Damage Soars; Lockney Church Caves In

STORM VICTIM HERE—A battered elm tree in the yard of M. Mahon Ewing, 2504 Twenty-third, is typical example of the damage done to trees over the South Plains by the freezing rain and sleet that bent and shattered branches. Almost all trees suffered some injury, but many others were almost stripped of limbs by the heavy weight of ice. Some streets in Lubbock were almost blocked as branches were pressed almost to the ground by the burden of ice. (Staff Photo.)

Jester Asks Study Of New 'Citizen's Tax'

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 12.—Governor Beauford H. Jester today gave the 51st Legislature his broad outline of Texas' imperative needs, warned it against overspending and predicted there would be lots of "head-knocking" this session.

Jester's first message left many legislators muttering wonder at what he meant over a reference to a "citizen's tax." They applauded when he said anti-lynching legislation was the state's business—not that of the federal government.

Wants Amendment

Bills calling for a complete overhaul of the prison system, pay raises for state workers, 20 to 40 millions for rural roads, and nine million dollars to make up a rural school aid shortage were introduced in the senate a few minutes before Jester told the joint session he would submit these matters as emergencies.

Jester said also he would submit emergency requests for action on the Gilmer-Aikin education report, asking funds for the tidelands fight, and money for microfilming state records.

The governor told the lawmakers he wanted submission of a constitutional amendment to lift the ceiling on welfare spending. Senator R. L. Proffer of Justin introduced a resolution in the senate asking for just that.

Both house and senate adjourned until Monday. This will give newly-elected Speaker Durwood Manford time to begin lining up his house committee appointments.

Broader Services Asked

Manford named Rep. Ray Kirkpatrick of Trenton as chairman of a temporary, finance committee to handle emergencies. This probably means he will get permanent assignment to the key post.

Jester called on the legislature to widen state services as far as it could in many fields within its means to pay, to give a government of "heart as well as of mind."

He said he would tell later how much money the state would have for a wide range of public service extensions.

Texas is blessed with material greatness, Jester told the lawmakers, and it "must develop the

IN PANHANDLE

Earth Tremor Is Reported

(By The Associated Press)

Was part of the Texas Panhandle shaken by an earth tremor Wednesday night?

About a dozen or more people say it happened—at Borger, Pampa, Amarillo, and just possibly at Lockney.

But other West Texans—including next-door neighbors of those who saw walls "weave"—were inclined to attribute it all to snow sliding from roofs.

Stations Got Calls

Radio Station KHUZ of Borger and the Amarillo News-Globe at Amarillo were flooded with calls. The callers—and their reports— included:

Mrs. W. W. Brubaker, Borger housewife: The shocks came at 8 p.m., 8:35 p.m. and 8:57 p.m. with the last the most severe. She said the second shock came as her hus-

$40,000 Loss Estimated As Church Falls

(Special To The Avalanche)

LOCKNEY, Jan. 12.—First Baptist church of Lockney was destroyed at 9:45 o'clock tonight when the roof and side walls of the one-story brick and tile structure collapsed, apparently from the pressure of sleet and ice on the roof. Damage to the building and equipment was estimated at approximately $40,000 by the pastor, Rev. E. J. Cobb.

The church building, which included a basement, was almost completely demolished by the collapse of the roof and side walls, Cobb reported. There is a possibility that some equipment may be salvaged, but the loss is certain to mount to approximately $40,000, according to church officials. One damage estimate ranged as high as $50,000.

No One Believed Hurt

No person was believed to have been in the building at the time of the collapse, and investigations tonight failed to uncover evidence that any person was injured in the building.

The accident came as a shock to church officials, who said tonight that they "did not have any warning that the building was in danger." Mr. Cobb said that he had noticed the building "creaked and popped" when he was in the church today, but he said that he had noticed the same sounds in other buildings during the last two days.

Mr. Cobb was apparently the last person to enter the church building, since he reported that he was in he auditorium at 6 o'clock tonight, but at that time he did not notice anything unusual.

Minister Next Door

Mr. Cobb was in the parsonage, located next to the church building, approximately two blocks from the business district, when he heard a "tremendous noise" that shook the house about 9:45 o'clock. He rushed outside, thinking that there had been an automobile accident in front of his home. Once outside, he saw a thick cloud of dust around the church building and within a few seconds was able to determine the huge extent of the damage to the structure. The roof of the main auditorium collapsed completely, pulling in the side walls. The

Phone Lines Down; Heavy Loss Feared

Moisture Measures 2.57 To Set New January Mark; Area Land Benefits

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

PROMISE of warmer temperatures today and an end to freezing rain and sleet was welcome news to South Plains residents, with the possible exception of farmers and ranchers who have benefitted an untold degree from four days of stormy weather. Meanwhile, damage from the storm soared into the thousands of dollars.

Transportation companies expected to resume near normal service as the rising mercury melted ice and sleet from highways. Telephone and utility companies planned to take advantage of improved weather conditions to speed repair work on shattered circuits in the southern half of the Plains area.

Storm damage Wednesday mounted into the hundreds of thousands of dollars as weighted telephone lines snapped, or dragged down hundreds of poles in the area east, south and southwest of Lubbock.

Church At Lockney Crumbles

Probably the heaviest damage to any one section was caused when the First Baptist church of Lockney was destroyed at 9:45 o'clock Wednesday night when the roof and side walls of the one-story brick and tile structure collapsed, apparently from the pressure of sleet and ice on the roof. Damage was estimated at approximately $40,000.

Damage to communications lines was the heaviest in years in this area.

Hundreds of phone circuits were broken leaving Matador, Ralls, Crosbyton, Spur, Post, Snyder, Lamesa, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Abilene and Sweetwater either completely isolated or served by only a few overworked circuits.

Western Union here Wednesday was limited to one circuit, and at one time was operating approximately five hours behind schedule as a stack of messages mounted. Late last night telegraph company officials said the backlog had been worked out.

Weather Record Is Broken

The storm smashed one record that had stood for 38 years. The 2.57 recorded precipitation for the month was the heaviest fall marked for the month since records have been kept here. The previous high mark was in 1939 when 2.45 inches of precipitation was recorded. It also was the most moisture to fall since May, 1948, when 2.88 inches was placed in the record books.

Most farmers agreed that the precipitation could hardly have come in a more beneficial manner. The slow rain Sunday was given a chance to penetrate deeply by the coating of ice and sleet which in turn will be absorbed without waste as a thaw sets in.

Dust bowl danger was believed whipped as the entire South Plains was covered with the rain and sleet. Farmers believe now that with improved weather they can list or "chisel" their fields and take

Air Force Rushes Food To Stricken Area

Storm Continues To Cripple Midwest

(By International News Service)

ICE AND sleet crippled power and communication lines over a large area of the Middle West Wednesday and the Air Force took over relief operations for western Nebraska, snowbound since the blizzard of Jan. 2-4.

Hardest hit by the ice storm was Missouri, Central Illinois, and some communities in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Damage to telephone circuits in the five-state area served by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company was placed at $1,825,000.

Air Force Aids Rescue

The tenth Air Force with headquarters at Indianapolis took over rescue work in the western Nebraska area in response to a request by Gov. Val Petersen of that state.

Gov. Petersen asked that the Army airmen fly food, doctors and medicine to cities, towns and ranches which still are cut off from ground transport by huge snow drifts.

The Tenth Air Force ordered helicopter and other types of planes from 11 bases to join in the rescue work.

A domestic emergency team of Tenth Air Force officers flew to Lincoln, Neb., to coordinate operations with state and Red Cross officials.

Plans to push and expand "airlift" operations were drawn up by the various rescue groups headed by Adjutant Gen. Henninger of Nebraska as coordinator.

Helicopter operations were started Wednesday afternoon with the arrival of the first of that type of craft at North Platte, Neb. The 'copter was flown to North Platte from Lowry Field, Denver.

"Airlift" flights bringing food and medical supplies were already underway for the relief of Gordon, a town of 2,000 persons in northwestern Nebraska.

There, four ski-equipped light planes were being operated from

Hobbs Isolated, Now Starts To Dig Out

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 12. (AP)—Undaunted by a battering from a two-day ice storm, the oil field town of Hobbs started beating back to normal tonight.

That was the word from a radio amateur whose clothesline broadcasts afforded the only link with the outside. Heavy coatings of ice took out too many telephone and telegraph lines to permit other communication.

The radio "ham" was Joe F. Marquez. After ice toppled the regular antenna for his set, he hooked the transmitter onto a clothesline and went from there.

First Marquez reported power failed this morning for all essential services in Hobbs, a southeastern New Mexico city of about 20,000.

But after several tense hours he said electricity again was being delivered to hospitals, the municipal water system and part of the business district.

Cease-Fire In China Sought

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Thursday, Jan. 13.—The Chinese government's control yuan today urged an immediate cease-fire in China's civil war.

The yuan (corresponding to a budget bureau, and not a policy-making body) voted to send messages to President Chiang Kai-Shek and Mao Tze-Tung, top Communist leader, calling for a halt in the fighting and for peace negotiations.

"The real victory should attempt to meet the real desires of the people and the achievement of peace," said the yuan's statement.

(The dispatch did not mention any reaction by Chiang, who already has offered to negotiate with the Chinese Reds—for peace on his own terms. The Communist radio flatly rejected Chiang's offer.)

Peace Move Reported

(Meanwhile, a dispatch direct from Communist-besieged Tientsin described fighting on three sides of the big north China industrial city. The dispatch made no mention of a truce there, or any arrangements for the city's surrender.

(Reports of a peace move by Tientsin's citizens circulated widely in Nanking and Shanghai Wednesday. Some observers expressed belief that such a move would set a pattern for an end to the civil war.

(Nationalist preparations to meet a possible Communist assault on Peiping from the north were reported from that ancient capital by AP Correspondent Spencer Moosa.

Tired Of Stalling

(Moosa messaged Shanghai also that "censorship completely blotted out important developments of Peiping, going far beyond the needs of security."

(However, regarding preparations for a Red assault, the Peiping censor permitted Moosa to say: "The people of Peiping do not think the city will be a battlefield but the Reds appear to be getting

Big Spring Plane, Pilot Still Missing; Weather Stalls Search

DALLAS, Jan. 12 (AP) — The fate of J. W. Thomas, jr., of Big Spring, missing since Sunday on a flight from Big Lake to Tulsa, remained a mystery tonight.

He took off alone in a two-place plane. Maj. Howard Smith of the Civil Air Patrol here said bad weather had prevented the patrol from sending out planes to search for the missing plane.

Thomas, 35, was chief observer for a Stanolind Oil & Gas company field exploration crew. A company spokesman said Thomas was to have conferred Sunday with company officials in Tulsa. He said there was a possibility that Thomas landed safely and had not been able to report his whereabouts because of bad communications resulting from the current ice storm.

Biggs field at El Paso sent out searching planes, but reported no luck in tracing the plane.

Southern Solons Organize For Showdown

Fight Looms Against Curbs On Filibuster

(By The Associated Pre

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 — The Senate Rules committee voted today to begin hearings January 24 on proposed rules changes which would make it easier to shut off filibustering talk.

These changes are expected to have an important bearing on the success of southern senators' efforts to beat President Truman's civil rights program. The filibuster — time consuming talk which may continue for day after day — has been one of their most effective weapons in rebuffing similar legislation in the past.

The rules committee decided on hearings after Mr. Truman had disclosed that bills are being drawn to carry out the civil rights program, and after 17 southern senators had organized to fight the program and any change in the Senate's debate rules.

Program Is Discussed

The committee decided to take testimony at the hearings only from senators. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.), said the hearings will last "as long as necessary."

Mr. Truman talked about his anti-discrimination program to members of a private organization called the National Citizens Council on Civil Rights. Herbert Hayard Swope of New York acted as spokesman when the group came out of Mr. Truman's office. He said the President told them he is having the bills drafted.

One of the bills, Swope reported, would establish a permanent federal commission on civil rights. The council wants that.

Oppose Rules Change

The 17 southern senators decided they will fight any proposed change in the Senate rules that would eliminate the filibuster, or unlimited talk. The filibuster has been the most effective weapon in the southerners' arsenal in

Strong Air Arm Is Again Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (INS)—Air Secretary Symington today asked Congress to authorize a 70-group Air Force even if it provides funds for only 48 groups as projected by President Truman.

Symington's request was made known by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga), of the House Armed Services committee, shortly after the secretary left a White House conference with the President.

He told reporters he would submit his resignation, as is customary, before Mr. Truman's new term begins Jan. 20. Asked whether he thought it would be accepted, Symington said:

"It is up to the President to make the decision."

While today's 70-group request is not the outright defiance of the President which Symington displayed last year in getting Congress to provide funds for expansion, it indicates that he has not changed his mind in the air power fight.

In his annual report released Sunday, but written before the President's 48-group limitation went to Congress, Symington warned that the 70-group force is America's only assurance against "horrors of war which it has never known."

Vinson said Symington asked

HONOLULU, Jan. 13 (AP) — Lanky Bill Odom took off over the darkening Pacific late today on a projected flight to New York in an effort to set a new distance record for small planes. Odom lifted the heavily-loaded Beechcraft off the runway at 6:32 p.m. (10:32 p.m. CST) on the 5,010-mile hop.

Alvin C. Jackson, Resident Of Hale County For 25 Years, Dies

ABERNATHY, Jan. 12. (Special) —Alvin C. Jackson, 78, who had lived in Hale county 25 years, died at approximately 3:30 p. m. today in his home here. Funeral services are pending arrival of relatives.

Burial will be in Abernathy cemetery under direction of McDonald Funeral home, of Lubbock. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sarah Jackson; four sons, Charles E. of Abernathy, C. C. of Winfield, Kan., Haskell of Traverse City, Mich., and Sgt. Jack E., U. S. Army, of Winton Cal.; one brother, C. A. of Levelland; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Man Admits Car Theft In City

Assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr Wednesday afternoon elicited a signed confession from Golden Wright, 38, of Coleman, that he had stolen an automobile here Dec. 13 from the Sheely Car lot—and an unscheduled admission that he had forged a check at McCamey and three at Ballinger.

No charges had been filed in connection with the forgeries, Pharr said he understood. The prosecutor mailed those signed statements to the district attorneys concerned.

Theft Charge Filed

A charge had been filed Jan. 6 in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, in connection with the car theft case.

Wright was arrested by the state highway patrol when speeding near Rotan in the stolen car, officials said. He aroused the officers' suspicions when he could not produce papers identifying him as

Hearing Set On Acheson

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — The Senate Foreign Relations committee will give Dean Acheson a chance tomorrow to state publicly his attitude toward Communist Russia.

Senator George (D-Ga) said today this is one of the reasons why the committee called for open hearings on Acheson's nomination to succeed Gen. George C. Marshall as secretary of state. George said it was only fair to give Acheson a chance to answer "rumors and charges" that he once favored a "soft" policy toward Russia.

Acheson will be the first witness when the hearings open at 9:30 a. m. (CST) in the large caucus room of the Senate office buildings.

Two Others To Testify

Senator Connally (D-Tex), committee chairman, said he has two other witnesses who will testify. He declined to disclose their names in advance but it was understood that A. A. Berle, jr., former State department official, will be a witness.

Connally invited the entire Senate membership to attend the hearings. But he said they will not have the privilege of questioning Acheson except through him.

"If anybody has any questions to ask Acheson," Connally said, "I want to know what they are. We can't throw this hearing open to all comers."

Letters Are Received

The Texan indicated yesterday the heaings probably will last two days, with a committee report ready for Senate action early next week. He said the committee will not take up James E. Webb's nomination to succeed Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett until after the Acheson hearings are concluded.

President Truman announced the appointments last Friday. Acheson and Webb are due to assume their duties January 20, providing they win Senate ap-

Several Persons Suffer Injuries

Ross W. Tillinghast, Lubbock telephone lineman, remained in critical condition at midnight last night in Mercy hospital at Slaton, after suffering a severe head injury shortly before noon Wednesday when a telephone pole fell on the outskirts of Slaton while he was on it repairing lines.

An attending physician, who said that Tillinghast's condition remained essentially the same last night as when the accident occurred, described injuries as a severe contusion of the brain, a laceration of the scalp and a possible skull fracture.

Others Are Injured

Mrs. Tillinghast went from her home at 1305 Twenty-third to the hospital in Slaton to be with her husband.

The lineman's mishap was the most serious of several accidents which could be attributed directly to the snow, sleet and rain which has blanketed the area for the past few days.

W. L. Hillis, 67, of 2106 Ave. L, entered Lubbock Memorial hospital shortly after noon Wednesday with a fractured pelvis suffered

MAY KEEP CONQUERED TERRITORY

Jewish Leader Declares UN's Partition Plan Is 'Dead Letter'

(By International News Service)

ISRAELI Premier David Ben-Gurion declared Wednesday night in Tel Aviv on the eve of Israeli-Egyptian armistice talks at Rhodes that the 1947 UN partition plan is a "dead letter."

This immediately aroused speculation the Jews may insist on keeping territory conquered outside that allotted under the original UN plan.

Simultaneously one of five RAF pilots shot down by Israeli forces last Friday declared he and three other Spitfire pilots flew into Palestine and that photographs were taken of Israeli positions.

Britain officially contends that the RAF airmen were on the Egyptian side of the frontier when attacked and Israel is seeking a UN Security Council hearing on the controversy.

Meanwhile, Israel officially advised the United Nations that all Jewish troops now have been evacuated from Egyptian territory, and in London the British cabinet compromised on Foreign Secretary Bevin's "get tough" policy toward Israel amid sharp complaints over the United States attitude.

The limbs which were gold and brown last October were crusted under heavy coats of frozen rain. Sidewalks were almost impassible to pedestrain travel, and automobiles skidded and sloshed along in a "sea" of slush. Many of the trees shown in the picture later bent under their mounting load of ice, but only a few suffered severe damage. (Staff Photo).

MAN GIVES UP AFTER SLAYING

Oklahoma City Postal Inspector Slain; Officers Hold Suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 12 (AP) —Apostal inspector was shot to death in the post office today by a 69-year-old man who said he fired "in self defense and in defense of civil rights."

E. M. Harkins, 51, was struck in the back of the head by a pistol bullet as he bent over to take mail from his post office box.

Joseph Donnelly surrendered after the shooting to a postal clerk who called police. At arraignment, he pleaded innocent but made his self-defense statement.

Attorney Shot Dead

The shooting followed by less than 24 hours the slaying of Earl Pruet, prominent Oklahoma City attorney, by an unknown assailant. The slayer walked into Pruet's office in a skyscrapper here and after a short conversation with the attorney, shot him four times.

The killer escaped down the elevator. No motive for the slaying could be determined. Identification was sketchy although it was agreed he was elderly.

Mrs. Alice Collier, receptionist at the Pruet law office who talked to the killer before the shooting, today viewed Donnelly.

"He wears the same type of glasses and speaks in the same tight-lipped way, but I just don't believe he is the man."

Denies Pruet Shooting

Donnelly denied knowing anything about the shooting of Pruet.

When Donnelly was seized he told police:

"He accused me and slandered me and humiliated me. I had to take the law into my own hands."

In his possession besides the .22 caliber pistol used in the slaying, he had a 10-inch machete.

"I brought the knife along just in case," the gaunt former janitor said. "Sometimes these guns don't work, you know. If it didn't I was at least going to cut off his arm."

In Donnelly's inside coat pocket were 10 letters. One addressed to President Truman, another to the FBI and another to the inspector of mails.

Notes Explain Case

Donnelly told officers the letters explained his case against postal authorities and 'their slanderous treatment of me."

"The mails lost two $20 money orders for me, and when I asked for help, Harkins and three other post office officials accused me of lying and cheating them. They even put it down on my record and I couldn't get a job with the government during the war."

John L. Graham, former assistant postmaster here, said several years ago Donnelly had come to him about some money orders that Donnelly had said were stolen from him.

"I talked with him for some time but could not get much positive information," Graham said. "I turned him over to Mr. Harkins, who talked with him for some time. Harkins made an investigation of his complaint but Donnelly never could give the inspectors any definite information which would justify the Post Office department in issuing duplicate money orders to Donnelly for those he alleged had been stolen."

Dallas Employment Gains Highest In State, Commission Reports

DALLAS, Jan. 12. (U.P.) — The Texas Employment commission today declared that the Dallas area led the state in employment gains during the month of November.

More than 2,000 more persons were employed here during the month than during October, the commission report said.

San Antonio ranked second with a gain of 1,200 employed. Houston, Baytown, Corpus Christi, and El Paso areas followed with more than 500 new persons employed.

Lubbock Couple Sponsors New Student

Youth From Italy Will Visit In Lubbock, Attend Wayland

A 17-year-old boy from Italy arrived in Texas a few days ago and will come to Lubbock this month to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnson of 2903 Twenty-first, who will finance the boy's education in Wayland college at Plainview as a memorial to their son, Edwin.

The boy, Mario Veneziano, was reunited in Beaumont a few days ago with his sister, Anna Veneziano, a student in the East Texas Baptist college at Marshall.

Became Pen Pals

Edwin Johnson was killed in an automobile accident in June of 1946. If he were still alive, he would be the same age as Mario.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson learned of Mario's desire to attend college from a long-time friend, Rev. J. M. Sibley, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church at Beaumont, who is sponsoring Anna's studies.

Anna came to America in 1947 to study as a Baptist missionary. She has spoken in various churches, collecting enough money to make her younger brother's trip to Texas possible, according to information from Beaumont. She became acquainted with the Sibleys over four years ago, when her family received relief packages from the Rev. Mr. Sibley. She and Annita Sibley, daughter of the pastor, became "pen pals."

