FLORIDA TAKES ACTION

Inquiries Pour in From Southeastern State Regarding District Securities

Among those to be heard from today was the prosecuting attorney at Clarksburg, W. Va., who stated that it seemed necessary to take immediate action in Harrison county there in view of the Texas decision.

Numerous inquiries are being received from Florida, and it is understood that when Attorney General Moody of Texas is ready under the consent granted him recently by the court to move to have the matter re-opened, that several states will join Missouri in supporting his motion.

"Petting Parties" In Taxicabs Put Under Ban by Rome Police

ROME, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Taxicab "petting parties" have been banished in the eternal city by the latest edict in a nation-wide campaign against the growing influence of the "jazz age."

All taxicabs equipped with shades which may be drawn across the windows have had these shades fastened shut by means of tiny locks. Each of the locks bears the lead seal of the Rome perfect so that a chauffeur who permits a client to break it to shut himself off from public view can easily be caught. A fine is the penalty.

EVIDENCE ON MELLON-OWNED FIRM DEMANDED

Secretary of Treasury Is Stockholder in Accused Corporation

INQUIRY REQUESTED

Senators to Continue Fight For Committee Investigation of Firm

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Evidence furnished by the aluminum company of America and withheld from the department of justice by the federal trade commissioner was called for today by the senate.

Demand on the commission was made in a resolution which was adopted with little discussion and without a record vote. The measure was presented by Chairman Cummins of the judiciary committee by direction of that body.

When the evidence is obtained, it will be made available to the justice department for whatever it may be worth in the investigation now being made by that agency to determine whether the aluminum company, in which Secretary Mellon is a stockholder has violated federal court decrees.

Before the senate acted, Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, said he was advised that the company had informed the federal trade commission that it was entirely willing to have all of the evidence made public.

Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, remarked that he was glad to know the senate was to get evidence which the department of justice was unable to obtain.

Adoption of this resolution will not serve to halt senators who are insisting that the senate through the judiciary committee conduct its own inquiry into the charge of the federal trade commission that the aluminum company has violated the court decree.

Partner of Slain Motor Officer Attempts to Stop Fleeing Murderers

DALLAS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Four negroes suspected in connection with the shooting of Motorcycle Policeman M. C. Isbell here last night were jailed late this afternoon following the discovery of a large motor car answering the description of that driven by the officer's slayers.

Isbell was shot through the head while on duty in a residential district of Dallas.

The arrests followed a determined manhunt that extended within a radius of 100 miles from Dallas. City and county authorities cooperated in one of the most extensive searches in the history of the city.

Sought to Stop Speeder.

Isbell rode up beside an automobile and commanded the driver to stop when the big automobile was speeding down Forest avenue shortly after 10 o'clock last night. Answer to the officer's command was the crack of a pistol in the hands of one of three negroes in the car. Isbell reeled to the pavement. He died as he was rushed to the hospital. Isbell's partner, R. D. Wofford, saw his companion and raced after the speeding machine, exchanging shots with the occupants. He said six shots were fired from the automobile. The fleeing men outdistanced the officer.

T. O. Moore, motorcycle officer who exchanged shots with unidentified persons the previous night, said the description of the slayers' car used last night corresponded with that he was preparing to search when he was fired upon. The car, described as a large red machine with wire wheels, was reported seen twice after last night's shooting. Each time the car was said to have been occupied by three negroes.

Wofford's Version.

In a statement to his superior officers, Wofford said: "Isbell and I were checking up on speeders and I had just stopped a driver who was exceeding the speed limit. I had started to write out a summons for the driver, when the big touring car came speeding toward us. Isbell started after the car, pulling up beside it and ordering the driver to pull up to the curb. The next thing I knew there was a pistol shot and I saw Isbell reel from his motor and fall. I attempted to overtake the car and fired my pistol until it was empty, but the big machine disappeared over the Forest avenue bridge.

"When I returned to his side, he had been taken into a house and the ambulance and doctors summoned. He never spoke after being hit."

Prohibition Officer Is Questioned in Fatal Beaumont Shooting

BEAUMONT, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Sheriff J. W. Helton of Orange county and H. M. Kinard, Orange county attorney, were here today making an investigation of the killing yesterday afternoon of J. B. Walling in a raid made by federal prohibition officers on a still near Bunn's Bluff. They left at 2 o'clock for the scene of the killing after conferences with Assistant United States District Attorney S. D. Bennett and Bee Gowen, who did the shooting.

Cowen in a statement late today related the shooting. He said that the officers had been warned that the still was well guarded and that he and another officer advanced with guns drawn and with the negroes covered. He said that a shot was fired between one of the negroes and guns stacked up a few feet distant. This was done, he said, in order to show the negroes that he "meant business," when he shouted: "Federal officers, don't move."

After advancing on the still, he said, it was discovered that a white man had been injured and that he was placed in a car and immediately rushed to a hospital.

No charges had been filed against Cowen late this afternoon. Walling is said to have been an innocent bystander on a huntnig expedition.

BORDER LIQUOR AGENTS TO BE DISMISSED, IS RUMOR

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Twelve prohibition agents working out of the United States customs department in San Antonio will be dropped from the force if rumors current in the federal building Friday prove correct. No official notice of the cut has been received, however.

The agents to be dropped, according to the rumors, are stationed along the border between Brownsville and Del Rio. These were allotted to work with the customs service under the general reorganization in August, 1925.

They are not customs men, however, it is pointed out, because they are paid out of the prohibition appropriation for this district.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
February 6, 1925

Jack C. Barnard elected chairman of the Wichita Falls Business Council for 1925; Frank Queisser named vice-chairman.

SENATOR PAT ON THE ROAD AGAIN

SENATOR Pat Harrison of Mississippi is on the road again. It is impossible to lose Senator Pat. He is one of the most lovable of American senators, one of the most interesting talkers and one of the volcanos of democracy.

President Coolidge called the newspaper tribe to the White House and he gravely informed the writers for the press that many speeches that had been made by senators were of a political nature. This aroused Senator Pat and he proceeded to make another speech.

Of course, many of the senatorial efforts are of a political nature. There are many senators who come up for reelection this year. They must talk for home consumption, talk for the edification of the men and women away back in the tall sticks country.

This is their American privilege. They must keep their fences intact. They must keep the voters in line. They must deal in bunk whenever bunk is the provender to be feed to the masters, who throw ballots into the boxes on election day.

Really, the adoption of the World Court proposal was along non-partisan lines. And the adoption of the new tax measure will be along non-partisan lines. There is to be a cut of $350,000,000.00 and most of the senators and most of the representatives are willing for the cut to be made before March 15, in order that the benefit will come to the tax payers of the United States this fiscal year.

A president has always the best of it. He can travel from Washington to some nearby town and tell the people just what he thinks. All the people read when the president is the talker. It is a privilege never enjoyed by a senator or representative. A president is elected by all the people of all the states. Senators and representatives reach Washington by forty-eight different routes. They are responsible to their state and district constituencies. This is the year that all the representatives come up for re-election. This is the year that many senators come up for re-election. Naturally, the senators and representatives are perturbed.

Naturally, the president is not perturbed. He may or he may not be a candidate for re-election in 1928, but the signs are suspicious and the reading of the stars all point to Calvin Coolidge as the republican standard bearer two years hence. He will have the East behind him. He will have the middle-west states. He will have the southern states.

If he wants the nomination, how will it be possible to keep the prize out of his hands. Big business is for him, and the corn growers of the west, in a wrestling match with big business, would be crushed to a frazzle.

William Jennings Bryan played the west and the south against the north and east for thirty years. He lost every battle. There are democrats who are willing to play the south and the far west against the north and the east in 1928. Will they fare any better than the Prince of Peace apostle fared?

JOHN AND HIS VOICE

JOHN McCormack, the Irish ministrel, but a naturalized citizen of America, insured himself for $1,000,000.00 and will within a few years begin receiving payments of annual installments, so that he will have the entire amount of his policies back by 1936. It is said to be a record figure for endowment insurance.

John McCormack is 41. He took out his first ten year endowment policy seven years ago. In three years the minstrel will start collecting at an average of $200,000 a year until he has reached the age of 51. After filling his engagements in the south and the west on April 3rd, the famous singer will sail for Vancouver, B. C. for the Philippines, China, Japan and for the Straits settlements, returning to New York in the autumn of 1927.

A golden voice tossed a fortune into the lap of McCormack. Speaking of the million dollar insurance, it is said that after three years the annual payments on the policy, taken in connection with the royalties he receives from the sale of his phonograph records and the proceeds of his concerts will insure him and annual income between the ages of 45 and 51, which is expected to rank with those of the wealthiest financiers.

WHERE TO GET ADVICE

I have a letter from a reader who wants to know where he can get advice.

He has no special problems just now, he says, but he is likely to meet with one at almost any time.

He thinks perhaps he can find some one who is dispensing advice, and who will always be prepared to give it to him when he happens to need it.

We are frank to say that we do not know of any such person, nor do we think that any man now living, or whoever lived would be able to fill the requirements.

If there were such a man he would be slow to advise all comers on everything, because some of them would be sure to misapply his counsel, and blame him if they got into trouble.

Moreover it is very bad for any man, however wise, to put himself exactly in the place of one who comes to him seeking aid, and to settle another person's affairs as he would settle his own.

There are, we know, many people who try it, some of them through the columns of the press and the magazines, but in this connection we might say that it is a good idea, before heeding some such advice to feel reasonably sure about the experience and equipment of the advice giver.

Of course, newspapers that are edited with care, such as this one, would be very careful to make sure about the character and reliability of their advice givers, also about lessons they had learned from life—before attempting to set them before their readers.

