UNFAVORABLE WIND CAUSES RESOLUTE LOSE YACHT RACE

AFTER LEADING THE SHAMROCK THROUGHOUT RACE THE WIND WON.

RACE TO BE SAILED OVER AGAIN NEXT TUESDAY

American Sloop Outpointed British Contender At Every Turn Of Race.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 17.—After having left Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's cup, about two miles behind in today's international yacht race, the American defender Resolute failed because of light winds to finish within the six hour limit and the race was called off by the regatta committee after about 20 miles had been covered.

The first leg of the triangular course had been a beat to windward in which Resolute outpointed Shamrock. When the American boat turned the first mark at 4:33:42, Shamrock was lying almost becalmed. Making frequent tacks, the challenger finally squeezed around the mark at 5:10:05, with Resolute miles away, 36 minutes and 23 seconds ahead.

Second Leg.

Starting the second leg of the race, Rerolute had a reach across the bay toward the New Jersey shore and in a freshening breeze she fled swiftly on a straight course with every sail drawing full and a frill of foam under her bow.

Resolute was five miles ahead when Shamrock came around the turn and started after the fleeing defender. It looked as though Resolute was a sure winner, but when she was still four miles from the turn, the defender met a head wind and was compelled to tack while the Shamrock, still carrying a fair breeze, gained rapidly upon her until her lead was cut down to two miles.

Then Shamrock also encountered the head wind which had shifted to the southwest and began to beat up against it. Resolute ran into a calm spot and was caught in irons while making a tack.

The regatta committee hoisted the code flag "J" at 7:20 o'clock when it was obvious that the yachts could not finish on time. At this hour the American defender Resolute was a little more than half a mile from the second mark, but although her skipper, Captain Charles F. Adams II, made every effort to get his sloop over the finish line in time, it was obvious long before the 20 mile mark had been reached that the yacht could not beat the watch to the line.

When the committee hoisted the signal, Shamrock was floundering toward the second mark, virtually in a calm. Toward the end of the race the contest developed simply into a question of whether a sudden blow would drive the American sloop across the line in time. Hope of the Lipton craft beating the time limit had long before been abandoned.

Led All the Way.

Resolute had led all the way from the starting line and was apparently left an hour ahead of the challenger when the committee's signal was flown.

The American sloop had outpointed Shamrock in a 10 mile to windward on the leg. She turned the first mark more than 36 minutes ahead of the challengner, which had become becamed as she approached the turn.

On the second leg, Resolute, at first favored by a freshening wind, again ran away from the British contender, but ran into a head wind and for a time the green sloop gained on her, but could not overtake her.

Nearing the second turn, both boats drifted along in baffling fluky airs, which favored neither. Resblute managed to get around the mark at 7:01:06 unofficial time and Captain Adams laid his course for the finish line, but there was no hope of finishing within the time limit of six hours. The race will have to be sailed over again next Tuesday.

The yachts picked up more breeze while out at sea and at 3:20 were moving along fairly fast. Resolute still maintained her distinct advantage over her rival and at this time, barring accident, looked to be winner, as Shamrock had to allow her six minutes and forty seconds handicap.

Resolute at 3:35 went about on the starboard tac kas she approached the first mark. From shore she appeared to have about a three-quarter mile lead over the challenger.

Shamrock tacked to port at 3:40 p. m. she seemed to carry a bit of the air with her that the defnder was not getting, moved along quite rapidly in the water. Resolute continued to sail high in the wind and was showing a well defined wake to her rival. Two minutes later Resolute also came about on the port tack.

At 3:50 range finders on the destroyer Goldsborough showed Resolute 400 yards ahead to the windward.

At 4:00 o'clock the two yachts were holding together on the port tack far out at sea, heading for the first mark.

Do You Like Guest's Poems?

We wonder if the thousands of Times readers who turn to the editorial page the first thing every day, to read the Just Folks poem by Edgar Guest, would not like the poet to know just how much they think of him? We believe they would. Suppose we give him a shower to show him our appreciation? He reaches the cockles of your heart—why not reach his? You can. It is simple. Here is the plan;

Edgar A. Guest has a birthday on August 10, and we feel pretty sure that it will give him a lot of pleasure if every one of his readers sent him a little birthday greeting—either on a postcard, or in a note mailed under a 2-cent stamp. Mail to Edgar A. Guest, care of The Times, to be in this office not later than August 3, so the notes can be packed all in one bundle and sent to the poet's home in time for his anniversary.

ALLIES THREATEN DRIVE TURKS OUT EUROPE FOR GOOD

TURKEY'S OBJECTION TO PEACE TERMS CAUSE ALLIED POWER TO MAKE THREAT.

"ATROCITIES STARTLED WHOLE OF MANKIND"

Massacre of Armenians Under Pretext of Revolt Dealt Upon By Entente.

LONDON, July 17.—A threat to drive the Turk from Europe, "once and for all," is contained in the allied reply to the Turkish objections to the peace treaty, made public here today. Such action might follow Turkey's refusal to sign the treaty or her failure to give it effect, the reply states.

The time limit for Turkey to make known her decision expires at midnight, July 27.

The allies have arranged to deliver the reply, which takes the form of an ultimatum, to the Turkish peace delegation in Paris this afternoon. The Turks are informed that they must signify their willingness to sign the peace treaty within 10 days, failing which "the allied powers will take such action as they may consider necessary in the circumstances."

Minor Modifications.

The allies made some minor modifications in the treaty after the Turks had presented their protests, but it is understood these modifications do not materially affect the original draft.

The allied reply is recouched in the bluntest language and says: "If the Turkish government refuses to sign the peace, still more, if it finds itself unable to re-establish its authority in Anatolia or give effect to the treaty, the allies, in accordance with the terms of the treaty, may be driven to reconsider this arrangement by ejecting the Turks from Europe once and for all."

"The allies are clear that the time has come when it is necessary to put an end once and for all to the empire of the Turks over other nations."

Turkish Atrocities.

The note refers to Turkish "atrocities which startled and shocked the conscience of mankind," and says it is estimated that since 1914, the Turkish government has "massacred on the mendacious pretext of alleged revolt, 800,000 Armenians, including women and children."

The allies state that they are "resolved to emancipate all areas inhabited by a non-Turkish majority and from Turkish rule."

The allies decline to make any modification in the clauses of the treaty which detach Thrace and Smyrna from the Turkish empire since in both areas the Turks are in the minority. The same considerations apply to the frontiers between Syria and Turkey.

The allies also decline to change the provisions which provide for the creation of a free Armenia, "with boundaries which the president of the United States will determine as fair and just." The general terms of the treaty with regard to administration of the straits must stand as set forth in the treaty but the allies will permit the Turks, the same as Bulgaria, to have a representative on the commission for the straits.

VERSAILLES, July 17.—A threat to drive the Turks from Europe "once and for all" was contained in the allied reply to the Turkish objections to the peace treaty delivered to the Turkish peace delegation here at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Such action might follow Turkey's refusal to sign the treaty or her failure to give it effect, the reply states.

The Turks were informed in the reply that they must make known their decision within 10 days. If by midnight of July 27, they were told, they had not signified their willingness to sign the peace treaty, "the allied powers will take such action as they may consider necessary under the circumstances."

COMMUNIST PLANNED REVOLT ON SYSTEM

States Attorneys Seek To Connect Seattle Strike With Communists.

CHICAGO, July 17.—State's attorneys today fought for permission to link the Winnipeg and Seattle general strikes with members of the communist labor party on trial here charged with violating the state espionage act.

Fight came on the attempt of the state to present H. J. Wilson, secret service worker, as a witness against William Bross Lloyd and his co-defendants. Wilson ingratiated himself into the good will of organizers of the workingmen's, soldiers' and sailors' council in Seattle. His testimony was designed to show that there was a connection between the Seattle unrising and the communist labor party.

If Wilson's testimony is admitted, he probably will be followed by Ole Hanson, mayor of Seattle at the time of the strike.

William S. Forrest, attorney for the defendants, arguing against Wilson's admission, gave an inkling of the defense. He asserted his clients intended to promote a revolution against the "system" not against the United States or state governments.

"Big Bill" Heyward, former secretary of the I. W. W. and 26 others, indicted under the state espionage act, today asked their indictment be quashed. This was denied and attorneys asked for immediate trial.

THOMASON OUTLINES CAMPAIGN POSITION RACE FOR GOVERNOR

TAKES FLING AT NEFF, LOONEY AND BAILEY IN ADDRESS LAST NIGHT.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS SHOULDN'T IN POLITICAL FOOTRACE

For Strict Inforcement of Prohibition and Favors Vote for Women.

Robert Ewing Thomason of El Paso, candidate for governor, last night promised an audience of about 500 to give Texas a business government, in which service should be a synonym for administration and in which clean politics should be a guiding principle. His address was received with apparent approval and at times with enthusiasm, by the audience which dwindled not at all during a decidedly sticky and uncomfortable evening.

Thomason is the last of the gubernatorial aspirants to address local voters, each of the other three having been here earlier in the campaign. In spite of the weariness and hoarseness that indicated the rigors of campaigning, he spoke with clearness and vigor and in a manner that was most satisfactory to his supporters here.

Each of his opponents was discussed by the speaker, dealing principally with Neff and less vigorously with Looney and Bailey. The remarks about Neff were principally in reply to campaign literature circulated in behalf of the Waco candidate, whom Thomason handled without gloves.

Thomason's Position.

The position of Thomason on the issues of the campaign may be summarized as follows:

Considers prohibition a settled issue, but for strict enforcement.

Considers suffrage also practically a settled matter, but emphatically favors votes for women.

Is not running as "West Texas candidate" but claims that west Texas is entitled to a man who understands her needs and problems.

Wants to abolish needless state offices and specifies them.

Favors state budget system; wants taxes equalized as between the several counties.

Flatly opposes the graduated land tax.

Promises to use "horse sense" as to appropriations, but believes certain educational and constructive needs must be met before cutting down expenses.

Favors strong financial support for schools, in the country first, then building up a system of higher institutions that will meet the state's needs.

Would "make every school house the capital of its community" and work along constructive lines to improve rural conditions generally.

Favors necessary legislation for irrigation, levee and drainage systems.

It was in his replies to opponents' attacks that Thomason's remarks were received with most interest. He particularly discussed a Neff campaign advertisement in a Dallas church paper, in which he was criticised for voting against submission.

Submission Question.

"I was instructed by the people who sent me to the legislature to vote against submission," Thomason said, "and I followed those instructions. I lived up to that contract. So far as my attitude on prohibition is concerned, I was the author of the zone bill that really made Texas dry. I voted for state-wide prohibition, for the national amendment, and for local option in my county.

"I might say here that I am a member of a church, and of several lodges, but I have never used either for political purposes."

His vote against the "grain alcohol" resolution, Thomason said, further discussing the church paper advertisement, was in line with the votes of prohibition leaders, who considered the resolution "silly."

Thomason pointed out that the prohibition leaders of both houses were making speeches for him in this campaign.

As to suffrage, Thomason said he had supported it "because I just believed in it."

"I thought that if the women of Texas could knit socks, and go without sugar and sell Liberty bonds and rear the knightliest sons that were ever in any uniform, they were at least as much entitled to vote as Mexicans just across the border," he said.

"There's no real issue between Judge Looney and myself," he said, taking up another candidate, "the Judge just got started late and of course he's left at the post.

"There's no issue between Bailey and myself, that I know of, because it's hard to find out how Bailey stands on any state issue," he continued, amid laughter. He derided the ex-senator for talking always of national problems and wondered how Bailey was standing on the San Francisco platform.

Labor Question.

Discussing the labor question, Thomason declared his friendship for both labor and capital.

"But I am against capital when it profiteers and against labor when it seeks to attain its end by violent means," he said, "this is no time for any factional fight. I believe in labor's right to organize and I believe in collective bargaining. I believe in a man's right to quit work—anything else is slavery—but he has no right to say that another man cannot take his place. He can argue and he can peacefully persuade, but he cannot use violence or anarchy. I am, as I said, for both labor and capital, but both have got to treat the public fairly."

Replying to the Neff charge that he was for Ferguson, the speaker said that the House record showed that he, with 144 others, opposed impeaching Ferguson for the "chicken salad" and "ukelele" incident, but that when the question of the loans came up, he was one of the House managers of the impeachment proceedings.

"A charge like that comes with poor grace from Neff," said Thomason, "when he drew $500 from the state treasury for defending Ferguson in the 'salad case,' and here is a certified record to prove it. Judge Looney, good lawyer that he is, wouldn't go into that case at all. Neff says Fer-

RACES REPORTED BY LAND, SEA AND AIR

Associated Press Bring In New Innovation In Reporting.

NEW YORK, July 17.—With the America's cup races of 1920 has come an innovation in newspaper reporting. Whereas 17 years ago when the last international yachting classic was held the Associated Press covered the event from ship and shore, this year it is reporting the races from land, sea and air, by wireless, telephone and land wire. This, according to aircraft experts, is virtually the first time that an important event has actually been recorded from a seaplane, although planes recently have been employed to rush reporters to the scene of action or to relay stories and pictures to newspaper offices.

Using the Rockaway naval air station as a base today, the Associated Press assigned two men to a seaplane it had chartered. One flew over the race, viewed preparations for the start and returned to telephone a descriptive story to the New York office. The other, meanwhile, stepped into the plane again and covered the start, telephoning his story from Rockaway, while his companion was up in the air again, viewing the finish.

Land telephone was used because, with the air filled with wireless messages, it was considered quicker, in view of the seaplane's speed, to return to shore, instead of employing wireless telephone or telegraph.

Meanwhile staff men aboard naval destroyers were gathering news along the course and flashing bulletins by wireless. Trained observers at Navesink Highlands, Rockaway and Long Branch sent added facts by land wire, while aboard the steam yacht Victoria a staff man was stationed with Lipton's party.

Viewed from the air, the race today between Shamrock IV and Resolute proved more picturesque than exciting. The clearest of blue skies, fading through the medium of a veil of light mist into the deeper blue of the sea, lent a luster to the snowy white of the racers' sails which suggested two costly pearls exhibited on a background of azure velvet.

Seldom catching enough of the breeze to cause more than a barely perceptible list, the two fleet vessels seemed most frequently as fixed and motionless as if posed for a photograph. Even the sea was hardly ruffled by the air which, while miraculously bellying out the sails, was not sufficient in strength to stir a single white cap.

When the race was called off the sun was just beginning to sink into the smoky haze which hung over New York and which during most of the afternoon hid most of the jagged sky line of the metropolis from the view of the aerial observers.

Fair weather had attracted to the scene a great fleet of vessels of all sizes, private yachts which steamed from the mouth of the Hudson river several hours before the beginning of the race or from the direction of the Connecticut shore, excursion boats, tugs and countless sails boats of every description.

The seaplane in which the Associated Press correspondent was riding was one of the small swarm of such craft circling above the indistinguishable triangle over which the yachts were to race. Besides a dozen or more privately owned seaplanes there was a flying foat or two fro mthe naval air station at Rockaway and even a navy "blimp" brilliant with a new coat of silver varnish.

Swarm of Craft.

Up to the moment when the starting signal fluttered on the masthead of the control boat far below, the aerial observer the swarms of little craft had held back from Ambrose light out of respect for the formidable fleet of destroyers which played traffic police and kept non-official boats at a distance. Immediately the start was made, however, the little boats, some mere specks on the water, spread out into fan formation and followed closely.

On the first leg of the run both boats at times caught enough breeze to narrow the oval of their decks as the great spread of sails yielded to a puff of air. Once the challenger with her green hull churned up the water before as well as astern and on either beam looking for all the world as though she were standing still and merely bobbing up and down in the water.

Neither boat moved fast enough at any time to create a foamy streamer in its wake, although the rapid motion of the airplane frequently made it seem that both vessels were traveling at a dizzy speedy.

HARDING COMPLETES ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

Will Take Day off After Perior of Work In Preparing Address.

MARION, O., July 17.—Senator Harding gave his speech of acceptance its final polishing tonight and then prepared for a day of complete rest from the arduous task of composition which has occupied his attention almost exclusively for a week.

He planned to spend tomorrow quietly and in the early days of the coming week to take more time for recreation. Since he began work on his address he has not been out of doors scarcely at all and tonight said he was feeling "tired and cross," from want of exercise.

During today the senator worked in close co-operation with the composing room of his newspaper, the Marion Star, where the speech was put into type by installments for printing the advance copies that will be distributed to the press. Arelay of messengers carried copy and proofs between the newspaper office and the senator's residence.

The speech will run well beyond the four column limit he originally fixed. It has been prepared with particular care and he has endeavored to have it express comprehensively his stand on all of the important issues.

With the speech out of the way, the speculation of those close to the republican nominee swung toward the possible significance of the meeting tomorrow between his democratic opponent, Governor Cox, and President Wilson. It was a persistent topic of conversation among the local Harding managers tonight for they expected it to put the spotlight again on the League of nations and perhaps to show up more clearly what lines the campaign on that issue will follow.

Senator Harding himself had nothing to say about the conference though he did not conceal his interest in it. It was said that any public expression from him regarding the league or other important campaign issues probably would wait until notification day.

His close advisers are said to have counselled that course, specially regarding the league, urging that he stand on his recent statement that the president had forced Governor Cox to take his cue on the treaty issue from the administration.

EL PASO LISTED AS FIFTH TEXAS CITY

Census Announcement Gives City 83,836, a Gain of 113.4 Per Cent.

Announcement of the population of El Paso, Texas, at 83,836, increase of 44,557, or 113.4 per cent probably places the border city in fifth place in the list of larger cities of Texas.

While there are two or three smaller cities in Texas who have shown a greater increase in population, the gain made by El Paso is considered far above the average in population gains.

San Antonio, Dallas and Houston have all been officially announced by the census bureau which places them ahead of the border city. The only Texas city which will surpass El Paso is probably Fort Worth.

Census Report.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—El Paso, Texas, 83,836, increase 44,557, or 113.4 per cent.

KANSAS WOMEN CAN VOTE WITHOUT GIVING EXACT AGE

TOPEKA, KAN., July 17.—Kansas women who have reached the age of 21 years are entitled to vote whether or not they tell their exact age in registering, according to an opinion announced tonight by Richard J. Hopkins, attorney general.

The only exception is when the registrant will reach the required age between the day of registration and election day, or where the parents are foreigners who have become naturalized. The opinion was made at the request of the Topeka Good Government club, a woman's organization.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MAIN DISCUSSION OF CONFERENCE TODAY

WASHINGTON GIVE COX BIG OVATION AT STATION YESTERDAY.

WILSON AND COX HOLD CONFERENCE THIS A. M.

Senator Sheppard, Dry Leader, Says Cox Stand on Prohibition Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The national capital gave a cordial welcome today to Governor Cox, democratic presidential nominee, upon his arrival for a conference tomorrow with President Wilson.

Met at the station by Franklin D. Roosevelt, his running mate, and other prominent democrats, a crowd of several thousand persons cheered and almost stampeded the governor in their reception. He shook hands with scores, posed for moving picture men and was greeted by many along Pennsylvania avenue, en route to the home of former Representative T. T. Ansberry of Ohio, his host while here.

Preliminary to his conference with President Wilson at 10:30 tomorrow at the White House, Governor Cox talked over campaign questions with several party spokesmen. He will see others tomorrow before leaving at 4:50 p.m. for Columbus.

League of Nations.

The League of Nations and other international questions, Governor Cox told newspapermen, would be the principal issues discussed with President Wilson.

"The president knows more about international affairs than any one. I know and I am here to counsel with him," said the governor.

"It will be the first time," he added, "that I have seen him since his illness, but our relations always have been cordial."

Governor Cox and Senator Hitchcock, after a brief conference tonight, declared they were in perfect harmony on the League of Nations. Senator Hitchcock said the governor's views also were in accord with those of the president. The senator expressed the opinion that all the democratic leaders would be in accord with the governor.

Senator Sheppard, leader of the dry forces in the senate, declared after a minute's talk with Governor Cox, that he was perfectly satisfied with the governor's stand on the prohibition question and that he not only would support him, but would take the stump for him.

Another conference by Governor Cox was with Victor Murdock, of the federal trade commission, who was among those considered at the convention for the vice-presidential nomination. The governor would not go into details regarding the information he wished from Mr. Murdock, but said it referred to the high cost of living, profiteering and other subjects of considerable economic importance.

Go Into Every State.

The governor reiterated that he would go into every state and said specifically that he expected to visit the southern states.

"I think it would be very gracious to go there, although not necessary of course," he remarked.

Until he meets the democratic national committee Tuesday at Columbus, Governor Cox said he could not announce his traveling plans more definitely. No arrangements, he added, have been made with Mr. Roosevelt for division of territory.

