Roosevelt Invites Republicans To Join Effort To Give 'Work And Security'

DEMO NOMINEE SPEAKS BEFORE G. O. P. BOLTERS

Governor Repeats Charge Hoover Conducting Campaign of Fear

U. S. NEEDS TONIC

New Yorker Claims Country Needs Program Without Partisanship

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt invited Republicans tonight to join him in efforts to get for the American people "work and security."

Speaking to the Republicans for Roosevelt league in the Metropolitan Opera house, the Democratic presidential candidate described these as the essentials of a philosophy of government and contrasted his own ideas with those he said were held by President Hoover.

Mr. Roosevelt renewed his assertion that the president was conducting a campaign of fear and said that "no doubt" he was seeking to extend that campaign a few nights ago when he "made the statement that if the policies he had so valiantly developed be not continued 'the grass would grow on the streets of the cities.'"

Little Chance to Grow

"Well," the New York governor added, "the grass has little chance to grow in the streets of our cities now. It would be trampled into the ground by the men who wander these streets in search of employment."

Mr. Roosevelt said that to condense the sum of all the argument the president has made for his re-election "into two sentences is not hard."

"He asks for a vote of confidence because he says that but for him the situation would have been worse," the governor continued. "He asks the nation to wait and hope for some miracle of invention to make things better.

"My political philosophy and my chart of action for the country's future differ widely from those of President Hoover. This program entrusted to me is essentially a national program. Its watchword is interdependence of all groups, of all sections, of all economic interests.

Cease Dreaming

"Such a program permits of no yielding to sectional or immediate selfish special interests such as those represented by the clients and backers of Mr. Grundy."

Referring to the American system of government which he said Mr. Hoover had mentioned in his recent New York speech, Governor Roosevelt said "the American government itself was founded on the principle that many men from many states with many economic views and many economic interests might through the medium of a national government build for national harmony, national unity and interdependent well-being."

"And," he added, "if the president will turn from his made-to-order statistics which he so sadly misrepresents and misinterprets, if he will turn his eyes from his so-called 'backward and crippled countries' and turn to the great and stricken markets of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and the other great agricultural states, if he will cease his utopian dreaming of inventions hidden in the 'locker of science' that are going to make us rich, and turn to the true lessons of American history and the real words of the founders of this republic, he will know what the American system really is."

Agrees With Coolidge

The candidate referred to the statement he said Calvin Coolidge had made in 1920 that a party long in power reached a point where it failed to reflect the will of the peo-

Socialist Candidate Asks For Vote Of Protest In Climaxing Rally

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Nov. 3. (UP)—Grey-haired, Norman Thomas stood before a monster mass meeting here tonight and, with a crusader's fervor, called for a protest vote for socialism next Tuesday.

"In the shop or the breadline you may feel yourself a slave," he told his audience. "On Nov. 8, alone with the voting machine, you are free. Vote your hopes, not your fears. You owe no man the obligation to vote for less."

He described his speaking tour across "this great, beautiful, wretched, miserable country of ours," and said that "with us wherever we go is fear; we escape it neither in solitude nor the crowd. It is a pursuer which the healing darkness of night cannot banish."

He called for the capital levy which is an integral part of his party's program to cope with depression, and said:

"It is because I am not a Communist that I advocate an orderly and carefully graduated capital levy rather than piecemeal or wholesale confiscation by violence. It is because I am not a faker that I insist that the well being of the masses cannot be achieved and leave our plutocracy untouched."

Thomas slashed whimsically at the major parties, saying that Jimmy Walker was "with the snows—or should I say roses—of yesteryear," that the "ignorance" of Judge O'Brien, Tammany candidate for mayor of New York, was "a positive endorsement in the eyes of his masters," that on his selection, "Roosevelt and Lehman have given their blessing."

He described the presidential election as "tweedledum and tweedledee."

"Tammany is more corrupt yet scarcely less futile for good than Wall street's two old parties in the national field."

"In speeches occasionally I have discussed our Socialist platform which is to use a living pledge of faith. I have discussed methods of socializing banking, public utilities and natural resources, the proper use of taxation including a capital levy but not a sales tax, the terms on which peace may be made more likely, the necessary constitutional changes to make political action an adequate substitute for revolt, a program for farm relief, and, more often than all else, the repeal of unemployment.

Shots Find Mark

"I find that some of our shots have found a mark. Mr. Roosevelt has begun to talk vaguely about a social responsibility for the maintenance of every worker and his family and Mr. Hoover has reiterated a superfluous concern over the radicalism of his Democratic opponent to whom quite erroneously he attributes our Socialist program

HOOVER BEGINS FINAL TOUR TO OBTAIN VOTES

President to Cast Own Ballot at Home in Palo Alto, Calif.

PREPARES SPEECHES

Dozen Addresses Slated For Today and at Least 11 On Saturday

ON BOARD PRESIDENTIAL Special En Route to Springfield, Ill., Nov. 3. (AP)—California bound, President Hoover tonight sped westward for two days of whirlwind campaigning before making a final dash toward his Palo Alto home to cast a ballot in favor of a four-year return to the White House.

As he headed across Maryland and the Allegheny mountains, the chief executive prepared himself for more than a dozen political speeches tomorrow including major addresses at Springfield, Ill., and St. Louis in addition to four brief appearances tonight.

Receive Send-Off

The president and Mrs. Hoover were given a send-off of applause as they went through the national capital's union station, just before their special train departed at 4:20 p. m.

Three of Mr. Hoover's secretaries, Walter H. Newton, Lawrence Richey and French Strother, along with Henry Allen, publicity director of the Republican campaign, made up the president's immediate party.

Along with them went more than a score of newspaper men and photographers, a heavy squad of secret service agents and a detail of stenographers and mimeograph experts who will turn out campaign speeches en route.

The president planned to arise early tomorrow after scheduled stops tonight at Martinsburg and Green Springs, W. Va., Cumberland, Md., and Connellsville, Pa.

Platform Speeches

An appearance is planned for him on the rear platform of his train at Garrett, Ind., at 6:30 a. m. central standard time tomorrow, with other stops at frequent intervals until reaching Springfield at 3:30 p. m. for a more lengthy address. This will be followed a few hours later by an even longer speech at St. Louis.

There will be little rest for the president on Saturday, with 11 speeches scheduled including major addresses at Madison, Wis., in the afternoon and St. Paul in the evening.

Although there will be few long stops because of the need for speed if he is to arrive in Palo Alto by Tuesday noon, as its scheduled, he intends to broadcast a final radio appeal for votes on election eve.

There was talk by a possible nation-wide broadcast from his speeding train, or of a stop in some sparsely settled western region to allow him to tap a telephone trunk wire that would carry his words into some broadcasting center.

In Conferences

Before boarding his train, Mr. Hoover today closeted himself in the White House study for a steady drive of preparation for the intensive campaign days to come.

He called into conference a few close friends, among them J. Clawson Roop, director of the budget, and Secretary Stimson.

Almost the only interlude in Mr. Hoover's workday was a scene arranged on the curving south portico of the executive mansion during which John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, enrolled him as the first member in this year's roll call.

Mrs. Hoover took part in the ceremony and received her own Red Cross button.

'Jim' Analyzes Victory For Wife; Again Assails Party Bolters

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Nov. 3.—James E. Ferguson appealed tonight for support for his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, here in a county he described as doubtful.

He spoke in a rally at Buffalo staidum, where twice during the Democratic primary campaign he mounted the stump to denounce Gov. R. S. Sterling, defeated for renomination by the Democrats, in Sterling's home town.

Ferguson, coming close to the end of the campaign, asserted to newspaper men he regarded only six counties in the state as doubtful—Harris, Dallas, Tarrant, Taylor, McLennan and Potter.

"But," he added, "if our friends get busy in all these counties they (supporters of Orville Bullington, Republican candidate) may not even carry those six counties. And if they do carry them it will be a majority of not more than one vote. Furthermore, my wife will get a majority of 15,000 in Bexar county, enough to more than baltnce the total majority Bullington could possibly get in the six doubtful counties.

"If it weren't for the 40,000 votes the highway department is getting for Bullington by passing out little extra jobs that won't last but four or five days," he said in characteristically belligerent language, "little Mr. Bullington wouldn't get 100,000 votes. But with that, he might get around 125,000."

Ferguson, in his speech, again urged Democrats not to leave the party for Bullington and again de-

Wichitan Sweeps Through Oil Fields in Plea To Operators

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

TYLER, Texas, Nov. 3.—A plea for support in his campaign for the governorship of Texas was carried through the great East Texas oil field today by Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, Republican nominee.

Speaking to audiences in Mineola, Gladewater, Gilmer, Kilgore, and Tyler, the last at night, Bullington asked that he be elected and that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee, be defeated for what he said were the best interests of the state.

Directing his appeal to operators and workers in the oil field area specifically, he declared that the election of Mrs. Ferguson would be a blow to the independent oil industry while his seating in the gubernatorial chair would provide the independents with a champion in that official post.

He also charged that if Mrs. Ferguson were elected her plan to redivide the gasoline tax revenue would spell the ruin of good road building throughout the state and in this area it would be "40 years before you will get another hard surface road."

The Republican candidate reiterated that the issues in the campaign were not involved with national campaign issues, that it was up to the voters to put an end to the "turmoil" that had followed James E. Ferguson's participation for 20 years in Texas politics, and he expressed confidence that he would be given an overwhelming majority at the ballot box next Tuesday.

"If Mrs. Ferguson is elected," Bullington said, "it will mean the

SENATE AND HOUSE MEET AT 10 TODAY

Roll Calls Fail to Show Enough Legislators For Action

MESSAGE PREPARED

Lawmakers Urged to Pass Conservation Measure In Rapid Time

AUSTIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling's special session of the 42nd Texas legislature, called into fourth extraordinary session, to amend oil production regulatory laws, got off to a slow start today.

Neither house had a quorum when the hour for assembly arrived. The house of representatives registered only 40 of its 150 members present when Fred Minor of Denton, speaker, pounded his gavel. In the senate, only 10 of the 31 members answered the roll call when Edgar Witt of Waco, lieutenant governor, made his appearance on the rostrum.

The house met again at 4 p. m. but a roll call showed only 48 members present. The house then adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow. Similar action previously had been taken by the senate.

Called Wednesday

Governor Sterling issued his call for the legislature late yesterday, citing a decision of a three-judge United States district court holding invalid production proration orders in East Texas of the railroad commission as an emergency constituting necessity for the special meeting.

The tribunal decided that the railroad commission, administrator of oil conservation laws in Texas, had exceeded its authority granted by the legislature in basing its proration on "economic waste," while the legislators had not empowered it to consider anything other than "physical waste" in holding down production.

Governor Sterling decided that an extraordinary session was necessary to broaden the powers of the railroad commission if it was to manipulate the valve controlling production of the great East Texas pool, a source of trouble to the entire petroleum industry the two years it has been in existence.

Message Prepared

The chief executive had prepared his message dealing with the problem, but it could not be read until a quorum had registered present in each house. It was believed that a majority of the members would be here tomorrow. Some predicted that serious consideration of the oil legislation would be deferred until the middle of next week, while Governor Sterling expressed a hope the lawmakers would remedy defects pointed out by the federal court and adjourn within a week.

It was pointed out that the legislature was called to assemble on the eve of a week-end, a period always inclined to make for a minimum of attendance.

Also it was recalled that the general elecion set for next Tuesday probably would detract members and keep them away from the capital, until that political event had been disposed of.

A bill designed to fix Texas up so oil production could be limited in line with market demand as well as "physical waste" had been drawn.

Opposition Seen

Charles F. Roeser, president of the Texas Oil and Gas Conservation association, said Governor Sterling had agreed to the proposed statute. However, some of the legislators were unalterably opposed to considering any proposition that would have a tendency to fix the price of any commodity. It was not unlikely that a long, drawn-out controversy would develop over the proposed legislation.

The proposed bill would give the commission power, and make it its duty, to inquire into the production, storage or transportation of crude petroleum, and of natural gas, "and the market demand therefor, all in order to determine whether or not waste exists or is imminent."

The bill was patterned after a law enforced in Oklahoma along similar lines, which, under the Sooner state constitution, was upheld by the United States supreme court.

Farley's Final Analysis Of Vote Gives Roosevelt Unmatched Victory

Democratic Chairman Cites Literary Digest's Complete Figures as Proof of Claims for Great Sweep

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—In more than 30 of the 48 states, Democratic Chairman James A. Farley predicted tonight, Governor Roosevelt's majority on election day will be more than President Hoover's total vote.

"I predict a great and triumphal victory," the national campaign manager said in what he described as his "final" analysis of the situation.

"Governor Roosevelt will place a new record into American political annals for posterity to marvel at.

"We need not go beyond the Literary Digest's plain figures of what is going to happen next Tuesday."

(Editor's note: The Literary Digest announced that a tabulation of 3,064,497 ballots returned in its nation-wide poll showed 1,715,789 or 55.99 per cent, for Roosevelt; 1,150,398, or 37.53 per cent, for Hoover, and 148,079, or 4.84 per cent, for Thomas. The detailed report of the magazine's poll is on page 10 of this newspaper.)

Repeats Prediction

In the formal statement he handed out at national headquarters, Farley listed four predictions he has made at various times since the Chicago conventions, and said he still "stands by them."

They are;

"1. That Governor Roosevelt has a chance to carry every state in the union."

"2. That his popular majority will be 10,000,000 votes.

"3. That in at least one state he will have a plurality of 1,000,000 votes

"4. That the Republican party is going to sink to the lowest estate that it has experienced in a two-party contest since the civil war."

Answer to Sanders

The statement also said:

"The answer to the American people to the protestations of Chairman Sanders of the Republican national committee and others who claim to see nothing conclusive in the Literary Digest poll will be given next Tuesday.

"We're not worried any more about the New England states. For a time there were one or two that gave us some concern, but the great ex-governor of New York state, Alfred E. Smith, clinched those for us. The only thing on my mind at this moment is:

"How much over 10,000,000 will Governor Roosevelt's popular majority go?

65 Per Cent Gain

"If we compared this 1932 Literary Digest poll with their poll of 1928, we can see an improvement in Democratic strength of over 65 per cent.

"The Maine election showed us 61 per cent better than in 1928, and I said at that time that the situation

OWEN D. YOUNG FLAYS THREATS

Industrialist Speaks For Demo Ticket

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Owen D. Young, in calling tonight for the election of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, told a political rally that "I am not afraid of mobs if Mr. Hoover is elected, and I am not afraid of markets and business if Mr. Roosevelt is elected."

He also declared that "it is time liberal parties came into power to save conservatives from their own destruction, and to save the rest of us who are victims, too."

The prominent industrialist spoke on the same program with the governor at a meeting arranged by the Republicans for Roosevelt league.

He said there had been "some misrepresentation of my silence in this campaign," and added he welcomed the opportunity of appearing with the governor, "and saying what will not be news to him or to the president of the United States—that I am supporting without qualification Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner."

He also said he was supporting Herbert H. Lehman for election as governor and U. S. Senator Robert

Police Seize Slot Machines

City police confiscated 15 slot machines Thursday in a drive on gambling devices in Wichita Falls Chief Dick Morris announced. Officers raided hotels, cafes, confectioneries and drug stores in both downtown and residential sections. The drive was opened following conferences between County Attorney L. V. Abernathy and Chief Morris.

The machines were turned over to Mr. Abernathy for action in prosecuting cases against the owners and operators. In most cases several machines are placed in business houses by a single agent, Mr. Morris said.

The drive fell short about 15 machines which had been removed from establishments when officers arrived. News of the raids spread ahead of the police squad, cutting the effectiveness of the drive about 50 per cent, Mr. Morris added.

BERRIE DENIED ANOTHER TRIAL

Pastor Shouts in Court He Is 'Frame-Up' Victim

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 3. (AP)—Denied a new trial and formally sentenced to spend his life at hard labor in state's prison, the Rev. Stephen Althea Berrie delved tonight into plans for appealing from conviction on a charge he murdered his first wife.

Attorneys for the 52-year-old preacher, who shouted in court today that he was the innocent victim of a "frame-up" and was being "railroaded to prison," planned to ask the Oklahoma criminal court of appeals to quash the original murder indictment on the grounds Berrie's new 19-year-old wife testified before the grand jury.

Thus, the lawyers contended, were the pastor's constitutional rights flouted, and they hoped a sustaining ruling from the higher court will free him.

Preacher Rebuked

Berrie, unfrocked by the Cumberland Presbyterian church after his marriage to Ida Bess Bright, a comely Sunday school teacher, probably will be taken to prison in a day or two, officers said. His attorneys have 60 days in which to perfect their appeal.

In passing the life sentence assessed over a week ago by a district court jury, Judge W. J. Crump rebuked the preacher for what he regarded as a belated denial today of testimony at the trial concerning alleged intimacies between Berrie and his present wife prior to the first Mrs. Berrie's death last March 21.

The judge pointed out that both Berrie and his wife failed to take the witness stand during the trial.

Berrie based his new trial motion today on testimony of numerous witnesses to the effect that five jurors had expressed belief, before the trial, that he was guilty, but the jurors all paraded to the witness stand and denied it.

Although the preacher rose to deny his guilt with great fervor when Judge Crump announced he would not allow a new trial, his bride seemed unmoved. She never has been accused of any part in the alleged poisoning.

Guard Injured In Battle Succumbs

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—J. R. Henson, guard who was severely beaten by convicts in an attempted break at the Eastham state prison farm two weeks ago, died at a hospital here today.

Henson was dragged from his horse by three convicts who beat him into insensibility with a pitchfork handle, took his weapons and fled.

One of the convicts, Charley Wilson, under 15-year sentence, was shot to death by other guards who ran to Henson's assistance when the break came. The fight took place in a cotton field as Henson sat astride his horse guarding a squad of 40 men.

The other two convicts, both long term men, escaped in the Brazos river bottom lands and for 18 hours ran through the river bottoms with a pack of bloodhounds at their heels. When finally captured the two prisoners were in possession of two shotguns and a pistol. One of the shotguns and the pistol belonged to Henson, the other weapon was taken from a negro tenant farmer.

Officer Seeks Man For Stealing Wife's Teeth

STARTLING, Ill., Nov. 3. (UP)—Deputy Sheriff Albert E. Byam is hunting Lon Smith on a warrant charging him with stealing Mrs. Byam's false teeth.

At a late hour tonight he had caught up with neither Smith nor the teeth.

Mrs. Byam thus remained speechless—unable to explain why she suspected Smith or absconding with her denture.

Ex-Governor's Brother To Support Bullington

LONGVIEW, Texas, Nov. 3. (UP)—J. N. Campbell, brother of the late former Gov. T. M. Campbell and a life-long Democrat announced here today he will support Orville Bullington, Republican nominee for governor.

National Story League Convenes at Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 3. (AP)—The National Story league opened its three-day quadrennial convention here today, with delegates from 12 states attending.

The group tonight heard Charles J. Finger of Fayetteville, Ark., discuss achievements in literature.

