TWINKLES

Well, well—this newspaper steps up the volume number a notch today. Vol. 1, No. 1 was on April 6, 1907. The institution is 26 years old and today starts Vol. 27. Few papers have maintained their services intact as The NEWS has done in these trying years.

To the children: Watch this column carefully for details of our children's garden contest. Let's show the adults that children can be useful during holidays. And there will be real pleasure in growing things, too.

Husbands—grownup boys—still dislike to take baths. Or so confessed Clarendon women in answering a Lions roll call with statements of "What my husband dislikes to do."

Nor do these modern husbands like to churn, we heard, although we thought the creameries did did most of the churning these days.

And Mrs. W. H. Patrick, wife of the pioneer Clarendon banker, confessed that W. H. dislikes most to take a mortgage these days.

The West Foster grouch suggests this fable: Once upon a time there was a Cleanup week which actually cleaned up.

Mrs. Gushaway has been ill—she is forced to become ill periodically so the family will appreciate her when she is well.

THANK YOU, CHILDREN
This column will sponsor a garden contest for children. The prize list will be announced later. There will be several prizes worth trying for, and the gardens will be rewarded in themselves for the work necessary. Children may enter by writing to the Children's Garden Editor of The NEWS and giving their names and addresses or by calling in person any afternoon. The garden plots must be small enough for the children, under 15 years of age, to plant and cultivate, and size will not win a prize. The children must do most of the work themselves, including planting and cultivating, but their parents or other persons may spend or prepare the ground. Judging will be done next summer after the entrants write a letter to the garden editor telling of their success.

HERE'S THE REASON
The contest suggestion made several days ago interested Georgia Lomax, 11 years old, and Zonelle Elkins, 10 years old. They are pupils at Woodrow Wilson school. They are eager to have a garden contest and they think dozens of other children at their school are similarly interested.

"I can dig," said Zonelle, in discussing her garden.
"I can, too," chimed in Georgia, who is taller.

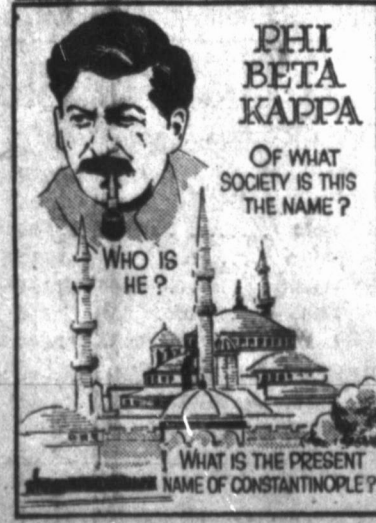

Both of the girls preferred to raise vegetables instead of flowers. They can talk gardening very intelligently and they ask no favors.

All right, YOU SHALL HAVE YOUR CONTEST, children. Write me at once, giving your names and addresses, then go ahead with your gardens. Next summer will come the judging, and the awarding of prizes. I'll head the list of prizes with $5 in cash, and I think the list will be long.

ROUGH CROSSINGS
Roughness of railroad crossings here is more than a matter of jest. The Cuyler street crossing has been nothing short of "terrible" and there are others nearly as bad. It seems that each bump drops wheels of ve-

AUSTIN, April 6. (P)—The administration's sales tax bill was killed in the legislature today when the house of representatives refused to print the bill on minority report. The motion to print the bill failed 65 to 45 and a few minutes later the action was made final when the house reconsidered and tabled the vote by which the motion failed. The vote on the motion to reconsider and table was 60 to 47.

The administration bill, sponsored by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband-advisor, James E. Ferguson, provided for a tax of one-fourth of one per cent on sales by manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers and one and one-half per cent on retail sales. A two per cent tax was proposed on gross receipts of utilities and amusement operations.

Another sales tax bill still was before the house committee on revenue and taxation. It was drafted by Representative Harold Kayton, of San Antonio, and would levy a tax only on the final sale. A part of the receipts under Kayton's bill would be apportioned to cities and counties to reduce their ad valorem taxes.

It had been estimated that the administration sales tax would

KILGORE, April 6. (P)—Almost without exception, oil operators in the East Texas field obeyed today the total shutdown order issued for the 10,000 wells by the state railroad commission. Capt. E. N. Stanley, in charge of the commission's field office here, declared that not more than 15 wells were producing at noon and said no acts of violence had been reported.

HOQUIM, Wash., April 6. (P)—Wreckage of numerous small fishing boats scattered along the beach today marked the path of a sudden spring squall which took the lives of at least 11 fishermen on the treacherous Grays Harbor bar. The storm struck with savage fury yesterday into the midst of the salmon trolling fleet as it was putting to sea.

WASHINGTON, April 6. (P)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain today was formally invited to visit President Roosevelt in Washington to talk over world problems.

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 6. (P)—The Arizona board of pardons and paroles refused today to grant Winifred Ruth Judd another reprieve, in the "trunk murder" case in which she is under sentence to hang April 21. The plea of the defendant, who has been in prison for 12 years, was rejected summarily during a brief executive session of the board.

DECATUR, Ala., April 6. (P)—Shortly after the defense had rested today in the trial of Heywood Patterson, first of nine negroes accused of attacking two white women to face retrial, Ruby Bates, missing witness, appeared in the court room.

WASHINGTON, April 6. (P)—Pressing toward final disposition of the Black five-day week bill, the senate today rejected a proposal to change the number of hours of work from 30 to 36 a week.

Whether they were guilty or not, several prisoners in the city jail this morning nearly had to stay there. When Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews tried to open the lever box on the outside of the main tank he found it stuck. The key failed to enter far enough to throw the tumblers and there was no other way to open the lock.

Fred Gunsaulus, lock expert, was called in, but he could do nothing with the key. He then took the door from its hinges and worked the lock loose from behind. When the lock was taken to pieces sand, tin foil, and small pieces of tin were taken from it. Chief Andrews didn't believe any of the prisoners had arms long enough to reach the key hole, but he still couldn't see how anyone could get into the jail proper, because the outside door is always kept locked.

A close watch on the pool will be kept at all hours from now on.

Order To Close
Pool Halls Is Made Permanent

District Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday made permanent the injunction closing Gray county amusement clubs operating as pool halls.

A temporary injunction was issued last November after a hearing. Yesterday judgment was issued without further argument, no answers having been filed by attorneys for the amusement halls.

Any pool hall which operates henceforth will be considered guilty of contempt of court and subject to fine.

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Patrolman Edward E. Simon went to a dentist and ordered a set of "store teeth" yesterday. Modernized Danciger Plant
East of City Will Be In Operation Tomorrow.

TESTS have been completed and the new unit of the Danciger Refinery, a mile east of the city, will be ready to start operation tomorrow morning, according to Earl C. Roff, superintendent. The refinery has a capacity of 6,000 barrels of crude oil each 24 hours, with a 24-hour production of from 4,000 to 4,500 barrels of gasoline besides other products refined.

Nearly 250 men have worked day and night since Sept. 15 constructing a new refining unit, repairing the old unit and erecting new buildings, machinery, and storage tanks. The men made their home in Pampa during the construction work, most of them moving their families here if they did not already reside in Pampa.

Large Payroll
The plant will operate on a full 24-hour schedule, employing between 70 and 80 men. Mr. Roff estimates. With the exception of two families who reside at the camp, all members of the staff live in Pampa. The refinery division is a separate unit from the Danciger Oil & Refining company which operates in the Gray county oil field with a staff of more than 100 men.

Macon Off Next Week

AKRON, Ohio, April 6. (P)—The U. S. S. Macon, sister ship of the ill-fated Akron, positively will make her maiden flight next week. Officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation said today.

Several disappointed baseball fans this morning. Most of them agreed that it would have been foolish for the Pirates and White Sox to have played yesterday in the cold. They said that the cold might have affected a good pitcher or star player and that he might have been lost for the season. They thought Jerry Mallin's suit a good joke. A few thought otherwise.

