

Southwest Is Gripped By Coldest Spell Of Winter

16 Below On High Plains

Coldest weather of the winter season gripped the Snyder area today, as a light snow cover remained on much of the ground. The official low reading during the past 24 hours was 7 degrees, and the mercury was on the 8-degree mark at 7:30 a. m. Wednesday's high, which was the lowest official maximum of the season, was a chilly 23 degrees.

Although snowfall was heavy at intervals Wednesday there was not enough moisture to measure in Snyder.

Skies were virtually clear this morning, but forecasts called for more cloudy weather beginning tonight, with possibly more snow to night and tomorrow.

Thursday's bright sun shone on drivers inching their way along hazardous streets and roads, and electric power linemen struggling without sleep to restore service in East Texas.

Reese Strong, assistant manager of the Rice County Electric Co-Op called it the worst ice history because it was so widespread.

Strong said it may be two or three weeks before power can be restored to all the 75 per cent of the agency's customers whose lines went down.

Damage stretched from northeast Texas, where forests suffered from the weight of ice to the lower Rio Grande Valley, where the Brownsville Weather Bureau said the tomato crop probably was a total loss. Other Valley observers, however, said it is too early to tell the amount of damage, but feared more freezing weather Thursday night.

The Weather Bureau said more snow may move into the state Friday.

The blizzard deposited from an inch to 7 inches of snow from El Paso on the extreme west to the Louisiana line on the extreme east in East Texas. The bitter storm left heavy ice in the Rush-Crocker-Gregg-Harrison-Smith counties area.

The mercury plunged to an official 13 degrees below zero at Muleshoe northwest of Lubbock, and to an unofficial 14 below at a ranch near Muleshoe. It was the coldest since 21 below was registered there Feb. 8, 1933.

Cleburne reported the coldest weather in 1960, with a drop to 12 degrees. At dawn, all parts of the state reported below freezing readings.

Almost all schools closed in the west part of the cold belt.

Many homes in the ice area suffered intermittent loss of power where they had any at all.

Pine forests are being broken apart by the heavy snow. Many pine seedlings broke, and others were bent to the ground by the weight.

C. W. Fagan and Bud Johnson drowned Thursday when their car skidded off a creek bridge near Marshall. The two negroes resided at Harton.

The Texas Open Golf tournament started as scheduled in San Antonio after a threat of postponement. The Henderson-Navarro junior college basketball game at Corsicana was canceled when Texas State at Denton postponed a triangular track meet.

Deepest snow piled up to two inches separated points—7 inches in Lubbock area, 4 inches in Arkansas. The panhandle generally was under a blanket of an inch.

Other representative snow depths included Childress 4 inches, Dallas 2 inches, Abilene, Fair Worth, Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells and Sherman one inch.

As the sun perceptibly warmed down Thursday the wave of accidents spread. And even where no accidents occurred, slipping on cars caused traffic jams both on highways and city streets.

Power failures and natural gas line breaks caused misery in East Texas. Ice snapped electric cables and halted delivery of gas for heating.

Thousands of homes were without electricity, which many used for heating, and hundreds of persons sought refuge with friends or huddled in cold homes.

The severest cold was in West Texas where there was no disruption of power or gas heating.

The cold caused a gas line malfunction in the southern part of Longview, in East Texas, and 400 to 500 homes were without heat for hours.

A heavy coating of ice on electric power lines knocked out power in the East Texas city of Kilgore leaving stores of homes without the power they used to heat their homes.

The Cherokee County Electric Cooperative said 2,000 of the 5,000 homes it serves had of Henderson were without power because of ice on power lines.

Living Costs Dip Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for clothing, new cars, eggs and most meats brought a slight decline in living costs in January.

It was the second straight monthly dip in the government's living cost index.

Even so, the index is still just a little under its record high.

And, although down from December, the January living cost level was a record high for a January.

The Labor Department reported today the index dropped one-tenth of one per cent in January to 125.4 from the 124.9 base point.

This is the lowest living cost level since September but it is 1.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The slight change will have little effect on wages of various workers whose union contracts provide for wage adjustments geared to the index.

Wages of about 60,000 workers in aircraft and farm machinery industries will be reduced, in most cases by one cent an hour.

About 14,000 trucking industry workers will receive a one per cent hour raise on a different adjustment basis.

There will be no wage change for about one million workers in the auto and related products industries.

The Labor Department also reported that spendable earnings of factory workers remained at a record high in January. This is contrary to the seasonal tendency and is despite a rise of one-half of one per cent in the social security tax.

Spendable earnings—or net paychecks after tax deductions—averaged $82.33 a week in January for a worker heading a family of four and $74.74 for the single worker.

Compared with a year earlier these earnings were up about $3.50 a week or 4 1/2 per cent.

Two Planes Collide, Fall In Rio Bay

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Eye-witnesses said a four-engine plane collided with another aircraft and plunged into Guanabara Bay just off famous Sugar Loaf Mountain in Rio de Janeiro today.

President Eisenhower and his party were away in Sao Paulo. It was believed that no one attached to his party was traveling in either craft.

David Richardson of Buenos Aires, South American correspondent of U.S. News and World Report who was driving past, said the four-engine plane and the smaller craft fell into the water about 1:15 p. m. (11:15 a. m. EST).

Helicopters rushed to the scene trying to rescue any survivors.

The smaller craft was a one-engine Brazilian air force trainer, witnesses said. The pilot jumped and his parachute opened.

More than a dozen small boats sped from the suburb of Urca to the crash scene.

Walter Crawford of Cape Girardeau, Mo., an official of one of the Rockefeller organizations, and his wife saw the falling planes from their apartment facing the bay. He said the transport plane appeared to be a twin-engine plane. The smaller, high-wing, four-engine transport pilot parachute to the water.

The transport plane broke up and sank immediately. The trainer also sank.

Police Are Seeking Motive For Sharpshooter's Slayings

By DAVID LEHRER
UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Why sharpshooter Daniel Raymond killed four passersby and wounded five others before being shot dead himself remained a mystery today in Uniontown, Pa., where police are seeking a motive for the slayings.

Raymond, 34, was arrested on charges of murder in the slaying of a state trooper. He was armed with two rifles, one with a telescopic sight.

Police said they probably never will know just what triggered the tragedy although Raymond had been "acting nervous." His wife said he had been in his living room about 12 hours before the shooting began. She said he had been in the house for three days before the slayings.

Crash Kills Bus Driver

WASHINGTON (AP) — With little hope of success, House Democratic leaders scheduled a vote today on whether to override President Eisenhower's veto on antipollution bill.

Indications were they would fail 10 or more votes short of the two-thirds needed to enact the multi-million dollar measure into law over the President's objections.

The bill would authorize federal grants of 90 million dollars a year for 10 years to help municipalities build sewage treatment plants. Present law, not affected by the vote, sets the limit at 50 million a year.

