Chinese Setting Up New Offensive on Northeast Sector

SEOUL —(P)— Eighty thousand Chinese Reds on a new offensive were reported attacking United Nations forces in northeast Korea today. A curious lull fell on the frozen bloody battlefronts in the northwest.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Arnold told war reporters six to 10 Chinese divisions "suddenly confronted" his 10th Corps forces in the northeast.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker's Eighth Army in the northwest was similarly faced with 200,000 Red Chinese at the outset of the Communist offensive last weekend.

Profit Tax Bill Appears Dying In Committee

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Truman's $4,000,000,000 excess profits tax proposal appeared doomed to defeat today in the House Ways and Means committee.

But it also appeared certain that the committee soon will come up with a compromise that won't yield as much revenue.

WASHINGTON —(P)— The House Ways and Means committee today agreed on a compromise excess profits tax bill estimated to yield $3,400,000,000 a year. It would be retroactive to last July 1.

enate as the President wants to help pay mounting defense costs but will tax profits defined as abnormal.

A day of up-and-down-the-hill voting Wednesday left the committee about where it started and threw off schedule its timetable calling for a completed bill by the end of this week. Revised prospects were that a bill would be ready some time next week.

Strong sentiment is building up in the committee for a compromise (See PROFIT TAX, Page 2)

NPA Says No Controls Rush

WASHINGTON —(P)— Civilians may feel fairly certain that the military reversal in Korea will not bring a rush of home front controls, a National Production Authority (NPA) official said today.

A cut in civilian use of copper announced late Wednesday, and the other industrial mobilization controls already issued have been drawn up "as if we were preparing for the worst," a spokesman for the agency said.

A sharp speedup in the defense department's rearmament timetable could affect NPA's schedule of home front controls, the spokesman told a reporter, but it is unlikely the effect would be felt immediately.

"We have heard some criticism on grounds that our mobilization controls were running" (See NPA SAYS, Page 2)

Santa Passing Through Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (Special)— Santa Claus and four of his reindeer passed through this city today on their way to Pampa, Tex., and the annual Christmas Parade to be held at 7 p. m. Friday, Dec. 1. Santa appeared to be hale and hearty, and was his usual jovial self.

Prancer, the little, trim-looking deer who has been ill, appeared to be in fine shape once again. She was nibbling on some food, as was Dancer, Dunder and Blitzen.

Santa left early this morning to continue his journey to Texas and then to continue on around the world in preparation for the big Christmas season. Before he left here, however, he picked up some more mail which had been forwarded from the North Pole. Here are some of the letters he has received:

Dear Santa Claus: I am almost seven and in the second grade. If you have a BB gun I would like to have one for Christmas. I would like to have a bathrobe and some house shoes, too, and some other toys.

Russie L. Box 80-A, Pampa, P.S. My brother would like something too. He is nearly nine years old.

Dear Santa Claus,

I am seven years old and have been pretty good. I would like a train and gun and scouter.

And my brother is four and he wants a three-wheel bike, and a gun and scouter. We will see you at the parade Friday night.

Billy Tom and Lucky Garand, 1299 Garland.

Dear Santa,

I want some guns, and a beach ball. I'll tell you the rest when I see you. Love, Robin Vail, 1217 Duncan.

Dear Santa Claus,

I want a bicycle, doll buggy, doll to put in it, and baby bed that you can pull up the side, and doll with doll dresses. Love, Linda Key, 907 E. Browning.

He'll be here tomorrow night, kiddies of all ages. We mean Santa Claus, and his reindeer. The big parade starts at 7 p. m., and will include not only Santa but lots of bands and lots of floats.

The parade will come down Foster, then down Russell, over to Cuyler and straight down Cuyler Street through the heart of town.

Greater Arming in U.S., Europe Seen

WASHINGTON —(P)— Secretary of State Acheson's declaration that the free world must "prepare for the worst" heralds an administration drive to speed an even greater arms program in both the U.S. and western Europe.

Officials said today that will be the government's initial response to the new global crisis created by Communist China's intervention in the Korean conflict.

The gravity of that crisis was pointed up by Acheson's warning to the nation and the world last night that "no one can guarantee that war will not come."

Linked to this immediate danger, Acheson pictured the free world as being under dark threat of Soviet military power, with great capabilities for conquest and destruction.

The intention of free men, he said, is to preserve their institutions by peaceful means but history has proved that "if we must, we will fight for them."

"We must hope and strive for the best while we prepare for the worst," he declared in a speech delivered from his office to the National Council of Churches of Christ, meeting at Cleveland, and broadcast by radio and television. He had canceled plans to go to Cleveland because of the crisis.

Acheson himself called for the arms speedup which appeared to be in the making. Declaring that the only test of defense preparations is whether they are adequate to meet the danger the free world faces, he said:

"So measured, the defense efforts of the United States and other free nations are inadequate. A greatly increased scale and tempo of effort is required on the part of all free nations to enable them to overcome this inadequacy at the earliest possible moment."

There was little direct comment from congressional leaders on Acheson's speech. But three Republican senators — Wherry of Nebraska, Bricker of Ohio and McCarthy of Wisconsin — accused the secretary of trying to out Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander of UN forces in Korea.

In his speech, Acheson did not hint at any criticism of MacArthur. The three senators gave their views in separate interviews.

It was understood that President Truman would shortly confer with congressional leaders on new rearmament measures to be taken, including an urgent request for $10,000,000,000 for the (See ARMING, Page 2)

Fire Control Points Given

MIAMI — Joe Burnside of the Texas Forest Fire Patrol spoke to a group of 20 Roberts County landowners and their wives, at 3 p. m., Wednesday, in the American Legion Building, on the control of range fires.

Burnside, who has been in the fire fighting business since 1923, held two meetings on Tuesday, one in Lumborg and another in Higgins, and discussed the same subject.

Wednesday, he and Victor Joyce, Roberts County agent, drove about 50 miles over the county to study the terrain. Of the Pampa handle plans, Burnside said: "You can look far, far away here."

The fire control officer said that the same tactics are used in (See FIRE CONTROL, Page 2)

Santa, Reindeer Flying in For Torchlight Festivities

The Christmas season will be opened officially in Pampa, Dec. 1, at 7 p. m. with the annual Santa Day and torchlight parade, highlight of the year for every child and citizen in the neighboring territory. Santa Claus in all his glory including four of his reindeer will fly in to Pampa for the big event.

The parade this year will feature some 15 bands of the Top of Texas area. These bands will come from LeFors, Clarendon, Wheeler, Panhandle, Phillips, Ranger, Spearman, Dumas, Shamrock, Amarillo, and others.

Parade, Pampa, elementary, junior high and Harvester bands. Bringer will bring both his junior and senior high bands.

Senior Boy Scouts carrying red and green torches will be a new feature of the parade this year. These torches are being especially made in Christmas colors by the boys themselves, and will illuminate the entire parade street. The Scouts who will carry torches, will have a meeting Thursday evening to make final plans for the parade.

Up until Wednesday morning, officials of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce were sure of only six floats, but at least twice that many and probably more are expected. Those six include the Pampa Girl Scouts Assn., Inc.; Beta Sigma Phi; Jaycee-Kites; Holy Souls Parish Council and the Pampa Rebekah Lodge.

A committee headed by W. B. Weathered, was to meet this morning to lay out plans for serving refreshments to all of the bands in the parade. The event will take place immediately following the parade in the VFW-American Legion Hall.

Following the parade, Santa Claus will park his sleigh in the vacant lot on the corner of Kingsmill and Cuyler so visitors can inspect his reindeer. At the same time, Santa, with the help of seven little elves, alias seven Girl Scouts from troops 7 and 29, will pass out 5,000 bags of candy to children who want it. Children are requested to line up in order that each of them may get a bag of candy.

Assisting Santa and his elves, will be members of the Pampa Fire Department who sacked the bags of candy on order by Santa Claus.

Posters were distributed in towns all over the area by a group of four persons, headed by Mrs. Fred Thompson. Other members of the group included (See TORCHLIGHTS, Page 2)

Home Decorations Contest Underway

Although the fine fall weather that has fallen on the Panhandle so far this year isn't conducive to thoughts of Christmas, the yuletide season is once more upon us. The northern United States well realizes that fact.

But Pampans have been asked to decorate their homes in preparation for the Christmas season, and it is hoped that the decorations can be up by Dec. 1, if possible, to enter in with the big Christmas Parade.

This year's home decoration contest will be run by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Pampa. That organization will take care of the judging of homes. The Chamber of Commerce will handle the business houses.

No entry blanks are necessary to enter the contest. Any home that is decorated will be entered. Installations competing, however, must be illuminated every night between the hours of 7 and 10:30 from Dec. 15 through Jan. 1.

The city will be divided into five districts as follows: 1 — All houses east of Cuyler and Mary Ellen and north of Foster and north of Georgia and south of Harvester; 2 — All houses west of Cuyler and north of Foster and south of Harvester; 3 — All houses south of Foster and east of Cuyler and Barnes; (See DECORATIONS, Page 2)

BIG STICK—Katrina Spencer, right, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spencer, 524 S. Cuyler, stands in awe at the gigantic stick of Christmas candy which towers above her. The stick is 7 feet, 6 inches tall and 6 1/2 inches in diameter. Elmer Francis, left, of Elmer's Super Market, is currently conducting a weight-guessing contest centered around this big stick of sweet stuff. The person guessing the correct weight wins the big stick. Proceeds from the contest will be added to the Pampa Elks charity fund which is used each year for food baskets given to needy families. Truman Defending MacArthur Actions

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Truman said today use of the atomic bomb in Korea has always been under consideration — and whether it is used is up to American military leaders in the field. He personally hopes, he added, that it will not have to be employed.

Mr. Truman told an overflow news conference that the bomb could be used without United Nations approval. He said it is one of America's many military weapons and this country is free to use its weapons.

However, he said the atomic bomb is a terrible weapon and he doesn't like to use it because it brings many innocent victims among men, women and children.

As for sending United States and allied forces beyond the Manchurian border, the President said that would be decided by the UN.

Mr. Truman made these informal remarks after reading a formal statement denouncing in strong language the Chinese Communist aggression in Korea. He said the United States will meet the situation in three ways:

1. The U. S. will continue to work in the United Nations for "concerted action to halt this aggression in Korea."
2. It will intensify its efforts to help other free nations strengthen their defenses "to meet the threat of aggression elsewhere."
3. It will rapidly increase its own military strength.

WASHINGTON —(P)— The White House said today President Truman's news conference remarks about the atom bomb did not mean that Gen. MacArthur himself can order the use of the bomb.

The President said he will send to Congress in a few days a request for more money to increase the size and effectiveness of our armed forces.

He would not say what total would be asked but said it would include a substantial amount for the atomic energy program, in addition to large amounts for the Army, Navy, and Air Force.

The President in his formal statement reiterated American policy to stand by its commitment to work for a peaceful world through the UN.

He said the battlefront situation now is uncertain and that American forces may suffer reverses as they have before.

"But," he emphasized, "the forces of the United Nations have no intention of abandoning their mission in Korea."

Senate Debate Set on Rents

WASHINGTON —(P)— A two-month extension of federal rent controls beyond Dec. 31, headed today for Senate debate with predictions it will be approved speedily.

This extension legislation cleared the Senate Banking Committee late Wednesday by a 10-2 vote. Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) later predicted to reporters it would clear the Senate by a wide margin, adding:

"I am convinced that this is necessary so we can keep faith with the men who are fighting in Korea and their families."

The ease with which the resolution cleared the committee evidently dispelled the gloom which Maybank had expressed previously about Senate acceptance of continued controls. Prior to the committee meeting, he had forecast "plenty of opposition" in the Senate.

The present law is due to expire Dec. 31, except in communities which vote to keep them in effect to June 30. The resolution would set a Feb. 28 expiration date, while leaving unchanged the community extension period.

Gray County Court disposed of eight cases Wednesday, in an effort to clear all criminal dockets of outstanding cases for the year, according to Bruce Parker, judge.

Joe Bevington, Pampa, pleaded guilty to charges of reckless driving as a result of an accident Nov. 19. He was fined $200 and costs.

Perry Melvin Harned of Lawrence, Okla., pleaded guilty to charges of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle in connection with an accident on the Miami highway several weeks ago.

His punishment was assessed at $100 and costs and his license suspended for six months.

Glenn Stout, Pampa, pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated. Stout was arrested several months ago. He notified the County Court of his intentions to enter a plea of not guilty but later changed his plea to guilty.

Stout's license was suspended for six months, in addition to a fine of $100 and costs.

A criminal case that had been pending since November, was disposed of when Virgil Bernice Hubbard, Wheeler, pleaded guilty (See COUNTY, Page 2)

Mayor Huff Speaks For Negro Chamber

The first anniversary dinner of the Pampa Negro Chamber of Commerce will be held at 2:30 p. m. on Dec. 10, according to James Morgan, member.

The dinner will include installation of next year's officers, together with speeches from several prominent Pampa men.

A series of brief talks will be given by Mayor C. A. Huff, Fred Neslage, president of the Pampa Rotary Club, G. S. Vineyard, past president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Rev. W. E. Moore, president of the Negro chamber, and several members of the Pampa, Borger and Amarillo Negro Chambers of Commerce.

The dinner will be at the Macedonia Baptist Church.

Food will be prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary, and special music will be presented by the Macedonia Baptist Church Choir.

New officers for 1951 include Rev. W. E. Moore, president; George Dukes, secretary; E. L. Lightfoot, treasurer and Leonard Cash, recording secretary.

Outgoing officers are Oscar Redd, president; Lewis McJunkins, secretary and James Morgan, treasurer.

DECORATIONS

4 — All houses west of Cuyler and south of Foster and west of Hobart including the colored district; 5 — All houses north of Harvester. The outer boundary line will be the city limits.

Prizes to be awarded within each of the five districts are as follows: group 1 — $7.50; group 2 — $7.50; group 3 — $5.00; group 4 — $2.50.

A grand prize of a permanent trophy will be awarded for the home judged to be the best decorated in the city regardless of classification or location. No home will be eligible to receive more than one prize. Twenty-one prizes will be awarded making a total of $125.00. If there is no entry in a group, no prize will be awarded.

A beautiful circulating trophy (to be retained one year) will be awarded the best decorated church in Pampa.

A beautiful circulating trophy (to be retained one year) will be awarded the best decorated school in Pampa.

Decorations in each group will be rated on the following basis: general artistic effect, 50 percent; originality, 20 percent; genuinity in utilizing surroundings, 10 percent; conforming to the spirit of Christmas, 10 percent; proportion, 10 percent.

The judging will be done between Dec. 20 and Dec. 24 by a capable and impartial committee. The winners will be announced in The Pampa News on Dec. 26. Decision of the judges is final.

Leslie Hart is chairman of the parade committee of the chamber of commerce. He is assisted by Huey Laycock, Paul Beisenberg, Charles Robinson, Dale Pinson, Billy Davis, Johnny Schofield, Phil Solberg and Ross Buzzard.

To further enhance the holiday appearance of the torchlight parade, the Pampa Jaycees will turn on the Christmas street lights which are now being made ready. In observance of this occasion and because so many visitors will be in Pampa, stores will remain open until 9 p. m., Friday only.

Paul Beisenberg, Boy Scout executive, has announced that all scouts and explorers who wish to participate in the Santa Day Parade Friday as torch bearers must call the scout office as soon as possible.

The group, who will carry red and green torches in the parade, is to meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the junior high school to make the torches.

For the parade, the scouts will meet at 6:15 p. m. Friday on the junior high school playground.

for accusing Secretary of State Acheson of trying to oust General MacArthur as UN commander in Korea.

He said there is not one word of truth in the charge and that MacArthur has done a good job.

Asked about the offer of 33,000 Chinese Nationalist troops to fight in Korea, he said this offer had been refused in the hope that we would not be involved in another world war. This feeling continues, he said.

To a question whether Japanese manpower would be used in Korea, he fell back on an often used phrase — we will cross that bridge when we come to it.

Asked whether the new turn of events had made necessary a more general mobilization of the home front, including price controls, he said he would not answer that except to say, as he has before, that it is constantly being considered.

In response to another question, Mr. Truman said he has been ready for a long time to name a supreme commander for North Atlantic forces in western Europe, but that this country is still waiting on our allies to get together.

There have been suggestions in Congress that MacArthur should be given authority to use the bomb if he felt it was necessary. While Mr. Truman said use of the A-Bomb was a matter for field commanders, this country's atomic energy law requires that he give his approval if the military men want to employ the A-bomb.

That law says the Atomic Energy Commission, which controls production of fissionable materials, may deliver atomic weapons to the military only on direction of the President.

In Mr. Truman's prepared statement he made it plain he considers that the Chinese Communists are acting under Russian instructions and holds little hope that much can be accomplished by negotiations with the Chinese Reds.

FIRE CONTROL

fighting grass fires as in fighting forest fires. He revealed that since January and through October, 1950, he has had a part in putting out over 900 forest fires. In November, Burnisides, who is from the pine tree country of East Texas, said from 15 to 50 fires occurred every day.

"The main thing necessary in controlling and preventing range fires," the speaker said, "is to have an efficient organization headed by one man who knows his business. This man," he continued, "must have several crew leaders or lieutenants who will follow his orders and who know as much about fighting fires as does the fire boss."

In Lipscomb and Hemphill counties, Burnisides pointed out, the sheriff's office is the focal point of the organization with the county sheriff being county fire marshal.

"Proper equipment is another necessary factor," Burnisides pointed out. He demonstrated several simple tools which have been very effective in fighting grass fires. These included a cutting tooth rake made of teeth from a mowing machine; a saw, consisting of 6 ply belting about 18 inches wide and two feet long fastened on a handle about 10 feet long, to replace the familiar wet gunny sack; and a five gallon water pump tank with a prayer for controlling back fires.

Burnisides stressed the importance of some sort of communication on the fire line so that crew chiefs may keep in constant contact.

The speaker distributed several pieces of literature on fire fighting, including a circular on field fires and one on Texas fire laws.

In conclusion, Burnisides stated, "there are three things that make a fire burn: a fuel and heat. Get rid of one of those and you have no fire."

ahead of the military production program," said this official, who asked not to be named. "But a lot of minds have been changed in the last 48 hours. Events are catching up with us."

NPA Wednesday ordered a 15 percent cut in civilian use of copper and brass for January and February, and a 20 percent curtailment in March.