TO NAVY

WASHINGTON, April 6. (P)—A sudden and "very sharp gust of wind," more severe than any he had ever experienced, was given by Lieut. Commander H. V. Wiley of the Akron today—in an official report to the navy—as the apparent cause of the disaster to the airship.

In a statement to Secretary Swanson in which the two other survivors, R. E. Deal and M. E. Erwin, enlisted men, collaborated, Wiley said the sharp gust struck the ship as it was fighting a storm off the Jersey coast at 12:30 a. m., Tuesday.

"A very sharp gust struck the ship," the report declared.

I noted immediately that the lower rudder control rope had carried away and reported it to the captain.

WASHINGTON, April 6. (P)—Bits of wreckage and spots of oil flung up from a heaving sea were the only traces of the airship Akron that searchers found today as by air and sea they scoured the vicinity of the fatal crash off the Jersey coast.

Plans went ahead rapidly for the naval inquiry. New personnel was selected for the board that will convene at Lakehurst, N. J., next Monday.

Teachers Unpaid,
Chicago School
Students Strike

CHICAGO, April 6. (P)—Thousands of Chicago high school students, continuing what teachers called a "spring fever walkout," defied police squads today and left their classes with threats not to return until the teachers had been paid overdue wages.

In several schools teachers pleaded with their students to halt. Principals stood in corridors and at exits, but the students disregarded them.

Authorities said the strike appeared to be of about the same proportions as yesterday when 13,000 students left school. Many of the original strikers were back in school. Police squads were kept busy driving striker propagandists away from schools to which the walkout had not spread.

Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan returned from the state capital after a conference with Gov. Henry Horner and announced that teachers in all schools were combating the strike. He said strike leaders would be arrested on charges of interfering with the schools.

CORPS BEING SELECTED

WASHINGTON, April 6. Recruiting of additional jobs will be done in other cities as soon as government agencies have complete machinery for one of the largest peace-time mobilizations ever undertaken in this country.

OTTAWA, Ill., April 6. (P)—Eleven unemployed demonstrators on route to the state capital at Springfield were turned back towards their homes today by a barrage of tear gas. Most of them were from Chicago.

Eleven of the demonstrators, including Karl Lockner, of Chicago, chairman of the unemployed council, were arrested after a fight at a tourist camp where they had spent the night.

The police said some of the unemployed attempted to fight back with clubs and rocks, but none was injured seriously.

Seventy-five state policemen under Sergeant James Zickery and about 50 deputies directed by Sheriff E. J. Welter cooperated in stopping the 150 automobiles and trucks in which the demonstrators had traveled from Chicago and other points.

They were started back toward their homes at Chicago and Rockford in small groups. Sheriffs in all counties along the way agreed to supervise their return, and a convoy of highway policemen accompanied the groups.

BILL TO CREATE NEW REGULATORY BODY
ENGROSSED

AUSTIN, April 6. (P)—A bill to reduce the allowable production of marginal oil wells was introduced in the Texas house of representatives today by Representative A. G. Walker of Vernon.

The present maximum is forty barrels per well. The bill was introduced to permit the Texas railroad commission, if it deemed proper, to limit production in the East Texas oil field to less than 40 barrels per well daily.

Under a recent opinion of Attorney General James V. Alfred, it was held that any order of the commission restricting production in East Texas to less than 40 barrels per well per day would be of doubtful validity.

The scale proposed in Walker's bill would allow the commission to limit East Texas production to 20 barrels per well per day. This was the amount allowed for wells producing from a horizon of from 2,000 to 4,000 feet, which would catch virtually all the wells in East Texas.

It was proposed that wells of a depth of 2,000 feet or less be allowed to produce 10 barrels per day, from 2,000 to 4,000 feet, 20 barrels; from 4,000 to 6,000 feet, 25 barrels; from 6,000 to 8,000 feet, 30 barrels; and wells producing from below 8,000 feet, 40 barrels.

A bill to create a gas and oil conservation commission had cleared its first hurdle in the Texas house of representatives. The house voted yesterday, 74 to 66, to engross the proposal.

A new commission would assume the oil and gas production duties at present performed by the railroad commission. Advocates of the bill were extremely critical of the record of the commission in controlling oil production.

Opponents of the bill asserted that it represented a movement of the major oil companies to obtain control of Texas fields.

POLITICIANS AND PROFESSORS

It seems that the politicians at Washington do not take kindly to the predominance of college professors in the president's inner circle of advisers.

Politicians and college professors do make an odd combination, when you stop to think about it. The arena of practical politics has little in common with the seclusion of the campus. Never before has a president had the temerity to try to make the representatives of these diverse fields pull in double harness.

Yet in the differences that are now appearing, it is a fairly safe bet that the sympathy of the general public will incline toward the professors and not toward the politicians.

The college professor, to be sure, is by tradition an impractical and visionary fellow. He is long on theory and short on practice. He can cook up endless schemes which look well on paper but don't work out in real life.

That, at any rate, is the tradition. But the college professor, today as never before, is entitled to sit back and emit a coarse "Oh yeah?"

Consider the situation for a moment. For the past decade all of our affairs have been in the hands of men who, if they were nothing else, were at least practical. We have had a set of eminently practical politicians at Washington; we have had highly practical bankers and industrialists running the worlds of finance and industry.

And look at the mess we're in!

The most visionary of collegiate dreamers could hardly have devised a system which would crash more completely than this system erected by our practical and and hard-boiled realists.

Isn't it, then, about time that we entrusted the wreckage to some new hands? Can't we afford, at last, to indulge in a little theory? Is there, in the record one good reason why the politicians should poke fun at the college professors?

Inquiry Court On Akron Like Court Martial

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 6. (AP)

Broad powers of a general court martial will be in the hands of the court of inquiry which begins Monday a search for facts concerning the crash at sea Tuesday of the navy dirigible Akron with the loss of 73 lives.

The court, with its three members acting both as judge and jury, can subpoena witnesses and those who testify before it do so under oath. In that respect, it differs from a board of investigation, which may or may not require its witnesses to testify under oath.

The three survivors of the Akron disaster—Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley, and enlisted men Richard E. Deal and Moody E. Egan—will be called as witnesses. If there is evidence tending to incriminate them, the court will notify them they are in the role of defendants.

From an authoritative source here it was learned Lieutenant Commander Wiley may request at the outset that he be designated a defendant. He has that privilege and by such nominal designation, he would be able to sit in at all sessions of the court.

Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps, commander of the New York naval district, was named yesterday as president of the court of inquiry and Capt. H. E. Shoxaker, commander of the air station at Sunnyvale, Calif., and Commander G. A. Fulton, head of the lighter-than-air division of the bureau of aeronautics, were named its other members.

PAYROLL

The refinery, buildings, stills, offices and tanks, cover 36 acres of ground. Tanks on the ground have a capacity of more than 200,000 barrels of gasoline and light oils. Nearly all the oil used is produced from Danciger wells in the Panhandle oilfield.

Gasoline is refined by two separate units, one the new Winkler Koch pipe still, and the other the Graver pipe still which was installed when the refinery was built three years ago. The new Winkler Koch still is the latest word in refining equipment, taking nearly every possible amount of gasoline content out of oil. It will take the refined product from that which has already passed through the other still.

One unit of the new plant, a bubble tower, weighs 72 tons. It was brought to Pampa on specially constructed cars, and a spur track had to be built to the location of the still and Santa Fe wrecking equipment used to raise it to position. The other tower weighs 55 tons and was also brought here on specially built cars.

From one centrally located instrument, registration of temperatures from 36 different points thru-out the plant can be secured at any time in the same room. Six huge boilers have a rating of 2,055 boiler horsepower. One huge pump in a building by itself can force enough hot oil to the stills to operate the entire plant.

The flare that has been noticeable from the city for the last week while testing has been in progress will be eliminated with the completion of a vapor receiving plant which will recover much gasoline that would be otherwise lost.

Three large water pumps can pump 3,000 gallons of water a minute into the cooling tower. One of the latest achievements

Oil Production Shows Increase During February

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)

Production of crude petroleum in the United States was reported today by the Bureau of Mines to have totaled 61,029,000 barrels during February, a daily average of 2,108,000. This represented an increase of 116,000 barrels over the daily average for January and 25,000 barrels above the average for the same month last year.

