Steps Taken To Prevent Start Of Palestine War

Middle East Peril Looms

GENEVA, Oct. 29 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan protested informally to Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tonight Soviet bloc arms sales in the Middle East tinderbox.

British informants reported this after the two ministers met privately after a session of the Big Four conference.

The British statesman's complaint was directed specifically at the deal between Communist Czechoslovakia and Egypt under which undisclosed numbers of MIG fighters, submarines, tanks and heavy arms are being supplied. The Egyptians reportedly are paying cut-rate prices for this equipment, partly in cash and partly in cotton and rice supplies.

Molotov's reaction to the protest was not disclosed. On previous occasions when Western ministers have replied that the deal was no business of the Soviet Union, which could not interfere with what he called an ordinary commercial transaction between two independent states.

The line Macmillan was said to have taken, however, was that the deal almost surely could not have which could not interfere with what he called an ordinary commercial transaction between two independent states.

The line Macmillan was said to have taken, however, was that the deal almost surely could not have gone through without the blessing of the Kremlin. He also was said to have asserted that the Soviet Union has sufficient influence with the Prague government to be able to snuff out the arrangement if it really was interested in the maintenance of good relations between the big powers.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Oct. 29 (AP)—One more spark could ignite the Middle Eastern powder keg.

That is the considered opinion held by most Arab leaders and Western diplomats since Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser made his cotton-for-guns deal with Communist Czechoslovakia.

Nerves have been stretched to the snapping point by this week's repeated shooting affrays and raids along the Israeli-Egyptian and Israeli-Syrian frontiers.

In Cairo, an Egyptian spokesman, referring to the fighting in the El Auja-Nizana demilitarized zone, declared today:

"It is up to the United Nations to ease the tension in the zone. The situation along the front there is very tense, but our troops are prepared for any eventuality."

Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett told reporters in Geneva this week in response to a question whether Israel would launch a preventive war:

Ministry spokesman asserted yesterday: "If they (the Egyptians) leave us alone, we will leave them alone."

As the Egyptians and Israelis accused each other today of new troop violations of the El Auja-Nizana zone, an American diplomat described the situation:

"It's like boys tossing firecrackers around in an oil refinery—one bang at the right place can blow the whole thing up. and there doesn't seem to be much we can do about it."

The Soviet Union's bold entry into Middle East politics has aroused Arab passions and fanned Israeli feares. The Czechoslovak arms deal won friends among the normally anti-Communist Arabs, talk of Soviet economic aid is played up. And torch singers from Soviet Uzbek have wooed Beirut and Cairo audiences with Arabic songs.

American influence among the Arabs — already at low point because the Arabs charged United States and American Zionists were responsible for sacrificing Arabs in creating Israel — has been put on the skids by the Soviet drive.

And the seizure this week by British-officered troops of the Burami oasis on the disputed Saudi Arabian boundary — where there may be oil — stepped up Arab attacks on Britain.

MOTHER RE-UNITED WITH MISSING CHILD—With tears in her eyes, Mrs. Teresa Auger is re-united with her four-and-a-half-year-old daughter Marie. The child was found by searchers in a wooded section of Sutton, Mass., after being missing overnight with her collie dog. The child is in good condition at a hospital despite her ordeal in near-freezing temperatures.

Border Clashes Feared

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 2 (AP) — The United Nations appealed strongly tonight for Egypt and Israel to exercise their "gravest moral responsibility" and avert further border clashes that might lead to a new Palestine war.

The appeal was issued by Canadian Mag. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. truce supervision organization that deals with the 1949 Israel-Arab armistices.

It was issued with the backing U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold after a series of urgent conferences climaxed by a meeting here this morning that included British and United States representatives.

In a statement Hammarskjold said he and Burns had consulted with the "interested governments" on measures that would prevent deterioration of the situation, especially in the El Auja area. However, no Security Council meeting was planned.

Burns will fly back to Jerusalem next Thursday as he originally planned when he came here early this week for the consultations.

Sir Pierson Dixon, British chief delegate, and James Barco, U.S. minister-counsellor, took part in the final talks at which the appeal was outlined. The United States and Britain, along with France, have a special mandate under U.N. agreements to safeguard the security of the Arab-Israel area in the Middle East.

The French were consulted earlier in the week. So were Israel, Egypt and officials of the eight-nation Arab League.

Today's high-level meeting came after Israel and Egypt had exchanged charges of new truce violations in the El Auja demilitarized zone on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier and an Egyptian spokesman in Cairo announced: "We are ready for any eventuality," adding that it was up to the U.N. to ease the tension in the zone.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli Foreign Office spokesman said that Israel had again asked the U.N. truce officials to take immediate action. The spokesman charged that the Egyptians were spreading their "deliberate and unprovoked extension of hostilities" to the Gaza area. Gaza has been quiet for some time.

The Jerusalem spokesman reiterated that "Israel asks nothing of Egypt except to be left alone," but warned that if Egyptian forces continued to occupy Israeli territory reponsibility for the continuation "will rest entirely with Egypt."

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

Ever wonder why there are so many Texans?

Well, listen to this:

"Texas is the home of the greatest men there are. If a man was born in Texas, and moved away and became famous, naturally he is a Texan still — if it can be said that a Texan is ever still. On the other hand if a man is born somewhere else but moves to Texas and gains distinction as a lawyer, bank robber or other public figure, he is of course a Texan. By this indisputably logical method, Texas can claim just about anybody who is anybody."

As some of you probably suspect by now, that is a quotation from Boyce House. And as more of you know, House is a Texas style Texan, if you get what we mean.

The quotation comes from Boyce House's newest book, a neat little volume of "Texiana," aptly titled "You Can Always Tell A Texan (But You Can't Tell Him Very Much)."

The new Boyce House book was published by the Naylor Co. in San Antonio, and it is dedicated to a Scurry County Texan, C. T. McLaughlin, who is engaged in a lot of Texas style activity of a business and civic nature.

* * *

There is no need to say more about the contents of the book, because to use one of his own phrases, just about "anybody who is anybody," Texan or not, knows what to expect when Boyce House writes a book.

This one has the usual jokes and "tall tales," and some of you probably will find some of them familiar, because House used a few dozen of them when he appeared on the program at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet in 1954.

* * *

The book covers 123 pages, with possibly 10 times that many chuckles. If you need some ammunition to repulse critics of Texas, here is a veritable arsenal. If by chance there is not a thrust-sharp enough in this, or any of his other books, you probably can get one that will fill the bill by contacting House in person. He must have a million of them.

A subscriber who prefers to remain anonymous, has sent us a copy of a clipping found in some mementos recently. Here it is: "The month of February, 1866, was in one respect the most remarkable in the world's history. It had no full moon! January had two full moons and so had March, but February had none. Do you realize what a rare thing in nature that was? It had not occurred since the time of Washington, not since the discovery of America, nor since the beginning of the Christian era, nor since the creation of the world. And it will not occur again, according to the computation of astronomers, for — how long do you think? — two and a half million years! Was not that truly a wonderful month?"

The subscriber, without conferring with professional astronomers, has a theory about why it happened. The lunar month is a few minutes, or seconds, longer than 28 times the 24 hours in a day, which would mean that over a period of many centuries an extra lunar day would occur.

Texas Bank Robbed

RHOME, Oct. 29 (AP)—An 18-year-old Air Force enlisted man was arrested one hour and 43 minutes after the First National Bank was robbed of $280 by a lone masked gunman here today.

Charged with armed robbery at Decatur, the county seat of Wise County, was William Coy Burk, 18, who found officers waiting for him when he drove into the driveway at his home in Haltom City, a suburb of Fort Worth.

Joe R. Chambers, 68, president of the bank in this North Texas town of 461 population, said a lone gunman, wearing a handkerchief over his nose pointed a .38 calibre revolver at him. He said the gunmen demanded $300 to $400 "enough for a cripple."

"I counted out fourteen $20 bills," Chambers said.

Chambers said the bandit rushed from the bank, jumped in an old model car and headed eastward toward Newark.

Chambers got the license number of the car as it sped away and called officers.

In Tarrant County, Deputy Sheriffs E. N. Buie and Jim Barker heard the license number of the gunman's car over their radio and got the street address of the owner. They went to the address and waited.

Buie said Burk offered no resistance when the officers approached him. A red haired girl was in the car with the youth but she was released after questioning.

Officers said they found $255 in Burk's boot.

Brought to Rhome, Burk led officers to a tree where a .38 calibre pistol was found.

"All I got to say is I did it for a crippled boy," Burk told officers here.

Burk declined to elaborate on his statement and officers said they had not been able to find a crippled boy connected with the case.

He was taken to Decatur where charges were filed in Justice of Peace C. M. Quisenberry's court.

Officers said they also intended to question Burk about a similar bank robbery at Royce City several months ago.

Scurry Cotton Is Expected To Top Estimate

Scurry County's cotton crop will probably exceed most estimates made earlier this fall, according to a compilation of reports by the county's gins.

By yesterday, the county's nine gins had turned out a total of 12,388 bales for the season, and it looked as if they might have up to 5,000 more.

Half the ginners reported they are still "going strong" and that trailers still must wait for ginning. At Fluvanna, for example, the crop was much later than in many other parts of the county, while at Ira, lack of laborers has slowed down ginning.

In the south and southeast part of the county, some ginners reported ginning slowing down.

With about 5,000 more bales, the county would equal or exceed last year's production, which was 17,082 bales. That of the year before was 13,974, while production in other years was 1,200 in 1952, 12,000 in 1951, 39,245 in 1950, and 41,185 in 1949.

By communities, production figures from gins so far are: Snyder (3 gins), 5,255; Inadale, 1,095; Hermleigh, 1,553 China Grove, 1,300; Dunn, 1,000; Fluvanna, 617, and Ira, 758.

Search Still Going On For Missing Boy

LIBERTY, Oct. 29 (AP)—A search for a fourth body went on today as graveside services were held for three members of the A. E. Smith family.

The body of a third son, Alfred Jr., 9, has not been recovered.

Smith, a mechanic, was the father of 12, six of them girls under 8. His widow is expecting her 13th child.

Liberty County residents are raising a fund to help the mother.

Estes Claims GOP Plotting Against Ike

MUSKEGON, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said tonight a "segment of right-wing" Republicans is "scheming to get President Eisenhower out of office before his term expires."

He accused columnist David Lawrence of putting out a "sadistic" feeler carrying the suggestion that Eisenhower might resign in January 1956 instead of serving out his current term, ending January 1957. He recalled that Lawrence recently wrote that "Logic seems to point either to a resignation or a decision to accept renomination."

In Washington, Lawrence replied that he had merely "referred to the possibility" of resignation. He said that in fact he expects Eisenhower to recover, does not expect him to resign, and is confident he will run again and be re-elected.

Kefauver denounced the resignation idea as "mischievous" and "sadistic" and said that "the great majority of Americans, of whatever creed, party or race, thank God that President Eisenhower is making a good recovery and that his illness does not require that he transfer his powers as president."

In a speech prepared for a 9th Congressional District dinner meeting, Kefauver said that he was "proud that no such suggestion has come from Democrats" as a result of the heart attack suffered by Eisenhower last month.

"We Democrats will do our best to win the next election," he said, "but it will be fought out in the open. We will fight it on the issues."

Kefauver, regarded as a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, described Lawrence as "a spokesman for part of the reactionary Republican segment" who has put up feelers that "time and time again the right-wing has followed."

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Former President Truman said today that he "never told anybody that I would support anybody for the Democratic presidential nomination."

Truman spoke after a visit with Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic nominee who called on him in his hotel suite.

Stevenson faced reporters and cameras with Truman briefly at a news conference, but left after stating that he had dropped in to "pay my respects" and have a "pleasant chat" which "entered into politics once or twice."

Stevenson brushed aside questions on his activities as a potential candidate for the convention nomination next August.

"If he is the nominee of the convention this coming summer," Truman said of Stevenson, "I would support him. I didn't promise to support him before the convention."

The two Democratic leaders were cordial to each other. Stevenson left most of the political discussion to be carried on in his absence.

Asked about his pointing to Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, in a recent news conference there as a good candidate for president, Truman told reporters, "You should have asked that question while Stevenson was in the room. I would have pointed to him as well as I did to Harriman."

He told reporters "I have no candidates for president or vice president until the convention acts. I don't know how to make it any clearer than that."

Truman, looking fit and relaxed, explained his support of Stevenson for the Democratic nomination before the 1952 party convention on the ground that, at that time, he was president.

"If it hadn't been for me, he (Stevenson) wouldn't have got the nomination," Truman said. "I was president, and if I were president now, I'd urged a candidate again."

Adlai Favors 90 Per Cent Parity Support

DULUTHN Minn., Oct. 29 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said tonight the United States "must return to the 90 per cent supports" for farm commodities to boost agricultural income.

He declared that "restoring 90 per cent price supports to meet the present emergency is not to say they are a solution, but only that it is a better program than sliding supports that slide only one way."

"While farm price supports keep income up, they don't keep surpluses down, and I say again that, lest the dam burst and engulf us, we Democrats must press on, with Republican help, I hope, to develop the much broader national farm program which is required to restore full parity of total farm income," Stevenson said.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, in his speech prepared for a party rally, took slaps at the administration's general record which he summed up as "three years of loud talk and little action."

He assailed "the politics of misleading talk, as in the field of our foreign relations' which, he said "are not prospering any more than agriculture is prospering."

Stevenson said the Republican administration has failed "to keep the balance between industry, labor and farmers"—that "the industry, money, management group has control of our political apparatus" and "the bulk of the press of the country is numbered among that group."

Ex-Teachers In Spotlight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two former school teachers whose lives have been adventure stories will share the international spotlight here next week.

They are brunette Senora Carlos Castillo Armas, wife of the president of Guatemala, and red haired Mrs. Richard Nixon, wife of the vice president of the United States.

In the absence of President Eisenhower and his wife, the Nixons will act as the nation's official hosts to Castillo Armas and his wife when they arrive Monday for a state visit. Eisenhower is in Denver, convalescing from his heart attack.

When the Nixons welcome President and Senora Castillo Armas they will be renewing associations made in Guatemala last February when the vice president and his wife were on a goodwill tour of the Caribbean.

Both Mrs. Nixon and Senora Armas were school teachers—Pat Nixon in Whittier, Calif., and Senora in Guatemala City—when they met and were married to their husbands.

Russian Plan Is Rejected

By DANIEL DE LUCE

GENEVA, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Western Powers tonight rejected Russia's anti-NATO pact for "collective European security" as a peril to the West.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov came under heavy criticism at the Big Four foreign ministers conference on the charge his proposals would "deceive the hopes of the world."