The order will be effective on the same day as a more drastic 35 percent reduction in non-defense use of aluminum ordered recently. In both cases industry is limited to a percentage of its average monthly use in the first half of 1950.

The agency also announced that civilian firms in December will receive half their average monthly consumption of cobalt, a steel-hardening mineral which is used in radio and TV loudspeakers but is now required in large quantities for jet engines and for stockpiling.

promise which might embody both an excess profits tax and an increase in present corporate income tax rates.

Opponents of the President's proposal held the upper hand but couldn't hold their lines tightly.

With solid Republican backing, they tentatively turned down the administration suggestion that a tax of 75 percent be levied on corporate earnings that exceed 75 percent of those in a 1946-1949 base period.

Then, on separate votes, they agreed tentatively to slap an 80 percent tax rate on earnings in excess of the 1946-49 average. But when the two plans were coupled together by a parliamentary situation, the substitute was defeated. It was estimated to be capable of yielding $2,800,000,000 in new revenue annually.

The main issue was whether to consider as "excess" all earnings over the 1946-49 average or all in excess of 75 percent of that average.

Today the committee planned to continue its voting.

CRITICISM

tion of commands. He said the north-central Korean mountain mass splits North Korea in half. So Eighth Army and Tenth Corps could not operate as a single unit.

Swinton said many officers at Tenth Corps privately believe there should be closer liaison between Eighth Army and Tenth Corps but a popular opinion there is that Tenth Corps actually operating as an army and not as a corps — should be given army status and an overall army group command set up at a central point in Korea.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker commands the Eighth Army. But actually he is responsible for only half the fighting front despite his three stars. The other half of the responsibility rests on the two-star command of Almond.

No officer dares talk for publication but privately they have begun to question the wisdom of this cleavage in field command. This is where the spot decision must be made in fighting the enemy.

Right now Eighth Army is fighting for us against the borders of well trained Chinese Red troops. But Walker has no power to shift any positions from the east to bolster his western front. He cannot order Tenth Corps troops to bolster his battered line. This would have to be a GHQ decision.

Actually, officers say, there is only makeshift direct liaison between the Eighth Army and the Tenth Corps and between the U.S. Fifth Air Force and the Tenth Corps. Both the Eighth Army and the Tenth Corps operate almost as though they were in different worlds and fighting two separate wars.

STAR'S NEW ROLE IS DESK JOB: Helen Hayes, actress turned producer—for a while—takes her place at her desk in the ANTA offices and talks business with actress Gertrude Lawrence.

By JACK P. GABRIEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)—Anybody looking for Helen Hayes these days will find her on the other side of the footlights. The actress, one of Broadway's brightest stars, has temporarily deserted the greasepaint for the job of producer.

Her switch wasn't made because she has a burning desire to produce, or because she thinks there's more money in that end of the theatre. In fact, she admits that she doesn't know too much about producing plays, and she's getting $75 per week for her efforts, which is a cut or two below her normal take-home pay.

She's gone in for production to give the American National Theatre and Academy a hand in its crusade to help young actors and actresses. Helen Hayes explains her interest in ANTA and its work like this:

"Most of the women stars in the theatre are almost 50, or over," she confides, and she mentions Katharine Cornell, Lynn Fontanne, Judith Anderson, Tallulah Bankhead, Ruth Gordon, Gertrude Lawrence and herself.

"When I was a youngster," she adds, "producers realized the necessity for helping young people to carry on the tradition. Plays were written for them and those with talent were given every opportunity to develop it."

That's how it was in the past, but something has changed. Beginners are now completely on their own. Miss Hayes points out, and nobody tried to help them until ANTA came along. Its aim is to give assistance, not only to talented young players, directors and writers, but to the theatre itself.

Miss Hayes, ANTA's president, is doing her bit by organizing a production of Sir James M. Barrie's fantasy, "Mary Rose." The play is now being cast, a promising young director has been chosen, and Miss Hayes will handle the technical and financial aspects. She'll supervise everything that happens off stage.

Her production will be one of a series of ANTA plays, each of which will run for two weeks only. Each production will have a completely new cast.

"But no cast will be composed of amateurs," the star emphasizes. "ANTA is not made up of beginners. In fact, it hasn't any. Those taking part have all had experience in some phase of the drama, but they haven't yet made big names for themselves. ANTA hopes to give them that boost."

Everyone taking part in the series—even to big names like John Garfield and Judith Anderson—will receive the same salary, the actors' minimum of $75 a week.

"I love the theatre and I've had this ideal for a long, long time," says Miss Hayes, who turned down play and movie offers for her ideal and $75. "This is the first chance I've had to work it out—to help other people establish themselves as someone once helped me."

Once "Mary Rose" has run its two-week course, Helen Hayes will be ready to retire as a producer. She'll have realized her dream of helping others reach fame. And she'll be ready to get

Former Nazi Leader Is Seen in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Bormann, former Nazi leader, was seen in Chile two years ago, says Pablo Hesselein, former deputy at the Reichstag, Hesselein, who is living in Chile, said:

"I saw Bormann many times when he appeared at the Reichstag in 1930. In February of 1948 on a road that leads to the Argentine border I encountered three riders. I immediately back on the other side of the footlights to demonstrate that she deserves her own fame.

recognized Bormann among them. He himself addressed one of his companions, saying: 'Das war doch Hesselein (That is Hesselein), and turned his horse to the Argentine border at full gallop. Later I knew from a German citizen whose name I am not permitted to reveal that Bormann lived around there under the name of Juan Gomez and had made many trips to Chilean territory.' He also told me that Bormann would leave soon for Europe to collaborate with the organization of the Nazi underground movement."

Hesselein said that Bormann came to South America aboard a German submarine just after Germany's collapse in the last war.

Discoveries on Anemia Can Ease Recovery of Wounded

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Discoveries about anemia by the college of medicine of the University of Utah should ease the recovery of the GI wounded in Korea.

This trouble is known as the anemia of infection. It is common among most persons who are sick for more than a month. In Korea the proportion subject to this anemia is the highest in American military history because the death rate from wounds is the lowest. That leaves more men to take the slow road to recovery and to face anemia of infection.

The anemia findings were described by Dr. Maxwell M. Wintrobe, professor and head of the department of medicine.

This anemia is lack of a full supply of red blood corpuscles. Iron makes the red corpuscles. In the anemia the Utah scientists found that iron was depleted in the plasma, the water-colored part of blood.

Strangely enough, however, there was no loss of iron from the body. The iron that had been in the plasma merely had left there and gone into storage in liver, spleen, and other tissues.

Iron was given to these patients, both by mouth and by injection directly into the blood stream. When fed, the iron failed to go into the plasma, but went to storage. When injected directly into the blood and plasma, the iron promptly left for the storehouses.

No reason for this behavior of iron was found. But it was discovered that the iron returned to the plasma automatically when ever the infection was cured. This, Dr. Wintrobe said, changes some current methods of treating this kind of anemia. No medicine of any kind, not even the liver and vitamins which cure pernicious anemia, have any effect on this kind. The cure is to concentrate on getting rid of the infection. Dr. Wintrobe said it is doubtful that any good is done for this form of anemia by the frequently recommended multiple-shot medicines—the sort containing several anti-anemia chemicals and metals.

McLean Girl Given Honors

McLEAN — (Special) — Miss Jan Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Black, has been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1950. Miss Black is a graduate of McLean High School and is a junior biology major in McMurry College, Abilene.

She is among 10 students selected for the honor by faculty members on the basis of service, scholarship, character and leadership.

Miss Black is secretary of the McMurry student council, president of Delta Beta Epsilon, women's social club and was crowned campus queen at homecoming festivities in October.

McLean Student on Dental Honor Roll

McLEAN — (Special) — Jim Carpenter, who is attending dental school in the University of Texas, is one of five students out of 65 to make the honor roll.

Carpenter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carpenter of McLean. He is a graduate of McLean High School and a sophomore in the university.

Persian Oil Threatens U.S. Thompson Tells Association

Ernest O. Thompson

ABILENE — (AP) — The huge potential of Persian oil is an economic and military threat to the United States, Texas Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said here Tuesday.

"We must recognize that we are no longer the controlling factor in world oil," Thompson said in a speech for the West Texas Oil and Gas Assn.

Thompson said the United States must meet its "long-time producing problem in a frank, statesmanlike manner if we are to make our money and materials go around so as to meet Persian Gulf oil in the world markets of peacetime trade or on the battle fields should Russia take over these Persian Gulf fields.

"The side having the most oil may well win any war of long duration," the veteran member of Texas' oil regulatory commission said.

Thompson is a lieutenant general and commanding officer of the Texas National Guard. During World War II he was a military advisor on world oil problems.

Persian Gulf oil fields have uncovered 27 billion barrels of oil reserves as compared with our 25 billion barrels, Thompson said.

"All this oil around the Persian Gulf lies under the shadow of the Russian gun," he added.

"There is no question but what Russia could take all of this territory in a very few days if she should decide to march in that direction."

BIKES FOR ALL SIZES—The new 1951 model bicycles, on the market for the Christmas trade, are as bright, shiny and up-to-date as the new automobiles. An important item in ordering a bike from Santa is to be sure the size is right. The standard sizes, illustrated here, run from a 16-inch junior for youngsters 4 to 6 years old—this model has two small detachable balance wheels, (shown in inset) for use until the toddler learns to balance himself on two—a 20-inch for 6 to 8-year-olds, up to the 24-inch for youngsters 10 to 100. Bicycles are sized according to the diameter of the wheels.

"Compare this operation with the East Texas field where 22,000 wells produce 300,000 barrels of oil per day," Thompson said.

He said that while a good record of conservation in East Texas will mean ultimate recovery of a great deal more oil than was originally expected, there is this question:

"How can the 300,000 barrels of oil per day from East Texas' 22,000 oil wells successfully compete in a world market with the 450,000 barrels per day from 45 wells?"

"Obviously here is a challenge to the oil operators of Texas. We must learn how to get the oil out of the reservoir without spending so much money and using so much material, if it can be done. It is being done abroad."

Thompson then gave a hint as to what he thinks might be the answer, citing the recent case of John C. Hunter vs Justice Court of Centinela Township in California.

Hunter owned two lots in the Athens area with a total of 0.38 acres and he did not wish to pool," Thompson related.

"There is a spacing law in California which prohibits drilling on leases of less than one acre. Despite this law, Hunter started his well.

"The lower court held that the statute deprived him of his right to recover a fair share of the oil underlying his land and that his property rights had been invaded."

"The Supreme Court of California reversed the lower court and held the spacing law constitutional involving Sections 3600 and 3608 of the California code. These sections of law provide, in addition to the well spacing density provision, that the operator of a community lease shall pay royalties to the property owners within the area even though the property owners have not leased their land to the operator."

"The decision is of utmost importance because of the implication that due process of law does not require the legislature to give each tract owner the option of drilling a well if a well has been drilled already that will adequately drain the tract. Here is food for thought."

Elevator Passengers To Get Telephones

NEW YORK — (AP) — Telephones for passengers are being installed in all elevators of the new Sutton Terrace luxury apartment project on New York's fashionable east side.

The phones are being hooked up to the house switchboard in the three structures that comprise the project. Convenience and safety are the purposes.

David Fishman, one of the builders, explains that a tenant who has forgotten to call the doorman to order a taxi before leaving an apartment, will be able to call from the elevator and have a taxi waiting at the curb.

McLemore Finds His Glasses Don't Work Like in Movies

By HENRY McLEMORE

While watching a preview of Columbia Pictures' "Born Yesterday" a few nights ago, a thought struck me, making the third thought that has struck me in 45 years.

And this was the thought.

Why, in an industry that is painstakingly careful to pay proper tribute to its pioneers, why haven't the movies built a memorial to the man who first saw the possibilities of creating intellectuals by putting horned rim or tortoise shell spectacles on actors and actresses?

Griffith was saluted for creating the first custard pie mob scene.

Metz was saluted for creating the director's puttee, the director's mugshot, and the advertising tie-up with hospitals, drugstores, and pet shops.

Mary Pickford has been given the Hollywood equivalent of a 21-gun salute for creating the siren on the screen, and Theda Bara the same thing for creating a hard-core woman.

Douglas Fairbanks is spoken of in hushed tones because he was the man who proved that chandeliers could be just as comfortable as lower berths, and the same goes for Pearl White, who showed that a woman needn't be badly dressed just because she is faced with death by a cross-cut saw or going over the rapids in a bark canoe.

But the man who thought up putting glasses on people to make them appear full of brains and little sex, has never been acclaimed.

How many pictures have you seen where the heroine, to get the story going, wears glasses at the start? Name all the girl stars, and you'll be close to an answer.

How many pictures have you seen where the hero — later to be unveiled as a man with 20-20 eyesight and muscle — was shown in the first real wearing bifocals? The answer is 10,000.

Who takes the girl away from Broderick Crawford in "Born Yesterday"? You got it the first time. A man wearing glasses. So conditioned have movie fans become to opticians that the moment a fellow pops up with tortoise shell on his face they know that he is smarter than a trunk full of professors, can always outwit and out love the poor guy whose eyes are good, and can always slip the glasses off when lovemaking becomes real serious.

I wish to goodness this was true in real life.

I imagine that millions of us speculate weavers would do almost anything to have this flicker (cinema) fantasy work as well in Buffalo as it does in Hollywood, so to speak.

Take me, for example. I wear glasses, but I am not hailed as a brainy fellow. Let me enter a room — even when I am wearing what is known as "glamor lenses" — and girls don't flock to my side. In fact, they usually take a look at me and then turn adoring eyes on the eyes of the guys who can look up a telephone number au naturel, and who can read a street number without backing up the car and fastening the headlights on the

Zoo Keepers Ponder Problem Of Protecting Their Animals

(By The Associated Press)

How can you protect the zoos' tame animals from wild people? Zoo keepers say the only way is to haul down the "Don't Feed The Animals" signs and replace them with heavy glass windows or water moats.

Last week, Doug, 8-year-old chimpanzee in Dallas' Marsalis Park Zoo, was poisoned. Doug delighted the public by dancing and swigging soda pop. He was killed by carbolic acid, apparently put in a bottle of pop.

A day later, Tex, the Galveston Pleasure Pier's male sea lion, was found dead beside his mate in their cage. An autopsy showed Tex had been shot, probably with a b-b gun.

"As long as you have specimens the public will kill some of them," was the philosophical attitude of Hamilton Hiltson, Fort Worth Zoo director. Under his added, you make it impossible for the public to get at the animals.

To that end, the Fort Worth zoo is working toward a modernization that will include both moats and glassed cages.

One of Texas' best zoos — Brackenridge Park Zoo at San Antonio — already has taken steps to see that some of its animals cannot be hurt. Heavy wire netting surrounds cages holding orangutangs, gorillas and chimpanzees. No food can be passed through.

A spokesman for Fred Stark, director of the Brackenridge Zoo, said there has been little trouble with people feeding the other animals. Signs are prominently and closely spaced along walkways.

At Houston, Zoo Keeper R. E. Marley, who has been around 23 years, couldn't recall any animal being poisoned.

"But we've had cases of people throwing whole boxes of a laxative or aspirin into a cage," said Marley. "This can be as bad as poison. We've also had pocket knives thrown into the cages."

The Houston Zoo now permits feeding of animals on a limited scale. But new buildings opened last month have glass windows so that such feeding is under a keeper's eye.

The Dallas Times-Herald has offered $1,000 reward for apprehension of Doug's killer. Meanwhile there was talk of a state law with stiff penalties for abuse of caged animals. State Senator Elect George Parkhouse of Dallas

SOUTHWEST'S SHOPPING CENTER

The theory that it's difficult to buy a Christmas gift for a man is exploded by these gifts. Brand new this year are (left) designer ties by Jacques Fath, Tina Leser, Schiaparelli, Molyneux and Christian Dior. The men's cologne (left inset) is in miniature cocktail shaker bottle topped by snowball head and top hat. The wallet (upper right) is natural grain buffalo calfskin with detachable pass-case for photos and cards. A cigarette lighter (center inset) is fueled with compressed gas, provides thousands of lights from a single cartridge. It features a "lifetime" carbide spark wheel and has no wick. The fly box (lower inset) has five compartments, is magnetized to hold more than 70 hooks and flies separately. The clan plaid sportsman's hat (right) is water repellent. All gifts are in the budget class.

Newsman Has Friend In Escaped Prisoner

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Reporter William B. Smart thought he made an enemy when he aided in the capture of an escaped Utah state prison inmate, Smart, of the "Deseret News," and a parole officer recaptured Bertrum G. Hall, convicted robber, after a fist fight on a downtown street.

Betty Kiff Is Star in Play

"We Shook the Family Tree," a comedy in three acts will be presented at 8 p.m. Dec. 7 and 8 by the junior class of Pampa High School in the auditorium. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the junior class. Proceeds will finance the junior senior banquet next spring. The play is the story of a teenage girl, Hildegarde, who wants a date for the school prom. She manages to involve her whole family and almost the whole community in pandemonium. Hildegarde is played by Betty Kiff. Others in the cast are Jimmy Orr, Sue Lynn McFall, Jeanie Johnson, John L. Welton, Ruel Casey, Patty Lehman, Patsey Ellis, Jane Wilson, Jackie Weathered, Cecil Stewart and Carla Wyatt. Miss Thelma Henslee is director of the play, assisted by Bill Studebaker.

Male Order Dept.: Necktie's Still Here, Gadgets Galore

PARADE 234 MALE ORDER. It's impossible, women say, to find a gift for a man at Christmas. Actually, finding an attractive and inexpensive gift for a man is easy as pie. This year, for instance, any woman can drape a necktie designed by a famous French or American couturier about the neck of her husband, father, brother or fiancé. For the first time, Christian Dior, Schiaparelli, Jacques Fath, Molyneux, Tina Leser and Salvatore Dali are designing ties.

