their bikes on sidewalks or traffic islands are asking for trouble," Hull added.

"Turns should always be made slowly, Hull indicated, as 'cycles overturn more easily than cars. Cyclists sometimes forget to make hand turn signals," he added, "but they always should."

"Enjoyment of motorcycling is not lessened by obeying traffic rules," he continued. "Thousands of cycling enthusiasts eliminate the inherent hazards of the sport by being careful and still enjoy themselves."

Bonded Fabric Field Growing

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the newest and fastest growing developments in the textile industry is bonding fabrics.

That means joining two fabrics, or a fabric and another material, back-to-back by adhesives.

Consumers buying clothing, draperies and many other textile items are going to encounter bonded fabrics more and more.

The idea of bonding got going in 1938 when manufacturers joined foam to other materials, mainly for outer wear such as ski clothes.

GROWS FAST

In 1961, bonding of fabric to fabric was introduced. From 1961 to 1964 the number of yards of bonded fabrics that were cut in the United States grew from zero to 100 million. Industry spokesmen predict that for 1965 between 200 million and 300 million yards of bonded goods will be cut.

In 1961, only four or five companies were attempting to master the technique of bonding.

D. L. Ludecke Found Dead

LAMESA (SC) — Delvin Lee Ludecke, 28, who had lived at 500 State, Big Spring, for the past two months, was found dead in his pickup truck about a mile north of Boyd's Lodge at Lake J. B. Thomas today.

He was found by his brother, Bill Ludecke, in whose cabin Delvin Ludecke had been living at the lake.

Sheriff Keith Collier of Snyder, investigating, called Justice of the Peace Cone Merritt of Scurry County. Merritt ruled death was due to a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the right temple. A .22 calibre rifle was found near the body, and the man was judged to have been dead about 12 hours.

He was a farmer and oil field worker, an army veteran in the active reserve, and was a Methodist.

Ludecke was born in Hamlin Aug. 9, 1937. He lived in Borden County about 12 years.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Branon-Phillips Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. Howell Watkins, pastor of the North Ridge Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in the O'Donnell Cemetery.

Survivors are the wife, Mrs. Bonnie Ludecke, Big Spring; a year-old daughter, Flora Renee; his mother, Mrs. Annie Ludecke, Rt. 1, O'Donnell; two sisters, Mrs. Fay Owens, San Antonio; three brothers, Howard Ludecke, Bill Ludecke, and Garland Ludecke, all of O'Donnell.

Pallbearers will be Weldon Cooley, Garland Doyle, Bill Williams, A. J. Rains, Harold Lamb, and M. C. Smith.

Police Check Three Thefts

Three thefts were reported to city police Thursday.

Tommy Parks, 2115 US 80 west, told officers a .410 gauge shotgun and a .22 calibre rifle were stolen from his pickup while it was parked near the Desert Sands Lounge, US 80 west. Officers said a wing window had been broken by the thief, who evidently then unlocked the pickup door and took the guns.

B. J. Hutchinson, 601 McEwen, said two tires and wheels were stolen from the "66" Truck Stop's tire rack Thursday night.

A billfold was taken from atop a cabinet in E. B. Dozier's office, 307 Runnels, Thursday, he told officers. The billfold, which contained no money, had several credit cards in it, Dozier said.

FAMILIAR VOLKSWAGEN ... but some changes were made

New Volkswagens Change, But It's An Inside Story

Changes in the new 1966 Volkswagen—like in past years—is an inside story. From the outside, the "beetle" looks just like its predecessors, except for several small differences. On the inside, however, there are substantial changes.

The Volkswagens are on display at Western Car Co., US 80 west, the city's authorized dealer for the popular import.

This year's improvements on the sedan and convertible start with a new front axle assembly, include new convenience and safety features, and a somewhat peppier engine. Most of these changes are carried over into the sporty VW Karmann Ghia coupe, and the station wagon.

Army Plans Electronic Device For War Games

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) — You know those electronic targets that are so popular in penny arcades? The Army soon will be using similar devices to make war games more realistic.

The units, to be used by infantrymen, tanks and artillery, simultaneously flash all turn signals as an emergency warning.

Other new conveniences include a defroster outlet in the center of the sedan's windshield, a larger rear view mirror, and new locking devices on the bucket seats to hold back rests in place in the event of an emergency stop.

City Planning Improvements

"We plan to water down the fill that city crews placed on the west side of the railroad spur east of Lakeview School last week," Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said today.

Bulldozers piled up several feet of earth on the side of the hill next to the rails—a hill that Lakewood students use in getting to school.

"The hill was very steep, and school officials feared that some children might lose their footing and fall, so we piled up the earth to make the grade less steep," Lillard said.

"I know the dirt there is soft, but it'll harden after we soak it," he added. "Crews also cleared off a wide area in the brush on the east side of the tracks, and cleared a pathway, so the children can get to school more safely."

Approaches to the school have been one of the chief complaints of members of Northside United, a group that has been protesting the closing of Kate Morrison School by the local school board. The group, which has been picketing the closing, has also stated the area east of Lakeview, which school children have been told to attend, is dangerous.

The approach over the tracks is used by many of the children, instead of a longer approach which requires walking near a heavily-travelled thoroughfare.

"We provide books for the children and feed them. They are being taken care of," Leo Hull, assistant police chief, and Jack Jones, detective, attended a one-day meeting of the West Central Texas Police Officers Association Thursday in Abilene. Louis Berry, executive secretary of the Texas Sheriff's Association, spoke on new legislation that affects law enforcement procedures, Hull said.

Citizens Building Safer Road For Small Pupils

LOVELY, Ky. (AP) — For 32 Kentucky children, the path to school in West Virginia is across a narrow railroad bridge or by floatboat across the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River.

"Some of them have been caught on that bridge by trains," said Shayde Chapman, principal of the Nolan (W.Va.) elementary school which the children attend.

"They had to lie down and let the train pass over them, or get out to the edge of a pier, or if they were lucky, run off the bridge ahead of the train," he said in an interview.

"Of course, it is just as dangerous crossing the river in boats when it is dark or when the water is up."

This condition has existed for years because there is no road large enough to permit Martin County, Ky., school buses to serve Lovely, a mountain hamlet on the West Virginia-Kentucky border.

But the problem may soon be solved—not by the state, or the county or the federal Appalachia program. Sympathetic citizens have raised funds from individuals and businesses and are giving their time to build an all-weather road.

BORROWED 'DOZERS

They started with borrowed bulldozers and graders. During the last three weeks, the county has provided machinery under an agreement that the citizens pay the operator's salaries plus fuel costs.

"We took the Kentucky children because somebody had to Rain is expected tonight from the Upper Mississippi Valley through the Lakes area and in parts of the Middle Atlantic States. A band of showers will stretch from Texas up to the St. Lawrence Valley. It will be colder from the Rockies to the Lakes and inland in the Southwest. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Weather Forecast

Here's How Day Went In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trend is toward more White House news releases, less high-wire clutter, and more civilian employees for the Defense Department.

White House News: Much news that formerly came from the government's various departments and agencies is now coming from the White House. President Johnson's aides have passed the word that "we want first refusal on (announcing) anything that should appropriately come from here."

The practice isn't new, but officials said it has been stepped up under Johnson, who dropped in last month on a meeting of government public affairs officers with Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary.

Forty-two news releases were issued during a four-day Labor Day weekend from Johnson's Texas ranch along the Pedernales River. Some officials started referring to the arrangement as the Pedernales press service.

BEAUTIFY ROADS

Beautification: The road to highway beautification led today from the Senate to the House, where the Public Works Committee considers a bill being backed by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

An overwhelming 63-14 vote gave Senate passage Thursday night to the bill, which would provide $320 million of Treasury funds along with federal contracts to landscape the roadsides and clear them of billboards and junk yards.

DEFENSE EMPLOYEES

Defense Department plans to hire 60,000 more civilians next year to replace 75,000 military men now assigned to noncombat duties.

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the plan Thursday saying it would free more uniformed men for combat assignments and reduce the size of draft calls during the current increase in the armed forces.

CAPITAL FOOTNOTES

The Senate starts debating a bill to change the basis of U.S. challenge of the seating of five Mississippi congressmen. An explosion which killed 53 workmen in a Titan missile silo at Searcy, Ark., last month was caused when a welder's torch bumped against a line carrying inflammable fuel, investigators report. Artists, performers and scholars may receive federal grants under legislation passed by Congress. The Secret Service will guard Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children for two more years and will provide lifetime protection for former presidents under a new law. Consider a civil rights group's immigration laws. The House passed a bill to establish a new national holiday, Oct. 29, as National Day of Mourning.

SWIM CLASSES

Adult swimming instruction will be available at the YMCA each Tuesday and Thursday from 5:30 to 7 p.m., Jim Gilbert, physical director, has announced.

Bob Burkart, mathematics teacher at Goliad Junior High School, will be instructor. He has been a swimming instructor for 17 years.

Information about the instruction may be received by calling the YMCA at AM 4-8821.

