Cold Wave Moves Across South Plains Today; Minimum Of 20 Is Forecast

Minimum temperature of 20 degrees was forecast for tonight by the U. Weather bureau station following arrival of a wintry blast from the north at 3:45 o'clock this morning.

Temperature went to a low of 26 degrees this morning. It had risen only to 30 degrees by 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. Unless clouds break up and sun shines through this afternoon, the weather station did not consider it likely today's temperature would go above the freezing mark. Amarillo's temperature was 27 degrees at 12:30 o'clock.

Freezing drizzle and light snow grains followed the drop in temperature this morning.

The cold wave arrived less than a week before the official opening of spring next Monday. The weather station announced possibility that another cold wave would arrive by next weekend.

A rising trend in temperature is forecast for Wednesday and Thursday. A new cold wave had started in the Pacific Northwest, however, and if it progresses across the nation will arrive by next week-end.

The temperature has dropped to a low of 26 degrees once before this month, on March 2. On Feb. 28, the minimum was 26 degrees and the maximum, 33 degrees.

The cold wave was not unusual for March. The minimum in March of last year was two degrees above zero, recorded on March 11. The lqwest temperature record in April of last year was 22 degrees on April 1.

The cold wave which went over Lubbock at 3:45 o'clock this morning was on a line from Shreveport, La., to Waco, Brady and Wink at 8:45 o'clock this morning.

Army Supplies Are Destroyed; Ships Damaged

Oil Drums Explode Hurling Fiery Oil 600 Feet Or More

(By The Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Calif., March 15—A raging waterfront fire today destroyed one of the Army's largest West Coast dock and warehouses.

Flames shot 700 feet into the air as the 2,000 foot pier in Oakland's outer harbor went up. Two ships warped alongside were damaged before they were towed to safety. Adjacent warehouses and the entire industrial waterfront were threatened for several hours by the spactacular blaze.

Three hours after the fire started at midnight, oil drums exploded, hurling burning oil 600 feet or more. Paint, rubber tires and other combustibles jamming the warehouse, fed the blistering blaze that kept firemen from closing in.

Families Evacuated

By 4 a. m. (PST) the fire had burned itself out of fuel, leaving only red embers of debris on the concrete wharf.

Two soldiers were hurt slightly. Fifty Army families were evacuated from nearby Army base residences.

The cause of fire was not determined. The possibility of sabotage was not discounted. Col. George Brown, provost marshal of the Army base, said an investigation would be conducted at once.

The two ships scorched and damaged slightly by the flames were the 18,000 ton Young America and the 10,000 ton Army transport Sgt. George D. Keathley.

Army authorities estimated dock and warehouse damage at above $1,000,000.

Six other piers of the Oakland Army base, largest Army shipping point for Pacific areas, were saved. The big base sprawls just south of the Oakland-San Francisco Bay bridge.

House Okays Rent Changes

Local Governments To Make Decisions

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15—The House voted today to let each state, county and city decide for itself whether to keep rent control.

By a nose-count vote of 198 to 150 it added this "home rule" amendment to the federal rent control bill. Under it, local governing bodies could toss out rent control any time they wish. The vote is subject to a roll-call count later.

The administration opposed the amendment and undoubtedly will try to kill it with a later roll call.

Demos Split

About 50 Democrats, mostly from the South, joined with Republicans to put it into the bill tentatively.

This Democratic split raised a question whether the administration could maintain sufficient control of the House to put through a rent control bill in a form acceptable to it.

The administration won on an earlier vote on another matter. This was a count of 121 to 86 which approved a section of the bill clearing the way for the decontrol of 100 or more of the 598 rent control areas in the country.

The section gives the housing expediter power to reestablish rent ceilings, if he believes advisable, once they are lifted in an area.

The way the law stands now, rent ceilings can not be put back if they are ever lifted from an area.

Anticipating a close vote, party chiefs sent telegrams to all House Democrats asking them to be on hand. The House was called to meet an hour earlier than usual (11 a. m. EST).

Controls on 14,350,000 dwelling places will end March 31, unless the rent law is renewed. The need for rent action was given by both northern and southern Democrats in the Senate as a reason for bringing the two-week-old filibuster to a close.

Big Test Expected

In the House, the big test was expected to come on a Republican demand for another vote on their proposal to continue controls

American Legion Is Observing Birthday

Organizational Meeting Of Group In Paris' Circus In 1919 Is Recalled

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, March 15—The American Legion is 30 years old today.

On March 15, 1919, about 1,000 soldiers of World War I met in the Paris Circus to found the organization which now claims over 4,000,000 members. They were brought together by the late Theodore Roosevelt, jr.

The old Circus building has long since been torn down, but today Paris Post Commander C. Denby Wilkes, Navy veteran of both World Wars, will place a wreath at the site.

The name American Legion was adopted on a motion made by Maj. Maurice K. Gordon, inspector general of the 36th division. He is now a lawyer in Madisonville, Ky.

Motion Opposed

The late Alexander Woollcott, famous writer and radio's "Town Crier," opposed the motion. He said the name "American Legion" sounded "too silk-stocking."

Another delegate snapped "I fought beside the French foreign legion, and if that fat medico thinks those babies were sissies he is just nuts."

Woollcott was in the medical corps before he became a sergeant on the Army newspapers Stars and Stripes.

Price Support Plan Revealed

Boost For Cotton Acreage Forecast

H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

Agriculture and related prospects of the South Plains were jolted with earthquake violence today by the U. S. Agriculture Department announcement of a 70 per cent of parity support price for grain sorghums instead of the 90 per cent which had been sought.

Conservative observers of long experience were agreed that probably no single action in history has caused so many alterations of such radical nature in prospects so suddenly.

Cotton Increase Forecast

Here are some of the anticipated affects in this area unless the Agriculture Department reverses its position and boosts sorghum parities:

1. The largest increase in cotton acreage in South Plains history to a conservative minimum of 3,000,000 acres; the previous record approximated 2,100,000 acres last year.

2. The largest cotton crop in history, with present estimates ranging from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000-plus bales, depending upon moisture and growing conditions; the present record was 950,000 bales in 1937.

3. Investments totaling several million dollars for expansions of ginning, warehousing, compressing and other facilities for handling the anticipated crop.

Reduction In Acreage

4. A sharp reduction—perhaps as much as 50 per cent—in grain sorghum acreage from 2,000,000-plus acres last year to 1,000,000 this year.

5. A better market price for sorghums because of reduced production here and practically all other sorghum-growing areas.

6. Increased feeding of sorghums to cattle and hogs on South Plains farms and the consequent large-scale revival of a source of revenue which has declined sharply in recent years.

7. The largest influx of itinerant labor to the South Plains at harvest time in history, thus contributing to an exceedingly bright outlook for retail business next

Lamesa War Hero Is Honored Today; Ship Named For Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 15 (U.P.)—A Texas infantryman awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor after his death will be honored today when an Army transportation corps ship is renamed as the USAT Sergeant George D. Keathley.

The ceremony was originally scheduled to be held in Oakland, but a fire at the Army base there forced a change in plans. The ship was slightly damaged in the blaze.

Mrs. Geneva Keathley, 502 Miller St., Lamesa, Tex., widow of the dead soldier, will present his photograph and a copy of the Medal of Honor citation to Capt. Robert Morgan, master of the ship.

Keathley was awarded the medal for his heroism in hand-to-hand fighting on the heights of Mt. Altuzzo in Italy in 1945.

New Attempts Made To End Filibuster Row

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 15 — Senate leaders plunged into a fresh round of conferences today still seeking a compromise settlement of the filibuster row. But there was nothing to indicate that prospects had brightened.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois said after a meeting of Truman Democrats that he had not given up hope for a compromise. He said frankly, however, that his followers lacked the votes to end the present stalemate if Southern Democrats want to keep the Senate tied up and can get Republican help.

Schedule Conferences

Republicans scheduled two conferences on the situation—a policy committee meeting at 1 p. m. (CST) and a conference of all 42 G. O. P. senators an hour later.

The Dixie senators were sitting tight, waiting to see what came out of the sessions of the other factions.

In brief, the situation this morning was this:

The Truman Democrats have lost their effort to put through a new Senate rule that debate could be limited at any time two-thirds of the senators on the floor voted to limit it. They wanted this anti-filibuster rule to clear the way for the President's civil rights program.

Having lost, the administration would like to drop the whole matter and get on to pressing legisla-

STEEL INDUSTRY NOT HAMPERED

Railroads Are Hit By Coal Shutdown

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 15.—The nation's railroad economy began feeling the pinch of the coal mine shutdown in earnest today but the remainder of coal-dependent industry hummed merrily.

On the second day of the two-week mine shutdown ordered by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, coal hauling railroads continued the progressive system of layoffs begun yesterday.

By the end of the week some 62,000 railroaders will be idle—joining the 463,000 soft and hard coal miners who stayed home yesterday.

The steel industry showed no sign of cutting operations. Blast furnaces roared toward record production. The American Steel & Iron institute said this week's output of stel ingots and castings is expected to total 1,880,400 net tons. This compares with the previous record of 1,860,300 tons set last week.

However, Bethlehem Steel said it had enough coal on hand for only a few weeks. The national coal stockpile of 70,000,000 tons is expected to be reduced 20,000,000 tons by March 28, the day the miners are scheduled to resume digging. If the stoppage continues much longer than two weeks, retrenchment would be inevitable.

Lewis called the holiday as a memorial to men killed or injured in the mines last year. He also termed it a protest against appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

Only a few hours after the work

Big Pay-Off Seen For Tax Informers

Group Against Mon Wallgren

WASHINGTON, March 15 (U.P.) The Senate armed services committee today practically killed President Truman's nomination of former Sen. Mon C. Wallgren to head the National Security Resources board.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., joined six Republican members in a 7-to-6 vote to table the nomination. The remaining six Democrats voted for Wallgren.

An authoritative administration spokesman in the Senate said the committee action looked to him like an insurmountable obstacle to Senate approval of the nomination. As he saw it, President Truman has no choice but to withdraw the nomination.

The nomination could be brought before the Senate if a Senate majority first voted to take it out of the committee's hands. But the administration spokesman doubted that a Senate majority could be mustered for that purpose.

The vote to table was a more severe defeat for Mr. Truman than a simple adverse report on Wallgren would have been. An adverse report automatically would have gone before the Senate for a final decision.

As a result of the tabling action, however, the Senate won't even have a chance to vote on the nomination unless it votes first to discharge it from the committee. But, as the administration spokesman said, success of a discharge petition appears highly doubtful.

The committee rejected the nomination on grounds that the head of this important national defense board should have greater "economic and industrial experience and competency" than Wallgren has.

Crude Output Cut Ordered

SAN ANTONIO, March 15 (AP)—The state Railroad commission today ordered that crude oil production in Texas be reduced in April by 234,211 barels a day.

The commission signed an order designed to produce 1,994,360 barrels of crude daily during the 30-day month of April. All fields were placed on a 19-day production basis except East Texas which will operate on 17 days.

This allowable compares with 2,228,571 barrels daily as of March 12.

Fourth Cut Ordered

During March the statewide schedule was 23 production days, with the East Texas field 19 days.

It is the fourth consecutive cut to be ordered by the commission at its monthly statewide proration hearings.

January production was slashed 250,000 barrels daily, February 66,000 and March 200,000.

The April order was released by the commission shortly after operators and crude purchasers from throughout the state had asked for further reductions in view of surplus stocks and declines in demand.

Unexpectedly, there were few

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Tax informers, whose inning comes after the income tax deadline at midnight tonight, should hit the jackpot this year.

Officials acknowledged today that the prospects favor a record pay-off for evidence against tax evaders because:

1. These will be $500,000 available in fiscal 1949 (ending next June 30) for paying informers. This is five times as much as Congress ever provided for that purpose before.

2. The top limit on payments to informers, 10 percent of the taxes recovered on the basis of their information, has been dropped. It has been replaced by a system of rewards decided on by officials as fair in each case.

Too Strong For Many

3. Over 40,000,000 persons will be subject to federal income tax payments and, with rates high, temptation to cheat on tax returns will be strong—too strong for many.

4. The chief motivations for tax informing seem to endure and perhaps to grow. They include patriotic desire to prevent evasions by others, disgruntlement of employes, family feuds and jealousies, and women scorned.

Informers have been getting a cut-in on tax-evasion recoveries

House Passes First Of Big Money Bills

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—The House today passed the first of 51st legislature's big money bills, appropriating $5,337,014 for the judiciary in the next two fiscal years.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where a similar measure has been approved by the finance committee.

There has been no final committee action on the other "must" big money bills in either House or Senate. Those are the appropriations for state departments, colleges, and eleemosynary institutions.

Jester Favors Omnibus Tax

AUSTIN, March 15 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester said today that if "needs and necessities" require a new tax, he will favor a "broad-based tax of the omnibus variety."

The amount of the levy, he said, should not exceed the amount of the state's actual need.

An all-purpose tax bill was filed in the House yesterday by Rep. H. A. (Salty) Hull of Fort Worth. Hull said it was designed "to cover the whole field"—including higher levies on oil, gas and sulphur.

The governor said he knew of the bill's being introduced but did not indicate whether he thought it followed his proposal.

An omnibus tax was passed in 1941 covering a variety of items, ranging from oil and gas production to playing cards and cosmetics.

Solons' Action Awaited

Referring to the state's financial tangle of cutting suggested expenditures to fit estimated available revenues, the governor said that "as of today, we're not in a position to say that there is a solution to our budget problem."

"We won't know exactly where we are," he said, "until the Senate finance and the House appropriations committees have arrived at definite figures on the 'big money' bills, and also the attitude of those committees on other new appropriation requests.

The House appropriations committee last night approved three 'single shot' appropriation bills, calling for specific spending for special projects outside the four "must" appropriations measures necessary to carry on state government.

Canada Will Boost Defense Spending

OTTAWA, Canada, Mar. 15. (AP)—Canada will up her defense spending by one-half according to an estimate presented to parliament yesterday. New budget figures call for $375,000,000 for defense compared with $251,000,000 last year.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott told parliament the increased spending was made necessary by "the same dangers which have led to the proposed North Atlantic pact."

The total Canadian budget estimate made public was $2,217,678,181—an increase of $27,114,699 over last year.

Lewis Fight Against Boyd Seems Doomed

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP) John L. Lewis' spectacular attempt to block Senate approval of James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines seemed doomed to failure today.

The Senate interior committee gave Boyd's nomination a 10-1 okay yesterday. But a move was afoot to trim his job down.

Lewis, fiery head of the United Mine Workers union ordered more than 400,00 soft and hard coal miners to quit all pits east of the Mississippi river beginning yesterday. They followed orders and the mines went idle.

Lewis said the walkout was a protest against President Truman's repeated requests to Congress to confirm Boyd as mines bureau director. Boyd initially was recommended to the President by Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, an official Lewis has strongly criticized.

Before giving Boyd the heavy approving vote, the interior committee beat down by a narrow 6-5 margin an attempt to split off mine safety supervision as a duty of Boyd's bureau.

But while that move was defeated, Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said hearings will begin soon on the whole question of mine safety. A bill by Senator Johnson (D-Colo) would create a new bureau of coal mines inspection charged solely with mine safety.

Boy Tells Of Life In Dungeon-Like Room

Simplest Things Strange And Dear To "Captive Love Child"

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, March 15—Fourteen-year-old Gerald Sullivan—described by police as a "captive love child" for ten years—clasped to his heart everything that came near him today.

The simplest things—a cat, a dog, and objects familiar to every child—were strange and dear to Gerald.

He fondled the cat, which he at first identified as "a baby," called for heaps of ice cream, and looked starry-eyed at a baseball and bat.

Police Capt. Francis W. Russell quoted the mother, Mrs. Anne F. Sullivan, 45, as saying the boy was illegitimate.

She told authorities, Russell said, that the child had been held in a dungeon-like room for a decade to hide her "secret sin."

She pleaded guilty to a charge of neglect in district court yesterday and was held in $2,000 bond for a hearing tomorrow.

Police quoted the mother as saying she had "hoped to keep it a secret until God

FILIBUSTER "A TERRIBLE BLOW"

Little Man With Bright Eyes, White Hair No Longer Smiles

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 15—For two weeks a little man with bright blue eyes, silky white hair and a white mustache darted around the Senate side of the Capitol.

For most of the time he was happy and smiling, and he seemed full of hope. But by last night much of the hope was gone. Maybe most of it, maybe all of it.

But for two weeks he buttonholed senators all over the place. They knew him well, for he had visited their offices often before, lobbying for his cause. He wrote their names on a piece of paper.

