ABOUT 1,800 tickets for the Snyder-Sweetwater football game, which will be played in Sweetwater Friday night, were sold by noon today after sales started early this morning. The line started out long, as indicated here, dwindled down by mid-morning, but only some 500 reserved seat tickets were left by noon. Reports are that Sweetwater fans are also buying tickits rapidly for the game, which will probably decide championship of District 3-AAA. The game will be played at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The ticket sales are conducted at the Chamber of Commerce office. (Lee Watson photograph)

Suez Area Bombarded By French, British Forces

Canal May Be Seized

PARIS (AP)—The Defense Ministry tonight announced that combined British - French operations against points in the Suez Canal area began today at 6:40 p.m. Egyptian time.

The Defense Ministry made its announcement on receipt of a military report from headquarters on Cyprus that the combined aerial and naval bombardment had begun.

This implied that the bombardment was being carried out by both naval and air force units.

The ministry made its announcement after being besieged throughout the afternoon by inquiries.

CAIRO (AP) — Britain warned Egyptians to clear out from all Egyptian airfields today — apparently as a prelude to the expected landing of a French-British expeditionary airborne force to seize control of the Suez Canal.

Egypt announced it had put Russian MIGs into operation against Israeli forces on the Sinai Peninsula. Israel claimed the capture of an Egyptian ship in Haifa.

On the canal operation, London newspapers reported waves of troop - carrying planes took off from the Mediterranean base of Cyprus just after dawn, flying toward the canal 250 miles away.

But these reports appeared to have been premature at least. Hours later Egyptian governors at Port Said, Ismaila and Suez along the canal reported all quiet there with no sign of invading forces.

The Voice of Israel, Jerusalem radio station, warned the refugee-packed Gaza Strip that it soon would be cut off from Egypt. It asserted Israeli military operations in the Sinai Peninsula soon would be concluded with the defeat of Egyptian forces.

The Israelis claimed to have destroyed scores of Egyptian vehicles in air attacks on convoys east of Ismailia, and claimed their forces had reached within 10 miles of the Suez Canal, the "ultimatum" line set by Britain and France.

Egyptian military headquarters announced it had sent its Soviet-built MIGs into battle today and that they had knocked down 10 Israeli planes. The Egyptians admitted the loss of two of their own planes.

The Egyptians said bombers also had gone into action over Israel's territory and had destroyed and damaged Israeli airfields.

The Israelis announced the capture of an Egyptian 1,000-ton frigate, the Ibrahim Awal which bombarded Haifa, and the surrender of its 250-man crew.

The Egyptians said the frigate was scuttled by its captain after "successfully completing its mission." The high command said the Ibrahim Awal developed engine trouble during an attack by three Israeli warships and warplanes and the captain was forced to sink her.

Ike Schedules Major Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will go on nationwide television and radio tonight to discuss the Middle East crisis.

This was announced shortly before noon today by the White House which also repeated that the United States is still standing by its pledge to assist any victim of aggression in the Middle East.

Britain is reported to have informed the U.S. government considers the pledge defunct. The pledge bound the United States, Britain and France to work together in the Middle East to preserve peace.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower's talk tonight would be about 15 minutes—beginning at 7 p.m. EST.

All major networks are expected to carry it.

Saying the talk would be "a nonpolitical report," Hagerty added that the President would speak from his White House office and discuss "the developing situation in the Middle East."

Hagerty said further Eisenhower will "outline the American positon" regarding the tense situation resulting from the Israeli thrust into Egypt on Monday.

Since that time Britain and France have announced plans to place troops in Egypt, and the two governments joined yesterday in vetoing a U.S. resolution in the U.N. Security Council.

The U.S. resolution called for a cease-fire in Egypt, and for other U.N. member nations to refrain from any use of force in the area.

Hagerty said in response to newsmen's questions that Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden have exchanged additional personal messages regarding the Middle East situation. The White House announced dispatch of one Eisenhower message to Eden yesterday. In that one, also addressed to French Premier Guy Mollet, Eisenhower urged both the British and the French to refrain from use of force in the Middle East.

Asked today whether there was anything to a report that the President had talked to Eden by telephone, Hagerty said there had been no such phone calls.

But he said the President has received and sent other personal messages" from and to Eden.

OFFICERS HERE TO LOOK FOR GOBLINS

A close watch will be maintained by city police officers tonight on spooks and goblins, Travis L Steele, police chief, said.

"Extra officers will be on duty, and extra patrol cars will be cruising throughout Snyder," Travis L. Steele, police chief, said.

"We do not plan to interfere with any innocent fun making of children, but we will attempt to prevent any malicious destruction of property or other vandalism," Steele said.

He urges that all Halloween fun be kept clean.

"That is the way to have the most fun, anyway," he said.

Retreat By Russians In Full Swing Today

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — The Russian retreat from Budapest appeared in full swing today. Soviet tanks — leaving their dead and wounded — headed away under a shower of leaflets from Hungarian air force planes threatening to bomb them if they tarried.

Russian armored forces guarding the Danube River bridges withdrew at dawn. Others fell into the lines of retreat throughout the morning.

The Hungarian army, now completely on the side of the revolution, trucked in fresh platoons to relieve street patrols of the ragged insurgents. The army took over the citadel, a fortress commanding the entire city, and ringed it with antitank guns.

Rebel anger which had been directed against the Russians was channeled entirely for the moment against remnants of the equally detested AVH, the Red Hungarian secret police.

Vengeance hunts for the members of the AVH, which Premier Imre Nagy's government has ordered dissolved, developed all over the revolt-torn city.

Unofficial Hungarian sources said 130 secret policemen, captured yesterday in a battle for Budapest's Communist party headquarters, were hanged by their heels and beaten to death. A precinct party headquarters was a prime target in the street fighting today.

Expunging of Soviet signs was accelerated with the government's announcement of its decision to end the one-party dictatorship and revive the multiparty governmental system that prevailed before the Reds took over in 1948.

The Red army memorial — a statue of a Russian infantryman —was toppled from its stand. Workmen chipped the stone hamker-and-sickle emblems from the Danube bridges. Giant metal red stars, ripped from building fronts, littered the streets.

In all this turmoil, Josef Cardinal Mindszenty returned in triumph to the city where he was condemned by a Communist court in 1949 to life imprisonment as a traitor. Church bells pealed a welcome.

Women knelt in the streets as the Roman Catholic prelate, freed last night from a jail at Felsoepeteny, raised his hands in blessing. Men bared their heads and crossed themselves. Many wept. It was one of the emotional peaks of the eight-day-old revolution.

Hungarian troops escorted the prelate, who appeared in good health, to the palace he had occupied as Hungary's primate. Armed guards were posted there. Reports still conflicted as to whether Nagy's government or the rebels effected his release.

The Hungarian air force threatened yesterday to attack the Russians unless they left Budapest within 12 hours. The 12 hours expired without such an attack. The leaflet campaign, reiterating the threat, opened at daylight.

The Budapest radio announced most of the Russians have left. It said the population was becoming impatient for the withdrawal of Soviet tanks in the area of the Parliament building.

UN Is Studying Mid East Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. conferred today with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on possible steps the U.N. may take in the Middle East.

U.N. delegates, dismayed by the vetoes cast by Britain and France in the Security Council last night, talked of a possible extraordinary meeting of the 76-nation General Assembly.

Such a meeting was suggested by Yugoslavia. It was expected to be discussed when the 11-nation Council resumed debate on Egypt's demand for action against Britain and France.

The U.S. delegation said Lodge had given the State Department a full report, and had asked for instructions.

Informed quarters said calling of the Assembly was discussed at a midnight meeting of the 23-nation Asian-Arab group and that wide support for the idea was expressed. This group issued a statement condemning the British-French ultimatum to Egypt and Israel and calling it a grave blow to the U.N.

The main purpose in calling the Assembly would be to get around the veto power, which Britain, France, Russia, the United States and Nationalist China have in the Security Council. Fall session of the Assembly is scheduled for Nov. 12.

The British and French used the veto twice last night to tie the hands of the Council as their ultimatum to Egypt and Israel expired. Their actions drove a deep wedge into their alliance with the United States.

Strike Action Is Approved

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Strike action against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has been authorized by 51,000 union employes but no strike is in prospect at once.

A company spokesman said last night the contract with the Communications Workers Union continues in effect until 30 days after one party gives notice of termination and no such notice has been given. The primary term of the contract expired at midnight.

Employes voted 8 to 1 to authorize the union negotiating committee to take strike action if necessary, the union said. Contract negotiations began Oct. 8 and are continuing.

The company spokesman said the talks "are progressing and we see no immediate reason for alarm." A union official said the company has proposed a wage increase averaging about 5 cents an hour, but without any increase for some groups.

The union called for an across-the-board increase. The company spokesman said it offered increases of $2 to $4.50 weekly.

South Pole Gets Device For Weather

OVER THE SOUTH POLE (Delayed) (AP) — American airmen planted an automatic weather station at the South Pole Friday.

The device, a six-foot-long equipment-filled container nicknamed the 'Grasshopper,' was dropped by parachute from an Air Force Globemaster in the first airdrop ever made at the pole.

Made of stainless steel, the Grasshopper has legs that automatically hoisted it upright after it touched the ice plateau. It will transmit weather data every six hours for the benefit of fliers participating in Operation Deepfreeze in Antarctica.

Ours was believed to be the seventh flight ever made over the pole. There were 43 persons aboard the giant 93-ton troop carrier, probably as many as there were aboard all the previous flights combined. Adm. Richard E. Byrd, pilot Bernt Balchen and two others made the first polar flight Nov. 29, 1929.

It is a bleak plain of ice that stretches off monotonously toward a ring of mountains 200 miles away.

The surface is rippled — due, scientists aboard the plane said, to the polar winds that whistle in at right angles.

Dr. Paul A. Siple, who will head a party of scientists camping at the pole through the antarctic winter to make observations for the International Geophysical Year, was among the Globemaster's passengers.

Officers Puzzled By Missing Okra

MESQUITE (AP)—The case of the vanished okra puzzled officers today.

Ernest Lane told deputy Sheriff W. B. Jones he arose from the dinner table last night to answer the doorbell. No one was there.

When he returned to the table, he found a bowl of okra empty.

Lane just wanted the mystery cleared up. He didn't ask Jones to recover it for him. Lane doesn't like okra much, anyway, he said.

Eden Ready For Action

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden said today Britain and France will move into the Suez Canal Zone—with or without the approval of the United States.

"We stand by what we said and we shall carry it out," he told the House of Commons.

Eden refused to say whether British and French forces have landed on Egyptian soil. There were unconfirmed reports from from the Middle East all day that the landings had started. The latest, from Israel radio, said British troops went ashore in the Suez area. There was no confirmation from Cairo.

"We cannot accept that we have to obtain the agreement of the United States before acting in our own vital interests," Eden declared.

Eden declined to give the House of Commons any details on action to be taken by British and French forces.

Citizens Criticized

WESLACO (AP)—Rio Grande Valley cities were criticized by members of the Valley Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee today for allowing citizens to use water freely during the water shortage this summer.

Floods In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Torrential rains lashed the Pacific coast of Japan last night, lossing floods and landslide that killed 18 persons, left 16 missing and inured 10.

Ike Plans Visit To Drought Area

AUSTIN (AP) — President Eisenhower promised today to visit drought-stricken states "within a few weeks" to resurvey emergency federal help to farmers and ranchers.

"One thing is certain, the federal government is going to stay sympathetic, understanding and helpful. I guarantee you that," the President said in a transcribed radio broadcast over a large number of Texas stations.

His recorded remarks were part of a 15-minute radio program that was presented by Gov. Shivers here.

Texas Democrats for Eisenhower arranged the program after the President cancelled an appearance in Dallas today because of the Middle East crisis.

Eisenhower's remarks were recorded before the Middle East fighting began and made no reference to that controversy.

The President reviewed federal efforts to ease the drought through the emergncy feed grain program, the hay program, emergency credit and livestock loans, and recent railroad rate reductions.

