EL PASO ATTORNEY IS CHIEF SPEAKER AT BANQUET HERE

Good-Will Trippers Spend Night In Midland

"Developing the Great Southwest" was the subject of an address by District Attorney Roy Jackson of El Paso at the banquet given at Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday evening, attended by fifty Midland business and professional men and twenty El Paso goodwill party members.

The event marked the overnight stop here of the El Pasoans who swing back south and southwest today, visiting additional Permian Basin towns and those in the Davis Mountain and Big Bend sections. Alpine will be tonight's stop.

The visiting attorney did not exhort Midland people to do their shopping or trading in El Paso, but painted his city as the central metropolis of the southwest, with outstanding entertainment facilities, tourist accommodations and points of interest. He did, however, call attention to wholesale interests there and asked for a share of the business from this territory.

He pictured the southwest in its frontier days, tracing its ever westward development and population growth. He paid high tribute to the citizens, who, through hardships year in and year out, made possible the present era of growth and prosperity.

L. P. Bloodworth, assistant manager of the El Paso chamber of commerce, paid a tribute to the vision and faith of Midland citizens, establishing here the business center of the tremendous Permian Basin oil area. He, too, extended a year round welcome to residents of this section to visit El Paso and to call on the citizens there for any accommodations or favors desired.

The banquet was presided over by Marion Flynn, president of the Midland chamber of commerce. Talks were made by him and T. Paul Barron, welcoming the guests to Midland and expressing appreciation for the honor done Midland by making it an overnight stop on the goodwill trip. Facts and figures about the growth of Midland, and of development in the Permian Basin oil area, were given in their talks. The Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, gave the invocation. The program was informal, there being no musical or entertainment features. The banquet was a "stag" affair.

The El Paso delegation left this morning at 7:30 o'clock, en route to Crane, McCamey, Rankin, Iraan, with noon stop scheduled for Fort Stockton, thence to Baltochea, Fort Davis and Alpine.

SIX PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED AUG. 23

Publication of The Proposals Being Started Today

FEE SYSTEM UP

Late Action Places Measure Before People

Texans, on Monday, August 23, will go to the polls to vote on six proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Publication of these amendments is made in The Reporter-Telegram today, to appear once each week for four consecutive weeks. Voters, in order to become thoroughly familiar with the proposals to be voted on, are asked to clip these from the newspaper today and to study them in detail before August 23.

Five of the amendments were sent by mail from the office of Secretary of State Edward Clark, the other arriving this morning by telegraph, following action of the legislature yesterday.

House Joint Resolution No. 26 would give the legislature authority after a vote of qualified electors to provide assistance for the needy blind, over 21 years of age, with payments of not over $15 per month. Restrictions as to length of citizenship in Texas are set up, and provision is made for acceptance by the state of financial aid from the federal government in relief of the blind.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 16 would give the legislature authority after a vote of qualified electors to own, tax, and dispose of property in Harris county, to authorize the adoption of a plan for construction of roads and bridges in Harris county road districts.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 9 would provide that the legislature authorize the incorporation of banking bodies and provide for supervision and regulations of same, restricting foreign corporations from doing banking business, and restricting corporate business to one place. All capital stock would be subscribed and paid for before issuance of charter by the state.

House Joint Resolution No. 23 would provide that no property be assessed for ad valorem taxes at a greater value than its fair cash market value, and would give the legislature power to provide that the state and all governmental or political subdivisions or taxing districts may allow a discount for payment of ad valorem taxes before they are due, the amendment, if voted, to become effective January 1, 1939.

House Joint Resolution No. 26-A would give the legislature authority to provide, under certain limitations and restrictions, for assistance to destitute children, payments not to exceed $8.00 per month or $12 for one family. The amount expended by the state for this purpose would be held within $1,500,000 in any one year. Authority would be given the state to accept federal aid for this purpose.

House Joint Resolution No. 24 provides for the abolishing of the salary method of compensating all district, county and precinct officers in the state and provides that such officers shall be paid in such manner and on such basis as may be prescribed by the legislature.

The last proposal, the outgrowth of yesterday's action by the legislature, would, in effect, rescind the law passed two years ago abolishing the fee system. The governor yesterday sent the legislature a message condemning the salary system after which both houses voted to submit the resolution No. 24, to be voted on along with the five proposed amendments previously offered. The resolution would not make the fee system mandatory, but would leave to the legislature to determine the method of compensation.