Cerebral Palsy Exams Scheduled

The Children's Service League of Midland is sponsoring a diagnostic clinic for cerebral palsied children Sept. 27 at the Midland Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 2111 W. Ohio, Midland, from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Dr. E. T. Driscoll will be the examining orthopedic surgeon, Dr. J. P. Hooker the examining neurosurgeon, Dr. John W. Foster the examining pediatrician, assisted by physical and speech therapists. There will be no charge for this examination.

Longhorns Seek 2nd Win Here At 8:00

Two teams touted to go places in their respective leagues—Big Spring and Ysleta Bel Air—both clubs posted relatively easy victories in their opening square off against each other last week. Big Spring mesmerized the Lamesa Tornados, 26-0. Bel Air toyed with El Paso Coronado, 34-7.

No-Hit Hurler Product Of Teddy's Old School

BOSTON (AP) — Herbert Hoover High School in San Diego, Calif., produces some pretty fair baseball players. It sent Ted Williams to the Boston Red Sox and now Dave Morehead.

The 22-year-old Morehead fired the first American League no-hitter in three years Thursday as he allowed only one man to reach base in the Red Sox' 2-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Morehead, who earned a job with the Red Sox in 1963 though only two years out of high school, barely failed to match Sandy Koufax' perfect game for the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League last week.

The Boston right-hander walked Rocky Colavito on a 3-and-2 pitch at the start of the second inning. Then he struck out Fred Whitfield, Chuck Hinton and Pedro Gonzalez.

"I can't believe it," Morehead said excitedly, his hand shaking. "Look, I threw only 105 pitches. That's my all-time low. And I don't think I have to say it's my all-time thrill."

There was little doubt that Morehead was nervous as he took the mound for the ninth inning. And Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbets, an old pro as player and manager, made sure the kid earned his no-hitter.

Morehead, who struck out eight, was called up to face three straight pinch hitters. Larry Brown lined to shortstop Eddie Bressoud and Lou Clinton, a former Boston outfielder, hit a liner directly to center fielder Jim Gosger.

In Thursday's National League games, New York turned back Cincinnati 7-3, Los Angeles blanked Chicago 2-0,

San Francisco whipped Houston 5-1, Philadelphia downed Milwaukee 8-6 and St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 2-1.

Crippled Buffs Await Invasion By Coahoma

STANTON—Two old antagonists, Coahoma and Stanton, tangle in a football donnybrook at 8 o'clock here tonight.

Coahoma, rated in most of the state polls, will be seeking its second straight victory. The Stanton club, badly crippled for this one, has lost two straight since the season began.

The Bulldogs were idle last week, after having defeated Rankin, 20-0, in their opening game. Stanton has dropped a 12-0 decision to Roscoe and was kayoed by Big Lake last week, 40-8.

Coach Bill Milam isn't sure his ace quarterback, Buddy Shanks, can see any action due to physical miseries. The Buffaloes have had no more than 17 boys working out at times this week.

Coahoma, coached by Spike Dykes, have tremendous potential. Marshall Williams is doing a creditable job at the quarterback spot and can call upon such talent as fullback Tony Butler and halfbacks Terry Denton and Johnny Gibson to lug the leather.

Or he can flip passes to ace ends like Bobby Pherigo and Mike Mosley. As long as Dykes can keep all his boys healthy, the Bulldogs will be tough to handle.

Form usually goes out the window when this game is played, however. Although the schools are in different districts, the clubs play as if everything else was an anti-climax to this one. Milam says he has five players who are on the doubtful list, due to injuries. They are Randy Hukaby, starting center; Shanks, who has a bruised muscle in his arm; Larry White, alternate quarterback; Allen Springer and Karl Herzog.

White was hurt in a car accident. Springer has a broken bone in his foot and Herzog has an ankle injury.

Stanton will again lean heavily upon sophomores.

Terry Franklin may get the starting call at quarterback for Stanton, if Shanks can't play.

Palmer Fights To End Slump

DALLAS (AP)—Arnold Palmer says he has adopted a new approach to golf in an effort to return to his winning ways.

He has other folks taking care of some of his many business interests, and he's going to be sure he's all rested up before he plays in a tournament.

"I have hired two men to take some of the details off my hands," he explained.

Palmer's fellow golfers and many fans have blamed off-course activities for robbing him of his winning ways.

Too much time on golf club manufacturing, book promotions, clothes endorsements and a half dozen other non-related businesses were cited as reasons Palmer hasn't won a tournament since May 2 at Las Vegas and not even one the 11 months before that.

In fact, the former great winner of golf has taken only three first places since 1963.

"I haven't actually divested myself of anything," said Palmer Thursday after he paired with Sam Snead to beat Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson 5 and 3 in an exhibition match played for charity.

"And there's only so much activity I can cut down if I want to keep everything going. But I've taken a new attitude — a new rule — the week I play in a tournament, that's the week I won't be doing anything else."

He explained that he had been scheduling something on Mondays and Tuesdays — personal appearances, exhibition matches — and when he got to the course on Wednesday "I was already tired. I wasn't alert and sharp."

Palmer said he agreed with Gary Player, the man from South Africa who has been taking the big ones of late, that the biggest flaw in his game had been a lack of concentration.

"The secret is to be rested," said Palmer, "and if I can't go into a tournament rested from now on, well then I won't play in it."

Runnels' 8th Winner, 8-6

SNYDER—Big Spring Runnels scored in the final 15 seconds of play and then added the two extra points to nip Snyder Lamar, 8-6, in an eight-grade football game here Thursday evening.

Fernando Mendosa accepted a pass from Johnny Rutherford, good for 20 yards, to break the scoring ice for Big Spring. The drive covered 50 yards.

Rickey Ray Thomas then went over on an end sweep on the conversion try to provide Runnels with its second straight victory. Last week, the Yearlings toppled Sweetwater, 14-6.

Snyder scored in the opening period on a reverse. The Lamar team didn't mount another serious scoring threat.

Big Spring fumbled once at the five and another time at the two, losing possession each time.

Lewis Switzer and Joe Zubiate showed to advantage on offense for the Yearlings while Mendosa, Charley Rodriguez and Rutherford were pace-setters on offense.

Clay Foresee's greatest fight was against Floyd Patterson.

"It will be the greatest of all time," said Clay (call me Muhammad Ali), after he announced at a press conference Thursday that the 15-rounder had been set for Las Vegas and that the Nevada Athletic Commission had approved it as a title fight.

FORSAN COACH OSCAR BOEKER WITH SENIORS

Forsan Buffs Gun For 2nd Victory

FORSAN — Elated over the poise his Forsan team showed in its opening game last week, coach Oscar Boeker sends the Buffaloes out against the come-back-minded Gail Coyotes at 8 o'clock here tonight.

Gail dropped nine of ten starts last year and was found wanting in its first time out of the chute this year, losing to Sterling City by the decisive margin of 22-6.

Still, there's every indication the Coyotes will be better. For one thing, they're bigger than they were a year ago. For another, a steady rain last Friday kept them from using one of their favorite weapons, the aerial bomb.

Gail has a new coach this year in Jack Aldridge, a Texas Tech alum who formerly coached at Nazareth and Anton. Joe Neill helps Aldridge.

Brant Payne, a 155-pound junior, will try to riddle the Forsan defenses from his quarterback spot. Brant did not play last year.

Other Gail standouts include Ricky Cunningham, Don Nunnally and Dale Kite. The latter is one of the returning regulars on the Gail squad. Others back who played regularly a year ago include Wayne Bains and Larry Wallace, guards; and backs

Tony Isaacs and David Lansford. Tommy Hancock, a 294-pounder, will be at center for the Coyotes.

Forsan has a squad built around two seniors, Doug Franklin and Jackie Shoultz.

Jack Ellis, a junior, will be at the quarterback spot for the Buffs.

Others sure to see action for the Forsan club are Larry Callahan, Clayton McKinnon, Ray McKinnon and Freddy Willis.

Probable starters:

GAIL COYOTES
E—Ricky Cunningham 155 and Dale Kite 122; G—Wayne Bains 123 and Larry Wallace 191; C—Tommy Hancock 294; QB—Brant Payne 155; HB—Don Nunnally 144 and Dale Kite 122.

FORSAN BUFFALOES
E—Ray McKinnon 155 and Doug Franklin 158; G—Gary Irwin 208 and Tommy Girther 141; C—Jackie Shoultz 165; QB—Jack Ellis 155; HB—Freddie Willis 123 and Larry Callahan 123.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Mike Williams, who helped Ysleta Bel Air roll to a victory over El Paso Coronado last week, returned from Germany only recently.

Coach Harris Cantrell of the Highlanders thought for a long time the star end might not be available for play this fall. With him in the lineup, Bel Air might well parade to the District 1-AAAA championship, although Ysleta High was the pre-season choice out that way.

He and Nick Bonty are the two boys the Big Spring Steers will have to stop if they hope to achieve victory tonight. Bonty, a fullback, is fast and has a low center of gravity. He runs with the authority of a Jimmy Brown. The local fans will see few like him in action this fall.

HARRIS CANTRELL

Coronado fielded 22 seniors against Bel Air last week, yet got beat by a score of 34-7.

Coach Harris Cantrell credited his defensive unit rather than his offense with the win, however. Total yards gained favored Bel Air by a mere margin of 234 to 212.