The father of the boy and girl from Rome is the Baptist pastor at the Via Urbana church and also is superintendent of the G. B. Taylor Memorial orphanage in Rome. Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of Lubbock First Baptist church, and Mrs. Grant have visited Rev. Mr. Veneziano in Rome.

Mario Veneziano plans to arrive in Lubbock Jan. 25 or 26 for a visit. He will be taken to Plainview by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and will enroll in Wayland college. He has attended a college in Rome about a year.

England is believed to hold the world's non-stop railroad run record, London to Edinburgh, 401 miles in a little over six hours, and the locomotive speed record of 126 miles an hour.

'ATOM PILL' DEATH

Italians Take No Chance On Report

VENICE, Jan. 12. (INS) — Skeptical but jittery Italian officials buried a losing roulette gambler without an autopsy in Venice today when his woman companion asserted he had swallowed an "explosive atom pill."

The death of Edward Selzer, described as an "Austrian engineer, man of the world, and dabbler in atomic inventions," was listed as a suicide.

Police found his body in the Hotel Luna after he had suffered heavy losses in the gambling casino, but they abandoned the customary post-mortem when confronted with a story told by an hysterical woman, Elsa Bassi.

The 45-year-old woman who said she was the estranged wife of a "New York millionaire" claimed that "an atomic pill taken by Selzer will blow up the hospital if an autopsy is performed."

She claimed she and Selzer had been "making revolutionary discoveries in atomic energy" and that Selzer "tried at the casino to obtain funds to exploit an invention."

U. S. OFFICIALS SKEPTICAL OF ATOMIC PILL REPORT

(Dr. J. A. Hipple, one of America's top nuclear physicists, said in Washington "I just don't believe it. The 'atomic pill' story is strictly out of this world."

(Hipple said the unhappy Austrian might have swallowed radium.

(A spokesman for the Atomic Energy commission in Chicago also commented: "A peculiar set of circumstances is involved in atomic explosions which makes the idea of a pill containing that peril absurd.")

WORK'S DONE FASTER Electrically

ON THE FARM and on the ranch work is done faster when electric service is effectively used.
Today more farms and ranches have electricity than ever before, and those who already have dependable electric service are finding more uses for it than ever before.
These progressive men are finding that electric lighting in the work areas, electric refrigeration, electric power tools for repairs and maintenance, electric milkers, brooders, incubators, choppers, and loaders all mean that more work can be done in a shorter period of time ... at less cost.
When the time saved is compared with the low operating cost of modern electrical farm and ranch aids, the answer is obvious. That's why so many are using so much electric service. Check with your nearest county agent, REA or Public Service representative to see where electricity can help you.

ADDITIONAL QUESTIONING SET

One Suspect Freed, Second Man Held In 'Black Dahlia' Probe

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12. (INS)—Police virtually eliminated Leslie Dillon, 27-year-old ex-bellhop, as a suspect in the "Black Dahlia" murder today and began questioning a Hollywood writer who had supplied them with "information" about the fiendishly slain 22-year-old beauty.

Dillon was released for lack of evidence, authorities said.

Until the arrest today in Gilroy, Cal., of Jeff Connors, also known as Arthur Lane, red-haired writer, Dillon was rated the police department's "hottest suspect" in the two-year-old mutilation killing.

Connors was arrested upon information supplied police by Dillon at the end of 30 hours of grilling.

Had Known Victim

Police at first were skeptical of Dillon's story, but they launched a manhunt for the red-haired writer.

Connors, 40, admitted to authorities that he had known the "Black Dahlia"—Elizabeth Short's nickname because of her penchant for shiny black clothing — and that he had given information to police on the night of her murder, Jan. 15, 1947.

He said that he was with his wife — Vicki Evans (not to be confused with the dancer involved with actor Robert Mitchum on dope charges) at a bar on the night of Jan. 15.

Elizabeth Short also was present, Connors said, and the 22-year-old beauty whose savagely tortured and bisected body was to be found strewn in a vacant lot hours later was pointed out to him.

He said that as soon as he read about the murder, he gave authorities what information he had.

To Face Further Questions

Connors insisted:

"I can prove exactly where I was at the time of the Dahlia murder.

"I am absolutely innocent."

Connors was to be brought to Los Angeles tomorrow to face intentive questioning into the baffling murder case which has seen more than 100 suspects investigated.

Dillon was arrested last Monday after a secret investigation of six weeks in which it was found that the Santa Monica bellboy knew as much about details of the killing as police did.

The thin youth also displayed an abnormal interest in sadism and psychiatry, police said.

Dillon commanded official attention when he approached police psychiatrists some weeks ago and suggested that they collaborate on a book of sadism and sex offenses.

The suspect was held incommunicado, manacled throughout the day and night and with five guards about him at all times.

Texan Files $1,200,000 Damage Suit Against Radio Network

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—The National Broadcasting Co., and three other defendants were named today in a damage suit seeking $1,200,000.

The suit was filed in U. S. district court in behalf of William Elga Ballard of Palo Pinto county, Texas.

Other defendants, besides NBC, were listed as Russell M. Seeds, Inc., a New York City commercial agency; Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp., and Raleigh Cigarettes.

Ballard asserts in his petition that he is the author and sole owner of a copyrighted matter known as "the lucky interview introducing secrets of the little black box." The idea was copyrighted and recorded Feb. 12, 1948, according to the petition.

Ballard also claims the scheme was used last September and October on the radio program "People Are Funny" without his knowledge or consent.

He further asserts in the petition that he was "closing a deal" with a Texas businessman to sell exclusive rights to his copyrighted material in Texas for a license fee of $25,000, and the deal was not consummated after the "People Are Funny" broadcast.

Damage claim in the suit is based on the contention that the plaintiff suffered loss of $25,000 in each of the 48 states as a result of alleged infringement and piracy of copyrighted material.

Arguments Given On Oil Shutdown

AUSTIN, Jan. 12. (AP)—The Supreme court today heard arguments on the constitutionality of a direct appeal of a trial court injunction preventing shutdown of the Heyser Oil field.

Operators of the Victoria and Calhoun counties field obtained the injunction after the Railroad commission, alleging waste of 21,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily, ordered the shutdown until conservation measures were taken.

Attorney General Price Daniels and Assistants Fagan Dickson, Joe Greenhill and Elton Hyder asked the Supreme court to reverse the lower court's decision and permit immediate application of the commissioner's order.

Operators Ask Dismissal

Attorneys for the field's operators called for dismissal of the appeal, contending direct appeals are limited to constitutional matters.

Representing the operators were Judge Ireland Graves, Austin, and Nelson Jones, Houston. Ottis Johnson, Fort Worth, spoke on behalf of operators of a half dozen other fields involved in similar shutdown orders.

Greenhill contended the lack of jurisdiction claim of the opposition is based only on extracts of a constitutional amendment printed on the general election ballot of Nov. 5, 1940, but that the constitution also permits direct appeal of matters involving administrative orders of state agencies.

Graves countered with the argument the printed ballot is the best evidence of the intention of the legislature which submitted the constitutional amendment to the people.

Numerous Hearings Noted

Daniels said Heyser field has had more gas flaring hearings than any other field and cited hearings dating back to 1945.

Jones maintained only one of the hearings cited was a show cause hearing preliminary to a shutdown order and that the operators were not permitted sufficient time to install its conservation facilities prior to the effective date of the shutdown.

The attorney general said Tennessee Gas Transmission company has been willing since 1944 to market residue gas from the field but that the operators contend installation of facilities will not be completed until next April.

"I don't know how there could be a case that shows any more negligence and indifference on the part of oil operators than the Heyser case," he said.

He said the amount of gas that will be wasted by April is equivalent in heat content to 500,000 barrels of oil.

"The operators say the order is unreasonable but that they can be ready by April," he said. "If that is so then we are turning our statutes over to the oil companies for compliance at their convenience.

"If this court reverses the lower court, the order will be complied with before April."

Thirty-five million Americans have no access to public libraries.

Willie Howard, Comedian, Claimed

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (INS)—Famed Comedian Willie Howard died today at New York's polyclinic hospital following a long illness.

His body was removed to a New York undertaker's establishment pending funeral arrangements.

Howard, who was 63, had been hospitalized for a month.

His wife, the former Emily Miles, whom he met when they both appeared in "The Passing Show Of 1918," died in Oct. 1947. They had been married 24 years.

The comedian had just completed a tour with a new revue which was scheduled for a Broadway opening when he was stricken in Philadelphia.

Group Urges Counties To Back Move For Surfaced Rural Roads

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—Texas counties were urged today to join an organization which plans to take up where the state highway department five-year farm-to-market road program ends.

The organization is the Texas Rural Roads assn., which is sponsoring construction of rural roads.

Gilbert Smith, executive director of the association, said the state highway program plans in five years to have "95 per cent of the people in Texas living within a mile of a hard surface road."

But the rural roads organization is interested in that one mile, Smith said. "We plan to make that one mile a hard surface road."

The TRRA was organized by 30 organizations in Texas interested in rural people, and it plans to foster legislation and promote education on rural needs, Smith said.

YOU CAN ENJOY GOOD HEALTH
STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.
Drugless Health!
REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.
FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.
Amazing Results
MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.
RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.
Wonder Minerals
YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.
GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.
Read What They Say!

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."
100% Guaranteed!
WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.
REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!
TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

SOMETHING warm, something delicious and something easy to prepare these nights when the family comes in complaining of the return of the glacial ice cap might be barbecued hamburger sandwiches. Too, they won't be a drain on the grocery budget.

Here's how:

Two cups (1 pound) hamburger, one-fourth cup finely chopped onion, one-half cup chopped celery, one teaspoon salt, one cut chili sauce, six hamburger buns.

Combine hamburger, onion and celery. Brown in a hot skillet. Add salt and chili sauce and simmer for thirty minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut buns in half and spread barbecued hamburger on bottom half of each and cover with bun top.

This will yield six sandwiches.

GEMS OF WISDOM

FITTING words as we still are getting the year underway are these by John Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Federal Investigation Washington, D. C.:

"There can be no strong moral fiber in the nation unless man minds himself to God. He does this through religion.

"Our nation is sadly in need of a rebirth of the simple life . . . a return to the days when God was a part of each household, families arose in the morning with a prayer on their lips and ended the day by placing themselves in his care. We should revive the beautiful practice of offering thanksgiving at meals, and bring back to the family circle the moments when father or mother unfolded the the beautiful lessons of the Bible to eager young listeners.

"The foundation of our democracy was built upon a firm faith in the Almighty. Our generation, it seems, has allowed old, faithful religious practices to slip into oblivion. As a result, the nation has suffered and its children have become spiritually starved.

"We should return to the faith of our fathers and reap once more the harvest of God's blessings."

NAMING STREETS

THE proposed re-naming and naming of Lubbock streets has prompted Mrs. J. A. Laney to come up with a suggestion. "Why couldn't they be named as a memorial to Lubbock men who lost their lives in World War II?" she asks.

"Naming the streets after flowers or trees is a beautiful thought," she admits, "and they live, scatter beauty and die for us. But the young men had souls and beauty and they gave their lives for their country."

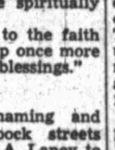

Whether or not the thought will be considered is problematical, but the writer wishes some gesture could be made in memory of those men. We would like to think their loved ones could be made to realize that they do not mourn for them alone; that we, too, remember and are grateful for their sacrifices.

Bad Weather Is Cause Of Changes In Club Meetings

As bad weather continues, other meetings scheduled for this week are being postponed or cancelled.

Lubbock Music club's meeting for Friday night has been postponed until Friday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. James Atcheson at 3203 Twenty-sixth.

The monthly luncheon to be held today by First Baptist Gleaners class has been cancelled.

George R. Bean Parent-Teacher association changed its meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon to next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock at the school. The J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school P-TA has called off its meeting for this afternoon. A meeting of McWhorter P-TA for today has been called off, also. East Broadway P-TA postponed its meeting until Thursday, Jan. 27, at 3:25 p.m. at the school. No date has been set for a meeting of Special school P-TA which was to have been held this afternoon.

Program Re-Scheduled

The program planned for Allegro Music club yesterday afternoon will be given next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Arthur Gamble at 2402 Twentieth. AAUW Child Study unit 4 postponed its Wednesday meeting until Friday at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Blakey, 2521 Twenty-fifth.

Monday night, Jan. 17, at 7:30 p.m. at K-P hall Pythian Sister Temple will have the regular meeting which was originally set for tonight. A meeting of 1936 Forty-Two club which was called off Wednesday will be held Jan. 26 at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Margueret Rampy at 820 Ave. K.

Sew-on-Wednesday club changed its meeting to next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Elmer East at 1901 Twenty-fifth. Fit and Fashion club will have a meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. W. Matthews at 2011 Seventeenth. Mrs. N. H. Heath, 802 Ave. S, is to be hostess to 1940 Needle club next Wednesday at 3 p.m. The Wednesday meeting of 1916 Needle club has been postponed indefinitely. Colonial Needle club is to meet with Mrs. C. D. Puckett at 2721 Walnut next Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Luncheon Is Given Wednesday In Home Of Mrs. John Box

Friendly Nine Needle club had a luncheon in the home of Mrs. John Box at 2509 Twenty-ninth Wednesday.

Present were Mesdames R. W. Breedlove, L. E. Heim, Audis Moore and E. C. Caviness. Guests were Misses Marion and Karion Heim.

The club planned a coffee to be given Jan. 26 at 9:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Breedlove, Slaton highway.

Spring Whirl

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Here's plenty of proof that the full-skirted dress will continue to spread its charms through 1949. The whirling skirt of the "diabolo" evening dress, left, is named for the children's game played with sticks, spool and string. White eyeleted Swiss organdy, embroidered with rhinestones, makes a creation which is probably the "dream dress" of Maurice Rentner's collection. The skirt owes its incredible mobility to multiple gores of alternating straightness and fulness which would serve as a geometric study in circles and elipses.

The full-skirted print dress, right, which is a Rbaix-designed silk that plays a pink Chinese mosaic against one of plum-purple, is an example of the Empire influence on spring fashions. Designer Martini manipulates the fabric's block-print motifs to fashion a corseleted band from which stems a full skirt and a high-busted Empire-styled bodice.

Today's Town Talk

WEIGHTED down by the ice of the current visitation of icicle-bearded Old Man Winter, Lubbock's social pendulum has slowed almost to the stopping point, and most of the city's social butterflies have hibernated into the realm of perfumed note paper to relay the recent talk of the town to friends in various parts of the state and nation. Other resourceful housewives have turned the dull weather days into workshop hours devoted to enjoying their favorite pastimes.

Mrs. Ed Tonn, 2206 Broadway, is writing letters and catching up on all of the correspondence she neglected to take care of before and after the holidays. She says she neither knows how cold or how icy it is outside because, "I'm afraid to set my foot out-of-doors."

The pleasant Lubbockite returned Monday from Port Arthur, where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walter Denton, and reports that "it may be raining there, but it's also a lot warmer."

Mrs. Tonn is the aunt of Mrs. Bill Honey.

Mrs. Oscar Pollard, 2123 Twenty-fifth, who emphatically states that she intends to "stay in as long as it's like this," is filling her days with housekeeping tasks and crocheting for entertainment.

Forgetting the current cold wave in a make-believe world of southern sunshine is Mrs. W. M. Peticolas, 2411 Twenty-first, who is painting a duo of magnolias in pastels.

The finished picture will be a wedding gift for Benny Barry Rhodes and Esther Tell, both of Phoenix, Ariz. The bridegroom to-be is a graduate of Lubbock High school and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rhodes, former residents of this city.

As she sits by the fire to keep warm, Mrs. Johnny H. Ferguson, 2518 Thirty-second, has been making baby blankets as a gift for an Amarillo friend. Since her husband wasn't working because of the bad weather, he braved the elements and went on a quail hunting expedition early this week.

Tuesday night the Fergusons joined Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Decker in their home at 2218 Twenty-second and had a foursome for some fast games of rummy.

Mrs. Cleo C. Holt, 1314 Thirty-second, hasn't let the cold weather make her stay inside all day. She has set a good example for her neighbors by cleaning off her glazed walks and shaking the ice from her trees and shrubs to keep them from being split or broken by the weight of their wintry load.

In spite of the weather, Mrs. John Leslie Spikes, the former Miss Alura McManus, was honored by Mesdames A. S. Meinecke, Steve Meinecke and Mrs. Frank Campbell at a luncheon Tuesday at the Aztec Inn.

Silver wedding bells tied with blue satin bows were arranged on the table which was laid with a white cloth.

On the list were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. W. C. McManus, and Mesdames Fred Sims, Walter Smith, Stanton Rhea, John Spikes, Roy Furr, Dewey George, D. O. Wiley, Ted Whitehead, Billy Spikes, D. C. Kennedy, G. R. Kennedy, M. L. Shepherd, Murray Owen, Bob Williamson, John Fullingim of Petersburg, and Misses Ann Owen, Nelda Chapman, Betty Vaughn and Joyce Stanley.

ON TRIP

Mrs. Russell Hardin and her son Al of 2417 Twenty-ninth and her mother, Mrs. Lorena Wilson, are spending two weeks in Galveston and Corpus Christi.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Margaret Hartsfield, who is to marry Norman Hicks Saturday, was named honoree at a tea and miscellaneous shower given Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. E. Griggs, Rushland park. Mrs. Jack Ray was assistant hostess.

The tea table was centered with an arrangement of azaleas against a background of candlegrounds.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs J. R. Hartsfield, and Mrs. E. L. Hicks, mother of the prospective bridegroom, were in the receiving line.

The hostess gift was a place service in the bride-elect's chosen china pattern.

Mrs. Bill Sikes, jr., presided at the register.

A personal tribute and toast to Miss Hartsfield were given by Mrs. C. C. Chambers.

Twenty-six guests called and an equal number sent gifts.

Shower Is Courtesy

Mrs. Jimmie Garrett, bride, was honored at a shower given in the home of Mrs. Carl Owens, 2308 Eighteenth, Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. B. J. Henry as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Henry greeted guests and presented them to the honoree and to her mother-in-law, Mrs. L. L. Garrett.

Mrs. Clyde Owens presided at the refreshment table which was covered with a lace cloth and centered with two silver wedding bells from which extended net and ribon streamers in blue and pink.

Mrs. Carl Owens was at the bride's book.

Wildcat Well In Andrews County Taking Test; Slight Showing Seen; Gaines Test Hits Water

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2-11 University, slated 10,000-foot wildcat to explore the Devonian in north central Andrews County, was taking a drillstem test in a lower Permian formation at 8,090-8,135 feet.

That interval had shown some porosity and some oil stain. Informed observers think that the zone being investigated is above the Wolfcamp.

The prospector is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 11, block 13, University survey, and in the undeveloped area between the Fullerton and the Shafter Lake fields.

Test Is Pushed

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1-F University, Ellenburger wildcat on the north side of the Shafter Lake field, in north central Andrews County, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 13, block 13, University survey, topped the Ellenburger at 11,580 feet, on an elevation of 3,259 feet.

According to some geologists that makes it 153 feet high on the top of the Ellenburger to the Sinclair Prairie Oil Company, Skelly Oil Company and Cities Service Oil Company No. 2-154 University, discovery for flowing production from the Ellenburger in the Shafter Lake field.

The Texas Pacific project is one half-mile north and one quarter of a mile west of the Sinclair et al discovery.

Gaines Test Hits Water

The Texas Pacific No. 1-F University has drilled to 11,595 feet, and is to cement a string of 7-inch casing on bottom before drilling deeper into the deep section.

This venture has already shown for production from several of the upper beds.

Shell Oil company, Inc., struck the big water in the Ellenburger with its No. 1 Hawkins, et al, South-Central Gaines county discovery from the Clear Fork-Permian, Devonian and from the Ellenburger.

The venture drillstem tested in the deep zone at 12,263-12,306 feet, with the tool open 73 minutes. A weak blow held at the surface most of the period.

Recovery was 3,510 feet of black brackish sulphur water. It is now shutdown for orders on 12,306 feet.

The prospect is expected to plug back and complete from the top of the Ellenburger, where it flowed oil on a drillstem test at a lesser depth, and open a new field for that area.

This development is about two and one-half miles southwest of the Robertson field and 1,983 feet from north, 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey.

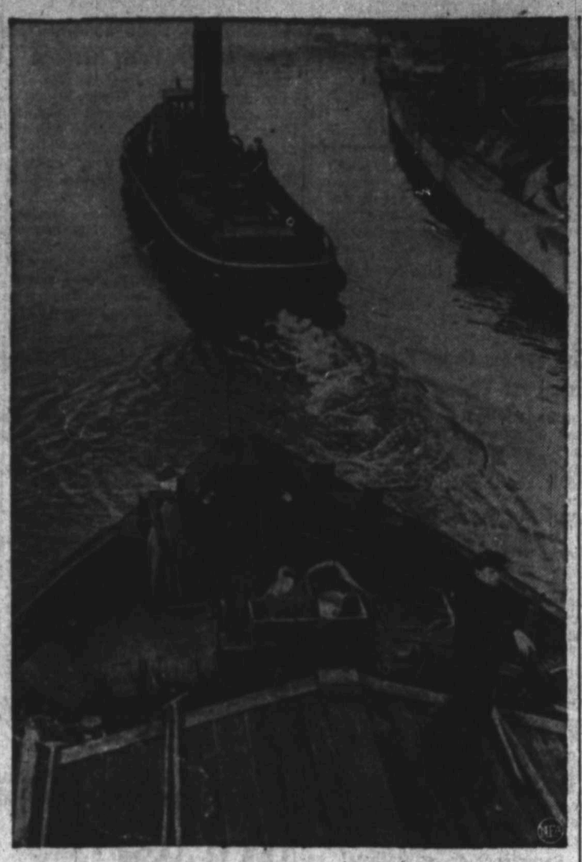

Short Story Writer Speaks To Small Group At Tech

Comparing the average man who complains of our income tax set-up to a drunk man crying over prohibition, Willian Hazlett Upson, the short story writer, told several somewhat amusing tales of how various people had managed to get rich in spite of the tax when he spoke to approximately 80 people Wednesday night in the Recreation Hall at Texas Tech.