U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told the Russian diplomat to push through a security pact while delaying any effort to achieve German reunification violated the directives the summit conference laid down three months ago.

Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay of France protested that Molotov's security pact continues to be aimed at the disolution of NATO, the Atlantic defense alliance.

"The French government will not gamble with security, or do deals about it," Pinay declared.

Despite 7½ hours of debate in three sessions since Thursday, Russia and the West have made no dent in Europe's status quo:

Russia will not roll back from the Elbe line—the cold war front in mid-Germany for 10 years.

The West will not bargain on the dismantling of the Atlantic Alliance, in which more than 400,000 U. S. troops and airmen are committed overseas.

Russia will not risk a unifying German election that could put anti-Communists in control of that powerful nation of 70 million.

The West will make no deal for German reunification that would concede in advance the military neutralization of all Germany. It has two-thirds of Germany arming in NATO now.

Molotov's security pact was first rebuffed at the Berlin conferenee 20 months ago.

Japanese Poisoning Business Is Booming

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP)—First, it was arsenic in baby's milk.

Later, worms in chocolate and colitis germs in ice cream.

Finally, today, a finding to curdle the blood of Japanese cocktail drinkers — formaldehyde in gin.

Climaxing a series of startling discoveries in Japanese food products, police confiscated a pint of gin containing formaldehyde.

They also turned up several gallons of sake — Japanese rice wine — and shochu — potato liquor—containing deadly methyl alcohol.

Officers said the three offending Tokyo bars would be ordered to suspend business.

Ike Gives Benson His Full Support

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

DENVER, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Eisenhower gave embattled Secretary of Agriculture Benson's flexible support program his 100 per cent backing today and made it clear Benson is remaining in the Cabinet.

This is the interpretation White House news secretary James C. Hagerty made of a hospital room statement by the President asserting that they were in agreement on a six-point program designed to "return to our farmers a fair share of the national income."

Benson went directly to Eisenhower for new asurances of support in a 30-minute conference as farm prices dipped again and the political storm over farm issues gathered more fury.

The President's own statement read to a news conference where Benson was questioned, said, "The secretary and I agreed that we should not go back to old policies that have failed to meet the problem in the past."

Benson and Hagerty said this referred to the rigid high fixed price formula for farm crops set up during wartime and for which many prominent Democrats and some Republicans havae voiced demands.

The President said he would submit the recommendations to Congress for the new program "in a special message early in January."

Benson was asked if he considers the President's statement an endorsement of the policies Benson has been pursuing in the face of a fire of criticism.

V. M. Molotov At Conference Cutting Capers

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA Oct. 29 (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov — the grim nyet-man of many international meetings— is behaving at Geneva like a Jolly Volga boatman on a Saturday night off. He smiles. He laughs. He even makes jokes.

"I've never seen him so relaxed," said an American delegate who has known Molotov for at least nine years, "and while he still says 'nyet' (no), he says it with a smile."

"I've watched him at many conferences," said a French delegate, "and he's never before behaved like this. He acts as if he hasn't a care in the world."

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan is reported to have commented to his ministerial colleagues about Molotov's easy manners around the conference table—and his mellowness in the conference bar. After Macmillan followed French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay in the conference chairman's chair, Molotov is reported to have quipped:

"Mr. Macmillan is a better chairman — he let's me talk. Mr. Pinay shuts me up."

Asked if anyone at the conference table has questioned Molotov about his reported intention to reveal at Geneva his plans about retiring, the spokesman for the American delegation said:

"No, that question hasn't come up."

Members of other delegations who have been talking to Molotov say he hasn't given the slightest hint of imminent retirement.

"He's always joking," explained saw another delegate drinking orange juice during the 'tea break,' Molotov came up and said—'You'd better order something stronger for I'm going to make a speech.' "

Molotov, one Western delegate pointed out, is the life of the party in the conference bar.

"He started out on fruit juice," he explained, switched to strong tea and his latest move was to march up to the bar and say in very good French:

Snyder Men Will Attend Conference

Four Snyder men will be in Austin tomorrow and Tuesday to attend the Texas Conference on Education.

The four will be a part of a delegation of 32 persons from the 24th Senatorial District in West Texas attending the conference. They are Herbert Feather, Bob Crowell, Paul Keaton, and Dr. Cecil Yarbrough. They were appointed several days ago at a district conference.

The conferences are being held prior to a White House conference on education which has been called by President Eisenhower to study educational needs in the country. From the state conference will come recommendations for the national meeting, and delegates will be chosen to go to Washington.

The delegates from this district will take a long list of recommendations to Austin with them. Among them are those opposing federal aid to schools, in favor of more local support of education, higher salaries for teachers, additional building needs for the growing number of school children, methods of recruiting and keeping teachers while still keeping standards high, and favoring more adult education.

Porkers Battle Back To Tie Aggies, 7-7

Hogs Tie Score In Last Four Minutes

By ADREN COOPER

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 29 (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks, gunned for three quarters, came back with a 79-yard drive in the last five minutes to tie the favored Texas A&M Aggies 7-7 before a homecoming crowd of 27,000 here today.

Texas A&M, which had won five straight before this game, scored on a 5-yard march just after the half. They penetrated inside the Arkansas 20 on four other occasions. But the Aggies couldn't get the extra touchdown they needed to keep their Southwest Conference record clean. A&M had won two conference games against no defeats.

Arkansas' big play was a pass from quarterback George Walker to Preston Carpenter which covered 28 yards and set up the tying touchdown on the Aggie four.

The pass traveled about 10 yards in the air and Carpenter made 18 more with a fine bit of broken-field running. It took the Porkers four plays to cross the goal with Walker sneaking the last few inches.

The Aggies, with a superior line, carried the second half kickoff back 59 yards for their touchdown. Halfbacks Loyd Taylor and John Crow slashed the Arkansas middle consistently for short yardage.

Quarterback Jimmy Wright shot a quick pass to Taylor for the touchdown. Taylor was all alone on the right side of the end zone as he took the toss.

Only four minutes were left after Arkansas tied up the game, but the Porkers almost produced another touchdown. They quickly stopped the Aggies and then drove from their 21 to the A&M 28. Sub Glen Wood tried a field goal from that point, but the game ended before the kick, which was far short.

The statistics were almost as even as the score. Arkansas had a total of 295 yards—including 217 by rushing—compared to 272 for the Aggies. Each team completed five of 11 passes.

Arkansas muffed two other scoring opportunities. The Porkers failed to score by inches in the second quarter and lost the ball on a fumble in the third quarter on the A&M 17.

It was the first time the Aggies had been halted since they lost their opener to mighty UCLA. Arkansas had been beaten by Texas Christian and Baylor—the two conference teams that lost to the Aggies—and carried a 3-3 season record into the game.

The Aggies used a system that had worked for their five previous triumphs—alert, quick line play. The forwards had an easy time opening holes for Taylor, Crow, Jack Pardee and Bill Diffee.

Although the statistics showed the Razorbacks with a slight edge, their attack was spotty until the last quarter and most of their yardage was gained at the Arkansas end of the field.

GOAL BOUND—Bobby Pollard, Tiger halfback, is shown heading goalward during the first quarter of Friday night's game with Sweetwater at Tiger Stadium. Pollard had just received a pass from Powell Berry and although he was in the clear at the Mustang 10 when he caught the ball, he lost his footing and fell to the turf at the 3. The play, covering 21 yards, nevertheless set up the Tigers' first TD en route to a 26-14 victory over the Ponies. Bobby Hartgraves is the Sweetwater player shown. (Lee Watson photograph)

Late Kentucky Tally Beats Rice

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 29 (AP)—Quarterback Bob Hardy twisted through the Rice line for a dramatic 12-yard touchdown run to bring Kentucky off the floor and to a 20-16 football victory today.

Hardy's daring kept alive a 64-yard scoring drive when on fourth down and 10 to go on the Rice 42 he fired an 18-yard strike to end Bradley Mills. Hardy put over the clincher with three minutes and 40 seconds left and Kentucky then staved off a desperate last minute passing attack by Rice.

Fortunes changed swiftly in the last half and Rice twice took the lead, first a 9-8 on a 22-yard field goal by Jerry Hall and later on a 15-yard touchdown spring by Page Rogers.

But each time that Kentucky was down, it found a counterpunch, first in Dick Moloney's 43-yard run around right end with a pitch-out and finally with Hardy's game-winning score.

The wild last half was in direct contrast to the defensive battle in the first two periods that saw Kentucky drive 72 yards with the opening kickoff to score in 12 plays and Rice move 64 yards to a score in 14 ground movements.

Mountaineers In Easy Win

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 29 (AP) — Freddy Wyant, West Virginia's little quarterback, sparked the Mountaineers to their sixth straight victory of the 1955 football season today with a 39-0 rout of Marquette University.

The stumbling Warriors were powerless against the onslaught by the Mountaineers, ranked seventh nationally in the weekly AP poll.

In the opening minutes, Wyant scored the first touchdown on a 1-yard sneak. He racked up his second of the game early in the third period on a 51-yard dash around right tackle.

Other West Virginia touchdowns were registered by: Bob Moss on a brilliant 84-yard scamper; Jack Rabbits, running for 33, Joe Papetti fo 54, and Roger Chancey for 24. Sam Huff placekicked the three conversions for Wyant's and Moss' touchdowns.

The only serious threat offered by the Warriors came in the second period. Marquette brought the ball from its own 47 down to the West Virginia 14 but quarterback Jere Carmody fumbled and Gene Lathy recovered for the Mountaineers.

Sooner Team Swamps Cats

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 29 (AP) —Moving relentlessly towards an Orange Bowl date, the Oklahoma Sooners whistled past Kansas State's Wildcats 40-7 for their 25th successive football victory today before a Homecoming gathering of 18,500.

It was almost an effortless success for Oklahoma, the nation's No. 2 team. The Sooners hit quickly for three touchdowns in the first quarter, two in the second and had a 33-0 advantage by half-time.

In winning, Oklahoma marked its 50th Big Seven game without a defeat.

Clendon Thomas, a 185-pound sophomore, scored two of the six Sooner touchdowns as Coach Bud Wilkinson's second unit scored three touchdowns to divide offensive honors with the starting crew.

Villanova Flattens Richmond, 16 To 14

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 —A vastly improved Villanova team took good advantage of first-half breaks to score a safety and touchdrive in the third quarter today over Richmond with a 68-yard down, then sewed up a 16-14 win before 7,935 at the Wildcats' suburban Main Line Stadium.

The victory was the first in six 1955 starts for the Wildcats and the third loss against two wins and a tie for the Spiders from Richmond.

The pinpoint passing of quarterback Johnny Ferruolo Jr. from Providence, R. I., and the scat running of Davey Parr, 175-pound sophomore from Baltimore, were the margin of victory.

WEST POINT, N.Y., Oct. 29 (AP) —Don Holleder made critics of his passing eat their words today by throwing three touchdown forwards and scoring once in Army's 27-7 ramble over Colgate.

The rangy 6-2 Army quarterback from Webster, N. Y., who was moved from end to backfield by Coach Red Blaik for the '55 season, finally emerged from his half-season of passing futility. The fast-charging Army line gave him plenty of time to get set for his left-handed pegs.

Just to emphasize his graduation, Holleder pitched one touchdown pass 30 yards to Ralph Chesnauskas, a former tackle who was converted into an end during the week. Holleder threw to Art Johnson for 42 and Mike Iegler for 8 yards in his other scoring efforts. He had raced 12 yards around his left end on a "keep" play for the first Army touchdown.

In five previous games, the much-criticized Holleder had connected with only 6 of 31 passes for 90 yards and had 4 tosses intercepted.

Maroons Edge North Texas

SSTATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 29 (AP)—Substitute halfback William Earl Morgan and Gordon Myrick pumped new life into a sluggish Mississippi State offense today and he injury-riddled Maroons edged an ambitious North Texas State football team 20-7 before 13,000 fans.

Morgan, a 150-pound sophomore who barely stands 5-2, scored on a 15-yard end sweep early in the first period. But Mississippi State, with star quarterback Bill Stanton and halfback Art Davis sidelined with injuries, couldn't get its offense going again until the third period.

Myrick, a 178-pound junior, went 11 yards on a reverse in the third quarter to score the second touchdown.

The big North Texas eleven, seeking an upset, had played the Mississippians on an almost even basis during the mid part of the game. North Texas scored its touchdown on a 17-yard pass in the third period from quarterback Don Baker to halfback Tommy Runnels.

Irish Knock Navy From Unbeaten List

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29 (AP)—Navy's perfect football record was shattered 21-7 this dismal, drizzling afternoon by a gambling, crunching Notre Dame team as Paul Hornung humbled Middie George Welsh in a battle of neralded quarterbacks.

The Irish, playing before their largest home crowd in history, 59,475, rocked the nation's best defensive team for a 21-0 lead in three quarters of play and then staved off Navy's frantic effort to avoid its first defeat in six games.

Hornung smashed 1 yard to the first touchdown in the second quarter, passed 15 yards to end Gene Kapish for another TD and twice intercepted Welsh passes aimed at all-America end Ron Beagle.

Thus did the Irish break Navy's nine - game winning streak — a string started after Notre Dame beat the Middies 6-0 last year.

It was a miserable football day, with the officials placing a towel over the ball between plays, but seldom in this one-sided series was one as fiercely waged. Notre Dame now has won 24 times in the 29-game rivalry which has seen one tie.

After Hornung's 1-yard sneak for the first score, sophomore halfback Aubrey Lewis, in his first play of the game, sprinted 12 yards around Navy's left end for a 14-0 Irish lead midway in the third period.

Kapish grabbed Hornung's third period pass for the third touchdown before Navy finally scored. The Middie touchdown came on aa 2-yard effort by halfback Ned Oldham in the fourth period.

North Carolina St. Tames Furman, 33-7

GREENVILLE, S. C. Pct. 29 (AP) —North Carolina State used its strong running attack to score three rapid fire touchdowns in the first half and then went on to defeat Furman's winless Hurricanes 33-7 today.

For the Wolfpack, it was the second straight victory against three losses and a tie. For Furman—dominiated by freshmen and sophomores—it was the sixth straight defeat.

Frogs Whip Baylor, 28-6

By DAVE CHEAVENS

WACO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Flashy All America candidate James Swink led Texas Christian to an impressive 28-6 victory over Baylor's discipline-riddled Bears today, virtually rolling the Bruins out of the Southwest Conference race.

Apparently Baylor's loss of three key linemen last week for training rule infractions had little to do with the beating they took from the bruising Frogs before 34,000 at Baylor Stadium. Texas Christian itself started the game with two first line guards out of the lineup.