Many of the passengers suffered severe shock as well as minor cuts and bruises.

One of the passengers, Ronald Conover, 18, an Air Force enlisted man from Ft. Gordon, Ga., said the impact had knocked him out of a bus window.

Truck driver Andrew Barnes, 43, of Cincinnati, said he could not control his truck after it had begun to jackknife as he headed toward a curve and down a slope toward the mouth of the bridge.

He said the trailer slid across the highway center strip and smashed head on into the southbound bus.

The bus was bound from Lexington to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Cuban AF Plane Crashes, Brits

HAVANA (AP) — A Cuban air force C-47 transport crashed and burned at Havana's Camp Libertad today. All three men aboard were killed, including Capt. Napoleon Diego, personal pilot of Maj. Ernesto Fajardo, head of Cuba's National Bank. Other victims were Capt. Antonio Lopez, the co-pilot, and Fernando Llera Diaz, a mechanic.

Bareheaded Ike Rides In Rainswept Parade

By STANFORD BRADSHAW
SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—President Eisenhower rode bareheaded in a heavy rain today to acknowledge the acclaim of this booming industrial metropolis.

Brazilians danced, jumped and shouted in their enthusiasm over his visit.

Eisenhower flew from Rio de Janeiro overcast skies to spend 4 1/2 hours in this Brazilian city, 220 miles southwest of Rio. He goes to Argentina Friday.

A drizzling rain started soon after the President's motorcade left the airport. It was a down-pour by the time the procession reached the Praca Bandeira, or Flag Plaza, where thousands had gathered to see him. Some had umbrellas, most did not.

Eisenhower donned a raincoat, doffed his hat and waved.

Confetti and ticker tape rained down from buildings surrounding the valley in which the central plaza is situated.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout.

Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world.

Charge Filed In Shooting

Murder charges were filed Wednesday afternoon by District Attorney Wayland Holt against Howard Smith, 3209 1/2 Avenue K, in the shooting death of Frank D. James, 3401 Avenue N. James was pronounced dead on arrival at Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 10:45 a. m. from several wounds from a .22 automatic.

Funeral services for James are pending at Bell-Funeral Home.

James 26, is survived by his father, Frank James of Snyder, three sisters, Mrs. Rosa Lee Shelton of Carlisle, N.M., Mrs. Cora Gilkey and Mrs. Pearline Stamford of Farmington, N.M.; 8 brothers, L. S. ### Dollar Gap Is Cut In Half

By JOHN SCALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has succeeded in cutting by nearly 50 per cent the overseas financial gap that alarmed administration leaders only a few months ago.

A combination of factors, including a quick spurt in American exports, also has halted what was feared to be a potentially dangerous drain on the nation's 19 1/2 billion dollars in gold reserves.

Financial authorities who reported today said that perhaps the turning point has been reached in the battle to keep Americans from spending more for foreign products and services than they earn in overseas markets.

Although pleased at the favorable turn, they cautioned that the "tight money" does not mean the success of the government's all-out campaign to boost export sales in the months ahead.

New estimates foreshadow a balance of payments gap of about 2 1/2 billion dollars in 1960, compared to the nearly five billion dollar figure which set off a vigorous campaign to correct the situation last year.

The cheeriest ingredient in the new figure is the rise in American exports. Tentative January estimates are that such shipments are now running at a level of 17 1/2 billion dollars as compared 15 billion dollars in January 1959.

The United States exported more than it bought last year, even when the over-all balance of payments deficit wound up at nearly four billion dollars last year. The surplus over imports last year was only 900 million dollars as compared with a prospective deficit of about 2 1/2 billion dollars this year.

This trade cushion will help make up for the big gap spent for foreign services such as transportation, tourist expenditures, and some foreign aid spending.

However, in order to close the gap completely, the goal of administration financial leaders, authorities want a cushion of at least four billion dollars.

For the time being, the Treasury Department apparently has stopped pressing for a reduction in overseas military spending. Still continuing is the effort to convince foreign nations to eliminate entirely remaining restrictions on dollar sales in their countries.

Many nations have agreed to do this but the added markets will not be reflected in increased sales for many months.

In the meantime, partly because American interest rates remain high, foreign nations have virtually stopped exchanging their dollars for American gold.

International Friendship Girl Scout Party Held Here

Approximately 50 sixth grade intermediate Girl Scouts from Snyder met Tuesday evening at the Girl Scout Little House for a combined International Friendship and Troop 219 birthday party. February is International Girl Scout Thinking Month, a time when scouts in every town, city, state and nation, bind their thoughts for one another in friendship. February is also the birthday for Troop 219 of Stanfield and West Elementary Schools. The meeting was opened by Francis Newton, who led the girls in The Pledge of Allegiance, the National Anthem and the Girl Scout song. Charlotte Scribner, Gay Lovelady, Dianne Smith and Rita Lee of Stanfield, were invested as International Scouts in an impressive ceremony. A salt entitled "I Will Try" was presented by Pam Cole, Susan Miller, Janis Amos, Sherrie Greif and Donna Ward. Mrs. W. N. Shiffert introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Stig Olaf Fernstrom of Finland. Stig Olaf Fernstrom of Finland, slides depicting his native homeland. At this point of the service, the girls presented birthday pennies as their gift to the Juliette-Lowe World Friendship Fund. Girls from Troop 219 were presented membership stars, a gift from the Snyder Kiwanis Club. A beautiful birthday cake, decorated with Girl Scout motif and Gekes were served by Susan Willis and her hosting committee. Climaxing the truly inspiring friendship service, was the formation of the Scout Friendship circle and the singing of taps.

Furniture For '60 Has New Utility

Homemakers will get more utility for their furniture dollars this year than ever before. Designers, often working hand-in-glove with engineers, have created new ease and order for American households. Drawers are doing tricks that drawers never did. In a bachelors chest deep pull-out shirt-trays are glass fronted. A man won't have to plow through all his shirts to find the one he wants. He can just look through the drawer front. Buffets often have drawers that are easy to pull out and put to work in another room. A compartmented silver-drawer can be carried directly into the kitchen when silver needs polishing. Removable plastic trays in an elm and zebra-wood sideboard are molded to hold glasses, silver and linens. Adjoining shallow wooden trays are scaled for one banquet cloth, three luncheon cloths or two dozen napkins. Heavy dressers and cabinets in a Colonial group are mounted on casters to make vacuuming easier. A 66-inch long coffee table takes on seating and storage responsibilities. Two, rectangular benches with loose cushions slide beneath one end. The other is lined with brads or rods to hold magazines.

Nature's Beauty Marks Enhance Your Furniture
Wood has natural beauty marks that make the face of a fine piece of furniture more interesting. Take pecan, for instance. Pecan tastes good to sapsuckers. They peck at it the way a woman with a sweet tooth goes after a pound of chocolates. Tiny holes made by their beaks fill gradually with a darker growth, and the grain forms around it.