Working from Franklin Roosevelt's statement on Oct. 28, 1942 to the effect that "No American citizen should make more than a net income of $25,000," he said he was told in Dallas that the oil men there weren't getting rich according to their reports on March 15, because of the depletion of the supply of oil under their many wells. In fact, he said, they were probably losing money, and the flow of money in the town was only false prosperity.

From the little man's standpoint, he cited the case of an employe who thought he was making money off the whole situation. As the story was told to Mr. Upson, the man considered important only what he took home on payday and that what his employer payed the government was no concern of his. At the end of the year when his tax refund came around, he thought the government had been taking money away from his employer and giving part of it to him.

Upson spoke under the auspices of the Tech Recreation Hall program.

SOVIET SOLDIERS BARGE IN—Despite the blockade of the Western Zone of Berlin, Russian-zone freight still moves through Western Berlin canals, technically under Soviet control. Fire Causes $250,000 Loss Near Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—Estimated damage of $250,000 to $300,000 was caused by an early morning fire that nearly destroyed a two-story barracks building at the Texas National Guard's Eagle Mountain lake base.

Col. Fay Smith, instructor, said the blaze apparently was caused by defective wiring. He said a board has been named to make an investigation.

Chief loss, besides the building was supplies and equipment, Colonel Smith said.

COLLEGE GETS PROPERTY

MARSHALL, Jan. 12. (AP)—Mrs. I. P. Windle, life-long Baptist church worker, has given East Texas Baptist college of Marshall several pieces of property valued at $40,000. The property includes three brick residences and three vacant lots at Henderson, Texas, and 256 acres of timberland in Rusk county.

Former Tulsa Man Joins Staff Of Independent Midland Oil Firm

MIDLAND, Jan. 12. (Special) — L. F. Peterson, formerly assistant chief production engineer with Stanolind Oil & Gas Company at Tulsa, has joined the firm of Henderson & McMillan, independent oil operators and producers, of Midland.

Name of the firm will be changed to Henderson, McMillian & Peterson and offices will be maintained in the First National Bank Building.

Peterson was employed by Stanolind for 13 years and worked in the Permian Basin with that company from 1936 to 1941. He has had experience in all of the oil fields in Ector county, and in the Slaughter, Cedar Lake, Yates and McCamey areas.

In 1941, he went to Tulsa as a petroleum engineer in the Stanolind headquarters. From there he was transferred to Fort Worth in 1943 as division engineer. Early in 1947 he moved back to Tulsa and assumed his duties as assistant chief production engineer.

Peterson is a graduate in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M College.

Meat Connoisseur Uses Butter Knife For Test In Vain Hunt For The 'Perfect' Steak

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — For years, Maurice Dreicer has been prowling around the world with a butter knife—looking for the perfect steak.

He's never found one.

Not even in steak-conscious Washington today—although he sure tried.

Maurice, smart in a gray suit with tie to match, took me to a swanky place. He had all his gear with him, including the solid sterling silver butter knife with which he carves a tender steak when he finds one. Plus a thermometer he sticks in the meat to see if it's 120 degrees F. warm like he says it ought to be. And a powerful magnifying glass, through which he looks to see if the steak has too much fatty tissue.

Insists On Gloves

After we had checked our hornburgs, Maurice, who was here for a broadcast, handed the waiter a pair of gloves.

"Wear these, my good man," said he. "We don't want any germs on our meat."

Before we sat down to cocktails, Maurice explained that he became interested in foods at the age of nine when his rich uncle took him out to lunch. The waiter shoved a menu in front of him and he couldn't read the French and Italian. He said he would have "some kind of boiled egg." The waiter said "what, young man?" and, well, that's how he started.

Anyhow, he has eaten steaks in more than 1,000 restaurants around the world. Never found the perfect one.

The waiter finally showed up in tux and black tie.

"Do you happen to have a 14-ounce sirloin from a steer about four years old?" Maurice said, brushing his black mustache with his napkin.

The man disappeared and came back half an hour later.

"No," he said.

"That's what I mean," said Maurice, waving the man away.

Maurice Gives Procedure

"What you need is a hunk of steak about 14 ounces. A sirloin. Sprinkle it lightly with salt. Then chuck it in the broiler flame for a quick sear. Then drop it down for a slow broil. Raise it directly to the flame and sear quickly. Then broil slowly to order—like rare, medium or well-done."

Dreicer said he personally likes to "have the blood run under his knife."

Realizing we could not have the kind of steak he wanted, Maurice said by golly we'd have a good cocktail. We did. He ordered a plate of shrimp, and dressed it up with his own sauce. He took a quarter of a lemon and squeezed it out in a little dish and added a teaspoon of French mustard. To this he added a pinch of English mustard and a teaspoon of catsup.

Then, whipping a tiny grinder from his pocket, he churned up some black pepper. He mixed it with a spoon and poured it over our shrimp.

Good.

"And," he warned, wagging a finger, "with a good steak eat only a sliced tomato. You don't need any more vegetable."

We finally wound up having breaded pork chops—with potatoes.

AFL Protests 'One Package' Bill For Taft-Hartley Law Repeal

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — The American Federation of Labor carried directly to Congress today a vigorous protest against "one package" labor legislation sought by administration leaders in the House.

A three-man AFL delegation conferred for an hour and a half with the chairmen of the Senate and House Labor committees — Sen. Thomas (D-Utah) and Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich.)

At the same time, high administration sources said that President Truman's position had been misinterpreted by those who reported that he favored a "one package" bill to wipe the Taft-Hartley law off the books.

Lesinski and Senate Democratic Leader-elect Lucas, Ill., had so reported after seperate White House conferences.

Truman Keeps Hands Off

A top official said that the President did not want to dictate Congressional procedure and simply said that whatever course Congress decided upon was all right with him.

A "one package" bill would repeal Taft-Hartley and re-enact the Wagner law with amendments in one legislative action. Labor feels its bargaining power will be clipped if the amendments are written while Taft-Hartley still is a statute pending passage of the new bill.

The AFL group, which seeks outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and re-enactment of the Wagner act with amendments later, insisted that there is no rift between the President and labor over the legislation. The CIO also favors Taft-Hartley repeal before writing new amendments.

Union Spokesman Gives View

Spokesman for the AFL delegation to Congress was Lewis Hines, the union's legislative representative. Hines told reporters:

"We are in no position to change or compromise the policies of the AFL convention. We want a two-package bill—repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and re-enactment of the Wagner act in one step, and consideration later of amendments to the Wagner act.

"Labor would be bargaining at a disadvantage on new amendments if the Taft-Hartley act is still on the books."

Lesinski asserted that he still favors the "one package" approach despite the AFL protest.

The midwesterner modified his stand, however, to suggest that immediate amendments to the Wagner act be limited to the President's suggestions. Lesinski said:

Quick Action Important

"If the amendments can be worked out immediately that will be fine. If not, we'll go through with two packages—we'll go along with repeal and re-enactment and work out amendments later."

"If it takes too long to work out amendments, we don't want to interfere with labor's coming contracts. The important thing is to repeal the Taft-Hartley law."

The AFL spokesman, insisting that there is no friction between Mr. Truman and labor, said:

"We are just trying to arrive at a simple, honest solution of our problems."

Thomas has introduced a bill for outright Taft-Hartley repeal, but has announced that he has no objection to the "one package" bill.

Rotary Club Hears Talks On Committees At Weekly Meeting

Talks on the functions of classification and membership committees featured the luncheon session of the Rotary club Wednesday at the Hilton hotel.

Hubert L. Allen and J. Ben Cole, both past presidents of the club, spoke respectively on classification and membership, setting out procedure for acceptance of new members.

Two new members were introduced. They were Bill Saffarrans, retired Army colonel, now division manager of the Texas Manufacturers association; and Charles Becker, district manager of Sheffield Steel corporation. Visiting Rotarians included Miner R. Tillotson of Santa Fe, N. M., Ed Hearn of Little Rock, and Trent C. Root, former Rotary member here, now living in Dallas.

Club President Irving L. Jones announced that Stanolind Oil and Gas company is to hold open house at the new office building on Nineteenth next Monday. Invocation was by Rev. Wm. F. Blakeslee.

TO ATTEND INAUGURATION

AUSTIN, Jan. 12. (AP) — Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas will be the official representative of the Texas House of Representatives at the inauguration of President Truman in Washington Jan. 20. Reed was appointed today after the House adopted a resolution sponsored by George O. Nokes, Jr., of Corsicana to send a representative.

Women May Enlist In Marine Corps

Women now are being accepted for enlistment in the U. S. Marine corps, M-Sgt. M. L. Ailes, noncommissioned officer in charge of the Marine recruiting office in the federal building, said Wednesday.

To qualify for enlistment, women must be between 20 and 31 years of age, inclusive, or have parents' consent if under 21; must be single, have no dependents and have no children under age of 18; be a high school graduate, and be a citizen of the United States by birth or naturalization. The fact that a child may be in legal custody of some other person or persons does not alter the requirement that a woman enlistee have no children under 18.

Women accepted will receive recruit training at the Marine corps recruit depot at Parris Island, S. C.

Approximately 90 per cent of the billets to be filled by women are east of the Mississippi and only about 10 per cent of those billets are outside the Washington area, Ailes stated. Promotion requirements are the same as for men. Further details may be received at the Marine recruiting office, room 200 of the postoffice building, or by telephoning 2-8181.

Merchant Seaman Dies In Fall From Hotel In Galveston

GALVESTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A 47-year-old merchant seaman died today in a five-story fall from a downtown hotel.

He was identified as Berrien Kennard Upshaw of Raleigh, N.C. Apparently no one saw the plunge, and Upshaw's body was found at 6:30 a.m. by a pedestrain.

Justice of the Peace James L. McKenna said the man took his own life.

Water Pipes Didn't Freeze--But The Supply Went Dry

MONROE, Ore., Jan. 12. (AP) —Monroe residents, whose water pipes kept freezing, decided last night to stop the trouble by letting the faucets run all night.

None of the pipes froze. But so many faucets were left open that the municipal water reservoir ran dry.

Civil Service Opens Non-Written Exams For Various Positions

The Civil Service commission has announced examinateins for cartographic survey aid, highway engineer, highway bridge engineer, and bacteriologist antibiotics), with no written tests required in any of them.

Cartographic survey aid positions, with the Coast and Geodetic survey, pay $2,152 to $3,727 a year. Jobs are located throughout the nation, mostly with mobile field units that require frequent changes of headquarters.

Highway engineer and highway bridge engineer posts pay $3,727 to $5,232 a year. They are with the Public Roads administration and other federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and throughout the nation. A few are outside the U. S.

Bacteriologist posts are with the Food and Drug administration in Washington, D. C., paying from $3,727 to $7,432 a year.

Experience or educational requirements are set up in each case. Information and blanks are available at the office of Elmer Potts, local secretary, Room 217, Postoffice building here, or from regional offices of the commission.

Keenan Wynn, Bride Honeymoon in Mexico After Proxy Marriage

TIJUANA, Mex., Jan. 12. (AP) — Film Actor Keenan Wynn honeymooned in an undisclosed hideout today with a blonde model whom he married here by proxy.

The 32-year-old son of comedian Ed Wynn slipped into a little marriage agency at 7:30 a. m. yesterday with 25-year-old Betty Jane Butler, daughter of a former St. Louis, Mo., judge.

Wynn's former wife Evie divorced him in Mexico two years ago and four hours later married his best friend, actor Van Johnson.

The Wynns will not be married officially until their proxy marriage certificate is validated in the state of Morelos and returned, probably within two weeks, according to a law applying to nonresidents. They had romanced quietly in Hollywood for six months.

TO VISIT PORT ARTHUR

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12. (AP)—The Eighth Naval district announced today that the British sloop HMS Bigbury Bay would visit Port Arthur, Texas, Baton Rouge and New Orleans during February and March. The 2400-ton war vessel is expected to dock at Port Arthur February 9 and remain there until Feb. 15. The Navy announcement said that arrangements for the visit to the Texas city are being handled by the British consul general in Houston.

Appointment Of Two To Jobs With Hughes Tool Co. Announced

MIDLAND, Jan. 12. (Special)—Appointment of two men to executive positions in the Midland office of Hughes Tool Company has been announced by R. E. Kimsey, regional manager.

Max B. Campbell has been named sales manager of the division which covers West Texas, New Mexico, North Texas, the Texas Panhandle and West-Central Texas. W. C. McMahon has been appointed office manager in the regional headquarters.

Campbell has had previous assignments with Hughes sales department in the Permian Basin and Dallas. He succeeds the late Larry S. Rupel as division sales manager in Midland.

McMahon came from Hughes offices in Houston, where he was assistant office manager in the general sales department.

Hughes regional headquarters in Midland covers two divisions, West Texas-New Mexico and the Pacific coast. Kimsey is in charge of both divisions.

Amarillo Invades Lubbock For Jaycee Fight Show Tonight

Weather Fails To Halt Program

Winter's icy grip could not stop the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce boxing show scheduled for tonight at Sled Allen's arena, with a 12-bout inter-city card set to be staged before what is hoped will be a capacity crowd.

Amarillo promoters assured Lubbock yesterday that they would have their 10-man team here for the fights and the Jaycees opened ticket sales on schedule.

But tickets were not moving rapidly yesterday, Lubbock fight fans apparently dubious that the card would be held in view of the bad conditions. Tickets remain on sale all day at Wylie's Drug store, with ringsides going for $1.50, reserved seats at $1.25 and general admission selling at 85 cents. All tickets include tax.

There also will be a sale of tickets at the door tonight and good seats will be available.

Exhibitions Are Slated

Lubbock and Amarillo will meet in 10 bouts, with two three-round exhibition bouts staged by Lubbock fighters. In addition, a pair of twins will spar for the entertainment of the crowd. Ronald and Donald Key, who have been getting boxing instruction, have been secured to entertain the crowd.

The bouts themselves will bring some of the best amateur talent in Amarillo and Lubbock to the local ring. Two champions, one of them a state Golden Gloves titleholder, spearhead the invading forces. Leon Palacio won the bantamweight crown in Fort Worth last year and Alex Perez made a good showing in the middleweight division. This year Perez is fighting as a light heavy.

Sammy Sims, a polished lightweight, was a leading contender for honors last year and is much improved this season. He will tangle with Lester York in what should prove to be one of the best bouts on the card.

Fry, Kemp To Tangle

Crowd pleasers at last year's Golden Gloves in Lubbock, who will be seen in action tonight, include Middleweight Jack Wilborn, who meets the tough James Wortham of Amarillo, Dan Williams, a light heavy, who faces Robert Blessin, and David Fawcett, a lightweight, who takes on Monte Scott.

Exhibition bouts have been arranged between Travis Fry and Phillip Kemp, both lightweights of Lubbock, and Don Williams and Charles Johnson, the latter from Clarendon, in a heavyweight go.

Williams is the leading heavyweight in Lubbock at present, but should have his hands full with Johnson, who last year beat the clever Amarillo light heavy, Clifford Bradley, in a New Mexico tournament.

The complete card follows:

110-pounds, Jerry Martin, Lubbock, vs. Glen Duckworth, Amarillo, 118-pounds, Eddie Goetze, Lubbock, vs. Willie McCreary, Amarillo, and Jim Williams, Lubbock, vs. Leon Palacio, Amarillo, 127-pounds, Pat McCarty, Lubbock, vs. Buster Holman, Amarillo, 136-pounds, David Fawcett, Lubbock, vs. Monte Scott, Amarillo, and Lester York, Lubbock, vs. Sammy Sims, Amarillo, 156-pounds, Jack Wilborn, Lubbock, vs. James Wortham, Amarillo, and James Bickel, Lubbock, vs. Doc Williams, Amarillo, 175-pounds, Dan Williams, Lubbock, vs. Robert Blessin, Amarillo, and Jimmy Martin, Lubbock, vs. Alex Perez, Amarillo. Exhibition bouts, Travis Fry and Phillip Kemp, 126-pounds, and Don Williams and Charles Johnson, heavyweights. Referee, O. J. "Bo" Sexton.

AAC Will Not Have Club In New York Area

Peace May Come To Pro Loops But Yankees Won't Be Playing

By DAVIS J. WALSH
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.— Those were ringing words Dan Topping vouchsafed, with his utterly fearless announcement that he'd even become a landlord at the Yankee stadium next fall to bring peace to pro football.

But, take it today from sources that happen to be knowledgeable and strictly feed-box, co-owner Topping either will become a football landlord, forthwith —or the most surprised man in America will be co-owner Del Webb. Likewise, the most irate.

Anyhow, the top-confidential word from this side of the bridge is that Topping is particularly without alternative. That Webb has issued the decree, and Topping is required to truckle, with this alleged result:

Whether pro football has peace or not this year, the New York Yankees—as such—won't be playing it.

Neither, as they say, will the Brooklyn Dodgers.

AAC Flourishing Loop

Apart from that, the All-America Conference would seem to be in a very flourishing state. It'll apparently have just about everything next season except a club within 150 miles of New York.

This, if true, would virtually cut the conference off at the pants-legs.

In a case like that, oblivion would be just around the corner.

According to National football leaguers, that corner will be turned at the proposed inter-league conclave in Chicago next week. This won't be a "peace" conference, they insist; it'll be more like an interment.

Incidentally, there was the tone of an autopsy about in announcement today "peace survey" meetings, hastily arranged last night for the Messrs. Topping, Ted Collins, of the Boston Yankees, Jack Mara, pro football Giants; and arbiter Horace Stoneham, of the Polo Grounds set.

The announcement said that rental terms between Collins and the Yankees had been effected, pending Chicago developments.

It was further stated that Collins and Mara had worked out an "equitable" 1949 schedule for New York's planned re-arrangement.

Specifically, the supposed inquest was expected to conclude its deliberations at Chicago with these findings:

Topping, Webb Out

Topping and Webb out of football at the Yankee stadium, save on rental basis. Collins "in" with his Boston (NFL) Yankees.

Ben Lindheimer hurriedly withdrawing the L. A. (Conference) Dons and burying the Chicago (Conference) Rockets in the dead of night. Lindheimer to be cut in for a chunk of the L. A. (NFL) Rams by Dan Reeves.

Jim Brueill to be cut in for a piece of the Cleveland Browns by Mickey McBride, to give Brueill a chance to get back some of the half-million he may leave at Buffalo.

If they get that far, the next step will be simple; in fact, virtually ordained:

The National league surviving as a 12-club organization with the addition of the Browns and the San Francisco 49'ers.

COACH SATISFIED AT STATE

Oregon State's Stiner Turns Down Position With Nebraska

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 12 (INS)—Football coach Lon Stiner of Oregon State college declared tonight that he has no plans to visit the University of Nebraska to discuss a possible change in jobs.

Stiner made his statement in a long-distance telephone conversation with a Portland newspaper. He is now at Palm Springs, Cal.

Stiner confirmed that he had talked with Potsy Clark, Nebraska athletic director, and said:

"I told him I was well satisfied at Oregon State, but I also said any coach would be unwise not to listen to new offers.

"None of the discussions, however, reached any negotiation stage."

Yesterday head coach Jim Aiken decided to stay at the University of Oregon after scheduling a meeting with Nebraska athletic officials.

ABILENE, Jan. 12 (AP) — Julius Stagner poured in nine field goals and four gratis shots to lead the Hardin-Simmons university Cowboys to a 70 to 47 victory over Texas College of Mines here tonight in a Border Conference basketball game.

The score established a new record for the Cowboys at Rose Field house, their previous record being 59 points against Marshall college of West Virginia earlier in the season.

LaDue Cops Main Event At Arena

Monte LaDue was a few degrees warmer than the weather last night, so much warmer, in fact, that he tossed the latest Southwestern Junior Heavyweight champion, Dory Funk, in two straight falls to win the first main event at Sled Allen's arena.

A remarkably large crowd for the poor night witnessed three good bouts, with Milt Olsen, the Texas Junior Heavyweight champion, taking two out of three falls from Billy Hickson and Pat O'Dowdy being held to a draw by Bill Parks.

The first main event paired the rough, tough Canadian LaDue with the cleaner, more scientific grappler, Funk. For the early party of the first fall, Funk appeared to be in command. But as time went on and LaDue failed to weaken, Funk began to lose his control.

LaDue finally made a grab for Funk's leg, got it and began to apply pressure. He cleverly concealed his activity from Referee O'Dowdy, even though he ended up using the ropes as a lever. With this support, he tortured Funk to such a point that he finally gave up. It took 17 minutes to accomplish the first fall.

The second tussle didn't last long, LaDue ending it in six minutes with a body smother, although it was Funk's own fault. The Indiana wrestler threw himself feet first through the air intent of upending LaDue. But the latter sidestepped and fell on the injured Funk to win.

