NATO endorses U.S. approach

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — NATO allies today called on the Soviet Union to cease what they said are violations of U.S.-Soviet arms control accords, and endorsed U.S. arms negotiating positions prior to the superpower summit meeting.

In a statement at the close of two days of talks among allied defense ministers, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expressed concern over U.S. reports of Soviet treaty violations.

"We take the most serious view of this and call on the new Soviet leadership to take the steps necessary to assure full compliance with its commitments," the statement said.

The 13 NATO nations endorsed the U.S. approach to arms control negotiations with the Soviets, and said the alliance was united behind the United States as it approaches the Nov. 19-20 summit.

"On the eve of the meeting between President Reagan and General Secretary (Mikhail) Gorbachev we declare that the president goes to Geneva with the full support and solidarity of the alliance," the ministers said.

The final declaration did not, however, specifically say NATO supported American "Star Wars" research into a space-based defense system against nuclear missiles, a major obstacle to progress in U.S.-Soviet arms control talks.

Several NATO nations have turned down a U.S. invitation to join the research, and some have expressed concern about its implications for future arms control agreements with the Soviet Union.

The United States had sought the joint NATO statement citing alleged Soviet arms violations. But some European nations, including Britain, a close U.S. ally, argued that judgments on treaty compliance are strictly a U.S.-Soviet affair.

None of the United States' NATO allies is a signatory to either the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile treaty or the 1979 SALT II accords.

In an opening session Tuesday, U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger presented spy photographs and other evidence to support his charge that the Soviets are breaching terms of the ABM treaty and SALT II.

Manfred Woerner, the West German defense minister, told reporters he was impressed by evidence presented by Weinberger showing deployment of SS-25 intercontinental nuclear missiles.

Woerner said Weinberger showed pictures of SS-25s deployed in three locations in the Soviet Union. Woerner did not say how many had been installed.

American spy photos also were shown of Soviet SS-20 missiles, a medium-range nuclear rocket that is not limited by any treaty. Weinberger reiterated that 441 of them are operational throughout the Soviet Union.

Hurricane Juan may deposit more rains on coastline

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sandbags and pumps were precious commodities today as levees in New Orleans' suburbs and smaller south Louisiana communities strained to resist floodwaters left behind by Hurricane Juan.

The death toll from Juan's four-day rampage back and forth along the coast stood at six confirmed deaths. Juan, downgraded to a tropical storm Tuesday, also left six people missing, thousands temporarily homeless, millions of dollars in damage and at least $1.5 billion worth of crops endangered.

Forecasters said the slow-moving and erratic storm, whose 85 mph hurricane winds had diminished to 60 mph, could produce 4-8 inches more rain today along a broad line extending from the Florida Panhandle to east Texas.

At 2 a.m. CST, the poorly defined center of the storm was estimated to be near latitude 29.8 north, longitude 92.5, between Lafayette and Lake Charles.

After stalling off the Louisiana coast Monday, Juan backtracked Tuesday and moved over land southwest of New Orleans, then began drifting westward again.

Two of the missing were believed still aboard a jackup drilling barge that capsized Tuesday in a marshy ship channel 20 miles east of New Orleans. One crewman escaped when the 52-foot vessel overturned, and divers recovered the body of another from the barge Tuesday night, the Coast Guard said.

A search for the two missing men was scheduled to resume at daybreak.

Commercial helicopter companies planned to resume an airlift of hundreds of workers back to offshore rigs and platforms evacuated in the Gulf of Mexico during the weekend.

"We're just as busy bringing them out as we were bringing them in," Jim Suggart, a spokesman for Petroleum Helicopters Inc., said Tuesday.

Serious flooding persisted throughout the eastern "toe" of boot-shaped Louisiana, which was punished by high tides and nearly a foot of rain since Juan formed Saturday. Tides were running 5-8 feet higher than usual, the weather service said.

New Orleans measured more than 10 inches of rain during the four-day period, while 8 or more inches fell at Pensacola, Fla., Beaumont-Port Arthur, Texas, and Alexandria and Boothville, La.

People were warned against wading in floodwaters because of displaced poisonous snakes and floating balls of stinging fire ants.

"This is the highest tides we've had since God knows when," said Ron Beason, president of the West Jefferson Levee District in suburban New Orleans.

District employees and volunteers have been sandbagging levees along the heavily populated west bank of the Mississippi River across from New Orleans since Monday night.

Workers formed a human chain nearly a half-mile long Tuesday to sandbag the brimming Harvey Canal, said Jefferson Parish Sheriff Harry Lee.

New fights likely over spending for nerve gas, antimissile research

WASHINGTON (AP) — New fights are likely over spending for nerve gas and "Star Wars" antimissile research when the House takes up a bill which would freeze Pentagon spending for the current fiscal year.

The $292 billion appropriation bill was scheduled for floor debate today, a day after the House gave voice vote approval to a separate measure authorizing the Pentagon to spend a record $302 billion.

Meanwhile, the Senate Appropriations defense subcommittee is scheduled to begin marking up its version of the bill appropriating $302 billion for the Defense Department. The differing versions enacted by the two chambers will be reconciled later in a conference committee.

Whatever finally emerges from the appropriation bills will be far less than President Reagan originally sought in what would have been the last year of his record five-year defense build-up.

Reagan asked for $322 billion for the fiscal year which began Oct. 1. That would have been a 5.9 percent increase, adjusted for inflation, from last year's $292 billion Pentagon budget. But he has said he would approve the figure in the Senate bill.

The Republican-controlled Senate authorized a $302 billion budget, an increase to account for inflation, while the Democratic-run House voted for a flat freeze at $292 billion. The conference committee accepted the Senate figure.

Now, House Democrats have vowed to fight for the $292 billion total in the separate appropriation bill which is needed to actually spend the money.

The $302 billion authorization measure contains a larger spending amount because it includes programs that will be funded in appropriation measures in future years.

Two major disputes are expected over nerve gas, the only weapon denied President Reagan as part of his Pentagon build-up, and Star Wars research to find a high-tech space shield against nuclear attack.

Neighborhood snubbing kid goblins

DALLAS (AP) — Most residents of the Swiss Avenue Historical District, an area of stately mansions located near downtown Dallas, plan a chilly reception for the droves of youngsters who will be out in search of Halloween treats.

A district newsletter issued last year recommended that homeowners use the silent treatment to keep youngsters, mostly Hispanic, black and Vietnamese, who pour into the neighborhood each year from nearby low income homes and apartments a few blocks away.