This one, and that one, and the other, he said, ticking off the names, were senators he thought would vote his way. Would they? Yes, he said, he felt pretty sure. Not positive, though.

Like Any Other

To the thousands of visitors who streamed through the Senate halls those two weeks he seemed like any other elderly man with a pleasant face and fright blue eyes behind his glasses.

Only the senators and others who knew him well knew he was a negro, Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Long ago, because of his fair skin, he might have slipped over the line and lived out his life as a white man. But he was born a Georgia negro and he chose to live out his life as a negro.

Last fall he threw his large influence among negroes into the fight to elect President Truman—because Mr. Truman had promised acivil rights program to help negroes.

White Had Hopes

He had hopes that a Truman victory might push the program through Congress at last. Southern Democrats have been filibustering to smash the program, to keep it from ever being voted on.

It was in the early part of those two weeks that Walter White seemed cheerful as he talked with senators, hoping they'd vote to kill the filibuster and give the civil rights program a chance.

But by late yesterday the smile was gone. He waited nervously in a hallway outside the Senate. Inside Senator Ellender, Louisiana Democrat, was plowing along steadily on a 12-hour filibuster, making his contribution to the fight of the Southern Democrats.

And while Ellender talked, and outside White paced up and down, Senator Lucas of Illinois, leader of the Senate Democrats, was telling a news conference:

. . . . The fight against the filibuster would have to be dropped, temporarily at least . . .

As the newsmen ran for telephones, one of them stopped long enough to tell Walter White. He seemed years older.

Had he lost hope that the civil rights program, for which he had worked so hard, might never come to pass in his lifetime? I asked him.

"It's a terrible blow," he said. "But we'll work, ring doorbells, get on the radio, write stories . . ."

Illinois Mine Area Patrolled

MARISSA, Ill., March 15. (AP)—Thirty Illinois state policemen patrolled the Green Diamond coal mine today to prevent possible violence stemming from a jurisdictional dispute between two rival miner unions.

After a few slugging incidents yesterady, Sheriff A. A. Fischer of St. Clair county asked state police to join with deputies in patrolling the mine area. T. P. Sullivan, director of the Illinois department of public safety, said an alert was sent to the Illinois reserve militia.

No Incidents

State police reported no incidents at the mine during the night and early morning hours. An officer said indications were that the state patrol would be withdrawn "tomorrow or the next day."

The mine is being picketed by the Profressive Mine orkers (Ind.) Ahe rival United Mine Workers union is working the mine during the current mine holiday under a special permit from John L. Lewis, UMW president.

The two unions, rivals for years in southern Illinois, have been engaged in the jurisdictional dispute at the mine since the PMW signed a contract with the owners last May. However, the miners obtained a UMWA charter and are members of the Lewis union. They were given special permission by Lewis to stay on the job in an apparent move to prevent a switch by them to the PMW.

Sixty Employed

Sixty miners are employed in the mine in this community of 657 near Belleville, Ill., across the Mississippi river from St. Louis. Twenty workers are on each of three shifts daily.

State and county police have been stationed in the mine area several times since the mine reopened on March 5 after having been closed Jan. 11. The mine opened three months ago but it has been idle some 45 days because of the controversy between the two unions.

Head Of Teachers Group Will Speak

Joe Humphries, president of the Texas State Teachers association, will speak at an administrators banquet at 5:30 p.m. Friday in connection with the West Texas State Teachers association district meeting here.

The speaker will discuss "Current School Legislation," emphasizing the Gilmer-Aikin bill, according to Fred Miller, Abernathy school superintendent and president of the administrators' section.

Approximately 150 persons are expected to attend the dinner. Reservations are not necessary, although Miller requested persons expecting to attend to notify Roy Boyd, Lubbock county school superintendent.

Court Will Decide If Arkansas Acre Larger Than Usual

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 15(AP)—It will be up to a court headed by Marvin Jones of Amarillo, Tex., to decide whether there's more acreage in an Arkansas acre than in a proper one—presumably a Texas one.

Jones is chief justice of the United States court of claims in Washington. He will sit in judgment on a suit brought against the United States by a Texan.

The man who started the whole thing is Holland Page of Austin. He is suing for additional payment for clearing land in the mountainous Norfolk reservoir area of north Arkansas. He contracted to clear the land for $85 an acre. There is no argument on that point.

But Page claims there is actually more than an acre of surface—43,560 square feet in many an acre he cleared because of undulations in the land.

The government holds that an acres is an acre—that's all.

Commissioner George H. Foster, who heard testimony here today, will go to Texas for additional hearings.

RUSSIAN BUDGET GIVEN APPROVAL

New Shifts Okayed By Supreme Soviet

-- By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, March 15 — New ramifications in the shakeup of Soviet Russia's high command were revealed and approved at closing sessions last night of the Supreme Soviet, national parliamentary body.

The new shifts extended into the presidium of the Supreme Soviet, which serves as the interim national executive body when the Supreme Soviet is not in session. Nikifor Natalevich and Georgi Sturua were relieved as vice presidents of the presidium, and replaced by Vasily Kozlov and Vasily Gogia.

Kozlov was promoted from chairman of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the White Russian republic, and Gogia from chairman of the presidium of the Georgian republic.

1949 Budget Approved

The 1949 budget, calling for military expenditures of 79,000,000,000 rubles ($15,000,000,000) was also approved by the Supreme Soviet. The figure is nearly 20 per cent higher than for 1948.

The budget provides for expenditures of 415,355,000,000 rubles for all purposes, compared with revenues of 455,208,000,000 rubles. The 1948 all-purpose expenditure figure was 368,800,000,000 rubles with revenues announced at 408,400,000,000 rubles.

Reasons behind the series of top-level shifts remained the government's own secret. The Supreme Soviet confirmed the changes, but adjourned without a public explanation of their significance.

Appointments Made

In addition to the presidium changes, the appointment of a new chairman of the important state planning commission and a new president of the supreme court of the U. S. S. R. were announced and confirmed.

Nikolai A, Voznesensky was relieved of duties as planning commission chairman and also as a deputy prime minister. No mention was made of any change in his status as a member of the all-powerful politburo, the Communist party executive. He is its youngest member at 45. The planning commission has charge of mapping Russia's five year plans, which form the basis of her economy.

Maxim Z. Saburov, vice chairman of the planning commission and one of a dozen deputy prime ministers in the government, succeeds Voznesensky in the chairmanship. He had been chairman during the war years.

Golyakov Relieved

The other change relieved Ivan T. Golyakov as president of the supreme court, naming A. A. Volin to succeed him.

In another action, the Supreme Soviet approved the appointment of A. I. Efremov as deputy chairman of the council of ministers, and his release from his duties as minister of the machine tool industry.

All of the shifts appeared to fall into the same pattern of changing responsibility which was marked by the recent release of V. M. Molotov as foreign minister, who was replaced by Andrei Y. Vishinsky. Molotov remains first deputy prime minister under Stalin, and foreign diplomats consider he was not demoted.

MEET THE MANAGER—Hugh DeWitt Landis, manager of radio station KFYO, is more familiarly known as "Judge", a name he picked up in childhood because his father was a judge and "Judge" Landis, the baseball commissioner was at the height of his fame. He was educated in Amarillo public schools and Amarillo Business college and took a degree from West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon. During high school years he was a cub reporter for the Amarillo News and in college was a correspondent for the Globe-News. Graduating, he went to work for the Globe-News. His first jaunt into radio was at a football game when a radio station picked him "on the spot" to broadcast a game. He began broadcasting sports events and recalls that he and Cal Farley originated wrestling broadcasts which became popular. In 1932 he left the Globe-News and purchased a weekly, The Amarillo Booster. Operating on a cash basis, he went out of business during the bank holiday of 1933. He then went to Hereford and became editor, business manager and held all other jobs on the Hereford Brand, put it on a paying basis. In 1935 the Globe-News bought two Amarillo radio stations and formed KGNC. Landis went to work there and performed a variety of jobs, including reading the Sunday comic pages to Panhandle youngsters. In April, 1936, the Avalanche-Journal purchased KFYO and Landis came here as manager, and has seen it grow from a part-time station to its present stature. He was instrumental in making KFYO the nation's first station to have exclusive United Press news coverage. He is intensely interested in sports and calls himself "the dean and granddaddy of sports announcers." He plays golf occasionally, hunts and fishes frequently. Baseball is his favorite spectator sport. He is past president of Kiwanis, the Matador club, and belongs to the Masonic Blue lodge, the Scottish Rite club, the South Plains Shrine club, Lubbock Country club. He was a member of the committee that helped found the Boys club and has been active in Cub Scout work. Mr. and Mrs. Landis and two sons, DeWitt, jr., 10½, and Charles, 9, live at 3106 Twenty-third street.

Britain Warns Jewish State

LONDON, March 15 (AP)—Britain was reported today to have cautioned Israel that British troops will fight if Jewish armed forces attempt to seize the Trans-Jordan port of AQaba.

A foreign office spokesman disclosed that Britain has explained to Israel the military orders under which reinforced British Tommies now guard Aqaba, but he declined to make the orders public. He said the information was given Israeli officials "with a view to forestalling the danger of any untoward event" on the Palestine-Trans-Jordan border, across which British and Jewish troops face one another.

(A senior British regimental officer at Aqaba announced last Jan. 12 that "We will not allow anybody to approach Aqaba or attack our forces.")

Israel already had announced she had no intention of crossing the border on attacking Aqaba, which is Trans-Jordan's only seaport.

British troops have been stationed there since January, under terms of a mutual defense treaty with Trans-Jordan. Recent reports of military movements near the border have led to a United Nations inquiry into the possibility of truce violations.

Dell Morgan Speaks To Lions At Anton

ANTON, March 15 (Special)—Football Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech addressed the Lions Club in their regular meeting here last night.

Morgan stressed the importance of getting public support behind the movement to have Texas Tech admitted to the Southwest conference. Tech rightfully belongs in this conference, Morgan stated, but it would take considerable pressure to gain admittance.

Following the address a moving picture of the Tech-Tulsa football game was shown to the members and their guests.

Robert Burdette, immediate past president of the club, presided in the absence of president J. S. Bridges. Several former students and football players were in the audience.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Wife Fears Dear Husband May Get Involved In Trouble Due To Role In Deadly Feud

DEAR MARY WAWORTH: Tom and Fay have been married 20 years and have two daughters, 18 and 19. They adore their father and he is devoted to them.

For about five years everyone thought they were a happy family; then something happened between Fay and Tom and they grew apart. When they weren't fighting they were ignoring each other, and gradually they lost all their friends except my husband—who is Tom's best friend.

Seth and I, being very happy, naturally are very sorry for them; but within the past year I've grown very nervous about Tom's behavior. He has rushed to our home speaking excitedly with great emotion about Fay's refusal to divorce him. And once he told Seth, when they were alone in the library, that he could choke her to death.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND HAS HATEFUL WIFE

I AM afraid that my dear husband will get involved in serious trouble if he doesn't drop Tom; but he answers me with, "What kind of a friend do you them together, without actually entering their harsh arguments.

Tom and Fay have separate rooms, absolutely no intimacy, and can't be happy together, he tells my husband. He is a prosperous business man and would like to settle quietly for a Reno divorce, giving Fay the house and a comfortable income, but she refuses to sign the papers. She says he may go with other women or live with other women, but she will not release him. She nags him and laughs at him and says the law is on her side.

I think Tom is interested in another woman but my husband denies it. He says all the poor man wants is peace, and that I don't know the half of what goes on. The neighbors are talking but Seth has warned me not to gossip. I think the wife is slightly insane; and I am very worried about the whole thing and really want to help. What can be done?

Signed A. J.

CLOSE FRIENDS LACK HELPFUL OBJECTIVITY

DEAR A. J.: It is an axiom of psychiatry that you can't help an agitated person "see straight" if you become emotionally involved in his distraction. That's why "best friends" are seldom able to give constructive advice to a feuding husband and wife.

They tend to take sides, or offer soothing syrup, instead of appraising the whole picture objectively, searching it with impartial interest, and prodding the complainant to a "saving" awareness of his own shortcomings or blind spots, which usually are 90 percent responsible for his "trouble." —and which are the first obstacle to beovercome, in rising out of his chronic difficulty.

ACTS LIKE HORSE IN BURNING BARN

YOU have cause to be worried for Tom as well as Fay; and it is high time Seth realized that he has failed absolutely in the role of would-be conciliator. Tom is showing no more sense than a horse trying to escape from a burning barn; and he needs stiff applications of logic to quiet him down, before he gets "hipped" on the notion that Fay is the sole enemy of his happiness.

Very likely Fay is mentally ill; and maybe she is unconsciously courting destruction at Tom's hands, as a vindictive way out of her own misery. But the fact that she won't "give" him a divorce—the "easy" solution of strife he wants—doesn't make him a candidate, per se, for sentimental sympathy. Rather it puts his character to test. It requires him to show whether he is a man or a muddlehead;—and so far, he's been a muddlehead.

If Fay is wickedly making life hell for him, he is morally entitled to leave her, and with fine legal help he can surely establish constructive grounds for doing so. And if he is so mixed up now that he doesn't know right from wrong, or so stymied by guilt feelings that he shuns an open hearing, then he should have top-quality psychiatric treatment to clear his head. But bawling to Seth is no help whatever; and Seth is "de-railing" him by encouraging it. M. H.

MACHINE AGE HERE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15. (AP)—The traditional whop on the back of a new born baby to start its breathing soon may bow to the machine age. A resuscinette was on display today at the western regional conference of anesthesiologists. It's a combination respirator and bassinette. The new baby would be slipped into it and the mechanical process of expanding oxygen would start the baby breathing.

Testimony Heard In Lamesa Assault Case

LAMESA, March 15 (Special)—Testimony of both state and defense in the trial of Ramsey Westmoreland, charged with assault with intent to murder, was concluded here this morning in 106th District court before Judge Louis B. Reed.

Argument of counsel was to be presented this afternoon.

The trial got underway Monday, with selection of a jury completed shortly after noon Monday and state witnesses J. W. Howell, Edd Hatch, Orville Bradley, G. C. Futgell, and Dr. Sam Z. Frazier took the stand during the afternoon.

Westmoreland allegedly assaulted Howell with a knife on Nov. 3, 1948, as Howell and Bradley were moving a house in East Lamesa.

Representing the state are District Attorney R. Stansell and Clement and Dawson County Attorney Vernon D. Adcock. Defending Westmoreland are G. H. Nelson and George McCleskey, Lubbock attorneys, and Dan M. Cook, Plainview lawyer.

Lubbock, Tech To Enter Meet

Track Squads Speed Drills

The Twenty-Sixth Annual Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet at Fort Worth Friday and Saturday has attracted partial teams from both Texas Tech and Lubbock High school.

Eleven Red Raiders will be taken to Fort Worth for the university division by Coach Maxey McKnight, along with five freshmen, and Coach Fred Brown of the Westerners will take a nine-man squad.

Both coaches have taken advantage of the good weather around here lately and have worked their squads hard. Most of the high school's work was climaxed yesterday afternoon, when Coach Brown took his charges to Tech for a practice dual meet against the Raider freshmen. There was no point total kept, but both coaches expressed satisfaction with the results.

Raiders Hold Light Drill

Meanwhile the Raider varsity went through a typical Blue Monday session. Coach McKnight worked the Raiders easily and there were no time trials. Runners limbered up on the cinders and field men went through light practice in their specialties.

Backbone of the Raider group going to Fort Worth will be Charlie Reynolds, ace sprinter. Reynolds is slightly overweight and will be brought along slowly this spring. His best time in the century so far has been 10.1, but coach McKnight isn't worried. He said yesterday that Reynolds had reached his peak too soon last year and that he would not let it happen again.

Reynolds has been beaten by both Seth Murphey and Moon Mullins, the other two dashmen, whom McKnight expects to help in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Those three runners, along with Ed Clepper, hurdle and high jump hope, will form the sprint relay quartet.

Charley Pinnell also will pair with Clepper to give a threat in the high jump and high hurdles and Joe Overton, a transfer student from McMurry, will compete in the high jump.

Elliott To Make Trip

Joe Wilson, Costin Bufkin and Ben Wilson will run in the quarter mile at Fort Worth and will team with Edgar Hawkins, top miler, to run the mile relay.

The only field man to make the trip will be Jim Elliott in the javelin. Elliott has shown a lot of promise and last week hurled the javelin 180 feet.

The freshmen group will be headed by Earl Hutcherson of Lubbock, who will compete in the low hurdles and on the mile relay team. Sonny Stanford will compete in the high hurdles and three men, Norman McNeil, Charles Ritchie and John Shinn, will run the 440-yard dash. The last three will add Hutcherson to form the mile relay quartet.