"Such efforts, plus a loan to Mexico to buy some 40,000 head of our breeding stock, add up to this fact. Since 1953 federal help has been at an annual rate three times greater than the help given in the previous 20 years.

"Within a few weeks I am planning to visit the drought area again as I did three years ago to resurvey drought programs. This I will do with government officials and affected ranchers and farmers to make sure that future needs are adequately met. One thing is certain, the federal government is going to stay sympathetic, understanding and helpful. I can guarantee you that."

The President then brought up the "political hullabaloo" about high rigid price supports.

Educator To Appear Here Next Week

Dr. Willis A. Sutton of Atlanta, Ga., one of the foremost educators in the South, will be in Snyder throughout next week, most of that time spent with students of the Snyder schools.

Formerly a school superintendent for 43 years and formerly a lecturer for the Readers Digest, Dr. Sutton has been in demand for a number of years for special work with students.

Residents of the community have been invited to attend any of the sessions which will have Dr. Sutton as speaker during next week.

Throughout the week, he will work with students during the days, spending a large amount of time with students at the high school, both win the entire student body and with groups. He will do the same at the junior high, and he will spend a part of one day at Lincoln Elementary School.

Also on his schedule for the week is speaking at the 11 a.m. service at the First Methodist Church Sunday, speaking for a community program in the high school auditorium under sponsorship of the High School Parent-Teacher Association at 7:30 p.m. Monday, speaking for a joint meeting of service clubs with the Downtown Lions Club at the First Methodist fellowship hall at noon Tuesday, and a meeting with the administrative staff of the Snyder schools at noon Wednesday.

A more detailed schedule of Dr. Sutton's activities will be announced later.

New Firm Is Taking Over

NEW YORK (AP)—American Petrofina Inc., one month old this week, already is a significant factor in the oil industry.

The firm had absorbed Panhandle Oil Corp. and is looking for new worlds to conquer.

The firm is the offshoot of a fast-growing Belgian oil combine, "Compagnie Financier Belge des Petroles," with headquarters in Brussels. Compagnie Financier Belge operates a chain of retail gasoline stations in every non-Communist country of Europe, most of Canada and Africa.

Petrofina's invasion of the U.S. market began several months ago when the Belgian firm and its Canadian affiliate, Canadian Petrofina Ltd., bought Panhandle Oil Corp. of Dallas for $6,750,000. Other deals are now being sought.

Hubbie Gets Big Surprise

HONOLULU (AP) — She made a beautiful bride in her white gown of net with a lace bodice, high scalloped neckline, elbow-length veil and bouquet of white carnations and orchids.

Two local newspapers printed her picture on the society page.

That's how her husband found her. Husband No. 1, that is.

He told police he had been left home—alone—with their six children. And all of a sudden he sees a picture of his wife in the paper —as a bride.

Mrs. Conception Teixeira, 26, was arrested on a charge of bigamy. James K. Paragas, 20, a Navy fireman from Detroit, the man Mrs. Teixeira married Oct. 31, was charged with adultery.

The woman, freed on $100 bail, told police she went ahead with her second wedding because her husband wouldn't give her a divorce.

He told newsmen he would gladly have divorced her if he could have found her.

Teller Skeptical Of Bank Robbery

LAKEWOOD, Calif. (AP)— Bank teller Lucy Tapson was skeptical when a man handed her a note, demanding money, which also said:

"Someone's got a gun on you."

"Do you really want to do it?" asked Mrs. Tapson.

The man pulled a gun and pointed it at her.

She stuffed $11,902 into a paper bag, and the man grabbed it and ran out the rear entrance.

Two Boys Arrested In Theft Of Autos

Police arrested two juvenile boys, one 13 and the other 14 years old last night, in the second car the boys had stolen yesterday.

First of the cars was stolen in the home town of the boys, Hobbs, N. M., and later abandoned in Seminole, Tex., where they stole the second car.

They were in the 1955 Buick stolen in Seminole when arrested here last night.

Owner of the Seminole car is to come to Snyder today for the car, and Floyd Taylor, sheriff from Seminole, came to Snyder and picked the boys up early today. Travis L. Steele, police chief, said.

Refugees Of Gaza Strip Are Warned

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli broadcasts warned refugees in the Egyptian-Occupied Gaza Strip of Palestine today they would soon be isolated by Israel's military operations in the Sinai Peninsula.

The Jerusalem radio station Voice of Israel addressed listeners in the Mediterranean strip at Gaza in Arabic and said the Israeli army would soon "conclude its operation in the Sinai Peninsula" after having "defeated Egyptian army units stationed there."

The strip would then be surrounded and cut off from Egypt, the broadcast said. It called upon the refugees to remain calm, and follow the instructions that would be given them by Israeli authorities.

About 250,000 Arab refugees from Palestine's 1948 war are packed in the 26-mile long, 8-mile wide area sandwiched between the Mediterranean coast and Israel's Negeb Desert.

Israeli army headquarters in a statement said Israeli planes had destroyed "scores of Egyptian vehicles" in repeated attacks on convoys east of Ismailia on the Suez Canal.

The Israeli attack from the desert was reported by Israeli sources to have sliced across the Sinai Peninsula to the south of the Strip and driven to the "ultimatum" line—10 miles east of the Suez Canal—set by Britain and France.

Israel has charged that Egyptian officers used the Gaza Strip of Palestine to train and base special commando-type units for sabotage and terroristic attacks on Israel.

Earlier, Israel announced the capture of an Egyptian warship and its crew and the destruction of seven planes as the first results of its drive into Egypt.

Israeli naval units captured the warship, the 1,000-ton frigate Ibrahim Awal after a battle in early morning darkness off Haifa, watched by thousands ashore.

The planes were downed by Israeli fighters in night and early morning dogfights. The Israeli army spokesman who announced the victories did not specify where they took place.

The convoy was attacked by Israeli planes while moving in formation eastward from Ismailia, on the Suez Canal.

The spokesman again did not specify the exact location of the attack, but last reports placed the Israeli forces 10 miles from the canal. They were said to have taken up positions there along the "ultimatum line." This is the distance from the canal at which Britain and France ordered Egyptian and Israeli forces to halt.

Withdrawal Of Soviet Troops Studied

MOSCOW (AP)—In a major policy shift, the Soviet Union says it wants all the Communist countries to be completely sovereign and is willing to talk about the disposition of Soviet troops in three of them.

An unusual declaration issued by the government last night was interpreted by diplomatic observers as indicating Moscow was seeking a graceful way out of an increasingly embarrassing situation within the Communist camp.

In conciliatory tones, it promised that the Soviet army will evacuate Budapest "as soon as this is considered necessary by the Hungarian government."

It also acknowledged that "the further presence of Soviet armed units in Hungary may cause even further aggravation of the situation."

The declaration said there are Soviet units in only three of the "peoples' democracies," Hungary, Romania and Poland.

It went on:

"With a view to insuring mutual security. . . the Soviet government is ready to examine with other Socialist countries participating in the Warsaw Treaty the question of Soviet troops stationed on the territory of the above-mentioned countries."

The Soviet troops in Poland, Hungary and Romania are there under terms of the Warsaw Pact, a Russian-commanded mutual defense alliance formed last year by the Soviet Union and her East European allies.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov told Western correspondents last night all the pact members would have to agree to the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary, a maor demand of the rebels there.

There was no mention in last night's declaration of Soviet troops in East Germany.

The declaration spoke of "the great commonwealth of Socialist nations" and said its members could build their relations on the "principle of full equality, respect of territorial integrity, state independence and sovereignty and noninterference in the domestic affairs of one another."

This, it said, presupposes continued close fraternal ties in economic, political and cultural spheres.

The Soviet Union said it was putting into practice decisions of last February's 20th Soviet Communist Party Congress based on "maintaining the complete sovereignty of every Socialist state."

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Locations Set For 4 Wildcats

Four wildcat locations have been announced in West Texas areas.

J. Paul Karcher of Midland and others will dig a 4,800-foot wildcat six miles southwest of Southland in Northeast Lynn County.

It is No. 1-A R. L. Hagler, 330 feet from north and west lines of section 1,426, block 18, EL&RR survey.

Gibbs Drilling Co. of Iraan No. 1 Alpha N. Echert is a new 1,000-foot operation in McCulloch, 340 feet from west and 2,500 feet from north lines of Adolph Mylims survey No. 960, 23 miles northeast of Brady.

Shell Oil Co. No. 1 R. W. Callen, scheduled 7,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat eight miles southwest of Rotan in Southwest Fisher County, will be drilled 660 feet from south and east lines of section 4, block 3, H&TC survey.

Anderson, Reeder & Graham of San Angelo will dig No. 1 Cook as a 2,850-foot wildcat seven miles northwest of Ballinger in Runnels County.

Drillsite is 2,162 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of Robert Owens survey No. 436.

The Superior Oil Co. No. 1-38 J. F. Crump, north offset to the lone producer in the South Rocker A (Strawn) pool of South Garza County flowed oil from the Strawn "E" zone on a drillstem test at 7,587-98 feet.

The tool was open 85 minutes. Gas surfaced in four minutes, and oil came to the top in 15 minutes. The section was cleaned to pits for two minutes and was then turned to tanks. In five minutes, on a one-inch surface choke it flowed three barrels of oil. The flow was shutin for three minutes to change the choke to a ¼-inch and then the well flowed to tanks one hour and made 24 barrels of 38.8 gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 398-1, and flowing pressure of 750 pounds.

After the tester was closed an additional 55 barrels of oil was reversed out of the drill pipe. There was no water. Recovery below the circulating tool was 90 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud.

Bottom hole flowing pressure was between 1,740 and 3,050 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure in 30 minutes was 3,220 pounds. The project then core at 7,598-7,605 feet. That cutting is now being pulled.

The well is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 38, block 6, H&GN survey. It is three miles southwest of Justiceburg.

Oxford & Stasney Drilling Co. of Albany No. 1 Ray Alderman, South Nolan County wildcat, six miles northwest of Blackwell swabbed 11 barrels of oil, plus 26 barrels of water in three hours from perforations in the Cisco sand at 4,171-73 feet. Testing was continuing.

This operation had logged shows of possible production in two other zones between the present level of operations and the total depth at 5,301 feet. Those section probably will be tested later.

The well is 2,173 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 64, block 1-A, H&TC survey and 1½ miles south of the Group (Cisco) pool.

W. C. Blanks and C. L. Glass of Midland No. 1 J. F. Lee, Southwest Stonewall County wildcat, eight miles southwestoof Aspermont recovered a show of oil and salt water in a Strawn sand stringer at 5,547-58 feet.

That zone was drillstem tested for two hours. Recovery was 180 feet of oil, 30 feet of oil cut drilling mud and 60 feet of salt water. Flowing pressure was 110 pounds and shutin bottom hole pressure in 30 minutes was 1,865 pounds.

The wildcat, which is contracted to 6,700 feet to test the Ellenburger is drilling ahead. It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 175, block 1, H&TC survey and five miles northeast of the Double Mountain pool.

Ard Drilling Co. No. 1 J. H. Crain, East Nolan County wildcat, 3½ miles southwest of Nolan bottomed at 5,840 feet and was abandoned.

It was 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 2, block Z, T&P survey.

The Texas Co. No. 232 P. L. Fuller, Northeast Scurry County wildcat, 15 miles northeast of Snyder drilled to 5,252 feet. It has been plugged.

The failure was 467 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 707, block 97, H&TC survey.

Rutter & Wilbanks Brothers has plugged No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, reentry project in Central Borden County, after testing Spraberry through perforations from 5,608 to 5,618 feet and from 5,628 to 5,642 feet.

Location was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 37, block 31, T-6-S, T&P survey, six miles north of Gail.

Hagerty said some of those messages were exchanged before the one the White House announced yesterday and some afterward.

The press secretary declined to say how many messages there have been, or to give any hint as to their content.

Asked about the medium of exchange, Hagerty replied:

"The usual diplomatic channels."

Hagerty said Eisenhower has received no reply to the message he dispatched yesterday to Mollet. He added he would have to check on whether Eden had responded to that particular message.