The feature of the day's business session was the presentation by Mrs. Clifford Weaver of McKinney of a complete file of the first two years' issues of the league's national magazine, which have now become rare. Miss Daphne Carraway of Wilson, N. C., national president, received the magazines for the league.

Son of Former Governor To Vote for Ferguson

AUSTIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—Oran M. Roberts, son of former Gov. O. M. Roberts, deceased, said today he was supporting Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor, and that he expected to cast his vote for her in the general election.

Robrts stated that he felt sure that not one of the descendants of Governor Roberts would bolt the Democratic ticket or fail to support the Democratic nominee. He said he would "not vote for a Republican candidate for any office."

DAIRYMEN ASK HIGHER PRICE

Producers Seek Advance To 'Save Industry'

A move to save the dairying industry of the Wichita valley by setting a slightly advanced schedule of milk prices was placed under way at a meeting of interested citizens and dairymen Thursday afternoon. Cooperation of the public in accepting the proposed schedule in order to prevent sacrifice of additional valley dairy herds was stressed at the conference.

Eight Cents Per Quart

The new proposed price would place retail milk at eight cents per quart with 20 cents per gallon set for the wholesale market. A committee to work out plans for the new prices was named following the meeting in a conference with President R. B. Carter of the Wichita Valley Dairymen's association. The group includes W. F. Palmer, chairman, Jim McKinney and Joe Meurer.

The meeting was called by Chairman J. N. Sherrill of the chamber of commerce agricultural committee and was attended by President B. B. Greever of the Wichita Valley Development association. J. C. Hunt presented the purpose of the meeting in declaring that dairymen cannot continue to feed their stock and sell milk at the present prices and hope to survive.

Production Slumps

It was pointed out that production in the Wichita valley is 30 per cent below normal and some action must be taken with cooperation of milk purchasers to prevent sacrifice of additional herds. A general discussion was held and several dairymen, declared they could not remain in business under present market conditions.

Herriot Defends Budget And Disarmament Stand

TOULOUSE, France, Nov. 3. (AP)—Responding to criticism by minority spokesmen, Premier Edouard Herriot vigorously defended his budget and disarmament policies tonight before the convention of his radical Socialist party, and was accorded what amounted to a unanimous vote of endorsement.

He took the floor after Deputy Gaston Bergery, one of the leaders of the militant wing of the party, had declared that "no one in the world thinks any longer that intergovernmental debts will be paid" and had accused the French government of failing to give a proper reception to the Hoover disarmament plan.

Bank Burglars Get $2,000 In Perrin Robbery

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—Officers of three counties today sought three or four men who robbed the Perrin State bank of bonds and currency valued at between $2,000 and $3,000 during the night.

The robbery was discovered soon after day break today and an investigation was started immediately but no clues were found. The safe of the bank had been torn to pieces. The men had gained access to it by boring an 18-inch hole through a steel wall.

There were indications that the men had worked several hours penetrating the vault to get to the safe. A chair found near the front door led officers to believe that a guard had been on duty when the men entered the bank.

Perrin is about 15 miles north of Mineral Wells. Another Jack county bank, at Bryson, was robbed last week of approximately $1,200. A man was arrested in connection with that robbery and was placed in jail at Mingus.

One Killed, Another Hurt, In Argument Over Log

EAST BERNARD, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—Charlie Peters, 50, father of nine children, was killed, August Kobsell was wounded and George W. Stephens, 60, was jailed at Wharton this afternoon after a shooting at a farm that climaxed a quarrel over ownership of a log.

Peters was shot four times with a pistol and Kobsell, Peters' son-in-law, was shot once in the chest. Kobsell was rushed to the hospital at Rosenberg, where it was said he had a chance to live.

In a statement taken by Justice A. F. Urbanec at the hospital at Rosenberg, Kobsell said he told Stephens not to use the log and that Stephens then drew a gun and began shooting.

Bishop Boaz Warns Against Ousting Members

NAVASOTA, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—Bishop H. A. Boaz told the Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in session here today, not to be too hasty in ousting members, "instead of trying to reclaim them."

"Every effort should be made to keep members in the church," he said in his advisory address to the subordinate pastors. "Don't be too hasty in taking members off the church rolls."

General Glassford Tells 'Inside' Story Of Bonus Army's Eviction

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3. (UP)—Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford in telling the "inside story of the bonus battle at Washington," charged tonight that for weeks troops were trained for the purpose of driving the bonus marchers out of town, and then the ragged veteran army was tantalized so that troops could be used.

The tall, lanky artillery officer recently resigned as chief of police of the District of Columbia. He talked to 5,000 persons who filled the Metropolitan opera house. Police officials said that more than 25,000 persons jammed surrounding streets, listening to amplifiers.

"Armed with the most modern implements of warfare, the peacetime army of our present commander-in-chief, Herbert Hoover, on July 28 last, drove from the national capital at the point of the bayonet, the disarmed, disavowed and destitute army of Woodrow Wilson," Glassford said.

Boos greeted the reference to President Hoover.

"I know that for weeks troops had been held in readiness and given special training for this episode," he continued.

"It was my thought of getting the veterans out to Camp Bartlett to

Wichita Farmers Pay $7,000 Of $8,899 Advanced As Crop Loans

Approximately $7,000 has been paid to date by Wichita county farmers on federal crop production loans totaling $8,899.75 which were made last spring, according to M. S. Duncan, field inspector. All notes are due not later than Nov. 30, Mr. Duncan stated.

Of the practically $7,000 thus far paid, $4,398.52 has been paid in cash, these payments applying to 55 of the 71 loans effected in this county. Valued at nine cents per pound, middling basis, cotton to the value of $2,785.39 has been assigned to the loan bureau as collateral covering unpaid balances on some of the 55 loans thus covered in their entirety.

On the remaining 16 loans, some payments have been made, Mr. Duncan announced, but a total of $1,956 remains unpaid and not collateralized. In view of crop and market conditions, he added, nothing less than 100 per cent payment or collateralization by Nov. 30 will be acceptable to the federal government.

Under the federal crop production loan plan, assignment of cotton as collateral for any unpaid balance of a loan effects an immediate lifting of the government's mortgage on the crop generally, according to Mr. Duncan.

JIM FERGUSON RAPS WICHITAN

Houston Crowd Shows Its Loyalty to Veteran

nounced some of those Democrats who are supporting the Republican.

Shouting Crowd

Mrs. Ferguson preceded "Jim" to the microphone, speaking beneath the stadium's great flood lights to a shouting crowd, many of whom wore overcoats against the sharp air.

"This campaign," she said, "is no longer a campaign of personal concern, but one of party concern. I come to you not to discuss personal ambition and personal platform, but to discuss party ambition and party platform. It is the duty of every good Democrat to declare for the Democratic ticket from president to constable.

"Two years ago when I went down to defeat in the Democratic primaries I didn't cry or shout 'fraud' but followed the dictates of an honest conscience and went to the polls and voted the Democratic ticket."

There was a standing demonstration as "Jim" was introduced. Many of those in the grandstand left their seats and walked out to the center of the field where the speakers' rostrum stood.

He reviewed some of the efforts made to contest his wife's nomination, referring to Sterling as "one of your fellow townsmen who didn't like it and kicked up a row about it."

"He's one of them now asking you to vote for Ol' Bullington," Jim shouted as the crowd cheered.

"Yes, Ross is still growling about it, and yesterday he issued another growling proclamation still saying there were 50,000 illegal votes and that that releases you from your pledge to support the Democratic nominees.

No Charges Filed

"If there was 50,000 illegal votes I would have been willing for Mr. Sterling to have the nomination. Every court in the state is open to him and has been open to him and yet not a man in his crowd had the nerve to swear out one warrant charging anybody with illegal voting. Don't you think Sterling's charge has fallen flatly to the ground?"

Ferguson appealed again, and again to "Mr. Sterling voter," asking him to "look at it fairly."

"Frankly boys, you boys that voted for Sterling, didn't you sort of weaken on him about the way he acted at the Lubbock convention?" he asked.

"You ought to say 'you set up your howl about illegal voting and it fell to the ground. Now I'm going to go ahead and keep my pledge and vote Democratic.'"

Denounces Bullington

In bitter language "Jim" denounced Bullington, calling him "narrow between the eyes" and a "traitor to his own party."

"Bull Bullington is even promising to keep Democrats in office. He won't, though, because he hasn't got a chance in the world and if Boss Creager (R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas) and his crowd even dreamed he ever had a chance they wouldn't have put him up for anything in the world because Creager wants to keep the federal patronage in Texas," he shouted.

"The only worry I have is that my wife won't beat Bullington by 500,000 votes."

Ferguson turned toward the close of his speech to a plea for support of Franklin D. Roosevelt, saying he was "our best candidate in 30 years."

Promises Jobs

Speaking of President Hoover he said "even his own people, the capitalists, don't believe in his ability."

"Let's turn to a little practical politics. Did you know there were more federal jobs in Texas than there are state and county jobs? Well, there are. They easily total up 25,000 federal jobs that are going to be turned over to you boys when we turn the rascals out and let the people in. I want to help you boys get federal jobs. But you have to do right. You have to get out and vote and you better not be loping along with a Bull Bullington hand on you."

Accused Slayer Tells Jury Victim 'Doped' Him

BELTON, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—Testimony in the trial of Joe Medford, charged with the slaying of Mrs. Fanella Peddycord, widow, in Temple on Dec. 27, 1931, was completed late today.

The defendant, on the stand for two hours, claimed he was "doped" by the woman before the fatal shooting. He said he was preparing to go to Houston, at the time, and had obtained a gun to take with him on the trip. He testified she had made threats against his wife and children and he went to her house to try to "talk her out" of this.

College Prexy Tells How He Feels When Making Baccalaureate

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (INS)—Every time he delivers a baccalaureate address William J. Hutchins, president of Berea college, feels "like a man who throws naked babies into the Arctic sea."

Dr. Hutchins, father of President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago, explained in a speech last night that this feeling is prompted by the fear that graduating students are venturing forth into the world without prospects of obtaining livelihoods.

The "young rebels of the classroom" who are arising against "bunk" are "the hope of the world," Dr. Hutchins asserted.

BULLINGTON IN TYLER ADDRESS

Wichitan Makes Plea For Oil Men's Support

beginning of the end for the independent oil industry in Texas. You will see a sharp drop in the price of oil and an equally sharp reduction in the wages of workers. It's up to you to choose between a man who has fought the battles of the independents and a man who stayed in Austin as a lobbyist for the special interests while the oil industry faced a crisis.

Worked With Hunter

"During the last session of congress, Tom F. Hunter and I appeared before committee after committee in Washington, doing all we could to obtain an oil tariff and keep the country from being flooded with cheap foreign oil. And where was Jim Ferguson? You know where he was. In Austin, lobbying before the legislature."

With reference to the Fergusons' plan to give one-third of the gasoline tax revenue to the schools, one-third to the general revenue fund and the remaining third to the highway department, Bullington asserted the building of roads would be stopped, under that division, and the chief person benefited would be land and property owners who already were best able to bear the burden of taxation.

Help for School

"No one should object to the proposal to give the schools one-third of the tax revenue," he said. "Already they're getting one-fourth, under a constitutional provision, and the proposed increase is only a little more and is Jim Ferguson's way of making the people think they're getting something big. I believe in helping the schools.

"But the joker is the proposal to put a third of the revenue in the general fund. The chief contributors to that now are taxpayers who own property. It won't relieve the little fellow, who is groaning under the burden, and there won't be any money to continue the building of roads."

Bullington declared taxes must be reduced and he was determined to bring about a reduction if he is elected. He asserted he would keep the legislature in special session "until the members grow whiskers to their knees" if necessary to effect a reduction.

He also discussed the Democratic party pledge, saying no voter was bound when the party failed to put "honest candidates in the field."

Introductory speakers at Tyler include G. L. Odem, who presided, John L. Clark, druggist and boyhood friend of Bullington, and Henry Edwards, newspaper man.

"Most of you know that I have been fighting this thing called Fergusonism for many years," Edwards said. "The time has come when Texas must decide whether the party is made for the citizens, or the citizens made to be slaves to party."

"Moses Wrote Issues"

At the start of his address, Bullington said the issues of "this campaign were not made by me."

"No," he said, "they were not written by me. They were written by Moses on Mount Sinai, and one of them was the Eighth Commandment, thou shalt not steal."

Discussing the pledge, Bullington said:

"Whether you are a Democrat or a Republican, you are under no obligation to that party. Not one. It is the obligation of the party to present honest and efficient candidates. If you want to do your party a service, you can best do it, not only by not voting for a dishonest candidate, but also by working against that candidate.

Expresses Confidence

"George Washington appealed to his countrymen to put country before party always. Woodrow Wilson said 'political parties can serve no legitimate purpose except to serve the public welfare.' Franklin D. Roosevelt is preaching the same doctrine. The supreme court has said the pledge is binding no longer than it can be performed conscientiously.

"That is the correct doctrine."

In conclusion, he expressed confidence he would be elected, saying:

"With your votes and the votes of other citizens interested in the welfare of Texas, I am going to be elected and once more the principle will be established that 'a public office is a public trust.'"

Man and Wife Burned At Dallas in Gas Blast

DALLAS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Mrs. A. E. Lanier was burned critically and bruised and her husband suffered burns today when an accumulation of gas exploded in the bath room of their apartment here. Mrs. Lanier was thrown against the floor by the blast, which shattered the apartment windows and smashed a door. Lanier, who was standing in an adjoining room, was knocked down and suffered burns about the hands when he went to his wife's assistance. It was believed an accumulation of gas was ignited when she struck a match to light a gas stove.

ENTER TWO LAWYERS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—If heritage means anything, little Harriet Lamar Rosenthal, newly arrived daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rosenthal will surely follow the legal profession. Both of her parents are attorneys. A prospective rival of little Miss Rosenthal is the daughter, yet unnamed, of Mrs. Roderick M. McLeod, wife of a well known Birmingham attorney. Little Miss McLeod is the younger by exactly one week.

Bandits Remove Shoes Of Victims After Holdup

FORT WORTH, Nov. 3. (UP)—Eight foot-sore victims of bandits tonight were minus a total of $70 in cash, obtained from them early today by three masked bandits, who, in addition to the money, took the shoes of those they robbed.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, strains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengué (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

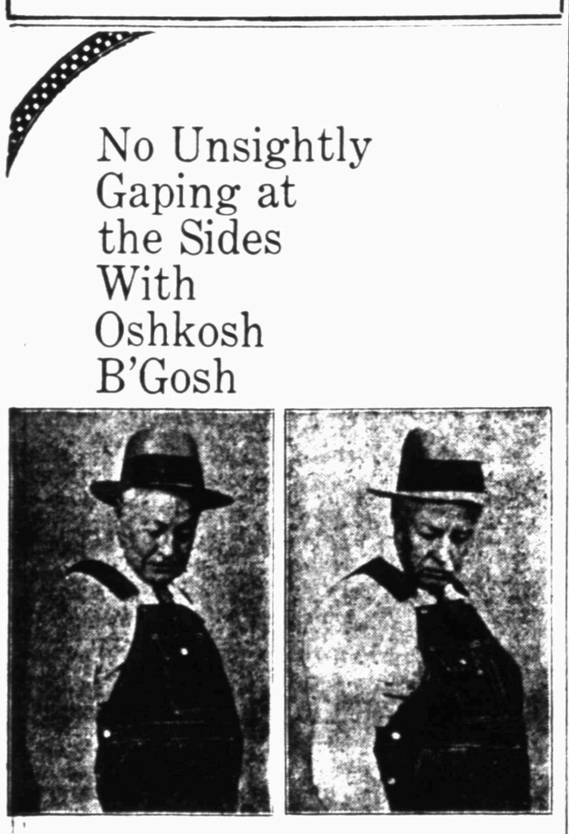

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengué by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

What is Cross Blending?

an Artist

might explain it this way...

"Let's say you're painting clouds. You've got your primary colors here on the palette. But you haven't the clouds until you blend certain colors into the special tone you want.

"This is very much what happens in making a good cigarette. And I gather that what Chesterfield means by Cross-Blending is what an artist does with colors. Their Domestic and Turkish tobaccos—many varieties of each—are the primary colors. They blend and cross-blend these tobaccos until they get the special tone they want—in other words, the Chesterfield flavor.

"And just as each color you use acts on the others to change and enrich them, so each Chesterfield tobacco partakes of the fine qualities of every other.

"You 'weld' different kinds to get a better kind. That's Cross-Blending!"

REFINERS CUT OIL RUNS DOWN

Less Gasoline and Kerosene Produced in Week

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 3.—In keeping with the recently adopted policy of keeping refinery operations "in hand," the principal mid-continent refiners charged less crude oil the week of Oct. 29, and thus produced less gasoline and kerosene, but through efficient operations stepped up the recovery of furnace oil and gas oils, the two petroleum products now in good demand.

The analysis of refinery operations by Platt's Oilgram and the National Petroleum News shows that crude oil charging was off 4.4 per cent and that of other oils 1.3 per cent. Gasoline production declined 1.2 per cent, with shipments declining 10 per cent and stocks showing a 3.1 per cent gain.

Totals	94,908,000	92,055,000

For the four weeks ending Oct. 29, the principal mid-continent refiners reported a production of 151,720,000 gallons of gasoline; shipments of 149,415,000 gallons and a gain in stocks of 2,305,000 gallons.

The analysis by methods showed that of the 39,202,000 gallons of motor fuel, some 50.8 per cent, or 19,925,000 gallons was produced by the strain run process; 36.8 per cent or 14,434,000 gallons by cracking and 12.4 per cent or 4,843,000 gallons by natural gasoline recovery.

Kerosene production totaled 4,100,000 gallons against 4,778,000 gallons the previous week; furnase oil yield totaled 1,567,000 gallons, compared with 1,105,000 gallons the previous week; gas oil output of 5,281,000 gallons showed up against that of 4,255,000 gallons the week before. Only 18,006,000 gallons of fuel oil was made against 21,643,000 gallons the week previously.

Hamilton's Conroe Well Rated at 1,200 Barrels

HOUSTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The second of two major extensions of the Conroe, Montgomery county, oil field within a week's time was reported today.

The Hamilton et al. No. 1 Ezra Morehead came in late yesterday for 1,200 barrels from a total depth of 5100 feet, extending production 4,800 feet eastward.

The Plummer & McDaniels No. 1 Keystone Mills, blowing in as a giant gasser spraying oil, had extended the field three and one-quarter miles southeast of previous productions. It had increased its oil flow to 1,800 barrels today.

JACK COUNTY LOCATION

The Panhandle Refining company has staked out location for No. 1 M. B. Cook, a 3500-foot cable tool test to be drilled 330 feet from the south and east lines of the M. B. Cook land in the James Young survey, south of the town of Bryson in Jack county, and is moving in.

SOUTHWEST ARCHER

The Texas company No. 1 E. H. & J. E. Morrison, located 935 feet south and 550 feet east of the northwest corner of section 1580, T. E. & L. survey in the southwest portion of Archer county, is coring a sand and shale showing oil at 1325-30 feet and will test.