Governor Cox arrived here at 2:15 p. m. today from Columbus, Ohio. He was greeted by Franklin D. Roosevelt, a number of party leaders and government and municipal officials and a crowd which packed practically every vantage point in and about the union station.

After a reception arranged by the District of Columbia commissioners in the presidential room at the station, the governor drove to the home of Judge T. T. Ansberry, where he will be a guest. He will confer with President Wilson at the White House tomorrow morning to discuss campaign plans in general.

Crowd Cheers.

As the governor came up the train platform, a roar of cheers went up from the crowd. A brass band added its din to the welcoming noise. The governor smilingly acknowledged the greetings of the crowd. Passing through the gate entrance from the train shed he was greeted by the committee of woman appointed by the national democratic committee who had formed two lines through which the governor walked to the presidential room.

There the candidate was formally welcomed to Washington by the district commissioners. Others on hand to greet him included John F. Costello, national committeeman from the District of Columbia, and Senator Sheppard of Texas.

While in Washington Governor Cox also will confer with Representative Flood of Virginia, chairman of the democratic national congressional committee, as to the campaign to be made in every state for the election of congressmen.

"We expect to receive considerable help in the congressional campaign from Governor Cox because of his familiarity of the task of electing members of the house," said Representative Flood today.

"Govefnor Cox conducted two successful campaigns for congress in Ohio and this gives him first hand knowledge of the task of electing congressmen."

"I plan to start very soon after the ceremony of notification and acceptance," said the governor. "I expect this will be in the early part of August but, of course, the members of the national committee have other ideas and I will respect their suggestions. But I expect to start speaking practically at once."

Criticisms of his touring plans were mentioned and Governor Cox replied:

"I can see nothing undignified in carrying the cause to the people."

The governor said he hoped and expected that President Wilson would aid materially in the campaign, adding: "If not by speeches, by statements."

GOODFELLOW MAKES STATEMENT; CITES HIS POLICE RECORD

SATISFIED HE AND BRALLEY CAN NEVER GET ALONG IN POLICE DEPARTMENT.

CHARGES BRALLEY FAILED TO ADMINISTER AFFAIRS

Goodfellow States Bralley Gave Revolver to Officer to Strike Prisoner.

After maintaining silence for several hours following receipt of the formal notice that the city council would consider the question of his removal from office, Robert Goodfellow late last night made public a statement defending his record as chief of police and stating that he is satisfied he and Police Commissioner Bralley "can never get along together peacably in the police department."

The statement further alleges that in one instance, while Goodfellow was absent from the city, Commissioner Bralley failed to administer the affairs of the department properly; and it recites the additional allegation that the police commissioner on another occasion gave to a city detective a revolver which the officer used in striking a prisoner—and that Bralley made the remark: "I wish I could give you a bigger one."

The statement follows in full:

"With reference to the present movement of the police commissioner to oust me from office, I wish to make this statement, for the benefit of my friends who know what I have done, and for those of our citizenship who do not know what I have done.

"It does seem to me that I have been used as what the ball fans call a 'pinch hitter.' While the great oil rush was on and our city was flooded with outlaws and criminals of the worst type I was called upon to assist the city in its then utter lack of police control. I was then serving as deputy United States marshal in a large district in North Texas, and my duties as such were very heavy, but as a matter of public duty, I felt that I should lend what aid I could to the enforcement of the law in our city, and at the earnest solicitation of Commissioner Bundy, I helped all that my time would permit and finally resigned as United States marshal to devote all of my time to the city's welfare.

"The first months of my work as deputy police commissioner, I spent almost my entire time night and day, in putting down the nightly high-jacking, burglaries, and thefts, and many other crimes with which we were then afflicted, and I firmly believe that even a cursory glance over the police records of that period will show that I got results. And any thinking citizen knows that today the criminals are drifting away from Wichita Falls, to other parts. We have had no bank robberies, although Dallas, Fort Worth and most of the other towns around here have had one or more. I do not claim all of the credit for cleaning up the town, but I do say that the men whom I selected and who worked under me and who were energetic and active in their work, have accomplished it; and if I am forced from the head of the police department, I shall ever be thankful for the hearty support of those loyal men; and a disloyal man is to be pitied in any business.

Used Own Money.

"I further state that when I took hold of the police department that its finances were very low. I purchased three horses for my mounted men, and borrowed two others, and furnished four saddles from money out of my own pocket, hard earned money. These horses are still in the service of the department. On numerous other occasions, I have spent freely of my own money, in catching criminals and for the good of the department, and I do not hope or care to be repaid for it I have never on any occasion been dilatory in the enforcement of all of our laws and ordinances. I own a home here, and desire to live in a law-abiding town, the same as all other citizens, and have done my utmost to have such a town.

"About the time that the new charter was proposed and voted on, I made arrangements to quit the police department and devote my time to my private affairs; at that time I had no intention of remaining with the city after the new charter was adopted. But Mr. Bundy, the then police commissioner, and one of the highest class gentlemen that ever lived in our city, insisted, that inasmuch as I had served faithfully during the oil rush with its incidental criminal rush, that I remain with him after the adoption of the new charter—he assuring me that it was then his intention to remain also with the city. So I acceded to his wishes, abandoned my intention of making the race for sheriff of this county and remained. I feel that the loss of Mr. Bundy as police commissioner is the direct cause of our predicament today.

"I feel that I have been misrepresented and unjustly dealt with. I know that I have striven hard to uphold our laws and ordinances and to protect the citizenship of our city. I feel that I have protected your property and improved the conditions in the city, and that I have organized the police department in such manner that

NEW GAMEWELL FIRE ALARM SYSTEM NOW IN PRACTICALLY FULL OPERATION OVER CITY

The new Gamewell fire alarm system is now in operation throughout the city with the exception of a few boxes in the Coloral Heights district, between Tenth and H, and Monroe and Grant streets. The material for this section has been cast in transit. The new system comprises 100 fire alarm boxes, an eight-circuit storage battery switchboard, a six-circuit automatic repeater, an indicator, and gong at each fire station and a punching register with electrical time stamp at the central fire station in the city hall building, also a fire whistle located at the round house shops.

Each circuit takes in a section of the city and the boxes are located according to the rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and in the judgment of the fire chief. In the business section of the city there is a box at almost every corner while farther out there is a box at every second corner—the boxes are painted a bright red and red and white bands will be painted on the back and side of each pole on which the boxes are located so the public may better find them.

Cards are being printed which will be distributed soon and tacked up in every house and store telling the owner the location of his nearest box. To turn in an alarm, break the small glass on the front door, open the door and pull down the white handle once—a small bell inside of the box will report its number. The round house whistle will blow the number of the box four times. Telephone alarms are unreliable at best and the public is requested to use the fire alarm box instead of telephones. The box alarm is quickest and safest always.

When a box is pulled every fire station gets the alarm direct. The automatic repeater and the batteries as well as the registering apparatus is located in the central fire station, and every alarm is registered on a tape and the exact minute is electrically stamped thereon. There are 160 cells of storage battery necessary to operate the system half of the battery always being charged up in reserve. The batteries are charged from a motor generator in the central station and a second source of current is furnished direct from the electric light company office on Indiana avenue for emergency purposes.

An indicator with gong is installed at each fire station and registers the box numbers in plain figures while also striking a gong. The firemen all know the exact location of every box and leave the station as soon as the first number is registered.

Children and hired help should be instructed how to operate the alarm boxes so there will be no delay in sending the alarm. Wilful false alarms will result in fine and imprisonment and the tampering with any part of the fire alarm system is to be avoided for the reason that state laws provide heavy punishment for offenders. The system was installed at an expense of $29,500 and will reduce the key rate of insurance as soon as accepted. When schools open up Chief McClure will deliver lectures to the children and educate them on fire prevention and turning in alarms.

Chief McClure is greatly pleased with his new fire trucks and fire alarm system and wants the public to call his department without hesitation in case of fire. Delays are dangerous on windy days and nights—delays in getting central over the phone and misunderstanding street names and numbers often cause greater losses, therefore he requests the public to use the boxes wherever they are handy and near by. House owners and tenants are requested to familiarize themselves with the location of the nearest box to home and business.

Below are given the locations of the fire alarm boxes and everybody is requested to cut out this list and nail or paste it up where it can be seen by the members of the family and hired help.

MISS RUTH ALMIRA ROBERTSON AND PAUL D. KING MARRIED

The marriage of Miss Ruth Almira Robertson to Paul Duckett King, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Robertson, 1210 Filmore street, last evening at 8:30 o'clock, was one of the prettiest and at the same time most impressive ceremonies that has ever taken place in Wichita Falls. Miss Theresa Veal sang a solo, "For You," followed by Mendelssohn's Wedding March on the violin by Mrs. Lee Clark, accompanied on the piano by her daughter, Miss Mary Sypert. The only attendants were little Misses Mildred Robertson, cousin of the bride, and Dorothy Clark. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. N. F. Grafton, of the First Presbyterian church. After the ceremony punch was served to the numerous friends and relatives present. The bride is one of our most popular young ladies and the groom, who was nine months at Camp Travis with the 90th Division and was in active service "over there" a year, is at present connected with the Katy offices in this city. They left last evening for a short visit to the groom's father, W. R. King, of Dallas county, who was present at the marriage, and then will take a trip to San Antonio where he has many friends. Many lovely presents testified to the esteem in which the young couple are held. Among the out-of-town guests were: Misses Lena Drin Lavey and Leone Wall of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sturm of Dallas, Miss Lucy S. V. King, aunt of the groom from Goree, and Miss Mabel Ross of Colorado.

The bride and groom have known one another from their school days, which makes applicable to their union the old verse:

"I saw two clouds at morning
Rise with the rising sun,
With the dawn they floated on
And mingled into one."

LABOR LEADERS TO OPPOSE CANDIDATE

Gompers and Morrison Plan Stump Country Against Unfriendly Congressman.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—President Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor probably will take the stump during the coming political campaign in opposition to candidates for congress regarded as unfriendly to organized labor, Mr. Morrison announced today. He intimated labor would concentrate its efforts on candidates for the senate and house of representatives rather than on the heads of the party tickets.

The federation, however, has prepared for campaign purposes the record of the stand on labor legislation taken by Senator Harding in the senate and by Governor Cox, when he was a member of the house.

UNFAVORABLE WIND LOSES YACHT RACE

The breeze was running from four to five knots in strength and in the late half hour of sailing the challenger had held her own with the American.

The wind's softness again threatened a completed race.

At 4:10 Shamrock was 100 yards under Resolute's lee with the first mark about a mile to weather of the defender. During the last half hour Shamrock gained steadily.

The two yachts went about on the starboard tack at 4:16, the wind had dropped out a bit and the two big sloops washed along the seaway making slow time of it.

After tacking to starboard the yachts failed to fetch the mark. Ten minutes later the wind hauled a bit to the southward, letting Resolute up for the mark. Shamrock was left astern almost becalmed.

Shamrock was nearly a mile behind the American racer; Skipper Captain Burton threw on another tack as he approached the mark, but his boat had almost lost headway.

In the meantime Reselute was scudding toward the westward for the second mark with a new breeze from the south and a bone in her teeth. At 4:40 p. m. Shamrock came about on the starboard tack and tried again for the mark.

When Shamrock tacked for the mark at 4:50 p. m., going very slow, Resolute had sailed more than two miles for the second leg. The challenger sailed the last mile to the mark under a number one jib top sail, forestay sail.

At 5 o'clock Resolute was three miles away on the second leg and fairly fast.

At 5:10 Resolute was about five miles ahead of Shamrock.

At 5:15, with Shamrock five miles astern after turning the first mark, the contest resolved itself into a race of the Resolute against time limit, with two hours and a half in which to finish approximately fifteen miles.

On the reach to the second mark, Resolute skipped along very fast in the light air.

At 5:25 the defender was about five miles from the second mark and there was reason to believe that she would conclude the race before the time limit expired.

Moving to the westward the Resolute carried a nice breeze and there was a smother of foam under her bow.

Shamrock Pitiful.

Shamrock's efforts to turn the first mark were pitiful.

Five times Burton shot for the mark only to have his boat headed by a shifting in the breeze, or its failing flat. The green boat seemed lifeless. Here jib to sail was not filled, while she sailed for half an hour without working jib.

Once around the mark Shamrock also did better and began to move faster but she was too far astern to be considered a serious contender in this particular race.

When Resolute had sailed about six miles of the second leg and the wind hauling into the southwest made the last four miles another beat, Shamrock far astern began to gain and at 5:35 Resolute was less than four miles ahead.

The Resolute tacked to port at 5:42, but appeared to have little way upon her. The sea was oily and smooth and Resolute was having her troubles in the variable airs.

At 6:45 Shamrock was coming up fast and was less than two miles astern, making it for the Resolute not only a race against time, but once more a contest with the other yacht. The breeze was very light in the southwest.

Despite the chances of Resolute's finishing the race in the time limit were rapidly falling, as the wind was dead ahead and had dropped to less than three knots. Shamrock, more than two miles astern, also was fighting against the light wind.

Mile to Leeward.

At 6:30 p. m. with Resolute still more than a mile to leeward off the second mark, it seemed fairly certain that she would not reach the finish mark before the time limit expired an hour and a quarter later.

At 7 o'clock with the two yachts virtually drifting toward the second mark it seemed so impossible for Resolute to finish within the time limit that it was expected her skipper would ask the regatta committee to declare the race off.

At 7:15 Resolute was lazily reaching along about half a mile from the second mark on the run home. No effort was made to call off the race. With the breeze not more than two or three knots in strength, it was beyond the range of possibility that the American boat could cover nine miles in half an hour.

GOODFELLOW CITES HIS POLICE RECORD

it is an efficient branch of your public service today.

"I have arranged for a benefit show at the opera house on July 28, the proceeds to go to the police relief fund, to aid any sick or injured or needy member of the department. This play should net the relief fund about $2,500. In establishing this fund and adding to it, I feel that it is an encouragement and stimulant to the men, to do better service.

Can Meet Every Charge.

"I received official notice this morning from the city clerk, that on July 22 the city council will ask for my removal. I have not been furnished with a copy of the formal charges brought against me, if any have been brought. But if accorded a free and full hearing, I am sure that I can not only meet every charge that may be brought, but that I can also fully vindicate any act or omission as a public official that I may be charged with.

"As to the incident of an attack on a prisoner, mentioned in public statements of Mr. Bralley, will say, that four young men were in court, under heavy bond, charged with disturbance; they had broken the arm of Detective W. S. Johnson's son; during their trial, I saw Mr. Bralley give Mr. Johnson a pistol, and heard him remark to Johnson, 'I wish I could give you a bigger one.' After their trial, one of the young men did not have money enough to pay his fine, and I detailed a policeman, Mr. Windom, to go with him to get the money; the boy refused to go, stating to me they were ganging up on him outside. I then told him to come with me, that I would protect him. As we reached the door, a brother of Mr. Johnson's did start toward the boy, but I interfered and prevented him touching the boy, but W. S. Johnson, the detective, stepped up behind me and the boy and struck the boy with the same pistol Mr. Bralley had given him. Under this state of facts, and many others that have arisen, I am satisfied that Mr. Bralley and I cannot peaceably get along together in the police department. His methods and mine, for the management and enforcement of the law, differ to such an extent that we can never agree, in my opinion.

"As to the raids in the so-called 'Flats,' police records will show that we have arrested dozens and hundreds of vagrants in this section of the city, fined them and told them to leave town. Mr. Bralley, in my absence did conduct a wholesale raid in that district, put some of them in the city jail and kept them there three days without any charges being filed against them on the police docket, and after that time turned them loose upon the city again, with no other admonition than a lecture to them by the Rev. Mr. Knickerbocker. Whose methods were best in this instance?

Denies False Statements.

"I firmly deny that I have ever made any false statements or misrepresentations to Mr. Bralley about any matter. In fact, his attitude has been such that I have never been able to approach him and disclose the affairs of the department.

"I believe that the mayor and every member of the city council are high minded, honest men, and in fact, they have shown themselves to be such: I further believe that after a full, fair and impartial investigation of these charges against me, they will become convinced that Mr. Bralley is either mistaken or has been mislead, or is not conversant with the facts; and that there is nothing in my record that will justify them in ousting me as chief of police of the city of Wichita Falls."

With reference to the Johnson incident, which created considerable talk in the department at the time it occurred, Police Commissioner Bralley stated last night, after reading Goodfellow's allegation:

"Johnson's gun was given to me by someone, I don't know who gave it to me. After the trouble quieted down, I returned the gun to him. I didn't know the men involved or that they were awaiting trial. I don't recall what I said to Detective Johnson at the time I returned his gun.

"If it is true that these men broke the arm of Detective Johnson's son, why were they simply charged with disturbance and drunkenness, and why did not Chief Goodfellow immediately turn them over to the county authorities? Answer that question? Several days later I personally gave orders to have these men re-arrested and turned over to county officials."

Commissioner Bralley refused to make any positive statement regarding what action was taken by the department against the women arrested in the raid that took place during Goodfellow's absence. He questioned Desk Sergeant Jules Ehlers, however, who denied that any of the women were in jail more than a few hours during the morning of their arrest. According to Ehlers several were fined, and the others were given their freedom on bond furnished by their attorney. It developed, however, that none of them since then has been called into court for trial.

THOMASON OUTLINES CAMPAIGN ISSUES

guson didn't hire him. But Ferguson paid him, and out of the state's money."

He read a copy of the warrant, declaring that it came from the appropriation for "rewards for apprehension and conviction of criminals."

"Neff stood here on this very platform and said I was disqualified for governor because I lived nearest San Fancisco than Wichita Falls," the speaker continued, "he shows poor taste in talking about West Texas when he's been riding all over it, making campaign speeches, on a free pass.

"I had never mentioned his name in a speech when he delivered this attack on me. Oh, yes, he says he didn't violate the law about riding to political meetings on passes because it was a government railroad administration pass. Oh that Jim Hogg were living now; you know what he'd say to a thing like that.

Neff's Record.

"I've stayed in the record on Neff, and I want to quote now from his own campaign book, where Dr. Brooks says that he never shot a gun, never baited a fish-hook, can't play any social game at all. I wonder what he does in his spare time. Does he crochet? We ought to keep so clean a man as that out of the mire of politics."

Thomason said that he did not want to be considered a "West Texas candidate," because he was not running as the candidate of any section.

"But," he continued, "other sections don't always understand our conditions and our needs and it seems to me that West Texas is entitled to have someone at Austin who can really serve her. It seems to me to be a puny argument against a man to say, as one of my opponents did, and he ought to be defeated because he is a West Texan.

In discussing the necessity for getting rid of some state offices, Mr. Thomason said there was much overlapping of work, and he mentioned the warehouse and marketing, public health and pure food and water engineers and reclamation bureaus as some whose functions might be combined.

"I would abolish all without legislative or judicial functions," he said.

The graduated land tax, he said, was socialistic and put a penalty on thrift and enterprise. He said that Neff, who advocated it, was finding it hard to defend.

"Such a tax would be ruinous in west Texas," Thomason said.

Speaking of the state's educational problems, the speaker briefly pointed out some of the glaring needs in the present school system, mentioning that Texas ranks 37th in educational facilities.

"I'm going to use horse sense in dealing with appropriation bills, but when a candidate tells you how much he's going to save, let him tell you where he's going to cut. Texas A. & M. College can't begin to take care of the thousands of splendid boys that go there to learn; at the State University they are reciting their lessons in shacks that you wouldn't use as a garage. I'm proud that I had a part in bringing about the $4,000,000 appropriation for the rural schools, and there is need for as much more.

"I'm tired of seeing our schools made a political football. I'm tired of seeing the heads of our higher institutions having to come to the legislature and beg for funds to run on. I want to take our educational system out of politics and keep it out."

Thomason, who is author of the law that limits suffrage to naturalized Americans, closed with a plea for Americanism in state government.

Judge P. A. Martin presided at the meeting, and first called on George Culp of Gainesville, a life long friend of the candidate, for a few remarks. Judge Culp gave a brief sketch of Thomason's career as the son of a country doctor, school teacher, lawyer and legislator. He took a rap at Neff on the free pass question, and said that Thomason's understanding of the Mexican problem would enable him to be of great service at a time when "the Mexican spark may set a world on fire again."

"We need a blue-eyed Saxon who can look across the border and grasp the situation there and not only help Texas but redeem Mexico," said Culp.

J. A. Kemp was introduced by Judge Martin as "your leader and mine in many important things in this community."

Kemp declared that Thomason ranked in ability with any who sought the office, not excepting some candidates who thought themselves mighty big men. He said that Thomason was the sort of man west Texas needed to aid in her development.

It was the first extensive raid here since the prohibition law went into effect. The "flying squadron" arrived here yesterday, headed by National Prohibition Commissioner Kramer.