Tech tracksters will leave here Friday for Fort Worth.

WESTERNERS GAIN FIVE EVENTS FROM TECHSANS

Six events were run in competition with the Tech freshmen Monday, and the Westerners came in first in five of them.

In the 880-yard run, Eddie Goetze turned in 2:09.3 over the route after trailing the Tech runner nearly all the way.

A 440-yard relay team, composed of Donald Decker, Charlie Williams, Jalcom Young, and James Vernon ran the distance in :45 Wayne Stroud, who usually runs in place of Vernon is sick and unable to work out.

The 100-yard dash was won by Young in :10.5, and Alfred Adair hit 11 feet in the pole vault. Decker took first in the 220-yard dash with :23.

Earl Hutcherson of Tech won the 440-yard dash with a time of :53.5.

The meet should prove helpful to the Westerners when they compete in the Southwestern meet in Fort Worth this weekend. The boys have been a little off form, but are rounding into shape. Their peak will probably be reached after the meet, however.

Thursday the nine trackmen, two coaches and manager will leave for Fort Worth.

DELLO, McCARTHY JOIN CLUB

CHICAGO, March 15. (INS) — Shortstop Frank Dello and second baseman Jim McCarthy, star infield combination at Malden, Mass., high school last year, signed today to play together for the Chicago Cubs' Sioux Falls, S.D., farm team.

Between The Lines...

By Joe Kelly

The National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament's all-star team apparently was named Sunday. We thought that there was a chance that maybe Don Grove, or some other Texas Tech player, might be named to the second team. The thought came to us during the tournament, for Grove turned in a brilliant scoring job, besides apparently playing the post well. We talked with some of the Raider players Saturday and they were of the opinion that he should have had no trouble making the second team.

Grove rose over his season's performance to cage 24 field goals and 10 free throws for a total of 64 points in three games. That gave him an average of 21.33 points per game in the tournament and helped carry the Raiders to the quarter-final round. There, favored Hamline won 80-56 and then went on to win the tourney easily. Grove's 21 point average was eight points a game better than the average he maintained in the Border Conference race. And the 200 points the Raiders scored in three games was good for an average of 66.67 points per game. That also was better than their sason's mark.

So we wired the Associated Press yesterday to get the all-tournament team from Kansas City. And disappointment — only five men were named. In other words, there was no second team and no honorable mention. But the team chosen will be of interest to a lot of court fans. Heading it up were Hal Haskins and Vern Mikkelsen of Hamline, the two players sought so eagerly by the pros. Johnny Orr of Beloit, member of the consolation (third place) winners, Bob Fisher of Regis, the team beaten in the finals, and Bob Royer of Indiana State Teachers college, fourth place team, completed the roster.

All in all the Raiders wound up a successful season. They had no more success in winning a post-season tournament than did Arizona, Border loop winners, but both didn't hurt the name of the conference. It would have been a miracle if Tech had upset Hamline, one of the nation's better quintets. It would have been almost sensational if Arizona had beaten two Southwest Conference teams when the chips were down. But both teams, if they needed any consolation, could take heart from the experiences of St. Louis and Kentucky. Those teams, ranked 1-2 nationally, both went down to defeat yesterday at the NIT in New York. They were upsets that rocked the basketball world.

Last night Bill Henderson paid us a visit and we were glad to have a talk with him. He came through the fight against experienced Jean Mougin of France in good shape and bears no heavy marks. His right ear has a black and blue spot and there is a small mark on his lower left eyelid. Otherwise, there is nothing to show of the fight. He says that he was a walking advertisement for aspirin as late as yesterday morning, the head blows leaving hi mwith an exaggerated headache. All of which he will shake off, leaving him free to go on with his boxing.

Tim O'Shea, the third man in the ring Friday night had Bill ahead on his card, when the knockout came. So did one of the other judges, while another had it four for Mougin, three for Bill and one even. Actually, the Lubbock fighter was out on his feet from a head blow in the fourth round and his seconds left him alone. It was pointless to give him advice under the conditions and he fought by instinct and heart from the fifth until the end. Under those conditions, it was remarkable that he should storm through to take the seventh and eighth rounds clearly.

Andre Dupre, Mougin's manager and an old hand in the ring game, was filled with praise for Henderson. He thinks that the young fighter is a great prospect, if handled right, could become a champion. Bill had Mougin in trouble several times and is convinced that he could beat him in a second meeting. But Mougin, a wise campaigner, was able to weather rough spots by clinching or staying away. Bill said that his eyes glazed, but in only a second or two without being hit, his head cleared. For that reason it was hard to stop him. Bill missed his big opportunity in the second round, when Mougin went down from a heavy hand. He started to get up, kept one glove on the mat and stayed down. That wasn't the last danger, but it was the worst moment for the Frenchman.

There is a good deal of talk of a re-match and it may take place. If it does, there is considerable pressure being brought to bear to hold it in Lubbock. It would be an outdoor fight, probably at Rosenthal Field, if that was available, and in April or May. Two or three well-known professionals already have inquired about the possibility of appearing on the card and there would be little trouble lining up a better show than was held last summer. It would be a natural fight for even though Henderson went over his head to meet Mougin, he showed that he might have beaten him. We think that Lubbock fight fans would call it the best fight they had ever seen. That was the opinion of the El Paso bout brought back by everyone who say the original.

Hale Center Meet Scheduled April 1

HALE CENTER, March 15 (Special)—The District Inter-scholastic League literary and athletic field and track meet will be held here April 1 and 2, local school officials have announced.

Literary events will be held here April 1, Friday, with track and field events on Saturday.

Almost a dozen schools will have contestants in the various trials from which regional entrants will be picked. Tennis contests will be held in Plainview on April 8, and a two-day softball tournament will be held in Hale Center at the time the literary and track meet is staged here. Volleyball games will be held in Olton April 15-16, directors of the school contests have announced.

Gridders Hold Light Workout

Bruised, sore muscles received a light touch yesterday as spring football training headed into its second week at Texas Tech, with only light work on the program.

Coach Dell Morgan, not at all unsatisfied with the showing of the big squad in Saturday's rough scrimmage, sent the Red Raiders through a drill not calculated to harm any of the players. Several mistakes showed up in Saturday's all out session, but they were errors that could be blamed on the short length of time the squad had had for practice.

To Correct Mistakes

Coach Morgan and his staff, though, will correct the mistakes this week and get down to heavier work. They have only 30 days this spring and even less times next fall before the first game. Tech will have eight short days in September in which to get ready for the ACC game and every day this spring counts.

Several of the performances Saturday were impressive, giving the coaching staff hope for a stronger team in the fall. Some of the newcomers showed up well and many of the older hands turned in their usual good performances.

The squad this spring, which is expected to carry the brunt of the battles in 11 games next fall, gives promise of being one of the best in recent Raider history. There are promising players for each position and reserve strength will be deeper.

Coach Morgan is more worried about the backfield strength this year than the line, which appears to have considerable depth. The ends are untried, for the most part, but the tackles and guards have experience. Several promising players are trying out for wing positions to team with Luke Thompson. Most promising are Hugh and Dick Jackson, Elbert Johnson, Dingy Davis and Bud Henderson, shifted from center.

Backs Show Promise

The backs so far have shown promise of giving the Raiders as much versatility as they had last year. Several of the incoming men, up from freshmen ranks, have shown aptitude and last year's varsity backs are continuing to show the ability that made them feared.

Of course such backs as Glenn Lewis, Charley Reynolds and Zac Henderson won't be back, but there are 13 veterans back, plus a host of newcomers.

Yesterday the backfield men worked on pass defense, while defensive and offensive scrimmage featured the work of the linemen. It wasn't hard work for the most part, but there was no loafing and the spirit on the Tech squad remains high.

Nine-Game Gridiron Slate Set By WTSTC

CANYON, March 15. (Special)—Coach Frank Kimbrough has announced a nine-game football schedule for West Texas State Teachers College next fall. Five are Border Conference games.

The annual homecoming game will be played at Buffalo Stadium on Oct. 22 with Trinity university of San Antonio as the opponent.

Five games will be played away from home. The season will open at home for the Buffaloes on Sept. 17 against the East Texas State Teachers College Lions.

Two open dates are on the schedule and Coach Kimbrough said he hoped to fill one of them.

Jess Neely To Speak At Coaching School

BEAUMONT, March 15 (AP)—Coach Jess Neely of Rice has been added to the staff for the High School Coaches Association coaching school, it was announced Monday.

Neely has been scheduled for an hour lecture on "coaching ethics" the last day of the school.

Lubbock Country club's High-Low Golf tournament was scheduled to get underway yesterday after pairings were made Sunday night.

Qualifying rounds were turned in Saturday and Sunday to Herb Schroeder, Lubbock Country club pro, and pairings were made Sunday night for the first country club tournament of the year.

Softball Candidates Open Workouts Here

Fifteen men reported for practice Monday as workouts for Lubbock's Texas Softball league team began.

This week and next the practices will be held the first three days of the week, but after that the boys will workout every day. Veterans of last year's team will bolster the squad, and games may be played with Fort Worth, Dallas, and Stamford before the regular season starts. League play is scheduled to begin May 7.

The league is divided into two districts with Lubbock, San Angelo, Fort Stockton, Crane, and Seminole in the western half and Stamford, Abilene, Cisco, Comanche, Big Spring, and Midland in the eastern division. All games played here will be at Jumbo Webster field.

Included in those reporting for practice Monday were Wally Fowler, K. O'Neill, Roland Drake, James Abbott, Don Allen, Jiggs Jackson, and Floyd Lawhorn. Allen was one of the best shortstops in Texas softball in 1946 and 1947 and will replace Ralph Earhart who led the league in batting last year with a .342 average.

The veteran mentor's last appearance before the Association was in El Paso two years ago when he coached the Southern All-Stars to their last victory over the North.

Two Hubbers Signed

Roster Hiked To 14 Players

GREENVILLE, March 15. (Special)—Joe Wisniewski, an outfielder, and Don Hensiek, a pitcher, yesterday returned signed contracts for 1949 to the Lubbock Hubbers, bringing the total number of players under contract to 14.

George Schepps, general manager of the Hubbers, said that both players reported that they would be here Sunday to begin spring training. Both appeared glad to have signed Hubber contracts.

Baseball School Continues

The baseball tryout school, whcih opened here Sunday, went into its second day yesterday under the direction of three managers. Jackie Sullivan of Lubbock, Red Davis of Greenville and Bill Gann of Corpus Christi are sending over 30 prospects through their paces and they are convinced that the camp is a fine thing. All three are pleased with the results shown thus far.

Schepps said that several of the players gave promise of developing into potential starters with the various clubs and that all players reporting will be given a thorough chance to show their ability. The three managers agreed that the tryout camp was one of the best ideas in a long time.

Jimmy Rieger Reports

One of the boys reporting for the camp was Jimmy Joe Rieger of Lubbock, a former player in the Oil Belt semi-pro loop as well as an outstanding softball player. Rieger reported to the Hubber office during the winter and asked a chance to try out. He was told to report to the local camp and turned in a good performance his first day.

Also on hand as instructors are Sol Gliato, who will work with the pitchers and Mike Dooley, under Hubber contract, who will work with the catchers. Dooley is in fine condition and happy to be with the Hubbers again.

Bill George "Cotton" Russell, the former high school pitching star who won 12 and lost seven for the Hubbers last year, also reported yesterday. Russell, who picked up weight during the winter, is anxious to get in shape so as to be ready for a good year.

The regular Hubber training camp will open here Sunday with at least 21 players expected to be on hand.

TICKETS FOR INDIAN-GIANT GAME GO ON SALE HERE

There was no particular rush to buy tickets for the appearance here April 5 of the New York Giants and the World Champion Cleveland Indians on the first day of ticket sales.

Mrs. Sam Rosenthal, Hubber owner, announced that a check of tickets sold yesterday at the Hub Clothiers showed only 650 persons had beaten the rush. It was approximately half the number sold on the opening day of sales last year.

Lubbock and area baseball fans can obtain tickets daily at the Hub Clothiers during business hours. All tickets on sale are general admission only and sell for $1.20 each. A total of 8,000 tickets will be placed on sale.

Bowling Results

A strong Arthur Lay bowling team continued to pace the Commercial Bowling league after last week's games, and no change was made in the standings as the four top teams won.

The Jaycees were able to salvage one game from Arthur Lay while dropping two. Bob Brown scattered the pins for a 242-622 series for the winning team, and Bob Jenkins was high for the Jaycees.

Yellow Cab was too strong for cellar-dwelling Jones Construction Company and took two games from them. Leading the cabmen were Jim Buckner with 225-606 and Roy McCallum with a 224-630. Cy Barkley was high for the losers.

Three wins were registered by Glassman over Firestone Supply. E. A. Christensen paced the winners by rolling a very respectable 226-607. Leading the losers was J. A. Peel.

A forfeit from S. & Q. Clothiers benefitted Lesters Jewelers and kept them three games behind Glassmans.

Laredo Club Manager Has Big Ideas For Crowding Ball Park

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAREDO, March 15. — John Clarke (Mose) Simms, Whilom athlete and globe-trotter and always a promoter, is planning big things this year.

Mose is general manager of the Laredo ball club in the Rio Grande Valley league. He has some definite ideas on how to pack the park but knows that one of the chief ingredients is to have players who can clout the ball over the fence. He thinks he already has enough of those.

Sims gained his first fame as a promoter when he carried the St. Mary's university football team all over the nation. He accomplished such things as borrowing money from banks in rotation to finance spring training and making a trip with his squad by bus from San Antonio to San Francisco with nine dollars.

Admission To Be Cheap

Mose will make admission to the ball park here cheap but will make his money in other ways. The concessions, he points out, pay real dividends if operated right.

He has worked out some novel stunts. For instance, he already is kicking this idea around:

He will put all the ball players on the base paths and turn loose a flock of rabbits in the center of the diamond. The rabbits will have valuable prizes tied to their necks. The players will run the rabbits down.

There will be both a seven-inning stretch and a five-inning period during the ball game. The former is traditional; the latter will give the fans a relaxation period during which they will, of course, says Mose, go to the concession stands.

Straining At Leash

Mose's promotional ideas already are straining at the leash.

"This Rio Grande Valley league is going to be the most colorful and interesting in the country," he says. "Think of it: There will be George Schepps, the great showman who will operate the Corpus Christi franchise; one club will be owned by the world's bubble gum king (think of the publicity possibilities!) and then, you know, I have been known to have some flair for showmanship, too."

The latter statement was putting it mildly.

Stages Papoose Bowl

Mose puts on the Papoose bowl each year. It is a football game between junior college stars. He had been promoting it at Oklahoma City but since he has moved here thinks he'll stage it in Laredo. He also is planning to bring an all-American high school boys football game to Texas, possibly staging it in Austin.

Since Mose is a genius at financing athletic teams he will be interested in the efforts of E. R. Champion, assistant track coach of San Antonio junior college.

Champion says there was $1200 available to handle athletics at the college for the year and it now is down to about $170 with which to finish out the track season and finance baseball. But he's quite confident they will make it.

Almost Wins Meet

The San Antonio junior college track team competed in the Border Olympics here last week-end and almost won the junior college division title. The team has no practice field of its own and has to really cut the corners.

In basketball the school had no gymnasium and the team didn't get to practice. "We just used the first half of each game for practice and tried to win in the last half," Champion says.

The track team is going to Fort Worth Saturday for the Southwestern exposition meet and Champion indicated that the boys would hitchhike if there was no other way to get there. He thinks, however, that there will be enough money. He also thinks that since San Antonio junior college's good showing in the Border Olympics somebody will step forward with a little financial boosting.

W. J. Hallmark is coach of the team and has done an excellent job.

NIT Favorites Lose

Loyola Drops Kentucky Five

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP) — Four outsiders who staged perhaps the greatest mass expulsion of favorites in the history of basketball will square off Thursday night in the semi-finals of the National Invitation tournament.

Loyola of Chicago will meet Bradley university and Bowling Green of Ohio will face San Francisco in an all-cinderella team lineup at Madison Square Garden.

Kentucky Is Dropped

Gone are Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 college quintet acclaimed in some quarters as the best ever; defending champion St. Louis university and the two other seeded entries—Utah, No. 3, and Western Kentucky, No. 4.

They went out in one giant sweep of the underdogs' broom in a matinee and evening quarter-final session yesterday that left huge Garden turnouts gasping for air.

Two of the survivors are clubs that got into the tournament on rain checks when the committee decided to pick an oversized field —Loyola and Bowling Green.

Loyola Stuns Wildcats

It was these two teams which knocked over the tournament's top-ranged powers—Kentucky and St. Louis, figured to carry an old rivalry into Saturday's final.