NORTHEAST ARCHER COUNTY

R. W. Reynolds and associates No. 1 W. L. King, located 361 feet west of the King and others No. 1 dry hole, and a southwest offset to the Helena Oil and Gas company No. 1, or discovery well, in the Henry survey, abstract 163, is rigging up.

NORTH OF ANARENE

W. B. Hamilton No. C-1 is location for No. 1 Elizabeth Ikard, a test to be drilled 2250 feet west, and 713 feet north of the southwest corner of J. J. Webb survey, but in the J. J. Young survey, abstract 761, north of the townside of Anarene in Archer county.

EAST OF WINDTHORST

The Jarrett Oil corporation No. 1 R. Scaling, a 3500-foot rotary test located in block 13, H. T. B. R. R. survey, in northwest Clay county, which has been shut down for several weeks after setting surface pipe, Friday morning spudded in on its contract depth.

OIL COKE SOLD BY REFINERS

Houston Plants Dispose Of Stocks

HOUSTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Chronicle says contracts for the sale of 200,000 tons of petroleum coke produced by oil refineries along the Houston ship channel, for shipment to eastern industrial centers, have been made.

"The principal purchaser was the Great Lakes Coal and Coke company, it was said. "Large shipments will be made by boat by the Shell Petroleum corporation, the Sinclair Refining company, and perhaps the Texas company," the paper adds.

"Officials of the concerns involved were reluctant to discuss the sales. No official or either company would discuss recent negotiations by a representative of the Great Lakes Coal and Coke company, who came here from the North for that purpose.

"No official would specify any price or specific shipments. Neither were the sales denied.

"Considerable quantities of the petroleum coke will be shipped into the coal regions of the East for use by industries that heretofore have used coal only. Refinery men say the coke is adaptable for pulverizing and blowing into furnaces. Coke is replacing many gas and oil furnaces, they say."

ACID STOMACH

● If rich foods disagree, it need not mean a "weak stomach." Sourness and gas doesn't mean "indigestion." Just take an anti-acid to sweeten the system, and enjoy life! Before meals, or afterward when distress is felt. Do this awhile, and stomach and bowels will be in fine order. Use only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; it is standard. The other preparations do not have the same anti-acid action.

Poetry Club Inaugurates Intensive Study Sessions

Members of the Poetry Study club held an interesting program at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Gose Waggoner in charge. Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, president, presided in the business meeting then turned the session over to Mrs. Waggoner, who gave a lesson on the rondeau and also on alliteration, inversion and rhyme, the three essentials of poetry writing.

Forms of poetry that were studied by the group last year will be thoroughly reviewed this season and a new objective is the study once each month of some noted American writer. In accordance with this objective, Mrs. M. Shain gave a vivid sketch of the life of Edna St. Vincent Millay and read a group of her verses.

One of the outstanding numbers on the program was a wonderful talk on negro dialect by Mrs. Ann Barker, who illustrated the discussion with quotations from Dunbar and told of his splendid dialect work. She closed with a beautiful original negro dialect number in lyric form.

Special work for the next meeting, it was announced, will be blank and free verse and a selected poet will be reviewed and interpreted by selections.

Two visitors were present, Mesdames Dickerson, Henrietta and Frank W. Michaux. Members present included Mesdames O. P. Maricle, J. L. Elkin, M. Shain, Ann Barker, Gose Waggoner, Ann Stallings of Bowie and J. Truman Stevens.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

There's a vacant place in my home and it causes a heartache whenever I look at it. I thought of the occupant with such tenderness, and no other can just fill the spot. Whether he was abducted or whether I let some friend take him to read, I do not know, but I do know that I want "Conquistadore" by Alexander McCleish to come home again. Did I, by any possible chance, lend him?

Bookshelves are companionable things. They are cozy chairs for friends on whom you may rely. Those book friends keep their promises and give you time after time, the same camaraderie they guaranteed when you first met them; they are no liars; they demand nothing of you, quite unlike some supposed friends who only operate on the law of give and take—usually "take." So, when their dear, familiar faces are gone, how you do miss them!

"Conquistadore," being a recent acquisition, was brave and new in binding, but I knew that inside the smart jacket there were the lines that, as Ann Pence Davis said, you could "see and taste and smell." I long at times to catch the scent of the south winds and smell the fresh salt air and see again the flying gulls of which he spoke; to know more of the gallant old soldier who told the tale.

Older friends are worn in their covers; they seem to wait to fall open in places where I have often gone to them for their pure friendliness. Of such sort are my "Charles Lamb's Letters," and my "Essays of Elia." I enjoy with Lamb himself his unexpected whimsical humor, a humor that at times surprised its own father. There's Hazlitt's "Table Talk," informal, pointed, picturesque, that does not portray a man said to be "one of the most ill-tempered men of his day." Self revelation was as much a necessity to Hazlitt as to Lamb, and when one gives his heart and mind to you, he of necessity grows into your own heart and mind.

There's "Under the Trees," and "My Study Fire," by Hamilton Wright Mabie, written in a consciously exquisite style, but so full of beautiful thought they intrigue the mind. Mabie, however, lacks the intimacy of some of my book friends.

There's "Field and Hedgerow," a book written for lovers of nature, yet comparatively unknown. One of the last of Richard Jefferies' books, he begins in it to dream of the time he will not be there to note the coming of the season. "I think of the drift of time," he says, "and I see the apple bloom coming—all these without me." He was slowly dying then.

There is high-minded and cultured Marcus Aurelius Antoninus and just next to him a new book by Agnes Repplier, one of the most charming of American essayists, "To Think of Tea," in which she tells of conversations over the tea cups for generations past. Agnes Repplier is always a joy.

All dogs cared from regular reading is Lang's "Adventures Among Books," that has so much of myself in it I can not forgive Mr. Lang for having been the one to write it instead of myself. The books he loved, I love. There's Van Dyke's "Little Rivers," the worse for wear, but as dear, or dearer, perhaps, than if it were unmarked. A book for fishermen and for all lovers of beauty.

There are well read volumes of "Amiel's Journal," contemplative studies that I love. There is "This Believing World," by Lewis Browne and a handsome new book in a place of honor that I have just begun to read by the same author, "Blessed Spinoza"—his first long biography and so beautiful in rhythm that the words flow like music.

Yet, the little space that held "Conquistadore" gaps empty. Did I lend it to some one? I yearn once more to look inside its covers.

'Cotton Picking' Checks Forged in Hardeman

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 3.—The seasonal "cotton picking" forged check has made its appearance in Quanah, according to reports to the Quanah Retail Merchants association. A negro cotton picker presented a check on a prominent Hardeman county cotton farmer, purchased a small amount of merchandise at two different stores, received the difference in cash. Checks were returned by the bank marked "forgery." One negro was held for questioning.

The secretary of the local credit bureau stated that every fall repeated warnings are sent out by the state and national credit associations regarding similar schemes used by cotton pickers in practically every county in the cotton belt. The name of some prominent farmer known to all merchants is always used on the forged checks, and almost without exception the checks are presented after banking hours, and are marked on the face "for cotton picking."

The checks cashed here were for $12.50 each.

Hide and Seek

"Is the editor in?" asked the poet.

"No," replied the secretary. "He is in Africa hunting lions."

"But I saw him through the window as I passed."

"Yes, but he saw you first."—Buen Humor, Madrid.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

SHE WON'T

"Ella ought to have a rest hour every day. She is cross every afternoon because she is too tired to go on cheerfully. She wouldn't have these tantrums and she would eat better if she had a short rest time after lunch. It wouldn't hurt if she had one before lunch too, but the afternoon rest is necessary."

"I know it. But she won't rest for me."

Whenever a mother or a nurse says that you know at once that she is either too weak or too lazy to see that the child does what she ought to do. Any grownup person of average intelligence, and that means all of us, can see that a little child gets a rest period at a stated period every day.

Suppose she does whine and fret? What if she does make a scene and howl and kick? You can manage her, or him, if you put your mind to it. You have the authority, the power, the understanding, that make you her superior. What is the matter? You have taken the responsibility for the child. Why not see it through. If you haven't the strength to make a child take his rest period there is the army and navy behind you. Think of that and go forward boldly.

It is nonsense to say such things. Teach the child that immediately after lunch she is washed, dressed for resting in loose pajamas, and put to rest in a quiet room. If the child is under 4 years of age he will sleep as a usual thing. After that age many children cannot sleep easily in the daytime and if they do they lie awake at night, or push their bedtime hours back. Let them lie quietly and amuse themselves with a picture book or a toy. The idea is that they rest in quiet. Nobody talks to them or plays with them. They rest.

Habit is a great help in this. In the beginning you fix the time and stick to it. No matter what happens the child follows schedule. If he does the same thing at the same time every day his body will take on the habit and attend to the matter for him, relieving you and him.

Active children use up more energy than they can supply. By and by they are so tired that their nerves fail to register fatigue. All they know about it is that they feel cross, things bother them. Grown people annoy them. They begin to cry. Then they can't stop. The temper tantrum comes next and then there is a battle, a spanking, and much upsetness.

Spanking is not the cure for a tantrum. Rest is the cure. Wash the cross child with warm water and pleasant soap. Dress him in fresh night clothes and put him to rest. Do this in an impersonal professional fashion. The less emotion that is stirred at such times the better. One emotional outburst leads to another and two storms make a cyclone.

But don't say, "He won't sleep for me." He isn't sleeping for you, nor resting for you, nor doing any of the other things for you. What he does is for his own growth's sake and you are responsible for it. You can manage him if you set your mind to it and that is your plain duty. Any successful mother tells you that.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Smith Reynolds Death Still Under Inquiry

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 3. (UP)—Carlisle Higgins, state prosecutor, revealed today the death of Zachary Smith Reynolds, youthful heir to a tobacco fortune, still is being investigated.

"We are not yet satisfied with what we know of the death of Reynolds at his home here last July 6," Higgins said. "Our investigation is continuing."

Reynolds' wife, the former Libby Holman, Broadway "torch" singer, and Ab Walker, Reynolds' secretary and close friend, are under indictments charging they murdered young Reynolds.

Shocking

The restaurant advertised rapid service. A patron gave an order and waited so long he fell asleep. He awoke to hear the waitress's voice.

"Did you order this sundae?" she asked.

"Good heavens," he exclaimed. "I came here last Monday!"—Tit-Bits.

Forum Writers Hear Vivid Talk On Book Reviewing

The value of a good book review was stressed in a splendid talk made by John Gould, editorial writer and columnist of The Times Publishing company in a talk before the writers department at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday, as a means of selecting what is good from the prodigous output of books each year. "The average reader," he said, "reading eight hours a day could not complete reading all of it in a year. The book review was named as a thing that should separate the wheat from the chaff, though the speaker questioned whether the ratio of good books remained the same in the huge output as in former years.

To be useful, Mr. Gould said, a book review must show the motive of the author in his work; should show if he had accomplished that purpose and then whether or not it was worth while. These things were noted as a yardstick to measure a review. "A competent reviewer," he stated, "is assured, and the question of a reader as to whether a book will interest and beguile him should be answered in a review. In other words, a good review should be a convincing sniff of the cork."

Humor and Truth

There was a spice of humor and a depth of assurance in Mr. Gould's talk that held his audience with interest. He went into the mediums of reviews in printed form, describing the book page of a daily paper, the book section of a good magazine and the literary magazine, and stated his conviction that the good magazine reviews, written by a reviewer with the background and the education and culture making him capable, proved most satisfactory. He gave a clever picture of how books are reviewed for book pages of newspapers by various members of a staff, and scored the papers that carried on book pages by using the reviews sent out by the publishers, who, he said, of course wished to sell the books. "When you find a book page that is altogether complimentary," he said, "pay no attention to it." As to oral reviews, he said that no rules could be given; it all depends on whether a person was or was not capable of giving a good oral book review.

Purpose of Reviews

"One purpose a book review serves," Mr. Gould said, "is to give you a speaking acquaintance with books you might not otherwise read. He warned the group against "duty reading"—reading because a book was much talked about and the reader wished to be able to talk of it. "There is no more soul destroying business," he said.

Several bewares were given, among them "Beware of the fault finding reviewer; beware of the smart reviewer, who reviews to show off his own cleverness; beware of the superficial reviewer, for you are entitled to be shown the heart of a book; beware of a spiteful reviewer. Don't take a review too seriously, for after all it is only the opinion of one man." Readers were advised to give particular attention to the review that gropes and delves. As an example, Mr. Gould suggested the thought that would lay ahead of the person who first read "Huckleberry Finn," and was told to review it, paying a magnificent tribute to Huck's moral bewilderment as he floated down the Mississippi with the escaped negro.

In advising the audience to read good reviews assiduously, though he said no review could take the place of the book, Mr. Gould noted two trends in modern literature; that of realism in fiction and that of debunking in biography. Both of them, he favored, paying tribute to the writers who had stripped heroes of their trappery and shown them as they really were.

Thanksgiving Motif

The table arranged by Mrs. J. L. Elkin and Mrs. J. F. Bailey was beautiful in a first Thanksgiving scene. Golden pumpkins at the ends of the center outlined an early American setting. A mirror with the Mayflower afloat was at one end. Miniature Pilgrims and Puritans made by Miss Lois McGaughy and her pupils in the Benjamin Franklin art department and charming silhouette Pilgrims made by the class of Miss Ima Pendergrass, in Junior college, strolled through the rough underbrush and the autumn leaves toward the church. There were small log cabins and other effective features stressing the motif.

Mrs. James P. Bowen, chairman, presided and Mrs. J. L. Elkin was in charge of the humorous contest preceding the talk by Mr. Gould. Mrs. C. W. Staley was voted winner by acclamation.

A large number took advantage of the program arrangement in the writer's department this year, whereby any one wishing to do so, may attend the program at 12:45 if unable to arrive in time for luncheon.

Covers at luncheon were laid for Mesdames James P. Bowen, Otis Nelson, J. F. Bailey, Guy Rogers, W. P. Killingsworth, J. A. Kemp, J. Wilkie Talbert, E. R. White, Miss Mary Louise Staley, Mesdames C. N. Staley, J. M. Thomas, M. Shain, J. E. H. Railey, Carl Yeager, J. L. Elkin, J. Truman Stevens, Dennis Dellis, G. D. Fox and E. N. Cason.

Children May Have Own Cards Says Mrs. Post

By EMILY POST

Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage"

K. S. M.—The other day the child of a neighbor gave a birthday party. An invited child sent a present with her own visiting card. It has created discussion and we come to you to ask if this absurdity can be proper?

Answer—Many almost babies in the smart world have their own cards. Sometimes plain but often, in the case of girls, engraved and bordered in pink or light blue. Such cards are never necessary, but they are quite properly part of early social training.

M. K. D.—Is it old-fashioned to teach children to say "You are welcome" when thanked for doing something?

Answer—It is still in good taste to have good manners. For something as trifling as passing something at table, it is not necessary to reply to a casual thank you. But when thanked for going on an errand, or doing something of any importance, or showing unusual kindness, a child as well as a grown person should answer "You're welcome," "I was glad to do it" or "It was nothing"—respectfully.

C. T.—I am having a birthday party for my little daughter. Should the cake appear in the center of the table throughout the entire meal?

Answer—It depends upon whether you think the children would enjoy looking at it without wanting to eat it instead of whatever they are to have first. Usually it is brought in lighted, when it is time to cut and eat it.

T. S.—Please tell me if the cards with a verse, which can be purchased in the stores, are ever correct announcements for a new baby?

Answer—There is no rule about this. According to fashionable usage announcements are made only to family and intimate friends, by telephone and cable and telegram. But in many neighborhoods, acquaintances as well as friends are notified, usually by a little card (the baby's) tied to the visiting card of its mother, or the Mr. and Mrs. card of its parents. Since this is not a rule of convention, there is no reason why cards and verses, or whatever form of card with message one may choose, may not be sent instead.

Musicians Club Studies Early Rhythmic Forms

Mrs. Charles Borland was elected as delegate to the first district Texas Federation of Music Clubs which will meet in Bowie Nov. 18-19 in the business meeting of the Musicians club at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday morning. Mrs. W. E. Young was named alternate.

Early rhythmic forms of music were discussed charmingly by Mrs. J. H. Allison, chairman of the program at the meeting, and as an illustration of this music, Mrs. Wm. E. Young sang "The Lark," a Russian folk song by Glinka, with Mrs. F. R. Collard accompanying. Charles Mann, a recently acquired member of the club, gave a splendid interpretation of the song, transcribed by Balakairew for the piano.

D'Albert's "Allemande," given by Mrs. J. R. Gilbert, was received with enthusiasm and the closing number was an exquisite string ensemble, playing Gluck's "Gavotte." The personnel of the ensemble included Mesdames Howard Renfro, Edwin Bebb, J. E. Hall and Misses May Bartlett and Merrill Strong, violins; Mrs. Flora Greenwood, cello and Mrs. Tom Colman, piano.

Huge toads, six inches long and three inches wide, were discovered in South America by Dr. C. W. Parsons, of the University of Glasgow.

Reagan Executive Board Will Meet Friday

MOTHER—Watch this Girl . . . This is the Time You Should be on Your Guard

"My back bothers me," she quietly complains . . . "I guess I'll lie down." Have you ever felt this way yourself?

Despondent, Listless Girls

SHE LOOKS despondent, worn-out and depressed. Young girls budding into womanhood often get quiet and wistful. Lassitude overtakes them. They should be watched!

"I have a headache," they quietly complain. "My back bothers me. . . . I guess I'll lie down."

These are the symptoms, mother. And you should be on your guard.

During this "trying time" every young girl needs the helpful benefit of a strengthening medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Neglect now only invites suffering and unhappiness later on. Pain destroys beauty. Worry ruins the disposition.

That's why so many attractive young women become faded prematurely. The pretty girl of 18 becomes a languid lady at 25.

Suffering isn't natural. Remember that. It may be brave and heroic . . . but it's unnecessary.

When your daughter becomes tired and listless . . . won't you give her Vegetable Compound Tablets . . . just as other mothers do? For over fifty years this medicine has been considered a SAFE and ACCEPTED household remedy.

The very fact that it's been in use a long, long time, gives women extra confidence. They know it must be good . . . or so many women wouldn't take it.

And how true that is! For our records show that 98 out of every 100 women who write us actually report benefit from the strengthening treatment of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of either the tablets or the liquid. Don't postpone for another day the blessed relief this medicine brings.

F. D. TALKS TO REPUBLICANS

Unselfish Program Needed, Roosevelt Says

ple and should be "relegated to the role of critic."

"That is the sober conclusion of a cautious public man, not long ago president of the United States, Calvin Coolidge," said Roosevelt. "With every word of it, I heartily agree."

Turnning again to a discussion of the cooperation he said should exist between the White House and the congress, Mr. Roosevelt said "It is not an overstatement either of the fact or of the opinion of the American people to say that the present chief executive of our nation has shown a singular lack of ability to cooperate with the congress.

"The fact is that with the great majority of problems, mere partisanship should, in so far as possible, be kept in the background," Roosevelt continued.

"In meeting this great majority of problems, they can and should be treated primarily from that point of view of the national good rather than of party good.