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE 30TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF TEXAS

It is with regret that I cannot get to see all the voters of this district in person, owing to the fact that the 30th district court convened the 14th day of June at Wichita Falls, Texas. There are a large number of criminal cases now pending on the docket of this district that will have to be tried and a large number that will have to be investigated which will require most of my time and attention.

It will be almost impossible for me to see every voter in person and I wish to say to the people of this district that I am now making my race for my second term for the office of district attorney for the 30th judicial district of Texas. During my last term which is the present term I have tried to make the people of this district an efficient district attorney. I have tried to be fair and fearless in all my prosecutions. I have tried to be conscientious and have kept my mind open at all times. I have done my very best to perform the duties of my office to the best of my ability.

I now leave it to the people of this district to be my judge. Under all the principals of the democratic party, where a man has done his best to perform the duties of his office to the very best of his ability he is entitled to a second term of office.

This is all I ask of the people of this district.

If you feel that I have made you an efficient officer under the conditions that I have had to work against, then I respectfully request your support in the general democratic primary election to be held upon the 24th day of July, 1920.

I now submit to you my candidacy. 40Suntfc. FLETCHER S. JONES.

WILSON IS OPPOSED REETIREMENT LAW

Advocates Permitting Civil Service Employes Over 65 Continue Work.

WASHINGTON, July 17. — President Wilson is strongly opposed to the retirement under the civil service retirement law of civil service employes who have reached the retirement age of 65 years but who are in good physical condition and desire to continue at work.

Secretary Tumulty said today the president had told members of the cabinet of his desire that they place a uniform interpretation on the measure, which becomes effective July 22 and which some cabinet officers have construed to provide arbitrarily for retirement of employees at the age of 65.

For reasons that nearly every building in Wichita Falls was in need of a fuel heating device of some kind last winter and that it is certain that the shortage of natural gas this winter will be even more serious, we have arranged with Beckwith Company to handle their entire line of celebrated Round Oak Heaters and Ranges and have already received the first car load of pipeless furnaces which we are now installing in the homes of Wichita Falls.

We will be pleased to have home owners consult us now as the Pipeless Furnace cannot be installed in a few minutes. We also have arranged for a factory heating engineer to be with us and any information on modern heating will be free to you. See our special demonstration advertisement next Sunday in this paper.

LADS OF THE NORTH DAKOTA SING OLD SHIP'S PRAISES

The "Cleanest, Fastest and Fightinest Vessel in the Seven Seas," They Proudly Tell Jane Dixon, and Outside of a Few Other Ships They Are Right

'NIP' AND 'TUCK' OF THE NORTH DAKOTA

Salt Tears from the North Dakota.

It may be sedition
To knock prohibition,
List' to the bluejackets' cry.
We've had booze and sports
In ten thousand ports,
But dammit, New York's gone dry!

By JANE DIXON

Aboard a float along the banks of the Hudson.

In the foreground, the Atlantic Fleet, riding proudly at anchor.

Slightly to port, a returning liberty party, which is another way of saying a feted and sated gang of gobs on shore leave, waiting for a ship's barge to carry them back aboard.

Close up harmony.

Here was a group of singers with an idea, a song with a sympathetic theme. Worthy of investigation.

"I see you are from the North Dakota," I suggested by way of opening conversation. A wise guess too, as you would realize if you had seen the bands on the "flats," riding at every impossible angle atop sailors' heads.

"You said it," rumbled a bulwark of our first line of defense. "From the North Dakota, the cleanest, fastest and 'fightin'est' shop on the seven seas."

Cleanest, fastest and "fightin'est"! Considerable record, is it not?

There Are Others.

Investigation proved the N. D. lad was probably right. From other sources I learned that with the exception of the Delaware, the Nevada, the Florida, the Arizona, the Pennsylvania, the Utah and the rest of the 65 ships which go to make up the fleet, the North Dakota can lay claim to those three worthy adjectives. Wherever my informant of the moment happened to swing his hammock, that was the queen ship of the fleet.

I had started to go aboard the Pennsylvania, flagship of the fleet, but this Bluejacket Blues intrigued my interest. Besides, the "Pennsy" has glory enough, what with Admiral H. B. Wilson bunking there and one thing and another.

"Come on and ship with a live crowd," advised another bulwark built broad and close to the deck. It was a most persuasive invitation. I joined, in three steps and a leap.

As we were "shoving off" a group of girls fluttered down to the water's edge to wave a flirtatious farewell to the sailors.

"Look at the length of those skirts," qouth a tall, lanky, serious-visaged gob. "They've got me fooled here in New York. Taking an observation from the stern you can't tell whether they are 15 or 50. A fellow has to be well f'ward of midships to get a line on 'em."

"Right you are, Short," echoed a husky with the blue of indigo oceans in his eyes. "These New York gals sure don't carry much canvas below the waist line."

"Maybe so," interpolated a third, his face burned bronze by the tropical sun. "But you'll have to admit they are there on the looks. And think of the sabe they carry aloft!"

Alongside. Up the ship's gangway, from any step of which you might eat your supper without missing the clean white of a tablecloth.

Greetings from the officer of the deck, Lieutenant John C. Williams, with a Texas drawl and the ability to awaken vague regrets that you, too, were not born to wear the blue.

Lieutenant Williams Admits All.

Lieutenant Williams admitted everything I had heard in favor of the North Dakota is true.

"She may not be as recent as some of them," reluctantly, "but we beat the bunch under the barrier by a mile and a half on this trip up from Cuba. Yes, indeed, the old war horse ran away from them."

There followed reminiscences from the recent cruise of the North Dakota following her conveyance of the body of the Italian Ambassador, Count Macchi Di Celere, to the homeland. More than 23,000 miles in seven months is the official travelogue. The North Dakota is the first United States dreadnought to pass through the Dardanelles, and the first United States battle ship to ride the waters of the Black Sea.

"Remember that night—Christmas Eve it was—in Constantinople?" cut in an ensign with an Irish "moniker" and a smile to match it.

"Do I remember—you tell them about it, Mac?"

"Well," eagerly, "it was like this. We decided to celebrate Christmas Eve in a manner befitting the occasion, so we dropped into a coffee house in the center of the European district. There were plenty of officers there, mostly French and British, with an occasional Russian to add to the gayety of nations.

"A good time was being had by all. There was a stage with dancers and singers, tables for refreshments, tiers of boxes filled with beautiful senoritas or whatever you call them in Turkish. In the center of the layout was a big Christmas tree like the kind we had back home when we were kids.

"The tree was great; all lit up like a church. There was only one thing wrong with it. The decorators had dolled it up with flags as a compliment to the allied officers who patronized the place. They had a good idea, but a bad sense of position. They put the British flag on top.

Put Old Glory on Top.

"A certain ensign who hrad been enjoying native refreshments decided it was up to him to improve on this decorative scheme. He climbed to the top of the tree. On his way up he gathered in the Stars and Stripes. Immediately there was a rush for the tree, with all hands looking to protect their inalienable rights. It was one fine jam.

"While the crowd at the base of the tree was trying to untangle itself the ensign was waving back and forth in the swaying treetop fastening Old Glory to the highest branch. Then some one pushed over the tree. We managed to rescue our ensign. He was perfectly willing to be rescued. Attendants had returned the tree to its original uprightness and there, streaming from the tip of the topmost limb, was the Stars and Stripes."

More memories of Athens, of Rome, of Malta, Valencia, Nice, Pompeii, Vesuvius, Rome, Gibraltar.

"We have quite a few celebrities aboard since the cruise," explained the officer of the deck. "They earned their titles in the various ports we made. There is the 'Count of Monte Carlo,' for example; an ensign who made up his mind to break the bank and almost succeeded. Then we have the 'Prince of Valencia' and the 'Rock of Gibraltar' and the 'Sultan of Stamboul.' If it were not for the ship's censor I might tell you more about them and their foreign achievements."

Eight bells! Tea and toast from the expert hands of a Filipino mess room boy; quick in the service of the country which has given him the priceless gift of opportunity.

Mess pennant down from the yard. On deck. Over the side. Aboard the steamer. Bosun's whistle, and away! Bucking ebb tide back to the uneventful domain of dry land.

"You might mention," called Lieutenant Williams, "that we won the highest number of points in the fleet during the recent bouts. Also we copped four belts. Private First Class Muchie, U. S. M. C., is our handy man with the gloves. Even Jack Dempsey is none too safe with Muchie."

"Could you tell me Private Muchie's first name?" I inquired.

"No—just Muchie," came the reply. 'You might call him N. D. Muchie."

What do you suppose that N. D. stands for?

They will be in New York for two weeks, the flipers and the blues.

They have been down Guantanamo (Cuba) way, practising up with the big guns, those same guns which keep America safe for democracy.

Look them over. Have you ever seen a cleaner, healthier, huskier lot of citizenry. Note how their faces are scrubbed to pink shining clearness. See the color in their cheeks, the flash in their eyes, the spring in their heels.

This is their "big time on the beach," their play period, their season to "bust loose." Pay is burning holes in sailor pockets. Park benches along Riverside Drive beckon to romance, which blooms in the spring tra la. The home sun is shining.

Move over, you landlubber, and make room for our "navies"!

Give Mother a Rest.

IN every motion picture there is an actor whose name does not appear in the published cast or characters and who, except in a few rare cases, is never seen in the picture, but upon whose work the entire success of the film depends. He is, as it were, an invisible star, for every shading of character presentation, every detail of settings and lighting, are the product of his genius. He selects the cast and often the development of the story, even to the writing of the titles, falls within his province. Indeed, he must possess a complete knowledge of every angle of picture production, for he is the man who, as the director of the camera play, is, in the truest sense, the man who makes motion pictures.

In recent months there has been a growing tendency to feature the director rather than the players in the screen story. Several prominent directors have been honored by having productions announced as their own, with the name of the distributing organization placed in secondary position. With this comes the suggestion from Houdini, who has himself recently gone into pictures, that each director "autograph" his work by appearing in at least one short scene. Several directors have followed the suggestion with the result that the public is beginning to know these "brains of the camera play" and to take as great an interest in them as in their favorite stars.

Public Has Peculiar Ideas Concerning Director.

The world in general a director is a man who owns a special chair and a special megaphone on each of which his name is printed in large letters. He sits in the chair and urges the actors through the megaphone to do dramatic leaps over cliffs or to go through violent struggles on the roofs of burning buildings. In reality, if he is a good director, he is a deep student of human nature, widely read, highly educated, with an artistic insight as keen as that of a painter. An examination of the experiences which have built for the present success of most directors shows that, in almost every case, they have lived a life which has been widely varied and from which they can draw material for the interpretation of almost every human emotion.

Take for example Cecil B. De Mille, director general of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, producer of Paramount Artcraft specials such as "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?" The son of Henry C. De Mille, the dramatist, his first knowledge of the stage was acquired playing child's parts in his father's company. As he grew older he took a greater interest in the drama and at the age of eighteen he and his brother William wrote their first play. This was followed by several more years on the stage. He also found time to go to college and, after graduation, devoted more time to playwrighting, turning out, among many other plays, "The Return of Peter Grimm" for David Warfield. Seven years ago he entered the motion picture field, strong in one belief that if motion pictures were produced with a carefully developed construction and technique, their possibilities were limitless. Putting his theory into practice, he at once became a leader in the production of picture plays and one success followed another.

Fitzmaurice Strives for the New and Beautiful.

Like his brother William De Mille is also a graduate of the stage. He is the author of many theatrical successes, among them "The Warrens of Virginia," in which Mary Pickford played a child's part, "Classmates," and the Belasco success, "The Woman." He is a student of the drama and literature in their highest forms. He is a firm believer in the fact that the ideal picture shall have something to say and say it beautifully. To this end he works in two capacities, both as scenarist and director.

George Fitzmaurice, whose direction of "On With the Dance," brought new beauty to the screen and who, with "The Right to Love," has surpassed his former effort, is not a product of the theater. His training has been that of an artist and he has lived in all the great capitals of continental Europe. Of Irish parentage he was reared and educated in Paris and with his inborn Irish humor combines the Gallic sense of beauty and a sparkling wit. In his pictures he is eternally striving for new and beautiful effects, preferring stories which will give him an opportunity to indulge his fancy in striking atmospheric pictures of the Orient. In "The Right to Love" he has gone to Turkey for his locale and his produced some of the most fascinating scenes the screen has yet seen.

Out-Door Scenes His Specialty.

At the opposite end of the producing field from Mr. Fitzmaurice is George Melford, who in contrast to the fanciful scenes which the "Irishman from Paris" loves to film, is particularly interested in bringing the invigorating atmosphere of the great outdoors to the screen. In this new version of Jack London's, "The Sea Wolf," he has gone to the sea for his settings, filming by far the greater portion of the picture aboard a schooner well out in the Pacific. In "The Round Up" he has heard the call of the plains and in "The Translation of a Savage," a film version of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, he has sought the hills. Mr. Melford is a native of Rochester, N. Y., and has been active in the motion picture field for ten years, previous to which he was interested in the theater. His entry into pictures was as leading man with the Kalem Company. He has the confidence born of knowledge and experience, is an indefatigable worker and invariably gets the best results from the artists working under his direction.

Hugh Ford was educated as a mining engineer but that profession did not attract him and he went on the stage, playing character parts with the old Lyceum Theater Company. He soon graduated to the field of direction, numbering among his triumphs the spectacles, "The Garden of Allah," and "Joseph and His Brethren." Joining the directorial staff of the Famous Players he went to Rome to direct Pauline Frederick in the film version of "The Eternal City." Since that time he has been constantly at work in the studio, directing many stars, especially Elsie Ferguson. Although he has directed pictures in every corner of the world, Mr. Ford is strong in the belief that often better results can be obtained in the studio with a setting which reproduces any selected locality than by actual going to the place in question. The questions of lights, of composition, and of photographic values are much more easily solved when the proper equipment is at hand, he declares.

Future Success of Screen in Hand of Directors.

A specialist in the direction of stories of youthful adventure is William D. Taylor. The skill with which he caught the spirit of Mark Twain and preserved it intact on the screen, has placed him in the front rank of directors. Curiously enough, since his greatest success has been with stories of American life, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and "Huckleberry Finn," Mr. Taylor is an Englishman. Educated at Clifton College, following his graduation he went on the stage playing with such stars as Fannie Davenport and Kathryn Kidder. He went into motion pictures first as an actor. During the war he served with the British army.

It is in the hands of these men that the future of the motion picture lies, and their interest, their study and their untiring efforts assure that the future will be an artistic one.

What Industrial Motion Pictures Really Are

A FEW years ago an industrial motion picture was something undreamed of by either producer, manufacturer or exhibitor. Even today an industrial motion picture is a rarity, but the swiftness with which it is coming into general use will, within a few months astonish the world. Without exaggeration this new industry opens up a new avenue of industrial training, destined to save millions of dollars and untold numbers of hours to manufacturers and plant owners. Its importance in the business world is so strong that it seems inconceivable that such a simple method of training has gone uncovered for generations. The industrial motion picture, besides the educational value, also contains an entertainment feature so strong in itself that to educate any group of persons it is only necessary to get them to look at the pictures as they are thrown on the screen.

The industrial motion picture, as I see it, means more than entertainment and instruction; it means the passing along to the public of intimate and technical knowledge of the big facts of life. Of course, we are all curious about how the wheels go round, and when the "insides" of a great plant are shown, visualizing the manufacture of a product that enters largely into the details of our daily existence, we are agape with wonder. But here I wish to call attention to some of the uses and possibilities of the motion picture as applied to shop management, salesmanship, increased production and such like things.

Immense Enterprise.

Many men and women have seen the vision of the motion picture as a wholesome form of entertainment, educational in its very nature.

I have seen the vision of the industrial and educational motion picture per se, and without giving names, I want to tell here what the heads of one great industrial enterprise are doing with industrial motion pictures at the moment. This company employs approximately 20,000 men in its plant located in a Mid-Western city, and quite naturally it has tremendous problems of labor and production to solve.

For this company the industrial and educational department has visualized the entire plant, including the operation of individual machines, and the processes through which raw materials pass into completed products; for instance, each machine is picturized in the hands of a skilled worker. The picture shows how material is handled skillfully, quickly and safely to obtain the best results.

The cameramen engaged in his work are also experts, long experienced. The latest marvels in science in the way of lighting are used and the intricate operation of every bit of machinery is brought out even more clearly than the eyes could see were a person looking directly at the machine. Further than this the pictures show the production of the raw material in all parts of the world, and also visualize the uses of the company's goods after they pass into the hands of consumers. The pictures constitute a complete technical and interesting story of the company's enterprise.

In an establishment so large, however well managed, there is a constant outgo and income of labor. Day by day men apply for work, who speak all languages—all manner and kinds of men who have passed through all stages of training and development. Many of them have no knowledge of the English language, although they may be fairly expert workmen. When men apply for work, they are submitted to the usual employment processes; their pedigrees taken, physical examinations made, etc. Then those who are accepted for employment are taken into a large motion picture theater constructed within the plant. In the case of the plant of which I am writing the theater there seats 1,500 people comfortably. Then the motion picture show begins.

Your Pick.

Rapidly, as in an ordinary entertainment theater, the entire plant is visualized for the benefit of the workers to be. One says he wants to operate a special machine; another says he wants to go into the finishing department; another says he has some knowledge of chemistry and wants to go into the chemical division; another says he has specific knowledge of production and manufacture of a certain raw material used in the plant; so on down the line. When the man has arranged his employment, he is turned over to an instructor and taken into a smaller theater, a room equipped with a small projection machine. There he is shown technical and intimate details of the work that he is to do.

In this way, through the use of skillfully made motion pictures, a new employe learns as much of the plant machine and processes on which he is to be engaged in three days of this intensive study and instruction as he would ordinarily learn in three months if he were put on a machine immediately after being accepted for employment. Then, too, the new employe is enabled at once to select the task for which he is best fitted, instead of rambling around through the plant, from pillar to post, for months and possibly never finding his niche.

The adoption of this motion picture plan in every great industrial plant in the United States is one of my visions of the use of industrial motion pictures. But I have other visions, and some of them are already being put into practical operation. There are now in daily use in the United States 3,100 motion picture theaters which may be classed as industrial plant theaters. These theaters serve many purposes. At times they are used for the instruction of salesmen in factory processes and products. At other times they are used for the instruction of workers as I have outlined above.

Keeps Record.

To give a general survey of what an industrial or educational picture can do, permit me to list some of the kind of organization pictures which have been found to be of great value.

A permanent visualized record of the entire plant; the visualization of special processes; of shop practices for purposes of record, instruction, study, or in the course of invention, or instruction of operatives in efficiency methods; for use in establishing, promoting or continuing welfare work among employes.

As an aid to the solution of labor problems explanation of industrial democracy or any other system designed to establish new or better economic relations between employer and employes; lessening labor turn-over by raising mental standard of employes; Americanization; instruction of salesmen in sales methods; selling by means of motion pictures shown in buyers' offices with a suit-case projector; the sociologists of every shade of opinion are agreed that every "ism" from Socialism to Bolshevism has as its germinating seed, the dissatisfaction of the worker with working conditions.

Whether or not he is justified has nothing to do with the case. Manufacturers have found that the best means of easing labor unrest includes a raising of the standard of working conditions and its most practical form has been found to be what is popularly known as welfare work; picture to yourself a huge industrial plant with its thousands of workers, of a score of nationalities; because you can not reach them or teach them through the ordinary channels of man-to-man intercourse, you get slip-shod labor, lack of loyalty and co-operation, services grudgingly rendered; in fact, all the evils of labor unrest, which is responsible for the costly labor turnover in our industrial plants generally.

For years the American manufacturer thought of the industrial motion picture as a toy. It was never a toy. It is an industrial giant—conceived in wisdom, but unharnessed, uncontrolled a giant that has been permitted to stupidly by and twiddle his thumbs.

NO DULL POLITICAL MOMENTS IN INDIANA.

A United News dispatch in the Dallas News tells of the prospects for a hard fight between Tom Taggart and Jim Watson who are candidates for the same seat in the United States senate from Indiana.

Indiana always has been a political battleground. Hoosiers take to politics as naturally as a duck to water.

Tom Taggart and Jim Watson are both master politicians. They are surrounded by keen lieutenants in the art of politics. Taggart is head of the democratic machine in Indiana. Watson is head of the republican machine. Taggart depends upon his ability as an organizer to win in the political game. He never makes a public speech. Watson leaves the matter of organization to others and expends his personal efforts in oratory. He is a silver-tongued orator and one of the best campaign speakers in the country.