Loyalo stunned the Kentucky Wildcats with a great surge in the final minutes, 6 to 56. Bowing Green, big and fast, manhandled a silk-smooth St. Louis, 80 to 74.

To complete the rout, Bradley bowled over Western Kentucky, 95 to 86, and San Francisco, without a senior on its squad, humbled Utah, 64-63, on Frank Kuzara's 35-foot one-hand shot in the last seconds of play.

GIANTS BOOST SPEED

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 15 (AP) —The New York Giants are boasting of the speed of three of their rookie outfielders, Gail Henley, Bill Milne and Hal Bamberger.

District 3-A Completes Plans For '49 Baseball Competition

FLOYDADA, March 15 (Spl.)—Texas Interscholastic League approval has been given to District 3-A plans to have baseball and all schools in the district will field nines.

The district has been divided into two halves, an East and West half, with four teams in each. A double round robin will be played in each division, with a three-game playoff at the end of the regular play to determine the winner. The season opens April 14.

Teams in the East half of District 3-A are Paducah, Crosbyton, Spur and Matador, while West half teams include Floydada, Abernathy, Ralls and Lockney.

The season will end on May 3. Opening games April 14 will send Matador to Paducah and Spur to Crosbyton in the East half, with Lockney at Floydada and Abernathy at Ralls in the West half.

The complete schedule follows:

April 14: Matador at Paducah, Spur at Crosbyton (East half); Lockney at Floydada, Abernathy at Ralls (West half).

April 15: Paducah at Spur, Crosbyton at Matador (East half); Floydada at Abernathy, Ralls at Lockney (West half).

April 21: Crosbyton at Paducah, Matador at Spur (East half); Lockney at Abernathy, Floydada at Ralls (West half).

April 26: Crosbyton at Spur, Paducah at Matador (East half); Ralls at Abernathy, Floydada at Lockney (West half).

April 29: Spur at Paducah, Matador at Crosbyton (East half); Abernathy at Floydada, Lockney at Ralls (West half).

May 3: Paducah at Crosbyton, Spur at Matador (East half); Ralls at Floydada, Abernathy at Lockney (West half).

Tubb Appointed As Levelland Mentor

LEVELLAND, Mar. 15 (Special) Gano Tubb was appointed basketball coach and Bill Scott assistant football coach at Levelland, Supt. O. W. Marcom announced Monday.

In addition to his basketball duties Tubb will coach the second team in football. Scott will assist Truett Rattan, head football coach.

Tubb is a graduate of Levelland high school and Southwestern Tech of Weatherford, Oklahoma. He was head coach at Levelland for six years and junior high coach for three years. For the last two years he has been at O'Donnell.

While at Levelland his basketball teams went to the Region all six years and advanced to the state finals in Austin twice, making it to the finals on one occasion.

Scott is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons and coached the Levelland football team to a victory in the regional championship in 1947, before going to Guam for a short time. He is in the graduate school at Hardin-Simmons.

PLAYER GETS POST

WICHITA FALLS, March 15 (AP) —Jack Bradsher is the new temporary manager of the Wichita Falls Spudders baseball club. Bradsher, a center fielder, succeeds Mark Carrola who retired from baseball last week. Carrola skippered the Spudders last year.

Local Bowlers Drop In Final Meet Play

DALLAS, March 15 (Special)—Bowling teams and individuals from Lubbock dropped down in the final standings of the Annual Southwest Bowling tournament as a result of final attacks Saturday and Sunday by other keglers.

A fall of second to sixth place was recorded for Ben Brown, whose 671 did not stand up over the week end. It still was not a bad performance in the Class A singles.

A pair of Lubbock bowlers ended up in third place in the Class A doubles on the basis of a 1305 total. The keglers were James Buckner and Bill Nelms, who were dislodged from second place by the action over the weekend.

Both the Mission Orange team, which was in seventh place in Class A, and the Yellow Cab five, which was in fourth in Class B, fell from the standings. Mission Orange was the defending titlists.

Golf Meeting Slated Today

Meeting of the West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf association was scheduled to get underway this morning with a business meeting at 10 o'clock.

Members attending were scheduled to discuss and set dates for summer tournaments and carry out other items of business before adjourning for lunch at the club.

To Attend Meeting

Approximately 15 professional golfers and some of the best amateur talent in West Texas was supposed to converge on Lubbock for the meeting, and an 18-hole tournament was scheduled for the afternoon, beginning at 12:30 or 1 o'clock.

Amateurs will get half their handicap, and three amateurs will tour the rounds with one pro. In case too many amateurs attend, one will be designated to serve as captain over the layout.

Pros expected here for the meeting include Shorty Hornbuckle, Odessa; Shanty Hogan, Lamesa; Warren Cantrell and Charles Akey, Midland; Ray Garrett, Wichita Falls; Gene Mitchell, Plainview; Joe Houck and Lavery Farguar, Borger; Red Bost, San Angelo; Sherley Robbins, Big Spring; John Austin, Pampa; E. B. Lovvorn, Sweetwater; Chuck Klein, Amarillo; and Morgan Hampton, Abilene.

Baseball Slated In Loop 3-B Schools

HALE CENTER, March 15 (Special)—Baseball has been added to the spring curriculum for several of the schools comprising District 3-B, Superintendent N. L. Douglas of Hale Senter schools has announced.

Almost all of the District 3-B schools will enter the diamond race, he said. Hale Center Owls will field their first baseball squad in many years under direction of Coach Ralph Huntington. Other schools in 3-B gridiron competition who may have baseball teams are Dimmitt, Olton, Springlake, Whitharral, Amherst, Anton, Friona, Spade and Farwell.

REYNOLDS TO HURL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, who figures strongly in the New York Yankee pennant hopes, was scheduled to make his first start of the year today against St. Louis Cardinals.

Not until the end of the 16th century did the cult of pillar saints disappear.

Oil Belt Schedule Is Given Approval

A 35-game schedule was voted Sunday by representatives at a meeting of the Oil Belt Baseball league.

At present only seven teams are in the league, but Joe Holmes, president, indicated that several towns had asked about joining. It was agreed to admit one other team, but Monday afternoon none had been contacted.

The schedule this year calls for games during the week and on Sunday. Last year only games were played on Sunday afternoon with the 21-game schedule, but the addition of games under the lights on Thursday night during part of the season should give the players more practice and create more interest in the league.

Four of the league teams at this time have lighted fields, or will have them by the time play begins April 24, and mid-week games will be scheduled at the fields with lights. In case another team acquires lights while the season is in progress, it will probably be possible for some night games to be played at that town.

Two umpires will be used for each game, both to be furnished by the league, and playing fields will be lined off with lime before each game.

The Oil Belt league is a closely-knit organization, and teams pay an entrance fee to participate. Penalties are assessed for failure to appear for regularly scheduled contests, and this keeps the league running smoothly.

Teams represented at the meeting were Levelland, Post, Sundown, Denver City, Slaton, Brownfield, and Seagraves.

Man Admits Theft Of $250 At Bank; Bond Of $5,000 Is Set

A 38-year-old man, William Moore of Garrett, Ky., was held in county jail today in lieu of $5,000 bail in connection with his admitted theft Monday afternoon of $250 from Citizens National bank.

The man was arrested about 7 p. m. Monday, approximately four hours after the money was snatched from a teller's cage at the bank. He was in a Ralls hotel when apprehended by Crosby Sheriff Foy Addison and Dep. Sheriff J. N. Poteet.

Moore admitted in a signed statement to E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, that he had taken the money. He had $243.95 in his possession when arrested.

Recognized By Floydada Man

While local agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, city detectives and Texas Rangers were checking reports and files for possible identification of the subject, the alertness of W. A. Keeter, Floydada construction worker, resulted in the arrest.

Keeter, who earlier in the day had seen Moore at Shorty's cafe, 1205 Ave. G, where the latter was seeking to cash a $5 check, was on his way home to Foydada when he saw the suspect at the Ralls hotel. He notified authorities and the arrest followed.

Keeter, who talked with newsmen about 4:30 p.m. after seeing an account of the theft from the bank in the afternoon papers, said that he was in the cafe when a man attempted to cash a check there. When he failed to get the check cashed, even after offering to take $2 for the instrument, he left the cafe, Keeter said.

Tried Other Firms

Outside the eating establishment, Keeter said he was approached by the man who proposed a plan, without giving any details, to "stack up some money." Keeter said he cautioned the man that such actions would only lead to trouble.

The last time he saw the man, Keeter said, he was going down the street "making almost every store" in an attempt to cash the check. The time was about 2:30 p.m., Keeter said, a half hour before the bank incident.

Money Reported Snatched

Accounts from witnesses to the theft from the bank reveiled the following story:

A man, described as between 35 and 40 years old, wearing a battered hat and OD shirt, entered the bank and presented a check for $10 to Eunice George, bank teller. Mrs. George turned to leave and verify a statement of the man that he had an account there.

The man then allegedly reached under the grill of the teller's cage, snatched a package containing 50 five-dollar bills which had been freshly bundled, and started to flee.

Coat Left In Bank

J. C. Blair, of 1718 Ave. M, who was standing a few feet away from the window, saw the man reach for the money and grabbed him by the belt. The man jerked free and ran through the crowd of people toward the front of the bank. The door had just been closed since it was just about 3 p.m., the usual closing time.

Arlon Dedmon, of 2818 Allen, a driver for Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma coaches, stuck out his foot and tripped the thief, but the man managed to make the street and ran west on Broadway. He left his coat ,which he apparently had been carrying, in the bank..

Dorsell Young, a bank employe, gave chase, but the man outdistanced him and was last seen in the vicinity of Dickinson Motor company, 1413 Ave. J.

Had Hitchhiked A Ride

Moore, in his statement to Pharr, said he had just been released Monday morning from the jail at Littlefield and had hitchhiked a ride to Lubbock, arriving here about 11 a.m.

His account of what had happened at the bank tallied with that of witnesses to the incident.

After leaving the bank and eluding pursuit, Moore said he took a city bus for several blocks and then caught a taxi to a place about three miles out of town. He then caught a ride with a truck into Ralls, he said, where he had rented a room at Ralls Inn where he was later arrested.

At the time of arrest, Moore was not wearing clothing fitting the description of those of the man who took the money from the bank.

However, Ira Hollingsworth of Hollingsworth garage at 908 Fourteenth, said that a man who "looked as if he had been running" had changed clothes at the garage shortly after 3 p.m. and left with a bundle under his arm.

Several downtown stores had reported a man answering the description of the man who stole the money from the bank trying to cash a $5 check shortly before 3 p.m.

Witnesses had not been called in last night to identify the suspect held in county jail.

requests that the April cut be concentrated on the vast West Texas area instead of an an across-the-board basis for all fields.

New Requests Made

A month ago, West Texas purchasers, particularly the major companies, had urged that cuts be made in that area and that the remainder of the state continue undisturbed.

There were few requests today other than for a general, statewide reduction.

Each of the 10 railroad commission districts is affected by the reduction, ranging from a minus 81,266 barrels daily in district 8 (West Texas) to a minus 32 barrels daily in district 10 (Panhandle). Only a few fields in the Panhandle are affected by the shutdown order.

DECLINES STICK

NEW YORK, March 15. (AP)—A slow decline put the stock market fractions to more than a point lower today.

Pressure was never severe, but rails, metals and some oils proved somewhat vulnerable targets. Occasional resistance here and there failed to halt the downward trend.

The market's volume of around 750,000 shares was somewhat below that of Monday.

Regarded as disquieting to customers' confidence were such reports as softening of price levels in lead and some oil products, lowering of petroleum production quotas, the continuing coal shutdown with its effect on railroads' freight volume and possible future construction of steel output.

American smelting, which posted its second lead price drop in a week, extended its decline to more than a point.

Other issues lower included Kennecott, International Nickel, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, Illinois Central, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Firestone, Montgomery Ward, American Can, Standard Oil (N. J.), Gulf Oil, American Woolen and Lockheed.

Holding small gains were Philip Morris, Commonwealth Edison and Consolidated Edison.

Mexican Arrested In Fatal Shooting

Alfredo Albidrez, 29, a Mexican of 121 Ave. K, was arrested this morning by City Detective Lee Rice, jr., and Patrolman H. W. Burdett and taken to county jail for questioning into the Feb 27 fatal shooting of Adolfo Trujillo, another Mexican.

Albidrez was charged Feb. 27 with murder in connection with the case, but the warrant had not been served.

Officials learned that he fled to Nebraska, where he worked in the potato harvest. He returned, and police received a "tip" he was here.

Motive for the shooting of Trujillo has not been supplied by the suspect, officials said. Albidrez went into the residence of Abel Bustillosh at 120 Ave. M and drank beer with him and Trujillo before he drew his pistol and commenced firing. Investigators had been informed earlier.

Trujillo was a construction foreman, and Albidrez worked under his direction.

Bond of $3,500 had been set in binding Albidrez over to an April 4 grand jury in the 99th district court. It had not been posted.

Grain Sorghums

Has Been About Equal

During the past several years, observers pointed out, South Plains acreage in cotton and sorghums has been about equal. Last year the plantings for each were somewhat in excess of 2,000,000 acres. Belief has prevailed that the same approximate ratio would have been maintained with a 90 per cent parity for sorghums, thus equaling the government's announced support price for cotton this year.

However, with a parity for sorghum even lower than the 78 per cent of last year, most farmers are likely to concentrate upon cotton, according to K. N. Clapp, area observer since 1923 for Anderson-Clayton & Co., Houston cotton firm. This seems inevitable, he explained, because of the reasonable expectation that cotton would yield more cash per acre than would sorghum with the lower support.

Prediction Is Made

Clapp now forecasts 3,000,000 as the minimum the acreage which will be put in cotton during the planting season, usually starting around April 20.

Some acreage estimates ranged substantially higher than Clapp's. The consensus of observers appeared to be that 3,000,000 is a conservative minimum for cotton acreage on the basis of present prospects.

Actual crop prospects are more uncertain, and will depend almost entirely on the moisture received before planting begins late next month and, of greater importance, during the July and August growing season.

The 959,000-bale 1937 crop was harvested from approximately 1,500,000 acres. Comparably favorable conditions this year easily could mean a crop exceeding 2,000,000 bales. As of now, conditions are even more favorable than they were in 1937. The subsoil moisture reserve is much larger than at this time during that year.

Little Was Irrigated

Furthermore, relatively little of the cotton land of 1937 was irrigated. Last year, the irrigated acreage in the staple exceeded 400,000. Forecasts for this year are that it will be 500,000 as a minimum, and may go as high as 750,000. Irrigated lands consistently have average somewhat better than a bale to the acre.

Ginners, warehouse and compress operators are watching the situation closely and are preparing to expand according to the indicated needs further down the line.

W. O. Fortenberry, of Monroe, president of the Plains Ginners association, said that most gin operators already are beginning to get ready, in the expectation they are likely to be called upon to handle a record crop.

Controls Are Possible

He does not believe, he said, that many new gins will be built because of the strong probability that cotton acreage controls will be put into effect next year. The cost of a new plant, he explained, would not be justified by the returns from one big year.

But he looks for much expansion of existing gins. He also looks for many operating improvements. Many, he said, will be prepared to operate 24 hours a day instead of 12 to 16 hours last year.

This procedure, he pointed out, would mean substantial increases in the seasonal ginning payrolls. It also would mean a longer season during which the workers would receive wages.

Only Occasional Delays

On the whole, Fortenberry said, this area has the ginning facilities to take care of whatever crop may be grown without any more inconvenience than temporary and occasional delays.

There are nearly 300 gins above the Caprock and, on the whole, they average as about the most modern of any large cotton producing area in the country.

If production prospects are approximately as favorable around Aug. 1 as they appear to be now, it is estimated that expansions and improvements will average $5,000 to $10,000 per gin—a total investment of $1,500,000 to $3,000,000.

Warehouse and compress operators also are looking to the future. Some have taken options or leases on land which they expect to use for storage. Most of the operators, if not all, have blueprints ready for construction of new warehouses to provide whatever may appear to be needed in additional indoor storage.

No estimates were attempted as to what these investments might total, but it was agreed they will be large if prospects still are favorable later in the season.

Observers generally believe that increases in cotton acreage will mean a closely corresponding cut in grain sorghums.

It was their consensus, however, that the sorghum acreage still will be large—much of it with the view of providing feed for livestock on the farm.

No estimates have been attempted as to what harvest labor needs may be next fall.

However, the Texas Employment commission is the point of contact between farmers and itinerant labor—chiefly Spanish-Americans from South Texas. The present expectation is that labor needs will be the largest in history, and their planning is in accord with that prospect.

might take the child, so it wouldn't bring disgrace on my other children."