Olsen and Hickson put on the best wrestling show of the night, both grapplers displaying good work. Olsen, always pressed to win against larger wrestlers, made good use of his wide knowledge of the ring to win two of the falls. He took the first in 17 minutes with a drop kick and smother, lost the second after six minutes on an inside stepover toehold and grabbed the third in 11 minutes with a crotchhold and body smother.

O'Dowdy was a last minute substitute for Glen Detton in the preliminary, the Amarillo grappler being prevented from reaching here because of weather. Parks, in his local debut, made a good showing and the two men went 20 minutes to a draw.

Sandies To Defend 1-AA Crown

Amarillo, Lubbock Cagers Meet Friday

AMARILLO, Jan. 12 (Special)—More than 2,000 fans are expected to be on hand here at the Sports Arena Friday night when the Amarillo Golden Sandies, defending cage champions in District 1-AA, open defense of their title against the highly-regarded Lubbock Westerners from the South Plains.

The game faces tough competition at the ticket gate from a personal appearance by noted bandleader Spike Jones here the same night, as well as the Texas Tech-West Texas State Teachers college clash at Canyon, but the 3,000-seat Sports Arena is expected to be nearly filled.

The Sandies, coached by wily T. G. Hull, have been holding lengthy drills all week in preparation for the important tilt with their traditional rivals from Lubbock. Most of the Sandie drills have emphasized offensive play patterns against a tight zone defense, such as that used by the Westerners, although the defense has also received attention.

The Sandie cage squad is in near-top physical condition, although two players have not had time to get in good shape. Jack Newby, who was a gridder until just two weeks ago, is rapidly gaining top form and should provide some help for Hull's quint Friday night. James Garner, all-state Sandie end, has been going through light drills this week, but is not expected to see much action this weekend. Garner's knee was injured in the Amarillo-Denison grid playoff game, and the stellar athlete is still hampered by the injury.

Coach Hull has announced that he will start his regular lineup against the Westerners, with Jack Little and Gibb Ford and forward slots, Bobby Garner and Harold Henry at guard posts and Bill Franklin at center. Both Franklin and Little were lettermen in 1947-48, and the other three boys were squadmen last season.

The Sandies have won six games this season, against some of the top quintets of Texas and Oklahoma, while losing one tilt. The Sandies won two games from Crozier Tech of Dallas, the defending state champions in Class AA, and also took two games from Classen of Oklahoma, defending champs in Oklahoma. The Amarilloans split a two game series in El Paso.

Weather Halts New Loop Meet

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 12. (AP)—Bad weather held down attendance but some progress was made tonight at a meeting to organize a Class D professional baseball league for east Texas.

Only Jacksonville, Lufkin and Athens were represented at the meeting. Raymond West, editor of the Jacksonville Daily Progress, was named chairman of a five-man committee to investigate the possibility of other cities joining the proposed loop.

Other members of the committee: Ed Holden, manager of the Lufkin Chamber of Commerce; Morris Jones, also of Lufkin; L. B. Watkins of Jacksonville, and C. P. Mosley of Jacksonville. Mosley is a former president of the old East Texas league. Jones and Watkins are former managers in the Lone Star league.

The committee will meet in Lufkin Jan. 23 to hear statements from other cities which may desire to compete this year. The group will contact such communities as Sulphur Springs, Pittsburg, Mineola, Mt. Pleasant, Winnsboro, Corsicana, Mexia, Center, Carthage and Athens.

During tonight's meeting Lufkin and Jacksonville gave assurance of their readiness to enter the league. A letter from Center expressed that city's intention to join.

Outlanders Best New York Cagers

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—As the basketball season progresses it becomes embarrassingly clear to the local fancy that the center of basketball population has shifted somewhere else.

In times past, there always were teams in the metropolitan area good enough to fight it out hand-to-hand with the very best talent from the rest of the country.

In fact, the locals—N.Y.U., St. Johns, City College, Long Island U., etc.—usually were able to beat the tar out of most of the imports. Invariably they wound up the year with a big credit balance.

That was, in the main, why college basketball sold out Madison Square Garden one or two nights a week for all these winters. Like fans everywhere else, the locals loved to watch their favorites polish off the stage-frightened kids who suddenly found themselves on the famous Garden court.

But something terrible has happened lately. The outlanders aren't scared any more—especially such hardened visitors as those from the states of Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah and California. What they have been doing to members of the subway circuit this winter is sinful.

With the season better than half gone, it has dawned on the local savants that there might not be a single metropolitan five worthy of inclusion in the National Invitation Tournament at the Garden in March.

This is somewhat earthshaking intelligence. Since the event began a dozen years ago, the field of eight crack teams always has included at least one New York City outfit, and usually two.

At the writing, only N.Y.U., and City College are even faintly in the running. It is possible, of course, that one of them will put on such a late spurt as to command high respect.

Outranking either of them at this point are such teams as St. Louis U., last year's invitation champs; Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Oklahoma Aggies, Villanova, Utah, Bradley, Minnesota, San Francisco, Texas, Tulane, Cincinnati, Hamline, Chicago Loyola and others.

"THE STORE OF BETTER VALUES"

Sports Study

By Earl Sessday

Although basketball holds the spotlight at Lubbock High school these days with the District 1-AA title race just getting underway, Coach Wilson Taylor is busy completing plans for his baseball workouts. Coach Taylor, who coached the Westerner diamond squad last spring and then piloted the Lubbock American Legion nine to a regional championship and to a place in the state tournament at Waco, has revealed that he will probably start drills for some of his baseball hopefuls during February. The drills will have to be held indoors for several weeks, because of cold weather, but the squad candidates not busy with basketball can get their arms in shape in gymnasium workouts.

Coach Taylor's baseball plans have been given added importance by the recent Texas Interscholastic league decision to set up a state championship in the sport this spring. The Class AA boys will play for a district crown, as they did last year, then will tangle in Bi-district clashes. The eight Bi-district winners will go to Austin for a final series of games that will determine the state champion.

The prospects for another good baseball team at Lubbock High this season are very bright, Coach Taylor will have to plug some holes resulting from graduations, but will have several of the top prospects in the state returning for action. Heading the list of returning lettermen will be Bobby Brown and Charles Galey. Brown was voted as the All-State shortstop in the Texas American Legion junior baseball program last summer and Galey, a veteran performer, was one of the best schoolboy second-basemen in both high school and Legion competition last year. Jesse Fullerton will return to his old post at first base and Jack Whitehead will make a strong bid for the third sack. The outfield should not cause Taylor much worry, with Jimmy Richards, Garnet Reeves, Jim Wilson and Jimmy Sexton topping the list of candidates.

At this early stage of preparations, it is obvious that pitching and catching will be the most difficult problems for Mentor Taylor to solve. Taylor will not have the services of his two mound aces of 1948—Denny Davidson and Jackie Martyn—but he has several good prospects. Big Jim Wilson will probably do some chunking, with Morris (Moe) Turner, Mack Taylor, Jack McCabe and David Clark sharing hurling chores. Both of the 1948 Westerner catchers are gone, but sticky Norman Bantz and scrappy Merle Burchett may fill their shoes capably.

Other candidates for the team will include Dan Adkisson at short, Bob Rooker at third base and Neil Sikes, second base. Rooker was a member of the Westerner squad last year, while Sikes and Adkisson competed with the Legion "B" nine last year. There will probably be other candidates, but the final list will—of course—not be known until the workouts actually get underway.

So if Lubbock school baseball fans can just wait another couple of months, they can go out to the practice diamond at Chapman field and watch Coach Taylor get the boys ready for competition. And the team this season may give the fans something to cheer about.

Durocher Draws $500 Penalty

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12. (INS) — Commissioner A. B. Chandler, who ordered Leo Durocher out of baseball for a year, today "let off" the fiery New York Giants manager with a $500 fine for his part in the Freddy Fitzsimmons "tampering" episode.

The Giants, who signed Fitzsimmons as a coach four months ago while he still was under contract to the Boston Braves, were assessed $5,000, and Fitzsimmons himself drew a $500 fine and a one-month suspension commencing next March 1.

In a simultaneous warning to all baseball, Commissioner Chandler, who only a month ago told newsmen he had been "bending over backwards" to give Durocher a break, said the next case of tampering will be met with "more severe penalties."

Tampering 'Serious'

The offense of tampering, through which Chandler said "the American people might easily lose confidence in baseball," conceivably could carry a penalty of life suspension from the game.

Indeed, Chandler noted in his decision today, only Fitzsimmons' "long and honorable service in baseball" kept the Commissioner from "depriving the New York club of the services for the entire 1949 season."

Fitzsimmons, former ace National League righthander who hurled for the Giants in the 1933 and 1936 World Series, will not be permitted to report to the club's spring training headquarters until his suspension ends April 1.

Durocher and Fitzsimmons were the star witnesses in a closed-door hearing into the case conducted by Chandler at the major league baseball meetings in Chicago last month. At that time, Chandler said, today, both men denied knowledge of the tampering rule, and Durocher was overheard to say that both he and his movie actress wife Laraine Day were "awfully worried about this."

Ignorance of the law, Chandler ruled today, is no excuse. Giant officials, he said, were obligated to find out the exact status of Fitzsimmons, whose contract with the Braves had until last Dec. 31 to run, before commencing any negotiations "with respect to his employment."

The fine levied against the Giants, the Commissioner added, was "because of their failure to so satisfy themselves."

Texas Will Have More Pro Nines

DALLAS, Jan. 12. (AP)—North Carolina is about to lose its standing as the professional baseball capitol of the nation.

Texas, SUH, is coming up with more clubs than you can shake a stick at. Eight leagues will have 49 Texas members provided one in the process of formation goes through.

Last year Texas had 36 clubs while North Carolina boasted 44. But Texas has gained 13 clubs like this:

One league has lost a Texas member but—

A six-club league has been added.

A new eight-club league now is being organized.

Word from North Carolina is that there now are seven leagues with 42 members and another club may be added.

Here is the Texas baseball situation:

Texas league (Class AA)—five Texas members: Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Beaumont. Other members are Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Okla., and Shreveport, La.

Big State league (Class B)—All Texas members: Austin, Texarkana, Wichita Falls, Waco, Temple, Gainesville, Greenville and Sherman-Denison. Temple has replaced Paris of last year.

Lone Star league (Class C)—all Texas members: Paris, Kilgore, Longview, Tyler, Gladewater, Henderson, Bryan and Marshall. Paris has replaced Lufkin of last year.

Rio Grande Valley league (Class D)—A new league of all Texas clubs: Corpus Christi, Laredo, Del Rio, McAllen, Donna and Brownsville.

Longhorn league (Class D) — Seven Texas members: Odessa, Midland, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Ballinger, Vernon and Big Spring. The other member is Roswell, N. M., which replaces Del Rio of last year.

West Texas-New Mexico league (Class C)—six Texas members: Amarillo, Borger, Lamesa, Pampa, Abilene and Lubbock. Other members are Albuquerque and Clovis, N. M.

Arizona-Texas league (Class C) —one Texas member: El Paso. Other members are Bisbee-Douglas, Globe-Miami, Juarez, Phoenix and Tucson.

The East Texas league, a Class D circuit, is to be formed in a meeting at Jacksonville. Towns that will be represented at the meeting are Corsicana, Mexia, Pittsburgh, Winnsboro, Mount Pleasant, Mineola, Carthage, Sulphur Springs, Gilmer, Athens, Palestine, Lufkin and Jacksonville. Lufkin and Jacksonville formerly were members of the Lone Star league.

Chile has a prolonged meat shortage.

Ralph McGuire Among New Entrants

More Fighters Sign Up For Gloves Meet

Ralph McGuire of Plainview, a middleweight, was one of a new batch of entries received in the mail yesterday, as amateur boxers of the South Plains indicated that they were getting ready for the regional Golden Gloves tournament.

The regional tourney will be held, as it has in the past, in Texas Tech's gym on the nights of Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2. Two divisions are available for contestants, the open and the novice.

To further clarify the situation for aspiring fighters, the open division is for any boy of any age, but he must enter the open division if he is over 18 years of age.

The novice division is open to boys up to 18 years of age who have never won more than five bouts before in a previous Golden Gloves tournament, an AAU tournament, or a tournament conducted under AAU rules, or a TAAF tournament, or tournament conducted under TAAF reules.

All boxers in Lubbock and this vicinity are urged to get in shape for the fights, so that every bout will be a good one and the truly better man will win. To assist the aspiring boxers, the Lubbock Golden Gloves has approved Foster's Gym, 2417 Main street, as local training headquarters.

Boys wishing to make use of a gym, where none is available, have complete use of Foster's from 6 until 9 p. m. The boxers need only bring personal equipment; all other paraphernalia will be supplied.

Yesterday's entries primarily were in the novice division, with few open division entries. McGuire was the main attraction in the open class. The Plainview boy weighs 160 pounds and, despite a relative lack of experience, is looked upon by Plainview men as a possible champion. McGuire is a tough boy to hurt, hits well and will be in there swinging all the way.

Another good little fighter to enter the open class yesterday was Johnny Ticer of 2504 North 4th street, an 18-year old bantamweight. Ticer weighs 119 pounds, has had two years of boxing during which he fought six times. He won four of his bouts. A product of Lubbock, he has appeared here in Golden Gloves bouts.

Four novices sent in entry blanks, with two of the boys coming from Lorenzo to join another pair already entered from that town.

RALPH McGUIRE
... In There Swinging

The novices included a featherweight, a lightweight and two welterweights. Howard Baker of Lorenzo Star Route, an 18-year old fighter, is the featherweight. He has never fought on an organized boxing card before. Dale Ballew of 809 Avenue B is the featherweight. He is 16 years old, has had one year of boxing and chooses the novice division.

Jim Southwell of 213 West Hall, Texas Tech, submitted his entry through O. C. Foster. He is a 17-year old welterweight with no previous ring experience. The other welterweight is W. O. Gestes jr., an 18-year old from Lorenzo. Gestes is another boy without experience in the ring but who is eager to show his ability.

Abernathy Invitational Cage Tourney Scheduled For Tonight

ABERNATHY, Jan. 12. (Spl.) —Abernathy's invitational basketball tournament, including both boys' and girls' divisions, will get underway here Thursday night with four meet tussles. Initial filt is slated to start at 6 p. m.

Probably the feature clash in the opening night card will be unreeled at 7 o'clock, when the Floydada and Shallowater boys tangle in a first round game.

Other schools represented include Ralls, Lockney, New Deal, Whitharral and Abernathy.

Play will continue Friday and Saturday, officials have announced.

Fleishman Indicted For Attempted 'Fix'

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12. (INS) —Morris Fleishman, who allegedly offered Philadelphia Warriors star Joe Fulks "easy money" to throw professional basketball games, was indicted today on an attempted bribery charge.

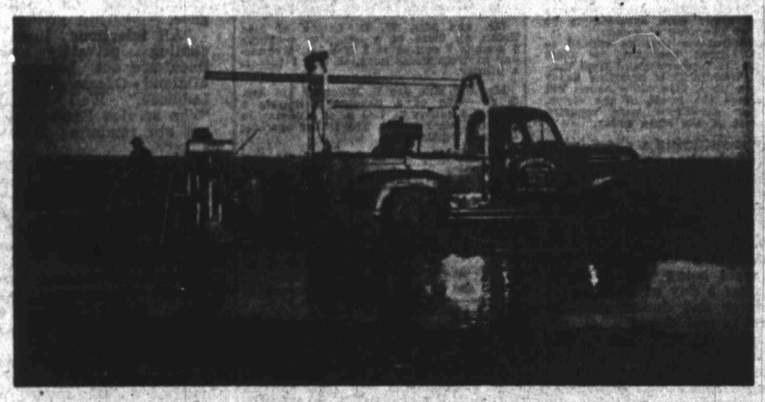

A grand jury handed the indictment to Judge Harry S. McDevitt of quarter session court. He indicated Fleishman will stand trial after the basketball season, probably in April.

Fleishman has been free under $1,000 bond since his arrest last Dec. 9.

Heavy Damage Seen As Phone And Power Lines Disrupted In Area

other conservation measures that had been held up by lack of moisture. Such farm activities would undoubtedly put a "crimp" in further blowing of fields.

Ranches Also To Benefit

Ranchmen also were highly pleased as the moisture brought promise of improved pasturage later in the year, and like the farmers, believed that a "fine base" was laid when more moisture comes later in the winter and early spring.

While cattle suffered to some extent from the four days of low temperature and exposure to icy conditions no heavy losses have been reported.

Southwestern Bell Telephone company probably suffered the heaviest loss from the storm. C. H. Cale, Lubbock manager of the company, reported hundreds of poles snapped off, and service disrupted to many sections.

"We were too optimistic Tuesday night," Cale said, "we had our worst day Wednesday. In fact we lost ground instead of gaining. The freezing rain that fell early Wednesday morning undid almost all of the work we had done Tuesday and snowed us under with new damage.

"We have gathered material and hope to get halfway normal service established to the isolated areas within a few days, but it will take some time to completely repair the damage."

Phone Poles Toppled

Cale reported that 15 large poles toppled over early Wednesday morning near Southland, and that eight poles in Slaton crashed to the ground about 8 a. m. yesterday seriously injuring R. W. Tillinghast, of Lubbock, who was doing repair work on a 45-foot pole when it and seven others collapsed. Tillinghast was reported under an oxygen tent last night suffering a chest injury, fractured skull and shock. He had been an employe of the company for several years, Cale said, and was considered one of the company's "best workers."

Southwestern Public Service company reported that "loose ends" were being wound up last night after a day of battling several major and dozens of minor line breaks and shorts.

An official said that "everything is up except a big line west of Denver City" late last night. The break repair was expected to be completed by daylight. The line was a major service unit from Carlsbad to Denver City. Other circuits were thrown in to "feed" the affected area. Three breaks were reported in 22,000 volt lines out of Lubbock yesterday, but these had been repaired by nightfall.

To Resume Bus Travel

"Most of the local trouble was from falling limbs and iced up conductors," the spokesman said. Only minor repair jobs were anticipated today.

The city light plant said the only minor breaks and interruptions of service had resulted from the storm. Most of the city's trouble also was from falling limbs. About 8:30 p. m. yesterday Tech gym was cut off from power as a falling limb short circuited a 2,400 volt line to the campus. The line was "killed" rather than risk the lives of repairmen. The remainder of Tech campus was recently tied to a new circuit and was unaffected by the power interruption, it was reported.

Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor Coaches, which suspended service Tuesday night to and from Lubbock, said that all schedules would be resumed at 5 a. m. today. No schedules were put on the road Wednesday or Wednesday night.

SCHOOL BUSES TO RUN

Schools buses of the Lubbock Independent School district will operate on the pavement only today, school officials announced Wednesday afternoon. The buses have not run at all the past two days because of the extremely hazardous condition of highways in the immediate Lubbock vicinity.

School officials said that children who would go to bus stops on the paved portion of the district would be able to board the buses. Unpaved portions of the area are still in bad shape and buses in all likelihood would become stuck should they attempt to use them, it was explained. Officials hope to have the buses on full schedule before the end of the week, it was said.

Meanwhile, all classes in the city continued Wednesday and all schools will be in operation today.

Municipal airport planed to resume normal service today as thawing temperatures free runways of ice. Two flights were reported to have landed here late Wednesday during the height of the afternoon thaw.

Many Trees Damaged

Lubbock residents Wednesday expected loss to valuable trees and shrubs to be heavy as limbs of many large trees crashed to the ground or broke under the weight of ice. Cars were forced to travel slowly along some streets as ice encrusted branches bent almost to the ground.

Damage to Chinese elms in the area by the present ice storm has been estimated as approximately $8 per tree, but other types of shade trees and evergreens have escaped damage so far, leading plant specialists in Lubbock said Wednesday night.

The actual cost will come from pruning and hauling off broken branches from the trees and no permanent damage has yet been done, one nursery reported, advising that all wounded branches be cut off smoothly and painted with some type of tree-wound solution.

Another nursery said that the limber nature of branches on evergreens, shrubs, Ash and Sycamore trees will prevent their being broken on any large scale unless considerable more weight is added of in the event of a high wind while the ice is still present.

The forecast for the South Plains today for continued cloudy skies and slightly warmer temperatures. The light rain that continued to fall up until early this morning was expected to halt.

Readings today, the weather station said, probably would range from a low of 25 to 28 this morning to 35 to 38 degrees this afternoon. The high yesterday was reported 33 degrees at 10:30 p. m. The same reading was reached at 5 p. m. The low for Wednesday was 23 degrees.

Further moderation was expected Friday.

OUTLOOK OVER STATE

The Weather bureau Wednesday night predicted freezing rain for the vast West Texas area held in bondage by the great ice storm, according to the Associated Press.

For the second straight day, a great swath of West Texas from San Angelo on the south, Abilene on the north and Odessa on the west was ice bound. Most highways were impassable, but many were expected to be opened by Thursday afternoon.

Communications troubles seemed to be the biggest headache for most towns in the Panhandle and West Texas with Wichita Falls reporting heavy loss from lines. Downstate points did not feel the brunt of the storm. Improving conditions were reported over most of the state today.

LEVELLAND—A total of 1.96 inches of moisture has been recorded in the immediate Levelland area, according to a report by County Agent Artie B. Forehand. No heavy damage has been reported from ice on trees although many did have broken limbs.

HALE CENTER — Higher temperatures Wednesday afternoon changed the blanket of sleet and snow into slush, but streets were cleared "fairly well" early Wednesday night. Power and communication lines are relatively undamaged. An estimated two inches of moisture has been received since early Sunday morning.