Taggart began life as a waiter in a depot restaurant. He was industrious and thrifty and soon was running a hotel. Now he owns several of them, including the great hotel at French Lick Springs. He was elected mayor of Indianapolis and served a term or two. He was appointed to fill a vacancy in the United States senate and was a candidate for election but was defeated by Watson by a few thousand votes. He has a smile and handshake that has disarmed many of his political enemies. aNturally fitted to play the game, Mr. Taggart has had long experience in the art of politics. At San Francisco he cast Indiana's vote, first in compliment to Marshall, then swung to Cox except on a few ballots that he gave the vote to McAdoo when he knew it would not affect the result. Taggart is one of the men who brought about the nomination of Cox.

Jim Watson was a lawyer in a little Indiana town. He had been sent to the state legislature. A republican district chairman in a democratic district needed a candidate to fill a place on the ticket. The district was normally several thousand democratic. William Holman, who had served longer than any other man in congress, and who had won the sobriquet "Watch-dog of the treasury", was the democratic incumbent. This district chairman wanted a man who could not only fill a place on the ticket but who could make a good showing in the election. He picked Watson and had him nominated. That was in the lamented campaign of 1896. Watson belonged to many religious and fraternal organizations. He spoke German. He was young and ambitious. There was a republican landslide that year. Honest Old Bill Holman went down. Young Jim Watson was elected by a plurality of about 600 votes. Before he had a chance to offer again a friendly legislature had redistricted the state and made Watson's district safely republican. He became republican whip of the house. He was elected to the senate where he became one of the republican group which has ruled that body since the republicans came into power. He is known as a man close to Penrose. He is one of the republican leaders who brought about the nomination of Harding.

Both Taggart and Watson are master politicians. Indiana, naturally an intense political state will see one of the greatest political fights this summer and fall in her history. Political observers have not yet hazarded any predictions as to who will be the victor.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION NEEDED.

The case of Wichita county is one that argues for the creation of a state board of tax equalization to equalize assessments in the different counties of the state as county boards equalize assessments of individuals in their respective counties. Wichita county will pay into the state treasury this year an amount in taxes highly disproportionate with many other counties in the state because property in Wichita county is rendered or assessed for taxation at a rate much nearer its actual value than property in many other counties.

Without some state board to equalize assessments many counties are failing to pay their just share of the expenses of the state government and, on the other hand, some counties are paying too much.

Citizens of Wichita county have paid a huge amount in income tax. City and county taxes are necessarily high, and when we are asked to pay a disproportionate share of the state taxes it is small wonder that those who pay the taxes are asking if there is no way to find relief.

BLOCK PARTIES FOR THE COUNTY

The extension of the "Block Party" plan to the remainder of Wichita county, might be worth attempting. The block parties have done much to develop a spirit of neighborliness in Wichita Falls. Residents of the country and of the smaller cities are nearly always more neighborly than those of the larger cities but doubtless during the changes that have come over the county during the past three years some of the old neighborliness has been lost. It is a fine possession either for town or city dweller.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."
(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sunday, July 18, 1920.

Although Mars is in benefic aspect today, according to astrology, Saturn and Uranus rule so strongly for evil that it is a day in which to be extremely cautious.

During this rule all the physical attributes are likely to be stronger than the spiritual aspirations. Love of ease and luxury should be curbed.

Under this sway the tendency to eat too much may be easily indulged, making for diseases of the digestion, which will be exceedingly prevalent.

Men of iron develop while Mars is dominant and the seers declare that weaklings are likely to be overcome in the next few years.

Health is to be counted as a national asset so jealously, astrologers foretell, that the standard of the race will rise steadily owing to the prevalence of scientific care for all types of children.

At this time there should be revealed, benefits from the war, not hitherto recognized.

Fame for a soldier who will visit the United States is forecast.

Women are to be less prominent in public affairs all through the next few weeks than they have expected to be, if the stars are interpreted aright.

Race questions will be again prominent during this month. The Indian will focus attention as well as the negro.

A plague of insects may appear at this time, tormenting human being as well as dumb animals.

According to ancient lore toy-makers should begin to win success during this positing of the stars and new enterprises of various sorts appear to be forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is will have great good luck during the coming year, if they were born in the morning. If born in the afternoon the augury is not so favorable.

Children born on this day will be active and successful. These subjects of Cancer are on the cusp and may have Leo characteristics which impart ambition and initiative.

THE ILLITERACY DIGEST.

By C. F. C.

Our Odes Are Odious.

See that item right over there, folks? That one calling attention to Ed Gieck's birthday, and suggesting that you show your appreciation of his poetry by sending him postcards?

All we have to say scornfully is just this: People don't have to use the mails to convey to us their thoughts regarding our poetry—we hear quite forceful remarks daily regarding it.

Barred From The Mails.

And, anyway, there are certain strong expressions that a fatherly government will not permit to pass through the mails!

The Retailers Won.

United State's department of labor reports show that approximately $175,000,000 in wages were lost during the fiscal year by workers who went on strike, and that employers lost $700,000,000 in the value of production curtailed thereby. But, as usual with those dusty and stupid reports, no statement is made as to who won.

And We Lost.

The ultimate consumer lost, of course. He got hit in the head with a brick thrown by a striker, and then months later he was hit in the bank account through the high prices that followed the curtailment of production referred to.

We All Know It.

Two men got into an altercation on the street. The argument became heated. Finally the following:

"Yah! If you're an oil field scout, then Harvey Grubb's a third baseman!"

Argument ended right there. The accused knew Grubb is not a third baseman.

The Dove Loses Its Home.

"The grasshoppers," states a news story, "in some instances have even destroyed small peace trees."

If there are any "peace trees" in this country, official Washington is not aware of the fact.

And Some Strong Talk.

Rumored that Billy Sunday will be the prohibition party's presidential nominee, with a woman slated for the vice-presidency. If victory perches on the prohibition standards, we predict a conversational cabinet.

Wipe Out The National Debt.

Wonder if Billy would open his cabinet meetings to the public, and call for free will offerings.

Probably So.

And would the White House walks be replaced by sawdust trails?

"Affairs of state don't interest me,"
The president loud doth yell.
"There's a rummy down in Kankakee
Whose soul is sold to—Satan."

Salutations To The Umpire.

"You big Oklahoma horse thief!"

"Call 'em right, you sewing machine agent!"

"Hey, Umps; get a horse. Jessie James rode one!"

"I thought they didn't allow blind beggars in Wichita Falls!"

"Oh, you republican crook!"

More of The Same.

Etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., etc., ad infinitum.

It Can't Be Done.

"Allies to Assist Germany to Float Its Loan to Pay Debts"—headline. We can't imagine how a loan sufficiently heavy to pay Germany's debts, moral and otherwise, would be light enough to float.

WHY?—

ARE GOLD AND SILVER USED AS MONEY?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

In considering the matter of coinage there are at least seven factors which have to be borne in mind:

Value—because money is the representation of labor, property or something else which is highly valuable to the person who possesses it;

Portability—because money must be easily transported from place to place;

Divisibility—because money should be capable of being split up into coins of varying values;

Uniformity—because the material of which money is made should not vary greatly, as would other commodities of various kinds;

Durability—because currency should last indefinitely, without deterioration;

Distinguishability—a property which would bar diamonds and other precious stones, because only experts could pass upon the value of these;

Lack of fluctuation—because money should, theoretically, have equivalent value in all parts of the world.

It is obvious that only gold and silver meet these requirements, platinum being too costly for the making of coins, while copper and nickel are not in themselves valuable enough to use except for the smaller pieces. Gold and silver may be easily carried about; they are of considerable value; they may be divided into comparatively small units; their price is comparatively uniform; they are recognizedly valuable and extremely durable. It is because of these properties, therefore, that they form the basis of currency the world over—paper money being merely a representation of the gold or silver coin.

Wasted Energy.

For many, many weeks to come the orators, brave souls, will knock the welkin out of plumb, and shoot it full of holes. Wherever there's a stump or keg some orator will rise, and talk until he breaks a leg, dispensing truth and lies. Then men with messages will spoil the picnic in the dell, and when we'd fain go forth to toil, they'll lend us with a spell. If all their energy and steam were put to sawing wood, high prices soon would be a dream, and prospects would be good. We need strong men to guide the plow and see the pumpkins binned, but all the husky fellows now are busy dishing wind. If every man who speaks a piece would grow some wheat instead, our profiteering kraft would cease, and we'd have cheaper bread. If every man who takes the stump, our bulwarks to defend, would grab a hoe and lustily hump, another graft would end. For weeks and weeks the ancient tunes will in our ears be dinned, and when we plead for wholesome prunes, they'll merely hand us wind. The energy that's thrown away by orators, oh, chee! If it were put to baling hay, where would our problems be?

Side Talks

By RUTH CAMERON

SHE LIKED TO BE REMINDED.

A question of sending a birthday greeting to a middle-aged friend came up recently.

Said someone, "Perhaps, as she is getting along in years, she would rather not be reminded of her birthdays."

Said a middle-aged woman, "The older I grow, the more it means to me to have my birthday remembered."

"Then you don't mind being reminded of the fact that you are getting older, by birthday greetings?" said the one who had originally raised that objection.

"Being reminded that I'm getting older? Do you think I could forget that anyway? The cards and gifts remind me that people still care for me even if I am growing older, and keep me from minding—that's what they do."

No Child Ever More Pleased.

Her vehemence reminded me of other elderly woman who was visiting at a neighbor's of ours when her birthday came around. Of course she did not let any of us know beforehand; but when the day came and the mail brought her gifts and cards from friends, she showed them to us with a pride and a delight that I never saw equalled in a child.

Someone had sent her a basket of fruit and remembered the kinds she likes the best, and someone else sent her favorite home-made candy, and she fairly glowed when she displayed them and she insisted on sharing them. There were two or three dainty handkerchiefs and an array of the wonderfully attractive cards that can be bought nowadays. Very simple things all of them, and yet she took a world of pleasure in them. It was a lesson to me in simple ways of giving happiness.

Too Long a Gift List.

How many names of middle-aged or elderly people have you in your birthday book? I do not mean for gift-giving necessarily (I think it is possible to have so long a gift list that it becomes a harrassing burden instead of a spontaneous expression of affection) but just as a reminder to send a pretty card or friendly letter.

The custom of getting up a postcard shower for invalids or elderly people on their birthdays, is one of our prettiest modern customs, and I think the telephone shower is equally nice that is when some close friend reminds half a dozen other friends to call up and say "Happy Birthday."

I happened to overhear a conversation on the train the other day between a woman whose father retired after 50 years work in a bank, and a young man who works in that bank.

Which Would You Call It?

"I don't know what he would do," said his daughter, "if you people at the bank weren't so wonderful about calling him and telling him any news. He just lives on those calls."

"Yes," said the young man. "Every morning the cashier gives his number to someone at the bank, and that person is supposed to call him up some time during the day."

I thought that was beautiful, but when I told it to a business man who is very strong on efficiency, he began to point out the waste of time if such things were done everywhere.

But what different meanings it is possible to give to the same word or phrase! Take "waste of time," for instance, or the word "efficiency"—I suppose they would mean a dozen different things, according to the point of view.

The more fastidious you are the better you will like it.

Relieves Paralysis

MR. E. W. GOSS.

Birmingham, Ala.
Nov. 26, 1919.

Dear Doctor:

Thought I would write you a few lines telling you my condition, and of my previous condition prior to taking your Chirepractic Adjustments. I was stricken with paralysis on March 9, 1919, and had a second stroke on Aug. 26. It had been suggested to me by my shopmates at the Continental Gin Works, Avondale, to take the Chiropractic Adjustments, but being skeptical, I resisted for sometime. Finally my wife persuaded me to call you to my home for an examination. I had been in my bed for five weeks, and was unable to walk from my room. After you gave me my first adjustment at the house I was able to walk a block to the car and go to your office for my adjustments. When I first went to your office I was scarcely able to talk, one hand was useless and the left leg was dead. Now, on November 26, I am able to talk well, use my arm perfectly and my left leg is almost well except a slight numbness in the foot. At the same time I had a very severe case of kidney trouble, which is rapidly being corrected by the Palmer Method of Chiropractic Adjustments. I consider myself fortunate in being persuaded to take up the adjustments, considering my former condition of a helpless paralytic, and now I have gained from 132 to 147 pounds and leave for New York Sunday feeling in good trim. Respectfully,

E. W. GOSS,

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Growing confidence in the general business outlook and prospects for continued showers in the south sent the new crop months into new high ground for the movement in the cotton market today. July was relatively quiet and easy, but later months closed at very nearly the best prices of the morning with October quoted at 34.72. The general market closed very steady at a net decline of 40 points on July, while other months were 17 to 45 points higher.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, July 17.—Bullish sentiment increased in the cotton market today and prices were stronger almost from the opening.

Highest prices came late in the day, when the trading months were 25 to 34 points up and October was traded at 34.25. Closing prices were at new gains of 30 to 45 points.

July was inactive. For a short period after the opening the nearer months were rather easy and they dropped off to levels 2 to 4 points under the close of yesterday, but almost immediately recovered and advanced. March was the strongest month and rose to 31.45, closing at 31.40. In the early trading the rains were the main influence. The map was wet except in the extreme western sections of the cotton region.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, July 17.—For all practical purposes today's session of the stock market was bare of results, the yacht race dwarfing interest in most things of a financial character.

The only unusual incident was sharp advance in Crucible Steel at the opening on news of an unexpected large stock distribution, but that issue forfeited half its gain later on cashing of profits.

Others leaders, whether of the industrial, railway or special variety registered no material change, aside from Wells Fargo Express and National Aniline. Shorts were cautious, however, in view of yesterday's sudden easement of money rates. Sales amounted to 125,000 shares.

Week end news dealt mainly with general business conditions, the mercantile agencies reporting a further tendency toward conservation in the staple lines of trade.

There was a fair inquiry for popular bonds, including the foreign group, but Liberty issues continued to lag. Total sales, par value, aggregated $3,125,000.

Valuable Horse Saved

Expected Horse Would Die—Now Sleek and Healthy.

In reporting his experience, Mr. J C. Huste, of Rock Bridge Baths, Va. stated: "My horse is the best advertisement you would want for Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders. He was in a run down fix and poor and I thought he would die soon. I got some of Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders—and today he is as fine a looking horse as you can see in this section. I only used a few boxes of Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders."

Mr. Huste benefited by the advice of Dr. LeGear. By following the Doctor's advice you can also keep your stock sleek and healthy. MERCURY STANDS AT 100 DEGREES FOR THREE HOURS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Wilted collars, faces streaked with perspiration and lagging, weary steps testified to the unanimous opinion of the Wichita Falls citizenship that Saturday was the hottest day of the 1920 summer season—thus far. Before this paper is read, another day of even more oppressive heat may have started.

The thermometer in front of a downtown jewelry store registered an even 100 degrees from 3:00 until 6:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Late last night a thermometer in the doorway of the city hall, where a semblance of a breeze was flirting, still showed the mercury above 85.

Throughout the day an unbroken line of men and women stood before fountains in drug stores, and poured freeling drinks down dusty palates. Luncheons in the various restaurants consisted in the main of ice cream, watermelon and iced tea.

At this writing it is still so miserably hot that the reporter simply has not sufficient "pep" left to comment on the subject longer. Verily the heat 'stifleth the imagination'.

JIMMY CAMPION COLLIDES WITH FLIVVER ON NINTH

Jimmy Campion, member of the fire department, is on the injured list today as the result of trying to push a flivver off of Ninth street. Jimmy was running across the street in front of fire headquarters, when the flivver dashed skittishly out from behind a long row of real automobiles parked in the center of the street.

Campion followed Teddy Roosevelt's advice and "hit the line hard." But the line held, and Jimmy was thrown for a loss of five yards. Time was called.

Also a doctor, who dressed a nasty cut in the fireman's left hand.

The flivver didn't stop, and Jimmy failed to get the number. Final score of the game: Flivver 6, Campion 0.

Hon. Pat M. Neff

OF WACO, APPEARS TO BE WINNER IN THE GOVERNORSHIP RACE, BECAUSE

1. He is a Texan born and bred, a product of her educational institutions, a lover of her traditions and a defender of her rights. He has invested his money, his life, his all in his native state.

2. He is a mature man of intellectual attainment, wide experience and sound practical judgment.

3. He is a self-made man, having been left fatherless when a mere lad, was reared and educated by a widowed mother who put him through Baylor University and the University of Texas.

4. He is today one of the best educated men in Texas, a master of the English language, and one of the most brilliant speakers in our state.

5. He is an eminently successful lawyer, and has demonstrated his ability to economize with public funds, and is a proven believer in the enforcement of law and order.

6. He is one hundred per cent American, and has been loyal to his party and its leaders.

7. He manages his own campaign and has no political headquarters other than his law office, and yet is in touch with his friends and supporters throughout the state.

8. He has no alliance with any political machine and never consulted the politicians about running for governor.

9. He has a clean record both as a private and public citizen, and has the endorsement of at least ninety per cent of the people of his home county, McLennan.

10. He has at all times stood with the moral forces of the state, and for a constructive and progressive policy in legislation.

11. He favors government encouragement of irrigation, the building of permanent highways, better schools and better paid school teachers, the stamping out of hog cholera, the cattle tick and a better breed of stock, but more than that, he favors a better breed of the pie eating politicians of Texas and says that more encouragement should be given to growing better boys and girls than to the breed of our cattle, and that no man should be elected governor of Texas who tags everything with a dollar mark, and balances the ledger of life with figures only.

12. Like the late Governor Hogg, Mr. Neff promises, if elected, to go into office with "no fetters on his feet and no muzzle on his mouth," and to make "Texas the Empire State ruled by the people, and not Texas the truck patch ruled by the politicians."

13. He promises to check the rapidly growing extravagance in gubernatorial expenditures by cutting off from the public pie counter every man not needed for an efficient and economical administration of the State's business.

14. He has submitted his candidacy directly to the people, and in the most extensive and intensive speaking campaign ever put on by any candidate for Governor, delivering more than three hundred and fifty speeches to more than two hundred thousand people, speaking in more than one hundred towns where no candidate for governor ever spoke before. But being used to hard work, he is still in the pink of condition physically and still possesses that wonderful poise and self-control found only in great men.

15. He enjoys the widest endorsement of the Texas press ever collected in behalf of a candidate for governor, more than two hundred daily and weekly newspapers being outspoken for him.

16. Hailing from the heart of Texas, the home of Richard Coke and Sul Ross, he is seeking the governorship on his own merits. He is interested in the development of all Texas, and believed that government extravagance can be best eliminated by putting a new man in the governor's office, and cutting off from the public pie counter those who have profited by such extravagance.

We invite all who wish to make Texas a better place in which to live to help make Pat Neff the next governor.

Two base hits, Mokan, Williams, Moore; stolen bases, Miller, Mokan; double plays, Stow to Hoffman to Kraft; on balls, off Pate 1; struck out by Sewell 3, Pate 6; passed balls, Kitchens; time of game 1 hour 40 minutes. Umpires Miller and Weber. Attendance 1800.

There was excitement galore at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon while the Spudders were trimming the Panthers 4 to 1. In the first place, the mere fact that the Panthers were handily beaten would be enough to create excitement in Wichita Falls, but the Panthers simply would not behave and their tactics kept the stands in a continual uproar.

The fun first started when Haworth was benched after arguing with Miller over balls and strikes. Haworth dared Miller to park him, and if there is anything Miller won't do, it's take a dare. This happened after the last of the third. Things went along O. K. for about five minutes when Haley was parked and fined a ten spot for discoloring the ball. Haley argued for a few minutes until Manager Jake Atz came out to see what it was all about. He lingered too long and was also parked. Moore relieved Haworth behind the bat and got along until the seventh when Miller slapped a $10 fine on him for maltreating the ball. Moore threw the ball to Pate, who let it fall to the ground purposely and Miller yelled "That'll cost you $10."

Aside from all that, there was a real ball game. The Spudders got to Pate in the opening canto for enough runs to win the game and pushed another across in the eighth for good measure. Jim Sewell maintained his position as the ranking hurler of Salm's crew by holding the Panthers at bay all during the contest. Danny Clark's error came near resulting disastrously in the ninth, but a foolish attempt by Hoffman to score on a short single to right broke up the Panther rally. Clark dropped an easy fly and two singles followed, one of which went to Zinn. The latter got Hoffman who tried to score from second by yards.

The game in detail:

First Inning.

Stow hit the first ball pitched to Tanner and was an easy out at first; Sears popped to Clark; Williams fanned with his bat on his shoulder.

Snedecor was thrown out by Hoffman; Miller cracked a single to center and went to second on Tanner's safe blow to right; Clark's single to center scored Miller and sent Tanner to third. Clark took second on the return throw to third. Mokan's double over William's head cleared the bases. Kraft dropped Zinn's pop fly. Grubb fanned and Haworth took care of Kitchen's foul.