The bureau reported that virtually all of the increased output came from the East Texas and Oklahoma City fields although the Van field and other areas in Texas and Kansas also produced more petroleum. The daily average production in the East Texas field was 308,000 barrels, the highest for any month since November 1931 and that in the Oklahoma City field 150,000 barrels daily, the highest since December 1931.

Drilling in the East Texas field again declined materially, with only 155 wells completed in February against 253 in January.

Having won honor ratings in the Panhandle Music Festival, Mrs. Earl Thomason and Miss Dorothy Dodd, voice pupils of Mrs. Philip Dodd, will leave Friday afternoon for Lubbock, where they will compete in the voice department of the Tri-State Music Festival Saturday morning. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Wolfe and Mrs. C. C. Dodd.

In machinery that has been installed at the refinery is an octane testing machine which will determine the octane or anti-knock value of all kinds of gasoline.

The grounds around the buildings and tanks will be beautified and the buildings painted after operation starts. An office staff of 12 handles the business at the refinery.

Gasoline is sent from Pampa by tank car and truck. Hundreds of trucks come from various parts of West Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma for gasoline. Most of the tank car shipments are to the coast. The plant is said to be the most modern and one of the largest in the Panhandle field.

Chapter 49
RICCOLI AGAIN

THE truth about the cruel Kaid of Mekazen and his son Ralau was that although all feared them alive, none mourned them now that they had departed.

It was to be observed that those who mentioned their names spat as they did so, albeit they seemed relieved, as well as aghast that they had the temerity to do it.

Nor indeed was a single shot fired from any housetop as French reinforcements, headed by a Squadron of the Fifth Spahis Marocains, and guided by an accredited emissary of the Vizier, rode through the streets of the Citadel that, mighty, impressive, and impregnable, frowned down upon the town.

"Orderly!" called Colonel Le Sage. Otho stepped into the room, smartly saluting.

"I have been talking with—er—Margaret of Yelverbury, and making arrangements for her safe arrival at that famous place."

"She tells me she would like to have a word with you, before the caravan and escort start off."

"Thank you, sir."

"Well, my boy, I should be giving the young lady tea in this room, in a few minutes. I am very busy. You shall deputize."

"Thank you, sir."

"Oh, you English!" ejaculated Colonel Le Sage as he strode from the room. "Face of stone—if heart of fire."

"Otho!"

"I'm not crying, Otho..."

"Margaret, this is absolutely the happiest day in all our lives—so far. Of course you're not crying."

"Otho, you will take care of yourself!"

"Cotton-wool, Margaret."

"Otho, the time will soon pass. And look I am coming out to Africa again. Dear, I can't. I must. I shall."

Otho shook his head.

"To some perfectly good town. Otho, Sidi bel Abbas, Algiers, Oran. Whatever garrison-town or depot is nearest to where you are."

Otho smiled.

"Too good to be true, Margaret. I may be in some desert outpost, or some hole like this, for the rest of my service."

"Also, you may not. Did you know that Colonel Le Sage is married?"

"No. What about it?"

"Well, he is. And I'm coming out to visit his wife. Dear Otho! I'm going to stay with her. And Colonel Le Sage is going to stay with her, too. And he's going to bring his orderly. See?"

"Margaret! Margaret, there's so much to say, one can say nothing. What can one say?"

"Oh, yes," continued Margaret. "I have got something to say, darling. And that's about Colonel Le Sage, too. From Colonel Le Sage, in fact. Darling, he wants you to leave the ranks."

"Leave Joe Mummery and the other two?"

"Yes, darling. Yes, Otho. Look. It might shorten the time for us."

"How?"

"Do you know, Otho, that you have made a very deep impression upon Colonel Le Sage? Do you know what he actually, hinted at?"

A commission! As he said, you are a gentleman (a 'mild', in fact!), clever, a linguist, a great fighter, as brave as a lion, and, as he put it, 'inexorably faithful unto death'."

"Also you have distinguished yourself again here. He says, without you and your men he might have failed against Riccoli and in the taking of the castle."

"Oh rot! Stop it, darling, do. Don't let's talk about me. Let's..."

"Let's what?"

"This, and this, and this, and this..."

"Otho, you will take your chance, won't you?"

"Well, aren't I?"

"You know what I mean, darling. You will take your chance, Otho, for my sake?"

"Desert Joe and the others who came with me? No."

"But think what you'd be able to do for them."

"Yes, dear. Do for them altogether, I should think, if I left them in the lurch."

"But darling, we can't marry on a halfpenny a day! We could marry at..."

"This, and this, and this, and this..."

Residents Of 19 States Start Consuming Beer Tomorrow

NO NEIGHBORS OF TEXAS CAN TWIST SPIGOTS

SIX OTHER STATES TO HAVE HAVE BEER JULY 1

By The Associated Press.
A LARGE part of the country goes off the near beer standard at 12:01 a. m. local time, tomorrow. In 19 states and the District of Columbia sale of beer containing 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight (4 per cent by volume) becomes legal at that time.

Brewers in some of those states plan to deliver beer as soon as it becomes legal. Others, ruling out jubilee parties at midnight, say beer will not be delivered much before breakfast time.

The 19 states in which beer becomes legal at 12:01 a. m. are Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington, and Wisconsin.

Six other states have set specific later dates for the twist of the beer spigots: They are Louisiana, April 13; Vermont, May 1; North Carolina, May 1; Wyoming, May 18; West Virginia, June 9; and North Dakota, July 1. Still others have proposals pending to legalize beer.

The regulations vary as to where and how beer can be sold. The price is expected to vary also in different places of sale. One price quoted frequently in New York was $1.50 wholesale for a case of 24 bottles.

Mississippi is "bone dry" and there is no immediate prospect of a legislative change.

Virginia Is Dry.
Alabama only recently legalized near beer, and the bill to legalize the 3.2 variety will be considered this week.

Under Virginia's dry law beverage of more than one-half of one per cent is prohibited and hopes for a special session of the general assembly before its regular meeting in 1934 were dashed when a poll of the membership showed a majority opposed such action.

Georgia also prohibits beverage of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content and the legislature recently defeated a measure which would have legalized 3.2. The state does not even permit the manufacture of malt fluids to imitate or substitute for beer.

Neither Florida, Tennessee nor South Carolina have enacted the necessary legislation.

Beer But No Bars.
There'll be beer but no brass rails in Colorado. A bill signed yesterday makes the sale legal in hotels, dining rooms, restaurants, clubs and railroad diners and transport air-

GOOSE STEP CLUMPS IN REICH

WITH ADOLF HITLER (above) in power, all Germany expects a return to the universal military training which built up the war machines of the Kaisers. Here is a file of the reich's present-day regulars using the goose step which they inherited from the old army.

planes, but not over bars.

Wet and No Beer.
Montanans may have the beverage if they can find any to buy, but breweries within the state have not completed arrangements for manufacture. Hurried shipments from Utah are expected Friday and trainloads from the east will arrive early next week.

Utah itself may manufacture for sale outside the state, but the sale of a beverage of more than one-half of one per cent is prohibited within its own borders.

Maine can have beer after June 30 unless a referendum is initiated. Prohibition leaders have said such a move will be made.

Massachusetts can have the beverage tomorrow only if a bill which already has passed the house is enacted into law today.

SANTA FE, N. M., April 6. (P)—There will be no 3.2 beer legally for sale in New Mexico until September 19. On that date the state will vote on repeal of the 18th amendment and the sale of beer is prohibited until that time. Local option elections on beer also will be held on September 19.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 6. (P)—Louisiana won't have legal beer for another week regardless of where else it is sold.

The state repealed its state prohibition law at a special session of the legislature but the date of the action fixed the date repeal goes into effect as April 13.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 6. (P)—Regardless of national legislation of 3.2 per cent beer, Arkansas must remain "dry as a camel's tonsils" until there is some change in the state prohibition law, the attorney general has ruled here.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 6. (P)—Jubilant over two signal victories, Oklahoma house wets prepared today for a final vote on a bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer, advanced for final passage in a turbulent session last night.