Modest-Priced Collections Can Help Create Distinctive Decor

You won't have to be rich in 1960 to find new furniture with a "one-of-a-kind" appearance. Many of the new collections include distinctive pieces with a custom look. The colored accent piece makes its debut in Early American. Low three-drawer chests come in red and green, as well as in the usual wood colors. The apothecary chest appears in antique white. A French Court group in pecan introduces a desk with a delicate brass gallery around the top. It also boasts an urn table and canopied settee. New in French Provincial is a 109-inch headboard with two ceiling-high built-in cabinets on either side.

China on Legs
The china cabinet perching on slender legs on top of a buffet base is new in both French Provincial and Early American. Exotic dining chairs create a connoisseur's item aura in contemporary groups. A harvest table is surrounded by Biedermeier style chairs with muddled half-oval backs. Biedermeier was a homey early 19th century German style named after a cartoon character. Papa Biedermeier, who represented comfort and "gemutlichkeit."

New on Sofas
Greater detailing gives many new sofas and upholstered chairs the "one of a kind" look. Deep tufting may be part of the design on the inside of the arms or it may appear in a band on the top and front of the arm. Bolsters and half-bolsters are often seen. Overshirts on the base display scalloped or square cutouts. As for the corners of the kick-pleat, you see them held with buttons; bands of material or brads. Stenciled designs often appear on seats or on sofa bases.

Gladiola Land (that's Texas and a little bit more) could give the rest of the country lessons in home baking. Nobody makes biscuits, pies and cakes the way the ladies make 'em here.

Nobody's so fussy about flour, either—and that's fine with us. We're fussy, too. That's why Gladiola Flour is like no other flour made. Naturally, it outsells every other brand.

As for the folks in Porcupine, S.D., what they don't know won't hurt 'em. Snow-white Gladiola Flour isn't for them—it's for you. And it costs only about 1/2¢ a day more than the cheapest brand at your store.

Tregoff's Attorneys Paint Own Picture Of Innocence

By DIAL TORGERSOON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorney has painted a hypothetical picture suggesting her surgeon lover could be guilty of murdering his wife but that Carole is innocent.

Nimitz Says Defense Good

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz, 75, and starting today on 76, finds the United States' defense posture reassuring.

At a birthday banquet Wednesday night, the retired commander of Pacific naval forces in World War II was lauded as "the senior statesman of the sea" and praised for distinguished service.

"It is reassuring to be told by the secretary of defense that U.S. defenses are so powerful and alert that no aggressor would dare attack unless led by a madman," he told the 600 guests.

Nimitz said earlier—in a telephone interview with friends in Honolulu—that after all these years he could not see how the United States could have improved on the Pacific strategy that brought victory in 1945.

At Pearl Harbor, the Navy dedicated 75 trees at the main gate of the Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard as "living candles" commemorating Nimitz' birthday.

Finch by name—as a last-ditch effort to save Carole even at the doctor's expense.

But defense lawyers insisted there was no break in their ranks. The defense took over final arguments after a prosecutor declared the lovers hoped to solve their financial and romantic problems with "one shot in the back" of Mrs. Finch.

The 42-year-old society surgeon and his 23-year-old mistress are charged with murdering his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina last July 18.

Carole's counsel, Robert A. Neeb, who resumed his summation today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree.

"And supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

"Maybe I lent him some money, and I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it out with the tenant.

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere in my car and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have trouble with this fellow.' And he says, 'Bring the paper bag in.'

"Am I guilty of murder? No, I am not, because I didn't have a knowledgeable, intentional participation in the event which was unlawful.

"You have to answer this question in this case, as far as Carole Tregoff is concerned.

"Unless you believe ... that when the car was moving from Las Vegas to West Covina ... Carole Tregoff had in her mind an intent to kill, she is entitled to an acquittal of the charge of murder in this case."

Finch and Miss Tregoff drove in her car from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Finch house the night of the slaying. They say they went there to discuss a divorce with Mrs. Finch. The doctor testified the gun discharged accidentally as he tried to throw it away after snatching it from his wife.

Carole testified she carried the doctor's attaché case called a "murder kit" by the prosecution, from the car to the Finch house because it contained a flashlight the doctor wanted. Finch says the case, containing a carving knife, hypodermic, sleep-inducing drugs and other items, was one he was preparing for use on emergency calls.

Krush Is Interested In Baseball Cap

EDITOR'S NOTE: As an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow for three years, Roy Essovyan encountered Nikita Khrushchev many times in many moods. Essovyan, now an AP correspondent in Southeast Asia, has met Khrushchev again, this time finding the Premier in a bantering, bubbling tourist mood. Here is Essovyan's account of their conversation, which was held in Russian.

By ROY ESSOVYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and I argued the merits of American baseball caps and the rigors of international goodwill tours this week.

The discussion, held in an Indonesian rest house near the ancient Borobudur Temple in central Java startled Soviet and Indonesian officials.

Khrushchev was at his best, clowning and bubbling with good humor. His behavior, soon after the most anti-American speech of his current Southeast Asian tour, reflected his changeable disposition.

He was friendly, brusquely charming, and even shushed some of his aides who tried to warn him against my views.

Khrushchev and his party were relaxing after climbing around Borobudur, a thousand-year-old Buddhist monument whose terraces depict the life of Buddha in intricate stone carvings. The Premier beckoned me over to the seat beside him, which Indonesian President Sukarno had just vacated.

I took off my crumpled blue denim baseball cap as I sat down. Khrushchev grabbed it, examined it and waved it around.

"This is the sort of thing that baffles me about the United States," he said. "America is such a rich country and you Americans wear rags like this."

"That's no rag," I said. "It may not be very beautiful, but it's very handy at baseball games and for chasing you around these islands under the hot Indonesian sun."

Khrushchev took another quizzical look at the cap.

"Try it," I said.

Khrushchev slapped the cap on his head and posed for photographers.

"It must keep the sun off very well," he said. "It looks very utilitarian."

One aide leaned over his shoulder to warn him that I had spent three years in the Soviet Union (as an AP correspondent).

"I know," Khrushchev answered, apparently unperturbed. "It was bad things about the Soviet Union—the aide persisted. Khrushchev turned to me and asked, 'What did you wear?'

"I wrote what I saw," I said. "The good and the bad."

"There was more had than good," another aide interjected. "It's all in the point of view," I said. "I don't like much of what appears in your press and you don't like much of what you read in ours. You have your views and we have ours."

Khrushchev nodded solemnly in agreement.

"We have different points of view and the only important thing is to be honest," he said.

An aide pointed out that I was of Armenian origin but an American Armenian. The implication was that any Armenian outside the Soviet Union was not to be trusted.

Khrushchev waved the remark aside.

"It's not your origin that matters," he said. "All a mother does is to give birth. After that you mould your own future."