For the man who dotes on gadgets, there's a new pocket stapler which weighs only one and one-half ounces but can fasten together 16 sheets of paper. It looks like a fountain pen, and is equipped with pocket clip. Any fisherman would probably be overjoyed to get a magnetic fly box which holds more than 70 hooks and flies separately and vertically. A small grooved sharpening stone is fastened to the under side of the base for putting a point on any hook or

Marriage Booming For Malaya Chinese

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The surge of Communist culture which followed the conquest of China has hit Malaya's Chinese full force. Its biggest success has been in vitiating the Chinese marriage. Scores of Chinese couples from all parts of Malaysia have collected in Singapore to be married in the mass marriage ceremonies sponsored by the colony's most active pro-Communist organization, the Mayfair Musical and Dramatic Association. The mass marriage has eliminated all the solemnity and done away with all the tradition of the old Chinese marriage whether performed in temple, at home or in church.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS IN PAMPA

REINDEER MAN CORRALS DANCER AND PRANCER—Grady Carothers, Goldthwaite ranchman, inside the Arctic Circle with reindeer he corraled to pull Santa's sleigh when it visits this city for a big parade. Carothers is on his third Alaskan expedition now to find reindeer for Santa Claus and the children of Texas.

Santa's Reindeer Gelfer Has Hard Time Corraling Animals

Inside the Arctic Circle a reindeer man from Texas is busy now corraling some reindeer to draw Santa Claus' bright-colored sleigh in the big Pampa parade 7 p.m. Friday.

Grady Carothers, Goldthwaite ranchman, is this reindeer man. This is his third expedition to the Arctic for antlered sleigh deer.

When Santa comes to this city he'll ride in state behind Dunder and Blitzen, Dancer and Prancer, four of the reindeer Carothers will bring out of Alaska and train to pull the sleigh.

There are two good reasons why Carothers became a reindeer man—his two sons, 10 and 16 years old. They used to ask him, "Dad, why doesn't Santa Claus come to see us in his sleigh pulled by reindeer?" Each December they listened in vain for Reindeer ranching has taught Carothers many things. He has learned that the miracle drug, penicillin, protects reindeer from pneumonia, a disease to which they are subject in the Texas climate.

Every year the reindeer grows a new set of antlers. Bucks, females and fawns alike grow antlers. Some reindeer have antlers with a three-foot spread and 30 to 40 points.

When a reindeer walks he pants with his tongue out, like a dog. That doesn't mean he is too warm; it's his way of doing things. And the popping of his ankles when he walks is another reindeer peculiarity.

Deprived of his natural food—reindeer moss—he Santa sleigh animal thrives on the same thing many children have for breakfast—oatmeal. Carothers supplements the diet of rolled oats with mixed grain and a small amount of peanut hay for a balanced ration.

Renew Opposition To Public Housing

FORT WORTH — (AP) — More than 100 operative builders of the Texas Association of Home Builders are expected to renew their opposition to public housing in a two-day convention opening here Friday.

Henry L. Geddie, executive secretary of the Fort Worth Home Builders Association, said last night discussion will revolve around the effect of Regulation X on the industry, mortgage financing and public housing.

The operative or merchant builders recently revived their organization and named Troy Jones of Amarillo president.

Area's Young Wheat Said in Good Condition for Winter

FORT WORTH — Despite declining stands of young wheat in many sections, wind-erosion areas of Texas and Oklahoma are in greatly improved condition to withstand winter and spring winds, Regional Director Louis P. Merrill of the soil conservation service said today.

Large acreages of sorghum, stubble, winter growing cover crops, expanded acreages in good stands of grass, together with grass and weedy cover on cotton lands, are giving protection to soil which in recent years had been vulnerable to high winds, Merrill said. Wheat, though suffering now from lack of rain, is up to a good stand and is a favorable factor in the wind erosion picture.

However, reports from soil conservation service field headquarters in Texas and Oklahoma show that 1,170,000 acres in the wind erosion areas of the two states are now without enough plant or residue cover to prevent damage from winds. At the peak of the 1948-1950 low period, 2,600,000 acres in these areas were without enough cover to prevent erosion damage.

Much of the exposed acreage is sandy peanut land from which the crop has been harvested and which, because of rainless weeks, is without plant cover.

Texas reports show more than 900,000 acres of land without plant or residue cover. Oklahoma field men of the SCS say nearly 260,000 acres in that state are in similar condition.

An encouraging note is in the increasingly large acreage which have been seeded to native and introduced grasses in the wind erosion belt, Merrill said. Grass seedings in the 1950 planting season have totaled 110,879 acres — 68,679 acres in Texas, 42,200 acres in Oklahoma.

Cover crop acreages in the wind erosion belt totaled 437,224 acres in the two states — 210,524 acres in Texas and 226,700 acres, mostly hairy vetch, in Oklahoma.

Chairman J. R. Porter of the Donley County Soil Conservation District board of supervisors commented: "I believe the farmers are getting wise to the fact that it is necessary to leave a good crop residue on the surface of the land or have a growing crop on the land during the severe blowing season of the year."

The regional SCS head gives a large share of credit to the state-sponsored soil conservation districts for the progress in the use of measures to combat erosion.

"Had it not been for the efforts put forth by the boards of supervisors of these districts, hundreds of thousands of acres now protected by good stubble,

Exams Announced For Civil Service

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced examinations for intelligence research specialist, military intelligence research specialist and foreign affairs officer to fill positions in various federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

The majority of the positions are in the Department of Defense, Army, Navy, Air Force and State. No written test will be given.

To qualify for these positions, applicants must have completed appropriate education or have had pertinent experience in the field of work for which they apply. Information and applications may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, C. W. Stowell at the postoffice.

Reds Assail U.S. Mechanical Brain

VIENNA — (AP) — The development of the "mechanical brain" in the United States is designed to stop the processes of human thought. That is what the Communists say. The Romanian newspaper "Universul" recently gave this explanation of the American invention:

"The mechanical brain is an electronic machine which the American pseudo scientific researchers want to use instead of the human brain. Now, when the Wall Street usurers are preparing to start a third world war, they do not need human thought. They stifle thought. Hatred of man — this is the supreme law of the American gangsters."

Wholesale Planting Of Tulips Underway
NEW YORK —(AP)—Spring Parkchester's gardens announced planting for 12,000 families got that he has ordered 50,000 pansy plants for planting next spring. The gardeners spent a week digging up masses of chrysanthemums, which had finished blooming, to make way for the tulip bulbs from Holland.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

I Have A "Close Squeak"!

Spent last Saturday morning wandering all over the house. Wherever I went—upstairs or down—I kept hearing a "squeak." Couldn't find out where it was coming from until noon-time when the missus came home from her weekly shopping.

"Listen," I say to her, "hear that squeak?" I started walking real quiet-like across the kitchen and there it went again! "Joe Marsh," she laughs, "that is nothing but your suspender clips rubbing back and forth when you walk!" And darned if it wasn't!

From where I sit, I'd been letting a little thing become a serious problem. Like some little difference of opinion or taste will start off a great big argument. I may prefer a temperate glass of beer with my dinner—while the missus likes tea—but we figure that no two people have exactly the same likes and dislikes. So, why get all "het up" about it?

The moral is, check your suspenders—and check your temper when it comes to little things.

Meteorite Hunt Is Futile Doctor Says

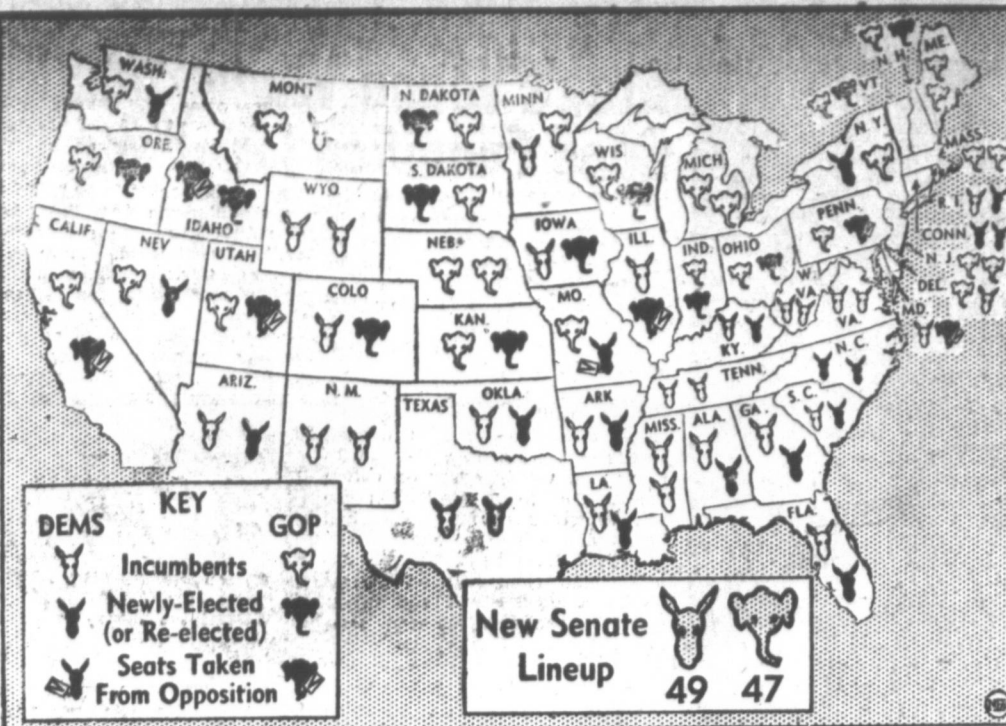

WHEATON, ARIZ. (AP)—Search for the great meteorite that fell in northern Arizona 20,000 to 30,000 years ago can be abandoned, Dr. H. H. Nininger, noted authority on meteorites, believes. The scientist, who owns the meteor crater museum near here, said he believed the meteorite was actually "walking on it" in the form of metallic dust scattered over the area. His finding is based on a study of the minute meteoric fragments found in and for 100 miles around the 4,150-foot crater.

"These little fragments, some of them only fine dust, are spherical," he said. "This indicates they condensed from vapor—which in turn would indicate the meteorite exploded, creating the crater."

Dr. Nininger said the mass that struck the earth undoubtedly weighed several thousand tons, but he discounted previous beliefs it may have been nearly a mile in diameter. His estimate is closer to 150 feet.

A recently translated paper on a meteor that fell in Siberia in 1947 indicates the same thing would probably explode upon hitting the earth.

Dr. Nininger striking the earth, said, and added any meteorite Meteor crater is a major tourist attraction in northern Arizona.

SENATE LINEUP FOR NEXT JANUARY—The Newsmap above shows the makeup of the U.S. Senate for 1951 after Republican gains in the Nov. 7 general election. The Democrats have a nominal majority of two, but the balance of power actually lies with the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition.

Johnston Bans Little Egypt

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—The dance that sizzled grandpa is too hot for today's movie screen.

Hollywood is making the story of Little Egypt and is having a Dickens of a time making it authentic. Little Egypt, for those whose memories don't go back that far, was the dance sensation of the Gay Nineties. Born in Cairo, she was part of a Syrian troupe that appeared on the midway at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893.

Rhonda Fleming, who is playing Little Egypt and has done some research on the dancer, said:

"She didn't move her feet much, but everything else moved, especially her stomach. It was something like the 'bump' and 'grind' of today's dancers. She also shook her shoulders in something of a shimmy."

The Johnston office has strict rules about such movements, whether they are historical or not. The bump, a forward motion of the hips, is verboten. Miss Fleming has to do it with a sideways movement.

The grind, which is a clock-like motion of the hips, is also banned. Miss Fleming can make only a semicircular movement. That is, from one to six o'clock, rather than the full 12 hours. Little Egypt's costume also couldn't pass the guardians of Hollywood morals. She was well covered above and below, but her midsection was bare. The navel cannot be photographed in Hollywood movies.

Onslaught by Man, Nature Trims Natural Rubber Price

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP) — The price of natural rubber has taken a big tumble. The fall followed a combined onslaught by man and nature.

Two weeks ago rubber sold at 86 cents a pound. That was the peak quotation for Number One ribbed smoked sheets in New York in the midst of the Korean war boom demand.

By the end of last week rubber had broken 21 cents a pound to 65 cents. That price is still enormous compared with rubber for around 20 cents.

There has been a tremendous demand for rubber ever since the end of the last war. Southeast Asia, which produced between 90 and 95 percent of the world's supply, has stepped up its production capacity steadily. Demand always has kept just down again.

But times are not ordinary

Synthetic rubber is pegged at 18 1/2 cents a pound, and this served to anchor natural.

But once the price of natural went well beyond that level, there was no stopping it.

Rising prices brought out more and more rubber from the Asian jungles until now production is at an all-time high. Under ordinary circumstances that alone would be enough to press prices down again.

But times are not ordinary now, and the need for rubber for military use and for stockpiling is urgent.

The government cut back civilian use of natural rubber and started rolling out synthetic.

Regulations called for the use of natural rubber at the rate of 32,000 tons in November, 45,000 in December, 40,000 in January, and 35,000 tons in February and also in March.

In the face of these orders to ber, total industry consumption of new natural and synthetic in October hit an all-time high of 117,835 tons, as estimated by the Rubber Manufacturers Assn. Meanwhile, the imports of natural rubber and natural latex were reported at a record high of 81,000 tons in October. All of this has the producers of natural rubber worried. The Natural Rubber Bureau in Washington, an organization formed last year by growers in Malaysia, Ceylon and French Indochina, has been stressing the high production rate and the benefits to producing areas from the higher prices. The bureau estimates that in 1951 there will be available for use and stockpiling in this country 900,000 tons of natural and 880,000 tons of synthetic rubber. This, said the bureau, does not mean an immediate surplus of rubber. It added: "however, by the end of 1951 another rubber supply surplus could be in prospect."

County's 4-H Plans Party

The County 4-H Club Council officers and all committee members met recently in the District Court Room to make final plans for the all-county Christmas party to be held Dec. 15 in the American Legion building at 7:30 p.m. Each 4-H'er is to bring a gift of a toy not to exceed 25 cents for a gift exchange. The gifts will later be given to Pampa underprivileged children. The evening will be spent playing folk games.

Elected as chairmen of the following committees were program, Jacquelin Robertson; Recreation, Glynn Harris; membership, Joe Keel; finance, Shirley Keel; food, Ernestine Edwards.

A movie of 4-H boys visiting in old Mexico and in turn bringing Mexican boys back and showing them around in Texas was shown to the group.

Joy Williams, assistant home demonstration agent and Foster Whaley, assistant agricultural agent, in charge of the party.

Those present at the meeting were Glen Harris, John E. Mae Dauer, Jeannine Noel, Jacquelin Robertson, Amos Harris, Paul Miller, Eva Mae Rutledge, Joe Keel, Barbara Edwards, Carolyn Anderson, Shirley Keel, Billie Mae Osborne, Ernestine Edwards, Jimmy Keel, Jimmy Honaker, Brent Carruth, and David Engle.

Also present were the sponsors of the following 4-H clubs, Mrs. Ernest Edwards, Pampa High 4-H Club, Mrs. J. D. Harrison, Hopkins 4-H Club and Mrs. T. D. Anderwald, Blue Bell 4-H Club. Ralph Thomas, county agricultural agent, attended the meeting also.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Team of Four

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There's nothing like a team of four match to show up errors in bidding and play. When the same hand is played more than once, under conditions that come close to rubber bridge, the differences in results will usually reflect differences in skill.

Today's hand revealed a glaring bidding error in one room. South didn't really have a chance for his contract in the first room. He was bound to lose two trump tricks (as long as the suit broke unfavorably), a club, and a diamond.

In the other room the South player was equally bullish about his chances for game, but he didn't insist on playing the hand at hearts. His first two bids were one heart and three hearts, but then he tried four diamonds. This bidding showed a very strong preference for hearts, but allowed North to have a word about the selection of a trump suit.

As it happened, of course, North could support the diamonds and had no support at all for hearts. With some reluctance, North went to game in diamonds. He later admitted that he had almost passed at four diamonds and would have done so if he had been absolutely sure that South didn't consider the bid forcing to game.

Was South's bid of four diamonds absolutely forcing? Nobody really knows. Some experts will tell you that such a bid is only 99 per cent forcing, but somehow or other every expert manages to find another bid in such situations. In this case North managed to find a raise of five diamonds.

West, in the second room, opened the ace of diamonds, and then led another trump. South won the second trump in his own hand, cashed the ace of hearts, and ruffed a low heart in dummy.

He returned to his hand with the ace of clubs to ruff another heart with dummy's queen of diamonds. It was then simple to cash the ace of spades, ruff a spade, and draw the last trump. The hearts were all gone, and South merely gave up a club at the very end.

The difference between making five diamonds and going down at four hearts was 700 points. This really meant that one South player's bidding was 700 points better than the other's.

Canadian, Happy Battle Here Tomorrow

Both Teams Are Undefeated For 2 P.M. Gridiron Clash

Canadian and Happy will both bring undefeated season records into Harvester Park at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in a Class B playoff gridiron clash.

Coach Jim Peterson's Cowboys have punched out decisive wins over 10 straight opponents while Coach John Hansard's Canadian Wildcats have a victory skein of nine. The Wildcats will be using the single wing against the Cowboys' box T and spread formation. Both teams will wind up practice this afternoon and arrive in Pampa Friday morning.

Quarterback Don Magnus will be the man for Canadian to watch. The triple threat for Happy does the kicking and passing and is also a dangerous runner. His accurate aerial arm has carried the Cowboys past 10 opponents this year.

Coach Hansard's backfield is packed full of power, with Tom Schaefer the big gun in the single wing attack. Schaefer plays tackle on defense and fullback on offense. The big 215-pound back has split opponents' line with ease this year. He is always good for five yards through the line.

Quarterback Jimmy Waterfield. Not since the days of Bill

Cross, the Canadian Comet, has football spirits skyrocketed like they have this year.

From one end of main street to the other, football has been the main topic of conversation.

Abe's Barber Shop was full of football talk, but the fans wouldn't predict a score on the game.

John Whitson, who was shaving a customer, took time out to say "I'll be at the ball game, but I haven't a prediction on the outcome."

"I look for a tough game," Bill Job, manager of Best Way Market, said, "but we're going up to win the game and anybody who goes will see a good ball game. Everybody in Canadian might as well go because most of the stores are closing."

Charles Williams, who was waiting his turn for a haircut, said that Canadian would be out to stop Happy's passing attack.

It was the same story at the filling station next door. O. L. Garretson, one of the operators, said the whole town would be in Pampa Friday.

"There won't be enough people left to put out a fire," Garretson laughed.

Another strong backer of the Wildcats is Dallas Calloway of the Killarney cafe. "If our defense is working, we stand a good chance of stopping Happy," Calloway stated, "and if we can shake Fry loose, we'll be long gone."

Only one person was praying for snow for the contest Friday, but he was a salesman selling overcoats.