Most residents plan to keep their porch lights turned off, their curtains drawn and will not answer their doorbells Thursday, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

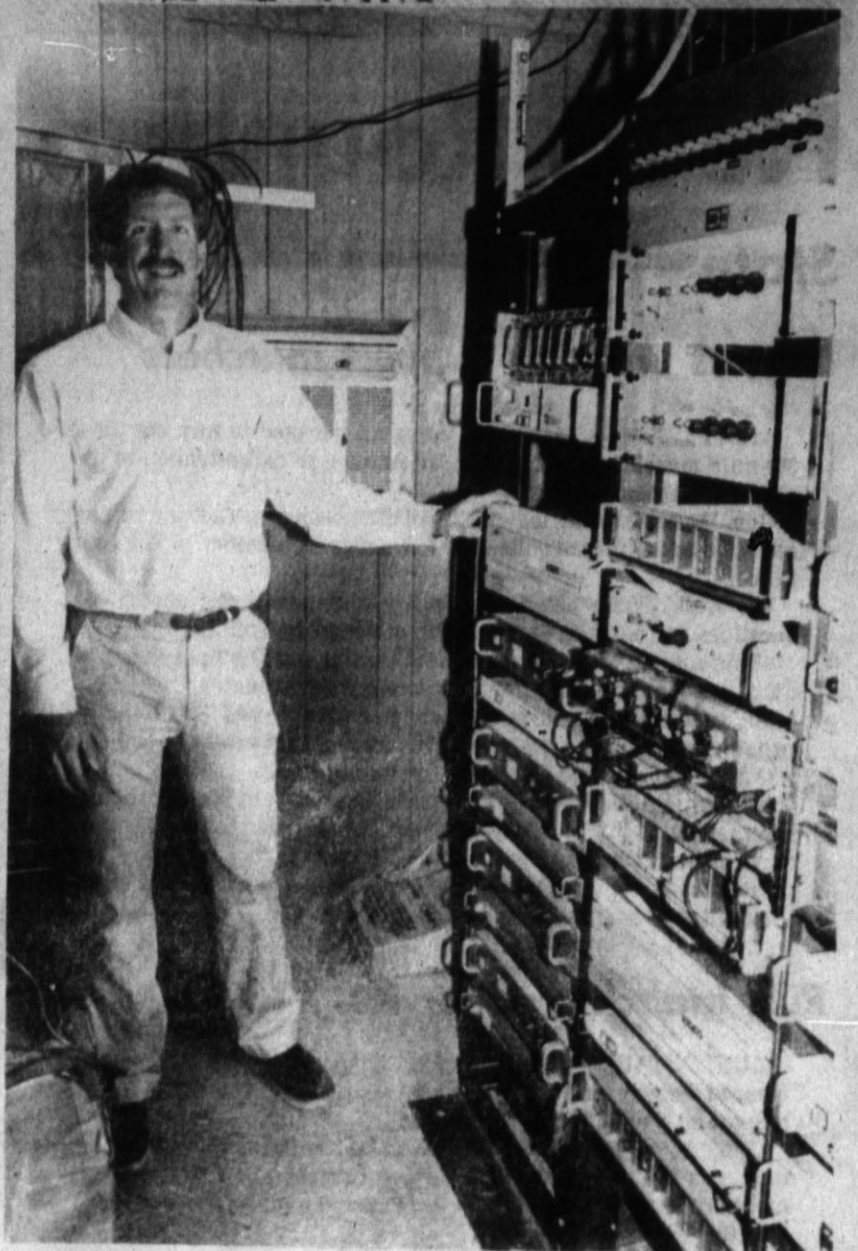

The newsletter noted that residents should use the silent treatment for homeowners "not wanting to treat the truck-loads of non-resident trick-or-treaters."

Some residents say they no longer can be expected to supply the vast amounts of candy required to treat the large throngs that troop down the tree-lined boulevard in the affluent neighborhood.

Not everyone along the street where some scenes of the television drama "Dallas" are filmed agrees.

Dishing It Out

Lloyd Ames, general manager of Hereford Cablevision points to the small Cinemax scrambler that scrambles movie signals from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. On Jan. 15, both HBO and Cinemax will go to full-time scrambling.

Cable programmers scramble reception

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

How do you monitor theft of a service that simply travels through the airwaves?

Given the choice of what to do—scramble the reception or develop a marketing plan—HBO has chosen scrambling to protect its service being received through satellite dishes and illegal reception.

The Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984 has taken away some of the thrill that satellite dish owners had when they thought they were going to get "free" channels.

"Scrambling is a method of protecting the programmer's (HBO and Cinemax, mainly) signals," said Lloyd Ames, general manager of Hereford Cablevision.

"Scrambling technically messes the picture up to where the movie cannot be received," said Ames.

"The programmers have several reasons why they feel it is necessary for them to scramble; one being that they pay royalties for separate movies shown," said Ames.

"At Hereford Cablevision, we lose subscribers because the public gets the programming without paying for it.

"It is up to the programmer (HBO-Cinemax) to protect, if they want to, their signal when it crosses over the satellite," said Ames. "Once the signal is received by the local cable company, it is up to the local cable system to protect illegal reception."

Therefore, the programmers have chosen to scramble so those people with a satellite dish or illegal reception won't pick up the signals free.

"HBO-Cinemax rely on the cable systems to bring in their main source of revenue," said Ames. "They wouldn't bite the hand that feeds them."

Each cable system has to pay a monthly fee, per subscriber, per month to the programmer for basic channels and pay T.V.

Subscribers' fees are paid by the local cable service on all channels except for CBN and PTL.

"The cable operator is tired of losing customers that receive the signal free, via satellite, when the cable operator and cable customers have to pay full price for the service," said Ames.

"You have more control over scrambling because of the use of the addressable descrambler," said Ames.

He explained that an addressable descrambler is a descrambler that can be turned on or off by the programmer.

For example, if the customer does not pay their bill, the programmer can turn the addressable scrambler off.

Ames said that the scrambler that HBO-Cinemax system uses is an addressable scrambler.

Full-time scramble starts in January

"The less equipment that the programmer-descrambler has, the less problems will occur for the programmer and the user," said Ames.

The addressable descrambler also helps protect the interest of the local cable system, programmer, and copyright owner.

"HBO-Cinemax is scrambling only 12 hours a day, from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m., because there haven't been enough descramblers put on the market to take care of the private dish owner," explained Ames.