The differences of viewpoint between London and Washington were emphasized by a statement Eden made today in the house of commons.

He said Britain must protect her own vital interests in the Middle East with or without prior agreement of the United States.

Eden said:

"We cannot accept that we have to obtain the agreement of the United States before acting in our own vital interests."

Hagerty was asked whether Israeli Prime Minister, David Ben-Gurion, had replied to two messages Eisenhower sent to him last weekend. In those, the President expressed grave concern over Israeli mobilization and appealed to Ben-Gurion to do nothing "which would endanger the peace."

The first of those messages went out on Saturday and the second on Sunday. On Monday Israeli forces crossed the border into Egypt.

Hagerty said he did not know whether Ben-Gurion had replied—that he would have to check.

Hagerty's earlier statement that the United States would stand by its 1950 pledge to assist any victom of aggression came while Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were conferring on the situation.

At another White House meeting, going on simultaneously, key administration officials were discussing what Hagerty called "government problems—studies— connected with the current situation in the Middle East."

Hagerty said the study was being undertaken at the request of the President. Hagerty declined to provide any details.

There were reports, however, from sources outside the White House that the United Stats was ready to cut off all economic aid to Israel in a move to force Israeli troops to withdraw from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

This action, officials said, was part of a series of countermoves being drafted by the administration in an effort to keep the Israeli-Egyptian clashes from erupting into bigger hostilities in the Middle East.

The United States has allocated $256,979,214 in foreign aid to the Israeli government during the past eight years. All but $13,230,517 of this had been spent by Sept. 1 of this year.

Fluvanna Planning Halloween Carnival

An all-day Halloween carnival is planned at the Fluvanna schools for Friday, according to L. M. Dawson, superintendent.

Dawson said the carnival will open with entertainment starting at 10 a.m. Friday. Lunch will be served, followed by a talent show of students at 2 p.m.

Throughout the day concessions and booths will be open, operated by the various classes.

The carnival will be climaxed by the crowning of the carnival king and queen at 9:30 p.m., following supper. Each class has candidates and has had money-raising projects in support of the candidates.

Campaign Cigars Too Good For Handing Out

DALLAS (AP) — Judge Joe B. Brown lit up a cigar between cases in Dallas County Criminal Court. He leaned back, took a long draw and said:

"You know, this is the last of my campaign cigars.

"A fellow gave me five boxes of cigars with my name and campaign slogan on them. They were so good I never gave them out."

Water Estimate Given

MCALLEN (AP)—The amount of available U.S. water at Falcon Reservoir was set at 109,100 acre-feet today. The runoff from recent rains has more than doubled the U.S. share in 10 days.

HALLOWEEN ROYALTY—Judy Huddleston and John Weaver, above, were crowned queen and king of Halloween at the Junior High School Halloween Carnival in the junior high gymnasium last night. In the fund raising contest the winning couple led with contributions of $226.21, with Judy Wallace and Jan Lindsey placing second with $178.20, and Brenda Townsend and Mokey Hale third with $130.55. Unemployment For October Decreases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped this month to 1,909,000 — the smallest total in nearly three years.

Reporting this yesterday, the Commerce Department also said 66,174,000 persons held jobs during October. This was 103,000 more than in September and a new record for the month, although 578,000 below the over-all peak reached last August.

The October total of jobless, a decrease of 89,000 from September, was the smallest since November 1953 when it stood at 1,699,000.

Tanks Arrive For Guard Little Late

HONOLULU (AP)—Five spanking new tanks arrived here for the Oahu National Guard — with a freight bill for $18,135 attached — but no one wants them any more.

The guard ordered the tanks last year — but has since been switched to an anti-aircraft unit and won't need them.

The Army said the five new tanks will be returned to the mainland, along with the 17 tanks the guard unit now has on hand.

Final Trolley Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—The last two city-operated trolley car lines in Brooklyn are making their final runs today. Buses will take over.

Wheat Crop Sets Record This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today world production of wheat this year was a record 7,510,000,000 bushels—130,000,000 more than last year.

Increases were reported in all continents except Europe and Australia where significant reductions occurred. Winter damage caused a smaller crop in Europe. Excessive rain was the factor in Australia.

The department said world exports of wheat and flour during the 1956-57 marketing year may approach the record of 1,066,000,000 bushels set in 1951-52, reflecting improved economic conditions in importing areas.

U.S. exports were forecast at 415 million bushels.

The department said indicated farmer participation in the government's new soil bank program may cut this country's 1957 wheat crop to about 740 million bushels, or 236 million less than this year. Under that program, farmers get government payments for taking land out of production of crops in surplus supply.

A crop of 740 million bushels would be below market demands and would allow some surplus wheat stocks to move out of storage and into use.

The department said that because of drought in the Great Plains, farmers and country elevators have been slow to market wheat from this year's crop. This has contributed to price increases.

Looking ahead, the department said widespread heavy rain in drought areas would increase selling which would be expected to reduce prices. Some further increase in prices might be necessary to induce freer selling of wheat if drought conditions persist, the report said.

Local Students Go To Tulsa Meeting

Four Snyder High School students today went to Tulsa, Okla., where they will attend the convention of the Southern Association of Student Councils.

The students are being accompanied by the student council sponsor, Miss Virginia Grove.

At the meeting, the Snyder students will participate in leadership. The association is composed of student council organizations from high schools in 14 southern states. Attending from here are Joel Hamlett and Joe Overton, seniors; Paula Dupree, junior; and Peggy Spence, sophomore.

The Snyder group will lead a discussion group on "How Can We Organize Our School Program So That Every Student Will Participate in Some School Activity?" Hamlett was chosen leader of the group, with Miss Dupree assisting.

Each delegate is to attend three or four discussion groups out of between 70 and 80 to be offered for their choice. The discussions are designed to aid the students in future work with their councils.

In addition to attending these discussion groups, the students will have a full schedule of assemblies, banquets, and entertainment.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Kenneth McFarland nationally-known educator and speaker who has spoken previously in Snyder, who will give an address at the association's 25th anniversary banquet Friday evening. Dr. McFarland is educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors Corp. Also to speak is Dr. Cleo Dawson, speech graduate of Baylor School of Expression who also holds degrees from Southern Methodist University and the University of Kentucky.

During the convention, the students will participate in an outing to Wooloroc Ranch, with the two-hour visit to be followed by a meal of barbecued buffalo.

On Saturday the Snyder delegates will participate in the election of association officers. This election is conducted in the same manner as is a large political party convention, with state banners prominently displayed. Campaign speeches are made, and voting is by roll call.

Present officers of the association include Ronald R. Hanks of Bessemer, Ala., president; Tony Schwarzwalder of Arlington, Va., vice-president; Sara Campbell of Tulsa, secretary; and Linda Clayton of Amarillo, editor of the association's journal.

Cub Awards Made Here

A number of awards were presented last night at the monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 36, sponsored by the East Elementary School.

Frank Caviness, cubmaster, made awards to boys for selling 25 or more tickets to the scout Exposition. They were Richard Christian, Bobby Eaton, Rodney Williams, Robert Thomas, Randy Crenshaw, Tommy Christian, and Jerry Cabiness.

Bob Cat pins went to Mike Howard, Dan Brunken, David Fulks, Gary Perser, Lanny Allgood, and Richard Christian. Bear badges were awarded Buck Martin and Max Beasley. Lewis Wells and Max Beasley received year pins, and Fred Finley was presented a denner's badge.

A Webelo ceremony was conducted for the four boys receiving their Webelo badge and year pin. They were Tommy Christian, Robert Thomas, Randy Crenshaw, and Jerry Cabiness. This is the only badge a Cub can put on his uniform when he becomes a Boy Scout.

L. A. Crenshaw presented Cabiness when a surprise gift certificate from parents of the Cubs to buy a scoutmaster uniform for his newly-organized scout troop at Northeast Elementary School. Jurden Brunken will succeed him as cubmaster of Pack 36.

Rancher Sells 15 Head Of Longhorn

ENNIS (AP) — Fifteen head of Longhorn cattle, the kind which built fabulous ranching empires in pioneer days, have become victims of diminishing stock water.

Because water is running low on his ranch near Ennis, rancher H. R. Burden auctioned off yesterday the Longhorns he recently bought "for sentimental reasons" from the state. Burden said he had to conserve his water for his more profitable cattle.

Individuals and packing company representatives bought the animals at 8 to 12 cents a pound. Other cattle sold for 13 to 17.

State Demos, GOP Hammer Away As Election Approaches

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press

Presidential Aide Harold Stassen said Tuesday Texas Republicans should work extra to make up for Eisenhower's inability to campaign at Dallas Wednesday.

The President called off his appearances in Dallas, Oklahoma City and Memphis after Israeli troops drove deep into Egypt.

Democratic Congressmen Jim Wright of Weatherford and Wright Patman of Paris continued to hammer at Eisenhower's business policies and defended Democratic presidential candidate Stevenson's proposal to halt H-bomb testing.

Gov. Shivers announced he would make a 15-minute radio address Wednesday. Democrats for Eisenhower headquarters in Austin said Shivers would make another address Thursday night.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) was to speak at Austin Wednesday night.

Stassen told a Republican rally at Waco the weight of a thousand votes may tip the balance between Eisenhower and Stevenson in Texas.

Stassen said the race is close in Texas and "that makes it all the more important for you Republicans to work hard every day."

Wright said at McAllen that the Democratic philosophy could be described as a "percolate up" philosophy because the Democrats believed true prosperity starts at the grass roots" and works up.

He said the Republicans have a "trickle down" philosophy that believed by pouring enough on the few on top, some of it would trickle down to the common people."

Wright said Stevenson's H-bomb policy had been widely distorted" by the Republicans. He said Stevenson only favored stopping the explosions of the H-bomb with their deadly dust which affects future generations."

Wright said Stevenson had not advocated stopping research and development of the H-bomb or the testing and stockpiling of atomic and smaller weapons.

Patman told 300 persons at a fund-raising rally at Paris that Republican high interest rates will ruin our country."

Patman said, Whenever you raise interest rates you raise prices. It upsets the budget of every state, county and municipal government and in the home. A family of five will have to pay out $200 more this year because of a one per cent increase in interest rates."

He said The Republicans' cry of inflation is idiotic." He said inflation did not exist in the housing-construction business, small business and farms.

Dallas Republicans regretfully called off elaborate plans for a gigantic Eisenhower rally. GOP officials said auto caravans, chartered buses and planes were to have brought Eisenhower supporters from all over Texas.

Eisenhower said the Middle East crisis leaves me no option —in the interests of working for peace—but to remain at the White House Wednesday . . ."

The Texas Democratic campaign office said a statewide TV network had been arranged for Sen. Gore's speech Wednesday night. The speech was expected to deal with Stevenson's H-bomb proposal.

Lawyer Wins Client's Case The Hard Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward Bobick, a big man with a large capacity for scotch whisky, was the happiest lawyer in town yesterday.

He drank two fifths of scotch and wobbled into court to prove a man could down that much and still navigate.

Bobick's clients, Robert D. Burns and William J. Cleary, are on trial in General Sessions Court on charges of kidnaping a young aviation engineer in Boston last June 19.

The two defendants had testified they guzzled 80 glasses of beer and a fifth of whisky between them in an 18-hour period before the alleged kidnaping.

But a prosecution witness, Dr. Meyer Texon, said anyone who drank that much in that time would be out like a light.

Not so, said lawyer Bobick, and he set about to prove it. He contended his clients could have drunk as much as they said they did and "not know the nature of their act."

Bobick's home telephone was answered by his partner last night. "Mr. Bobick is in repose," he announced.

EDITORIALS

Momentous Events

Momentous events in Eastern Europe and a worsening situation in the Middle East and North Africa are vying with each other for headline space in American newspapers while over and above all the general election campaign continues to dominate the thoughts of the people.

Quite properly, of course, our national election takes precedence over remoter happenings; but all the same what is happening in Eastern Europe, the Middle East and French North Africa has a bearing on our domestic economic and political affairs.