A. O. Thomas, in charge of the program, asked that all club members call his office, advising the number of guests who will attend.

NEW BAILEY WILDCAT LOCATION GIVES IMPETUS TO NORTH BASIN OIL QUEST

George Etz and E. H. Robertson Will Drill Test in South Central Part of County

By FRANK GARDNER

The current wildcatting campaign in the northern region of the Permian Basin received impetus today with the announcement of a new location in south central Bailey county. George Etz of Roswell, N. M., and E. H. Robertson of Lubbock will stake location the first of next week for their No. 1 Enoch in the center of tract 66, league 182, Floyd County school land. The test will go to 5,500 feet or production or water in the "big line". Operations will be started on or around June 1st, with rotary to be used to top of massive anhydrite and a changeover to cable tools made at that point.

Etz and Robertson assembled a 9,600-acre drilling block and have sold spreads of acreage to Sinclair, Prairie Oil Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Tide Water Associated Oil Company and Ohio Oil Company. The block consists of tracts 16, 17, 18, 23, 24, 25, 26, 36, 37, 38, 39, 42, 43, 44, 45 and the north halves of 56, 57, 58 and 59 in league 180, Floyd county school land; the south halves of tracts 56, 57, 58 and 59 and all of tracts 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 76, 77, 78, 83, 84, 85, 96, 97 and 98 in league 181; the south halves of tracts 52, 53, 54, and 55, and all of tracts 67, 68, 69, 72, 73, 74, 75, 86, 87, 88, 89, 93, 94 and 95 in league 182; tracts 32, 33, 34, 35, 46, 47, 48, 49, 53, 54 and 55 in league 183. All tracts are 160 acres.

Six miles east and slightly south of the Etz and Robertson location, in the extreme southeast part of Bailey, Illinois Oil Company and Maracaibo Oil Exploration Corporation (formerly E. L. Wilson et al) No. 1 Yellowhouse, wildcat 680 feet from the north and east lines of league 4, league 700, Capitol Syndicate Lands, is drilling below 3,765 feet in red rock, anhydrite and gyp.

Gaines Wildcat

Carter-Continental No. 1 A. L. Wasson, closely-watched northwest below 4,340 feet in lime and anhydrite. Samples are reported to be 80 percent lime. The No. 1 Wasson topped brown lime at 3,860, 311 feet below sea level, and is said to be running 428 feet higher than the Wahlemaier, York & Harper No. 1 Jones, a dry hole five miles to the southwest. The Carter test is 2,310 feet from the north and west lines of section 48, block AX, public school land. Location is being staked today for the No. 1-B Wasson in the northeast corner of section 47, a mile northeast of the No. 1.

Northwest of Seminole in Gaines, Shell No. 1 S. F. Mann, section 230, block G, W. T. R. R. survey, is drilling out cement today. It cemented off high gas with 140 sacks of cement by "squeeze job" from 4,912 to 5,017. The well will be tested for gas shut-off before drilling into the pay.

In Yoakum, west of Plains, Bahan & Rhodes and Fitzpatrick No. 1 L. B. Shook estate is fishing for baller at 3,665 feet in anhydrite.

Schlumberger electrical survey will be run today in Corrigan No. 1 Le-wright, southeast Terry wildcat. After water and gas horizons have been defined by the electrical instruments, it is probable that operators will set a string of 5-inch pipe through the water. Total depth of the well is 5-134 feet in lime. It was unable to get a tubing test of shows of oil and gas encountered in the last 100 feet. See (OIL NEWS) Page 5

ALLOWABLE OF TEXAS WILL BE LOWER IN JUNE

Basic Figures Are Given Slash By R. R. Comm.

STORAGE IS UP

Gasoline Stock Must Be Worked Off—Thompson

AUSTIN, May 19. (P)—The railroad commission announced today that the basic Texas oil allowable for June would be 1,350,262 barrels daily less than figures recommended by the United States bureau of mines.

It will be the first time in many months that the Texas basic figure has been as low as the market demand estimate of the federal bureau.

The average allowable over a 30-day period is considerably larger than the basic figure because of new well completions. The allowable yesterday was 1,448,701 barrels whereas it was only 1,410,031 at the start of the month.

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, said the reduction for June was necessary "to bring Texas production within current market demand as required by Texas law." "Storage of oil above ground," he said, "has increased 15,000,000 barrels in the United States since January 1. Also, 81,000,000 barrels of finished stock of gasoline are on hand."