Second Inning.

Kraft fanned; Grubb speared Hoffman's line drive and Clark threw out Haley.

Sewell went out, Stow to Kraft; Hoffman threw Snedecor out; Miller poled a clean single to right, stole second on the first ball pitched and kept on to third when Haworth threw the ball to center; Hoffman got in front of Tanner's hard grounder and got Buddy at first.

Third Inning.

Haworth was benched by Umpire Miller for arguing on balls and strikes. O'Brien flew out to center; Moore, who relieved Haworth, singled to center; Pate fanned; Moore took second on a passed ball and stayed there when Stow flew out to Miller.

Clark fanned; Haley was benched by Miller and Phelan relieved him; Mokan singled to center and stole second. Zinn fanned; Stow and Kraft disposed of Grubb.

Fourth Inning.

Sears flew out to Zinn; Williams doubled to the right field fence; Tanner threw out Kraft; Hoffman was out at first, Clark to Snedecor.

Kitchens went out, Hoffman to Kraft; Sewell fanned; Snedecor singled past third; Stow left his position to cover second when Snedecor started to steal and Miller poked his third hit through the vacant spot, sending Snedecor to third; Tanner was thrown out by Stow.

Fifth Inning.

Phelan and O'Brien were thrown out at first; Moore doubled to right center and was left there when Tanner took care of Pate's grounder.

Clark flew out to O'Brien and Mokan was thrown out by Stow; Zinn hit weakly to Pate and was tossed out.

Sixth Inning.

Stow's bounder landed in Sewell's mitt and the Panther shortstop didn't even run to first; Sear's grounder bounded over Clark's head and the hit went for a single; he was forced at second by Williams; Kraft flew out to Zinn.

Grubb popped a weak fly to Kraft; O'Brien got Kitchen's hard line drive and Stow threw out Sewell.

Seventh Inning.

Hoffman singled to right; Sewell threw out Phelan, Hoffman taking second; the latter scored on O'Brien's drive to center; Moore flew out to Miller and Clark tossed out Pate.

Sewell tried to bat again this inning and Snedecor, who should have batted, was automatically out; Miller fanned. Tanner fanned.

Eighth Inning.

Grubb threw out Stow and then caught Sears' foul fly after a hard run. Williams flew out to Mokan.

Clark singled to left and went to second on Mokan's wild out. Zinn walked. Grubb's single scored Clark. Kitchens hit into a fast double play, Stow to Hoffman to Kraft.

Ninth Inning.

Grubb threw out Kraft. Clark muffed Hoffman's pop fly and Phelan beat out a bunt to Grubb. O'Brien singled to right, but Hoffman was nailed at the plate. Moore flew out to Mokan.

"CHICK" EVANS WINS WESTERN GOLF TITLE

MEMPHIS, July 17.—Charles Evans Jr. of Chicago won the amateur championship of the Western Golf Association for the fifth time by defeating Clarence Wolff of St. Louis, 5 up and 4 to play in the finals today of the 1920 tournament, played over the Memphis Country Club course.

The Chicago man won on the 14th by rolling up a four footer for the hole and the title after Wolff fell short with his approach on the slanting green.

Evans started today's match by taking the first hole. Wolff squared the match on the fourth and each won one hole during the remainder of the first half of the morning round. At the end of the 18th Evans was 3 up and at the turn of the afternoon he had increased his lead to four up by shooting par golf.

From that point to the 14th the holes were halved.

DALE'S HEADWORK GIVES MARINES WIN OVER GASSERS

SHREVEPORT, July 17. — Dale's headwork in the ninth inning saved today's game for Dallas and his teammates hammered in the necessary run in the tenth, Shreveport losing, 3 to 2. Dale intentionally passed two in the ninth which filled the bases with only one down. A double play retired the side. Brown tied the score in the fourth with a home run with one man on. Score:

Tris Speaker, the playing manager of the Cleveland Indians, is not only one of the leading batters of the American League, but a real leader of men.

Since taking charge of the Indians, two seasons back, Speaker has brought the club up from a second division aggregation to a pennant contender. Lack of pitchers is the only thing that can keep Cleveland from the top of the column, for it is generally conceded that Speaker has built up one of the best balanced teams in the works. Give him one more good pitcher and Tris will come mighty near copping the pennant.

And Cleveland, although having had some of the game's greatest players on her teams, has never won a pennant.

Speaker is 32 years old and a Texan. Attended the Polytechnic Institute at Fort Worth in 1905, being a star player on the baseball team of that institution. He first played professional baseball with Houston in the Texas League in 1906, going to the Boston Red Sox in 1908 and to Cleveland in 1916.

He played in two World's Series while a member of the Boston club.

Tris is batting well over .300.

THE VERDICT OF THE FANS.

Dear Sir: Here are a few suggestions for a change in baseball rules which I think would meet with approval of 90 per cent of those who make the game a success.

When a slugger comes to bat, to prevent the pitcher intentionally passing him, let it be optional with the batter to accept the pass or not. If he (the batter) elects not to accept the four ball pass then the pitcher shall try to get it over in four more tries, failing to do so then let the batter take two bases, or should second or third be occupied, or both of them, let the runner or runners score. It is conceded that usually there are runners on when the intentional pass is given.

The baseball rule makers have shown that some rule should be made to prevent intentional pass, as was evidenced last winter when they attempted to make a rule preventing the catcher leaving his position. This has been a failure, but the above I think would go a long way toward stopping a thing which the great majority of fans dislike intensely. It would give the batter of the Ruth type at least a chance and the fans would have the pleasure of seeing what they are paying for. Ruth would have an equal chance of hitting a home run or striking out, either of which, as you know, causes great glee.

ONE MORE SUGGESTION.

One more suggestion and I am done.

One of the prettiest plays in the game is the stolen base. One of the flattest plays is when a runner taking a courageous lead is trapped by some pitcher getting away with a half balk, runs down to second on a throw to first which is meant to catch the runner napping. The poor runner is running right into suicide, as the ball is always waiting for him, being fielded with time to spare.

Why not have it this way? When the runner is on his way make it compulsory for the first baseman to touch first and return the ball to the pitcher who relays the ball to the second baseman for the put-out. This would make it a close play as the ball would have to be fielded cleanly. It would greatly encourage base running and would be more attractive to the fans. A runner being balked into a premature start would always have a chance. It would be a double play effort with a single put-out.

I have suggested these changes around my place here with hundreds of fans and in nearly all instances every one is in favor of them. The only objectors are those who say, "Oh, it can't be done," but they give no valid reason.—Jack Doyle.

It is a certainty that no pitcher is going to give Ruth, Speaker, Jackson, Hornsby, etc., a chance to hit the ball when a hit might mean disaster. Jack Doyle's suggestion is one of the best we have seen, for with this penalty at hand no pitcher is going to do any great amount of deliberate passing.

It must be always recognized that the game is above any player. The main idea must be to win ball games rather than feature any star. But as far as possible batting strength and speed on the bases should be given their chance to make good and not be rendered null and void by a trick within the law such as the intentional pass and the half balk.

It has been suggested that intentionally passing a batter such as Ruth or Speaker or Sisler is a brainy play. No more brains than one might use to get out of the way of an express train or dodge an automobile.

CY YOUNG'S WAY.

We will never forget a game where Cy Young faced Napoleon Lajoie in Cleveland. Boston was leading 2 to 1, in the last half of the ninth. There were two out with runners on second and third and Lajoie up. Probably the "brainy play" would have been for Old Cy to pass Larry. But in place of that he cut two fast curves over that Larry missed and then crossed the .400 hitter with another fast curve that started in and then cracked over the corner of the plate. This type of pitching was a matter of brains plus gameness, the only combination that counts.

For all that, very few pitchers are going to take any such chances with a slugger up. The only thing that will make them pitch is a heavier penalty than now exists, the same being no penalty at all. No game is perfect and only time plus judgment and experience can correct mistakes. Jack Doyle's suggestions are at least worth consideration.

DUTCH HOFFMAN STILL SHOWS WAY TO TEXAS LEAGUE SWATTERS; WHITTAKER LEADING SLAB ARTISTS

By WILLIAM B. RUGGLES
League Statistician.

Dutch Hoffman of the breezing Panthers has remained at the top of the Texas League swatsmiths longer than any of his predecessors, but the past week has witnessed the Fort Worth slugger slumping while young Freddy McDonald, the most consistent batting rookie of the year, has kept up his accumulation of wallops until the veteran and the youngster stand at even terms among the men who have traveled the season distance at .320. Carrying the fraction on out, McDonald leads Hoffman with a percentage of .320386 to Hoffman's even .320000.

The league titular leader is the elegant Dick Robertson, who has a batting average of .380 and another pitcher, Fincher of San Antonio, is up there, as are the hard-hitting Al Nixon and the recrudescent R. Miller, both of whom have participated in but a few games.

The week saw the wallopers come back strong, with eighteen batsmen clouting over .300 and ten more above .290. Of the twenty-eight, seventeen have played in a majority of the games and most of the rest are pitchers who have borne their part of the burden or players who are day-to-day regulars, although they have not yet figured in many games.

The hard-hitting Edward Brown of the Bears seems determined to be the first player to tap 150 base hits as he was the first to reach the century. Features of the week have been the terrific hitting of Palmer Snedecor, that has carried him above .300 for the first time and the return of Bill Stellbauer to the .300 division.

Whittaker Best Winner.

The supremacy of the pitching bosses who ruled the first half of the season is being challenged nowadays and a fat winning average of .800 blossoms only in the case of young Stewart of the Bears who has credit one way or the other in but few games.

Whittaker of Fort Worth tops the long route list with Bono of Shreveport coming right along. Burch and Zinn have both lost ground. Whittaker and his team-mate Wachtel have each won 14 games. Conley leads in innings pitched while Pate now boasts the best earned run average.

Few Hit Games.

In the Texas League through last Monday's games, there had been 122 cases where a pitcher held the opposition to 5 hits or less—one 0-hit game, two 1-hitters, fifteen 2-hit battles, sixteen 3-hitters, thirty-eight 4-hit games and fifty 5-hit games. Jimmie Zinn of Wichita Falls has worked eight of these and Buddy Napier of the Gassers 7, but neither has succeeded as yet in letting their opponents down with a trio or less of bingles. Bob Couchman, who has been in six few hit games, has one two-hit and two three-hitters to his credit. Bono, also in six, pitched two 2-hit games.

Snipe Conley is the only pitcher up among the leaders in few hit frays, who has heaved a one-hit affair, pitching one of these, one two-hitter, two fours and a five. Pate, Pearson and Ross have all appeared in five few hit games, Pate and Pearson each pitching one 2-hit game and Ross two, while Pate has one 3-hitter and Pearson 2.

Hunter Hill's Pirates have been the chief victims of few hit pitching. Galveston has been held to no hits once (by Little of the Buffs), two hits four times, three hits three times, four hits three times and to five hits no less than fourteen times.

WHOLESALE GAMBLING HITS SPUDDERS FIRST REAL BLOW

UNMOLESTED GAMBLING HITS HOME WHEN "RED" JOSEFSON DECIDES TO QUIT OWING TO UNJUST CRITICISM

The wholesale gambling which has been carried on in Wichita Falls and other Texas cities supporting Texas League baseball teams struck home with a bang yesterday when "Red" Josefson, Spudder right fielder, announced that he was through with the game for keeps. Josefson has been the target for a crowd of empty headed gamblers recently who have accused him of throwing games and of being bought since the season started.

To the big majority of fans who are fair-minded, this is an utter absurdity. A harder working or more loyal ball player never donned a Spudder uniform, but rather than have the losses of the team attributed to him, he decided to quit.

In discussing the matter with a representative of the Times Josefson said that he was sick at heart over the way he has been treated around the town. He has not been able to do himself justice of late when a ball has been hit in his direction, knowing and worrying over the fact that if he should happen to boot it, he would immediately be unjustly censored by the fans for it. Joe is not the only player who is working under the same handicap. Each and every Spudder has come in for his share of the abuse, and unjustly so.

Josefson stated most emphatically that he had never even been approached by any gambler, which is more than some others can state around the circuit. Many have been approached, but few have fallen. As Jo so aptly put it, "What in the world would I, a young player, gain by selling out a bright future for a few paltry hundred? My record is open to everybody. I graduated from the University of Pennsylvania last year without a blemish on my character and have never before been accused of such a thing. It's perfectly true that I have unfortunately booted a few while at home, but Manager Salm and the rest of the team know that I have been on the level."

Manager Salm stated that he asked Josefson to reconsider his decision about quitting, but said that Jo was determined to quit. Should Jo play with any other team or sign any other contract, he would be a contract jumper and would be barred from organized ball for three years. But, Joe says he is through with the game for keeps.

Why no attempt has been made to check the wide opening gambling is a mystery. The attention of the police was called to the fact a short time ago by the Times and a Times reporter was told that an effort would be made to check it. It did not look very much as if any effort was being made during the present Spudder-Panther series. Gamblers with fists full of money were openly flaunting it in the stands between the first and second games of the double-headers. It was perfectly evident to all that these men were displaying their rolls for effect. Money was exchanged openly, but the men went their way unmolested.

That the gambling is ruining the Texas League is a certainty. President Morris admitted it while he was in town. Every manager admits it. Gambling can never be entirely wiped out, but if pressure were brought to bear upon some of them, it would help matters a whole lot.

For every 10 gamblers who can lose without crying there are 100 who can't and who won't. These 100 who won't are the ones who are directly responsible for all the comment. They accuse the players of all sorts of things, judging others by themselves, and once a wild rumor starts, it is hard to check. When the average fan sees so much betting going on openly and sees such large sums wagered before his very eyes, there is no wonder that he is apt to say to himself, "I wonder if he has been bought?"

The "authorities that be" are certainly very lax over the present situation and unless something is done and done quickly, there is no telling to where the league will go. It certainly looks as if the gamblers have ruined the career of one promising ball player.

RIGSBY WINS "LITTLE TROPHY" AT TRAPS

G. D. Rigsby was the only man to score a "leg" on the silver trophy donated by L. H. Little in yesterday's contest at the traps of the Wichita Falls Gun Club.

Mr. Rigsby having already won a "leg" in this trophy last week became the undisputed winner, having two wins to his credit while four other shooters had only one to their credit. The shoot was conducted under the Dupont Handicap system whereby every shooter determines his handicap for next week by the score he makes this week. A shooter breaking 45 out of 50, for example, would have an added handicap of three targets for the next succeeding tournament. The following scores were made yesterday:

Nabb	46	Little	41
Gallagher	46	Kilgore	40
Kelsch	46	Baker	39
Pate	44	Gibbs	38
Rigsby	41	Kooken	36
Greenberg	43	Pope	35
King	42	Morgan	34
O'Connell	20

AMERICAN TEAM WILL PLAY AUSTRALIANS FOR TITLE

WIMBLEDON, ENG., July 17.—America today won the right to challenge Australia for the Davis cup, the international lawn tennis trophy. Johnston and Tilden, the American pair, defeated Parke and Kingscote of Great Britain in the double match, giving the Americans three straight matches and a victory in the competition with the British Davis cup team.

The doubtless match today went five sets, the Americans winning 8-6, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Three out of five matches were necessary to win the competition between the British and American teams. In yesterday's play in the singles Johnston defeated Parke and Tilden took the measure of Kingscote. The Americans having won the doubles, deciding the issue, it will not be necessary to play the other two singles matches scheduled.

NEW YORK GIRL MAKES NEW SWIMMING RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—Miss Ethel Da Bleibetre, of the New York woman's swimming association, made a new worlds' record today for 100 yards in still water at Willow Grove, Pa., near here, swimming the distance in one minute and 5 1-5 seconds. Miss Helen Moses of the Hawaiian swimming team, finished second, while Miss Helen Wainwright of the Manhattan swimming association was third.

ROSS SETS NEW RECORD FOR TWO-MILE SWIM

CHICAGO, July 17.—Norman Ross of the Illinois A. C. today won the twelfth annual Chicago river marathon over a two-mile course in 31:54, breaking the record made in 1919 by Perry McGillivray by one minute and 50 seconds.

Kahle, United States Navy was second, 32:49; Harold Kreuger, Hawaii, third, 32:54; and William Harris, Hawaii, fourth, 33:36. Nineteen swimmers were in the race.

MAJOR LEAGUE HEADS MAY ABOLISH POP BOTTLE FROM STANDS

The throwing of pop bottles has become such a menace to the actual lives of umpires and players in the major leagues that promoters of professional baseball are being forced to consider the abolition of the pop bottles from their grandstand and bleachers.

For a couple of decades the pop bottle in the hands of the ivory pated patron has been a weapon to be used against umpires, after its contents had been imbibed. More recently visiting ball players have become targets for these handy missiles, as the low standard of sportsmanship among baseball fans descended, including as objects of derision the athletes as well as the umpires.

Always a menace to the game, the danger of injury from bottles thrown on the ball field, either carelessly or venomously, has been greater this year than ever before and there have been one or two occurences that have led to serious consideration of adopting a "dry" amendment to the league constitutions, whereby the thirsty patron would be compelled to take his liquid refreshments into the stands inside his skin or not at all, thereby reducing him to the level of a camel.

There would be no harm in pop bottles if they could be made out of soft material, which could be bounced off the head of an arbitrator or opposing player without injury to the target. But there is a great objection on the part of many patrons to the annoyance of having their view of the combat intermittently cut off by pop peddlers passing or pausing in front of them to vend their sloppy wares or to make change for $20 bills, tendered them by street sweepers off watch. There is also considerable cost in having one's clothes cleaned and pressed after being the receiver general for a basket full of soft drinks "just off the ice," and consequently dripping dirty water. These nuisances can be abated and at the same time the danger to the game from the use of pop bottles as weapons can be removed if the club owners will get together and abolish all peddling of soft drinks in hard containers. Lest the fans choke to death during a double-header it could be easily arranged to sell thirst quenchers at conveniently located booths under the different stands under something like the old Massachusetts saloon law which provided that nothing liquid could be taken from the place except inside the purchaser.

There is no reason except tradition for the peddling of pop at ball games so far as the fan goes. He or she could become accustomed to that sort of prohibition as easily as the country has to the other. The real reason for the continuance of the peddling in the face of annual narrow escapes from accident due to crazy bugs hurling the bottles into the field, is the additional revenue that accrues to the club owners. But in these days of the high price of seats the club owner no longer needs the small change derived from the leases or "privileges" which include the peddling of soft drinks in bottles throughout the stands.

They probably will go on tempting fate until somebody is killed by one of those missiles and then it will be too late to undo the damage.

ROBERT WILL MEET RICHARDS IN FINALS

CHICAGO, July 17.—Noland Robert of San Francisco qualified for the final match in the national clay court tennis championship by defeating Alex M. Squair of Chicago in the semi-final rounds in straight sets this afternoon, 4-0, 6-4, 6-1.

Robert owes his victory to his tremendous forehand driving power which broke up Squair's game. The Chicagoan made his greatest effort in the second set lead going to 3-2 and 4-3 in games, but he could not withstand battering drives in the rear court.

Vincent Richards of New York, entered the finals by defeating Lucian Williams of Chicago in four sets, 6-0, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Richard will meet Roland Roberts of San Francisco tomorrow for the title.

Ralph Burdick and Walter T. Hayes of Chicago won through to the final round of the men's doubles by defeating Wallace Bates and Edmund Levy of Berkley, Cal., in the semi-finals, 6-1, 7-5, 7-5.

Sport Shots

By Paul W. Larkin

Anyone who has seen Red Josefson play ball day in and day out could not possibly accuse him of laying down or selling out. A ball player who sells out would not be hitting over .300 and running the bases like Jo. Jo wasn't a slugger, but few men in the league reached first or scored any oftener than "Red." He'll be missed and the man who fills his shoes will have no mean job on his hands.

It is generally admitted the Spudder right field is the most difficult pasture in the circuit to cover. There isn't a sun field to be compared with it. It's a wonder that Jo got as many as he did out there. Many a visiting right fielder's average has suffered when he hit Athletic Park.

Jim Sewell continues to mow them down. It makes no difference whether he uses an old ball or a new one. He gets them in there just the same.

More than one Panther will find his pay check sliced after this series is over.

The Boston Braves did not overlook a bet when they refused to waive on Watson. He held the Cubs to 3 lonely bingles yesterday. And to think we almost had him. ALMOST.

A large delegation of Fort Worth rooters will be on hand tomorrow. Two coaches of fans are coming to witness the matinee. We don't wish them any hard luck, but we hope they go home disappointed.

Danny Clark was late in getting started but he's coming into his own now. Over anxiety to make good has caused Danny to hit below his regular gait.

Jake Miller is now showing the Spudders the way with the willow again. Jake will no doubt be used as a off man in the near future, since Josefson has gone. He's easily the fastest man on the team.