Advice from unreliable sources should be shunned.

We would give the advice seeker one piece of counsel though, and that is by reading and thinking and observation to fit himself to be as far as possible his own advice giver.

Dependence for advice is something like dependence for money, it tends to keep a person continually dependent.

Note the people who have found places in history and in literature and in present day business and politics, and you will find that they are reliable you will find that they rely on themselves for the most part instead of on other people for suggestions as to how to act in tight places.

The find out that there are few occasions when there is time to go to somebody else or to write to somebody else before acting.

Unless they can act on the moment, and with reasonable intelligence, they must continue helpless.

There are abundant guide posts on all the roads of life to enable travellers to keep the right general direction.

Information about detours and emergency changes should be supplied by personal observation.

The business of schools is not to fill heads with all knowledge, so that it is instantly on tap, but to enable them to know where to look for the information they want with the assurance that it will be found.

In other words education is training in self reliance.

Advice of a sort is always easy to get, and it is sometimes easy to follow.

But seldom is it a great deal of use to a person who is so depend on others that he feels obligated to ask for it.

A good place to go for advice is to your own self, and the good way to make sure that such advice will be efficable is to fit yourself for life by availing yourself of every means of education and training that you can find.

And you will find plenty of them if you look. They have been multiplying since man first threw away his war club and fashioned a bow out a tree limb as a weapon to fight his enemies and kill his meat.

"Love Bound In Wichita Falls"

By the Author of 'The Flapper Wife'

READ THIS FIRST:

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. They work for the Dexter Automobile company.

Mary Rose is secretary to JOHN MANNERS, the sales manager, and is in love with him. But he's engaged to DORIS HINIG, an heiress. Because of her feeling for him, Mary Rose repeatedly refuses to marry DR. TOM FITZROY.

Flossie, a born vamp, does a very poor job of keeping the office files. She is carrying on a secret flirtation with the president of the company, HILARY DEXTER, although she's going to marry his secretary, SAM JESSUP. She accepts jewelry from Dexter, who's married, and goes joy-riding with him at all hours. Her mother can do nothing to make her behave.

John Manners falls in love with Mary Rose as he never has been in love with Doris Hinig, and tells her so. But the jealous Doris holds him to his engagement.

One night the sisters quarrel, and to "get even" with Mary Rose, Flossie tells John that she is just stringing him along" and intends to marry Tom. John believes her lie and Mary Rose is hurt by his sudden coldness.

MRS. DEXTER finds out about her husband's affair with Flossie, but Dexter manages to convince her that there was nothing wrong between them! And Mary Rose lets the office think it was she, instead of Flossie, who ran around with the Big Boss.

Dexter goes too far in his love making and Flossie learns how little respect a married man has for the girl he professes to love. Next day she elopes with the faithful Sam, who later wrings from her the truth about the Dexter affair and he leaves the Dexter company. Peace is restored in Sam's little family and Flossie announces that she is going to have a baby. She actually settles down to the business of being a wife.

Mary Rose leaves Dexter's and goes to work for JIM MORRELL, whose wife is so jealous of him that Mary Rose refuses to work for him. Sam takes her job with Morrell. One rainy night, Tom is fatally hurt when his car skids, and Mary Rose marries him on his death bed. Months afterward, she hears through Tom's mother that Doris Hinig has broken her engagement to John Manners, and is going to Europe for a year. That night Mary Rose takes off Tom's wedding ring.

(Now Go on with the story)

"Why, you're shaking all over like a bowl full of jelly!" Flossie, who was still holding Mary Rose's arm, exclaimed. She looked at her and saw that she had gone dead white.

"Mary Rose Middleton!" she said disgustedly. "You're still crazy about that chump, aren't you? You look as if somebody had knocked you silly!"

"I always will be," Mary Rose found herself saying. She hadn't meant to say it, but all her defenses were down. The sudden sight of John Manners had, as Flossie put it, knocked her silly!

She was still trembling and her effort to smile reassuringly at her sister was not successful.

"My good kid," Flossie began, with that soft sweetness that expectant motherhood had given her, "I think you're foolish to let yourself go on caring like this for a man who doesn't give the snap of his finger for you—and never did!"

Mary Rose's nostrils narrowed with the quick, keen sigh that she gave.

"He did care for me—once upon a time," she answered. "There were weeks and weeks, while I worked for him, that we both were miserable because he was engaged to Doris Hinig. He told me he loved me better than any one he'd ever seen."

Flossie laughed a little. "Men have been known to tell women things like that before—and not mean it! Men are brutes, Mary Rose. The only way to get along with some of them is never to believe anything they say!"

Mary Rose shook her head. "No—I have to believe people when they say things to me," she said. "That is if they're people I like. And I could have sworn that John Manners meant what he said to me. He just seemed to change overnight. What's the matter, Flossie?"

For Flossie was evidently upset over something. She was frowning, and suddenly she pulled away from Mary Rose and stopped dead in her tracks.

"I wonder—" she said vaguely. "I wonder if that had anything to do with it?"

"What? I don't get you," Mary Rose replied. "What had anything to do with me and John Manners?"

"Something that I just remembered—something horrid that I did a long time ago" Flossie faltered. "Look here, let's go into this place and sit down. I feel faint."

"You've walked too far dear." And Mary Rose took her arm and led her to a little table for two in the sunny window of the tea shop they happened to be passing.

"I'm going to tell you something—something that will make you hate me forever and ever," Flossie said to her, when Mary Rose had ordered two pots of chocolate with whipped cream, and two orders of cinnamon toast.

But when they had drunk the last drop of the chocolate and had eaten all of the cinnamon toast but one small slice, her confession was still unmade.

She fidgeted in her chair for a few minutes—plaiting her napkin in little folds and opening and shutting the pierced silver top of her new handbag.

Suddenly, without looking at Mary Rose, she began to tell her what it was so hard for her to say.

"Do you remember that time last fall when you gave mother the money for a coat and she bought one for me instead? And you wouldn't let me keep it and called me the 'family pig'?" she asked.

Mary Rose barely nodded and she went on:

"Well, I was furious with you. Remember I wouldn't eat supper with you that night? And I made up my mind to get even with you for it—and I did!"

Mary Rose started. She remembered, suddenly, that it was directly after the affair of the coat that John Manners had become so cold and formal and distant toward her—had withdrawn into his shell, so to speak.

"The next morning I hurried down to the office ahead of you," Flossie went on, speaking rapidly and smoothly now. "And I told John Manners that you had told me he was crazy about you—"

"But I never had told you anything of the kind!" Mary Rose broke in, shaking her head.

"Now, just let me finish my story," Flossie begged. "I know you hadn't told me that, but I had seen you letting him make love to you that night, down by the lumber pile at the corner. Remember?"

Remember? Mary Rose knew that she never would forget that cold, windy, star-studded night of enchantment when John Manners had told her he loved her.

She knew only too well that she would remember that night long, long after she had forgotten everything else that had ever happened to her.

"Yes, I remember perfectly," she answered dully. "Go on. What else did you say to him?"

"I told him that you were just stringing him along—pretending to have a crush on him for the fun of the thing." Flossie finished her shameful little tale. "I told him that you really were crazy about Tom Fitzroy and that you expected to marry him, 'most any time."

She stopped and there was a long silence.

Flossie began to wish that Mary Rose would look up and say something. Scold her, revile her, get up and walk away—anything! But she sat perfectly still, with her hands in their darned chamoisette gloves, clasped on the table in front of her.

Those old, mended gloves! Flossie Middleton's aching heart began to ache, a little at the sight of them. She remembered how seldom Mary Rose had ever had new things—how she had just spent almost all of her salary, always, to keep the little brown house going! While she herself had squandered what money she had on choker beads and new hats, and crepe de chine step-ins that she couldn't afford.

She covered her face with her little hands. "Mary Rose," she said in a muffled voice, "I'd never have done it—unless I hadn't hated John Manners, too! I did hate him! I used to try to make him notice me, the way the rest of the fellows at the works did, and I never could make him look at me! He was wild about you and I knew it—I could see it!" She began to cry.

And then Mary Rose reached out across the table and patted her arm gently with the fingers of the cheap, old gloves. "Don't cry, honey," she said softly. "You mustn't at a time like this, you know. You must be happy for the next few months, you know, until the baby gets here! And don't even think about John Manners any more! If he'd really cared about me, he wouldn't have believed what you said about me, would he?"

"I don't know," Flossie sniffed, wiping the end of her little pink, swollen nose with a small handkerchief that was fragrant with the smell of jasmine perfume. "I don't know. Men are so funny!"

When she left her at the door of the honeymoon flat, Mary Rose walked slowly home.

It was dusk, and a new moon rode high in the violet sky, like a silver sailboat.

The fresh odor of opening buds and new, sprouting grass was in the cool, electric air. And her memory carried her back to a year ago, when she had walked home on just such a night as this—thinking about John Manners, just as she was thinking about him now. Loving him as hopelessly as she still loved him!

It had been spring then.

It was spring now.

But Mary Rose was sure that in her heart it would always be December.

CHAPTER LXVI

One afternoon toward the end of April, Cornelius Tuydeman came into the office two hours later than he usually returned from lunch.

"I've been playing hookey with an old friend of yours," he said, looking down at Mary Rose and showing all of his handsome white teeth in a wide grin.

She raised her head, with its coils of shining brown hair, from her typewriter. "Who was that?" she said.

"Jack Manners," he answered, and then, as she said nothing, he went on:

'He is a friend of yours, isn't he? He said you used to be secretary to him over at Dexter's."