Terrell again warned against excessive drilling. A total of 3,342 well completions in Texas during the first four and one-half months of the year was reported to the commission.

Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, declared at the monthly prorator hearing yesterday that "the present heavy gasoline stock must be worked off this summer."

FIRE CREMATES WORKER ON WELL IN NEW MEXICO

Gibbins - Heasley Employe Is Victim

Jim Powell, Hobbs, was cremated yesterday when he was trapped in the cellar of a burning oil well in the Monument pool in Lea county, N. M. Another man, J. T. Holder was slightly injured by superficial burns. Both were employed by Gibbins & Heasley, oil well servicing contractors.

The accident occurred when blow electrically ignited gas and oil stinging out of a "Christmas tree" connection. Oil Well Drilling Company had a pulling machine at the well, Shell No. 2-E State, and the Gibbins & Heasley crew of four men was repairing the connection. According to eyewitnesses, Powell, in the cellar, attempted to climb out at the first explosion, but was apparently overcome by gas and fell back in. The fire was extinguished last night after burning for 13 hours. Powell's body has not been recovered.

LIONS CLUB VOTES TO BACK CUBBING PROGRAM IN CITY

Discussion Given By Scout Executive At Luncheon

Members of the Midland Lions club at their regular weekly luncheon today noon, after hearing a discussion of the Cubbing program, a program instituted by the Boy Scouts of America for boys of pre-scout age, by Darold Wilson, field executive of the Buffalo Trail Council, voted unanimously to sponsor the Cubbing program in Midland, a pack committee composed of Dr. W. L. Sutton, chairman, Claude Crane, R. C. Conning and Boyd Scott being appointed by President John P. Butler to supervise the new program here. Chairman Sutton, after a brief committee meeting following the luncheon, stated that the new program is to be instituted in the city immediately, and requested the support and cooperation of parents who have boys between the ages of 9 and 12. Wilson is to assist in the organization work.

In discussing the Cubbing program, Wilson told how the movement was started and for what reason. The program started in 1928 is for boys of 9, 10 and 11 years of age, according to Wilson, who stressed the development of character in boys of pre-scout age. The program is now being carried on in six foreign nations and is growing rapidly, he said. Cubbing is a leisure time and home centered program, which is carried on in various neighborhoods of a city. A number of neighborhood dens comprise a pack, each den being headed by a cub master. The various ranks of the Cubbing program and the necessary and elective tests were discussed by Wilson, who stated that a recent survey

Gandhi Spinning New Worries for Britain

SILENT APPROVAL OF DO-NOTHING PLAN N ULLIFIES ATTEMPT TO SET UP 'HOME RULE'

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru

By MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 19.—Skinny, toothless, pencil-legged, 67-year old Mahatma Gandhi, who looks like a brown gnome and smiles with saintly benevolence, has jumped right into the limelight in India again and has the British masters of the vast land guessing once more.

By simply tending to his spinning, with the utterance of hardly a word, he has sabotaged the "Government of India Act."

It all looked so different when the Mahatma, more than a year ago, retired from all activity in the Congress Party. At least apparently so. Eloquent, youthful Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru was chosen president of the party and was popular and powerful in spite of the fact that many of the party did not espouse his socialistic doctrines.

Gandhi's Party Wins

The British parliament passed the government of India act, which, it was hoped, would go far to meet the demands of the Indians for a large measure of home rule. India was divided into eleven provinces, each of which should have its own legislature and a cabinet responsible to that legislature. Later there was to be a government for all India, when princes of native state would promise to come in. But, in the meantime, the provincial problems would give the Indian people experience in home rule.

Pandit Nehru and his party not only put up candidates for the legislatures in all the provinces but made an active campaign. Nehru himself flying to widely scattered areas. Oddly, though, while demanding votes for his candidates, he asserted that in all probability they would not take office as they did not think very much of the constitution anyway. With the result, last March the Congress Party won complete victories in six of the eleven provinces and constituted the strongest group, though not a majority, in three others.

The Congress party chiefs then held a meeting and decided in the six provinces, where they had a majority that they would not form a government unless the British governors of those provinces would give an assurance that they would not use their special powers in regard to constitutional activities. The governors refused. They said they could not do this without violating the Government of India Act, which provides that, if native cabinets and legislatures seek to oppress racial or religious minorities, the governors may intervene. They also may intervene if there is rank carelessness in the expenditure of public moneys.