Whether for good or ill nobody could possibly say at this time. The rapidly crumbling Soviet Russian power and influence in Hungary, in particular, is potentially one of the most significant things that have turned up in many years. Apparently the success of the gallant fight put up by the Hungarians against the Russian slave-drivers and against the interim Communist government set up to replace the strongly pro-Russian Communist government that preceded it sounds almost too good to be true.

A month ago had anybody predicted the Russians would withdraw their troops from Budapest and leave the restoration of order to the Hungarians themselves would have been scoffed at as completely unrealistic.

Yet that is what has happened, if reports from the scene are to be credited. This reported action was almost simultaneous with a demand in the UN Security Council, put by the U.S. and backed by Britain, that Russia withdraw all her troops from that country.

Most of the happenings in Poland and Hungary this month read like fairy tales to people who have for years taken it for granted that widespread uprisings against Soviet Union's forces in the satellite countries would be impossible.

And it would be, in fact, if the Soviets had used their full military and police strength against the rebels against tyranny.

What is behind it all? Surely Russia is not ready to toss away all the mastery she has achieved over her neighbors in the postwar years. Can it be that the disorders in Hungary and in Poland have been tolerated, so to speak, because of a division of views and authority in the fountainhead of world communism, the Kremlin?

Are the top leaders of the Kremlin engaged in a life-and-death struggle among themselves for the reins of power? If so, whichever side wins, the apparent gains scored in Poland and Hungary could be, and doubtless will be, wiped out almost overnight.

Changing The Oath

One of the anachronisms in the Constitution of Texas was wiped out within the last couple of decades; our memory fails us as to the approximate date that particular amendment was approved by the people.

The oath of office from 1876, when the Constitution was last given a general overhauling, down to the time of the amendment we speak of was adopted, including a clause under which the officeholder swore he had never engaged in a duel or been instrumental in delivering a challenge to a duel. There was some excuse for such a clause 80 years ago, when the code duello was still fresh in adult memories, but as time moved on and a hip-pocket move in a fracas became a sort of on-the-spot challenge, the old oath was outmoded.

There was something ineffably funny in administering the oath to a gentle old lady school trustee, for example, and having her swear, by golly, that she never fought a duel or sent or accepted a challenge.

So that clause was eliminated by constitutional amendment—or at least we hope it was.

Well, Amendment No. 6 in next week's general election would again change the form of the official oath for Texans who serve in some public capacity. Currently the oath contains a clause that requires the official to swear that he has not promised to pay money or any other thing of value to obtain the office through election.

Since thousands of Texans serve in some sort of office that pays no salary—on boards, bureaus, commissions and the like—the old clause as it concerned them has long been an anachronism, and a form of implied insult.

So Amendment No. 6 provides two separate oaths, one for elective officeholders and the other for appointive officials. Perhaps it's a small matter, but it's on the ballot.

Texas Air Force Colonel Repays Rescue Debt To Navy Admiral After Eleven Years

By FORREST EDWARDS

TOKYO (AP)—An Air Force colonel from Texas has repaid an 11-year-old "rescue debt" to a Navy admiral from Delaware.

The story, disclosed today, started with a shotup American bomber plunging into Nagoya Bay June 14, 1945.

Lt. Col. John Miranda (then a captain and 29) was commanding the B-29 "City of Galveston" which had just unloaded its bombs on a Japanese aircraft factory at Nagoya.

The plane was hit by Japanese anti-aircraft fire as it was wheeling over the target for the flight back to its base on Guam. The No. 3 and 4 engines were shot out. So was a six-foot section of the right wing.

It limped out over Nagoya Bay, losing altitude from 15,000 to 1,000 feet.

Miranda ordered his crew to bail out. He was the 12th and last man to parachute into the ocean.

Forty five minutes later all 12 men had been picked up by the U.S. submarine Pintado, commanded by a Lt. Cmdr. Romondt Budd.

That's where Rear Adm. Lewis Parks comes into the story. Parks, with headquarters at Guam, commanded a submarine squadron and task group. Parks ordered the Pintado to sneak into Nagoya Bay, ahead of the air strike, with specific orders to stand by to rescue any airmen who might be shot down into the bay.

This was standard Navy-Air Force cooperation to save lives wherever and whenever possible.

After picking up the airmen, the Pintado submerged, moved out of the bay into open ocean waters, rendezvoused with the submarine Tigrone, transferred the rescued men to it, and went back into the bay to wait for the next air strike against Nagoya.

The Tigrone took the airmen back to Guam, where Miranda met Parks for the first time.

Eleven years later, Miranda found himself back in Japan as commander of a U.S. Air Force Base at Kisarazu on the shore of Tokyo Bay.

Parks was here as deputy chief of staff for plans and operations for the twin Far East and United Nations command, with headquarters at Tokyo.

Last January Parks and two companions were duck hunting in Tokyo Bay, about two miles off Kisarazu Air Base. A bitter wind blew up a snowstorm and drove their boat into Japanese seaweed beds. A bamboo stake pierced the boat. It sank in less than two minutes.

A strong current made it impossible for Parks and the other two men to swim the two miles to shore. They clung to the stake for 2½ hours in water only a few degrees above freezing.

Miranda walked the beach on a routine inspection of his base. Between fits of snowing, he saw the hunters waving bits of clothing. Miranda ordered a rescue boat to the scene to pick up the three men.

"I sorta figure that's only partial repayment of the debt," Miranda said today. "Adm. Parks ordered out the sub that picked us up. I order out the boat that picks him up.

"But I still owe a debt of gratitude to Lt. Cmdr. Budd and his sub crew that surfaced in Nagoya Bay in war time to pick up 12 very wet fliers.

"Come to think of it, that sub crew outperformed me. We were in the water for 45 minutes—in June. Adm. Parks was in the water 2½ hours—in January.

Miranda's mother, Mrs. Lacybel Olsen, is night supervisor of nurses at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Sharp of Galveston.

Kremlin Crack Glorious Thing To Contemplate

By INEZ ROBB

We live in a tough world that gives man in our generation few false hopes and fewer false dawns at which to warm himself.

So the cautious appraisal of the differing Polish and Hungarian revolts by Western diplomats in undoubtedly correct. But I'll wager a mickle to a muckle that to most of us ordinary citizens the revolts have been a prayerful and exhilarating mixture of hope for the future, of real anxiety for the rebels and pride in the spark that goads desperate men to assault a tank with a rock.

Perhaps the Poles are only swapping one kind of Communism for another. As this is written, the outcome in Hungary is uncertain. But to plain citizens who have been devouring newspapers, edition by edition, for a week and hanging on radio and teevee reports, the crack in the monolithic structure of Communism seems as plain as a pikestaff.

No matter how it is assessed in Foggy Bottom or on diplomatic levels, to the rest of us a crack in the Kremlin is a crack in the Kremlin and a glorious thing to contemplate. The fissure at the moment may not be sufficiently wide to admit freedom as we know it, but at least the fissure is there. And a little freedom is a dangerous thing.

None of us are such knuckleheads as to believe that Communism is about to crumble into the dust, or that it will fail to supply the Western world with its chief headaches in the foreseeable future. But, in turn, none of us are apt to buy totalitarianism as the inescapable wave of the future.

One thing is certain: The revolt in the satellites has been a revolt against misery, the misery of semi-slave labor, hunger, cold and cruel privations of mind and soul as well as body. Nor was there ever hope of a better future to leaven the misery.

Misery, as the East German riots plainly showed, is a two-edged sword that can drive men to turn against Communism as well as toward it. Man cannot live by bread alone, but neither can he live without it indefinitely. Misery as much an enemy of Communism as of democracy.

It seems callous to rejoice when men are dying for only a little more bread and a little more freedom. But the hard truth is that the West cannot help but benefit by any revolt within the Iron Curtain.

The use of Russian soldiers against the Hungarian rebels should be an eye-opener to the "neutralist" nations. It should have a stunning message for the professional anti-colonial, anti-imperialist and anti-West forces that have been flirting with the Kremlin.

It may even keep the Kremlin busybodies home for a while, looking into their own fences, now that substantial anti-Communist as well as anti-Kremlin and anti-Stalinist factions are revealed in Hungary and, in lesser degree, in Poland.

In the lifetime of many of us, Communism may remain the No. 1 menace, But I think we can dare hope that it can't find a boy big enough to hold the dike indefinitely.

West Virginia Republicans Rate Fair Chance Of Naming A Senator This Year

By HARRY W. BALL

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—For the first time in 14 years, West Virginia Republicans are rated a fairly even chance of sending a senator to Washington.

This is in a state that has been heavily Democratic since the Roosevelt sweep of 1932.

West Virginians have supported every Democratic presidential candidate since then and have elected Democratic governors.

The only Republican breakthrough in the Senate occurred when Chapman Revercomb, Charleston attorney, defeated Matthew M. Neely in 1942.

Revercomb, now 61, is up for the third time to try to regain the Senate seat. He has been unsuccessful in two previous attempts since 1949.

His opponent is William Casey Marland, 38, winding up a four-year term as the youngest governor in the state's history.

The two are seeking the remaining two years of the Senate term of the late Harley M. Kilgore, who died unexpectedly last Feb. 28.

Marland moved quickly into the situation after Kilgore's death. He named an old college chum, politically unknown William R. Laird III of Fayetteville, as "stand-in" senator while he busied himself getting nominated in the May 8 primary.

The primary built up an intra-party head of steam which blew off when former Gov. Okey Patteson apologized in a statewide radio speech for what he said was his poor judgment in backing Marland as his successor.

Marland won his own primary race by 13,290 votes but the state-house-backed candidate for governor, Milton Ferguson, lost out to Rep. Robert H. Mollohan, supported by Sen. Neely in a mild party rift.

Democratic politicians made the usual ostentatious motions of binding up the primary wounds, but there have been mutterings about this or that party stalwart "taking a walk."

In fact, there is a full-fledged organization of Democrats headquartered in a Charleston hotel working for the election of President Eisenhower, Revercomb and Cecil H. Underwood, the Republican opponent of Mollohan for governor.

Democrats also are bothered by a public clamor over a so-called "flower fund."

This is a device, acknowledged for the first time publicly in the Democratic primary, by which certain state employes are tapped for a percentage of their earnings to support the political campaign.

An offshoot was the arrest of Henry McKinley, business manager of the state's biggest mental hospital, charged with illegal solicitation of staff employes for political funds. His case is pending.

Such are some of the minus signs on the Democratic ledger.

On the plus side is the Democrats' continuing one-sided majority on the registration books, numbering presently about 254,000. Another cornerstone is the labor vote, although no longer the potent deliverable bloc it was back in the '30s and '40s.

Some Democrats say they would rate Maryland's opponent better odds if it were anybody but Revercomb.

They cite Revercomb's ultra-conservative record during his six years in the Senate, his inability to generate warmth as a campaigner and to inspire wholehearted enthusiasm within his own party.

Some Democrats privately agree that Marland may be on shaky grounds — he was elected governor by just 27,000 majority—but they are counting on the "ticket" to put him across.

White Collar Class Still Grows Despite Automation

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail — or listen to election speeches:

That America's white collar class is getting bigger. Despite the spread of automation in business, the number of office workers has risen from 1,700,000 in 1910 to about 9 million in 1956.

That the country's parakeet population has increased even faster. These feathered pets have multiplied from a mere 1,300,000 five years ago to more than 14 million.

That probably a million Americans have diabetes but don't yet know it.

That Dr. Clyde Crobaugh, University of Tennessee business professor, has compiled a book listing 1,156 "dirty name-calling words for nice people who want to cuss in a hurry." Might make a wonderful Christmas present for your boss!

That some doctors — and probably all ranchers — believe you'd get fewer colds if you ate beef three times a day . . . by golly, come to think of it, you don't hear a cow sneeze every day, do you?

That Paul McCobb, noted interior designer, says living rooms cluttered with too much furniture often lead to marital claustrophobia. To keep your husband, lady, throw away that end table he's always tripping over.

That Gen. Douglas MacArthur once said he enjoyed doing crossword puzzles because they "take my mind off politics, the Far East, and sex."