"And let me add that in the case of most reconstruction legislation, there ought to be no great difference in the policy of the two great political parties."

Cites Record

The governor referred to his own work with the New York legislature and said measures had been enacted and relief work started during a space of six weeks "while it took congress six months to get the president to see that such measures were necessary in the nation as well."

"Up to the time I was inaugurated as governor, the record for vetoes belonged to former Gov. Grover Cleveland," he continued, "but in each of the last four years I have vetoed more legislative acts than Grover Cleveland did.

"That is not all. During those four years, not one single bill which received my disapproval has been passed by the legislature over my veto."

Governor Roosevelt added that none of his administration or judicial appointments had been rejected by the state senate.

"I honestly believe that even if the congress of the United States were to be Republican in one or both of its branches, I could get along with it better than the gentleman who is running for president on the Republican ticket," he said, adding:

"The great issue this year is national, comprehensive and humane. I have painted it with broad lines because it is the program of a great nation.

Invites Republicans

"That is why, from the beginning, insisting upon the principles of a new deal, I have invited to join our cause Republicans who believe that this country needs the tonic of a new alignment of party loyalties, a new and enightened support of our national faith.

"This country needs the tonic effect of such a reiteration of American principles. It calls to its service with particular emphasis the independent and courageous spirits who are willing to leave the household of a betrayed faith, who are asking for substance, not shadows, who are seeking for truth, not names for truth."

"There are indispensable principles without which the goverment cannot serve its purpose. These are the principles of fair and open dealing with the public, of using the great powers of the government to serve no mean party advantage, of keeping promises made to agriculture and labor, of friendly relations between the executive and the legislature, of economic peace with foreign nations, of protection for those who must entrust their savings to others, of social justice for all and relief for those who are in need."

Ford Workers at Dallas To Vote for Roosevelt

DALLAS, Nov. 3. (UP)—Approximately 95 per cent of employes of the Ford Motor company's local plant will vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the opinion of R. L. Davies, assistant manager of the Ford plant here.

Davies branded as "100 per cent hooey" reports company employes have been instructed to vote for Herbert Hoover.

"All employes of this plant who are not satisfied with the way things have been during the last four years can vote for Roosevelt without jeopardizing their jobs," the Dallas official declared.

Playful Lion Bites Swimmer in Movie Fight

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 3. (AP)—As the "lion man" in a moving picture, Clarence "Buser" Crabbe, noted swimmer, mixed it with a lion in a rough and tumble bout today and got sent to a hospital.

The lion bit him on the leg, inflicting severe but not serious lacerations. The bout was at Paramount studio, which two days ago signed Crabbe to act with Francis Dee in "The King of the Jungle."

Belief that the lion was not angry but induced by exhuberance to "play" too roughly was expressed at the studio.

Thomas Asks Protest Vote

of relief and then wails that it will ruin the country.

"It is an ironic commentary on Mr. Hoover's present hopelessness that he assumes that this emergency relief must last indefinitely, that it cannot be merely for a year or so while his beloved capitalist system is recovering. It is an even more ironic circumstance that he, who so blithely helped us finance an unholy and unnecessary war against Germany in which we who were not at the front were made relatively prosperous while we poured more than 30 billions into the bottomless pit of destruction, cannot understand the financing of a necessary and holy war against poverty into which we will pour billions not only to feed men and women and children, but to add to social wealth by good housing in place of slums, and by the roads, tunnels, bridges and other public works we should build.

Plenty at Hand

"But that we cannot finance our emergency program we deny. We have at hand all we need. A country with thousands of idle factories and other thousands of untenanted farms needs no great amount of new investment capital. It needs purchasing power which will automatically call forth working capital.

"Our main dependence would be bonds underwritten:

"1. By returns from remunerative works.

"2. Income and inheritance taxes.

"These taxation methods, I am increasingly convinced, must include a capital levy if for no other reason than to lighten a load of government debts, farm debts, etc., which make it as impossible for America to gain true prosperity as for a diver to come up for aid with a millstone round his neck.

"Especially now do I plead with the workers. Yours has been the sorrow, the pain and the loss throughout unnumbered years of exploitation. Yours may be the freedom and material abundance of tomorrow's cooperative commonwealth. Not without struggle can you win such glorious victory. The ballot is one means of struggle. In the shop or the breadline you may feel yourself a slave.

"Upon Nov. 8, alone with the voting machine, you are free. Your hopes, not your fears. You owe no man the obligation to vote for less. Let no mess of pottage make you sell your birthright.

"No soldier can vote for a general in the enemy's camp! For plenty and peace, for freedom and fellowship, vote Socialist, think Socialist, organize as Socialists!"

Texas Regional C-C's Request Relief Loans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Representatives of regional chambers of commerce in Texas yesterday presented a request to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for more than a million dollars to be used for relief in Texas outside of cities with organized charities.

The delegation was composed of Ray Leeman, representing the South Texas chamber; Hubert Harrison, the East Texas chamber; and D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas chamber. They presented statistics showing the need for money to be distributed in 175 counties of Texas. Lee man expressed confidence that the loan would be approved.

Industrialist Speaks For Demo Ticket

F. Wagner for re-election. Both are Democrats.

"Let that definite statement," he continued, "end any speculation as to where I stand."

"It is no time for threats," he said a few moments later, "but the president of the United States and his supporters have not hesitated to predict what would happen to securities and business if he were not elected.

"Markets as well as mobs respond to human emotions; markets as well as mobs can be inflamed to their own destruction; threats can destroy business just as they can make barricades.

"Let no one be afraid—let no one be coerced directly by threats or indirectly by advice. We have not reached the place in this great democracy where there is room for either. He who uses them will reap what he sows.

"I am not afraid of mobs if Mr. Hoover is elected, and I am not afraid of markets and business if Mr. Roosevelt is elected.

"So let us be done with fear. Let us rest assured that voting as we feel will bring a result which we can look forward to with confidence and optimism the morning following the election.

"Mobs and markets both will then know that there has been a free expression by the voters of America, and I know of no more steadying influence for both."

"I am happy to say that Governor Roosevelt and the Democratic party have not held up the specter of what might happen by way of social disturbance if he, as the representative of the liberal party, were not elected," Young also said.

"Warnings have been given us," he said as he neared the end of his address, "against substituting raw recruits for seasoned veterans.

"When managers of any concern believe the concern will fail unless they be continued, it is time to take a look.

"I resent at any time or at any place the attitude that the safety of this country depends on any man holding his job.

"No man has achieved that strength and this country has not deteriorated to that weakness."

Where Does She Get Her "Pep?"

SHE doesn't look 'seventy. Nor feel that old. The woman who stimulates her organs can have energy that women half her age will envy!

At middle-age your vital organs begin to slow down. You may not be sick, simply sluggish. But why endure a condition of half-health when there's a stimulant that will stir a stagnant system to new life and energy in a week's time?

This remarkable stimulant is perfectly harmless. It is, in fact, a family doctor's prescription. So, if you're tired of trying every patent medicine that comes along, tell the druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a bit of this delicious syrup every day or so, until you know by the way you feel that your lazy liver is again active, and your bowels are poison-free.

Men, women, and children who are run-down, who tire easily, get bilious spells or have frequent headaches, are soon straightened out when they get this prescriptional preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh laxative herbs. (Syrup pepsin is all the help the bowels need, and you do not form the very bad habit of always taking cathartics.)

Keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin in the house, and take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. It is all that a great many people ever take to keep strong and vigorous, and absolutely free from constipation.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—In the uproar of conflicting predictions from campaign leaders as to the presidential outcome, one is likely to lose sight of the reiterated claims of Democratic house warriors, like John Garner and Joe Byrnes of Tennessee, that the party would widen its present slim control of that body to a majority of 50 or more in the next congress.

KIRKE SIMPSON

It is hardly to be doubted that Garner's decision to accept a vice presidential nomination, in addition to his all but traditional renomination to the house from his Texas district, was made all the harder by his belief that such a result was coming in November, so far as the house was concerned.

Backed by a 50-vote party margin, any speaker could expect a relatively easy life. His prestige and importance would be as great, but his problems of leadership, of getting bills through, would be much simpler.

Why So Optimistic?

Now the question arises, however, as to what it is that makes these two house veterans put out such claims. There have been no straw ballots taken in the congressional districts on a scale to give them ground for such optimism.

Granted they have spoken their minds frankly, what are they counting on?

Probably they were considering such things as these: Three members of the next house already have been elected. They are from Maine, two Democrats and one Republican. That leaves 432 seats to be filled in November.

But in the pending congressional election for those 432 seats, 40 men are running unopposed. Four are Republicans, all from California, and 36 Democrats. So, except for the formalities of election in those cases, five Republicans and 39 Democrats are already "in" for the house of the 73rd congress.

Oddly enough, one of the unopposed Democrats also is from California, the other 35 all being from southern states. Speaker Garner himself, however, has opposition.

Reapportionment

That represents, clearly, quite a Democratic headstart. It leaves only 392 house seats to be contested in November. And in that contest another factor shows up, the aftermath of the congressional reapportionment and the failure of 18 of the 48 states to complete redistricting legislation in accordance with that belated reapportionment.

A total of 60 house seats from those 18 states are being contested for "at large," which means they will be filled by state-wide instead of district votes.

The political history of most of those states, as it happens, is emphatically Democratic. The majority of their present house delegations is Democratic.

Girls Accuse Officer Of Attempted Attack

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (INS)—Charges of a 14 and a 16-year-old girl that the officers placed them in a jail cell when they complained of being attacked by three men today resulted in the issuance of warrants against three policemen in the suburb of Stickney.

Chief of Police Charles Novotny and Lieut. Alfred Young were named on malfeasance counts, and Patrolman August J. Wernick was charged with attempted criminal assault.

The girls, Lena Darty, 14 and her sister, Juanita, 16, told state's attorney's aids they had been seized by three men and carried into the forest preserve near Stickney and attacked.

They said the policemen chanced past and instead of apprehending the men, arrested the girl. While in jail, the girls said, Werenick tried to attack them.

Russia Shows Us the Right Way

THE best-nourished children in all of Europe, according to a survey made by a group of physicians, are those found in Soviet Russia.

Dr. John Sundwall of the University of Michigan, summarizing the physicians' findings before a recent meeting of the American Public Health association, declares that this is due to the health-promoting activities undertaken by the Soviet government.

A lot of news stories have come out of Russia in the past decade. Some of them have been startling, some of them have been of a type to make gods and men weep; but none of them, surely, has been quite as significant as this one about the children.

Nor has any of them had a more direct appeal to this country than that one. For we pride ourselves on being a great humanitarian nation. From the winning of our independence onward, we have always kept in mind the kind of world that we would be handing on to our children. The highest dreams of our nation have always centered about that fervent hope that they would have things just a little bit better than we had them.

But while we have had this hope, we have been careless about the details. We have let our children go into factories and slave themselves into ill health. We have let them subsist pitifully on starvation rations in mining towns; we have huddled them into dreadful city tenements, where the rules of sanitation and privacy are completely ignored; we have let them bear the brunt of industrial disputes.

If there is one thing the mass of people in America are thoroughly agreed upon, it is that Communism has no place in our land. But that is no reason why we cannot borrow an idea from a Communistic government, if it happens to be a good one; and this notion of Russia's—that it is the duty of the state to provide every child with a decent chance at health—is about as good an idea as any government could get.

Is not that an idea which a great capitalist nation can adopt? If it isn't, capitalism has some explaining to do.

Immunity By Tradition

CREDITED in Tuesday's news dispatches with another successful bank robbery and escape in eastern Oklahoma, Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd advanced another step towards making a fixed tradition not only of his crimes, but of his elusion of officers.

With each such successful addition to his reputed list of hold-up jobs, the task of effecting his capture becomes more difficult. The position of officers seeking his apprehension after each appearance of the notorious bandit is comparable to that of a baseball team taking the field against an habitual winner. When a team already established as a winner takes the field, both the opposition and the onlooking crowd know, beneath their local sentiments, that the traditional winner has the game half-won before the first ball is pitched.

The youthful Oklahoma outlaw already has obtained something of a similar advantage, and it becomes stronger with each new enactment of crime. Even though victims and officers err in attributing a given bank robbery to Floyd, his immunity to capture is nevertheless enhanced because his reputation as a will-o'-the-wisp has been increased. Oklahoma's history includes narration of numerous careers quite as colorful and more extended than that already compounded by Floyd. Eventually, such outlaws were brought to justice. Eventually also, "Pretty Boy's" star will fall. In the meantime, the psychology of success augments his cunning and actually dulls the search constantly being made for him.

Ultimately, Floyd's capture or death will result largely from his own excessive recklessness, nurtured by years of apparent immunity to apprehension.

A Healthy Sign

SOMETHING of the oldtime zip and zest seems to have come back to our presidential campaign this year. The old-fashioned torches and red fire have been dragged out of retirement once more; brass bands blare in downtown streets, the ranks of the faithful move along in parade after parade, and the air tingles with the excitement of a good, oldtime political conflict.

And this, it seems to us, is altogether a good thing. We have taken most of our recent elections with a great deal of calm, in some cases with something very like actual indifference; and, in a democracy, that is not a healthy sign.

When people feel deeply enough about a political campaign to get all excited, and hold parades, and set the flaring torches moving and the bands playing, they are participating enthusiastically in their government. They may make mistakes in judgment, but they will not make the greatest of all mistakes—that of letting the election go by default.

Honoring the Living

THERE was something quaintly touching about that recent news story concerning the aged Illinois lady, who, knowing that she was fast approaching the end of her life, insisted that her funeral services be held at her bedside before she died. Her family consented, and her pastor preached the usual obituary eulogy in her hearing, and after he had finished, and the last hymn had been sung, the old lady said that she felt greatly comforted.

One is inclined to wonder, just a little, why such a thing isn't done oftener. It is a common joke that we usually save the flowers and the heartfelt tributes meant for our friends until they are dead; but why should we? Those last words of love and admiration could help wonderfully to brighten the hours when the shadows are drawing down. Why should we always wait until the person for whom they are meant can no longer hear them?

SO THEY SAY!

Women are having the best time ever, now, but you men still have the ascendency. When I was a girl I would ask my mother if my brother, despite the fact that he couldn't add and I could, was still smarter than I. My mother would say, "Yes, he is a man." That's over now, but the men don't have such a bad time.—Clemence Dane, British playwright and novelist.

I do not believe that prohibition primarily is responsible for the reign of lawlessness, and I do not think there is any ideal method by which the liquor problem may be solved.—Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas.

Things I Never Knew Till Now
(And promptly will forget.)

That Kaiser Frederick, of Germany, went out nights with a whip to thrash every woman he found on the streets.

That Lake Morat in Switzerland turns a deep red three times every 10 years. (Oh, somebody told me!)

That certain Italian people will not permit wedding gifts that are sharp or pointed. (Intelligence, plus.)

That Jack Burnett escaped from a prison at Modesto, Calif., with a key made from a pocket comb.

That since 1929 it has been legal to bathe in lakes on private property in New Jersey, if you don't touch bottom, that is. Otherwise you violate the law of trespassing. (Such a law!)

That Samuel Masin, a Richmond Hill pharmacist, has a maltese cat that barks like a dog. (Newsreel editors, thank me.)

That an Akron, Ohio, gal was divorced at the age of 13 by her groom, who charged her with extreme cruelty!

That years ago, farmers in Finland paid high prices for lunatics and used them as horses! (Say, there's an idea!)

That Mozart wrote his first hymn when he was 10 years old.

That in Japan, an unruly child is punished by having holes burned in its skin with an instrument known as a "moxa."

That the chiton, a molusk, has 11,000 eyes.

That Peter Machovitz, who has only one arm and one leg, is the champion roller-skater of Idlewood, Pa.

That the Tower of Pisa has been in the limelight too long. The Tow of Geriscenda in Bologna, is 10 feet out of focus.

That J. S. Vande, a barber of Columbus, Ohio, forbids women to enter his shop. (Viva la Vande!)

That a lad tagged Williams of Booneville, Mo., stamped his name on a silver dollar. Seventeen years later, his brother found it in his cash register at Paducah, Ky., and returned it to him.

That at one time, students at Cambridge (not Ruth) had to study Greek whether they liked it or not.

That Caracas, Venezuela, (pop. 100,000) has as many streets as the average American city, but not one of them has a name.

That it is estimated that four billion matches are used every day in the United States. (Say, every item can't be hot!)

That William Radcliffe of Washington has a vase made from all his boyhood treasures, such as fish hooks, nails, marbles, etc.

That too many people would rather be wrong that reticent.

That the crescent is barred as a trademark in Turkey. American importers take note: No goods bearing the crescent as a trademark is permitted in that country. (What would you do without me?)

That in London they give but one performance in the cafes on Monday night—because it's the worst night of the week.

That the only thing on time in Spain is the bull fight. In Madrid they start at 4 sharp. In Valencia at 4:30—on the dot!

That a girl last-named Carter, of Moorehead, Miss., was born without a palate. Memphis surgeons arranged one and she lives!

That in most towns department store dicks must wait until shoplifters get to the street before a pinch can be made.

That there is a woman doing life in a Wisconsin jail because she is a second-offender for violating the Volstad act. In Wisconsin a second offense makes you an "habitual criminal!"

That contrary to the opinion of militarists, Germany wasn't the first nation to use gas in war. China did for centuries.

That Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, who is supposed to know the needs of farmers, milked a cow for the first time in 20 years the other day. (Election time being so near, you know.)

That Bedloes Island, where Miss Liberty turns her back on our country, once was known as Love Island.

That Paris, where they still have guillotine parties, just formed a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Lobsters!

That 55 miles of streets in London are still gas-lighted.

That tree trunks are larger at night and that wasps only live in the summer time. (Hmmm, two in one sentence, fancy that!)

That the fine for being drunk in Zanesville, Ohio, was reduced from $10 to $1 because the hoosegow got too crowded.

That Emil Ludwig was born Emanuel Cohn, his old man changing the family monicker for safety sake.

That Faucett, Mo., is a block wide and a mile long.

That there's a barber shop under the N. Y. stock exchange—so that you may be clipped above or below—ouch!

That Chile (pronounced "chilly," you dumpkopf!) is Spanish for all things—"Land of Snow!"

And that there is a beggar working 23rd street, who insists on handing you an I. O. U. for every coin you hand him.

Officers Fail in Search For Negro Attackers

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—Search for two negroes who tried to attack a Fort Worth woman in the home of her son near Midlothian had been almost given up today. County officers, assisted by a large number of private citizens, searched the farm country near Midlothian yesterday, soon after the woman reported the occurrence but found no trace of the negroes.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

CHAINED KNOWLEDGE—The Chained Library of Grantham, which is situated in a room over the south porch of the Grantham Paris church, was founded by the Rev. Francis Trigge in 1598. Owing to the scarcity of books, a printed volume in those days frequently exceeded the value of a farm. Books being easily movable, had to be chained to their shelves to guard them against theft. England and Holland still preserve a number of ancient chained libraries.

LADY ASTOR IN U. S. FOR VISIT

Charming British Peeress Goes to Virginia

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (INS)—As radiant as a school girl and full of her famous sparkling witticisms, Lady Astor arrived aboard the Leviathan from England today for a visit of several weeks in the United States.