Mary Rose nodded gravely. "Yes—I used to work for him," was all she said.

She wondered if John Manners ever had been a real friend of hers? Would a friend have believed Flossie's absurd lie about herself and Tom Fitzroy? Of course, there was jealousy—

Sometimes that made people believe tales that otherwise they would have pooh-poohed!

"Queer thing about his engagement to that pretty Miss Hinig, wasn't it?" Cornelius Tuydeman asked later in the afternoon. He and Mary Rose were fast becoming very good friends, and he was not nearly so shy with her now as he had been.

She swung around in her chair and looked curiously at him from under her level brows.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

DO IT NOW

There's a motto old and trite, do it now;
There's a motto always right—do it now.
If you mean to kill the cat
Or do meaner things than that,
Than whatever you are at,
Do it now.

If a friend you mean to do, do him now,
If some trick you'd be about,
Do not leave him long in doubt,
If you hate him, come right out,
Do it now.

For the folks we can forgive, do it now,
Folks who live the way they speak do it now—
Who don't kiss you on the cheek,
Folks who live the way they speak
And then wallop you next week,
Do it now.

If you've something up your sleeve, do it now,
Do not flatter and deceive, do it now.
For an enemy who's fair,
Beats a friend not on the square—
Do it now.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

By MRS FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

ONE LITTLE DROP.

Then how Father Lion did roar!

Peter thought he must be growing more and more angry with his little son until he looked at the great fellow's eyes and saw how they were twinkling now, and twinkling right at him!

"Humph! You are a very wise young Two-Legs if you are not a cruel one, and I think I am going to like you, after all—I don't care for stupid folks, whether they are men or beasts. Ha, ha, ha! You knew what you were doing when you drew your hand away from the kisses of that too affectionate son of mine."

Peter was surprised. As for Step-Lightly, he cocked his head on one side and appeared as puzzled as the Boy himself.

"Well, didn't you?" demanded Father Lion, thrusting his great head forward. Peter drew back a step from that yawning red cavern, but he answered bravely enough.

"I drew away my hand because it hurt!" and he patted the young Cub as he spoke. Already he loved the friendly young Lion. "But Step-Lightly didn't mean to hurt me. His tongue was rough, that's all!"

"Of course it's rough!" snapped Father Lion. "What earthly good would a smooth tongue be to a Lion, I'd like to know? Not a bit of use. How would he pick his bones clean? If you worked as hard to get a meal as we Lions do you'd not like to lose even a wee morsel, and you'd scrape off each precious tidbit of fresh meat, too. We can move our tongue just as we like. Did you know that, Two-Legs? We not only use our tongue for a scraper, but it is our cup as well. With it we lap up the cool water, and then, after we have finished eating and drinking, we use it for a wash rag. But all this talk about our tongues has nothing to do with what made you draw your hand away. I'll bet you knew that the taste of blood would go to Step-Lightly's head like melon wine—that one little drop would change him on the moment from your best friend into your most dangerous foe."

Not a Bad Idea, Folks!

Folks who make the most headway
Along the road of "Everyday."
And find a welcome in all places
Must get good "smileage" from their faces!

Alas, Yes!

Dr. Reese: "Have you tried rubbing your nose on a piece of ice?"

Betty: "I certainly have! I went skating yesterday!"

PLAYING A HUNCH.
By Wallace M. Bayliss.

I got up a talk on tobacco
Outlining the sins of the weed;
I handed it many a smacko,
And painted it black, eyes, indeed!
The things that I said were not pleasant;
I worked myself into a sweat;
Next day a friend sent me a present,
A beautiful bronze smoking set!

I took up the subject of liquor:
Got known far and near as a crank.
Folks said that nobody was slicker
At scaring the people who drank.
I fluttered around like a pheasant
Lambasting bootleggers and "stews;"
And then a friend sent me a present,
A pretty glass barrel—for booze!

Since life seems to be so contrary,
I think I have hit on a plan
That may prove to be a good fairy:
The rich folks I think I will pan!
I'll roast 'em because they have money;
I'll give 'em a kick in the neck.
Then some of them, thinking it funny,
MAY send me a nice, juicy check!

(As Observed by Anita Mallord)

"Now, Mr. Photographer, I guess I'm ready. Where do you want me to sit? I want a head and shoulders picture, but I'd like for you to get my feet in too, someway, if you can. I bought the dearest pair of shoes yesterday, and it would be a shame if they don't show. Oh, now let's see—do I want a profile or a side view? I can't make up my mind. Now just wait until I get this rouge on, please. Oh, you say rouge shows black in a photograph? Then I guess I'll use some on my eyelashes. There! How's that? Now when I say "take it" you can press the bulb.

"You say 'look pleasant?' I don't dare. If I started that I'd laugh out loud. Won't you change that funny necktie of your, Mr. Photographer? I'm sure to start giggling and spoil the picture if you don't. Thanks so much! Now I guess I'm ready. Oh, ha, ha, ha! You'll have to take off that queer collar, too. It looks so funny without a necktie. I just know I'll have hysterics—Oh, you're going to hide your face under that black cloth Well, then I guess that will be all right if I can't see you. Gracious! Are you ready to press the bulb now? Oh, I'm so nervous! Is it going to hurt?

"Wait! Don't take the picture until I get this gum out of my mouth! It makes my jaw bulge, doesn't it? Now wait again while I powder my nose. If I don't do that my friends will think I've had my picture taken while standing behind an electric light bulb! All right! I guess I'm ready now. Stop Mr. Photographer! I can't look pleasant now to save my life. Do you know any funny stories? No.! Don't take your head out of that black cloth! I want to smile—not laugh out loud! Don't you know any funny stories? Well, then I guess I won't have my picture taken today. What! You already taken it? That's fine. My but I'm glad that's over! Can I have the pictures now, please?"

The Fun Shop mail just doubled the postman's burden, much to his discomfort, 'til he hit on this idea.

His Compliment.

Harris: "You said he paid you a compliment! What was it?"

Murdock: "He said my countenance was as open as the bottom of a college boy's trousers."

40 Christians Are Killed in Syria

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Reuter's correspondent at Damascus, Syria, says the massacreof 40 Christians in the village of Maruneh, news of which was received last night, indicates that an anti-Christian movement is developing and that this is confirmed by happenings in Damascus.

Marshall confessed to strangling Miss Deitrich because, he claimed, she attempted to extort money from him under threat that she would expose their relations. After killing her Marshall confessed he cut off her head and legs and distributed the several parts in suburban woods in an endeavor to hide the crime.

Mrs. Marshall told friends today that she was "immeasurably pleased" with a letter she received from her husband's sister, Mrs. Margaret Brown, in Glendale, Calif.

The letter, which was a reply to Mrs. Marshall's reply inquiry as to what the sister could do in raising funds for the defense of Mrshall, stated the sister had put her property in California and Philadelphia in the hands of real estate men to dispose of. "Will do all in my power to move things quick to help," the sister wrote. "Was the self-confession newspaper talk or is he shielding someone else? Question Husband In Furnace Murder

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Convinced that Mrs. George Solomon, mother of nine children, was murdered and not accidentally burned to death at the door of her furnace, officials planned to question further her 73-year-old husband.

Although Solomon insisted that his wife was burned to death by flames which shot from the furnace because of improperly arranged drafts, a coroner's post mortem revealed bruises on the woman's shins and a fractured wrist. The children said their father and mother, who was 47 years old, had disagreed considerably of late and officers were working on the theory that a final argument Wednesday culminated in her death.

Mrs. Solomon died about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and it was not until evening that her husband told the children of her fate. The two elder sons caused Solomon's arrest.

TCU Prexy Burns 800 Sermons Which Were Out of Date

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Remarking that he needed "to get into the current of youth," Dr. Edward McSpane Waits, president of Texas Christian University, has consigned to the flames 800 of his carefully prepared sermons.

"A man doesn't think at 50 as he did at 30," Dr. Waits explained. "The spiritual truths contained in those sermons are unchanged and unchanging. But the method of presentation must be suited to the modern mind."

He tried out the accumulated sermons, on which he had started at 21, on the student body of T. C. U., and they didn't work.

"I began to ask myself, 'what is this revolt of youth? Is there a revolt and why doesn't youth accept our sage counsel?'" he continued. "I realized that I needed to take pains to look at life through the eyes of these students. These old sermons were in my way. I didn't want to anchor in the back-eddies of life."

SEPARATE AIR BUREAU ASKED

Mitchell and Patrick Plead For Board Before Two Committees

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The offensive for a separate air service was renewed concurrently before two congressional committees today by Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, and William Mitchell, once general Patrik's assistant and more recently the center of a quarrel over policy which led to his court martial and resignation from the army.

"A terrible mess," was the way Mitchell described the present status of aviation to the house military committee. Patrick, appearing before the senate military committee, declared the recommendations of the president's air board did not go far enough and renewed his advocacy of an army air corps separately organized and with an independent status like that of the marine corps.

The air service chief interposed no objection to the Wadsworth bill, drafted by the war department along the lines of the air board's findings and providing for segregation of the air service under a new assistant secretary of war. He insisted, however, that the proposal was only a partial solution.

Mitchell, still addressed as "colonel" by members of the house committee despite his retirement to civilian life four days ago, renewed the charges against the present management of aviation which led to his court martial.

"You've got no system whatever for operation, training or equipment," he said. "The air personnel is on duty with the army, when it should be trained to prevent armies from coming together. The whole conception is wrong."

He appealed to congress to "give a specific mission to air power," and said $65,000,000 a year would maintain an adequate air force.