Congress Has Power

Little Gandhi, quietly spinning cotton in his country colony, munching his handful of rice, did not have to say much. Mainly he smiled his acquiescence in the Congress party stand. So the British invited minority parties to form ministries in the six provinces. This has been done. But, of course, those ministries can accomplish nothing. They can be turned out any time the Congress adherents so vote. The Congress party can thus make a scrap of paper of the constitution.

The government of India and the British cabinet at home are in a quandary. Gandhi and Nehru have them stymied. There would not be much use calling for new elections. The Congress party has shown that it has the orators who know how to appeal to the masses, the organization to bring them to the polls, and the way to their hearts and minds to get them to vote "Congress" all the way.

British Ambassador Asks Lower Tariffs

NEW YORK, May 19. (P)—Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, said in an address observing foreign trade week today that Britain would assure American farmers favorable treatment in return for a reduction of the tariffs on British goods.

RAILROAD 'LANDSCAPING'

As the streamline and spruce-up movement spreads across the United States, a number of old familiar landmarks are disappearing. Now it begins to look as if one of the most familiar of all—the old red caboose, with its little cupola on top—is about to be submerged.

At any rate, the Milwaukee road is coming out with a set of new cabooses which apparently are going to be almost as fancy and decorative as observation cars. The cupola will be gone; instead, there will be expansive bay windows at the sides. Instead of being the traditional brick-red in color, the caboose will be painted a silvery aluminum with black trim.

Inside, the car will be roomier, airier and far more comfortable, with such conveniences for the train crew as built-in refrigerator, and leather upholstered side seats which can quickly be converted into beds.

All of this no doubt is necessary, and should make for happier train crews and handsomer freight trains. But that old red caboose is a cherished and familiar part of the American scene. The country just won't look natural if they take it away from us, no matter how good-looking its replacement may be.

Determination of the exact cause of the disaster to the Dindenburg must await full investigation. At the moment, about all that can be said confidently is that if the big ship's gas cells had been filled with non-explosive helium, instead of hydrogen, the catastrophe would not have occurred.

The Germans use hydrogen in their airships because they have no helium. The United States has a practical monopoly on that gas.

But the United States has no big dirigibles, and evidently is not in the mood to build any. That helium monopoly would not, therefore, seem to be of much use to us right now. Since the Germans do build and operate big dirigibles, wouldn't it be sensible for us to make our helium supply available to them? The Hindenburg would in all probability be afloat today if we had done so.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Maybe I'm wrong, but I have to write about something, and that's the first thing I thought of this morning.

But it gives me the basis for referring to the well known habit people have of enlarging on reports until they get distorted all out of proportion.

A Midland man was sent to prison. Later he had occasion to be in Midland, while still serving his sentence. Some people said he was here under heavy guard. Others said he was scold-free. This report grew gradually, some saying he was not even staying within the confines of the prison while serving his sentence. This was kept up until someone said he was working in the postoffice of a well known western town. I still don't know, but what difference does it make?

Speaking of postoffices, all of us know that the Washington authorities knew very little of Midland's growth when they allotted us the little federal building we now are enjoying. We outgrew it before the building was finished. There isn't too much likelihood that it will be enlarged very soon, consequently we must push hard for free mail delivery in at least a part of the town, just to ease up the congested situation in the postoffice. To get free mail delivery we must have more sidewalks. Get busy now and lay a walk in front of your property. The postman is entitled to pavement, and without it we won't get the free delivery.

I repeat that it's hard to figure how such reports get started. But I'm going to make a guess. Week before last a story appeared in the Brownfield Herald, and last week it was picked up in the Andrews County News, quoting some woman who gave her name as Rose Dawn as saying that the town of Eunice, N. M. would be destroyed. She claimed that she had predicted the New London disaster.

And now I'm guessing that after the story was picked up in Editor Roberts' Andrews paper that it got enlarged on until somebody had the town of Andrews wiped off the map.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 19. — One of the next breaks in the Supreme Court battle may be a surprise administration move to throw the issue into the House.

Whether this strategy will be employed depends largely on whether Roosevelt decides to keep on fighting with no material compromise and whether he can get what he wants from the Senate.

If Supreme Court decisions on the Social Security Act weaken the administration in the Senate, you may expect a shift of battle-ground. This shift might come after Roosevelt had been voted down in the Senate on his minimum demands, or it might come as soon as it becomes obvious that opponents in the Senate definitely had an edge.