Charmingly answering all questions put to her by reporters and vouchsafing a few opinions of her own regarding world problems, Lady Astor touched on unemployment, the dole, prohibition, the tariff and permanent industrial insurance. She planned to leave this afternoon for her home in Virginia.

"It is my first visit to America in four years," she said, "and I seem to have developed a habit of making the trip during presidential election years. You might call that suspicious, mightn't you?

"Yes, I believe world unemployment eventually can be wiped out and will be done by the lowering of the tariff walls. As long as we have exhorbitant tariffs, working conditions cannot improve greatly."

Lady Astor warmly defended the dole and predicted that it would come inevitably to America. She also had high praise for permanent industrial insurance.

Eldorado Schools To Open Monday

Special to The Record News.

ELDORADO, Okla., Nov. 3.—Eldorado schools will re-open Monday after a recess of five weeks, during which the schools were closed to permit pupils to assist in cotton picking.

Most of the cotton farmers in this section have managed to harvest most of their cotton without hiring pickers as a result of the assistance of their children, which aid was made available by the recess of school. It is estimated that half the cotton picked in the area to date was by the school children, and figuring picking at $7.50 a bale, has meant a saving to the local community of from $25,000 to $30,000, which otherwise would have been paid to pickers brought in from other points.

Beginning next week school will open Saturday in addition to the regular school days in order to gain an additional month of school work needed to make an eight-month school. The teachers have very generously volunteered to give the extra day of teaching each week without charge.

Deserted Car Believed Used by Bank Robbers

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 3. (AP)—An abandoned roadster with a yellow stripe, believed to have been used by the two unmasked men who robbed the Bank of Benton of approximately $2,500 in cash and $250 in liberty bonds Thursday at noon, was found at Cottage Grove, Bossier parish, just across the Red river from Belcher, Caddo parish, Thursday afternoon. A call was immediately put in from Benton to Sheriff T. R. Hughes at Shreveport requesting that he ask for bloodhounds from the Angola penal farm to take up the trail of the men.

A telephone call was received at Benton from Plain Dealing before the abandoned car was found, that two men had been arrested as suspects at Missionary ferry, on Red river in north Bossier.

Student Regains Sight After Fourteen Years

SEATTLE, Nov. 3. (UP)—A new world that awed him by its ever-changing colors was open today to Don Donaldson, 21-year-old university of Washington student following a sixth operation that restored his sight after 14 years of blindness.

The overjoyed youth received his greatest thrill from watching his first football game.

"I got so excited at its color and the great spectacle of it all, especially the student rooting section, that I guess people around me must have thought I was crazy," he said.

Young Donaldson was blinded when 7 years of age by an explosion of dynamite caps.

HE WAS, ALL RIGHT

"Why have you broken off your engagement?"

"He told me he was connected with the movies, and the next day I saw him driving a furniture van."—Tit-Bits.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answers appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and would not accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are ones that may interest many readers, rather than the one who asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied by the writer's name and address and three cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send your question to the Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Why do radio announcers no longer say "By special permission of the copyright owners"?—O.W.O.

A.—This announcement was a condition imposed by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers upon broadcasting stations whenever they performed certain numbers which the song writers had restricted over the air. It serves no useful purpose and was objectionable to the public and broadcasting stations alike. Last month the American society lifted this condition. It will not be heard by listeners unless the American society decides again to impose this restriction.

Q.—How many lawyers were there in the United States at the time of the last census?—H. O. N.

A.—In 1930 there was 160,605 lawyers, judges and justices in the United States.

Q.—When a boxer wins a match on points, how are the points computed?—B. B.

A.—There are several systems for computing points in a boxing match, and the judging of these points is almost entirely a matter of judgment. Probably one of the most used systems is as follows: 3 points for aggressiveness; 2 points for clean punching; 1 point for defensive ability.

Q.—How is the duty on imported Oriental rugs determined?—M. B. K.

A.—The tariff on rugs of Oriental weave is 60 per cent ad valorem. In other words the tariff is based on the cost of the rug.

Q.—In how many states can women serve as jurors?—A. McC.

A.—In 23 states and the District of Columbia, women are eligible for jury duty.

Q.—Was John P. Mitchell a Republican mayor of New York City?—F. Q.

A.—Personally he was an independent Democrat. He was elected mayor by a fusion of parties against the Tammany candidate.

Q.—When did Lenin die?—M. W.

A.—He died at Gorky near Moscow, Jan. 21, 1924.

Q.—When money is found in letters sent to the dead letter office, is it often possible to send it to the proper person?—D. C.

A.—About 55 per cent of the money found in letters was restored to the rightful owners, and nearly 99 per cent of the letters containing checks, drafts and money orders were either returned to the senders or delivered to the addressees.

Q.—What is the greatest height to which man has ascended?—N. M. B.

A.—Professor Auguste Piccard has attained an altitude of 54,120 feet, or more than 10 1-3 miles, which is the human altitude record. He attained this record in August of 1932 when he successfully completed his second rise into the stratosphere.

Q.—What kind of a surface has the Indianapolis speedway?—W. F. B.

A.—The surface of the Indianapolis race track is brick.

Q.—What is the skin disease characterized by disappearance of the pigment in splotches, thus leaving white areas?—A. C. A.

A.—It is called vitiligo, which means piebald skin.

Q.—What was the atmospheric railway?—N. A. L.

A.—A type of railway used experimentally in the last century. About 1840 Samuda and Clegg built a two-mile line from Kingstown to Dalkey in Ireland. The railway was equipped with a pipe between the rails. On one side of a sort of piston which traveled along the pipe was a vacuum and on the other side compressed air pressure. Set in operation, this moved railway carriages. The system also was introduced between London and Croydon and for short distances on the Southr Devon lines. This history of operation extended over about five years but then the scheme was abandoned. However, the general idea is used in miniature in the compressed air or pneumatic tubes used in department stores for change carriers.

Q.—What proportion of foreign born persons rise to distinction in the United States?—M. T.

A.—Of the 30,545 persons regarded as sufficiently distinguished to be listed in Who's Who in America, 2,748 are of foreign birth. Nine were born at sea.

The Record News Offers Booklet, Housecleaning Made Easier

How to make housecleaning simpler and easier and at the same time get full service from the materials used in the furnishing and care of the house, are discussed in this bulletin. The scarcity of labor and the high cost of materials have made these questions increasingly important to the housekeeper.

The methods suggested by the government experts are based on the well-tested experience of practical housekeepers and on the result of scientific studies in saving labor in the household. Attempt has been made to explain the reason behind the methods described, and to give definite, concise directions that any one can follow.

Readers' Opinion

IN MEMORY OF MRS. SAMUELS
By OLIVIA GARCIA

She was a brilliant teacher
That we all loved and knew,
She loved all little children
And spoke with kindness true.

And now she's left us forever
But sweet memory of what she said,
Will live to the day of eternity
In the heart of Benito Juarez.

What a dear, dear teacher was she
Who worked herself to teach us,
The road of light and happiness
And yet she had to leave us.

On Friday she was feeling badly
And still she thought of us,
But on Sunday she passed so quietly
Sweet memories she left for us.

But now what shall we do?
We've lost her for a while,
We'll pray to God in Heaven
That again we'll see her smile.

She taught us at Benito Juarez
For eleven long, long years,
I can't say more just now
For my eyes are filled with tears

Frederick C-C Gives Barbecue For Guests

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 3.—Six beeves, 20 bushels of sweet potatoes, 200 loaves of bread and a large quantity of coffee, pickles and onions were required Tuesday night to supply the crowd of men and boys who assembled at fair ground park to attend the barbecue tendered by the Frederick Chamber of Commerce. Residents were here from all of Tillman county.

A number of boys' races were first held. After the barbecue Walter Titsworth and Ned Manning gave a novelty number. A negro entertained with rapid calculations, multiplying numbers orally as rapidly as most people can read. He also sang and recited. Ralph Spangler rendered a humorous song, accompanied by Ned Manning.

Wheelbarrow polo races were engaged in by both rural and urban residents.

Members of the chamber of commerce prepared the barbecue and did the serving.

FARLEY CALLS NATION'S VOTE

Demo Chairman Predicts Clean Sweep

in our favor in the rest of the country was even better than in Maine.

"My guess is that we're going to come closer to an 11,000,000 majority than 10,000,000. That's the way we interpret the figures, and it's a pretty clear answer to what the people are thinking about.

"From our figures, I believe there will be a bigger vote polled than in 1928, so great is the eagerness of the people to vote for a change.

Tide Sweeps In

"I am in constant touch with the state chairmen, and ffom every section comes the word that the tide for Roosevelt is sweeping in, strong and forceful. The voice of the people will be heard on Tuesday.

"The Pacific coast is ours, beyond the slightest possibility of a doubt. We'll pile up a million majority in the states of California, Oregon and Washington; Oregon and Washington will each go well over 100,000; California will make up the balance needed for the million majority.

"In the mountain states, we've had assurances that the whole eight states are ours—Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Nevada.

Farmers Are Decided

"The farmers, stockmen and the miners of these states are going to register an overwhelming Roosevelt sentiment at the polls.

"Our majority in the eight states will be over 300,000; our calculations indicate that Governor Roosevelt will get nearly seven votes out of every 10 cast.

"The farm belt shows conclusively by the Literary Digest poll that it is the seat of the great unrest. With wheat, corn and other agricultural prices plumbing new low depths every day, is it small wonder that the farmers are for Governor Roosevelt, with his sane and sympathetic outlook for agriculture?"

Claims Kansas

"We're going to carry Kansas by a majority of over 50,000; Wisconsin should show us between 400,000 and 500,000 majority; Minnesota and Iowa will register a majority in excess of 25,000; North and South Dakota, with a smaller voting population, will give us from 75,000 to 110,000 each; Nebraska should show a majority for Governor Roosevelt easily in excess of 100,000.

"The border states of Missouri, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Maryland, Kentucky and West Virginia will give the Democratic candidates a majority of a million votes combined; we should get a 2,000,000 majority in the solid South.

"In the lake belt of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, we should pile up a heavy vote. Illinois looks good for between 850,000 and 1,000,000 majority. Michigan should favor Roosevelt by 150,000 or more; Ohio by over 250,000 and it can quite readily run over 450,000. Indiana is safe with a minimum of 150,000.

"The eastern seaboard states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware is a battleground, with the enemy in full retreat.

New York by Million

"A majority in New York state of 1,000,000 votes appears not unreasonable, for we're going to get a tremendous vote in the city and an upstate majority of 230,000 is perfectly logical to expect.

"Pennsylvania's people have registered their sentiment for Governor Roosevelt. I don't believe that all the political machines in the world can keep that opinion from being expressed.

"We have carried in preliminary polls 16 of the 18 largest cities in this state, and the Democratic candidates have a substantial lead in the two most populous cities—Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

"Economic pressure from rich and powerful manufacturing interests may be exerted, but it is futile. The people will not be throttled; their voice will be heard Tuesday—and Pennsylvania will be Democratic in a national election for the first time since James Buchanan, a native Pennsylvanian, was president, back in 1856.

New Jersey Safe

"New Jersey should give the entire Democratic ticket 150,000 majority. Delaware shows a healthy trend; its three (electoral) votes I consider absolutely safe.

"Maine will repeat its Democratic triumph of last September. We will carry Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, and I firmly believe that we can squeeze through with even Vermont in the Democratic column. And that's about all.

"Next Tuesday will see a revolution in this country—a revolution at the ballot box."

Certain Relief for Athlete's Foot

This formula for skin diseases is astounding the most skeptical in the marvelous way it heals severe cases of Athlete's Foot, Ringworm, Eczema, Tetter, Itch and other parasitic skin troubles. The minute it touches the sore spot, you feel a cooling, soothing sensation; in a few days you marvel at how your skin has healed. If you suffer with skin diseases of any kind, especially Athlete's Foot, get from any drug store a 60c box of Tetterine, and get relief or get your money back. Shuptrine Co., Dept. The Forgotten Man

By EDWIN MARKHAM

Dedicated to Franklin D. Roosevelt, after hearing his lofty and noble appeal for the Forgotten Man.

—Edwin Markham

NOT on our golden fortunes builded high—
Not on our boasts that soar into the sky—
Not upon these is resting in this hour
The fate of the future; but upon the power
Of him who is forgotten—yes, on him
Rest all our hopes reaching from rim to rim.
In him we see all of earth's toiling bands,
With crooked backs, scarred faces, shattered hands.

HE seeks no office and he asks no praise
For all the patient labor of his days.
He is the one supporting the huge weight:
He is the one guarding the country's gate.
He bears the burdens on these earthly ways:
We pile the debts, he is the one who pays.
He is the one who holds the solid power
To steady nations in their trembling hour.
Behold him as he silently goes by,
For it is at his word that nations die.

SHATTERED with loss and lack,
He is the man who holds upon his back
The continent and all its mighty loads—
This toiler who makes possible the roads
On which the gilded thousands travel free—
Makes possible our feasts, our roaring boards,
Our pomps, our easy days, our golden hoards.
He gives stability to nations: he Makes possible our nation, sea to sea.
His strength makes possible our college walls—
Makes possible our legislative halls—
Makes possible our churches soaring high
With spires, the fingers pointing to the sky.

SHALL then this man go hungry, here in lands
Blest by his honor, builded by his hands?
Do something for him: let him never be Forgotten: let him have his daily bread:
He who has fed us, let him now be fed.
Let us remember all his tragic lot—,
Remember, or else be ourselves forgot!

ALL honor to the one that in this hour
Cries to the world as from a lighted tower—
Cries for the Man Forgotten. Honor the one
Who asks for him a glad place in the sun.
He is a voice for the voiceless. Now, indeed,
We have a tongue that cries the mortal need.

Beware the Cough or Cold that Hangs On

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

GEN. GLASSFORD DEFENDS VETS

Former Washington Police Chief Speaks

take care of them until they could be returned to their home states.

"It was not my problem to solve the economic situation which brought those veterans to Washington; I was astonished that the administration which has the problem of solving a serious nationwide economic problem applicable to 120 million people, should acknowledge its inability to solve this relatively insignificant one of less than 8,000 destitute veterans by running them out of the District of Columbia at the point of the bayonet.

"Nothing leads more directly to disorder and disturbance than hunger. Consequently tolerance and sympathy were necessary. It was whether feed them or fight them.

"I have been criticised in administrative circles for too much leniency, too much hospitality, too much kindness towards these men, but in this policy I had taken a leaf from the book of Mr. Herbert Hoover the humanitarian relief work he accomplished in Belgium and Russia. The outstanding difference in this case is that the relief was not for foreigners, but for American citizens who had served their country in the greatest war in history, many of them decorated for valor.

"One of the most remarkable things to me was the resourcefulness of these men attributable no doubt to the discipline and training that they had had in the service. The veterans were so well organized that it required only a staff of five police officers to assist me.

"As for Communists it is true that a few Communist leaders came from New York and established an elaborate office with the avowed purpose of taking control of the situation.

"As for the accusations regarding criminals—crime in Washington was far below normal during the period of the bonus occupation.

"Suffice it to say that under the policies pursued by the Washington police there were no disturbances or serious difficulties for a period of nearly two months. Not until the satellites of an intolerant and shortsighted administration saw fit to repudiate everything that had been done and to take matters in their own hands."

Girl Dies Despite Wild Auto Dash

BRYAN, Texas, Nov. 3. (AP)—Two fire chiefs sped across country roads at a speed of more than a mile a minute today to bring relief to a child ill with pneumonia but their efforts were in vain.

Katherine Royall, 6 years old, had been ill at her home here for some time. She had been kept alive only by the use of oxygen.

This morning it was discovered that the supply was running low and Fire Chief C. E. Griesser, informed the child could not live long without oxygen, sent an emergency call to Houston.

Chief J. A. Metcalf of West University park, Houston, obtained two tanks of oxygen and started north to meet Griesser. He had to go only to Huntley, 35 miles away. Griesser turned about and made the run of 131 miles to Bryan in an hour and 40 minutes.

Katherine was still alive when he arrived but died several hours later.

Two Men Held Here For Michigan Police

Two men wanted in Flint, Mich., by police were arrested by Detective F. M. Dowdy and Motorcycle Officer John Wildmon Thursday afternoon, Police Chief Dick Morris said. The officers are holding an automobile registered in Michigan in connection with the case. Both prisoners waived extradition, Mr. Morris said.

The arrests Thursday brought the total of out-of-county cases handled by Wichita Falls police this week to five. One man has been returned to El Paso, another to Seminole, Texas, and a negro was sent to Henrietta Thursday, all on felony charges.

Calotabs are sold in 10c and 35c packages at drug stores.—Adv.

BERT ROSS ON STAND IN TRIAL

Defendant in Vernon Murder Case Testifies

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 3.—Taking the witness stand in his own defense, Bert Ross this afternoon told a 46th district court jury here that he shot Grady Hopkins as the 23-year-old former army corporal stood in the yard of the home of Ross' father-in-law, R. E. Shults. Ross said he had repeatedly warned Hopkins to stay away from his wife, and told the jury that Hopkins had threatened his life three times after such warnings.

He also told the jury that he had been threatened with death by his father-in-law, following estrangement from his wife, which took place shortly before the shooting. Hopkins visited the Ross home frequently when the defendant was away, the jury was told.

The state rested this afternoon after offering five witnesses, three of them eye-witnesses, who testified that Ross was shot down as he stood with upraised hands in the yard of the Shults home. According to the testimony of 13-year-old Olivine Shults, Ross emerged from a nearby corn patch and approached the group in the Shults yard which included the young girl, Mrs. Shults and Hopkins, and commanded them to raise their hands. He then fired on Hopkins with a shotgun, the girl said. This testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Shults and by Emmett Smith, neighbor who witnessed the shooting from his own yard.

Eleven other defense witnesses in addition to Ross took the stand during the afternoon, and Jesse Owens, defense counsel, indicated he would not rest his case before Friday noon. The witnesses told of seeing Hopkins enter the Ross residence when Ross was not at home, and testified as to the reputation and character of the defendant.

In questioning the veniremen this morning, the defense indicated it might ask a suspended sentence. The jury selected included J. F. Lewis, farmer; D. D. Darwin, automobile mechanic; J. M. Collins, farmer; Arnie W. Lowe, farmer; E. C. Lebus, automobile salesman; Frank Sylvester, farmer; Dan Sumner, land owner; F. M. Doss, carpenter; D. E. McClanahan, merchant; Roy C. Hoffman, farmer; V. N. Priest, contractor; and Sid Crim, land owner.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

CHILLICOTHE AND CROWELL READY TO SCRAP IT OUT TODAY

The RAMBLER'S CORNER

By FRED THOMPSON

Chillicohte 6, Crowell 0.

That happens to be the Rambler's diagnosis of the Chillicothe-Crowell situation today.