Dallas Street Car Fare to Be Raised

DALLAS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A seven cent cash street car fare, with a rate of 30 cents for five tickets, was approved today by the Dallas city commission upon recommendation of the supervisor of public utilities. An ordinance will be drafted making the new rate effective at once, provided it is accepted by the Dallas Street Railway company, Mayor Louis Blaylock announced. The present cash fare is six cents in Dallas.

Under the arrangement the street car company is required to borrow $1,000,000 to make improvements and extensions and to continue using money which accumulates in reserves for the purpose.

Final adoption of the ordinance and formal acceptance of the schedules will end an embroglio involving the car company's request for increased rates and the demand of the city for added improvements that has covered a period of several months.

LABOR INVITES NEGROES' HELP

American Federation "Freely and Openly" Assists Aid of Race

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor "freely and openly" invites negroes to membership, said Hugh Frayne, its general organizer, in addressing the annual conference of the National Urban League today.

Refuting charges made yesterday before the league by other speakers that labor discriminates against the negro, Mr. Frayne declared that, according to its constitutoin, the federation makes no discrimination against the negro nor any other race or creed.

He admitted that many local organizations are prejudiced against the negro, but said that attempts were made regularly by the federation to break down such prejudices. Mr. Frayne also said that negro workers were somewhat backward in their approach to unionized labor and that they might materially benefit their condition by "selling themselves to the white man."

INVESTIGATION BEGUN IN DEATHS OF SIX SOLDIERS

HONOLULU, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Every conceivable form of medical container, including enlisted men's personal supplies of toilet lotions, was seized by company commanders today and late last night eleven army post exchanges had been ransacked by officers in their efforts to find the exact source of the canteen "hair tonic" which caused the death of six privates and the serious poisoning of at least three others.

The soldiers were promised that they would not face disciplinary action if they submitted to examinations.

By the Weight Of Their Newspapers Ye Shall Know 'Em

MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky drew an interesting comparison of American and Russian newspapers today in a speech before an audience of Russian workers.

Maintaining that the consumption of paper is the most reliable indication of the real cultural level of any country he explained that Russia's consumption of paper for 1925 was six pounds of paper for each inhabitant as compared with 45 pounds for each inhabitant in the United States.

He gave the circulation of American papers as totaling 30,000,000 a day as compared with a total of 7,000,000 for Russia. He asserted that the average Sunday newspaper in the United States weighed four pounds.

The bolshevist leader, however, argued that the intellectual quality of American papers is far below that of any Russian or European paper.

Sinclair Not to Quit Oil Corporation

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Harry Sinclair today vigorously denied Wall Street rumors that he would retire from active connection with the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation. "I intend to continue devoting my best efforts to the affairs of the company bearing my name and to assist in further development of the already great organization we have established," he said. "I was never more optimistic than now as to the future of the company."

FIGHT LOOMS ON COTTON RATES

Traffic Meeting at Fort Worth Today to Discuss Coming Hearing

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5.—(AP)—A high degree of interest, if not considerable tension surrounds the meeting of traffic men and chamber of commerce heads to be held here tomorrow to discuss the coming hearing on cotton rates before the Texas railroad commission, it developed here this afternoon with teh appearance of a display advertisement in the Star-Telegram in which the Houston Cotton exchange and board of trade asked West Texans to withhold judgment in the case.

The hearing, it was declared late today by A. B. Spencer, manager of the Fort Worth chamber of commerce, grows out of the effort of the Interstate commerce commission to regulate rates as between interior and water front compresses and inland points, resulting in an attempt to deprive individuals of geographical advantages. The matter arose from a contention between the Anderson-Clayton company and other Houston compress companies, Spencer asserted.

In its appeal the Houston cotton exchange declared that the movement on its part to reduce the railroad freight rate on cotton will benefit the cotton grower and the entire state.

He Buried His Leg

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 5.—(AP)—The finding today of a human leg buried in a thicket near here started police on a search that culminated not in the finding of a dismembered body, but in the discovery of superstitious Cornelius Hunt of Earlington, Ky. Hunt said the leg was amputated recently after his injury in a mine accident and that he had buried it to comply with a superstition that if properly interred his remaining leg would be prevented from cramping.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. —Adv.

A GREATER TELEPHONE SYSTEM FOR TEXAS

Texas Telephone News

A Journal of Telephone Information Published by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

Vol. I No. 2

GROWING WITH TEXAS

TELEPHONE SNAPSHOTS

SPIRIT OF SERVICE

Severe sleet and wind storms often damage the pole lines and sometimes interruptions to telephone service are the result.

Unmindful of his personal comfort the lineman works long hours if need be in all sorts of weather, that the telephone may be constantly at your command.

His job is to keep the wires in working order. "Whatever happens, service must go on" is the guiding rule of his work.

"RIGHT"

A good practice is to acknowledge when the operator correctly repeats a number you have given her. She is instructed to hesitate a moment to make sure she has understood. If you will say "Right" it will save time. Of course, if she does not repeat the number as you gave it, correct her.

February 16, 1846, Republic of Texas becomes state of Texas.

The most extensive organization for research to be found in any industry is maintained by the Bell System. Millions are spent annually for promotion of scientific progress and its effective application in the art of communication, an investment which is returned to telephone subscribers many-fold in economies and improved service.

There are fifteen times as many telephones in Texas today as there were in 1900.

Texas, to-day, has fifteen times as many telephones as in 1900. Back in the early days of the present century, Texas had a population of a little over 3,000,000 and the entire State was served by about 35,000 telephones—one telephone for every eight-six people.

Consider what twenty-five years has meant in the telephone development of the State. Today, although there are approximately 5,000,000 people in Texas, there are more than 525,000 telephones served by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and connecting companies, better than one telephone for every ten persons.

EARLY DAYS

The telephone, of course, had made its first appearance in Texas in the early eighties, a few years after that historic day when Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, first talked over telephone wires to his assistant, Thomas Watson.

But since then not only has the telephone become a commonplace in almost every home and office, but a universal service has been developed which enables a telephone subscriber in Texas to reach any one of 16,300,000 telephones spread over every State in the Union.

More Truth Than Poetry

A FINE EXAMPLE

In France, so lately we have heard,
Before a Senator arises
To say what statesmen call a word,
He takes a course of exercises.
With weights and Indian club he toils,
He punches grimly at the leather,
And afterward he takes the foils
And jabs and thrusts for hours together.
For they imagine that to fence
Makes more and better eloquence.

The statesmen of the U. S. A.,
If they will pardon the suggestion,
Might follow the Parisian way
Before they speak upon a question.
We think, who often have to sit
And hear the counsels of the nation,
Their speeches would improve a bit
If they had better preparation.
While turning out the country's laws
Too much they grunt and pant and pause.

Were they to battle in the gym
With flying foils for full an hour,
They'd have more stamina and vim
And vastly better punching power.
And what is more important yet—
We cannot help but nurse the notion
That when they got their voices set
To discourse on a bill or motion,
Their lungs and vocal chords would balk—
They'd be too short of breath to talk!

"WON'T BE LONG NOW," SOULFULLY CHIRPS WEE PETER TURGEON.

* * *

And then Doc Landon ups and avers it just naturally can't be long because he's already got three-dozen bats for Ping Bodie, shipment just received.

* * *

OUGHTA FIRE HIM.

And then noble Pingus gets in conversation with Tommy, the composing room foreman, or vice versa, and Ping is told, Tommy does, that he'll wallop nothing less than 42 home runs next summer.

Ping was standing down at Eleventh and Indiana watching a red bump traffic apparatus and how many folks ignored the stop sign when thusly approached. Upon Tommy's utterance, he turned, a painful expression wreathing his mush, looked Tommy from head to toe with one supercilous glance, as it were, and then strode majestically to the other side of the street, flinging over his shoulder: "Naw! I ain't gonna hit but 38!"

* * *

And Doc tells one on Pingus. It seems the other day the doughty Mr. Bodie was bossing traffic down at Seventh and Indiana. An old long-whiskered farmer in a rattle trap Ford came buzzing down the thoroughfare and made a wild left turn. Now at this particular intersection southpaw vehicular maneuvers are out like a mile flapper at night. The veteran tiller of the sod and his broken down Henry seriously blocked several cars swinging along on the green light. Ping bore down with a lusty blast on his whistle and rushed to the center of the sudden traffic delemma, shouted: "Hey! Yuh can't go to the left here!"

The old boy stuck his mug out over the side of his trusty battleship and chirped in a shrill voice: "Oh, that's all right. I think I can make it."

Ping struck out.

* * *

We sometimes have our fears for Pingus this summer. The old boy's getting along in years. Hasn't been training any too carefully. For that matter, doesn't seem to have to—much. But you can't tell that to Pizzola. "I'll be out there, bud, a-hitting that pelota next summer. Don't you worry. I drove 'em in last year, and you just watch me do it again this season," the veteran reassures us.

* * *

THOSE PROPS?

To Manager Brainard it's a question as to whether or not Ping's legs will hold out. Brainard says he understands Bodie's props began bothering him a bit toward the latter part of the 1925 scramble.

* * *

"His legs have got to hold up," says Fred, "for him to be as much value to the club as he was last year. It certainly is my hope that they do, because if they do, Ping will be of very much value to us when we go after that pennant.

* * *

SMART ONE.

"Bodie is a smart ball player, exceptionally smart—and he's a wonderful hitter. I don't have to tell you that; anybody knows it. And I want him on the ball club, but he's been playing 21 or 22 years of ball now, and some day he's bound to crack.