Asked how he thought the trip was going, he took it personally. "I'm enjoying it tremendously," he replied.

I asked him if he found the trip trying. The 65-year-old Soviet leader arrived in New Delhi nearly two weeks ago looking tired and listless. Since then he had shown occasional sparks of fire, but most of the time he looked hot and weary.

"I'm taking it fine," Khrushchev said, "much better than I had expected."

"Isn't the heat bothering you?" I asked.

"I take Sukarno's advice," Khrushchev laughed. "I dunk my head in cold water every time I get a chance and it does wonders. I don't feel tired at all."

The Snyder (Texas) Daily News, Thurs., Feb. 25, 1960 5

Ira Girls Tackle Westbrook Tonight

Snyder's Tiger Gym will be the scene tonight of the third and deciding special playoff game involving the Ira and Westbrook girls, with the winner being declared District 16-B titlist. Playoff time has been set for 7:30, with admission being 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Ira's Bulldogettes breezed through their regular district slate with a lily-white 8-0 record, while Westbrook lost to that sextet twice in the double round robin play for a 2-2 mark. District rules specify that the top two teams participate in a best two out of three game playoff for the championship, however, Ira and Westbrook upset the Ira girls in the initial encounter.

Coach Jim Myers has a strong team to take the second, 57-47. The winner of tonight's important tilt will advance into the regional playoffs against Trent (District 15-B) at a later date.

The Bulldogettes have been led through the season by high-scoring Anita Patterson, who has accounted for 228 points through the 10 district trays for a 22.8 per-game average. That point total is almost half of her team's total of 498 district points scored as stacked up against their opponents' 361 for the span.

Lena Farmer is second high scorer for Ira, having dropped in a total of 133 points, while Kay Ford has made 60 and Karen White 50.

Defensive standouts for the team are Judy Thomas and Charlene Patterson, a sister of Anita. They, along with the previously mentioned quartet of high scorers, will make up the starting six for Ira. First line reserves include Kay Byars and Jan Holliday.

Ira, a team which breezed through the season with a 37-7 win-loss record, is losing only two performers from the 17-girl squad, that pair being the graduating sisters, Patterson.

On the other hand, Westbrook doesn't have quite so formidable a season's record, as they have won 17 and dropped 13, but have come up strong in district competition to post a 7-3 mark.

Leading their scoring parade is Linda McMahan who has compiled 461 points over the season for a 15.4 average. 184 of those points being made during district play.

Second high for the team is Marie Putman, with a season's 307 and 128 in district, followed by Faye Conaway, with 286 and 101, respectively.

That trio will make up the starting forwards who will be trying to outscore the Ira girls, while the starting guards will be Martha Bacon, Ruth Rich, and Tanya Boatright. Glenda Rees is also listed to see a lot of action as a first-line substitute forward.

Coaching the Ira girls is R. C. Taylor, while Jerry Cunningham has taken over the reins of the Westbrook team in the stead of all-time coach Herman Parsons.

BOWLING SCORES

Holt Music Co. and Rainbow Market continue to dominate Couples League Standings following play for the past week, as they are both deadlocked for the top spot.

Those two teams hold a commanding bulge over third place Tempens, there being a six-point spread separating the teams.

High team series was sacked up by Stewart's Service Station, with an 1870, followed by Okies' 1836 and Tempens 1827.

High game was garnered by Okies (657), followed by Tempens (655). Okies also rolled the third high game of 641.

Tatum racked up the high game for the night with 227, with Neff nipping at his heels with 222 and 210.

For the women, Eastman Oil Well's Johnnie Tipping was tops in the high series bracket with a 538, with Margaret King (Stewart's Service) and Bert Howard (Tempens) following with 420 and 413, respectively.

Johnnie Tipping also rolled the two high games of 199 and 179, while Margaret King turned in a 173.

In the area of split pickups, Jerry Slaters (Tempens) put the quietus on the 3-10 and Eastman's Hugh Nance and Eldon Tipping took care of the 5-10 and 5-6-10, respectively.

Also, Herb's Frank Butler put the finishing touches on the 3-10 split, while teammate Mitch Jackson had a happy day in applying the kiss of death to the 3-8-10, 2-5-7, and 5-10.

Raiders In Market For Four Starters

LUBBOCK — Finding replacements for a quartet of starters is the principal task of Texas Tech's Red Raiders, now in their third week of spring training.

Missing next fall will be end Jerry Selfridge, guard Blake (Scott) Adams of Monahan, halfback Mickle Barron of Childress, and quarterback Ken Talkington of Tyler. Halfback Ronnie Rice of Lefora, who shared starting chores last year with Barron, also graduated.

The Red Raiders are playing two night of Mar. 5.

Call Out For Ring Small fry

Those boys interested in participating in the Boys' Club Midget-Glove Tournament to be held here this Friday, Saturday, and Monday are urged to contact Tournament Director Michte Brown as soon as possible and make known their desire to enter.

Rules specify that to be eligible a boy must not have reached his 15th birthday by the date of the tournament and must present a liability release from his parents or guardian prior to entry. Weigh-in ceremonies will take place Friday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock, and entries will not be accepted after that time.

Trophies will be awarded to winners and runners-up in both the novice and open classes in all weight divisions, while the championship team will also be presented with a trophy. Teams expected to enter are those from Abilene, Midland, Cisco, Odessa, Wichita Falls, and Lamesa.

Berry Being Boomed As Ag Hopeful

COLLEGE STATION — Splendid optimism is the theme after a week of spring football practice at Texas A&M.

Coach Jim Myers has a mixture of experienced lettermen, and highly-regarded newcomers for his 1960 varsity team next fall. Chief cause of concern during the spring drills is an adequate quarterback-leader of the calibre of Charley Milstead who completed his collegiate eligibility last fall.

Myers is well-pleased with the progress after five days of workouts and cited the improvement of his quarterback candidates but observed that his signal callers have a long way to go.

By the time the 1960 season rolls around the Aggies will have 17 lettermen plus a bevy of fine prospects of last fall's freshman team. Included in the returning lettermen are three who are not out this spring—Backs Randy Sims of Houston and Jim Murphy of El Reno, Okla. and End Richard Love of Lampasas. Sims is not in school this semester while Love and Murphy were injured in off-

In Shocker Swedes Tie Soviets In Olympic Hockey

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Staff Writer
SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Sweden's resounding upset tie with the Soviet Union's defending hockey champions has restored somnolence to the Winter Olympic II pointed up today's clash between America's dark horse forces and Canada's beefed-up sextet.

"With a break we could go all the way," said Jack Riley of Army, the coach of the Yankee puck-chasers. "We have hopes of knocking off the Russians. We beat Canada in 1956 and maybe we can do it again."