Presumably it would be necessary to launch an administration drive for 218 signatures necessary to get the President's bill out of the House judiciary committee and onto the floor. The bill was promoted in the Senate instead of the House because Chairman Hatton Summers of the House judiciary committee refused to cooperate with the White House.

Majority Leader Sam Rayburn privately boasts that he can deliver a majority of a hundred votes for the President's plan. All members of the House were elected in November's Roosevelt landslide, and all will be up again for election next year—a fact which tends to strengthen the administration's hand there.

The idea of administration leaders is that they could jam the full original plan through the House.

get the best possible bill in the Senate by whatever compromise might be necessary, and finally fight out the issue in conference committee. That, at least, would be a logical sequence of events if Roosevelt decided to bull the issue through but found his position weak in the Senate.

Where Will He Wind Up?

MOST recent nose counts, subject to change in the wake of the social security decisions, found the administration workers claiming from 49 to 51 votes and opposition leaders claiming about the same.

The reason no one could be dead certain of his own estimates, however, has been in the fact that many assurances of votes have come second-hand. Friends and colleagues often have reported that so-and-so's vote could absolutely be depended upon when there was no word whatever from the senator himself.

One senator has just returned to Washington from a long absence and taken a flat-footed position for the first time. But a very important political figure from his home state has assured leaders on the other side that he will see to it that this senator's vote is with them when the time comes. This question is left just where Senator—will wind up.

Some May Resign

The most likely basis for the eventual compromise, assuming that the President doesn't have to accept a considerable measure of defeat, would be something like this:

1. Extension of the age provi-tion to 75 years instead of 70.

2. Limiting the President to appointment of four justices instead of six—thereby providing a court of only 12 men even if no resignations occur in the meantime.
3. A court limited to nine or possibly 11 justices, its size to shrink back to that number as justices in excess of it retired.
That's about as much, Roosevelt's lieutenants are thinking, as he can concede if he is going to insist on victory. An uncertainty complicating this picture, however, is the possibility that certain justices will resign before the court fight is over in Congress.

Brandeis Is Weary
NO one has any assurance that any of the justices will resign after the present court term. But few would be surprised if from one to five justices did decide to resign this summer.

Friends of Justices Brandeis think it not unlikely that he will soon quit. He has been showing signs of age. Recent rumors that he would be the first to resign are based largely on the fact that he is 81 years old, the oldest member of the court and tired.

Private Collection To Be on Exhibit

SAN ANGELO, May 18. — Landscapes in the rain and sunshine, fields of bluebonnets, rippling mountain streams, sailboats on still bays, so real that you can close your eyes, travel in your imagination, and remember just the spot because you've read about or seen it.

All these and more or to be seen on the walls in the junior lobby of the St. Angelus Hotel this week because Mrs. J. C. Landon, well-known patroness of art, is showing her private collection of paintings.

Many of them are by masters in the world of painting, men who have received fabulous prices for canvases to which they have applied their brushes and brought out the brilliance of color, the beauty of God's universe that hundreds upon hundreds of people see and appreciate.

Appealing especially to a person who enjoys escape from realities for a time to revel in the world of fantasy is William C. Emerson's "Sylvan Bay." Emerson has been called a painter of dreams. Truly he deserves the descriptive title, so ethereal is his "Sylvan Bay." The coloring is exquisite.

An Arpa Painting Shown

Another famous painter represented in Mrs. Landon's collection is Jose Arpa, now living in Madrid, Spain, after spending many years in the United States. She owns his canvas, "Wild Verbenas." So carpeted has West Texas been this spring with verbenas that there will be immediate appreciation for this spring landscape. Arpa was one of the prize winners in the $25,000 Davis competition and the Boston Museum paid him $12,000 for his painting of a Mexican funeral. The artist is an uncle of Xavier Gonzales, who has conducted an art colony here.

Two paintings by Julian Onderdonk, the man who made bluebonnets internationally famous, are to be seen in the collection. Particularly noteworthy is "Bluebonnets in the Rain" which will remain photographed on the brain. His other, a small canvas, is "Morning in the Hills."

Arresting the attention of seamed folk and equally appealing to others are the two paintings by Boyer Gonzales, who died about two years ago. "Early Morning in Venice" and "Silvery Day in Holland" portray the master touch in handling colors and scenic effects.