But the other children—two marine sons and a young daughter—were unaware of the boy's real identity. Even neighbors did not know of the child's existence.

The eldest—a 20-year-old corporal—told police: "We never knew who the boy was. We dared not ask."

The child lived in a bare room furnished only with a cot. He left it on rare occasions—and then only to go to one of the adjoining rooms with his eldest brother.

He said he "took pity" on the child.

The youngster was picked up Sunday in an alley near his home. He was wearing tatters of two girls' dresses. His long hair fell over his shoulders. He was barefooted.

The youngster escaped from the room in an unguarded moment.

Police said he was "bright and inquisitive," despite his long imprisonment.

Tax Informers

for about 75 years. The fiscal year 1948 (ended last June 30) brought their biggest haul to date.

They picked up $99,975 then—just $25 less than the total sum available for rewards—while Uncle Sam rang up a record $2,351,000 in tax collections that couldn't have been made without informer aid.

$80,000 Biggest

The biggest reward recorded, an $80,000 sum that was split among three people, came back in the mid-1930s in a case where the government collected $2,600,000.

In general, informers tend to wind up with about two or three per cent of the recovered sum, but a lot depends on the circumstances: size of the case, conclusiveness of the evidence provided, etc.

The Internal Revenue bureau doesn't pay off on a mere "complaint" or plain "tip" to the effect that "so and so is evading taxes." The informer has to produce something that will serve as evidence in court. He also has to ask for a money reward to get one.

Coal Shutdown

"Boyd still has to be confirmed by the Senate. I'm not so sure he'll get that confirmation."

Senator Predicts

But at Washington Senator Malone (R-Nev) predicted the Senate will follow the committee's recommandation.

During the committee session, a move to create a separate agency in the Interior department responsible for mine safety lost 6-5. However, Malone said afterward that considerable support had developed for the idea. It would meet Lewis' contention that Boyd should have nothing to do with mine safety regulations.

U. S. Senate

tion — extension of rent controls and other things. But it would like to drop the rule change issue in a fashion that would let it be faised again later in the session, after rent control etc., is out of the way.

The Southern stand is no. They don't want an armistice, but a final settlement holding through this congress session. A majority of Republicans have been backing them in the stand that the Senate ought to go ahead now and settle the rule change issue, for this session, some way or the other.

Talk Explained

The compromise talk is over finding some settlement, for this session, to which all factions can agree.

Southerners have indicated they would agree to debate limitation — except on proposals to change the rules — whenever a two-thirds majority of the whole Senate, or 64 senators, votes for one.

The Truman Democrats haven't been willing to take that. So the Southerners are keeping on with their filibuster. They see the approach of March 31—expiration date for rent controls—as putting pressure on the administration to yield.

Rent Curbs

for only 90 days. On Friday, administration forces barely beat back that limit 178 to 163, after Republicans — with the help of about 30 Democrats—won the first test 165 to 161.

Powerful support developed behind an amendment by Rep. Williams (D-Miss), to let states, counties and municipalities throw out federal rent controls in their areas any time they please, regardless of how the federal rent administrator feels about it.

Numerous other amendments were proposed, in an effort to draw some of the teeth of the bill. One probably will call for only a six-month extension. Both the let-the-states-do-it and the six-month extension plans also had strong backing in the senate.

U. S. Needs Friends To Fight Communism, Lions Club Is Told

In the ultimate showdown on the globe in the clash of the two basic issues of democracy and communism, the attitude of other nations toward the United States will govern the outcome and each American citizen must, in his own heart, feel the responsibility of world citizenship if we are to win out, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Technological college, declared in a talk at the luncheon of the Lubbock Lions club at the Hilton hotel today noon.

"Communism is moving, step by step, to make friends or at least converts, of as much of the world as possible," Dr. Jones declared.

"It appears that the time has come for each American citizen to face this issue on a personal basis. It is a clash of the religious viewpoint, representing democracy, with the non-religious ideas of Russia.

"Business has had to change much of its basic philosophy in our country; it has had to change to keep pace with the amalgamation and diffusion of various parts of the country. So likewise we're having to change our idea of relationship with other peoples of the globe . . . Isolationism will no longer work."

Dr. Jones' talk was preceded by vocal numbers by the Noteables quartet composed of Dick Richards, J. Ray Dickey, Tiny Jones and Jim Black. Richard was program chairman.

New members introduced were: Dr. Glen S. Burke, Homer Hensley and Woodrow Epperson. Out-of-town visitors at the luncheon included C. W. Williams and Edward Sherrick, Denver, Colo.; Gentry, Monroe; R. L. Benson, Spur; and Jack Strong, Bryan.

Cold Wave

freezing drizzle fell today in Nebraska, Kansas, western Oklahoma and eastern Colorado, in addition to the Panhandle and South Plains. The light snow grains were described by the weather station as almost the same as freezing drizzle.

"The cold front came in pretty fast and it'll probably go out just as fast, considering the time of year," the Associated Press quoted the weather bureau as stating.

The speed of the cold front caused weather forecasters to revise earlier predictions of milder weather.

Freezing drizzles with some snow was reported at Clarendon, and snow at Amarillo, where an early morning reading of 18 degrees tabbed it as the coldest spot in the state at that hour.

At Midland, high winds kicked up dust and sand. Skies were clear; the temperature in the low 40s.

"A very fine freezing mist" hovered over Pampa, where an early morning reading of 20 degrees was recorded. Skies were overcast. There was a light fog.

At Brownsville early today a 54-degree reading was recorded.

The Associated Press reported East Texas will be much colder today and tonight in the northwest and extreme north portions, according to the weather forecast, with occasional light snow in the upper Red river valley today. The central portion of East Texas will be colder tonight, with low temperatures 22-27 in the upper Red river valley and 28-34 in the remainder of the north and west central portions.

Wednesday will be cloudy and colder in the south and east central portions with moderate, mostly north winds on the coast.

The brunt of the cold wave will be felt in West Texas, according to the weather bureau.

There will be occasional light snow in the Panhandle today.

Forecasts for tonight listed lows of 17-22 in the Panhandle, and 28-34 from the upper Pecos valley eastward. Wednesday will be partly cloudy and not so cold.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area is in for much colder weather today, the experts said, with the high in the low 40's and cloudy skies. Tonight will be clearing but much colder, with the low Wednesday morning near 24. Wednestday will be fair and warmer, with highs near 60.

Burglary Of Liquor Store Near Big Spring Admitted By Youth

Two of four Lubbock young men who already had admitted a March 10 burglary of Haskins' store at Wolfforth told Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton of two additional burglaries participated in by some of those charged, it was announced by the sheriff's office today.

James Jackson, 19, of Myrtle drive, said he and the three others charged in the Wolfforth burglary —Chester Wayne Mortan, 18, of 1614 Main, Ferion Dwain McCreary, 20, of Slaton highway, and Robert Lee Davis, 20—burglarized Bill's Liquor store, three miles from Big Spring on the Lamesa road, recently. And, he admitted, they, or some of them, stole a 1946 Plymouth automobile in Big Spring prior to the buglary and used it haul away 19 cases and four half-gallons of whisky.

Stole Wrist Watch

They also took a .38 revolver, a foreign-make 765 automatic pistol and a wrist watch from the liquor store, Jackson admitted.

Jackson said a juvenile who was arrested with him by Dep. Sheriff Buel Powell of Brownfield stood watch on the outside of the liquor store when the others went in.

Davis, who earlier had admitted theft of a car in Amarillo, gave Horton another signed burglary admission. He said he had broken and entered the B. E. Black grocery, at 2801 First, the night of March 8. He said he took groceries and 18 or 20 cartons of cigarets. He said he took the groceries to McCreary's residence, but kept the cigarets. Some of the cigarets he sold, he said.

Held In Jail

Jackson told officials that the four had "hard luck" with their whisky. Some of it, he said, was taken to Abernathy for resale by an agent, and some was stached out. Most of the stache was subsequently stolen, he said, and when the youths attempted to investigate whether the consignment they had entrusted to an agent had been sold there was an argument that resulted in the flashing of a gun and arrest of the four. They then gave statements of the burglaries and car thefts, officials said.

No further charges had been filed at midmorning, and the four were held in lieu of $1,500 bond each for investigation of an April 4 grand jury.

Some of the whisky traceable to the Big Spring burglary had been recovered, the sheriff's office said.

Woollcott and Ross, both enlisted men, were "ringers" at the founding caucus. They were smuggled in to represent their former units when Army brass kept doughboys from going to Paris for the meeting.

Suddenly Needed

Roosevelt's original idea had been for each Army division to send representatives of officers and enlisted men. Old timers here recall that the army suddenly needed its enlisted men at their posts very badly. So the caucus was rounded out by letting Stars and Stripes men, already in Paris, represent former units. Other GI's got to Paris by devious means.

Paris post No. 1 of the American Legion has always been one of the most active units. It has its headquarters in a five-story building in the Champs Elysees district. Built as a memorial to Gen. Sweet Potato Crop Outlook In Lubbock County Is Optimistic

The humble sweet potato, or yam, will bring something like $500,000 to Lubbock county growers this year, according to County Agent Dave Sherrill. Sherrill is supported in this optimistic outlook by Olen Crump, 314 Avenue U, one of Lubbock's outstanding growers and producers of certified sweet potatoes.

Crump has been busy for the past several days preparing his seed beds to produce an estimated 1,000,000 plants. Of this number Crump will plant about 100,000 slips on a ten acre area and will sell the balance to other growers.

"Prices for number one grades are higher now than at any time since the war years," Crump said Monday. "Unless something unusual happens to destroy the quality of the fine crops we are able to produce here the harvest this year should command a comparable price."

Olen Crump followed his father into sweet potato growing business. Originally it was a side-line with him which he worked in his off hours. In 1938 Crump gave up railroading with the Santa Fe to devote his full time to agricultural pursuits and he is mighty happy about the results of the change.

Many farmers who have small plots, and several major growers combine to produce approximately 125,000 bushels on 300 acres in Lubbock county. This figure is based on a yield of around 400 bushels per acre.

Quarantine Affects Process

The pink bollworm quarantine has made it impossible for the farmers to use cotton burrs for packing their seed beds as they have in the past. The law now requires that all such burrs be burned.

Crump didn't let this little detail stand in his way. He experimented first with an electric heating element such as is used in some greenhouses where expensive flowers are grown. This proved so costly that it would have taken all the profit out of commercial vegetable growing. Crump discarded this plan quickly, not only because of the cost of installation and maintenance but because of its unreliability.

Seed Hulls Used

Since the current quarantine did not include cotton seed hulls, Crump tried these and found that they would produce a high degree of heat in the seed beds. Further experimenting proved that 100 pounds of cotton seed meal added to 5,000 pounds of the hulls gave still more heat. Crump admitted that he followed the "trial and error" method but the net results were entirely satisfactory. Reaching down into the depths of one of his finished beds it was easy to detect several degrees difference between the surface and subsoil tmperatures.

Crump said he welcomed the opportunity to pass along any information he had gathered on the growing of certified sweet potatoes. His recommendations for the construction of seed beds included the placing of an eight inch layer of hulls mixed with cotton meal as the foundation. This should be wetted and packed down tightly, Crump said. On top of this foundation a four inch layer of clean soil is placed. Then the seed potatoes, inspected and certified, are laid on top of the soil, close together but not touching. One bushel of seed potatoes will cover approximately 12 square feet in this manner.

Seedlings Covered

A final layer of clean earth is placed over the seedlings to a depth of four inches and watered down. Crump also conceived the idea of placing an additional layer of one and one-half inches of rotted and dried out hulls on top of the finished bed. This, he said, would let the heat of the sun into the bed but would allow cold rains to be absorbed slowly and keep the upper surface of the soil soft and pliable.

In this type of seed bed, and planted as Crump recommends, one bushel of seedlings will produce about 2,000 slips.

Such seedling beds should be prepared now, Crump asserts. March 20, he believes should be the very latest. The slips will then be ready for transplanting in early May. If the transplanting takes place on time, the sweet potatoes will be ready for harvesting in August. About 110 days are required to develop the yam in Lubbock county.

Fertilizer Is Unnecessary

Crump does not use any fertilizer in growing his crop but keeps a good clean soil and applies water to his fields every seven days when there is no rainfall or an insufficient amount.

"I'm going to try a few Puerto Rico 'bunch' potatoes this year," Crump said. "Frankly I can't say much about them because this will be my first experience with them and I believe it will be the first time they have ever been grown in this area."

The bunch potato is vineless. All of the potatoes grow about a central stalk and yield about four number one units in addition to smaller sizes. Crump will try about 14,000 plants this year and his experience with them will determine whether or not he will attempt to grow more of them.

The chief advantage of the bunch potato, Crump says, is the fact that it can be cultivated constantly because there is no vine on the surface of the soil to be damaged. This allows the soil to be kept loose and produces a more tender and tasty yam. With the Maryland potato the vine makes it impossible to use the cultivator after it has attained an advance growth.

"If I have the same success with the Puerto Rico "bunch" potato that I have had with the Marylands we may have another fine money crop for Lubbock county," Crump said.

County agent Sherrill anticipates more interest in sweet potatoes this year and in succeding years. He has accumulated a wealth of data and practical experience from such growers as Olen Crump and his father C. D. Crump. This information he has available in his office for those who wish to grow this crop commercially or for home consumption.

Concert Violin Used To Play Hill-Billy, Swing And Be-Bop

By JACK P. GABRIEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Louis Kaufman, who looks as if he ought to be a long-haired musician in white tie and tails, is barnstorming the nation with a concert violin, playing music usually sawed out on back-country fiddles or tooted around in the jive joints.

The blues, swing, hill-billy folk songs, spirituals and even be-bop he plays in concerted halls across the country are what Kaufman calls "Progressive Classicism."

Titles Own Stile

This is the title he gives his own style—the classic technique for playing modern themes—which he developed after supplying the background music for more than 400 movies.

"Audiences love the classics," he explains, "but they also want to hear what's being written in their own time, and I give it to them.

"A lot of people think music must always be the same, always static," he adds. "But everyone reads new books, goes to new plays, or sees the new paintings. And, that's the way it must be with music. The present-day composers must be given their chance to survive."

Visits Classrooms

Because students kept coming backstage after concerts for advice, Kaufman now visits their classrooms and listens to them play.

"I tell them how to do something and explain how I get certain effects."

This is something of a revolutionary idea among the old-time concert fraternity, which considered it almost suicidal for a musician to give away the secrets of his technique.

Kaufman and his wife, who is his accompanist, will go to Hawaii this spring, and later to Europe. He expects to play blues and hoe-downs, boogie and bop on his concert violin over there. He's convinced they'll like "progressive classicism," too.

Louis Kaufman: Be-bop turned into "progressive classicism."

Landlords Of North Texas Seek Subsidy

DALLAS, March 15 (AP)—Rent property owners in North Texas are asking Congress for a subsidy if rent controls are continued.

Jack Pinkston, secretary of the North Texas Property Owners association, said subsidy recommendations were sent to congressmen yesterday.

"If Congress feels it cannot avoid enacting some rent control legislation," Pinkston said, "then we are asking a provision of reasonable return on reasonable value without exceptions."

The subsidy proposal would bring landlords a government check for the difference between rental ceilings and a "fair return."

Obsolete Television Sets Are Claimed Possible With New Frequency Channels

NEW YORK, Mar. 15 (AP)—Will television sets now in use and on the market become obsolete with the opening of new channels?

Some manufacturers say they will. Others say emphatically that won't. The whole industry is stirred up over the question.

Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo(of the Senate interstate commerce committee sought an answer in a letter to the Federal Communications commission.

The commission gave a reply generally reassuring to owners of current model sets, but added that if new channels are opened in the ultra high frequencies "there will be some obsolescence" in some areas.

Converters Said Available

Manufacturers and telecasters have been issuing statements almost on the hour expressing these general views:

1. Present sets will be good for their lifetime in most areas now having television on any of the 12 existing channels on very high frequencies. They say the present channels will continue in use for years, and perhaps forever.

2. If the FCC opens up additional channels in the ultra high frequencies, they will be assigned principally to areas now without television, and where there are no sets to become obsolete.

3. Some of the new channels might be assigned to areas already having television on existing channels. In that case, present type sets could be adapted to bring in the new channels with moderate priced converters.

But the Zenith Radio corp., of Chicago took another tack. It advertised that its television sets were already equipped to receive over the new channels. This poured flaming oil on the troubled waters.

Claim Is Refuted

The other manufacturers haven't come right out and named Zenith, but several have made this statement: No set now on the market, they say, will receive on the proposed new channels without being re-wired or having new circuits added.