Ames also mentioned that HBO-Cinemax will go to full-time scrambling on Jan. 15, 1986.

According to Ames, Movie Channel and Showtime are already shipping descramblers to their systems.

Four new Chamber directors elected

Four new directors for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce have been elected in a mail ballot of the membership, it was announced today by Mike Carr, executive vice president.

Named to begin three-year terms in January are B.J. Gilliland, a partner in Gilliland-Nieman Agency; La-Jean Henry, owner of the Pants Cage; Allen Parson, owner of K-Bob's Restaurant; and Fred Rivera, owner of Rivera Produce.

The C of C board nominated eight persons to fill the four positions up for election this year. The other four candidates were R.L. Blakely, Jack Mars, John Perrin and Jerry Walsh. Ballots were mailed Oct. 10 to all chamber members, and the ballots included provisions for write-in candidates.

Directors whose terms expire at the end of the year are Charles Bell, Rosie Griffin, Steve Nieman and Gary Phipps.

Hulk Hogan hottest mask

BOSTON (AP) — President Reagan and glitter rock stars are out, former President Nixon still is in, and Charlie Chaplin and E.T. are making comebacks. But this year's hottest selling Halloween mask is a likeness of professional wrestler Hulk Hogan.

The queen of the costume rental business appears to be Elvira, the syndicated TV hostess dressed as a sexy vampire who introduces horror movies.

In the mask business, however, the massive star of the professional wrestling circuit who inspired a mania named after him is the top choice.

"He's alone in his greatness," said Carl Bertolino, assistant manager of Little Jack Horner Inc., one of the nation's largest costume shops. "We can't get enough of them."

Bertolino said that to meet last-minute demand, the company is now shipping the masks, made in France, by air to customers around the country.

The mask sells for $40 and includes a sweat band wrapped around it and long blond hair, large nose, mustache, bright teeth, bushy eye brows, big brown eyes and a dimple in the chin.

Bertolino said he did not have a body costume to go along with the mask, but that customers seem to feel they don't need the Hulk's 6-foot-8, 350-pound muscular physique.

"It's great when you see a little kid wearing this humongous mask," he said. "It's hysterical. The kid looks like a Munchkin character with a big head and a little body."

But this Halloween adults also are getting into the act.

"This year, everything is going," said Bertolino, whose wholesale and retail company has been doing business in downtown Boston for 51 years. "It's unbelievable. I've never seen anything like it in all the years we've been in the business."

Texans urged to support marchers

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans are being encouraged to turn out for a 300-mile march from Dallas to San Antonio to call attention to the plight of Vietnam veterans.

Gov. Mark White signed an official memorandum Tuesday calling attention to the march called "A Journey to Remember — The Last Patrol."

The walk, White noted, is bringing attention to the unresolved questions surrounding Vietnam War prisoners and missing.

"This march," the governor said, "is giving Vietnam veterans much-needed recognition for their service to our country."

The march was the idea of Michael J. Martin and Tim Holiday, two singers and songwriters who also are Vietnam veterans. Holiday was a Navy medic and Martin was an infantryman.

In an interview, Martin said retired Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, is scheduled to join the marchers in Austin Wednesday night and Thursday.

"Regardless of what you thought of him as a general, he's still a Vietnam veteran, too. He's one of us," Martin said.

Ruiz trial cleared for Nov. 18

AUSTIN (AP) — State District Judge C.C. "Kit" Cooke has cleared the way for the robbery trial of prison activist David Ruiz to resume on Nov. 18.

Cooke held Tuesday that Ruiz could be tried on charges that Ruiz took part in a September 1984 armed robbery of an Austin apartment at the same time his attorneys appeal a mistrial ordered Oct. 15 in the same robbery.

"This will let both sides proceed in the case," Cooke said after a brief hearing in which defense attorney Bob Looney claimed Ruiz should not be retried following the mistrial.

Cooke turned down the defense plea, but approved an appeal to the state's highest criminal court.

At the same time, Cooke ruled the state could go ahead Nov. 18 with its prosecution of Ruiz by bringing to trial another charge stemming from a September 1984 robbery of an Austin apartment. Ruiz was named in four robbery indictments, one for each of the alleged victims.

Officer claims firing over wife's party

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A former police officer is suing Silsbee city officials for $2.2 million, alleging he was fired because his wife held an "intimate apparel party."

David C. Lusk was an officer in Silsbee, a small Hardin County community, for 3½ years before he was fired on Sept. 4, 1984.

Lusk contends in his federal civil rights lawsuit that city officials fired him after falsely accusing him of involvement in unspecified criminal activity.

However, according to the suit, the officer said he was actually fired because his wife held a party to sell products from a company that markets women's lingerie, novelties and other adult items.

Named as defendants in the suit filed Friday in Beaumont are: Silsbee Police Chief Dennis M. Allen, City Manager Ronald Hickerson and the city of Silsbee.

According to the suit, Allen was offended when he heard about the lingerie party and threatened to fire Lusk.

Soviet sailor says he's not a defector

WASHINGTON (AP) — After insisting he wanted to return to his homeland, a Soviet sailor has been released from U.S. custody near New Orleans, leaving unanswered his motive for twice leaping from his freighter into the Mississippi River.

A State Department statement released Tuesday night said the sailor, Miroslav Medvid, convinced U.S. officials who interrogated him extensively for two days that he wasn't a defector after all.

Medvid was returned to Soviet custody after signing a Russian-language statement affirming that, "I ... have decided to return to my country, the Soviet Union."

"I do not request asylum in the United States. I make this decision voluntarily of my own free will," the statement said.

Following the State Department's announcement, a Coast Guard cutter pulled alongside the Soviet freighter and a small group of men got off and boarded the Soviet vessel. But observers on the shore could not tell whether the sailor was among them.

The two-page State Department statement said the administration considers the matter closed. It gave no indication as to why Medvid jumped into the Mississippi last Thursday and Friday.

Tax amnesty may bring in millions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York officials hope to bring in about $200 million during a three-month tax amnesty program that starts Friday with the message: "You know who you are and so do we."

"What I really would have loved to do is get everyone feeling guilty, but I'm not that naive," said state Tax Commissioner Roderick Chu, who estimates tax cheating costs New York $1 billion annually.

Instead, New York's amnesty television commercials emphasize that the tax collector has new ways of finding cheats and tougher penalties for those who don't pay voluntarily.

Chu speaks of the easy to remember "three Cs" that Gov. Mario Cuomo has said under the program.