Bel Air's defensive squad scored three of the five TD's against Coronado.

Cantrell, by the way, is now in his ninth year as head coach at Bel Air. A native of Ysleta, he played football for Ysleta High and Texas Western before returning to his old school as a coaching aide. He also coaches track at Bel Air.

Total crowd at the Big Spring-Lamesa football game here last week was 6,776, of whom 6,134 were paid. The turnout probably would have been bigger had not a threat of rain loomed great just before the kickoff.

Cash receipts amounted to $6,729.25. Lamesa asked for 1,500 adult and 750 student tickets. The bulk of that shipment came back unsold, however. Lamesa fans purchased 351 reserve seat and 253 student ducats.

Incidentally, season ticket sales here now amount to 1,172, which exceeds by 226 the highest previous aggregate on record.

Adolfo Nabarrette, a star of the first magnitude for Odessa Ector against Colorado City last Saturday night, is being compared in Odessa with the great Zeke Sanchez, who is now running first string on the SMU varsity.

That is a paragon of praise limited to very few athletes at Ector. If not the most talented footballer ever to perform for Ector, Sanchez was certainly the most colorful.

Total betting handled at Ruidoso Downs the past season was $10,514,302 — third biggest pari-mutuel action in the mountain track's history.

Ruidoso's handle would have been even larger, too, had not one whole day of racing and part of another been washed out.

Kenneth Soles, the former Forsan football quarterback, is attending Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N.M., at his own expense.

Soles tried out briefly with E. B. Lees' Eastern Greyhounds recently but found the year's layout hurt his timing. He'll probably try out again in 1966. Lees wants him to play.

Eddie Everett, a former Big Spring Steer who has been working on the freight docks in Dallas most of the summer, wants to become a coach when he leaves North Texas State University in the spring of 1967.

Eddie hasn't had time to play football in college but he developed rapidly as a senior here.

All SWC 11's See Action This Weekend

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The Southwest Conference football campaign opens on every front Saturday — the first time in years for all members to start the race at the same time—and the opposition is tough as the league makes a big swipe in the inter-sectional schedule.

Every game will be against outside foes, with the teams ranging into the southeast, south and mid-west.

AFTER 9 IN ROW

Defending champion Arkansas starts against Oklahoma State at Little Rock and will be aiming at nine straight over the Sooners. Also, Arkansas will be going after its 13th straight victory, already tops in the nation with a 12-0 record.

Oklahoma State is obviously stronger than last season, when Arkansas won 14-10 and Arkansas isn't sure its quarterback spot has been adequately filled, but the Razorbacks are two-touchdown favorites anyway.

Texas, the conference favorite, opens the season against Tulane at Austin in a game transferred from New Orleans because of Hurricane problems.

There are two Saturday afternoon games and in one of them the young Horned Frogs of Texas Christian challenge the nation's No. 1 rated team — Nebraska—at Lincoln. Nebraska has a big, veteran squad with all the stars of last year when the Cornhuskers were 9-1 during the season and gave Arkansas fits in the Cotton Bowl.

SOUTHALL IS KEY

Baylor, with its offense geared to the thunderous passing of Terry Southall, challenges Auburn at Auburn in the other afternoon tussle.

Southern Methodist, hopeful of turning the corner at last, journeys to Miami to battle the Hurricanes, the football kind. Miami has been rebuilding, too, and has 25 lettermen to bring it about in satisfactory fashion. Southern Methodist had 31, including some stars of 1963—Mac White, John Roderick and Larry Jernigan, who didn't play last year.

Texas Tech starts rolling against Kansas at Lubbock and it will be the first meeting of the two schools. Each is studded with experience but Tech appears to have the edge on the ground and perhaps equal to the Jayhawks in the air.

Texas A&M, not rated very highly in its own conference but making a fresh start under coach Gene Stallings, tries to batter down Louisiana State at Baton Rouge. The Tigers are heavy favorites but they were in the same position last year when they had to go all out to beat A&M 9-6.

LSU is heavy in experience while the Aggies are thin in proven depth. But there is no question of which has the most desire.

Rice plays Louisiana Tech, which was substituted on the Owl schedule when Hardin-Simmons quit football, and the exchange may not be considered fortunate after the game is played. Tech has a veteran outfit that was 9-1 last year and could give the Owls trouble aplenty.

First go-round with hopes of a good start:

Texas-Tulane—Texas by three touchdowns.

Arkansas-Oklahoma State — Probably will be close but Arkansas will win.

Texas Christian-Nebraska — Quite a task for a bunch of kids against the nation's top-rated team and the TCU Frogs won't make it either.

Southern Methodist-Miami—this may be the best bet for an upset and this is predicting that SMU will knock over the Hurricanes.

Kansas-Texas Tech—Tech will win it by about three points.

Texas A&M-Louisiana State—Another good chance for an upheaval but this is not predicting that the Aggies will do it.

Rice-Louisiana Tech — Rice by a touchdown.

Baylor-Auburn — The third chance of an upset and this is predicting that Baylor will do it.

No other rated teams were involved in the scattering action but a couple of them will put their crowns on the line tonight.

Bill For Road Beautification Clears Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The highway beautification bill strongly backed by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has cleared the Senate by an overwhelming 63-14 vote.

While the Senate remained in session Thursday night to pass the legislation, the House Public Roads subcommittee met at the same time and cleared a similar version.

HOUSE PANEL
The full House Public Works Committee scheduled a session on it today.

The bill passed by the Senate was a far cry from the one originally submitted by President Johnson.

But he told Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., chief sponsor of the legislation in the Senate, that the revised version was fully acceptable to him.

About a month ago congressional leaders advised the President that many changes were essential if the measure were to be rescued this year.

Mrs. Johnson said last week she would consider the bill "a step forward... even though we do not get all of the features we want."