Another bill advocated by repealists, providing for selection of delegates to a state convention to consider the federal repeal amendment, was passed by a vote of 87 to 22. However, passage of the beer bill, advanced 57 to 50, was not assured, since 60 votes, a majority of the house, is necessary.

AUSTIN, April 6. (P)—A bill to legalize and tax beer has been reported favorably from the Texas house committee on state affairs. Sponsors have indicated, however, that they will not press for house action on the proposal before April 10.

Even then, if the house should take up the beer bill and pass it, the measure would have to run the gamut of the senate. The law could not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourned unless each house should approve it by a two-thirds majority of the entire membership.

Advocates of legalized beer expressed confidence that the bill would be passed. They were not yet of the belief, however, that it would be approved by a two-thirds majority. Opponents contended that the bill would be defeated.

Wienert of Seguin, 79 Years Old, Has Held State Offices Since 1893

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
AUSTIN, April 6. (P)—Rep. F. C. Wienert of Seguin, one of the elders of the Texas legislature, recently celebrated his 79th birthday.

Wienert has perhaps, spent as much time in the service of the state as any individual connected with the government. He started his public service in the Texas house of representatives in the 23rd legislature in 1893, and, with a few interruptions, he has been an active participant in state affairs since.

The veteran served in the 28th house and the 31st and 32nd senate. He returned in the 42nd legislature to his first love, the house, and was re-elected to the 43rd. In between his legislative activities he saw service as secretary of state and state tax commissioner.

Wienert is one of the best informed members of the legislature on matters affecting taxation. He gave this far-reaching question minute study while tax commissioner and actively participated in the deliberations of the tax survey committee authorized by the 42nd legislature to make an exhaustive investigation of the state's tax structure.

A belief that real estate is bearing too much of the burden has actuated Wienert in sponsoring bills to relieve real property owners of taxation as much as possible. He has introduced a bill under which property owners would pay taxes only on the profits they realized from their investment. Wienert's plan called for uniform capitalization of real estate in all counties, owner to pay taxes only on the returns from the investment. If there was no return from the property, the owner would pay no taxes.

A "minor" boom has been started by pages in the Texas senate in behalf of Lieutenant Governor Edgar E. Witt of Waco. The pages adopted a resolution commending Witt to the electorate and pledging their whole-hearted support. Witt is the pages' boss. He is generally regarded as having his hat in his hand, ready to throw into the ring in the next gubernatorial campaign.

Tenor Came To Sing; Remained To Hunt Gold
CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., April 6. (P)—On the rough slope of little Carbonate Hill in the far famed Cripple Creek mining district, a miner is working, a miner who sings in rich tenor the songs of Wagner.

He is Karl Jörn, former Metropolitan Grand Opera star who came to Colorado two years ago to sing in Wagner's "ring" and stayed to try his hand at mining. He is now at the head of his own company, having served a miners' apprenticeship at Alma and Valverde, near Denver.

Jörn, who sank with the "Met" until 1917 and later with the German Grand Opera company, was born in Riga, Latvia, and received a dual education in music and geology. He came to America in 1909. The former opera star declared he had long been making a particular study of earth vibrations and believed that, from his observations, it was possible to use them in a search for gold. He has also completed a study of gold veins which, he says, extend through the entire length of the Colorado Rockies.

His faith in his discoveries, he said, caused him to abandon the concert stage to give his full time to the mines.

Further tests regarding the amount available are to be made.

Fire Destructive To Honduras City

TEGUIGUALPA, Honduras, April 6. (P)—The entire business district in the heart of the city of Tela was destroyed by fire which started at 6 o'clock this morning and was still burning at noon.
No loss of life was reported.
The entire fire department, aided by volunteers, centered its efforts upon preventing a spread of the flames to suburbs.
Most of the buildings in the business district were frame structures. Five whole blocks of the business section were wiped out.

Knight Templars To Hold Conclave At Abilene Soon

ABILENE, April 6. (P)—This city, in conjunction with citizens of more than a dozen neighboring West Texas towns, is planning entertainment for the 80th grand conclave of the grand commandery, Knights of Templars of Texas, which will begin a three-day meeting here on April 25. An elaborate program has been mailed to Sir Knights thru-out the state.

Registration of visiting ladies of Templars is expected to swell the number of visitors considerably.
Omar E. Radford of this city, now deputy grand commander, is to be advanced to the grand commandery now held by Thomas Mitchell Bartley of Waco.

The evening's program includes a concert by the Simmons university cowboy band. The conclave's parade will be a colorful event of the 26th. The day's program also calls for a devotional service in the morning at the First Baptist church, a session of the past grand commander's association, a school of Templar instruction, and drill competition.

The annual session of the grand commandery is scheduled for 9 a. m. of the 26th with a banquet and reception in the past grand commander's association, a school of Templar instruction, and drill competition.

Several social affairs are planned honoring visiting ladies, including a musicale and reception, and informal luncheon, and morning coffee.

Beauty Contest To Be Held Here During Next Month

BORGER, April 6. (P)—The Pampa handle's representatives in the "Queen of the West" beauty pageant to be held at Roswell, N. M., August 17 and 18, will be selected in contests at Borger and Pampa next month.

"Miss Borger" will be selected in a contest here April 6 and 7, and "Miss North Plains" will be chosen at Pampa, April 20 and 21. Miss Jacquie Downs, a Pampa girl, was "Queen of the West" last year.

Beauties from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico will compete in the final contest at Roswell.

WATER CONSUMPTION LOW
Spring water consumption has not yet begun to show a very considerable seasonal increase, but is expected to do so in a month. Last month the consumption was 481,130 gallons daily, for a per capita consumption daily of 48 gallons.

Clyde Smith of the National Supply company, Shamrock, is a Pampa visitor today.

Mrs. Gill and daughter, Miss Thelma Gill, of Miami were Pampa visitors yesterday.

Tax Assessing Half-Finished In Gray County

Tax assessing in the county is about half done on an average, it was disclosed in inquiries by The NEWS today.

Taxpayers have slowed to a trickle. The city's deadline for payment of 1932 taxes without interest and penalty is June 30, after which the 10 per cent penalty will be added, with interest from February 1. Similar penalties and interest will be charged by the Pampa Independent school district after an earlier deadline, which is April 30. The usual penalty and interest of 6 per cent apply to the older delinquencies.

Penalties and interest as to county and state taxes went into effect February 1, but the legislature is expected to take some action before adjourning. Because of the uncertainty, payment of state and county taxes has virtually stopped.

TOGS SEEN FRIDAY TO HAVE FRESH-FROM-BANDBOX AIR

PRACTICALITY CONSIDERED IN ALL GARMENTS

DOUBLE DUTY FASHIONS ARE TO BE MUCH IN EVIDENCE

NEVER has fashion been so practical as she has this spring, with a definite, clearcut air, action ready, yet ready also to present a charming and gay front to the world.

The latest style trends will be presented for the approval of this section when the Panhandle Style Revue, sponsored by the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club Friday evening is held at La Nora theater.

The silhouette for spring may be one of four: 1. Simple, mannish with broad shoulders, straight skirts; 2. swagger; 3. Femininely outlined with rounded shoulder and cape silhouette; 4. Soft, drapy shoulders, full skirts for evening.

There are many double duty fashions such as coats, dresses, suits with detachable collars, capes, extra waistcoats, even extra skirts. Even jewelry and bags go in for double duty, with removable colored trimmings which can be slipped on to match many different costumes, capes, extra waistcoats, even extra skirts.

Outstanding in fashion is the "mannish" influence, with new masculine, stripes, and checks, with shirtwaist blouses and good, comfortable oxfords, even spats for clever footwear.

The crisp, fresh-from-the-bandbox air is all-important in spring fashions, given usually by crisp linings, trimmings by many "white-and" prints.

Fichus, small ruffles, capes, pleatings, ruchings—all add a new note in feminine loveliness for spring.