BROWNFIELD—School students received a holiday Wednesday, although slightly warmer weather and a light rain melted much of the sleet and ice that made travel hazardous. Moisture this week now totals approximately two inches, according to best estimates.

LITTLEFIELD — A slow rain Wednesday afternoon boosted farmers' hopes for a good crop year, but the fall had diminished to a "light sprinkle" at 10 o'clock last night. A total of 1.75 inches of moisture registered on a local gauge since Saturday night. Schools here were dismissed.

CROSBYTON—Rain Wednesday afternoon and night, combined with icy street and highway conditions, resulted in a Crosbyton school holiday announcement for Thursday. Moisture this week was boosted to 2.46 inches by Wednesday's rain.

TAHOKA—Power lines were reported broken in Tahoka Wednesday night, cutting off electricity to numerous business firms and private homes. The "lights went out about 6 o'clock Wednesday night," according to reports from several residents, and the breaks had not been completely repaired at 10 o'clock last night. A light rain increased the week's total to approximately two inches.

Londoners are demanding modernization of the city's streetcars.

Ice Slipping From Roof Is Cause For 'Fire' Run In City

This "fire was freakish, firemen said.

They answered an alarm at 1:10 p. m. Wednesday from 2219 Twentieth after "smoke" began lifting thickly from the roof of a residence.

They found that a floor furnace had heated the attic and that "virtually the entire coating of snow and ice on he roof slid off in one sheet."

"Heat inside the attic, being conducted through the roof caused a condensing of the cold air hugging the upper part of the roof, making it vaporize."

Another run, to Hub homes addition about 12:20 p. m., was occasioned by light wires falling under weight of snow and ice and short-circuiting.

Firemen said wires were down here and there for six or seven blocks—from the Hub homes addition across Ave. H and north war dto Sanders street.

Amateur Operators Aiding In Sending Messages In Crisis

Lubbock's "ham" radio operators and the communications equipment of the Naval Reserve Training center on Tech campus provided valuable service Wednesday as telephone and telegraph lines snapped under the loads of ice.

Emergency messages were sent for West Texas Gas company, Texas-New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, the railroads, Western Union and Lubbock hospitals.

Flooded With Messages

Homer Reese of half a mile South of Cemetery curve on New Hope road stayed home from his job Wednesday after C. I. Wall of West Texas Gas company requested assistance in getting emergency traffic through to Odessa.

Reese, employed by Kuykendall Chevrolet company, was flooded with messages which he cleared through a home made transmitter he values at about $800.

In addition to traffic for the gas company and bus company, he was sending emergency messages for individuals, and clearing Western Union traffic to and from Crosbyton.

There was strictly no charge for the service, Reese explained. "All amateur radio work is strictly for free," he explained.

But Wall, vice president of the gas company, expressed gratitude for the help he gave.

"All telephone lines, including privately owned lines, are out between the Midland - Odessa area and Lubbock," Wall explained. "The service Reese and others are rendering is invaluable."

Among others helping out were Robert Bryant, employe of Lubbock Radio Service, whose call sign is W5EBO, and Jimmy Bratton, CAA employe whose ham station in Arnett-Benson addition has W5HWH for its call sign.

Navy Pickup Dispatched

The Naval Reserve went into high gear to help out too.

Lt. R. L. Gillis, officer in charge at the armory, dispatched a Navy-owned pickup truck to a gas company pumping station near Tahoka which was isolated from all communications.

Aboard the truck was a transmitter - receiver with which communication to the armory and from there to the gas company offices was to be established.

With the truck went J. F. Lee, chief technician, and J. D. Armbrester, chief engineman.

Chief Radioman Larry Bain was manning the radio room at the armory, assisted by J. D. Williams, yeoman first class.

Bain was also in communication with more distant points with emergency messages.

Filibuster Fight

their previous, successful fights against anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and anti-job discrimination bills.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), who told reporters about the closed meeting, said the 17 were unanimously opposed to any rules change that would limit senate debate, and also unified in their opposition to Mr. Truman's "entire civil rights program."

Several resolutions to change the rules already have been introduced in the Senate. The rules committee will decide soon after inauguration day which, if any, reaches the floor. The gong then rings for the main event.

Filibuster Seen

The southerners' obvious defense against any attempt to eliminate the filibuster is—the filibuster. If they can talk long enough, they might prevent the Senate from voting on a motion to take up the proposed rule change.

The Senate has a debate limitation device, of sorts, called the cloture rule. It hasn't proved very effective, being invoked successfully only four times in more than 30 years. Under this rule, debate on a bill or resolution may be limited to one hour per senator if two-thirds of the members agree.

The southerners found a loophole in that last session. They argued that cloture didn't apply to a motion to take up a bill, and the chair upheld the contention.

The southerners attending the strategy meeting were Senators McKellar of Tennessee, Connally of Texas, Russell and George of Georgia, McClellan of Arkansas, Ellender and Long of Louisiana, Hoey and Broughton of North Carolina, Byrd and Robertson of Virginia, Maybank and Johnston of South Carolina, Hill and Sparkman of Alabama, Stennis of Mississippi, and Holland of Florida.

TWO PERSONS KILLED

AMARILLO, Jan. 12 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Austermann of Upland, Neb., were killed instantly at 8 o'clock tonight in a rear-end collision with a transport truck. The pavement was clear of ice and snow when the Austermann car rammed the truck parked 23 miles north of Amarillo on highway 287. Driver of the truck was Lewis Schallenberg, McCook, Neb., 40 miles from the Austermann home.

Alice Educator To Head Junior College

ALICE, Jan. 12. (AP)—Dr. John A. Guinn, superintendent of schools at Alice, announced tonight he will become president, in June, of San Angelo college, a junior college at San Angelo.

The husky, blue-eyed war veteran, who won five battle stars and two citations with amphibious forces during the Pacific fighting, said he would finish the term at Alice. "They have an expansion program on and they want me to stay a while."

Guinn replaces W. H. Elkins, president of San Angelo college, who has already gone to the Texas College of Mines at El Paso as president of that institution.

Guinn has been at Alice since 1946. He came here following his Navy duty. Before that, he was dean of students and head of the English department at Schreiner institute, at Kerrville.

Jester Asks Study

most advanced and inspired techniques of human engineering to match our scientific skill."

Rough Times Seen

"At the same time, we face the deadly serious necessity of planning wisely and within our means, to the end that an unpredictable business recession will not leave the state of Texas in a perilous financial condition," the governor warned.

He told the lawmakers he was sure there were rough times ahead over such matters as the budget, rural roads and labor legislation. He hoped the disagreements would not be "disagreeable."

Jester said he would ask for a constitutional amendment for state aid to the permanently disabled and emergency funds for surgical operations for the blind. He said he would have future recommendations on water and soil conservation, traffic and industrial safety, modernization of all state hospitals, revision of the juvenile correction plan.

Other Suggestions Planned

Jester also will make suggestions on revision of the election laws, need for examination of the state's tax structure, further emphasis on public health, increase in unemployment benefits and reduction in the unemployment tax rate, a plan for offering the state's services in voluntary mediation of labor disputes, continued study of the pardon and parole problem, recodification of the game laws, generous provisions for all colleges including those for negroes.

The governor departed from the text of his address to throw in the remark about anti-lynching laws being the state's business, not the federal government's. He promised a suggestion for the lawmakers on this point.

The statement brought a round of handclapping — the only time the governor's speech drew quick reaction. The legislators listened attentively but quietly to the 28-minute speech.

Tax Is Explained

Mrs. Jester, wearing an orchid, walked in after he had been speaking for about two minutes. The governor noted also that his mother was listening in over the radio at her home in Corsicana.

The only bombshell in the governor's message was the reference to the "citizen's tax." The text of his message said only he would make suggestions on revision of the election laws "and study of the poll tax problem." Off the cuff he added: "And consideration of a citizen's tax to be paid by every citizen."

Later he explained it would be a "head tax of a nominal amount paid by everyone for the privilege of citizenship."

"It would be merely a levy of perhaps one to two dollars as a token contribution to the government of the state. If the present poll tax were abolished, the citizens tax could be instituted to replace the poll tax as a source of revenue," the governor said.

Many lawmakers were wondering if he had meant a sales tax or a poll tax. Jester didn't explain it any further in his speech.

Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth came up with the session's first spending slowdown bill. It would set aside $50 million of the general revenue fund surplus for a reserve fund.

the Gordon airport. Snowbound ranchers also were receiving food and other supplies flown in by the ski planes.

A voluntary rationing system for the distribution of baby foods and canned milk was set up at Gordon.

Seventy-six Missouri towns, including the state capital of Jefferson City, were isolated from long distance service.

The ice storm spread across Illinois in a belt extending from Galesburg and Kankakee on the north to Bloomington and Quincy on the south.

Three Men Are Charged With Slaving Of Woman On Guam

GUAM, Jan. 13 (Thursday) (INS) — The Navy announced today that three GI's have been charged with kidnaping, rape and murder for the slaying of Ruth Farnsworth on Guam last month.

Names of the suspects are: Calvin Dennis, 26, of Frederick, Md., a private in the 606 Engineers' aviation squadron, Herman T. Dennis, jr., of Indianapolis, a private in the 12th air ammunition squadron; and Robert W. Burns, 32, of Spokane, Wash., staff sergeant in the 12th air ammunition squadron.

Chinese Seek Halt

tired of Fu Tso-Yi's stalling.

(Gen. Fu Tso-Yi is the government's north China commander, with headquarters in Peiping.)

Terms Laid Down

(Moosa reported earlier that trustworthy reports had it that the Reds refused to compromise on the surrender of Tientsin.)

Reports reaching Nanking by radio from Tientsin said the Communists sent these terms into the city:

All troops to down arms; all military supplies and equipment to be protected and turned over to the Reds; all soldiers to be protected if they obey these terms.

In reply, the garrison of 60,000 men is said to have agreed to give up the city if the Reds would let it keep its small arms and sail back to Nationalist China from the nearby port of Tangku.

(Moosa said the negotiations were being carried on by four Tientsin city councilmen. These councilmen in turn consulted with Gen. Chen Chang-Shieh, Tientsin garrison commander.

Loyalty Is Factor

(General Chen was quoted in the Peiping Daily News as telling Tientsin reporters there was a 50-50 chance for a peaceful settlement.

(Moosa reported that "all indications are the Reds won't modify their stand." He said the next 48 hours "are expected to be decisive.")

If the Tientsin experiment is a success, other regions may seek a similar solution.

In the past month the possibility of ending the war has depended mainly on President Chiang Kai-Shek. Now the continued loyalty to Chiang of his subordinates may be the factor.

Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, the north China commander stationed at Peiping, only 90 miles from Tientsin, often has been reported dealing with the Reds.

Returns With Answer

There are even stronger indications that Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, the central China commander at Hankow, is urging peace through negotiations.

Former Premier Chang Chun has just returned from Hankow with Pai's answer to Chiang's plea for unity.

The newspaper Ta Kang Pao indicates Chang's mission was not too successful. Without indicating the source it says Chang will make another visit to Hankow to try to persuade Pai to remain loyal to the president.

(Pai is an old friend of Vice President Li Tsung-Gen, often mentioned as the man to take over and try to negotiate a peace should Chiang resign.)

On his first visit, the former premier also carried the same unity message to Gen. Cheng Chien, governor of Hunan province with headquarters at Changsha, south of Hankow. General Cheng is another who is believed to be getting restless.

There was a possibility the national legislature would be called into session to consider a push for peace on its own.

Acheson Hearing Set

proval as is expected.

George said he and other committee members have received letters questioning Acheson's confirmation by the Senate until his attitude toward Communism is made clear.

Views Are Sought

"I've received an average of about 10 letters a day concerning the Acheson appointment," George said. "These letters were not opposing his appointment. The writers were simply disturbed about his confirmation until his views are known and approved."

George said he understands some senators also want to question Acheson about his relationship with Alger Hiss, who worked in the State department during Acheson's previous service there.

Hiss is under an indictment charging that he falsely swore he never gave State department secrets to Whittaker Chambers, acknowledged former member of a Soviet spy ring.

The House Un-American Activities committee has been told by Berle Acheson once was one of a group in the State department who favored a "soft" policy toward Russia.

It is reported reliably that Berle informed the Senate committee recently that when he made the statement he did not intend to cast any doubts on Acheson. The latter in more recent years has become known as an advocate of a firm attitude toward the Soviets.

There were no signs of any organized Republican opposition to Acheson.

Several Are Injured

when he fell on an icy sidewalk near his home.

Portales Woman Hurt

Another elderly person, Mrs. Amanda J. Cox, 72, of Portales, N.M., was brought to Lubbock Memorial hospital by ambulance after fracturing her hip in a fall at her New Mexico home.

R. F. Ratliff, 90, of 2323 Twentieth, was in the same hospital last night, also with a fracture of the hip suffered in a fall at his home.

Ralph Dowdy, of 602 Ave. O, was in West Texas hospital with a fractured right arm above the elbow, and A. J. Adams, of 302 Hub Homes, was in Lubbock Memorial with a broken right shoulder, both injuries due to falls on the ice yesterday.

City Postmen Have Rough Time; Many Routes Cancelled

Lubbock postal deliverymen Wednesday had a few words of their own for the person who thought up that little remark about their invincibility despite the elements.

And pedestians who braved the icy streets and freezing rain of down-town and residential districts couldn't blame them.

It seems that those postmen who started their rounds over the residential parts of the city Wednesday morning played "bump-bump" with a few porch steps and a couple of sidewalks, decided they couldn't win, and gave it up as a bad day for all those not fortunate enough to be polar bears.

Co-Operation Is Asked

On the Main Post Office, New York City, is an inscription which reads: "Not snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." If any of the Lubbock carriers care to look up this little quotation in Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations," it can be found on Page 969, the same page with "The bigger they come the harder they fall."

Only five of the residential routes went all the way through, but all were completed in the business districts where sidewalks had been cleaned off. Members of the post office staff reported Wednesday night that all routes would be run (or at least walked) today, provided the ice is not too hard.

Postal officials also said that if residents would scrape the snow and ice from their steps and porches as soon as possible several serious accidents might be averted for postmen who will attempt to make their rounds today.

Panhandle Tremor

band was in the bathtub and that it splashed the water. Brubaker said "it looked like the walls were folding in on me. The whole house weaved."

Mrs. W. K. Fry, Amarillo housewife: She felt the shock around 10 p.m. It sounded like someone moving furniture heavily across the floor." In fact, she assumed her neighbor was doing just that, until the neighbor rushed in with reports that others in the neighborhood had felt the shock.

News editor Jack Roberts of the Borger radio station said that four distinct shocks in the eastern section of Borger were reported to him. They came, he said, at 8 p.m. 8:35 p.m., 8:57 p.m., and 10:10 p.m. He said the 8:35 p.m. shock was the most severe.

But the Borger News-Herald, making a telephone survey of the east Borger area, said it was able to locate only two people who would admit feeling the shocks. Others, the newspaper said, blamed the shocks on snow and ice slipping from roofs. But the News-Herald wondered: Did the tremors knock the snow and ice from the roofs?

At Pampa, Ken Palmer of radio station KDPN said he had reports of tremors in his area at 7:15 p.m. and "another series" at 8:05 p.m.

One Pampa citizen—J. S. Riley—said he, his wife and "many of my neighbors" rushed from their houses into the streets when the tremors struck.

At Borger, Rev. Amos R. Meador told radio station KHUZ that "my entire household was awakened by the shock."

The Amarillo News-Globe said it was receiving many telephone calls from persons who thought they had felt tremors—but the newspaper said most of the calls came after radio reports of the tremors had been broadcast.

The newspaper was unable to find anyone who could say that dishes were knocked from shelves. Mostly it was a case of windows and doors being jarred.

The only damage report came from Lockney, 60 miles northeast of Lubbock, and there was no strong reason to believe the reported tremors were responsible. The First Baptist church of Lockney was almost completely demolished Wednesday night when the roof and side walls of the one-story brick and tile structure collapsed. Observers said it may have been the weight of sleet and ice on the roof that did it—or could it have been earth tremors?

Lubbock 20-30 Club Members To Attend Amarillo Meeting

It was decided Wednesday night at a meeting of the 20-30 club that 10 members would attend the mid-winter convention Jan. 21, 22 and 23, in Amarillo, and three new members were taken in, Gene Blackburn, secretary-treasurer, announced.

A ruling was also made at the meeting that the last Wednesday of each month would be ladies night. The three new members include L. C. Walker, James Bavousett and Joe Gaylor.

Two visitors were present, T. L. Fanning and Fred Pace. President Conrad Ward was in charge.

Jury Answers Issues In Damages Action

A civil jury of which B. F. Hodges was foreman reported its answers at 3:20 p. m. Wednesday to 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue to 54 special issues in the damages action of A. T. Cocanougher against Carl Bunyan Odom.

Based on the answers—which found that the defendant was guilty of negligence in three instances, Mrs. Cocanougher of contributory negligence in two instances Aug. 6, 1947, when two cars were in collision here—both sides may move for judgment, it was indicated.

The jury found that $256.17 would compensate Cocanougher for repairs necessary to his car.

Gordon Treadaway, attorney for defendant Odom, said he would move for judgment, and the firm of Allred and Boedeker said it would file a motion for judgment non obstante verdicto (in spite of the verdict) in favor of Cocanougher.

A jury was selected Wednesday morning in 99th district court and pleadings read in the damages action of Doyle Kennedy, by R. H. Kennedy, against C. M. Lang and J. R. Givens, doing business as Lang Transit company.

Evidence in the case was started about 1:30 p. m., after a member of the defense counsel was delayed while en route to Lubbock by train from Dallas.

Evidence presented by the plaintiff's counsel had been completed late Wednesday afternoon when the court recessed for the day. Counsel for the defendants will begin presentation of their evidence at 9 o'clock this morning.

The case grows out of an April 16, 1948, collision of a truck owned by the transit company and a car driven by Doyle Kennedy, now 19, of Levelland.

Plaintiffs' pleadings said the truck was parked on the right shoulder of the road, facing north, and that when Doyle Kennedy drove along southward the truck turned left in front of him and caused the collision. Plaintiffs alleged he suffered a brain concussion and a shoulder injury.

Plaintiffs seek recovery of $6,350.

Partition Plan

the cabinet decided after a four-hour session to await the outcome of the Jewish-Egyptian armistice talks at Rhodes before deciding whether to lift the embargo on British arms shipments to their Arab allies.

Britain, they said, reserves the right to back up her treaty commitments to the Arabs if the UN fails to get an armistice "which will be honored by the Israelis."

Cabinet Is Troubled

Government circles said the cabinet is troubled by American and Soviet policies favoring Israel. They said the United States is not putting its full weight into UN Security Council efforts to make the Jews obey council withdrawal orders in southern Palestine.

As for Russia they charged she supports eastern European Communist countries such as Czechoslovakia which are steadily sending arms to Israel in violation of last summer's UN embargo.

They declared this is a grave threat to peace throughout the oil-rich Middle East because it encourages violations of UN orders.

Delegations Arrive

Tech formal notice of Israeli troop withdrawals by the provisional government of Tel Aviv was sent to Acting Mediator Dr Ralph Bunche, who forwarded it to UN headquarters at Lake Success from the isle of Rhodes. Bunche added that UN observers confirmed the statement.

him to couple the 70-group proposal and authorization for an 837,000-man Army in a single bill. Vinson, who has introduced separate bills to carry out these objectives, said he would accede to Symington's request.

Fight Is Planned

A spokesman for Symington pointed out that his request had nothing to do with "in being" size of the Air Force, but merely sought congressional re-enactment of temporary legislation to put legal authority on the books for a 70-group force—when and if.

Woman Killed By Propellor Is Identified As Indiana Buyer

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12 (INS)—Police today identified a woman killed by an airliner's whirling propellor at Municipal airport yesterday as Mrs. Helen May Crawford, 38, a buyer for a South Bend, Ind., department store.

Mrs. Crawford attempted to board the plane from the wrong side and was hit by the propellor when she ducked underneath, authorities said. In her purse was a ticket to New Orleans and $2044 in cash.

Police said that she was the daughter of the late Carl P. Lockwood, Port Huron, Mich., railroad superintendent. A brother, attorney Charles M. Lockwood of Colorado Springs, Colo., was reported en route to Los Angeles.

Belgium now has 248,000 motor vehicles, only 10,000 more than prewar.

News Briefs

The Friday night meeting of Lubbock Music club has been postponed until Friday, Jan. 21, at the home of Mrs. James Atcheson, 3203 Twenty-sixth, Mrs. M. D. Temple, club president, has announced.

Wednesday's weekly luncheon of the Exchange club at Hotel Lubbock featured a short discussion of final plans for the 1949 "March of Dimes" campaign to raise funds with which to combat infantile paralysis. Warlick Carr, who is in charge of the local drive, said arrangements for most of the compaign's phases are near completion, and volunteers from the Exchange club and other civic groups will meet tonight to prepare 17,000 "March of Dimes" letters for mailing.

Walter Alderson and Roger Kuykendall of the Kuykendall Chevrolet company and Wayne Henly, advertising director of the Avalanche-Journal, are in Fort Worth today to attend the Chevrolet Regional Dealers' convention at which they will preview the new Chevrolet passenger cars for 1949. Henly will go on from Fort Worth to Chicago to attend a meeting next week of the Newspaper Advertising Executives association.