"If you're a tax cheat, we're going to catch you, we're going to convict you and we're going to can you," says Cuomo.

The same tough-guy approach has been used in other amnesty programs in Illinois, California and Massachusetts. Like New York's, their programs let taxpayers pay delinquent taxes, plus interest, without civil or criminal penalties.

Sakharov's wife has permission

BONN, West Germany (AP) — The Soviet ambassador to West Germany said today he believes the wife of Soviet dissident Andrei D. Sakharov has official permission to travel to the West for medical care.

Ambassador Vladimir Semyonov's comments were the first made publicly by any Soviet official about the possibility that Yelena G. Bonner will be allowed to leave the Soviet Union for treatment of an eye ailment.

Semyonov told The Associated Press he thinks Mrs. Bonner, 60, will be allowed to leave the Soviet Union.

"I have read that she intends to do it, but I don't know when she plans to go or where," Semyonov said.

When asked if Sakharov, the Soviet Union's best-known human rights advocate, would also be allowed to leave the Soviet Union, Semyonov replied: "That is another question that I cannot answer."

Sakharov was sent into internal exile in the closed city of Gorky in January, 1980. Mrs. Bonner was sent to join him in 1984.

'Harvest of Blessing' set Friday

Community Spirits

Church Women United will be collecting canned goods for the Good Shepherd food pantry at the World Community Day service Friday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Starting the basket filling are Helmi Batterman, Immanuel Lutheran; Leta Kaul, Community Church; Anita Garza, Spanish Assembly of God; Doris Huckert, First Christian Church; Laura Walker, Mt. Sinai Baptist; and Yiota Malouf, Greek Orthodox. Women from several ethnic groups and walks of life will be sharing their personal blessings at the service.

"Harvest of Blessings" is the theme for the World Community Day program set for Friday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Thomas Episcopal Church. The program is sponsored by Church Women United but is open to the public. The emphasis of the service will be to focus on counting one's blessings.

Women from different walks of life will be sharing their personal blessings. Home baked breads will be shared by women from different racial and ethnic groups, also.

Dr. Duffy McBryer will present special music for the service.

Persons attending the celebration are asked to bring canned food items to be donated to Operation Good Shepherd food pantry.

Refreshments will be served in the parish hall following the service.

World Community Day began in 1943 and continues to be observed on the first Friday of each November.

HURRICANE

Gov. Edwin Edwards declared a state of emergency Monday in 13 south Louisiana parishes, and the state's congressional delegation asked President Reagan on Tuesday to make emergency federal resources available to the region.

Edwards said damage would exceed that of Hurricanes Danny and Elena combined. Both storms wrought millions of dollars in damage.

Farmers have said that the $1.5 billion harvest in sugar cane and soybeans were threatened.

An estimated 2,500 evacuees were still waiting in 23 Red Cross shelters for floodwaters to drop in 10 south Louisiana parishes.

Flooding was worst in St. Bernard Parish, to the east of New Orleans, where water stood 7 feet deep in some fishing communities, forcing about 500 people to evacuate Sunday.

High water extended northward into St. Tammany Parish, on the Mississippi line, where at least 200 homes and businesses were reported flooded, and to the tiny fishing village of Manchac, at the juncture of lakes Pontchartrain and Maurepas, northwest of New Orleans.

"There's no place for the water to go. We're just waterlogged," said Don Gary, assistant civil defense director for Houma, a city of 35,000 about 55 miles southeast of New Orleans. "...This is the worst I've seen in 35 years."

Waist-deep floodwaters kept Lafitte virtually deserted since Monday, and 1,200 residents remained stranded on Grand Isle, a coastal community under up to 4 feet of water and where a new, two-mile section of hurricane protection levee was swept away.

On Tuesday, the Red Cross flew 1,200 fried chicken dinners to Grand Isle, where Mayor Phillip Bradberry said electricity probably would not be restored until Friday.

Officials in Mississippi said up to 9,000 homes in two southern counties were flooded or isolated by high water. Gov. Bill Allain declared a state of emergency.

In Alabama, the rain and high tides prompted flash-flood warnings in the Mobile area, and residents of Dauphin Island were ordered to evacuate as high tides threatened the only road leading there.

Streets were flooded in Florida from Jacksonville to the Panhandle.

The missing included three aboard crewboats that foundered in the Gulf of Mexico and a wind surfer in Lake Pontchartrain.

Numbered among the dead were a crewman drowned as a collapsed oil rig was evacuated, a man electrocuted when he stepped on a submerged power line, another who fell from his boat and drowned and a woman in Mississippi who lost control of her car in the rain.

SCRAMBLE

"After descramblers hit the market, it will give the customer another option as to where they want to take their business."

The cable systems operators are very concerned about the satellite dishes that are being used in their franchise area.

"Where a dish is out of the franchise area, the individual is welcome to pick up T.V. programming outside that area," said Ames. The local cable company stays only within its franchise.

"The cable operator would like the customer to determine for themselves where they can get the best deal in T.V. programming," said Ames.

Hereford Cablevision customers pay $10 for HBO service, said Ames, citing an example. But, if the dish owner takes HBO service through the dish, a $12.95 charge will be assessed for the service by HBO-Cinemax (the national programmer, not the local cable office.)

"Either way, whoever subscribes to HBO or Cinemax, and any other pay T.V. service, eventually will have to pay for the service," said Ames.

He explained that the customer can either pay by being a subscriber or the dish owner can pay the programmer directly, once the scrambler is fully implemented.

According to Ames, ESPN, CNN, CBN, Headline News, Arts and Entertainment Network, Showtime, The Movie Channel, Nickelodeon, MTV, and Nashville Network will all implement their scrambling devices within the next two years.

What did Ames think of the future of pay T.V.? Has it reached its peak?

"Yes," replied Ames, "HBO has reached its peak in the last year as have all the pay services."

He explained that when pay TV services were first coming out, the viewer had an enormous choice of services to choose from.

Now, there are more forms of competition that pay TV has to deal with. There are now VCRs, many other pay TV services, and satellite dishes, etc.

At the present time, HBO and other pay TV services are changing their marketing plans to emphasize keeping the present customer instead of acquiring new customers.

MILITARY

The authorization bill approved by the House on Tuesday, and the Senate last July, permits new chemical weapons for the first time since 1969. But $163 million for the Army program was knocked out of the appropriation bill last week when the Appropriations Committee passed the measure.