The aerial perspective is noticeable in Adrian Brewer's painting. The artist is a descendant of the famous Dutch artist, Adrian Brouwer.

"Taos Canyon" from the brush of Joseph Henry Sharp makes one want to travel, then stop at the spot that Sharp has put on canvas and let the running water swirl around your fingers.

Franz Strahalm, whose paintings are familiar to San Angeloans, is represented in the collection with his "Vase of Roses."

Shows Bonner Etchings

Mrs. Landon owns ten of Mary Bonner's etchings. The French government paid Miss Bonner $10,000 for her etching, "The White Mule." The etcher died a little more than a year ago. She was one of the nation's outstanding artists in her field.

An interesting painting owned by Mrs. Landon is one by Von Mohr which she secured when a large collection was being sold. The sunset, the trees and the foreground form an interesting study. She is showing also a water color by Xavier Gonzales of a church in Taos.

A collection of etchings by James Swann of Chicago will be shown during the exhibit. Mrs. Landon is the owner of all other etchings and paintings in the exhibit with this exception. Swann, who is secretary of the Etchers Association in Chicago, is a brother of Mrs. Carson Miles of this city and was reared in Merkel. His prints and drawings were shown in the Elisabet Ney Museum in Austin in 1935 and he was represented in the exhibit at the Centennial Exposition last year. His print, "Michigan Blvd. and Chicago Ave." was selected to go to the Grand Central Art Galleries for the "100 Selected Prints of the Year Exhibition" in January of this year. He has been a pupil of Morris Henry Hobbs, one of Chicago's best known etchers.

Mrs. Landon has one of the largest private collections in the state,

A dessert plate was served to two guests, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. E. R. Washburn of Greenville, and the following club members: Mrs. Inman, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. J. R. Crump, Mrs. Roy Downey, Mrs. T. R. Parker and the hostess Mrs. Bennett.

Colors Suggested For Light Bathroom

combination in the decoration of a bathroom receiving ample light during the daytime is: Ceiling very pale blue, with wall painted a deeper shade. Woodwork cream. Curtains in cream voile bordered with rose and a rose shower curtain. To complete the color effect dark blue rugs and towels of rose or initialed in that color might be added.

Many opportunities for pleasing effects in interior decoration are presented in the new homes financed under the insured mortgage plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Decorators Change Room's Background

Modern decorators are no longer content to merely "furnish" a room but give strict attention to its architectural features. This should be kept in mind when building a new home and the house planned to form the background for the type of decoration which the owner has chosen. Homes may be financed under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

Mrs. Gwyn Presides At M. E. Meeting

STANTON, May 19. — Two Big Spring girls were named as officers of the young people's Signal Mount Union of the Methodist church at a business and recreation meeting of the organization at Courtney Sunday afternoon. The two were Miss Ruth Gilliam, who was chosen president of the Union, and Miss Reeta Mae Gibbons, who was named secretary and treasurer. Other officers elected for the ensuing year were Elmer Nichols of Courtney, vice - president, and Miss Marliouise Thomason of Coahoma, publicity director.

Although election of officers was the highlight of the meeting, other business was transacted. It was voted to send a delegate to the annual summer assembly at Abilene and Miss Ruth Gilliam was named as delegate.

The retiring president, Mrs. Ray Gwyn of Midland, presided and led in the devotional.

Elmer Nichols of Courtney led an old-fashioned song service before the business session.

Afterward games were played, directed by Miss Shelton of Coahoma, and refreshments were served by the Courtney chapter of young people, headed by Miss Ganevra Middleton as president and Mrs. F. O. Rhodes as sponsor.

Three district officers were present including Miss Freddie Atkins of Big Spring, district director of young peoples' work, Miss Frances Gilliam of Big Spring, associate district director, and Miss Ruth Gilliam, secretary-treasurer of district work. Ray Gwyn of Midland, sponsor of the Union, was also present.

About 55 young people attended, representing Midland, Big Spring, Coahoma and Courtney.

CARDINALS COP DRAB AFFAIR FROM MONAHANS TROJANS--9-6

SMITH WINS HIS FOURTH GAME IN ROW FOR LOCALS

The Midland Cardinals yesterday took up right where they left off Sunday when they once more came through with a win. The victim yesterday was the Monahans Trojans, the weakest appearing club to appear here to date.