* * *

"It's a hard life, this ball playing, and there's very little appreciation shown the hard-working player in it. Ping rocks along year after year and plays great ball, now he's nearing the end of the trail. It may not be this year; it may not be next, but the time is inevitable, and then he'll have to give way to some youngster, a man with more life, a man who can deliver the goods although that man may not, nor may never, be the wise old ball player or exceptionally clever hitter Ping has been. That's a ball player's life—a touch one, but when his time comes he has to go in order to make a winner; move out for the younger man. That's a rule of the game.

"I hope Ping's legs really aren't going back on him. We need him. But there was that indication last summer, they tell me," mused the Skipper.

* * *

Bodie hit for a .347 mark last year. He was at bat in 151 games. The rotund one poled 205 safeties, 37 of which were home runs. According to his conversation with Tommy, he intends to better that circuit wallop mark by one.

* * *

Peter Buzukos, the diminutive but more or less dynamic, at least verbally, Greek grappler who issued a challenge to Jack Gorman the other night, is still sticking around fuming for a shot at the Plainview wrestler. He busted into the office the other day and told his woes to the writer. Seems he's been pursuing Jack for many days to no avail, checkmated at every turn, so to speak. We jhoned Matchmaker Ross about Peter. The promoter's reply was: "Tell him to go down and see Charley Veros. Charley needs a dish washer, I understand!"

FEATHERSTON AND MINNICK EACH SCORE 3

Soldiers Given One Stroke Handicap, But it Isn't Enough

Victory over Fort Clark, Southwestern mid-winter polo tournament winner of last year, by Wichita Falls yesterday in San Antonio does not complete the playing of the local organization in San Antonio for the time being. Wichita Falls won the tournament by beating Fort Clark, and now goes into another tournament in the Alamo city Monday, playing Austin in the opening round.

Dave White hereafter will carry a three-goal handicap, two added following the tourney just completed. Featherstone will carry one, also.

Chittim, player in lineup of the Wichita Falls team, is a rancher who lives near San Antonio.

A number of the horses used by the Wichita Falls team are owned by Jim Minnick, Oklahoma City sportsman.

Charley Featherstone's ponies, King and Conrad, were used in the tourney, too. It was declared Conrad is the fastest horse in the tournament.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Wichita Falls civilians won the Southwest Mid-Winter Polo tournament and the honor of representing this section in the national tourney next summer by defeating Fort Clark today, 10 to 3. The north Texas four gave the soldiers a one-goal handicap.

Wichita Falls took the lead from the start, overcoming the handicap in the second chukker by scoring three goals. Featherston and Minnick each put a ball through the posts and pony scored the third one.

Fort Clark did not score until the fifth chukker when it made only two goals which resulted from drives by Captain Berg and Lieutenant A. W. Johnson.

Fort Clark did not play the game it put up against Eighth Headquarters No. 2, last Saturday, or against Fort Meade Tuesday when it won to go into the final match, but this probably was due more to hard luck than bad shooting.

Several times Fort Clark had good opportunities to score, only to find the ball go outside of the goal posts on drives that seemed clean and accurate, and to emphasize the hard luck feature o pony booted one through to help boost the Wichita Falls score at a time when the game was young and such a thing as one goal might have proved disconcerting.

Jim Chittim, playing No. 1 for Wichita Falls, played a nice game. He scored in the fourth and again in the fifth.

Jim Minnick scored his goal in the fifth chukker and Featherston scored two times in the seventh to give him three for the day.

It was Wichita Falls' greatest victory during the tournament In previous matches Wichita Falls was aided by handicaps by the opposition, but in this instance it was Wichita Falls that gave the handicap against an opponent that has played a remarkable game from the first time it took th field. To hold Fort Clark to two goals was an achievement that no team in the tournament could guarantee, with the brank of polo Fort Clark has exhibited.

BROWNS GET FILPPIN

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns today announced that George Grant, right handed pitcher with the local club for several years, had been sent to Tulsa of the Western League in exchange for Boyd Filppin, an infielder.

Jabs and Hooks

Our boy, Wildcat Monte, has moved on to Wichita, Kan., for a bout with an unknown opponent, as far as Monte is concerned. The Wichita Falls featherweight is quite a favorite up in Kansas. Incidently, he takes 'em all without asking any questions.

Here's one for the book: Alec Ross, wrestling promoter, strange to say, has a good word for Monday night's fight card at the 812 1-2 Scott gym featuring Dick Griffin, Jack Dalton, Buckshot, Tex Ray, Tabby Levine, Redcap, et cetera. Yessir, it's not exactly unusual for Alec to be speaking a kind word, but it's quite out of the ordinary for a wrestling matchmaker to make any very pleasant observations about a prize fight. The contrary also is true. Alec declares that Monday card is a far better one than it appears to be. The fans will get more real action and first class scrapping for their money than they have at any fight card staged recently," avers Alec. "Of course, now if it was a wrestling match and ——."

Tex Ray, the exceedingly clever Fort Worth veteran, should prove a real test for Peoples in that eight rounder. It is opinion of the writer Ray will beat Buckshot out—unless Tex runs into one. Buckshot isn't quite as good as many believe. He's a hard-hitting youngster, but hardly as clever as Tex and not much more a stiffer puncher.

Buckshot is a good boy and a real comer. Some folk, however, are making the mistake of intimating belief he can whip Duke Tramel. That's a good one. Best joke this writer has heard in many a day. Haw! Haw! They're all wet there. Buck has quite a distance to travel before he can step into the ring with Duke.

Jack Ryan, rugged heavyweight pictured above, has been matched with Jack Matlock for a ten-rounder here a week hence. The big fellows will fight at catchweights, Matlock giving away several pounds. Ryan fights on a peculiar basis. He's to receive 25 per cent of the gate if he stays with Matlock, 15 per cent if the Los Angeles miller slips the dreams poke over. This Don Wofford is a clever matchmaker, what? Very astute business man.

Joe Denton, who's promoting in Anadarko now, writes in to say the proposed Matlock-Parrish match of Feb. 9 at Anadarko is off. Paul won't fight Matlock, says Joe. Then Denton tried to match Archie Couper up with Jack, but Archie did a bit of jackrabbit impersonation, too, says Joe. Not many of them want Matlock.

Pacific Coast promoters have been seeking services of little Dick Griffin lately. Dick, as you know, built quite an enviable record on the coast a year ago. Dick's home is in Fort Worth, however, and he wants to stick around in this section for a while longer. He's been forced to turn down several nice offers.

Wildcat Ewing, Houston welter, who knocked Kid Rich out on that young man's trek into Mexico last year, wants to fight in Wichita Falls. Ewing has sent a number of comparatively good battlers of the welterweight class over the Southwest. He'll probably be brought here soon.

SANTEL MEETS GUTHRIE NEXT

George Guthrie, Scotch-Canadian heavyweight champion of Canada, meets Ad Santel, world's light heavy champion, in a finish match on the Wichita Falls wrestling association card next Thursday in the 812 1-2 Scott gym, announced Matchmaker Ross yesterday.

Guthrie won the Canadian championship by defeating the veteran Jack Taylor. He weighs 225 pounds and is rated as one of the most formidable grapplers in the game. The Canadian is expected to prove a severe test for Santel.

Jack Gorman will appear on the same card with some good boy, said Ross.

"Experts" Divided In Picking N. O. Winner

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Race experts were divided tonight in selecting the probable winner of the New Orleans handicap for $30,000 added to be run at the fair ground track here tomorrow. More than 20,000 persons are expected to witness the classic. The purse is the largest on record for the annual event the premier race of the season.

Twenty-seven thoroughbreds including the cream of the handicap division are entered. The field probably will be narrowed to 16 starters before post time. Sir Peter, owned by Mose Goldblatt of Cincinnati ruled as a slight favorite tonight.

DICK REFUSES TO SIGN NEW SPUD CONTRACT

'Taint Enough, Declares Our Eulas—Mr. Bodie Bit Obstinate

Dick Morgan swung out of Spudder baseball headquarters yesterday with an undertaker's Happy New Year expression on his map, head down and charging through the corridor like a demon fullback plunging over that last white line.

"Howdy, Dick. Hawali?"

"I ain't worth a darn (only our Eulas used a naughtier word)!"

"Why, whassamatter?"

"Well, I guess I'm going to be a policeman the rest of the summer," grumbled the elongated Spudder pitcher. "I know darn good and well I am if they don't raise their sights some on that contract. Why, I ain't gonna sign what they offered me. Yeah, I guess I'll stick as a cop!"

TOO BAD.

That in short, gentlemen, is utterance which leads one to believe more orless, Mr. Morgan isn't exactly satisfied with this year's financial proposition entered by Spudder moguls for his services through the summer months on the slab, as it were.

Our Eulas, it begins to appear, may become a holdout. As you know as man is never a holdout, however, until he refuses to report for spring training and spring training really gets under way without his presence.

That's the tribulations of pulling together a championship ball club in a class A league. Your salary limit won't let you pay all the boys what they want even if you want to give it to 'em.

And Ping?

Dick declares he's absolutely adamant, or something similar.

Ping Bodie, also of the winter colony here, goes into session today with Skipper Brainard and J. Will Gray on the salary question. Ping, it is understood, has his own ideas, also, about what, how much, etc., he should receive of the long green as monthly stipend next summer for massaging the pelota. And Ping's viewpoint is about 100 simoleons removed from that of Spudder mags, 'tis said.

Naw sir, Pete Turgeon hasn't held out. He goes to the mat this morning, also, but it's said Pete and the moguls jibe all right, all right on the salary question.