All the Spudders are highly incensed over the way the gamblers are running things and woe unto the man who makes a wise crack in their presence. The worst of it is, these tin horn gamblers never say anything in a man's presence. They're too underhanded.

A wild rumor that "Babe" Ruth had poled out 5 excursion bangs in yesterday's game kept the telephone in the Times office hot for some time. Babe's contribution for the day was 3 singles.

The Western Golf Championship finals were not as closely contested as the semi-final match between Bobby Jones and "Chick" Evans, the winner of the cup. Evans was a favorite to defeat Wolff after he had disposed of Jones.

The Westerners came through with flying colors in the Olympic tryouts as was predicted. The day of the Eastern monopoly in track and field events has passed.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

ESSEX BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Doesn't This Settle the Light Car Question?
Unmatched Endurance—Economy and Speed

1,261 Miles In 24 Hours

ALL that 40,000 owners ever claimed for Essex Speed and Endurance was proven on the Dallas State Fair Dirt Track when an Essex Stock Car made 1,261 miles in 24 hours.

WHAT THE SPEEDWAY PROVED

Prior to the Essex, light weight in an automobile meant principally low first cost.

But the coming of the Essex brought fine car quality, speed, power and endurance to the light car field. Its trustworthiness can be matched only in large and costly cars.

The Essex was put on the speedway to prove its endurance. The average car is driven little more than 1200 miles in three months—but this Essex stock car went almost a mile a minute for twenty-four hours without rest.

More than you will ever want

Your average driving speed is probably 25 miles per hour—how much more trying on all its mechanism was one of these high-speed miles than any demand you will ever make. Yet the Essex that stood this gruelling punishment is in perfect condition, ready to do it all over again today.

Weigh the facts!

What can any moderate price car give you that will compensate for the proven dependability of the Essex?

To the Voters.

You are probably aware that the Commissioners District No. 1 contains more people that all the other districts of the county and as a consequence, it is an enormous task for a candidate to attempt to see and present his claim to each individual voter. The salary paid to the County Commissioner is not great but the duties and responsibilities imposed, particularly at this time, are enormous.

In my opinion the following matters coming under the jurisdiction of the Commissioners Court need immediate attention:

1st. Improvement of the public roads.
2nd. Improvement sanitary conditions.
3rd. Improvement of agricultural and animal-industry.
4th. Enforcing laws governing inspection of livestock.
5th. Enforcement of quarantine regulations.
6th. Inspection of dairies and source of our milk supply.

The Commissioners are not responsible for all these conditions and yet they supervise and exercise an influence over them, if they so desire.

Owing to the recent development of oil in Wichita county, the old road system has become obsolete and during the last two years it has been demonstrated that working the roads under the old system is almost a complete failure. As the oil industry is developed the need for good roads will correspondingly increase and the County Commissioners are directly responsible for the construction of the roads and the proper spending of the funds provided therefor.

For six years prior to April 1, 1918, when I severed my connection with the Federal Government, I was associated with the Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, and had occasion to study the good road situation throughout the United States. This is the real live problem now confronting our country since the railroads are unable to meet the demands of the shipping public. I am now and have always been a good road enthusiast and believe that roads should be built in a scientific manner.

By reason of my connection with the health department of the United States Government, I am familiar with the proper sanitation and what constitutes the proper supervision of the animal industry of the country, and particularly the supervision of the dairies and dairy products.

Medical statistics show that one out of every four children before reaching the age of five years have contracted tuberculosis in one form or the other as a direct result of their using milk obtained from cattle with tubercular infection.

The subjects mentioned above are under the jurisdiction of the commissioners court and if nominated and elected your commissioner I will faithfully discharge the trust imposed and secure you one hundred cents on every dollar spent.

I am a Democrat, 37 years of age, married, a native Texan and one hundred per cent AMERICAN and will appreciate your influence and vote on July 24th, 1920.

ARE YOU KEEPING up with development and operations in Clay county, around Dean? This territory is pronounced by many geologists to have the finest oil and gas indications of any territory in this section of the state. We have the exclusive right to lease 400 acres adjoining and near the townsite of Dean. At least 8 wells drilling within from one to four miles. This acreage lies within four miles of the producing gas and oil field of Petrolia and Dean. Several of the wells near our acreage are down to the depth at which production is found in that section, and sensational developments are expected any day. It will be too late to buy these leases when the newspapers announce bringing in of one of these wells. You can buy it now for one-twentieth of what it will be worth then and even if all the wells drilling at present should fail to secure production there are several other wells soon to begin drilling near this acreage, which will greatly enhance lease values. WORK CHANT.
By John R. C. Peyton.

Work on—
Drain your heart of dreams, and love, and blood.

Slowly—
The pennies will pile up into gold and silver.
(The gold of moon splashed streams is not for you—
Nor the silver of the stars).

Some day—
You'll have enough to buy a coffin,
And a cool, white shoud.

John R. C. Peyton is another new poet who is beginning to "break in." Following the illustrious precedent of another "College" man who decided that such were not confined by natural limitations to the narrow halls of learning, Mr. Peyton, who is an Eastern university faculty man, decided to try his luck in another field. He has published a number of poems in current magazines, and all are characterized by their striking imagery.

How do you treat the visiting nurse when she comes to your house?

"Oo-o-o-e-e-e! But I'm tired!" Miss Quinn exclaimed Thursday afternoon, stopped in the middle of one of the business streets to answer a question.

"How come you're tired? Haven't you been visiting around making out people's children's health reports? Do you get tired sitting down drinking cool water and iced lemonade?'

"You just go with me once! Yes—I've been 'visiting around making out people's children's health reports'—but unless you call standing on first one foot, and then the other 'siting down drinking cool water and iced lemonade,' I can't say a thing for the accuracy of your last guess."

"Well, if they forget to ask you to sit down, why don't you just say, 'Pardon me, but may I sit down?' You know they don't mean it——"

"Sometimes they do. It isn't all forgetting. I've even stood outside the door, sometimes to have it gently shut while I'm talking.

"That isn't the worst of it, either. Sometimes they don't want to know what I tell them; they answer me by repeating something some friend or neighbor has said about their child's ear-trouble, or defective eyesight.

"For instance, I found a particularly bad case of enlarged tonsils yesterday. The child was susceptible to colds and sore throat and a dozen other cold weather troubles. I told the mother why they should be removed. She coolly informed me that she wasn't going to have 'no doctor butchering on her child,' and that her brother's wife's niece died on the operating table once when they were taking something out of it."

"Why didn't you ask her how many of her connections's children had died who hadn't had things taken out of 'em?"

Miss Quinn laughed. She is a very pleasant visiting nurse person, and genuinely interested in her work, which is done under the direction of the welfare council, and Mrs. Owsley.

"Oh, I know it just takes hammering away! I'm not complaining. But I guess it's harder to be patient with ignorance than with anything else in the world.

"Some time ago, for instance, we had to send a 14 year old boy home from school suffering with itch. Dr. West gave him a prescription. A while back I saw the boy again, and he was in a bad condition. I asked the mother if she had used the prescription. Do you know what she told me? She told me that the man the boy worked for had told him to use snake oil (a patent stuff) on his skin. He had used it! So Dr. West gave her another prescription, and she finally had it filled. The boy is all right now, and cured, but there were weeks when he wasn't.

"They'll usually take a good friend's word against the doctor's—people like that, I mean.

"When the work gets well organized, and people find that we know what we're about, and are doing this solely to help them, and to stamp out disease, and give their children the best chance they can have for health and happiness—it'll be different. But the educational process is slow.

"It's just going to take time—that's all."

How do you treat——

ODD FELLOWS WILL CONFER SECOND DEGREE

The Odd Fellows will confer the second degree upon a large class of candidates at their hall tomorrow night, and a large attendance is expected. Attendance up to this time has been very good considering the warm weather.

It is expected the officers will be installed and other business of importance transacted. Most of the members are paid up and in good standing, but a few members have "allowed themselves to stay at home" and are liable to suspension.

The Y. W. C. A. girls' summer camp opened Saturday evening.

The honor of opening the first camp to be held under the auspices of the local association was given to the Young Women's Business League of Wichita Falls, members of which, with their friends, formed an enthusiastic gathering at the camp at the Rod and Gun Club Saturday evening. The guests were taken to the camp in a truck and autos, some going out early in the afternoon and some late in the evening.

Camp equipment and supplies were sent out to the club house last week, and the house put in readiness for the occupancy of the summer camp girls. The young women were overjoyed with the club grounds, cottage and the splendid swimming pool, the first number on the program being a swimming party Saturday evening. Supper was served at 7:00 o'clock the first night, and after supper outdoor and indoor sports were enjoyed. It was an unusually jolly crowd, and the success of the camp, from the point of recreation and attendance, seemed assured.

To Be Yearly Feature.

The Y. W. summer camps are to be a yearly feature, it is stated by the local board of the association, and plans for next year's camp to continue through four weeks or more, are already being discussed.

For High School Girls.

Monday, July 19, to Sunday, July 25, is to be High School Girls' Week at the Y. W. C. A. camp, it was announced today at Y. W. headquarters. High school girls who wish to go out are asked to phone Miss Davidson, recreational secretary, at the Y. W. C. A., No. 6929.

Guests may go out for the entire week, or one or more days, it was stated. Camp was "unofficially" opened Thursday evening, when provisions, equipment, and the camp cook and assistant were taken out, in readiness for the opening Saturday night by the Young Women's Business League and their friends.

Girls are asked to wear middies and bloomers, though skirts may be worn, and bring their bathing suits, a towel, their ukeleles—those who have them—and a sheet apiece. The camp cook will prepare the meals and assist in all work, the girls to care for their own things and help in the clearing-up after meals. An informal program will be observed for each day's events—rising, a plunge in the pool or the lake, short devotional, breakfast, clearing up, and then whatever special events may have been planned for the morning, until meal time.

IT'S SO HOT, WHY NOT TRY CAFETERIA? SUGGESTIONS FOR HOT-WEATHER EATING

It's almost too hot to live in a kitchen these days; in fact, it's too hot almost any day in the summer in Texas to stay in a kitchen two or three hours a day unless one has to. The solution offered by some of the current magazine issues is to prepare sandwiches and cool dishes, but that solution doesn't seem to work out well in the average family. Men folks don't fill up very well on peanut butter sandwiches and cottage cheese salads. They insist on MEALS—all spelled with caps.

The only way to get around a hot kitchen with any degree of satisfaction is to let somebody else have the hot kitchen. Eat at the cafeteria, or the cafe, and if one exercises a proper amount of will power and common sense in the selection of viands, the expense should not be appalling. The biggest trouble is that the average person wants in a cafe what he can't get at home, or, in a cafeteria, from one-third to three-fourths of all the tempting dishes spread before him on the counter. But he doesn't have to have them.

"People in choosing a meal or a day's meals in a cafeteria, restaurant, or lunchroom," says Miss June Findley of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, in a pamphlet received by the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria last week, "often make the mistake of selecting food by taking whatever appeals to them."

"Food should be appetising and desired by the individual, but this desire should be used as an aid in selecting one dish out of a number of dishes, and not as a master in dictating the meal."

Following up, Miss Findley gives some very good suggestions for the choice of meals, and the Y. W. C. A. especially commends the suggestions, adding that attention to the basic principles of balanced meals is particularly necessary in the summer, from a health standpoint. These suggestions may be briefly summed up as follows:

Meat should never be eaten more than once a day, liberally, or in small amounts, twice.

A meat equivalent is good food value once a day, when meat is omitted from the meal. Meat equivalents are beans, peas, lentils, cheese, nuts, eggs, and milk.

Vegetable and cream soups rank high in food value.

Starchy foods may be taken liberally and often. Such are, breads, potatoes, rice, oatmeal, macaroni, cornmeal and hominy.

Fresh or green foods should be eaten at least once a day; preferably twice or three times. These include fresh or canned fruit or vegetables, and salad dishes.

Whole milk, and cream or butter should be included in every meal.

The Cafeteria Meal.

For the cafeteria luncheon, the following suggestion is made:

One starchy vegetable.
Bread and butter.
Salad or desert.
Milk or tea.
For dinner:
Meat.
One starchy vegetable.
One green vegetable, (cabbage, spinach, turnips, tomatoes, peas, asparagus, string beans, etc.)

AUNT OBJECT TO USE FAMILY NAME, SO HE CHANGED IT

By United Press

CHICAGO, July 17.—When an aunt objected to his using the family name "Robert Edward" agreed and for many years he has been known as such.

But when his father, Ridgely, son of Charles Ridgely, Springfield, Ills., millionaire, died, he resented the aunt's objection to his presence at the funeral and applied for a legal order restoring his proper name. Today "Edwards" bears his own name as the granting of the order. "Edwards'" father incurred the family displeasure when he eloped to Little Rock, Ark., and married Miss Fannie Clark. "Edwards" was born of this marriage but the family refused to recognize the elopement and Edwards was brought up unaware of the fact that he was a Ridgely. He was sent to fashionable eastern schools and graduated from Cornell University. He learned his identity when his grandfather died and left $5,000,000.

VACATION LANDS DRAW VERY HEAVY PATRONAGE FROM WICHITA FALLS

"All but three people, 738 dogs and the force of the Wichita Times, have spent, are spending, or are going to spend the summer somewhere where it's cooler.

Far be it from anybody, of course, to speak of Wichita Falls as a hot place, but a great many people are extremely sensitive to even the moderate, caressing warmth of such as the past three or four days, and those who have not already fled are making their plans to flee.

The distance of the pilgrimage to cooler climes depends in many instances on the depth of one's pocket book, or the number of figures opposite the "Recreation and Amusements" item in the budget. Budgets interlere with a lot of things these days. It is possible that even the other three people and the Times force would be enrolled for the great north Texas summer pastime, sans consideration of jobs, if their budgets added up differently.

The pilgrimage from Wichita extends as far as abroad. Closer than that, they extend to most of the cool portions of North America, including Canada, Alaska and the northwestern and western coast states. Portions of Arkansas—up in the Ozarks and around Siloam Springs and Fayetteville are in good favor as summer resort and vacation retreats, and there are those who insist that for coolness and comfort, as well as some first class scenery, portions of west and southwest Texas cannot be beaten.

Touring parties from Wichita Falls are all along the western coast now, and probably scores are in Colorado Springs, Boulder, Denver, and other Colorado points. Many are in their own cars; others are traveling via the Pullman (or should it be Pull-men?) Several Wichita Falls pleasure parties are touring Canada and northern border states. Some are in New Mexico.

As for what length of time "spending the summer" indicates, it should be remembered that the summer is a movable feast. If one has a month's vacation in June-July, one may safely speak of spending the summer in Colorado Springs. Of, if the vacation starts in August, nobody will take exception to the same phraseology. It's being done.

Anyway, most of Wichita Falls is out, socially speaking, and will not be at home until September.

"Dependable" befittingly describes the service enjoyed by the patrons of the City National Bank of Commerce—dependable because the convenience of customers and the safety of their funds are given first consideration in the policies which govern the conduct of this bank. 66-1te

DOCTOR DOUGLAS DISCUSSES PROGRESS OF SANITATION WORK AND GIVES HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS

Dr. A. H. Douglas, the city sanitary officer, was busy at his typewriter when the Times reporter entered, but he courteously discontinued his work and allowed himself to be interviewed.

"Yes," he said, in answer to a question, "we are getting along well with the cleaning-up campaign. Last week we hauled more than 200 loads of trash from the residence districts, using all the city's horses for the work.

"This trash consisted largely of tin cans and bottles, things which had been food-containers, and which were therefore doubly objectionable from the viewpoint of a sanitary officer. In the first place, there is nearly always a little food left sticking to the insides of such cans and bottles, and this food decays, and it also draws flies. Then, too, such containers, if allowed to lie around, are apt to get water in them, and in this water mosquitoes hatch. These old cans and jars and bottles do not have to be standing upright to afford a hatchery for Mistress Mosquito; even if on their sides or in a slanting position, they can catch and hold enough rainwater for her purpose.

"In many instances people stack their cans and bottles into a box or a barrel to await the accumulation of enough trash to make a load. Where this is done, the cans and bottles should be carefully placed in the receptacle, with their bottoms up, so tha they can catch no water, and so that any water which may have been left in them will drain out. If the public understood the necessity of this precaution, there would be fewer mosquitoes and less malaria. Old food containers, either in a promiscuous heap or lying singly about the premises, are extremely dangerous to health and comfort.

"There is another danger from discarded glass containers, as old jars and bottles. If they are allowed to lie around, they will, sooner or later, be broken; and broken glass is always a menace to health and comfort of bare-foot children. The best time to pick up the old bottle is before it has been broken. Then you get it all. If however, you are too late for that, pick up the fragments, or as many of them as you can get. The longer these lie about, the smaller and more numerous they will become, and to say nothing of the pain and inconvenience to the child who steps upon them, they will very likely carry disease germs into his flesh when they penetrate it. These may be mere pus germs, which are bad enough, or they may be as serious as the deadly lock-jaw germ. The best thing to do is to pick up the glass before the child steps upon it.

Fly Situation Improved.

"The fly situation is much improved. We have succeeded in eliminating many of the breeding places, and the owners of stables are co-operating with us in a satisfactory and efficient manner.

"The water holes, where mosquitoes formerly bred by the million, are being drained as rapidly as possible, and after each rain the city is oiling those that have not yet been drained.

"Many of the citizens telephone in to us when oil or drainage is needed in the streets in their neighborhood, and such co-operation is a great help to us in our work. One man recently asked that a little job of draining be done in his street and when he was told that it could not be accomplished at once, he volunteered to do it himself. That kind of spirit is what makes Wichita Falls what it is. There are so many citizens who are willing to do what they can for the public good, and whether it is a big thing, like the donating of a public library or a city park, or a little thing like the removal of a banana skin from the sidewalk, the act is for the public good and for the town and for our fellowmen. It often happens that a private citizen can do some such act for the public good in his neighborhood, and there is no way to even estimate the amount of good that may result from his effort.

"We are getting along well, also, with the weed campaign, the end and aim of which is to remove such weed growths as menace the public health. Some of the vacant lots have such a forest of weeds on them, that when the weeds finally die and fall to the ground, they will become a mat of decaying vegetation which will be a breeding place for flies."

"Then too," continued the doctor, "some of the weeds bear pollen which brings on and aggravates hay fever. It is old, but some people are affected by one species, and some by another. One of our citizens, who came here from Austin, told me that when he lived in the capital he had hay fever which was induced by the cedar-pine tree there. Many hay-fever victims are affected by the pollen of the common rag-weed."

"On the whole," concluded Dr. Douglas, "you may say to the public that we are getting on well with our sanitary campaign, and that we appreciate the co-operation which we are receiving from it."

JUVENILE THIEVES CAUGHT ENTERING AUTO SUPPLY STORE FRIDAY NIGHT

A band of youthful burglars came to grief Friday night when a hard hearted victim of their depredations corraled a few of them and turned them over to the police. It all happened at the W. S. Auto Supply Co., 711 Tenth street, where the boys had been in the habit of sleeping for some weeks past. The roof of this building was somewhat softer than the majority of roofs in the city and a full dozen of homeless waifs have been using this one as a private boudoir. They found on investigation that it was possible to effect an entrance into the sales room below, and as a result the small amounts of cash left in the cash register at nights found its way into empty pockets. These raids came with more and more frequency and so Friday evening Harry Schack, one of the proprietors of the Supply Co. secreted himself in the room and when the marauders appeared he nabbed as many as possible. Three were caught and according to Mr. Schack twice as many more escaped. The three who were captured were turned over to Juvenile Officer Morgan, who expects to apprehend the whole party.

Especially do we pray God's richest blessings on Rev. Bingman and the young men associates of our darling boy.—MRS. ROSA WILLIAMS and family. 66-1tp

DON'T EVER MARRY AT THE OLYMPIC

Fun Happens Fast and Furious In Marshall Neilan's Latest Production.

Many and varied are the dangers that imperil safety on matrimonial seas, and staunch indeed is that craft which can weather successfully the buffettings of years' duration on this stormy sea of life. Jealousy, indifference, financial worries and others whose name is legion all combine to rend the clouds of domestic happiness that envelop trusting lovers. All of these many causes play their part but the first named, jealousy, is by far the most prolific cause of disaster that has ever beset those who embark on the unknown voyage of matrimony.

Jealousy, if unfounded, always leads to unjust accusations. Hard words follow the first serious quarrel is the result. The quarrel usually is made up, but the memory of unkind words still lingers and seldom is the marriage a happy one where jealousy once entrenches itself in the mind of either husband or wife.