Rep. Ike Skelton, D-Mo., was readying an amendment to put the money back into the measure.

Lyons speaks to Waterfowlers

It was a packed V.F.W. Hall Tuesday during the annual Texas Waterfowlers Association dinner held to raise money for the association to use in the preservation of wildlife in this area.

The festivities kicked off with door prizes. The ladies were eligible for 18 prizes while the men gathered 28 prizes. The prizes for the ladies ranged from flashlights and perfumes to an opal and diamond yellow gold dinner ring. The men's prizes ranged from motor oil additive to a Ruger .22 caliber rifle.

Texas Senator Ted Lyons was the guest speaker for the evening. Senator Lyons was named legislator of the year in 1981, and named one of the most outstanding young men of the JayCees in 1979. Lyons, who is an avid waterfowl hunter, commended the TWA for their efforts in wildlife conservation.

Lyons stated that we are facing some of the most trying years in history concerning the population of ducks and mallards.

"There has been a tremendous reduction in the number of birds over the past few years," he said.

"In 1970 the number of mallards recorded in the northern plains reached 10.4 million, in 1985 that number was reduced to 2.7 million. This is due to serious droughts that have occurred in the north," Lyons said.

"We are losing nearly 250,000 birds per year. your group enables the birds to rest as they make their long journey for the winter, that rest that they receive here makes the birds stronger and healthier," Lyons added.

Following Lyons' address, the TWA auctioned nearly 70 items. The items were all donated to the TWA and ranged from duck art prints to hunting accessories.

Celebrating Birthday

Donnie Owen was honored with a birthday reception Sunday afternoon in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church. Approximately 150 friends and relatives were present to help celebrate her 85th birthday. Five of her 10 children pictured are

Family, friends honor Donnie Owen Sunday

A birthday luncheon and reception honored Donnie Owen, who recently turned 85 years of age, Sunday afternoon at First Baptist Church.

Before the reception held in the church fellowship hall, family members gathered for a luncheon in Kinsey Parlor.

Approximately 150 relatives and guests attended the reception which was hosted by Mrs. Owen's children. The event was catered by Something Special and the birthday cake was made by her daughter, Jewell Hargrave.

Guests were invited to sign the guest book by Mrs. Owen's great-granddaughters. They included Jessica Belbeck of Edmond, Ok., granddaughter of Anna Jo Wilson, and Nicole Bourland of Lubbock, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Owen of Hereford.

Dian Belbeck played piano selections during the afternoon celebration.

Serving refreshments were Susan Owen of Oklahoma City, Ok., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.P. Owen, and Becky Bourland of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Owen.

Almond tea, coffee, punch, nuts and cake squares were refreshments served from a table covered with an orange cloth overlaid with white lace.

The orange iced cake was decorated with yellow and black depicting a Halloween theme and was placed on the refreshment table centered with a floral fall arrangement of mixed flowers, a gift from the honoree's grandchildren. Crystal and silver appointments further enhanced the table.

Six of Mrs. Owen's children were present. They included Gwynne Owen of Cedar Creek Lake, Tx., Anna Jo Wilson of Oklahoma City, Ok., G.P. Owen of Ft. Worth, and Bobby and Warren Owen and Jewell Hargrave, all of Hereford.

Other children include Jack Owen of Carrolton, Mo., John David Owen of Cascade Locks, Ore., Lawrence Owen of St. Peter, Minn. and Homer Owen of Waco.

The public is invited to a home security seminar from 10 a.m. until 12 noon Thursday in the Deaf Smith County Library Heritage Room.

The purpose of the seminar is to tell the public how to make the home a more secure place to live in.

Guest speakers will include Linda Thibodeaux, extension housing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Dallas, and Butch Glenn with the Hereford Police Department.

Thibodeaux will present a program on locks and other ways to make the home secure and Glenn will talk on the Neighborhood Watch Program and other security devices offered locally.

Stress workshop scheduled

A stress workshop will be conducted by Elva Devers, a teacher at Shirley Elementary School, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 5 in First Christian Church.

The event, which is sponsored by Hereford Family Services Center, is to help the public understand stress and ways to eliminate it.

There is no charge and everyone is invited to attend.

DATE BOOK

October 30, 1985

Today is the first day of the Original Ozark Folk Festival. It is the 303rd day of 1985 and the 37th day of autumn.

TODAY'S HISTORY: Orson Welles broadcast a radio play called "War of the Worlds" on this day in 1938. The play sounded so realistic that many panicking listeners believed that Martians really were invading Earth.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS: Christopher Columbus (1451); Ruth Gordon (1896); Henry Winkler (1945).

TODAY'S QUOTE: "To be somebody, you must last." — Ruth Gordon.

TODAY'S MOON: Between full moon (Oct. 28) and last quarter (Nov. 5).

TODAY'S TRIVIA: In Orson Welles' broadcast of "War of the Worlds," what state was invaded by Martians? (a) California (b) New Jersey (c) New York

ELVA DEVERS

Max Baer knocked out Primo Carnera in 11 rounds to win the world heavyweight boxing championship in New York on June 14, 1934.

We Invite You
To Our Halloween Party!

47 YEARS AGO
(Oct. 30, 1938)

... "War of the Worlds" was first heard on the radio.

The original broadcast, featuring Orson Welles, was part of a series of radio dramas based on famous novels, and heard on "Mercury Theater on the Air."

The Mercury Players' production is one of Broadcasting's most famous events, based on the fact that many listeners took the simulated news bulletins (describing a Martian invasion of New Jersey) for real.

On Halloween night, immediately following the KPAN Halloween Party, you'll be able to hear this classic radio drama just as it was presented in 1938.

Also on October 31, KPAN listeners will be able to enjoy several other Radio "Horror" Classics from the Golden Age of Radio.

Then at 5:00 p.m., KPAN will begin a remote broadcast from the Halloween Carnival at the Bull Barn, where KPAN staffers will participate with their "House of Cheap Thrills."

At 8:00 p.m., the Annual "Halloween Party" will be broadcast on AM, FM, and Cable Channel 3, with many prizes to be awarded to youngsters whose names are drawn and call KPAN within the allotted time. (Rules for the Halloween party are given on the registration cards that were distributed through the schools.)

Registration cards for the Halloween party will be accepted at the KPAN Studios until 5:00 p.m. October 31. Pre-schoolers may sign up at KPAN, 218 E. Fifth.

Ann Landers

Keep it all

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My best friend is a woman in her early 70s. She is in good health and lives alone in the family home. It is a beautiful place, on six acres of land and furnished in lovely taste.