The Americans, who trounced Germany 9-1 for their second straight victory Wednesday, had decisively beaten Sweden 4-3 in the first round of the round robin tournament. Canada whaled Czechoslovakia 4-0 after Sweden's sextet held the Soviets to a 2-2 draw.

It was the first time in Olympic competition that the Soviet skaters had to settle for less than a win. They went unbeaten four years ago, whipping both Canada and the U.S.A.

The host team takes on Canada at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). In the other games the Soviets play Germany at 4 p.m. and Sweden faces Czechoslovakia at 9 p.m. The other playoff matches of the tourney will be played Saturday, when the Yanks meet the Soviets and Sunday, when the Soviets and Canada collide.

A crowd of about 7,500 was in the 3,500-seat Blyth Arena for the Soviet-Sweden clash and capacity crowds were expected for the remaining big ones.

Bill Cleary, 25-year-old Boston insurance man and veteran of the 1956 Olympic team, scored four goals, three of them on solo dashes, and received credit for two assists in the rout of Germany. Nils Nilsson, a 23-year-old salesman, blasted the two goals that earned Sweden the tie.

Hockey was taken over as the major lure here as the Soviets continue to roll up their record-breaking point score in the unofficial team race. The Soviets, with five gold medals, have 120 points. Germany is second with 52 1/2 points, the U.S.A. third with 44 and Sweden fourth with 39.

In the two finals Wednesday, the Soviets collected their fifth gold medal on Eugeni Grishin's world record equalling 40-second performance in the 500-meter speed skating, and Austria, the strong hold of Alpine skiing, finally won its first championship.

Ernst Hinterseer, a 27-year-old Austrian farmer and a last-minute replacement for one of his nation's disappointing aces, made two trips down the tricky 67-gate KT22 mountain course in a total of 2:06.9 to beat his countryman, 20-year-old Hlax Lester, by 1.4 seconds in the men's slalom. The 1,935-foot course dropped 708 feet.

Grishin, a 28-year-old Army lieutenant, stumbled on his last turn but still managed to equal his world record and Olympic winning time of 1956. Bill Disney, 27-year-old rug cleaner from Alhambra, Calif., was second in 40.3 seconds. Grishin's teammate, Rafael Grach, won the bronze medal in 40.4.

Dic McDermott of Essexville, Mich., was seventh in 40.9 and Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., tied for tenth in 41.2.

In the slalom, the Americans wound up this way: 9th, Tom Corrigan, Beaconsfield, Quebec, 2:14; and 37th, Frank Brown, McCall, Idaho, 3:01.2. Charles Ferries, Houghton, Mich., originally finished 12th in 2:18.2, but was disqualified. Jim Barrier, of Kalispell, Montana, failed to finish the second run. He had 1:13.4 for the first descent.

There was no hope at all of the Yankees in today's two championship events—the men's 40-kilometer (24.85 miles) cross country relay race and the men's 5,000-meter speed skating.

Norway and Sweden were favored over Finland and the Sov-

Mantle Balks On Pay Slice

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mickey Mantle is standing pat in a quiet tug of war over contract terms with the New York Yankees.

He may even be a holdout this season for the first time in his baseball career, the slugging Yankee outfielder said last night.

"I don't think I'll be signed by Monday," Mickey commented firmly.

The New York club's infielders and outfielders are due to report by next Tuesday at the Yankee spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Technically he wouldn't be considered a holdout, however, until they take to the field a day later.

While Mantle gave no hint of yielding in a dispute over his 1960 salary, his attitude nevertheless seemed to indicate he hasn't altogether abandoned hope of reaching a contract agreement.

He and the New York management so far have played a waiting game. The Yankees mailed him a contract Jan. 30 calling for a pay cut. Mickey mailed it right back the same day.

"They cut me more than I thought they ought to," he said.

Since then neither side has made a public move. The word among baseball men was that the Yankees proposed to pay Mantle $15,000 less than the $75,000 he drew last season.

Mickey returned to his Dallas home yesterday from a three-day trip to New York, where he helped tape a forthcoming television pro-

Wagstaff Makes Formal Statement

R. M. (Bob) Wagstaff of Abilene has formally announced his candidacy for the office of Congress from the 17th District, and issued the following statement:

"Effective representation is the issue in this race," declared Wagstaff.

"The present incumbent has been in Congress for fourteen years, and has not given this district the character of representation to which it is entitled. A change is long past due."

R. M. (BOB) WAGSTAFF

Wagstaff is a member of the law firm of Wagoner, Harwell, Alvis & Pope, Abilene. He is the oldest and largest law firm in this area. He is widely known as an able and experienced lawyer, and for the important legislation which he sponsored as a member of the Texas House of Representatives. The Wagstaff Act, preserving the rights of cities, towns, farmers and ranchers to the use of their own waters, and the Oil and Gas Conservation Statutes, regulating the production of oil and gas, are among the most important laws on the statute books of Texas today.

"The time has come for the people to retire these so-called 'Career Congressmen,'" said Wagstaff. "They are apparently unable to solve the problems which confront our nation. It's time for a change."

"I believe the time has come for this district to send to Washington an experienced lawyer, business man and rancher who is more interested in the larger problems of the day than in Pork Barrel Legislation and the next election."

"In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959, the Government levied more taxes, spent more money, incurred the greatest national debt, lost more gold, and recorded in time of peace. Nobody knows with certainty how much the Government owes, or is appropriating, because while we are shoveling the money out of the front door in congressional appropriations, the back doors of the Treasury are wide open and the spenders are carrying it out the back door without the let or hindrance of annual congressional appropriations check or justification."

"National defense is in an un-

Rover May Be First To Reach Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A remotely controlled "roving vehicle" may be the first device to explore the surface of the moon. As described by Robert Jastrow of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the moon rover in its more advanced form may be powered by solar cells.

"During each fortnight-long lunar day it may then crawl slowly over the lunar surface, collecting data samples and analyzing local conditions as it proceeds," Jastrow told the Geological Society of Washington Wednesday night.

"It will hibernate during the lunar night, and come to life again at each lunar dawn."

Jastrow conceded that it would be a formidable task to build a reliable vehicle that would rove in a vacuum under extreme temperature variations, performing physical and chemical tests as it proceeds, and controlled by an operator on the earth a quarter of a million miles away.

Jastrow, head of the theoretical division of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center here, said that before the moon can be surveyed properly its surface must be studied close up with optical systems. This may be done by satellites orbiting near the moon or by packages designed to crash-land on the moon, Jastrow said, with results being transmitted to the earth by television.

The first phase of an intensive study of the moon's terrain already has been completed, another speaker reported. Dr. Arnold C. Mison told of a joint project with the Army map service to map the moon's surface.

The knowledge gained, Mason said, will help in selection of the best possible landing site on the moon. Stereoscopic methods have been used to study the elevations of the moon's mountains and valleys.

Nuclear Submarine Heads For Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Sargo is headed for a sunny homecoming in Hawaii after being under the polar ice pack for almost a month during a trip to the North Pole.