Condition of J. O. Jones, 80, of 1710 Twenty-ninth, was slightly improved but still very critical late last night, an attending physician at Lubbock Memorial hospital reported. The pioneer Lubbock cattleman was admitted to the hospital about two weeks ago for treatment of pneumonia. He was returned to his residence when his condition improved, but suffered a relapse and was re-admitted to the hospital Saturday night.

Dr. J. T. Krueger, of 2703 Nineteenth, who is recuperating in Lubbock Memorial hospital from a heart attack suffered a week ago, was reported in "very satisfactory" condition last night, attendants at the hospital said.

Revival series at the Tabernacle Baptist church is drawing good attendance, according to Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor. The meetings feature sermons by Ray Tatum, 17-year-old evangelist who will continue his talks at 7:30 p. m. through Sunday, Jan. 16.

Several hundred persons attended a concert presented by Ginette Neveu, famed French violinist, at Senior High auditorium last night. The program was a Tech Artist Course presentation.

owner of the machine, which had been driven approximately 4,000 miles since it was stolen. He also had no driver's license. Questioned by the patrolmen, he admitted theft of the car. Dep. Sheriff Tom Cannon transferred the defendant here from Roby Tuesday. Wednesday morning he wrote a note to District Attorney Lloyd Croslin saying he had "more" to admit.

Wright told Pharr he had been to the penitentiary twice, for forgery and car theft.

Weather Slows Probers

Crippled telephone communication slowed efforts of Lubbock officials Wednesday to continue investigation of several earlier reported offenses, including a Monday night jail break from the county jail at Paducah.

Few offenses were reported overnight, but a shooting was averted in the alley of 2100-block Fourteenth because a negro was more agile in the snow and ice than an aroused property-owner.

Hal Langfort, of 2110 Fourteenth, telephoned police at 11:15 p. m. that he had gone outside to shut off a water meter and had found a negro peering in a bathroom window of his residence.

He'll Be Prepared

Langfort said he ran for his gun, but that the negro skidded into an alley and disappeared before he could draw bead on him.

He said he would "shoot him next time," if the offense were repeated.

The traffic department of the police said fewer collisions were being reported than at the same hour Monday. None had been reported injured, numerous persons were falling on icy sidewalks and door stoops.

A quick survey indicated that no one was trapped in the building and officials determined that the structure was "nearly a total loss." The building, 50 feet in width and 90 feet in length, was constructed in 1917-18.

Rev. Cobb, who has been a resident of Lockney for about six years, said tonight that no definite plans had been made for holding services. He said there is a possibility that the church will hold services in the city auditorium until a new structure is obtained, but he emphasized that no official action had been taken.

The church carried "some insurance" on the building, Mr. Cobb reported, but it was not known tonight just how much of the damage will be covered.

Rising costs have increased all bus fares throughout Paraguay.

Soviets Get Credit For Many Innovations--Even The Veto

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The soulless treachery of the United States in claiming that certain of its citizens invented such things as the airplane, the electric light bulb, the phonograph, the telephone, cornflakes and the A-bomb has been touched upo nrecently by the indignant Soviet press.

As every Russian schoolboy now must know, and let us repeat "must," the Wright brothers were palpable plagiarists. The first plane was designed by A. F. Mozhaisky and flown, in July, 1882, by a pilot named Golubev.

Blow at Edison

Then, of course, it is a well-known fact, in Russia, that Lodygin, and not that gentle imposter named Thomas Alva Edison, made the first incandescent electric light, the phonograph and a half dozen other boons.

At the Atlantic City meet of the international telecommunications conference a couple of summers ago the Russian delegate was instructed to protest all reference to Marconi as the inventor of wireless. He found his first excuse of squawk when a delegate mentioned that he had received a Marconigram that day.

"The inventor of wireless was the great Russian scientist Popoff," the delegate of the U.S.S.R. thundered.

"Okay," the guy shrugged, "So I got a Popoffgram. Come to think of it, that's a better name for most of them anyway."

Others Are Noted

In line with the Russian claims, which must be true since they appeared in Pravda and have never been denied in any other Russian publication, I would like to list some other Soviet contributions of blessings to mankind:

Serge Pantski (1794-1801) invented the wheel, despite certain claims made in the final issue of the Neanderthal news. Inasmuch as he died of the plague at a tender age, Serge never learned the value of money. He gave his first wheel away to a playmate (Drambushnik, 1796-1798) and, therefore, must also be credited with the invention of free-wheeling.

Georgi Porgi (1902-1919) invented fire. Putting it to its first officially recognized use, he gave the Czarina's nursery a hot-foot and a good time was had by all except the Romanoffs, though one, Mike, escaped and—in revenge—is now putting the heat on the people of Beverly Hills, Cal.

Andrei Hrdlicka (A.D. 31-79) invented strong drink, which he named vodka after a family mule (which he had invented as a child). It is a well known fact that vodka was tested for the first time while Andrei was touring the Roman empire, lining up a member of Caesar's foreign affairs department strong enough to lift and run with a secret stone document.

Cause Pompei Explosion

Casually dropping a jigger of his newly invented potion on the crest of a verdant 5,000 peak near the wicked city of Pompei, he caused the mountain to erupt.

"Hot stuff!" he cried as the tidal wave of lava engulfed him, thereby coining an expression for which an American boor named Joe Miller later took credit.

Dmitrov Dmitrov (1114-1314) discovered Walla Walla, and explored the western portion of the United States before any American. Later he discovered Pago Pago, where he wrote "Rain" and established the fact that ministers of the gospel are all no 'count. He died on his 200th birthday, after inventing old age.

Alexander Ragtimesovich (1891——) discovered Berlin. Americans, eager to poison the minds of their young by filling his history books with base canards, have claimed that Berlin was discovered while singing as a waiter in the Bowery.

V. M. Molotov (1889——) invented the veto. Winching from the sour grapes of despair, and thoughts of their impending economic collapse, the Americans have attempted to deprecate this remarkable instrument. They are taking the same attitude that they took toward Russia's invention of the Knout, rubber hose and confessing system. The fact remains that, but for the timely invention of the veto, the United Nation might today be working, a calamity for all concerned.

Cowboys Back In The Saddle In Panhandle As Ice Storm Hits

CANADIAN, Tex., Jan. 12. (AP)—The cowboys are back in the saddle again. The mechanized feeding equipment has bogged down in an eight-inch mixture of snow and ice and horse-drawn wagons were being used today to haul feed to the stock.

Vincent Lockhart, publisher of The Canadian Record, said Hemphill and Roberts counties—where the cattle far outnumber the people probably have benefitted from the storm despite the damage to communications and roads.

Stock In Good Condition

The publisher quoted Hemphill County Agent Walter Grief as reporting livestock in good condition due to the heavy cover of the Canadian river breaks.

Lockhart said Canadian and vicinity had recorded two inches of moisture since the storm began last Sunday and that eight inches of "crushed ice" still remains on the ground, causing hazardous driving over the area.

He quoted highway patrolmen stationed at Perryton as saying the Canadian area was the most hazardous of all the Panhandle section, although all highways are open.

Joe Gamble, superintendent of the Coldwater Cattle Co., shared the view that the Panhandle cattle industry would benefit from the storm unless it becomes much worse.

Three of the company's ranches, located at Texhoma, Channing and Fritch, said feeding operations were being carried on without difficulty and no loss of stock had been reported.

Ranchers are spreading bundled fodder and cottonseed cake for cattle herds on the open ground.

Ranchers agree there will be some shrinkage during the cold spell, but point out cattle were in good condition when the storm began.

The precipitation has washed dust from the range grass which will improve winter grazing, stockmen said.

Plans Made To Speed Superbomber Output

FORT WORTH, Jan. 12. (AP)—The Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation said today it was stepping up its production of B-36 superbombers. The statement came after the Air Force announced that plans to build the B-49 flying wing at the Fort Worth plant had been abandoned.

While the Convair plant here was working to complete an order of 95 B-36's before the end of 1949, the Air Force declined to state how many additional superbombers were to be produced.

Convair engineers pointed out that tests showed the B-36 could perform all reconnaissance missions proposed for the B-49, and that the superbomber also had a far greater range and more striking power than the flying wing.

While the B-36 can fly upwards of 8,000 miles at extremely high altitudes without refueling, the B-49 has less than half that combat range.

The superbomber can carry a maximum bombload of 40 tons, three times more than the flying wing, the engineers said. According to reports, it is capable of flying 10,000 feet higher than the B-49.

The B-36 can carry "grand slam" earthquake bombs, some of which weight more than 21 tons.

Details Of WTCC Tax Plan Are Approved At Committee Meeting

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 12. (Special)—A program calling for permissive legislation for counties to benefit under the recently voted constitutional amendment diverting the state ad valorem taxes to the counties, has been approved here by the legislative enactment committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was held under the chairmanship of W. R. Cusenbary of Sonora, for the purpose of studying the bill which will be offered in the present session of the legislature by Sterling Williams of Snyder and I. B. Holt of Olton, to be known as the Williams-Holt bill.

Cities Would Benefit

"This is a most constructive program and will greatly improve and augment the economy of all West Texas for the next 50 years," said John D. Mitchell, Odessa, WTCC president, who attended the committee meeting with General Manager D. A. Bandeen and Joe C. James, research director, from the Abilene office.

Municipalities also may benefit from the proposed bill, which provides the manner in which the farm-to-market and lateral road program and flood control program may be carried out. Under the act a municipal corporation within the county may receive for water conservation and flood control purposes not to exceed one-third of the tax being levied upon the property within its corporate limits. In addition it is provided the property may not be assessed at a higher value than that fixed for county purposes.

The act also would give municipalities the right to pledge these funds in advance for bond funding purposes, which would permit the municipalities to proceed with a larger protective program. The act would make a potential minimum of approximately $1 million annually available to the cities. By proper funding of these amounts it would be possible for municipalities to inaugurate immediately some of their water programs, it was pointed out.

Judges Pledge Cooperation

At this meeting Judge Roger Garrett of Jones County, secretary of the West Texas County Judges Assn., gave assurance that the organization will conduct a campaign among all West Texas county officials in behalf of the measure's passage. Judge L. M. West of Channing, who is president of the association, could not be present, but previously had lent his support to the proposal. Other county officials in the South and East Texas areas also will be contacted for their support. Mayor Robert B. Herring of Breckenridge said a similar campaign will be urged on the part of city officials in Texas in support of the proposed act.

President Mitchell previously had announced that WTCC staff men would work directly through local directors in the West Texas area in support of the measure.

Paul Counts, Fort Stockton Chamber of Commerce manager, is secretary of the WTCC legislative enactment committee. J. Walter Hammond, Tye farmer and a member of the committee, could not be present at this meeting.

The legislative enactment group is a committee of the WTCC Soil Conservation commission, of which Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City is chairman. The Thompson committee last year made its study of the program for the diversion of these funds for local purposes, under which study it was revealed that with the proper funding plan it would be possible for at least 90 municipalities to provide water systems with money that is not now available, according to Bandeen. This, of course, would represent only a third of the revenue; while the remainder would develop more soil conservation and more farm-to-market and lateral roads within the counties than here-to-fore has been possible.

State Court Rules On Adoption Powers Of Probation Officers

AUSTIN, Jan. 12. (AP)—Power of probation officers and juvenile courts to use wide discretion in certain adoption cases was affirmed today by the state supreme court.

It upheld a Dallas district court's action in refusing a petition to adopt a child whose mother was mentally deficient and who was a ward of the state. The record showed the child had been awarded to Sam Davis, chief probation officer of Dallas county. W. F. Collins and wife cared for the child in their home on Davis' order, but he had not given his consent to final adoption.

The trial court judgment indicated, the supreme court's opinion said, that the petition for adoption was denied on grounds that the ages of Collins and his wife were too far advanced for purposes of adoption. The record showed that Collins was 62 and Mrs. Collins 45 at the time.

Surprise Strike Raises Hopes For Oil Producer Near Eastland

EASTLAND, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—Prospects appeared bright today for a good producer of the Tom Nobles lease test about two and a half miles southeast of here.

The well erupted in a surprise strike, catching fire before finally putting itself out and flooding surrounding land with pools of oil.

Drilling started last Dec. 17, and a depth of 3,164 feet had been reached when the strike was made. The gusher shot out of the rigging, and went 60 feet over the 84-foot mast. It continued flowing until mud fell in to stop the steady flow.

Mexico Outlines Plan For Laborers In U. S.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—The National Confederation of small farmers today announced a five point program for fair treatment of Mexican farm labor in the United States.

The announcement came five days before Mexican and United States authorities are scheduled to begin talks on a new migrant labor treaty between the two nations. Discussions are scheduled to start Jan. 17.

The old treaty was abrogated last year by Mexico when U. S. immigration authorities permitted the illegal entry of several thousand Mexican workers to southern United States fields.

The confederation's program states:

1. The new treaty must state the just salary in dollars for just hours of work.
2. Mexican workers must not be treated as inferiors to American laborers, and sanctions must be taken against employers who treat them as such.
3. Housing for the Mexican laborers must be comfortable and hygienic.
4. Employers must pay hospital expenses and salary for the time off due to sickness.
5. Employers must pay travel expenses to the Mexican border when the laborer has finished his contract.

Man Who Held Pistol On Bar Patrons Kills Self In Dallas

DALLAS, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—Dallas police said today a man who shot and killed himself in a Fort Worth hotel yesterday was the same man who held up about 15 customers at pistol point for four hours in a bar here last Sunday night.

He was Ed Dean, 42, a Dallas salesman.

Dean was taken in custody Sunday night shortly after the incident here but since no one was harmed, he was released Monday.

A justice of the peace at Fort Worth returned an inquest verdict of suicide.

Texas Flier Reported Killed In Airplane Crash In Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—The Air Force today announced the names of two American airmen recently killed in accidents in Japan.

First Lt. Alfred P. Reese, Peacock, Tex., was killed Tuesday when his F-51 crashed during a routine training mission.

At the same time the Air Force identified the victim of last Saturday's B-26 crash as aerial gunner Staff Sgt. Gabriel B. Rodrigues, 26, of Los Angeles. His plane collided in the air with another B-26 and crashed into a Japanese manufacturing plant near Kobe.

Rodrigues is survived by his mother, Mrs. Rose Rabiolo, and a sister, Sally Rodriguez, of Los Angeles.

Reese is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen G. Reese, who is in Japan, and by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Reese, Haskell, Texas.

Spanish Language To Be Primary Speech In Puerto Rico Schools

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Jan. 12. (AP)—The commissioner of education announced today that starting with the next school term in August, teaching will be principally in Spanish for high school grades. At present Spanish is used up to the junior high school grades.

He said the department expects the help of United States educators. These, he said, include Dr. H. T. Manuel of the University of Texas.

Shanghai Police Arrest Two Russians For Secret Broadcasts

SHANGHAI, Jan. 12 (INS) — Two Russians were charged in Shanghai today with operating a secret radio station which broadcast black market news for the benefit of Red agents.

The two, connected with White Russian associations which are ostensibly anti-Communist, were identified as S. Panshenko and his son A. Panshenko.

They were taken into custody Dec. 27 by officials of Shanghai's Nationalist army garrison.

They were said to have broadcast Communist propaganda along with the commercial news about the black market.

Garrison authorities said foreign businessmen who tuned in on the secret broadcasts may be implicated by a further investigation now in progress.

Lubbock Man Gets Silver Star For Part In Pacific Mission

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

The part of Chief Torpedoman R. B. Burnett of Lubbock in "a mission of major strategic importance"—that of removal of Gen. MacArthur from Corregidor in March of 1942—was recognized Wednesday afternoon in a ceremony in Lubbock federal building.

Torpedoman Burnett, a member of the motor torpedo boat squadron which took Gen. MacArthur through enemy waters to Mindanao island, received the Silver Star, the highest of several decorations he has received.

Has Numerous Awards

His other decorations include the Purple Heart ribbon, awarded for action in which he was wounded on Corregidor the night of May 5, 1942—the day before the fall of Corregidor.

The Silver Star was presented to Burnett in the Navy Recruiting office, where he has served since July 1946, byt Lt. J. F. Miller of Albuquerque, N. M., assistant officer in charge of the Albuquerque Naval Recruiting district.

"This man executed with marked skill and coolness a mission of major strategic importance and of the most hazardous nature in the face of greatly superior enemy forces, by command of General MacArthur," the citation stated.

Trip Is Described

At the time Gen. MacArthur was removed from Corregidor, on March 12, 1942, Burnett did not know the identity of those who boarded the four torpedo boats in motor torpedo boat squadron three, commanded by John Bulkeley. The men on Corregidor did not know their general was being taken off. His famous "I shall return" message was sent back to the island later.

"No one except the men accompanying him knew it," said Burnett. "In fact, we didn't know it until we got underway that night. Every man in the squadron got a silver star for that run."

The next morning when the squadron rendezvoused, the men could see General MacArthur. Half way between Corregidor and Mindanao, a U. S. submarine from Java surfaced, to see if General MacArthur had come safely that far through the enemy waters.

In Enemy Territory

"We picked him up one night at sundown at Corregidor," Burnett said. "We ran all that night and stayed all the next day at a small island. The following night we continued on to Mindanao. We were in enemy waters all the time. We knew there were Japanese aircraft and ships in the water. We encountered no enemy action, however. There were four boats in all. General MacAruthur, Ad-

Reserve Fund Is Also Proposed

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 12.—Bills enough to wipe out the healthy hundred million dollar surplus the state has been two years in building poured into the 51st Senate today.

It took senators little more than one hour—total time—to stack 50 proposed laws and two proposed constitutional amendments onto the secretary's desk in the second day of the new session.

The proposed changes in the constitution would:

1. Blow the $35,000,000 lid off the state's welfare program to permit state payment equal to national contributions for needy aged, blind and dependent children.

Reserve Fund Sought

2. Abolish requirement of a poll tax for voting.

The big money bills would salt away $50,000,000 in a reserve for a rainy day, allocate $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 to build rural roads, provide $4,196,075 for revamping the prison system, $9,000,000 for rural education aid deficit, $5,000,000, annually for soil conservation districts, $1,000,000 for a college at Beaumont, an estimated $70,000 for microfilming state records and documents.

There were bills, too, that called for no money or for only small amounts. Those included a bill to permit sale of surplus government lands to veterans, a bill to require drivers to show financial responsibility, one to create a real estate commission and one to establish a citrus commission.

Plan is Explained

While the $50,000,000 reserve fund proposed by Senator Keith Kelly of Forth Worth would come out of the current surplus, it would nevertheless set that amount aside in recognition that "prosperity does not continue forever."

It would also prevent any future surplus from climbing over the $25,000,000 mark. At that point the surplus would drain into the reserve fund.

All the reserve fund in excess of $60,000,000 would be subject to investment in U.S. government obligations, by a board of trustees composed of the governor, treasurer, comptroller, chairman of the board of control and attorney general.

Future legislatures in lean years could draw from the fund.

Road Fund Asked

Two bills sought funds for rural roads. One by Senators Mrs. Neville Colson of Navasota and G. C. Morris of Greenville and signed by 11 other senators asked $40,000,000.

The rural aid shot-in-the-arm was asked by Senator Morris to

METHODIST MINISTER TO SPEAK IN CITY FRIDAY

Veteran Missionary Says Japs Are 'Dead Serious' About Life, Religion And Their Country's Future

By A. B. SLAGLE
Avalanche Staff Writer

Shocked and sobered by what they now call mistakes of their leaders in the attack on the United States in 1941, the Japanese people are dead serious about life and the future of Japan, they like the Western (American) way of life and the training, and the vast majority of them seem to hope that America will not withdraw occupational forces for at least ten years.

Those are opinions of Dr. Edwin T. Iglehart, Methodist minister and educator who has spent, with exception of the war years, 45 years service in Japan as an educational missionary under sponsorship of the Methodist Board of Missions and Church Extension.

The veteran educator, whose vigor and enthusiasm belie his 70 years, is here this week in connection with a series of district meetings to promote the four-year Advance program of the Methodist church throughout the world.

The weather has interrupted the meetings, causing cancellation or postponement of some of them, and Dr. Iglehart is taking advantage of the situation to get some rest between conferences with various church leaders.

He is to speak Friday night at the district rally at First Methodist church here.

Talking informally with a group of friends across the dinner table here this week, Dr. Iglehart related from his wealth of experiences some of his ideas and observations concerning the Japanese people.

He first went to Japan in 1904, serving in various capacities, but mostly as an instructor in Aoyama Gakuin, Methodist college in Tokyo. He was called home a few weeks before Pearl Harbor day, and at the close of the war he returned to help rehabilitate the badly damaged college plant.

Due to Retire

After two years there, he returned to the states last summer, and is now subject to retirement, which he said he will probably accept, because of the ill health of his wife.

He said he has noticed a marked change in the attitude of Americans toward the Japanese since he returned to this country. He believes that most Americans, contrary to the general ill feeling immediately after close of the war, want to help the Japanese and feel that by so doing they will add much to settling a bad world situation.

Dr. Iglehart said there is little fun or foolishness among Japanese people now. They are deadly serious about life and their future, and look to America for the leadreship they hope will bring them out of the low depths into which they have been led.