It was just too much Swink and his football pals for Baylor.

Swink set an all-time scoring record for one season for TCU when his fourth period 9-yard gallop for a touchdown brought his total for the season to 81 points—better than Cy Leland's 79 in 1929.

Del Shofner ran 56 yards for Baylor's lone touchdown early in the first period. Center Hugh Pitts blocked the extra point try. The Horned Frogs rolled 93 yards for their first score in the second period, with quarterback Charles Curtis going through on a fake handoff from the five.

Harold Pollard made good on the first of four point conversions.

Ray Taylor ran 52 for TCU's second touchdown in the third Curtis plunged for the Frog's third; score and Swink's long run brought the fourth touchdown for TCU.

Doyle Traylor returned to regular service for the Bears and threw many long, good passes, but not when they counted most.

Traylor, out except for a brief fling against A&M last week, came into the game in the second quarter and was in and out until the end.

Still limping slightly from a broken leg, the Baylor quarterback tried 13 and completed 6 passes for 108 yards, with two intercepted.

Swink, second until today's game nationally in total offense, gained a net of 158 yards against Baylor, carrying 14 times for an average of 11.3.

But his performance was challenged by Shofner of Baylor, who carried six times for a total 84—a big 14 yards average per try. Taylor of TCU was another running star with 74 yards on 8 tries for an average of 9.3.

Texas Christian's towering 212 pound center Hugh Pitts did some ball-carrying himself. He intercepted a Traylor pass in the fourth period on the Baylor 45. He lumbered downfield 34 yards to the Baylor 21 and Curtis' sneak four plays later brought TCU's third touchdown.

Late Michigan Rally Beats Iowa, 33-21

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—Mighty Michigan poured across 20 points in the final 9 minutes to prove its perfect record and national ranking is no illusion with a magnificent 33-21 uphill victory today over Iowa's forlorn Hawkeyes.

While a crowd of 72,096 went into near hysterics, quarterback Jim Maddock fired touchdown passes of 65 and 60 yards and Tony Branoff swept 30 yards in the dying minutes to climax one of the greatest rallies in Big Ten football history.

The dramataic triumph, achieved before a national television audience, gave third ranked Michigan its sixth straight victory, making the Wolverines stronger than ever choices for the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl game Jan. 2.

The Hawkeyes, who haven't beaten Michigan since 1924, played sound football for the first 50 minutes, but then collapsed in the final 9 minutes.

Yale Ambles Over Dartmouth, 20-0

NEW HAEN, Conn., Oct. 29 (AP) —Rebounding Yale, paced by its touchdown twins, Dennis (The Big Menace) McGill and Al Ward, tallied three times in the second half to blank Dartmouth 20-0 today for its fourth straight Ivy League triumph.

The Elis managed to handcuff Bill Beagle, the nation's leading passer, at critical moments in turning in a convincing victory, 24th over the Indians in a 39-game series that goes back to 1884. Dartmouth has won 11 and four have ended in ties.

Gail Rips Past Dawson, 46-33

GAIL, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Gail Coyotes kept their hopes alive for the District 6-B Six Man title Friday night when they outdueled Dawson, 46-33 at Dawson.

It was the third win in four District 6-B starts for the Coyotes. Knott, the only team that has beaten Gail in district play, continues to set the pace with an unbeaten record.

E. L. Franklin led the Coyotes to victory at Dawson Friday night. Franklin scored 40 of Gail's 46 points. Lonny Doyle got the other Coyote six points.

Franklin scored five touchdowns and drop-kicked five conversion tries for his 40 tallies. (Each conversion that is made by kicking in 6-Man ball counts two points).

Gail led 22-7 at the first quarter mark 30-7 at halftime and 30-14 at the three quarter stage.

Coach Eddie James of the Coyotes swept his bench during the contest.

Dawson outgained the Coyotes in running and passing. The losers rolled up 119 yards rushing and 192 passing for a total offense of 311 yards.

Gail gained 203 yards on the ground and 61 in the air for 264 total offense.

Dawson made eight first downs to six for Gail.

Ramblin' Wreck Routs Duke, 27-0

By MERCER BAILEY

ATLANTA, Oct. 29 (AP)—The flying legs of George Volkert led Georgia Tech to two quick touchdowns against sluggish Duke today and the bowl-hopeful Engineers took it from there to whip the Blue Devils 27-0.

Volkert, a 184-pound halfback from Nashville, Tenn., set up Tech's first score with an 18-yard end sweep. He scored the second himself on a wide 22-yard run.

Tech's first TD came after Ormond Anderson recovered a fumble by Duke's Dale Boyd at the Duke 31. Dick Mattison finally scored from the 2. Volkert's touchdown sprint and Wade Mitchell's two conversions made it 14-0 with only 6 minutes gone in the first quarter.

Johnny Menger scored Tech's third touchdown in the fourth period, racing 49 yards after intercepting a pass thrown by Bob Murray.

Little Jimmy Thompson got the final Tech touchdown on a 1 yard sweep that climaxed a 54-yard march.

Without injured quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, Duke could muster no serious threat and never came closer than Tech's 28. Murray and Boyd, a converted halfback, filled in for the Blue Devils, but they didn't have the experience or know-how to get Duke's split-T machine rolling.

Duke's line consistently was outcharged and showed nothing defensively until late in the first quarter when it managed to repel a Tech thrust at the 25.

It was Duke's second straight defeat after four victories. Tech, hoping for a bid to the Sugar or Cotton Bowl, now has six victories against one loss.

Duke	0	0	0	0	—0
Georgia Tech	14	0	0	13	—27

Tech scoring — Touchdowns: Mattison (2, plunge) Volkert (22, run) Menger (49, return of intercepted pass); Thompson (1, run). Conversions: Mitchell 3.

Smog Versus Smirt

When smog was mentioned a few years ago people thought of Pittsburgh, Pa. Pittsburgh Pa., underwent a general remodeling and emerged as one of the cleanest cities in the East. St. Louis and other cities plagued by the smoke nuisance have tackled the problem with boldness and imagination. They have made enough progress to prove that no city need tolerate impure atmosphere if it is willing to do something about it.

Of recent years Los Angeles has become the butt of jokes, not very funny ones to the residents thereof we daresay, as a result of bad atmosphere.

And now New Orleans, where considerable industrial development has taken place, comes up with an "outbreak" of smog that killed two asthma patients and sent 350 others to the hospital. The serious onset occurred Tuesday night, and the smog returned for a repeat performance Wednesday night. A stretch of U.S. Highway 90 east of the Crescent City was so besmogged that police patrol cars which went out to lend motorists a hand became smogbound themselves, and the patrolmen were unable to get more then a few feet from their own cars. Finally, they gave up, and pulled off the road to await lifting of the cloud.

West Texas isn't bothered with industrial smog, since it has practically no fog and very little smoke. Smog, of course, is a combination of smoke and fog. Using the same system of word coinage you, might say West Texas is sometimes afflicted with smirt, for soil and dirt, or wist, for wind and dust.

We do sometimes have a bit of fog, but it doesn't hang around very long and it is seldom a traffic problem.

But thanks to the blessings of natural gas in abundance, our cities are practically smog-free, our buildings stand clean and sparkling in the sun, and our people have nothing to worry about but an occasional duststorm.

Nobody likes eating and breathing dust, to be sure; but that's where West Texans get so much sand in their craws. As anybody knows a person with sand in his craw is a game rooster.

Mr. Butler Goes 'Wham'

With a few carefully-weighed words, R. A. ("Rab") Butler, chancellor of Britain's exchequer, Wednesday wiped Princess Margaret and Captain Townsend off the country's front pages for the first time in a month. Dispatches indicate this disappearance act was pleasing to editors, for they had about milked the subject of the Princess' marriage to a divorced commoner dry, and were glad to change the subject if only for a day.

Butler's announcement of a 20 percent hike in the retail tax—what we'd call the sales tax—left the country gasping. It was called "a raid on the kitchen," for it covered everything from pots and pans to toothpaste and automobiles.

Oddly enough, too much prosperity was behind the tax hike. Too many Britons had been working at too high wages. Out of their surplus cash they bought everything under the sun; they had been laying it on lavishly. This was bad, for Britain found itself turning out goods for home consumption and thus perforce neglecting the one thing that keeps her financial head above the water—that is, production for export. From a very high reserve only a year or so ago, the country's backlog of gold (a figurative term as here used) dwindled to the point of no return.

Something had to be done, and with characteristic courage and directness, the government acted. No preliminary jawing. No testing public sentiment. No regard for political effect, but wham! Up went retail taxes 20 percent, to cool the ardor of the free spenders, to divert production from domestic goods to goods for export, to replenish the exchequer.

There will be howls of course, loud and long, and Labor will howl louder and longer than anybody. But under the circumstances the Conservative government could see no other recourse, and that was that.

No other approach to the threat of uncontrolled inflation could have quicker and more visible effect.

If Ike Doesn't Run—

Stevenson Lacking Touch Of Arrogance Voters Usually Require Of A Candidate

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — There seems to be only one real shadow on Adlai E. Stevenson's otherwise bright prospects for the Democratic nomination this year. Stevenson has a tremendously elevated conception of the Presidency. He will not make the claim, which seems arrogant to him, that he is the only man for this job he holds in such reverence.

You have got to believe you are the only man for the job, if you want the voters to believe it too. You have got to believe it so hard that you are willing and even eager to slug it out with other contenders. You have got to believe it so hard, too, that you are willing and even eager to make normal political compromises, in order to attain the grand object of getting the job.

Now Stevenson, as of today, seems to be willing to slug it out with his rivals, but he is certainly not eager to do so. By the same token, he is certainly not eager, and he is perhaps not even willing, to make the normal, unavoidable compromises that every candidate must make.

Compromising on the farm issue, for instance, is an obvious necessity for him. Yet he is agonizing over the farm issue because, so far as one can judge, he thinks that any kind of compromise will call into question his moral fitness for the great tasks and heavy burdens of the Presidency.

This kind of delicacy is admirable in a private individual. But it is also a weakness in a serious competitor in the great but often ugly game of politics. In this reporter's judgment, it is the real weakness in the Stevenson candidacy. If Stevenson chooses, he can actually draw strength from the other supposed weaknesses, such as the much-touted menace of Senator Estes Kefauver.

The astute Chicago mayor and political boss, Richard Daley, and other practical - minded mentors are now pleading with Stevenson to fight a couple of key primaries against Kefauver in the way Thomas E. Dewey fought the Oregon primary against Harold E. Stassen in 1948. The Dewey victory finished off Stassen that year. But a comparable Stevenson victory, if he wins it will not only finish off Kefauver. It will also finish off Carmine DeSapio's rather complicated strategy for nominating Averell Harriman. After that, Stevenson will almost be nominated by acclamation.

* * *

The primaries, in short, are the crux of Stevenson's problem. They are a great potential source of strength to him as well as a grave potential danger. Other Stevenson advisers less courageous and politically tough then Daley persist in looking only at the risk of the primaries. They will not look at the primaries' promise for their man. The reason for this, no doubt, is their feeling that a very big bird in the hand is worth two birds in the bush.

The truth is that the odd little political organization which has formed around Adlai Stevenson can already count up so much convention strength that real risk-taking, in primaries or elsewhere, quite naturally seems repellent.

Significantly, the real base of this Stevenson strength is in the southern and border states, which he has been quietly but effectively cultivating for the last four years. Such leading southerners as Senator Richard Russell are actually expected to announce for him. Even after allowing for the possible defection of President Truman in Missouri, the Stevenson camp counts on a couple of hundred southern and border state delegates.

There are lot of other states outside the south, like Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, Kansas and of course Illinois, where the key leaders are solidly committed to Stevenson. These states bring the delegate count to 475, or within shooting distance, already, of a clear and final victory.

* * *

Delegate - counting at this early stage is of course much more of a parlor game than a practical political pursuit. But Stevenson's lead at the beginning of the race is clearly commanding. And this lead is also reinforced by another kind of advantage, which seems to this reporter even more important.

Voters go into a national election, after all, much in the way kids go into an ice cream parlor. They know they want one kind of candidate rather than another, generally without being able to specify precisely why, just as kids in an ice cream parlor want vanilla rather than strawberry or chocolate, but cannot explain precisely why they are in a vanilla mood rather than a chocolate or strawberry mood.

Every available indicator, all the way from President Eisenhower's vast popularity to the results of the political polls, now suggest that what the voters want for 1956 is a moderate - flavored candidate with serious overtones. Stevenson is just that sort of Democratic candidate. He is more solid than Kefauver. He is more of a moderate than Harriman. In a time, in short, when the electorate seems to want vanilla, Stevenson looks like being vanilla.

Furthermore, with the exception of the probably unavailable Chief Justice Warren, Stevenson now looks more like vanilla than any Republican candidate who is now being considered. In these circumstances, the Stevenson camp ought to be confidently jubilant and spoiling for the fight ahead. The apparent absence of these emotions in the Stevenson camp is the biggest reason for doubt as to Stevenson's prospects.

People Who Want To Solve Economic Woes Of Cities Should Pay A Visit To Trieste

By HOSTON HARTE

TRIESTE (By Mail) — The traveler who yearns to attempt to solve the economic problems of cities or to find out what makes a business community click should visit Trieste. Every popular movement in Trieste has resulted in thwarting its economic growth and every attempt to cure its political and social problems has curtailed its trade territory and circumscribed its commerce.

In America our cities grow or fail because of the use we make of our resources. A city is almost entirely what the men who live in it or once lived in it have made of it. In Europe these same forces have their weight, but the imponderable element is the continual political struggle which keeps the country either in war, trying to recover from war, or preparing for another.

Situated at the head of the almost landlocked Adriatic with a beautiful deepwater port, Trieste has had a history that dates back to the 12th Century before Christ. Every conqueror has coveted the natural advantages of its superb location. The high Alps become low mountains and hills north of Trieste. Railroads and highways from the center of Europe came here to seek the nearest tidewater.

Military men through the ages have considered it an essential supply base to guard the historic Lubgatna Gap, the traditional gateway for the armies of the East to drive into the Po Valley. Here the Turks came into Europe time and time again from 539 to 751. Our own general staff is concerned today with keeping Trieste in friendly hands.

The Roman Emperors Augustus, 33 B. C., and Trajan, 96-117 A. D., and other Romans recognized its importance and fortified and beautified the city. The Goths, the Turks, Charlemagne, and Napoleon held it as a part of their realms. Under Empress Maria Theresa of Austria it became the principal port of entry and export of the Austrian Empire, and through it, all of central Europe.