James B. Reid, owner of the Toggery Shop, said he would be at the game. "I sat through the one last Friday night and I nearly froze to death."

When 2 p.m. rolls around tomorrow, Happy and Canadian fans will be in Pampa at full force.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—We sometimes wonder if football fans around the nation have the same feeling about the Army-Navy game that we have in this area. They have their own roundup games of considerable importance—Georgia-Georgia Tech, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, TCU-SMU, to name a few—and they never get a chance to see the Cadets and Midshipmen face each other. But in the East it's the big game of the season, even to the ordinary fan who never gets to buy a ticket and even when it figures to be "no contest" as it does this year.

To anyone who ever has seen one, there's something breath-taking about an Army-Navy game—the impressive entrances of the corps of Cadets and the regiment of midshipmen, their stunts and incessant cheering, the something extra that athletes put into every play, the way underdog teams have of rising to the occasion. It's football at its best. In every respect, Army figures to have the better of Saturday's tussle—there are too many cadets who can run fast and far and too strong a defense. But it will be a game, not a walkover.

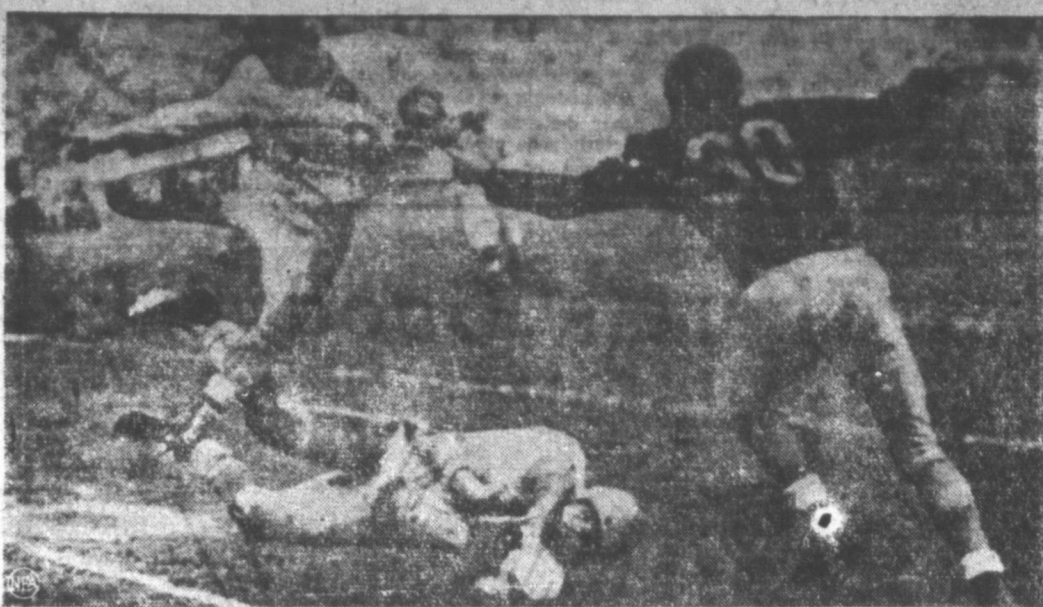

When the Pitt-Penn State game was snoved out last weekend, the Penn State team had to use an Army truck to get from its hotel to the railroad station. Coach Rip Engle wanted no part of it, having had one experience with the Army this season, but he recalled the morning after that 42-7 drubbing. A student manager handed Rip an early edition of the Sunday paper after that game and remarked: "Well, at least we made the front page." Engle looked at the headline: "Army advances five miles."

Clair Bee, whose Long Island U. basketballers open the season Saturday, already is suffering from a serious stomach disorder. We thought that didn't come until the second defeat. The Michigan State ground-gaining record that Lynn Chandross set last year lasted less than one full season. Everett Gronckels smashed it to pieces with 1,025 yards this year. Ex-pole vaulter Bas Bastien, now general manager of the Pittsburgh Hornets, still takes part in hockey practice with the aid of a plastic mask.

Weather permitting, middleweight Lee Salla, inactive for five months, returns to action next week against Bill Sanner at McKeesport, Pa. The U. of Michigan, well pleased with its Canadian "import," Don McEwen, has come up with another good Canadian miler, Rich Ferguson.

Mike Cooley, Lehigh line coach, is getting laughs in the gutter chicken circuit with his tale of a football player who wore specs at a game for the first time in his senior year and gasped: "Why, it's the most surprising game I've ever seen."

Irishmen Meet Levelland Friday in Class A Game

SHAMROCK—(Special)—Shamrock's Fighting Irish, bi-district winners over Hereford at Pampa last week, encounter the powerful Levelland Lobos at Amarillo Friday at 2:30, at Memorial Stadium.

Levelland trimmed Spur 45-21 in the 3-A-4-A bi-district game Thanksgiving night, advancing to meet the Irish in this regional playoff, for the Class A championship of the Panhandle's four A districts.

Levelland has a strong line and a backfield that is considered almost phantom. It was this crew which wrecked the championship hopes of the Littlefield Wildcats, 1948 Texas state champions, with a 26-14 conclusion at Levelland Nov. 10. This was the night when Shamrock fell to Wellington, 21-14, and Phillips lost to Hereford, 35-9.

Zack Reid, Lobo quarterback, heads the Lobo offense. Against Spur he whirled and spun for five touchdowns, intercepted a pass setting up the sixth, and hurled the remaining touchdown through the sky lanes to Gene Billingsley, Lobo left end, a 62 yard pass play.

Perry Heard, Joe Hayes, Dean Waltrip and Jim Kennedy are four other backs which give headaches to the opponents. Shamrock, with the outstanding defensive record in the Panhandle Class A group, has allowed only 68 points to 11 opponents, including the 8 points registered by the Hereford Whitefaces in the playoff. Levelland has permitted 85 points, including the 21 scored by Spur in the Lubbock playoff game.

The Lobos won their playoff with Spur, despite a 14-13 deficit at the half, by seizing six breaks—two fumbles, three pass interceptions and a blocked punt.

Shamrock Team Is Physically Ready for Lobos

SHAMROCK—(Special)—Coach Scott McCall's Fighting Irish survived the Hereford clash at Pampa last week without serious injury, and the main stringers will face the mighty Levelland Lobos at Amarillo tomorrow.

Vernon Tarbet, whose 91-yard touchdown run thrilled the crowd on the opening play against Hereford, is expected to make Reid look to his laurels.

Shamrock's powerful line stopped the Herefords cold. They have the best defensive record in Panhandle Class A football. Pennington, Harris, Collinsworth, York, M. Terry, Hager, V. Terry, Campbell, Pavlosky, Douglas and these forwards are rough to go around or past.

The Irish will go into this fracas underdogs, chiefly because the Levelland Lobos slaughtered the Littlefield Wildcats, 26-14, and Littlefield was 1949 Texas state champion.

Neither the coach, fans, team nor citizens of the area mind being underdogs. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and some thought Hereford could beat Shamrock. By the way Shamrock beat Hereford 20-6. Levelland trimmed Hereford 20-6.

AUSTIN—(AP)—Hoary Tradition is on the line today as Texas battles Texas A&M in the Southwest's most enduring and bitterest football rivalry.

No championship is involved—no bowl bid. But this fifty-seventh game in a series that started in 1894 is filled with dramatic possibilities of all sorts.

Coach Blair Cherry, graying leader of Texas Gridiron forces, will be in a hospital while his boys seek to win for him and to finish the first season in history with a perfect Southwest Conference record.

Cherry, who retires as coach Jan. 1 when his team plays Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl, illustrated yesterday just why he was quitting. He went to a hospital suffering from stomach ulcers.

Miami Golf Open Starts Today

MIAMI—(AP)—Many of the nation's top ranking professional and amateur golfers teed off today in the opening round of the 27th annual 70,000 Miami Open Golf Tournament.

A picked field of 175 began the four-day 72-hole quest for fame and dollars over the lengthened 7,000-yard Miami Spring Golf course, par is 35-36-70.

The tournament inaugurated the winter play-for-play circuit. Nine former winners were competing. These included defending champion Freddy Hass, Jr., of Claremont, Calif., who beat Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., in a spectacular playoff last year.

Hass turned in a 33-33-66 practice score yesterday, the best of the day.

ford—Kenneth Kidwell slashing left halfback—Haral Dunn, ace signal caller and passer—and Don Lea, end and sweep artist and punter—will be the backs attempting to administer the knockout to the powerful Lobos.

Tarbet now has 54 points for the season, with nine TDs. Lea 36 points, Kidwell 24 and Van Pennington 32.

Shamrock's team balance paid off against Hereford, but the Lobos also have a balanced line and a good backfield. Unlike Levelland, however, the Irish attack is not built around one man. Zack Reid, Lobo quarterback, scored five TD's in the Spur playoff, won by Levelland 45-21 last week.

Dunnam, Irish quarter, has not made a TD this year, but has hurried 13 along the sky route, the last a beauty, covering 79 yards to End Van Pennington in the Hereford playoff. He is expected to make Reid look to his laurels.

CLOSE-UP—Cesar Brion holds the heavy bag for bewildered Joe Louis in a Chicago gymnasium. The Argentine Collier Ad will be the Old Brown Bomber's target in a 10-round match at the Stadium there, Nov. 29.

Louis Wins Decision From Brion Before Slim Crowd

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO—(AP)—Joe Louis still is wearing boxing gloves, but whether he'll ever use them again in a title bout was as big a question today as ever.

A slim Chicago Stadium crowd of 8,866 which saw former heavyweight champion Louis score a methodical 10-round "comeback" win over Cesar Brion last night, could agree with Joe's admission that "my timing was off."

Louis, as a matter of fact, isn't even talking about a return match with title-holder Ezzard Charles, who gave him a 15-round trimming at New York last Sept. 27.

"I want two or three more fights, and I want them right away," Louis said after his unanimous, but plodding decision over Brion, 13 years younger than the no-longer dreaded Brown Bomber. "I want to be in tip-top condition before I even think about Charles."

The International Boxing Club, which again took its lumps at the gate because last night's bout was televised, was to confer today over Joe's next foe.

Joe, 36 and weighing 216 pounds, was a shadow of his former stalking, slashing self in the 10th round. He had Brion in trouble with a furious barrage of lefts and rights. The South American weighed 196.

But as Joe mumbled in the dressing room: "I just couldn't get the combination going." And Brion is the type of fighter Joe used to get the "combination" going against with murderous precision in his hey-day.

Brion, 23-year-old South American who showed no fear of Louis from start to finish, conceded that Louis was his toughest opponent in 35 fights.

Through an interpreter Brion also said Joe's timing was off, but that he might be able to get it back in two or three more fights.

Referee Frank Glimmer voted 56 to 44 for the former champion, while the judges made it 55 to 45 for Louis. Brion was awarded the fourth, sixth and eighth rounds.

ARMY OVER NAVY IN FALL CLASSIC

By Pitts Smith

ARMY vs. NAVY—The Cadets are prohibitive favorites to down the Tars, but don't forget what happened in the 1948 battle. The Navy was a three touchdown underdog in that one, too, but Army was lucky to get a 21-21 tie.

Be that as it may, Red Blak's heavy field pieces should sink the Navy, but good.

OKLAHOMA vs. OKLAHOMA A&M—The Sooners are on their way to the Sugar Bowl and won't be in any frame of mind to tolerate much foolishness from the Cowpokes. Coach Whitworth has finally managed to patch up his small squad, but their chances of stopping those rough and ready Oklahoma sophomores are too slim to calculate.

GEORGIA vs. GEORGIA TECH—Coach Butts and his bowl-bound Bulldogs, if for no other reason, should be up this weekend. Their superior line play and potent offense will be more than Tech's inexperienced and injury-riddled forward wall can handle. It looks like a two touchdown win for the Georgians.

West Texas Buffaloes Take Rest Before Sun Bowl Game

CANYON—(Special)—Champions of the tough Border Conference and proud bearers of a 9-1 season, the West Texas State Buffaloes are on a two-week vacation from the drill fields. Coach Frank Kimbrough issued the no-practice order following the Herd's 26-13 win over Corpus Christi University Saturday night. Practice for the Sun Bowl clash with Cincinnati University New Year's Day will commence Dec. 11.

"It has been a wonderful season," Kimbrough told the squad Saturday night, "you deserve the invitation to the Sun Bowl. We will take two weeks off and then we will see about a few days off at Christmas time."

Injuries in the Corpus Christi win were slight and all squadmen should be in top shape by the time drills are resumed. John Poindecker, Baird junior, and reliable tackle, rehurt a knee in the Tarpon clash but will be ready to go very soon.

In tripping the Tarpons, West Texas annexed their greatest season in the history of the school with a 9-1 mark. Six of these wins were from Border Conference opposition. The complete season record shows wins over Arizona State 52-12, Arizona University 34-26, McMurry College 41-19, Texas 28-13, New Mexico University 45-6, Sam Houston State 39-18, Texas Western 40-12, Hardin - 81,mons 47-31 and Corpus Christi 26-12. Lone loss was a 27-0 upset at the hands of Trinity University before a Tiger homecoming crowd in San Antonio. The win was accomplished on a 45-yard pass in the final 30-seconds of play.

Bill Cross, Charles Wright and Gene Mayfield, the offensive trio in the West Texas backfield, have each pushed their yardage marks for the season well over the 1000-yard mark. Mayfield has racked up over 1000, Wright 1300. The Buffs have average 468 yards per game throughout the fall and have averaged 38 points per game.

Canyon Cagers Play Kentucky

CANYON—(Special)—Victorious in their first three outings, the West Texas State Buffaloes take to the air Thursday for a trip to Lexington, Kentucky where they tangle with the powerful Kentucky Wildcats Friday night.

Made up of sophomores and juniors, the Herd of Coach Gus Miller will take on the Wildcats in the initial meeting between the two schools. The tilt will be played in the Wildcats' new million-dollar Sports Coliseum and will open the season for Adolph Rupp's colorful legions.

Monday night the Buffs will play host to Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma A&M crew in the Amarillo Sports Arena. Originally set to dedicate the Buff's new Field House in Canyon, the game was moved to Amarillo when it was found that the new sports structure would not be completed in time. A sell-out crowd of 2500 fans is assured for the Amarillo tilt. It will be the fourth meeting between the two squads with Oklahoma A&M holding a 3-1 advantage.

West Texas State tacked their third win of the young season Monday night in McLean, where they helped dedicate a new high school gymnasium by trouncing Southwestern Oklahoma's Bulldogs 72-47. In previous games the Herd downed Dowell's AAU of Amarillo 53-45 and 45-44. Dwaine Stewart, 6 foot 8 inch Canyon forward, sparked the Buff attack against the Bulldogs with 25 points followed closely by Austell Burrus, Canyon junior, with 15 tallies. Stewart has sacked in 44 points in the three games for an average of 14.9 tallies per contest. Bill Price, jumping-jack forward, has a 11.5 average for three games and Mose Hale, guard, and Burrus are zooming along with a 9-point per game scoring effort.

There's Good SLEEPING

if you have an electric blanket. And, there's several reasons why! For one, you sleep at a constant healthful temperature which you, yourself, control. Secondly, you eliminate that winter "smother" feeling caused by an overload of ordinary quilts, blankets and possibly your winter overcoat. The one "light-as-a-feather" electric blanket is all you need to keep warm. What's more, electric blankets come with single or double controls so that each person may set the temperature to his complete satisfaction and comfort.

Moslem Woman Has Strange Bedfellow

MUAR, Malaya. (AP)—Hasnah, a 21-year-old married Malay woman, sleeps with a 21-foot, 157-pound python every Thursday night — the Moslem Sabbath. She does this because she thinks the python is the reincarnation of her mother-in-law. Tuan Haji Yunus, her husband, said he dreamed three days after his mother's death that she had come to the house in the form of a python. Then the python came. Hasnah and the python seem to get along well. But the big snake's appetite is enormous. It consumes seven pounds of meat every morning and evening.

Population Grows Down in Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda. (AP)—Unofficial figures on Bermuda's census completed last week show an increase of 21 percent in the civilian population over 1939, when the last census was taken. The 1950 census shows a total civilian population of 37,254, an increase of 6,440 over the 1939 count. The returns indicate a marked trend toward population increases in outlying parishes and a decrease in the city of Hamilton. This is presumably due to the advent in 1946 of motor vehicles of Bermuda for civilian use, making Hamilton accessible from any point on the islands.

A Cathedral Window Adds to Beauty Of Home at Christmas; Is Inexpensive

By MRS. FRED SLOAN

Materials Needed:
Heavy brown wrapping paper
Black show card paint. (small jar)
Several bright colors of crepe paper.
Jar of good paste.

Method:
A cathedral window made of crepe paper is probably the least expensive and the most beautiful of home window decorations. It takes considerable time to make a crepe paper window, but the process is simple and no extra lighting equipment is needed. The finished product is put into the window and the illumination in the room is sufficient. The main thought must go into the planning of the design. After that the excitement of pasting in the colors and the result achieved is well worth the trouble. Also the window may be used for several years during the holiday season.

STEP 1.
Measure your window inside the frame. A picture window is perfect. Measure actual size of window glass and allow an inch or two more for pasting or tacking up room. Draw line around paper the actual size of glass. This is your working space. Now draw another border line approximately one half inch inside that. This line or border is painted black and is the final border of your design.

STEP 2.
You are now ready to plan your design inside the given space. If you are not used to doing original designs get out your old Christmas cards and look at them for suggestions. Your picture may be a Christmas candle with rays or stars behind it to fill the background area, or it may be three candles of different sizes. There are many simple Christmas motifs that anyone can draw, but the most interesting window will have a part of the Christmas story such as a Madonna and child or the wise men or a manger scene.

Whatever you plan to draw do it with as few lines as possible and keep the whole thing very simple. In the background there are many devices for filling space in a stained glass window. You may add arches in the top part and put several borders around the whole design, or you may simply break up the background with simple squares. The thing to keep in mind is that the whole design is broken into many parts so as to have these areas for pasting in crepe paper colors that make your window resemble a real stained glass. If you are not practiced at drawing, a good idea would be to plan your design on an extra sheet of paper. Chalk is fine for drawing on brown paper and mistakes are easily rubbed out.

STEP 3.
Now transfer the design to the brown paper. All the lines must be doubled the width of not less than three-eighths of an inch. Paint between all the black lines with black lines surround every unit of your design and afford space for pasting the crepe paper behind. Also they represent the leaded lines in a stained glass window.