That Michael Vapsaz of Worcester, Mass., who is only 2½, can tell any modern makes of automobile on sight. He also speaks German.

That a $100 gold and diamond ball point pen is now on the market . . . and its fully guaranteed to write as well as the $1.95 model.

That animals, as well as people, suffer from gout. But no scientist yet has proved that flat feet are an occupational disease with police dogs.

That France, in a new drive for U.S. tourist trade, is now building roadside motels—with restaurants that stock catsup as well as cognac.

That it was actor Paul Coats who observed, "The human race has been able to improve everything but people."

Eisenhower Faces One Of Most Important Moments

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower suddenly faces one of the most important moments of his administration — decisions on Eastern Europe—and perhaps one of his greatest crises the possibility of war in the Middle East Both land on his doorstep in the midst of the political campaign. Neither may be solved before election day. But what Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles do is a test of their leadership and may be a turning point in history.

Israel, mobilizing its armed forces, has Eisenhower worried it may attack its Arab neighbors. Such a war, once started and engulfing the Middle East, might not be limited to Israelis and Arabs. Israel says she fears an Arab attack.

The United States and Russia both have a stake in the Middle East. Both have been contending for influence there.

In Eastern Europe the American government has hoped ever since World War II to see Russia's grip on the satellites shaken loose. That hope may now become a reality.

These are the problems for Eisenhower and Dulles

The United States, trying to avoid making enemies in the Middle East, has refused arms to the Israelis, who said they needed them for defense.

But at the same time the United States gave the nod to the French to go ahead and supply the Israelis. They've been well supplied, according to reports here, and have now mobilized perhaps 200,000 men.

An attack by the Israelis on the Arabs now would serve the interests of the French, who have their hands full with the Arabs in North Afrida.

Also an attack now would come on the eve of the American elections when any stand taken by the Eisenhower administration on Israel—one way or the other — might influence the American Jewish vote a week from tomorrow.

But if the Israelis should attack and whip the Arabs —without effort by this country to stop them—the shattered Arabs would probably feel their only friend was Russia and turn to her for help, if not during the war, at least afterwards.

That would put Russia into the middle East in a big way, the last thing the United States wants to see.

Former Ambassador From Pakistan Likes Burgers

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Former Pakistan Ambassador Syad Amjad Ali, who loves fancy vests and food, was disappointed not to be served hamburgers by American hosts on a recent visit to the Capital.

Sporting one of his brightest waistcoats, Ali, who is now his country's finance minister, insists a top requirement for cooks in his household is an ability to make the American favorite.

"I've had Pakistani cooks who've made good ones, and I've had an Irish cook who turned out great ones," he told friends at a cocktail party "but, somehow, there's nothing like an American-made hamburger."

Ivy Baker Priest, U. S. Treasurer, says the American homemaker is "just as much a financial wizard as any Wall Street tycoon."

Mrs. Priest says women administer 60 per cent of all the money in the nation. They own 70 per cent of the private wealth of the country. They spend 84 per cent of all the money that exchanges hands.

Mrs. Carl W. Zeller, Gibsonburg, O., new president of the American Legion Auxiliary, said on a visit to the Capital that $20,000 of the organization's funds will be used in the nation's elementary schools.

The book, planned for 1957 publication in collaboration with the National Education Assn., will be a comparison of Americanism and Communism.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

PRINCESS — NEW YORK. By Joe Richards. Bobbs-Merrill.

Men who go down to the sea in small sailing craft and live to write about it, as most of them do, often have an unhappy knack for making their adventures sound precious.

The publisher gives the tip-off on this account by describing it as one of a man's affair with a boat." The author, a sometime artist, aids and abets the blurb by falling deeper and deeper in love with his sloop as it progresses through gale and tide rip, chapter by chapter.

Having said that, it is more pleasant to record that Richards enjoys a very pleasant talent for springhtly and salty narrative. Love affair or not, he obviously had the time of his life rebuilding the ancient, 26-foot Friendship sloop, Princess, and sailing it single handed to Florida on the eve of World War II. Then after the war and the navy, he did another rebuilding job and sailed back to New York again.

Married there to a flesh and blood female, he has turned from the tiller to the typewriter, to the obvious advantage of seasmitten readers, if not to his own interest in far horizons.

DAYS TO REMEMBER. By John Gunther and Bernard Quint. Harper.

This slickly edited volume makes a quick photographic and journalistic sweep through the decade since World War II.

It's amazing, on scanning the 400 photographs of events, customs, fads and sidelights, how much one has forgotten.

Happily, the pictures are chosen for good photography rather than historic importance only. Also there is more and better textual matter than found in some of the picture story books now popular. All in all an attractive and informative volume.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) —Eight people scarcely constitute a quorum for a public opinion poll. But here are the opinions of eight concerning "Born Yesterday" as presented on Hallmark Hall of Fame Sunday evening:

Two enjoyed it thoroughly. Six, including this viewer, suffered from varying degrees of disappointment with the Garson Kanin comedy.

All the disappointed expressed great admiration for the talents of Mary Martin, who played the part of Billie Dawn. But all felt she failed to equal the roll of the dumb-smart, tough-tender dame which Judy Holliday created on Broadway and also played in the movie version.

"The trouble with Mary Martin, though it's not really a trouble," said one woman, "is that she's a lady. And Billie Dawn just isn't—in fact, she ain't no lady."

"The trouble with Mary Martin, and I really like her terrifically," said another woman, "is that she played the part with a Southern accent. Maybe it's just because we live in the New York area that I don't think a Southern accent is funny. I mean I think a Brooklyn accent, such as Judy Holliday had is funny or something."

"You mean," a man said, "that a so-called Brooklyn accent conveys a toughness of spirit and a tenderness of the flesh that's exactly right for the role."

The woman blinked. "Maybe that's what I meant," she said dubiously.

Only one of the eight tapped (as we say in the poll business) failed to praise Paul Douglas, who brought to television the role of the big junkman, Harry Brock, which he played on Broadway and in the movies.

WOMEN

YOU AND YOUR TEEN-AGER

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

My experience has led me to believe that all parents of teen-agers can be classified into three types. They are the (a) disinterested, (b) possessive, and (c) ideal balance.

The first group seems to be the largest. During the last fifteen years modern psychology has convinced many parents that teen-agers should be "turned loose" to "exercise their own wills" and to experiment with "free expression."

The result has been a number of teens who feel unloved and emotionally abandoned. Many have turned to delinquency to attract attention to themselves and to make somebody, if only a judge or a juvenile counselor, care about what they do.

The second group, though not as large as the first, can create equally as much anguish for the teen-ager. While teens crave to have someone to care about them and be interested in their affairs and to portect them from their own inexperience, they do not like love to be a feather pillow smothering them nor a leash holding them back from life.

The ideal parent, who is to be found in the last and smallest category, is vitally interested in the teen-ager and finds time to share in his problem and his dreams. The ideal parent is interested in the activities of the teen-ager and wants to know his friends.

Yet the ideal parent is not demanding of the teen's time nor jealous of his friends, nor is the parent fearful when the teen-ager inters into group activity and becomes "one of the bunch."

Which kind of parent are you? Do you know where your boy or girl is now? Do you know the person he or she dated last week-end? Do you know what vocation your teen has chosen? Does your teen-ager have to comply with certain dating rules and other rules of conduct.

Don't be a disinterested parent; teens need to feel wanted and important to you.

Are your teen-agers being kept "Mamma's boys or Mamma's girls"? Are they forbidden normal group activities that are harmless fun? Are they segregated from their peers because you need them as a crutch for your own personality?

Don't be a domineering parent. Let them function as individuals.

Be the ideal parent. Teen-agers need both freedom and restraint as flowers need both sunlight and rain. Too much of either one alone brings distruction, not growth.

In which category of parents are you?

Smorgasbord Supper To Be Held At Club House Here

Individual members of the Martha Ann Woman's Club now may make reservations for the first "Smorgasbord supper," to be served Sunday from 5 through 7 o'clock at the club. Women who are individual members may bring all members of their families and as many friends as they care to.

The buffet-style meal will include a wide choice of delicacies. Adults will be charged $1.75; small children, 75 cents. The meal will be prepared by the club caterer, Mrs. Jack Sparks.

Smorgasbord reservations must be made at least 12 hours in advance to assure accomodations, but Mrs. Sparks will take your late reservations if it is at all possible.

"It would be a great convenience to the caterer if you could make your Sunday night reservations Thursday by calling the clubhouse, between 2 and 4 p.m.," said Mrs. E. A. Brooks, corresponding secretary of the club board of directors. "The number is 3-3427. At this time, as well as on Tuesday afternoons, a trained reservationist is available to answer your questions and to make any of your reservations for this or for any affair you plan to have at the club." Mrs. Brooks added.

The nine women who alternately take telephone reservations, twice weekly at the club office are: Mrs. A. J. Shaw, Mrs. George Crabb, Mrs. Ed Schultz, Mrs. Malcolm Keeble, Mrs. W. B. Lee, Jr., Mrs. Max Milam, Mrs. Elroy Miller, Mrs. P. W. Cloud, and Mrs. Frank LeFeuvre. Mrs. C. Macon Raine and Mrs. G. Edward Bolger are alternates. Mrs. Gene Best, Mrs. Leland Herod, and Mrs. Lee Smythe, also on this committee, maintain the membership lists and assist in posting all parties and club activities for the permanent club files.

The Martha Ann Woman's Club will be closed to any events other than the buffet meal on Sunday nights.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

OKLAHOMA'S SOONERS completed their season last week with their 40-0 thrashing of Notre Dame and once again the Sooners escaped unbeaten.

Oh, the Sooners do have five scrimmages coming up with Colorado, Iowa State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma A&M which, officially, will go into the record books.

But, for all practical purposes, the Sooner season has ended. They aren't eligible for a bowl game this season so there's no chance of the Sooners meeting one of the nation's powers during the current campaign.

Notre Dame and Texas, which were supposed to be the only "power" teams on the Sooner slate this season, turned out to be weak sisters, too. The Irish and Longhorns have managed only two wons between them out of 10 games, each having dropped four out of five games.

So, instead of 8 weak teams on the 1956 Sooner schedule, the Oklahomans had 10.

OU Slate Would Be 'Gravy' To SWC Teams

There's no getting around it, the Sooners have a fine football team. But there's no getting around it, either, that OU has the softest schedule of any major team in the country.

It would be safe to say that any Southwest Conference team, maybe with the exception of Texas, could take the Sooner schedule this season and go undefeated. Texas probably would win 8 out of 9 by taking the Sooner schedule. The Longhorns, we believe, would probably lose to Notre Dame although there would be an even chance the Steers could even subdue the Irish.

The reason we say 8 out of 9 is because Texas is on the Sooner schedule and the Longhorns couldn't beat themselves unless they held an intra-squad game.

So long as sports scribes pay more attention to won-lost records, regardless of the type of competition, the Sooners have a good chance to win the National title every year.

Paper Pulls 'Boo-Boo' In 3A Ratings

We wouldn't take up an argument on who should be ranked the No. 1 team in the state in Triple-A but we would voice our opinion on who should not be.

We're speaking, of course, of Kilgore who yesterday was named No. 1 in Triple-A by a big-city newspaper. Kilgore lost a 47-19 decision to thrice-beaten Paris about three or four weeks ago yet the East Texas team was elevated to the No. 1 spot in Triple-A by the newspaper in question.

Kilgore's crushing 70-0 victory over Henderson prompted this newspaper to place the Bulldogs at the top.

To make this move even more puzzling, Paris wasn't even ranked in the top 10 by this particular newspaper.

One thing we should keep in mind about Friday night's Tiger-Sweetwater football game is this:

Sweetwater is well noted for pulling upsets. In 1953, Sweetwater was the only district team to best the eventual state runnerup Big Spring Steers while in 1954 the Mustangs were the only district team to down Breckenridge who went on to win the state crown.

Sweetwater's two upsets those two seasons caused Breckenridge and Big Spring to tie for the title both years. Big Spring won the right to represent the district in 1953 because she defeated Breckenridge during the regular season while it was just reverse in '54, Breck beating Big Spring and winning the playoff rights.