In 1719 Trieste became a free port under the sponsorship of Austria. During the 40-year fruitful reign of Maria Theresa, Trieste enjoyed an expanded trading area and unusual prosperity. Napoleon recognized the city's importance and though he occupied it three times he did much to enlarge and strengthen the city's commercial activities. But with his fall the port lost its freedom through the Treaty of Vienna and along with what is now Yugoslavia became an integral part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Trieste became Austria's principal naval base.

With the creation of a united Italy in 1870, Trieste, or some part of it at least, set up a cry to join Italy. Eight days before the signing of the Armistice on Nov. 11, 1918, the Italian army "liberated" Trieste. In the realginment of territory and trading areas through the Treaty of Versailles, Trieste tied to hang on to its position as a distributing center. It has been a losing battle ever since.

In 1947 Trieste became a sort of free port again. But Yugoslavia and Italy could not agree on its management. The Big Four could not agree on a governor for the port, so the British and American armies stayed in the city. It was a case where we were in and the Russians were not willing to start a war to drive us out.

In October, 1954, a memorandum agreement was signed between Italy, Yugoslavia, Britain, and the United States which divided the city into two zones, giving one to Italy and the other to Yugoslavia. With this our occupation army moved out and with it went the dollar support of 8,000 American soldiers and their food and maintenance. It was the hardest economic blow the city had suffered since the Versailles Treaty, but like the Versailles Treaty, its signing was hailed in Trieste by several days of celebrations.

The agreement signed in London is supposed to settle Trieste, but neither Italy nor Yugoslavia recognizes it as a settlement. They call it a "memorandum agreement," which in diplomacy means that should anything turn up, either side can reopen the agreement and try to take advantage of any opening the new situation provides.

It is this sort of thing that has kept Europe in turmoil since the dawn of civilization. Actually Trieste is merely a sleeping city awaiting the next turn in the wheel of power politics. Its great disadvantages is its historic strategic position at a crucial location on the earth's surface.

Now part of Trieste has been liberated and in so doing a great deal of its trade territory has been lost. It is adding its unemployment to that of Italy. Trieste is supported by an extensive system of public works paid for by the Italian government. Italy can afford this expenditure just so long. Any curtailment in Marshall Plan funds is certain to be felt in Trieste.

To a Texan Trieste has a special interest. It was from Trieste that Maximilian and Carlotta sailed away on their abortive expedition to Mexico. Their beautiful castle, Miramare, is about five miles from downtown Trieste. It is a dream of a palace, situated on a solid rock cliff overlooking the warm, clear, blue Adriatic. The castle is now a museum. It is furnished as it was when these ill advised adventurers sailed away for Mexico.

United States To Lose Hero, But Keep A Legend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— The United States Army will lose a hero next week but keep a legend.

The hero is Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, one of the bravest and best-loved officers in American military history.

The legend this holder of the first Medal of Honor won in Korea leaves behind him is the epic story of the valor he showed on the battlefield and his fortitude during more than three years as a prisoner of war.

At 56, Gen. Dean, a onetime streetcar conductor and policeman, is winding up a brilliant 32-year military career. He will retire Monday as deputy commander of the Army after a final troop review in his honor at the historic Presidio of San Francisco.

No man has better earned retirement, but thousands of veterans will hate to see him go. He has been truly "the soldier's soldier," exemplifying in both deed and manner the best that is taught at West Point, a school Gen. Dean never attended himself.

Although some of his men revered him almost as if he were a 49th star in the flag, the general shrank from being publicly labeled a hero.

"I'm just a dog-faced soldier," he always insisted.

He was, too. His men liked him for that. But he was something more also. He was a general of the old type, a commander who, when the going got really tough, liked to go up front and lead his men in combat personally.

That style of leadership presumably went out of style after the Civil War, but it never went out of style with Dean. Where his troops needed him most, there he was.

In World War II he won the Distinguished Service Cross, the nation's second highest award for valor, for leading his men on foot through a continuous artillery barrage to knock out an enemy battery.

It was the same brand of courage that gained him the Medal of Honor in Korea. He became separated from his men while helping them fight a Red tank with hand grenades and bazookas during a desperate holding action.

As commander of the 24th Division Gen. Dean had been given the all-but-impossible mission to blunt the force of the entire North Korean advance until America could rush reinforcements from Japan and home port and form a real battleline. That mission was accomplished.

Dean hid for more than a month behind enemy lines—most of the time without food—until a Korean civilian betrayed him to the enemy.

The enemy kept word of his capture secret. Most of his men thought him dead. But the example of his courage lived on.

Soldiers rarely care much one way or another for a general officer. He is ordinarily remote from them. I came to Korea as a reporter shortly after Dean disappeared, and I was amazed at the depth of feeling his men had for him. Some even broke into tears when they spoke of him. They felt as if somehow they had let him down.

During his long ordeal as a prisoner, kept in solitary confinement, Dean's reddish hair turned gray. He counted flies and worked mathematical problems in his head to keep from going crazy. Once, fearing he would lose his mind or break under torture and reveal the secret of America's plan for the defense of Japan, he even plotted suicide.

Since his release, Dean has shown a remarkable sympathy and understanding of the problems of American war prisoners. With a rectitude painful to behold he has resisted attempts to lionize him, even implied he was a darn fool ever to let himself get caught.

All to no avail. He has proved himself a hero on many battlefronts, and whether he likes the idea or not, he will live as a top hero in his nation's annals. It is difficult for any honest man with a sense of humor to regard himself as a hero, but heroes are as necessary to the human race as food and water.

One thing about Gen. Dean is certain: He never liked being a desk soldier, and nobody is likely to give him a swivel chair as a going-away present.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Few incidents in television have moved me less than the news the other day that Arthur Godfrey had fired three more of his hired help.

It's true that you feel sorry for anybody who gets fired. But it's also true that if you or I get fired the event will hardly make the news—unless we shoot the boss or abscond with the treasury.

When Godfrey first began firing members of what used to be called his radio and television family, the public was enchanted by the mystery of why he did it. Godfrey explained that he was trying to improve his shows. A lot of people refused to accept his explanation.

On this round, when cornered by a reporter in Harrisburg, Pa., he said:

"Do I have to give reasons? I'm running this job and if I can't fire and hire people to suit myself, I'm going to quit myself. It's my show and when I see it's time to make changes, I make them."

In his asking, "Do I have to give reasons?" I choose to believe that Godfrey was questioning the point in further explanation. In the past he fired Julius La Rosa on the air and was bitterly criticized. He tried firing people privately and was criticized for that. He explained that he was trying to improve his shows—and many didn't believe him. He tried offering no explanation—and was cricitized for that.

Personally I'm not much of a fan of Godfrey's programs. As several peole suggested by mail after I panned one of his shows, maybe I have a hole in the head. But, hole in the head or not, I think he's within his rights in firing anybody he desires without explanation to the public.

There was a time—back in the days when Godfrey maintained the theme that he and his employes were one big happy family—when it was necessary for him to explain why he'd changed his tune and kicked somebody out.

But by this time it's obvious that Godfrey's entertainment empire is not just one big happy family. So what's all the excitement about?

There are many important things happening in the world of television and radio today. But the relationship of Arthur Godfrey with his employes is not one of them.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

OFF THE BOOK BEAT— "Oh, this city!"

The young author threw up his hands in bewilderment.

"The waste! In France it isn't like this. People save everything, they're thrifty. We didn't have a CAR" the roar of traffic outside the New York hotel was deafening —"we had bicycles. We didn't rent an apartment, we were lucky enough to have someone lend us a home in the country for two years while I finished the book. We can't see feeding kidneys to cats, we eat kidneys ourselves.

"I left Paris a month ago and already I miss it. I feel like an immigrant."

His name is Allan Temko. He was brought up in Queens, a New York borough; he was educated at Columbia, served in the Navy, was a reporter on the San Francisco Chronicle, taught at the University of California, got acquainted with France and also wrote a novel—unpublished—on the G I Bill, taught at the Sorbonne and now he's back here, perhaps to teach again, with a new published handsomely praised book, "Notre-Dame of Paris," (Viking) a sort of biography of the great cathedral.

He had thought of doing a study of the Middle Ages with Henry Adams' "Mont Saint Michel and Chartres" as the starting point. From that he changed to his own choosing.

"A lot of people would have been pretty proud to have done your book," I said.

"But would they have been willing to pay the price for it? he asked. "Would they have given up their autos, or put off paying the doctor's bill for the baby, or lived in a place with no hot water?"

New Mar's Information Sought By Astronomer

By MARGARET KERNODLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It would be good if someone could get new information on Mars next summer," said the pert and pretty mother of three grown children.

"Mars will be closer to the earth in 1956 than in the past 17 years —just 35 million miles away, or within several hundred thousand miles of as close as it can come," she explained excitedly.

Helen Sawyer Hogg, world - renowned astronomer, probably will be among the first to learn any new discoveries on Mars in her new job as program director of the astronomical section of the National Science Foundation, a block from the white house. The job will include the coordinating of requests for research grants for astronomical findings.

A native of Lowell, Mass., Dr. Hogg met her astronomer husband, the late Dr. Frank Hogg of Ontario, Canada, when they were graduate students at Harvard. They went to Victoria, British Columbia, where she was the first woman to use the big telescope there. In 1935 they went to Toronto, Canada, where her husband died in 1951 while director of the David Dunlap observatory of the University of Toronto. She now is on leave from the University of Toronto to work with the government - endowed scientific program here.

Recently she completed a catalogue of 1,421 variable stars —all the variables in star clusters. (A variable star is one that varies in its apparent magnitude.) This book, published by the University of Toronto, she calls "a compilation of everybody's work," though she spent two years putting it together. Her scientist friends say it's typical of her modesty to make that remark.

I asked whether she brought her own telescope to Washington. "No," she smiled. "It was too big. It ranks the fourth biggest in the world, with a dome weighing 80 tons."

Tiger Comeback Beats Mustangs, 26 - 14

Spikes Leads Way In Tiger Victory

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

Snyder's battling Tigers, playing inspired football in the second half of play, retained their District 1-AAA leadership Friday night with a thrill-packed 26-14 victory over the Sweetwater Mustangs before a full house at Tiger Stadium.

Coach John Conley's Tigers spotted the Mustangs a 7-0 lead in the early minutes of the game and then fought back to overtake the Ponies late in the third quarter and put the game on ice in the early moments of the fourth.

The Tigers matched the early Sweetwater touchdown with a TD of their own late in opening period but the Mustangs converted after their score while the Tigers missed and that left the Mustangs leading, 7-6, at the first quarter mark.

It was still 7-6 at halftime.

Then the Tigers went to work late in the third period to take the lead with their second touchdown of the evening and then score two more times in the first six minutes of the final quarter for a 26-7 lead, all but icing the decision.

The power-running of Jack Spikes was just too much for the Mustangs to cope with. Spikes crossed paydirt twice and was easily the game's leading runner of the night.

The 187-pound Spikes toted the pigskin for 159 yards from scrimmage and added 82 more on a punt return for the game clinching touchdown in the first minute of the fourth quarter.

TIGERS TAKE LEAD

The punt runback came seconds after the Tigers had taken a 12-7 lead as time was running out in the third quarter.

Spikes gathered in a Sweetwater punt on his own 18 on the east side of the gridiron, reversed his field, and then streaked through a wide gap that had been made with some beautiful downfield blocking and it was "Katy bar the door" from the 50 yard line on for the dashing Spikes.

No one laid a hand on Spikes after he crossed the midfield stripe. The tally upped the Tiger lead to 18-7 and for all practical purposes, that was the ball game. The TD also served in taking just about all the fire out of the Mustangs.

The fourth Tiger TD came rather easily. The Bengals held the Mustangs four downs following the ensuing kickoff and took possession on the Mustang 41. In four plays the Tigers had another touchdown. Spikes carried for 6, 22 and 2 yards to put it on the Mustang 11 from where Joe Baxter took a pitchout and circled wide around his right end for the touchdown to increase the Tiger lead to 26-7. Joe McNew converted after each of the fourth quarter Tiger touchdowns.

Sweetwater took the kickoff and drove 58 yards for their final score, coming with 3:49 minutes left in the game.

The fired-up Mustangs opened up with a bang, taking the opening kick-off and driving 66 yards to paydirt. The drive took only eight plays with fullback Bobby Hartgraves completing the march with a 23-yard scamper through the middle. Harold Hobbs converted to give the Mustangs a 7-0 lead.

Four minutes later the Tigers had their first touchdown. A fumble set up the tally. Bobby Hartgraves attempting to receive a Tiger punt, fumbled on his own 22 and Wiley Denson recovered for the Tigers.

The Tigers had their first tally five plays later. Baxter picked up three and after Bobby Pollard lost four on an end sweep, Powell Berry fired a pass to Pollard who took it down to the Mustang 3, the play covering 21 yards. Baxter got two yards and Spikes plowed over for the tally. Joe Reaves' kick was under the cross bar and Sweetwater retained its lead, 7-6.

TIGERS THREATEN

Neither team scored in the second quarter but the Tigers staged a serious threat. Hal Holiday recovered a Sweetwater fumble for the Tigers on the Mustang 47 and the Tigers drove to the Sweetwater one before being stopped shy of the doublestripe.

A 25-yard punt return by Baxter set up the Tigers' go-ahead touchdown. The punt runback placed the ball on the Mustang 26 and the Tigers scored in six plays, Baxter slanting off tackle to score from the three and putting the Bengals ahead, 12-7, with 1:02 minutes left in the third period. Reaves' kick was wide to leave the score at 12-7 after three periods.

Then came the game-clinching touchdowns by the Tigers through the first half of the final quarter.

Spikes was the leading rusher with 159 yards on 26 carries. Baxter was the second top Tiger runner with 58 yards on 13 carries.

Hartgraves led the Sweetwater runners with 105 yards Hobbs, the highly heralded Mustang speedster, was held fairly in check with 77 yards on 13 totes. Hobbs' longest run of the night was a 16-yarder.

The Tiger defense turned in another sparkling performance despite the fact that Sweetwater became the first team to score on the Black and Gold in district play.

According to the News statistical chart on tackles made, Joe Reaves led the Tigers with nine. Baxter and McNew were next with six, followed by Ham with four, Spikes, Snead, Shorty Grimmett with three each, Berry, Taylor and Denson with two each, and Hal Holiday, Don Savage and Eddie Joyce, one each. This does not include assists made on tackles.

Hartgraves led Sweetwater's defenders with 10 tackles with Feagan, Meyer and Roberts getting six each.