STEP 4.
Decide the color that you want for each area and write the color on each space. Don't use too many colors and keep them in pure tones. You are ready to begin pasting. Cut out each separate color along black lines. Never cut more than two or three areas at a time. Measure your corresponding color in crepe paper to fit the cut out area and allow about one-fourth inch all around for a pasting edge. Carefully apply paste to edges of crepe paper and fit under the black border. To put the whole thing simply, you cut out a brown space and paste in a colored space underneath the black border. Do not let one piece overlap into another space as it shows against the light and spoils the effect. This is tedious work but exciting fun as the colors replace the brown paper.

If your time is limited the whole background need not be filled with crepe paper but large space of the brown paper may be left. Also such parts of figures as faces, arms and legs may be left in the brown paper.

STEP 5.
When all of your colors are pasted in and no edges of one space showing into another space your work is done and you are ready to install your picture. Put the right side or up side directly against the window glass facing the street. It may be fastened inside the frame with scotch tape or thumb tacks. Turn the room lights on and step outside to view the effect. Perhaps you need more light inside the room to bring out the full brilliance of your colors.

Grace Friend
BLAMES CATS FOR CHILDREN'S ILLNESSES

Dear Grace Friend:
My daughter has two children, eight and ten years old, both children are sickly and suffer with gland and throat trouble. Their aunt recently gave them a cat nine months old.

A pet doctor of small animals told me that the cause of the unhealthy condition of the children is caused from constant playing with the cat. They have had cats for years and two of these cats have been sickly.

The children carry them around and even let them sleep with them. The parents have recently had to pay out $200 for the children's illnesses and they have to pay a veterinarian to treat the cat for distemper.

Do you think that the cats are the cause of some of the illnesses of my grandchildren? My daughter of causing family unpleasantness.

Mrs. L.
Some people are allergic to cats and have hay fever or asthma as a result of being around them. However, the only person who can tell you whether the cats are responsible for your grandchildren's illnesses is their physician. If the doctor who takes care of them doesn't feel that the cats are responsible, they probably haven't much to do with the children's health.

Personally I am opposed to cats sleeping with children but that is a matter for the children's parents to decide. If they don't mind there isn't anything that you can do about it.

WE, THE WOMEN
By RUTH MILLET
NEA Staff Writer
"There is only one attribute that all charming women possess in common: an expressive, responsive face," says Peter Joray in the Woman's Home Companion.
Yet it's a safe bet that nine women out of ten don't realize the truth of that observation. Look at the "Nice Nellies," whose mouths are tight-lipped as they go through life criticizing, rather than responding sympathetically to others.
Look at the "Blase Beauties" whose faces never register anything but indifference and boredom. In order to appear sophisticated they never let any emotion show on their faces.
And then there are the "Analytical Anns" who are more interested in impressing others with their brains than in letting themselves enjoy the other person's viewpoint.
We mustn't forget the "Dour-faced Doras" who are sure nothing is so bad that it may not

Pioneer Club Canadian Meets In Snyder Home

CANADIAN — (Special) — The Pioneer Club met in the E. H. Snyder home, Monday Nov. 27, with ten members and four guests present.

Mrs. Carl Studer opened the meeting with the devotional for the afternoon.

Mrs. W. A. Merrell, who has been a resident of Canadian for many years, related some of her experiences of earlier days and talked on the general growth of the community.

Special music was furnished by Louise Zybach who played two piano solos, "Echoes of the Bell," and "Gullwings' Cake Walk."

Refreshments of nut bread sandwiches, fruit salad and spiced tea were served by the hostess.

Members present were Mrs. R. H. Stone, Mrs. John L. Pundt, Mrs. W. L. Helton, Mrs. W. J. Conster, Mrs. F. D. Teas, Mrs. R. B. Wiggins, Mrs. Carl Studer, Mrs. Tom Hext, Mrs. Merrell, and Mrs. Snyder.

Guests present were Mrs. W. R. Hines, Mrs. H. T. Miller, Mrs. Carl Zybach, and Miss Louise Zybach.

Birthday Dinner Honors Mrs. Rose

A group of her friends entertained Mrs. Virgie Rose with a birthday dinner recently.

Those present were Mrs. Jo Young, Cotton Eubanks, June Bull, Mr. and Mrs. George Payte, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McCarney, Evert Revard, Esther Ramming, Gene Kiser, Jeanie Armstrong, Johnson Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Burkhardt, Mildred Pearce, Kenneth Gilbert, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Youngberg.

be worse and whose faces rarely ever light up with pleasure. NO EXCITEMENT

And last, but not least, are the "Matter-of-fact Matildas" who never get excited over anything, whose faces are always the same old faces, never lit up by any excitement for living.

Yet most of these women want to look their best and most of them probably go to great pains to choose the clothes and hair styles that are most becoming to them.

Apparently it has never occurred to them that no woman is charming to others unless she has an expressive, responsive face, a face that can laugh or listen or sympathize, a face that isn't just a mask frozen into an expression of one unchanging attitude toward life and other people.

Candies Are for Christmas

HOMEMADE CANDIES are always part of a perfect Christmas. Put them on the table and wrap them in bright boxes.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

For those brightly wrapped Christmas boxes of homemade candies, here are some wonderful suggestions. Begin with molasses taffy — it's a winner.

Peanut Taffy
(Yield: 1 1/4 pounds taffy)

One cup sugar, 1 cup unsifted molasses, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 2-3 cup (3 bags) chopped salted peanuts.

Thoroughly mix first three ingredients in a 2-quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat to 270 degrees F. soft crack stage (syrup is hard but not brittle when dropped in cold water). Stir in peanuts. Pour at once onto greased, large cookie pan or platter.

As edges cool, fold them toward center with spatula, or they will harden before center is ready to pull. (Do not disturb the part of taffy that has not cooled or candy will stick to pan.) When candy is cool enough to pull, fold into a ball.

Butter fingers lightly; pull until candy is light in color. Stretch into a long rope, 1-2 to 1-inch wide. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Wrap each piece in waxed paper.

Chocolate Coconut Marshmallows (Makes 4 1/4 dozen)

One package (8 squares) candy-making chocolate, 28 marshmallows (7 ounces), cut in halves, 3 cups coconut, toasted.

Heat chocolate over boiling water until partly melted. Then remove from boiling water and stir rapidly until entirely melted. Dip marshmallows in chocolate, one at a time, roll in coconut and place on waxed paper. Cool until firm.

Nutty Creams
(Yield: about 1 pound)

One-quarter cup butter or fortified margarine, 2 cups sugar, 1-4 cup unsifted molasses, 1-2 cup light cream or undiluted evaporated milk, 1 cup chopped nuts.

Melt butter or margarine in a 6-cup saucepan. Stir in sugar and molasses. Add cream or evaporated milk; mix well to dissolve sugar. Cook until syrup forms a soft ball in cold water (242 degrees F.). Remove from heat. Cool in a pan of cold water until pan can be held comfortably in palm of hand (110 degrees F.).

Beat until creamy and candy loses its shine. (To shorten the beating time, stir in 1-4 teaspoon confectioners' sugar.) Shape into balls (hickory-nut size). Roll in chopped nuts. Note: If candy becomes firm before balls are formed, stir in from 2 to 3 teaspoons cream or milk into the batch.

Mrs. Kabrie Auction, 915 N. First St., Eunice, Louisiana, is all smiles these days because she feels so good. She says she feels so good because she is taking HADACOL. Mrs. Auction was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron which HADACOL contains.

Here is what Mrs. Kabrie Auction says about HADACOL:

"I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before I started taking HADACOL I had been sick for a long time. My neck, my arms, my legs ached most of the time; in fact, I was miserable all over. Night time I dreaded because I knew it was time for another restless night. Even when I did sleep, I would twist and turn all night.

"It was my 44th birthday the exact year I heard about the wonders of HADACOL that I started taking it. After the third bottle of HADACOL I felt better than I had ever felt in my life. The most wonderful thing about HADACOL is that I actually rest when I sleep — and I do mean sleep. No more lying awake nights. I could rave about the wonders of HADACOL for days on end, but this is enough to let other folks know how really marvelous HADACOL is. The only regret I have about HADACOL is that I did not have it when I was 25 years old."

You, Too, Can Be Helped

... as it has helped thousands of other fine folks if you have a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body.

Give HADACOL a chance today to help you if you suffer such deficiencies. Refuse substitutes. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk is involved ... because HADACOL is sold only on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel better with the first few bottles you take or your money will be refunded. Trial size, only $1.25; Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

Better Windshields Promised Drivers

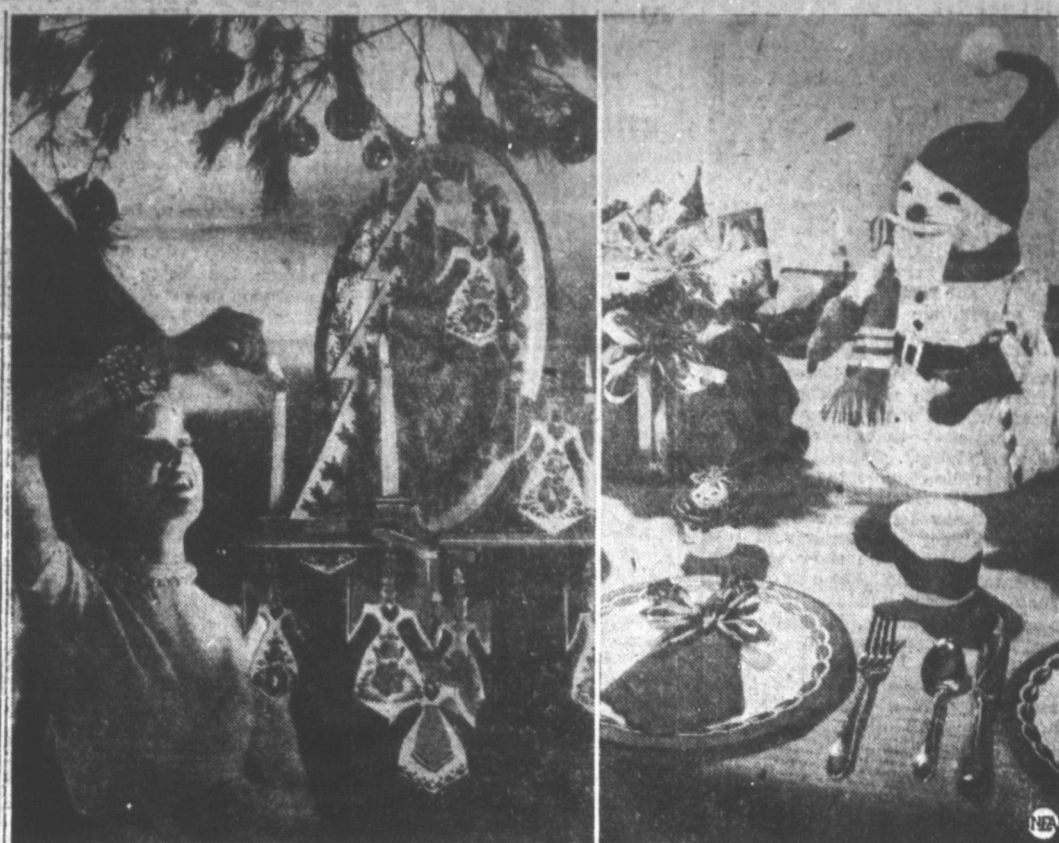

TOLEDO — (AP) — Squinting automobile drivers in sun and snow countries may soon get relief from an improvement in windshields.

One new windshield, of bluish-green tint, has a shading of graduated intensity above the eye level to cut glare from the bright sky. Iron oxides in the glass itself eliminate more than 15 percent of the infra red rays and yet admit more than 70 percent of average daylight, said Dr. George E. Watkins, research director of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co.

Germans Turn to U.S. Cigarettes

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — The American GI has left a different taste in the Germans' mouths — one calling for U. S. cigarettes. German smokers have turned 80 percent in favor of American grown Virginia tobacco. Before the war almost 90 percent of all Germans preferred the Oriental brand.

Before the war, an average 35,000 tons were yearly bought from Greece, Turkey and the Balkans, while less than 5,000 tons came from America. Latest available figures indicate that 3,000 tons of American tobacco were imported in one month compared with 1,100 tons from Greece and Turkey. (The lively pre-war trade with other Balkan countries is almost down to zero since the Communists took over there after the war.)

Paint and paper perform Christmas miracles in brightening the home. Gaily-enameled chandelier (left), made from old wagon wheel and spare lumber, boasts hand-painted designs. Santa and his sack as well as snow-man nut cups are sculptured from paper for cheery Yuletide table setting (right).

MISMATCHED

OGDEN, Utah — (AP) — Take the case of the inconsiderate shoplifter. Owner Jim Edwards reported that four high-heeled cowboy boots had been taken from his shoe repair store. And all four were mismatched.

Paint Plus Imagination Is Answer for Yuletide Decor

If you aren't fired with enthusiasm over the idea of decking your home with the same old weary decorations left over from last Christmas, try something new and different this year.

One idea, contributed by Peter Hunt, whose sprightly designs are leaders in the field of American folk-art, is a wooden chandelier to brighten your living room.

This is created from nothing fancier than an old wagon wheel, from which the spokes have been removed, a couple of pieces of wood, plywood and four discarded drawer pulls.

Suspend in the center of the wheel a stylized Christmas tree which can easily be cut from plywood with a power or coping saw.

At the bottom of the wheel, attach two narrow planks crossed at right angles. These will support the drawer knobs, which have been hollowed out to hold candles, and stylized angels which have also been saved out of plywood by the home handyman.

To decorate your Yuletide chandelier, apply enamel in the various colors you choose, using the basic Peter Hunt stroke. This is a simple brush mark in the shape of a tear-drop. Start the stroke with the brush flat, then gradually lift it until only the tip of the bristles touch. Curve the tail for scalloped effects. Once these fundamentals are mastered, you can combine the strokes for more complicated designs.

To dress up your table this year, make a centerpiece featuring a Snowman Santa and his pack.

Begin with a cardboard cone 12 inches high. Around it wind crushed folds of white crepe paper, pasting as you go, to build up Santa's plump body.

You shape his figure with a long two-inch strip of white crepe paper, winding this in such a way that the underpadding is pulled in at waist and neck. The Santa should resemble a rotund snowman at this point.

To give him a snowy effect, cover him with crepe paper which has been crushed between your finger tips. Arms are made of tissue, covered with crepe paper; beard and mustache are also fashioned of white crepe paper.

Paint on eyes and mouth, and from red crepe paper make a tiny ball for the nose, mittens, cap and scarf. The scarf is fringed and trimmed with white stripes. A green crepe - paper belt and a jaunty candy cane complete his outfit.

Santa's pack is green crepe paper gathered into a bag-effect at top, and shaped at the bottom with a six-inch circle of cardboard pasted on the inside.

Cold War Underway In Austrian Cities

VIENNA — (AP) — A "cold war" has broken out in the heart of the snowy Austrian sky country. Two provinces of Western Austria — the Tyrol and Vorarlberg — have most of the mountains and most of the snow.

Last week, the Tyroleans accused the Vorarlberg provincial authorities of carrying out a "snow blockade." They said the Vorarlbergers were refusing to clear snow off a pass that separated the two provinces.

This, the Tyroleans said, was preventing winter tourists from reaching them. The Vorarlbergers replied: "You can clear it off yourselves if you want to."

Singapore, Malaya Have Travel Trouble

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Singaporeans and residents of the Federation of Malaya who want to go to England by sea any time soon are in for a long wait unless they've booked many months ago. Travel agencies say every steamer is sold out up to the end of next June.

They add, that there simply are not as many liners or freighters coming into Singapore port as before World War II.

Travellers to the United States don't face any difficulties. There's plenty of space aboard liners and freighters. That's because so few people travel from here because, under currency restrictions, they can't get enough dollars for their trip. So American citizens make up most of the travellers going to the United States.

Apartment Building Utilizing Concrete

NEW YORK — (AP) — Reinforced concrete is taking the place of the usual steel skyscraper skeleton in the construction of a 20-story luxury apartment project on New York's East River front near the United Nations headquarters.

The $7,000,000 structure for 390 families will be New York's first building of this height to be constructed entirely of concrete, according to Paul Tishman, the builder. A two-level underground garage will take 200 automobiles off the street.

All living rooms and master bedrooms with large windows facing the river, will be five-sided rooms.

Q. and A. You and Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. I am a disabled veteran of World War II and 38 years old. If they raise the age limit on the men they draft what will be my status?

A. As stated here many times it is not possible to answer questions based on speculation as to what Congress might do to the present draft law. However, if you are 38, a veteran of World War II and disabled, it is common sense that your chances of being drafted are very slim, unless there is full scale war.

Q. Does a soldier get a leave at the end of his basic training?

A. Most of them do but there is no rule in the Army which says they must.

Q. Will the boys who enlisted for two years in the service in Oct., 1949, be released at the expiration of their enlistment?

A. Those men who enlisted in Oct., 1949, for two years may be released in Oct., 1951, regardless of their station. They will be subject to call by the draft, however, if they meet the requirements at that time.

Q. In the new point system affecting reservists do combat awards refer to such things as the Purple Heart, Silver Star, etc?

A. Yes. Points may be accrued only on the Metal of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross, Navy Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross, Silver Star, Bronze Medal, and Purple Heart. No points are awarded on major battle engagements.

Q. My husband would like to reenlist in the Navy. I don't want him to. Would the fact that we have two kids keep him out?

A. No.

Q. My buddy and I filled out our questionnaires together. He is as healthy as I am. We both got married together. But they are taking me and not him. What can I do about it?

A. Write to your wife regularly.

Composer Believes Music Can Melt Soviet's Iron Curtain

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Nicolas Berezowsky wants to set the Cold War to music. The Russian-born violinist-conductor-composer thinks that which hath charms to soothe savage beasts also hath power to melt Iron Curtains.

It is his belief that America should substitute Rachmaninoff for propaganda on its Voice of America broadcasts to Russia.

Propaganda is lost on the Russians," he says, "even if it is the absolute truth. They don't know where truth is anymore. But music — that is something they understand. The language of music is less subject to double-talk than the language of words."

Berezowsky feels that the Russians will come to know and respect America if we show we appreciate their artistic efforts. The composer believes the first symptom of culture, he said, and we should capitalize on that trait.

"The Russians' love of good music is part of their everyday life. They will always listen to good music — in spite of wars or famines."