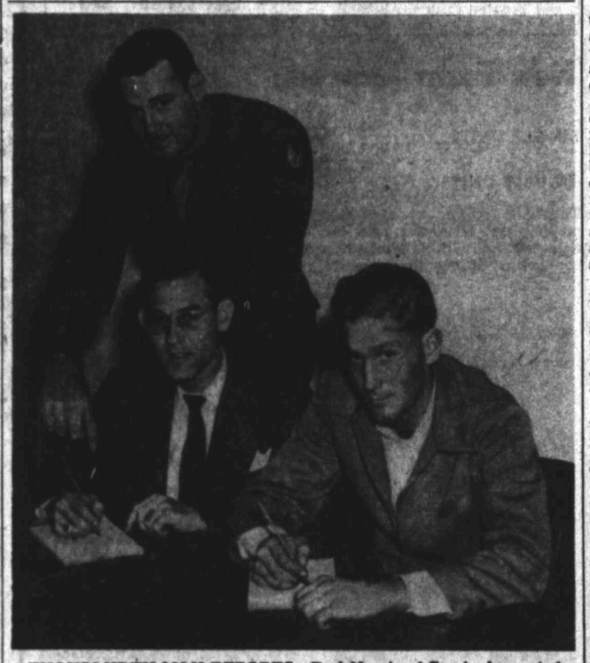

The people there realize that the American occupation is doing for them many things they could not possibly do for themselves. They like Western ideas and training, and clamor for places that will give them contact with this influence, he said.

Communism Disturbs Few

Among the world's most highly literate people on a national basis, the Japanese seem to have no fear of Communism. They take for granted the great noise stirred up on occasions by the few Communists in the nation, go about their usual tasks with typical energy, and shrug off any mention of Commie inroads. They do not like the Russian way of life, according to the speaker.

It is apparent, however, in Dr.

Texas Senators List Job Choices

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—Texas Senators Connally and Johnson, Democrats, today jointly recommended the appointment of two men to fill high government jobs in their state.

They recommended that John B. Dunlap of Dallas be named collector of internal revenue for the northern district of Texas, and that Kehoe C. Shannon of El Paso be appointed United States marshal for western Texas.

Their choices were disclosed in a statement issued following a conference this afternoon in Connally's office.

Harmony Is Foreseen

It was the first move in federal job patronage in Texas since the convening of the 81st Congress Jan. 3, and bore out previous indications of the two senators that they intend to work in harmony on such matters.

Actual appointments are made by the President, subject to confirmation of the Senate, but he is expected to follow recommendations of the Texas senators.

Johnson is beginning his first term as senator, succeeding former Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel. The latter was at constant odds with Connally over patronage.

A letter jointly signed by Connally and Johnson recommending Dunlap, an ex-serviceman, was sent to Treasury Secretary John Snyder.

Service Record Cited

In their letter to Snyder the senators said: "At the present time Colonel Dunlap is acting collector for the northern district of Texas and has served in this position for approximately two years.

"Colonel Dunlap has been employed in the Bureau of Internal Revenue for 15 years. For a considerable period of time Colonel Dunlap served as a member of the Texas National Guard and as an Army reserve officer. He served an active tour of duty in World War II for a period of six years.

"Colonel Dunlap's administration of his office as acting collector of internal revenue has been most competent and efficient."

In the letter to Clark the senators said:

"Mr. Shannon was born at Shafter, Tex., but is now a legal resident of El Paso.

"From May, 1938, to January, 1947, he served continuously with the United States marshal's office in El Paso. In January, 1947, he received a court appointment as

Former U. S. State Department Employe Re-Arrested In Germany

By DONALD DOANE
Associated Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 12.—A former State department employe accused of treasonous wartime collaboration with the Nazis has been re-arrested in Germany on orders from the U. S. Department of Justice.

U. S. Army officials said today Herbert John Burgman, 52, a native of Hokah, Minn., was arrested Nov. 22. He had been working a short time before as an interpreter for military police, and had been living with his German-born wife and 24-year-old son in Rumpenheim, a suburb of Frankfurt. He is held in an Army prison here, the provost marshal said.

Worked At Embassy

The arrest was the second for Burgman, who worked in the American embassy in Berlin for 20 years as a clerk and economic statistician.

He was first seized soon after the war and accused of making wartime radio broadcasts for the Nazis. After 19 months in prison he was released in December, 1946, on instructions from the Justice department, which originally ordered him held.

Since his release he has been living in Germany under orders to report regularly to Army Intelligence officers.

At the same time he was freed in 1945, the Justice department also turned loose Mildred Gillars and Donald Day, two other Americans accused of broadcasting for Hitler. The Gillars woman since has been re-arrested and charged with treason in the United States. She was charged with being the "Axis Sally" who broadcast Nazi propaganda to American troops during the war.

Army officials said Burgman reportedly broadcast over the Nazi radio during the war under the alias "Joseph Scanlon Burgman." His broadcasts, known as "station debunk" and "the voice of free Americans" were heard widely in the United States.

Army records showed Burgman became a clerk in the American embassy after serving in the U. S. Army of Occupation after the first World War.

In Washington, the Justice department said Burgman refused to be repatriated at the start of the last war and took a job with the German short wave radio. The department said it planned to fly him back to the United States later this month, when a treason charge against him will be presented to a grand jury at his point of landing.

Air Force Budget Slash Places Stress On Heavy Bomber Plans

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

American Air Force emphasis on construction of heavy bombers, under President Truman's call for a slowdown in spending, fits neatly into the concepts of many political and military observers.

Tactics in both fields, here and abroad, are involved.

The Western Allies do not have enough men or material for a war with Russia. Yet they are rebuilding Germany's industry almost under the Russian guns. This would prove a disastrous boomerang if the Russians should invade the Ruhr and turn it against us.

The ability of the American Air Force to penetrate Russia with the atom bomb is the key to allied military belief that the Ruhr and western Europe can be defended. The thesis is that allied ground forces, though inadequate for a real war, could hold long enough for full western mobilization if the bombers could quickly interrupt communications between Russia and her forces in Europe. The first call in war would be bombs on Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad and other key centers where command and supply would be concentrated.

That's the military concept. Ahead of that among political observers comes the belief that the ability of the American Air Force to penetrate Russia is the best insurance that the bombs will not be needed.

Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett emphasized that point when he said the Russians would make war whenever the Politburo thought it necessary to gain its ends and when it thought they could win. That can hardly happen before Russia develops the atom bomb and a delivery service which she considers at least equal to ours—cannot happen as long as we keep the edge we now have.

Jailer On Stand In Trial Spots Wanted Man In Courtroom

WAXAHACHIE, Jan. 12. (AP) — Willis Cox, Ellis county chief jailer, was a witness today in a district court case. While testifying he casually scanned the spectators.

After stepping down from the witness stand, Cox set out after a man he had seen standing in an aisle.

His suspicions were confirmed. It was a man for whom county officials had been looking for a year and a half, on a burglary charge. Cox and Sheriff E. Burl White took the man into custody. The man had been indicted by an Ellis county grand jury in 1947 following the burglary of the Southland Cotton Oil company.

The Texas senators did not say whether they had given any consideration at today's meeting to other federal job appointments in their state.

They are expected soon to announce their choices for appointments to the position of federal district attorney for the eastern district of Texas, and for collector of customs of the Galveston district.

Methodist Minister Says Japanese People Now Dead Serious About Starting New Life

Iglehart's opinion, that their fear of the future, whether because of Communism or other circumstances over which they have little control, is deep rooted but not often publicly expressed.

Their tremendous losses in manpower, money, and general world influence, brought on by the war, has sobered them into an even deeper feeling of national responsibility, the educator said.

Except for the presence of U.S. troops and many civilian workers in various parts of the nation, there is little outward evidence of American supervision, in government or otherwise. The nation is ruled by a government made up of native lawmakers and enforcement officers on a basis as near normal as authorities have been able to devise.

There is, however, a great deal of government control, including communication facilities, railroads, and similar projects.

Oriental Customs Persist

Many of the Oriental customs persist, such as tea drinking which has been indulged in by the people for centuries. Typical of growing acceptance of American ways of life, however, coffee is making inroads on that custom.

Except in very isolated cases, there is no ill feeling toward Americans because of the war, Dr. Iglehart said. They feel, instead, that it was an error in judgment by their own leaders, and they blame these leaders, not the Americans, for their tremendous losses. Their attitude is that they were misled by their leaders.

What about Christianity and Christian teachings in the nation?

Dr. Iglehart believes, like nearly all other church and military leaders, that in Japan Christianity today faces its greatest opportunity in 500 years or longer. He recalled a statement made in 1904 by Dr. John R. Mott, widely known Methodist layman, that "either you will send a thousand missionaries into Japan today (1904), or you will send a million soldiers later." That was the year Dr. Iglehart went to Japan.

He recalled that "we were slow in sending the missionaries. We muffed our first opportunity to make Japan a Christian nation, and we paid a fearful price."

Shintoism Gone

Now, he said, quoting Gen. Douglas MacArthur, "Christianity faces its greatest opportunity." Shintoism, the fanatical religion which made military conquest its god, has collapsed.

"The triumph of Allied arms has stripped the mask of divinity from the idols which the Japanese people worshipped. They are grouping for a new faith upon which to build their lives, their homes, their communities, and their nation."

Dr. Iglehart believes that Japan can never be led to Democracy without first being led to Christianity, because "it is out of the deep wellsprings of the Christian way of life that the finest and most permanent Democracy is born."

He said Shintoism crumbled of its own weight, because, being more of a nationalist fervor than a religion, it was government supported, and when this support was removed, it crumbled.

Dr. Iglehart believes that Christian education is one of the major means of reaching the people. He said that before the war one in 200 were Christians, but that there is a clamor now for admittance to Christian colleges.

Applications Turned Down

He said that recently, Aoyama Gakuin announced that 100 new students would be admitted. More than 1,200 filed applications.

There are not many denominational activities in Japan, the veteran educator said. Most denominations have joined under the banner of Christians to form the Union church. He said there is no Methodist organization as such in Japan, but the church is joining others in the united effort.

Asked about the effects of denominational lines and doctrines of the Japanese, Dr. Iglehart said he feels that would have little bearing, because Buddhism, the predominanting religion there today, has hundreds of different doctrines and creeds, and the people are accustomed to such.

At beginning of the war, there were about 100 colleges and universities in Tokyo, third largest city in the world. Of these, he said, 20 or more were government institutions, 40 to 50 were Buddhist, and eight to ten more were Christian. Many of them were destroyed or damaged during the war, and not all have been reopened.

Degrees Limited

One of these was the Tokyo Imperial university, one of five top grade universities in the empire, all government supported, that are permitted to confer a doctor's degree. No others can go above the bachelor's degree. The other four major institutions are in other parts of the empire, and because of rules and restrictions, very few Christians gain entrance to any of the five.

Christian leaders there and in America have worked out a plan, therefore, to establish a Christian university, probably in Tokyo, that would be on a par with the Imperial universities.

A campaign has been launched under the united Christian banner, to raise $15,000,000 in the United States for such an institution. All denominations would join in the campaign, and contributions will be open to business as well as church circles.

Dr. Iglehart is highly optimistic over the future of Japan, feeling that this time, Christians of the world will rally to an open-arms opportunity to help establish a Christian democracy in a nation rocked to its foundation by a world upheaval.

miral Rockwell and several high ranking air force and Army generals were on the boats, besides the 48 crew members."

After he was placed on Mindanao island, General MacArthur flew to Australia.

Was Taken Prisoner

Less than a month after going through that mission safely, Burnett was taken prisoner by the Japanese in the fall of Corregidor on May 6, 1942. He was held prisoner until Sept. 10, 1945, when he was released in Keyto, Japan.

American doctors who were taken as prisoners treated the wounded American prisoners.

A member of the first group of American prisoners to arrive on Japan proper, Burnett arrived at Osaka Nov. 11, 1942. The men realized they were arriving in Japan for imprisonment on the anniversary of the World War I armistice, but were too glad to arrive safely to spend much time thinking of the date, said Burnett. They had made the trip on a ship carrying about 1,900 prisoners of war and about 2,000 Japanese soldiers. Burnett was imprisoned in Osaka until May, 1945, when he was sent to Keyto.

In addition to the Silver Star and the Purple Heart, he has received the Presidential Unit citation, Army distinguished unit badge with one Oak Leaf cluster, Good Conduct ribbon, American Defense medal with one bronze star, Asiatic-Pacific medal with one bronze star, World War II victory ribbon and Philippine Defense medal with one bronze star.

The Silver Star is exceeded by only a few decorations which may be won by a member of the armed forces. Higher decorations include the Medal of Honor, Navy Cross and Distinguished Service medal.

The certificate accompanying the Silver Star bears the signature of Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall.

At the time of the mission for which he received the medal, Burnett was a torpedoman, second class.

He has been in the Navy since October of 1938. When he receives his discharge March 11, he will reenlist, he said. He is to be transferred from Lubbock this month or next.

EFFICIENCY MINUS

ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—A governmental research institute survey disclosed that clerks in the city's magistrate courts worked only half the time, spending the rest of it on the telephone with "personal and political" calls. It also found that neither of the two stenographers could take shorthand and one couldn't even use the typewriter.

take care of debts incurred by borrowing last year to meet teacher payrolls and the shortage this year.

The pay raises for state employes are asked by bills by Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano. The bills would also include minor state officials whose salaries are not set by the constitution and would raise daily traveling allowances from $5 to $7 and car expenses from 5 to 6 cents per mile to 6 and 7 cents per mile.

New Cable Links Midwest And Atlantic Coast In TV Network

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—The new coaxial cable network linking the Atlantic coast and the Mississippi valley by television was hailed today as an important step in preserving national unity.

The last gap in the network was closed last night, hooking television stations in 15 eastern and midwestern cities onto a single wire loop.

Video fans in homes, bars and auditoriums thrilled as civic, radio and communications officials greeted each other over the 2,110-mile network during the inaugural broadcast last night.

Reception Claimed Good

Expert and laymen agreed that generally the reception over the long-distance loop was as good as that shown on screen when broadcast over local stations.

Officials said the network, which will be extended over 12,000 miles by the end of this year, would be important in preserving the country's unity by disseminating information and culture over wide areas, thus preventing intensive regionalism.

As he pushed the botton closing the final gap in the coaxial cable —between Cleveland and Philadelphia—Cleveland Mayor Thomas A. Burke said the ceremony was as notable as when the golden spike was driven joining the first coast-to-coast railroad.

Special Show Given

Just before the gap was closed Cleveland station WEWS presented a show depicting a circus strong man slowly pulling together the two ends of the coaxial cables. The ends met just as Burke pushed the button that let the first TV show from New York be broadcast to residents in the midwest.

Many television set owners telephoned their local stations to say that reception was "wonderful."

Jules Herbuveaux, television manager for NBC's central division, emphasized that the "coaxil cable is going to be a two-way affair."

Every city except Pittsburgh reported reception as "perfect." At Pittsburgh, reception was wavy and flickering in spots and the image failed entirely for a five-minute period.

Cities linked by the network are

Church Workers To Attend School Here

Feb. 27 through March 4 have been set as dates for the tenth annual Cooperative Leadership Training school conducted by Lubbock churches for church workers.

Plans were discussed for the training school at a meeting conducted Monday in the office of Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of First Methodist church. The meeting was attended by representatives of the First Nazarene, First Presbyterian, Westminster Presbyterian, Chapel Presbyterian, St. John's Methodist, Asbury Methodist, Overton Methodist, First Christian, Pioneer Memorial Methodist and First Methodist churches.

The school will be conducted at the First Christian church. Administrative officials will include Rev. C. E. Gleason, associate pastor of the First Christian church, who will serve as dean; Rev. David V. Sieberg, pastor of Shepherd King American Lutheran church, director; Miss Johnnie Margaret Price, educational director at St. John's Methodist church, registrar and treasurer; Rev. D. L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, who will have charge of books, and J. T. Carter, executive assistant at the First Methodist church, in charge of publicity.

Courses and instructors will be announced later.

SWEARS HER FATHER IN

BELLAIRE, O. (U.P.)—Sally Sue Witten, admitted to law practice last summer, finally got a chance to do her father a good turn. Bernard G. Witten was sworn in for his third term as a Belmont county common pleas judge by his daughter.

New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Richmond, Boston, Pittsburgh and Schnectady in the east, and Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo on the midwest loop.

Peron Asks New Citizenship Law

BEUNOS AIRES, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—An attempt is going to be made to revise the Argentine constitution soon to provide that foreigners who have lived two years or more in Argentina must become citizens or leave the country.

This was one of several changes President Juan D. Peron told his followers will be made during a constitutional reform convention which will open here Monday.

Peron Holds Control

Peronista delegates will occupy 109 of the 158 seats at the convention, virtually assuring approval of any revisions asked by the president.

Peron gave details of his plans for constitutional revision in a speech to a meeting of Peronist delegates to the convention yesterday at a children's holiday camp in the grounds of his summer palace at Olivos.

The president said that the "naturalize-or-leave" amendment to the constitution would apply to all foreigners with two years or more residence in Argentina, "whether continuous or discontinuous."

Other Changes Planned

He said the constitutional amendment would give newly naturalized citizens all the rights of native Argentinians, except that they would not be allowed to vote until they had been citizens for five years.

The national congress, which is dominated by Peronistas, would pass a law later to establish requirements for citizenship, Peron said.

The president denied that the proposed constitutional reforms would transform Argentina into a dictatorship, and said:

"We shall respect tradition—we'll make an Argentine reform of the Argentine constitution."

He called the constitution of 1853 "magnificent in its day" and said much of it would be retained, but added that economic and social aspects of it needed drastic change.

Going through the constitution article by article, he said that 49 of the present 110 articles should be readopted without change. The other 61 would be modified or repealed. Among those repealed would be a number dealing with the congress, which would lose some rights, while the power of the executive branch would be enhanced.

EXES TO ORGANIZE

MIDLAND, Jan. 12. (Special)—A club for the exes of the University of Oklahoma is to be organized in the Permian Basin. A meeting is scheduled January 20 at the Officer's Club, Midland Air Park, at 8:30 p. m. for a discussion on the forming of the organization and its future activities. The business meeting will be followed by a "social hour." All ex-Sooners are invited to attend.

10,000 Homeless In Mexican Flood Area

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12. (U.P.)—Cold and hunger stalked through northwestern Mexico today in flood-stricken Sinaloa and Sonora states. An estimated 10,000 persons are homeless in the area, and latest press reports place the rising death toll at five.

Government officials here this morning said that latest radio-telephone communications from the area indicate that strong rains are continuing. They, however, denied that a new crest in the flood waters was expected.

Flood waters stand five feet deep in the Mayo river valley. Crops are considered a complete loss, with damage estimates ranging up to $5,000,000.

Five Bodies Found

A provincial correspondent in Navajoa told newspapermen here by telephone that four bodies had been found today floating in backwaters from the flood. The body of a dead youth was located yesterday in the ruins of his house.

Government spokesmen said the greatest single loss in the disaster was the destruction of the Oviachi dam, which spans the swift Yaqui river. The dam controlled irrigation for an area of several thousand acres.

The governor of Sinaloa, Gen. Macias Valenzuela, said today by phone that the rampaging El Fuerte river had carried away three spans of a large highway bridge across the river in Sinaloa. He said that rains had slowed down in Sinaloa and that he expected the waters to recede some today.

Government spokesmen said that food, medicine and clothing are being taken in to the stricken area by boat and truck as rapidly as possible.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulgy person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit — back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

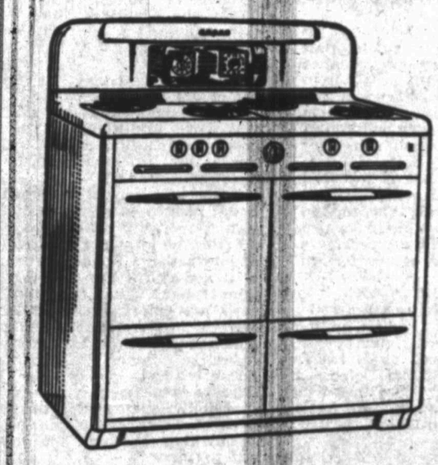

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

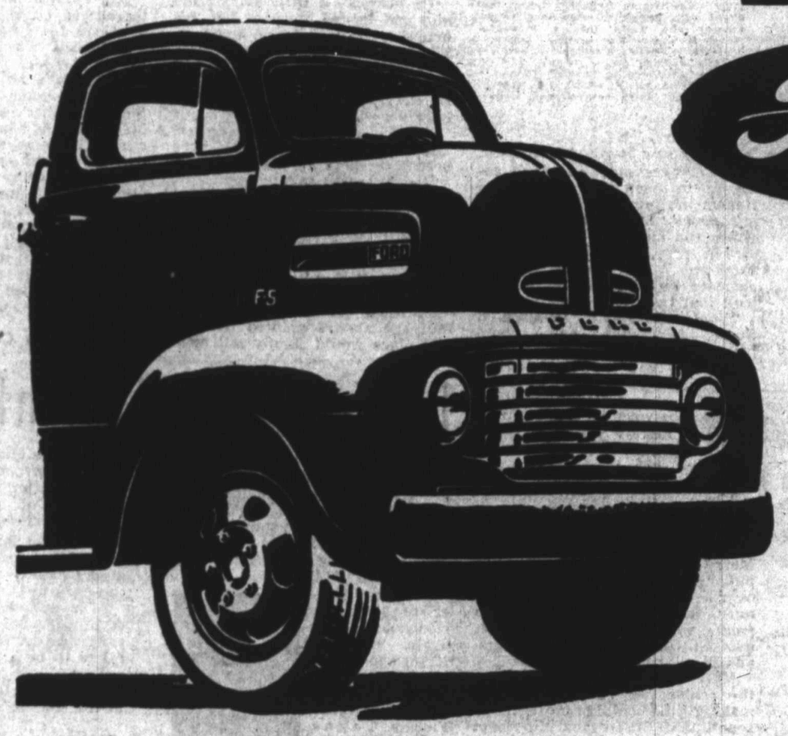

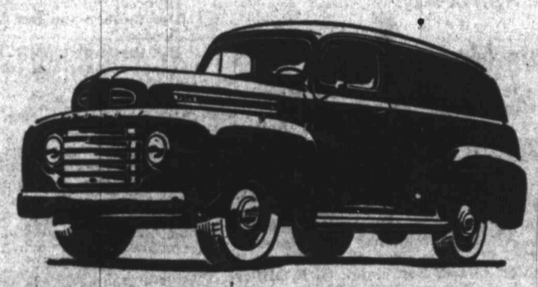

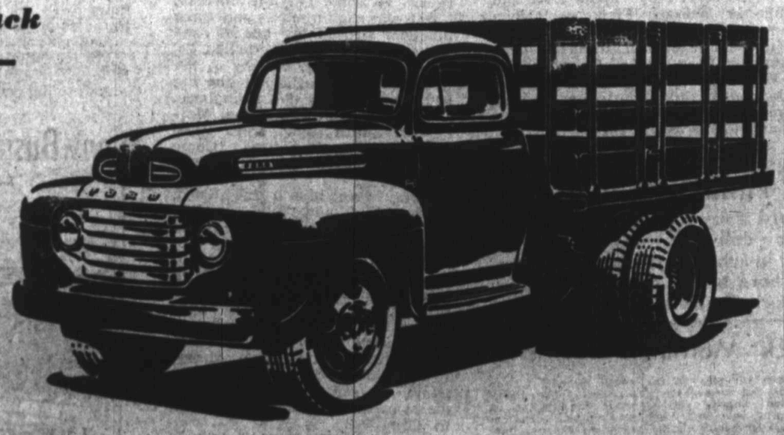

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money. Adv.