The fact that Chillicothe fans agree with such a prediction is no great reason for wonder. But apparently they agree with much gusto. There is a great rumble in the distance and when the thunderstorm arrives we find a resounding epistle from Harry Norwood, our Chillicothe operative, which we cannot choose but inflict on our readers, as follows, viz, and to-wit:

"Dear Rambler:

"So the all-mighty scribe from Crowell believes the Wildcats can put over a fast one on the Eagles. Well, that is news. Not that they do not have a good team and all that, but this is not the year for Crowell to bellow over a positive championship team. It just isn't found in those parts.

"Now I will prove my point by saying that the honorable scribe would have the Record News Rambler readers believe the Wildcats were a one-man machine. That is, all are in the game fighting as one. But yet, in referring to the defeat handed them by the Olney team they state that things would have been different IF their star captain had been in the game.

"Doesn't this sound that the Crowell Wildcats had their team built around the stellar Todd? Well, it does happen to be the case if Crowell lays the blame of her defeat by Olney because of Todd's absence from the lineup. And now as for the Eagles, I would bet a "bar-chip" that you can take Rat Ramsey out of the game, and place either S. B. Wiginton, R. Hutchers, "Dusty" Cook, or any other of the Eagles squad in the quarterback position, and the Eagles will clip off one of the best games played this season. No, that scribe from Crowell just has his wires crossed, in believing the Eagles are a one-man team.

"Of course Ramsey was the main toter of the pigskin against the Cubs, but this does not signify that he did not have confidence in his fellow players to give them a chance to show their ability in toting the ball. He wished this action on his own person due to the fact that mighty Graves was putting into the game what he figured a moral clash against the Eagle quarterback. Wouldn't you take the same position as Ramsey, if such had been the case? In any form, the Chillicothe lad showed his ability to take four grinding quarters on his shoulders and live through it all.

"As for Crowell being superior over the Burkburnett Bulldogs. They will never see the day when they can beat the Bulldogs in any football game, if the Burkburnett lads put up such a resistance as they did with Olney. Those boys were just beaten down to a frazzle over their defeat, and many of their mainstays were on the sick list when Crowell penetrated their territory. It was not due to the fact that Crowell had the best team. If Burk had been the same team as with Olney, I would dare say the score would have been 20 to 0 in favor of the Bulldogs.

"However time will tell, and Friday will see one of the best, and hardest games to be fought in this district class B conference, regardless of opposition in quarterbacks, centers, or what have you. And no matter what prattle may be read concerning either team, there can only be one outcome of this tilt. Defeat for one of the other of these two teams.

"Yours sincerely,

"Harry Norwood."

Well, well, well. Now we like to see the boys get excited about their teams and rip out a few strands of hair every now and then. But friend Norwood, we believe, goes too far in saying the Eagles would be just as good with Ramsey out of there. Without Ramsey, the Eagles would have taken a licking from the Cubs last Friday, in our opinion.

There is no doubt, however, but that both Chillicothe and Crowell have well-rounded teams. Only Crowell has an outfit a little bit better rounded out than the Eagles. If Chillicothe wins today the Eagles are going to have to give Ramsey some great support, and Ramsey himself is going to have to duplicate his smart ball carrying of the Olney game.

Gather Around, Mates

Now here's one for you. The Seymour Panthers believe they can whip Olney. Ernest Hayley of Seymour brings us this great news, as follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"As your correspondent from this city I take pride in announcing to you that your highly-tooted Olney Cubs will never tie Coach Hill's Chillicothe Eagles. Perhaps that shock is too great for you, but you have forgotten that the Cubs have yet to face their most hated rivals, the Seymour Panthers. And, you don't know the Panthers.

"Regardless of what Seymour does in other conference contests, the Panthers always give the Cubs more than their money's worth and this year will be no exception.

"Since that game is to be played on Panther field you can count on a battle. Therefore, I invite your presence as my guest here on Thanksgiving day so that you may see the Panthers take their share of the Turkey from the Cubs."

We like the old spirit, as we said above. Lord Hayley apparently has plenty of spirit, to say nothing of almost unbeatable optimism. Chillicothe beat Seymour 45 to 0 and then tied Olney. Anybody who can deduct a Seymour victory over Olney from that ought to be a sports editor. However, we hand it to the Seymour boys for staying right in there with a winning spirit.

The Next Witness

Court convenes once more in the celebrated case involving charges by Zollie Thompson of Bowie that the Nocona Tribe did not use second string men in defeating Bowie recently, as was alleged by Brother C. W. Giles of Nocona. Brother Thompson presented his case the other day and court was adjourned until Brother Giles could regain his equilibrium, whatever that is.

Brother Giles is now ready to testify, as follows:

"Dear Fred:

"As Brother Zollie Thompson, your Bowie detective and caretaker of the Bowie Jackrabbits, thinks he ran me up a tree in his rebuttal in the Rambler's Corner in recent issue of The Record News, I come back at him with my rejoinder and trust you will allow me space in the Rambler's Corner to defend myself, if it please "your honor."

"Zollie states that he was 'jolly well' kidding me about the laughs in Bowie—those hearty laughs, don'cherknow. Yes, I remember, vaguely, about the kidding, and could see then, that he was "timed" to go off, and I expected nothing else but an explosion when the fuse had burned far enough. He 'exploded' all right, but must have been premature or very damp powder. No casualties so far.

In reply, I have to say thusly: Friend Zollie, I thought the war was over, that the Jackrabbits and Indians 'fit it out' on that memorable Friday, but you don't seem to be satisfied and now resort to the pen, a mightier weapon than the sword (or football.) So it's got to be done ALL OVER again. The 'article' that gives you such great pain you quote (with variations) in which you claim I said that 'Coach Petty liked to have been slipped up on by Bowie when he used his second string.' In reality, Brother Zollie, it reads like this, (dated Oct. 26) 'The Bowie team nearly "slipped up" on Coach Peity of the Indians, who used reserves during most of the Bowie game.'

"Yep, I still say Petty used reserves all the way through, but did not say HOW MANY. For your information, three of Nocona's stars, including Zachary, DID NOT play that day. You admitted Zachary did not play over five minutes. Surely inside of those five minutes, little 'Smokey' could not have 'ruined' those Rabbits.

"In your allegation, you make an analysis, popping questions thick and fast. Are Captain Hill at tackle, Williams at center, and Garrison at end, second string men? Then you include Pribble, Elkins, and Pete Rice. Sure, they are first string men, and good'ns too. But you only claim these men played MOST all the game. Then you 'revise' that statement and claim all but one or two did play all of it. FINE. How about Elkins, who was knocked cold as a wedge and was removed."

"Listen, Friend Zollie, I shore like you, but bear in mind, I was an eyeball witness to that game and remember there were several substitutions, and all through conflict. You say you get a big laugh. Glad you can laugh ALL the results of that game off your chest.

"I'll tell you what's the matter, you was so doggoned scared and excited, when those Indians got loose, that ALL those second string kids looked to YOU like BIG HUSKY first string all-stars.

"Now, now, Zollie, I am supposing you know there are other positions besides those you mentioned, to be filled. Now do you mean to say before "Judge" Fred's court and jury, that these other five places were filled with frist string men? The prosecution may have the witness.

"Now, Fred, 'your honor,' I believe I have shown conclusively that friend Zollie has no case, and I humbly request that you issue a habeas Corpus and nol-pros the whole thing."

The Rambler hereby adjourns court for good and withholds decision until such time as we can find out what "nol-pros" means.

CONTEST MAY DECIDE RACE

Burk Meets Megargel In Night Game

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

Now that the sports editors and several thousand football experts have already played the game from beginning to end and have the score posted on the polished scoreboard, the Crowell Wildcats and the Chillicothe Eagles will attend the minor detail of actually enacting their crucial football battle today on the Crowell gridiron.

The boys in Crowell believe they'll win. So do the Chillicothe chaps. And both of these opinions find favor with numbers of the fan gentry of Northwest Texas.

May Decide Race

The game will be the standout of the day and the outcome may definitely settle the furious championship race in district No. 4, class B. Chillicothe and Olney having played a scoreless tie last week, and Crowell having been defeated by Olney, a Crowell victory over the Eagles today would dispatch the district championship to Albert Acker's Cubs of Olney. If Chillicothe wins today, the team will still have a chance at the championship. A victory later on over the Burkburnett club would place Chillicothe and Olney in a tie and necessitate a playoff for the crown.

Assuming that the Chillicothe gang is in good condition after its terrific fight against the Cubs last week, the Eagles are generally favored to "take" Crowell today. The Eagles are led by their fast-stepping quarterback, "Rat" Ramsey, triple threat ace, while the Wildcats are paced by their "mystery man," Capt. Dick Todd. The mystery seems to center on what Crowell would have done to Olney had Todd been able to play in the Olney game. Crowell will have a chance today to shed a little light on the problem, Chillicothe being practically on an even basis with the Cubs at this writing.

Big Crowd Expected

The Crowell game promises to be just as spectacular a battle as was the Chillicothe-Olney game last week, and a large crowd is expected to watch the game.

While this thriller is being enacted, other grid teams over this section will swing into action, some of them in battles just as colorful as the Crowell tilt even though having little bearing on the respective district races. The Olney Cubs will journey to West Texas for a little experience, meeting the powerful class A Breckenridge eleven. The Burkburnett Bulldogs will have a breather in the Megargel game, scheduled to be reeled off on Westerfield in Burkburnett tonight starting at 8 o'clock. Archer City will engage Henrietta at Archer City in a non-conference game, and Seymour, remaining member of the district, will invade Stamford, also for a practice game.

Vernon Meets Eastland

Two of the district No. 3 class A teams will go into action today in practice games, the powerful Vernon Lions journeying to Eastland of the Oil Belt, and Electra playing at Frederick, Okla., in a night game. Quanah played Estelline yesterday. Wichita Falls and Childress, cellar contenders in the district along with Electra, will play at Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon in the Coyotes' final conference game of the season.

In district No. 5, class B, the headliner is Nocona's journey to Jacksboro for a conference game. Nocona has won five straight conference tilts and seems headed to a playoff with Graham for the district championship. Graham, playing on the home lot, is expected to have little trouble with Newcastle today. Bowie will go to Bridgeport and Bellevue will play at Decatur in other conference games.

Other Texas games scheduled today in this section include Turkey at Wellington, Memphis at Shamrock and McLean at Clarendon.

Altus at Clinton

The fireworks will pop today and tonight in the Southwestern Oklahoma conference. The headliner is the Altus-Clinton game. Altus, boasting a strong eleven, will go against one of the best teams in the section when it clashes with the undefeated Clinton aggregation. Hobart will play at Carnegie, Cordell at Sayre, Mangum at Elk City and Erick at Hollis in other conference encounters, the last named being night contests. Frederick, as stated above, will entertain the Electra Tigers in a night contest.

Other Oklahoma games include Eldorado at Gould, Duncan at Anadarko, Comanche at Walters and Waurika at Temple.

Grandfield Uneasy Over Ryan Grid Game Today

Special to The Record News.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., Nov. 3.—There has been an air of uneasiness in the Grandfield camp this week due to the doubtful eligibility of several players for the football tussle with the Ryan Cowboys at Ryan Friday afternoon, and the team's uncertain showing at Comanche last week.

The Bearcats defeated Comanche, 14 to 0, but over-confidence and fumbling marred the victory to a great extent. Ryan's record to date is not impressive but word has been received here that they have a husky squad with plenty of fight. Coach Scroggs has been taking no chances and gave the boys two hard scrimmages this week.

Byron Walker, reserve tackle, is the only member of the squad on the injured list.

A FUGITIVE?

TOLEDO, Ohio.—On a recent rainy day Charles McCreary, of Columbus, decided that the workhouse was more comfortable than no house at all, so he gave himself up to Patrolman William Soghlin. He confessed that he had walked out of the Columbus courthouse and ran away three years ago after having been fined $500, and sentenced to one year in the workhouse for neglect of his children. McCreary was jailed as a fugitive from justice.

SAD ENDING

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Ned Nicklos, 34, and Arthur Henry, 45, have always been pals. Recently Henry got a job and the two decided to celebrate over a pint of liquor. The celebration wound up with Nicklos in a hospital, probably fatally stabbed, and his buddy in jail charged with suspicion pending outcome of Nicklos' condition.

Texas vs. Baylor, Aggies vs. Ponies Feature Tomorrow's Southwest Card

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southwest football interest tomorrow will be focused on three championship conference games with a passing glance directed at the result of the non-conference game today at Abilene between the Texas Christian Frogs and the Simmons university Cowboys. The Christians are overwhelming favorites.

Tomorrow two games will compete for banner interest. The University of Texas Longhorns, with two conference wins, will be after their third at Waco against the Baylor university Bears. Texas plans long sweeps around the Baylor wings and an overhead attack. Baylor, as usual, will depend on an aerial game. Baylor's best hope is in the punting ability of Frank James, elongated end and perhaps the best punter in the conference.

Koy Back With Team

Ernest Koy, University of Texas fullback, who was kept out of last week's game against Southern Methodist because of an injured shoulder, will play against Baylor. Koy will do most of the pass tossing.

Texas A. & M. invades Dallas to play Southern Methodist. This game is assured a capacity crowd, since it will be home-coming for Southern Methodist. Neither team boasts a present season conference win. The Mustangs have won only one game this entire campaign, that against Syracuse university. The Aggies have not scored in successive games against Texas Christian, Baylor and Centenary college.

Coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist believes he has his backfield of Sprague, Oliver and Baccus clicking for the first time this season. Henry Graves and Ted Spencer, best punters on the Texas A. & M. squad, are out with injuries.

Rice Plays Arkansas

Rice institute goes to Fayetteville, Ark., to battle the University of Arkansas Razorbacks. These teams are tied for second place with a single conference win and one defeat each. Rice, having smothered Creighton university last week while Arkansas rested, is favored, but beating the Razorbacks in their backyard is not always an easy task.

Rice invades Fayetteville with Fay Lagow, star guard, in his best condition this season. Kelly Scott, reliable halfback, is not in the best of condition but will see service against the Razorbacks. Coach Fred Thomsen scouted Rice last week and has his Razorbacks ready to stop the powerful line thrusts of the invading Owls.

Playing against alleged weak opposition, Richard "Red" Oliver, Texas Christian halfback and Southwest conference scoring leader, has a chance to increase his lead today against Simmons. Oliver has eight touchdowns for 48 points. Ernest Koy will try to overtake Oliver in tomorrow's game against Baylor. Koy, in second place with seven touchdowns and two points after touchdowns, has 44 points.

LIONS WORK ON PASSING

Vernon May Need Heaves In Eastland Tilt Today

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 3.—Possibility of Eastland seeing a flock of passes when Vernon's Lions invade that city Friday afternoon loomed today as Head Coach W. C. Weir groomed the Lion aerial attack. The strong Eastland Maverick eleven was beaten by Breckenridge last Friday only after forcing the Bucs to turn to the air. The powerful Maverick line stopped Breckenridge's touted running plays cold, even though six of the Eastland regulars were on the sidelines with boil infections. Breckenridge is one of the outstanding title favorites in the Oil Belt district.

With the Lion running attack, featuring six fleet, hard-running backs in Captain Thompson, Miller, Grogan, Garner, Wheeler, and Watson clicking on all cylinders, Vernon has not as yet been forced to turn on the full power of its reputedly strong overhead game. In the Childress game, when the running attack missed fire momentarily, the Weirmen were forced to take to the air to score one of their touchdowns, but it took only one pass, for a 50-yard gain, and the play was a minor one in the Lion aerial repertoire.

Expecting to find the most powerful forward wall which they have faced to date at Eastland, the Lion mentors are taking no chances in a lapse of the passing attack and have been stressing polishing off the overhead offense in practice session's this week. The Lion squad was thoroughly groomed in its aerial game prior to the Wichita Falls contest, but a clicking running attack needed no aid from passes and not a half dozen were thrown by the Lions in the tilt.

The passing work has been hindered somewhat by an injury to Paris Grogan, first year man at fullback, who is one of the chief toesers. Grogan sustained a badly bruised hand in the Coyote melee and with Tarleton Jones, elongated tackle who suffered a badly wrenched arm in the same contest, watched Tuesday's workout of the Lions from the sidelines.

Wellington Downs Turkey, 31 To 6

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Wellington Skyrockets romped to a 31 to 6 victory here today over the Turkey eleven, which was roundly outclassed throughout the contest.

Turkey's lone touchdown, however, resulted from one of the most spectacular gains of the afternoon, Arnold of Turkey intercepting a Wellington pass in the third quarter and sprinting 73 yards for his team's marker.

Three of the Wellington touchdowns resulted from an expert passing attack, featuring Strong, halfback, to Jones and Glenn on the wings. Strong almost matched the Turkey sprinter's effort when he returned a Turkey punt 40 yards for Wellington's fourth touchdown.

Wellington made 19 first downs to Turkey's one.

ELECTRANS GO TO FREDERICK

Bengals Meet Bearcats In Night Contest

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Electra Tigers, defeated last week 7-0 in a hard-fought game with the Quanah Indians, will seek revenge today in the bordering state of Oklahoma. The Bengals go against the Frederick, Okla., Bearcats tonight in a battle under the arcs of the Frederick field.

The team has been well groomed for the task and is expected to put up a hard fight against the Sooners.

TIGERS AND "PEPPERS" GIVEN REAL SUPPORT

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Electra Tigers have had good backing by fans and business men this year as was shown last week when the pep squad needed assistance to go to Quanah. The following people gave donations for that purpose: Bob Marten, John Russell Scheurer, T. T. Weatherall, Mr. and Mrs. Will Powers, Francis Awtrey, Dink Robb, C. Stewart, Bob Allen, Myrtle Bowden, M. N. Clifford, Howard Doores, H. R. McDavid, D. C. Dodson, Milton Archer, C. H. McGann, H. T. S. Totten, Welch Carter, Sam Walton, R. D. Quanah Downs Estelline, 66 to 0

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Quanah Indians buried the Estelline Cubs under an avalanche of touchdowns to win 66-0 in a game at Athletic park here Thursday. The Braves played in lack-luster fashion to score only one touchdown the first quarter and were pulled by Coach Stallworth to be replaced by the fighting Palookas who played the next two quarters and rung up 13 points against the scrappy Cubs. Estelline displayed unexpected strength and a great offense, featuring passing and end runs. The Indian first string took field again about the middle of the third quarter and furious over their former weakness started the landslide of touchdowns, scoring seven in the last 20 minutes of play.

Jones, Gregory, Wheat and Hall led the attack for the Indians with two touchdowns each. Jones had a perfect day, kicking goals, connecting all his attempts, six in all, to boost his total for the day of 18 points.

The Quanah Palookas played a fine game with Newton, Gregory, Slaton and Aiken outstanding. For Estelline, Berry, Bonner and Davidson were outstanding. Those scoring touchdowns were Jones one, Hall two, Newton one, Gregory two, Wills one, Wheat two. Quanah does not play again until they meet Vernon in the district 5 championship deciding game here Nov. 11.

Coyotes Taper Off For Childress Game; Greenwood Back In Lineup

BILL JENKINS

With only one more day of practice before their final conference game, the Coyote team went through a long afternoon of tackling and scrimmage yesterday. The fear of adding more injuries to the already prolonged list will prevent the Coyotes having another scrimmage today. They will probably finish the week with a short easy workout.