The final score was 9-6 but it might well have been much larger in favor of Midland had the youthful Red Birds taken full advantage of their opportunities. It was a dismal day, sand whipping across the infield intermittently all during the game, and the players were visibly affected by it.

Johnny Smith, Card righthander, brought his win streak to four in a row but he weakened badly in the eighth when he walked three and gave up a couple of hits to let the Trojans make four runs.

The Cards pecked away at Harkey, Trojan hurler, all during the game, making one run in the first, second, and seventh and three in the third and fifth. The Monahans nine scored their first run when LeBaron hit the second ball thrown by Smith over the left field wall. Their next one came in the fourth on a couple of walks and an error.

The Payoff

By JESS RODGERS

What the people have been yelling for during the past two years—another Cardinals-Tigers World Series—will begin on a miniature scale here tomorrow when the Midland Cardinals, who belong to the St. Louis club of the same name, and the Roswell Sunshiners, chatels of the Detroit Tigers, meet.

Before the opening games were played it was practically the unanimous opinion of sportswriters, managers and fans in general that Roswell would be the club that would take the lead and in all probabilities hold it. But since the season opened opinions have been changed—forcibly.

The Cardinals have been head and shoulders above any other club in the league, losing only two games of 15, and they might have been won with a little better luck in a couple of spots.

Right now the Roswell club is tied with Wink for third place but it would be hard to find anyone who will pick them to finish up New York. They have run into a series of hard luck lately that has caused them to lose a bunch of games. But it is a cinch the Sunshiners will come here tomorrow with sole intentions of doing to the Cardinals what the Cards did to them—take a series from them on their home field.

The Cardinals admittedly need strengthening and are doing so daily. In Scott and Devine they boast a couple of the best hurlers in the circuit and one or both is almost sure to see action in the two-game series here. In fact, the Cardinals admit Devine showed them more in the game he started against them than has any other pitcher this year. Some poor support by his mates ruined his debut against the league leaders.

Just wandering: The Monahans club looks even weaker than Hobbs, but Manager Trammell says he is getting more pitchers in a couple of days... Fincher E. Withers, an old-timer in baseball who has served as player, manager, club president, league president and league organizer, is expected to take over the Hobbs franchise from Ned Pettigrew. The latter did a swell job of messing up things there by his refusal to make any attempt to sell either himself or the club to the people of Hobbs... Neither

Jr. Traffic Officers Are Credited With Much Work

HOUSTON, Texas. (P)—Sgt. R. D. Pyle, director of the junior patrol in Houston schools says junior traffic officers are saving many lives.

Pyle says that since the junior patrol was organized in 1936 not a fatality has occurred in a school zone patrolled by the boys.

"Let us compare this with previous years immediately preceding organization of the patrol," he says. "In the 1931-32 school year nine persons were killed in the school zones of the city. Four were killed the next year and seven in 1933-34. In the year preceding inauguration of the patrol five persons lost their lives in the school zones."

More than 1,500 school boys in the city work as patrolmen at 23 schools.

did he attempt to make his team stronger when he could see he didn't have what it took on the playing field... One example of his carelessness: For the Sunday double-header with Midland he didn't have a line in the newspaper, neither did he have out a sign anywhere... Despite that, there was approximately 400 fans out at the game... And that was what convinced Withers the franchise there would go over if properly handled... If the Cardinals have to pay off all the fines assessed them by Empire Andrews they are going to be in the hole on pay day... He fined Stein $5 for throwing his cap on the ground a few days ago and yesterday stuck Nook for a like amount when the left-hander cast insinuations as to the legitimacy of Andrews' birth—get it? It's "Dinger". Murphy now... Ask some of the players how come, if interested.

Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, likes to tell about the time that he was knocked down during a fight at which his father was a spectator.

"The referee began to count over me," Benny said, "waving his arm up and down, and they tell me my father said: 'It's awful the way they are treating Benny. First one fellow knocks him down and then the other fellow gives him a lecture.'"

Dogwood Timber Market Opened by Jasper Man

JASPER, Texas. (AP)—G. Bartmess, owner of a wood working mill here, has opened a market for dogwood timber, an unprofitable growth of timber to landowners heretofore. He cuts the timber into blocks for the manufacture of shuttles used in textile mills. Dogwood does not absorb moisture after drying, nor rough and splinter, Bartmess says. The mill has a capacity of more than 1,200 blocks daily and Bart-mess expects to cut the timber available in this area in about 18 months. Much of it goes to Japan and China for use in silk mills. Bartmess says the market for dogwood, unlike other timber, does not fluctuate, the demand being steady since the life of a shuttle is from half an hour to approximately three weeks. Timber owners are paid $20 a cord for dogwood delivered at the mill, or about five times more than for pine, the principal lumber product of east Texas. Texas dogwood averages about five to eight inches in diameter, although a few specimens have measured 16 inches.