Many color combinations will be found, the light suit with the dark bright blouse, the neutral gray or beige suit with bright or dark accessories, black with turquoise, black with yellow, yellow with gray, beige with red—all are outstanding color combinations. Outstanding colors are blue, black, gray, beige, and pastels.

On the mannish tailored suit, skirt lengths may be as high as 12 to 13 inches, although the general tendency is toward the British regulation length of 10 inches. Ten inches also is good for daytime clothes. Evening clothes many times have little 6-inch trains.

Plaids are very important, either as part of a costume, a scarf, a hat, a bag.

Hats are getting higher in the crown, but flat shallows are still the most important numerically. The high hat is likely to become a popular style by fall.

Shoes are simple, cut along oxford lines, and even pumps are with higher cut lines. T-strap shoes are good when the straps are wide.

County Singers To Gather In LeFors

The Gray County Singing convention will meet at LeFors Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Baptist church. Many singers from over the county and adjoining counties are expected to attend.

SEES HERSELF

Joan Blondell's family traces its ancestry to the time of Richard Coeur de Lion and the Blondell who was his troubadour.

HOLLYWOOD, April 6.—Ancestry-tracers would not lack material here. There's Joan Blondell, for instance, in whose family there is a tradition linking by direct descent to David Blondell, troubadour of King Richard the Lion-Hearted.

Joan tells how several years ago in New York her younger sister informed her that "There's a picture of you in the Metropolitan Museum of Art—you're wearing funny clothes and you have a beard."

Joan says that when she investigated, she found a portrait of the king's troubadour—with the same round face, the same mouth and the same large eyes Blondell fans see on the screen today!

The Bard Himself

And speaking of famous ancestors—Joan's John Darrow claims William Shakespeare as one of his, although John doesn't write plays in an attempt to prove it. Another Darrow forbear was Thomas Willett, early mayor of New York city.

Then there's Andrew Jackson Ryce, descendant of the president for whom he is named, but who uses the name of John Preston in the movies.

Preston, tall, young, good-looking, athlete, is grand-nephew of the fighting leader of other days, and in his possession are numerous relics of the one-time president, including spurs, belts, and other accessories which he hopes to wear as the hero of western pictures—when he gets to be a hero in western pictures.

No Horses?

That is his ambition, strangely enough, or not so strange, at that. For he was reared on a Texas ranch, has been athletic all his life, and it might be assumed that with this background he would favor outdoor pictures.

But his stage experience has been in drama, and his only movie work to date, in "False Faces" with Lowell Sherman, featured no horses, no more than his forthcoming part in "Dead On Arrival."

Shower Is Given By Church Group

Members of the Church of Christ gave a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Dee Woods at the home of Mrs. Guy C. Saunders on Tuesday. The evening was spent quilting and piecing quilts, and Mrs. Woods received many useful gifts.

Those attending were Mesdames D. M. Canon, T. C. Carter, W. W. Russell, H. A. Layne, J. E. Williams, Jack Vance, E. M. Robb, W. V. Murry, L. F. Martin, A. C. Brewer, A. Kuehl, A. B. Coffman, Laura Shout, H. L. Kenner, W. H. Mays, Belle Wells, Dee Woods, Guy C. Saunders, and Misses Edith Langford, Irma Tackwell, Helen Baird, Beulah Robertson.

The following were not present but sent gifts: Mesdames T. A. Cox, H. E. Saunders, Clarence Hall, John Hall, E. A. Ellis, J. F. McClard.

A most important thing, if you wish to retain that youthful freshness and charm, is plenty of rest.

I always make it a point to get at least eight hours' sleep a day, regardless of how late I have been up the night before. After my ride or swim, one of which I take each morning, I have a warm and then a cold shower and lie down for half an hour before starting the day.

Luckies Please!

In every corner of the world, both here and overseas, wherever you find joy in life, 'tis always "Luckies Please!"

"Cream of the Crop" gives character...
"Toasting" makes them mild

What puts character in a cigarette? The quality of the tobacco. Lucky Strike's tobaccos are carefully selected for quality, for tenderness, for distinctive flavor... the finest, most carefully selected tobaccos grown.

And Luckies are truly mild—because these fine tobaccos are "Toasted"—mellowed and purified by the exclusive Lucky Strike process. For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

because "It's toasted"

TRACK MEET HERE TO BE LEADING EVENT OF PANHANDLE

PAMPA SQUAD SEEMS TO BE IN FINE FORM

LUBBOCK, SANDIES AND PLAINVIEW WILL SEND TEAMS

The weather of yesterday and this morning was anything but satisfying to Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvester track and field team. The coach ran out of the high school building several times this morning to investigate the wind and temperature in hopes that it would be warm enough during the afternoon to put his thin clads through a stiff workout.

Coach Mitchell will be host to track and field teams from Plainview, Lubbock, and Amarillo Saturday afternoon for a Class A meet at Harvester park. The big event will start at 1:30 o'clock. Workmen are enlarging the oval to 440 yards with a long straightaway that will be nearly 220 yards.

The meet is expected to be the best held in the Panhandle this year. Lubbock, Amarillo, and Pampa have all met, but with Plainview in the running, the outcome is only a guess. Amarillo defeated both Pampa and Lubbock in dual meets and also won a triangular meet. Both losing teams have improved since the last meeting with Amarillo and Plainview's strength is not known here.

Borger, the fifth Class A team in district 1, has no track and field team this year.

With added strength in the dash events, the Harvesters are expected to make a much better showing than in previous meets. The team came to the front in Clarendon Saturday against some of the strongest teams in this section of the Panhandle.

Admission will be 10 and 25 cents. Proceeds will go to defray expenses to the district meet in Canyon, April 21 and 22.

Morell, who knows every rattlesnake den in this section, says there is a noticeable decrease in the number of the snakes this year. He has killed seventeen this season.

GREGORY MANGIN OF NEWARK, SUCCESSFULLY DEFENDED HIS NATIONAL INDOOR TENNIS TITLE

DIDRIKSON HAS BASKETBALL BLUES--BACK IN BEAUMONT

'Babe' Sighs For Days When She Played on Golden Cyclone Cge Team.

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. A Tournament Echo.
In a recent statement to newspapers, Babe Didrikson said she did not regret turning professional. An echo from the Girls' National A. A. U. Basketball tournament at Wichita, Kan., has led many persons to think otherwise.

Curious about her reaction, Gilbert A. Mayo, the Wichita correspondent of the Associated Press, sat beside the great girl athlete during the championship game between the Dallas Golden Cyclones and the Oklahoma Presbyterian college. Babe was former captain and forward for the Cyclones.

She told Mayo her first professional basketball game netted her $400 in Brooklyn last winter but she would have gladly given that sum to have been in the final game of the women's A. A. U. tournament. She refused to visit her former teammates in their dressing room between halves for fear of jeopardizing their amateur standing but admitted she had a lot of advice that might have led to a Cyclone victory.

Greater Possibilities.
"Basketball holds greater possibilities for mistakes in play than any other game," Babe Didrikson believes. A good team plays so fast it cannot keep up with every move in the "thinking department," and what appears to be a bad play is often a good one gone wrong because of the inability of some member of the team to think speedily as she moves up and down the court, Miss Didrikson explained.

Babe has gone to her home at Beaumont uncertain what her next move in the realm of professional athletics will be.

She claims there is no regrets—but her dearest friends and former teammates of the Golden Cyclones shake their heads and wonder if Babe isn't just keeping up a stout heart.

End of Career.
Ruby Mansfield, forward on the Golden Cyclones and one of the greatest free throwers in girls' basketball, claims she is through with the game unless she changes her mind before another basketball season rolls around.

She admitted she had announced her retirement every year for the past three, but that each succeeding season found her back in the game, shooting field goals and making free shots for the Cyclones.

Ruby got her basketball start on the court at Breckenridge high school and later at Randolph college, Cisco. She has been a member of the Cyclone team several years.