COMING THROUGH—Jack Spikes, No. 20, swift-running Tiger halfback, finds a big hole in the Sweetwater defense and rambles 22 yards to the Sweetwater 13 yard line to set up the final Tiger TD midway through the fourth quarter in Friday night's all-important tilt at Tiger Stadium. Tiger at left is fullback Joe Baxter who is throwing a timely block. Harold Hobbs is the Mustang at the right. Spikes had just taken a handoff from Jerry Taylor, No. 11, in right background. The Tigers won, 26-14. (Lee Watson photograph)

Missouri Tramples Colorado

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 29 (AP)—Six magnificent catches by senior end Harold Burnine keyed three first-half touchdown drives that fired Missouri to its first football victory of the season, a 20-12 triumph over Colorado today.

The disappointed Homecoming crowd of 30,000, shocked by Colorado's ineptness, applauded the 6-2 end's sticky-fingered display that broke the Tigers' 7-game losing streak.

In the first quarter Burnine grabbed an 18-yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Hunter and a 10-yarder from Halfback Sonny Stringer to highlight a 61-yard drive in 13 plays for the opening score.

Burnine's catch of another 12-yard toss from Hunter featured a 39-yard touchdown drive that was touched off when Stringer intercepted a Colorado pass. Missouri ran the count to 20-0 midway in the second quarter on a 32-yard drive following Larry Plumb's recovery of a fumble.

Colorado, taking to the air in a desperate fourth quarter, struck for two touchdowns.

Maryland Rips S.C. By 27-0

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — First-ranked Maryland, with steady Ed Vereb's three touchdowns setting the pace, jumped to an early lead today and rolled to a 27-0 football victory over South Carolina.

Vereb, 185-pound halfback from Pittsburgh, put the Terrapins ahead early by carrying for all but 10 yards of 59-yard drive and scoring from 3 yards out. That tied the Atlantic Coast Conference scoring record of 54 points — his two later touchdowns broke the record—giving him 66 points on 11 TDs.

While Vereb and his teammates were running wild, the Maryland defense held the Gamecocks in almost complete check before a Homecoming Day crowd of 28,000.

The victory was another big step toward the Orange Bowl for the unbeaten Terps.

It was the 12th straight for the Terps, who haven't lost since Miami beat them midway in the 1954 season. South Carolina has won but two of six games this season.

For the day's work, Vereb had this to his credit in addition to the scoring:

A total 111 yards rushing on 13 carries for a 9.3 yard average one pass for 13 yards one interception, and two punt returns for a total of 12 yards.

Tiger B Drops Tilt To S'water B 19-7

SWEETWATER, Oct. 29 — The Snyder Tiger B team was "down" tonight and, as a result, was defeated 19-7 by the Sweetwater B.

The winning team was the same one which Jack Dillon's Snyder charges had downed earlier this year 34-13 in Snyder.

The loss brought the Snyder team's record to 4-2 so far this season. There are three games remaining on the B team schedule, the next of which will be at Big Spring next Saturday night.

Sweetwater scored touchdowns in the first, second, and fourth quarters, two of them on short plunges and the other on a pass play covering about 30 yards.

Snyder's one score was on a 15-yard pass play from Bobby Joines to Gary Vice. Jimmy Allen converted on a kick.

Purdue Slaps Illinois, 13-0

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 29 (AP)—With their beef trust completely smothering Illinois' national-ranking attack today, the Purdue Boilermakers hooked up a pair of 80 yard scoring drives to wreck the Illini's Homecoming 13-0.

Only four times did Illinois get beyond midfield and never came within 19 yards of scoring.

The game was played before 61,262 fans and in a drizzle, but the field had been covered and did not appear too slick.

Minnesota Smashes Southern Cal, 25-19

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Weatherhardened Minnesota reveled in a swirling snowstorm today to beat heavily favored Southern California 25-19 behind the sledgehammer blows of sophomore fullback Dick Borstad before a Homecoming crowd of 60,000.

Hermleigh In 43-31 Win Over Rule 11

HERMLEIGH, Oct. 29 — The Hermleigh Cardinals broke a 19-19 halftime tie in the third quarter and went on to a 43-31 decision over the Rule Bobcats in a non-district football game here Friday night.

Billy Davidson led the Cardinals to victory with four touchdowns. Robbie Robinson and Clyde Wilcox scored the other two Hermleigh touchdowns.

Davidson's touchdown gallops included runs of 60 and 40 yards. His other two touchdowns came on passes from Robinson.

Robinson went 35 yards for his tally.

The win was the fourth of the season for the Cards against as many defeats.

Hermleigh will journey to Loraine next Friday for a district clash and return home Nov. 11 to meet Trent in another district contest. The latter will wind up the Cardinal season and it will feature Homecoming activities at Hermleigh.

Tulane Stuns Auburn

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Magnificent Gene Newton threw two touchdown passes today in guiding sizzling Tulane to a 27-13 upset victory over Auburn, the nation's eighth ranked football power.

Newton kept Tulane spirits soaring and his fired-up mates allowed Auburn to cross mid-field only once before the final period. He got Tulane off to a running start late in the opening quarter with a 3-yard touchdown pitch to end Will Billon before a Homecoming crowd of 35,000.

The TD seemed to inspire Tulane's outweighed line and it took charge and held the advantage until substitutes took over and Auburn showed some life midway in the final quarter.

Fullback Joe Childress and halfback Fob James ignited Auburn's offense against the second-stringers. Fighting to keep alive their post-season bowl hopes, they carried Auburn 55 yards on six plays for its first touchdown. Childress smashed the final 3 yards.

Fullback Jim Walsh recovered a fumble by Tulane halfback Otis Gilmore on the Tulane 4 to set up the second score with James sweeping across.

Another fumble recovery by Walsh less than a minute later put Auburn only 24 yards from a potential third touchdown, but halfback Tommy Warner intercepted a pass by Howell Tubbs and sprinted 87 yards for the touchdown that iced the game for the Green Wave.

Mich. State Wins, 27-0

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 29 (AP)—Michigan State, with sophomore Walt Kowalczyk gobbling up more yardage than a runaway steam shovel, smothered Wisconsin 27-0 today and remained within striking distance of the Big 10 football championship.

Texas Outlasts Mustangs 19-18

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Texas rode with its Walt Fondren and Joe Clements and a roughhouse line to a 19-18 victory over Southern Methodist today to knock the Methodists out of a first place tie in the Southwest Conference football race.

In one of the wildest offensive games this storied series has known, the Longhorns barely edged through on the toe of Joe Youngblood and an iron-bound defense that stymied every wild charge of an SMU team that camped in Texas territory the entire last period, twice getting close enough to try field goals.

But nothing would work for the Methodists when they drove inside the Texas 10 as the Longhorns fought like a bunch of wildcats.

Fondren, the versatile sophomoren passed for one touchdown, caught a pass for another, hammered the SMU line, kicked beautifully and all in all was the big man in Texas' supreme effort that kept it in the conference race.

Texas A&M was tied by Arkansas 7-7 today and that left the Aggies only a half-game ahead of Texas, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist.

Fondren's pass for a score was for 23 yards to Ed Kelly. The throw he took for one was for 10 yards from sophomore Clements. Delano Womack got the third Texas touchdown with a 21-yard run.

Scoring for Southern Methodist, whose offense was directed by John Roach, were John Marshall on a 21-yard dash, Willard Dewveall on a 48-yard pass and run and Don McIlhenny on a 44-yard pass and run. Roach passed for two of the scores.

But Youngblood was the only fellow who could kick a point after touchdown—so he furnished the margin of victory.

A crowd of 46,500 roared in the Cotton Bowl.

Southern Methodist dominated the statistics with a tremendous 387 yards, 224 of it on the ground. Texas made only 117 rushing and 80 passing but it was that grand defense and the ability to cash in on the breaks that carried the rugged Longhorns to victory.

Twice Herb Gray, the mighty Texas guard, covered fumbles and both times they set up touchdowns.

The Longhorns fought back against crippling penalties to win this one. Texas penalties helped SMU to its first two touchdowns.

Southern Methodist's backs hung up awesome totals, Marshall roaring to 78 yards and McIlhenny to 74, but those two worthies couldn't puncture the gallant Texas line when the chips were down.

Fondren gained 45 yards rushing, 10 pass-receiving, 42 passing, averaged 37 yards on seven kicks and was defensively strong.

There were many great moments in this game but the last big one was when Ed Hawkins, Texas back, batted down a pass in the end zone that was labeled touchdown. That was Southern Methodist's last gasp. Only a minute remained and Texas got the ball on the next play and held it until time ran out.

Roach had a great day, passing for 163 yards, kicking for an average of 38 and doing some excellent running although his gains along this line were wiped out by losses on pass attempts.

Insurance On Crops Fails In Runnels

BALLINGER, Oct. 29 (AP)—After losing two million dollars in four years the federal government is ending its experimental multiple—crop insurance program in Runnels County.

Drought was blamed for failure of the program set up in 1951 to cover farmers' losses on what, oats, cotton and grain sorghums.

The idea was to decrease risk by spreading coverage in hopes that a loss in one crop might be offset by success with another. But overall losses in this West Texas farm area outweighed successes each year.

The worst year for the plan was 1952 when all but two of about 800 farmers participating claimed losses and the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. paid off $1,900,000. Premiums paid in that year totaled about $250,000.

The program started in 1951 with 400 farmers insured. The net loss that year was $500,000. In 1953, peak year for participation, 900 policyholders paid premiums of about $250,000 and entered claims of about $450,000. Claims this year totaled about $75,000, premiums paid in about $47,000.

As premiums were boosted because of the losses, participation dropped to 450 last year and was down to 250, its lowest, this year.

Barney Puckett, one of the men helping administer the program, said Congress intended that it operate on a non-profit basis, with the aim of guaranteeing the farmer only his operating expenses. Thus a farmer was not paid the full value of a lost crop—only his calculated expenses.

Puckett said the only other Texas county to have the program, Taylor County in West Texas, also has ended up in the red each year since the program started there in 1952.

Puckett said the state director exercised an option to end the program in Runnels County.

Barley Popular In Ellis County For Grazing In Winter

WAXAHACHIE, Oct. 29 (AP)— Barley is gaining popularity among farmers in Ellis County as a winter grain and grazing crop.

Walter Kruse, Ellis County agent, said "barley outyielded oats on some of our land last year. So farmers this year are putting a bigger acreage to barley crops." The oat acreage will still be considerably larger than barley.

The Cordova variety of barley is being used principally by the farmers.

The barley is being planted for both grazing and grain. Where planted for grazing, some barley is being planted with button clover. This clover has made strong gains in Ellis and other North Texas counties in recent years.

In Ellis County, large amounts of button clover seed were sold during the year, providing good cash income.

Winter cover crops of small grain and clovers, aside from providing income from grazing and seed, also served the important function of protecting the soil during the winter months.

Planting of small grains is now on in the county. One additional advantage of barley is that it affords grazing earlier than oats in many instances.

The increase of livestock numbers is one reason that winter cover crops have gained headway. The cover crops afford a fine source of feed.

"The planting of small grain and clovers is an important part of our program of building up the fertility level of our soil," Kruse said. "And it fits in perfectly with more efficient feeding of our livestock."

Employe Of Galveston Drug Store Is Killed

GALVESTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Freddie Sheridan, 19, Galveston drug store employe, was shot to death at his home last night.

Held in jail on vagrancy charges, and in hysterical condition until given sedatives, was a relative, 23. Police said the man held was unable today to make a coherent statement.

Holiday Mail To Be Heavy

Preparing to handle the largest volume of Christmas mail in history this year, the Post Office Department announced today that this region will be ready to give prompt and efficient service.

Locally, a postal sub-station will be opened when the Christmas parcel rush season gets underway.

George A. Gray of Dallas, regional postal director, listed serveral ways in which the public can cooperate to help efficient handling of Christmas mail. They included: parcels addressed to members of the armed forces overseas should be mailed as soon as possible, with a deadline of Nov. 15; anyone who shops early can mail parcels which may be marked "do not open until Christmas;" business firms should plan to make heavy mailing of catalogs, calendars, and similar material in time for delivery by Dec. 1, or withhold them until after Christmas.

The Snyder Story...

THE BAR-V MOTEL STORY

A pair of newcomers to Snyder who are continuing the successful operation of one of the city's leading tourist and residence hostelries is the story of the Bar-V Motel on the East Highway here.

The new managers are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Scott, who moved to Snyder and became managers of the Bar-V Motel last May They moved here from Weatherford where they had operated a cafe in a successful motel there for several years.

The are enthusiastic in their praise of their newly adopted home town.

"In this type of business one usually doesn't meet many of the fellow townsmen, but since we have moved to Snyder we have met an exceptional number of the local people, and that is what we like best about Snyder," Mrs. Scott said.

"The friendliness of the other business people we have met, and the general public here has made our move to Snyder a very happy one," she said.

The Scotts operate the Bar-V Motel for its owners, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Meyers, who purchased the motel about two years ago and have managed it since.

In May, however, the Meyers tired of the confining life of motel operation and moved to Anthony, N.M., to resume a life of ranching which they had given up to become motel operators.

Operating a motel is a 24-hour per day job, and requires that you be on the job every day of the year, Mrs. Scott said.

Her work day usually begins at 5:30 o'clock in the morning and ends about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time her husband takes over and tends to the night operation of the motel.

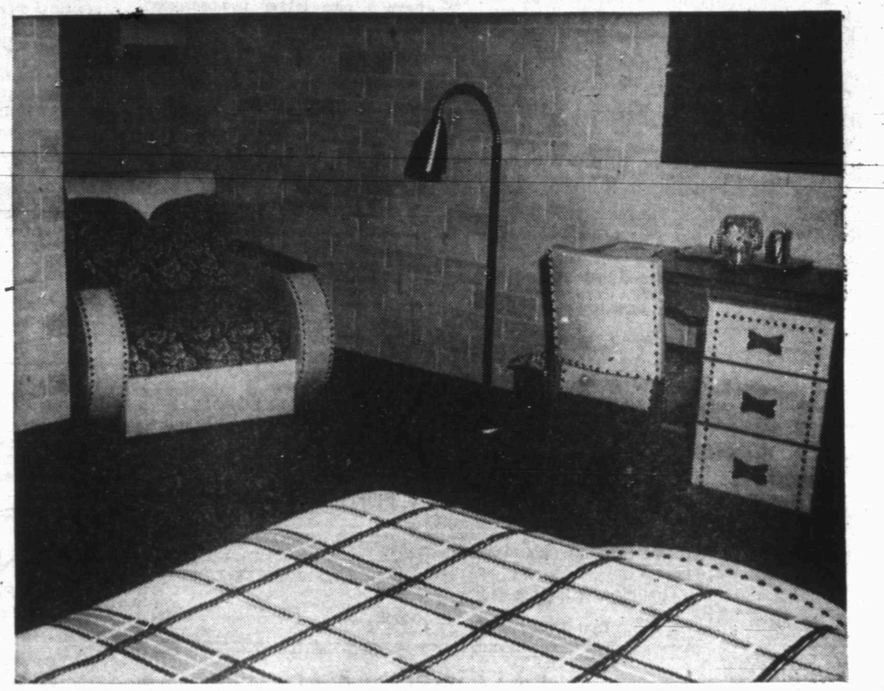
"Actually we don't see to much of each other," she said.