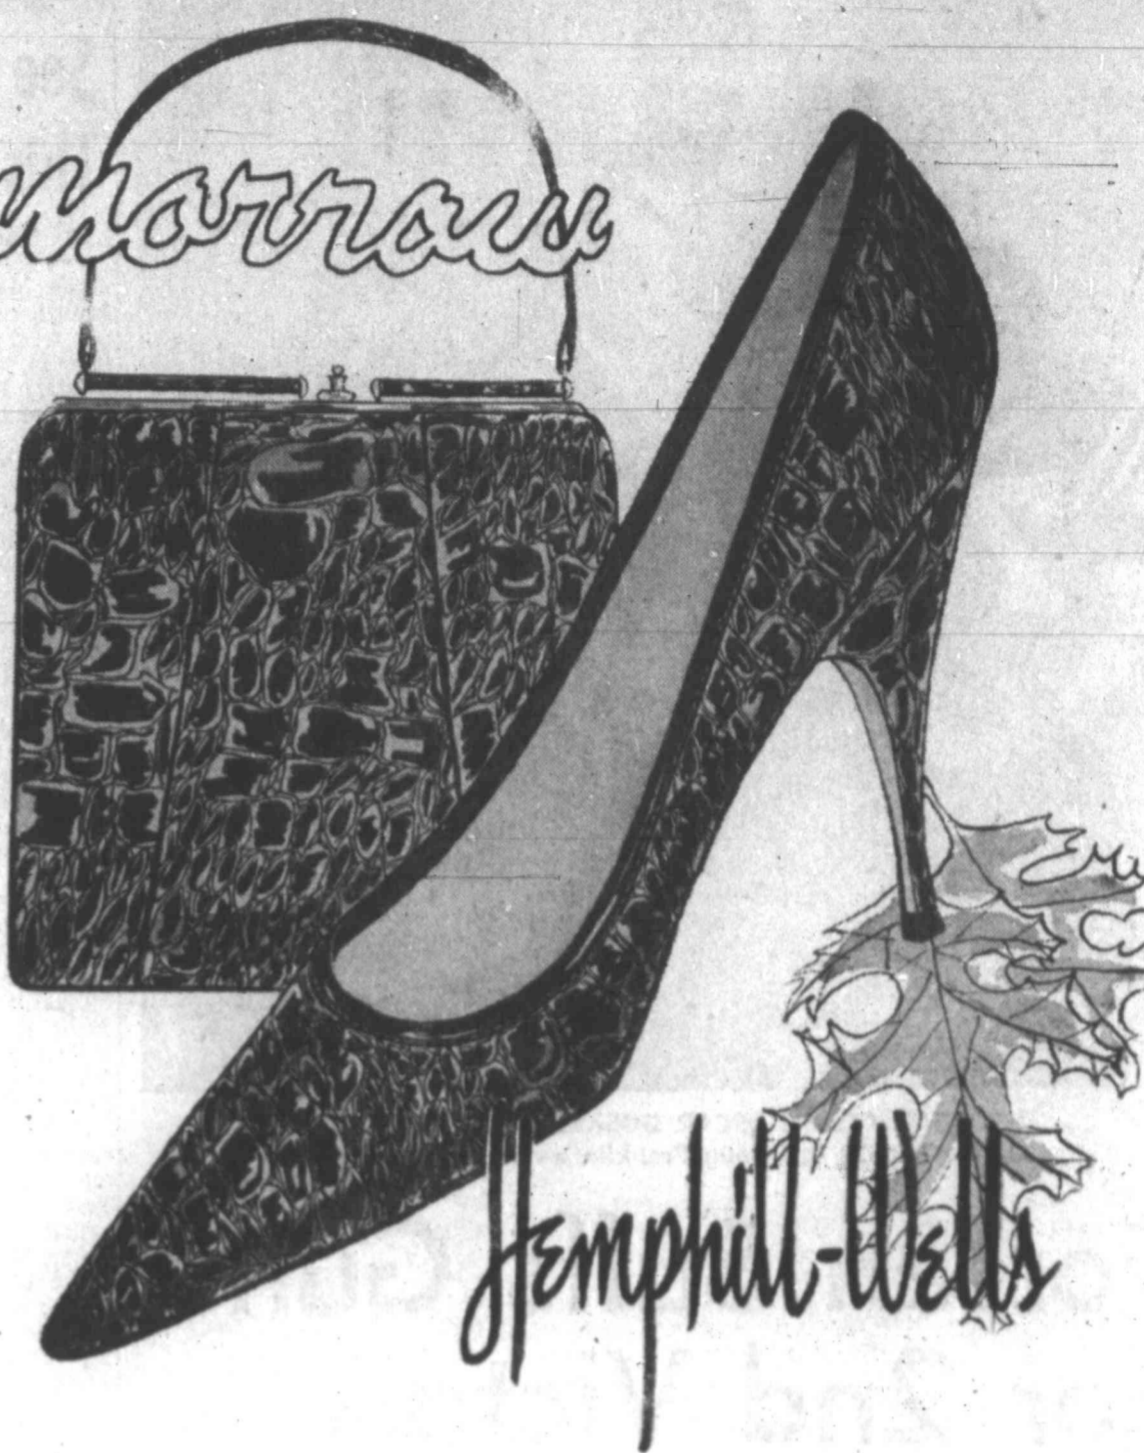

BAN BILLBOARDS
The bill sent to the House by the Senate would ban billboards on much of the interstate and primary highway systems, require removal or screening of junkyards on the same routes, and provide $120 million a year in grants to the states for scenic enhancement and landscaping along all federal-aid roads.

Perhaps its most far-reaching provision is the requirement that signs be removed from the 225,000-mile primary system.

Chicago Execs Hear Connally

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. John Connally of Texas, who has openly disagreed with some programs of the Johnson administration, said today his and the President's relationship "permits difference of opinions which must be a part of any association of thinking individuals."

The governor told the Executives Club of Chicago that Johnson "expects criticism of his policies, foreign and domestic." But, said Connally, a Johnson friend of many years, "He has a right to expect objectivity in this criticism, so that when he faces the awesome decisions of war and peace he need not look over his shoulder in concern of who may be behind him."

Connally has criticized some aspects of the so-called anti-poverty program. "I have found, as other public officials have found, that to question any facet of the poverty program is to open yourself to attack that you are against the poor and for poverty," Connally said.

Of his relations with the President, Connally said: "Because of my friendship with the President for so many years, I have especially grown accustomed to misinterpretation of our relationship every time I disagree with him on any issue — whether it be methods of fighting the war on poverty or the repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act."

RISE HOW FAST?

Economy Poses Guessing Game

NEW YORK (AP) — A current guessing game is going to rise still higher, but just how fast. The rate of growth thus gets prime billing in any announcement.

Some are guessing that the gain will be so small as to all but put the economy on a plateau, something Americans never like. At the other extreme is the expectation that shortly the economy will take so big a spurt that fears of its overheating will cause monetary authorities to crack down and end the era of fairly easy money.

STOCK MARKET

The stock market was playing the guessing game Wednesday. Auto stocks were bid up on news that new car sales rose 14 per cent in the Sept. 1-10 period over the like period in 1964. That 14 per cent seemed reassuring to some traders who had been holding back for fear that consumers might be tiring of their long auto-buying spree. The stock buyers apparently were betting that the auto industry's sales rate gains could be sustained.

Economists are playing the guessing game, in a different way, when they stress that the important thing about the industrial output figures just announced isn't that the index has chalked up its 10th record in a row, but that the increase is the smallest for any month since April.

At 144.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average the Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial activity is a sizable 8 per cent ahead of August 1964. But economists are stressing that this August the gain was only 0.2 percentage point from the July position.

This strengthens the belief of those who see the rate of growth leveling off in the months just ahead.

SAME VIEW

Of the same view are the manufacturers who have told the Commerce Department that they expect the rate of gain in their sales and inventories to narrow in the next three months.

They plan to make the smallest buildup in their stocks in two years. The Commerce Department thinks much of this slowdown in buying for inventory will be traceable to the trend to live off steel stocks that were built up under the threat of a steel strike. But apparently labor peace in the steel industry won't be the only reason for going slow on piling up more stocks in general.

Durable goods producers seem to be the most cautious in their predictions for sales in the next three months. Manufacturers' sales have been rising by 2 per cent from quarter to quarter this year. But durable goods makers think their fourth quarter gain will be less than 1 per cent. And this would hold the increase for all manufacturing to 1.4 per cent.

Firms Agree To Merger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Atlantic Refining Co. and Richfield Oil Corp. have agreed in principle to merge into a corporation with assets in excess of $1.4 billion.

Merger terms call for a share-for-share exchange of Richfield stock for a new Atlantic convertible, cumulative preferred stock. That stock would have a yearly dividend rate of 3 1/2 per cent and be convertible into Atlantic common at the rate of 0.85 shares of Atlantic common for each share of Atlantic preferred.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

All-Purpose Plywood Makes Handy Table

Dear Heloise: I went to the lumber yard and bought a piece of plywood 39 inches square, and bought three sets of screw-on legs in three different heights. We set the plywood up with chair-height legs for jigsaw puzzles, and it becomes a wonderful game and bedside table when someone is sick. It not only holds a lot, but because of its size, it is perfect at the head of a Hollywood twin bed so that a child can lie on his stomach and comfortably draw work on a stamp book or play games. With its highest legs, it becomes an extra card table, or seating for the children, when unexpected guests come for dinner, or for a sewing table, etc. When we entertain, I remove our small coffee table and use the plywood table with its eight-inch-high legs. It stores so easily in a closet until it's needed. . . . Martha Fink

HELOISE

This is what I'd call instant magic! Imagine getting three different heights of tables by using one top—and such an inexpensive one at that! You didn't say whether you finished the plywood, but you could cover it with adhesive-backed paper, or paint it, or stain it and varnish it. There are all kinds of possibilities for making it attractive. Thanks a million, Martha . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: One day, when cleaning kitchen shelves, I became very annoyed at the black markings made by canned goods and metal pots and pans, so I put fresh paper on the shelves, and on the top of that I put the heavy, clear plastic which people use for runners to keep their rugs clean. Love this—no longer have markings—and now have this plastic on all my shelves and in the drawers. When the plastic becomes dusty or soiled, all I have to do is wash it off and put it back. Also, it muffles some of the noise of the utensils. . . . Eve Johnson

The program was given by Mrs. B. M. Keese who described her itinerary during a recent trip to Hawaii. Mrs. Keese showed slides, taken during the trip, which were typical of the island scenery, and provided commentary as each slide was viewed.

The invocation was by Mrs. V. H. Flewellen, and hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Maulden, Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. J. H. Parks, Mrs. Jake Bishop, Mrs. C. B. Moad and Mrs. Ann Smith. Decorations on the table featured an island theme.

She is being introduced here during a two week visit before the couple make their home in San Francisco, Calif.

The honoree was attired in a yellow and green print sheath with which she wore matching green accessories and a corsage of miniature yellow chrysanthemums. She was joined in the receiving line by Mrs. Avery Falkner and her mother, Mrs. Sam E. Smith, who were presented similar corsages.

Churchmen Argue Place Of Church

Should the church listen more to the world and, if so, can it depend upon the world to offer reliable information? In debating these questions, five church leaders reach a "yes" and "no" conclusion on both points.

Stressing that the church "should be in creative tension with our culture," Willard Rand Jr., program counselor of the Methodist California - Nevada Conference, concedes that "too often we churchmen speak before we listen."

And when churchmen do try to communicate, too often it is in cliches, confesses Lawrence Lacour in a recent issue of "Togther" magazine.

REDEMPTION

Yet Dr. Lacour, director of preaching evangelism of the Methodist Board of Evangelism, cautions that contemporary novelists have a good doctrine of sin, but they have no doctrine of redemption.

"Actually," says Ben Johnson of Atlanta, "we do not really know what we are talking about when we say the church in the world."

Johnson, associate secretary for lay activities of the Methodist Southeastern Jurisdiction, refers to a current conception that the church should be where persons work. He thinks this is an inadequate idea, because it excludes the family.

"The problem is," he argues, "that communication is impossible until laymen can handle it."

Another participant in this powwow is Dr. Ronald Sleeth, professor of preaching at Southern Methodist University's Perkins School of Theology.

DELUSION

"This idea of listening is a snare and a delusion," Dr. Sleeth asserts. "We should not depend too much on what we assume the world out there is saying," he warns, "for the world will give you questions that do not really explain its needs."