In spite of its all too often disastrous results, jealousy has its humorous side to those not affected. Innocent escapades or predicaments which cause friction between married couples furnish most of the humor of the world, and it is a delightful humor Marshall Neilan shows in his latest production for the screen, "Don't Ever Marry." It is the story of the happenings that take place within 24 hours after a secret marriage, when for reasons best known to themselves, two other women claim the young groom as their lawfully wedded husband.

The fun happens fast and furious from the opening scene to the end, where tranquility is once more restored and the complicated domestic tangles that are involved are calculated to furnish amusement by the carload. "Don't Ever Mary" is the attraction at the Olympic Monday and Tuesday.

PHOTOPLAY OF SEA COMING TO PLAZA

"The Hell Ship" Featuring Madelaine Travers Will Be Shown Next Thursday.

Madlaine Traverse, who has gained fame as the William Fox star of beauty as well as ability, is announced to appear at the Plaza theater Thursday in the "Hell Ship," which is described as a powerful photoplay of the sea which gives Miss Traverse one of her best opportunities for emotional portrayal. The story, as given in advance, tells of a fair girl who cows a mutinous crew, takes possession of a 'hell ship," and finds herself at last "only a woman," with a heart that can love as well as break. The story should make an absorbing picture.

The cast includes Albert Roscoe, Betty Bouton, Dick La Reno, Jack Curtis, Fred Bond and William Ryno. Denison Clift is the author and Scott Dunlap the director.

BILLY BURKE IN EMPRESS FEATURE

Her Comedy Powers Have Full Play In "Away Goes Prudence"—Here Monday and Tuesday.

Billie Burke appears in an entirely different role than usual in her latest picture, "Away Goes Prudence," which is the feature picture at the Empress on Monday and Tuesday of this week. This popular Paramount-Artcraft star has long been known as a delightful comedienne but never before has she assumed the role of a lawless, roughneck burglar. In "Away Goes Prudence," however, Miss Burke is shown breaking into houses, jimmying open windows and burglaring around with regular knights of the darkness.

Her comedy powers were never shown to better advantage than while playing the part of a daring society girl who prefers flying airships and other dare devil stunts to pursuits of a more lady-like nature. In order to bring her to her senses some friends arrange with a band of crooks to kidnap her for awhile. This is done and the girl is forced to live with the thugs and learn all the tricks of their profession. Miss Burke showed marked ability in jimmying open windows, scaling walls, breaking into houses—and even shooting craps. She disguises in a suit of men's clothing and looks and acts the part of a real burglar.

EUGENE O'BRIEN IN SOONER OR LATER

Popular Film Star Will Be Seen At Majestic In Role Of New Type.

Eugene O'Brien is one popular film star who declines to follow along the lines of least resistence. In other words, just because he has made a huge success in "perfect lover" parts, he believes there is no reason why he should continue to always portray the same type of character. The enviable reputation which Mr. O'Brien has made for himself in these "social butterfly" roles would certainly suffer nothing by the continuation of these parts, but Mr. O'Brien, working on the theory that variety is the spice of life, has plunged into another entirely different style of play and made as great a success of it as he has of the others.

In his newest play, which is to be the attraction at the Majestic theater on Monday and Tuesday, the star appears as a young mining engineer from the west, who, in a series of charming love scenes, woos and wins a wealthy heiress. He and his charming bride laughlingly refer to her great wealth as their "golden barrier," but the man, who has strong convictions and ideas on the subject, resolutely refuses to touch a cent of his wife's money. His firm attitude in the matter and his wife's penchant for finery and luxury create the tense dramatic situations that furnish action for the play.

Ralph Ince directed the production which was staged amid the picturesque surroundings of the Adirondack mountains, and the star is supported by a notable cast, headed by Zena Keefe who, during the new season of 1920, will become a Selznick star in her own right.

WICHITA FALLS THEATRES WILL SHOW EXCEPTIONALLY HIGH CLASS PICTURES THIS WEEK

Movie patrons of this city are to be privileged to see some excellent presentations at the various theaters during the next six days. Every one of the four leading picture houses has scheduled a full week of high class pictures and it is simply a matter of choice and taste for those who desire to see feature attractions.

Among the pictures featuring individual stars, the Empress is offering a bill of unusual merit. Billie Burke, Robert Warwick, Bryant Washburn and Mary Miles Minter being listed to appear in the order named. All of these pictures are among the latest which the individual actors have produced and all are well worth seeing. At the Majestic, Eugene O'Brien, William Farnum and Pauline Frederick are the three headliners, while the Olympic has forsaken for a time the single star pictures and is presenting a fine array of special feature pictures with all-star casts. Marshall Neilans' great comedy 'Don't Ever Marry;" Mack Sennett's laugh producer "Down on the Farm," and Booth Tarkington's "Edgar's Jonah Day" are three exceptionally fine films, and in addition to these a Charlie Chaplin comedy, a Mollie Malone comedy and a picture featuring Marjorie Rambeau are to be offered.

All of the theaters are offering in addition to the big pictures a strong supporting bill of comedies, topical reviews, news weeklies and musical attractions, so with this line up of theatrical talent the city need not go wanting for amusements during the coming week.

Boy Scout News

The local Boy Scouts have been active throughout the past week and are laying plans for increased activity in the future. Scout Executive H. E. Taylor has the following report to make in regard to the work of the past week and that for the next.

On Thursday a number of boys from troops 1, 4, 6 and 7, accompanied by Scoutmaster Janko of troop 7 and Scout Executive Taylor, were taken by Mrs. W. W. Silk of the local Y. W. C. A. to the Red Bird Gun Club, where they spent a busy morning in cleaning and scrubbing the house which will be used as headquarters for the Y. W. C. A. summer camp. A large quantity of fire wood was cut and piled and drift wood was also secured and made in readiness for the use of the girls. After their work was completed the boys were brought in to a local confectionery and treated.

Friday morning a group of boys from troop 1 worked on the grounds at the corner of Seventh and Lamar where the new community playground is to be established. An old fence was torn down and hauled away and the grounds cleared of rubbish. Saturday morning the same boys were taken to the playground at the corner of Tenth street and Kemp boulevard, where they secured material and equipment for the new grounds.

On last Thursday night another attempt was made to reorganize the defunct troop 5. The scout executive, scout master, assistant scout master and one member of the committee were present but no boys showed up. One more effort will be made before school opens to reorganize this troop and if that fails the work will be suspended until the opening of the schools.

Troops 1, 2, 4, 6, 7 and 9 met Friday evening. With the exception of troop 9 all troops reported a good attendance and fine meeting.

An inter-troop contest has been arranged for the various troops of the city. Each troop is to be graded on the showing which it makes at its weekly meetings and the troop which makes the best and most consistent showing for a period of three months will receive a cash prize, or its equivalent of $10. The troops are to be graded on attendance, punctuality, observance of scout laws, number of members in uniform, securing of outside speaker, and one or two other points. Compliance with each of these terms entitles the troop to a certain number of points and the one having the greatest number of points at the end of the allotted time is declared winner. At present troop 6 is in the lead with troop 7 second and troop 1 third.

Next Thursday the board of examiners of the scout committee will have their regular meeting at the First M. E. Church, South. At this time any scout wishing to take examinations for first and second class and merit badges will be permitted to do so. Those who successfully pass the exams will be awarded their badges by the court of honor on Friday night.

Scout Master Janko of troop 7 will be out of the city for three weeks. The boys of troop 7 are at work on arrangements for their camp at Lake Worth next September.

Mrs. Pierce Was Sick For Fourteen Months

"I wouldn't give Orgatone for all the other medicines I ever saw put together. It has relieved me of troubles that have been pulling me down for fourteen months, and no other medicine or doctor ever seemed to do me the least bit of good," said Mrs. Vinnia Pierce, wife of a well known farmer living on Rural Route No. 2, Fort Worth, Texas, while in Renfro's Drug Store a few days ago.

"Yes, sir," continued Mrs. Pierce, "fourteen months is just how long I suffered with the worst kind of stomach trouble and pains in my back and side, and it seems to me I tried every kind of medicine, but nothing did me any real good until I got Orgatone. I had indigestion so bad that I couldn't eat a thing that agreed with me. Everything would sour on my stomach, no matter what I would eat; gas would form and I would feel bloated and then that terrible pain, something like cramp colic, would set up in side and nearly bend me double. My food all turned against me and in ten minutes after eating I would get awful sick at the stomach which owuld sometimes last for hours. My stomach didn't seem to act at all and I was always constipated and I was never free from headache. I was nervous and couldn't sleep hanrdly any, and was weak and felt tired and worn-out from one day's end to th next, and was forever taking some king of medicine, and if I hadn't bought Orgatone I suppose I would have just kept on suffering, as nothing else had ever done me any good.

"Orgatone went right after my troubles in a hurry and I commenced to look brighter and more cheerful after that first bottle. It relieved me of the indigestion before I had finished the second bottle and gave me a rousing appetite, I can now eat anything I want—vegetables included—just anything, without having any gas or smothering or sick stomach afterward. I have no more headaches, now, and I haven't had that pain in my side since the first three days I began taking Orgatone. My liver is in good shape and the constipation has been relieved. I don't complain of having any pain at all now and I am relieved of nervousness and sleep fine every night. I feel like getting up in the mornings now for the first time in many a day, and I can do all my housework without any help at all. Orgatone has made a different woman of me and I think it's the greatest medicine that has ever been discoverd."

Orgatone is ont a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment absolutely free from alcohol in any form and is sold in Wichita Falls by the Miller Drug Stores exclusively under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.

BLOCK ORGANIZATION GETS UP PACKAGE TO GIVE TO DAY NURSERY

At a block party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis at 1717 Elizabeth street last week it was decided that one of the best things that could be done would be to contribute a package of supplies to the Day Nursery. Accordingly a package of towels, needles and thread, talcum powder and other supplies was made up and delivered to welfare headquarters at the court house Saturday.

The supplies were most timely and this block has set an example that may well be emulated by others.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS ENJOY SOCIAL SESSION

The Royal Neighbors of America enjoyed a most delightful session of their camp at the regular dinner-day meeting, Thursday, July 15th. The pleasures of the day began with luncheon, served picnic fashion at noon. This was followed by two hours of chat. The business session was opened at 3 p. m. with a nice class for adoption, which was given the full degree. The members of the birthday committee were Neighbors Woolsey and Trimble. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Neighbors Thompson, Jones and Boone. Four applications for membership were received.

Mrs. L. W. Perham, 1610 Tenth street, left last week for Yellowstone National Park and British Columbia, and from the latter place will go to Long Beach, California, to spend the summer.

GOODFELLOW HEARING SET FOR JULY 22

Police Chief Served With Formal Notice Saturday—Requests Formal Charges.

Formal notice was served Saturday morning upon Chief of Police Robert Goodfellow that the city council will consider the question of his removal from office at the council's next regular meeting. Chief Goodfellow had no statement to make to the press later, other than that he would be "ready to face any charges" and would "welcome any investigation."

The notice, served by City Clerk George Thorburn, read as follows:

"This is to advise you that the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, will take up for consideration the question of your removal from office at the next regular meeting of the board of aldermen, which will be held in the council chamber at the city hall at 7:30 p. m., July 22, 1920.

"And you will be granted a hearing at said time and place, and a statement of the charges and reasons for your removal from office will be furnished you by the city clerk, if you so desire."

No formal charges had been filed by Police Commissioner Bralley late Saturday afternoon with the city clerk. They have been requested, however, by Chief Goodfellow, and will probably be delivered to Tim Mondy in time for him to prepare any defense he may wish to make.

POLICE DEPARTMENT WILL TAKE NO FURTHER ACTION

Chief of Police Goodfellow stated this morning that his department will not take any action on the recent request of the Rainbow Division Veterans for further investigation of the death of Allen Mansfield, killed here by Patrolman Carl Spence on June 17.

"The grand jury, according to my understanding, went into the circumstances of the shooting thoroughly," Chief Goodfellow said, "and Spence was exonerated completely. It was shown that he acted only in self defense, and in accordance with his duties as a police officer. Under those circumstances, the police department certainly will not re-open the matter."

ELECTRIFIED WATER CO. INSTALLING PLANT

Water Treated With High Voltage Electricity And Aerated Through Ozone.

Mr. G. T. Hill, general manager of the Electrified Water Company, has announced that the new plant of the company, located at 803 Lamar street, is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready to be placed in full operation within a week or ten days. Machinery and equipment of the latest type is being installed and when completed the plant will be the most modern and sanitary water purification concern in the entire south. It will have a capacity of 5,000 gallons daily.

In the electrolitic-ozoneated process of water purification no chemicals or substances of any kind are added to the water. It is simply sterilized by the action of high voltage electricity, which removes all animal and vegetable germ life, and then passed through the ozone apparatus where it's highly treated with ozoneated air. This removes all minerals, odors and tastes, leaving the water pure and sparkling.

Electrified water was given the gold medal and highest ward in its field at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and is recognized the world over as a pure, health giving water. The local company will deliver its product to consumers in five gallon bottles.

SWIMMING POOL AT LAKE GIVEN CLEAN BILL BY HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. A. W. West, full time health officer, issued a statement Saturday, declaring that the swimming pool at Lake Wichita was in a sanitary condition. In the report from the special sanitary engineer sent here by the state health department, mention was made of insanitary conditions at this swimming pool.

"I am glad to state that these conditions have been remedied," said Dr. West. "As I understand it they were not the fault of Mr. Gersch. Ther was some misunderstanding as to who was responsible for the care of the toilets. This was the only insanitary condition found. Mr. Gersch has now assumed entire responsibility and has everything in good condition. I have found him very careful in other things. The water in the swimming pool is filtered and frequently changed. His bathing suits are carefully cleaned and each person who enters the swimming pool is required to take a shower bath before entering."

DODGE BROS. CAR NO. 500,000 TURNED OUT

Half Million Cars Manufactured Within 67 Months After Production Started.

An even half million Dodge Brothers cars had been produced when on June 30, last, the car bearing number 500,000 passed through the inspection department at the Dodge Brothers plant in Detroit, Michigan. This accomplishment within 67 months after production was first started at the plant, marks, according to vice president and general manager, F. J. Haynes, not so much a record of automobile production although it is a feat in itself, as it does the results of a system of industrial and commercity co-operation which is far larger in its scope than any mere production program. The arrival of car number "500,000" on the shipping platform was delayed for a while on July 1, so that it could be the central figure of a quiet celebration in the plant courtyard. And here it was that Haynes told his audience, men from all over the big Dodge Brothers plant, something of the history which led up to the accomplishment and of it promise for the future.

Incidentally the date, July 1, was a historic one in the car's ancestry, since it was on July 1, 1914, that the Dodge Brothers finished their contract with a larger production of automobiles and turned their attention to the car they henceforth intended to build and market, a car bearing their own name. By December all experimental and road work was completed, and in that month 245 cars were built. Within the month just passed it is made, known that in spite of hindrances that have been felt everywhere in the industrial world, traffic delays inward and shipping obstruction outward, more than 15,000 cars were made and shipped. "You builded better than you knew," Haynes told the men from the factory, "you built a plant that can not stop—a plant that has gone on forever."

Car No. 500,000 has been allotted the Bottrill Automobile Co., the dealer in Salt Lake City, Utah, who will drive it through from the factory in Detroit. The car is a roadster and will be used by Mr. Bottrill in a special publicity campaign.

WOMEN CAN VOTE IN DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY IF PROPERLY QUALIFIED

The women of Wichita Falls can vote in the democratic primaries, July 24.

It may sound unnecessary to emphasize the obvious in that manner, but it is a fact that many women in this city are under the impression that they are not entitled to vote in the coming primaries. What gave birth to the impression is not known, but it has grown steadily.

Several women declare they have been "told" by masculine acquaintances that, having voted once, they are now automatically prohibited from voting again this year! The foolish rumor has spread so rapidly that several candidates for various offices who are counting upon feminine support at the polls have become alarmed—therefore.

The women of Wichita county can vote in the democratic primaries July 24—and may the best men receive their votes.

OIL MAN WILL SPEAK AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH AT MORNING SERVICE

Being without a pastor, temporarily, is interfering but little with the work of the First Christian church. Its pastor, Rev. J. Lem Keevil, is away on his vacation, and during his absence the pulpit is occupied on Sunday morning by members of the congregation; the church has an unusually large number of members who are able to make instructive and interesting pulpit talks, and these are "pinch-hitting" in the pastor's absence, with good results. T. E. McKinney, local oil man, will occupy the pulpit this morning. At the evening services, the congregation combines with that of the First M. E. church, South

At present the business is being conducted in the Wilford-Harrison Drug company's store. Burke Taylor, manager of the business, has obtained a lease on 803 Indiana avenue, however, and hopes to be able to move into the new quarters on September 1st.

HIT IN NOSE WHEN AUTOMOBILE BACKFIRES

M. E. Frack, an employe of the Victor garage, was painfully hurt Saturday afternoon, when an automobile crank "back-fired" and struck him in the nose. A nasal hemorrhage developed later, after he had gone to his home at 1306 Fillmore street, and the young man was taken in an ambulance to Dr. Graham's hospital in the Waggoner building. The injury, according to Dr. Graham, is not dangerous.

FORD AUTO SALES CO. GETS BIGGER SUPPLY

The Ford Auto Sales Company of this city has announced that it has just completed a new contract with the Ford Motor Co. of Detroit whereby the local agency will be enabled to supply the demand for Ford cars in this territory. Heretofore the great demand for the Ford machines has far exceeded the supply and many prospective buyers were forced to go without or else obtain the cars from other sources, but in the future the local Ford people will be able to serve the public efficiently and supply all the cars desired.

MURAL PAINTINGS SYMBOLIZE SPIRIT OF OIL INDUSTRY AND OF CITY OF WICHITA FALLS

Two monderful mural paintings allegorical representations of the great city now in the building of Wichita Falls, and the chief resource which is building this city and carrying its fame throughout the country, the oil industry, constitute a decorative motif in the Wichita State Bank's new home in the Bob Waggoner building which makes the banking room absolutely distinctive in the Southwest. These paintings, the work of E. Martin Hennings, gifted artist of Chicago, are brilliantly executed and have a manifold interest as visitors to the bank will agree, when the doors are thrown open for business about August 2.

The frescoes, one at the rear where it forcibly strikes the eyes of all entering from the front of the bank, and the second at the front of the foyer, fill the panels of the decorative arches extending to the mezzaine floor.

The oil industry, in its varied phases, the drilling of wells, pumping of the crude into pipe lines, or loading into tank cars, and the operation of refineries, forms the back ground for the figures of three men, of life size, who dominate the scene, and typify the men and the operator, and the men who do the actual work in this section. It takes only a glance to show even the most critical that the artist drew his inspiration from actual contact with the oil men of this section, and the oil fields, and not from the popular fictional or moving picture idea of oil men and oil fields. The figures are virile and life-like, so much so that there is an almost uncontrollable desire to turn and look after the motioning hand of one of the workmen, towards the oil field operations, which the artist has depicted with the same fire and virility that characterizes the central figures. Though the back ground is dominated by these allegorical representation of the man power behind the oil industry, there has been no subordination of the artist's skill in making the back ground detail perfect.

The front panel presents the city, not Wichita Falls particularly, but an idealization representing the ambition of the builders of Wichita Falls, and the artists conception of the attributes of a city in the making. On the right there are skyscrapers in the building, signifying the constructive period of Wichita Falls, and on the left are the emblems of Commerce, the railroad and the steamship. The realization of the great city of the future is seen in the center of the panel.

In the foreground of this painting, as in the other, three men, typifying the city builders, present the human building force without which there can be no city. The artist spent some time in Wichita Falls, gathering material and atmosphere for his work, and all those who have been privileged to have an advance showing, before the bank was formally opened have had the highest praise for the finished work and for its faithful reproduction of the spirit of Wichita Falls, and the officials of the bank have received many congratulations on this unique feature of their new home.

The entire banking quarters are beautifully and exquisitely finished, and these allegorical frescoes give the bank an unusual distinction.

2,500 EXPRESS EMPLOYES AFFECTED BY BOARD DECISION

CHICAGO, July 17.—Only 2,500 employes of the American Railway Express will be affected by the decision to be handed down Tuesday by the railway labor board, James J. Forrester of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and member of the federal board, announced today. The 2,500 include blacksmiths, machinists, electricians and their apprentices and helpers.

The growth of the City National Bank of Commerce keeps pace with the growth of Wichita Falls and the service maintained by the bank meets adequately the needs of the city's people and industries. Large capital and surplus insure the safety of funds deposited with this bank. 66-1tc

MEANING OF QUESTIONS IN POLICE COURT REMAIN A MYSTERY

A legal action of tremendous importance, involving the name of the president of these United States, and both great political parties was heard in police court this morning, when William M. White and Dewey Miller were arraigned on charges of desecrating the porch of 705 Scott street with a fist fight. Spectators leaned on one another's shoulders and breathed hoarsely in one another's ears in their eagerness to discover the hidden and mysterious meaning of several questions asked by City Attorney Mann.