The 50-unit Bar-V Motel requires the help of two full - time maids, and sometimes a third, in addition to the services of Mrs. Scott.

"I personally inspect each room or apartment after it has been cleaned for the day, and help with some of the work," she said.

Of the 50 units, four are apartment units located in the two-story central building of the motel. The other 46 are single-unit overnight rooms for tourists.

THE BAR-V MOTEL



A ROOM IN THE MODERN BAR-V MOTEL

The Bar-V Motel was built in 1950, during the height of the oil boom here, and since then has continued to give a firstclass tourist and residence service to its patrons.

"Actually we enjoy a very good business now, and the winter tourist season traffic is already getting started," she said.

Mrs. Scott said that Snyder's businesses and the oil activity prevalent here account for much of the business of the Bar-V Motel.

"We have many steady customers who come here frequently on business trips, and make this their headquarters while in town," she said.

One of the apartments of the motel is rented to an oil field worker who has been living in it for more than a year.

An outstanding feature of the B-V Motel is telephone service in each unit, with a central switchboard in the office, so that not only local or long distance calls can be made from the privacy of the rooms, but information from the operators of the motel or personal services can be had by the guests without leaving the room.

Just as the Scotts are great boosters of Snyder to their patrons, the motel itself is a booster of Snyder.

It is a member of the Highway 180 Association, is an approved member of the American Motel Association, and is a member of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

At the present the East Highway is in process of being widened to a four-lane thoroughfare in front of the Bar-V Motel, but access to the motel is not hampered by the construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott say that many of their customers are recommended to them by local residents who have heard of the good services offered there, and they urge citizens of Snyder to continue this friendliness.

"Although we are new to Snyder, we want to become good citizens of this fine town, and we wish our business to be one that will speak well for Snyder to people who visit here and stop with us," Mrs. Scott said.

THE HOLCOMB INSURANCE AGENCY STORY

The story of the Holcomb Insurance Agency here is one that closely parallels the story of Snyder, but has the interesting personal sidelights which reflect the personalities of the owners, Tony and Maude Holcomb.

The family firm in its present form is an outgrowth of long business experience based on service both to its customers and the insurance and real estate firms it represents.

Located at 1910 Twenty - fifth Street, the agency is now operated almost altogether by Mrs. Maude Holcomb, and the office secretary, Margaret Barron, who has been with the firm for five years.

Actually the Holcomb Insurance Agency was formally opened as an office here in 1946, but the history of the firm goes back much further than that.

When the office was opened 10 years ago, Maude Holcomb had already been representing the Southwestern Life Insurance Co. in Snyder for more than 10 years. She started her insurance sales and service career 21 years ago, operating from the family home here.

During the early years of her insurance business, Tony was a cotton buyer and gin owner and operator, with him handling his business and she hers.

He was owner and operator of the "Red Gin" which was located where the present Post Office building is located for several years, and was a cotton buyer at the same time. He represented the Fuller Cotton Oil Co. as cotton pickup man for this area for several years.

But when the insurance office was opened, the family joined their business activities to concentrate on insurance service here, and soon added the sale of real estate to the services they offered.

"We still concentrate more on the sale of insurance than real estate, but are doing a good business in both fields," Mrs. Holcomb said.

For several years she was a member of the $100,000 sales club for the Southwestern Life Insurance Co.

A slogan of the insurance firm has been and still is "When we sell 'em they live."

Maude explains that she has paid off many death claims, but has never had the experience of having to pay off a death claim very soon after selling the person an insurance policy.

The firm offers all types of insurance except health and accident insurance, and offers personal service on each policy and to each firm they represent.

"We have always operated on the theory that handling business for only a few good strong stock companies allows us to give the companies more business, and to give our customers a better service, too," Mrs. Holcomb said.

Future Homemakers Club

Placing stamps on Christmas cards which will be sent to a hospital so the cards can be sent by the patients there to their friends is the activity of the FHA Club girls above demonstrating their Wednesday activity. Theme for Wednesdays is "School," and all members of the club will participate in the card stamping and mailing. Shown from left are Jane Duncan, Virginia Palmer, Anita Clements, and Jackie Sellers.

Placing a poster on the hall wall of the high school is one of the activities of the Future Homemakers of America Club at high school. The poster represents one of the publicity activities of the club, and in the FHA Club's week's activities Monday is usually reserved for publicity activities. A certain activity of the club is designed for each day of the week, to help acquaint the club members with the idea that homemaking is a seven-days-per-week vocation. The girls from left are: Jo Ann Morgan, club president; Cecile Hayes, vice president, and Carolyn Murphy, reporter.

Betty, her brother, Roger, 11, and Mrs. Williams watch while her father "cranks" an ancient victrola which is a family heirloom. Members of the club are students of homemaking and home economics at high school.

Two high school freshmen girls in the FHA Club are shown above making a floral arrangement to be taken to the homes of shut-ins. Community service is the theme of club activity on Tuesdays. The girls are Mickie Camp, left, and Huanna Birdwell.

The officers are from left: Doris Lewis, social chairman; Beth Wiman, secretary; Carolyn Murphy, reporter; Judy Duncan, parliamentarian; Cecile Hayes, vice president; Jo Ann Morgan, president; Jeanelle Moore, degree chairman; Carolyn Smith, historian; Judy Greene, treasurer, and Clinta Blackard, song leader.

Monto Sano suits have always been and will probably always be gilt-edged fashion investments, based as they are on sound design, coupled with what Wall Streeters refer to as "sex appeal", when a stock has special attraction. This latest issue is typical of the Monte Sano flair for great chic and fine tailoring. The jacket, which can be lined, has a top-stitched band only in front, extending from the shoulder line, around under the collar, down the front and off to the sides, where it finishes in the seam. The shorter than wrist length sleeves has split, turned back cuffs. A wonderful foil for fur accessories made up in textured wools, flannels or gabardine, it has a new dressiness in faille, or other stiffened silks. For resort wear it is significant in shantung, linen or novelty cottons. This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 12 requires 4½ yards of 39 inch material for suit. Lining requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material and interfacing requires ½ yard of 35 inch material. To order Pattern No. 1235, address SPADEA SYNDICATE, INC., P. O. Box 535, G. P. O., Dept. S-13, New York 1, N. Y. State Size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25c extra. New 144 Page Pattern Booklet XII available for 50c. If paying by check make it payable to SPADEA SNYDICATE, INC. and add 4c for handling.

Future Homemakers Ready To Observe Special Week

BY LOUISE BLANCHARD

When we heard that next week is "FHA Week," we decided the thing to do was to find out what the Future Homemakers of America were up to. So, we paid a call on Miss Vera Periman, at the Snyder High School, who with Mrs. Joel Hodges, (both in the Home Economics Department,) act as sponsors for the local FHA chapter.

We found Miss Periman in her immaculate kitchen, surrounded by seven new stoves, two refrigertors, a storage freezer and the aroma of meat loaf. "I'll be right with you—I just have to get this out before it burns," after which operation she sat down to give us some ideas on the subject of FHA.

"I really don't know much about its history, because during the war I was with the USO." We flipped through some Teen Times, the "Magazine for the Future Homemakers of America," and as luck would have it came across the 10th anniversary issue. According to Edna P. Amidon, Chairman of the National Advisory Board of the FHA, the association was organized nationally in 1945. "As a national organization of young people it is marked by certain unique features. It provides for those studying homemaking in high school programs opportunities for developing individual and group initiative in planning and carrying on activities related to the home. Its chanels are...the public schools. Sponsorship at the national level is by a nongovernment organization, the American Home Economics Association and a government agency, the Home Economics Educational Branch of the Office of Education."

Miss Periman pointed to page 1 of this issue which had on it the FHA emblem, a house held up by two hands. "Notice that the right hand is a man's and the left hand is a woman's. This emblem means that the future homes of America are in the hands of its youth." Underneath this photo is a question, "What are we working toward as Future Homemakers of America?" And then the answer: "We are working toward, 1. Self Improvement, 2. Good Home and Family Life for All 3. Service to School and Community to Improve Citizenship 4. International Good Will 5. Wholesome Recreation for Ourselves, Our Families and Our Communities."

And what is the local FHA doing about these goals? Plenty, considering the fact that they only meet for 30 minutes twice a month, and that the work is entirely voluntary.

"Of course, we haven't really gotten under way this year. I'm interested to see what the girls do during this coming FHA week—it's all up to them (the 68 members) you know."

To give an idea of what they will be doing next week, and during the coming year, here are some of the activities of last year. The FHA members gave a grand mothers party, to which (among others) came Mrs. A. C. Leslie, Mrs. L. N. Periman, Mrs. D. J. Laine, Mrs. A. P. Morris, and Mrs. Rosa Cole. One FHA girl made corsages to pin on the beds of hospital patients, and it was the FHA girls, who assembled the table markers for the Federated Womens club meeting held here in the spring. Last fall the FHA members bought Christmas cards, and stamped the envelopes. These unsigned cards with the stamped envelopes were then sent to the Occupational Therapist at the Wichita Falls State Hospital, who in turn gave them to the patients to mail to their friends and relatives. Another annual FHA project is the sending of Christmas packages to a foreign country. This year in December the girls will assemble packages for Mexico.

As one summer project, which counted toward half a school credit, Miss Periman, FHA members and home ec. students, conducted a kindergarten for two weeks during the month of June. This school had a two-fold purpose, to teach the girls how to take care of children, and to keep the children safe while their mothers took sewing under Mrs. Hodges. After seeing some of the colored slides of the school we'd say that many a young Snyderite's heart must beat faster at the thought of the fun she had! The children were taken to play in that park, they were shown movies, and told stories, then too, they sang and waded, and as a final project they had a picnic in Towle Park. Miss Periman explained "we tried to take single children, because we figured they needed the experience of playing with other children more than members of a large family."

As to this coming week of FHA activity, here's the way it lines up: Monday is PUBLICITY DAY, Tuesday is COMMUNITY DAY—the members plan to visit shut-ins on this day; Wednesday is SCHOOL DAY—Teen Times suggests they give a rose to every teacher!) Thursday is FAMILY DAY, and one suggested activity (mothers take note,) is "To fix family meals today"; Friday is FUN DAY, and Saturday is FUND DAY for "Hobo projects" such as acting as janitresses in local stores, or washing cars, etc. and Sunday is CHURCH DAY for FHA members and the whole family.

The following extract from the FHA ceremony seems an appropriate ending to our story:

President Jo Ann Moran—"We are the Future Homemakers of America, Our Vision is eight-fold and world wide. We ask our Father in heaven to give us the strength and will to fulfill our purposes".....Vice President, Cecile Hayes "Our motto, 'Toward New Horizons' is an infinite challenge and expresses the purpose of our organization, to learn to live better today in order that our lives and those of our families may be better tomorrow." .....Secretary, Beth Wiman "Our colors are red and white—red for courage and white for purity and intergrity of youth."...Treasurer, Judy Greene "The flower of our organization is the red rose. It is symbolic of vibrant, glowing health, which contributes to happiness and efficiency in home and group life."

Miss Periman added a suitable foot-note when she said, "I think the emphasis today is more on leadership and less on contests—we try to build leadership among the girls."

The sleeves tapered to a point over the hand. The neck and yoke of the dress were embroidered with white seed pearls matching the tiara of pearls highlighted with rhinestones. Her elbow length veil was of imported French silk illusion. With the gown she wore hand made shoes of soft white leather covered with braid, lace and pearls. Her bouquet was Lilies of the Valley and white rose buds, centered with a corsage of white rose buds, with a few Lilies of the Valley.

John Newman, Snyder, was best man. Tip Jones of Kermit, Keith Morgan and James Bowers of Snyder were the ushers. Derwood Brunson, 3703 Muriel Drive, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

With traditional wedding music, a quintet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lieb, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brooks and Mrs. Elois Davis, sang "Melody of Love", "Wedding Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The church was decorated with an archway of greenery with scattered colonial bouquets of white mums on a background of pink puffs of ribbon and lace. On each side of the archway stood a basket of white Chrysanthemums with a background of pink leaves and greenery and candelabras with candles behind each basket.

Nancy Miller, 2805 Avenue Y, was the flower girl and wore a dress identical to that of the bride, with matching tiara. She carried a white and pink flower basket with pink rose petals.

Wanda Brunson, 2411 Twenty-seventh Street, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress of fuschia Capri silk was styled identical to the bride. It was ballerina length with net yoke and godets. With the dress she wore a matching hat of tubular velvet circles, with a veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a single long stemmed white rose with net and ribbon puffs spreading over the hand.

Mrs. Peggy Harris, 2409 Fortieth Street, Mrs. Shirley Bowers, 1201 Twenty-ninth Street and Mrs. June Myers, 2107 Forty-first were brides matrons and were dressed identical to the maid of honor except that the color was dusty pink. Their flowers were also identical.

The reception was held in the home of the bride at 2411 Twenty-seventh Street. The room was decorated with baskets of large white chrysanthemums on a background of pink and green leaves. Mrs. C. L. Brunson, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Stephens and the maid of honor and the matrons of honor assisted the couple in receiving.

Adene Dixon, Stillwater, Okla., presided at the guest register. Donna Houston and Vera Brunson poured the punch and Yvonne Lewis cut the cake. Sandra Brunson, Mrs. Claude Miller and Margaret Miller assisted with the serving.

The couple is at home at 1109 S. Minor, Monahans.

For the wedding trip to Midland, the bride wore a navy blue suit of cotton, silk and velvet. Her accessories were navy shoes and purse and a white hat and gloves. She wore a corsage of white rose buds and Lilies of the Valley, which was a part of her bridal bouquet.

Prior to her marriage the bride was employed by the Snyder Sales Co. for the past two years. The groom is employed by Skelley Oil Company in Monahans.

The bride is a 1953 graduate of Snyder High School and the groom is a graduate of Maysville High School, Maysville, Okla.

Driller Ends Treasure Hunt

OAK ISLAND, N.S. (AP)—George J. Greene, a cigar-chewing Texas oil driller, has ended a fruitless four-week treasure hunt here but vows he will return in the spring to dig for Captain Kidd's legendary gold.