My friend has a daughter who lives very high. She and her husband spend every dollar they make, travel everywhere, dress to the nines and never miss a sporting event, whether it's in Louisville, New Orleans or Los Angeles.

The Big Spenders have offered Mother a "deal". They will take care of her in her old age if she will sign over the family home NOW.

What do you think she should do? I have my opinion but have been asked to get yours.—ASKING IN AUSTIN

Jan. 1, 1966, the first warning appeared, from Surgeon General Dr. William Stewart: "Caution: Cigarette smoke may be hazardous to your health."

April 1, 1970, the second warning appeared, from Surgeon General Dr. Jesse L. Steinfeld: "Warning: The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health."

This Oct. 1, Surgeon General Dr. C. Everett Koop came out with four different rotating cigarette messages. They make it abundantly clear that cigarette smoking can cause serious health problems and that anyone who ignores the warnings may pay a heavy price in terms of sickness and even death.

Going to a wedding? giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. For a copy, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Accent on Health

DEAR AUSTIN: I would advise that mother to hang on to everything—including the gold in her teeth. It's true, "You can't take it with you," but it's nice to have it while you are still here. Those children sound too eager to suit me.

DEAR ANN: I just finished reading the letters from the university professors' wives. They were complaining about sexy students who make passes at their husbands. They call those students "lollipops."

Believe me, there are lollipops in every profession. I am a minister's wife and I have seen them hanging around for years.

My husband and I have pastored four churches in as many states. The lollipops I've had to put up with are women (always married) who pretend to be seeking advice about their spiritual lives but are really hoping to have an affair with my husband.

I read an article recently about ministers who leave their pulpits and families. Ninety percent of the men who were included in the study left because they got mixed up with a lollipop.

My husband is unusually attractive, and while I don't feel threatened, I am aware of the pressures on this man to stray. Any suggestions?—WEAK IN FAITH IN BLOOMINGTON, IND.

DEAR BLOOMING: Don't run scared. Treat him as if he were the most honorable, faithful and trustworthy man in the world. Give him something to live up to and chances are good that he will not let you down.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son and I are heavy smokers. We are curious about something. Which surgeon general determined that "Cigarette smoking is hazardous to your health?" Thanks, Ann.—WANNA B. SMARTER IN LOMITA, CALIF.

DEAR LO: According to Louise Wiseman, a technical information specialist in the Office on Smoking and Health, Rockville, Md.; "On Almost a fourth of all gonorrhea and 10 percent of all syphilis cases reported to the Texas Department of Health (TDH) are among teen-agers aged 15 to 19 years, according to state statistics.

"Those figures are particularly alarming," said Dr. Thomas G. Betz, Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services at TDH. "What's disturbing is that those percentages have stayed constant even though Texas has had fewer total cases of syphilis and gonorrhea reported for each of the last three years."

(The cases of reported primary/secondary syphilis declined from 6,338 in 1982 to 5,136 in 1984. Gonorrhea decreased from 81,850 cases in 1982 to 65,802 in 1984.)

An equally alarming trend has developed among young teen-agers who are less than 14 years of age, Betz said. "Cases of gonorrhea have increased in that age group for the last three years. In 1984, we had 542 cases of gonorrhea in children between 10 and 14 years of age."

Such trends are disturbing for several reasons, Betz said.

"An older person is more likely to know that sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) like gonorrhea and syphilis require prompt medical attention," Betz said. "But teen-agers, especially the younger ones, often don't understand the implications of STDs. They may not realize that they need medical attention or know where to get that care."

STDs that teen-agers acquire today may also drastically affect their futures, Betz said. "They aren't thinking of it at 15, but many teen-agers will want to have children of their own someday. STDs can change those plans because they can cause infertility."

One example of that, he said, is pelvic inflammatory disease (PID), which can develop after a gonorrhea or chlamydial infection. The two organisms can cause scarring of the Fallopian tubes connecting the ovaries and uterus. If the scarring is severe enough, the tubes become blocked and the woman is infertile, Betz said.

"Nor is infertility a scare story, he said. The Centers for Disease Control found that between 1976 and 1978 almost one of every five women hospitalized for PID was a teen-ager."

"That figure may have increased, Betz said. Recent studies in Colorado Springs, Colo., and Seattle, Wash., have shown that about a third of all PID case may occur in teen-agers."

Alabama's John J. Sparkman was Adali Stevenson's running mate when Stevenson unsuccessfully ran against Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Preparing For Meals

The public is invited to join the festivities planned during First Christian Church's second annual Fall Festival Thursday. Kay Hall, at left, and Edith Hunter open the lid on preparations for the fajita lunch and supper planned that day. Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and supper serving is from 5:30-7:30 p.m. in the church's fellowship hall. Several events are planned during the day including a country store which will open at 10 a.m. in the church parlor.

Figureheads

Figureheads are about as old as sailing itself. The art grew from the ancient custom of decorating ships' bows to invite guiding spirits to dwell in the vessels. Throughout the centuries, nations and peoples decorated ships' bows.

Wyoming leads way in personal income report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wyoming, helped by construction of a giant oil project, enjoyed the largest jump in personal income of any state this spring, according to the latest survey of personal income in the 50 states.

The Commerce Department said Tuesday that the 3.1 percent rise in personal income in Wyoming from April through June was far ahead of the average national increase of 1.1 percent.

Other states ahead of the national average were Indiana, with a 2 percent gain; Kansas, up 1.8 percent; Arizona, up 1.7 percent; and Florida with a 1.6 percent rise.

At the other end of the scale, three states actually suffered declines in personal income from April through June.

Delaware was hardest hit with a 0.7 percent decline, which was blamed in part on an effort by Du Pont, a big employer in the state, to encourage workers to take early retirement in order to trim labor costs.

Two other states, Alaska, with a 0.3

percent decline, and Montana, a 0.1 percent dip, were hurt by cutbacks in oil exploration and drilling.

Pay checks in Wyoming were fattened by a big 16.6 percent jump in construction payrolls, with much of the increase stemming from work on a $2.2 billion Exxon plant to produce carbon dioxide for use in refining crude oil.

Nationwide, construction payrolls showed the most improvement of any category, advancing 2.4 percent, followed by a 2 percent rise in service industry payrolls, a 1.8 percent increase in government workers' salaries and a 1.4 percent increase in pay at mining and energy companies.