Due to Flourish.
Girls' basketball is due to flourish next season at Houston and Fort Worth. Teams from these cities made excellent showings in the National A. A. U. and inspired their backers to seek stronger sextets for next year.

Bob Lucas, backer of the Fort Worth Lucas Funeral Home team, is going after the national championship.

Jitney-Jungle Boys Will Make Debut on Friday

Playground ball will be in the air Friday afternoon, when two new teams to the City league, but using mostly well known players, meet on the former Jaycee diamond in South Pampa Friday afternoon. The game will be called at 5 o'clock. The Diamond Shoppers will feel out the strength of the Jitney-Jungle team. The jewelry boys lost a 2 to 0 decision to the Faculty Tuesday night and felt confident that they will be strong when the season opens. The Jitney-Jungle team will be composed of some of last season's Jaycee players and several new boys. The team has been working hard and is in good condition.

A meeting to organize a league will be held at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the chamber of commerce rooms.

Texas Team To Bowl Tonight In Pin Tournament

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 6. (P)—Ohio, New York, and Illinois teams will seek bowling honors and slices of the $60,000 prize money in the American Bowling congress tourney here tonight. One squad from Dallas, Texas, also is scheduled. The tournament will be concluded Monday, but a number of the country's pin lineups are yet to appear. The present top scores in the doubles and all-event division are not expected to be bettered but there is a possibility of a new five-man team or singles leader.

The general scoring has been unusually good but the following counts still are in the prize division: Team event, 2710; doubles 1187; singles 572; all-events 1202.
Two changes occurred among the minor event leaders during yesterday. Earl Hewitt of Erie, Pa., crashed through to the singles lead with a 724 total and took sixth place in the all-events with 1923.
Charley Johnson, another Erie player, moved into fourth place in the all-events class with 1939. The team leaders were undisturbed.

Kerry Patch Is Picked By Owner To Take Derby

NEW YORK, April 6. (P)—Kerry Patch, surprise winner of the $100,000 Belmont Park turf prize last fall, may be just a flash but Leo Rosenberg, the colt's owner, feels confident the son of Desperate Desmond will lead the field down the stretch at Churchill Downs, May 6. When the fifty-ninth Kentucky Derby is run.

At Belmont Park, Little Joe Notter, himself a great jockey nearly 20 years ago, is carefully preparing Kerry Patch. A cough, which is going the rounds of the horses in training at America's "New Market," slowed up the colt's conditioning for eight days. Today, however, he appeared strong as ever as an exercise boy galloped him around the track twice and then breezed him six furlongs.

Although not a big horse, the Rosenberg colt put on weight during the winter and appears built to go the route.

Notter, who rode Regret, the only filly ever to win the derby, is not as confident as Kerry's owner but he admits the colt may be hard to beat if he has recovered sufficiently from the cough to stand hard training again. Up to ten days ago it was planned to race him early at either Harve de Grace or Lexington.

WHITLOW WINS BUT MEXICAN IS NOT HURT

FAVORITES' WALLOPS MAKE DEL GADO SMILE

A fighter and a tough clown went into the ring in the main event on the American Legion's athletic show at the Pla-More auditorium last night and after Allen Whitlow, 134, Indianapolis, the fighter, had hit Batling Delgado, 135, Fort Worth, with everything but the corner post which he used to pump the Mexican's head against for four rounds, he despaired of getting a knockout but continued.

Big Joe Vernon, Pampa boy, won the semi-final when Red Williams of Waco was unable to leave his corner for the third round because of a broken rib, received in the second round from a terrific solar plexus punch.

The real battle of the night turned out to be the special event when Sammy Squires, local boy, made a comeback against Kid Stamper of Macon, Ga., in a 6-round slugfest.

Tuffy Simons, little Borger scrapper, gave Tiny Shanahan of Fort Worth 10 pounds and several inches in reach and then beat him. The youngster gained confidence as he learned Shanahan's punches were light, and he had the Fort Worth boy nearly out at the bell in the fourth round. Billie Forbes and Lefty Wright, two Borger paperweights, battled four fast and furious rounds on a nearly even basis but Forbes hit the more solid blows while the left-hander used wild swings.

Clyde Bowie, Hawkins barber shop manager, won the opening bout when Oscar Hunter, Schneider hotel boy, with a strong finish after the hotel porter had weakened from some hard punches.

Whitlow stepped into Delgado in the first round and rocked his head from side to side like a punching bag, but the tough little Mexican just smiled and slapped back at the Indianapolis flash. The second round was like the first only Delgado did a little counter fighting and hit Whitlow a few light blows to the head and back.

Mexican "Takes It."
Whitlow kept up the bombardment for the next two rounds and then got tired. He stepped into the Fort Worth boy wide open in an effort to land an uppercut but he bounced off Delgado's chin as he grinned. The boys really exchanged blows in the last few rounds, but the little Mexican could take anything and everything. Once Whitlow drove his head into a corner post but it failed to stop the Mexican.

Whitlow will meet Pug Grubbs in a return bout next Wednesday night in the main event at the Pla-More. The boy from Indianapolis and Grubbs also feel that the hard of two weeks ago was unjust.

Joe Vernon could hit too hard for Williams in the semi-final but took several solid blows before getting in a beauty to the solar plexus which tore one of Williams' ribs loose, according to Dr. V. von Brunow, who examined Williams. Squires started the special event in his usual careful manner but Stamper crowded him with terrific blows to the head and body. The hammering continued for more than two rounds before Squires started his offensive. Squires received a bad cut on an eyebrow in the fourth when the two boxers butted heads. Squires started his real comeback after the blood started to flow and he dropped Stamper for a count and the bell in the fifth round.

Sammy Carlton was the third man in the ring for the preliminaries and Sam Penberg for the finals.

Files Suit for $1,300 For Failure To Play Exhibition Game at Amarillo.

AMARILLO, April 6. (P)—Failure to play an exhibition game here yesterday resulted in a damage suit filed against the Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The suit for $1,300 was filed by Jerry Malin, sports editor of the Amarillo Globe and News, who promoted the game. He charged the teams with "failure to fulfill contract without cause."

The club managers refused to play because of a cold wind. Club equipment was attached after filing the suit, but team officials signed replevin bond and regained possession of their equipment. Each club posted $3,000 bond. The teams then proceeded to Tulsa, 30 minutes behind schedule. They left Amarillo at 9:30 o'clock last night.

The game had been advertised extensively and fans had come to Amarillo from miles around to see it. The contest was called off just before game time.

Club officials said they would be taking too big a risk if they let their teams play in unfavorable weather. The teams had been training on the Pacific coast.

Other than to say that "weather must always be considered in baseball," club officials had little comment to make about the suit.

Runnell's Peach Crop Is Damaged

BALLINGER, April 6. (P)—While the Elberta peach crop in Runnels county will be cut between one-fourth and one-half by the premature spring freeze, early bearing varieties in this section were apparently unharmed. This opinion was advanced by Wilson brothers, Runnels county's largest fruit growers, after a survey of their orchards.

Wilson brothers have 1,900 Elberta peach trees on 25 acres, and an orchard of 40 acres of early bearing trees. They recently added 10,000 fruit trees on 135 acres a few miles southeast of Ballinger.

MINOR LEAGUE BASEBALL HAS REVIVAL SIGNS

MAJORS' EFFORTS ALL OVER COUNTRY ARE EVIDENT

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, April 6. (P)—Minor league baseball, which absorbed its full share of the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune in the past year or so, appears to be going thru a definite revival this spring.

Concerted efforts have been made all through the country, with the backing of the major leagues, to bring back the minors. There have been several setbacks in this program, but in the middle Atlantic states and in the south especially the situation is very hopeful.

The New York-Pennsylvania League and the Mid-Atlantic circuit have blossomed out as faster circuits and with the breakup of the Central League the Mid-Atlantic has found itself with more prospective members than it can handle.

Where some of the clubs failed to last through the season a year ago, an organization meeting Tuesday definitely settled on four West Virginia cities, three in Ohio and one in Pennsylvania to form an 8-club circuit. Charlesburg, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md., which had withdrawn from the league, threatened legal action because they were denied re-admission. Fort Wayne, Ind., a former Central League city, also wanted to join.