DUKE AND WALLIS SIGN MARRIAGE CONTRACT TODAY

Property Division Is Provided For By Couple

MONTS, France, May 19. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor made known today that he and Mrs. Wallis Warfield had signed a marriage contract, presumably for the disposition of property in the event of death or separation after their June 3 wedding.

French authorities made special dispensation permitting the ceremony as planned. The couple is scheduled for travel for almost a month after the wedding before going to an Austrian castle to live.

Young Demos Will Meet In Pampa To Discuss Dust Bowl

DALHART, Texas, May 19.—Can Olin E. Hinkle be right? That's going to cause a lot of heated and perhaps needed discussion on the Dust Bowl and its problems when the West Texas Young Democrats convention meets in Dalhart Saturday, May 29.

Former editor of the Pampa Daily News, Hinkle was a widely known West Texas newspaperman, and is now managing editor of the Lexington (Ky) Herald.

Striking at the literary untruths and polygot written by Easterners as "a true picture of the so-called Dust Bowl," Hinkle said, "With a thimble-full of truth and barrels of reckless statements it is possible to build up a very entertaining yarn, but not a fair one."

He spears H. L. Mencken, the Baltimore, Md. political sham smasher, who says, Hinkle declares, that the five-state area of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas is unfit for humans, that the farmers can have only after they had exhausted credit in the east, are staying here because they are shiftless and unskilled.

Hinkle then asks Mencken how it is that such sorry, credit-lacking farmers from the east could come west, buy land, and huge mechanized machinery units and plow up tremendous tracts that could not be properly cared for in drought and directed toward the west only after the Dust Bowl. "Isn't it a fact," Mr. Mencken, "that much of the plains country was turned into farms by two dwellers who have never been farmers?" Hinkle asked.

Hinkle voices the likelihood that Mencken has seen a few movies prepared by some of the government's bureau men—men who knew lenses but not farms, who knew "a good story" but not a fair one, and who sought an effect not the whole truth.

4-Mile Dam Being Built in Mexico

EL AZUCAR, Mexico, (AP)—Two thousand men are toiling in brush country 20 miles south of the Texas border building a four mile dam on the San Juan river to irrigate 200,000 acres of undeveloped land between Reynosa, south of McAllen, and Mier, southwest of Rio Grande City.

The dam, to be 80 feet high, will cost about $4,320,000 and requires four years to complete, say Isidro Diaz and Max W. King, engineers in charge.

The San Juan is an important tributary of the Rio Grande and completion of the dam will take much water from the major stream that lower Rio Grande farmers look to for irrigation. The dam is located about six miles from the mouth of the San Juan. About 1,600,000 cubic yards of earth will be used to rear the mighty earthen bulwark, and about 6,000,000 cubic yards moved for the spillway.

The center section spanning the river bed will require 10,000 cubic meters of concrete, but the wings will consist of earth packed and rolled 26 times. Huge rollers with teeth run over the earth and when the job is done it is about as hard and well-packed as concrete, engineers say.

conducted here disclosed the fact that there are 167 boys of cubbing age in the city. The duties of the sponsoring organization were also enumerated. It was indicated that the new program will be started in the north part of town here and will then branch out into other sections. Parents who have boys within the cubbing age limits will be contacted this week relative to the program. The greater part of the program is carried on within the home, tests being given and supervised by the parents. In this movement, boys of pre-scout age are prepared for scouting into which they graduate at the age of 12. Much interest has been manifested in the program here within recent weeks, many local citizens having requested that the movement be inaugurated here.

Piano Solos Featured

Pete Gates, staff member of KRLH, rendered two piano solos which featured the musical part of the program. Gates was presented by Raymond Hughes, the program being in charge of Clinton Myrick.

Guests present at today's luncheon included J. P. Tibbets of Dallas, E. J. Boather of Ft. Worth, and Don Knight and C. A. Ponder of Midland.

The luncheon was served by members of the Busy Bee Club.