The Coyotes yesterday entered into a spirited scrimmage that lasted until darkness. The regulars took the ball and drove from one end of the field to the other a number of times. The only change in the lineup was Jimmie Hill at the punting position. Thompson has handled this position consistently all week. Coach Jefferies is probably preparing Hill for relief duty.

The other three in the backfield were the same that have worked all week. These were J. McBride, C. Creecy and Powell. They all remained the entire length of the scrimmage with the exception of Powell who dropped out in favor of Pierson in the last few minutes.

Ed Greenwood returned to the lineup to furnish two tested ends for play in the game Saturday. Greenwood will pair with Bob Brandon at the wing positions. These two have played together for the last three years, and should make two capable ends for the final conference game. It seems that W. D. Tollett has definitely landed a position at tackle with Bob Decker at the other tackle. LeRoy McBride, the most experienced of the three, will be open for relief duty.

At the guard position, it seems that Ferris Johnson, and R. D. Foster will receive the call. Vernon McDaniel, who was injured in scrimmage two weeks ago, is again physically able to play, but his absence from the lineup has given Ferris Johnson a chance to display his ability. This chance has been enough, because it is doubtful whether McDaniel will be able to gain back his position before the season ends. Charles Rice was slightly injured in the Vernon game, but the injury has healed and he will be available for the entire Childress game if necessary. His understudy, J. L. Creecy, has shown exceptionally well on the defense this week, and will probably enter the lineup sometime during the game.

The rumor is sent down from Childress that Raney, star quarterback shifted from the line when Rattican was removed from the lineup because of ineligibility, will be out of the game because of injuries. Raney has proved himself quite a capable field general and his absence would place the Childress team in bad position. Jefferies is taking this only as a rumor, however, and working his proteges at a hard pace.

The unusual showing of the Childress aggregation so far this season has placed the teams on a level, but the return of Greenwood to the lineup and the spirit of the Coyotes this week will make the home boys favorites. The Childress team has not been scouted a time this season by the Coyote coaches, and the defense the Coyotes put up will be entirely the work of the players.

Electra Juniors Beat Reagan, 13-6

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Electra Junior High school Cubs roundly outplayed the Reagan Junior High school Redbirds in every department of the game except punting here today to gain a 13 to 6 victory over their rivals.

Davis of the Redbirds had the edge over the Electra punter but in other phases the Cubs were superior.

Neither side scored during the first half. Early in the third quarter the Redbirds took the lead when Jack Beeson intercepted an Electra pass and ran 65 yards for a touchdown. A place kick attempt for extra point failed.

The Electrans tied the score the same quarter when Roy Nunnally bucked it over after line plays had taken the ball down in scoring position. The Cubs forged ahead in the last quarter when Seburne Fisher intercepted a pass and galloped 30 yards for a touchdown. He place kicked for extra point.

Coach A. D. Beck of the Redbirds did considerable shifting both in the line and backfield in preparation for the Redbirds' annual game with Zundelowitz Junior high of Wichita Falls.

The Cubs recently tied with the Redbirds, 7 to 7, in Wichita Falls.

Matador To Clash With Floydada

Special to The Record News.

MATADOR, Texas, Nov. 3.—"Stop the Floydada Whirlwinds" is the motto of the Matador Bullfighters this week. Friday, the Bullfighters and the Whirlwinds meet in Matador to decide the winner of this section of District No. 3. Since the stinging defeat administered by the Quitaque Panthers here last Friday, the Matador boys are working harder than ever this week. Coach Harvey Stanford is drilling the boys on defense against running plays for it is presumed this will be the principal attack from the Whirlwinds; however, he is giving them plenty of work in breaking up a passing game also. Although Matador has scored 155 points this year to seven for their opponents while Floydada has scored 92 points to their opponents' 19. The dope favors Floydada since they defeated Quitaque 19 to 7 and Quitaque won from Matador 7 to 0. Several of Matador's regulars will be out of the game Friday on account of injuries. The largest crowd ever to witness a football game in Matador is expected Friday. Floydada is sending a large delegation to root for the Green and White.

Don't Eat Fruit With Your Knife, Says Emily Post

By EMILY POST
Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage"

My dear Mrs. Post—I find it very convenient when eating a pear to pare it with a fruit knife, quarter it, cut off small pieces and raise them to my mouth one at a time with the point of the knife. Is this correct?

Answer—No excuse ever for lifting knife to lips. Properly you should pare the fruit until the skin can no longer give holding-place for the fingers. Then hold it with fork and complete paring and quartering. Eat it with fork in left hand and knife in right. It is entirely proper to lift each piece, as cut, with fork held in left hand.

J. B. Asks—Owing to some strange reaction of my system, I become deathly sick if I eat a certain soup that a hostess, to whose house I often go, is more than likely to serve. What excuse can I give for not eating it without hurting my hostess' feelings?

Answer—Say "No thank you." Nothing else unless she is next to you and urges you to take some. In this case you perhaps add, "I seldom eat soup." Or if you must say, "I have an absurd form of indigestion, and most soups disagree with me—so please don't mind my not eating it."

Dear Mrs. Post—Please give some examples of foods for which the dessert spoon is used.

Answer—All cereals, soup in very wide bouillon cups or small bowls, and for desserts such as custards or puddings, ice cream, etc. Dessert plates should be equipped with a dessert spoon and fork so that one may choose one or the other, or in some cases, such as for baked apple, use both.

My Dear Mrs. Post—Is bacon ever eaten with the fingers?

Answer—Nothing that is served with fork and spoon and put on one's plate should ever be taken in fingers. For example, fruit and cake taken from dish in fingers are eaten in fingers. But fruit that is pared should be held with fork as soon as skin is removed to a point where it no longer protects the fingers. (See answer to first letter).

Alabama Court Rules Against Salary Cuts

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 3. (INS)—Salaries of state and county officials will not be reduced as provided by the current session of the Alabama legislature, according to a ruling of the state supreme court.

The court held the Harrison occupation tax bill recently passed by the legislature, to be unconstitutional.

The Harrison bill would tax officials whose salaries, under the constitution, cannot be reduced, the taxes ranging from 15 to 33 1-3 per cent. The supreme court held the tax constituted a reduction of salary, which is forbidden by the constitution.

SPEED WARNING GIVEN TRUCKS

Highway Patrol Ordered To Make Arrests

AUSTIN, No. 3. (AP)—L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, issued instructions to the patrol today to put an end to speeding by truck operators on United States highway 75 between Dallas and Houston.

Phares stated that for the past several weeks there had been entirely too many accidents on the highway. He attributed most of the accidents to high speed of cotton trucks. Instructions were given the patrol to stop all trucks, regardless of whether they were being operated at an excessive speed, and warn the operators of the intention of the patrol to file charges in cases where speed laws are being violated.

In cases where the speed law is being violated, Phares ordered arrests made and charges filed without warning.

He said he would insist that justices of the peace assess the maximum fines.

Paving Of Highway 5 From Hardeman County Line To Kirkland Completed

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 3.—Highway No. 5 west from the Hardeman county line to Kirkland has been completed, and will be opened for travel within a short time. The paving of the loop through Kirkland is now in process, and travelers will have the choice of going straight west at the railroad or through Kirkland proper and connect with highway No. 5 paving west of the town. The protests of Kirkland citizens of the "straight west" routing has tied up the paving for nearly two years, and a few months ago the compromise was reached to pave the loop through the town.

Highway No. 5 will soon be hard-surfaced from Fort Worth to the New Mexico line, as arrangements are being sought whereby the counties in Northwest Texas still unpaved will be enabled to have this basic transcontinental highway paved the entire distance.

One tablespoonful four times a day should quickly and completely relieve distressing head noises and deafness due to catarrh, loss of smell and taste, and dropping mucous. MRS. MORROW IS THREATENED

Father of Nine Children Held for Extortion

BOSTON, Nov. 3. (INS)—Charles Jodrey, 43, of Everett, father of nine children, was arrested at his home today by a deputy United States marshal on a charge of having used the United States mail in an attempt to extort money from "Mrs. D. W. Morrow, Next Hill Day, Englewood, N. J."

Federal officials declared the threatening letter was mailed to Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, widow of the late United States senator, and mother of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Brought before United States Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney, on the complaint brought by postal officials, Jodrey pleaded not guilty and was ordered held in $5,000 bail for a hearing on Monday.

Jodrey has been without work for some time, officials said. The only source of income in his family was a daughter who earns $11 a week.

The letter allegedly was written Oct. 12.

Escapee Surrenders After Five Years

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3. (AP)—Convicted in October, 1927, on a charge of using the mails to defraud, D. D. Richardson, former Wichita, Kan., resident, fled to Los Angeles while free on an appeal bond, adopted another name and established a prosperous restaurant business here. He voluntarily surrendered to authorities yesterday.

"Now that my wife and family are self-supporting and would not suffer in my enforced absence," he said after his surrender, "I made up my mind to come out of hiding and pay the penalty for my swindling acts of a few years ago."

Richardson told police he was convicted, with S. E. Price, of using the mails in a scheme to defraud a Wichita, Kan., merchant by trading him almost worthless land in Texas for his grocery store. He declared he made more than $225,000 operating confidence games, but that he spent the money shortly after getting it.

Richardson was sentenced to 15 months imprisonment in Leavenworth prison at the time of his conviction. He will be taken to the federal prison to begin serving his term.

Transatlantic liners passing near the Azores use floating kegs to post the mail of passengers. The mail is picked up by fishermen.

Whirlwind Finish By Republicans Unlikely To Upset Digest's Poll

Roosevelt Holds 3 to 2 Lead Over Opponent Despite Fractional Gains Registered by President

Roosevelt leads in 41 states with a total popular vote of approximately 3 to 2 over Hoover in the final returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide poll, which is said to represent the largest number of votes in any presidential poll ever conducted, according to tomorrow's issue of the magazine. A grand total of 3,064,497 ballots were returned and tabulated. Of these 1,715,789, or 55.9 per cent are for Roosevelt, 1,150,398, or 37.53 per cent voted for Hoover and 148,079, or 4.84 per cent registered their sentiments for Thomas.

Hoover shows a slight gain from the 37.33 per cent of the total vote which he had in the semifinal returns and the 37.19 per cent for him in the quarterfinal returns, which latter tabulation was the first to contain balloting from all 48 states.

The final vote gives Hoover a lead in the seven states of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey.

Roosevelt leads his Republican rival in all of the other 41 states.

A division of the vote by an electoral college apportionment would give Roosevelt 474 votes to Hoover's 57.

The Literary Digest editorially concedes the possibility that Roosevelt may carry five of the states in which Hoover leads in the final tabulation. It is stated that in the 1928 poll Rhode Island and Massachusetts were indicated as Hoover states but were carried by Smith in the election. An analysis of the present vote, it is shown, reveals that ballots have not been voted in adequate quantity by Democratic voters in these states.

The Literary Digest points out also that the same situation obtains in Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey where the declared Republicans voting in the poll outnumbered the declared Democrats considerably in excess of the actual relative party-strength in these states, and the magazine, therefore, notes the possibility that Roosevelt may carry them.

Four States Close

In no state showing a Roosevelt lead is the possibility of a switch mentioned although it is pointed out that the vote in New York, Kansas, Colorado and Delaware are close.

The Literary Digest editorializes that although there are many political claims that Pennsylvania will vote Republican, no such forecast can be deduced from the poll returns from the Keystone state.

The race continues very close in Delaware, where Roosevelt has a plurality of 198 votes out of a total of 5,209 cast in the state. His lead was 175 votes a week ago and 202 two weeks ago.

In an analysis of "how the same voters voted in 1928" Roosevelt is shown obtaining 37.19 per cent of his strength from former Republicans and 47.95 per cent from Democrats of four years ago. Hoover is shown obtaining 80.57 per cent of his strength from those who voted for him in the last quadrennial election and 6.15 per cent from Democratic voters of that year.

Roosevelt is indicated having a clear majority in 39 states over all six presidential candidates represented in the poll.

Demo Victory Seen

"Unless all signs fail, The Literary Digest will state in its issue tomorrow," unless some unexpected, eleventh-hour condition arises to reverse the nation-wide trend disclosed by this great monument of freshly gathered statistics, the complete poll will be interpreted by many practical men and women of all parties as a presage of a Roosevelt victory.

"If that practical judgment is borne out by the event, the Democratic victory on election day will surely be a sweeping one. Let our arithmetical readers apply the Hoover and Roosevelt percentages to a popular vote approximating that of 1928—say 36,000,000—and they will see that the possibilities disclosed by our vast sampling operation include what is popularly known as a landslide.

"In a wild year like this, however, many sagacious observers will refuse to bank upon appearances, however convincing. As for The Digest, it draws no conclusions from the results of its vast distribution of 20 million ballots. True to its historic non-partisan policy — or 'omni-partisan,' as some editor described it in 1928—we supply our readers with the facts to the best of our ability and leave them to draw their own conclusions.

"We make no claim to infallibility. We did not coin the phrase 'uncanny accuracy' which has been so freely applied to our polls. We know only too well the limitations of every straw vote, however enormous the sample gathered, however scientific the method. It would be a miracle if every state of the 48 behaved on election day as forecast.

"Here we come to the important problem of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. These two states are in the Hoover column of the poll. They were also in the Hoover column of our 1928 poll, with still larger Republican majorities, but both states were carried by Smith.

"History repeats itself and that variation of our 1928 poll is likely to happen again in 1932. We have polled the two states in exactly the same way that we polled them four years ago. A study of the returns, in relation to the official vote of 1928, and also to the ballot declarations of how the same voters voted in 1928, convinces us that in those states our ballots have somehow failed to come back in adequate quantity from large bodies of Democratic voters.

Probably Democratic

"For these reasons we consider that Massachusetts and Rhode Island may be expected to appear in the Roosevelt column on election night.

"It is further possible that Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey, which also give evidence of having masses of 'silent' Democratic voters—'silent' as far as straw polls are concerned—will also fold up their tents and steal away to the Roosevelt column.

"And then, of course, there's another side to the picture. There are some close states in the Roosevelt column, and in these last days of the campaign the Hoover forces are making prodigious efforts to hold them. The Hoover and Roosevelt percentages to a popular vote approximating that of 1928—say 36,000,000—and they will see that the possibilities disclosed by our vast sampling operation include what is popularly known as a landslide.

"New York is close. So are Kansas, Colorado, Delaware. The Republicans profess great confidence that they will win some important states by their whirlwind campaign of recent weeks, and they expect especially, they say, to carry Pennsylvania, in spite of the Digest poll.

"However, as this goes to press with the final returns, we know of no reason why the poll should go very far astray in the figures and percentages from Pennsylvania."

1928 Record

The final returns of the 1928 Literary Digest poll forecast that Hoover would win 42 states including the Democratic strongholds of Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas. In this poll the only states The Literary Digest failed to forecast correctly were Massachusetts and Rhode Island, which were carried by Smith contrary to the poll figures.

A comparison of the official 1928 vote and the 1928 Literary Digest poll vote showed the magazine's referendum to be over 95 per cent correct in its prediction of both the popular vote and the electoral college vote.

When you're
Healthy, you're happy

THINK back over the last six months. The days that you were the happiest were days when health was at the peak. You can enjoy more sunshiny days. It's easier than you think.

Poor health is so often due to common constipation. Yet this condition can be banished from your life by simply eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory investigations have proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further assist elimination. ALL-BRAN is also twice as rich in iron as an equal weight of beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and gently helps to clear the system of wastes. Biological tests have demonstrated that it is mild in action.

Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" better than taking pills and drugs —so often harmful? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"When you're healthy, you're happy"
"How you feel — and how well you look — depends largely upon the food you eat. Be sure your diet is balanced — with sufficient 'bulk' to promote regularity."

QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 3.—Famous rodeo performers who have already wired for registration to compete in the contests in the two-day free rodeo to be staged here Friday and Saturday, include the "Clancy Boys," sons of "Fog-Horn" Clancy of Fort Worth; "Shorty" Kelso, and Delbert Lee Riddle of Odell, America's youngest calf roper, who bears the distinction of winning Tom Burnett's $100 prize for fast time at the golden jubilee celebration at Wichita Falls recently. O. C. "Red" Christie is in charge of registrations.

Entrants and observations of rodeo followers to committees of the American Legion who are sponsoring this second annual event indicate that this will be the largest and most spectacular of any free rodeo ever staged. The event is underwritten by Quanah merchants and there is no expense of any kind to spectators.

Grounds in Shape

The rodeo grounds north of the Denver station are in tip-top shape, and are nearly double the size in pen and chute capacity of the grounds last year.

Many heads of rodeo stock have already been received, and more are arriving daily. Twenty goats are already here, which is about half the number to be used during the two days in the goat roping contest.

The bucking horses have been gathered from all over the country. One from Foard county called "Booger Man" has a particularly bad reputation, and will attract a following wherever he is known.

Twenty wild Brahma steers were bought for the rodeo. Some of these are as large as horses, and in addition to being buckers, are dangerous when they become maddened, and chase ropers and horses from the arena.

Parade Manager Bob Moore says entries have far exceeded expectations. Over 125 had been placed up to Wednesday night. The parade will start from the rodeo grounds at 12:30 p. m. Friday and will proceed south on Mercer to Seventh and back down Main. The parade will be led by post colors, followed by the Quanah band, the masked "rodeo queen," selected by the senior class of Quanah High school who won in a contest of selling tickets to the Quanah-Electra football game Oct. 29. The junior class will furnish the "queen's" attendants. Early pioneers, cowboys of the past; cowboys of the future, Indians, merchants' displays, schools, clubs, trail blazers and modern methors of transportation will form probably the longest parade ever in Quanah.

Program Is Full

Immediately upon arrival back at rodeo grounds the contests will start, and continue through afternoon and evening, and all day saturday, Nov. 5.

The program outline includes rabbit racing, bronc riding, trick and fancy roping, barrel race, calf roping, bareback riding, goat roping steer riding, specialty act by Delbert Lee Riddle, wild mule race.

W. O. Wallace is general rodeo chairman.

Reginald Robbins, nationally famed endurance flier, landed here Thursday morning in his tri-motored plane, and will remain for the two-day event. Mr. Robbins will give exhibition flights over the rodeo grounds, and is an added attraction provided by the American Legion.

The sheriff said that the prisoners are being fed wholesome food and plenty of it, but of course no fancy dishes. Sheriff Light's policy ought to be a warning to epicures.

NOCONA HOST TO TEACHERS

Two-Day Institute Opens With Good Attendance

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, Nov. 3.—Scores of teachers from practically every school community in the county gathered here today to open a two-day meeting of the Montague County Teachers institute. The institute is being held in the high school building.

After preliminaries of the opening session this morning, work of the meeting was taken up. E. W. McPherson of the interscholastic league, F. A. Wood, nominee for state representative from this county, and E. C. Jamison county agent, addressed the assembly. During the morning intermission a program of music and readings was furnished.