The nuclear submarine surfaced Wednesday at the southern edge of the ice cap, near St. Lawrence Island off the western coast of Alaska. This is near the point at which the submerged Jan. 25 for the polar visit.

The Sargo headed Wednesday for a meeting with the icebreaker Staten Island she's due back in Pearl Harbor early in March.

The atomic submarine's Nautilus and Skate had made earlier trips to the pole.

Officials Of Union Face Indictments

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Harold J. Gibbons, a vice president of the Teamsters Union and top aide to Teamsters President James Hoffa, was indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on a charge of making illegal political contributions. Five other teamster officials also were indicted.

All were accused of violating or conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act, which forbids unions and corporations from contributing funds to candidates for federal office.

The alleged offenses are misdemeanors, carrying maximum penalties of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine, or both, on each count.

Indicted with Gibbons were Sidney Zagri, legislative counsel for the union; John Naber, secretary of Local 688 in St. Louis; William Latal, president of Local 688; Philip C. Reichardt, acting secretary of taxicab driver's Local 405 in St. Louis; and Joseph Bonmarito, business agent for Local 405.

The indictments also named Locals 688 and 405 as defendants.

The 22-count indictment followed a five-month investigation by U.S. Atty. Wayne H. Bigler, the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service.

In 1956 and 1958, the indictment charged, payments ranging from $250 to $5,000 were made to the campaigns of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings, (D-Mo.); Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.); Rep. Henry Roosevelt (D-Calif.); Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Wis.) and unsuccessful congressional candidates James I. Sullivan and Robert C. Dowd, both of St. Louis.

Intermarriage Not Goal, Says Negro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Racial intermarriage is not the goal of integrationists, says the leader of the Montgomery, Ala., Negroes' successful boycott against segregated buses.

"The basic aim is to be the white man's brother, not his brother-in-law," the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. told a news conference Wednesday.

However, he added the state doesn't have the right to make laws which prevent racial intermarriage.

The Negro minister, here on a speaking tour, predicted Congress will pass a civil rights bill this year that is "stronger than what we have now."

Six Students In Brawl Suspended

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Six students were suspended indefinitely from Edison High School as a result of a free-for-all fight in the school cafeteria. Vice Principal W. W. Few said Wednesday.

Others may be expelled when the investigation of the lunch-hour fight Tuesday is completed, he said.

Two athletes, Gary Black and Dennis Richards, both 18, were treated at a hospital for stab wounds on the right shoulder of one of the 18 youths.

Police and school officials plan an inquiry of a long-standing feud between athletes and younger students at the school.

Date Changed For Plowing Of Fields

Friends of the Jervis Bullard farm have changed dates for a group to plow cropland on the Bullard farm.

Originally the group had planned to plow the land tomorrow, but instead the plowing will be done next Wednesday. Those who plan to bring their tractors are asked to be there Wednesday morning, a spokesman for the group said.

Buenos Aires Is City Of Night Life, Music

By BRIAN BELL
—BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Buenos Aires, President Eisenhower's first stop in Argentina, is a "crowded" city of music, night life and fun.

The city's 3,000,000 people live at their disposal 2 race tracks, 15 soccer stadiums, an opera house, 20 theaters, a hundred movie houses, 50 athletic clubs, 500 restaurants and scores of night clubs, big and small.

Buenos Aires is South America's largest city, the eighth largest in the world and the biggest metropolitan south of the equator. The population of Greater Buenos Aires is estimated at more than five million.

It is a night city. Things don't start really moving until close to midnight. The House of Deputies, in fact, thinks nothing of continuing sessions an important matters until 4 a.m.

Most good restaurants don't start serving until 8 p.m. The big crowds don't start coming until 9:30 or 10:30.

Movies run two shows nightly, the last getting out around 1 a.m. The night clubs are open until 4 a.m.

President Eisenhower won't have a chance to observe much of this night life during his brief stay but he will be able to see the city's beauty. The road from the airport is a divided four-lane highway with trees and grass in the center. Modern low cost apartment houses and housing developments are along the roadside much of the way.

In the city proper, countless plazas, many of them with impressive statues of Argentine heroes dot the capital.

In the center of Buenos Aires is a needle-shaped obelisk which looks as if it came from the land of the pyramids. A few dozen blocks from the obelisk is the dome-topped capitol of Argentina, where Eisenhower will address a joint session of Congress.

Buenos Aires is fashionable, with its women appearing in the latest styles only scant weeks after the Paris showings.

And of course, as all of Argentina, the city is famous for its beef. Eisenhower will undoubtedly sample some at the state dinner in his honor here. But beef in Buenos Aires is not for presidents alone. A big filet mignon costs 50 cents (U.S.) a la carte. The Portenos (the name residents give themselves) eat more beef per capita than any other city dwellers in the world.

Independent Liechtenstein, a principality between Switzerland and Austria of 15,000 inhabitants, is mostly agricultural. It has a few industries, principal ones being sewing machine needles and false teeth.

Two Women May Run For Same Post

RUMFORD, Maine (AP) — The possibility of the nation's first contest between two women for the U.S. Senate looms today.

State Rep. Lucia M. Cormier says she will seek the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat of Republican Margaret Chase Smith.

A race between the two will depend on the outcome of the primaries on June 20.

Mrs. Smith, lone woman in the Senate, has no opposition in her bid for re-nomination, and none is expected. But Miss Cormier will have to beat Thomas L. Maynard of Portland, a mutual fund salesman and former state representative.

Miss Cormier, 48, and Mrs. Smith, 62, have similar backgrounds. Both are former school teachers, and both have made something of an impact politically.

Mrs. Smith was the first woman elected to the Senate in her own right, and the first to have served in both branches of Congress.

Miss Cormier is the first woman minority leader of the Maine House, where she has been a member for 12 years. Like Mrs. Smith she has a reputation for being firm, forthright and conscientious.

Miss Cormier has demonstrated leadership, but without antagonizing male colleagues.

Neither Miss Cormier nor Mrs. Smith are given to much speech-making. But both have a way of making their words count when the time is right.

Miss Cormier operates a stationery and gift store here. She is a graduate of the College of St. Elizabeth in Morristown, N.J. She earned a master's degree at Columbia University and later taught French and Spanish at Stephens High School in Rumford.

First Major Studio Settles With Guild

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Universal-International Pictures, the first major studio to reach a settlement with the Screen Writers Guild.

The studio signed a five-year contract Wednesday, ending the writers' strike against the studio that started Jan. 16.

The new contract provides for payment to writers of 2 per cent of profits from release of post-1960 films sold to TV.

WHO'S HE THINK HE'S BUZZING, ANYWAY!

John Q. Public At Heart Is A Tireless 'Do-Gooder'

For a people accused on all hands of crass materialism, the citizens of the U.S.A. still manage to shell out money in prodigal profusion for an almost infinite variety of charitable purposes.