Greene sunk four holes using diamond drills and found platforms of oak every 10 feet to the 111-foot level. Then the drills hit a cavity and went to the 180-foot level before they struck bottom.

"That cavity was really something," Greene said. "We poured 100,000 gallons of water into it and it ran out...but where I don't know."

According to information of an 1850 expedition, there is a concrete vault 153 feet below the surface. Parchment and particles of concrete and metals were brought up from that level but flood waters prevented earlier expeditions from reaching the vault.

"Water doesn't bother an oil man," Greene said. "The tough part is to find the treasure. If I find it, I'll get it out."

The Texan counteracts the water which pours in from underground tunnels by putting sleeves of steel around the drill.

Airy Explanation Made By Witness

BEAUMONT, Oct. 29 (AP)—A witness in an assault case testified he "was walking around a corner" here, heard air being let out of a car tire, and "thought it was someone I know from Louisiana."

Atty. Edgar Berlin asked how he could have reached such a conclusion if he had only heard air but hadn't seen the man.

The witness explained:

"I figured it was someone who had been traveling and going too fast and had to let air out of the tire. I figured if he was traveling he might be coming from Louisiana. I figured if he was from louisiana I might know him because I'm from Louisiana."

THIS PATTERN PROVES ANYONE CAN USE TOOLS

PROVINCIAL television console cabinet, an easy-to-build Bill Baker design, will add grace and beauty to your home. Cabinet, shown here with tiny motion picture and TV star Vera Miles, holds table-model set and has space for record player.

BY BILL BAKER

You've probably been looking at this column for some time now. Perhaps you've ordered one of my patterns and have built a major item of furniture in your home workshop. If you have, you know without my telling how much fun wood-working can be.

But read on this time if you are one of those who has looked at the column and said: "That design looks good. I'd like to have it in my home but I can't use tools."

I say anyone can learn to use tools and make professional-looking furniture at home. And this "anyone" includes you. All you need is a fool-proof pattern that answers all of the building questions in easy-to-understand language.

Today I'm going to tell you about my provincial television console cabinet. My pattern package number 144, which turns raw material into this smart piece of furniture, is exactly the type of fool-proof pattern I've been talking about. With it, even the newest woodworker can become an expert on his first project. And I'd like to tell you how.

First of all, the pattern package includes exact-size duplicates of each section of the TV console cabinet. Heavy - weight paper pattern pieces make it possible for you to tack, trace and cut with absolutely no chance for error.

A full material list and a layout chart are included in the package. With these, for example, you'll discover that you need two sheets of good plywood — one 4 feet by 8 feet and another 2 feet by 8 feet. The layout chart, then, shows you where you'll place each pattern piece. No waste of material is possible with this method.

Next you'll turn to the easy-to-read instructions and the carefully detailed section drawings. Here you'll discover that the assembly job is no harder than the tacking and tracing phase of the project.

Your finished television console cabinet will be 48 inches high, 32 inches wide and 23 inches deep. Any table - model television set up to a 24 inch unit will fit easily into the cabinet. You'll have absolutely no electrical work to do.

The smart cabinet, with fine double doors to mask your TV set when it is not in use, has another good feature — a 9 x 30 x 22 inch drawer that is perfect for holding your record player.

Don't say: "I can't do it." Order a pattern package and give woodworking a try. I can guarantee that you'll have fun.

It will be easy — and fun, too—to build your own television console cabinet. Get your pattern package number 144 by sending only one dollar ($1) in either check, cash or money order. Include your name and address (very clearly printed) and mail your request to Bill Baker, P. O. Box 1111, Snyder Daily News, Los Angeles 53, California.

If you would like to have a free copy of a catalogue showing other Bill Baker designs, include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. One will be mailed to you.

Your Best Beauty Aid Is Soapsuds

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

There is nothing like a good facial in cold weather. A snug little complexion treatment will send you outdoors to active or spectator sports feeling very good indeed.

A clean skin is necessary to the routine.

Work up a thick, sudsy lather on a washcloth (if skin is tender, use your hands), work it into your skin, paying special attention to nose, forehead and chin area. Rinse your skin with clear warm water.

While your face is still moist, apply a coating of cream, massaging it into your skin. Wring out a washcloth in warm water and hold it to your face so the cream will soak in. Remove the cream with cleansing tissues. Follow with a splash of cold water to close the pores. You are ready for your makeup.

At bedtime remove all the grime from your active day to foil blackheads and blemishes. If the skin feels biting from wind and weather bouts, massage soapsuds into your skin gently, rinse well with warm water and pat your skin dry carefully with a soft towel. A vegetable oil or favorite lotion may be applied and left on all night. If the skin feels rough, as if it is on the verge of chapping, soap with a soft brush and dry briskly with a towel.

The shaving-brush facial suggested by cleanliness experts is said to work wonders in sparking up the complexion for a big evening out. Lather up suds on the brush and with brisk, circular motion, work the suds into your skin. Dad's brush is said to be made of natural bristles that will not irritate the most sensitive skin. Rinse off soap with clear water. Wring out a face cloth in hot water, holding it against your skin until it steams. Do this again and again until you are convinced the water is as hot as you can take. Splash cold water on your face to close pores and give you a look-alive glow.

It is important to use a foundation cream in winter, even if you do not use it any other time, as a good protective coat for your skin. Lipstick helps protect lips from chapping.

Norse Ready For Program

NORSE, Tex. (AP)—The biggest event of the year in this little section of Norway transplanted to Central Texas is the annual Norse smorgasbord Nov. 10.

Recipes for the more than 50 dishes have been handed down for generations. They include krumkaper, a rich pastry, oval shaped and tissue thin; mussmer, a cheese made in a washpot over an open fire; lefsa, a type of bread made from boiled potatoes, and many others.

The smorgasbord is the evolution of what started out in 1949 as a church supper to raise money for Our Saviour Lutheran Church. Other Central Texans heard about it and the reputation grew.

Only 400 tickets are put up for sale and they are soon gone.

The feat is held in the church hall which can only accommodate 100 at a time so there are four different servings—at 5, 6, 7 and 8 p.m. The women dress in native costumes, red cotton weskits and caps, long sleeve blouses, and black skirts with white aprons.

After the last serving the 80 or so women who prepared the food sit down to eat and talk of the party.

One more thing helps to make it a big day—while the cooks are eating the husbands wash the dishes.

Here's a satisfactory way to heat cooked leftover rice. Put it in a saucepan and cover it with boiling water; bring quickly to a boil. Drain and return to saucepan; dry a few minutes, shaking the pan, over low heat.

James Stewart Has Role As Lindbergh

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James Stewart admits that the story of his yen to play Charles A. Lindbergh on the screen sounds amazing.

He is now playing the famed flier in the story of his Atlantic hop, "The Spirit of St.Louis." He has returned from filming locations in France, Ireland and Greenland and soon starts the Hollywood shooting. Relaxing at his spacious Beverly Hills home, he told about his long admiration of Lindbergh.

"I was a nut about flying, too," he recalled, speaking of his days as a lad in Indiana, Pa. "I had already had my first flight in an old Curtis plane where you sat up in front.

"When Lindbergh made his flight, I happened to be out of school. I had scarlet fever, I think. Anyway, I'd hang around the family hardware store, looking for something to do.

"I was making window displays, so I got a piece of pasteboard and cut it out like part of a globe. At one side I put the Woolworth Building and at the other, the Eiffel Tower. Then I made a model of Lindbergh's plane.

"After he took off, I'd check with the local paper and moved the plane as each report came in."

After Lindbergh landed safely, Jimmy kept a scrapbook of newspaper clippings about the flier. He picked it up when he passed through his home town returning from Europe. He also searched the family store for the replica of the Spirit of St.Louis but couldn't find it.

Jimmy had wanted to play Lindbergh on the screen for years. He tried to buy the flier's book when it came out three years ago. But Lindbergh wouldn't sell. He finally succumbed to the wiles of producer Leland Hayward, himself an aviation enthusiast.

Hayward is a close friend of Stewart's, but he didn't tumble for Jimmy's broad hints that he'd like to play the part. The producer said he was looking for an unknown.

Broadway Hails Andy Griffith As Comedy Find Of The Year

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Andy Griffith, a Broadway sensation in his first stage outing, puts his short, meteoric rise in three words —"free and lucky."

Andy, a 6-foot-1 carrot-top from Mount Airy, N.C., is being hailed as a comedy find of the year—a drawling, affable, broad-smiling 29-year-old who has found thar's gold in them hillbilly ways.

In the just-arrived hit "No Time for Sergeants," Griffith plays a wide-eyed Air Force rookie, around whom spins a rollicking hurricane of farce. The show was applauded unanimously by the critics and, with a $300,000 advance sale already in the bank, is now selling tickets into June at the Alvin.

"I always did want to entertain, but was frightened and didn't know how to go about it," says Griffith.

A few years ago he and his wife Barbara—whom he met while they were students at the University of North Carolina — came to New York for an audition "just to find out what an audition was."

The first quick flicker of fame touched Andy when he recorded one of his comic routines, "What It Was, Was Football," a disc that went on to sell 800,000 copies.

Griffith was introduced to Mac Hyman's novel "No Time for Sergeants" by an actor friend. After reading it, he looked up the author at his Georgia home for permission to do a record from it.

"It was so much like what I was doing," he explains.

Instead of a record, Andy learned the novel was being prepared for a television presentation. So he went after that role—and got it on a fluke reading of his offbeat version of "Hamlet."

In the meantime, actor-manager Maurice Evans, who had bought the stage rights to the novel, learned about Andy. Griffith scored a hit in the TV show and immediately thereafter was headed for Broadway.

Now that he's got his big chance, the other member of the Griffith acting team has gone into temporary retirement.

"We agreed way back, Barbara and I," he says, "that whichever of us got the first break, the other would stay home until it worked out. That way there wouldn't be problems of trying to get two careers started at once."

Gina Relates Varied Views

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gina Lollobrigida wrote, "For me, sex has gone far enough." Then she disproved herself by enclosing a revealing photo.

In fact, the photo proved beyond all doubt that this is the one woman who even can make blue jeans look sexy.

The luscious Italian star, whom I've never met, wrote me in English and gave her views on everything from falsies to Tony Curtis.

There will be some people who will contend that the letter, posted in Paris, came at the urging of her publicity man. Beware of such people, for they are cynics.

Gina, of course, is shooting the movie "Trapeze" in Paris with Burt Lancaster and Curtis. Of her costars, Gina writes:

"Tony—he is young manhood. I can understand why he is the great love of those American Roberto-stocking girls."

She explained that Roberto-stocking is Italian slang for bobby soxer.

Lancaster? "That man has strength. I catch my breath when I think of him."

The next paragraph concerned her husband Milko Skofic.

"Milko is more than my husband; he is my personal physician. He is my favorite reporter. He is my tennis coach, my business manager. Above all he is the guardian of my happiness."

Skofic recently disclosed that he performs another chore: "When fans send her candy, I eat it."

On falsies, the well-rounded Gina commented: "Sometimes I must feel sorry for some of the American men."

On her role in "Trapeze," where she performs on the swinging bars: "Three times I fall into the net. The last time my fear took my voice and I could not speak for one day."

Finally, on the subject of sex: "For me, sex has gone far enough. The public will think I can only love, that I cannot do the great dramatics. I am going to give them something to remember me by besides my figure. In 'Trapeze' there is plenty of myself here for the public to look at. But I've got dramatics too. A little something for everybody."

SCHOOL BANDS CONTINUE TO GAIN IN POPULARITY

Gaining popularity around Snyder every year is the high school concert band and its counterpart, the stage band.

The concert band, directed by Melvin Montgomery, made its most recent appearance Friday night at the Snyder - Sweetwater grid game here, repeating the bullfight stunt which it had performed in Plainview and which had received many requests for repeat performance.

The bullfight show, incidentally, was one which included authentic music with comedy added. The band's twirlers did the acting, with Sittie Harrell and Jo Ann Miller playing the part of the bull, Karen Crooks, head twirler, the matador, and Toni Best, Barbara Taylor, Adalene Soles, and Linda Ramsey the toreadors.

This was one of nine football game appearances for the concert band this season. One of the shows will be a combined performance of the high school band and junior high band, which is directed by Tim Dennis. Each band has about 85 pieces, so the combined band will have almost 200. This is done, Montgomery said, to give the junior high band a chance to perform before a large crowd and to get the "feel" of working with the high school band, which most of the junior high bandsmen are doing in a year or two.

The football halftime performance of the bands, however, are only a small part of the school year's instrumental music program. One of the most important parts of the program is that headed by Phil Cherry, assistant director who is in charge of the elementary program as well as spending part of his time aiding Montgomery with the high school bands. Cherry works with public school music teachers, who spend a part of their time during the school year teaching elementary students to use pre-band instruments. This program, then, is something of a feeder system for the junior high and, later, the high school bands.

The elementary program, in fact has already shown that enough additional interest has resulted that Dennis and Montgomery will have many more students in future years in their bands. Montgomery said it now appears that it will only be a short time before the high school will have both a "A" band and "B" band. Such is already the case in the junior high.

The stage band is one of the most popular music groups in Snyder. Montgomery, Dennis, and Cherry all work with that band. Work with the stage band is always started at about the end of the football season. It is made up of students who show outstanding ability and interest in music, and much of the music the band plays is jazz and other popular forms of music.

The band is organized in military style. Its band captain is Lynn Tankersley, while lieutenants are Robert Dabbs and Karleen Roberts. Drum major is Steve Melton. Jane Patterson is uniform quartermaster and Royce Scrivner instrument quartermaster. Dena Dupree is treasurer and Linda Milam secretary.

The big event of the band year is the West Texas Music Festival, an annual event which will be held for the second time next spring under sponsorship of the schools and Chamber of Commerce. Montgomery announced that instrumental clinicians for the festival, which will be held March 3, will be Clarence Sawhill, director of bands of orchestras at UCLA, considered the No. 1 college director in the U.S.; Paul Yoder, Chicago music composer, who will be back for the second time; R. E. McKiski, director of bands at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls; and Jerry Newman, director of bands at West Texas State College, Canyon. The clinicians will be here throughout the previous day to work with Snyder students, and the Snyder band will present a pre-festival concert on March 2.

The band has tentative plans laid out, including attendance at the interscholastic league marching contest at San Angelo Dec. 3, in which it has been a division 1 winner the last two years. On Dec. 10, Montgomery will take about nine students to Abilene for tryouts for all-region and all - state band. Last year Snyder High School had eight all-region bandsmen and three all-state.