If a man fights on a Scott street porch in Wichita Falls, Texas, is it not interesting to bring out the thrilling fact that he was born in New York some forty years ago and has worked in San Antonio and Sherman, Texas, and Astoria, Oregon?

Is it a legal offense to "bawl out" the republican and democratic parties?

If a man fights on a Scott street porch in Wichita Falls, Texas, over a political dispute, what bearing on the case has the testimony of "Ike" Shelton that said man asked him to shadow his wife two weeks ago?

'Twas a queer, queer case. Bill White and Dewey Miller had an argument. White said Miller called him a name he wasn't particularly keen about, because White spoke kindly of President Wilson. Blows were struck. Both men were arrested. Miller asked for a jury trial. White didn't. All right, let's go.

"Isn't it a fact," demanded City Attorney Mann of White, "that you uttered some pretty harsh criticism of the republican and democratic parties?"

White looked rather dazed, and denied he had committed this lese majesty. And then Private Detective Shelton was summoned, and testified regarding the request to "shadow" White's wife. White's knees sagged considerable, and his jaw dropped.

"Why, I haven't got any wife!" he exclaimed. "I've never been married in my life! Why should I want a divorce, and what's all this got to do with the fight?"

Next, the city attorney proceeded to ask where White last was employed before coming to this city.

"In San Antonio."

"And before that?"

"In Sherman."

"And before that?"

"In Astoria, Oregon."

"Where were you born?" asked Mann, determined to cover all the territory possible.

"In New York City."

"Parents living?"

"No."

White stuttered a bit. He was beginning to be bewildered, and seemed to be uncertain whether he had been arrested for fighting or was being examined for a life insurance policy. He succeeded, however, in imparting the information that he started in to learn the painter's trade when he was a boy, and had been following that vocation ever since.

All of this consumed some two hours of court time—and developed nothing of interest concerning the fight. Wherefore, it was finally decided to let the case go over on the city attorney's promise to bring into court a witness who actually saw the fistic encounter between White and Miller.

'Twas a queer queer case, men.

RED CROSS WOMAN TELLS OF DOUGHBOYS' FUNNY PREDICAMENTS

Many humorous incidents have cropped up lately in the work of the Red Cross representative on the federal board for vocational education at St. Louis, which handles the cases of soldiers residing in the middle west and southwest, who have been wounded or disabled.

The other day a former fighter applied for treatment, saying his amputated leg had begun to bother him. The report came back: "We have been unable to get in direct touch with this soldier but have, however, succeeded in 'partially' locating him."

Another applicant for vocational education disconsolately informed the board of his woes, adding: "Was married three weeks ago and can't get out like before."

Members of the board are wondering how this soldier "got by" with it. In answer to a query he replied: "Occupation during service—none."

Another man must have officiated as a chimney sweep during his career as a warrior. In making application for assistance to the Red Cross representative of the board of vocational education he sent the following medical report: "Lung trouble due to 'flue.'"

The new building of the City National Bank of Commerce is located in the heart of Wichita Falls' business district. The bank rooms are equipped with every detail of equipment needed to insure the convenience of customers in transacting their banking business. 66-1tc

HOW OLD MUST A WOMAN BE BEFORE SHE DIVULGES HER AGE? ANSWER IS 95

TOPEKA, KAN., July 17.—How old does a woman have to be before she will not refuse to divulge her age in order to have the privilege of voting?

This question was raised here when Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, author and noted suffrage and republican leader, refused to register because the registration clerk insisted that she tell her age. However, Mrs. Ruth Relf Price of 721 Monroe street, spryly walked up to the registration counter and gave her age as 95, without a blush.

"Can it be the older women get the less they care about divulging their age and only the spring chickens are shy about their years?" asked one of the city hall employes who had seen both Mrs. McCarter and Mrs. Price under registration scrutiny.

A Woman Likes To Be Admired, No Matter How Old She May Be

Nature undoubtedly made woman to be admired, and man to admire her. No woman ever gets so old that she doesn't want admiration, and no man ever gets beyond admiring her. Good looks in woman do not depend upon age, but upon health. A woman's health depends more upon the distinctly feminine organism than upon anything else. Between that organism and her beauty there is the closest connection. You never see a good-looking woman who is weak, run-down, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, dragging-down pains, irregularities and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness.

It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the safest woman's tonic because it is made entirely of roots and herbs, without alcohol. (Ingredients on label.) It is 50 years old, and its age testifies to its goodness. A medicine that has made sick women well for half a century is surely good to take. Women from every part of America testify to its merits.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. for a trial package and confidential medical advice, or booklet.

JOHNSON For REPRESENTATIVE

B. F. Johnson, town builder, business man, progressive citizen, will represent the best element of Wichita and Wilbarger counties in the State Legislature.

He is a native Texan. We know where he came from and how he has been engaged during his entire life.

He served for many years as Chamber of Commerce executive, and has made it his life work to promote the progress and upbuilding of various Texas cities. During the war he was called to government service to direct great campaigns for food and money to back our troops in France.

He is making this race in the Legislature at a great sacrifice only because scores of leading citizens of Wichita and Wilbarger Counties "drafted" him for this service.

Constructive Business Legislation Versus Socialistic Brain Storms and Radicalism

Johnson stands for improvements in rural and city schools and common sense program of road building, an improvement in the Workmen's Compensation Act. His training in official business at Washington and Austin has fitted him for effective work in the Legislature.

The oil industry is threatened with wild-eyed, visionary, dangerous and confiscatory taxation and legislation.

Wichita and Wilbarger Counties cannot afford to take any chances of being MIS-represented in the state law-making body during the next two years.

Johnson is fair, safe and sane.

We who have worked with Johnson in public spirited campaigns, know his worth, endorse his candidacy, and solicit your support

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H. STEWART JR.

Motor Department: I have a Ford car and have been much interested in the discussion relative to testing compression and determining the weak cylinder. As I may have missed some of the methods described I should like to have them all summed up. Would it be asking too much? I think it would be interesting to other Ford owners beside myself. READER.

As no special method is described in the Ford Manual the following suggestions may be of value. 1. Watch opening of exhaust valves. If No. 1 exhaust valves open, No. 4 is on compression. If No. 2 open, No. 3 is on compression, and vice versa. 2. Bubbles through the oil that sometimes accumulate around the spark plugs show the compression stroke. 3. Use a set of priming plugs. Close one at a time and crank engine, comparing resistance of one cylinder with the other. 4. Or remove all spark plugs but one and do the same. 5. The ignition spark may be used as a guide in case you are sure it is correct.

Motor Department: I have a 1916 car. I use between two and three quarts of water a day, running 30 to 40 miles. Have cleaned carbon, had fan belt adjusted and find water pump in first class condition. There are no leaks. Yet I am using too much water. What do you suppose is the trouble? H. P.

This excessive evaporation is due to overheating, which may be caused by an improper carburetor adjustment, clogged muffler, too little oil, clogged radiator, running too long on low gear, slipping clutch, etc. Have cooling system cleaned and then watch for these other causes.

Motor Department: Please tell me through your valuable column what makes my carburetor drip gasoline all the time. I have to shut it off at the tank whenever I stop the engine and turn it on again after the engine starts. Is it anything an inexperienced motorist can fix without special instructions? ANXIOUS.

If the carburetor drips as badly as that it should be attended to at a service station. It may be dirt in the float valve, a worn valve or a heavy float. Would not advise you to attempt repairs unless some one has shown you how to do them.

Motor Department: While I realize that a hot spark is an absolute necessity for the proper running of an engine, I do not know how to go about testing it on my car, which is equipped with a Wagner system. O. T.

This method would be the same with any other distributor system. If engine is running, remove one spark plug wire from its plug and hold it not more than one-quarter inch from head of plug or some metallic part of the engine. The spark can be seen jumping across the gap. If engine is not running make the gap at the spark plug just the same, close the switch, and move the spark lever back and forth very quickly. This should produce the desired spark.

Motor Department: I had occasion to take off the distributer of my magneto the other day and noticed that one of the small carbon brushes was missing. Apparently the engine runs with full power and the corresponding cylinder does not seem to be missing explosions. If there is no difference in the results what harm will it do to have one or more brushes missing? If it makes a gap in the distributer, will not one gap intensify other? NOVICE.

If the cylinder does not miss explosions it is because the spring makes contact with the distributer arm or segment. This will burn away or break and the engine will miss explosions. If there is any gap in the distributer it will be too great for the spark to jump when engine is running slowly, as the magneto then generates less current. The spark plug gap is set small on this account, and an additional gap in the distributer adds too much resistance. So replace brush as soon as possible.

Motor Department: I had my car overhauled last winter and all the bearings were tightened at that time. Since then my motor knocks when idle, but when running fast this knock is eliminated. Please let me know what might cause this. A. L.

Engine knocks may arise from many causes. Tightening the bearings will not eliminate all of them. Without more definite information it is difficult to guide you. From what you state it would appear that your trouble is slight. It may be that the timing gears are considerably worn and the knock you hear is due to the back lash. When the engine is running fast, of course, this would not be noticed so much. It may also be due to a side slap of one of the valve push rods. Such knocks as this are aggravated or rather more prominent when the motor is idling.

Motor Department: I would very much appreciate if you would answer a question in your motor column in the next issue of your paper. What is the cause of a motor missing every time on the same cylinder when there is a good spark at the plug? There is no pounding or knocking, but cylinder just fails to fire. OWNER.

The trouble is probably due to loss of compression, which may be caused by a valve not seating properly, valve caps, piston rings or spark plugs leaking. Try compression by opening all compression cocks but one and slowly cranking engine. You may thus compare compression of missing cylinders with the others.

Motor Department: Please tell me what makes an engine balk running slow on high gear. Also does a flooded carburetor make an engine harder to start? C. W.

Water in the carburetor, spark plug gaps too wide or dirty distributer points would cause your trouble. A flooded carburetor will cause difficult starting if it is overdone. A little priming is much better. In other words a slightly enriched mixture facilitates starting much better than an over-rich mixture.

Motor Department: I have an Oakland car which has developed a noise in the rear end. I am thinking of putting in new gear. Do you think that will eliminate the noise entirely? Thanking you in advance, I am, J. F.

It would be best to overhaul the whole real axle. Perhaps the noise is caused by a defective bearing causing a misalignment of the working parts. You may find it unnecessary to install near gears. However, a new ring and a new pinion gear should improve matters considerably, if the old ones are the real cause of your trouble. Care must be taken to adjust the new parts properly in order to eliminate noise.

Motor Department: I have a Reo speed wagon. The valves were ground and carbon removed, but when idling skip on No. 2 cylinder. Runs all right when speeded up. Plugs are O. K. New carburetor. Will you kindly give me information in regard to this trouble? A. S.

With the present day fuel it is a difficult matter to obtain a carburetor adjustment which will cause engine to function perfectly under all conditions. Since your engine gives good results at all other speeds of pulling, etc., it is hardly worth while to worry about. A slight leak in the manifold gasket, weak compression or a partially defective spark plug would cause your miss.

HELPFUL HINTS.

If storage battery was left standing a long time it will probably be sulphated. If the plates are white take battery to charging station immediately, as it may be possible to save it. It should have been charged every month whether in use or not. Have it charged, in any case, and the acid corrected, if necessary. See that all electrical connections are tight.

The fumes from a storage battery on charge are inflammable and it is by no means safe to bring a naked flame near a cell that is "gassing" freely. Battery repair shops and charging stations usually are careful in this respect, knowing by practical experience that the gas can be ignited.

There are few courses of treatment worse than allowing a storage battery to stand idle in a discharged condition. A car that has a lighting system should have its engine run occasionally—say for 15 to 20 minutes three or four times a week to keep the battery charged. This will keep the cells lively and vigorous, while a long period of absolute idleness will leave them sluggish.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

By all means have your car insured against theft and accident.

If mud is allowed to remain on the varnished surface of the car for more than a day, it is difficult to eradicate.

To prevent excessive engine wearing the crank case oil should be changed at least every 1,5000 miles, preferably every 1,000.

Shackle bolts or spring bolts may be made self-lubricating by drilling six or eight three-sixteenths inch holes in a new bushing and packing them with graphite. The holes must be repacked once every six months.

Any person can clean a spark plug. In removing the plug from the engine it is well to use a spark plug socket wrench that will fit the type of plug used in the car. This will save skinning of the fingers and also insures against breaking the porcelains.

When a car has a transmission driven speedometer the rear wheels should never be spun or permitted to slide. This habit is likely to spring or break the speedometer shaft, sometimes causing an error in odometer reading of anywhere from two to five per cent.

Because of the extremes of temperature to which it is subjected, the hood of a car dulls quickly. Hence it is well to wipe off the hood carefully after a run in the rain because moisture dries rapidly on the bonnets and usually spots it, ruining the fine finish in time.

The hardest strain is put upon tires when driving in street railway tracks and should be avoided at all times. When the car is run in the tracks, its weight is borne, not by the tread, but by the side wall at the point where the tire comes in contact with the edges of the rail. As a result the tire is bulged, the fabric plies separate and the tread is loosened.

A very satisfactory light for use in the garage may be made by cutting the sides out of an empty metal can of the sort that metal polish comes in, which has a screw top. A case of this kind obviates glare and also affords protection to the glass bulb. By running a layer of solder in the bottom of the can to give it weight, it makes a stand for the light, which can be conveniently used on the work bench.

When it is desired to check up wheel alignment the following is the proper method of procedure: Turn the steering wheel so that the front wheels are the same distance away from the frame. Measure the distance between the fronts of the two front wheels on a line even with the hub caps. Then measure the distance between the rears of the two wheels at the same elevation. The rear measurements should be greater and the difference will vary with the make of car.

It often happens that the steel ball in the check valve of the force feed pump breaks or becomes so pitted that the pump does not deliver the correct amount of oil. In these circumstances a piece of hard lead hammered into the shape of the ball will serve very well as a temporary repair. The lead is somewhat plastic, so that it conforms to the shape of the seat of the valve. Naturally this emergency ball will only be used until a new steel ball can be secured.

Wet rubber cuts much more easily than dry rubber and this suggests the need of extra careful driving of the motor truck during the spring months when the roads are in bad condition. Sharp stones, car tracks or stray bits of metal will cause cuts in wet rubber, yet they might not damage the same tire if it were dry. A careful driver will avoid car tracks at all times, but will be particularly careful in wet weather as a sharp frog end may gash a tire very badly, especially if the rails are wet.

Automobile drivers often find oil leaking into the brake from an excessive supply in the differential housing. The excess oil is forced through the axle tubes and runs along the shafts in some designs while in others the interiors of the shaft housings are fitted with tubes, which catch the oil before it gets to the brakes. In any event, keeping the oil level in the housing at the proper height will prevent most of the leakage. In filling the gearset put in the lubricant to a depth of about half the height of the gearbox. That is, have it come about even with the center of the main shaft. This will submerge the countershaft and bring the face of the main shaft gears into the lubricant.

A short circuit will be indicated by the position of the amperemeter pointer. Always note the position of the index hand of that instrument when the car is stopped. With the engine at a standstill and no lamps burning the hand should point to zero. If it does not the ampere-meter is either out of calibration or there is a leak of current from the battery at some point in the wiring. To ascertain if the amperemeter is correct, uncouple one of the battery terminals of the lighting system, obviously, if the hand swings to zero, the trouble is leakage of current, which should be immediately corrected after the trouble is located. If the index does not point to zero when the battery terminal is disconnected, the instrument is out of calibration, and while this does not affect the operation of the system it should be taken into account when reading the amperemeter.

To Mrs. Lottie Kolboski, a Polish-American patriot of Wilburton, Okla., falls an unusual record for war work. During the war she knitted 113 sweaters, two mufflers, two pairs socks and one pair mittens. Besides this she served one day a week in the American Red Cross sewing room, two days a week in the surgical dressing room, and devoted much of her time to aiding Liberty Loan and Red Cross campaigns.

Sick Soldiers Enjoy Dolls.

A shipment of dolls made by Junior Red Cross workers and intended for children in Europe, was sent by mistake to ex-service men convalescing from wounds and illness in U. S. General Hospital No. 19, at Oteen, N. C. A request for return of shipment brought this reply: "If the makers of these dolls could have seen the merriment and actual pleasure they gave the men, the error in shipment would not be regretted. Nothing distributed in a long time has given the boys so much fun."

Mrs. Wilson Joins Life-Savers.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States, has consented to become the honorary president of the Red Cross Women's Life-Saving Corps of the Potomac Division of the Red Cross, which is conducting a "Learn to Swim" week.

Students attending the reserve officers' training camps this summer will receive instruction in swimming and Red Cross live-saving methods in connection with the regular schedule of studies. At the request of the secretary of war, the American Red Cross has arranged t assign members of its bureau of first aid personnel to instruct the students.

FLAMING, ITCHING SKIN DISEASES

Cause Untold Suffering that Could Be Avoided.

If you are afflicted with eczema, tetter, erysipelas, ringworms, pimples, acne, caly eruptions, boils, irritations of the skin, or other similar disorders, you need not expect any real relief from local applications, and the sooner you discard their use the sooner you will be on the road to recovery, provided you will rely upon the use of S. S. S.

S. S. S. is one of the most satisfactory remedies for diseases of the skin because it goes direct to the seat of the trouble, and by cleansing the blood of all impurities and disease germs, it keeps the skin free from infection, and restores it to its normal healthy condition.

ELMER GRAHAM

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

To the people of the Thirtieth Judicial District:

As the primary election of July 24th draws near grateful acknowledgement of the unfailing loyalty of my friends and supporters, who are actively interested in my behalf is hereby made. Like the pessimist of old, I shall never cease to tell of their goodness and kindness to me, and if elected District Attorney of the Thirtieth Judicial District composed of Wichita, Clay, Archer and Young counties, will constantly strive to prove worthy of the trust reposed in me.

My opponent, Mr. Jones, the present incumbent is stressing his second term plea, notwithstanding he filled out an unexpired term besides his present term, and he also complains about the skinning that I gave him in my speech at the Henrietta picnic on July 5th, but fails to tell the people that he started the mud-slinging by maligning me in his speech just preceding, as the men and women of Clay county who were present know. After he attacked me I felt that I had the right of self defense and proceeded to throw a load into him that would choke a camel and he now has no just right of complaint, and should not "side-step" or dodge the issue of his record on which he "stands squarely" as he stated in an interview given the Wichita Record-News of June 11th.

As an example of the efficiency of the District Attorneyship as at present constituted here are the records from the District Clerk's office for Wichita county since December 1st, 1918:

Indictments returned by Grand Jury, 373; pleas of guilty, 24; convictions in contested cases, 19.

According to these figures 330 indicted criminals are somewhere besides in the penitentiary. Inquiry by the people who compose the bulwark of our society as to these records is invited as they are entitled to know whether a ten per cent or less batting average on contested criminal cases in the Thirtieth Judicial District comports with the safety of our institution.

Your subscriber hereto promises that if he is elected as District Attorney that the aforesaid batting average will be raised, and that as such District Attorney he will serve the whole people free from any affiliations or alliances with the radical reds of union labor.

They are the same clan that refused supplies to the hospital sufferers in the Seattle strike, which was nothing more than an abortive Bolshevikl revolution, and, who, according to the press dispatches of July 12th, cheered the mention of the Russian Soviet at their Chicago meeting. That is my position, and I would suggest that you inquire of your neighbor as to the labor union affiliations and predilections of the present District Attorney, Fletcher S. Jones. It's time to shake loose from this crew that has bull-dozed and dominated us for four years. To make myself perfectly clear, if I am elected District Attorney, the humblest law abiding man in the land, union or non-union, shall receive the full protection of the law, but I propose to give this other bunch, and all corollary vicious criminal elements, unshirted hell. Choose ye this day whom you will have to serve. Yours on the firing line for a triumphant Americanism.

Sincerely,
ELMER GRAHAM

USE OF COIN IN AN ELECTRICAL SWITCH CAUSE OF FIRE ALARM

Don't put nickels behind the key switches of the electric light circuit in your home.

A young woman at 1802 Ninth street tried this little "stunt" when ironing this morning—and a few minutes later an alarm of fire was turned in. Fortunately the fire was not serious, as the young woman had sufficient coolness to turn off the current before the crossed circuit had done more than burn out a few wires.

But Chief McClure doesn't think highly of that nickel trick.

The growth of the City National Bank of Commerce keeps pace with the growth of Wichita Falls and the service maintained by the bank meets adequately the needs of the city's people and industries. Large capital and surplus insure the safety of funds deposited with this bank. 66-1tc