In 1959, for example, John Q. Public, his sisters and his cousins and aunts gave to philanthropic causes the staggering sum of $7.8 billion. At least it staggers me that sum is slightly more than it cost to run the whole Federal government in 1953, just 25 years ago.

Indeed, American giving in 1959 may be nearer the $9-billion mark when estates are settled and bequests to philanthropic causes are added to the bundle.

For these statistics and the revealing ones that follow, I am indebted to the American Association of Fund-Raising Councils, Inc., a group of 30 of the largest fund-raising organizations throughout the United States.

The fact that 50 per cent of these give-away billions raised last year went to the support of religion does not impress me half so much as a throw-away statistic buried in the association's "fact sheet."

"It is estimated that 63 per cent of the U.S. population claim membership in a religious body compared with 23 per cent 100 years ago," the fact sheet reports. Yet the stories of religious laxity and of non-church affiliation have not been so persistent in the past 40 years that I'll wager a cookie that any American, if asked whether more citizens had church affiliation now or a century ago, would have answered instantly church affiliation had seriously eroded in the past hundred years.

The total of funds given to religious causes in America in 1959 adds up to $3.9 billion. The association also estimates that the churches, synagogues and temples of this country have property and endowment valued at $14.6 billion, which is a tidy nest egg in any language.

"I'd like to make another wager: I'll bet that John Q. Public gives so automatically and anonymously to charitable causes that he is convinced the great bulk of giving in the U.S.A. is done by foundations, corporations and charitable bequests.

In that conviction, John couldn't be more mistaken. It is good old John himself who contributes the overwhelming majority of funds given to charity annually. Of the $7.8 billion so far credited to 1959, John coughed up the really incredible sum of $6.1 billion. Corporations and firms came through with $250,000,000, foundations with $700,000,000, and charitable bequests with $510,000,000.

There is another awesome statistic, vouchered by the association, that one-quarter or 25 per cent of the total assets of the world's private philanthropies, now estimated at $240 billion, are held in the United States. And these assets are estimated to be increasing at eight per cent a year.

In the year just past, 16 per cent of philanthropic giving was earmarked for welfare, recreational and character-building agencies; 15 per cent for education (an increase of three per cent over 1957); 14 per cent for health; four per cent to foundations (paid into endowment funds); and one per cent for miscellaneous charities.

Total voluntary support of higher education is around $900,000,000 now, but the association estimates "the needs of higher education are expected to exceed $9 billion annually for all purposes by 1969-70. Some $2 billion may be expected from private sources" by that date.

I wish I had room for more of this fascinating anatomy of American giving to good causes. What these statistics reveal so poignantly is that John Q. Public is at heart a tireless do-gooder, animated by an unspoken conviction that he is his brother's keeper.

Barbers Get Tired Of Hearing This

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that barbers get tired of hearing—or overhearing.

"Well, hair today—gone tomorrow, eh Tony?"

"Just a little off the top." "The place hasn't been the same since you let in women and quit subscribing to the Police Gazette."

"If this stuff's so good, Tony, why are you so bald?"

"Who do you like in the seventh at Hialeah today?"

"Keep it high in the back. I've got a short neck."

"Never mind the stickum—just a little water."

"I came in to get my ears lowered, Tony."

"Remember when a guy could get a shave and a haircut for two bits? Those were the good old days."

"Why should I have to make an appointment? Are you a barber or a brain surgeon?"

"Baldness runs in my family. My uncle looked like a bowling ball."

"You took off too much. How about putting a little back on?"

"What do you do with all that hair on the floor—sell it to mattress manufacturers?"

"Be careful with the mustache. It took me a year to grow it."

"How come you barbers never elected Yul Brynner man of the year?"

Defense Issue On Temporary Relief

By BEM PRICE
WASHINGTON (AP) — There are two methods of treating a headache. You can use drugs to suppress the pain or you can tackle the underlying cause.

The current debate over the adequacy of U.S. defenses seems to be concerned with nothing more than temporary relief from pain.

For the one defense issue seems to be the administration's reluctance to increase military spending reducing this nation to a second-class power?

Broadly speaking, the Republicans hold that defense spending is adequate, while the Democrats take an opposite view.

Apparently lost in this election year argument is the possibility that the United States is spending enough money, but is not spending it wisely. Why?

From the time men first employed sticks and stones in battle, new weapons have introduced in warfare so slowly it became an axiom that each new war was fought with weapons developed late in the last.

That axiom no longer applies. It is true that long-range missiles were introduced by the Germans in World War II. The United States introduced nuclear weapons.

But there is no one alive who has any first-hand knowledge of a war in which missiles would deliver thermonuclear warheads at 16,000 miles per hour.

All the military experience accumulated over 5,000 years of recorded history is now obsolete, if not altogether obsolete, where this new weapon is concerned.

Yet each participant in the current political defense debate must rely on military men, the supposed experts, for guidance. Each can turn up a military man who can support his point of view.

And that points up the underlying cause of the headache.

The United States is trying to cope with defense problems that are totally new by employing a military machine designed to fight World War II.

The military men themselves, accustomed to thinking in terms of service, Army, Navy and Air Force, cannot agree on what needs to be done.

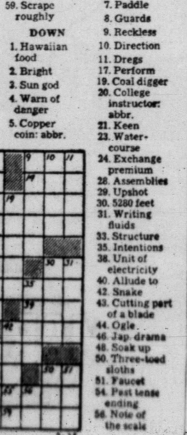

In principle, many of these uniformed advisers agree that enough money is being spent, but they disagree on how it should be spent and the priorities assigned to the spending. Each thinks his service should have more to meet certain contingencies.

Record Bids For Leases On Tidelands

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Record smashing bids of $285,150,648 were made Wednesday for oil leases on submerged lands off the Texas and Louisiana coast by oil companies.

Gulf Sloco submitted the highest bid for a single tract, an offer of $11,112,000 for an area of 10,000 acres.

The Shell Oil Co. entered the most bids, and offered $5,911,200 for 5,700 acres in Block 200 of the Galveston area. The bid broke up to $1,026.25 an acre. The Shell offer was the highest made for a Texas lease.

Louisiana submerged lands, involving 300 tracts comprising 1,500,000 acres, brought an aggregate bid of $249,248,616.

The 37 tracts up for 5-year leases off the Texas coast brought bids of $35,722,031.

Most of the land under consideration is in the area involved in a dispute between the state and the federal government. The issue over the lands' ownership is still before federal courts and all money received from leases is put in escrow until the courts reach a decision.

Gulf Oil Corp. offered $1,052,000 per acre for 2,800 acres of Block 202 of the Galveston area, which was the largest per acre bid.

The Gulf company's offer of $11,112,000 was for 5,000 acres in Block 48 of the South Marsh Island area, formerly known as State Lease 340.