The members are Wheeling, Huntington, Charleston, and Beckley, W. Va., Johnstown, Pa., and Springfield, Zanesville, and Dayton, Ohio.

The New York-Penn League boosted its classification from B to A in order to give its fans a better brand of baseball and shifted one franchise from Hazleton to Reading, a former International League city.

Down in the south the Piedmont League also has improved its standing a bit with the admission of Richmond, which failed to get along in the Eastern League when most of the other cities were in New England. A new Dixie League also was formed with teams in Baton Rouge and Shreveport, La., Jackson, Miss., Eldorado, Ark., and Tyler, Longview, Henderson, and Waco, Texas.

Efforts to revive the old South Atlantic League fizzled badly and an

Hitler Says U. S. Set Precedent In Excluding a Race

BERLIN, April 6. (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler pointed to the United States exclusion act against the yellow race as a precedent in excluding today his purpose in removing Jewish intellectuals from medical, legal, artistic and scientific positions in Germany.

"The American people were the first to draw the practical political consequences from the inequality in the difference of races," he said. "Through immigration laws it barred undesirable from other races. Nor is America ready now to open its doors to Jews (fleeing) from Germany."

To this reference to emigrating Jews, Hitler added the usual Nazi assertion that no physical harm whatever was done them.

He also expressed the opinion that the United States, which before other modern countries became an exponent of a strong movement against foreign elements, has the least occasion to attempt to counteract Germany's efforts to purge herself of foreign elements.

Hitler's remarks were occasioned by his visit to the new Jew-free executive board of the German medical federation.

attempt to bring back the Eastern League as a New England circuit were deferred for a year. New England, however, will get some baseball in a league among the smaller cities which has just been formed.

The big change in southwestern baseball was made some months ago when the Texas League took over Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Okla., from the Western League, a move which gave the Texas circuit a stronger lineup. Despite this loss and Omaha's franchise difficulties, President Dale Gear has announced the Western League "positively will operate" this year. The probable membership is Omaha, Denver, Pueblo, Colo., Des Moines, Ia., Wichita, Kan., and St. Joseph, Mo.

Eliasville Bank Robbed of $1,000

ELIASVILLE, April 6. (AP)—Two unmasked men robbed the Eliasville State bank at Eliasville, 25 miles north of Breckenridge, of about $1,000 in currency Wednesday and escaped in an automobile.

The men entered the bank and commanded Otis Cunningham, cashier, and Frank Atchison, assistant cashier, to hand over the bank's money. The officials complied. The robbers tried to force Cunningham in to the vault but the cashier placed his foot in the door and the men fled. One was described as about 22 years old and the other 16. Their car bore license number F29-923.

Cunningham and Atchison shot at the robbers, then locked the bank and started after them. Fosses were organized in nearby towns and cities. The men started away toward Graham but later turned back toward Newcastle to the northwest. Their car later was abandoned near South Bend, 10 miles northeast of Eliasville.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chisum of Miami visited and shopped in Pampa Tuesday. They were guests of Mrs. Chisum's brother, R. D. Morris, and Mrs. Morris.

Pursuant to said hearing, and the present laws governing the production and marketing of oil and gas, the commission will enter such rules, regulations or orders as in its judgment the facts presented at said hearing may justify.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

Editor: The NEWS:

On inquiry from Mr. R. C. Holmes as to what he thought of President Roosevelt's statement on the oil industry, appearing in the papers the morning of the 4th, he stated that "It is a very satisfactory reaction to the industry's request except that personally I feel some disappointment that the president did not ask for authority to go beyond what he seems to feel the limit of his constitutional authority and recommend the establishment of such authority as will enable the states and the federal government to work more closely together in the most effective way, to accomplish some real conservation of petroleum. I have a very definite feeling that it is worthy of such consideration and that benefits can be derived not only to the oil industry but to others affected by the present state of affairs in the oil industry."

"I am particularly disappointed that any recommendation should have been made by the president to divorce the old established systems of pipelines from the integrated units of the industry. These are in reality plant facilities. No pipeline system, in my judgment, without the large production, the large buying power, the large storage capacity and the established market outlets directly connected with them, or in the hands of those who have the necessary conditions for the economical operation of pipelines, will be a successful investment or will in any way improve conditions for the smaller producers or others. I do not know however exactly what is in mind in the way of divorce. Possible any action would contemplate a reduction in rates if it makes any changes at all, and that certainly would be of no aid to railroads or to anyone else, particularly in the Mid-Continent area. It will narrow up the territory into which the railroads now carry refined products—in the Mid-Continent. It would exclude the Mid-Continent and railroad refiners from the foreign market for the refined products they ship to the coast by car. In short, the whole effect would be to limit the territory to which the inland refiners can reach with no benefit, as I can see it, to any one."

One of the greatest services that the small producer and wildcatter has had in the past has been availability of pipeline service by the large buying and refining companies. It has been highly competitive, resulting in ample service. I know of no material failure to give service or of material abuses or irregularities in connection with same, until this system or aggregation of some forty small pipeline systems from fields to railroads and from fields to some fifty odd refineries in Texas came into existence, most of which are ignoring the laws and all rules of the game.

"It would be unfortunate if some ill-considered pipeline legislation should grow out of ill-disposed recommendations by destructive elements in the industry. I doubt that the president or his assistants would have had the time or opportunity to read the Splawn report which was submitted to the House of Representatives by its committee on interstate and foreign commerce, apparently after careful investigation and study by unprejudiced, competent federal authority. Oil pipelines the report found, are plant facilities in an integrated industry, and carrying but one commodity, in one direction, and that from a diminishing source of supply. Oil pipelines differ so radically from railroads that, says the report, it appears very difficult to apply to them that provision of the federal law prohibiting railroad companies from transporting in interstate commerce products either manufactured, mined or produced or owned by the railroad, or in which the railroad may have an interest."

"If the oil companies were forced to sell the pipeline companies 'Who,' asks the report, 'would buy them and who would build to the newly discovered oil field?'"

"Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, special counsel for the sub-committee which issued the report in connection with that report, 'divorcement of pipelines from the oil industry does not appear practicable because they are part of the plant facilities of that integrated and competitive industry.'"

"The report concludes that if it is at any time attend operation of pipelines those who, whoever may be, the owner of the offending pipelines, can be cured by existing legislation, for instance, as the interstate commerce act or by enactment of supplementary laws of a similar nature."

PRESIDENT ORDERS BILLION IN GOLD STILL HELD BY HOARDERS RETURNED TO BANKS BY MAY 1

WASHINGTON, April 6. (AP)—Gold hoarders have about $1,000,000,000 in metal and gold certificates. President Roosevelt wants this turned back to the banks by May 1 or the government will take action.

His executive order, which placed the national gold supply under a license system to carry out legitimate trade needs, directs those holding more than $100 in gold or gold certificates to give it up promptly.

If they don't, they face a penalty of a $10,000 fine or ten years in prison or both.

At the treasury it was said that since the national bank holiday was proclaimed there had been no demand for gold, but the amount still tucked away by hoarders was unduly large. On Mr. Roosevelt's behalf it was said that the chief purpose of his action was to restore to the nation's reserves all the gold that remains hidden.

The president's order authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue licenses for obtaining gold or industrial requirements, exportation for trade and other legitimate needs. The unlicensed gold must come in before May 1.

Secretary Woodin said in a statement last night: "The president's order requiring the turning in of hoarded gold, and at the same time providing that gold shall be available for all proper purposes, is an expected step in the process of regularizing our monetary position and furnishing adequate banking and currency facilities for all customary needs."

"Gold held in private hoards," he said, "serves no useful purpose under present circumstances. When added to the stock of the Federal Reserve bank it serves as a basis of currency and credit."

The Federal Reserve board last Friday announced the country's monetary gold stock on hand March 29 amounted to $4,272,000,000—a decrease of $116,000,000 as compared to the amount a year ago. But in the three weeks since the national bank holiday the stock of gold had increased $28,000,000.