ELECTRA PLAYS THALIA TONIGHT

ELECTRA, Feb. 5.—The Electra Tiger cage squad is to meet the Thalia basket five Saturday night on the local high school court according to an announcement made by Coach Jim Reese of the Tigers Friday. The Thalia crew has made an enviable record in the Wilbarger circles this season and promise to offer the locals plenty of competition.

The locals emerged from their Thursday night game with Clara in the best of condition although they lost a hard fought battle by a 22-11 count to the Greyhounds. The Tigers promise to put up a stiff fight against the Thalia five and a fast game is promised.

Reese will probably start the following Tigers Saturday: Kent and Preston, forwards; Carnahan, center; Grisham and Cloninger, guards.

Suzanne Meets Helen in Carlton Play This Month

NICE, France, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The announcement that Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen both are certain entries in the women's singles in the Carlton tournament at Cannes, opening Feb. 15 overshadowed all other tennis developments on the Rivera today. The announcement eclipsed even the French champion's impressive defeat of Mrs. R. E. Haylock of England without the loss of a game in the Nice tournament.

It is generally conceded that the American and French champions will meet in the Carlton finals, since they are seeded in different halves of the draw. The experts, therefore, have revived their interest in figuring the relative chances of Helen and Suzanne by comparison of their scores against the same opponents.

A new opportunity for this was given today by Mlle. Lenglen's 6-0, 6-0 defeat of Mrs. Haylock, the player who forced Miss Wills to extend herself to win at 9-7, 6-2 in the gallia tournament last week at Cannes. The California girl was forced to the limit to win her match in the semi finals of the women's doubles. Paired with Miss Filene Bennett an English star she defeated Miss P. M. Radcliffe and Miss N. O. Platt, a veteran English doubles team in three sets 8-6, 4-6, 8-6.

Tribe and Oilers Work Together

Texhoma and Frazee's Junior college basketeers tangled in more than an hour of practice encounter last night on the college court. The general all-around team play and passing of the Indians was superb.

Crites and Thurman were offensive luminaries and Deems waged a strong defensive game.

Faichney and Andree of the Oilers were outstanding performers.

Manager Gerard Boone announced Texhoma will play Petrolia at Petrolia tonight.

Landon-Hill and Stephens Lumber company fives invade Clara for games tonight, also.

CLAS BREAKS RECORD.

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Clas Thunberg of Finland broke the world's record for the three-quarter mile event in an exhibition against time at the international ice skating championships here today. His time was 2:00 4-5. The previous record 2:02 1-5, was set by Joe Moore at Lake Placid in 1923. Thunberg's time was at first announced as 2:02 4-5 but a recheck of time showed the error.

Fashion Speeds Up Girls' Basketball

Central Press Photo

Members of girls' basketball team at O'Keefe High school, in Atlanta, Ga., are originators of a new style of playing uniform for girls. Bloomers are discarded in favor of mannish trunks, and sweaters replace middies. Greater freedom in action is allowed by the uniform as you see in this closeup of an incident in a practice session. Dorothy Rainey is at left and Helen Broome is at right.

ALL SET FOR WILBARGER'S BASKET MEET

Harrold Strong Favorite To Grab Laurels At Vernon

VERNON, Texas, Feb. 5.—Everything is set for the annual county basket tournament which opens at the high school at 9:30 Saturday morning, according to W. H. Wilemon, county athletic director. Officials of the schools which have applied for entrance in the tournament will meet at the high school at 9 o'clock Saturday morning to choose opponents for the first round.

Vernon, Oklaunion, Harrold and Fargo will compete in the class "A" division. Harrold is a strong favorite for the winner of this division. The club has not met any quintets in this section, but has made a good record in Wichita county, beating Electra, Burkburnett and other strong clubs.

Tolbert, Jackson Springs, Lockett, Junior high and west Vernon will vie for honors in the class "B" division. Lockett and Junior high school of Vernon are the favorites of this contest, and the rivalry between these two quintets is expected to be keen.

BURKBURNETT WOMAN IS LICENSED BALMER

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Feb. 5.—Mrs. John P. Wright has received her embalmer's license from the state of Oklahoma where she recently took the required examination. This will permit Mrs. Wright to practice her profession in Oklahoma as well as in Texas, having received her local state license several years ago.

Gosh! Now They Will Increase Judge Kenesaw's Salary

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—National League club owners not only favor renewing baseball Commissioner Landis' term of office for a ten-year period when his present contract expires in 1927, but they also desire to increase his salary, now $50,000 a year.

The magnates did not go on record on the salary question at their mid-winter session Wednesday when they gave the commissioner a vote of confidence, but William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs was quoted today by the New York Sun as saying that "Landis can write his own ticket so far as the National League is concerned."

Veeck expressed th opinion that it would not be fair to offer the veteran former jurist a new contract without providing an increase in his salary now paid pro-rata by the sixteen major league clubs.

THAT SPORT OUTLOOK

Spotted here and there with newcomers to produce a blend of youngsters and mellowed veterans, the Shreveport Sports are theoretically ready to take the field. Several weeks' rehearsal to get the sunburned slaves in the "pink" must of necessity elapse before the athletes reach opening-day fettle, but with the exception of a pitcher or two, high-powered, balloon-tired individuals, the team is set.

Bob Tarleton, last year's business manager, having looked over the field of available managers, has decided he can do the job as well himself, and has taken on the added burden of directing the play of the athletes. Bob answered an all-absorbing topic when he made the great decision. He told the secret only to himself until he was back from the meeting of the minor leagues and then baldly announced that Bob Tarleton's selection for a manager would be Bob Tarleton.

* * *

Tarleton will have two or more men for every position and enough pitchers to form a love colony. Behind the bat he expects the brunt to be borne by "Red" Wilder, who was bought at a fancy sum from Omaha. As first assistant, Wilder probably will have Polvogt, who was a wonder last season in the East Texas League. He went there as an outfielder, but was reformed when the pinch came for a catcher. Once there, they couldn't get him out, and there he remained.

At first base, the veteran Jay Kirke will have as his competitor a youngster named Donovan, who was acquired by Shreveport through the orderly process of the draft. Frank Parkinson, bought from Nashville in the Southern Association, is expected to play second, with Stanley Benton, a holdover from last season, or Lennox, who was drafted, on his right.

* * *

"Dutch" Hoffman, acquired from New Orleans, or Taylor Phelps, a home boy, who has been in the East Texas League, will play third, with the chances favoring Hoffman.

The outfield is the apple of Tarleton's eye, including as it does Joe Bonowitz, who led the league last season in putouts; "Alabama" Jones, a product of the South Atlantic and highly recommended by none other than the Detroit genius, Ty Cobb; Don Brown, bought from Waco, and possibly Chink Taylor. Taylor was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals, but Tarleton has a hunch he will get him back.

* * *

Joe Gleason, Grady Adkins and Harry Thompson are the pitching holdovers who seem assured of jobs. Other pitching possibilities and probabilities are "Buzzer Bill" Whittaker, whom New Orleans turned over to Shreveport with Hoffman for "Red" Ostergard, and almost enough money to buy Parkinson; Cantrell, who comes up from Jack Vann's Corsicana team, champion of the Texas Association, and Barnabe, who in the Tri-State League won 22 games in 1925. There are a raft of other pitchers coming along, but those named seem to be the pick of the field.

Spring training for the battery men will start March 1, with other members of the squad reporting a week later. The first exhibition game will be with the Chicago White Sox on March 14. Altogether four games will be played with the Sox while the American League team is in training at Shreveport.

ICE HONORS DIVIDED

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Paul O'Brien of New York and Lela Brooks of Toronto shared first honors in the international championship on Lake St. Clair today, the former by winning the senior 220-yard event in 20 2-5 seconds, the latter by leading in the women's senior 440-yard event from start to finish. Her time was 44 3-5 seconds.

RUM RUNNERS KILL OFFICERS

Bodies of Constable And His Aide Found Buried On Farm

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Feb. 5.—(AP)—The bodies of Constable Omar Hockett and John Boelke, his aide, believed to have been slain by bootleggers, were discovered today by prohibition agents, buried on a farm near Horseshoe Lake. Hockett apparently had been killed by a blow on the head while Boelke was shot through the head. Both had been missing since a week ago today when they left to raid whiskey stills.

Coroner Bauer said late today that a further examination of the bodies revealed that both men had been shot under the left eye.

The findings of fresh blood on the bodies led the coroner to believe they were murdered some time Thursday afternoon or night, after having been held captives.

The two men left Edwardsville at 9:30 o'clock in the morning of Jan. 29 announcing their intention of "raiding several stills." Their automobile has not been recovered.

Evidence of a terrific battle between Hockett and his companion and their assailants was found in an examination of the abandoned two-story farm house. Windows had been shattered by dozens of bullets fired into the building from various directions. Twelve bullets of .38 and .45 calibre were found on the floor in two rooms.

The grave was about 1,000 yards from the farm house in a clump of bushes. The bodies had been covered over with loose earth and handfulls of grass and weeds.

Oil Men Protest To Rate Increase

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Oil export terminals and tank storage fields of the SinclAir Oil company at Westwego and the cars of the Petroleum Corporation at St. Rose would have to be junked and the export of refined oil abandoned at New Orleans if freight rate equilization is destroyed in order to help Texas ports. This was the gist of the testimony given before Examiner Koch of the interstate commerce commission here today by vice-presidents of the oil companies.

Any increase in rates to New Orleans would tend to decrease oil exports from the Mid-Continent field, C. C. Holmes, of the Empire Refining company, Tulsa, Okla., testified.