Welcoming the "openness on the part of the church to experiment, to engage in dialogue," the Rev. Emerson S. Colaw also deprecates the tendency to respond in cliches when the church listens to the world.

Rev. Colaw, pastor of Cincinnati's Hyde Park Community Methodist Church, said: "We should not equate salvation with the traditional forms of church membership. Even baptism is not salvation," he adds. "Rather, the church is a place where we come to equip ourselves for its ministry. The church is alternately gathered for worship and training, and then is dispersed for its ministry in the world."

CITES DANGER

In citing the danger in listening to the world, Dr. Sleeth quotes the martyred German theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer that modern man "is not even asking about God anymore."

"We must quit assuming that people who sit in the pews are ready to take the Gospel somewhere," Dr. Sleeth asserts, and continues: "They need to hear the Gospel as much as did the pagans to whom the Apostle Paul preached."

A fallacy, which he sees, is in "thinking of the church as over-against the world."

Johnson concedes that a false conclusion can be drawn from accepting contemporary opinions.

"The bulk of American people is not caught up in the skepticism which the intellectuals (artists, writers and dramatists) are talking about." "Rather," he thinks, "they are like men who are lost in a forest. They know little about God, but some would like to know more."

However, Rand advises that the churches listen more "so they can learn how to communicate, and that they try to understand people's yearning, and their doubts and feelings of fuzziness." At the same time, he wishes that questions would be asked which aren't being asked now.

URGED TO BE OF SAME MIND

"Growing in Understanding and Patience" is the topic of the International Sunday School lesson for Sept. 19. Text for the lesson is found in Paul's letters to the Philippians and to the Colossians. They were two types of letters, but both called on church members at the same time of the Lord, instead of being divided, and to be forbearing.

Paul was concerned about the church at Philippi because of personal animosities. It was a provincial city with everyone conscious of his own importance. He reminded them that no one in his earthly life could attain a state of perfection. The threat of Judaism was also constant in Philippi, and Paul urged Christians to stand fast in the face of threats.

The church members at Colossae were urged by Paul to recognize the need for growth in patience and understanding, and at the same time suggested the qualities necessary for harmonious human relationships: mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, and long-suffering.

Because of Paul's early life, and his persecution of Christians, he realized that a man cannot petition God for new mercies if he does not first express his gratitude for those he has already received. He believed and taught that, without true thanksgiving, no man can truly pray.

Takes High Post

LAMARQUE — A Big Spring man, C. Bert Andries, has accepted a high post in the statewide organization of the Knights of Columbus, Dr. Joseph G. Murphy, head of the Catholic order in Texas, announced. Dr. Murphy said Andries had been named a district deputy in the fraternal organization, and as such would supervise the activities of a number of councils in the Big Spring area.

Schweitzer's Life Told For Children

A biography of the late Albert Schweitzer, especially written for boys and girls, is being published by John Knox Press. M. Z. Thomas is the author of the book which has gained popularity in editions printed in Germany, Japan, Norway, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, and England. Eighteen line drawings are included with the text.

In his story of Schweitzer, Thomas traces the struggles which the doctor has faced throughout his long life. Beginning with an account of how young Albert almost died as an infant, Thomas describes the background and personalities which have shaped Schweitzer's Christian philosophy, a philosophy which has had enormous impact on contemporary culture.

The reader relives the young Schweitzer's boyhood dilemmas: His attempts to overcome being different because he was a minister's son, his disinterest in things academic, which nearly resulted in his failure in school. What Schweitzer wanted to do with his life and the challenging obstacles he has met, however, are the major concerns of the biography. From the times in which he overworked himself so that he could excel equally well in theology, philosophy, and music until the day he returned to school to study medicine, Thomas studies Schweitzer's concern for others, his desire to do something of value with his life, and his refusal to accept defeat. When, at 37, Schweitzer finally begins his life's work in Africa, the reader begins to understand just why the man's life became a major influence in the world.

Thomas narrates the sufferings, and hardships which Schweitzer encountered in his ministry to a wild, uncivilized, and frequently ungrateful population. The doctor surmounted many problems: The continual battle against the encroaching jungle, which violently objects to any invasion; the constant need for funds and supplies; the snarls and confusions caused by World Wars; and the personal illnesses which plagued Schweitzer and his wife, Helene.

Only after many years is Schweitzer accorded any recognition by the "civilized" world; but even when adulation is lavished upon him, he keeps his perspective. With a man for his subject, Thomas is not hard-pressed to make some observations of what such a life means to the world. "Albert Schweitzer" is intended not only as an educational and entertaining adventure story, but as an inspirational one as well.

Many boys and girls will find much encouragement in this book as they compare their own lives, their ideals and their faiths to those of Dr. Schweitzer. One of Schweitzer's most frequently repeated quotes will make his story all the more significant for the young: "I believe in youth. Young people everywhere have the strength and faith, the courage and the conviction to bring about a real change in the minds and hearts of men."

Popular Campus Speaker Due For Baptist Revival

The man who has been in greatest demand as a campus speaker than any other Southern Baptist pastor will be the guest preacher starting Sunday for the First Baptist's "Fall Festival of Faith."

Dr. Allen has been invited more often than any other Baptist minister as speaker for Baptist Student Union "Focus Weeks." Moreover, he was the visiting lecturer in the field of pastoral psychology at the International Baptist Seminary in Zurich, Switzerland in 1956.

The Southern Baptist Convention frequently calls upon him to write Sunday school lesson materials and devotional articles. Dr. Allen also has written a book, "Reality in Worship," (Broadman Press 1965).

His church numbers over 4,000 members, yet he finds time to be active in Scouting, Kiwanis, the Red Cross, YMCA and the Community Chest.

A native of Minden, La., he is a graduate of Louisiana College, earned his master of theology and doctor of philosophy degrees at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky. He also has studied at Yale University and Union Theological Seminary in New

HAPPY LANDING

This takes nerve! Imagine dropping into space with nothing but a "silk umbrella" between you and eternity! Yet men do it every day, and they trust that umbrella as we would trust our best friend.

Faith is something like that white parachute, as thousands upon thousands of Christians can testify. Faith upholds you and supports you, no matter how rough the going may be. Without faith in a loving God, man is very much alone . . . and man was never meant to deal with life's problems by himself.

Like the first parachute jump, faith isn't easy at the beginning. It takes courage to hand over the reins of one's life, but you can be sure of one thing . . . you'll always land on your feet. Strengthen your faith by attending the church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Devotional For The Day

"Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." (Matthew 5:10, RSV)

PRAYER: Lord, we thank Thee for Thy constant blessings. We pledge to be always ready to face all odds in witnessing to Thy kingdom. Give us the strength to serve Thee with humility and with a spirit of gaiety. In Jesus' name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Better A State Decision

The changes that the Senate Public Works Committee made in President Johnson's highway beautification bill appear likely to stand up through final passage. And the one basic change made on the urging of state governors is, we think, well-advised. The bill, which is on the President's "must" list for approval this session, originally had four main provisions: (1) restrictions on billboards on federal-aid highways, (2) regulation of junk yards on those routes, (3) allocation of federal funds for right-of-way beautification and (4) a requirement that states use one-third of federal 50-50 matching aid for noninterstate highways on the construction of scenic roads or roads leading to scenic or recreational areas.

The Senate committee eliminated that fourth provision. The governors protested it not in opposition to scenic and recreational routes but because it seemed a needless and arbitrary federal intervention in intra-state highway system planning.

The Texas State Highway Commission, for example, has long followed a policy of developing scenic and recreational routes. In this state a prescription that so much federal aid would have to be used for such routes might compel overbuilding in that category at the expense of primary, secondary and farm-to-market projects that are more urgently needed.

If the bill passes as now amended, the states themselves will decide what priority to give scenic and recreational routes in relation to their over-all highway programs. The Texas Highway Department is keenly conscious of the value of this state's booming tourist trade, has pioneered right-of-way beautification, and already developed some scenic routes and others to serve parks and playgrounds and beaches.

Setting A Good Pattern

Yesterday the Student Council of Big Spring High School issued a statement of intentions to improve the reputation of the school as a good host. The council asked fans to join in the effort.

Splendid! In the past there have been isolated, yet disturbingly persistent incidents in which our visitors were subjected to indignities, losses or even, in rare cases, physical violence. These have always been followed with official apologies and efforts to remedy the situation.

These incidents have been caused by a handful of unthinking or rowdy folk. Often times they are not even connected with the school, yet what they do reflects on the school—and just as surely on the community.

Congratulations to the council in taking the lead in doing something about this. Let's all go that extra mile in being hospitable and friendly to our visitors. Let's be personally responsible for putting down any attempt by hotheads or uncouth individuals to create incidents. It's a whole of a lot better to be a genial, warm host than to be forced to be an ashamed, apologetic one.

Hong Kong Next For Red China?

WASHINGTON — Is Hong Kong next?

Those whose business it is to read the shadows cast by coming events (and not any are better at this than the British) are afraid the privileged vacuum enjoyed by the crown colony of Hong Kong may soon be shattered by Communist China.

The British enclave on the mainland of Asia is an affront to the revolutionary anti-colonialist zeal of the Chinese, and the sole remaining anachronism of its sort anywhere in the world.