Manufacturing was the only industry segment to show no improvement this spring as domestic producers continued to suffer from a flood of foreign imports, which have contributed to a loss of 340,000 manufacturing jobs since January.

Consumer prices from April through June rose 0.7 percent, which meant states with income gains below this level lost ground to inflation.

The 1.1 percent nationwide increase in income was slightly below a 1.7 percent advance during the first three months of the year.

Commerce Department analyst Rudolph DePass said most geographic regions shared in the gains, although certain industries were doing much better than others.

"It was a period of moderate economic growth, typified by high import penetration, declining farm prices and declining oil and gas prices," he said. "There are a lot of imbalances in the economy with basic industries like manufacturing growing slowly compared to the service sectors."

The Commerce Department said the growth in overall personal income, including farmers, was 1 percent during the second quarter, down from a 1.7 percent increase in the first three months of the year.

"It's surprising," Landry says

Dallas Cowboys lead NFL in offense

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) — Nobody was more stunned than Dallas Coach Tom Landry to learn this week that the Cowboys are leading the National Football League in offense.
"It's surprising," said Landry.
The Cowboys are averaging 390 yards per game but have scored only 13 touchdowns, three of them by the Dallas defense on interception returns. Landry isn't real happy about the lack of touchdowns.
"Our big problem is scoring once we get inside the 20 yard line," said Landry. "That's the area that concerns us the most. It hurts you eventually if you don't get it corrected."

Dallas quarterback Danny White, who has been playing with sore ribs, has nine touchdowns passes but also has served up 12 interceptions.
"We have to get that corrected, too," said Landry. "But we don't want to put so much pressure on Danny that he's afraid to throw the ball. The interceptions are happening for different reasons."
"Danny will be playing in pain all year," said Landry. "His ribs can't heal when he keeps getting pounded. However, he is throwing pretty well. Sometimes he hurts more than others and doesn't have zip on the ball but I'd give him a positive grade overall."

There is something Landry is most happy about, the physical way the Cowboys are dominating foes.
"We have one of the most physical teams we've had in a long time," said Landry. "Our players are tough and aggressive. It's something we discovered in the middle of last year.

We started getting after people."
The Cowboys get-tough policy has propelled them to the top of the National Conference Eastern Division with a 6-2 record.
Landry said the hard part is ahead for the Cowboys.
"We'll have to play the best game we can to beat the teams we have on our schedule," said Landry.
The Cowboys have a salty three-game stretch in which they play St. Louis on Monday night Nov. 4, travel to Washington the following Sunday and then host the impressive Chicago Bears.
"If we win two of the three we would be having great success because all those games are subject to losses if we don't play at a top level," said Landry.
"St. Louis has been down but we're looking for them to rebound against us," said Landry. "St. Louis has as much potential as anybody in the league. They just aren't scoring and I hope that continues one more week."
"I've never gone to St. Louis when it was an easy game."
The Cowboys were rated field goal favorites over the Cardinals. The Cowboys have won three straight games in Bush Stadium.

Stanton 7th grade football team loses 18-2

The Stanton Junior High School seventh grade football team fell behind Plainview Blue 12-0 in the first half Tuesday and suffered an 18-2 loss.

The game was played at Plainview. Stanton has an 0-2 season record.

The only points for Stanton came on a safety in the third quarter. Shea Brannon and Jermaine Williams tackled the Plainview Blue quarterback in the end zone for the safety.

"The game was not as lopsided statistically as the score was," said Stanton Coach Paul Samples. "Offensively, we advanced the football but we were stopped by mistakes and an interception."

"Defensively, they hurt us with their outside game."

Samples said Stephen Banner, Jermaine Williams, Mark Lindsey, Max Mungia and Shea Brannon played outstanding games.

La Plata White battled to a 0-0 tie with one of the Plainview Red teams, and the other Plainview Red team defeated La Plata Red 8-6.

In the 0-0 tie game, Plainview Red had a touchdown called back because of a penalty.

La Plata Red held a 6-0 lead over Plainview Red when quarterback Cody Page rushed 40 yards for a touchdown.

Plainview Red ran back the kickoff following the La Plata touchdown for a game-tying touchdown. Plainview Red then ran for a two-point conversion to edge La Plata Red, 8-6.

Will NFL need complicated tiebreakers this season?

By DAVE GOLDFERG
AP Football Writer

After all the complicated tiebreakers which came into play to determine last season's National Football League playoff berths, figuring out the leaders at the halfway point of 1985 is simple.

It is particularly so in the National Football Conference, where a year ago an abacus and two computers were needed.

If, for some reason, the season were called off today, Chicago (8-0) would be the NFC Central champ, the Rams (7-1) would win the West, and Dallas (6-2) the East. The New York Giants and Detroit Lions, both 5-3, would be the wild-card teams with the Giants getting the home field advantage for their game on the basis of a better record within the conference (5-2 to Detroit's 4-3).

The Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers would be out.

In the American Football Conference, the division champions would be the New York Jets (6-2) in the East and the Cleveland Browns (4-4) in the lackluster Central. Denver (6-2) would win the West over the Los Angeles Raiders because the Broncos are 2-0 in the division and the Raiders are 1-1.

So the Raiders would get the home wild-card spot. The Miami Dolphins, last year's Super Bowl participant, would sneak into the other wild-card spot on the basis of a 4-2 against AFC teams to 3-2 over New England. Both teams are 5-3 overall.

There is, however, a half-season to go, so don't put that abacus away.

Even with Sunday's win over the Rams, the 49ers are still 4-4 and questions persist about what's wrong. Nobody can really say, but here's Coach Bill Walsh's latest version:

"You have to sacrifice a lot of put together an 18-1 season. Then six months later, it isn't easy to come back and try to do it all over again. It isn't easy to get back in the right frame of mind after showing your mental toughness for 18 consecutive weeks. You don't want to admit you have an attitude problem but you know it exists. We've been self-destructing.

"Unless you're right at your best, it's tough to win in the NFL. We showed in the first half we're still capable of the kind of football we played last year. But we aren't a playoff team yet. We're still some distance from being a playoff team."

Because of injuries Oilers lineup keeps changing

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Injuries are forcing new faces into the Houston Oilers lineup and Coach Hugh Campbell is pleased with the progress of the replacements.

The Oilers were reduced to one healthy running back in Sunday's 20-10 victory over St. Louis, forcing tight end Chris Dressel to line up as a blocking back.

He didn't carry the ball, but Campbell said Dressel provided superior blocking.