Yet, he said, Russia's own symphony orchestras are not as good as the great American orchestras. And their recordings are not up to the technical standards of American recordings. Consequently, their thirst for good music is never adequately filled.

"This is our chance," he said, "to give them what they want to hear. They will listen. This type of program would be a long investment in good will. Too many Russians are swallowing the propaganda that we are a nation of barbarians."

He lit a cigarette and told a story to illustrate his point. During the war, he met a Russian woman sniper — "a sharpshooter who had killed 200 or so Germans" — who toured the U. S.

"The first thing she asked me was why I had run away over here," Berezowsky recalled. "The next thing she did was tell me how America had sent the Russian soldiers a gift of records. 'But they were jazz records,' she said. 'Imagine, sending us jazz records. They must be uncultured to do something like that.' I explained to her that jazz was a medium of expression in America, but she just sneered. 'That's an impression we have to fix before we can get anywhere. We should show them we like the Russian composers, and the best way would be for American artists and singers to perform the Russian classics for them."

He adds that, at least in the beginning of such a program, we should avoid any controversial music, such as the works of composers who have been criticized by the Russian government. And the program should be on a definite schedule.

Berezowsky, a 50-year-old, sandy-haired man, came to America in 1922 and has been a citizen since 1928. He's been a soloist and guest conductor with many of America's most famous symphonies, and has written more than a score of compositions. He is now a conductor for a radio network.

A native Russian, he, of course, knows their likes and dislikes. His suggestion of musical programs on the Voice of America beamed to Russia is based on their emotional love of their own composers.

"You get an American to sing, say, the songs of Moussorgsky, in the Russians' native language. To them, that is a sign of culture that we make the effort to learn their songs."

"And they would fall for it heavy — anybody who can say, 'da, da' or 'nei, nei' and carry a tune at the same time — why, the Russians would think they're cousins. They wouldn't think of making war with such a person."

Wm. Bendix
Hitting Stage

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Some folks around town are wondering why William Bendix is playing before local footlights.

It's not that Bill needs the money. His stage pay is a pittance compared to the money he gets from the movies. Certainly the novelty of the play didn't do it. He is performing in "Born Yesterday," which Paul Douglas established on Broadway and which Broderick Crawford recently played in the movie version. (In fact, the film was previewed the night before Bendix opened in it.)

Nor does Bill need to keep busy. He makes around four pictures a year, which is more than par for the course. And he has his weekly radio show, "The Life of Riley." So I asked him why he's leaning to the legit.

"It presents a challenge," he confessed. "I haven't been on the stage since 11 years ago, when I was in 'Time of Your Life.' You forget a lot in that time."

"You see, in pictures it's hard to sustain a character. You play one scene and two weeks later you might play the scene that follows it. It's hard to make a

Income Taxes

DALLAS — (P) — An outspoken opponent of income taxes says that "every loss of individual rights in the history of this country can be blamed on the income tax."

"Without it, the government wouldn't have billions to spend as it now has," Miss Vivian Kellems, an industrialist from Connecticut, told the Dallas chapter of the Texas Manufacturers Association last night.

Woman Reporter Takes Hop
Over Korea in Speedy Jet

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Barbara Brines, wife of AP's Tokyo Bureau Chief Russell Brines, came aboard again the other day helping cover the Korean war for a story. She went to 20,000 feet for this one — at jet speed — and watched other jets strike at targets of opportunity.)

By BARBARA BRINES
AN AIRFIELD IN NORTH KOREA — (P) — The transparent canopy of the trainer jet plane slowly slid down and locked us in. Then with a roar the T-33 tore down the runway at 110 miles an hour.

The voice of Capt. Malcolm G. Armstrong of Portland, Ore., came through the earphones in my helmet saying: "You can fasten your oxygen mask now because we are going to climb up to 20,000 feet and then level off. If you get dizzy or feel faint, just turn on more oxygen for yourself and do not touch that red button on the instrument panel or else the fuel tanks will fall off."

Before he had finished talking the countryside below was beginning to look like a miniature garden. Armstrong waved his hand and pointed to the left.

Four tiny specks appeared and in what seemed less than a minute we were upon four more jets and had fallen into a V formation.

"We are going north on this mission to a certain target area. If we see anything on the way the other jets will take care of it. I wish I could fire a few rounds but we are not armed. Are you all right?"

My voice sounded strange as I answered through my mask, "I'm okay."

The next second I felt as if we were being pushed by a giant hand right down to Earth. Still in formation, we nipped down into the clouds which a few seconds before seemed miles below us. We met again beneath the clouds and just as suddenly as the pressure began it stopped. The city of Pyongyang passed beneath us.

Five minutes later we saw smoke coming up on our left. I heard the flight commander saying: "We are going down to take a look."

Again came that sensation of great weight. The pilot pointed down and said: "They have spotted a tunnel. See that white smoke? It looks like steam. There is probably a train in there. Watch the jets scramble."

The four jets now were flying around like angry silver birds. Then one dived and I saw two rockets like roman candles leave the jet and hit the mouth of the tunnel.

The second jet speared out more rockets, then the third jet and the fourth. A puff of brown smoke came from the tunnel.

"We are going to leave them now," said the voice in the earphones. "We don't have as much fuel as they do."

On the way back we flew just a few thousand feet above the winding pathway of a large river. We saw American troops crossing a bridge. Farther south some Koreans ran to the side of the road when they spotted our plane. And then we were back to Pyongyang, then Kaesong and then at our airfield.

Once more the same pressure bore down on my head and shoulders while the ground seemed to be rising at a terrific speed.

Then the flight was over. The canopy slowly rose and the cold air hit my eyes. I unhooked the oxygen mask. A mechanic placed a ladder against the plane. I unhooked the safety belt from across my lap and shoulders and took off the helmet, parachute and Mae West.

The combat mission was over. The oyster is the most valuable product of this country's fisheries, with salmon second.

Lovesick Youths Duel With Cars

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — (P) — Police have arrested two lovesick boys because they keep bumping into each other — with automobiles.

Charles W. Rathbun said charges of reckless driving were brought against Stanley G. D'Orsi, 18, and Frank Hennessey, 16.

Rathbun said the pair have been dueling with automobiles ever since a night six months ago when they both tried to date the same girl.

Last night their cars rammed again and D'Orsi's smashed into a tree, Rathbun said.

He said he asked the pair: "You mean you've been battling like this for six months?" and one of them answered:

"Not all the time, just most of the time."

When cold air flows over warm land or water, the vapor rising from the latter is quickly condensed to produce fog.

Christmas Seals Fight Tuberculosis

Most Gray Counties have received or will receive soon their Christmas Seals from the Tuberculosis Association. Each year this worthwhile organization obtains all of its operating funds through the sale of these seals. Be sure and buy yours.

Proceeds from the sale of the Christmas Seals constitute the sole support of the tuberculosis associations across the nation. The Texas Tuberculosis Association has done a remarkable job throughout the state in its particular drive, giving free X-rays to everyone who would take the time to be checked.

Not only has the Texas association put on a vigorous case-finding campaign, but it has also aided the cases uncovered and taken immediate steps toward getting cures. Health education projects have also been a big job for the association.

Tuberculosis is a chronic, communicable disease that has no obvious symptoms in an early stage. Even one case in a community, however early, may be a possible danger to others in the area.

But tuberculosis can be discovered early, even in the very early stages, by means of the X-ray. And the money from the Christmas seals goes toward the X-ray project.

The health education program of the association is to inform the people of the facts of tuberculosis which could help them to protect themselves against the disease.

Although tuberculosis may strike anywhere, at any time, forewarned is forearmed. People who know how to protect themselves against tuberculosis are less likely to get the disease.

Every Texan should buy and use the Christmas seals. The purchase of the seals means ammunition against one of the state's persistent enemies, tuberculosis, because it means support of the helpful year-round campaign against the disease carried on by the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

Washington . . . by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — How to prevent a new round of wage increases from starting another spiral of inflation is a major problem about which government stabilizers have done nothing.

What's more, they're powerless to do anything to prevent price increases from spiraling out of control. Controls can't be imposed unless there are wage controls. And nothing has been done about holding down prices except through indirect means of increasing taxes and tighter credit restrictions.

U. S. Steel President B. F. Fairless' recent reference to current negotiations for a "fifth round" of wage increases calls attention to just what has happened on U. S. wage picture.

First, postwar wage increases were patterned on 15-12 cents an hour increase granted to major industries in 1946. Second round was a package increase, including pay for holidays and other fringe issues equal to 15 cents an hour. Third round in 1948 followed a set pattern but averaged 10 to 13 cents an hour.

Fourth round, last year, was to cover pensions and insurance and in many cases involved no other direct wage increase. General Motors increase allowed cost of living adjustment which idea was picked up by others. Fifth round really began with Chrysler voluntary increase of 10 to 15 cents an hour, early this year.

Total increase since the war, omitting the fourth pension round but including the Chrysler-pattern fifth round, therefore, ranges from 53 to 55 cents an hour, for those who got annual raises.

Bureau of Labor Statistics reports average hourly wage for all manufacturing industries was $1.02 in 1945. In September, 1950, it averaged $1.45. This is 46 percent, or 47 percent average increase.

WASHINGTON HOUSING
Washington's postwar housing boom has put the District of Columbia in a lot better shape to handle new influx of government defense workers than it was 10 years ago. Over 100,000 housing units have been put under construction in past five years. This includes roughly 60,000 houses and 40,000 apartments. The latter include many one room efficiency apartments for single government workers. One apartment building alone has 1135 apartments.

But there's still said to be a housing shortage. "They're standing in line to buy but they can't get the money to buy," says a Washington real estate firm. "We never saw anything like it."

Where all the people are coming from is hard to figure. One explanation given is that as segregation bars are broken down in lower-priced residential districts, many higher-priced areas where restrictions are still in effect.

POSTWAR POST MORTEM
Several hundred Japanese government officials and prominent citizens have now been brought to America for visits at suggestion of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. U. S. government officials assigned to show them around report that the number one observation of most of the visitors has been, "Why did we ever think we could defeat this big country?"

HELICOPTER RESCUE!
Bell Aircraft reports a new kind of helicopter rescue mission. Marine Capt. Frank Presley and Lt. Don Hogue climbed through a shell hole on the roof of their headquarters building in Korea to repair damage. They patched the roof all right, then discovered there was no ladder tall enough to get them down. Lt. Col. J. Frank Cole, First Marine Air Wing squadron commander, dispatched a helicopter to assist them.

IMPROVEMENT IN VIETNAM
News from Vietnam (Indo-China) may get worse before it begins to get better. Communist guerrilla leader Ho Chi-minh's forces have now been heavily armed and better trained by Chinese Reds and presumably Russians. This has caused French to change tactics and tighten lines. Strategic withdrawal is not yet complete. In meantime, U. S. aid is

Fair Enough-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — By coincidence, the new American Mercury comes out with the beginning of an exposure of the sinister plot to destroy

Jim Forrestal just as my own digging into the operations of Isidore Lipschutz reveals the fact that Forrestal voluntarily paid the government the amount of money that he saved by respect to certain legal income tax devices in the years of the great depression. I call attention to the New Mercury's piece because this shameful tragedy was the result of foul machinations and death was Forrestal's reward for great service. I want to try to summarize the article here. The author was William Hue, a Washington journalist.

Lipschutz puts out a propaganda magazine called, "Prevent World War III," as the official organ of his Society for the Prevention of World War III.

My interest in the society was revived when I observed that the Buchanan Committee of the 81st Congress timidly refrained from touching Lipschutz, the society or his non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League, a private spy ring which interfaces with the society. There was a hidden reason for this immunity for Lipschutz and his two privately operated secret services. An honest inquiry by the 82nd Congress could not fail to show that Communist sympathizers and a majority of tax experts in the House of Representatives favored a Carthaginian peace for Germany and other designs went after Forrestal because he put the interests of the United States above all other interests.

Forrestal unquestionably was a great patriot and hero who sought danger in the war above and beyond the call of duty. He was wounded to death by vile slanders including an insinuation that he "escaped payment" of large amounts of income taxes.

Drew Pearson repeated this dirty slander on the air as his contribution to an organized propaganda. Pearson went further and said Forrestal ran away while his wife was struggling with robbers taking her jewelry. Pearson has sued me and others for calling him a lying blackguard by error with respect to that lie. My answer is on record repeating that he is a lying blackguard and adding that he makes a profession of lying. He will welcome the chance, if he ever gives me a chance, to prove him a liar and a blackguard, by error or mishap but by consistent design.

The Society for the Prevention of World War III is trying to make the United States obey Lipschutz's desires regarding Germany. It is abusive toward all prominent dissenters, and Forrestal found himself in the line of fire for several reasons. One of them was that before he went to Washington as assistant secretary of the Navy at Roosevelt's request, he was the head of Dillon, Read and Co., a big financial house which had made loans to certain German businesses before the war. That made him a "pro-Nazi."

Last year, Forrestal was dead, Senator James E. Murray, of Montana, a friend of Lipschutz inserted in the Congressional Record an article from "Prevent World War III." He described Lipschutz's society as an "educational organization," which is its pretense. By dumping this abusive material into the record, he made it eligible for free mailing at government expense under his senatorial frank. In this article the statement was made that Forrestal, in 1933, testified before the Pecora inquiry that he "escaped payment of at least $95,000,000 of federal income taxes by forming two personal corporations, one in Canada, the other in Delaware." This figure is a fantastic exaggeration, but that is beside the point.

On Nov. 21, I telephoned Judge Pecora in New York and asked him whether he considered that Forrestal had defrauded the government or had been guilty of any illegal act or wrong conduct in the tax matter. He not only acquitted Forrestal of all suspicion of wrongdoing but volunteered the astonishing news, never published before as far as my knowledge goes, that Forrestal went to the commissioner of Internal Revenue three or four days after he testified and asked permission to revise those returns upward and pay the difference. Permission was given, the returns were revised upward, and the payment was made. Pecora said Forrestal did not own private corporations in Canada by means of which he was able to avoid, but not evade, taxes. Pecora said Forrestal and others "cut corners," but added that Forrestal acted on the advice of tax experts and that he had legal advice and could do it without violating the law.

I asked whether Forrestal's conduct in revising upward and paying more taxes was "unique." Judge Pecora said it was. He had never heard of any similar case. Moreover, Forrestal said nothing about it publicly and Judge Pecora heard of it only after some years had passed.

The trick here is raw but simple. Murray somehow is interested in Lipschutz. He testified as a character witness for Lipschutz at his sensational trial. He dumped it into the record and caused reprints to be made in the government printing office at cheap rates. Then the printed article finds its way into the office of Lipschutz's propaganda mill in New York in an envelope bearing Murray's frank.

This means that George American, pays the postage bill and Lipschutz's society gets a free ride.

I have obtained from the society's office fifteen such items in envelopes bearing the franks of seven members of Congress. Most of the stuff is reprints of articles out of Lipschutz's magazine which are sent back to his office in New York for distribution at the expense of the taxpayers. The Buchanan Committee last summer raised a great row about the use of other congressmen's franks to circulate American doctrine. No cause as flagrant as this one came to light and yet Lipschutz, the society and his private detective bureau were not even mentioned.

Purifoy never got his congressional pay raise because he took a $1111 higher paying job as ambassador to Greece.

On his arrival in Athens, Purifoy lost no time in turning his Southern charm on the Greek government. Within a week, he and Prime Minister Venizelos were conducting foreign relations on a first name basis. They call each other "Sophocles" and "Jack."

TRENDS

By DAVID BAXTER

Many of us watch "trends" of the times very carefully. At the past election we professed to see a trend toward the right and patriots are hopeful that it will continue. It seems that everyone "leans" a bit toward the nationalistic capitalist, individualist side or the internationalist, socialist, collectivist side. From the way elections have been going the average citizen apparently has no set, permanent convictions but has built his house on shifting sands, swinging first one way, then changing his mind and swinging the other. That means, to me, that we have an immoral majority because moral people have built their houses on a rock foundation, on the way of life recommended by Christ in the golden rule and written by the finger of God in the Ten Commandments. Moral people cannot change from year to year because morality itself does not change. The golden rule is an unchangeable today rule as it was 2000 years ago. It was wrong to commit murder or to steal or covet then. It still is and ever shall be. "Heaven and earth shall pass away," said Jesus, "but my words shall not pass away." There is nothing more consistent than morality.

In a government of by and for the people, where those people — a majority of them — through their representatives covet and steal and then, at the next election, become half-way honest, then start coveting and stealing again, there is inconsistency. Such inconsistency shows that the majority are immoral, for, as we have seen, morality is consistent. Many a citizen thinks himself honest and who would not rob you personally will do that very thing by getting together with others to make up a voting majority commit the crime they think they are too moral to commit directly.

The trend at the last election was away from the nude-elf, collective, communist, conscript, bandit idea of government and toward a nationalistic, patriotic individualistic, free market like setup. There is assurance, however, that the trend will remain the way in 1952. Nationalists are "hopeful" that it will. Hope is always a good thing to start with but it takes faith to realize a hope. Therefore, patriots would do well to work this present trend into a movement — with faith in its success, by the grace of God.

Trends do not just happen. They are made. The past trend toward the left in this country was made by people who, taking advantage of the majority's ignorance and immorality, organized a support through government purchases of surpluses at an artificial price are butter, cheese, honey and milk, which do not constitute the heavy drain on the pocketbook.

In view of oleomargarine's tremendous gain in sales since the federal tax on the colored variety was removed, butter is practically off the support list, insofar as federal absorption affects the retail purchaser. Forthcoming figures on these two commodities' movement will be sensational.

Mr. Brannan has withdrawn subsidy payments from eggs (after January 1), from hogs, from turkeys and chickens and from potatoes. Congress, of course, forced him to eliminate subsidies from his program, but he may reinstate them if he dares to disregard the wrath of the brave growers' wrath by insisting on strict production controls. He doesn't.

ACUMEN — The Denver legalite shows his political acumen by his handling of a program which threatens to embarrass the administration on the farms and in the cities between now and 1952, a presidential year.

He has removed supports from the very commodities on which government aid is reflected directly in the cost of a market basket at the corner grocery store. A housewife, for instance, does not have to ask an agricultural economist or marketing expert to know when she is paying excessively high prices for such everyday goods as eggs, pork, potatoes and poultry. She can see where and how and why her weekly budget buys less of these foodstuffs.