The thing to forget about concerning Friday's game is the past records. They don't mean a "cotton picking" thing when Snyder and Sweetwater meet on the gridiron.

Claassen Picks Aggies, Froggies

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1957 edition of the Farmer's Almanac is at hand. It predicts a long, cold winter. No matter how cold it gets, the chill won't equal that of last weekend when football teams paid no attention to the script and spilled upsets everywhere.

There were 14 wrong guesses sandwiched among the 34 correct ones, an average of .708. That brought the season's total to 206-63 and .765.

Heading into this week, just as if the almanac promised nothing but sunshine:

Oklahoma over Colorado: Colorado annually gives Oklahoma its hardest Big Seven battle. It still be easy for the Sooners.

Georgia Tech over Duke: Coach Bill Murray says his team has a good chance to disrail the Engineers. The almanac discloses that Tech gets stronger in November.

Tennesse over North Carolina: Primarily because of John Majors.

Michigan State over Wisconsin: Clarence Peaks is out for the year but the Spartans have quit reading their clippings.

Texas A&M over Arkansas: One of the many surprises last week was Arkansas' triumph over Mississippi. If the Porkers can stop Jack Pardee and company it will be the upset of the season.

Ohio State over Northwestern: Too many Buckeyes.

Stanford over UCLA: It means the Rose Bowl for the Indians . . . and they know it.

Texas Christian over Baylor: Jim Swink still with the Frogs.

Syracuse over Penn State: Jim Brown gives the Syracuse eleven an edge.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

FRIDAY NIGHT

Boston College over Villanova.

SATURDAY

EAST: Army over Colgate, Holy Cross over Boston University, Columbia over Cornell, Harvard over Pennsylvania, Notre Dame over Navy, Princeton over Brown, Yale over Dartmouth.

MIDWEST: Cincinnati over Detroit, Indiana over Marquette, Iowa State over Drake, Kansas over Kansas State, Missouri over Nebraska, Purdue over Illinois, Houston over Wichita, College of Pacific over Tulsa, Minnesota over Pittsburgh, Michigan over Iowa.

SOUTH: Georgia over Alabama, Florida over Auburn, South Carolina over Furman, Mississippi over LSU, Kentucky over Maryland, Tulane over Mississippi State, William & Mary over VMI, Vanderbilt over Virginia, Wake Forest over North Carolina State, Miami over Florida State, Clemson over Virginia Tech, West Virginia over George Washington.

SOUTHWEST: Rice over Utah, Texas Tech over Oklahoma A & M Southern Methodist over Texas.

FAR WEST: California over Oregon, West Texas State over Arizona, Montana State over Montana, Oregon State over Washington, Wyoming over Utah State, Southern California over Washington State.

Football Bon-Fire Set Here

A bon-fire and pep rally will kick off festivities tomorrow night for the Tiger game with Sweetwater to be played Friday night at Sweetwater.

The bon-fire and rally will be held west of the barn in Towle Memorial Park tomorrow night beginning at 7 o'clock.

T. D. Wiman, high school principal, says the bon-fire and rally will be over in time for fans to attend the Snyder-Sweetwater freshman game to be played at Tiger Stadium tomorrow night. The frosh game kickoff will be at 7:30.

Tomorrow's bon-fire and rally is an annual affair as the Tiger backers set aside this affair before the Sweetwater game each year.

The Tiger football squad will attend tomorrow's bon-fire ceremonies as will the Tiger band and cheer leaders.

All Tiger football fans are cordially invited to attend the bon-fire ceremonies.

Friday's game at Sweetwater will be the first district game for the Tigers and the second for the Mustangs. Sweetwater disposed of Lake View, 44-6, in its conference debut last week.

OU Offensive Mark Suffered In Irish Tilt

By The Associated Press

Notre Dame's inexperienced linemen, who have had to shoulder the blame for most of the team's difficulties this season, should get some satisfaction out of their 40-0 licking by Oklahoma last Saturday.

They held the Sooners to 236 yards by rushing and passing combined — their lowest total since Oct. 10, 1953.

As a result, Oklahoma's offense NCAA Service Bureau statistics revealed today, instead of averaging 459.5 yards per game on total offense, the Sooners are down to a 414.6 yard average. And their rushing rate tumbled from 396.5 yards to 346.6 per game.

Both those figures still are good enough to lead all the major colleges. Only Navy, with 404.6 yards per game, is above the 400-yard mark and Southern California with 314.8 yards average, is the only other one above 300 by rushing.

In the air, Washington State, 234.0 yards per game, and Stanford, 203.0, are the only teams to gain more than 200 yards a game by passing. They're staging a private duel for the title of the passing-est team. Washington State's Cougars have thrown 189 passes and completed 99 for 1,404 yards. Stanford has made good on 103 out of 188 for 1,218 yards. Rice is the most accurate throwing team with 45 of 76 for a .592 completion average.

Oklahoma, basically a running team, hasn't slowed down in scoring. Its average is 44.2 points a game, almost ten points higher than Arizona State's.

Hardin-Simmons ranked fifth in total offense with 1,833 yards in five games. TCU was sixth with 1,821 yards.

Texas was sixth in passing with 73 completions out of 154 tries for 929 yards. SMU stood eighth with 46 of 98 for 738 yards. Hardin-Simmons was 10th with 68 of 128 for 667 yards.

Arlington, Tarleton Lead Juco Grid Race

By The Associated Press

Arlington and Tarleton lead the Pioneer Conference football race.

Arlington beat San Angelo 32-13 last week to indicate that the league will have a new champion this season. It was the first loss in 13 games for San Angelo.

Tarleton downed Schreiner 27-0.

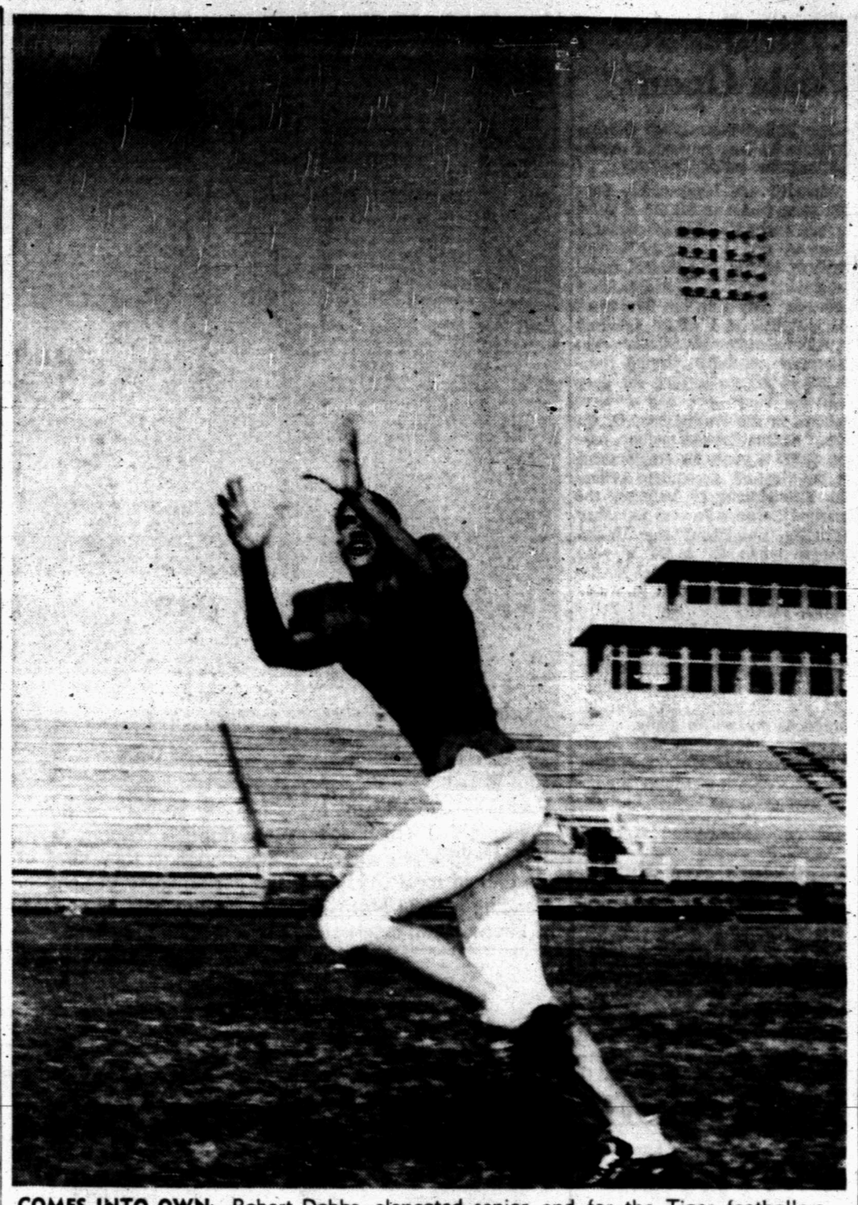
Arlington and Tarleton each have two conference victories.

A crucial game is scheduled Saturday when Tarleton plays San Angelo at San Angelo. The latter must win to stay in the race.

Two non-conference games are scheduled Thursday with Arlington playing Victoria at Victoria and Ranger meeting Kilgore at Kilgore. Saturday Schreiner hosts Blinn at Kerrville.

Turman In Dallas Bout

DALLAS (AP)—Buddy Turman of Dallas and Emil Brtko, Polish-American heavyweight, meet in 10 rounds tomorrow and the winner has the privilege of fighting Willie Pastrano of New Orleans at Lubbock.



COMES INTO OWN—Robert Dabbs, elongated senior end for the Tiger footballers, has filled the bill at an end position that was left vacuated by last spring's graduation ceremonies at Snyder High School. Dabbs has done a noble job on both offense and defense for the Bengals this season and will be in the starting lineup when the Tigers take on the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday night at Sweetwater. LOCAL COACHES SAY

Mustang Season Record Misleading

Sweetwater's 1956 football season isn't as dismal as it may sound, according to Ace Amos and J. P. Ward, members of the Snyder school system coaching staff who have been scouting the Mustangs for the Tigers.

"The Mustangs have been overmatched for the most part," the two coaches told the Quarterback Club at its weekly meeting last night.

"Two of the Mustangs' four losses have come at the hands of two Class 4A powers, Abilene and Midland," Amos reminded the Quarterbackers last night.

Another loss was a one-pointer to Stamford, 7-6, a team that has now won 25 straight games.

The fourth Mustang loss was to another Class 4A team, Big Spring.

Amos, who spoke on the Mustang offense at last night's QB meeting, said the Mustangs have a set of speedy and dangerous backs.

Amos was especially high on halfback Eddie Scott who is perhaps one of the speediest backs in the district. Amos went on to say that all Mustang backs are dangerous.

The Mustang offense complied more than 500 yards rushing and passing last week.

Scott was the rushing leader according to the unofficial game figures. The speedy halfback picked up 167 yards in 18 carries for a 9.3 per carry. He scored two touchdowns.

Other figures of the Lake View game showed fullback Jimmy Hardin as the second leading gainer with 77 yards in 12 carries with halfback Glenn Reed close behind with 71 yards in 15 trips. Quarterback Ardis Gaither chipped in with 44 yards in 4 carries, one a 33-yard touchdown gallop.

Gaither also passed for two touchdowns with Reed on the receiving end both times.

Sweetwater gained 397 yards rushing and 110 yards passing against Lake View.

Ward told the Quarterbackers last night that the Mustang defense is extremely tough. He pointed out that the Mustang line did the best job of anybody in containing the high-geared Abilene attack.

Lake View managed only 63 net yards rushing and 97 yards passing against the Mustangs.

Illini Player Back Of Week

By MIKE RATHET
The Associated Press

His hurdle powess, put to use in Illinois' stunning 21-13 upset of previously unbeaten Michigan State, today earned Abe Woodson the Associated Press Back of the Week designation.