The board also announced the Federal Reserve banks on March 29 held gold reserves of $3,441,996,000, an increase of approximately $70,000,000 in the week and of $633,000,000 since March 8. In the first week of March the banks lost $209,000,000 in gold.

Farmers Borrow Little Money In 4 Texas Counties

MEMPHIS, April 6. (AP)—Farmers in four counties—Hall, Donley, Childress and Collingsworth—in the Texas Panhandle, where bankers require their clients to keep a year's supply of food and a two years' supply of feed for their livestock on hand from one year to the next, borrowed only one fourth as much money in 1932 as during the preceding year.

The plan was put into effect by all of the bankers in the four counties several years ago, and the amount of money borrowed by farmers in the area has decreased each year, even in the face of one or two virtual crop failures and the low price of farm products.

SIAM SENDS ROYAL ENVOY

Welcomers blinked as they caught this first glimpse of Siam's new minister to the United States. For diminutive Prince Damras Damrong Devakula, shown here with his family as they arrived in New York, markedly resembles another member of Siam's royalty well known to Americans from his 1921 visit—King Prajadipok. The King and the Prince are first cousins.

FAIR TRIP

No contestant will be allowed to give, sell, buy, trade, or barter votes at any time during the contest.

Votes will be given by all participating merchants at the rate of one vote for each one cent purchased, except on two days each month, when each merchant will be allowed to give two-for-one votes on advertised articles, selected by himself. The days of the month to be selected by the Pampa Daily NEWS.

Votes will be issued only when the actual cash transaction occurs. Contestants receiving the most votes will be determined by three competent judges selected by the participating merchants at the close of the contest, who will count or have counted, all votes. The contestant receiving the most bona fide votes will be the winner.

Only votes in the ballot box with name legibly inscribed thereon will be counted.

Contestants will trade their votes of small denominations for votes of larger denominations at the office of the Pampa Daily NEWS, thus avoiding delay in counting votes. The contestant receiving the most bona fide votes will be declared the winner of the free trip to the World's fair in Chicago, Ill., including transportation, by train with pullman berth, hotel and meals, and $8 per day for other expenses in Chicago.

Any contestant found guilty of violating any of the above rules may be disqualified by decision of the contest manager and any three of the participating merchants. Each contestant hereby agrees that the decision be final. The ballot box will be located at the Pampa Daily NEWS, locked and sealed at the beginning of the contest and remain unopened until the contest closes at 6 p. m. June 30, 1933.

Attendance Already Big
With more than two months between now and the official opening date of Chicago's 1933 World's fair, a Century of Progress has already established a record as an attraction for immense crowds of sightseers, the high point in attendance being reached last Sunday, when 23,497 persons paid admissions to the grounds.

That the World's fair is really the "biggest show in town" is proven by comparing attendance records with those of other major attractions in the city.

For instance, "The Family Upstairs," the comedy at the Cort, with the longest run of any show in town, averages 10,000 paid admission a week, with an 800 average on Sunday. A capacity audience on the day 23,497 flocked to the Exposition grounds, was 816 persons. The popular Abbey Players have been drawing "standing room only" houses since they came to the Harris theater, four weeks ago, with their 10,000 average weekly ticket-sale cannot compare with the World's fair "gate."

SALE TAX

bring in between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000.

Representative T. H. McGregor of Austin pleaded with the house to keep the bill alive. McGregor said the state government could not be operated on "an income tax levied on persons who had no income," and predicted that failure to pass the sales tax would leave the state in a financial morass.

The house refused to print on minority report a bill that would increase the load limit of trucks from 7,000 to 10,000 pounds. The bill was killed definitely as far as this session is concerned.

The house engrossed several proposed constitutional amendments. One would remove the payment of a poll tax as one of the qualifications requisite to voting. The amendment was opposed by the school bloc, who contended that it would cut more than $1,000,000 from receipts of the school fund. Others opposed the amendment on the ground it might permit election of a negro to the legislature. The vote on engrossment was 68 to 58.

AKRON

Secretary Swanson approved plans for a congressional inquiry into the crash, saying the navy wanted all the information it could get.

Talk to President
The house naval committee is planning to make this study, and Senator King (D. Utah) said today he would propose the creation of a joint congressional committee to determine whether lighter-than-air craft should continue to be used for national defense.

The three Akron survivors went to the White House to see President Roosevelt and, at his request, related their story of what happened to the ship and their 73 lost companions.

They expressed doubt that the cause of the crash ever would be known.

Shaking the hand of each, the president said:

"I am thankful that you are here." They praised the German sailors and master of the Phoebe which picked them up.

Craft searching the ocean over a wide radius from the spot where the Akron disappeared informed the navy that they had found oil slick on the ocean in two places, in one of which oil was bubbling to the surface. The latter place was two and a half miles from Bamegat lightship.

Clues Significant
The discoveries were called by naval officials more significant than anything that previously had been discovered. One of the oil spots was 22 miles from the other and they considered that it might indicate that one or more of the Akron engines had been borne by the superstructure of the ship for this distance.

In the house, Lanham (D. Texas) warned against too precipitate a decision on the use of navy airships. "I have no objection to an investigation but I think we should not take precipitate action or have a preconceived notion of the efficiency of these vessels. If they are efficient, this is the most economical form of defense a nation can have. Let us not discard without a hearing on dirigibles which are so serviceable if the words of naval experts are of value."

NEW YORK, April 6. (AP)—Joseph W. Harriman, former head of the Harriman National Bank & Trust company, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on charge of making and causing to be made 14 false entries on the books of the bank.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

hicles neatly on the next one—at any rate the result is most annoying rattling and our particular vehicle is especially affected. When we get to a rough crossing, we feel like gritting our teeth, holding our breath, and standing up until the bumping ceases. Some improvement is under way, but the probably distant underpass will be the real solution.

WERE "AGIN" IT

Proposals to place all schools in counties under one head, one board of trustees, and so-called "economical" administration are not what they are recommended. Most persons with children in school take much interest in public education. They like to know that this interest has a bearing upon the policies of the trustees and the teachers. We know of reforms in the common school system which could and should be effected, but to combine city and rural schools under one management would arouse much animosity and fail to accomplish most of the things for which the change is sought.

JUST ONE EXAMPLE

Under the proposed plan, one superintendent would have all the schools of the county to administer. Imagine his task. Imagine having to settle all the squabbles of dozens of rival communities, choose or recommend all the teachers, direct all the minor school officials, and play politics in every district to keep one's position. The communities like McLean and Alameda would change that Pampa was trying to dominate the schools, and vice versa.

NOT AS CLAIMED

Those who seek such legislation cite that "administration" of the various school systems in a county is too costly and wasteful. We are not so sure. We cannot imagine a school with several teachers operating without a supervising head. Supervising principals would be necessary in Hopkins, McLean, LeFors, Alameda, and many other places in the county. It is argued that these could do part-time teaching, and that the time given to teaching should not be chargeable to the account for administration. The fact is that most of the superintendents and principals in this and other counties are teaching, and it also is true that the statistics cited for the proposed plan do not take this fact into consideration.

A TOTAL OF 1,200 BURIED IN LAMESA CEMETERY SINCE 1908

LAMESA, April 6. (AP)—Judge J. E. Garland, local attorney, has made a survey of Lamesa's cemetery, and developed some interesting information.

The survey showed Lamesa's cemetery has been the principal burying ground within 1,200 square miles, of which Lamesa constitutes 1-600th of the area. Of the 1,200 who sleep there, about 100 were 70 to 90 years old. Another 100 did not live long enough to be christened, and about 100 additional died of accidental or violent causes, principally automobile wrecks. Another 100 were temporary sojourners who came with thousands of others pick cotton.

The records show that about 100 more were transients who were stranded here while afflicted. Another 100 represent former citizens who had away from here, but wished to be buried at Lamesa. The remaining 600 account for the normal death rate for 25 years in the territory. An average of one death every year for 50 square miles.

Judge Garland states that he helped dig the first grave in the local cemetery in 1908.