G. F. Fletcher lead a discussion during the afternoon on "The Five-Point Child."

Keen interest in the work of the institute by teachers and others repersented was indicated during the first day, which promises to make the sessions among the most worthwhile ever held in the county.

Invitations have been extended to school trustees to attend the program Friday. Special features will be offered for their benefit. L. A. Woods, Democratic nominee for state superintendent of public instructions, is scheduled to speak Friday.

Murray Selects Roosevelt From His Physiognomy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3. (UP)—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray has submitted a physiognomy chart for the aid of voters unable to decide between President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Show me one of those full moon faces like Herbert Hoover's—and I can tell you plenty," Alfalfa Bill commented.

"Show me a man whose nose is thick under the eyes and runs down about the same size to the point, and I'll show you a keen intellect. But he can't boss. That's Roosevelt.

"If congress will follow Roosevelt on public questions, he'll make a great president. If congress doesn't, that will be the reason of possible failure.

"Then there is the parallelogram face like mine. I won't discuss that.

"But there is genuine hope for the country in the election of Roosevelt and none in the re-election of Hoover."

Jackson Farm Clubs To Plan Programs

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Nov. 3.—Jackson county farm women's clubs will meet in perhaps the most important business sessions of the entire year during the month of November when officers for the year will be elected and members enrolled in the various projects of the work they wish to carry, according to Miss Edith Huffer, county home demonstration agent, who will meet with the clubs and assist in the reorganization work.

Club women will have six different projects from which to make selections of their line of work. Each woman may enroll in as many different projects as she thinks she will be able to carry.

Projects chosen for the work next year at a recent meeting of the advisory committee of the Jackson County Federation of Farm Women's Clubs include garden, family nutrition, child's clothing, home sanitation, house furnishings and child development and parent education.

In addition to the election of officers at the different club meetings, committees will be appointed. A program of work for 1933 will be outlined by Miss Huffer.

All clubs will meet on their regular meeting day this month.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Although the general trend of prices at eastern dressed beef markets was weaker, limited supplies at live weight centers produced a fully steady to strong tone at most points. Best weighty steers in Chicago scored up to $8.50 while top long yearlings made $8.25. A few other loads of better grade steers and yearlings around the circuit brought $7.00@7.50, but the general bulk of offerings were of quality to sell at $5@6. Plainer grade steers sold around $4.25@4.85. Stockers and feeders found a rather slow outlet with values about steady. Majority of replacement steers sell in a spread of $3.25@5.50. Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

F. R. B.—Would be pleased to know what you think of the stability of the present dividend on Wm. Wrigley Jr., Co., stock.

Answer—Further moderate decline in the three months ended Sept. 30 brought the company's income to the lowest level of the depression, but profits are still running in excess of dividend requirements. Net income in the third quarter equaled 86 cents a share, against 95 cents in the preceding three months, and $1.51 in the third quarter of last year. Full year's income is estimated at not less than $3.60 a share, on which basis the $3 dividend is considered secure, for net cash and securities (at cost) are equal to around $11 per share of the stock.

P. E.—Would like to have your opinion and some information on American Smelting & Refining company common.

Answer—Dividends on first and second preferred as well as on common have been omitted this year. Prospects poor until general trade revival occurs. Earnings in 1931 equivalent to only small proportion of first preferred dividend requirements. Loss for first half of 1932 amounting to $3,442,000 primarily due to inventory writeoffs. Treasury situation good with cash and U. S. government bonds in excess of all current liabilities. Book value $42 a share. Company has strong position in non-ferrous metal trade. Stock speculative.

L. P.—Kindly furnish me with some information on Pullman, Inc., common stock. Is the $3 dividend secure?

Answer—This operator of parlor and sleeping cars, and manufacturer of freight and passenger cars, earned 61 cents a share on the common in 1931, against $4.37 per share in 1930. Suffered loss of $2,144,000 in first half of this year against earnings of 28 cents a share first half 1931. Book value over $79 per share, and working capital almost $18 per share at end of 1931. Declining car service business and small ordering of railway equipment has affected company's earnings. Outlook for earnings continues poor and continuance of dividend at present $3 rate is in doubt.

W. G. W.—Kindly let me have some data on Republic Steel corporation common stock.

Answer—Prominent in the production of alloys, sheet steel and tubular products, this company sustained in 1931 a net loss of $9,034,000, against a 1930 net loss of $3,552,003, after all charges including depreciation, depletion, etc. First half 1932 loss of $5,221,000, against loss of $2,785,000 same period last year. Book value about $74 per share. Current financial position at end of 1931 fairly satisfactory. Due to unfavorable business situation since its organization, this company has not had an opportunity to demonstrate its earning power. Outlook for current year poor and the stock is considered highly speculative.

J. E., Plainview—I am very much interested in Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company common stock. Do you believe that it has good chances of appreciating in market value in the near future?

Answer—Although the company occupies a stronger position, both physically and financially, than most other railroad companies, and although there is no question regarding its ability successfully to survive the present period of low traffic and earnings, the common stock at current levels around 42½ is by no means selling low in relation to indicated earnings for 1932. Since the stock pays no dividend, it is entirely possible that it will again sell considerably lower than at present. Last year's earnings were the equivalent of $6.96 per share of common stock, compared with $12.86 in 1930, $22.69 in 1929, $18.09 in 1928 and $18.74 in 1927. This year, however, not much in excess of the preferred dividend requirements will be earned, earnings for the 12 months ended Aug. 31, 1932, having been the equivalent of only $2.08 per share. Probably as good an estimate as any for the full year 1932 is that net income after preferred dividends will be the equivalent of about $1 per share of common stock. It is true that earnings could have been much larger had the management not followed a highly conservative policy with respect to maintenance charges. As of Aug. 31, 1932, current assets, including $13,623,000 cash, amounted to $41,486,000 compared with current liabilities of $13,946,000. Working capital was, thus, $27,539,000. In addition there was in the treasury about $19,500,000 U. S. government bonds. Cash and government bonds, together, amounted to over $33,000,000, the equivalent of about two and one-half times the annual fixed charges of approximately $13,500,000. From the above it appears that Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company common stock has attraction as a long term holding which ought in time prove highly profitable. However, its immediate market prospects seem rather definitely limited.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—While a fair volume of business was reported in cotton today, orders appeared to be evenly divided and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. Buying was mostly on the dips or scale down orders, however, and prices made new low ground for the movement with December selling off to 5.99 or at the lowest level touched since early last August when it sold at 5.98. That delivery closed at 6.000. The general market was off 1 to 3 points net.

The opening was unchanged to 3 points higher in response to steady cables and trade buying. Houses with Liverpool connections bought here. Bulges met renewed liquidation or southern selling, and the lowest levels were reached by most positions in the late trading. March sold off to 6.13, a net decline of 3 points, and closed at that figure.

The weather was considered generally favorable for the movement, but according to reports reaching here from the South the spot basis was firm with business quiet.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling and covering with hedging less active in that market and said there was an optimistic tone in expectation of an early settlement of the Lancashire labor troubles.

Futures closed steady, 1-3 lower; spot quiet; middling, 6.10.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Cotton prices fluctuated very narrowly, showing a slight downward trend, on today's dull market as the approach of the general elections and the next government crop estimate discouraged activity on either side of the account. The close was at net declines of 1 to 3 points.

Another private authority estimated the yield at 11,399,000 bales.

The opening was steady as Liverpool came in one to two penny points better than due. Private cables said the trade called and shorts covered on easier sterling with hedge selling smaller. Manchester cabled trade feeling in the cloth market was more optimistic, with substantial business pending the reopening of them ills, which traders believed will take place Monday next.

First trades here showed gains of 1 to 4 points with December at 6.03 and March at 6.16.

This gain attracted some hedge selling and prices eased off before the end of the first hour and continued easy during the morning in sympathy with stocks and grain. The market was quiet and barely steady all afternoon and prices made lows at 5.97 for December and 6.11 for March or 5 to 6 points below the opening highs. The close was at or near the lows with December closing at 5.97 and March at 6.13 or 2 points net lower for the day on both active months.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow unchanged to one penny points down.

Port receipts 33,312, for week 320,872, for season 3,238,261, last season 3,675,103. Exports 31,209, for week 267,007, for season 2,190,148, last season 1,854,591. Port stock 4,260,426, last year 4,384,403. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 190,857, last year 159,569. Spot sales at southern markets 53,653, last year 61,203.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 3. (INS)—Spot cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices steady. Receipts totaled 1,000 bales, including 900 American bales.

At midday middling fair was quoted at 6.57d, strictly good middling 6.12d, good middling 5.87d, strictly middling 5.62d, middling 5.42d, strictly low middling 5.27d, low middling 5.12d, strictly good ordinary 4.92d, and good ordinary 4.62d.

Futures opened steady with Dec. at 5.15d, Jan. 5.12d, March 5.14d, May 5.11d, and July 5.17d.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—The cotton market seems stabilized around the 6-cent level for December contracts. Final prices on the board of trade today were unchanged to four points net lower. The opening was 1@4 points up on cables that were about four points better than due. Prices eased slightly, influenced perhaps by lower securities and all time record low prices in wheat. Speculative demand awaits the election on Tuesday and the government crop estimate on Wednesday. Private estimates issued thus far indicate a slight increase over last month's figures. The belt was cool. Cloudy in the west and mostly clear in the east. Warmer temperatures are forecast for all sections.

Slight Betterment Shown Near Close Of Slow Session; Gold Mining Leads

By JOHN L. COOLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Stocks arrived at something of a compromise in the late market today after a desultory sag during the greater part of another slow session.

Closing price changes were irregular and narrow. Wheat's descent to fresh lows had much less effect than on some recent occasions, and stocks' ability to hold above the average Oct. 10 lows was open to favorable interpretation, although just how strong the resistance really was, could hardly be determined in a turnover of only 1,021,150 shares.

Gold Mining Up

Gold mining issues gleamed brightly. This group made one of those periodic sallies that frequently follow declining commodity prices. Homestake was the headliner, climbing to a record high at 152 and closing 16½ points to the good. McIntyre Porcupine, Alaska Juneau and Dome also participated in the move, although unspectacularly.

Otherwise, the day's trading was cut out to familiar cloth—a little early firmness, then an equally mild reaction and finally some leisurely covering. Net changes for U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Standard of New Jersey, DuPont, American Tobacco "B," Santa Fe, New York Central, Consolidated Gas and numerous others were fractional, although the downs predominated in the averages. Case was an exception to the general rule, closing two points off.

Discounts Raised

Banking statistics were largely influenced by the fact that the week under review covered the month end. Seasonal demand, plus the Nov. 1 turnover, brought an expansion of $32,000,000 in currency circulation, while member banks raised their discounts by $4,000,000; incidentally, they decreased them over the Oct. 1 settlement period. There was no change in the system's holdings of government securities. Monetary gold stocks were lifted by the moderate amount of $9,000,000.

New York City member banks continued to put out credit, increasing loans, both security and "others," by a total of $20,000,000. They sold $14,000,000 of federal securities, but nearly offset this loss with purchases of $10,000,000 in other investments.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 3. (AP)—Fair demand was reported for the light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market Thursday.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 hard, according to protein and billings 50¼@52¼c. Barley No. 2 nominally 32@33c; No. 3 nominally 31@32c. Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds, 65@67c; No. 2 kaffir 52@54c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 36½@37½c; No. 2 white 41½@42½c; No. 2 yellow 37½@38½c.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 22½@23½c; No. 3 red 21½@22½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—With Canada and Argentina running neck and neck to sell surplus wheat ahead of other countries, grain values everywhere fell to historic new depths today.

Canadian export sales today were estimated at as much as 2,000,000 bushels, with overseas purchases of United States wheat reduced to zero. In Chicago, successive outbursts of orders to stop losses plunged wheat down to 41⅞c a bushel for December contracts, a price hitherto unparalleled. Traders were disturbed over fresh setbacks in British exchange rates and by unexpected reappearance of Russia as a wheat exporter on a large scale.

An outstanding feature of intensified world competition was the fact that prices for Argentine wheat shipped to Europe were slashed today 2⅜ cents.

Closing quotations for wheat in Chicago were shaky at but slightly above the day's bottom, 1 cent to 1⅛ cents under yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower, oats ⅛@⅜c down, and provisions 5 to 10 cents up.

Wheat and corn both smashed low price records today the moment business began. All futures deliveries of the two reached new bottoms. The chief immediate reason was a drop of 3 points in British exchange rates, together with radically cheaper offerings of Argentine wheat abroad and word of increased quantities of breadstuffs being piled up in European continental ports, especially Antwerp and Rotterdam. It also was shown that wheat shipments from the Black sea region, mainly Russia, had suddenly expanded to almost 2,000,000 bushels.

Before the day ended, news was at hand that the Berlin government had planned a quota system on wheat imports and other agricultural products to avert a collapse of Germany's marketing system. Meanwhile, estimates that world exportable supplies of wheat at present were 110,000,000 bushels over and above probable requirements of importing counties put a further strain on values. Despite persistent recurrence of stop-loss orders, a dearth of buying power rather than unusual pressure to sell characterized the market as a whole.

Indications of Canadian government-sponsored support for the Winnipeg wheat market gave no apparent encouragement to buyers here.

Corn and oats although temporarily sympathizing with wheat weakness rallied later owing to active shipping demand for corn, including some export business.

Provisions reflected upturns of hog values.

A continuation of crime activity in the Wichita area was revealed in police reports filed Thursday. Officers arrested a negro man in connection with two burglary jobs of Petrolia drug stores Tuesday night and the prisoner was taken to Henrietta where charges were to be filed by Constable Barney McGee of Petrolia. The arrest and recovery of a portion of the 100 rings and several watches taken in the raid was made by Detective Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson.

Juan Sanchez, Mexican, held by city officers for investigation in connection with the robbery and burning of an Archer county home, is wanted by federal authorities for deportation, Chief Dick Morris said. A wire from District Inspector Whalen of San Antonio said Sanchez was deported last May and indicated it was not known he had reentered the United States.

Several small boys are suspected by officers of using a pass key Thursday in entering the home of J. J. Phillips, 1613 Speedway, and taking a .410 gauge shotgun and a supply of shells. Theft of drills and other equipment valued at $50 was reported by the Coco-Cola Bottling company, 418 Ohio, Thursday. The robbery was staged during the day, officers said.

Other losses reported to police include an automobile tire from the car of C. M. Mann, 1110 Indiana; an overcoat taken from the union depot and reported by H. T. Pulley of Seymour; a battery was taken from his car at his home, W. B. Johnson, Petrolia road, said; John Gamble of Floydada reported the loss of a handbag and clothing for his wife and baby on the Vernon road; and J. M. CANDIDATES BIG STAMP BUYERS

Political Matter Boosts Postal Receipts Here

Postal receipts of the Wichita Falls postoffice totaled $19,910.84 during October, a report by Assistant Postmaster Lon Howard revealed Thursday. The report showed a gain over September receipts when the total was $16,823.79, but was about $2,000 under receipts for October, 1931.

Political advertising sent through the mails during the 31-day period added several thousand dollars to the receipts, it was pointed out. Mr. Howard stated that a decrease is shown in the amount of mail handled since the new parcel post rates went into effect the first of October.

The building is 84.8 per cent complete as compared with a normal completion schedule of 87.5 per cent. Ninety-four employes were listed as working on the project in October. Contract expenditures to date total $358,393.78 with future expenditures estimated at $63,845.66.

Sunset News

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, Nov. 3.—The Halloween school carnival, held in the Sunset school building last Friday night, was among the most successful and interesting carnivals ever conducted by this school. It was carried out in regular carnival fashion from the opening to the closing.

Rev. N. E. Berryhill, pastor of the Sunset Methodist church, attended the annual session of the North Texas Methodist Episcopal conference at Gainesville last week. The Rev. Mr. Berryhill has been pastor of the church here for two years.

The death of Wilburn Johnson, 88, which occurred here last week, took another of the very few veterans of the civil war who survived to see the beginning of the present year. Mr. Johnson voluntarily joined the Fifth Tennessee cavalry, company F, in August of 1862, and continued in the service until the close of the war. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson married in Carnsville, Ga., in 1870, 62 years ago. Later they moved to Sherman, Texas, where they resided for 39 years before moving to Sunset four years ago. Mrs. Johnson survives her husband. She is 80 years old. Also eight sons and daughters, 33 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren survive. They reside in nine southern states of the United States.

Recently, relatives and friends from Wichita Falls, Petrolia and several communities in this section, attended a birthday supper at the home of Rev. W. C. Nichols, four miles west of Sunset. The supper was given in honor of Rev. Mr. Nichols on his 72nd birthday. Mr. Nichols has resided at his present residence in Turkey Creek community for more than 30 years. He recently began his 31st year as pastor of the Turkey Creek Baptist church. During his pastoral services he has delivered approximately 1,500 sermons at this church. He has also preached in many other communities in this part of North Texas. During the time he has officiated at hundreds of weddings, and very likely has conducted a much larger number of funerals than any other preacher living in this section.

The Red Cross issued 215,000 pounds of flour in relief work in Wichita county last winter, Mr. Bebb said.

LUNG EXPERT CLOSES CLINIC

Purchase of Seals Urged By Leaders

The second chest clinic of the Wichita County Tuberculosis association for 1932 was closed Thursday after examination of 94 patients in three days. Dr. John Potts of Fort Worth conducted the examinations in Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park.

In an address before the Electra Lions club Thursday Dr. Potts explained the clinics are made possible through the annual sale of tuberculosis seals through the county organizations. The 1932 sale in Wichita Falls will be opened Nov. 25, with Miss Mary Quinn, executive secretary, mailing out seals in this county.

The sale of seals is the only source of income for the association, it was pointed out. Work in controling tuberculosis through the clinics aids in cutting the death rate from the disease, already cut by a large percentage in recent years.

Dr. Potts examined 14 patients at Electra Thursday morning and found three active cases. Four arrested cases were located and one case of childhood tuberculosis. Assistants at the clinic were Mrs. Edward Schlasske, Mrs. E. J. Reasoner, Mrs. E. P. Newsome, Mrs. Engelking and Miss Kent.

Four active cases were found in examination of 18 patients at Iowa Park. Four active childhood cases and one inactive childhood case were found by Dr. Potts. Mrs. Reasoner, Mrs. Newsome, Mrs. Mamie Dale and Mrs. Hensen assisted in the work.

ROTARY CHIEF MAKES TALK

District Governor Guest At Luncheon

Unified programs of vocational service, community service, and international service are followed by Rotary clubs throughout the world, H. C. Anderson, governor of the 41st district of Rotary International, told members of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon.

Vocational service, Mr. Anderson pointed out, demands that each member of Rotary conduct his business in such manner that other persons will find it wise to emulate his example. He commended the contribution which Rotary is making to the development of international sympathy and agreement.

The visiting speaker formerly was a resident of Burkburnett, and now lives in Ranger. He met with directors of the local club just before noon Thursday.

Miss Grace Williams, coloratura soprano, entertained those present with two songs, "The Lass With the Delicate Air," (Arne) and Clara Edwards' "By the Bend of the River." Miss Lorene Tucker played her accompaniments.