Tour Tickets Are Piling Up Rapidly

Little red, blue and white tickets that, in sufficient numbers represent a never-to-be forgotten vacation tour through California this summer are piling up in a number of Wichita Falls homes.

Those pasteboards in the end will supply railroad and Pullman tickets, hotel bills, cafe charges and all the rest of the expense items for the trip being sponsored by Wichita Falls merchants. Three ladies from this city or territory will win the free trip in the summer months.

Sales at these stores bring the purchaser a certain number of votes which, in the end will be tabulated and the trip awards made on the basis, of course, of the most number.

GOVERNOR CALLS BOOK BOARD IN SPECIAL MEET

Lining Up for the Fight to Invalidate U. S. Entrance Into World Court

Lines are forming in Washington for a renewal of warfare over U. S. participation in the court of international justice. Senators Swanson, Virginia; Lenroot, Wisconsin; Robinson, Arkansas and Curtis, Kansas, shown left to right at bottom, leaders responsible for the court victory in the senate, are preparing to resist efforts of Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee and others who voted against the court, to carry the fight into the elections this fall and obtain enough additional support to enable them to annul court legislation in next session of congress. New photo shows Borah and his supporters outside the capitol: (l. to r.) NEW EVIDENCE FOUND IN REBEL PLOT ON CALLES

Army Commissions, Charged To De La Huerta, Are Held in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Military commissions alleged to have been issued by Adolfo de la Huerta and seized by department of justice agents in raids here last December are understood to be part of the evidence to be presented to the federal grand jury convening Feb. 15.

The grand jury will be asked by government authorities to investigate the actions of 45 Mexicans of San Antonio who are admittedly hostile to the Calles government of Mexico and who, it was declared Tuesday by Gus Jones, in charge of the department of justice office here, have plotted a revolution in Mexico.

Seizure of Huerta's alleged commissions became known today. He is believed here to be in New York or Washington, possibly under another name, but it is known that his brother, Alfonso, was in San Antonio in December.

Adolfo de La Huerta headed the abortive uprising of 1923 in the southern republic. According to Jones, he is chief of the revolutionary junta alleged to be operating here now.

C. Farjas, whose home was among those raided by the government agents said today he believed the documents seized would show sufficient cause for proceedings against all involved. Farjas said that Alfonso de La Huerta in December was busily engaged in organizing the skeleton of an army and had issued numerous commissions and had a large number ready to issue which were taken.

He is fearful that extraditable charges will be lodged against most of those who participated in the 1923 revolution and that they will be deported to Mexico, there to stand trial.

Mr. Jones, however, announced Tuesday that the grand jury would be asked to indict the Mexicans for violation of the neutrality laws, punishment for which is imprisonment.

U. S. Technical Envoys to New Arms Parley

Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, at top, and Brig. Gen. Harry A. Smith, are in line to be senior technical members of the U. S. delegation to the Geneva preparatory conference on disarmaments. Gen. Smith, at bottom, is chief of the war plans division general staff, and Admi. Jones is president of navy general board.

3 Get Pen Terms

WALTERS, Okla., Feb. 5.—R. N. Evans, giving his address as Wichita Falls; E. Jackson of Little Rock, Ark., and T. Smith of Amarillo, received sentences of five and one-half years each in district court here today when they were found guilty of attempting to rob the safe in the Rock Island depot at Temple on Jan. 13.

The three were captured in a Walters hotel a few days after the depot was broken open.

TAX-DODGER IS TRAPPED BY HIS LOST TROUSERS.

GENEVA—Marcel Grunder, a local tradesman, is a sadder, but wiser man today. He went to Lyons, France, to buy a suit of clothes. To avoid paying the Swiss duty he made the outward journey in an old suit which he could leave behind. When he received the new suit, however, he had just time to catch the train home, and decided to change his clothes en route. He discarded the old suit and threw it out of the window. When he opened the parcel he found that the tailor had forgotten to include the trousers. On on arrival at the frontier he was compelled to disclose the reason for his trouserless condition and to pay the duty.

200-YEAR-OLD WINE STORE FOUND IN SECRET CHAMBER

TURIN.—A large store of wine believed to be at least 200 years old was discovered in a secret chamber of a villa being razed here for replacement by a modern building. The theory is that the liquor was concealed by Baron Terrnise, who was exiled from Turin about 1723 and died a few years later. Members of his family subsequently returned here, but it is supposed that the baron had failed to tell of his hoard of wine before he died.

Open Argument In Hoffman Trial

AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Joe Burkett agreed April 7 to ratify the tentative contract Frank V. Lanham had entered with the American Road company, on condition Chairman Lanham approve the awarding of the same sort of a profitable surfacing contract to the Hoffman Construction company, Ernest May, assistant attorney general, charged today.

May opened argument for the state in the $421,000 Hoffman company road trial. He declared the Hoffman Construction company contract "was born in fraud," and denounced Burkett and Lanham, former highway commissioners, and G. A. Davisson, R. Starnes and F. G. Hoffman, stockholders and individual defendants.

SHOALS POWER "GOBBLED UP" BY BIG FIRMS, HE SAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Another angle to the Muscle Shoals situation developed today when it became known that Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee was preparing a bill to make it mandatory upon the government to distribute "equitably and fairly" all power that is not necessary for experimentation in nitrogene in states where it is needed.

He declared he believed the power from the Alabama property should be made available to industrial plants and homes at reasonable rates and not be "gobbled up" by some private concern.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The cotton market developed a fairly good business in today's session. Prices advanced 7 to 9 points in the early trading on further covering by near month shorts but later in there was a reactionary feeling due to realizing and the bearish character of the weekly statistics particularly the disappointing mill takings and the small decrease in the visible supply. The decline carried prices down 23 points from the highs on near positions but only 14 to 17 points on new crop months. The close showed net losses for the day of 14 to 15 points on old crop months and only 4 to 8 points on new crop positions.

Secretary Hester made mill takings for the week only 289,000 bales against 351,000 last year and the decrease in the visible supply of American only 54,399 bales against a decrease in the corresponding week last year of 115,533 bales. At the start the cables were better than due prices opened 1 to 4 points up and a little later advanced a little more. March trading up to 19.90, May to 19.35 and July to 18.74, or 7 to 9 points above the previous close. These proved to be the highs of the day.

The market soon started to ease off and although there were occasional rallies on the strength of the March position due to the diminishing certificated stocks, prices reached their lowest points in the late trading with May at 19.07 and May at 19.12, or 23 points down from the highs. New crop months did not decline as much as the near positions being at the lowest of the day only 14 to 17 points under the early highs.

Exports for the day totaled 9,869 bales and for the week 213,961 bales.

NEW YORK FUTURES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed quiet and steady at net decline of 8 to 17 points.

	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close
March	20.50	20.29	20.31-32	20.45
May	19.92	19.70	19.72-73	19.88
July	19.20	19.01	19.02-03	19.18
Oct.	18.35	18.21	18.21-24	18.39
Dec.	18.03	17.85	17.85-87	17.95

Opening: March 20.50; May 19.91; July 19.17; October 18.32; December 18.01.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The more urgent demand for near months responsible for the advance in the cotton market appeared to be supplied on a further slight advance early today and prices reacted later. May contracts, which had sold up to 19.92 at the start declined to 19.70 in late trading and closed at 19.72; the general close quiet, 5 to 17 points steady at net declines of three to 17 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of eight points on overnight buying orders and local support encouraged by higher Liverpool cables. The near month demand, which local brokers attributed chiefly to covering of shorts, appeared to have been satisfied at the opening figures, however, and the market soon became quiet. This apparently disappointed buyers of yesterday who probably expected the near month strength to bring in more general buying. The market eased off later under realizing or re-selling. There was further covering on the dips and price fixing in near months, while with forming trade connections were buyers of late months on scale-down orders, but the market gradually worked off to 20.29 for March and 18.21 for October, net declines of 8 to 19 points on active positions. Last prices were within a point or two of the lowest.

Some bearish comment was heard on the week-end figures as the decrease in the world's visible supply of American for the week was only 53,130 bales against 131,122 last year which may have contributed to the late afternoon decline although the factor most generally mentioned was the failure of yesterday's advance to lure in more general buying.

Exports today 14,886, making 5,322,525 so far this season. Port receipts 21,230. U. S. port stocks 1,504,157 bales.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Wheat took a late upward swing in value today, helped by signs that actual exports of North American wheat are on a big scale notwithstanding persistent current advices of only small business with Europe. Closing quotations on wheat were firm at the same as yesterday's finish to one cent higher, May $1.75⅝ to $1.75⅝, and July $1.54⅝ to $1.54⅝ with corn ⅛ to ¼c down, oats ⅛ to ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions varying from 5c decline to 12c advance.

Corn and oats were depressed by liberal receipts of corn and also by slowness of shipping call here for corn.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by the action of corn.

STATE'S REVENUE DURING JANUARY IS $4,833,149.26

AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Revenue going to the general revenue fund of the state in January amounted to $4,833,149.26, Comptroller S. H. Terrell reported today. This includes receipts from tax collectors and gross receipt taxes.

STATE ENGINEER BACK FROM STUDY IN EUROPE

AUSTIN, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Chester Cohen, sanitary engineer of the state board of health, returned to his duties today after a year's study of European water purification and sewage disposal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Heavy week-end profit taking by professional traders checked the upward movement of prices toward the close of today's stock market, but not until after about half a dozen shares had attained record high levels. Closing quotations disclosed considerable irregularity, with total sales again exceeding 1,000,000 shares.

The weekly mercantile reviews reports little change in the trade situation. Bradstreet's states "business seems to be moving forward on an even keel with but slight variation of pace and nothing in sight to cause alarm to the average merchant or manufacturer." Dun's reports "the present lack of further growth of business in some direction does not lessen confidence in the situation generally."