Woodson, Big Ten hurdle champion and coholder of the 50-yard record indoors, scored all three Illini touchdowns, two coming on scoring sprints of 70 and 82 yards in the fourth quarter. The victory over the Spartans, the nation's No. 1 team at the time, went into the books as one of the biggest upsets in Big Ten history.

With the score tied at 13-13 and only five minutes remaining, Illinois quarterback Bill Offenbecher decided to "go for broke" with the ball on his own 18-yard line. Offenbecher faded to pass and lobbed a screen pass to the fleet Woodson. Abe took the pitch, avoided a Spartan tackler, streaked nearly horizontally across the field and proceeded toward the Spartan goal.

On the State 30, Art Johnson moved in on Woodson and prepared to make the game-saving tackle. But Woodson leaped, hurdled the defender and completed his TD run.

Dodgers Sell Home Park

BROOKLYN (AP) — Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers for 43 years, has been sold — but the new owner is a member-in-good-standing of the Flatbush faithful.

The Brooks will remain as tenants for the next three years and can continue through 1961 if circumstances dictate.

However," said Marvin Kratter, a real estate tycoon, who said the purchase price ran into seven figures, I would never prevent the Dodgers from staying after 1961 if it were necessary and would never stand in their way in any manner in keeping the franchise in Brooklyn."

The Dodgers are hopeful that a new stadium will be built for them by the Municipal Sports Authority by 1961. In fact, if it is finished before that year, the Brooks will move out of Ebbets Field as soon as it is ready.

FOR DISMAL SEASON

Ed Price Blames Lack Of 'Hosses'

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ed Price, Texas football coach who has seen his effigy hanging three times in 10 days, summed up the current gloomy season with this analysis:

"It's pretty hard to win unless you have a large number of good boys, here or anywhere else."

But he was quick to add: "I think we have a lot of fine boys playing their best. We need more good boys — with enough good boys we'll do very well."

Recalling his 1953 freshman team, Price said yesterday the fact that only three of those players are now on the varsity squad is the major reason for this year's dismal record of one win, five losses.

Price, admitting "we're pretty thin in depth," said his boys "haven't or never will turn loose. We are trying our very best day by day and game by game."

"Of course," the coach continued in his usual mild tones, "when you lose, not only the players and the coaches are unhappy, many people are also." But he said the players "are in good spirits."

Yesterday's effigy of the coach was hanged from a tall light standard on a practice field on the campus. It was the third hanging since Oct. 21 but student and alumni leaders attached little significance to the episodes.

Price has one more year on his present $12,500 yearly contract and Athletic Director Dana X. Bible steps out next September. Some alumni are calling for Price's scalp and others think the university's Board of Regents will not make a move in this direction, leaving any resignation entirely up to the coach. Other alumni think Price will take over Bible's job, thus clearing the air for a young coach to be named head football coach.

Taking over in 1951, Price has an overall record of 33 wins, 23 losses and 1 tie. His Southwest Conference record is 20-11-1, including two conference losses this year. With rough opponents ahead, the Longhorns may wind up with the worst season's record since the 1938 team that lost eight of nine games.

COACH HUNG IN EFFIGY—University of Texas football coach Ed Price is hung in effigy at Austin, Texas for the third time in a little over a week. The effigy dangles from a light standard on the campus near the practice field. Texas has lost five of six football games this season and is in the cellar of the Southwest Conference. (AP Wirephoto)

Curtis Injury A Minor One

FORT WORTH (AP)—The kidney injury of TCU quarterback Chuck Curtis was diagnosed as very minor by physicians today and the Gainesville star was discharged from a hospital.

Coach Abe Martin quoted doctors as saying Curtis probably could play against Baylor here Saturday in the schools' critical Southwest Conference football game.

Martin was instructed to keep Curtis out of practice today and said that if no complications developed the Frog signal-caller could play Saturday.

Martin earlier had started a hunt for a substitute for Curtis.

Martin indicated Dick Finney, who was returned to quarterback from left half Monday, might get the starting call over Delzon Elemburg against Baylor Saturday. Elemburg and Hunter Enis have been operating as the No. 3 and 4 quarterbacks behind Curtis and Finney this week.

Bookies Give Ags, Frogs 7-Point Edge

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M is a touchdown favorite over Arkansas in the top Southwest Conference game this week.

The Aggies, unbeaten, and Arkansas, making a strong comeback after losses to TCU and Baylor, clash at College Station Saturday night.

TCU is a 7-point choice over Baylor Saturday afternoon at Fort Worth.

SMU is given 7½ points over Texas at Austin Saturday afternoon.

Rice plays Utah at Houston and is a 19-point favorite.

Stassen Speaks At State GOP Rally

By DAVE CHEAVENS

WACO (AP)—The weight of a thousand votes may tip the balance either way between Eisenhower and Stevenson in Texas next week, Harold Stassen told a Republican rally last night.

The presidential aide urged Texas Republicans to work hard to help make up for President Eisenhower's inability to campaign at Dallas today.

Stassen said he did not believe the Israeli-Egyptian crisis would lead to World War III.

He said he based his belief on the skill demonstrated by the President in putting out similar explosive incidents in cooperation with the National Security Council and with bi-partisan congressional aid.

He said Stevenson was leading an effort to "tear down" Eisenhower's record of leadership in the face of his own administration as governor of Illinois which Stassen said was "spotted with bad results."

"Members of his administration were mixed up in race tracks in an unethical way," Stassen said, referring to what he called "many instances of maladministration" under Stevenson in that state.

"I sense a growing strength of support for Eisenhower in Texas," he said.

"More and more Democrats have decided that Adlai just doesn't add up for president. We have a good chance of carrying Texas for Eisenhower and Nixon and the opposition has sensed this by bringing in their big guns."

The race is close, Stassen said, and the difference may be a thousand votes.

"That makes it all the more important for you Republicans to work hard every day between now and next Tuesday," he said.

Adlai Says His Proposal Turned Down

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson says the Eisenhower administration dismissed a proposal he made to bring peace to the troubled Middle East—an area certain to figure largely in the last six days of the U. S. presidential campaign.

Israeli Military moves into Egypt forced cancellation yesterday of President Eisenhower's own political plans for today and left the remainder of his campaign program in doubt.

Stevenson said in a Philadelphia address last night that he suggested nearly a year ago that the United Nations undertake "patrol duties in the area of tension" to stop bloodshed and violence.

Eisenhower, who had scheduled campaign rallies today in Dallas, Oklahoma City and Memphis, canceled them and put the rest of his political schedule on a day-to-day basis.

He messaged supporters who had arranged the rallies that the Middle East crisis "leaves me no option — in the interests of working for peace — but to remain in the White House Wednesday to deal with the situation. . ."

Another campaign appearance, a national radio-television speech from Philadelphia tomorrow night also was put on the uncertain list.

Vice President Nixon, speaking in San Diego last night, attacked what he called "Stevenson's crude attempts to inject politics into the Near East crisis."

Nixon's vice presidential opponent, Sen. Estes Kefauver, accused the administration of trying to suppress information on farm prices and atomic dangers until after the Nov. 6 election.

Thousands Watch Fierce Sea Duel

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Thousands of persons perched on rooftops before dawn today witnesses a flashing sea duel that ended with the surrender of the Egyptian frigate Ibrahim Awal off this port city.

The Egyptian vessel ran up the white flag after taking a shelling from units of the Israeli navy and air force. She surrendered with her entire complement of 250 men —the first reported prisoners of the two-day Egyptian-Israeli fighting.

The Ibrahim Awal began lobbing shells at the Haifa Bay area in the early morning hours, apparently in a bold attempt to cripple Israel's small navy and knock out the port facilities here. Haifa is Israel's largest port.

Thousands of Haifa residents roused from their sleep and headed for air raid shelters and cellars in the blacked-out city. But other thousands—men, women and children—went to the rooftops to watch the fighting.

Witnesses said the Egyptian ship opened up from about 2½ miles offshore. Units of the Israeli navy returned the fire and the sky erupted in a blaze of shells and rockets.

As the first light of dawn appeared, Israeli jet fighters joined in, firing rockets and claiming hits that forced the Ibrahim Awal to ask for quarter.

An Israeli communique said Israel suffered no casualties in the engagement. Spokesmen also said the Egyptian shelling caused no damage, but windows of some homes were shattered by the concussions.

BECAUSE OF LITTLE BOY

Kid Air Force Unit Formed

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A new air force "unit" is in operation today because a little boy kept trying to walk.

As a result, Jimmy Mason's many spills no longer raise bumps on his head — and others in his school class are just about the happiest jet "pilots" anywhere.

Polio left Jimmy, 7, crippled in both legs and with partial use of only one arm. It didn't rob him of his spunk.

A few weeks ago Jimmy tugged at his braces and began trying to walk. After several attempts, he managed to take a few steps at a time. But he always wound up by falling.

Jimmy was unable to raise his arms to protect himself, and each fall raised a new bump or marked him with a new cut.

Still, he kept trying.

The other day his school teacher at Samuel Gompers Memorial Clinic, Ted Hollingsworth, decided to equip Jimmy with a football helmet and face guard.

The rig protected Jimmy against head injuries, but, says Hollingsworth, it also "made him feel different" from the seven other crippled children in his class.

Jimmy began wearing the helmet with pride, but another problem popped up. Hollingsworth detected a trace of envy on the part of the other pupils.

The teacher turned to nearby Luke Air Force Base for help and the air force came on the run.

Capt. Hugh M. Matheson of Los Angeles, and fellow officers of Luke's 3600th combat crew training group landed a helicopter on a playground at the clinic.

The airmen brought helmets for the seven other pupils, a collection of model planes and certificates activating the class as the "Jet Pilot Squadron."

Matheson admitted he was "a pushover from the start" of the project. "You see," he said, "when I was a kid, a collapsed spine put me in a crippled children's hospital for a year. I guess I understand."

Little Paul Carries On Family Tradition

ARAPAHO, Okla. (AP) — Five-month-old Paul Franklin Klover is carrying on a family tradition when he wears a pair of black, button baby shoes.

The shoes were given to Franklin's grandfather Paul E. Williams, Bethany, Okla., in 1900 by President William McKinely, and since then all members of the family have learned to walk in those shoes.

McKinley gave baby shoes to all boys born at the turn of the century. Williams, the first to learn to walk in them, was born April 20, 1900, in Birdstown, Ill.

Farm Prices Decrease For Fourth Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—A week before the election, the Agriculture Department has reported another drop in farm prices—the fourth in as many months.

The department said average farm product prices went down nearly 1 per cent between mid-September and mid-October.

In the Democratic - Republican battle for the farm vote, this new development could be significant.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, in a statement put out by the department, termed the price decline slight." He said it was a movement normal in the fall when heavy marketings are in progress. He also said farm income for the full year should average 4 per cent above last year because of larger production in 1956.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler, on the other hand, said the price decrease reveals the Eisenhower-Benson farm program for what it is—a failure."

Coming after three consecutive months of price decreases, the October decline left farm price levels 2.18 per cent above a year ago and 5.4 per cent above last December. However, prices were about 27 per cent under the record peak of February 1951, during the Korean War.

In its report, the department attributed the October drop largely to declines in the prices of meat animals, corn, poultry, eggs and cotton. Increases were reported for dairy products, some vegetables, cottonseed and wheat.

Bus Passengers Are Delayed By Argument

DENVER (AP)—Bus driver Marvin Muck yelled "Aw, shut up" at the driver of a black sedan. Then he learned the driver was Mike Carroll, an investigator for the district attorney.

Carroll flagged the bus to halt, ordered passengers out and told Muck to report at the district attorney's office with his lawyer.

The passengers had to wait for the next bus.

Muck said the sedan refused to yield the right-of-way to his bus at a downtown corner. When he blew his horn, the driver yelled at him. That's when Muck yelled back.

Relations With France, Britain Appear Wrecked

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Relations between the United States and its chief European allies in the Middle East crisis collapsed into a dangerous state of confusion and disunity today.

A crack which had developed in recent months broke wide when Britain and France spurned a peace appeal by President Eisenhower and ordered their troops into key positions on Egyptian territory along the Suez Canal. Their announced aim was to guarantee access to the canal in the face of Israel's military thrust into Egypt.