HONG KONG is Communist China's greatest source of foreign exchange. Direct trade is generally estimated at $300 million a year, and may be much higher. Remittances sent to relatives in China by overseas Chinese total more than $200 million annually. Communist-owned enterprises in Hong Kong, from the towering Bank of China to dozens of mean bars in Wan Chai, the Suzy Wong quarter, funnel more badly-needed foreign exchange into Red China. British-run Hong Kong is probably worth $1 billion a year to the treasury in Peking.

NOT ALL OF this considerable sum would disappear if British suzerainty ever should end, however. American tourists, who now spend millions of dollars in Hong Kong, would vanish. But a great many others would not. Hong Kong, with its unrivaled port, would not become a ghost city under new management.

Doctrinaire considerations that might impel China to reclaim Hong Kong have existed for a long time, however, and are no more disturbing now than they were in 1949. But what is new and disturbing is the accelerating ferment that is sweeping Asia from Pakistan to Viet Nam. A general conflagration would engulf Hong Kong overnight, of course. But, some Cassandras speculate, so could the uneasy sort of peace that Communist China might be compelled to accept.

PEACE ON ANY reasonable terms in Viet Nam would be interpreted as a defeat for China, and revolution, any regimes still in early stages of dynamism do not accept defeat without some sort of violent, face-saving reaction. The bloodless and relatively inexpensive seizure of Hong Kong might well commend itself to Chinese leaders anxious to take the sting out of defeat in Viet Nam.

India, Pakistan War A Somber Fantasy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war between India and Pakistan — with Red China dancing around the edges and now butting in — has become a kind of fantasy, but a somber one.

Warned to keep their nose out by the United States, which they call a paper tiger, the Red Chinese could hardly hope to save face if they obeyed. Besides, they have a big stake in seeing India lose.

Thus, by keeping troops along the northern edge of India, the Chinese have weakened the Indians' ability to fight Pakistan. They have had to divert their forces to watching the Chinese.

SINCE DEMOCRATIC India is the ideological rival of authoritarian China in Asia, so long as it survives and prospers, if it prospers, it provides an alternative to communism. This is unendurable for the Chinese.

Therefore, the destruction of India benefits China which, unlike Russia, has plumped for Pakistan in this war. The Soviets, along with the United States and the United Nations, have wanted a cease-fire to end the fighting.

Pakistan, once considered this country's most fervent ally in Asia, began to cool and turn to China when, after the latter's assault on India in 1962, this country began to arm the Indians.

IT HAD previously armed Pakistan much better. But the population of India outnumbered that of Pakistan by more than 4 to 1. So, if India and Pakistan were ever equally armed, Pakistan wouldn't have much chance.

This is probably the basic reason why Pakistan moved into disputed Kashmir last month — to hit before India got armed any better — and began the fighting, a sort of now-or-never tactic.

But neither India nor Pakistan is equipped for a really long war. Both sides know it. And last week Pakistan must have shocked its Chinese friends by suggesting the United States try to settle things.

Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan said this country should use its "enormous influence" to bring a settlement because it "has a role to play in this part of the world and ought to play it more positively."

But any further intrusion of the United States in Asia is the last thing the Chinese want and this suggestion by Pakistan must have been a blow to them. What they want is the United States out of Asia altogether.

Hidden Elegance In Your Surname?

LONDON (AP) — If your last name is Belcher it doesn't mean you had an ancestor renowned for burping. It comes from a word meaning someone pretty-berchere.

If your name is Allbones, be proud of it. It derives from Alban, the first British martyr. And if your name is Onion, don't despair. It's from the good and ancient Welsh personal name, Enion.

SHACKLADY—AND there are lots of them in England—comes not from some onetime refined lady reduced to living in a hovel. Shacklady is a variation of Shakerley, a hamlet in Lancashire.

James Penethorne Hughes discusses these names — and hundreds more—in his just published book: "Is Thy Name Wart? The Origins of Some Curious and Other Surnames."

"Some surnames which appear ordinary are in fact curious," says the author. "Others which appear grotesque are, when allowances have been made for medieval spelling, almost universal illiteracy, the error of copyists, and the vagaries of English dialect, straightforward enough."

WITH HINTS and a number of source book suggestions, Hughes has written a 128-page book full of fascinating facts about surnames, many of them found in the United States.

The Normans apparently introduced last names to this country. The recording, by parishes, of all births, marriages and deaths was required. This was unpopular and many refused to comply.

The surname business was so haphazard, that until 1910, in Yorkshire, the Rev. Sabine Barling-Gould found many men born with a name in one spelling, who were married under another, and buried under a third.

Bridges, Briggs and Burgess, Hughes says, can all be from some ancient emigrant from Bruges who settled in England. Cullen can be from Cologne. Pickard and Packard came from Picardy across the English Channel.

CALVERT MAY not be as elegant as it sounds. The author finds it comes from the occupation of calf-herding, a man who looked after a pack of calves. Lush and Lusher are not from hitting the bottle, but from the honorable office of Usher. Horn, he says, is a name of great antiquity, coming from a parish in Kent.

Tumors Vary From Benign To Malignant

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a malignant tumor? — MRS. I.F.

A tumor is a growth of some sort; that is, an abnormal growth. A wart, if you want to be technical is a tumor because it's a growth or swelling that is abnormal.

A corn or a callus isn't a tumor because it is a growth that occurs as a result of nature's response to a physiologically uncomfortable condition.

A corn develops because shoes or socks put too much pressure on a certain point. The skin thickens to protect it. The corn becomes painful only because we wear shoes. If we didn't, the corn would merely be a thickened area of skin, protective and not painful. Of course, if we went barefoot, we would have corns anyway. Calluses, to be sure, but not corns!

A tumor is an excessive growth not intended by nature for some useful purpose. Lipomas are growths of fatty tissue under the skin. They may remain small or may grow to considerable size. If they become big enough to be unsightly or uncomfortable or a nuisance, then they can be removed. But that's all there is to them. And there are other types of benign tumors.

So now let's go on to the malignant tumor, a growth which does not stop growing. If not removed or otherwise destroyed, such as by radiation, it will grow endlessly.

It can grow until it engulfs some vital organ, causing death. Or, if that doesn't occur within a moderately short time, the malignant tumor, or cancer will scatter cells which get into the blood and are carried to other parts of the body. Some — perhaps not many, but it doesn't take many to cause trouble — lodge elsewhere. Being malignant, they start new tumors (cancers). This is what we call metastatic cancer, or cancer which has spread from one part of the body to another.

Not all malignant diseases are tumors. Leukemia, which in certain types is called cancer of the blood, may not cause tumors, or lumps, except enlargement of lymph nodes. Rather, it is a disease which essentially is an unrestrained growth of white blood cells. Too many such cells are created at the expense of other needs of the body. And, in addition, the white cells are not properly formed, and hence don't serve their intended purpose.

This, in fact, is another characteristic of cancer. Cells divide and multiply at excessive rate, but they always are imperfect. Thus when cancer is suspected, a biopsy, or sample of the concerned tissue, is taken and then examined to see whether the cells in it are normal or are imperfect.

That is how to determine whether a lump, or tumor, is benign or malignant. And, incidentally, that is how the so-called "Pap test" works. Gentle scraping of cells from a mucous surface, such as the cervix, will disclose the presence of imperfect cells long before their presence can be noted by other means.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How to Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Navel's-Eye View Of Life

Comedian Jackie Vernon told his version of a funny old story the other night on the Johnny Carson teevie program.

Seems Jackie was searching for the true meaning of life. He heard about an old Tibetan wise man, took a tramp steamer to Europe, working in the hold for 30 days, hiked across Europe to Asia, climbed mountains, swam rivers, froze, got sunstroke, and finally arrived at the foot of the philosopher's mountain. He crawled up the mountain through a blizzard, and at last found the temple, inside which sat the aged oracle, sleeping.

"TELL ME, wise one," quoth Jackie, "the secret of life, which I have come all this way to hear from you, fount of knowledge."

"My son," the wise man said, "a wet bird never flies at night."

"I come all this way," said an angered Jackie, "climb mountains, freeze, et cetera, and you tell me a wet bird never flies at night?"

The wise man looked up, surprise all over his face: "Do you mean to tell me," asked he, "that wet birds DO fly at night?"

The wise man left for Istanbul the next morning, Vernon related, in the company of an exotic dancer.

I HAVE always been suspicious of tales of wise Tibetan monks, who supposedly sit around all day, every day, for years, contemplating, I gather, their navels, divining the "true meaning of life" there from.

Aside from the obvious unbalanced tie-in, I have never understood what the contemplation of one's navel has to do with the "true meaning of life." The story is a pretty good way of emphasizing that you don't learn anything about anything, especially life, if you spend all your time avoiding it.

At last report, or at least if Lowell Thomas and Mr. Ripley can be believed, the Tibetians have not yet got around to discovering the wheel. This is understandable.

A LOT OF THE worship of ancient culture and philosophy is uncalled for, when considered in the light of day. People point to Egypt's pyramids as examples of great lasting architecture. Well, a pyramid is nothing but a triangular pile of rocks, almost completely solid. Of course it won't fall down, and you couldn't turn it over if you tried. It is not amazing that the old Egyptians could build them; but that any people would want to build them, as they are nothing more than monuments to the vanity of kings, and the fact that some people will do anything, however foolish, providing authority says they must or it is good for them.