DEMAND — But while reducing these costs insofar as the factor of government subsidies enters into the total, Mr. Brannan does so with his tongue in his cheek. He counts on high wages and increased demand to maintain prices at a level which will still mean a good income to the farmer.

Studies of eating habits by Agriculture's dietetic experts show that when people are making good money, they indulge heavily in meat, poultry, eggs and vegetables. When hard times strike, they buy cheap but filling stuff like potatoes, cereals, and inexpensive cuts.

STORABLE — But the fact is that price supports will continue for such storable products as cotton, wheat and tobacco, and for two good reasons.

In the first place, the legislative friends of these three crops really don't like the farm bloc in Capitol Hill. It is a bipartisan group that includes Representatives and Senators from enough states to compose a majority in House and Senate. Mr. Brannan dare not antagonize them by asking Congress to terminate price supports.

Moreover, these commodities expressed a sharp disagreement with this view of management-labor relations. Remarkably, C. P. Groenendaal, a Dutch banker: "You say that we have to reduce prices and increase wages. This same sentence is a well-known slogan of the Communists."

"Lowering prices and raising wages may be a Communist slogan," retorted a prominent labor official. "But we believe in it and we have proved that it will work."

At a recent Washington meeting of foreign bankers and industrialists, high ECA officials and American labor leaders, the difficulty developed vividly and controversially. U. S. spokesmen, especially the labor experts, expressed their interest in improvement of European workers' conditions through operation of our foreign aid program.

DISAGREEMENT — Communist infiltration, they pointed out, can be resisted most effectively, if millions of European workmen are aroused, informed citizenry —

California, while blotting out the leftists, included Republican Shattuck because he was a member of the United World Federalists, his name along with James Roosevelt's on the letterhead of that organization. There is no other explanation for Shattuck's defeat. Educated voters. The same thing happened elsewhere. "Mission to Moscow" Joe Davies' son-in-law, Senator Tydings, a Democrat but left-winger, got licked in Democratic Maryland; Elbert Thomas, long a friend of Communies, got what was coming to him in Utah, also with a Democratic majority, while Ohio, with a Democratic majority, slapped down the gang of C.I.O.ers, AFL'ers, nude-elfers and hoodlums who tried to defeat Senator Taft. The voters had simply learned something and knew what they were doing.

We called that a trend toward the right — first toward nationalism and away from foreign entanglements, which can be followed by less and less government and controls at home, which in turn leads to more and more individual liberty, or the fulfillment of the Declaration of Independence. But, remembering that trends are made — do not just happen — there's no time like now to keep that trend going until, by 1952, it will have become a national movement.

California, with a heavy Democratic majority, was sufficiently educated to defeat the nude-elfers led by James Roosevelt and Helen Douglas. But just to show that the voters really did know how to discriminate, while they voted a Republican landslide, there was just one lone Republican they singled out to snare under along with nude-elfers Roosevelt and Douglas. He was Edward Shattuck, the G.O.P. candidate for attorney general. I am convinced that the news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Denver political lawyer who heads the Department of Agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, has virtually scrapped the 15-year-old farm support program in response to producers' and consumers' indignation that expressed itself most vociferously in the elections early this month.

It should mean a saving of several hundred millions to the government, but more especially to housewives, and without too severe a reduction in farm income.

Despite details, it amounts to a major retreat on the "Truman fair deal front." It is the first of many marches to the rear in the next two years to minimize the effect on the voters of hostile charges of "socialism."

WITHDRAWN — Although it is not generally realized, the only perishable foods which now enjoy Truman-Brannan support through government purchases of surpluses at an artificial price are butter, cheese, honey and milk, which do not constitute the heavy drain on the pocketbook.

In view of oleomargarine's tremendous gain in sales since the federal tax on the colored variety was removed, butter is practically off the support list, insofar as federal absorption affects the retail purchaser. Forthcoming figures on these two commodities' movement will be sensational.

Mr. Brannan has withdrawn subsidy payments from eggs (after January 1), from hogs, from turkeys and chickens and from potatoes. Congress, of course, forced him to eliminate subsidies from his program, but he may reinstate them if he dares to disregard the wrath of the brave growers' wrath by insisting on strict production controls. He doesn't.

ACUMEN — The Denver legalite shows his political acumen by his handling of a program which threatens to embarrass the administration on the farms and in the cities between now and 1952, a presidential year.

He has removed supports from the very commodities on which government aid is reflected directly in the cost of a market basket at the corner grocery store. A housewife, for instance, does not have to ask an agricultural economist or marketing expert to know when she is paying excessively high prices for such everyday goods as eggs, pork, potatoes and poultry. She can see where and how and why her weekly budget buys less of these foodstuffs.

DEMAND — But while reducing these costs insofar as the factor of government subsidies enters into the total, Mr. Brannan does so with his tongue in his cheek. He counts on high wages and increased demand to maintain prices at a level which will still mean a good income to the farmer.

Studies of eating habits by Agriculture's dietetic experts show that when people are making good money, they indulge heavily in meat, poultry, eggs and vegetables. When hard times strike, they buy cheap but filling stuff like potatoes, cereals, and inexpensive cuts.

STORABLE — But the fact is that price supports will continue for such storable products as cotton, wheat and tobacco, and for two good reasons.

In the first place, the legislative friends of these three crops really don't like the farm bloc in Capitol Hill. It is a bipartisan group that includes Representatives and Senators from enough states to compose a majority in House and Senate. Mr. Brannan dare not antagonize them by asking Congress to terminate price supports.

Moreover, these commodities expressed a sharp disagreement with this view of management-labor relations. Remarkably, C. P. Groenendaal, a Dutch banker: "You say that we have to reduce prices and increase wages. This same sentence is a well-known slogan of the Communists."

"Lowering prices and raising wages may be a Communist slogan," retorted a prominent labor official. "But we believe in it and we have proved that it will work."

At a recent Washington meeting of foreign bankers and industrialists, high ECA officials and American labor leaders, the difficulty developed vividly and controversially. U. S. spokesmen, especially the labor experts, expressed their interest in improvement of European workers' conditions through operation of our foreign aid program.

DISAGREEMENT — Communist infiltration, they pointed out, can be resisted most effectively, if millions of European workmen are aroused, informed citizenry —

California, while blotting out the leftists, included Republican Shattuck because he was a member of the United World Federalists, his name along with James Roosevelt's on the letterhead of that organization. There is no other explanation for Shattuck's defeat. Educated voters. The same thing happened elsewhere. "Mission to Moscow" Joe Davies' son-in-law, Senator Tydings, a Democrat but left-winger, got licked in Democratic Maryland; Elbert Thomas, long a friend of Communies, got what was coming to him in Utah, also with a Democratic majority, while Ohio, with a Democratic majority, slapped down the gang of C.I.O.ers, AFL'ers, nude-elfers and hoodlums who tried to defeat Senator Taft. The voters had simply learned something and knew what they were doing.

We called that a trend toward the right — first toward nationalism and away from foreign entanglements, which can be followed by less and less government and controls at home, which in turn leads to more and more individual liberty, or the fulfillment of the Declaration of Independence. But, remembering that trends are made — do not just happen — there's no time like now to keep that trend going until, by 1952, it will have become a national movement.

California, with a heavy Democratic majority, was sufficiently educated to defeat the nude-elfers led by James Roosevelt and Helen Douglas. But just to show that the voters really did know how to discriminate, while they voted a Republican landslide, there was just one lone Republican they singled out to snare under along Stuffed cotton toys are simple to make, easy on the Christmas budget. The toys surrounding this mother are made to patterns, from economical and handy cotton feed bags. Stitches are charted in each pattern.

To the fairly long list of child-hood toys so beloved that they have become imperishable, the well-stuffed cotton toy must be added. The number of children who have gone to sleep cuddling a Raggedy Ann must now be legion.

Cotton toys are in the bag this Christmas. Made to neat and flour bags were snapped up by women last year. In fact, bags, they'll make Dec. 25 more fun for any small child. Cotton bag sizes range from the 10-pound sugar sacks to the 100-

Eye-Opening Report from Zoo: Shakespeare Maligns Shrew!

By EVERT CLARK
NEA Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A burning question — Does an African elephant shrew always sleep with its eyes open? — has kept Ernest P. Walker awake nights.

Walker is the assistant director of the National Zoo, the man who made the startling revelation earlier this year that bats are: friendly, clean, not blind, don't carry bedbugs, aren't forever plotting to entangle themselves in some woman's hair.

"I have kept some shrews in my den to study them at all hours of the day and night," he said drowsily, "and I have yet to see them with their eyes closed."

"I'm not saying they always keep them open," he said. "But I would rather doubt that they ever close them."

He did his research stretched out on a cot in the darkness, with a small pocket flashlight by his side. Every single time he switched on the flash and looked, the shrew was looking right back.

Another thing. The shrew is not the nasty, tempered little animal it is reputed to be. "That is a damnable, maligning thing put out by Shakespeare," Walker said. "He just had to have some word that would rhyme, I guess."

Walker just published a paper on animal behavior. Here are some other things his sleepless nights have taught him:

Soundest sleepers are burrowing animals, "even when they take their naps above ground, as may be the case in captivity."

Animals accustomed to slumber above ground must always "keep one eye open." This may be literally true in some cases, he said, but there isn't an animal in the kingdom that can hold a candle to the elephant shrew in this respect.

Sleep habits are well adjusted to needs. Bats, to use a rather upside-down example, hang by their feet "in a good position for sudden flight at an alarm." All they do is "let go with their toes and spread their wings."

Armadillos tremble almost continuously in their sleep (at least while being watched), "particularly when lying on their backs or sides."

"Most mammals when they have an opportunity to awaken naturally, like to sit and 'think' like many people who cannot start off in high gear."

Upside-down Suzy, easily made from these small cotton bags, is really two dolls. She has two dresses, two smiling faces, a bonnet for the white face and a bandana for the black. The plain white or pastel bags are, by the way, fine for body parts while the prints make pretty doll clothes and novel stuffed animals.

The delightful dachshund is made from a striped feed bag and measures 17 inches from his small black nose to the tip of his pointed tail. His pattern has the hot-iron transfer designs.

The body of Pedro the Monkey is made from a flour bag in dark solid color with white sack material for the feet and face. A lively polka dot fashions his bow tie.

The "creeper" doll, planned as a gift for a little girl, looks like a baby at the crawling stage. Dressed in a cotton bag diaper and juvenile print romper, it has a glowing complexion which comes from a pink cotton bag.

Tillie the Turtle and Danny the Duck may sound like a pair of miniature mobsters but actually are without guile. Tillie can be made up in bright plaid and Danny takes to an animal print.

TIME CHECK for watches, as Marion Cole checks them against an electric clock, and eight-day precision clock and an audible time piece which sounds every two seconds. Watches are tested five days—two days flat, two upright and one upside-down.

Everybody Joins Hands as Company Battles for Life

By RICHARD P. TAFER
NEA Special Correspondent
WALTHAM, Mass. — (NEA) — Waltham watches are ticking again, but this time the century-old firm is fighting for its survival. A loyal community of 48,000 people, which has suffered a $5,000,000 payroll loss because of the company's two closings in the past 22 months, is patiently waiting for the day when the firm will regain its place in the American jeweled watch industry.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM SINUS CATARRH NASAL CONGESTION, HAY FEVER

Amazing new formula acts like magic to relieve nasal congestion and irritation. Men and women with tortuous sinus headaches, stuffed nose, earaches and fits of sneezing speak of wonderful relief after using NASOREL. NASOREL may appear to be an expensive medicine, but considering the relief you will experience, the $2.00 it costs is only pennies per dose. NASOREL (caution, use only as directed) is sold with a money back guarantee if not delighted with results. Sold only by Harvester Drug Store, Combs-Worley Bldg., Mail Orders Filled.

SPRAY AND AWAY—Wild Bill Hatfield, Florida's top aquatic skier, is airborne as his slender silver crosses the wake of his boat at Cypress Gardens where he tucks up for the International Water Ski Tournament.

OUT OF HISTORY—When William J. Pyland, of Meade, Kan., was born in Tennessee in 1850, Franklin Pierce had just been inaugurated as president, and the Mexican War, in which a rookie West Point lieutenant named Ulysses S. Grant distinguished himself, had been over only two years. His parents moved to Dade County, Mo., when he was a year old. "Uncle Billy" and his wife are pictured behind his 100-candle birthday cake.

enable it to move into defense work. Originally, it was hoped that it could reopen in time to get all of its 242,000 watches on hand into the market before Christmas.

Today, management knows this is physically impossible. But the sale orders are now ahead of the ability of the limited number of personnel to fill them. As fast as the movements are completed, cased, dialed, inspected, and packed, invoices are filled for jewelers all over the country.

The watches being sent out for this sale, 165 different models, were started through the process of manufacture last year. But regardless of the state the watch was in when the processing of the inventory started, it has been subjected to the most stringent tests in the history of the company. Only eight departments at the plant are open now, and they are concerned only with the final processing of the watches. Normally, 249 people are employed in these departments and they process 2000 watches a day.

A co-operative watch union, co-operative management, and 397 co-operative employees are now processing 4000 watches a day through these departments and each watch is being given rigid tolerance tests.

And the community of Waltham is co-operative, too. It has often demonstrated that it believes in the firm. The employees believe in the firm, too. And all concerned are hoping to make the public believe in the firm.

The employee-faith in Waltham Watch goes back to a time more than a year ago when hundreds of them expressed willingness to put up as much as $500,000 of their own money in a stock purchase plan of reorganization if it were acceptable. This plan failed to materialize, however.

Assurance of labor-management co-operation in clearing the company's watch inventory in the vital sale came after a conference between Sachs and Walter W. Cenerazzo, president of the American Watch Workers Union. They agreed to waive all union contract provisions necessary to insure the maximum output of watches for the sale. The union agreed to an additional four-hour shift, if necessary, and a six-day work week as well as certain seniority provisions.

A total of 1580 employees answered a Waltham Watch Workers Union questionnaire relative to their present status. Of this number, 1107 want to return to the Waltham Watch Co.; 784 of them are still unemployed; 556 have used up all of their unemployment benefits. Most of them are older people. Only 400 have been returned. The fate of the rest of them depends on the sale.

The company is patient. The employees are patient. The community is patient. But all of them realize that Waltham is really fighting for its survival this time.

Letter from Mecca Says End Is Near

PENANG — (P) — Is the end of the world near? That seems to be a main topic of conversation among villagers in outlying districts of Penang and Province Wellesley these days. Those doing the talking say that the sun will soon disappear for three days and nights and after that it will be seen rising in the west.

This, say rumor-mongers, is a sign that the world's end is near. All of this kind of talk originated from a letter reportedly discovered in far-off Mecca, and sent here. So superstitious-minded village folks are spreading the "news."

England Plans To Print Volumes

LONDON — (P) — The Encyclopedia Britannica, which originated in Britain, is going to be printed here again for the first time since 1911. It has been published in Chicago.

The 25 volumes are expected to be printed here by next summer. John Armitage, London editor of the encyclopedia, said the printing of 10,000 sets of the new edition "is the biggest printing job ever attempted in this country."

Each set contains 32,000,000 words and the publication of 10,000 sets will require 420 tons of paper — nearly 100 pounds to each set.

Former Countess Likes Dairy Farm

ABEOTTSFORD, B. C. — (P) — Once a member of the French underground and twice sentenced to death by the Germans, the former Countess de Dampierre—now Mrs. Lloyd Moore—is enjoying life on a dairy farm near here. She was first married to Count de Dampierre, who fought in the French army until France fell and then returned home to join the underground with his wife. He failed to survive torture by the Gestapo, dying in a boxcar on his way to exile in Poland.

The former countess was also captured and was shunted from prison to prison. She managed to escape the firing squad twice and survived torture rather than give away her friends. She finally escaped from a bus carrying her to Poland and managed to stay out of the enemy's reach until her country was liberated. Two years later she met and married Moore, at the time serving with the American Army at the Nuremberg trials. They came here in 1948.

Erosion on Farm Beaten by Grass

DES MOINES, Ia. — (P) — A large gully on the Guy Hensley farm near Paton, once deep enough to hide a tractor, has now been brought so well under control it could be farmed.

Ward Schilling, operating the 280-acre farm, used reed canary grass to control the erosion. The grass had been doubling itself every year. Schilling says he doesn't plan to farm it, however, nor the surrounding upland. The upland has been eroding too severely to be cropped, he said. He will use the section for pasture. The grass, which grows in clumps from two to eight feet in height, makes fine pasture and hay.

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes show down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. National Scouting Executive Is Council's Banquet Speaker

Robert W. "Bob" Perin, assistant national director of the Boy Scouting Service, will be the principal speaker at the 22nd annual banquet of the A. O. U. W. Area Council Dec. 15 in Borger.

This meeting, to be held at Borger High School, will be Perin's second appearance in the Council this year. He conducted a series of scoutmaster's "Show-How's" in various communities of the Council in January 1950. 200 scouters were present at these various meetings. Perin is expected that more than a thousand will attend the annual banquet.

As a boy, Perin lived in Hurricane, Utah, where he advanced in scouting from Tenderfoot to Eagle Scout and served in his troop as a junior assistant scoutmaster.

Robert W. Perin

While he attended the University of New Mexico, he served in scouting as both assistant scoutmaster and then as scoutmaster.

During his summer vacations in college, he served on the staffs of Zion and Grand Canyon National Parks as a guide. In 1931 he flew news photographs between Chicago and Cincinnati. After leaving college, Perin became supervisor of camps and forestry construction at the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation in New Mexico. He also helped establish the University of New Mexico Archaeology School.

As a member of the professional service of the Boy Scouts, Perin graduated from the 47th National Training School and served as field executive, Cincinnati, assistant scout executive, Santa Fe, N.M., and Phoenix, Ariz.

Boyd Meador Name Governor Nominee

McLean, past deputy governor of Texas, has been nominated for the position of governor by the McLean club. The nomination was made at a regional meeting of zones one and two, held at Borger. Others attending the meeting, besides Meador, were J. P. Kritzer, Lester Campbell, Bob Sheddick, Lester Dyant, Buddy Sutton and Amos Page.

Meador has a record of 21 years perfect attendance, holds a senior master's license and has held all local offices available.

Pessimists think that every season comes at the wrong time of year.