They declare that since the FCC hasn't specified on what frequencies the new channels will be, or how many of thm will be opened, it's impossible to build a set that would be sure of receiving them without further adjustment.

The FCC held a hearing last fall on the question of opening up the ultra high frequencies to television to provide more channels, but has made no decision. The commission said the present 12 channels aren't enough to provide a complete nationwide television service.

Many Problems Involved

The commission has pointed out that other problems are involved. One is whether space should be reserved for color telvision, which the commission says most industry experts agree is not yet ready for the public. Another is whether pictures sent at the higher frequencies shall be on the present standards of 525 lines per picture or should contain more lines to give a finer definition.

The commission has emphasized that "there is no outstanding notice proposing to delete any of the 12 channels" now in use. But it told Senator Johnson that "these assignments, like any assignments, are subject to change in whole or in part. . . ."

Texan Faces New Charges

FRANKLIN, March 15 (AP)—Six more indictments stemming from the $81,000 worthless check swindle of the Franklin First State bank are on the record against S. B. Jones, Hearne, insurance man.

The six new indictments were returned yesterday. Jones was first indicted Feb. 21. County Attorney Bill Palmos at that time said three indictments had been returned against Jones in connection with the bank swindle. The prosecutor said two of the indictments were under the state hot check law and the third on theft.

Signs Indictments

Hary Henry of Hearne, foreman of the Robertson county grand jury, signed the six new indictments charging "swindling by worthless check."

Jones' bond was set on the three early indictments at $10,000. No mention was reported of increased or additional bond today.

The Franklin bank cashed worthless checks totalling $81,000 during the Thanksgiving holidays last year. On Dec. 18, 1948, the bank merged with the First National bank of Franklin.

Jones was arrested near Matamoros, Mexico, and returned to Texas Dec. 14. Eight complaints were filed against Jones at that time.

At that time Jones told a reporter, "I have at no time violated any criminal acts."

Sheriff Bob Reeves of Franklin said Jones' trial in the indictment returned in February had been set for April in Judge W. R. Barron's 84th district court.

Lewis Still "The Champ" To Miners

Little Mining Villages Dead

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

COVERDALE, Pa., March 15—This little town is like a ghost town, withdrawn and sombre, heavy with stillness.

Nothing moves in the black and rut-slashed lanes. Nothing stirs along "bachelors' row," where unmarried miners live in a line of huddling shacks.

Nothing ruffles the clean white curtains in the windows of the family homes. There are no crowds on the corners, no pickets, no police, no placards, bands or rallies.

Nothing Is Moving

Nothing moves except a pale blue shroud of smoke on the other side of the valley, the breath of a slag heap.

It is much the same in all the little coal-mining towns in western Pennsylvania. In Library and Sygan, in Morgan and Presto and Daisytown. They, too, are silent, and seemingly lifeless. It is like Sunday there, too.

John L. Lewis is the master here.

The degree of his authority is apparent the instant you attempt to talk with the miners about the reason why he ordered them to stay away from the pits.

The announced reason was to mark a two-week period of "mourning" for the men who died in the mines. Coal commentators have suggested that the real reason was so much coal has been mined that the backlog is too big.

Won't Discuss It

However, that may be, the miner is not prepared to discuss it.

He may say, "well, we were only working two or three days a week, anyway." Or he may discuss his chances of getting state unemployment compensation. Or he may murmur that Easter is near, and it's a bad time to be losing two weeks' pay.

But he will not openly weigh the judgment and leadership of John L. Lewis.

He sits in the rickety beer-parlors, drinking straight whiskey with a "black strap" chaser, a heavy-muscled man, tight-lipped, suspicious and wary of strangers. He starts to talk a little.

Then the bar-tender calls him to the far end of the bar, leans across, cups his ear and whispers. They both look. The miner does not come back.

Listen To John L.

Another miner asks, "you from the FBI? No? Well, anyway, if there was anybody better than Lewis maybe we'd listen to him. As it is, we listen to John L. . . . get it?"

This is not strictly true, according to a non-union man, an equipmen man and not a miner.

"Ninety per cent of them would

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

What does barber shop quartet singing mean to you? (That question was answered by six members of the Lubbock chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.)

THE ANSWERS

J. A. DANIEL, 1517 Arnett, owner of Daniel Sign Co.: "The main thing that it means to me is that I like to sing in the first place and then it's a good diversion to keep your mind off worries and troubles."

RUSSELL HARDIN, 2417 Twenty-ninth, owner of Russell Hardin Cleaners: "Really, I enjoy men's singing. It's tops of any kind of music. I enjoy the instructions and fellowship and the harmony of the quartets as well as the harmony with the chorus."

DR. E. S. DAVIDSON, 2620 Thirty - second, owner of Davidson clinic-hospital: "It's a form of relaxation. The fact that four more or less ordinary voices can blend in harmony complimentary to each voice has amazed me and will always be a great source of enjoyment to hear. I enjoy the fellowship of a bunch of ordinary guys who like to hear themselves sing."

G. PAT CUNNINGHAM, 2423 Twenty - sixth, salesman of Kohler Plumbing Co.: "I love to eat, but I'd forego a meal any time for a little close harmony. I would say for friendliness and unselfishness throughout, if there is such a thing as an All-American club, SPEBSQSA, Inc., is it—capital I-T, too."

J. RAY DICKEY, 2007 Sixteenth, partner in Scogin - Dickey Motor Co.: "I have always loved music, as far as that is concerned. Ever since I have been a small boy, I have loved to sing. It's just a hobby of mine. It's about the cleanest, nicest hobby a man can have. I've always felt a singing man is a happy man. I love to sing just for my own pleasure, whether there's one or a dozen present."

O. W. RIBBLE, 2220 Eighteenth, owner of Ribble's Flowers: "Barber shop singing to me means a lot of pleasant afternoons, nights, and remembering of a lot of the old tunes sung in a new manner, and lots of close harmony."

BETTE DAVIS SUED

LOS ANGELES, March 15. (AP)—The government today sued film actress Bette Davis for $80,820.59 in additional taxes for 1942 and 1943.

Broad Tax Measure Is Filed By Solon

AUSTIN, March 15. (AP)—An all-purpose tax bill was filed by Rep. H. A. (Salty) Hull of Fort Worth yesterday to meet the state's financial crisis.

Though the measure as written would tax only three minor natural resources, Hall said he plans "to cover the whole field"—including higher levies on oil, gas and sulphur—when the bill goes to committee. The new items to be taxed are lime, Fuller's earth and gypsum.

"If we need a tax bill, my idea is it should be spread out," Hull said. "My purpose is to write an omnibus tax bill in which I'd want to cover the whole field to raise whatever revenue we have to have to balance the budget."

Right now, Gov. Beauford H. Jester thinks some 80 million dollars more than is available is needed to provide the state services, many of which are worthy.

The crisis was brought on last week by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's estimate cutting money available for spending the next two years by 72 million dollars.

Talent Event Is Underway

Twenty-five finalists in the "Youth Talent Contest" to be staged Wednesday night in the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium were selected last night from an original entry list of 46.

A staff of five judges auditioned all entrants, and chose the top 25 on a point rating basis. The auditions were held at radio station KCBD.

Last night's winners will compete in a public performance Wednesday night, starting at 8 o'clock. Tickets for the event, which is sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be priced at 75 cents for adults and 50 cents students. Tickets will be sold only at the audition box office on the night of the show, and no seats will be reserved.

Regional Contest Slated

The two entries chosen Wednesday night as Lubbock's most outstanding will be eligible to compete in a regional contest April 1 at Lamesa. The Lamesa winner is to receive an audition for the Horace Heidt "Youth Opportunity Program" sometime next fall when Heidt tours the Southwest.

Finalists in the Lubbock competition are:

Shepperd Speaker At Annual C Of C Meet Staged At Ralls

Ralls Chamber of Commerce, with John Ben Shepperd, former U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce president and Gladewater attorney, as principal speaker, last night clamped the lid on their 1948-49 business year.

More than 150 members and guests attended a banquet held at the home economics building of Ralls High school and heard Shepperd call for a determined fight to "make democracy work" and to win the present cold war against the Communist bloc of nations.

Can Get Results

"Things happen when people work and strive together," Shepperd declared in opening his talk. "It is as American as ham and eggs for Americans to organize to better their city and their community. And communities today are learning to co-operate with each other to further their programs and move toward even higher peaks of success."

Percy Eason, retiring president, gave the introductory remarks to launch the rapidly moving program. Ernest Joiner, incoming president, served as toastmaster and introduced the speaker.

Preceding Shepperd on the program was the Ralls High school boys quartet composed of Taddum Wicks, Randall Morton, Dwayne Lynch, and James Edd Williams. A. L. Winfrey, chairman of the reception committee, introduced out of town guests.

Officers Are Named

Officers for the incoming year will be Joiner, president; R. G. Pope, vice president, and C. W. Mann, secretary.

Directors and committee heads include:

Directors: Harold Priddy, R. G. Pope, Ernest Joiner, Al Ray Cooper, M. A. McLaughlin, John Fowler, Percy Eason, J. S. Dennard, Roy Abell, jr., W. P. McKee, J. W. Brandon, jr., and T. D. Lyle.

Rural directors: Geo. D. Noble, Joe Jackson, Jack Robertson, Edmond Crump, J. W. Payne, John W. Thomas, Ellis Henry, Guy Herring, Vernie Smith, V. A. Johnston, J. W. Gillon, L. P. DuBose, J. S. Train Carrying Movie Stars Due To Arrive Here Tonight

The 16-Pullman special train, carrying the largest group of Hollywood celebrities ever to visit Lubbock, is due to make a 15-minute stop at the local Santa Fe station at 7:45 o'clock tonight.

Some 60 movie personalities will be aboard the streamliner, which is en route from Hollywood to Houston for the dual St. Patrick's day premiere of multi-millionaire Glenn McCarthy's Shamrock hotel and first motion picture, "The Green Promise."

Good Turnout Seen

Aside from the fact that the train will be here from 7:45 to 8 p.m., if on schedule, advance publicity releases have not given any details regarding the Lubbock stop.

Maybe the five dozen film stars will all take some part in saying "Howdy" to the crowd at the local station—particularly since this is the train's first Texas stop.

And then again, maybe not even one actor will take the trouble to peer from a window.

But despite the uncertainty, quite a throng is expected to be on hand. After all, it isn't every day that an entourage of this caliber visits here. For that matter, this is just about the costliest and most spectacular star junket ever staged anywhere.

Top Stars On Train

The passenger list of the special train reads like a page from "Who's Who in the Movies." And the statement that it's a group of big stars can be applied more ways than one—since 295-pound Oliver Hardy (of Oliver & Hardy), and fat funnyman Lou Costello are due to be aboard.

Other passengers tentatively include Dorothy Lamour, Pat O'Brien, Joan Caulfield, Stan Laurel, Brian Donlevy, Kirk Douglas, Sonja Henie, Dorothy

European Statesmen Studying Union Terms, Atlantic Pact

BY WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 15 — The dream of a broad European union moves closer to reality today, as foreign ministers of the five-nation western European union scan a draft constitution for a Council of Europe.

Statesmen of Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg went into the second day of a two-day meeting on the problems of the North Atlantic pact and the European union.

Conflict In Dates

One problem is the conflict between the date previously set for a founding conference for the 10-nation council of Europe and the date for signing the North Atlantic treaty.

The members of the western European union—or Brussels alliance—have invited Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Eire and Italy to the founding conference March 28 in London. But the foreign ministers of the Brussels powers expect they will then be on shipboard bound for the Atlantic pact signing in Washington.

They will have to decide whether to postpone the London meeting or turn it into a meeting of ambassadors instead of foreign ministers.

The western European union is a defensive, as well as a social and cultural alliance.

Meeting Is Secret

The Council of Europe would be strictly social and cultural at the start. It would consist of a committee of ministers with limited powers, corresponding to a cabinet, and a consultative body with merely advisory functions, corresponding to a parliament.

The meeting here has been secret but a communique will be issued tonight after the windup of the meeting.

The terms of the North Atlantic pact, which was known to be before the ministers yesterday, are to be published Friday.

Many of the decisions concerned with defense may not be made public immediately. But certain economic problems created by the Atlantic treaty also were to be discussed and these probably will be made public.

Another problem facing the ministers is how to expand the military aspects of the western European alliance so as to bring in other countries joining the Atlantic powers.

Norway has announced she will join in the Atlantic alliance. The foreign ministers of Denmark and Iceland are discussing their possible adherence. Italy and Portugal also may be invited to take part.

Army Slaying Term Reduced

WIESBADEN, Germany, March 15. (AP)—A U. S. Military Government Appeals court today reduced from 20 to five years the prison sentence imposed on Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo for killing her soldier husband.

The five-judge court confirmed the right of U. S. military government courts to try U. S. civilians in occupied Germany. The decision also upheld the right of such courts to try American civilians under German law.

The court found, however, that under German law the sentence could be for no more than five years.

Sentenced to 20 Years

Mrs. Ybarbo, 23-year-old mother from Malden, Mass., was sentenced to 20 years in prison last Dec. 28 by a district Military Government court at Marburg.

She was found guilty under both German and U. S. Military Government law of shooting her husband, Sgt. John Ybarbo, of Goliad, Tex., during an argument in their home last fall.

The appeals court rejected Mrs. Ybarbo's contention she had acted in self defense.

It said, however, her act was the result of a "long and intolerable course of cruelty and ill-treatment of her by her soldier husband."

The court found that German law limits sentence for homicide to five years in cases where ill treatment is provided.

Trial Was Sensational

Mrs. Ybarbo's seven-day trial was a sensational one, spiced with witnesses' stories of illicit love, soldier-fraulein parties and husband-wife brawls.

Ybarbo won medals for wartime bravery.

Jimmy Ybarbo, the couple's son, was flown to New Bedford, Mass., after the trial to live with his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles W. Bailey, jr.

The appeals decision clears the way for Mrs. Ybarbo's removal to the United States for confinement in a federal prison for women. She had been detained at Bad Wildungen.

Group To Urge Broad Function Change In Interior Department

NEW YORK, March 15. (AP)—The New York Times says a recommendation will be made to Congress to convert the Department of the Interior into a great public works agency, "fully responsible for development of the country's water and subsoil resources.

A dispatch to the newspaper from Washington by Clayton Knowles added:

"This course will be urged by the Commission on Organization of the executive branch of the government.

Change Recommended

"A highlight of the commission's report will be the proposal that the department take over the flood control and river and harbor development work now vested in the Army Corps of Engineers as a peacetime, civil function.

"Other proposals in line with the commission's over-all recommendation for a broader role for the department are that it take over also public building construction and community services from the Federal Works agency as well as other major construction to be assigned on behalf of other agencies of government.

"The only exception ... this latter score, it will be urged, is where such construction is carried on by grants-in-aid programs.

"To make the functional operation of the department smoother the commission will ask that it be stripped of certain activities.

"All operations of the Bureau of Land Management, except those dealing with minerals, would go to the Department of Agriculture, while the commercial fisheries division of the Fish and Wildlife service would go to the Department of Commerce, in line with earlier recommendations."

The dispatch reported that the commission has split on many of the proposals, with sharp dissents recorded in several instances, and added:

"But the majority, holding such reorganization essential to bring about 'co-ordinated policies' and prevent 'unwise projects and disastrous conflicts,' suggests that the revamped department operate with five separate services . . ."

PURCHASERS WARNED OF DANGER

Public Sale Of Radios With Concealed Explosives Probed

LANSING, Mich., March 15. (AP) State police and government investigators launched an investigation today into the public sale of war surplus radio sets with a concealed explosive charge.

They said more than 1,000 of the sets have been sold in Michigan.

The principal buyers have been amateur radio operators who disassemble the sets to obtain parts.

State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard warned purchasers to "leave them strictly alone until we can learn how to make them safe. Each one has enough TNT in it to blow a man's head off."

Purpose Explained

The purpose of the charge, police explained, was to destroy the set to prevent its falling intact into enemy hands during the war. A high frequency radio, it was designed to send out automatic code messages identifying friendly aircraft to ground forces.

The sets cost the government about $1,000 each. A Detroit dealer has been selling them for $4.95 each. They weigh about 40 pounds.

Leonard said one Benton Harbor surplus store reported that it had sold about 1,000 of the sets. About 100 more were known to have been sold by two Detroit stores.

Always Danger

None of the bombs is known to have gone off, but there is always the danger that some experimenter might accidentally discharge one, police said.

State police took several of the sets to Fort Custer, near Battle Creek for study by Army explosives experts.