YOUR TAX MONEY

It'll All Be Spent!

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S guesses as to budget requirements and probable government revenues have been so wide of actual marks during the past three years as to cast doubts upon the accuracy of estimates he reported this week for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

He told Congress that $41,858,000,000 will be needed to carry on the government during that year and that tax increases totaling $6,000,000,000 will be necessary to finance the operations.

If his guesses aren't any better than for the fiscal years 1947, 1948 and 1949, his figures don't mean a thing.

His budget estimate for 1947 was $35,100,000,000. Congress, despite a great cry about "economies," authorized expenditures totaling $42,500,000,000. Mr. Truman estimated revenues for that year at $31,500,000,000. They actually totaled $43,300,000,000.

In 1948, the budget estimate was $37,500,000,000. Expenditures were $39,300,000,000. Mr. Truman's estimate of revenue was $37,700,000,000. Collections totaled $44,700,000,000.

Figures for the current fiscal year won't be final until after June 30. But it was significant that Mr. Truman, who predicted a deficit exceeding $5,000,000,000 last Spring if taxes were reduced, has reduced that figure to $873,000,000. Opinion in Washington is that a surplus will be shown when tax collections are in.

Just what, if anything, these figures may prove we do not pretend to know. But they do confirm, among other things, that Washington has been spending in almost total disregard of supposed budget limitations; that advance estimates of revenue have been wholly unreliable and that, regardless of income, the government invariably has managed to spend practically every cent it took in.

The Airport Party

THE dedication celebration scheduled at Municipal airport next February 19 has commendable features, even though the date involves considerable chance-taking with the weather. Anything which spreads constructive information about Lubbock, its airport and airline facilities and its other assets serves a useful purpose.

However, an occasion for a much more elaborate celebration will be the completion of the $360,000 airport terminal building, for which the cornerstone laying is planned on February 19.

But the building probably won't be completed for another year or longer. The February celebration should not conflict in any way with something more elaborate when the terminal is ready for occupancy. On the contrary, the approaching observance should arouse added interest in whatever may be arranged for the event of about one year further in the future.

Remember the good old days when the landlord would re-paper the apartment and give you the first month's rent in order to induce you to rent it?

Lawmakers have a droll sense of humor. They declare the husband the head of the house, and give the pedestrian the right of way.

The Truman Deal?

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Life seems bright and beautiful to sixteen-year-old Merry Carson, whose big moment in Tip Kennedy, captain of the high school football team, When Tip suggests they become formally engaged after they finish school, Merry is dazed with happiness. But that very evening, she walks into a strange scene at home. Her mother, Susan, hysterically tells Merry that Kin, Merry's dashing father, wants a divorce—that there is another woman. When Susan wisely abuses the other woman, Kin loses control and slaps her.)

III

MERRY saw Susan stagger back, her eyes wide, one hand going up to touch with incredulous fingers the faint reddish mark on her cheek. She saw Kin's face, white and sick and ashamed.

"I'm sorry, Susan; that was unforgivable," he said through clenched teeth, and gave Merry a look that twisted her heart.

"You struck me," whispered Susan, as though shame could have no further depths. She looked at him with dawning horror, and suddenly she was shaking violently and screaming wildly, half-way between tears and laughter. And Merry, who had never seen her mother overwrought and now saw her in hysteria, was frightened out of her wits.

There was a hideous interval during which, between them, with Susan fighting Kin's touch, screaming and kicking, he and Merry carried her upstairs and put her to bed. Merry hovered over her, feeling as though all this must be some ghastly nightmare from which she would soon awaken, until the doctor came and gave Susan a sedative.

Merry sat beside her, holding the convulsively twitching hand, making little soothing murmurs of sound, until Susan sank into sleep. And then Merry went on sitting there, feeling as though the whole world had come apart around her and she were sitting in the terrifying rubble, her breath strangled by the dust of chaos.

Divorce!

Her mother and her father!

Divorce!

But that was impossible! People like her mother and father didn't get divorces!

SHE had always been so proud of her father, of his lean, hard good looks; of his superb sense of humor; of his popularity in the town. He was an important man in business; head of a big manufacturing firm that during the war had been loaded down with government duties, when he had practically commuted between Washington and Marshallville. She had always been innocently and frankly proud of him. And now to find that he had been all tangled up with another woman—her Dad!

Why, it just didn't make sense! It was all some horrible mistake.

She was shaking now, and when the door behind her opened, she whirled, unpleasantly startled.

Kin stood there, looking at the woman who lay asleep in the big bed where Merry had been born.

"She'll sleep till morning, Merry, Dr. Smith said." Kin's voice was low and very tired. "Come downstairs, chick. I want to talk to you."

Merry rose like a frightened, docile child, and followed him down the stairs and into the living room. Kin stood for a long moment in front of the big fire of logs that blazed on the open hearth, his hands sunk deeply in his pockets, his handsome dark brown head, in which there was not a single thread of gray, bent.

"I'd give my right arm, Merry, if I could have spared you that scene," he said at last heavily. "I didn't dream that Susan would go to pieces."

"Is it true, Dad? I mean that you're walking out on us?" Merry whispered it, her tone thick with fear.

KIN caught her close in gentle arms that, for all their gentleness, would not be denied.

"Merry, Merry, my dearest child, how can I possibly make you understand?" he said, and his voice was an agony of tenderness. "You're so young."

"I'm going on 17, Dad," she reminded him thickly.

"Come to think of it, you are, aren't you?"

He held her a little away from him and looked down at her, his handsome brows drawn together. Then his voice quickened. "Well, darling, maybe after all there is some hope that you can understand. It's just this, Merry: I've been very lonely these last years."

Puzzled and hurt, she protested, "But, Dad, Mother and I have been right here all the time."

His smile was faintly wry.

"Bodily, yes," he admitted. "But Susan has always been preoccupied with her domestic problems; and you've been busy growing up. And—well, a man yearns for understanding companionship. I've asked Susan to take trips with me, when I had to make them; but she always pointed out that the place would simply fall apart without her."

"And so you found somebody else to make trips with you, Dad?" asked Merry.

Kin studied her curiously, and there was an unhappy quirk to his clean-cut, good-looking mouth.

"Well, it wasn't exactly that kind of affair, pet," he said at last. "Lissa is not exactly a traveling companion to a lonely man. She's a rather wonderful person, Merry. She is a widow. She is an expert business woman; she has dabbled a bit in politics; her Washington home is a place where all sorts of interseting people gather. Oh, it's so doggone hard to make you understand what she is like. But—well, chick, some day I hope you will meet her."

"Oh, no!" It was a little involuntary cry of pain and sharp distaste. "I'm sorry, Dad, but I couldn't."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

EVERY winter, when the snow is on the ground and the roads are icy, and we are stuck for a week or so, my wife and I swear that we won't spend another winter in this confounded New England, gosh ding it, gosh darn it, x%!zywq"!!

BRANDEIS

This is another of those periods, and once again we are trying to make up our minds whether to settle in California, Florida, Texas, or any other place where the sun shines the year 'round and where you never have to shovel snow, break ice or worry about whether or not the oil people are going to come around.

This year it happens to be the Virgin Islands.

A friend of ours has been raving to us about St. Croix, which she says, is Paradise on earth.

She recently came back from there and she is going down again next week. She rented a house with four acres of land, all for $130 a month, including millions of flowers, eternal sunshine, servants for next to nothing and Heaven practically at your fingertips.

So maybe we will go to the Virgin Islands and settle down there for the rest of our lives.

And maybe all these columns will be written from Paradise-on-Earth.

And maybe not.

Flowers. Sunshine. Climate. Blue skies. Zephyrs.

And what else?

Can't you imagine the deadly monotony of the whole business after you have had your fill of all that paradisical loveliness?

Can't you imagine yourself becoming a beachcomber and a lazy loafer—and dead from the neck up?

I have nothing against an earthly Paradise.

Every year for a few weeks I like to be a tourist in such a Paradise.

But then I like to get back to life and to living.

I WROTE the other day that I love Texas. I am crazy about California. Florida is wonderful in winter, New Hampshire in summer.

I detest New York City and I am thoroughly fed up with New England.

But I really don't want to live more than about an hour away from New York, and I certainly don't want to make my home anywhere else but in this terrible New England.

And do you know why?

This is where we have our roots. This is where we have many friends. This is where every tree, every flower, every shrub is something that is part of our lives.

My wife swears that the same chickadees and woodpeckers and nuthatches that were here last winter are back again, and brought their young.

She is feeding every last one of them and wouldn't think of letting them starve in these tough New England winters.

We just planted two golden willows. You don't think that we would leave without seeing them grow, do you?

Paradise? Why, folks, we are in paradise—HOME.

DESPITE GOP REVOLT

Taft Holds Ground

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The attack on Senator Robert A. Taft as Republican Policy Leader in the Senate is generally attributed to the haunting fear of the thirteen rebels that they face defeat for reelection unless the G.O.P. polishes the party facade, even though its basic principles are left untouched.

TUCKER

Five of the anti-Taft ringleaders must face the voters in 1950, and seven must try their luck at the polls in 1952. Only one, Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, had to buck last November's Truman trend, and he has another six years to make safe his seat.

It is understood that he signed up with the Young Turks largely because his colleague, Bay Stater Henry Cabot Lodge, was the candidate of the cabal.

STRENGTHEN: President Truman carried the states of two of the more rebellious leaders—Massachusetts and California, which Senator William F. Knowland represents.

The Chief Executive made an amazingly strong showing in states represented by other members of the group, largely because of his appeal to labor. So, naturally, they pounced on Mr. Taft, coauthor of the law so disliked by union bosses, as a sacrifice.

But the significant fact is that all but one of the thirteen voted to override Mr. Truman's veto of this measure. The only member who sided with the Chief Executive was Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Thus it seems obvious that the sentiment for unseating the Ohioan did not develop until after his fellow-conservative associates read the presidential election returns.

And the further fact, is as the writer has noted previously, that the supposedly reactionary Taft has a far more "liberal" record on such issues as federal aid to housing, health and education than his assailants. Indeed, it is generally believed that the abortive demonstration has served to strengthen its proposed victim by throwing the spotlight on his philosophy.

ISOLATIONIST: Even the anti-Taft factor tinctured with a few drops of honest and purposeful idealism had a strong smell of practical politics. An unspoken but strong argument against his retention as Policy Director was his so-called isolationist complex.

Although the Ohioan did not make an obstreperous fight on the question, he voted to the end for a cut in funds to implement the Marshall Plan at the last session. He based his objection not so much on any unwillingness to aid Western Europe as on the tremendous burden it placed on the already oppressed taxpayers.

When the Senate's leading isolationists—Brooks of Illinois, Revercomb of West Virginia, Wilson of Iowa, Ball of Minnesota and Robertson of Wyoming—were swept out of office last November in normally Republican territory (with the possible exception of West Virginia), the fearful thirteen concluded that it was time to make their peace with 1950 and 1952 voters on this issue.

In fairness, however, it should be noted that a majority of the baker's dozen are sincere in their support of the Marshall Plan.

PRESTIGE: The uprising against Mr. Taft has cost Governor Thomas E. Dewey whatever influence or prestige he has enjoyed among the Republican membership of Congress since his November 2 defeat, and that has not been much. When the GOP-ers speak of him henceforth as the party's "titular leader," the accent will be on "titular."

No matter how violently Senator Irving L. Ives denies that the 1948 presidential nominee was a silent party to the rebellion, few of the New York Senator's associates believe him. They regard it as one of those diplomatic denials so common around Washington.

They note first that Mr. Ives, a Dewey protege, would hardly have played so prominent a role if he thought it would be objectionable or politically disadvantageous to the man at Albany. Their attitude is that if Mr. Ives began the scrap without first warning or consulting the New York Governor, the Senator is "dumber" than any politician has a right to be.

DISASSOCIATE: The Republicans do not have to jog their memories too hard to recall that Senator Lodge sat at Mr. Dewey's side as an adviser on foreign problems from start to finish of the campaign.

And they think it more than coincidental that Everett P. Dirksen of Illinois, another Dewey sidekick, is the man most prominently advanced as a replacement for Hugh Scott, Jr., the National Chairman.

If he thinks it worth while, and if he still retains any interest in national politics after 1944 and 1948, the only way that Mr. Dewey can square himself with Mr. Taft and a vast majority of GOP politicians on Capitol Hill is to issue a public statement on the episode. Nor will it be enough for him to disassociate himself from the movement. He must deplore it.

WISECRACK: Anyway, it may be significant that the Dewey reverse coincides with lively circulation of a Congressional quip in which the November outcome is interpreted as "another triumph of mind over matter." And nobody laughs more gleefully at the yarn than the Republicans. Here is the wisecrack:

"It was a triumph of mind over matter because Truman didn't mind what he said, and what Dewey said didn't matter."

A poor pun, but it goes to show how little it takes to shake Republican sides these days.

"One way to appease hunger is to dissolve something bitter in the mouth," says a physician. Another way is to eat some food.

"Being poor isn't bad when you get used to it," declares a pseudo-philosopher. Well, maybe not, but who could live that long, or would want to under the circumstances?

"Six quarts of oil will cover a square mile of ocean," thereby forming a film almost as thin as the veneer of civilization.

"A yawn is the first reflex of the new-born baby," says a physician. It must be that a new-born baby knows a great deal more about the kind of world he landed in than we have been giving him credit for knowing.

"The public has no faith in politicians," deplores an editor. At that, though, it has more faith in politicians than they have in one another.

"Landlord Arrested for Robbing Tenants." —Headline. Can this be news?

IN U.S. FOREIGN POLICY

Military Influence Is Eased

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — It looks as if military-banker influence on our foreign policy finally is to be toned down—and high time.

That inference, at least, may be drawn from last weekend's shift in the two top spots in our State department, though President Truman was careful to say there will be no change in our foreign policy when he announced the replacement of Secretary George Marshall by Dean Acheson and appointment of James E. Webb, director of the budget, to succeed Robert A. Lovett, banker, as undersecretary.

STOKES

The new top officials, who will take office January 20, are both lawyers. Mr. Acheson steps back, after a year and a half absence, to head a department in which he has had long experience both as assistant secretary and undersecretary. He was the real architect of the Marshall Plan.

Tribute Paid Marshall

This shift may become potentially more important as a change of climate if, as seems likely, it presages the eventful retirement also, though it is not expected right away, of Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, a career investment banker, who left the presidency of Dillon, Read and company in 1940 to come here as assistant Secretary of Navy. Mr. Lovett, who served during the war as Assistant Secretary of War for Air, came to Washington about the same time from New York, where he was a partner in Brown, Brothers, Harriman and Co.

To say that the change in the State department top post seems a healthy circumstance is not to detract at all from the great soldier and citizen and his services to the nation as military leader and statesman. But Marshall was, after all, a military man. As such he was a symbol, at the head of the department charged with direction of foreign policy, of the military which had become all too pervasive in formulation of our foreign policy.

It ramified in several directions—into diplomacy, where military men were given important assignments, as well as in the Department of National Defense, itself. The latter department has shared in direction of foreign policy in the troublous post-war era.

It all comes down to the simple fact that military men look at foreign policy in terms of military strategy almost exclusively — which needs no further proof than to sit here and listen to them. It is no fault of theirs, for that is their training. Military strategy, of course, has its part, but it is not all, and too preponderant military influence is not healthy in direction of foreign policy of a great Democracy which now has such a responsible, and also such a delicate, mission to keep peace in the world. Civilian influence should be predominant.

The strong influence of the military on foreign policy, which is obvious to any close observer of affairs here, was noted recently in the report from the Hoover commission committee which studied the department of defense and the related security organization. In emphasizing that the Secretary of Defense is unable to "keep the whole process in order" because of lack of authority and too loose and diffused a set-up, the report said:

Report Is Noted

"In the result, instead of policy determining strategy, and strategy in turn determining its military implementation in terms of the size and nature of the military establishment, the tendency is in the reverse direction. To far too great an extent, the unilateral aims and policies of the military services are combining to make the strategy they are supposed to serve, and the strategy is tending to make national policy.

The committee has noted instances of officers of relatively low rank adopting, in the course of their staff planning, assumptions in regard to matters of the highest policy — matters which should be decided by no less than the President acting on the advice of the national security council."

While the committee was speaking of a fault in organization, its comment shows how the military will move into situations to impose their influence on policy that is not, in the first instance, their concern at all.

As to why banker participation is not healthy in direction of foreign policy, it will suffice to point to the influence and relation of international finance in foreign affairs, which it has been the administration's professed aim to curb, particularly in respect to the cartels in Germany and Japan, with some of which powerful American financial institutions formerly had connections. The Defense department shares responsibility jointly with the State department in occupation policy, if anything, has been the dominant partner.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (AP) — The grain market backed and filled without getting anywhere on the board of trade today. Feature of the day's dealings was the comparative steadiness of wheat and easiness of soybeans.

Wheat led an attempt at an early rally, getting up nearly a cent at one time. Selling then hit soybeans and lard, spreading to all pits. Everything dropped below the previous close. After that, wheat again led a timid rally.

Wheat closed ¼-⅝ higher, May $2.27-2.27¼, corn was unchanged to ⅛ lower May $1.47⅛-¼, oats were unchanged to ⅛ lower, May 77⅛-¼, rye was ⅛-⅜ lower, May $1.89¼-⅜; soybeans were 1½-2¼ lower, March $2.49¾-½, and lard was 5 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $15.47.

MARKET IS IN RUT

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (AP)—The stock market tried to get out of the week's narrow rut today but remained stuck fast.

Prices leaped ahead very slightly a good part of the day but there was no punch behind the buying and closing quotations showed an evenly balanced mixture of small price changes.

Turnover of 716,000 shares was even with yesterday.

The market has reached a waiting stage after the short-lived buying enthusiasm which followed the President's state of the union message.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks slipped .1 of one point to 68.5.

Today's market was even narrower than yesterday, with only 894 issues traded against 984. 370 advanced and 326 declined.

The Air Force reshuffling of plane orders seemed to have caused a little confusion. Consolidated Vultee, which could be expected to benefit from the new emphasis on long-range heavy bombers, advanced for a while but later fell back and closed ½ lower to 10¼.

A couple of the gold issues which improved yesterday ended in the minus column. Dome was down ⅛ at 15 and Homestake ⅝ at 36⅝.

Pure Oil dropped ⅜ to 21 in the face of a 25 cent extra dividend.

Also lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, General Electric, American Woolen, Orsel Northern Preferred, Standard Oil (NJ), Pacific Western Oil, and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Boosted a bit were General Motors, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Schenley, Electric Power and Light, International Nickel, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Santa Fe, Texas Co., Gulf Oil, Transcontinental and Western Air, and American Airlines.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP) — Cotton futures were easy today on hedge selling and scattered profit taking. Failure of the market to show any follow through buying, after the sharp advance as nearby March approached the 32.50 cents a pound level which also discouraged rallying tendencies. Spot house buying of about 10,000 bales in nearby March and May futures featured early dealings and was attributed by some traders to covering against export business.

Futures closed 5 to 30 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Lambs around 25 higher; ewes steady; good and choice 86 lb. clipped lambs with No. 2 and 3 skins 22.50; others with similar pelts 22; good and choice wooled skins 22.75, some held higher; good and choice slaughter ewes 10.50.

PAVIA TO GET BANNER

VENICE. (AP)—At the national students' meeting in Perugia the centuries-old banner of Pavia University disappeared. It was sighted a few days later on the Venice University of Commerce's main balcony, exhibited as a students' trophy. Earlier police had been informed of the disappearance of the banner. But an agreement between the two universities settled the matter: Pavia students will send a delegation to Venice and get back their ancient banner, after tendering a good many rounds of white wine to the Venetian "conquerors."