Some of today's selling probably was inspired by a desire on the part of large operators to reduce commitments, pending publication of the large stock exchange figures on broker's loans, which expected after the close tomorrow despite the calling of an additional $10,000,00 in loans by New York banks, presumably to strengthen their reserve position.

Call money held steady at 5 per cent with loans available in the "outside" market as low as 4½.

Easier rates are looked for next week.

Heavy accumulation of Union Oil of California which was reported to be for the account of large banking interests in connection with some unrevealed merger plans sent that stock up 4 points to a new high record at 46, but it eased off to 42 at the close. Atlantic Refining also rose over two points on a small turnover, but most of the other popular oils showed only fractional changes on the day.

Motors displayed another temporary outburst of strength but were unable to maintain their gains in the late wave of selling. Hudson closed ⅝c higher at 116⅛ after selling two points above that figure. Chrysler touched 52⅜ and then eased to 51¾, up 1⅝ on the day. Jordan, White and Mack Trucks showed fractional net gains but closed a point or more below their earlier high levels.

General Electric established a new record high price at 350½ and then sold off to 347 for a net loss of one point on the day. A new peak price also was attained by Allied Chemical.

Rails showed a slightly firmer tone, but speculative activity was confined largely to the low and medium priced issues. "Katy" common closing over a point higher at 45 and Lehigh Valley showing a net gain of ⅝ at 83⅜.

Call money held steady at 5 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates fluctuated within rather narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling and French francs ruled practically unchanged at $4.86 and 3.75 cents, respectively. Greek drachmas reacted five points on realizing.

Market Gossip

Z. A. Booth, broker, basement Bob Wagoner Bldg., today received the following from J. S. Bache and company of Chicago on grains:

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Wheat: While prices averaged lower, American markets made a poor response to the decline abroad, there was relatively nothing in the general run of the news to warrant a belief in a lower level of values. The decline in both Liverpool and Buenos Aires looked forced, and indications are that world's statistics will be bullish Monday. After a bulge of 9⅝ cents in a little over a week a reaction of half that amount was not surprising, but there was a lack of aggressive pressure today and the inside figures were not maintained. In the past few days a fair sized short interest has been built up, and the technical position is now much stronger. Continue to favor the buying side on setbacks.

Coarse grains: Stop-loss orders were uncovered in corn early, and prices declined around one cent, but buying by shorts caused a good rally. Cash corn was slightly firmer as compared with May. At the present time little interest is being taken in corn, oats or rye.

Lard showed considerable strength, and advanced easily.

DALLAS—D. C. Moody, alleged to have driven the automobile in which two men who robbed a Piggly-Wiggly store here recently escaped, was convicted of robbery and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment late Friday.

Dun's Review Of Trade and Finance

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

The present lack of a further growth of business in some directions does not lessen confidence in the situation generally.

Results thus far in the new year have not in every case fulfilled expectations, yet there is no evidence of real reaction, current statisitcs testifying to the continuance of an unusually large volume of transactions. Some markets have lately turned more definitely against sellers but the decline in the monthly index number is only about one per cent and was due to lower prices for various food stuffs rather than to easing in manufactured products. An abatement of activity in certain channels now, after last year's appreciable expansion is not surprising, nor does it indicate a diminution of consumption. The facility with which supplies can be secured in most instances, because of large outputs and efficient transportation service tends to act as a brake on buying, there being little pressure to make forward commitments as a protection against possible shortages of merchandise. Weekly bank clearings $9,913,355,000.

The situation in the country appears to be without material change.

Foreign markets are a bit irregular. Mohair is in light supply and firm. Quotations:

City Christian Endeavor Union Hears "Loyalty" Address

DICKEY SPEAKS AT Y.W. MEETING

Rev. Gains B. Hall Also Appears on Program; 85 Are Present

Loyalty to one's friends, to self and to service is one of the greatest virtues in the world, Judge J. S. "There is no one rule for success," Dickey said, "but one of the important ones is loyalty. Loyalty to the colonies made possible our liberty; loyalty to the flag makes possible the army; loyalty to our nation makes possible our great America; loyalty to Christian Endeavor makes possible Christian Endeavor. I would rather it would be said of me at my grave 'he was loyal to his friends' than to have my grave piled high with flowers."

Rev. Hall's address touched on the value of Christian Endeavor work in the church and he paid particular attention to what it meant to the pastor.

Dale is Present

Jack Dale of Electra, state president of the Chrisian Endeavor, attended the meeting which was presided over by Miss Veda Gullatt, president of the union here. Miss Emma Lou Scott, district secretary, also attended. A telegram was read from Jack Huppertz, state secretary.

BRADLEY HEADS C-C COUNCIL

E. G. Hill Elected As Vive Chairman For Coming Year

John W. Bradley of the North Texas Furniture company was elected Friday as chairman of the business council of the chamber of commerce for the coming year when the initial meeting of 1926 was held at the Kemp. E. G. Hill of the Landon-Hill sporting goods stores was named vice chairman and Hubert M. Harrison was re-elected secretary.

Big Attendance Out.

One of the largest attendances in the six-year history of the council turned out for the organization session and, in addition to naming its official personnel for the year listened to several suggestions for important business council work the next 12 months. Chief of these was announcement that plans will shortly be put under way designed to secure an improved road through the irrigated valley from this city to the diversion lake and Lake Kemp. The highway committee of the chamber, it was announced, will meet within the next few days to formulate a report and recommendations. County Judge R. D. Sartin is chairman of this committee.

5 Are Appointed.

Organization of the council was accomplished through a nominating committee of five appointed by J. T. Gant, chairman of the council last year who acted in that capacity Friday in the absence of J. C. Mytinger, president of the chamber of commerce. The committee was composed of A. H. Britain, John O'Donohoe, Dr. Everett Jones, Dr. J. W. Cantwell and E. G. Hill. It presented a unanimous report recommending the election of Mr. Bradley and Mr. Hill. Judge Britain, serving as chairman of the committee, explained that Mr. Hill made vigorous objection in the committee meeting to his appointment but the latter refuted the allegation by declaring, of course, he demanded he be put on.

The report was accepted unanimously by the membership.

Will Get Signed Bridge Contracts

A letter received by County Judge B. D. Sartin Friday from J. W. Page, Oklahoma state engineer, promised the return of signed copies of the contract between Wichita county, Oklahoma and the Austin Brothers Bridge company for the construction of the proposed free bridge across Red river north of Burkburnett, within a day or so.

The contract had just been forwarded to the Oklahoma attorney general for approval at the writing. The letter further states that the Oklahoma tate Highway commission concurs with the Wichita county commissioners in approving the award for the construction of the bridge to the Austin Brothers Bridge company for a price of $239,000.

With the return of the signed copies of the contract it will be taken to Austin to be submitted the attorney general there and the state highway commission. Progress toward the construction of the bridge, further than that, is held up pending the outcome of litigation at Austin enjoining the highway board from rendering some $165,000 state aid to the construction of the bridge.

The Will For Peace Is The Way To Peace, Rabbi Phillips Asserts In Review of Channing Pollock Book

"The Enemy" Is Made Basis for Sermon Friday By Temple Israel Leader; Is a Protest Against War and Also Its Aftermath

"The will for peace is the way to peace," Rabbi Samuel Phillips of Temple Israel declared Friday night in a review of Channing Pollock's book, "The Enemy."

Using this as a basis for his sermon, Rabbi Phillips characterized the work as a great protest, not only against war but against the aftermath of war. He went on to point out that while battles raged and nations were endangered, the soldier was idolized and idealized; but when peace comes and safety is assured, the soldier who fought for this same safety is quickly forgotten. As an example he recalled that the American Legion today is virtually "begging for a paltry $5,000,000 fund with which to care for wounded soldiers and the widows and orphans made by war."

As the author of the book suggests, the speaker said, there are three ways to stop war. One, he said, is to make the men who declare wars fight war.

Put the statesmen who create conditions leading to war in the mud of the trenches and under the danger of bullets and they will speedily find a way to avoid war, was the gist of the first thought. The second suggests that all military armaments and ordnance be scrapped; but this is held impracticable since even without the destructive agencies of war, man could still live and fight on the jungle plan with bare fist and foot.

The third and only way, the conclusion presents, is "the will for peace" which can be obtained only through education and teaching. "Cut from our text books the glorified figures of Ceaser and Napoleon," Rabbi Phillips said, "and substitute the figures of men like Lincoln, Wilson, Pasteur and others of their type."

146 Dogs Shot In Last Three Days

A total of 146 dogs have been shot at the city pound in the last three days, figures given out by the police Friday indicated. There were 53 dogs shot Wednesday, 47 Thursday, and 46 shot Friday. A larger number will probably be disposed of in a similar manner today.

Dogs impounded by the city officers are all shot at the end of a 48-hour stay in the pound if at the end of that time they have not been redeemed by owners, who are required to pay the usual dog license amount and an additional 75 cents pound fee.

While the city's canine population, prior to Jan. 31, was estimated at about 800, only 213 had been supplied with licenses Friday afternoon. Since the first day of this month officers have been required to pick up every dog not properly provided with license tags.

A Significant Word, And the Right To Use It

A lot of other words are wrapped up in that one word—"dependability."

Sturdiness is one. Consistency is another. Sincerity is still another. Faithfulness, integrity, accuracy, steadfastness, soundness—all these are ingredients of dependability.

It's a big word. So big that only an institution that has been tried and tested has a right to use it.