"We will send out instructions for making them safe as soon as these experts tell us what to do," Leonard said.

He added he had talked by telephone with Jesse Larson, War Assets administrator in Washington and had been told the sets were still restricted. He quoted Larson as saying the Army Air Force was responsible for making certain no secret items were sold as surplus.

Sold By Radio Firm

Sets sold by the War Assets administration were wholesaled by the Belmont Radio company of Chicago, Leonard said. A Detroit dealer also said he had purchased the sets three years ago from Belmont.

In Chicago, Carl J. Hollatz, a Belmont vice president, said "I know nothing at all about such a sale. I doubt it very much."

Some sets found in Michigan came from an Atlanta, Ga., dealer direct from the Air Force, Leonard added.

In Rome, it is legal to arrest a person on suspicion, and the arrested person has to prove his innocence.

John Wayne May Set Precedent With Contract Reissue Rights

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, March 15 — John Wayne has snagged profit-sharing rights to reissues of his future Warners pictures.

The rugged actor from Winterset, Iowa, just signed a deal for a picture a year at Warner brothers. One clause should set a precedent in movie talent contracts. It gives Wayne additional profits should his films be revived after their first release. The background of this is interesting.

Situation Grieves Wayne

Recently the town was amazed to find no less than nine John Wayne pictures playing at local theaters. Three were new ones—"Wake of the Red Witch," "Red River," "Three Godfathers"—and six of them were reissues.

The situation grieves Wayne, not only because he dislikes saturation of his public, but also because he gets no return from the reissues. His future contracts will guard against this situation.

May Set Pattern

The Wayne deal may set a new pattern for star contracts. The screen actors guild has already attacked reissues, since they fill theater time that could be used by new pictures—which would provide work for actors.

Capsule review: "The Green Promise" (Glenn McCarthy-RKO) is not for city slickers. It's a well-paced yarn of life on a farm and there's no gunplay, drinking or neurosis. Nothing pretentious, it turns out to be a refreshing slice of country life. Walter Brennan, Robert Paige, Marguerite Chapman and Natalie Wood help make it a treat.

BANK HEAD DIES

LIVINGSTON, March 15 (AP) — Major August Mueller, 44, president of the First State bank here, died early Monday of a heart attack.

He was a graduate of Texas A. and M. college and entered the service in 1942. He was discharged in 1946 with the rank of major.

HST Quiet On Photo Incident; Schedules Lunch With Marshall

KEY WEST, Fla., March 15 (AP) President Truman — personally silent on a White House ban against air photographs of his submarine station quarters and his play at the beach — invited George C. Marshall here for lunch today.

He sent his plane, the "Independence," to Miami to fly the former secretary of state and world war two chief of staff to Key West with William D. Pawley, former ambassador to Brazil.

Marshall quit the cabinet in January after a kidney operation.

There was no official indication from Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross on whether Marshall and the President would have more than a friendly discussion before the latter flies back to Miami later in the day.

Vinson Also Present

Chief Justice Vinson also will sit in on the luncheon. He has been vacationing with Mr. Truman since Saturday.

Meanwhile, Ross took full resposibility for what he described as his "request" of news reel and still cameramen that they not publish pictures taken from a Navy airship of the "Little White House" and the President swimming and sunning himself at a nearby beach.

Ross described the taking of the pictures as "a completely unauthorized invasion of the President's privacy" and said he also opposed their publication for "security reasons."

Photographers said Ross was awaiting them at the airfield when they landed after their picture taking, which, they added, had been previously cleared by the Navy.

Accompanies Ross

Ross was accompanied by Rear Admiral Robert L. Dennison, naval aide, and James J. Rowley, chief of the White House secret service detail. He said at first he opposed publication of the pictures for "security reasons."

Later, at a news conference, he said he was primarily concerned with the invasion of Mr. Truman's privacy which he insisted was "unauthorized."

He added, however, that "security as it is known to the secret service," which is responsible for the President's safety, also was involved. Under questioning by reporters, he said he "perhaps over emphasized the question of security."

Two New Drugs Are Praised By Doctor

DALLAS, March 15 (AP)—Two new drugs are joining the fight against disease.

Dr. A. McGehee Harvey of Baltimore told doctors attending the Dallas Southern Medical society's conference, the new drugs have been highly effective against the typhus group of fevers and against tularemia, commonly known as rabbit fever.

Dr. Harvey identified the drugs as aureomycin and chloromysetin.

Both also show promise in the treatment of undulant fever, he said.

Dr. Harvey is physician-in-chief at Johns Hopkins hospital.

He said aureomycin is on the market and chloromycetin probably would be soon.

The wolverine is probably the most powerful creature for its size living.

Man's Suit To Get Company Post Fails

DALLAS, March 15 (AP) —A federal court here refused to order the Texas State Life insurance company to rehire Sebe J. Houghton, jr., who had left the company for army service, as its president.

Judge William H. Atwell yesterday awarded Houghton $4,800, one year's salary, but refused to order his reinstatement.

Houghton brought the suit under the Selective service act. He left the company for army duty in the spring of 1942. He asked for his job back in the spring of 1946.

In October of 1946 in the original suit Judge Atwell said the company didn't have to rehire Houghton because his job was an elective one.

Houghton appealed and the circuit court of appeals in New Orleans ordered a new trial and the U. S. Supreme court also ordered a new trial on the company appeal of the circuit court decision.

Texan Sentenced In Attempted Holdup

BRIGHTON, Colo., March 15. (AP)—Larry C. Browning, 22, of Alice, Tex., yesterday was sentenced to three to six years for an attempted holdup in which Leonard B. Knox of Fort Worth, his brother-in-law, was killed.

Knox, 24, was shot to death by Henry Jackson, liquor store owner, when he and Browning tried to hold up the store ten days ago. Browning pleaded guilty to the robbery charge yesterday in district court here.

The slain man's widow, Gloria Faye Knox, pleaded guilty to a charge of being an accessory but indicated she will apply for probation.

Red Leaders To Give Views

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP) American Communist leaders will be called on to say publicly whether they think they should lose their citizenship.

This word came today from Rep. Walter (D-Pa), author of a bill to make native-born Communists "stateless" residents of the U. S. he said today that top ranking Communists of the country will be invited to testify later on the measure before a House immigration subcommittee.

Will Be Called

Among those to be called, Walter said, will be William Z. Foster, head of the U. S. Communist party, and Eugene Dennis, the party's secretary. Both are now on trial on charges of conspiring to overthrow the United States government.

Walter, chairman of the subcommittee which will hold the hearings, said the Justice and State departments also have been asked for their views on the bill.

Communists born in this country would lose their citizenship under his bill, Walter explained, but would not be departed. Naturalized citizens, however, would lose their citizenship and be subject to deportation.

Theory Explained

Walter said his bill is based on the theory that a Communist gives his first loyalty to a foreign country, rather than to the United States. He said U. S. citizens can lose their citizenship now in a number of ways, including voting in a foreign election or taking an oath of allegiance to a foreign country.

Walter's bill would amend the 1940 nationality act, and would declare that U. S. citizenship forfeit their citizenship "by participating through membership in a Communist political party."

"Snow Bomb" Made But Aim All Wrong

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, March 15. (AP)—Swiss hotelkeepers have learned how to make "snow bombs"—but they need a bombsight badly.

A hotel owner here who will do almost anything for a guest, decided to provide snow for visitors who were stubbing their skis on Alpine rocks.

Three attempts to adapt the American method of making snow by dropping dry ice into a cloud failed because of lack of clouds.

On the fourth try, a big fat cloud came along in time. Hotel men watched with field glasses as the dry ice was thrown out over a wide area above the cloud.

A light snow drifted down. But not over St. Moritz. It fell to the north—over the ski runs of Davos—bitter rivals of St. Moritz.

Bank Robber Facing Additional Charges

SAN ANTONIO, March 15. (AP)—Ollio Otto Prince, convicted bank robber from Corsicana, faces two new indictments.

A San Antonio grand jury returned the indictments yesterday. One charges Prince with robbery of the Malone State bank in October of 1948. The other charges him with entering the First National bank in Mountcalm in November of 1946 "with intent to commit a felony." Nearly $16,000 was lost in the Malone robbery.

Prince was sentenced to 10 years recently after conviction of robbery of the Rice First State bank.

Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. William Russell said Prince will face trial in Waco.

That Girl on Broadway says man is not only too dumb to solve most of his problems, but also too dumb to quit doing the things that create more problems.

Another bad thing about a head cold is the awful taste it gives a cigaret.

PROBABLY many Lubbock people wonder, at times, what has happened to all the young men who served here during the war: at Lubbock and South Plains Army Air Fields, in the Recruiting and Induction centers, in the Tech pre-Fighters and Engineers. There were countless thousands of them, moving in and out, and a lot of us came into contact with a lot of them.

A letter came in the mail the other day from a young man we never met, but whose feelings, perhaps, are typical of those of many others.

In part, his letter read:

"On arrival in Lubbock, I didn't think much of it, but as time went on it grew on me. The town folks went out of their way to make us happy while we were there.

"My thanks to all who helped make our stay so pleasant, including Mrs. Chester Hubbard, who helped at the U.S.O.; Dale Calvert, Barney Rivers, R. O. Malone, from Shallowater.

"I really miss good, old Lubbock and when traveling I like to say in conversation with strangers that Lubbock is my home town. I do hope to make it that, because I'm coming back some day."

The young man who served first at LAAF, and then was transferred to SPAAF, is Kenneth W. Young, of Cedar Grove, Essex County, New Jersey.

He is with his father in the construction business.

We pass along Mr. Young's letter because, scattered over the country, there must be hundreds like him.

Some of the young men who trained here have come back and set up their homes here and others likely will follow, as the years roll by.

So the efforts made by so many people here to make our soldier guests feel at home during the war weren't at all in vain.

SOME guy on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch found himself with paper and pencil and nothing to do. So he came up with this:

"In 1948, the production of cigarets in the U. S. was 387 billions (sounds like a New Deal loan for Lower Slobavia!)

"If all these 387,000,000,000 cigarets were laid end-to-end, they would reach to the moon and back to the earth 35 times.

"They would circle the world at the equator 672 times."

That's a lot of cigarets and we can't help but wonder what percentage of them were bummed!

A great deal of the average conversation consists of repetition of things that weren't worth saying in the first place.

That Man on Avenue Q says if problems could be solved by conferences and committee meetings the world would soon be without problems.

"Man that is born of woman is of few days, and full of trouble," reads the Good Book, which might have added: "And 95 per cent of the trouble he brings upon himself."

MRS. TED BARNETT, of Route 1, out of Lubbock, writes in to suggest that worthy financial drives, like those for polio and heart research, the Red Cross, etc., be met through the "parking meter take."

Mrs. Barnett points out that such a method of raising funds would be both equitable and just and would eliminate the necessity of people going out on "drives."

Her idea is a good one and if the City's original alibi for putting in parking meters were factual, it could be put into effect.

However, under actual conditions, the idea is impractical.

About a dozen years ago, when a slick meter salesman slipped into town and secretly sold the then commissioners on parking meters, the boys at City Hall faced an angry town.

In order to answer the charge of slapping another tax onto the citizenry, spokesmen for the commission said, with a straight face, that they weren't interested in the financial aspects of the meters.

"We just want to improve our parking situation," they said, blandly overlooking the fact that the same policemen who were watching parking time by marking tires with chalk had to be kept on the job to watch the meters.

People bucked and stewed, but finally wore themselves out. They got used to the meters and the extra tax, just as a man gets used to hitting himself on the head with a hammer if he keeps it up long enough.

NOW, however, the parking meter take is a lollapaluzza, running well over $100,000 (count 'em, 100,000 dollars) per year.

The original hypocrisy about "not being interested in the nickels" has been dropped at City Hall. The officials of today honestly confess that the parking meter profits are not only important, but essential to the city's financial needs. With money running way behind needs for its use, the City just couldn't get along without the meters unless, of course, it insisted upon tax renditions being revamped until they come within at least 40 per cent of what they should be.

Under the law, all parking meter receipts must be applied on traffic needs in all cities where the armless bandits are in vogue. The money can be spent for laying streets, hiring policemen to watch the meters and tag over-parked cars; for traffic policemen and their equipment — even for the guys who fix the meters when, as frequently is the case, they go haywire.

But parking meter "takes" cannot legally be used for any other purpose— although of course they are, cities being no better about obeying unpopular laws than the people who live in them.

Lubbock simply can't afford to spend all its parking meter receipts for traffic, because some of the money is sorely needed elsewhere.

But if Lubbock obeyed the law to the letter, that $100,000-plus per year could make this the best traffic-controlled town in the country—providing, of course, the effort were efficiently administered.

EVERY once in awhile people write us to ask "Why don't undertakers put shoes on a corpse?" So the other day, we thought we'd find out.

We called Wallace Rix, who started hanging out around an undertaking parlor when his father entered the business in 1890 and who personally has been a mortician for nearly 35 years.

Mr. Rix considered the question a moment.

"I don't know—and I don't think anybody knows for sure. The best answer is because there's no sense in putting shoes on a corpse."

All other forms of clothing customarily worn are placed upon bodies before burial, Mr. Rix said, which made us wonder if there is any more logic in putting underwear on a corpse than putting shoes on one.

Mr. Rix said there used to be such things as "burial shoes" used on corpses years ago—light leather shoes, easily slipped on, sort of like bedroom slippers.

"They went out of vogue, though," he said, "at least 25 years ago. Maybe they've been out as long as 35 years. Anyhow, you never hear anything about them now."

So if the question of shoes and corpses has ever bothered you, forget it.

Nobody knows much more about it than you do.

BY DREW PEARSON: EX-CONGRESSMEN DRAWING RETIREMENT PAY FROM GOVERNMENT

Farmers Having Difficulty Getting Telephones

WASHINGTON—The list is supposed to be secret, but 39 former senators and congressmen are drawing retirement pay from the government. Several are independently wealthy; two have prison sentences hanging over their heads. Many others fully deserve pensions for their long service to their country. However, the greed of those who don't deserve pensions is likely to hurt those who do.

PEARSON

Only eligibility requirements are that the applicant must be at least 62 years old and have sixe years' service in Congress. The amount he can draw is figured at 2 per cen of his average salary, multiplied by the number of years he served. The average payment is $3,238 annually, but runs as high as $6,500.

Although the law went into effect only two years ago, these retirement benefits are retroactive.

Two of the first to apply for the handout were former congressmen Andrew May of Kentucky and James Curley of Massachusetts, whose itchy palms had already got both of them prison sentences. May was convicted of embezzlement and is waiting to serve a term behind bars. Curley served five months of a prison sentence for mail fraud, before it was commuted by President Truman. Now mayor of Boston, he is drawing retirement pay along with his mayor's salary — although he barely qualified for a pension with only six years of congressional service.

Knutson Goes In Reverse

Another who no sooner got voted out of Congress than he signed up for retirement pay is Minnesota's ex-congressman Harold Knutson. A power in the 80th Congress, he fought brusquely against social benefits for others, and helped bar about 700,000 traveling salesmen from social security.

This is also true of Colorado's Robert Rockwell and Michigan's Bartel Jonkman —both nickel-nursing veterans of the 80th Congress. Rockwell was the darling of the power lobby, and Jonkman squeezed all he could get out of the government after the election by flying to South America as a lame-duck congressman—at the taxpayers' expense. They are now drawing pensions.

Also on the retirement list are former senators Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, Burton Wheeler of Montana, James Tunnell of Delaware, Jim Mead of New York, George Radcliffe of Maryland, Peter Gerry of Rhode Island, a millionaire, Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota and Raymond Willis of Indiana. The first five voted for social security for others so are not inconsistent today.

Some of the ex-congressmen, who also receive monthly checks from the government are: William Pittenger of Minnesota, Clarence Lea of California, Dan McGehee of Mississippi, J. Roland Kinzer of Pennsylvania, Butler Hare of South Carolina, James Wolfenden of Pennsylvania, Fritz Lanham of Texas, Hatton Sumners of Texas, Herman Kopplemann of Connecticut, Malcolm Tarver of Georgia, William Thom of Ohio, John Folger of North Carolina and Edward McCowen of Ohio.

Also there are former congressmen Louis Ludlow of Indiana, George Gillie of Indiana, and C. Jasper Bell of Missouri.

WHILE America is shooting through the air in jet planes and sitting on a nest egg of atomic bombs ,many farmers a few miles off the beaten track can't get so much as a gooseneck, country telephone.

The amazing fact is that, by the last count, the U. S. A. had fewer rural phones in 1945 than in 1920.