THE OLD CULTURES left something of value behind them, surely. Some of their philosophies are timeless. But no great thoughts, scientific, cultural, spiritual or otherwise ever would have come from men like Lao-Tze, Gautama, Da Vinci, Luther, Kepler, Darwin or Einstein, had they spent their time emboling the past, nose in navel, playing ostrich with reality.

Policy, Policy, Who's Got The Policy?

WASHINGTON—Like a man who's lost a shirt stud and can't go to dinner without it, Washington officialdom has been ransacking the bureau drawers and looking under the carpet for a missing policy—the one that tells what to do when India and Pakistan fall into war.

NOBODY WAS ready for this one. Everybody wanted to talk about something else. When the fighting first started in the faraway subcontinent, the President was settling the steel strike, and then he was emoting over Hurricane Betsy, and then he was giving out ballpoint pens with which he'd signed the Housing and Urban Affairs Department Act.

Secretary Rusk had just selected for publication and distribution a speech he'd made last June at George Washington University. It is entitled, "Guidelines of U.S. Foreign Policy" and is supposed to cover the international waterfront. It gives us the administration line on Viet Nam, Eastern Europe, disarmament, peace and Communist aggression. But there's no mention of how we stand on India-Pakistan.

W. W. ROSTOW, chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Council, also issued a white paper during the Himalayan shoot-up. He modestly described his planners as a "group which works, in a practical way, on the solution of major unsolved problems." Among "problems" of Asia, he listed the Communist aggression, the Japan-Korean economic treaty, the Development Bank—but not the Pakistan-India hostility or the remotest possibility of warfare.

THE NON-OFFICIAL but closely-consulted Intelligence Digest, published in England and discoursing on world trouble areas from inside sources, came out in September with terrible forebodings about Viet Nam, Singapore, Japan, Okinawa, Korea, Formosa, the Philippines — plus a scorching on the Red menace in the Los Angeles riots—but nary a tremor concerning the territorial ambitions of Shastri and Ayub Khan.

THE MISSING shirt stud—the lack of policy—has called for an inordinate amount of intellectualizing. I have never known so many dead men blamed for so much by so many. Spokesmen for the Democratic Party have cast unkind barbs at the late Secretary Dulles (R), who tied us into a couple of pacts with Pakistan. The right wing, which never liked giving all that AID to neutralist India, is blaming the whole thing on poor, dead Nehru. One of my sources for interview urged a column to rip up Franklin D. Roosevelt for his part in liquidating the British Empire. All the departed or retired statesmen who "lost" China one way or another are being excoriated because the Red Chinese are seen as soon biting off a big hunk of India. And the quick and the dead who promoted appeasement of Red Russia are up for absolution because the Russians are seen as coming into our camp against China as they did against Nazi Germany.

IF SOMEBODY doesn't soon find that shirt stud, we may have to sit this party out. And maybe it wouldn't be a bad thing.

Military Use Of Space

WASHINGTON — A belated decision to spend billions for the defense of the United States in "near space" rather than concentrate solely on civilian trips to the moon—has at last been reached.

Military men have been arguing for a long time that Russia's primary interest in space development is military. The United States, on the other hand, has been emphasizing scientific research, the lunar exploration, and possible discoveries in the planetary field.

BUT IT HAS begun to dawn on official Washington that, while it may not be as efficient to use nuclear weapons from space as it is from missile bases, there is a distinct opportunity to carry on accurate observation and other military missions from high altitudes.

President Johnson has just approved the building of a manned orbiting laboratory by the military after years of bickering inside the government and continuous expressions of skepticism about the military value of space.

UP TO NOW, more than $12 billion has been set aside for manned space flights to the moon, and it has been planned to spend an additional $10 billion in that direction, together with billions more in other non-military space programs.

But now the emphasis is changing. Although few details have been revealed, it is known that at least five or six major military-satellite programs are now under way. "U.S. News & World Report," in a recent article, said:

"THE 'SAMOS' photo-intelligence satellites have exceeded all expectations, keeping the United States informed of Soviet missile sites, nuclear progress in Red China and Communist troop movements in both countries. They parachute back pictures with 1,000 times the resolution of standard TV images. "After an uncertain start, 'Midas' infra-red detectors are now able to detect Soviet rocket launchings by picking up telltale exhaust gases and translating them into electronic signals.

"THE 'FERRET' is a version of 'Samos,' equipped for electronic intelligence and communications eavesdropping. It is said to be useful for monitoring radar and radio traffic near Russia's major rocket testing sites, tracking down coded or scrambled transmissions and relaying them to U.S. listening posts.

"Other satellite systems are proving equally useful . . .

"Transit satellites are furnishing missile-carrying Polaris submarines with precise navigation. Six 'Vela' satellites—equipped with radiation detectors—are in orbit to make certain that Russia cannot, undetected, break the nuclear-test ban in space . . .

"WHAT IS ENVISIONED now are giant 'national space platforms' at the center of military operations, directing fleets of interceptors and destroyers, rescue and logistic vehicles. Each platform would carry 10 to 20 men, stay up for months and possibly years."

There are other plans having to do with possible "futuristic" weapons that might destroy enemy targets from outer space. These are still in the theoretical stage. But one thing is clear—control of space by a single nation or group of nations would mean an end to any balance of power on earth. (Copyright, 1965, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Dead End?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — What's in a name? Well, it can be displeasing to some folks if a street is called a "dead end," according to Arthur Daniel, traffic engineer. Street signs are being replaced to read "No Outlet" instead of "Dead End."

Mother Of Miss America In College

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — In the American history classroom at the University of Missouri it was easy to spot the mother of Miss America. Not because she was older than the others, but — wow!

Mama is a knockout. At 43, the mother of two children, Irene Bryant has a figure that could rival that of her daughter — Miss America of 1966. And those statistics read 36-23-36.

"When I was a freshman at Kansas University in 1939 my sorority asked me to compete in a contest but I didn't win," says Mrs. Bryant. "That was as close as I ever got to a beauty crown. And I've even forgotten what contest it was."

She didn't finish college and last summer because of a divorce and grown children, she enrolled at the University of Missouri's Kansas City campus. Mrs. Bryant is finishing work for a bachelor's degree in education. She is a senior and will continue after graduation next summer for a master's in speech pathology.

Miss America wants to be a pediatrician. Mama America wants to do speech therapy with children.

How goes it as a student? "Let me put it this way," she says. "I'm much better than I was 26 years ago. In summer school I had an A in four hours and a B in another four. It's not quite as good as Debbie's. She had only one B-plus and the rest A's in her two years at Christian College."

"She has a keen mind. I wouldn't begin to take the courses she does."

Police said the two were believed to be Roderic Fernandez, 30, a convicted slayer, and a bank robbery suspect, and Thomas Palmer, 20, a convicted auto thief who awaited trial in the stabbing of a fellow inmate at a federal reformatory.

They escaped Tuesday after Fernandez overpowered a marshal.

Officials of the El Paso store said the two men fled with about $400 after displaying a pistol and ordering employees and several customers to lie on the floor.

The victims quoted one of the robbers as telling his companion: "Jerry, you better tell them to get down on the ground. I have taken care of three and I'll take care of the fourth."

They fled in a 1964 model car which was believed stolen, police said.

Police Net Out For Fugitives

EL PASO (AP)—Officers tentatively identified two men who robbed an automobile supply store here Thursday night as a pair who escaped from a U.S. marshal in Oklahoma.

FBI agents joined in a search for the bandits and authorities across the Rio Grande in Mexico were alerted.

Police said the two were believed to be Roderic Fernandez, 30, a convicted slayer, and a bank robbery suspect, and Thomas Palmer, 20, a convicted auto thief who awaited trial in the stabbing of a fellow inmate at a federal reformatory.

Mother Of Miss America In College

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — In the American history classroom at the University of Missouri it was easy to spot the mother of Miss America. Not because she was older than the others, but — wow!

Mama is a knockout. At 43, the mother of two children, Irene Bryant has a figure that could rival that of her daughter — Miss America of 1966. And those statistics read 36-23-36.

"When I was a freshman at Kansas University in 1939 my sorority asked me to compete in a contest but I didn't win," says Mrs. Bryant. "That was as close as I ever got to a beauty crown. And I've even forgotten what contest it was."

She didn't finish college and last summer because of a divorce and grown children, she enrolled at the University of Missouri's Kansas City campus. Mrs. Bryant is finishing work for a bachelor's degree in education. She is a senior and will continue after graduation next summer for a master's in speech pathology.

Miss America wants to be a pediatrician. Mama America wants to do speech therapy with children.

How goes it as a student? "Let me put it this way," she says. "I'm much better than I was 26 years ago. In summer school I had an A in four hours and a B in another four. It's not quite as good as Debbie's. She had only one B-plus and the rest A's in her two years at Christian College."