Field Work Is Bugged By Weather

AUSTIN (AP)—Cold, damp weather continues to bog down field work in Texas, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

The weekly crop report issued Wednesday said farmers have been stalled generally for 10 weeks. This week's cold front was not included in the report.

Cattle are shrinking, and the sheep are thinning. The feed crops are really about goals, in the fields. Warm weather is needed to produce weeds, grasses and legumes.

South Texas needs rain to bore down the soil and to break pasture prospects and provide good planting moisture. The cold weather slowed germination of cotton and sorghum.

Frigid weather retarded wheat growth and North Texas wheat is yellowing from too much rain and cold, the report said. Green bugs and grain mites are attacking some wheat in that area.

Outs also made limited growth. Tender crops in South Texas were damaged by high winds. Tomatoes, cucumbers, corn and watermelons in the Lower Valley were damaged but are expected to recover.

In East Texas, bedding of sweet potatoes is active and planting of tomato hotbeds is under way. Onion planting was set back in North Texas.

Fire Hoses Cool Throng

By CLIFTON WELLS
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Fire hoses and the threat of police billy clubs cooled tempers of demonstrators in Chattanooga's downtown area for the second straight day.

Twenty persons — eleven Negroes and nine whites — were arrested Wednesday. Police said pistols were taken from three of them.

The mass of humanity was several times larger but the day's violence did not match the bitter fighting that flared Tuesday when gangs of belligerent white youths challenged Negro demonstrations for integrated lunch counter service.

Elsewhere in the South the situation was relatively quiet on the sidewalk from that spread from a demonstration in Greensboro, N.C., more than two weeks ago.

In Charlotte, N.C., a Negro boy and girl were served lunch at a department store counter reserved for whites. A store official said the couple's light skin apparently caused them to be mistaken for white because the store's segregated counter policy was unchanged.

Both houses of the Virginia legislature yesterday passed three bills — one of which — emergency measures were proposed by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. to thwart lunch counter sitdown by Negroes.

Tennessee already has a law on its books forbidding integrated service in restaurants.

Chattanooga officials conferred after Wednesday's disaster and announced new plans for handling the situation here.

Police Commissioner H. P. Dunlap announced that his department would not permit any large assemblies of persons to parade or congregate in the downtown area today.

Since the crowds have consisted mostly of teen-agers, gathering after classes were dismissed for the day, School Supt. John W. Letson offered to keep schools in session until 6 p.m. School now dismisses at 3:30 p.m. Letson's suggestion was not put into immediate effect.

Some Taxpayers Get Good News

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Good things happen to taxpayers, sometimes. Take the case of the New York Central Railroad.

The Internal Revenue Service concluded some time back that the railroad had overpaid its 1941-44 taxes by more than $5 million dollars. As a result, the New York Central got refunds, credits and interest payments totaling more than $6 million dollars.

This whopping transaction came to light today in a list of big refunds approved in 1958 by the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation. The committee has to approve all refunds of more than $100,000.

The New York Central item was the biggest on the list. IRS said it could not discuss details of the case because of legal prohibitions against disclosing the affairs of taxpayers.

Many of the listed refunds stemmed from tax court cases. IRS collected what it claimed was due from some taxpayers, then had to settle for less and refund the difference.

In other cases taxpayers were able to convince the agency that they had paid more than was due.

While corporations accounted for most of the 280 big refunds in the tabulation for the 12 months which ended June 30, 1958, some went to individuals.

New York gambler Frank Erickson and his wife, for instance, got credits, refunds and interest payments totaling $2,230,775. This resulted from settlement of a tax court case. The settlement was disclosed at the time.

In addition to the New York Central, nine corporations got refunds, credits, abatements and interest payments of more than three million dollars each.

The companies, and the amounts, were: Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, $8,045,729; General Dynamics Corp., San Diego, Calif., $7,729,294; Beech Aircraft Corp., Wichita, Kan., $7,390,265; C.N.I. Liquidating Co. (formerly Clinton Foods), St. Louis, $5,122,946.

Celanese Corp., New York City, $4,815,533; Seatrains Lines, New York City, $4,390,360; Barber Oil Corp., New York City, $3,812,845; Motor Products Corp., Detroit, $3,431,342; and Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), New York City, $3,395,273.

Charro Days Get Off To Cold Start

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The Lower Rio Grande Valley's biggest winter celebration-International Charro Days—started today with cold weather forcing the postponement of one event.

The annual Charro Days Fiesta marathon, scheduled for today, was reset for Friday because of bad weather.

A crowd of up to 40,000 is expected during the four-day pre-fiesta.

The fiesta takes place here and at Matamoros, Mexico. It started this morning at the Charro Days bandstand in downtown Brownsville. The ear-splitting "Grito" was the signal for the first of more than 100 events planned for the fiesta.

A costume ball tonight is the first of three big dances. U.S. Rep. Joe Kilgore and State Rep. Wade Spillman, both of McAllen, will be honored guests tonight.

The Friday Teenage Ball and Saturday's Grand Ball will be in Jacob Brown Auditorium.

Four parades are set for today, one Friday and two on Saturday. Theme of the parades will be "Pan American Countries" and 22 floats will take part. Costume street dances will take place tonight, Friday and Saturday nights.

The 103-mile marathon from Rio Grande City to Brownsville will be run by 412 trackmen, each to cover one-quarter of a mile carrying a baton with a message from the people of Rio Grande City to the City of Brownsville.

Beatniks In Frigid Rally

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Local beatniks, warmed by their little cups of coffee, climbed from their cellars Wednesday night to hold an outdoor political rally on the coldest, most miserable night of the year.

About 150 beats gathered at Burk Burnett Park to push the campaigns of Pete "The Hero" Gill and "Big" Mike Callaway, running for Democratic precinct chairmanships.

Signs of "We Like Mike" were held aloft by some who have heard Mike read poetry.

The star of the show was an eagle held aloft by artist Don Pottratz who pronounced: "Let there be weirdness."

Mike warned "if they slap a city tax on espresso, we'll stage such a coffee party on the banks of the Trinity (River) that it will make the Boston Tea Party look like an outing of Sunday afternoon Girl Scouts."

Three young anti-beats showed up with signs reading: "Beatniks go home if you have a home."

"Down with the unwashed masses."

Polio Cases Are Likely To Climb

AUSTIN (AP)—The number of polio cases will begin to climb in Texas within two months, the State Health Department predicts — largely because parents fail to have their children vaccinated.

A department survey Wednesday showed three of every four polio victims last year had not had any vaccine and 9 of 10 had had less than the recommended three shots.

Dr. H. E. Smith, chief of the department's Preventive Medicine Section, said 526 cases were reported in the state last year. He called it "a high toll but still a fine testimonial for polio vaccine when contrasted to the 3,584 cases during pre-vaccine 1952."