U.S. officials, some angry and some shocked, were frankly uncertain what the consequences would be either in the turbulent Middle East or in the broader framework of the Western alliance.

It seemed evident that the split had wrecked the 1950 agreement in which the three nations undertook to maintain the balance of power in the Mideast and to prevent any aggression.

Some authorities here believe intervention in the Middle East may prove to be disastrous by uniting the Arab world against Britain and France. If a prolonged state of war should develop, pipelines carrying oil for Europe could be cut and shipping in the Suez Canal could become hazardous. That would have a devastating effect, imposing an economic drain which coupled with the costs of fighting in the Middle East, the British and French are ill prepared to bear.

What the United States would do in such a situation is not certain. If Washington held to the view that the British and French brought these troubles on themselves, it might be less willing to help out with Western Hemisphere oil than if the difficulties had been brought on primarily by Egypt.

The major immediate aim of U.S. policy is to try by all available resources of diplomacy to keep the Middle East fight from spreading.

American officials were dismayed that the Middle Eastern crisis with its remarkable complications—which saw the United States and Russia voting together against Britain and France in the United Nations last night—has so largely eclipsed developments in Hungary and in Russia's relations with its Eastern European satellites.

As one official put it, The world may lose sight of the fact that freedom is winning its greatest battle in 10 years of struggle with Soviet communism."

Eisenhower made his appeal for Britain and France to reverse their announced intention to put troops near the Suez Canal in mid-afternoon yesterday. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the appeal was delivered to British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet.

The statement made clear that Eisenhower had received his first word of the British and French intentions through news dispatches.

Exchange of information between Britain and France on one hand and this country on the other had been dropping off for some time. Some officials feel there has been a virtual blackout on communications with London.

"The President expressed his ernest hope," Hagerty said, "that the United Nations organization would be given full opportunity to settle the items in controversy by peaceful means instead of by forceful ones.

"This government continues to believe that it is possible by such peaceful means to secure a solution which would restore the armistice conditions between Israel Egypt as well as to bring about a just settlement of the Suez Canal controversy."

Eisenhower got his reply within a matter of hours when Britain and France vetoed in the U. N. Security Council a U. S. plan to end the military action. Russia voted with the United States.

State Department officials made no attempt to conceal a growing suspicion, for which apparently they had no hard evidence, that the French and possibly the British had known ahead of time of Israel's plan to launch a major military operation against Egypt two days ago.

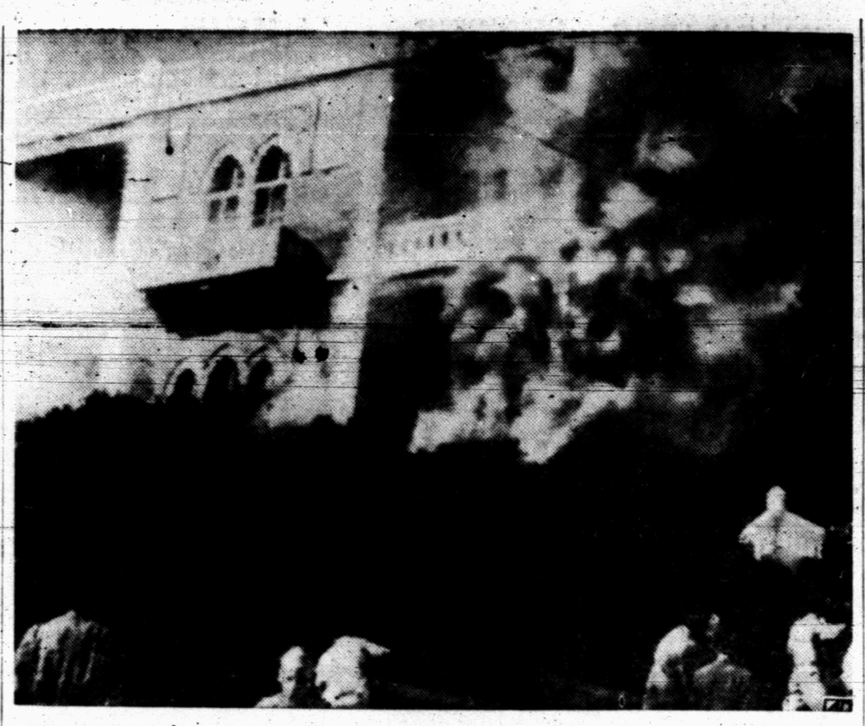
The reasoning was that with the Middle East in turmoil the British and French would have opportunity to regain control of the Suez Canal by military means. Ever since the canal was nationalized by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser July 26, Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have urged negotiation and not force.

There is a strong feeling in official quarters here that in attacking Egypt, Israel was being used as a decoy for the British and French.

For Israel, the profit in such an operation could be a gain in Arab territory.

The British government's primary consern is regarded here as being for the canal itself. The French government is believed to be activated primarily by a desire to break Nasser's prestige so that he may no longer provide effective support for Arab rebels against French rule in North Africa.

Officials believe that if and when the present crisis is brought under control, the wounds of disagreement among the Big Three can be healed with reasonable success because in so many fields the Western powers have common interests. However, on many issues it may be difficult or impossible to achieve the degree of cooperation which the Western powers have enjoyed in the past.



FRENCH CONSULATE SET AFIRE IN JERUSALEM—The French consulate in the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem burns after being set afire by a mob. French Consul Merrien and four members of his staff fought off the mob with rifle fire from the roof. Police reinforcements later drove off the attackers. Recent French arrest of five Algerian nationalist leaders have brought on a wave of anti-French rioting in the Arab world.

Report Given On Violence

WILDWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Investigators seeking Jesse Woods, 39-year-old Negro who allegedly said "Hello there, baby" to a white schoolteacher, heard reports today that he was hauled out of his city jail cell and severely beaten by a group of white men but was left alive.

Woods has not yet been found. He was taken Sunday from a cell that bore marks of violence, including bloodstains and a broken lock.

Two investigators were questioning men who apparently saw the night violence. One of the witnesses said Woods was flogged but was alive and that he was left on a little-traveled road near here.

Woods was placed in a jail cell at his own request for protection. He had been booked earlier on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, but had been released.

Discrimination Suit Will Be Tried Today

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Trial of a suit alleging discrimination against students of Mexican descent was on today before Judge James Allred in Federal Court.

The suit was brought by parents of 13 children. It alleged the Driscoll School District segregates pupils of Mexican descent for the first two grades and keeps them in the first grade three years.

The plaintiffs ask an injunction to prohibit the school district from practicing discrimination and ask $8,000 damages for each child.

The school district contended that separation of students in the first two grades was based solely on their ability to speak English.

Cotton Acreage Cut Discussed

HOUSTON (AP)—G. G. Gibson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, testified yesterday that 80 per cent of the people who left farms in early 1955 said the move was forced by the large reduction in the 1954 cotton acreage.

Gibson testified in trial of a suit brought by four West Texas cotton farmers who contend they and other West Texans did not get a fair share of a state reserve fund of 741,000 acres. The reserve was for new farms, counties in areas with abnormal weather conditions and to correct inequities and hardships.

The trial is to determine whether the State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee, which sets the allotments, had the right to give most of 318,000 acres for "hardship" to East Central Texas.

The four farmers are Willis Hawkins of Castro County, Ralph White of Howard County, Floyd Smith of Martin County and George Smith of Jones County.

They originally asked 10 million dollars in damages, but that was dropped. They seek an injunction against the state committee and a declaratory judgment on the method of allotting the 1956 cotton acreage.

Gibson said he made no detailed study, but said most of the hardship cases were in East and Central Texas.

Atty. Austin Wilson, who represents the plaintiffs, read depositions from Christopher Moser of DeKalb, C. A. Danklefs of Rosenberg, Chairman Robert Shrauner of Hartly, all ASC Committee members and former member Fred Chandler.

All said no reserve acreage was allotted to counties showing increased cotton planting. They said some acreage, which had in other years been allotted West Texas counties showing an increased trend, was allotted to East and Central Texas counties where cotton planting has remained stable or declined.

Earl Hughes of Washington, administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service, said in a deposition that the U.S. Agriculture Department's legal department had given him an opinion in December, 1955, that the Texas ASC Committee's method of distributing reserve acres wws legal.

Presley Look Is Real Gone

ROMEO, Mich. (AP)—The Elvis Presley look is gone, real gone, from Romeo Community High School.

Fifty-two male students who lately sported the long sideburns and ducktail haircut affected by the rock 'n' roll singer agreed to appear in class today with trimmed hair and clean shaven faces.

They had no choice. Any shaggy holdouts face quick expulsion.

School Supt. T. C. Filppula issured the shave-and-haircut edict after teachers complained about the unshorn appearance of some of their pupils and the "defiant" attitude it fostered.

"They had sideburns and long hair that you would think any man would be ashamed of," Filppula said. "And blue jeans sliding off their hips."

Two Romeo barbers, learning of the ruling, offered a free trim for any of the 52 Presley types who could not afford to pay.

Dog Is Put In Hospital

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—An eager retriever that gulped too soon will be released from the hospital this week.

Blackie, a 1½-year-old Labrador, is recovering from a "kelectomy," the first such operation on record here. What happened?

His owner Elmer Herron has been training the dog to catch his keyring and return it. Last week, Blackie made the catch but threw his head back too far and swallowed nine keys.

A veterinarian tried the more conservative methods of removing the keyring from the alimentary canal but all failed. He then resorted to surgery.

IN PORTSMOUTH

Phone Strike Is Main Topic

By LAMAR FALKNER

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—People here talk about the telephone strike, the weather — and the telephone strike.

They aren't sure which affects them more.

"Beautiful day" or "lousy weather" used to be the greeting. Now they pass on the streets, grimly shake their heads and mumble something about "telephones" or the lack of them.

Usually, they are trotting somewhere they wouldn't have trotted 16 days ago. That was when Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. closed its exchanges here and in surrounding Scioto County after the installations were stoned by about 500 persons.

This is the third and longest telephone blackout this Ohio river city has seen during the strike, now in its 109th day. The strike began July 15 when 636 members of the Communications Workers of America walked off their jobs in parts of 24 southern Ohio counties.

Besides Portsmouth, a city of some 40,000, at least six other communities served by the company have gone without telephones during the long and bitter dispute.

Portsmouth housewives resort to the old-fashioned gossiping over a backyard fence. Messenger service and parlor chats are back in vogue. Taxi-cab drivers cruise the streets hoping to be flagged rather than snoozing while waiting for telephone calls. Western Union is working like it never did before.

The police, taxi companies and amateur radio operators have set up an emergency broadcast system that is connected with hospitals, law enforcement agencies and fire stations.

Sixty-one extra state highway patrolmen sent here by Gov. Frank J. Lausche also deliver emergency messages either by radio or in their cruisers.

The off-and-on contract negotiations were scheduled to resume Friday in Cleveland. So far, the talks have whittled deadlock issues down from around a score to 16. But concessions from either side appeared unlikely on the company's demands for a no-strike clause, the union's stand for a union shop and the company's holdout to de-unionize certain supervisory employes.

Nation Gets Rain, Snow

By The Associated Press

There was a variety of weather across the nation today, most of it about normal for midautumn.

Rain fell in a north-south belt over the Mississippi Valley and headed eastward with showers in prospect during the day in most areas east of the Mississippi River.

It was wet along the East Coast from Pennsylvania southward through South Carolina, with rainfall light in most places.

A mixture of rain and snow dampened the northern Rockies, with light rain and scattered showers westward into sections of the northern and central plateau regions and the northern and central Pacific Coast areas.

Gang Fight Breaks Out In Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—A gang fight broke out on the practice field of Texas Senior High School last night causing injuries to one boy and the arrest of 15 others.

"There's nothing in this town to do—no recreation," officers said some boys told them.

Taken to a hospital was Lawrence Nicholson, 16. Police said about 100 boys fought.

Police Chief Leon Arnold said no charges could be filed against the boys but they were ordered to appear before the county attorney.