DEAR ABBY

Keep 'Em Separated

DEAR ABBY: I am expecting my first child in a few months. My problem is this: I have raised two cats since birth and they are very dear to me. My husband and my mother say that if the cats are still here when my baby comes they are likely to hurt, or even kill, the baby. They say that cats are naturally attracted to a baby's mouth because of the scent of milk on the baby's breath, and a cat will suck the breath out of a baby trying to get the milk. I have talked to quite a few people about this and most of them say they never heard of a cat harming a baby. But one lady said she knew of a case where a cat jumped up into a baby's buggy and would have killed it but the mother got there just in time. Now I am worried. I would never put my cats above my baby, but I don't want to get rid of my cats unless I have to. Any information you, or your readers, can give me on this subject would be greatly appreciated.

LOVES CATS

DEAR ABBY: What you have heard about cats harming babies is an old wives' tale. But cats are animals and animals (like humans) are sometimes unpredictable. So keep your cats. But while your baby is tiny, make sure the cats can't get to him.

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I sent over 100 Christmas cards. One of my relatives returned MY card and scribbled "the same to you" on it, then signed her name. I later learned that she had done the same to others who had sent her Christmas cards. Has there been a new amendment to the rules of etiquette to include this practice? If so, I may do it myself this Christmas. I could save a little money.

"TEMPTED"

DEAR ABBY: It's highly improper. You'd better think of another way to save a little money.

DEAR ABBY: When my sister, Sue, was born, my older sister, Mae, and I were both married. Mother died when Sue was an infant, so Sister Mae raised her. Years ago I promised Mae that when Sue was married, I'd go 50-50 on the wedding expenses. Last summer Sue became engaged. Since then the engagement has been off and on again three times. Right now it's on and the wedding plans are being made. Sue's fiancé is moody, hot-headed and nobody likes him.

I can't see this marriage lasting a year if it ever comes off at all. I hate to go back on my promise, but my husband and I can't afford to throw out $1,000 on something that won't last. If I don't pay my share I'll have both Sue and Mae mad at me, but like I said, Abby, I'm sure it will be money wasted. What should I do?

STUMPED SISTER

DEAR STUMPED: Your promise wasn't contingent upon your approval of your younger sister's choice of a husband. You had better put up the money and hope for the best. The alternative is to be known as a wetcher.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Kiwanis Elect Hollingsworth

Clyde Hollingsworth was elected president of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club for 1965 at the annual election of officers Thursday. He will succeed Bob Travis, who is now president, in January.

Other officers elected are Bill Johnson, first vice president; Roscoe Newell, second vice president; Delaine Crawford, secretary-treasurer; J. C. Pickle, Charles Warren, Paul Chappel and George Franks, directors. Hold-over members of the board are Sam Blackburn, Jay Banks and Ernest Welch.

Announcement was made that the club will be host to the members of Webb AFB Class 67-B at a picnic in Big Spring City Park Sept. 25. Class 67-B is the newest group of student pilots at the base. The menu will feature a barbecue dinner. There will be special entertainment. The picnic is to start at 5 p.m. and is to end in time for the students to attend a second function at the base the same night. Kiwanians and their wives are urged to attend. Prior trainees who are married will be accompanied by their wives.

Delaine Crawford, Jack Alexander and Travis are to attend the Kiwanis District Convention, which is to be held next week in Lubbock.

New Shows Present A Familiar Ring

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's most recent entries in the ratings race Thursday night included a comedy about the richest man in the world, a western adaptation of the Three Musketeers, Juliet Prowse demonstrating why only she and Mary Tyler Moore should be the only women allowed to wear slacks, Dean Martin laughing at Frank Sinatra and the beginning of what looks suspiciously like another evening soap opera.

That reads like a rather giddy evening for the home folks sampling the new shows. Sad to report, however, most of the newcomers have a familiar look and sound about them — particularly the comedies.

"O. K. Crackerby," ABC's series starring Burl Ives as a 50-carat diamond-in-the-rough, ought to count as one of the fantasy shows with wily old Crackerby waving a million dollar check instead of a magic wand. He wants to win social acceptance and thinks he can do it only by buying everything in his way. Ives is a persuasive performer and may be able to convert this into a silk purse, although the opening show looked like pigskin. It contains an assortment of precocious kids and an impoverished male social register, so that's the way the plots are going to be built.

"Laredo" on NBC is one of those droll Westerns with three roistering, fun-loving Texas Rangers chasing Indians, girls, shooting, fighting and riding horses. There's certainly nothing new here — even the rocks have a familiar look.

"Mona McClusky" another NBC comedy entry, stars Miss Prowse as a movie queen of B features who is paid $5,000 a week and is married to an Air Force sergeant who makes only $500 a month. The comedy hangs on the unexplainable determination of the husband to make out on his money alone — in a quonset hut yet.

ABC's first episode of "The Long Hot Summer" was not really a dramatic show but an introduction to the many characters and an attempt to plant some plot seeds which, hopefully, will bloom later.

It started with Ben Quick, played by Roy Thines, returning to his home town after an absence of 13 years with a score to settle.

White House Screens U.S. News Releases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's aides have passed the word to the administration's corps of public relations men: If there's something to be announced, let the White House know about it first.

The result, a check of Cabinet agencies showed today, is a steady flow of proposed or prepared news releases for appraisal at the White House.

"We want first refusal on anything that should appropriately come from here," one White House assistant said.

But at the same time, he said the White House probably will exercise more selectivity in choosing what will be returned to the executive agencies for release there.

TO PRESS AIDE

The stream of agency news releases to and through the White House apparently picked up after an August conference which brought agency public affairs officers to the office of Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary.

Johnson stopped in for what a White House assistant described as a pep talk.

At another point, people who were on hand reported, he lectured the public affairs men, demanding a better written flow of announcements about the administration.

He was quoted as saying if that did not come about, he would enlist some high school seniors from Johnson City, Tex., and count on them to do the job.

Officials in the Cabinet agencies and at the White House would not talk for attribution about the stepped-up flow of announcements.

A White House spokesman said the same kind of public relations operation has been conducted in past administrations.

inger did it for John F. Kennedy at Hyannis Port, Mass., James C. Hagerty did the same for Dwight D. Eisenhower at Augusta, Ga.

The stream of press releases gives the impression of business as usual, or more than usual, during a presidential weekend off.

One Cabinet agency press officer pointed to that background in discussing the topic. But he added that his agency is sending more information for release at the White House than ever before.

He said a White House announcement often attracts more attention than would one issued by the agency involved. A White House official said the same thing.

ONE DISAGREES

But another press officer disagreed.

Other agencies report they keep the White House informed of their newsmaking potential on a less formal basis.

One agency's information man said Johnson has relayed word that he does not want to wake up in the morning and read in a newspaper an announcement or report he had not heard first at the White House.

The harvest from this effort reached a peak during Johnson's Labor Day weekend in Texas. The score: 42 news releases in four days.

One batch was so heavy that White House aides had to wheel it into the press room on a baggage cart.

Chief Edgar A. Geinas, who look the call, knew there was no one at his home. He and Patrolman James Ryan found a rear window and a door broken, the home ransacked and between $250 and $300 missing from a bureau drawer. Three boys hiding in bushes behind the house fled despite a warning shot into the air by Ryan.

Police Chief Theft Victim

BLACKSTONE, Mass. (AP) — An excited resident called police headquarters this week saying that "the cop's house on Edgewater Drive is being broken into."

Chief Edgar A. Geinas, who look the call, knew there was no one at his home. He and Patrolman James Ryan found a rear window and a door broken, the home ransacked and between $250 and $300 missing from a bureau drawer. Opening lead: Three of ♠
Failure to protect himself against an unfavorable division in the trump suit proved very costly to South, the declarer at four spades.

North opened the bidding with one club and South responded with one spade. When North rebid one no trump, South insisted on a game contract by jumping to three diamonds, inasmuch as he had the equivalent of an opening bid himself. Observe that a mere call of two diamonds is not considered forcing when the original rebid has been one no trump. When North showed a preference for spades, South carried on to game in that suit.

West opened the three of hearts and South, unable to resist the temptation to take a free finesse, played the queen from dummy. East covered with the king and the declarer ruffed.

The king of spades was led and permitted to hold when West played low. A small spade was continued and West ducked again, allowing North to win the trick with the nine. When East showed out, South abandoned the trumps for the time being and shifted to the queen of diamonds. West declined to win this trick also; however, he took the diamond continuation with the ace, cashed the ace of spades, and led back another heart.

By this time, declarer was in serious trouble. He put up North's ace of hearts, but there was no way to reenter his hand without forcing his trump holding below West's size. If he led a club, East could play the king and then return another heart to force out South's remaining trump. Declarer lost control of the hand, and the result was a three trick setback.

South could have achieved a happier fate by preserving North's queen of hearts at the opening gun. The suggested play from dummy is a small heart. This may induce East to put up the king, which would resolve declarer's problems without further ado.

But suppose that East plays the nine of hearts at trick one. Declarer can take out insurance against an unfavorable trump break by merely discarding a club from his hand. East is in, but there is no damaging return that he can make. South has time to dislodge both the ace of spades and the ace of diamonds and subsequently draw trumps before his spades are reduced to the vanishing point. His other club eventually goes on the ace of hearts, and he loses only three tricks.