"Chris is a better blocker than the backs normally block so there is some strength there," Campbell said, celebrating the Oilers' second consecutive victory.

Starting fullback Larry Moriarty and backup running back Stan Edwards missed the game with injuries and Mike Rozier suffered an ankle sprain on his first carry.

That left the Oilers with Butch Woolfolk as the lone healthy running back.

"I told Butch it didn't matter if he got hurt, that he was going to play anyway," Campbell said.

Moriarty, sidelined with painfully bruised ribs, may return for Sunday's game in the Astrodome against the Kansas City Chiefs.

"I think we'll have Larry back this week but if we don't it will be more of Dressel in the backfield."

Defensively, the Oilers lost cornerback Steve Brown, who suffered a sprained arch in his foot. The Oilers shifted to a zone coverage and went with rookie Richard Johnson.

Another rookie, Frank Bush, is starting for injured outside linebacker Johnny Meads.

"He's (Bush) very talented with great instincts," Campbell said.

"He's about where Meads and (Robert) Lyles were last year.

"He's in there before we'd like him full time but he's benefitting from the experience."

The Oilers lost Rozier and Brown in the first quarter when they fell behind 10-0.

"We've started well the past couple of weeks but we turned that around Sunday," Campbell said.

"This time we were outscored 10 points but the team kept plugging away and found a way to win."

The Oilers will take a 3-5 record into Sunday's game but Campbell won't start thinking of contending in the American Football Conference's Central Division.

Houston, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh are tied for second place with 3-5 records behind Cleveland, 4-4.

"It's good for our team to have them all bunched, it's a good motivational factor," Campbell said. "But we're definitely going to have some more ups and downs. If we are guilty of thinking of a group of games at once, we're in real trouble."

Houston's next five opponents have losing records.

Andujar receives 10-day suspension

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Louis pitcher Joaquin Andujar will miss the first 10 days of the 1986 baseball season under a suspension imposed by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth for the Cardinal right-hander's outburst against American League umpire Don Denkinger in the seventh game of the World Series.

"Such actions are damaging to the game and cannot be tolerated," Ueberroth said in announcing that he was fining Andujar $500, the maximum amount he can impose. Andujar will not be paid while under suspension.

Separatist cult taking over local church

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J. (AP) — Disciples of an 1,100-member religious sect are practicing "subtle brain-washing," moving into this quiet suburb in droves and gaining control of the local Roman Catholic church and school, alarmed parishioners say.

People of Hope subordinates its women, discourages social contact with non-members, arranges marriages and moves teen-age disciples to "households" for indoctrination, charges Janice Ross, founder of Concerned Citizens of Berkeley Heights.

But the Rev. Pierce Byrne, pastor of Little Flower Church, members of the Catholic-based sect and Catholic officials say the People of Hope, which has 1,100 followers throughout the state, is recognized by the church.

"It's a group within a group," said Michael Hurley, a spokesman for the Archdiocese of Newark. "It's a legitimate Catholic charismatic community."

Mrs. Ross' group has called for the ouster of Byrne, pastor of the church for eight years, claiming he has allowed the sect to misuse parish funds for its segregated activities.

"They are sort of like fundamentalists or pentecostals and their treatment of women is very Islamic," Mrs. Ross said Tuesday. "From what ex-members tell us, it's a form of subtle brain-washing."

About 200 residents opposed to People of Hope demonstrated Sunday outside the church. The controversy prompted Bishop Dominic Marconi, vicar of Union County, to organize a special church committee to look into the dispute.

Letters from Marconi to the 1,300 families who attend Little Flower were mailed Tuesday, outlining a plan to ease what Byrne called a misunderstanding.

Since 1982, the number of People of Hope families living in this community of 17,000 residents has grown from 10 to 80, and the sect's leaders have built seven spacious homes on 90 acres they purchased in neighboring Warren Township.

The group has flooded the Little Flower School with its children, opened a high school in Warren where 85 sect students are enrolled, and its members have established a foothold in the business community.

Sect members include an attorney, a construction company owner and an accountant. Last month, a member opened up a real estate business.

Residents said they are concerned because the group uses financial leverage to entice people into its fold, then prevent them from leaving.

As an example, Mrs. Ross said, well-to-do members of the group help others buy houses and thereby keep the new members indebted to them. And she said that young couples and teen-agers whose parents live some distance away move in with other families and are subjugated by church coordinators.

"It's unbelievable how sheepish these people are," said Jack Riley, another parish member with children at Little Flower School. "The wives of the coordinators are called 'handmaidens.'"

Riley said the group is driving down property values and going door-to-door to ask people if they want to sell their houses.

Jack Costanzo, spokesman for the sect, denied allegations that the group is seeking political power.

"I don't think it necessary for small groups of Christians to band together to influence the political structure in the town in which they live," Costanzo said. "We're all Roman Catholics. We differ in the sense that we are a charismatic group, which would mean that we have prayer meetings, during which there is raising of hands, singing and speaking in tongues."

Costanzo also denied that the group holds secret meetings or engages in financial improprieties. He said the group's finances are audited by the archbishop's office.

He did acknowledge that unrelated sect members live together, but said that only lasts for short periods.

Charley horse

The expression "charley horse" originated in England. "Charley" was a common name for horses that had grown too old to race. Later the name became popular in the United States as slang for lame racehorses, then as a term for an ache in the legs or arms.

If your children shun cooked vegetables, remember offering them raw may be more appealing and is just as healthy. Most any youngster enjoys crunchy raw carrot and celery sticks and refreshing cold tomato juice.

Halloween dance held

Troy Ray of Ft. Worth called a Halloween dance Friday evening for Good Timers Square Dance Club. Visitors from Happy, Amarillo, Pampa, Canyon, Lockney, Olton, Muleshoe and Hereford were present.
Good Timers would like to thank all those who attended and supported this special dance.
Next dance for the Good Timers will be Friday. Club members will meet at 7 p.m. for a Mexican food dinner preceding the dance.

SOUND DIAGNOSIS

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — The voice is being scientifically scrutinized here to reveal symptoms of certain diseases.
Voice samples, analyzed by computer like blood samples, provide an Edinburgh University research team with clues to early indication of diseases, according to the Scottish Development Agency.

The computer analyzes all elements of the voice, including harshness, pitch, etc. It also weighs physical factors, such as muscle tension, tongue, lip and jaw positions.
The researchers says harshness is a key factor. Progressive harshness and irregular operation of vocal cords reflect throat diseases, they say.