A blanket owned by an Ohioan was traced back 400 years to Ireland. By an under-cover man? The goal of a lot of college football boys will vanish, as usual, at the end of the football season. Too many people spend too much time chasing rainbows — and wind up running into storms. Shock restored a Louisiana man's voice — just what divorce does for a lot of men.

BURGER DELUXE

Next time you have hamburgers for dinner when unexpected company drops in, give the burgers the deluxe treatment: Cream some blue cheese with a little cream and a dash of Worcestershire sauce, spread on the cook-meat patties and allow the topping to bubble under the broiler for a few seconds.

Glamor Wrappings

Any Christmas gift takes on added charm when it's given original packaging. This girl covers a shopping bag (left) with printed cellophane, making a handsome wrapping for Christmas fruit. Popcorn balls (upper right) are prettier wrapped in clear cellophane and taped to a cardboard sled. An ice cream container (right center) covered with printed cellophane and given a shredded cellophane rope makes a candy container. Cardboard satchel with pom-pom ends (lower right) provides packaging for any gift which is difficult to wrap.

The solution to the problem of wrapping the difficult or bulky Christmas gift lies in converting materials at hand into convenient containers. And in doing this, the gift itself takes on added importance.

Christmas fruit always presents a wrapping problem. The prettiest and easiest solution lies in giving an ordinary paper shopping bag real glamor. Use printed cellophane to cover the bag, securing it with tape. The top of the bag is held in place with spool wire. Allow enough roping to permit a bow trim for the bag.

A snow man and lady, made of popcorn and mounted on a cardboard sled, can be an attractive, inexpensive gift for a child. They are covered with clear red and blue cellophane and wear ties made of printed cellophane ribbon. Arms are popcorn-filled cellophane tubes, fastened on with tape. The features are red and blue tape.

The snow man wears a cone-shaped hat of blue cellophane, secured with tape. The hat slip it into a cardboard satchel perched on the snow lady's head is a red oval with ribbon trim ending in a bow under her chin.

Her partner gets a glass straw slipped over a pipe cleaner as his cane.

For the sled, cut two runners from cardboard to fit the sides of a small box. Wrap the box with cellophane the long way and slip the runners in under the side folds. Add roping to the front of the runners and fasten snow man and lady in place with tape.

A sturdy cardboard ice cream container can be turned into a handsome candy box. The handle, made of a 12-inch length of cellophane rope, goes on first. Form the rope into a loop and tie the ends together with tie wire. Poke the wire ends into the box top and twist them together underneath.

To make the tassel which dangles from the bottom of the box, use an 18-inch length of shredded cellophane and secure it with tie wire. A sheet of printed cellophane is used for box and cover. It's secured, top and bottom, by tape.

The handiest way to package any oddly shaped gift is to secure it with tape. The hat slip it into a cardboard satchel perched on the snow lady's head is, of course, any ordinary sheet of cardboard folded to the ap-

Decrease in Polio Reported in Texas

AUSTIN — (AP) — Polio is waning in Texas. Only 23 new cases were reported last week to the State Health Department.

The state has suffered 2,707 cases in 197 countries this year, already surpassing last year's all-time record. State health officer George W. Cox found consolation in that the total, apparently will fall short of the 3,000-mark which he predicted last April.

A year ago, 203 countries had reported 2,288 cases.

Two countries, Milan and Sabine, recorded their first polio of the year last week. Each had two cases.

Four Candidates Are Up for Cherry's Job

AUSTIN — (AP) — A University of Texas official says that a successor to head Texas Coach Blain Cherry may be named this week.

Dr. Vernon T. Schuhardt, chairman of the athletic council, said last night the council would meet this week with the board of regents.

"We have made no offers," he said, "but we are studying the problem. We definitely will make no announcement until after Thanksgiving."

Dr. Schuhardt told the Dallas News that three outsiders are being considered for the job as well as members of the present coaching staff. He did not name them.

with a red glass which has been slipped over the wire. Glass and wire are wound around the handle, giving a spiral effect. The handle is an eight-inch of transparent cellophane, secured by tape.

KIDDIES SAVE, BY GUM!—A three-way combination is the bubble gum-bank put on the Christmas market by a Chicago sales firm. When you put a penny in the slot, a ball of gum rolls out onto a spring shooter inside the bank, then the "banker" must flick it into the basket. Once the basket is made, the gum rolls out for chewing, and the penny falls in for safekeeping.

Dun, Bradstreet Index Increases

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week advanced four cents from a week ago to $6.67 — highest since mid-September.

At the new level, the index is 15.2 percent above the year-ago week's $5.79. The index was $6.02 at about the time the Korean war broke out. The lowest point reached since the Aug. 29 peak was $4.48 in mid-October. The record high was $7.36 on July 13, 1948.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Cosmetics Go In Hiding for Christmastime

It's become, by now, a rule of thumb that no cosmetic dare be a candidate for Christmas giving while looking like perfume, cologne, bath powder or lipstick.

One perfume, for example, comes in a medal-shaped bottle draped in 24-carat gold plate, suspended from a bright presentation ribbon.

Or there's wafer perfume put up in a mother-of-pearl miniature perfume compact with a rhinestone center. It dangles from a snake chain and becomes, therefore, a bracelet.

Perfume is also available this Christmas in solid form in a gilded filigree perfume ball with pin attached to wear on a dress or suit lapel. And there's even perfume to burn, in an electric perfume burner which is brand new this Christmas. The burner is in polished bronze and resembles a miniature skillet. A separate heating element is on a footed stand.

Soap, if it's 12 cakes in a box and therefore one bar of fragrance for each month in the year, is a gift which will appeal to any woman. Bland and hand-milled, these guest size cakes are in a white box with cover trimmed in gold-and-white lace.

Then, there's a Christmas tree cologne packed in hollyherry red and patterned with a white, etched tree. And there's cologne in a white snow bell, festively trimmed in blue.

Stocking stuffers include a stocking in glittering fuchsia net with snowy fluff top and toe which holds perfume essence, a bar of hand-milled soap and a tube of talcum. There's a lipstick centered in a rocket made of white macibou and tipped with colorful, shiny foil. There's also a black and gold pencil case which holds a lipstick at one end and an applicator bottle of perfume at the other.

Cosmetic favorites in new Christmas wrappings surround this girl, who chooses gifts for her friends from luxurious array. New Plaques Adorn Streets

As the streets of Pampa get all dressed up for the Big Season, citizens begin to notice that something new has been added.

And they're right. Rusty Ward, president of the Jaycees, who are installing the decorations, has announced the addition of new plaques being hung on street lights. These plaques depict carolers, Santa Claus and other Christmas scenes.

The 400 block on S. Cuyler is being decorated this year for the first time. Kingmill and Foster streets have never been bedecked with the plaques and evergreen before either, but they've already received most of their glamour for this season.

Football Game Included in Day's Offering

The Christmas Parade Friday night will be preceded by a big district football game between the high schools of Canadian and Happy.

Canadian, headed by Coach Hanson and Supt. Brzezale, won the championship of District 1-B last Friday night at Harvester Park by defeating a scrapping bunch of White Deer Bucks.

The Happy Cowboys, led by Coach Peterson and Supt. Russ, won their district title last Thursday, Thanksgiving, by downing Kivus. Happy is representing District 2-B.

Game time for tomorrow's contest, which was arranged for by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee, will be 7 p.m. Tickets for that game are now on sale at the school business office in the city hall.

Immediately following the football game, as soon as the players can get dressed, both teams will be honored at a banquet sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Then, at 7 p.m., the teams will go out and watch the big Christmas Parade.

Chinese Reds Set Up Iron Curtain

NEW YORK — (AP) — Communist China's delegates to the United Nations have set up a little "iron curtain" between themselves and the stares of curious New Yorkers.

The aloof Reds have maintained a maximum of privacy since their arrival in the United States Friday.

They have done no sightseeing and have spurned the dining rooms of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, having their meals sent to their rooms instead.

A special elevator is held in reserve for them at the hotel — to minimize the possibility of meetings with Americans who have lost relatives in the Korean war. A room at each end of their suite is kept vacant to foil possible eavesdroppers.

Safety Council Urges Caution

CHICAGO — Americans were asked today to celebrate the year-end holidays by keeping themselves and the Christmas spirit alive this year.

That plea launched the National Safety Council's Christmas safety campaign, in which 161 national organizations are cooperating.

The campaign is aimed at reducing the increasing number of accidents throughout the nation. Special emphasis will be placed on traffic accidents, which have taken an upward swing this year.

Traffic deaths for the first nine months of 1950 were up 11 percent, and the council predicts that the traffic death toll for the year is virtually certain to reach 20,000. This would be the highest since 1941 and the only year since 1946 to show an increase.

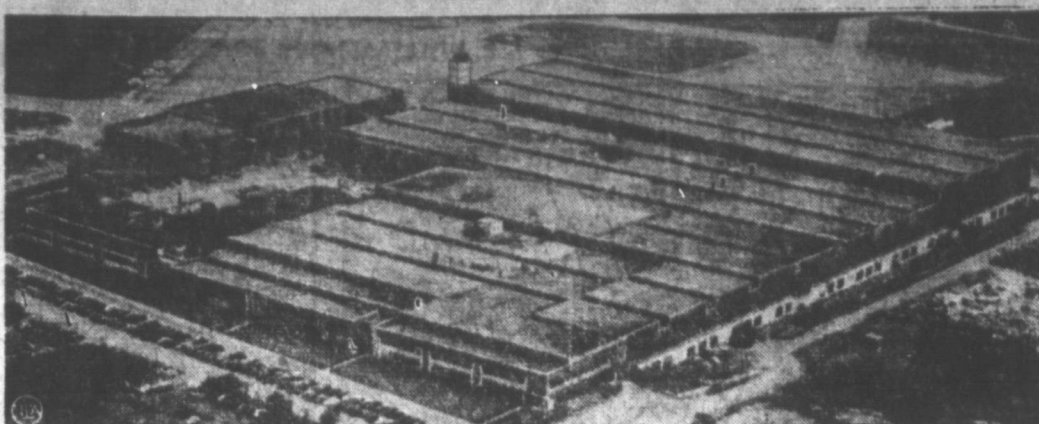

"The Christmas - New Year's holiday season is the peak accident period of the year," said Ned E. Dearborn, president of the council, "and traffic accidents present the most acute problem. Heavier travel and the festive spirit of the season always add to the normal winter hazards of bad weather, slippery roads and added hours of darkness."

"And more people will be traveling this year," he said. "Service men and women will be coming home on holiday leaves, and some families will be traveling to military camps to spend the holidays with those who cannot come home."

"This increased travel calls for extra caution on everybody's part. If everyone will take a little more time during the holiday rush — just enough to be careful when driving on the highway or crossing streets and in recreational and home activities — everyone will be assured of New Year's."

"Don't let death take your holiday — or anyone else's," Mr. Dearborn urged.

Golf Field Cut to 79 at Miami Open

MIAMI — (P) — A bulky field of 185 golfers was whittled down to 79 qualifying players today in preparation for the start of the 27th annual $10,000 Miami Open Golf tournament tomorrow.

Fred Haas, Jr., of Claremont, Calif., is the defending champion.

Yesterday two professionals and an amateur matched three under par 67s for the lead in the qualifying round.

Sammy Sigh, Miami, and Lou Bateman, Ocala, Fla., both shot 33-34-67.

Amateur Jack McGovern of Detroit turned in a 31-36-67.

Taxes, Snow Among Factors Considered in Factory Sites

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — All too often, says Leonard Yaseen, the location of a golf course determines the location of American industry. He says a good many executives, looking for a spot for a new plant, pick a place just because it is convenient for them to duck out for a quick nine holes.

"They don't realize," says Yaseen, whose business it is to find new locations for factories which are to be moved, "that plant location has a great deal to do with the success or failure of a business. That nice golf course may be in a high tax zone, or too far from good shipping facilities, or in a city where power is expensive or where there isn't an adequate supply of labor."

Moving a factory is a complicated and scientific thing, Fantus Factory Locating Service, of which Yaseen is a partner, is the only company in America which does nothing but help businesses find new locations. It approaches each assignment like a scientist looking for a new vitamin.

It studies the company that wants to move. Why is it dissatisfied with its present factory location? What does it make and how? What are its raw material needs? What is its size and how many workers?

From that data, Fantus first narrows the field into a few suitable states. Then it re-analyzes the problem, to pick just one state. Within that state, it first picks several communities, then goes through the narrowing process again, until it settles on the one best.

That sounds simple, but it isn't. In figuring out where a company should move to, Fantus' field representatives may visit 40 cities. They may spend anywhere from two months to two years (that's an exceptional case) in making the survey. They compile figures on everything from the number of strikes since 1917 to the average annual snowfall in inches, on each of states and cities being considered.

Its bulging files in New York and Chicago are crammed with information on everything conceivable that might affect an industrial plant. They can look up any town or city with a population over 2000, and find a record of its labor troubles for 23 years. They have the information on tax fluctuations of every city for the past 20 years. They have the dope on which cities are good and bad from the standpoint of crime.

Each survey is, of course, tailor-made for the individual company that wants to move. Some concerns have particular needs that must be studied. One firm, for example, needed ground water of a certain temperature in its fabricating process. Fantus found a city in Kansas with the right water temperature.

When it finishes the survey, the manufacturer has a two-volume report. Everything is there in black and white, even to classified ads from the cities' newspapers, listing available homes and apartments. The fee for this survey and recommendation averages $7500.

In 30 years, Fantus has located plants for companies employing from 35 to 35,000 employees. That last, its biggest job, was the Sperry Gyroscope Co. Fantus located it in Lake Success, N. Y., where a 2,500,000 square foot plant was built. Part of it is now used by the UN.

Just recently, Fantus completed a study for the Kollmorgen Optical Corp., manufacturers of submarine equipment. Kollmorgen felt its plant in Brooklyn, N. Y., was inefficient and too open to any possible aerial attack. The new plant will be built in an uncongested area of New England.

The trend among industries, says Yaseen, is to move out of the big cities. But he doesn't attribute the trend to any widespread fear of atom bombing. He says plants have been moving to smaller cities gradually for years. Smaller cities are booming industrially. One, Port Arthur, Texas, has had a 1600 percent increase in the number of payroll and production workers in the last eight years.

No Grudge Held By Authority

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Oklahoma Turnpike Authority let the Reconstruction Finance Corp. RFC at 4 percent interest. Failure to know today that it holds no grudge because it failed to get an RFC loan.

The authority was set up to build an Oklahoma City-to-Tulsa road. It tried for months to borrow more than $30,000,000 from the RFC at 4 percent interest. Failing in that, it got the money from private sources at 8.5 percent.

Today Elmer Barber, chairman of the multi-billion dollar federal lending agency and an Oklahoma himself, got this telegram from the turnpike authority:

"Do you need any money? We have plenty. Cordially yours."

DEUCES WILD, but it isn't poker, which you'd expect these service men to be playing. Canasta seems to be the game for 1950's GIs at service clubs, successor to the USO. Bustly melding here at the club in Newport, R. I., are (left to right) Ken Maletsky, Lansing, Mich.; Natalie Dring, Newport; Carolyn Fraser, Middletown, R. I., and Gary Monroe, Pasadena, Calif.

This Is Army; Canasta Takes Place of Poker; Girls Ogled

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — This new Army is really something.

The boys are all playing Canasta now. Maybe they're still playing poker on the blanket-covered foot-lockers in the barracks, but in service clubs poker is running way behind.

Associated Services for the Armed Forces, which took over when the USO was de-activated last January, now runs 114 clubs in 28 states in this country and 10 areas abroad. Most of the sailors and soldiers are still in their teens, which may account for the changes in taste since the World War II days.

Besides the Canasta craze, today's service club servicemen are a far cry from the jitterbug-happy boys of the early 1940's.

Nowadays, ASAF reports, the soldiers prefer slow dancing and square dancing. And they like to rumba and samba, too. Be-bop lovers are few and far between.

The present crop of soldiers and sailors appears to be more serious than the World War II GIs, too. For one thing, they like the classes and forums which many service clubs are including in their program. ASAF believes this is because many of the boys haven't finished high school.

Actually, however, the service clubs run by ASAF are pretty much the same as the old USOs. Table tennis is still popular, and so are bowling and swimming in the clubs large enough to have alleys and pools. Loafing on the easy chairs, with a new magazine, remains one of the off-duty serviceman's favorite sports.

And gazing at, talking and dancing with the pretty hostesses is an indoor sport that never loses its appeal.

ASAF clubs were confronted with some big problems when the Korean War began. Its volunteer workers mailed home many boxes of civilian clothes for the boys who were about to ship overseas. A few had to cope with an even bigger shipping order — sending home some GIs' cars.

Other extra-curricular concerns of the service clubs are the service wives and families. Finding apartments and hotel rooms, arranging transportation and heating baby bottles are all part of an average day at a service club.

Some clubs have even organized day nurseries and baby-sitter groups of volunteers to help out the young mothers and uniformed fathers.

When the USO went out of business, three of the six agencies that had formed it felt that some sort of continuation was necessary. The three — the YMCA, National Catholic Community Service and National Jewish Welfare Board — united to form ASAF.

Now that the Armed Forces are continuing to expand, they're glad they did so. And so are most of the servicemen.

YOU AND THE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. Our only child will soon finish "boot" training in the Marines. Is there any way to keep him out of combat?

A. No. Only sole surviving sons are permitted to ask for a non-combat assignment.

Q. How long is basic training in the Army? My sweetie was drafted two months ago and I wonder when he will get the furlough promised him after he finished basic.

A. Your sweetie will have to sweat it out for about a minimum of 16 weeks. It varies slightly from post to post.

Q. Where can I get a copy of the laws dealing with the rights of veterans?

A. Best bet is to write to your congressman. Or write to Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

Q. I am a P-51 pilot with 900 hours. I am married and have two children. What are my prospects for being called?

A. That depends on your reserve status. However, your chances of being called as a pilot are very slim. Most of the flying personnel whom the services wanted have already been called back.

Q. My husband was in the reserves and was called to active duty. A week after he went back in they stopped taking reserves in this category. Is this fair? He had 42 points at the end of the war. Will this help him get out faster?

A. All is supposed to be fair in love and war. The point system for releasing men after World War II has nothing to do with getting out of the service now.

Q. My son was discharged from the service once to help take care of me. I am a widow and when I get sick there is no one to support me. He was taken back into service a couple of months ago. I am sick again. Can he get out again?

A. If a man was discharged for hardship reasons once, that does not disqualify him for discharge for that same reason again.