To remedy this, President Truman had made up his mind to appeal for more phones for the farms in his state of the union message—that is, until some of the boys in the White House talked him out of it. Now, without any push from the White House, a few senators and congressmen are trying to work out a bill to increase telephone service to farms.

The blunt truth is that those in most urgent need of phones can't get them. Most farmers still have to hitch up a horse or wheel out the truck to get a message to their neighbors. In case o fillness or disaster ,they are cut off without any rapid means of communication.

Back in 1920, 38.7 per cent of American farms were linked with telephones. Then the depression hit, farmers couldn't pay their bills, and, by 1940, the percentage of rural telephones dropped to 25 per cent. This started picking up during the war until it reached 31.8 per cent in 1945, the last official count.

Telephone companies now boast that a record 45 per cent of American farms have telephone service. This does not agree with the Agriculture department's estimate, which is 42.2 per cent for 1949, or just a shade over what it was 30 years ago. In actual numbers, the Agriculture department expects 2,473,000 farms will have phones this year—25,493 less than in 1920. The reason for the difference in percentage is that America has fewer farms now than 30 years ago.

At best, rural telephone service is poor, the equipment antiquated. In some places ,telephone lines do double duty as fence wire. For the most part, rural areas are served by hundreds of small, poorly staffed, independent companies and cooperatives.

Note—State by state, the percentage of farms having telephone service ranges from 3.7 per cent in Mississippi to 79.3 per cent in Iowa.

What Keeps Prices Up

The Justice department is investigating a significant price-fixing scandal in Salt Lake City involving the Uptown Appliance and Radio company. Briant Badger, of the firm, has filed a $500,000 lawsuit, charging that he was forced out of business for refusing to take part in an illegal price-fixing scheme.

Badger claims that Leland B. Flint of the Flint Distributing company threatened to cut off supplies to his store unless Badger subscribed to price-fixing and agreed to hold back the sale of certain articles—in order to give the illusion of scarcity. When Badger refused, all national-brand radio and electrical appliances wer cut off and those he had on display were actually taken back.

Because certain newspapers shut their eyes to the story, even after Badger filed suit, he dramatized his plight, by placing a coffin in his show window and playing a funeral dirge over a loudspeaker. Meanwhile, the FBI is investigating Badger's charges for a report to the anti-trust division of the Justice department.

Mr. Truman's Twins

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

A WOMAN may get a lot of satisfaction out of having the reputation for being a "perfect housekeeper." But maintaining the reputation is usually hard on her family. So many of the things that make home life cheerful and comfortable are nothing but a nuisance to a perfect housekeeper.

MILLETT

There are women who are so concerned with the elimination of dust and dirt they don't even want an open fireplace in their homes. Or if they have one they use it only on state occasions.

There are women who so hate to see their floors tracked up, their children can never have their playmates in the house.

CLUTTER BUGS

THERE are women who dislike clutter so much the family can't even spread the Sunday paper out over the living room, or lay down a magazine beside a chair and find it there five minutes later.

There are women who are so concerned with having a place for everything and everything in its place, members of the family can't enjoy hobbies. For hobbies usually create a certain amount of disarrangement in a house.

And there are women who are such fiends for order and neatness they don't want the children to have a pet, and if even they consent to a dog for the kids it is on condition that it not be allowed in the house.

These women usually have one accomplishment in common. They are almost always "perfect housekeepers."

Laff-A-Day

"Roger brought some playthings also."

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

MAURICE STERNE, the artist, said that his most embarrassing moment came when he tapped a lady on the shoulder at an exhibit and remarked, "You look a great deal like my old pupil, Dorothy Yardley. Are you any relation?" The lody regarded him coldly and said, "Mr. Sterne, I am Dorothy Yardley."

Harpo Mark pointed out that Sterne's embarrassment was nothing like his, the night he lugged his harp 12 miles to a party—and never was asked to play!

Gene Fowler once conducted a contest for "embarrassing moments" on a tabloid newspaper, offering a dollar each for letters printed. One contestant wrote, "I came home early last night and found my best friend kissing my wife. I was terribly embarrassed. Please send me two dollars, as my wife also was embarrassed."

Fowler sent a check for three dollars. "I have an idea," he wrote, "that your best friend was embarrassed too."

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Ballyhoo In Service Squabble Hurts U. S. Defense Program

WASHINGTON, March 15.—You don't like to use the words "barnstorm" and "publicity stunt" in connection with an operation which might save your bacon some day, but the recent globe-girdling jaunt of the Lucky Lady II had a lot more hippodrome in it than you like to see outside a wrestling match.

RUARK

Sometimes, in this town, you get the idea that more importance is paid to peddling a product for maximum shock effect than is actually contained in the product itself.

There is too much Hollywood hoopla mixed up in the current inter-service squabble down here for my particular peace of mind. The Army, Navy and Air Force all seem more interested in heckling each other than they are in rassling up the best-rounded weapon available to the public money.

It is no secret that the Air Force's spectacular staging of the non-stop roundtripper was deliberately shaped to steal the Navy's thunder, as it flexed its muscles and pointed pridefully at its own menauvers in the Caribbean. It was staged with all the cold savvy of a flock of skilled broadway press agents charged with the chore of fobbing off a box-office turkey.

Publicity Exhibit

What the Air Force so modestly described as a "routine" flight was a masterly exhibit of high-pressure publicity. Two B-29's and a Constellation, loaded with press, radio and equipment, wire flown to Fort Worth. Direct telephone lines for United Press, Associated Press and British Reutera already had been set up. There was regular combat briefing for the correspondents—who had been invited to the trip by "classified" invitations—meaning vital secrecy was involved. Air Force described this as a "test of security," and the men were not briefed until they were actually in the air. At one time, no questions were allowed.

When the story broke, the general tenor was that the rest of the armed forces could back up—that future war was now the full property of air, with any minor assistances, like errand running, that the other services might care to offer. I got the impression that a few dozen airplanes might now logically be expected to win any future war in a few hours or so, and that the rest of the defense program was merely playing soldier for its own amusement.

THIS blithe, and rather adolescent, wild-blue-yonder self-assurance is stock Air Force operating procedure, and not entirely reliable. It is bred in the fact that young men, a great many of whom were born in Texas, suddenly loosed the bonds of earth and were never less than slightly contemptuous, thereafter, of anything that couldn't fly. Combat cockiness is always admirable in war but is often hurtful in a planning stage.

Nobody knows for sure, just yet, what will be needed to fight a war, but the chances are it will not be so simple that any one arm of the services will be able to monopolize it, no matter how far they've come along in new techniques. Yet the Air Force is deliberately high-powering that monopoly impression, for the special benefith of Congress and the public. It is cynical public relations, and dishonest in the fact that it ignores the overall good for individual power-creed.

Great Irresponsibility

There is a great and selfish irresponsibility in this constant honing of individual axes, in the persistant disregard of presidential commands to get together. It is an altogether juvenile flouting of authority, and it sits unpleasantly on the people who must pay for war and fight wars.

It seems to me that we are not in the high-tax business merely to allow the pressure boys in the armed forces limitless cash to sabotage each other and to muscle themselves into prominence at the expense of the two other teams. It is not a private game of beggar-your-neighbor they are supposed to be playing, but the yare playing it as if it were. As a matter of fact it is not supposed to be a game.

I don't like the simile of kids squabbling over new toys while the house burns down, but the rugged individualists who are bent on over-selling their own show have made that simile apt. Nor can I get rid of the Hollywood illusion, with so much attention focused on the ballyhoo that the quality of the movie becomes unimportant. Seems to be they all need throttling down a bit, and a brusque admonition to quit knifing each other as they happily prattle at separate wars.

Today's Thought

I thank my God, making mention of thee always in my prayers.—Philemon 1:4.

Speak to Him thou for He hears, and Spirit with spirit can meet—
Closer is He than breathing, and Nearer than hands and feet.
—Tennyson.

Today's Journal Editorial

HELP ADVERTISE THE SHOW!

One criticism of South Plains Junior Fat Stock shows of the past has been the failure to publicize them adequately. Even while shows have been in progress, there has been little or nothing downtown to inform anyone that an event of importance was going on at the Fairgrounds.

Efforts are being made to do better than that this year. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has volunteered for this task. We are sure the Jaycees will do a good job. But they are going to need much cooperation.

At the moment, small window placards are being distributed to business firms with the request that they be displayed "where they can be seen." Compliance with the request has been nearly 100 per cent, as it should be and as would be expected in civic-minded Lubbock.

This is a good start toward telling people about the show to be held here March 21-23. Naturally it isn't enough. But the Jaycees and business men doubtless can and will devise other methods—special window displays, to mention one possibility—of giving the event the publicity justified by its importance to our City and area.

Announcing!

For The First Time During The Post War Era We Have a Good Stock Of Used Cars & Trucks.

Policy...

In the early post war period when new cars and trucks began to make their appearance in limited numbers on the South Plains market, we adopted the policy of not DEMANDING that the purchaser of a NEW DODGE CAR or TRUCK trade their old car or truck in to us just for the privilege of buying a new vehicle.

Now that the Used Car and Used Truck valuations have changed, customers have found it more desirable to trade in their old cars and trucks on the purchase of a new DODGE.

Today, for the first time in the post war era, we have an excellent stock of CUSTOMER USED CARS and USED TRUCKS on sale at prices you would normally expect to pay for USED VEHICLES.

We invite you to come once again to DICKINSON'S USED CAR LOTS for excellent values at normal used car prices!

Midland Man Seeks Permission To Drill Gaines Wildcat Well

Ralph Lowe of Midland, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling immediately at his No. 1 Helen-Cunningham-Shell Oil Company, Inc., et al, as a 10,000-foot wildcat in Southwest Gaines county to explore into the Devonian.

The venture is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 4, block A-24, psl survey, and on the west side of the Doss field where the production is from the Clear Fork of the Permian at approximately 7,000 feet.

The exploration is on a lease secured by Lowe in a farmout deal with Shell. That concern retains an override on the lease.

New Pool Indicated

Indications of a new oil pool in the Devonian of extreme south-central Cochran county were strengthened as Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 2 Edwards, discovery from that formation, again drilstem tested.

The tool was open three hours and 23 minutes at 10,871-915 feet. A strong blow of air reached the surface immediately, and the 1,800-foot water blanket showed at the top in 45 minutes.

In one hour and three minutes after the tool was open, oil began flowing. The well flowed to pits for 20 minutes, then was turned to tanks for the remainder of the test period. In the first hour, it flowed 77.96 barrels of oil and 78.5 barrels in the second hour.

Gravity of the oil was 39 degrees. Shakeout was 3/10 of one per cent basic sediment. There was no water. Operator was running pipe to complete the project as a new field opener.

It is adjacent to the Landon-Strawn field and 660 feet from north and 528 feet from west lines of section 13, block L, psl survey.

Drilstem Test Made

Humbe No. 1-B Moore, wildcat 10 miles northwest of Snyder, and 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey, took a one-hour drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 8,275-8,345 feet. There was a blow of air for one-half minute, and it then died. Recovery was 10 feet of slightly oil and gas cut drilling mudt. No signs of water developed.

Another drillstem test was taken at 8,341-61 feet. The tool was open one hour. There was a blow of air for two minutes and it then died. Operator was coming out of the hole with the tester at last report.

Pacific Western Oil Corporation No. 1 Oil Development, northwest Gaines county deep wildcat, between the Seminole and the Russell fields, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, was making hole below 9,950 feet in gray lime, at last report. Through an error this venture was reported Sunday to have been drilling around 6,325 feet.

Wells Show Water

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2-11 University wildcat in north-central Andrews county, between the Shafter Lake and the Fullerton fields, and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 11, block 13, University survey, showed water in the Devonian in a drillstem test at 9,321-63 feet.

The tester was open two hours and 35 minutes. Recovery was 950 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas. The venture is making hole below 9,429 feet in lime.

This exploration had some possibilities of production in the Wolfcamp, lower Permian, but those shows were not developed into an oil well before operator decided to drill on down to test the Devonian.

There is a possibility that another test will be undertaken on the Wolfcamp shows in the near future.

Youthful Sergeant Can Retire At 34

SAN ANTONIO, March 15 (AP)—Retirement at the age of 34 is the rosy prospect in store for a young Kelly Air Force base sergeant, who holds the distinction of being the youngest American held by the Japanese as a prisoner of war in World War II.

He is Sgt. Joseph L. Alexander, native San Antonian stationed with the 30th air depot at Kelly AFB.

When only 14 years of age, Alexander enlisted in the Air Force and ten months later found himself wearing a Jap POW uniform. He was captured May 11, 1942, while with the 19th bomb group on Mindanao island.

Ralls Banquet

the many benefits such a board could bring to Texas by pushing recreational and industrial possibilities of the Southwest.

"Forty-five of the 48 states have such a board," the attorney declared," to organize and present information of opportunities offered in those states for industrial firms seeking new homes, and for tourists who wish to travel, and who are interested in the recreational spots offered in the state.

"We have no such state organization to supply this information. Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and the other major cities through their giant Chamber of Commerce organizations keep men sitting on the doorsteps of industry waiting with complete briefs to bring them to their cities. Ralls and Gladewater and the small towns have little opportunity to secure an industry. I believe a state board of development would level off the industrial development of the state.

"Many towns would benefit rather than a few of the major cities. As for the tourist trade, it is one of the major businesses of the nation, and this state as well, but it could be increased manyfold by an agency which could mark and advertise the many spots of interest in Texas.

"Too many motorists race through our state without ever knowing of historical or natural spots of interest which they might have visited because we have no board or group to place signs, issue maps and pamphlets to motorists as they enter our state informing them of our many interesting spots," Shepperd contended.

The attorney pointed out that gasoline taxes collected from out-of-state visitors alone would pay the cost of such an agency.

Following his plea for a state board of development, Shepperd urged his Ralls audience to adopt a spirit of "world citizenship."

"The eyes of the people of the worl are upon us today to see whether you and I are willing to assume the obligations thrust upon us," Shepperd declared.

He pointed out that Congress had committed the American people to world citizenship by approval of the Marshall plan.

"America has the greatest opportunity for service in history, and we must not fail," Shepperd declared.

Pointing to the present ideological conflict, the attorney said, "We must make up our minds we cannot do business with Russia. The sooner we decide it the better off we will be."

Shepperd declared that he did not see actual war. "I believe we ca nisolate Russia without actual conflict," he said, "by making democracy work."

The formula for making democracy work, as outlined by the former U.S. Jaycee head, was (1) Become better Christians, (2) Give more thought to youth, (3) Attackq problems at home and abroad with determination, (4) Make up our minds where we are going and strive together to reach the goal, (5) Be inquisitive, (6) Watch what we say, (7) Believe in the job before us, (8) Start democracy working at home, and (9) Sell democracy to people of world.

$1,000 Bills Stacked 14,652 Feet High Equal 1948 Taxes

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Income-tax day notes: The government's tax collections for last year, stacked in $1,000 bills, would make a pile 14,652 feet high.

That, said Rep. Mack (R-Wash) respectfully, would be "about 2½ miles high, or 26 times as tall as the Washington monument."

Mack prepared this interesting statistic in observance of the fact that this is the last day for tax payments. If you made over $600 in 1948 and don't file a return by tonight you're subject to a penalty of 25 per cent of the tax.

The revenue bureau said most taxpayers have paid up quickly in the expectation of getting refunds, but a lot of people always come puffing in on the last day.

The Washington congressman had no figures on this year's take. But he observed nostalgically that during the first three years of President George Washington's administration, the government tapped its citizens for only $4,418,913 in taxes—a puny 12½ inches.

American Legion To Hold Meet April 2-3

Final plans for the American Legion district convention to be held here April 2 and 3 were laid at an executive board meeting Monday night, according to J. R. Eagan, post commander.

Some 300 persons attended a party in observance of the American Legion's 30th birthday held in Legion hall following the board meeting. The program was directed by Mrs. J. A. Hatfield, and included a discussion of Legion history by Fred Young. A covered dish supper was served by auxiliary members.

Those attending the executive session heard a report from Joe Holmes that arrangements have been completed for the Junior Baseball fund to receive proceeds of sales of sporting goods sold at the Sporting center May 8 when members of the Cleveland Indian professional baseball team will autograph items sold.

The group agreed to buy Christmas trees to wholesale to area posts for resale during the holiday season.

It was further decided to sponlike to do as they please," he says. "They don't like to be told. But they wouldn't ever say so. They just do what they're told, and I guess they wonder sometimes."

On the wall of the building where the non-union man works is a photograph of Lewis. It is not like the usual picture of him. Glowering, frowning and heavy browed. In this one, he is smiling broadly, with the stub of a cigar clenched between his teeth. The picture has a two-word caption overhead—

"The Champ."