In January, the stage band will perform for the state junior Chamber of Commerce Five Outstanding Young Texans banquet, which will be hosted here by the local Jaycees, and it will play during the same month for the annual Chamber of Commerce membership banquet, which it has done for the past two years.

Tentatively set for February is the concert band's participation in the Sweetwater band festival, in which it has won concert and sight reading for the past two years, and probably another festival. The state band will go that month to Brownwood for the state stage band contest, which it has won for the past three years.

In April, the band will go to the interscholastic league concert, sight reading, solo, and ensemble contests at Abilene on April 27-28. There may be a local concert scheduled for May, Montgomery said.

The director said the bands or parts of the bands will be scheduled throughout the year to perform for school functions, service clubs, and other programs.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Geneva is being boomed as the site of the 1956 U. N. General Assembly. U. Garden Club Hears Talk On Arrangements

The Snyder Garden Club met Thursday morning at the Village with Mrs. J. T. Hughes presiding. Mrs. Hughes announced that a fall board meeting of District 1 of the Texas Garden Clubs will be held in Amherst on Nov. 9. Mrs. Hughes plans to attend.

The 24 members present heard a talk by Mrs. M. L. Broman on "Color, Design and Distinction in Flower Arrangements." Mrs. Broman showed on a color wheel with complimentary colors, such as red and green, violet and yellow, split compliments, such as blue green and yellow green, analogous shades, red, red orange, orange, yellow orange and yellow, a color "triad" composed of opposite colors such as blue, yellow and red, can all be used as the basis for a flower arrangement. She further pointed out that monochromatic arrangements could be most effective, using red and pink together, for example.

On the subject of design, she said that there were basically three shapes, the cube, the sphere and the pyramid. When asked if the word triangle might be substituted for pyramid, she answered, "No, because a triangle is flat."

The "distinction" in flower arrangement is the quality of individuality and personality; call it the umph that distinguishes really fine arrangements."

Shower Honors Miss Harless

Thursday evening a gift tea was given at the Country Club, honoring Ramona Harless, fiancee of Herbert Reed.

Miss Harless wore a light blue princess style dress, with a corsage of yellow mums.

The hostesses for the tea were Mrs. Jess Koonsman, Mrs. J. W. Reed, Mrs. Eddie Miller, Mrs. Leo Carey, Mrs. J. M. Newton, Mrs. Ellis Huddleston, Mrs. J. N. Eicke, Mrs. Boss Baze, Mrs. Horace Davis, Mrs. Bill Brown, Mrs. H. S. Lammert, Mrs. I. B. Roberson, Mrs. Leighton Griffin and Mrs. Wayne Smith.

The centerpiece for the refreshment table was of yellow and orange pompon Chrysanthemums. Mrs. Ellis Huddleston poured while Mrs. Billy Wayne Williams served the cake and nuts. The plate favors consisted of tiny bridal bouquets, and the napkins bore a design of gold wedding bells with the first name of the bride and groom to be.

Mrs. O. M. Fowler, in a blue satin ball gown, wearing a corsage of yellow mums, gave one of her own poems as well as a selection by Ogden Nash on husbands. Pat Taylor sang, accompanied by Jo Ann Miller. Judy Griffin also played some selections at the piano.

Mrs. Billy McCormick registered the guests in the room where the gifts were on display.

MAKING SELECTIONS of stalks from which to take seed to keep developing the desired types of cotton are C. N. von Roeder, left, and his son, R. B. von Roeder. The Von Roeder family, getting into the cotton breeding business by accident more than 30 years ago, have developed a cotton very popular in West Texas and other points in the Southwest. (Lee Watson photograph)

Accident Helps Start Cotton Breeding By County Family

It was something of an accident that started the Von Roeder family in cotton breeding back in 1923, but the family and the Von Roeder Seed Farm became, in the following 30 years, one of the best-known families in Texas among cotton people.

C. N. von Roeder, who now lives in the Von Roeder addition in East Snyder, had injured his thumb while building fences in 1923, and, as a result, couldn't do much of the farm work. He spent much time walking over the cotton fields, and during that time he found a stalk of cotton which especially appealed to him.

Working at first with seed from that stalk, Von Roeder had in mind breeding for high quality lint only, and in this process the Von Roeders developed a cotton unsuited for the western climate and western harvesting methods. "But we soon saw that if we wanted to accomplish much in the seed business we had to develop a more practical cotton...the kind that would make the most money per acre for the farmer," Von Roeder said.

The Von Roeder Seed Farms is now a business owned by Nolan von Roeder and Bentley Baize. C. N. von Roeder sold his partnership in the business a few years ago, and since that time he has been semi-retired but has continued working with the other two as the seed breeder.

Pride of the Von Roeder family's work in cotton breeding is Western Stormproof, a cotton used extensively in the Southwest. Numerous experiment stations, raising Western Stormproof at the same time they are raising others, gave official reports of more lint production per acre and better grades of cotton.

In 1930, the Von Roeders applied for state certification as cotton breeders, and they received the certification in 1934, after their operations in cotton breeding had been observed. Then, in 1937, they became registered breeders, holding the highest classification in the business. There are numerous state requirements as to facilities and extent of breeding work done that breeders must comply with before they can be certified or registered.

It was in 1934 that the Von Roeders came up with Western Prolific, the forerunner of Western Stormproof. The Chillicothe experiment station had made selections from cotton and let the Von Roeders have the seed. By 1934 they had a few seed, but they actually got seed production started in 1935. "We have never had a surplus since," C. N. von Roeder said.

Homemade cotton strippers were being used in some parts of West Texas in the early 1930s. Strippers at that time usually consisted of maize forks mounted on slides. The idea had started, however, and better strippers soon developed. As that occurred, the need developed for a cotton which would remain on the stalk longer, until the frost knocked off the leaves. There had also been the trouble of mature cotton falling off the stalk during rain or windstorm.

It was during that time that H. A. Macha, a cotton breeder who lives south of Lubbock, developed a stormproof cotton. He actually got started selling seed on his new cotton in the mid-1930s. While his cotton was actually stormproof, it had not yet been developed and was not desirable except for its stormproof feature.

The Von Roeders saw the need for this stormproof cotton, a type which would wait in the field without much loss when there was a shortage of pickers and one which could be harvested mechanically without much loss. In 1942, they crossed their Western Prolific with a tight-bolled stormproof cotton, and the result was Western Stormproof, which the Von Roeders began to put out in large amounts in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

Western Stormproof has a staple in the neighborhood of 15-16ths, usually, which is about the most practical staple length here. It's showing up well on the area proving grounds, the experiement stations, has helped it become the leading cotton of this area.

The Von Roeder Seed Farms contract with farmers for seed production, and the business usually gets the seed from more than 8,000 acres of land, nearly half of which is irrigated. Last year the business handled some 32,000 bushels of seed.

Crossing one type cotton with another is not a simple process. While the breeder can actually get a cross in one year's time, it takes a total of eight to 10 years to get the good characters into the new type and the bad characters out. It takes this length of time of selecting the best of the cotton to make the cross a type within itself, one which will not go back to one of its undesirable parent characteristics.

One thing the Von Roeder Seed Farm is now trying to develop is a cotton immune to certain diseases. One such disease is verticillium wilt, a West Texas cotton disease. A U. S. plant pathologist in Las Cruces is making a cross for the Von Roeder Seed Farm this winter in connection with combat of this disease. Another cross being made for the business is one toward a blight - resistant cotton. This is being done at the greenhouse at Texas A&M College.

C. N. von Roeder said experiment stations have been a great help to cotton breeders in past years. The Lubbock and Chillicothe stations have especially helped. The Lubbock station has worked through the years on stormproof cotton. It was one of those which reported this year that Western Stormproof was the leader in money-making of the cotton varieties raised there, as was the Blackland station at Temple and eight out of a dozen Oklahoma stations which raised Western Stormproof along with other types.

Something of a goal in cotton breeding which some breeders are now pursuing is a cotton which will all mature at about the same time, one especially suited for stripping. This is one of the projects of the Lubbock experiment station. Asked if there had been any success in developing a cotton which would grow better during drought, Von Roeder said that there are quick - maturing cottons which will make more during dry years, but farmers never know when they plant whether they will have dry summers or not, and other types of cotton are much better if there is ample rainfall. It would be a gamble, then, for a farmer to plant a quick - maturing cotton when he could make more with another type with sufficient rainfall.

Here's how Von Roeder crosses cotton: during the blooming season, he goes to the breeding block early in the morning, before the bloom opens. He opens the bloom and takes the male element out of the bloom he selects and leaves the female element. He covers the stigma with a portion of a soda-fountain straw and kinks the end to protect it. At about 11 a.m., when the bloom opens good and when the pollen falls, the other bloom which has been selected is rubbed on the stigma of the prepared bloom. The pollen fertilizes the bloom, and, when the bloom develops into a boll, every seed in the boll is a cross. The bloom is tagged when the cross is made. One boll is enough to get the cross, but Von Roeder usually crosses more than one. Seed from one cotton boll numbers from 32 to 40, and no bulk of a crossed seed is needed by the breeder for several years.

The seed is planted the next year, and from the stalks the best are selected by Von Roeder for another year's planting. This goes on until the new cross is developed into a pure - line cotton. Many crosses are made by Von Roeder, and many of his crosses are abandoned after he views results for one to several years. He does not make croses every year.

The secret of a successful cotton breeding business, Von Roeder said, is in the selection. Many times it is hard for the selector to determine whether a bad-looking stalk is that way because of hereditary factors or because of environmental conditions. Many laboratory men are very good on heredity or genetics but cannot judge cotton, and that prevents them from developing the best cottons in the laboratory. A necessity in the cotton breeding business is learning to know what the breeder and the farmer wants in cotton and learning to judge the cotton properly.

R. B. von Roeder, son of C. N. von Roeder, is learning the cotton breeding business now, working with his father in crossing and selection. He has done some breeding work on his own. He was one of those farmers selected last spring to raise one-acre plots of hybrid grain sorghum, which is being developed for commercial use in the near future.

C. N. von Roeder is past president of the Certified Seed Growers Association of Texas, an organization made up of certified and registered seed breeders in cotton and other lines. The organization has between 125 and 150 members, but only about 20 persons in the state are now in cotton breeding.

Chemical Progress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The third annual Chemical Progress Week has been scheduled for April 23-28, 1956. It will be sponsored by the Manufacturing Chemists' Assn.

Cattle Grubs Are Nearing Maturity

At about this time every year, grubs which have been in the developing state for many weeks make their way to the surface of the skin of cattle and began maturing toward making heel flies.

Grubs are very costly to cattlemen, taking several million dollars annually from livestock income in the form of damaged hides, lowered meat quality, and reduced dairy production. So, many cattlemen takes steps at this time of year to combat the parasites.

Oscar Fowler, county agricultural agent here, said that while many do treat their cattle for grubs, others do not and should be made conscious of the economic loss from grubs. Treatment is performed with a dust or spray. Most cattlemen with sizeable herds use a spray made up of seven and one-half gallons of five per cent rotenone per 100 gallons of water. Some add 10 per cent wetable sulpher and make a dip.

Fowler quoted Ray L. Cuff, southwestern regional manager of the National Livestock Loss Prevention Board, as saying, "One has only to see buyers of fat and feeder cattle pass their hands over the backs to determine the extent of grub injury before they make their bids to conclude that generally it is the owners of grubby cattle who pay the grub bills."

The grub's development cycle is started by the heel fly, and the grub itself eventually becomes a heel fly. During the first warm days of spring, the heel flies come out and lay their eggs on the hair of cattle. The eggs hatch, and the grubs dig through the skin. The grubs then move through the tissues to the chest and abdominal cavities, moving on by September or October in the walls of the gullet. They then begin to move toward the back of the animal and cut holes in the skin to surface. After growing in the animal's back for awhile, the grubs drop to the ground, changing to the pepae from which heel flies develop after a resting period. The grubs usually stay in the back of the cattle 35 to 89 days before dropping out.

Fowler also made recommendations for control of the spinose ear tick, which is found in this area. These ticks attack deep within the ears of livestock. The tick is picked up by animals around mineral boxes, feed troughs, or watering troughs. The mineral boxes and troughs should be moved periodically and the infested areas sprayed with creosote or a mixture of one-half crankcase oil and one-half kerosene. Many stockmen use spray bombs or oil squirt cans with tubing so the tube can be shoved into the ear without causing damage, Fowler said.

In connection with control of lice, Fowler said that if the animal is given a complete spraying for grubs, that will take care of the flies and lice. The flies will disappear as the weather gets colder.

Top Cattle Are Set For Odessa Show

By SAM WHITLOW

ODESSA, Oct. 29 (AP)—Cattle from some of the best registered Hereford herds in the Southwest are being entered in the Sand Hills show, which will feature Herefords, quarter-horses and Rambouillett sheep.

The show is set for Jan. 3-7. The last one was held in March, but the date was changed to allow cattle to be available for the big southwestern cattle show circuits. A rodeo is scheduled each night.

Hubert Martin, Ector County agent, said Rambouillett sheep will also be featured. He is also secretary of the sand hills stock show.

Cal Smith, Ector County rancher, is president of the show, which will be held in the new and modern coliseum. Exhibit space for livestock is being doubled.

Martin said Hereford breeders from many parts of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico have entered animals.

One feature will be a sale of about 60 Hereford breeding animals.

"Herefords in this sale will be from popular blood lines furnished by outstanding breeders in the Southwest," Martin said.

The Rambouillett show will attract some of the outstanding registered flocks in the Southwest.

10 Hermleigh Boys Planning Plainview Trip

About 10 Hermleigh students who are members of the Future Farmers of America and their sponsor, Frank Barnes, were to go to Plainview yesterday to a swine sale.

A total of 100 pigs were to be sold, including Hampshires, Berkshires, Durocs, Chester Whites, and Poland Chinas. The Hermleigh boys were attending the sale in view of buying project pigs for this school year.

Already on feed are numerous projects in the chapter, including four beef and one commercial cattle, 50 pigs, and 30 lambs. There are 5 boys in the chapter.

Barnes said the FFA chapter is now having elimination to determine who will represent Hermleigh as a chapter conducting team in a leadership contest for the FFA district at Colorado City Nov. 21. In addition to the senior team, there will be a freshman team. The Colorado City contest will send a winner to the state contest at Huntsville in December.

Agents Here To Go To Aggie Conference

Oscar Fowler, county agricultural agent, and Miss Ruby Butts, county home demonstration agent, were to go today to College Station for an annual conference of such agents.

The agents are briefed annually on all latest developments in agricultural and home improvement lines. The program is conducted by the State Extension Service main office staff on the campus of Texas A&M College.
